Exhibits To Pour Into Grounds Today

Final Preparations For Fair Underway

A FLOOD of exhibits was expected to begin pouring into the Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds today for the 32nd annual exposition, which gets under way Monday.

Most of the exhibits in the women's departments already have been received, the deadline for entries having passed Friday afternoon in all divisions except breads, cakes, potted plants and cut flowers. These will be received until 1 p. m.

Fair officials agreed that the displays in this department are the best of any fair.

Show Moves Onto Scene

Already on the scene are the first truckloads of equipment of the Forsythe & Dowis carnival, which will be the midway attraction. They arrived Friday, but have not been unloaded.

This equipment, according to the carnival operators, is in addition to that which has been carried on the summer tour. Forsythe & Dowis advised A. B. Davis, manager of the fair association, that they are enlarging their midway particularly for the fair here.

The shows will complete their engagement at the Kansas State fair in Hutchinson, Kan., tonight and will begin loading immediately for Lubbock, with arrival scheduled here about noon Sunday.

Most of the arrivals today and Sunday are expected to be for the agricultural and livestock departments.

George A. Bond, assistant manager of the fair association, said the quality of these exhibits unquestionably will be as fine as any ever displayed in the Southwest.

He still was uncertain as to their quantity. The indications are that agricultural displays will be the most numerous of any fair. It is unlikely that the cattle and swine barns, which were nearly doubled in capacity last year, will be crowded. But the entry lists in both divisions are large.

Construction work is scheduled

Ford Workers' Walkout Slated

(By The Associated Press)

Negotiations were revived Friday in an effort to wipe out the threat of the thrice-postponed steel strike, but 115,000 Ford workers were told to go ahead with plans for a walkout.

There were indications, meanwhile, that the six day strike of 480,000 coal miners might be a long way from settlement.

For the first time since July 6, representatives of the steel industry and the CIO United Steelworkers talked across the bargaining table. No decisions were announced. More meetings are scheduled for Monday.

The principals are working to reach some agreement before the new steel strike truce expires Oct. 1.

Pension Costs Main Issue

The chief stumbling block is whether the companies should pay the entire cost of a 10 cents hourly package for welfare and insurance or whether the workers should share part of the expense. A steel fact-finding board recommended that the companies finance the plan. The industry wants the workers to pay part of it.

The industry's five biggest producers, headed by U. S. Steel, met in individual sessions with the union. Six smaller companies scheduled bargaining talks within the next few days.

The 1,000,000 steelworkers had been scheduled to strike at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, but President Tru-

Five Hurt In Mishap At Stanton Parade

STANTON, Sept. 23 (AP) — A frame and sheetiron awning and part of a brick wall collapsed under the weight of several children today and crashed onto a crowd of parade watchers. Five persons were injured, one seriously.

The children had perched atop the store awning to see a parade opening the Martin county fair. The five injured, all of Stanton, were caught beneath the awning.

Mrs. T. W. Eddleman, 78, suffered two broken legs and a broken collar bone. Dr. Ernest Nelson of Martin County Memorial hospital said her condition was serious.

Also hurt were Mrs. Dan Renfro, Mrs. Curtis Campbell, Mrs. Dee Saunders, and Carolyn Russell.

Hurricane Is Spotted Off Mexico Coast

(By The Associated Press)

A SCOUTING plane found a hurricane Friday night off the coast of Mexico, and the weather bureau said the storm was sprouting squalls that would hit the southern tip of Texas.

The hurricane itself was not expected to strike that far north. But the U. S. Weather bureau at New Orleans said squalls probably would reach Brownsville some time tomorrow.

The bureau announced in an 8:30 p.m. (CST) advisory that the hurricane had been located by a reconnaisance plane from Kelly Air Force base, near San Antonio.

75 MPH Winds Found

A line of squalls off Brownsville was located first as reconnaisance flights ranged farther and farther south. A forecaster said the scouting was "going wherever the weather is." Then the flier ran into the hurricane.

The hurricane was centered about 140 miles southeast of Tampico. The Mexican port is roughly 150 miles due south of Brownsville.

The bureau said small craft in the Brownsville-Port Isabel, Tex., area should stay in port.

The storm was attended by winds of 75 miles an hour—minimum hurricane strength—over a small area near the center.

May Hit Mexican Coast

The weather bureau said the hurricane was expected to move northwest or northwestward about five miles an hour and reach the coast near or slightly north of Tampico. The Hurricane's area size had not been determined.

Earlier, the Navy's hurricane office at Miami, Fla., said the squall wave was loaded with 50-mile-an-hour winds and should hit the Texas coast around Brownsville Friday night or this morning.

W. R. Stevens, supervising forecaster at New Orleans, said the reconnaissance flier was told to

Farmers' Labor Meet Set Today

Glenn T. Hackney, president of the Lubbock County Farm bureau, has called a special meeting of farmers to be held in the District courtroom, third floor of the Lubbock courthouse, at 1:30 p. m. today. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the transient labor situation.

"We want every farmer in the county to attend of he can," Hackney said.

"There are a great many problems arising from the recently approved International Executive agreement on the hiring of Mexican nationals," Hackney continued. "We want to answer a lot of

Cool Weather To Continue Over Area

Partly cloudy skies and a northeast wind held the Lubbock mercury to a cool maximum of 73 degrees Friday to start the fall season, and the Weatherman predicted moderately cool temperatures would continue in the area through today.

Skies will remain partly cloudy today and Sunday, the forecast said, with a slight rise in temperatures due Sunday. No rain is expected through the weekend, the Weatherman added.

The forecast caled for an early morning low of 50 degrees today in keeping with the autumn season.

A high of 84 degrees had been expected Friday, the Weatherman said, but cloud formations and the northeast wind that failed to switch to the southeast upset the schedule.

Lubbock Office To Stay Open Today For Posting Of Bonds

South Plains farmers wishing to post bonds for Mexican laborers may do so at the U. S. Immigration office, 1306½ Broadway, which will remain open today for that purpose, Melvin O. Pittman, officer in charge, announced Friday.

B. T. O'Connell, manager of the Texas Employment commission office, said his office would also be open today to assist farmers in making arrangements for the laborers, which are being brought into this area from Mexico.

Admirals To Continue Seeking Report On Navy Attack Of B-36

BY LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. — Three admirals, stymied by their own top commander, disclosed today they will keep trying to obtain from Air Secretary Symington a report believed to name the Navy clique which inspired the attack on the Air Force's prized B-36 bomber.

The admirals, members of the naval court of inquiry designated by Secretary Matthews to get to the bottom of the Air-Force-Navy feud, said they will again ask Symington to testify if the report is released by Chairman Vinson (D.-Ga.), of the House Armed Services committee.

Vinson, whose group resumes its own B-36 investigation Oct. 5, indicated a decision will be made at that time.

Hearings Adjourned

The Navy court, thrice, rebuffed by Symington, adjourned its hearings until the House committee acts.

Symington finally avoided being subpoenaed by the court when Matthews late Thursday answered an appeal by the air secretary with

BLAST REPORT BRINGS WARNING

24-Hour Radar Detection Guard Against Sneak Attack Is Urged

(By The Associated Press)

SANTA MONICA, Calif. Sept. 23 — The United States must now maintain "24-hour radar detection to defend itself against a sneak attack," the Air Force's Gen. George C. Kenney warned today.

"This is a portentous day in history," he said in referring to President Truman's announcement that the Russians recently set off an atomic explosion.

He altered a speech he had prepared for a meeting of military, civic and industrial leaders on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of the first round-the-world flight.

The general said "a fairly modest number of modern bombers using the atomic bomb, in a single raid, now has the capability of exerting more foot pounds of destructive energy than the total exerted by all the bombers of all belligerents combined throughout the whole of World War II."

The General said that he was "surprised that our intelligence service has not told us before of the fact Russia

SKEPTICISM GREETS OFFER

Peace Pact Among Big Five Urged By Russian Minister

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky called for a peace pact among the big five powers today.

The other big powers were immediately skeptical of Russian sincerity.

American delegate Warren R. Austin issued a two-sentence statement: "It is the same propaganda as before. As for the proposal for a five power pact, I must have more information of its substance before commenting."

Britain, France and China were equally skeptical.

In an unusually mild speech notable for what he did not say, Vishinsky ignored President Truman's announcement in Washington that the United States has evidence of an atomic explosion in Russia.

China Charges Hit

Vishinsky's major policy speech for Russia in the United Nations assembly also made no mention of Secretary of State Dean Acheson's comment that Mr. Truman's disclosure would bring no change in American policy.

The Russian omitted all reference to the Tito-Stalin feud and he refused to be drawn into a quarrel with the Nationalist Chinese government, which yesterday accused Moscow of directing and aiding Chinese Communists.

Vishinsky dismissed the China charges as slanderous.

Hurls Usual Blasts

Vishinsky made the familiar blasts at the western powers, especially the United States and Britain, but he ended on a high note of peace, proposing that the General Assembly:

1. Condemn preparations for a new war he said were being made in the United States and Britain.

2. Condemn further delays in adoption by the UN of treaties for the "unconditional prohibition" of atomic weapons and for international control of atomic energy.

3. Call on all nations to settle their disputes peacefully and for the United States, Britain, China, France and the Soviet Union to conclude among themselves a pact for the strengthening of peace.

Mr. Truman's atomic announcement in Washington at noon-time hit the UN assembly with tremendous impact.

Assembly President Carlos P. Romulo said every effort must be made to end the atomic deadlock in the UN.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie said "if this is true, then the United Nations is more indispensible

Quebec Police Say Love Triangle Led To Airliner Crash

(By The Associated Press)

QUEBEC, Ont., Sept. 23. — Police detained tonight J. A. Guay, a young Quebec jeweler, and Mrs. Arthur Pitre, about 40, as material witnesses in connection with an explosion that caused a Quebec Airways plane to crash killing all 23 aboard.

Guay's 28-year-old wife was one of the 23 passengers and crew who lost their lives when the plane was ripped open by a blast in its luggage compartment last Sept. 9.

Woman Admits Act

Earlier the Canadian Mounted Police said a drug-dazed woman had confessed she put explosives aboard the plane. A high government official identified her as Mrs. Pitre. Police said she was recovering from sleeping pills she took at at suggestion of her lover, whose wife was aboard the plane.

The crash tok the lives of three New York executives of the Kennecott Copper corporation. They were President E. T. Stannard, President-designate Arthur D. storke and Vice President R. J. Parker.

Quebec provincial police detained the woman at her home in Quebec. Police Inspector

Tech Building Work To Be Awarded Today

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 23 (AP) — Directors of Texas Technological college at Lubbock will meet here at 9 a.m. Saturday to award a contract, on basis of low bid, for construction of two wings to the Administration building.

The planned additions will be three stories, including more than 16,000 square feet of offices and class rooms, according to M. L. Pennington, comptroller.

Pennington and W. T. Gaston, business manager, opened bids this afternoon in the presence of Wyatt Hedrick, Fort Worth architect, at a meeting in the St. Anthony hotel. Following the bid openings, officials went into a study of the projected offers.

Construction will begin as soon as possible, Pennington said. Offices of President D. M. Wiggins, Pennington, Gaston, purchasing officer, dean of men and women, and other administrative officials will be moved to the new quarters when completed. Majority of class rooms are expected to be assigned to the business administration division.

In addition to college officers, directors expected to be present at the Saturday meeting are Charles Wooldridge, Dallas; Leon Ince, Houston; Robert Price, El Paso; Mark McGee, Fort Worth; Raymond Pfluger, Eden, and Chanslor Weymouth, Amarillo.

U. S. Leaders Say Controls Needed Now

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—News that Russia apparently has the atom bomb set men everywhere to talking today. This is what some said:

Secretary-general Trygve Lie of the United Nations: "If it is true that they have the atomic bomb it shows how indispensable international agreement is."

Bernard Baruch, an American elder statesman who worked for world atomic control: "I agree completely with the President" that the news emphasizes the need for enforceable international atomic controls. . . . The "President has never wavered in his attitude toward international control."

Meeting Is Suggested

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala): "I would be glad to see President Truman and Stalin meet to discuss this."

Senator Wherry (R-Neb), Senate GOP floor leader: "If the President knew yesterday that Russia had the atomic bomb, why has the emphasis been placed on the ground war strategy of the military assistance bill passed by the Senate last night?"

Senator Graham (D-NC): "We must not give up the hopes and efforts for control by the United Nations. This also makes clear the need and value of the Atlantic Pact, military assistance program, aid to China, the aspirations of peoples for freedom, and the strengthening of the United Nations."

Must Plan Definite Program

Rep. Cox (D-Ga): The news "emphasizes to me that it would be suicidal for the United States to falter in its program of reconstructing and rearming Western Europe."

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo): "It came a short time before we expected it. . . . We must face facts now and not be think-

Lamb Fair Draws Good Attendance

By EDWARD WELSH
Avalanche Staff Writer

LITTLEFIELD, Sept. 23.—Lamb County's second annual fair and festival got off to a real start Friday following a street parade at 10 a.m. Several thousand persons lined Phelps street to watch the marchers, led by Mayor Art Chesher, three high school bands, riders, more than a score of floats and a group of circus animals.

Officially the fair was opened Thursday but some delay in preparing all the exhibits prevented the officials from adhering to the schedule. Thursday evening a square dance with 200 participants drew a crowd of 3,000 to the rodeo arena. Dancers from Lubbock, Clovis, Muleshoe, Sudan, Amherst, Morton, Levelland, Olton, Spring Lake and many other towns joined the Littlefield dancers to put on the colorful spectacle.

Judging Is Held

Judging of art and flower exhibits was completed late Thursday. The judging of agriculture and horticulture exhibits was held over to Friday. Judging in dairy cattle and dual purpose cattle in several divisions took place in both morning and afternoon sessions Friday. No night program

Revelation Shocks Capitals Of World

Gen. Bradley Urges Nation To Remain Calm; Siberia Believed Site Of Test

BY JAMES LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. — President Truman shocked an already nervous world today by announcing that Russia apparenly has the atomic bomb, but American's top military leader revealed the development had long been expected by defense planners.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, said it had been "anticipated for four years" that Russia would strip America of its A-bomb monopoly, and he added that "the calmer the American people take this, the better."

The President, in his dramatic revelation that "an atomic explosion" had occurred inside Russia within recent weeks, said the event underlines the need for "enforceable international control of atomic energy."

Soviets Outstrip Expectations

Bradley declared the confirmation of Russian atomic bomb know-how "calls for no change in our basic defense plans."

However, the news of a Red A-bomb proved the Russians had outstripped expectations of the accomplishment by one presidential advisor by two years.

In June, 1947, Dr. Karl T. Compton, head of a presidenial group studying universal military training, declared to Mr. Truman that the Russians would not have the dread weapon until 1951.

Still other predictions were blasted, including the report last January of the President's five-man commission on air policy, which set the "target date" for a possible atom attack on the U. S. as Jan. 1, 1953.

Russia Maintains Silence

Sen. McMahon (D-Conn), chairman of the joint congressional Atomic Energy commission, asserted that the United States now "faces the most crucial dilemma of its history."

Russia was silent and Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky attending the United Nations assembly at Lake Success, N. Y., said nothing of the atomic explosion.

Despite U. S. silence on the date of the Russian atomic explosion, information in Washington indicated it occurred Aug. 17 in an area north of the Caucasus mountains and east of the Urals.

Mr. Truman, in an extraordinary and dramatic statement, declared:

"We have evidence that within recent weeks an atomic explosion occurred in the USSR."

Announcement Shocks World

The President did not specifically mention the atomic bomb in his statement, but at Lake Success, N. Y., Secretary of State Acheson said he assumes that Russia has the A-bomb.

Acheson told a United Nations news conference that he believes the Russians have made an atomic weapon and exploded it.

Mr. Truman's announcement shocked the world capitals. McMahon called upon the American people to avoid "hysteria or panic."

(President Truman did not say the blast was an atom bomb that exploded in the vast reaches behind the iron curtain.

(However, tonight a high U. S. security official told an Associated Press reporter:

("There's no question about it. It was an atomic bomb. But so

Agents May Be Behind Iron Curtain

'Miracle' Aided U.S. In Learning Of Blast

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 — A "miracle of intelligence" enabled the U. S. to learn of the atomic explosion in Russia, a source close to President Truman said today.

He did not elaborate. The word intelligence—in its narrow sense—suggests the possibility of secret agents working behind the iron curtain.

But in its broader sense it covers other possibilities.

The "intelligence" may have been supplied through radiation-detection instruments — perhaps with a simultaneous tip-off from instruments primarily designed to detect earthquakes.

Earthquake recording instruments in Germany or Italy conceivably could have detected an "explosion" in Russia under certain conditions, a Georgetown university expert on earthquakes told a reporter.

But the scientist—the Reverend Edward Powers, S. J.—said that such detection would only disclose that some kind of explosion had taken place.

The instruments, he said, would not be able to distinquish between an atomic and some other kind of explosion.

He declared, however, it is possible to distinguish between an explosion and an earthquake because the latter produces varieties of shock waves that an explosion does not produce.

May Have Detected Rays

Another possibility is that evidence of the blast may have been picked up on Geiger counters—instruments which can detect atomic "rays" in the ground or in the atmosphere.

The maximum range of such instruments has not been made known, however.

"Be Friendly—Make Friends—Join the Camp Fire Girls."

With that slogan to guide them, Camp Fire girls in Lubbock are holding an annual membership drive.

Though Camp Fire Girls primarily is an organization for girls between the ages of seven and 18, adults are urged to participate as leaders and sponsors.

Adult Leaders Needed

Adult leaders are needed, Mrs. E. N. Jones, chairman of the Camp Fire council, said Friday afternoon. "Any woman 18 years of age or older, who is mature in judgment and who likes young people, can be a leader or guardian," Mrs. Jones said. "There are no particular qualifications of education or experience. The only hard and fast prerequisite is a quick sense of humor and an even disposition," she added.

Aim of Camp Fire Girls has always been to help girls to become good citizens and homemakers through participation in activities that are character building as well as fun.

The youth agency is divided into three age groups: Bluebirds are the seven, eight and nine-year-olds; Camp Fire Girls are from 10 to 15 years of age and Horizon clubs serve senior high school students.

Program of all groups is based on the Seven Crafts: Home, creative arts, outdoors, frontiers, business, sports and games and citizenship.

Wandering Monkeys Caught In Camouflaged Trap In Dallas

DALLAS, Sept. 23. (U.P.)—Man's brain over animal triumphed today and two wandering monkeys were caught.

The valuable animals scampered into a camouflaged cage and an alert agent of their owner, aided by a long string, snapped the door shut.

