Sunday beer sales battle renewed

By JAMES WERRELL

Local small grocery store operators have renewed the fight to amend the city ordinance prohibiting beer and wine sales from noon to midnight on Sunday.

Roy Ford, local attorney representing the grocers, will appear before the City Council at its next regular meeting, 9 a.m., Dec. 14, to submit the proposal. Under the proposed amendment, all beer and wine sales except those for on-premises consumption would be legal from noon to midnight on Sunday.

The effort to amend the ordinance began a week ago when Roger Avant, owner of the Kwikie Drive-In Grocery, 510 Lamesa Highway, contracted Ford to draw up a petition favoring the change. The petition was quickly circulated and well received among local grocers, according to Avant's son, Roger, manager of the store.

"We had 20 petitions printed up, and had to have more copies made this week. Almost every small store in town has a copy," said the younger Avant.

The rationale behind the petition, according to several of its backers, is that beer and wine sales take place just outside the city limits on Sunday, while in-town stores suffer the loss in business. The backers claim that the present ordinance sacrifices potential revenue to the city, and hurts local business.

"We think that beer and wine sales on Sunday would help business all over town. People travelling through Big Spring like to stop and buy beer, but if we can't sell it, they don't stop to buy anything," said the Kwikie manager. "Beer sales on Sunday would boost the economy here on all levels."

Attorney Ford explained that when the ordinance was first devised there was an implicit gentlemen's agreement that no beer or wine would be sold outside of the city limits on Sunday. Since then, he claims, dozens of small stores have cropped up just outside the city to take advantage of the Sunday beer trade.

"If beer and wine are going to be sold on Sunday anyway, why not let the city collect the taxes on it?" asked Ford. "If the sale of beer on Sunday were prohibited everywhere then it would make sense. But the way it is now, the purpose of the ordinance has been circumvented. Why handicap the people in the community?"

This same issue came before the council about two years ago, according to City Manager Harry Nagel. At that time, a number of church groups and other members of the community filed protest to the proposal and it was defeated.

"Some of the people in the community threatened to petition for a wet-and-dry election if the proposal was passed. I guess the retailers decided they were better off with the way it was, and the risk of going dry was too great," said Nagel.

Knapp: differences 'zero' in base closing decision

WASHINGTON — Assistant Secretary of the Air Force Gordon Knapp has said that there is no difference to the Air Force between the "candidates" and "alternates" when it comes to making base closing decisions.

In a recent interview with the Selma, Ala., Times-Journal when a delegation concerned about Craig Air Force Base visited in the Pentagon, Knapp was asked about the differences in the terms.

"Zero," he replied. "The designations do not mean all that much."

Craig AFB, along with Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring, have been designated "candidates to be closed" while four other Air Training Command bases have been termed "alternates."

Knapp said these designations were only a matter of timing. He said the original proposal to close Craig and Webb was sent to his office by the Air Staff, but that he and former Under Secretary of the Air Force James Plummer were concerned about that single-handed action.

"We persisted we've got to make a determination and therefore have to have all the facts," Knapp told Bertram de Souza of the Times-Journal.

Knapp, who visited in Big Spring earlier this year, repeated the position taken by Secretary of the Air Force Thomas Reed that no decision on base closures had been made. Knapp said each base will be looked at taking into consideration such things as operational efficiency, impact of closing on the communities, cost of closing and effect of closing on other agencies.

Knapp gave this timetable for the decision:

—Around the first to middle of January, the final environmental impact statement will be filed.

—Air Training Command and decision will be a "monumental job." Air Staff will review it and make their recommendations.

—Then the final decision will be made by Secretary Reed.

"If we are able," Knapp said, "a decision will be made prior to a replacement (of the Secretary of the Air Force by the Carter Administration). If for some reason we are not able to do it, it will slip into the next administration."

"There is no margin date about Jan. 20 (the day President-elect Jimmy Carter takes office). It would be nice to make a decision before Jan. 20 because the people coming on board would not be able to take quick action and could take a longer time to reach a decision. From the Air Force standpoint, we need a decision to be made as quickly as possible," Knapp said.

Knapp said that it was possible that he could have different recommendations from different groups studying the proposals. The final decision will be a "monumental job," he said.

FRENCH FRIED FROG FEET — This is one of two six-legged frogs being kept at the Redmond High School in California. The frogs were found in a nearby pond. Students are waiting to see if the abnormality can be reproduced. The six-legged frogs use all six legs when they swim and students say they can easily beat a normal frog in a race. Walt Wolfe, a biology teacher at the high school, said it isn't known yet if one is a male and the other a female.

Cline will be new bank prexy

LAMESA — Richard Crawley, president and chief executive officer of the First National Bank, announced his resignation from that position effective Jan. 1, 1977.

He has been employed by the bank since his return from World War II Jan. 1, 1946.

Succeeding him will be Lloyd Cline, presently serving as executive vice president. Cline has been extremely active in Lamesa civic events and has worked for the bank since 1948 when he began as a bookkeeper.

Crawley will continue as a member of the board of directors and will be used in a consultative position. His father, W. J. Crawley, was chief executive of the bank for many years until he died in Dec. 1957.

Annexation is approved

The first reading of an ordinance annexing Big Spring Industrial Foundation property to the city was approved without opposition in a two-minute meeting this morning.

"The Industrial Foundation initiated steps to annex the property for future development. If it is approved, the property would be eligible for city utilities," said Harry Nagel, city manager.

The property in question consists of 22.63 acres of land adjacent to the Intech Building, 3200 W. 7th.

Two local people charged

Kidnaping probe widened

By MARJ CARPENTER
Ruel Metcalf, 19, and Teresa Lavonne Daniell Metcalf Turner, 18, were arrested here Tuesday by FBI agents and local police and charged with aggravated kidnaping.

Another Big Spring youth, who is now an airman stationed in Rome, Italy, apparently provided the key to the filing of charges against himself and the other two Big Spring residents in connection with an attempted abduction in Midland in 1974.

James Timothy Young, 19, was charged with aggravated kidnaping after he told his commanding officer in Rome of the incident which occurred when he was living in Big Spring. He was not in the Air Force at that time and was never stationed at Webb Air Force Base, but did attend high school in Big Spring, and joined the Air Force here.

Metcalf and Mrs. Turner, who were married at the time the crime occurred, are in Midland County jail in lieu of $100,000 bonds each set by Justice of the Peace Bobby West of Big Spring at the arraignment Thursday afternoon.

Legal proceedings have been started to bring Young back to the United States, according to Justice of the Peace Robert Pine of Midland. Pine issued the complaints for the arrest of the pair here, in connection with the attempted abduction in October 1974 of Mrs. Robert Pendleton, wife of the president of the Midland Commercial Bank.

News stories at that time mentioned two young white males, possibly in their early 20s, in connection with the abduction, at which time they demanded $400,000. They apparently fled when police approached the house.

TERESA TURNER

RUEL METCALF

The report at that time said that one of the men was seen briefly without his mask but that they wore ski masks. It did not mention a woman.

Police Chief Wayne Gideon in Midland admitted today that this is true, but said he was unable to comment, when asked if it was possible that the woman was outside in a car.

At the time of the crime, Mrs. Turner was 16 and a juvenile. She was born Jan. 7, 1958.

The young couple, Teresa Daniell and Ruel Metcalf, quit school in February of his junior year in 1974 when she was a sophomore to marry. They have a young son, who is in the custody of the grandmother and at this time is staying with her grandmother.

Mrs. Turner took back her maiden name of Daniell after separation and returned to the high school, graduating in May 1976, with plans to study to be a nurse. She has since married again.

Metcalf took over a tire business once owned by his father and has been managing this business in Big Spring. At the time the crime occurred, all three had quit school earlier the same year. Teresa and Ruel had apparently quit to marry and teachers recall that Young dropped from his classes rather than take a P.E. course.

All three were passing at the time they dropped out of school. Mrs. Turner is the only one of the trio who returned to school.

Al-Foudari is leaving Webb Monday along with the first group of pilots to complete the Kuwait Transition A-4 Lead-in Training. They will complete the A-4 training at Yuma Marine Corps Air Station in Arizona. A son was born to Major Al-Foudari during his stay here. He arrived October, 1975, and has been affectionately named "Cowboy George". The cowboy hat was presented in his honor, at the party that Major Al-Foudari gave Thursday night to thank everyone that made his stay in Big Spring as nice as it was.

Q. Who can I call to find out about becoming a foster parent? What requirements are there?

A. Bill Adams of the state welfare department said that there is always a need for the temporary care provided by a foster home. Although he now has more homes than he can fill, that situation could change suddenly. Adams looks for stability in foster homes, both emotionally and financially. He looks for a reputable person between 21 and 70, not necessarily married, to provide temporary care for the children. Applicants should call Adams at 3-7671.

Energy

GIANT OIL PLATFORM — The huge Ninian Central platform being built for Chevron Oil's Ninian North Sea oil field is moored in Loch Carron, Scotland, recently with its massive base structure showing above the water. When completed it will weigh over 400,000 tons. The indents on the side walls help resist sea pressure.

Of coal, uranium resources

Rapid development urged

COLLEGE STATION — State Sen. William N. "Bill" Patman here Friday called for rapid development of Texas' coal and uranium resources because of increasing dependence upon imported fuel.

But he emphasized that such development should be tempered with environmental consideration and safety.

As guest speaker for the 26th annual meeting (Dec. 2-4) of the Society for Range Management, Texas Section, at A&M University, he said strip mining of lignite and uranium is especially important from the agricultural standpoint because 12 per cent of the energy consumed by the entire U.S. is used by agriculture.

Fossil fuel prices now paid by farmers are making production almost prohibitive in some areas, the senator said. Also, prices of imported fuel are expected to spiral even higher as the U.S. approaches 50 per cent dependency on OPEC nations.

Patman said coal and uranium mining should be expanded in Texas and other states to reduce such dependence and put the U.S. in a better bargaining position.

He said the state legislature's recently passed Surface Mining and Regulation Act applies only to coal and uranium and not to such resources as gravel.

"If you ever lease land for strip mining, be sure the lease agreement has a provision for restoration of the land," Patman pointed out.

On the tax situation, he said a joint resolution has been introduced to both houses of the legislature, which, if it ever becomes law, would reduce the tax bite on agricultural land.

The resolution must be approved by the House and Senate before it can be submitted for vote by the public.

To get a lower assessment on agriculture land, the landowner would be required to show that he makes most of his gross (not net) income from agriculture, the senator said.

He said he believes a weakness of the measure is that it also applies to "scenic areas," which would take too much out of the overall tax base.

About 200 persons attended the annual meeting, which was opened by the society's national president, Dr. B.J. Ragsdale, range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

He said the society will sponsor the first International Rangeland Congress Aug. 13-17 in Denver, Colo. The session is expected to attract scientists from many nations.

The society organization also has established the International Rangeland Commission, designed to help the U.S., Mexico and Canada work out common range problems.

Custodian held Lindsey accepts award on arson count

MIDLAND — Ronald D. Wheeler, 19, a custodian in the Midland school system, has been charged with arson in connection with a Wednesday night fire which caused an estimated $2,300 damage to Burnet Elementary School.

Wheeler remained in jail in lieu of $25,000 bond set by Judge Robert H. Pine.

Wheeler was arrested outside the school early Wednesday evening. The blaze was reported shortly after 6:30 p.m. It had been set in a box containing paper, art supplies and paint in the school's music room.

The fire damaged furniture, the ceiling and one wall in the music room.

Dwain McGuire is honored

COLORADO CITY — Dwain McGuire, a volunteer with the Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department since 1972 and current assistant chief, was honored as Fireman of the Year.

The presentation was made during the department's Christmas party in the Civic Center Friday night. Len Robertson, last year's honoree, made the presentation.

Arkansas firm is low bidder

Interstate Highway Sign Co., Little Rock, Ark., has made the apparent low bid on an IS 20 project extending from the Martin County line to the Taylor County line.

The Little Rock firm's bid was $273,504 for upgrading traffic devices over 97.6 miles of thoroughfare.

In an allied announcement, Mica Corp., Wichita Falls, submitted the apparent low bid of $200,538 for upgrading traffic control devices on 63.1 miles of IS 20 from the Nolan County line to the Eastland County line.

A. T. Lindsey, general manager of Berkley Homes, was presented with an Energy Conservation Award for use of high quality standards of thermal insulation in building design in compliance with the national goal of energy conservation.