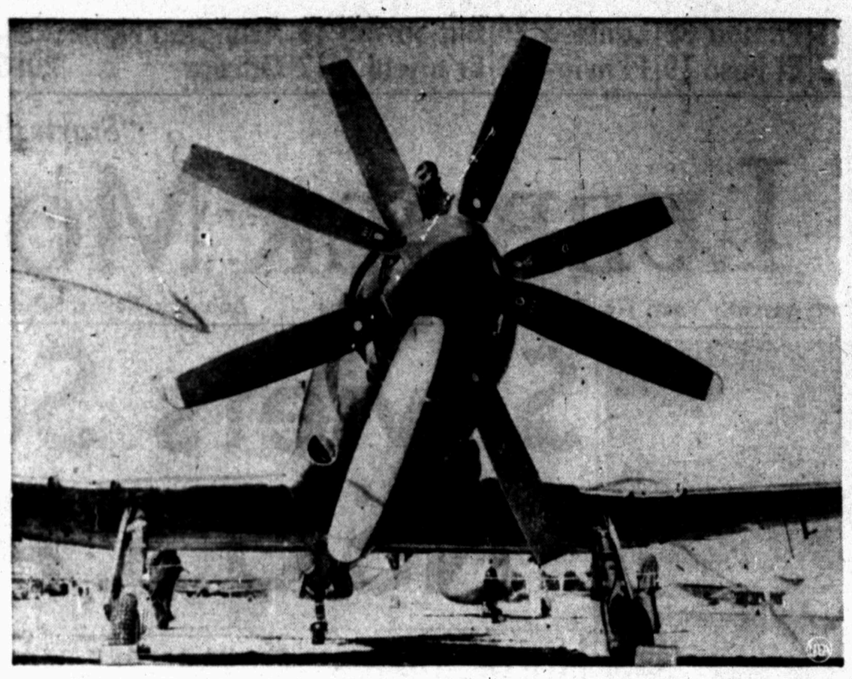

The young gibbons, owned by Dr. James J. Hamiter, a veterinarian, escaped last Monday night and have roamed about in a large tree just outside the Dallas downtown area.

Valued at $500, Dr. Mamiter had called on police and firemen for help, but they had given up the chase since all their efforts had failed.

The cage was baited last night with goodies dear to simian hearts but once again, the frisky animals were too smart. While one entered, a second stood guard outside. Then the guard changed and both were well fed.

Today, the strategy was changed and the camouflaged cage fooled the monkeys. Both entered the cage at the same time and an agent of Dr. Hamiter yanked the string which brought an end to their freedom.

Lawyer Threatens To 'Take Off Gloves'

Ingrid Bergman's Attorney Is To Seek Divorce Agreement

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23. (INS)—Dr. Peter Lindstrom was to be asked today to "do the civilized thing" and agree to divorce proposals brought from Rome by film star Ingrid Bergman's attorney Monroe E. McDonald.

The attorney, who flew 7,000 miles to Hollywood to draw up the divorce action "as quickly as possible," said that if the noted brain surgeon refuses to give his mate her freedom, he will "take off the gloves if necessary."

Ingrid "Determined"

McDonald, Rome associate of Hollywood's favorite divorce attorney, Greg Bautzer, said that Ingrid is determined to dissolve her 12-year marriage to her Swedish countryman and then marry Italian film director Roberto Rossellini.

The attorney said that he hoped to see Dr. Lindstrom and get his approval for the divorce action as soon as possible, tend to the film star's studio affairs and then return to Europe to bring the divorce suit to court.

McDonald refused to reveal what he meant by "taking off the gloves" with the doctor should the latter block the divorce.

McDonald said that his client, one of the movie industry's biggest names, sought a divorce first in 1945, but that the two patched up their differences.

The divorce rumors began again when Ingrid sailed off to bleak Stromboli island to make a picture with Rossellini, whose prize-winning work she has admired on the screen.

Dr. Lindstrom flew to Stromboli a few months ago and conferred with his wife and the director. Only announcement to come from the meeting was that there would be no divorce, that the screen star would return to her husband and 10-year-old daughter, Pia, immediately after completion of the picture, "Stromboli."

A few months later Ingrid announced that she was retiring from the screen.

Dr. Lindstrom has yet to make a statement concerning divorce. Since his return from Stromboli he has continued his medical practice, refusing to comment on his wife's international romance even with his closest associates.

Attorney "In Dark"

The doctor's attorney, Mendel Silberberg, said that he was "completely in the dark" as to the Swedish-born surgeon's plans The attorney, however, said:

"I do know that since the doctor has committed no offense against his marriage, if he refused to allow Miss Bergman to get a divorce, there is no way in the world she can get one."

Meanwhile, the Rome attorney was trying to ptach up a dispute between Rossellini and RKO-Radio studios over final editing of the film made on the volcanic isle.

COLLEGE PROBES HERBS

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (U.P.) — If an unusual plant grows in a West Virginia back yard, the University biology department wants to know about it. Biologists requested that specimens be sent to the West Virginia University herbarium in an attempt to extend the known range of trees and other plants. Several hundred plants are received and identified annually.

Korean President Blasts Red Attempts To Sidetrack Issue

SEOUL, Sept. 23 (INS) — Russia's unsuccessful attempts to keep the Korean question from the UN General assembly's agenda were denounced today by South Korean President Syngman Rhee.

Rhee called it another "manifestation of international outlawry and gangsterism" and said:

"Our neighbors in the north (Communist-controlled North Korea) always bring the Korean question up to the front. We're grateful for the publicity.

"But some nations are just like the ostrich—they bury their heads in order not to see the gangsters at work."

Rhee said that he was glad the U. S. "arms-for-friends" plan includes Nationalist China, explaining:

"I am sure the Nationalists will be encouraged. But in the meantime I would like to see the Nationalists get up and do some fighting."

Daughter Of Actress Helen Hayes Claimed

NEW YORK, Sept. 23. (AP)—Actress Mary MacArthur, 19, who became a celebrated figure in the theater world at birth as the "act of God Baby" of Actress Helen Hayes, died last night.

The young woman's death came as she was preparing to appear next month in a supporting role with her mother in the Broadway premiere of a new play.

She died at Lenox Hill hospital of what physicians termed a "generalized virus infection." Her father, Newspaperman-Playwright Charles Mac Arthur, and Miss Hayes were at her bedside.

The "act of God baby" label was pinned to Miss Mac Arthur in a widely publicized theatrical controversy. It arose when her mother was forced to withdraw from a starring Broadway role in 1929 by the approaching birth of her child.

Play Is Closed

Her withdrawal resulted in closing of the play and a subsequent dispute over actors' salary rights.

Miss Hayes' side contended that having a baby is an "act of God" and could not be considered a breach of contract or other cause for withholding salaries.

Arbitrators never ruled on the "act of God" claim, but ordered that two weeks' salary be paid to the play's cast.

Miss Mac Arthur was taken to the hospital nine days ago after becoming ill while appearing with her mother in tryout performances of a new play at Westport, Conn.

EDUCATION STARTED ABROAD

New Pupils In Lubbock Schools Have Knowledge Of Other Lands

When Lubbock public school pupils study about other lands, an increasing number of children may be able to contribute first hand information.

Seven pupils now in P. F. Brown school, Dupre school and George R. Bean school attended kindergarten or first grades in other lands last school year.

With the reactivation of Lubbock Air Force base and arrival of more officers who have served overseas since the war, more children who have lived in foreign lands may enroll in city and county schools.

Six-year-old Shannon Wells, enrolled in Brown school and daughter of a Baptist missionary, was born in Shanghai during the war and was interned with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. O. Wells of Lubbock route 7, for six months in a Japanese prison camp, after which they were repatriated back to America. Two years ago the family returned to China and last year Shannon attended a Chinese kindergarten at Nanchang, Kiangsi province.

Shannon will sit in warm classrooms this year, while in China she sat bundled in her coat. There was no heat either in classroom or home in China. Shannon also was impressed with desks here. In China, she and other kindergarten children sat in bamboo chairs at long tables.

Four Schooled In Japan

Shannon's birth was registered in this country and she is an American citizen.

Four children now in school here went to the same school last year at Yokota Air Force base, Japan. Betty Jean, 7, and Carolyn Kay, 6, daughters of S-Sgt. and Mrs. Bert Klantchnek were students in the first grade and kindergarten, respectively, in the school at Yokota base.

Pupils in the same school last year were Pamela and Sharon Frost, children of Lt. and Mrs. Stephen C. Frost of Thirty-ninth and Monroe. Pamela was in the first, and Sharon, the kindergarten.

The Yokota Air base where the school was located is the largest American air base in Japan, located about 35 miles northwest of Japan. The school, a modern newly-built building, is in one of the housing areas of the base and had approximately 130 pupils from kindergarten through the seventh grades.

Americans Taught

There were five American teachers, including the principal, and two Japanese nationals who taugh music and art. The school used the Calvert system. Carolyn Kay Klantchnek and Sharon Frost were in the same Sunday school class and their older sisters were in the same class.

The Klantchnek children were born in Lubbock. They lived in Japan about 15 months, returning in July to this country. Both their mother and father are Lubbock High school graduates. S-Sgt. Klantchnek is stationed at El Paso. He is to receive his discharge in October and expects to come to Lubbock to re-enlist. Mrs. Klantchnek and children live at 2218 Twentieth.

Both of the Frost children were born in the United States. Lieutenant Frost is stationed at the recruiting office.

Susann Davis, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Eldon Davis of 2118 Twenty-sixth, a first grade pupil at Dupre, attended Hickam field kindergarten at Honolulu last year. She was born in Savannah, Ga. Captain Davis is a graduate of Texas Technolbgical college. The family moved here recently and Captain Davis is stationed at Lubbock Air Force base.

Patricia Hurst, daughter of Lt. and Mrs. Guy Hurst of 1506 Twenty-eighth, was a pupil in kindergarten and also the first grade in the 5th Air Force school at Itami Air Force base at Takarazuka Honshu, Japan. The family lived there two years. They moved to Lubbock recently and Lieutenant Hurst is stationed at Lubbock Air Force base.

School aboard was similar for Patricia to school here, since it was an American school, but students were more sheltered, being escorted to and from school and placed in charge of teachers who had sole responsibility for them during the day.

Patricia was born in the United States.

Private Papers Of Forrestal Are Now Kept At White House

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP) — The private papers of the late Defense Secretary James V. Forrestal, sought in the B-36 investigation for the light they might shed on the bomber controversy, are under seal at the White House.

Charles G. Ross, presidential secretary, disclosed the location today and said they will be kept private.

Ross talked to reporters as a Navy court of inquiry, looking into the background of charges of politics and fraud around the Air Forces big bomber, recessed indefinitely. The court is waiting for evidence it can't get now.

Kept Under Seal

Ross said the papers were left in President Truman's custody by Forrestal only for safekeeping. They have not been read by anybody there, he said, and will not be opened.

"They are under seal and are being held for the executors," Ross told a news conference.

Forrestal left the papers there shortly after he resigned from the defense post, because his house was being closed and he wanted them in a safe place, Ross said.

Refuses To Take Stand

That was shortly before Forrestal leaped to his death at the Bethesda Naval hospital here where he was under treatment.

The special Navy court recessed with a statement from Thomas C. Kinkaid, its president, that "there is no bickering' with Secretary of the Air Force Symington.

Symington declined to take the stand and tell what he knows about the origin of a once-annonymous memo suggesting fraud and political corruption around the big bomber.

Symington's name figured prominently in the paper's recitation of rumors, which the House Armed Services committee has held to be totally unfounded.

28 BELIEVED KILLED

TOKYO, Friday, Sept. 23. (AP)— Twenty-eight Japanese school teachers were believed killed yesterday in the collapse of a suspension bridge near Toyama, 155 miles west of Tokyo, press reports said today. Dispatches reported the teachers were on an outing and crowded out on the bridge to pose for pictures. The bridge gave way. Seventeen bodies were recovered. The others were believed to have drowned.

FIRST NATIVE SON CHOSEN

Dr. M. T. Harrington Selected As Texas A. And M. President

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 23 (AP) — Sprawling Texas A. & M. will be headed by one of its own sons for the first time in its 74-year history.

Dr. M. T. Harrington, who graduated in 1922, was unanimously elected today by directors to succeed President Frank C. Bolton June 1, 1950.

Dr. Bolton asked to be relieved. He will continue at A. & M. in another capacity.

Chancellor Gibb Gilchrist nominated Harrington, dean of the college for two years. He is 47 and a native of Plano, Collin county.

Has Served 41 Years

He will be the school's 16th president.

The retiring president has been with the college 41 years and president since last November.

"It is with genuine pleasure that I learned that the board had chosen my associate, Dr. Harrington, as the man to whom I am to hand over the reins of the college when I retire to modified service at the end of this session," Bolton said.

"Dr. Harrington and I have worked together for almost a quarter of a century and I am pleased I will be able to relinquish the leadership of the college to such capable and experienced hands."

The board said Bolton asked earlier to be retired to modified service, but had continued as president at the board's request.

Harrington graduated in chemical engineering. After three years as an analytical chemist in the Texas Oil industry, he returned as an instructor. He did graduate work in his spare time.

Is Veteran Teacher

He received his M. S. degree at A. & M. in 1937. He did graduate work at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the Universities of Michigan and California. He got his Ph.D. from Iowa State.

He is six feet tall and quiet. He has a reputation as an outstanding teacher and lecturer. He has spent most of his time in the classroom and laboratory.

In 1946, when the rush of returning veterans forced A. & M. to add an annex for freshmen at Bryan Army Air Field, Harrington was named as its head, as assistant dean of college.

He became dean of Arts and Scienses in mid 1948.

Harrington is married and has an eight-year-old son, John.

Bolton is known as "the grand old man of A. & M."

Before he became president, he was executive vice president and dean.

House In Denison Destroyed As Fumigant Spray Explodes

DENISON, Sept. 23 (AP) — An eight-room house blew up today while the structure was being fogged with a DDT kerosene base spray. No one was hurt.

The house, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mills, had been emptied for fumigation.

Fire marshal Bob Sherburne said he believed fumes from the spray were ignited by a pilot light in a floor furnace.

Speculative Trading Sharply Boosts Price Of Mexican Gold

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 23 (U.P.)—The price of gold skyrocketed today on the open market to $62.64 an ounce, $27 above the price set by the international monetary fund.

At mid-morning, trading in old Mexican fifty-peso gold pieces, containing about an ounce and a half of pure gold, was brisk and prices were still rising. The pieces sold at $58 yesterday and opened today at about $60.

Market experts said they had "no idea" how high the price of gold might go by the 1 p.m. closing.

They called the trading speculative, and said it was based on reports that the United States plans to increase the price of gold above the $35 official price of the international monetary fund.

Mexico is expected to support South African pressure for a hike in gold prices from the fund.

Observers predicted the rise in gold prices would continue and that prices may eventually reach the $87 per fifty-peso piece that Mexican money brings in the world black market.

Waiter Drops Turkey Dinner; Bandleader Gets Bruised Pate

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23. (INS)—Bandleader Desi Arnaz nursed a cut and bruised pate today after a waiter at a crowded night club dropped a turkey dinner on his head.

The waiter was jostled by the crowd and let go of the loaded tray with a "whoops." Desi was showered with crockery while his wife, actress Lucille Ball, caught the roast turkey.

Comedian Red Skelton and his wife, seated nearby, spent several minutes shaking dill pickles out of their hair.

Arnaz was given treatment at an emergency hospital and later returned to the night culb.

Two Injured In Helicopter Crash Near Connally Base

WACO, Sept. 23 (AP) — Two officers were slightly injured in a helicopter crash near Connally Air Force base today.

The aircraft was at a low altitude when the crash occurred, the first report said.

In the crash were Major George P. Gaffney and First Lt. Robert C. Hammond. The base surgeon reported that neither of the men was seriously injured, but that the craft was demolished.

The accident occurred near the runway as the craft was coming in for a landing.

Borger City Commission Okays Resignation Of Mayor Herbst

BORGER, Sept. 23. (AP)—Mayor Fred C. Herbst resigned yesterday. City commissioners accepted the resignation.

"The time has come when I must lay down my burden of public office," Herbst's resignation read. "I find that I cannot continue to carry civic responsibilities and do my duty as mayor as I wish to do."

Herbst and commissioners said any differences that might have existed had nothing to do with the resignation.

Acting Mayor George Finger's motion not to elect a new mayor immediately was approved.

Herbst was appointed to fill a vacancy on the commission Oct. 26, 1946. He was appointed Mayor two months later.

Fate Of Tokyo Rose To Be Placed In Hands Of Trial Jury Monday

By CONSTANCE HITCHCOCK
INS Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23—The fate of Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, 33-year-old Nisei defendant in the Tokyo Rose treason trial, will be placed in the hands of a jury Monday.

Arguments in the 57-day old trial in San Francisco federal court were concluded today.

Woman Called 'Turncoat'

Federal Judge Michael J. Roche excused the jury for the weekend after chief Prosecutor Tom De Wolfe denounced Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino as "a Nipponese turncoat and an arch traitor."

In his closing arguments, De Wolfe said of the Los Angeles-born woman:

"She is a female Benedict Arnold. She is a traitor to her native land in its time of greatest need—a traitor to your government and her government."

Death Sentence Possible

Judge Roche said he would give his instructions to the jury of six men and six women at 9:30 a.m. Monday. He is expected to take about two and one-half hours and the jury will begin its deliberations about noon.

Conviction on the charge of treason could mean a sentence ranging from five year's imprisonment to death.

The indictment under which she was brought to trial charges her with eight overt acts of treason. De Wolfe, however, said that the jury need find her guilty of only one such act for conviction.

The defense has maintained throughout the long trial that Tokyo Rose broadcast for Radio Tokyo during the war because she feared for her life and that she did not broadcast enemy propaganda.

Over a million words of testimony were presented at the trial of the Los Angeles woman who went to Tokyo on a visit in 1941 and was caught there by the war. She participated in the "Zero Hour" program on Radio Tokyo, a program the government charges was designed to undermine the morale of the American men fighting in the Pacific.

The defense contended that Tokyo Rose was only one of several women broadcasters for the "Zero Hour" and that she actually conspired with several allied prisoners of war to defeat the Japanese purpose on the program.

She also claimed that she was being unjustly tried in an American court on the grounds that she obtained Portuguese citizenship through her marriage to a Portuguese national.

Prosecutor De Wolfe told the court that the U. S. still faces troubled times and that "this trial should serve as a warning that in time of peril you cannot serve another country and escape trial here."

Disabled Vet Finds Future Brightened By Learning Craft

FORT WORTH, Sept. 23. (INS)—The leather tooling business is proving the way out for one 29-year-old disabled war veteran of Fort Worth.

Veterans administration aid did the job for former Staff Sgt. James H. Redford. A head injury subjects him to occasional amnesia and blackouts and made it virtually impossible to hold a regular job.

A home training program was the final VA solution for Redford, after he had had to drop out of Texas Christian university and at a business college. A skilled leather craftsman taught him the trade and the VA supplied equipment and leather.

Broad Sales Reported

The veteran learned quickly and soon turned out artistic work such as purses, belts, billfolds and the like. He already has sold his work to customers in Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, Colorado and on the Yale and Baylor university campuses.

"A year ago I had almost given up hope of ever doing anything with my life," Redford said. "Everything I attempted to do was in vain because of my disability. Now, miraculously, I'm ready and able to earn a living for my wife and two children."

Better still, interest in his work apparently has lessened attacks caused by his head injury.

Grass Fire Situation Claimed Serious In Dallas County

DALLAS, Sept. 23. (INS)—The grass fire situation is becoming serious to the city of Dallas and to crops and grazing land in Dallas county, according to Fire Chief C. N. Penn.

To show this, Penn recently cited his "worst grass day" when 25 alarms were turned in, 18 being in the city proper. One alarm alone kept department equipment out of service for one hour and 26 minutes.

Even at that, Penn added that grass fire alarms were well under those of last year when 35 to 40 a day were not uncommon. Dry condition of grass and weeds during the blazing days of August provide the main threat.

REUNION OF BROTHERS

WICHITA, Kan., (U.P.) — The brothers Bailey—Charles, R. C., Alton and Guy—haven't been getting around much lately. Although they all live within 500 miles of each other—in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas—their recent meeting at the Wichita home of Charles Baily was the foursome's first get-together in 53 years.

Because deckchair "spivs" are collecting chairs on crowded Brighton Beach, England, stacking them and charging $2.50 for rental, signs have been printed advising visitors that the charge from a uniformed attendant is 10 cents.

HIT BY A FREIGHT TRAIN — Elmer Littlejohn, 43, and his son-in-law, James Murphy, 22, of San Francisco, know how it feels to be hit by a freight train — or at least, by a freight car. The pair was driving along quietly, when suddenly this freight car toppled over on top of their car. Littlejohn, the driver, was unhurt and Murphy received cuts on his fingers. A defective wheel on the freight car is believed to have caused the accident.

Whitney Oldtimers Get New Chairs After Winning Battle

WHITNEY, Sept. 23. (INS)—The oldtimers of Whitney can really take it easy in the future—they now have 14 brand new chairs to sit in.

The old bench over which the involved community dispute arose was "solved" by the special election which determined their right to sit there.

Nationwide publicity over the fuss attracted the attention of a national manufacturer who sent the chairs to the oldsters.

And the group seem to like 'em just fine. "Best seat I ever had," one remarked.

FARMER PROTESTS LONG TALKS

Nation's Largest Farm Groups Split On Value Of Brannan Plan

By BERNARD J. McDONALD
INS Staff Correspondent

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Sept. 23—The Republican farm conference at Sioux City, Ia., was interrupted late this afternoon by a spectator who shouted he was "tired of hearing long-winded speeches."

The interruption came as Axel W. Neilson, Omaha, Neb., general manager of the West-Central Co-operative Grain Co., was reading a lengthy statement protesting Commodity Credit corporation (CCC) "invasion of private enterprise" by going into the grain marketing business.

Long Speeches Attacked

The young, sunburned man reportedly from O'Brien county, Ia., advanced toward the platform shouting:

"I'm tired of hearing long-winded speeches. I came here to hear from farmers. I've wasted all day."

He declined to give his name.

Axel J. Beck, chairman of the Republican National committee sponsored meeting, told the man Neilsen had the floor and he would be given an opportunity to speak later.

"I won't be here later," the man replied, and started out of the auditorium with reporters in pursuit.

Hope Blasts Plan

After the disturbance, which drew a ripple of applause from the audience, had subsided, Beck ruled out future long statements and said only short talks would be in order.

Earlier Rep. Clifford Hope (R-Kans) blasted the Brannan plan today, but the nation's two largest farm groups divided on the merits of the administration proposal.

Speaking at the Republican National Farm conference in Sioux City, Hope, the ranking GOP member of the House Agriculture committee, termed the plan a "concoction of labor politicians" that would "destroy agriculture."

Official Upholds Plan

He also demanded to know why "labor leaders who have sponsored the Brannan plan haven't taken steps toward putting it into effect for labor."

In a statement from James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers union, assistant Legislative Secretary Benton J. Strong of Keosauqua, Ia., said the organization believes that the Brannan plan "is the most consistent and offers the best prospect of meeting national needs."

He said his group believes it "much more desirable to draw on the general treasury than to prop up prices in the market place."

R. E. Short, vice president of the American Farm Bureau federation, joined Hope in blasting the administration program.

Fair Prices Wanted

He said farmers "cannot afford to get themselves into the position where their net income, and probably a part of their actual production costs, are dependent upon annual appropriations from the federal treasury."

A group of "dirt farmers" from Monona county, Ia., told the conference that they want fair prices and income, continued full production without production controls, comprehensive soil conservation and reduced federal expenses.

R. W. Fischer of Turin, Ia., was spokesman for the group.

Pick-Sloan Plan Slapped

Patton also slapped at the Pick-Sloan plan for development of the Missouri river basin and urged establishment of a valley authority instead. He also demanded separation of the Agricultural Extension service from the Farm bureau.

Guy Gabrielson, chairman of the Republican National committee, termed development of a long-range farm program the "most important business confronting the nation."

He said the solution should be found apart from partisan politics.

Minimum Income Set

The conference drew an attendance of about 500 during the first day.

It was not told of President Truman's announcement that Russia has the atom bomb, and GOP leaders were quoted as saying the revelation was made "in order to push the Republican farm conference off the front pages."

Other speakers included Gov. William S. Beardsley of Iowa, who declared that the income of farmers must never drop below 16 percent of the national income if a stable economy is to be maintained, and conference Chairman Axel Beck of South Dakota.

The meeting will continue tomorrow.

Dallas Group Uses Siren To Start Traffic Safety Drive

DALLAS, Sept. 23 (INS) — One way to kick off a traffic safety drive stressing proper hand-signals is to use a siren, and a Dallas group did just that.

That sounded "work time" for the Civitan club and the Dallas Citizens' Traffic commission.

A 100,000 stickers for automobiles and 150,000 cards showing the proper hand signals were available for distribution. Then about 600 signs and posters for placing in downtown windows. Twenty large billboards illustrating the proper ways to signal in traffic were along key traffic lanes.

Belgian Display At State Fair To Boost Post-War Recovery

DALLAS, Sept. 23 (INS)—Belgium will use the Texas state fair this fall as a medium for helping her post-war recovery program.

David A. McMinn, sales manager of the state fair, said in Dallas that more than 50 Belgian manufacturers had begun preparing a $25,000 display in the General Exhibits building.

The Belgians hope to attract the attention of the Southwest market for import goods in a move to better their country's export-import balance with the United States.

Shotgun To Be Featured

McMinn said that Belgium had never before entered an exhibit at a state fair.

Merchandise to be shown at the Dallas fair is of a wide variety. An assortment of the famous shotguns of the Barriques d'Armes Unies de Liege, long favorites of American sportsmen, will be given considerable space.

In the luxury class, hand-carved desks, chairs and tables made by Joseph Arnold of Liege are counted on to attract decorators and furniture dealers of the Southwest area.

Space for laces and linens of Belgian manufacture will also be provided at Fair park. The latter will include materials suitable for making table linens, sports clothes, ladies' dresses and blouses, men's summer suits and other items.

Special Day Set

One of the largest single categories of goods will be ceramics. Several Belgian manufacturers are planning to show collections of pins brooches, earrings, smoking sets, ash trays, coffee urns, teapots, cream pitchers, plates and platters.

Another group showing a wide range of merchandise is that of the makers of rugs, draperies and upholstering materials.

The State fair has set aside Sept. 12 as Belgian day, and high officials of government and industry will be on hand to take part in ceremonies.

Baron Silvercruys, Belgian ambassador to the United States, will head the delegation.

Spectators Watch Lightning Strike Derrick Near Bastrop

BASTROP, Sept. 23 (INS)—People in Bastrop are still talking about the "bolt from the blue" that interrupted work on a drilling rig near the city.

More than 100 spectators were watching the drilling crew complete work preparatory for testing production, when a lightning bolt from an almost clear sky struck the derrick.

The bolt set the oil-covered slush pit on fire and it took workers and spectators 15 minutes to smother the blaze by throwing dirt on it.

Air transport is the chief means of travel in Lower Burma, where disturbance prevails.

Cleburne Man Dies Of Injuries Suffered In Car-Scooter Mishap

CLEBURNE, Sept. 23. (AP)—A 66-year-old man died today of injuries sustained when his motor scooter collided with an automobile at a downtown intersection.

For the past six years, Cleburne has had one fatal traffic accident. Bickle was the first victim in 1949.

SQUEAK WAS A CAT

WILSON CREEK, Wash. (U.P.) — Three Wilson Creek women could not understand the strange squeak coming from the motor of their car as they were out driving. They finally stopped to investigate and, lifting the hood of the car, they found a cat clinging to the top of the storage battery, more dead than alive. They lifted the groggy feline to the ground.

Gambling War Seen In Oklahoma Town

SAPULPA, Okla., Sept. 23. (U.P.) —Two night club explosions may have set off an all-out gambling war in this area, Sapulpa police said today.

A one-story supper club and gambling casino known as "The Oaks" was destroyed in a mysterious blast yesterday. It had been padlocked two months ago by court orders after officers found gambling machines on the premises.

A few minutes later, another explosion felled a tree near the "Blue Dahlia club, almost a mile north of "The Oaks."

There were no casualties, police said.

Roy Farley, operator of the Blue Dahlia club, said he had been warned his night spot would be "blown to bits." He declined to comment further.

"I'm strictly in the supper club business, myself," he said.

Neighbors in the vicinity of "The Oaks" said the explosion had shattered windows and damaged furniture in their homes.

A nitro-glycerin blast ripped "The Oaks" apart less than a year ago, but it was rebuilt.

Sheriff Lee Johnson, who started questioning residents of the vicinity yesterday, said the explosion caused damages estimated at $30,000.

Soviets Believed Not Ready To Risk Chance Of New World War

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Russian possession of the atom bomb does not necessarily increase the prospect of a Third World War.

What it will mean is, of course, the big question in the chancelleries of the world today, as in the mind of every human who has heard of Hiroshima.

For those who had placed their dependence on the belief that the American monopoly of the bomb had been the greatest deterrent of war between East and West, the President's announcement came as a shocking threat of new World war.

No Changes Seen

This was probably the first reaction of most observers. But it was followed quickly by estimates in many quarters that it really meant no great change in international relationships. For one thing, allied policy already was based on the knowledge that Russian production of the bomb was inevitable.

At the State department there was even some feeling that Russia, once she could negotiate from a base of more nearly equal power, might shed some of the fear complex which is believed to have been an important motivating factor in her postwar attitude. Some speculated that she might join the rest of the world in a really serious effort to establish atomic and other arms controls.

This sounds like a reasonable reaction. But it, like the war talk, doesn't quite fit the Russian attitude toward all international cooperation, affecting many things besides atomic controls.

Soviets Are Suspicious

Russia, by inherited tendency and strongly-held political theory, is suspicious of foreigners and opposed to everything that would seem to subject the smallest of her affairs to the slightest outside influence. Moscow extends national sovereignty to a point far beyond its meaning to western minds.

For her to submit to foreign inspection of her atomic projects, much less to their control by any international body, would involve not only a reversal of policy, but also in what might be termed a racial characteristic.

If, then, the diplomatic relation remains unchanged, what of the military?

Will Russia use the atomic bomb as a new weapon, of fear in an effort to extend the Communist sway over more countries?

It is conceivable, but hardly seems likely under present circumstances. When the Western Allies were both weak and disorganized the presence or propinquity of the Red army was used for this purpose in Eastern Europe. That army is still the overwhelming force in Europe. But since the Allies have organized to back the policy of Russian containment, there have been no more coups.

The fact is that competent observers are generally agreed that Russia does not want war. Allied rearmament is designed to make her keep on not wanting it, and as insurance against misconduct of her motives.

New Development In Revival Of Cells May Mean Sounder Teeth

BIPAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Staff Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Sept. 23 — Four scientists reported today a new development that may permit man to have sounder bones and better teeth.

Their process revives bone cells after the cells apparently died, an accomplishment long sought by research scientists.

The experts, Drs. Sidney Nobel, Albert Sobel, Albert Hanok and Alexander S. Wolffe, of Jewish hospital, Brooklyn and the Polytechnic institute of Brooklyn, said the studies on bone cell revival resulted from a search for the reason that mineralization, or ossification, takes place normally only in bones and teeth.

Blood Regulates Composition

In earlier studies, they had shown that the composition of bones and teeth is regulated by the blood.

The chemists told the 116th National meeting of the American Chemical society that they used bits of bones taken from living animals in the attempt to learn why mineralization takes place normally only in bones and teeth.

"If we understood this," they said, "it might be possible to control the process and aid in the production of good bones and teeth. At the same time, it might also be possible to control abnormal ossification, such as takes place at times in the muscle, brain, tonsils, arteries, kidneys and other such tissues."

'Dead' Cells Treated

The experiments showed, according to the report, that a number of chemicals will destroy the ability of a bone cell to ossify. In the past, it was believed that the bone cell died. The Brooklyn experiments apparently killed the bone cells by treatment with salts of magnesium, copper, strontium, and ordinary table salt.

Then to reverse the procedure, the chemists treated the "dead" bone cells with calcium chloride, another chemical.

"The treatment was so effective that the ossifying power of the bone cell was about twice as great as before its destruction," they reported.

The cells were revived up to half a day after apparent death, and possibly a full day.

"The findings represent the beginning of a new chapter in the understanding of the mineralization process in the body," the chemists said. "A more important application in the long run will be the production of good bones and teeth."

Police Recover Body Of Man From Houston Ship Channel

HOUSTON, Sept. 23 (AP) — The body of George W. Holt, 23, Beaumont, was recovered from the Houston ship channel at Pasadena today.

Capt. J. J. Coleman of the dredge Windham reported earlier that Holt apparently fell overboard about 3:20 a.m. Holt was an oiler on the dredge.

Coleman said no one saw Holt fall.

Members of the Harris county Emergency corps and Pasadena police dragged the channel several hours before recovering the body.

The Windham is being used in dredge work for the vehicular tunnel being constructed beneath the channel at Pasadena.

Many British doctors dissatisfied with the treatment by the medcial profession, are urging a mass withdrawal from the National Health Service.

The New Hudson—the first and only car you step down into—achieves true streamlining and today's lowest silhouette as the natural result of a basically new design principle available in no other type of automobile!
Every time your eyes linger on a New Hudson, you are admiring beauty as genuine as nature at her glorious best!
For this stunning streamliner has fresh styling that begins deep inside the car with a recessed floor which is the key to the "step-down" design—the exciting idea that opens up new opportunities for genuinely beautiful lines!
Yes, for years it has been widely known that the lower a car can be built, the more beautiful it will be, the better it will ride and handle.
But whenever men have sought to create the ideal in low-built motor cars, without lowering the interior floor, they've had to keep top lines high to preserve inside head room, or reduce inside roominess to get top lines down—an unsatisfactory compromise in either case.
And even with compromises, no car has ever matched the glamorously low silhouette Hudson brings you today!
This is because Hudson—and Hudson alone—has a recessed floor in an exclusive, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame* which makes it possible to build the lowest car on the highway—just five feet from ground to top—but with more head room than in any mass-produced car built today!
The exciting, more than skin-deep beauty of the New Hudson is the natural result of this basic "step-down" construction, which is so right it frees the designer of the need for makeshifts in styling.
We cordially invite you to see and drive the New Hudson. You'll quickly sense that this car is so far ahead it's a protected investment in motor car value.

Lubbock Westerners Trample North Side Steers, 38 To 0

12,000 See Locals Unleash Powerful Air, Ground Attack

BY AL WILLIAMS
Avalanche Sports Writer

Lubbock High school unleashed a powerful ground and air attack last night at Jones Stadium before 12,000 fans to trample the North Side Steers, 38 to 0, in a non-district game.

After a scoreless first quarter when a long drive was stopped on North Side's 11-yard line, the Westerners broke loose in the second quarter for two touchdowns, made three in the third frame, and pushed one over in the final quarter for good measure.

The Steers' only threat was in the fourth quarter when a drive fizzled out on the Westerner 28.

In two games thus far the Westerners have scored 85 points and not allowed the opposition a single point. Last week Childress was blanked, 47-0.

Williams March Highlight

Highlighting the Lubbock attack was a sparkling 86-yard touchdown run by right Halfback Charlie Williams in the third quarter. After getting the ball on the 14-yard line on an out-of-bounds punt, Williams went over right tackle, shook off would-be tacklers at the line of scrimmage, ran into more opposition in the secondary, shook free with a determined effort and went all the way.

Lubbock substitute Quarterback Morris Turner took over the quarterbacking chores shortly before the half when Bob Brown was injured slightly and played a fine game, passing for two touchdowns and skirting end for another.

Lubbock In Command

Lubbock was in command after the first quarter and went on to register 271 net yards rushing. Eight complete passes went for 102 yards and three touchdowns. The first two tallies came through the air, as did the last marker.

This should indicate that Lubbock will be hard to stop either aground or through the ether waves this season, with two top passers in Brown and Turner. On all pass plays the line held up well, giving the passer plenty of time to get the pass away.

The Steers took to the air frequently, attempting 24 passes, nine of which were completed. Quarterback Kermit Allen threw 21 of the aerials, completing nine of them.

Miller Leads Steers

Top man in the Steer attack was Fullback L. V. Miller, who carried the ball nine times for a total of 54 yards net gain. This was exceptional when the whole Steer offensive netted only 12 yards rushing, Allen being snowed under behind the line four times for substantial losses on attempted passes.

Williams paced Lubbock's ground attack with 137 yards gained on nine tries. He scored twice for scoring honors, and gathered in two passes for 25 yards.

Fullback Malcolm Young carried the ball eight times for 45-yards net. Brown passed nine times and completed four for 56 yards and one score.

Capitalize On Fumbles

The Westerners capitalized on a fumble recovery in the second quarter on North Side's 34-yard line to drive for the first score, the touchdown coming in two plays.

Brown faded back to pass on first down, found no receiver and skirted right end to the 10-yard line, a pickup on the play of 24 yards, following key blocks of End Billy Wright and Williams. Brown hit Williams in the left secondary with a pass for the score. Left Halfback Wayne Stroud converted.

Following an interception of an Allen pass and a four-yard return to the Steer 44 by Brown, Brown threw to End Garnet Reeves who went to the 18. Williams hit the line for eight yards to the 10, Fullback Malcolm Young went around left end for a score which was nullified by a penalty which set Lubbock back to the 15-yard stripe. On the next play Turner threw to Reeves, who made a fine jumping catch, for the score just before halftime.

Steers Can't Threaten

North Side was never able to get underway following the kickoff in the final half, losing nine yards on two tries before right End Ronnie McBee kicked to Turner on the 45, Turner returning 15 yards to the Steer 30, from which point the Westerners scored in four plays, Fullback Young plowing over from the three-yard line.

Heads up work by Reeves set up the next score. He went down fast following the kickoff and recovered the kick on North Side's 26-yard marker, from which point Young, Williams and Stroud carried to the two where Turner took over and went around right end for the touchdown, making the score 25-0.

Tooke Sets Up Final TD

North Side kicked out on the Lubbock 14-yard line late in the third stanza, and then Williams went on his touchdown gallop.

Right Halfback Billy Tooke set up the final score midway of the fourth quarter, intercepting a pass by the Steers' Allen and returning to the North Side 36. Turner passed to Tooke for 21 yards to the 15. Taylor hit left guard to the seven.

Turner lost one-yard on a pass attempt. Don Rawls made a first down on a plunge to the five. Turner was held for no advance, and then a penalty set the Westerners back to the 10-yard line, from which point Turner passed to Wayne Noland for the final tally.

Outstanding linemen for Lubbock were Co-Captains Reeves and Wright at Ends. The boys seriously hampered every effort of North Side around end and broke through often to drop Steer ball carriers for losses.

Morton Trounces Tahoka, 30 To 12

TAHOKA, Sept. 23. (Special)—Morton's Indians invaded Tahoka tonight to pound out a 30-12 victory over the Bulldogs before 1,500 fans.