The award, made by Sandy McGee, Manufactured Housing Specialist, Owens-Corning, cited the firm's efforts in improving insulation standards which will conserve energy, reduce monthly heating-cooling costs, and increase comfort.

"Berkley Homes, Big Spring satisfy the criteria of the government's national conservation program — reduction of energy usage and reduced operating costs — through the use of higher insulation standards," said Sandy McGee.

President Ford, in his State of the Union message, said that increasing the supply of energy is not enough. We must take additional steps to cut long-term consumption. He then made three proposals to Congress to accomplish this through increased insulation.

"We have always considered adequate insulation in our homes a worthwhile investment because of the long-term savings in (operating costs and — or occupancy comfort). The need to conserve our national energy resources makes insulation even more important," said A.T. Lindsey Gen. Mgr. Berkley Homes. "We are pleased to feature all of our mobile homes with Full House Insulation — meeting or exceeding the insulation levels for any home — either mobile or site-built. It is an honor for us to receive this recognition today."

Officials say they don't know why

Navy desertions spiral

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy suffered its highest desertion rate on record during fiscal 1976, and Navy officials say they don't know why.

As a result, the Navy has formed a special study group to determine the cause and recommend actions to cure the problem.

The Navy experienced a mounting desertion problem during the fiscal year that ended last summer, while the Army was registering its best record in 10 years.

The Marine Corps record was improving, although its desertion rate still is the highest of all the services, and figures show the Air Force has virtually no desertion problem, and never has had one.

Desertion became a major problem, particularly for the Army and the Marines, during the Vietnam war. With the end of that war and the change from a draft-based to an all-volunteer force, Pentagon officials had voiced hope that the problem would recede and possibly all but disappear.

But the newly released figures suggest the problem persists, although the Army appears to be getting it under control.

The Pentagon figures show the Navy desertion rate climbed to 24.8 per 1,000 enlisted men during the fiscal year that ended June 30. This was more than 2 per cent worse than 1975 and more than double the highest Navy rate during the Vietnam war.

The Army, which was hit by a desertion rate as high as 73.5 per 1,000 men in 1971, was down to 17.7 in fiscal 1976.

The Marine desertion rate of 69.2 per 1,000 men last year was much worse than all the other services, but it represented a major improvement over the 105 rate the Marines suffered the previous year.

The Air Force's desertion rate was only 1.2 per 1,000 men. It never has risen above 2.8, even during the Vietnam war.

Asked why its desertion rate has climbed to a record level, the Navy said it has established "no confirmed reasons for the trend."

Vice Adm. James D. Watkins, the Navy's personnel chief, created a study group in September "to research all facets of the problem and to make recommendations to deal with it," the Navy said.

WILL GREET PUBLIC AT TOWN PARTY SUNDAY
Author Bill Brooks with book, 'Remembering'

Museum will be scene of autograph party

The Heritage Museum will be the scene Sunday afternoon of Bill Brooks' autograph party, at which time Brooks will sign copies of his neatly packaged "Remembering," a collection of articles and sketches which have appeared in daily and weekly newspapers all over the southwest.

Hours will be from 1 to 5 p.m. The series originated in The Herald in March of last year. Since that time, Brooks — a draftsman by trade who hopes soon to open his own shop — has done about 90 of the sketches and articles. The book, which is printed locally, sells for $4.15.

The book contains 40 drawings and Brooks is already making plans for additional volumes.

The native of Ira, Tex., is also a woodcarver of note and both the original drawings and his woodcarvings will be on display and available for purchase during the autograph party.

Special invitations have gone out to people here but no one needs an invitation to attend the party.

Mrs. Toots Mansfield, a member of the museum board, will help serve refreshments during the party.

Members of Brooks' immediate family, along with his parents, will be in attendance. Bill is married to the former Theda DeShan of Snyder. They have two girls, Tymi, age 10, and Ginger, 6.

Bill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Algie Brooks, who now live in the Lake Thomas community, attended public schools in Ira and spent two years at Howard College (1959-61) before transferring to North Texas State University, where he graduated in 1963 with a degree in Industrial Arts. He is now employed here by the architectural firm of Gary and Hohertz.

One of his better known woodcarvings, the Big

Eclipse Windmill, will be on display during the Sunday event. He's been into woodcarving for four years and one of his carvings, featuring the original "big spring," was purchased by the Heritage Museum. Another, depicting a flag raising scene, is in the National Wood Carvers Museum in Davenport, Iowa. Bill says his sketches, inspired by things he remembered from "growing up," usually take four to five hours to complete. The articles accompanying each sketch require a little more time.

He never took art in school but his experience in drafting stood him quite well. His articles cover everything from storm cellars to stone wells and soap making.

The nostalgia buffs should have a field day with the collection put together by Brooks.

Wreckage remains

There is still quite a mess at the location of the freight train wreck at the end of Salem Road, according to neighbors who reside in the area.

A T&P freight train derailed at that location on Sept. 20, early on a Monday morning, narrowly missing the back yard of one resident.

A spokesman at T&P says the roadbed has been repaired and that the scrap metal has been sold.

At the scene, a worker from Odessa Metals is starting to pick up the pieces left at the wreck. He said a lot of times, when they work at such a location, a fence sometimes is erected with no trespassing signs, but that none has been placed there in this case.

The original fence on the lot where most of the wreck ended was torn down the day of the wreck so that equipment could get into the location.

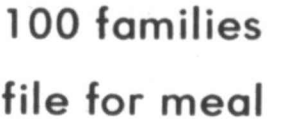

Neighbors have been concerned. In spite of their warnings, children wander into the site, tempted by box cars sitting around at the location.

Also, one of the cars held sharp metal, and loose pieces of tin and smashed cans and other items are dumped all over the area. There is also a large pile of some white substance that occasionally blows in the area, according to neighbors.

The King home, closest to the railroad tracks has a For Sale sign posted on the fence.

Another neighbor said that the workers picking up the pieces of metal at the scene only began about a week ago. "We'll be glad to see it go. We've lived with it over two months," one woman added.

100 families file for meal

About 100 families have been registered with the Salvation Army for Christmas dinners and toys. Salvation Army will continue to register needy families until Friday Dec. 17, then the cases will be reviewed and verified.

Those who qualify will receive a letter in the mail with food order and toy tickets for children 12 yrs. and under. Only those families who have registered and been cleared through the Salvation Army office and who have received the toy tickets will be admitted on Toy Day, Dec. 22. SA officials request that all applicants register before next Friday so that the personnel has sufficient time to process the cases and get the mail back before Dec. 22.