The Indians from District 4-A North scored in every period but the third while the Bulldogs of District 4-A South pieced together a touchdown in the third frame and one in the final period.

Jimmy Coates, Indian fullback, scored two touchdowns in the initial stanza on runs of 30 and 4 yards respectively and made a third score in the last minute of the game on an 8-yard smash through the center of the home team's line.

Don Baldwin scampered 71 yards for paydirt in the second quarter and in the same period, Bo Alsup intercepted a Tahoka pass from his left tackle position and ran the remaining 15 yards for a touchdown.

Charles Brookshire scored for the Bulldogs in the third period after a pass play originating from Tahoka's 35 put the ball on Morton's 13.

Clark Farr made the second Tahoka touchdown on an 8-yard off tackle slash in the final quarter.

The visitors led in first downs, 11-6.

Littlefield Beats O. L. Slaton Twice

Littlefield won two junior high school football games at the expense of O. L. Slaton here Friday at Chapman field.

Littlefield defeated the ninth grade Redskins, 7-0, with a second quarter touchdown drive of 40-yards and then staved off a bid by the Redskins before halftime when the Lubbock team drove to the five-yard line.

The second half was spent almost entirely in Lubbock territory. Coach Bennie McWilliams said after the game that his team was not ready for the heavier Littlefield squad.

Bill Pope's score over left guard early in the second quarter gave the Warriors a temporary lead, but they could not hold it as the Littlefield eighth-graders came up with a 13-6 victory. Pope's marker was the climax of a 40-yard drive.

Littlefield came back late in the second stanza to score and then pushed another tally over in the fourth period on a drive which featured several ground-gaining end sweeps.

Next Saturday the Redskins travel to Odessa for a game.

Lamesa Tramples Plainview, 26-2

LAMESA, Sept. 23. (Special)—Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes tonight handed Plainview Bulldogs a convincing 26-2 setback in a non-conference Class AA game dedicating the new 5,700-seat Tornado stadium.

Coach Bob Harrell's Lamesans, displaying a surprising scoring punch, piled up a 26-0 halftime lead, then staved off several Plainview threats in the closing two quarters. The victory was Lamesa's third in a row this season, and the fourth-period Plainview safety was the first score yielded by the Tornadoes in the three games.

Bulldogs Lead In Downs

Plainview, because of its strong second-half comeback, led in first downs by 12 to seven, but Lamesa amassed 220 yards net rushing to 165 for the losers, and gained 51 yards through the air to four for Coach Dub Harris' Bulldogs.

Bobby Hawkins connected on a 32-yard pass play to Righ End Jerry Phillips for the first Tornado touchdown in the opening quarter, with Larry Lattimore adding the extra point from placement.

Speedy Dick Echols circled right end and raced 62 yards in a sideline sprint for the second Lamesa marker, also in the first quarter.

In the second period, Echols broke loose for 22 yards to the Bulldog five-yard stripe, and two plays later Hawkins banged over from the four for the counter.

Hawkins Converts

Hawkins also had a hand in the final touchdown, flipping an 11-yard pass to Left End T. J. Womack in the end zone. Hawkins then converted for the 26th Lamesa point of the night.

Plainview's two points came in the fourth period after a Bulldog drive was halted on the Lamesa one-yard line. In attempting to punt, Phillips accidentally stepped out of the end zone, giving Plainview an automatic safety.

In the third quarter, Plainview had driven all the way to Lamesa's four-yard line on another march before the Tornado line tightened to quell the threat.

Hawkins, Echols and Delbert Dickenson were the victors' top offensive performers, while in the Lamesa line Center Bill Hart and Reserve End Marshall Crawford were outstanding.

Jack Howton, Tom Caskey and 112-pound Lowell Kingery shared backfield honors for Plainview, while End Sherwood and Tackle Bob Findley played stellar ball in the line.

80 Yards In Penalties

Lamesa drew 80 yards in penalties, most of them in the second half, but fine punting by Phillips and Hawkins—who together kicked seven times for a 39-yard average—kept Plainview at bay.

L. B. Vaughn, president of the local school board, spoke briefly during the halftime stadium dedicatory ceremony.

YOUNG BESTS BOLANOS

NEW YORK, Sept. 23. (AP)—Terry Young, a rough and tumble battler from New York's East side, upset the favored Enrique Bolanos, a Mexican from Los Angeles, tonight in a bloody 10-round battle that left the Madison Square Garden ring splotched with blood.

Superior Manpower Cramps Eagles

Littlefield Defeats O'Donnell, 53 To 0

O'DONNELL, Sept. 23 (Special)—O'Donnell's Eagles put up a stiff first-quarter defense, then collapsed in the face of superior manpower here tonight as they dropped a 53-0 decision to the well-drilled Littlefield Wildcats in a non-conference game witnessed by 700 fans.

The Eagles, outweighed 30 pounds per man in the starting lineup, held the favored Wildcats scoreless through the first period, as Littlefield twice fumbled inside the Eagles 10-yard line. Put Coach J. S. Fikes' power-laden crew broke loose for 20 points in the second stanza and never let up, adding 13 in the third and 20 in the fourth.

Littlefield rolled up 337 yards on the ground, but failed to complete a pass in five tries. O'Donnell netted 33 yards rushing and 34 through the air, but was never able to get inside the Wildcat 20, and made only one first down in the last half.

Tom Bailes, hard-running 190-pound fullback, powered over from 10 yards out for the first Wildcat marker. Speedy Charles Askew went 46 yards around left end for the second, with Gene Renfro running the extra point. Askew later followed up a 25-yard run to Bailes with a two-yard touchdown plunge for Littlefield's third counter. Bailes ran the extra point, bringing the halftime score to 20-0.

In the third quarter Steven Brock ripped through left tackle and raced 40 yards to score, and Renfro hit right guard for nine yards and another six-pointer. Askew added the extra point on a running play.

Early in the final period, Co-Capt. Frank Gage rammed through center for 14 yards and a touchdown, with Bailes running the extra point. Bailes tallied the seventh Wildcat touchdown by driving 10 yards through the middle, shaking off several would-be tacklers en route to the end zone. This time Askew ran the extra point.

The final touchdown was set up by a brilliant 55-yard punt return by Cokie Hopping. Billy Cowan scored the six-pointer on a two-yard plunge.

Halfback Jack Houston sparked O'Donnell's meager offensive and played a standout defensive game, while Carrol Pearson checked in a good game at his end position.

Twins Jim and John Fowler paced the smooth-functioning Littlefield line, as Bailes, Gage, Renfro, Askew and Brock shared offensive honors for the Wildcats.

Lockney Longhorns Down Crosbyton, 26-0

LOCKNEY, Sept. 23. (Special)—Lockney's Longhorns scored in every quarter to down the Crosbyton Chiefs, 26-0, before 2,000 spectators of a District 3-A pigskin tilt here tonight.

Halfback Roy Ferguson climaxed a 55-yard drive in the first quarter by slicing over left tackle and racing 15 yards for a touchdown.

A 56-yard pass play from C. B. Smart to Mac Howard, who lateraled to Fullback DeJuan Strickland produced the second score. Strickland converted.

In the third period, Strickland climaxed a 63-yard sustained drive by plunging over from the three. He again kicked the extra point.

Another pass, this time from Smart to Bob Huckaby, a tackle who was made eligible by a lineup shift, was good for the final tally in the closing period. The toss covered 12 yards.

Coach Curtis Kelley's Longhorns held Coach Fred Cunningham's Chiefs to four first downs while making 12 themselves.

Delbert Shearer, 290-pound tackle, turned in a top performance in the Lockney line while Tackle Frank Hash was outstanding for the Chiefs.

Sam Covington and Charlie Wheeler were the outstanding backs for the losers.

Lightfoot Leads Crane Team To 25-6 Win Over Denver City

CRANE, Sept. 23. (Special)—Richard Lightfoot scored three touchdowns tonight to lead the Crane Cranes to a 25-6 triumph over the Denver City Mustangs in a District 5-A conference gridiron encounter.

The two teams battled on even terms through the first half, which ended with the score tied at 6-6 as a result of a Denver City tally late in the second quarter.

But in the closing two periods Lightfoot sparked a spirited Crane offensive that netted three touchdowns for the margin of victory.

Levelland Drops Sundown, 38 To 7

LEVELLAND, Sept. 23. (Special)—Coach Truett Rattan's Levelland Lobos, after two non-conference setbacks, tonight launched their District 4-A North championship drive with a smashing 38-7 verdict over the Sundown Roughnecks.

The Lobos took charge early and were never seriously threatened as they scored in every quarter. The halftime score was Levelland 26, Sundown 0.

Fullback John Branch opened the scoring parade in the first quarter with a 53-yard jaunt around right end. Later in the same stanza, Perry Heard went five yards for another six-point, with Tackle Ed Byerley placekicking the extra point.

In the second period, Durwood Johnson scooted 57 yards on an end sweep for another Lobo tally. Heard, on another end run, went 65 yards to score, then converted the extra point.

Third quarter action saw quarterback Dee Windsor scamper 16 yards around right end for another Levelland tally, then Don Wise slashed through right tackle for 11 yards and a six-pointer.

Sundown's lone counter came in the fourth quarter when Neil Pearcy hammered over from the one yard line to climax a downfield drive. R. E. Hensley placekicked the extra point for the Roughnecks.

For Levelland, Byerley, Bob Kennedy and Langford Sneed played outstanding games in the line, while backfield honors were well distributed.

Pearcy was easily Sundown's leading offensive threat, while left end Troy King performed well in the Roughneck forward wall.

Hereford Eleven Gains 6 To 0 Victory Over Sudan Hornets

HEREFORD, Sept. 23 (Special)—Hereford's Whitefaces nipped the visiting Sudan Hornets, 6-0, in a Class A non-conference game here tonight before 2,500 spectators.

The only score came in the last three minutes of the game when Jack Stanton tossed the ball to Bill Kelly for a pass-and-run advance of 55 yards and a touchdown.

However, Coach Francis Smith's Hornets led in the statistics department with eight first downs to Hereford's six and a net of 96 yards to the victors' 82.

Underdog Red Raiders Meet Texas Aggie Eleven Tonight

BY JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 23. — Texas Tech's Red Raiders arrived here late this afternoon, took a light workout at Alamo Stadium and then retired to the Gunter hotel to rest in preparation for their game against Texas A&M here tomorrow night.

The Raiders, underdogs by one or two touchdowns, have brought a team crippled by injuries and colds to this city for their annual battle with the Aggies. At least three regulars probably will not start and other players were left at home.

A crowd of over 24,000 is expected to witness the game, the tenth meeting of the two state colleges and the seventh in San Antonio.

Morgan Pessimistic

Coach Dell Morgan was far from optimistic on the eve of the annual grid encounter. The Raiders have not shown high spirit in practice this week and haven't looked good on defense against Aggie plays. Unless the Techsans snap out of it before tomorrow night, they could be in for a lusty licking.

The Aggies, although kicked last week 35-0 by Villanova, have a better team than last year. They are relying heavily on sophomores and while they didn't win last week, they showed enough to give Coach Harry Stiteler encouragement. The Aggie spirit is strong and they look on this game as the one to win for morale purposes.

Tech Students Leave

Both teams will have heavy spectator support. The Corps of Cadets at Texas A&M, supported by the huge Aggie band, will occupy over 6,000 seats in Alamo stadium. Texas Tech students will arrive by special buses late in the afternoon, accompanied by the band, and will have about 3,000 seats in the stadium.

The record in the series between the two colleges show the Aggies on top with seven victories against two defeats. The Farmers won the opening game of the series in 1927 47-6. Then came three straight Tech shutouts, A&M winning 7-0 in 1932, 19-0 in 1942 and 13-0 in 1943. The Aggies won again in 1944 by 27-14, in 1945 by 16-6 and in 1947 by 29-7. Tech won 6-0 in 1946 and 20-14 last year.

Team Hampered By Injuries

Tech goes into the game with heavy injuries. Fullback J. W. Thompson, End Jack Davis, Guards Don Williams and Walter Edrington and Tackle John Andrews probably will see either no service, or only limited action. Williams turned an ankle in dummy scrimmage practice Thursday. Andrews still is bothered by a badly bruised right shoulder. Davis sprained an ankle in the Texas game. Thompson had a bone removed from his right foot and Edrington was released from the infirmary Thursday.

The Aggies came through their game with Villanova in good condition and a full squad will make the trip to this city. Coach Harry Stiteler is pointing to the Tech game to get his derailed Aggie Special back on the winning track. The Farmers now have lost 15 straight games. Followers feel that a defeat of Tech will give the squad the confidence needed for the remaining games on the schedule.

Offensive Is Rusty

After watching Tech in action this week, most observers feel that the Aggies should be named favorites by at least one touchdown. Raider defenses were unable to stop Aggie plays and the Raider offensive wasn't clicking too well.

But anything can happen in a game between these two teams and San Antonio fans haven't forgotten the 97-yard pass play by Tech in the final 15 seconds of the first half last year. That play, which ended in a touchdown after the gun had sounded, sent the Raiders into the second half trailing 14-7. They won the game with a stretch drive that outclassed the Farmers completely.

The same thing could happen tomorrow night.

Springlake Bows To Dimmitt, 22-7

SPRINGLAKE, Sept. 23. (Spl.) The Dimmit Bob Cats trounced the Sprinklake Wolverines here tonight, 22-7, before a crowd of about 1,000 fans in a District 3-B conference tilt.

In the first quarter, Dimmitt lost the ball on the Wolverine eight-yard-line but an automatic safety a play later gave the Cats their first two points.

A pass from Barlow to Smith from their own eight-yard-line in the next quarter produced an 86-yard run by Smith that gave Springlake its only score of the game. Barrett caught a pass for the extra point.

Wilkinson, Dimmitt back, went off tackle in the third quarter for 38 yards to score. The try for the extra point failed.

Leasure went 16 yards around end to score in the final frame and Wilkinson climaxed a long Bobcat drive by scoring again from the four. Both extra points were made by Wilkinson.

Coach Baker's Wolverines tried 10 passes and completed four. They made ten first downs. Dimmitt Coach J. Blaine saw his Cats net 17 first downs.

Outstanding line performances were turned in by Leasure of Dimmitt and Jordan of Springlake. Backfield men showing up well were Wilkinson of Dimmitt and Junior Smith and J. Barlow of Sprinklake.

Officials Expect Aggie-Tech Game To Go To Dallas In 1951

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 23. (AP)—The Texas A. & M.-Texas Tech football game in all probability will be shifted from San Antonio to the Cotton Bowl in Dallas in 1951, an Aggie spokesman said today.

Contracts for the game, however, have not yet been signed, but it is understood that officials of the two schools have come to an agreement with officials of the state fair in Dallas, and the game will be played early in September, 1951 in the Cotton Bowl on a weekend when SMU and TCU are both out of town.

Antelopes In 19-6 Victory

By KENNETH MAY
Avalanche Sports Writer

POST, Sept. 23. (Special)—A gambling pass with only 20 seconds left to play helped the Post Antelopes to a 19-6 victory over the Seagraves Eagles here tonight in a District 4-A South conference opener.

Sparked by Quarterback Jack Kirkpatrick and Guard Calvin Storie, the Antelopes lumbered to pay dirt twice in the first half before being stalled in the final periods by outstanding defensive play by the Eagles.

The final play of the game found the Antelopes on the midfield stripe as Kirkpatrick gambled the game on a pass into the flat that was completed to Right Half Norman Cash. An interception and touchdown by the Eagles would have tied the score and given Seagraves the game on penetrations.

Post Scores Early

Post started the scoring early in the first period on a pass from Kirkpatrick to End Jerry Odom for eight yards following three first downs on a drive from the Antelopes' 41-yard line. The second tally came midway of the second quarter as Kirkpatrick went off tackle from the one-yard stripe. The Post quarterback missed the try for extra point on the second try after making his first attempt.

Seagraves' lone tally came in the opening minutes of the final period as Fullback Bob Dale crashed over from four yards out.

The Antelopes passed 10 times for six completions and 101 yards and two touchdowns during the game, while the Eagles completed four of 11 pass attempts for 70 yards. Nine of Post's attempts came in the first half and nine of Seagraves' in the final two periods.

An estimated crowd of 2,000 persons saw the Eagles unable to withstand the Antelope attack in the first half, but come back to receive the kickoff in the third quarter and drive to the Post seven-yard line before being stymied.

A 60-yard punt by Kirkpatrick minutes later put the visitors back on their own 20, from where they drove 80 yards for their lone score.

Post racked up 15 first downs during the fray to 12 for the Eagles.

Halfback Roger Stafford played an outstanding game both defensively and offensively for Seagraves. Power running by Fullback Bob Dale was also a spark in Coach Frank Sonntag's Antelope attack. Quarterback Bennie Wright helped forward motion, too.

Storie, Odom and Tackle B. R. Sullivan turned in good defensive performances for the Antelopes, while Left Half R. J. Babb and Fullback Roy Wade helped Coach V. F. Bingham's backfield attack.

Seagraves found itself at a disadvantage just before game time when it was discovered that Ronald Stephenson, transfer back from Lubbock, was ineligible to play. Eagle Center Paul Stafford was also out because of injuries.

Tulsa Oilers Down Fort Worth, 6 To 2

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 23. (AP)—The Tulsa Oilers, already down two games, elbowed their way back into the Texas League pennant playoffs with Fort Worth by skinnning the Cats tonight, 6 to 2.

Tulsa counted three quick runs in the first inning, then settled back to play tight baseball behind big Walter Cress's eight-hit pitching performance.

To make it comfortable, Russ Burns homered for the Oilers with a man ahead in the fifth. Fort Worth at the time was but a single run behind, 2-3.

Young Bob Milliken, the Cats' mound hero of the Shreveport semifinals, absorbed most of the punishment. He retired for a pinch hitter in the seventh.

Muleshoe Cops 26-0 Victory Over Slaton

MULESHOE, Sept. 23. (Special)—Fullback Bobby Goss scored three touchdowns and made two conversions before 2,000 football fans here tonight to lead the Muleshoe Mules to a 26-0 victory over the Slaton Tigers.

It was a nip-and-tuck ball game until the final period when Goss exploded through the Slaton line for all three of his touchdowns.

Until then the Mules led 7-0 on a first period score by Halfback Ted Lawler who picked his way 15 yards to score on an off-tackle slash. Goss converted.

Then came the "fatal fourth" quarter with Goss smashing through for touchdowns on plunges of one foot, 15 yards and three yards.

The Mules of District 4-A North made 12 first downs to seven for the visitors from District 4-A South.

Whiteface Gains 7-0 Upset Over New Deal

WHITEFACE, Sept. 23. (Special)—The Whiteface Antelopes upset the New Deal Lions 7-0 here tonight before 1,000 fans.

Johnny Plunkett scored the only touchdown on a quarterback sneak early in the first quarter.

Paying no attention to the pregame script which cast them in the role of underdogs, the Antelopes held the visitors to six first downs and a net of 88 yards.

Coach L. S. Salser's Antelopes in the meantime made 11 first downs and netted 150 yards.

Outstanding in the backfield for Whiteface were Plunkett and Halfback Oscar Power. Power's brother, Pat turned in a creditable performance from his guard position along with Guard Wadell Walker End Edwin Haskin and Tackle Harold Gouge.

New Deal, who had previously upset Abernathy, 7-6, was favored to take this important 4-B tilt. But the Antelopes had other notions.

CHAMPS TO PLAY HERE

The American Business Club announced Friday that it would sponsor a special exhibition golf match at Lubbock Country Club Friday, Oct. 7, between Cary Middlecoff, national open champion and Frank Stranahan, the national amateur champion. Details as to the price of the match will be announced later.

Farwell's Steers Rack Up 43-7 3-B Win Over Whitharral Team

FARWELL, Sept. 23. (Special)—The speedier Farwell Steers paced off a 43-2 victory over the visiting Whitharral Panthers in a District 3-B grid clash before 500 spectators here tonight.

Quarterback Melvin Terry and End Don Ford each made two touchdowns. Beryle Nix, Jesse Coburn and Bobby Poteet each scored once.

The lone Whitharral tally came in the second quarter when Farwell had a bad passback from center and the Panthers forced a Steer back out of bounds behind the goal for a safety.

Coach Louis Purvis played almost every on his squad. The Steers made 10 first downs to the Panthers' five.

Whirlwinds Win, 15 To 6

RALLS, Sept. 23. — The Floydada Whirlwinds turned a tight ball game into a victory late in the fourth quarter here tonight, whipping the Ralls Jackrabbits, 15-6.

Scoring two touchdowns and a safety in the waning minutes of the game, the Whirlwinds overcame a 6-0 deficit which had plagued them since early in the second quarter when a quick pass over center from Ralls Quarterback J. B. Morrison to left end Dwayne Bolander was a good for a Jackrabbit touchdown.

The pass, good for 14 yards, was the culmuination of a short drive from the Floydada 38, where Ralls took over after Floydada's Bobby Finley tried to run from a punt formation, and failed to make the needed yardage for the first down.

The Floydadans marched 79 yards for their first score, Finley going over from the one on the fourth down. The Jackrabbits were set down on their own 20 on the next kickoff, and a bad lateral by Morrison set them back to the one. The Morrison-to-Bolander pass combination clicked again, and got them up to the five, but on the next play Morrison tried to go around end and was hit behind the goal line by Floydada linebacker Arlen White for a safety.

On the ensuing kickoff to Floydada, White scooped it in on his own 40, sprinted through the middle of the Jackrabbit team, and was dropped short of a touchdown as Ken Wofford brought him down from behind on the Ralls eight.

A final thrill for Ralls fans came when the Morrison-to-Bolander pass combination hit again, and Bolander fought his way from midfield to the Floydada 18, where the drive was halted with the interception of a pass on the next play by Floydada's Aubrey Guthrie, as the game ended.

Halfback Arlen White was a defensive demon backing up the line for Floydada, and played well on offense. Bobby Finley provided the driving punch in the Whirlwind backfield.

Bailey Noble played fine defesive ball in the Ralls line. End Dwayne Bolander and Tackle Dean Henderson also played well defensively. Right end James Taylor spoiled several Floydada plays behind the line of scrimmage, and blocked an attempted quick kick by Finley in the first quarter.

The left side of the Floydada line was especially effective in the last half, with End Loy Lee Trice, Tackle Billy Haney, and Guard Johnny Lloyd bottling up many drives.

Backs Bobby Gustin and C. H. Verett, jr., worked fine on end sweeps for the Ralls eleven, with Morrison and Bolander continually keeping the Whirlwinds linebackers on their toes with their aerial attack.

Scoring Summary—Floydada touchdowns: Finley off tackle from the one in 4Q. Finley off tackle from the eight in 4Q. Safety in 4Q. White tackling Morrison behind Ralls goal line. Finley kicked one extra point. Ralls touchdown: Bolander scored on pass from Morrison from 14 in 1Q.

JAMES AND LEE STYMIE HORNET ATTACK

Spur Bulldog Team Comes From Behind To Beat Tulia, 26 To 18

SPUR, Sept. 23 (Special)—Overcoming the fumbling jitters, Spur's Bulldogs came from behind to outscore the Tulia Hornets, 26-18, in a District 3-A grid clash witnessed by 1,000 fans here tonight.

The home team fumbled the opening kickoff on their own 20. From there the Hornets, coached by Roger Smith, marched on to score with Left Half Paul Griffith pacing off the final three yards.

Then the Hornets kicked off again and the Bulldogs fumbled on the first play from scrimmage on their own 30.

Again Griffith carried over—this time from the one.

The Bulldogs came to life in the second quarter and marched 76 yards to score with Clyde Blair smashing the Tulia line for the final yard. In the same period, Blair climaxed a 68-yard sustained drive on an off-tackle slash from the Hornets' four. Melvin Lindsey kicked the extra point and the Bulldogs led, 13-12, at the half.

Lindsey reached pay dirt on an 18-yard jaunt in the third period to climax a 55-yard march.

The Hornets narrowed the gap to within one point in the final stanza when Right End Charles Thomas caught Quarterback Joe Hooper's pass from the Hornet 30-yard line and outdistanced Bulldog secondarymen to score.

However, Dean Watson put the game on ice for the Bulldogs in the closing minutes of the game when he plunged over from the one, climaxing a 60-yard down field drive.

Coach Sam Hawkes' Bulldogs made 14 first downs to Tulia's seven and netted 290 yards to the Hornets' 202.

Andrews Rallies To Defeat Wink

ANDREWS, Sept. 23. (Special)—Sparked by a second-string halfback, the Andrews Mustangs came from behind in the last quarter to upset the visiting Wink Wildcats, 13-9, in a District 5-A grid clash before 2,500 fans here tonight.

The Wildcats did their scoring in the third frame on a field goal followed a few minutes later by a touchdown.

Wink's Pat Drum made the field goal from the Mustang 13-yard line. Several minutes later, Donald Hoskins plunged over from the one for the touchdown after a poor goal line kick by Andrews had been returned to within a yard of pay dirt.

Don Floyd, substitute halfback, was the spark that turned the tide for the home team. He circled right end and raced 35 yards for a touchdown.

Jack Smith used the same play a few minutes later but had to run only 10 yards to score. G. I. Maddison converted.

After the Mustangs got going, they paced off enough yardage to lead in statistics. Coach F. H. Tubb's crew made 14 first downs and netted an impressive 209 yards to the Wildcats 12 first downs and 147 yards.

Seminole Squad Is Winner Over Pecos

PECOS, Sept. 23. (Special)—Coach Gordon Wood's Seminole Indians scored a 21-13 upset over the Pecos Eagles in a District 5-A grid encounter here tonight.

Guinn Hood scored early in the initial quarter for Seminole on a five-yard smash through the Pecos line. Bert Affleck kicked the extra point.

In the second period, Pecos scored on an eight-yard pass from Buddy Card to Bill Bryan. George Christian missed the try for extra point and the halftime score read Seminole 7, Pecos 6.

Pecos forged ahead in the third frame after Seminole fumbled the opening kickoff and the Eagles recovered. Seven plays later, Christian paced off the final five yards to score for Pecos and then kicked extra point.

But early in the fourth quarter, Cecil Jeter ran six yards for a touchdown and Affleck converted, giving Seminole a 14-13 edge.

The Eagles then drove deep into Indian territory but Seminole held on its nine-yard line. After taking over the ball on downs, Seminole marched 91 yards for the final score. Hood went the last four yards, with Affleck converting.

Seminole gained 40 yards passing and 288 yards on the ground to 66 yards gained through the air for Pecos and 71 yards netted rushing.

The visitors had 20 first downs to five for Pecos.

It was the first defeat for the Eagles this season. Seminole's conference record now includes one tie and one win.

Owls Trim Friona, 26-12

HALE CENTER, Sept. 23.—Hale Center's Owls, last year's District 3-B champions, trimmed the slightly out-weighed Friona Chiefs, 26-12, here tonight before a crowd of approximately 700 fans in the new $8,000 Hale Center High school stadium.

It was the first conference tilt for Hale Center, which dropped a close one, 6-0, to Kress in a non-conference game last week.

The Owls began their first goal march about midway in the first quarter. Starting from their own 32, they made two first downs that put them on the Friona 28-yard line. Quarterback Jerry Johnson handed off to Fullback Ed Weil who raced over the Chief goal to score. Johnson carried the ball over for the extra point.

Lacewell Gains Yardage

As the quarter closed, Friona began a push from midfield that found the Chiefs close to the Owl goal as the second quarter opened. Fast-stepping Chief Quarterback Lacewell piled up yardage with a pass and some smooth running that was climaxed when he sneaked through center to score from the Owl three.

Jones tried to run the extra point but failed.

Coach Ralph Huntington's Hale Center boys went right back on the offensive. A 40-yard downfield surge put the blue-jersied Owls in the scoring slot once more. Johnson again handed off to Weil and he went over from the eight-yard line to notch another tally.

Jones failed to make the extra point.

As the half horn sounded, the Chiefs, sparked by the fancy footwork of Lacewell, were working their way down into Owl goal territory.

Fumble Run Fails

In the third quarter, the Chiefs came back stronger than ever. Lacewell cut loose with two successful passes and a series of smooth runs that saw the Chiefs gain a first down on the Owl two.

Lacewell raced around left end on the next play to earn the final touchdown for Coach Raymond Cook's team.

The Chiefs tried to kick the extra point but a fumbled ball resulted in a run by Lacewell that failed.

Hale Center matched the Owl drive and came from midfield with four first downs to put the ball inches from the Friona goal line. Weil went over the next play.

An attempted pass for the extra point failed to click.

The final frame started with a 15-yard penalty against the Owls for offensive holding. Moments later, Friona made a last try to tie up the game. After a steady drive down field, Lacewell fumbled the ball on the Owl ten-yard marker and the Owls recovered.

A 70-yard jaunt several plays after by Owl back Lee Jones set the Hale Center team up for the final tally of the game.

Jones scored off right guard after several line plunges. A pass

Russia Sets Off Atomic Explosion No Changes In U. S. Policy Seen

far as we know Russia has made only one bomb. They'll never catch up with us."

Chairman Wood (D-Ga) of the House un-American Activities committee, charged that Russia has had "every opportunity" to pry out U. S. atomic secrets. Wood asserted that Russia would "have no hesitation" in using the A-bomb against the United States "whenever they are ready."

Mr. Truman's statement was made public immediately after a cabinet meeting in which the President informed his key officials of the Russian development. The Chief Executive said:

"I believe the American people, to the fullest extent consistent with national security, are entitled to be informed of all developments in the field of atomic energy. That is my reason for making public the following information.

"We have evidence that within recent weeks an atomic explosion occurred in the USSR.

"Ever since atomic energy was first released by man, the eventual development of this new force by other nations was to be expected. This probability has always been taken into account by us."

Need For Control Emphasized

Mr. Truman recalled that nearly four years ago—shortly after the United States had detonated the first atomic bombs — he had made it plain that "no single nation could in fact have a monopoly of atomic weapons."

The President said:

"This recent development emphasizes once again, if indeed such emphasis were needed, the necessity for that truly effective enforceable international control of atomic energy which this government and the large majority of the members of the United Nations support."

Mr. Truman gave no indication of the nature of the "evidence" that Russia has been able to manufacture and test-explode an atomic bomb.

But there was speculation in informed Washington quarters that the United States possesses an instrument revealing the location and intensity of any atomic explosion anywhere in the world.

Serious Views Are Taken

There also was speculation that the "evidence" was received through the global intelligence network of the U. S. Central Intelligence agency.

McMahon called the congressional atomic committee into secret session immediately after the President's announcement was flashed to the world.

The senator declared, in a statement issued after the committee meeting, that "President Truman and the heads of Great Britain and France should demand the right to place the atomic case before the Russian people in direct radio talks."

The extremely serious view taken by members of Congress was starkly indicated by two leading legislators, who, refusing to be quoted by name, said that Russian possession of the atom bomb "may make our destruction inevitable."

Defense Secretary Johnson was asked after the cabinet meeting whether any change has been made in disposition of American forces as a result of the startling intelligence from the Soviet Union. Johnson gave the sharp, one-word answer——"No!"

Anger Flares At Capital

There was anger as well as shock on Capitol Hill.

Wood told reporters that his committee shortly will issue a document proving that "the Russians have had every opportunity to avail themselves of information of nuclear energy."

Atomic Energy Commission Chairman David E. Lilienthal, recently the target of "incredible mismanagement" charges, refused comment. An AEC spokesman said the commission would decline comment "for security reasons."

It was learned on high authority that Mr. Truman does not plan to return atomic energy to military control.

However, the White House declined to say whether the President plans a special message to Congress dealing with the Russian development.

(The Associated Press said the news of the Soviet atomic explosion could be compared only in significance to the announcement of the Hiroshima blast of Aug. 6, 1945.)

PREDICTIONS BLASTED

The Russian "achievement" blasted the predictions of many American military leaders and scientists who had insisted that it would be impossible for the Soviets to develop an A-bomb before 1953.

In its report to the President last January, a five-man commission appointed by Mr. Truman to survey American air policy stated:

"Our conclusions give the target date, by which we should have an air arm capable of dealing with a possible atom attack on this country, as Jan. 1, 1953, which we will call 'A-day.'"

An informed source said it appears that Russians used the knowledge and ingenuity of German scientists in accelerating their attempt to catch up with the United States in the field of atomic weapons.

Secrecy Imposed

The Soviet information bulletin, official Russian propaganda medium in the United States, announced more than two years ago that a "nuclear city" was being constructed in Siberia for atomic energy developments.

Some observers believed that Siberia was the scene of the Soviet A-blast. But officially, the tightest secrecy surrounded the information the U. S. has beyond the President's bare announcement.

Significance was attached to the fact that besides cabinet members, Army Chief of Staff Gen. J. Lawton Collins and Brig. Gen. Frank L. Howley, until recently U. S. commandant in Berlin, attended the meeting at which Mr. Truman first made his disclosure.

An official spokesman for the defense department made these points:

1. The atomic weapon is not believed to be based on information "stolen or otherwise obtained from the United States."

2. The development will not change American policy as to manufacture and stockpiling of atomic weapons.

Ninth Known Blast

3. There wil be no "immediate" change in U. S. military planning, but it will be "restudied."

4. Defenses against hostile bombers have "by no means reached the point where it can be expected that an attacking plane can be prevented from reaching its target area" in the U. S.

5. As far as is known the best Russian bomber has a range of 2,000 miles and the nearest Siberian air base to the nearest American target — Seattle — is 2,300 miles.

The Russians blast was the ninth known atomic explosion in the brief but dread history of nuclear weapons.

The first took place in the wastes of New Mexico on July 16, 1945. On Aug. 5, the first A-bomb ever to be used in warfare virtually destroyed Hiroshima, Japan. Four days later, Nagasaki was A-bombed. And on Aug. 14, Japan capitulated.

In 1946, two test bombs were exploded at Bikini, in the Pacific. Early this year, three "new and improved" atomic weapons were detonated at the U. S. atomic proving ground near Eniwetok atoll in the Pacific.

Ford Talks Continue

The CIO United Auto Workers Ford negotiating committee in Detroit said in a confidential memorandum to union leaders that published reports that Ford is near agreement are "completely erroneous and have no foundation in fact." The union was advised to proceed with plans to strike at 12:01 a.m. Thursday, but added that the strike deadline might be put off to a later date.

Ford has offered a pension plan estimated as the equivalent of an eight and three fourths cents an hour wage boost. A pension plan of one and three fourths cents already is in effect.

The strike of 480,000 coal miners went through its sixth day with no sign that any peace plan is in the offing. John L. Lewis said Thursday that his miners would remain on a "no day work week" until they get a new contract. Contract talks have been recessed until Sept. 29 and some mine owners say they will not agree to any wage boosts.

The strike of 5,000 employes of the Missouri-Pacific railroad entered its third week with negotiations stalled.

General Kenney urged that the nation must possess and maintain a striking air force second to none.

He said that a few bombers carrying atomic bombs could do more damage in a single raid today than the total damage created by all bombers of all belligerents combined throughout the last world war.

Love Triangle

Rene Belec told newsmen:

"We have definite proof that explosives were aboard the plane to get rid of a woman and we believe we can prove who did it."

At first police said she was under guard in a hospital, but it was learned later that she was released and taken to her home under police escort.

Inspector Belec indicated that the love triangle and collection of $10,000 worth of insurance motivated the case.

Texas Utilities Firm Ordered To Bargain With AFL Workers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. (AP)— The National Labor Relations board today ordered the West Texas Utilities Co., Abilene, Tex., to bargain on a labor contract with the AFL Electrical Workers union.

The NLRB ruled that the utility firm, which distributes power, water and ice service in 49 counties in Texas, had violated the labor laws by refusing to bargain with the union since Sept. 19 1947.

The union won an NLRB election held in mid-1946 to determine the proper bargaining agent. In November and October, 1947, some employes petitioned to remove the union's certification to represent the utility's employes.

Lamb County Fair

was scheduled Friday.

Saturday's schedule calls for the gates to open at 9 a.m. Swine judging will begin at that time and beef cattle will bring to a close the three-day event.

Bands Take Part

Indian summer weather has helped to make the fair a success so far. A high overcast kept the temperature in the comfortable 80s. Friday was designated "Kid's Day" and all schools closed for the occasion.

High school bands from Littlefield, Sudan and Morton took part in the parade. Clowns kept the children entertained as did a large elephant, a small monkey riding a burro and a chimpanzee riding a bicycle.

The Littlefield Women's Club won first prize of $50 for its parade float. The Tuesday Study Club of Sudan took second money, $25; and the Sudan F.F.A. won third place and $10. The Littlefield Jaycees were given honorable mention for a float making a plea to fight polio.

Judges for the float contest were: G. W. Thompson, Cochran county judge, Morton; Roy Hickman, and Ed Hall, Lubbock.

Jess Elms, 1948 fair president, holds that position this year. Pat Mann, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, is manager of the fair. Superintendents are: P. A. Nafzger, Olton, beef cattle; E. E. Chance, Spring Lake, dairy cattle; Stillwell Russell, Littlefield, dual purpose cattle; L. B. Gibson, swine; J. G. Simmons, Amherst, junior livestock; Mrs. John Nix, Mrs. W. E. Priddy, both of Amherst, and Mrs. Floyd Seymour, Sudan, home art; Mrs. Hub Sprayberry, Littlefield, county home demonstration booths; Mrs. C. E. Jones, Littlefield, 4-H Club, and FHA Girls; Mrs. George White, Littlefield, plants and cut flowers, County Agent David Eaton, agriculture products; Mrs. J. B. Haire, Bainer, textiles; and, Lon Campbell, Littlefield, commercial exhibits.

First prize for a community booth in agriculture products went to Olton. The display was arranged by W. W. Hall, vocational ag teacher at Olton high school, and a group of F.F.A. boys. The prize was $20.

The farm display taking top honors was the exhibit of the B. D. Birkelbach farm two miles south of Littlefield. The exhibit included peanuts, cotton, tomatoes, corn, apricots, popcorn, cherries, beets, carrots, eggplant, blackeyed peas, butter beans, pickles, watermelon(hygira, kaffir and onions. an order to the admirals to cease trying to hail the aviation chief before them.

Symington told the Navy secretary information he would be asked to divulge before the court was contained in a military intelligence report which Vinson had asked him to withhold.

Best information indicated the report was made by Air Force intelligence after it investigated on its own the beginnings of the "anonymous" attack on the "Sunday punch" bomber.