Ball said. Only emergency cases will be handled after December 23.

Members of Brooks' immediate family, along with his parents, will be in attendance. Bill is married to the former Theda DeShan of Snyder. They have two girls, Tymi, age 10, and Ginger, 6.

Scouting lessons helped prisoner of war survive

Lessons learned in Scouting helped him survive as a Prisoner of War in North Vietnam, but "far more than the physical things were the attitudes and values I picked up in Scouting," Capt. Jack Butcher told the annual banquet meeting of the Lone Star Boy Scout district Thursday.

Commitment to a faith in God, country and fellowman helped sustain him in the face of Communist propagandizing, he recalled to the large group assembled at Howard College Cafeteria.

The occasion was recognition of adult leaders and young men who attained the highest rank of Eagle Scout.

Sam Hunnicutt, district chairman for the past two years, was presented with a handsome plaque as he turned over the reins to Clem Jones.

Introduced to the crowd by Steve Odom, Buffalo Trails Council executive, was Phil Corbin, who will be moving with his wife, Jane, to Big Spring to become Lone Star executive.

Roland McFarland, who has been serving the district temporarily also was on hand. J. Arnold Marshall, past district chairman, was master of ceremonies.

Special guests included three former executives — Bill McRee, Guy Griffith and Art Hyman.

A top training award went to Bob Oliver who received the Cubmaster award. The Merit Award went to David Jansch and Charles Burks for outstanding contributions to the district. Recruiting awards went to Austin Ferguson, Troop 1776; Bob Dooley, Pack 136, and Gene Morris, Pack 238. Special awards went to Cantu Ramirez, David Jansch, Bill Pribe, Austin Ferguson, Etta Bradley and Nancy Dooley. Ramirez and Fr. Louis Moeller were noted as recipients of the St. George Medal for exceptional service to Catholic-sponsored units.

Eagle Scouts recognized were Robert Brown, Jimmy Ferguson, Trent Fraley, Tom Purcell, Charlie Purcell, Harold Danford and Randy Cregar. Not present but qualifying during the year were Steve Tipton, Keith Sheedy, Don White and James Varney.

Mrs. Dooley presented Cub training awards to Kathaleen Frenthaway, Marie Kirkham, Etta Bradley, Norma Head, Karen Wallace, Jackie Hays, Marylin Bridges, Perry Cox, Kay Kennemur, Barbara Oliver, LaVera Alexander, Shirley Summers, Beth Freshour, Nellie Moore, Carol Wise, Dollie Shober, Janie West and Jean Daugherty.

Butcher, who received a standing ovation from the crowd, told how such things as training in first aid, knot tying (he made a bamboo back pack during one of his escapes) health tips, hiking, signmaking and communication (he used Morse code to tap out messages in prison cells) helped him survive the POW ordeal from March 24, 1971 until he was liberated March 28, 1973.

He paralleled the tenets of the Scout Oath and Law with the code of conduct for the military and showed how these were anchors to which he could hold during his ordeal.

His communist captors, he said, sought to undermine and plant seeds of doubt, "but they never tried to tell us that Scouting was falling apart because we knew better. And knowing that Scouting was still going strong, we knew that our nation was still going strong," he said.

Corbin, who with his wife Jane, and a son, Francis, will move here after Jan. 1, is a native of Wisconsin, who had a career in the Army, and out in 10 years as volunteer Scout, earning his BBA degree at UTEP after retirement, he entered professional scouting.

In wrong place at wrong time

HILLSBORO, Tex. (AP) — A traveling salesman from Burleson, Tex., very literally was in the wrong place at the wrong time and did exactly the wrong thing near here Thursday afternoon.

Returning home from Corsicana, the 30-year-old man stopped his 1975 Mercedes at a roadside park on Texas 122 about 4:15 p.m. to throw away a soft drink bottle. Moments later he was arrested for investigation of extortion.

"It's not every day that you look in a trashcan and see money," said the man, a church deacon who asked that his name not be printed.

In the trashcan was a bag from the Citizens National Bank of Hillsboro. It was placed there by officers trying to trap an individual who telephoned the bank's vice president, George Bonner, half an hour earlier.

The rough voiced extortionist demanded that $4,000 be placed in that trashcan at the exact time the Burleson man stopped there to discard his pop bottle.

"I looked in the bag and I could see there was $10 and receipt books with a rubber band around them," the salesman said. "So then I looked in the other trashcan to see if there was more."

Officers, hidden nearby and watching, said he did precisely what an extortionist making a pickup would do.

The startled salesman, who works for a Fort Worth firm, was arrested and driven to Waco, where Department of Public Safety officers gave him a polygraph examination.

Rats a problem

In the world today, there are more house rats than there are people. The rat population in the United States is estimated to be 100 million or one rat for every two Americans. One reason for this large population is because rats have an extremely high reproductive rate.

The gestation period for the average female rat is between 20 and 22 days long with an average litter size of 10 which would enable the mother to produce over 150 offspring in one year. The young rats become sexually mature in three months.

In the past, large scale eradication programs were launched to destroy all the rats in the U.S. from those experiences, it was learned that complete eradication was impossible, but that rat populations could be effectively controlled through efforts from the community.

This means available to communities for rodent population control include chemicals which are most effective in heavily infested areas, mechanical controls such as live and snap traps, biological control with use of predators such as cats, hawks and snakes, and environmental manipulation which is the most permanent and necessary of all control measures.

CLEM JONES

Chairman is named

The new chairman of the Lone Star District of Boy Scouts of America has come up from the ranks of district leadership.

He is Clement R. (Clem) Jones, who chose Big Spring as his home after retiring from the Air Force. He has served as district scouting commissioner, in other positions on the committee, also as institutional representative and six years in Troop 5 committee. Two of three sons have been active in scouting — Brian attaining the rank of Eagle and Mark already a Life Scout.

Jones, who is associated with Gamco Inc., as electronics technician, is a native of Arkansas and a graduate of McCormick High School at Truman, Ark.

After three years with Singer Mfg. Co., he entered the U.S. Air Force in 1948 and served 21 years before retiring at Webb AFB as a master sergeant with service at numerous bases including tours in Japan, England and Germany.