To Recommend Action

Capt. John G. Crommelin, Navy war-hero flyer, has said the charges were circulated to force the entire Air-Force-Navy dispute to the attention of Congress. Crommelin accused the general staff of "nibbling to death" the Navy's offensive power.

Crommelin was removed from his own general staff position and placed by Navy admirals in a job just vacated by an admiral. Matthews blew up when he learned of the move and transferred him to a routine post.

ing in terms of fuzzy expediences like the arms program for Western Europe."

A. A. Arutiunian, Soviet delegate to the United Nations: "I have heard this news from the President for the first time."

Carlos P. Romulo, president of the United Nations assembly: "Every effort should be exerted . . . by the present Assembly to break the impasse that now exists on this (atomic control) question."

Rep. Cunningham (R-Iowa): "If this is true, it means that World War III is that much closer."

No Cause For Alarm

Senator Millikin (R-Colo): The news is "serious in respect to the fact that it was quicker than we expected."

Wallace F. Bennett, president of the National Association of Manufacturers: "Mr. Truman is wise and right in saying this points up the urgency of successful international control of atomic power which will turn the use of atomic energy to peaceful purposes . . ."

Senator McMahon (D-Conn), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy committee: "Our entire program has been based on the assumption that this very thing would come to pass and we knew it would."

Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, formerly in charge of American research in atomic bomb development: "I'm not losing any sleep over it. Anyone with any intelligence assumes that they (the Russians) would arrive at it."

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower: "I see no reason why a development that was anticipated years ago should cause any revolutionary change in our thinking or in our actions."

Dr. Alexander J. Allen, who runs Pitt's cyclotron: "I doubt if the reported Ruslan atomic explosion was of any great magnitude."

Dr. Arthur H. Compton, one of the scientists who helped develop the atomic bomb: "This does not mean that Russia is prepared now to match us in atomic war. Time is needed to accumulate enough atomic weapons. It does mean that within the next few years Russia will be able to wage effective atomic warfare. Unless firm agreements are reached to the contrary, the atomic weapons race is on."

Farmers To Meet

questions and see if we can devise a plan for wholesale hiring. If we can do this we can relieve the farmers of a lot of headaches."

Experts To Be Present

Several experts on the subject of immigrant labor will be on hand to discuss the question with the farmers. Vernon O'Farrell, farm placement representative of the Texas Employment commission, will clarify some of the details of the executive act.

Walter Y. Wells, of the Production and Marketing administration, will conduct a question and answer period.

"By employment through the farm bureau farmers can live up to the letter of the law and reduce the per capita bonding cost," Wells said yesterday. "Since the per capita cost decreases when a large number of Mexican nationals are employed farmers can save by pooling their requirements."

Efforts To Be Saved

Wells said that agriculture officials and agencies hope to learn at the meeting this afternoon just what the individual farm requirements will be. He says it may be possible to hire as many as 1,500 Mexicans from the El Paso office.

Wells pointed out that the farm bureau will be able to complete the negotiations with a single delegation to El Paso. If the farmer wants to make the arrangements himself he will have the added cost of the trip to the border city, Wells said.

Any employer of transient labor, as well as any farmer, is invited to attend the meeting. He does not have to be a farm bureau member, Hackney explained.

for completion today on the huge stage in front of the grandstand where the musical revue, "A Trip to Wonderland," will be presented nightly.

The approximately 50 members of this cast are scheduled to arrive Sunday. Included are a chorus of 16 girls, an orchestra and the principals in a dozen or more special acts which will round out the two-hour program.

The Lucky Lott Hell Drivers are due to arrive Monday for the exhibitions they are to give Tuesday and Saturday afternoon in front of the grandstand.

"Hot rod" races have been booked for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons. Nothing will be presented in front of the grandstand the opening afternoon.

Floodlights were installed at the grandstand Friday and were tested and adjusted last night.

Fair association officials said that interest in the exposition in the territory surrounding Lubbock is the greatest in history. With favorable weather, they predict a total attendance exceeding 150,000, which would be a record-breaking figure.

HST Names Allred, Connally As Judges

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. (AP)— James V. Allred and Ben C. Connally, both of Houston, were nominated today by President Truman to be federal judges for southern Texas.

They would fill new posts created by Congress.

Allred, former governor and attorney general, is 50. He once was a federal judge, but gave up the position to make an unsuccessful campaign for the U.S. Senate against W. Lee O'Daniel in 1942.

Allred said he would move to the southern end of the district, probably Corpus Christi, "if and when" he is confirmed. He has been practicing law in Houston for the past several years.

Connally is the 39-year-old son of Senator Tom Connally. He is a native of Marlin. He attended the University of Texas and Harvard. He is married and has two children.

He practiced law in Houston eight years before entering the Army Air Corps in 1942. He came out of the service as a lieutenant colonel. In 1945 he joined the Houston law firm of Butler, Binion, Rice and Cook.

Presumably both recommendations were made by Senator Johnson, Texas' junior senator.

Senator Connally said earlier this week he was keeping hands off on his son's chances for the nomination.

than ever before."

Delegates tensely discussed the implications and sat back to hear what Vishinsky had to say.

Most of Vishinsky's applause came, as usual, from the Slav countries and from a large Russian spectator group at the side of the hall. Acheson did not applaud after Vishinsky spoke and he would not comment.

Less than an hour before Vishinsky made his 34-minute speech, Secretary Acheson met reporters in the Assembly's steering committee chamber.

Acheson said he assumed the Russians had made a weapon which has exploded. He said this government had expected that sooner or later this would take place and declared the United States is determined to keep up strong efforts for peace in the world.

"This nation," the secretary said, "from the very beginning of the development of atomic power has been determined to do everything in its power to proceed toward a truly effective international control of atomic energy. It would be deluding ourselves to get something on paper that is not really effective. The President's statement underlines the importance of having an effective method of control."

Vishinsky charged that the deadlock on atomic energy and regulation of conventional armaments was caused by continuous efforts of the United States and Britain to impose on the UN their plan for international control "which no nation cherishing its independence and national sovereignty could agree to."

a possibility of detecting airborne radiation at distances up to several thousand miles from the site of an atomic explosion.

Prior to the Bikini A-bomb tests, plans were announced for exploring the stratosphere with balloons equipped with Geiger counters.

At that time, it was theorized that radio-active particles from Bikini might drift around the world numerous times in the upper air currents.

Whether such tests were actually held and whether radiation was detected has not been disclosed.

range a bit farther south than he had been, and that's where he ran into the squalls.

Stevens said then that the reconnaissance might be carried still deeper into the southwestern gulf. That was some three hours before the bureau reported the hurricane had been found.

Clouds Blanket State

The squall wave didn't look as severe to the weather bureau as it did to the Navy. The New Orleans bureau said the reconnaissance plane ran into scattered squalls and winds of about 20 miles an hour.

The flier found the squally weather 100 to 150 miles east of Brownsville. The weather bureau didn't predict when the wave might hit the Texas coast.

Meanwhile, Brownsville had a 12-mile-an-hour northwest wind and light rain was falling.

The whole state was cloudy. Temperatures were mild.

The squally area off Brownsville was not a new one. It had been under observation in the southwestern gulf two or three days.

At the same time, watch was still being kept over the northwestern Gulf, where a small storm wound up in scattered squalls last night. Small craft along the Texas and Louisiana coasts were warned to stay in port for the time being.

Inland Move Seen

The weather bureau forecast northwest winds of 15 to 25 miles an hour tomorrow on the Texas coast.

Comdr. E. T. Harding of Miami described the squall area off Brownsville as "a crescent-shaped block of bad weather which has remained practically stationary for three days."

It should begin drifting inland soon, he said, because the pattern of atmospheric pressure was changing.

"Brownsville today reported a top squall of 51 miles an hour," Harding said, "so the heaviest stuff in the wave will just about match that."

Texas temperatures ranged Friday afternoon from 64 at Guadalupe Pass, in the west, to 84 at Corpus Christi. The unsettled weather at Brownsville held the temperature there down to 79.

The weather bureau said Texas would be partly cloudy in the west, north and east Saturday and mostly cloudy in the south. Temperatures were expected to be a little lower.

CARIBBEAN HURRICANE CAUSES EIGHT DEATHS

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 23 (AP) — A Caribbean hurricane which tangled with the mountains of the Dominican republic and drowned eight men at Ciudad Trujillo dissipated today. Its last vestige was a weak wave of showers moving along the Jamaica coast with minor squalls.

"We can write that one off the map," said Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster in the Miami Weather bureau.

However, it caught the sailboat Puerta Plata in heavy seas at the harbor entrance to Ciudad Trujillo and drowned its crew of five and three would-be rescuers while 4,000 spectators watched helplessly.

TADWORTH, Eng., Sept. 23.(AP) —Henry Cotten today gained personal revenge for his 1947 Ryder Cup humiliation by decisively ending the American threat to the British Professional Golfers' championship.

Both his victims were members of this year's victorious American Ryder Cup team, and Mangrum also helped beat the British 11 to 1 when Cotton was captain two years ago.

Cotton was never behind during the day. In both matches he gained a three-up advantage in the first 11 holes.

Big Spring Drops Brownfield, 18-12

BIG SPRING, Sept. 23 (Special) —A fourth-quarter touchdown set up by a fumble recovery gave Big Spring an 18-12 triumph over Brownfield's Cubs in a see-saw battle witnessed by 3,000 fans here tonight.

Coach Tracy Kellow's Cubs battled the favored Big Spring eleven on even terms all the way, racking up 14 first downs to five for the victors. Brownfield netted 228 yards rushing to 233 for Big Spring, and gained 25 yards passing to the Steers' 31.

Brownfield, however, was unable to cope with Amos Jones, a fancy-stepping Big Spring back who gained 169 yards in 16 running tries during the night.

Jones made the first Steer touchdown in the second quarter on a one-yard plunge, after he had moved the ball into scoring territory with a 30-yard gallop.

Dean Murphy recovered a Big Spring fumble behind the Steer goal later in the second period to tie the score, 6-6, at halftime.

Jim Billings put Brownfield into a short-lived lead by intercepting a Big Spring pass and speeding 40 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter, but Jones promptly retaliated with a 58-yard scoring run that knotted the count at 12-12.

Midway through the last quarter, Big Spring recovered a Cub fumble on Brownfield's 30. Jones gained nine yards, then raced the remaining 21 for the game-winning counter.

The Cubs came back strong and were tossing aerials into the end zone when the final gun sounded.

NO ACTION IN VOTE PROBE

Grand Jury Dismissed Without Making Indictments At Alice

ALICE, Sept. 23 (AP)—A special grand jury which investigated balloting here in last year's senatorial primary was discharged at 4:30 p. m. today. It returned no indictment in connection with the election.

Ten days ago the jury took up the matter of the election after it had indicted Sam Smithwick, 61, former deputy sheriff, in the July 29 slaying of W. H. (Bill) Mason, Alice radio commentator.

A special term of 79th District court had been called, and the grand jury convened, particularly to investigate the fatal shooting of Mason.

One Suspect Named

Before Judge Paul Martineau of Corpus Christi discharged the jury today it returned one other indictment—one of perjury in a case having to do with the mortgaging of an automobile. The name of the man indicted was not given, since he had not been arrested.

The jury again heard Kellis Dibrell of San Antonio, special investigator for former Governor Coke R. Stevenson, today before ending its deliberations.

Stevenson lost last year's Aug. 28 Democratic primary to Lyndon Johnson by 87 votes. Stevenson later charged that 200 fraudulent votes were added to the total of precinct 13 in Alice. Johnson was elected U. S. senator from Texas and is now serving.

Other Witnesses Heard

Dibrell was one of the first witnesses called when the election query started. The jury also examined a number of persons from Alice who testified last year in a federal court action brought by Stevenson in Fort Worth.

Other witnesses before the jury today included Eugenio Soliz, employe of the state highway department, and Deputy Sheriff James Brooks of Jim Wells county. Officers had spent several days locating Soliz to serve him with a subpoena.

Judge Martineau came over from Corpus Christi today. When the jury appeared before him he asked if it had completed its work.

Foreman J. C. McGill told him it had. The judge asked if it wanted to be discharged. The answer was "yes."

Judge L. Broeter of 79th District court had called the special term. Before court convened in August he became ill and went to a Houston hospital for an operation. Martineau was called in to preside.

Dibrell, a former FBI agent, said he came here today at the request of County Attorney Homer E. Dean, jr.

A murder with malice indictment was returned against Smithwick, who was transferred to Belton jail. His case was transferred to Bell county by Judge Martineau. It is to come to trial in October.

Red Underground Movement Indicated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP) — The House un-American Activities committee indicated today that key Communists in Washington have gone underground and are trying to infiltrate the government.

It put that idea into a foreword to a pamphlet in which it published testimony taken by the committee this summer on communism in the District of Columbia.

The foreword noted "how closely the Communist network in the District of Columbia was interlocked and interwoven." It said Communist fronts and Communist controlled unions employ Reds on their staffs. It said Communists supply these organizations with money and "a nucleus of active membership."

The Communist organization here, the committee said, may be considered one of the most important units of the American Communist party because of its location in the national capital. The committee declared that members of a secret Communist spy ring which operated within the government a few years ago could not have carried on its activities or evaded detection without the aid of Red agents working outside the government.

Long ago, the committee said, the Communist party stopped issuing membership cards to members employed in strategic spots. That makes it more difficult, it said, to detect the party membership of such people.

Judge Delays Ruling On Infant Found Abandoned In Stamford

ANSON, Sept. 23. (AP)—District Judge Owen Thomas held up his decision today on the future of a baby girl left on a Stamford doorstep a few hours after her birth.

Jones County Attorney Charles Brownfield, jr., had petitioned the judge to declare the six-day-old infant dependent and neglected at a hearing today.

Judge Thomas had sent her back to the Stamford sanitarium while he questioned people who want to adopt her and thought out his decision.

Since the infant was found Sunday morning on the back doorstep of J. C. May's home at Stamford, she has been taken care of by Stamford sanitarium nurses, who call her Karen Elaine.

The petition asked that a legal name and birth date be assigned to the child. Judge Thomas held up his decision on this, too, but indicated he might let Karen Elaine stand as her name.

About 15 families attended court seeking custody of Karen Elaine.

The judge indicated that at a later date he will declare the child dependent and neglected and turn her over to a private family or welfare agency for a period of observation, probably six months. Following the observation period, Karen Elaine could be adopted.

COMMON GRAVE FOR 200,000 JEWS — Residdents of Tel-Aviv pray over a case containing the ashes of comrades cremated in Germany during the war. The large wood-and-glass case, flown to Israel from Rome, contains ashes gathered from the common graves of 200,000 Jews who died in 30 Nazi concentration camps. Each of the 30 urns bears the name of the camp from which the ashes were gathered. The case will rest in Jerusalem's Sanhedria Cemetery. (Photo by NEA-Acme staff correspondent E. F. Ilani.)

Surprise Parole Of Killer Brings Storm Of Differing Opinions

CHICAGO, Sept. 23. (INS)—While a storm of controversy and conflicting opinions arose tonight over Governor Adlai Stevenson's action in commuting 14 years from Nathan Leopold's sentence, the killer of Bobby Franks said he hadn't expected anything.

"Naturally, I'm very happy," the 44-year-old thrill slayer of 1924 said at Stateville prison, "but I didn't expect anything. No one owed me anything for malaria participation, but I am grateful for the consideration of the parole board and the governor."

Majority Against Parole

The majority of a special committee which studied war-time malaria tests on Illinois prisoners were of the opinion the reduction of Leopold's sentence was not warranted.

Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, vice president of the University of Illinois, who headed the committee, declared:

"The fact that Leopold volunteered to undergo malaria tests which might have endangered his life is no reason for lessening the sentence for his heinous crime."

Leopold Advised To Leave

The Rev. Ralph Gallagher, professor of sociology at Loyola university, another committee member, said Leopold should not have been permitted to volunteer for the experiment.

Rabbi George Fox, who also served on the committee, said he would not object to Leopold's parole in 1953 but added: "He must never return here."

He suggested he leave the United States if he is released and possibly join Dr. Albert Schweitzer in French Equatorial Africa. Schweitzer is a famous doctor, humanitarian and preacher.

Famed French Embassy Building At Austin To Become Shrine

AUSTIN, SEPT. 23. (INS)—Austin's long-famed French Embassy building was recently placed under control of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas as a permanent state shrine.

The state gave control to the DRT after purchase of the structure from the Robertson family at a cost of about $24,250. This was result of the law passed by the 51st Legislature.

It is said to be the only structure ever erected by a foreign government within Texas or the United States. Long a historic show place in Austin, it will be kept in its present form.

CHALK TALK ON FRENCH SWIM SUITS — Using as a model Miss Martha Lou Edwards, 21, John O. Gantner, jr., of San Francisco, bathing suit manufacturer, outlines on her white suit the area a French-type suit would cover. In Chicago, where picture was taken, Gantner declared the French-tpye suits would fall down on the job. He contends women look better in the more conventional type suit, such as this. Assault Charges Dismissed Here

Two indictments charging H. I. Coggin, former Lubbock man with assault with intent to murder, have been dismissed, it was announced Friday.

Judge G. V. Pardue in action on motions of the district attorney's office stating that it "can not produce sufficient evidence to sustain a conviction" took cognizance of several unsuccessful efforts by the state to get permission of two necessary state witnesses to come here from Detroit so that the cases could be tried.

The witnesses are Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Snell.

Mrs. Snell was seriously wounded the night of Sept. 20, 1946, in the back yard of the Coggin property in southwest Lubbock. Snell fell to the ground and feigned injury. Coggin was arrested soon afterward, in possession of a pistol. The Coggins subsequently were divorced. Mrs. Coggin had filed suit for divorce before the shooting and had obtained a restraining order in Judge Pardue's court enjoining her husband from going about her property.

Coggin, 49, later moved to the Texas coast. Mrs. Snell's health became so delicate, the district attorney's department here said it learned, that her weight dropped well below 100 pounds. Her husband expressed misgivings that the trip from Detroit to Lubbock might aggravate her condition.

Parts Of Texas Hit By Undulant Fever

AUSTIN, Sept. 23. (INS)—Undulant fever or Malta fever is being reported sporadically in Texas, according to State Health Officer George W. Cox.

Dr. Cox minimized the danger of the disease, however. The mortality rate of undulant fever is low, but the disease "hangs on" for a long time. Several weeks or even months are often required before a stricken person returns to normal health.

The fever is contracted from cattle, goats or sheep which are infected with contagious abortion. The symptoms include rise in temperature, loss of weight and strength, chills, sweats, and joint pains.

The disease is called "undulant fever" because of the wave-like variations in temperature.

In Texas, the goat, horse and cow are the usual spreaders of the fever. The germs enter the body through the mouth or skin. Therefore, Dr. Cox said, care should be used in handling animals known to be infected, and dairy products should be pasteurized.

More men than women acquire the disease and adults seem more likely to have it than children. More cases are found in rural areas than in cities.

Dr. Cox said that pasteurization of milk and the elimination of infected stock from herds were the true preventions of the fever.

Guardsmen To Get Special Training

Special training will be conducted today and Sunday by the 132nd field artillery, Texas National Guard, it was announced Friday by Lt. Col. Ross Ayers, commanding officer.