He was married to Dorothy Johnson of Paxton, Ill., in 1953. In addition to Brian and Mark they have another son, Dana. Jones has been active in community affairs, also at the First Baptist Church where he is a department superintendent, chairman of the deacons, and a member of the trustees.

Kin of local woman lawyer

Capt. David T. Mitchell, US Air Force, recently was sworn into the Texas law profession in a ceremony staged in the municipal auditorium in Austin.

The oath was administered by Chief Justice Joe R. Greenhill. The rite was for those who successfully completed the Texas bar examinations in July.

Capt. Mitchell previously had passed the bar examinations in Florida. He completed work toward his law degree at St. Mary's University in San Antonio.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Mitchell, Route M, Lockney, and the grandnephew of Mrs. Vernon (Vina) Webb, Route 1, Big Spring.

Banks slice prime rate

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of America's biggest commercial banks cut their prime lending rates today.

Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., the nation's sixth largest, cut its rate from 6 1/2 to 6 per cent, while No. 2-ranked Citibank reduced its rate from 6 1/2 to 6 1/4.

While interest rates generally have been declining nationwide, many large banks had kept their prime rate at 6 1/2 per cent, despite Morgan's Nov. 19 move to 6 1/4 per cent.

The last major round of ratecutting was in late October, when the rate generally dropped from 6 1/2 to 6 1/4 per cent.

The prime rate is a bank's charge on loans to its most credit-worthy corporate customers. While it is not linked directly to consumer or mortgage loans, its movements can signal the direction of interest rates in general.

Big copier installed

The Howard County Library has recently installed a brand new Xerox 31000 LDC (Large Document Copier) machine.

Legal sized copies are still 10 cents each, but the new machine can copy material up to 14 inches by 18 inches, for only 25 cents per copy. This is ideal for such items as business ledgers, newspaper pages, and oversized documents of every kind. Print can be transferred to plastic transparencies for overhead projectors used in the classroom. The new Xerox machine is available to all library patrons thanks to the Friends of the Howard County Library.

While at the library, browse through some of the new books. "Great Aunt Jane's Cook and Garden Book" is a refreshing departure from the usual, combining recipes and gardening hints written in a chatty style. Much good-humored wisdom adds to the homespun fun.

Everyone has fun at bingo party

It fell Capt. Jim Layton's duty Wednesday night to "give a briefing" on the game of bingo.

"Bingo," the captain said in language all the junior officers and foreign student pilots from Webb Air Force Base were certain to understand, "is a lot like 'bail out.' You don't say it unless you mean it."

The occasion was the Big Spring Century Club hosted bingo party for junior officers and student pilots at Webb. The annual event, held in the Dora Roberts Community Center, has become one of the Century Club's best activities of the year.

AND AFTER attending the one Wednesday, I can see why. Everyone had fun. The center was packed with more than 250 optimistic bingo players, all certain that they would win one of the thousands of dollars in prizes donated by Big Spring merchants.

The party was hosted by the Century Club's Hospitality Committee, chaired by First National Bank President Jimmy Taylor, Auctioneer and Gibson manager Al Stephens spent most of the evening calling the numbers out, assisted by Dr. John Key and Mel Prather.

Century Club President Adolph Swartz of Swartz gathered and handed out the prizes, which ranged from gift certificates to a television set.

The bingo party demonstrates the goodwill which continues to exist between the personnel at Webb and the townspeople.

The prizes for this year, according to Taylor, were the best ever.

Events such as this one contribute to the sense of community which we have in Big Spring. May it always be so.

Marcos bargains

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Recent events in Manila and South Korea bring to mind the warning by Sir Robert Thompson in his book that there is "No Exit from Vietnam;" that if we lost in Vietnam, one of the consequences would be a contemptuous treatment of us even by states that could not survive one month without our tacit protection. In recent days, President Marcos of the Philippines has told the United States how much money he will require in order to permit the United States' guarantee of Philippine independence, it being our presumed responsibility every generation or so to rescue the Philippines from occupation by a foreign state. The billion dollars offered by the Ford Administration is not quite enough, so President Marcos will bargain for more, counting on the prodigality of the Carter Administration.

MEANWHILE, THE South Korean government has, by all accounts, been extremely busy. There is huge indignation in Congress, though the reasons for that indignation are largely unexamined. If we accept the evidence they have given so far, the story is roughly as follows:

The government of South Korea calls in its intelligence agency and says, "The United States is an unreliable ally, what can we do about it?"

Is there — so far — reason for U.S. indignation? One would think not. The responsibility of any sovereign government is to take steps to assure its continued sovereignty, and the responsibility of an intelligence agency is to help it achieve its objective. As for the United States, we can hardly blame South Korean officials for coming to the conclusion that we are unreliable. No doubt they were influenced by the fate of South Vietnam, to whose leaders an American President and an American Secretary of State made promises which, when time came to redeem them, were disavowed by Congress.