The training period will be at the new headquarters, the National Guard armory at South Plains Army Air field, from 2 p. m. today to 10 a. m. Sunday.

Prospective members are invited to be guests of the local units at these week-end activities, it was announced.

Good progress was reported in a current recruiting drive, part of a nation-wide Guard program to get new members. Men between 17 and 34 years old who can meet physical and other requirements are eligible to be members.

The local units of the 132nd field artillery are the headquarters battery, service battery and "C" battery. All three units are accepting recruits at present, and there are a number of non-commissioned officer vacancies in each of the units.

The French Government is "holding the line" on wages, although unions are pressing for higher pay, vacations and efficiency bonuses and other indirect wage increases, Paris reports.

U.S. LEADS IN EXPERIENCE

War Threat Believed Unaltered By Atomic Explosion In Russia

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP) — Here are some reasons why responsible administration officials believe Russia's atomic explosion does not increase the threat of war:

1. The United States got a four year head start on the bomb and has been perfecting and stockpiling atomic weapons at a maximum rate.

Delivery Power Needed

2. The Soviet explosion does not necessarily mean that the Russians have materials to make another bomb immediately. It is more likely that they would have tested the first one they made out of the first materials they manufactured.

3. The military effectiveness of an A-bomb depends not only on its own power but on the ability of the country using it to deliver it to the target.

4. The bomb probably would not be used by the Russians, or any other people, unless they felt reasonably safe from retaliation. That has been the world's recent experience with poison gas.

Possession Not Decisive

5. Possession of the bomb does not end other weaknesses. No sensible government in the world would use the bomb to start a war without being convinced of its own total strength to win the war.

6. The question of whether Russia wants a great war with the West, now or in the future, must be answered not by the existence of one weapon but in terms of Russia's whole approach to world affairs.

Ideologically, the Russians believe that sooner or later the western powers will fall out and destroy themselves and that Russia can then move in to pick up the pieces.

For all these reasons, the government's Russian experts find little evidence in the present new development to persuade them that an attack by Russia on western Europe looks more likely now than it was before the Russians had the atomic explosion.

Policeman Seeks Stolen Cars; Victimized By Auto Thieves

HEREFORD, Sept. 23 (U.P.) — Policeman A. M. Duncan, parked his car on a downtown parking lot, to begin a check of city streets for two automobiles reported stolen at Amarillo.

He came back to the lot a short time later, to find that thieves had stolen his own car.

It was found, wrecked, a short time later, two miles out of town. Duncan said the thieves had wired around the ignition switch. The policeman said he did not leave his keys in the switch.

Farmers' Labor Meet Set Today

Emphasizing the need for balanced farming, a field day for farmers of 17 South Plains counties was being held on the campus of Texas Technological college Friday.

With approximately 150 farmers from the District Two area in attendance, the program for the day included demonstrations of different types of farm animals along with an explanation of which types are best suited for this area.

Feeding Methods Shown

Latest feeding methods on how to combat various diseases and problems arising from the care of the different animals were also given.

Under the direction of Dean of Agriculture W. L. Stangel and Lubbock County Agricultural Agent D. W. Sherrill, the field day emphasized the need for "balanced" farming in the coming years of cotton and wheat acreage allotments.

"Farmers must learn to rotate their money crops with feed crops and the only way to utilize the latter is through livestock," Dean Stangel declared.

Cattle Barns Inspected

Friday's tour of the college farm was dedicated to explaining the various features of raising cattle, sheep, hogs, horses, and poultry. Starting at 9:30 a.m. with a welcome from Dean Stangel, the tour got underway at 10 a.m. and was concluded at 3:30 p.m.

Koy L. Neeley, Tech professor on dairy cattle, was in charge of demonstrations in that field of interest, while H. Ray Burkhart explained the sheep program; J. H. Baumgardner, hogs; and H. L. Matthews, poultry. Joe L. Matthews of the A and M Extension service discussed livestock on the South Plains for those attending and James A. Deer, also with the extension service, explained parasites in livestock.

Inspection was also made by the farmers of the college's new $70,000 cattle barns and of its grass nursery. W. H. Rodgers, farm superintendent at the college, was in charge of an inspection of silage.

Tech Enrollment Is Set At 5,716

Fall enrollment tabulations for Texas Technological colege climbed to 5,716 Friday afternoon as Registrar W. P. Clement completed the work of term registration.

Breakdown of the figures showed men outnumbered women students by more than three to one, with 4,358 men enrolled and only 1,358 women. Veteran enrollment was down from last year with 1,950 reported by Co-ordiator H. A. Anderson. Over 2,200 were enrolled last fall.

Enrollment Shows Drop

Overall registration in the college was down from 6,145 registered last fall. Clement blamed small high school graduating classes and the falling off of veteran enrollment as contributing factors to the decrease.

The division of Arts and Sciences led in the number of students with the Engineering division a close second. Records indicated 1,952 are enrolled in the former division and 1,514 in the latter.

In other schools, the division of agriculture and that of business administration was tied at an even 800 each, while 360 were enrolled in Home Economics.

The graduate school was the only one to show an increase over last fall, with 290 enrollees. That compares to 257 enrolled in that division last year.

Textile Student Delayed On Long Trip

New Tech Student Arrives From India

By KENNETH MAY
Avalanche Staff Writer

Dhun Maneckshah Jalnawala is his name and he hails from Aurangabad City in the state of Hyderabad, India.

But just call him "Jal," because that is what he told officials at Texas Technological college to call him Friday afternoon when he arrived from his native land to enroll in the school of Textile engineering.

"We have awfully long names in India," he confided.

Was Delayed On Trip

Jal had quite a time getting to the school of his choice, including a day-long detour by his voyager, the Steel Rover, to help out a sister ship which ran aground in the Red Sea. He finally docked in Boston Wednesday, however—30 days after he embarked from his native land.

The 23-year-old Indian admitted he likes America "very much." He revealed that he will remain here until he can get his degree in textiles. At that time he will return to India to work in mills there.

Jal heard about Tech through a letter written by another Indian who had been here before. He said he did not remember the name of the man who wrote the letter. He chose Tech because the letter spoke highly of the college and because it had a Textile school.

"Our country is far behind yours in development," Jal admits readily. "Since we gained our independence, however, we are making great strides and should be self-supporting very soon."

To Improve Industry

In a few years' time, says Jal, the Indians will be making their own airplanes. "Small ones, of course," he grants, "but airplanes nonetheless." Pretty soon the country should be making some of its own locomotives, he also believes.

Jal was in no particular hurry to see a movie, either. "The motion picture industry in India is not very far behind that of the United States," he asserted. He also looked astonished when asked if Indian movies talked. "Certainly," he said.

On the question of politics, Jal would not commit himself. India he pointed out, imports far more goods than it exports. It is not yet entirely self-sufficient and depends upon relations with other countries for its livelihood.

Economy More Stable

He did say, nonetheless, that the Indians now have a stable economy and that conditions are definitely improving.

India is a vast land with a great many arid areas, Jal disclosed. Efforts are now being made to convert this land into productive farming areas and to allow the country to support itself. Jal looks faithfully to the time when his 300,000,000 fellow countrymen will have the productivity and technical ability equal to that belonging to the West.

The 700 or more rajahs and maharajahs (small and large kings) of India have been shorn of practically all their power now, Jal asserted. As mere figureheads, they live within a political organization much like that of the United States, with state governments organized within a federal structure.

Jal made his first voyage to America in the company of six other foreign students coming to this country. A Chinese and Javanese and four other Indians were included in the group, which is now scattered from Massachusetts to Colorado to study in various fields which they hope will enable them to aid their native countries.

The new Tech student went by train from Boston to New York and flew from there to Lubbock via Dallas. His comment? "You certainly have tall buildings in the United States."

Jal is quite serious about his future education and believes that he will do "all right."

Bus Drivers To Hold Meet Here

A Bus Drivers institute for Lubbock county and surrounding counties will be conducted from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon today in the district courtroom in Lubbock county courthouse, Roy Boyd, Lubbock county school superintendent, said Friday.

Approximately 200 drivers for city and rural schools are expected from Hockley, Terry, Garza, Crosby, Hale and possibly Lynn county. Drivers may attend from other counties which have not notified the county superintendent's office of plans to attend. The institute will be open to any school bus drivers wishing to attend.

Laws To Be Explained

Miss Maud Dean, assistant county Superintendent, will conduct registration from 8:30 to 9:15 o'clock.

Boyd will welcome drivers and discuss purpose of the institute at 9:15. Two highway patrolmen, Jim Riddle and Noel Newberry, will explain laws regarding operation of school buses from 9:20 to 9:50 a.m.

At 9:50 a.m., Marvin Williams, superintendent of schools at Roosevelt, is to speak on "Administrator's View of Bus Drivers." At 10:20 a.m., E. C. Pool, shop foreman for Kuykendall Chevrolet Co., will discuss "Mechanical Care of School Buses." From 11 to 12 noon Mose Hood, city fireman, will discuss first aid and present a motion picture.

The program will be sponsored by the Lubbock county schools superintendent's office. A similar program last year was attended by 194 drivers.

U. S. Hens Produce Total Of 55 Billion Eggs Within Year

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 23 (INS)—No wonder hens cackle—even roosters have a right to crow.

A total of 55 billion eggs was produced in the United States last year, according to W. J. Moore, asociate extension poultry husbandman of the Texas A & M College system.

What egg producers do now to prepare for pullets coming off the range, says Moore, will determine largely whether this figure will drop or still go higher next year. It can also mean the difference between profit and loss for the flock owner.

If pullets are coming into production now, Moore suggests no immediate changes other than moving them into the laying house.

Probe Of Cottonseed Oil Monopoly Boosted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. (AP)—Congressmen seeking ways to bolster the government's cottonseed price support program said today they will ask Attorney General McGrath "to continue the investigation of alleged monopolistic practices in the cottonseed oil industry."

This step was announced by Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.), chairman of a special congressional committee which met today with Agriculture department officials to discuss the price support program.

The department announced last month that it would make loans on cottonseed calculated to give cotton farmers $49.50 a ton for the seed.

Last year cottonseed prices were around $70 a ton. Some farmers complain that since they are unable to store their seed they are forced to sell it for around $40.

Russian People Hear A-Bomb News Over Voice Of America

NEW YORK, Sept. 23. (AP)—The Voice of America may have given the Russian people the first news that the Soviet government possibly has an atomic-bomb.

Minutes after President Truman's dramatic disclosure today that there was evidence of a recent atomic explosion in Russia, the news was flashed out to the world over the State department's radio outlet—the Voice of America.

Russian news programs are monitored by U.S. agencies. None has mentioned a successful detonation of the A-bomb by Soviet scientists.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., (U.P.) — The members of St. Mary's Cathedral don't take any stock in the old saying about lightning never striking the same place twice. Lightning has struck the cathedral five times since it was built in 1926—twice within the past six months.

POLICY REMAINS UNCHANGED

Commerce Department Denies Sending Oil Machinery To Reds

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. — The Department of commerce today denied that it was sending oil field machinery to Russia, and also denied that it was inaugurating a new Russian trade policy.

The denial came as a result of an article in today's New York Times with respect to the granting of export licenses for $500,000 worth of machinery to Russia.

Alleging that the machinery was oil field equipment, which Russia needs badly, the article theorized that the export was permitted in order to boost United States imports of manganese from Russia, thus aiding steel production here.

Exports to U.S. Frozen

The Soviets, for a time, froze manganese exports to the United States, but since have allowed resumption of shipments of the material to this country. Oil field machinery is said to hold a high priority on Russia's list of necessities.

The Commerce department, in defending its actions, said it permitted 40 electric blast hole drillers and accessories, worth $502,677.82, to go to Russia, but that their principal use is for drilling blast holes in quarrying and mining operations.

Although they usually are not used for oil drilling, the department said they could be used to drill shallow wells not over 500 feet deep.

Lyle Opposes Shipment

Rep. John Lyle, Corpus Christi, said he had not had an opportunity to give the news story his considerate judgment, but was heartily opposed to sending anything to Russia, "as long as she maintains her form of government."

However, Rep. Ken Regan, Midland, an experienced oil man, said that $500,000 worth of oil field machinery "would not change the picture here much either way."

Commenting shortly before the Commerce department's explanation was made public, he said, "I am opposed to giving Russia even a small nod, but I also am opposed to our being so isolationistic that we must deny her this small amount of goods if it means we can get from her something that we need.

"I think that is the only way to look at it," he said.

The Commerce department explanation said that the action is in keeping with the present United States policy of trading with eastern Europe in all kinds of commodities except those of significance to the security of the United States.

The shipment of blast hole drillers represents no change in policy, the statement said.

Senator Sees Red Atom Blast As Aid To Military Fund Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (Special) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas greeted President Truman's announcement about the atomic bomb explosion in Russia today by saying: "That ought to make the Senate accept the House version of increased appropriations for the military establishment so that we can insure a modern 70-group Air Force for the United States."

Johnson added that he did not think the Russian explosion was surprising. "We have been told about that since 1945," he said.

Dangers Of Strikes

PRACTICALLY every opinion worthy of consideration seems agreed that people of the United States will have themselves to blame if this country is thrown into another depression. They say there won't be a depression unless we bring it upon ourselves.

Large-scale strikes, therefore, are frightening because, beyond any doubt, they are the wildest kind of an invitation for a depression to step in and do its worst.

The worst feature of big strikes is not the idleness of those who strike — although that is bad enough when hundreds of thousands of people walk off their jobs. But worse than that is the estimate that each striker throws from two to 10 other people out of employment. This particularly is true when strikes affect such vital industries as coal mines, the steel industry and railroads.

Anyone with ordinary common sense knows the results of large scale idleness. The workers can't buy the products of factories and farms. Factories have to curtail operations, if they operate at all, and price stability of farm products is endangered by surpluses resulting from the simple fact that people cannot buy. And it is not logical to expect that government farm support prices can be maintained very long in any nation beset by a depression.

So, regardless of the issues involved when strikes occur or are threatened, they are bad business.

They are almost terrifying because, beyond any doubt, lurking closely behind them is a national economic collapse. They represent a danger which demands the most vigorous efforts to avoid or settle them before a depression actually arrives — because it assuredly will arrive if major strikes are allowed to be prolonged.

The welfare of more than the United States is at stake. The whole democratic world is concerned because the U. S. cannot continue its outpouring of aid if a depression should grip this country.

If strikers and their employers cannot settle their differences without inflicting the threat of economic paralysis upon the nation, then official Washington will fail in its duty unless it takes whatever action is necessary to keep the wheels of industry turning.

Tribute To Vandenberg

ANY LINGERING doubts of U. S. Senate approval of the $1,314,000,000 arms aid bill were virtually removed when Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, gave vigorous endorsement of the measure.

His opposition may not have been sufficient to have defeated the huge expenditure — although he unquestionably could have delayed action upon it and almost certainly could have forced large slashes in the proposed appropriation. But his support quieted opposition to the bill, both in Congress and among the masses of the American people.

The fact that he is a Republican removed the suspicion of political partisanship as a motive for his support. Conceded to be one of the outstanding authorities on foreign affairs in the Senate, and one of the most statesmanlike members of that body, he has tremendous prestige among Democrats as well as Republicans.

There was no doubt from the outset, therefore, that passage of the measure would be, in very large degree, a personal tribute to Senator Vandenberg. A great many congressmen and a great many plain citizens have favored its passage chiefly because the Michigan senator has declared the welfare of the nation and the world demands it.

A young man who wrote a love letter at 12 o'clock the other night and read it the following day at noon has made an appointment with a psychiatrist to ask him how to cope with a split personality.

FRITZ returned from Chicago with news that he would leave in five days for the coast. He would take Gaynel with him on their honeymoon, he said. And, since Mrs. Teare had recovered from her bronchitis, he decided to tell the family at once.

They were all at home. Emily reclined on the couch, Pat curled in the window-seat, Denny gloomily apart, staring into the fire. Clipper kept one eye on Punch and Judy who were playing with an old slipper.

"Greetings, everybody," Fritz said, with an engaging grin. "May we join you?"

"Of course, Mr.—is it Fairport, or Fairmount? I never seem to remember," Emily said.

"Try calling him Fritz, Mother," Gaynel suggested.

"Or Frederick," Fritz saw by Emily's pained expression that the other would never do, "Or Freddie. My mother called me that."

"We had a butler once named Frederick," Emily said. "A very good man in his place."

"I trust I'll prove as good in mine." Fritz winked at Pat and sat down beside her. "How'll I do Pat, not as a butler, but as a brother?"

"Gee!" Pat sighed.

"Run along now, Pat dear," said Emily.

"I don't want to leave," Pat said.

Fritz's eyes went around the room. "Gaynel and I are going to be married—as all of you except Denny know by now."

"Gaynel told me you two imagined you were in love." Emily's smile was patronizing.

"We have been in love—not imagined it—from the first minute we met," Fritz said calmly.

"I said it was romantic!" Pat breathed. No one but Gaynel had noticed that, since her illness everything had taken on a romantic flavor for Pat.

"It seems to me," Denny spoke slowly, "that Gaynel—or anybody, for that matter—has a perfect right to fall in love—and marry—anyone he chooses."

"I'm glad you see it that way," Fritz said. "Very glad. I felt quite confident you would," Gaynel knew that orchid should have been sent to Madeline Day, if no one else did. "Unfortunately," Fritz went on, "there are other considerations that have to enter in. Those are the things I wanted to talk about."

"DEAR me," Emily said, "this seems an odd time to pick. A strange way to begin. So unexpectedly. And when I've hardly recovered from my illness. My poor, poor nerves! I really can't see that there is any urgent necessity or big hurry to talk about anything. Must we settle everything tonight?"

"We must," Fritz said grimly. "Here and now. The necessity is that I have to leave for California. The hurry is that we have just five days. Gaynel and I want to marry before then. So that she can go with me."

"Five days! Take her with you . . . California! Whatever are you talking about, Mr. . . . er . . . young man!" Emily's nerves jumped to aid her, so that she could wring her hands and look bewildered and turn on all the sales resistance she possessed up her fluffy sleeve. "Gaynell! You know you promised you'd do nothing sudden, or rash. You said you would never leave me. You know you gave your mother your word on that. Denny, why don't you say something? Do something. Tell this . . . er . . . Frederick. Speak to your sister . . . Pat, though. I still think you should leave the room. Get my salts. Do something, someone."

"Mother, dear, I did promise not to leave you—for good. This will just be our honeymoon. I know it seems sudden to you, but I've tried for weeks to prepare you."

"You certainly kept me in the dark," Denny said. "Seems to me you might have given me at least a slight hint, Sis."

Gaynel said, "I wanted to. I tried to, Denny. But you've been too taken up with your own love-life."

EMILY wailed. "How are we possibly to get on without Gaynel? How can we manage without her help? You don't know what you're talking about, young man. Why, as it is, already Gaynel has deserted us! . . . to think a child of mine."

Emily was lost now in self-pity. "Miss Cupples left last week. I had to let her go and it hurt her feelings dreadfully. And I have to get along without her. It's been dreadful and Gaynel keeps mentioning all sorts of other things simply out of the question."

Fritz interrupted quietly. "Suppose we take them in order—A-B-C, you know and see if they are. To begin with A, Gaynel has told me that you could manage without her—and her helf—very nicely, if you were willing.