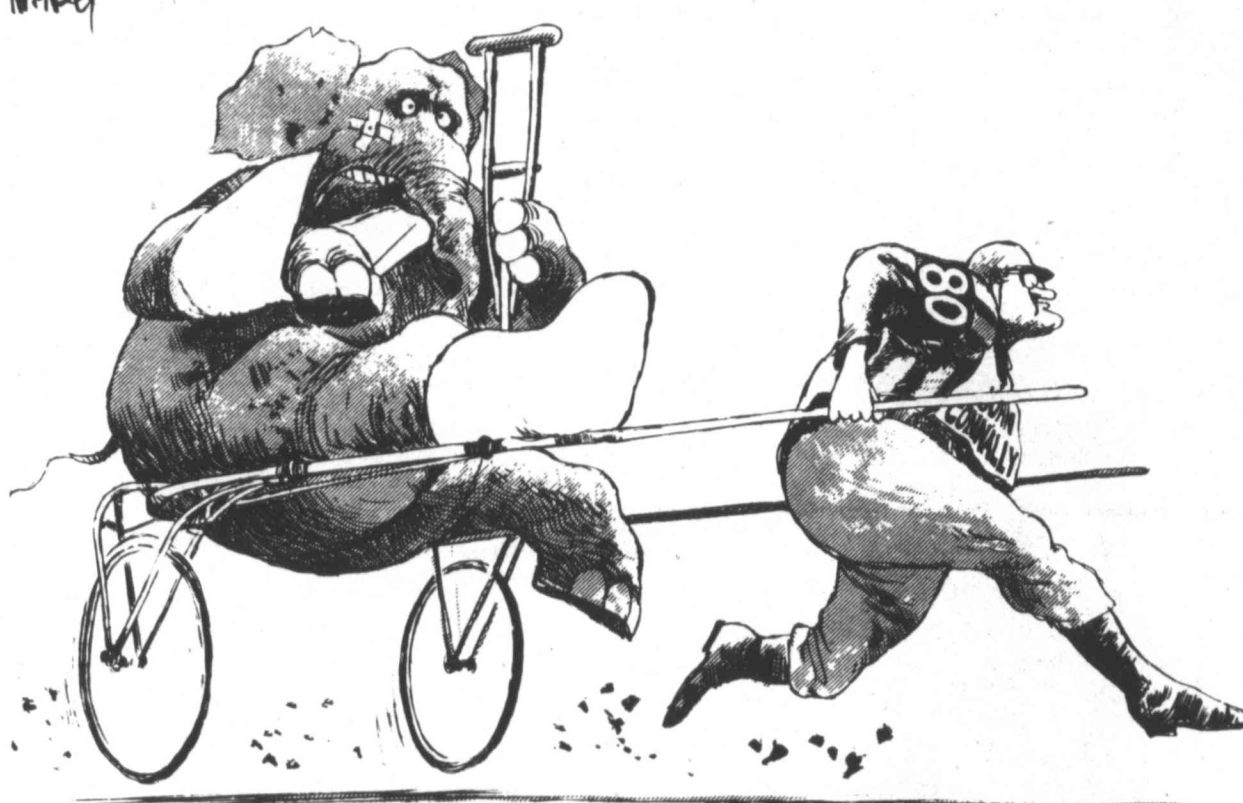

The next step, we now gather, came when the intelligence agency accepted the responsibility of doing what it could to influence Congress. By fair means? Well, that of course depends on what are appropriate standards. It is much cheaper to bribe politicians than to fight wars. It is by no means safe to conclude that all politicians are bribable, but it is by no means safe to conclude that no politician is bribable. Some politicians are bribed by the promise of votes, some by money, some by both. Covert intelligence operations do the best they can. If there is a country in the world that does not spend money in an attempt to bribe politicians, that is a country that hasn't any money to spend.

WE DO NOT KNOW who exactly was given money — though there are leads; and we assume that the money given was not specifically tied to any reciprocal promise given by a Congressman to a Korean representative, heaven forbid. Western taste and Oriental delicacy combine in rejecting the vulgarity of the explicit bribe. No, it appears that most of the bribes were in the form of contributions on Congressional reelection funds.

The danger, of course, is that the dignity of the Congress is now the principal issue as far as Congress is concerned, and the Congress will now seek to expunge any taint upon itself — by stopping any further aid to South Korea. This would take the form of a diminished military presence in South Korea, a position to which Jimmy Carter was attracted in the course of the campaign.

BUT HOW WILL Congress react to the Philippine modus operandi, which is so much more sophisticated? There it isn't bribery, it is blackmail.

WEEKLY

Schizophrenia: Light in dark corner

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you write on the subject of schizophrenia? Can it be cured? How long does it last? I have had experience with a person afflicted with this.

She talks to imaginary people who are very real to her, and she sometimes acts as though they are fighting with her. At other times she is rational and can carry on a normal conversation. Is there any answer to this horrible disease? — G.A.

Schizophrenia means a split personality. It is a serious disorder and remains one of the leading reasons for admission to mental institutions. It is common among young people. There are thought to be from two to three million persons in the U.S. who will develop it at some time in their lives (usually between puberty and middle age).

The symptoms you describe fit the classic mold. The person is generally out of touch with reality, carries on conversations with himself, suffers hallucinations or delusions that others are "out to get him." He may alternate between being morose and having emotional outbursts.

The medical cause is unclear. Although heredity may be involved in some cases, other factors seem to play an important role — poor living conditions of childhood, poverty, cruelty or family bickering. Considerable research has been done, some of it having to do with a possible chemical imbalance that affects the brain.

There is still a long way to go in understanding this disorder, but recent advances in treatment have been encouraging. Tranquilizers have done much to improve the outlook. It is now estimated that half of those hospitalized for the first time will not have to be readmitted, and only a third will require continuous hospitalization. The sooner the problem is diagnosed the better the chance for successful treatment. Psychotherapy and occupational therapy have been a great help in recovery.

Usually treatment must be for an indefinite period, because relapses may occur.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have cramps in my legs that vary with how much stress I place on them. Doctors have prescribed various medicines, and artificial arteries have been suggested for me.

One cure really works — an intravenous injection of a compound called Calcicarb. It has kept me relatively free of cramps for over 15 years. My old doctor is no longer practicing and my new one says it is old-fashioned and not medically sound. I know it is that it worked for me. What do you suggest I do? — C.J.

Calcicarb (calcium ascorbate) is available for injection or oral use. Its chief role is as quick therapy in vitamin C (ascorbic acid) deficiency. It also contains calcium, as the name implies.

The therapy may be considered old-fashioned, but if it works, fine. It's not to be taken, though, by persons using digitalis, because it may cause heart symptoms.

There are alternatives you can ask about. Calcium lactate along with vitamin C has helped some. Also, favorable results have been reported with use of vitamin E. Your doctor can advise about dosages.

However, if artificial blood vessels have been suggested, your problem may go beyond any vitamin deficiency. What worked for you years ago may not today.

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

On the 7th Americans from Machias, Maine, and the Bay of Fundy region lay siege to the 200-man garrison at Fort Cumberland — near Amherst, Nova Scotia. Comprising 180 men (including Indians), the American force is led by John Allen and Jonathan Eddy. This is the major armed effort to force the 15,000 New England settlers of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick to enlist in the American cause. The effort fails. The British garrison under Colonel Joseph Goreham repels two attacks during the three-week siege. On the 29th three companies of British reinforcements from Halifax lift the siege. Colonel Goreham extends to the Americans a conditional pardon, which about 100 of them accept. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick remain under British control.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My husband says it isn't wrong for him to look at other women and be aroused by them, since God made them beautiful for this purpose. This disturbs me. What do you think? — Mrs. S.D.

DEAR MRS. D.: I believe your husband is wrong. Job said, "I have come to terms with my eyes, never to take notice of a girl" (Job 31:1, New English Bible). Paul warned, "But among you there must not be even a hint of sexual immorality, or of any kind of impurity, or of greed, because these are improper for God's holy people" (Ephesians 5:3, New International Version). Jesus taught, "But I tell you that anyone who looks at a woman lustfully has already committed adultery with her in his heart" (Matthew 5:28, New International Version).

It is tragic that we live in a sex-saturated society. However, that means that Christians must be that much more careful about this area of their lives. If a Christian falls into open sexual sin it is very serious and sad, and it always begins with the careless thought or the covetous look. We must seek the power of the Holy Spirit to resist subtle appeals to our sexual instincts. We must be disciplined in mind and body so that we do not fall into temptation.

While you should discuss this openly with your husband, don't let a spirit of jealousy and distrust embitter your marriage. Instead, seek ways to become a closer couple in the Lord, and make it your first priority to serve Him. When Christ is Lord of our lives, the problem you mention will fade into the past.

A cheer for Beloit

Around the rim

Bob Burton

The bowl games are coming up, and all America plans to lay in a supply of nuts, sandwiches, and liquid refreshment to watch the spectacle of college football.

Texans in particular are vehement about their boys. Fans of Texas, A&M, Tech, and all the others rally aggressively around their colors and fight songs as the season ends in the glorious holidays.

This is why I'd like to strike a blow in favor of my old alma mater, Beloit College. Located on a small hill overlooking a small Wisconsin town, small Beloit during the football season is ablaze with color and the smell of woodsmoke. Lithe coeds and burly, blonde halfbacks walk slowly down the leaf-strewn sidewalks hand in hand. The weekly spirit bonfires crackling in the crisp night air sent shudders of joy up and down my spine.

UNFORTUNATELY FOR Beloit football fans, during my tenure all the blonde halfbacks played soccer. Beloit had a good, division-winning soccer team. In football, Beloit during my four years managed to tie a national record for the longest college losing streak ever. When finally ended in a brutal victory over Carleton College in Minnesota, Beloit had lost about 32 games straight. The team had been losing regularly, hopelessly, for three seasons. They only managed to win the Carleton game by one point, 7-6, in a really close game against another team with a record also unblemished by victory.

The team was the butt of a lot of criticism. There were football jokes, and the stadium attendance fell to townspeople who liked to watch any game rather than rabid college fans. The coach had trouble getting anyone to try out, and those who did were too often temperamental, believing themselves to be the pearl among swine.

It all came down to what was often referred to as the Toilet Bowl, when the two defeated demoralized teams would gather their strength in one last effort against a team that both sides knew they could beat. And why not? Everyone else had.

The bowl was usually held just after Thanksgiving, which in Wisconsin means slush, or at the best, mud and freezing rain.

IT WAS, for three years, a travesty of football. Five fumbles on one play, long bombs bouncing off a receivers' hands as he stood alone in the end zone. Ballcarriers slipping and sliding. A great game to watch with a lot of hooting at anybody who stood out, often the referee.

And the whole school took it lightly, not getting too involved in the team and the loss. There was not too much attention paid to the players who cried after a particularly hard game, or the ones who quit, or the ones who stayed. All that thrill of victory and agony of defeat was buried under the surface in all but a few hardened fans.

The bowl games of Christmas Day and New Year's Day have the best in the nation, teams unaccustomed to losing. Half of them will go home defeated.

But at Beloit for three years the drought was unrelenting. Now the boys regularly win about half their games, but then it was not so easy just to go out onto the field.

So, in the face of the winners, the national Heisman All-American bullet-headed boys, I'd like to tip my hat to Beloit, and to that losing team. They were all right.

Friendly attitude

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Apparent acceptance by President-elect Carter of the Brezhnev-Kissinger explanation for why a SALT II agreement was not signed this year points to precisely the same course that hard-liners had feared if President Ford were elected.

In a CBS interview Nov. 29, Carter blamed the stalled strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) on "an incompatibility among the (Ford) cabinet officers" and election-year politics. Like Leonid Brezhnev and Henry Kissinger, the President-elect did not mention Soviet refusal to budge an inch on critical points.

THIS POSITION on SALT, plus a friendlier attitude toward détente by President-elect Carter than was shown by candidate Carter, and the names now falling into place as his national security team add up a positive reaction to the Kremlin's new peace offensive. The first step could be early negotiation of a SALT II agreement along the lines of one pushed by Secretary of State Kissinger and Chairman Brezhnev and opposed by the Ford Defense Department and Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA).

All this is made less certain by Carter's willingness to double-reverse any issue, particularly one where he is a novice. Moreover, the faction of hard-line Democrats in Congress will try to slow down Carter. Nevertheless, current evidence indicates the President-elect moving slightly left in foreign policy as he is moving slightly right in domestic policy.

At issue are two new weapons systems not specifically covered under the SALT II understanding at Vladivostok: the Soviet Backfire bomber and the U.S. cruise missile. Typically, the Russians want an agreement permitting unlimited Backfire production and virtually curtailing the cruise missile.

INDEED, HAD President Ford won, he and Kissinger were ready to push just such a treaty, spruced up by some face-savers. Carter's campaign statements, while cryptic, suggested he might sacrifice the cruise missile — perhaps to severe a loss for the U.S. arsenal — but only in return for the Backfire bomber also being included under the strategic weapons limit.

Carter's comments to Walter Cronkite Nov. 29 represent a shift. Asked about unpleasant surprises in transition briefings, Carter replied, somewhat unresponsively but most significantly, "The lack of progress in SALT because of an incompatibility among the cabinet officers and their opinions about what ought to be done."

I can understand that the election, year in our country is a time for delay, and for an absence of commitment to the resolution of a problem.

Cronkite next posed a remarkable question: "Have you learned anything that would give you cause to believe the Soviet Union has as much right to be suspicious of us and our motives as we have to be suspicious of them?"

Instead of snapping back a flat no, Carter paused and said, "I don't know how to answer that question," then, again unresponsively but significantly, revealed he had asked Kissinger whether the Russians had ever lied to him. "And he said no," Carter reported, adding: "I know that one major falsehood could precipitate an international crisis, but to know that has never occurred in Secretary Kissinger's experience is a very encouraging thing."