"B—in order to manage without her and other sort of help, mainly financial, other arrangements will be necessary. And C—" he was ticking them off on his fingers as he spoke, "Gaynel and I propose to outline some few suggestions as to how this end could be accomplished.

"I am truly sorry," he included all of them, "if we seem to be rushing into this, and rushing you. But I know, and I am sure Gaynel will speak for herself, that we know what we want to do. As for rushing you, I am confident if we put our marriage off till doomsday, you would still ask for more time and raise some objections.

"So—A, once more" — again Fritz held up one finger—"We suggest that you sell, or rent, or at least move out of this big house. Into smaller quarters. More within your means and income: more suitable and adequate, more . . . "

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

DO you believe in telepathy? Have you ever experienced it in your own life?

There are two reasons why I ask these questions.

BRANDEIS

My wife and I were sitting at the breakfast table.

Like many long-married people we just sat there and munched our food, being still too sleepy for much conversation.

When we are going away on our vacation trip our kitchen is going to be repainted, as I told you in a previous column.

There was one question, though: "What color was it going to be?"

My wife likes blue; I like yellow, as I said. We had not yet arrived at a compromise.

So, as I was eating my eggs, I was thinking, "Why don't we make it all white? That way we'll both be satisfied."

And just at that moment, my wife spoke out:

"Would you mind if we painted the kitchen white?"

I was amazed, yet the same thing had happened many times before.

Sometimes I was the one who expressed a thought just as she was thinking about the same thing.

Sometimes it was the other way 'round.

What is it? Telepathy? What else COULD it be?

I have no explanation for the set.

Let us say you are the receiver and your wife is the broadcasting station (no joke intended).

The more closely you are tuned in to that broadcasting station, the more clearly you will receive the waves emanating from it.

The more harmonious you are, the more susceptible you will be to each other's waves. The less friction there is, the less static there will be in the reception.

Have you a better explanation?

Now comes the second reason.

At the annual meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science just held in Newcastle, England, Professor A. C. Hardy, of Oxford, an eminent scientist, told his hearers that no one who examined the evidence of telepathy with an unbiased mind could reject it.

He expressed the firm belief that some day when telepathy has been established as a definite science and can be harnessed, it will play an enormously important role in our lives.

Some day, he said, it may even mold the behavior pattern of the human race and change our present conception of the theory of evolution.

NOT being a scientist, my own theory may sound foolish. Yet, until I receive proof to the contrary, I shall stick to it.

I believe that the human being is something like a radio station, or perhaps I should say a radio ing station (no joke intended).

phenomenon.

But others who have lived together for a long time tell me that they often have the same experience.

ON EDUCATION BILL

Bitter Dispute Seen

BY RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON: — Capitol Hill Republicans welcome President Truman's intimation that he will press for passage of a federal school bill at the present session because they believe that White House intervention will help Robert A. Taft in his critical race for re-election.

Whereas Mr. Truman has withheld comment on the Taft program, which permits parochial schools to share in federal grants where states authorize it, or on the Barden Bill, which denies aid to non-public institutions, the G. O. P. will try to force him to make a stand in any resumption of the debate. They point out that he has not refrained from trying to influence Congress on other problems, such as revision of the Taft-Hartley Act.

TUCKER

It is no secret that the Taft backers expect to win the bulk of the so-called Catholic vote in Ohio on this issue. Although they oppose any mingling of church and state, they have no prejudice against mixing church and state politics if the combination operates in their favor.

CONSULTS: Through a lucky stroke, the Ohio Senator has been able to make political capital out of the issue since the controversy between Cardinal Spellman and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt splashed the problem on the front pages. His friends had been afraid that it would die down as a result of the reconciliation between the Cathedral and Hyde Park.

In response to a letter from Joseph A. Gelin, managing editor of the Catholic Press Union, Inc., which publishes the Cleveland Universe-Bulletin and the Toledo Chronicle, Mr. Taft reaffirmed his conviction that federal funds should be allocated to parochial schools in accord with each state's laws or decision in the matter.

The Senator's letter was republished in the Tablet, an extremely influential Catholic newspaper in Brooklyn, on almost the same day that John Foster Dulles announced that he would run against ex-Governor Herbert H. Lehman for the Senate.

The Taft statement has evoked favorable comment in church circles. It also reveals for the first time that he frequently consults members of the hierarchy on legislative problems of interest to them.

RIGHT: Declaring that he opposes the Bearden Bill "in its present form," Mr. Taft clarified his general attitude on the school question in the following paragraphs:

"May I say that I believe in the absolute right of parents to send their children to private or parochial schools, and this right cannot be denied or disregarded by the government.

My position on this bill is based on principles which I believe to be fundamental to the constitution, and is certainly not based on any opposition to the private and parochial schools, which have done such a magnificient job in many fields of education.

"Some years ago, with the full support of parochial school officials, I fought bitterly against a bill in the Ohio Legislature to provide for reading of the Bible in the public schools, because it would have necessarily resulted in religious teaching in violation of the first amendment."

What Mr. Taft did not disclose is that he has discussed this question with prominent Catholic churchmen in Cincinnati and New York, including Cardinal Spellman.

SURPRISE: Whenever religious themes become entwined in politics, there are always curious and unexpected results, and this instance is no exception. While Senator Taft favors federal aid to education, with no distinction against parochial schools, Senator Dulles has announced himself against all federal aid to schools.

Former Governor Lehman, to the surprise of some, come out against the Barden bill. While his position is undoubtedly sincere, it is also good politics. When Mr. Lehman sided with Mrs. Roosevelt in her dispute with Cardinal Spellman, he was risking the loss of Catholic support. But by opposing the Barden bill, as does the Cardinal, he seems to have eliminated that risk.

Mr. Dulles, of course, could have also come out against the Barden bill, thereby aligning himself with Sen. Taft. But instead, he chose to take a stand against all federal assistance. Thus he assumes a position opposed to Candidate Lehman, President Truman and Senator Taft, who, by the way, is no buddy of Mr. Dulles's sponsor—Governor Dewey.

VULNERABILITY: Mr. Lehman's opposition to the Barden bill, however, may not be a complete solution of the problem of the so-called Catholic vote. His enemies will continue to remind those of that faith that he was a member of a committee which demanded the restoration of the magazine, the Nation, to public schools after it had been banned for carrying a series of articles critical of the Catholic church.

Nobody believes, of course, that Mr. Lehman has a drop of bigoted blood in his body. But in matters like these, especially when they become involved in a hard, political fight, it is emotion rather than reason which counts. Otherwise, a lot of men now holding public office would be cleaning the streets.

A musical program was carried out during the afternoon and Mrs. Shaver was assisted by Mrs. L. J. Von Tungeln, Miss Nell Parmley, Miss Margaret Stone, Miss Frances Larmer, Miss Loula Denham, and Miss Blanche Fann.

Miss Larmer presided at the table and Miss Mildred Boone, Miss Grace Cross and Mrs. T. J. Beck assisted in serving the guests.

Texas Tech once more unleashed the fighting spirit of the Matador when approximately 500 students gathered in the gymnasium last night for the first all-college pep rally of the year.

Under the leadership of Jake Schober, yell leader; Thomas Hickey, assistant; and Bill Sewell, former pep leader, the meeting was opened with a round of peppy yells.

Following the opening program 25 lettermen of the institution were introduced to those present.

Hogue Williams, president of the student council, made a short talk in which he told of the spirit of Texas Tech students towards their teams and urged all students, new and old alike, to get into the fight, get the spirit, and Tech fight forward this year in the eyes of the athletic world.

AGAINST OLD REGULATIONS

Utilities Turn On Pressure

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — While big special interests raise their smoke screen of "socialism," "statism" and "welfare state" against Truman Fair Deal objectives, behind it they continue their attempts — and with some success — to undermine safeguards long established by law to protect the public.

Such operations to advance their own selfish interest long ago were aptly named "invisible government." What the government does for the average citizen is "socialism," but what they can get it to do to protect their private interests, at the expense of the public, is "sound Democratic government." It's all in the point of view.

Oil Plays Important Role

One of such interests is oil, still mighty in politics. Oil is behind the bill already passed by the House, now pending before the Senate, which would exempt from the regulatory authority of the Federal Power commission, established in 1930, so-called "arm's length" sales of natural gas by independent companies in interstate commerce. A few big oil companies — "independents" — own a lion's share of natural gas oil reserves, which explains this little wrinkle.

But it is not enough to put over this bill which would cost consumers of natural gas millions annually in increased prices. Oil, like other special interests, overlooks nothing. With the electric utilities, it is fighting confirmation of Leland Olds to another term on the Federal Power commission to which President Truman appointed him four months ago.

Mr. Olds, a veteran FPC member, is against amendments to weaken the 1938 Natural Gas Act embodied in this bill, as are two other members of the five-man commission. His elimination from the agency would open the way for what special interests term "a more favorable atmosphere" in the commission.

The electric utilities do not like Mr. Olds because he has been too aware of the public interest. He spoke out, as did other members of the commission, when the utilities tried to put through amendments to the 1920 Water Power Act in the 80th Congress. These amendments would have crippled the FPC in fixing fair rates to the consumer.

Leland Old's confirmation is in serious danger because of the power of oil and utilities in Congress. After four months' delay public hearings on his nomination now have been scheduled. This seems a meaningless procedure, however, and merely another dilatory tactic, since his record is well known and his qualifications have been examined for two previous appointments to the commission.

The utilities, as well as other special interests, also were active against confirmation of John Carson, ex-newspaperman, government official, and executive secretary of the Co-Operative League of America, to the vacancy on another regulatory agency, the Federal Trade commission. This commission was established in 1914 to protect honest business and the consumer by preventing unfair trade practices and monopoly.

Solons Opposed Appointment

It was brought out in Senate debate that utilities had contributed to the National Tax Equality association, which is fighting co-operatives and which directed the battle against the Carson nomination, because of utility antagonism to rural electrification co-operatives. Mr. Carson was confirmed by the Senate this week, 45 to 25, on almost a straight party vote, nearly six months after his appointment by President Truman.

Among his bitterest opponents was Senator Reed (R., Kans.). He accused Mr. Carson, an independent in politics, of "not knowing the direction in which he was traveling." Senator Reed seems to have veered somewhat in his career. A fighting progressive around the turn of the century in breaking the throttle-hold of the railroads on Kansas politics, he was more recently sponsor of the Reed-Bulwinkle bill to exempt railroads from operation of the anti-trust laws, which the 80th Congress passed over President Truman's veto. This is a measure which its foes charged would encourage monopoly.

Sponsors of such measures as the natural gas and railroad bills cry out about "socialism." If socialism ever comes to this country it will be because of just such measures that remove protections set up in the public interest and institute, instead, powerful private empires. If such power is abused — and that is possible, judging from our history and the necessary imposition of regulation many years ago, in the first instance — the people might conceivably turn to their government to manage transportation and natural

Bond Set Here In Theft Case

Justice of the Peace D. W. Robertson Friday set bond at $1,000 for Iverson Pat Brown, 24-year-old Lubbock negro, who had been charged earlier in the day with the theft and embezzlement of an automobile from his employer.

The complaint against Brown, sworn to by R. O. Corcorran before Assistant District Attorney E. G. Pharr, accused Brown of having taken a 1937 coach, in which he had been sent at 4:30 p. m. Thursday to deliver approximately $200 worth of clothing for Corcorran.

The arrest was made by Virgil Stephens and Doyle Clark, of the city police.

Man Solves Own Problem

Bill Brady, officials were informed, solved his problem through less indirect methods.

Brady informed investigators that he found two youths about 20 years old tearing up one of his buildings four and a half southeast of Lubbock.

When they attempted to run off in their car, he said, he shot two times with a .22 rifle, one shot taking effect in the car and causing the youths to stop.

Brady said he "had the boys put the property back," then allowed them to go on their way.

State highway patrolmen said they had learned the name of the record owner of the automobile after a check of the machine's license number.

Breakin Is Probed

City police Friday were investigating burglary of the H. Franke residence at 2223 North Third. Franke told officers that $16 in cash and the title to a 1941 Chevrolet had been taken from a dresser drawer in his home sometime during his absence Thursday.

It was believed that a door of the house had been forced with a screwdriver or similar instrument.

County court activity included a plea of guilty of malicious mischief entered by Federick Kendell, of Lubbock, who was fined $1 and costs. County Judge Walter Davies adjudged Cecile Kendell innocent of a similar charge.

Julian Leftwich was represented as owner of the building. Mrs. Smith had leased it from Leftwich, then sub-leased to the Kendells, reporters were told.

W. L. Herrin of 2401 Twenty-first pleaded guilty of a charge of drunk driving that had been filed Aug. 16 and was fined $100 and costs. His license, revoked for six months in a former conviction, was revoked for a further period, Judge Davies' judgment provided.

Dale Hall, 25, of 421 Ave. F, pleaded guilty of aggravated assault and was fined $25 and costs.

James O. Hurley, 49, of Idalou, was placed under bond of $1,000 by C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, after his arrest in Idalou Friday on a charge of swindling.

A complaint sworn to by J. S. Edwards before E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney, accused Hurley of having falsely represented to W. R. Sewell of Citizens State bank of Slaton Aug. 25 that he owned property and had the right to mortgage it, and that he did mortgage that property to the bank and obtain $500 in exchange.

Jimmy R. Belt, 45, charged with child desertion, posted $500 bond, the sheriff's department said.

Arthur Hart pleaded guilty of theft and was fined $10, court costs and sent to jail for three days.

William B. Taylor pleaded guilty of drunk driving and was fined $75 and court costs. His driver's license was suspended six months.

FEATURED IN LAMB FAIR PARADE — One of the big thrills for children, and adults too, who watched the annual Lamb county fair and festival parade in Littlefield Friday morning was the scene above. The antics of a circus elephant and two well trained monkeys that trailed behind the giant pachyderm kept the children in awe. Friday was designated as "Kids' Day" and schools were closed. The fair ends Saturday night with an amateur rodeo at 8 p.m. (Staff Photo.)

RAILS BOOST MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—Railway issues hauled the stock market higher again today. Gains in the group ranged from fractions to more than a point.

Utilities also made an excellent showing, this section on average reaching a new high.

Elsewhere the general tendency was upward but the list was well sprinkled with minus signs. Changes were mostly in fractions.

Sales were 1,290,000 shares.

Buying appeared based on continued optimism for labor peace in the steel, coal and autos.

The Associated Press average advanced .2 of one point to 65.5. Industrials and utilities tied for second place behind rails.

Most trading centered in utilities. Commonwealth & Southern, most active stock, hit a new high, up ⅛ to 53⅛.

Commonwealth Edison established a new top for 1949, helped along by a small boost in the quarterly dividend rate, with an advance of ⅞ to 28⅛.

Also up were Santa Fe at 95, Southern Pacific 41⅜, Western Union 16⅝, Consolidated Natural Gas 41½, U. S. Steel 23⅝, Standard Oil (NJ) 70, and General Motors 62.

U. S. Smelting tripped 2 points to 37¼ on an ommitted dividend.

Also lower were Bethlehem Steel, Republic, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth and Westinghouse Electric.

Cities Service jumped 2⅜ to 56⅞ in the curb. Also up were Creole Petroleum and American Natural Gas.

Losers included Lone Star Gas.

Rail bonds nosed forward. U. S. governments ran into minor trouble with losses running from 1/32 to 5/32 of a point.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP) — Cotton futures were easy today on scattered hedging and liquidation. Confusion over the farm legislative picture and sentiment that support prices will be somewhat lower on the next crop unsettled the market.

Weather in the cotton belt was generally fair and favorable to the crop.

Stalemate Continues In Railroad Strike

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23 (INS)—The disputants in the 14-day-old Missouri Pacific railroad strike remained 282 grievance claims apart today with no hope of an immediate settlement of the walkout by four operating brotherhoods.

Union leaders formally acknowledged the latest communication by Guy A. Thompson, Mopac trustee, who refused to negotiate any of the grievances so long as the walkout which began Sept. 9. continues.

The union officials charged Thompson with "sole responsibility for the continuation of the strike."

The union is seeking direct negotiations, while the railroad wants some of the grievance claims arbitrated.

The strike has affected an 11-state area serviced by the railroad.

DROWNS IN TUB

Testimony Finished In Communist Trial

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP) — Testimony in the trial of 11 American Communist leaders ended today in the trial's 36th week.

The defense rested after calling its 35th witness. The government promptly followed suit.

It probably will be at least two weeks before the conspiracy case goes to the jury. Federal Judge Harold R. Medina excused the 15 jurors, including three alternates, until Oct. 4, indicating summations will begin then.

Only six of the 11 defendants took the stand.

The 12 top leaders of the Communist party, comprising its politburo, were indicted last year under the Smith act on charges of conspiracy to advocate the overthrow of the U. S. government by violence.

William Z. Foster, jr., the party's national chairman, was among the 12 indicted. He was granted a separate trial because of a heart ailment.

British Laborites To Take Issue On Devaluation Before Parliament

LONDON, Sept. 23 (INS) — The British labor government, confident of defeating its critics, decided today to place its fate in the hands of Parliament on the pound devaluation issue Thursday.

Government leaders agreed to base the three-day debate starting Tuesday on a motion approving Sir Stafford Cripps' devaluation program.

Inflation Wave Feared

This will be tantamount to a confidence motion under the circumstances, and a defeat for the government would mean its immediate resignation and the holding of new elections at once.

The chancellor of the exchequer has been under opposition fire on devaluation and the recent monetary-economic talks in Washington.

British labor unions, backbone of the administration that came to power in 1945, also have feared that the country may be in for a wave of inflation as a result of devaluation. Labor also wants to know what the government intends to do about the wage-freeze program.

Defeat Considered Remote

Of the 640 seats in Commons, Laborites hold 393 and the Conservatives 189.

The Conservatives, led by Winston Churchill, disagree with the government's general policy but they are not specifically opposed to devaluation as a means of getting Britain out of the economic red.

It was believed the Conservatives probably will contend that the timing of the devaluation move was wrong.

Paraguay dissolved its garment worker's union for staging an illegal strike.

Labor 'Ban' On Counties Studied

AUSTIN, Sept. 23 (AP)—The Texas Employment commission today said that Nueces county has been added to the list of 10 other counties in which Mexico refuses use of Mexican national labor.

NO COUNTIES ON LIST

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 23 (AP)—Alfonson Guerra, administrative officer of the foreign office, said today "Mexico doesn't have any Texas county on a blacklist."

He is chief Mexican official dealing with migrant workers (braceros). He added:

"If some parts of Texas have not been able to obtain workers for the cotton harvest, it is because we are still investigating these points. But the blacklist doesn't exist.

TEC said that Mexico in each case of refusal has notified the United States government of alleged discrimination. The refusals are always made on a county-wide basis.

Each notification of discrimination, TEC said, requires a complete investigation and entails the preparation and submission of reports by mail and possible community pledges that there will be no further discrimination in the particular community.

Counties listed as being under the labor ban yesterday were Dawson, Williamson, Pecos, Johnson, Bowie, Live Oak, Matagorda, McLennan, Victoria and San Patricio.

(Latest information in Lubbock is that Dawson county has, or soon will be, officially taken off the so-called "blacklist," it was pointed out here Friday. Plans for hiring of labor in the county already are well along under that assumption.)