THIS EXTRAORDINARY exchange reflects Kissinger's fabled persuasiveness. One of many instances where, contrary to Kissinger, the Soviets did not tell the truth directly affects SALT. Brezhnev's claim of a 1,000-mile range for the Backfire bomber is one-third the softest-line CIA estimates; the more accurate range may be 6,000 miles.

Carter was reacting favorably to the Kremlin's peace offensive. The message that Moscow plans no "test" for the new President but wants to pursue détente was carried to him by such disparate couriers as Averell Harriman, 85-year-old Democratic pioneer for détente, and William Simon, Republican Secretary of the Treasury.

Big Spring Herald

Mailbag

Dear Editor:

It's that time of year again — the time my family and I looked forward to each year we were in Big Spring. We had always enjoyed the Redskin-Cowboy game before, but somehow its importance seemed to increase after our arrival in West Texas. I've chosen this occasion now to write and formally thank all our friends in the Big Spring area for the wonderful manner in which we were treated during our stay at Webb Air Force Base.

When we were rather hurriedly transferred late this past summer, we did not have the opportunity to say goodbye to all our friends and let everyone know how much we really appreciated the warm West Texas hospitality that had been extended to us. We will always cherish the true friendships and fond memories of Big Spring and the people who make it such a wonderful town. We are looking forward to visiting with you again and hope that if any of you are in Florida, you'll make Satellite Beach a stop in your travels as well.

As for the Redskin-Cowboy game, I am afraid I have rather bad news for the Cowboy fans. The Redskins are now playing their best football of the year, while the Cowboys have been going downhill for several weeks. I'm not even sure it will be very close, considering how easy the "Skins" have handled the Cardinals, the only team now comparable to them in the NFC. However, Staubach and the loud, boisterous, and generally "unruly" Cowboy fans in Texas Stadium will probably help keep it closer than it should be. From where I sit, it looks like 31 to 20, Redskins.

Again, Nancy and I say hello to everyone and wish you and the community the best of everything in the future.

More inmates join hunger strike

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican and South American inmates have joined about 100 Americans in a hunger strike protesting congressional delays on proposed legislation to make drug violators eligible for parole from Mexican jails.

Relatives who visited the prisoners Thursday say the Americans' seven-day-old hunger strike has gained support from at least 150 Mexicans and other Latin Americans on two men's prisons, Reclusorio Norte and Santa Marta.

"The men in dormitory 5 at Reclusorio Norte say 150 out of the 154 men in the dorm are refusing to eat—and there are only nine Americans in the prison," said Carolyn Johnson, 43, of Alameda, Calif., who visited the prison Thursday.

She said she also visited her brother, Phillip Millard, 32, also of Alameda, in Santa Marta prison and he reported Mexicans were fasting there.

Millard has served three years of a 6½-year sentence for importing cocaine. He, like most of the Americans jailed in Mexico City, was arrested at the international airport on a flight from South America to the United States.

The protest centers on a penal reform bill sent to Congress Sept. 7 by former President Luis Echeverria, whose term of office expired Dec. 1. He was succeeded by President Jose Lopez Portillo.

The bill and a proposed constitutional amendment allowing the president to sign prisoner exchange agreements with other countries entered Congress at the same time. The constitutional amendment was passed by both houses and is awaiting ratification by a majority of the states.

Meanwhile, Mexico and the United States signed a prisoner exchange agreement on Thanksgiving Day which would allow prisoners to serve out their sentences in their homelands. The treaty will take effect when each country's Senate ratifies it. In addition, enabling legislation is pending in both countries.

The American inmates announced in a strike manifesto that they believed the government had made false promises when officials predicted in September that the parole bill would pass before Christmas and that at least 200 Americans would then be eligible for immediate parole.

The Mexican government initiated the exchange treaty idea when Secretary of State Henry Kissinger visited Mexico last June. Echeverria announced he was sending the exchange measure and the parole bill to Congress during a hunger strike by Americans in jail in September. The strike fizzled and only a few Americans participated for 36 hours.

The interior secretariat, which operates the federal prisons, has completed most of the interviews and paperwork necessary for parole, government sources say.

Presidential initiatives rarely fail in Mexico, where the president has nearly dictatorial powers and all but a few of the congressmen are members of the ruling Institutional Revolutionary Party (PRI).

The American inmates have expressed the view that since Echeverria left office, the bill might be shelved by Congress.

A check with the chief clerk's office and the documents' office at the House of Representatives Thursday revealed the bill is before a joint committee.

"This is an initiative from the executive branch. It is very difficult to shelve an executive initiative. It never happens," a clerk in the documents' office said.

He said Congress meets in regular session each year from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31, but it is common for the session to be extended or for the president to call special sessions to complete unfinished business. Furthermore, a permanent commission is on call during congressional recesses and can pass on major bills.

"We'll all concentrate silently for the psychic energy at 8:15 California time and 10:15 Mexico City time Saturday morning," she said.

'We are not kingmakers,' Ford says after White House meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford wants to join a high command that would aim to unify the Republican party and drive toward a 1980 GOP victory.

He summoned the reigning factional leaders of the GOP to a White House summit Thursday and got them to agree to a party superstructure in which all would take part.

"We are not kingmakers," Ford said after meeting with Ronald Reagan, John B. Connally and Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller.

For that reason, Ford said, they had agreed to "not pick or choose" the party's next national chairman, a selection the Republican National Committee will make Jan. 14-15.

The high command the President envisioned would be similar to the one formed after the Republican party was drubbed in the 1964 election when Barry Goldwater was the GOP's presidential candidate. Ford called it a coordinating committee.

"I think it would be constructive to have all four of the group that met this afternoon on the (coordinating) committee, but they would not necessarily dominate the committee," the President said. "In 1965 there were roughly 30 members, so I think the four of us could contribute to the work...."

Ford also said, "I think the Republican tent is big enough, broad enough, to encompass the four individuals who met here this afternoon."

The President was asked whether he would seek to head the high command. "I wouldn't want to pre-empt any position at the present time," he said.

M.D. Hendrix, president of the striking Transport Workers Union Local 260, said the action was not authorized by the union leadership.

"It was probably just a prank between some people and the drivers of the buses," Hendrix said. He said that after learning of the report he called Stanley Gates, manager of HouTran, the city-owned bus company, and told him the union had nothing to do with it.

The city bus drivers went on strike Nov. 23 after rejecting an offer from the company for an 8 per cent pay hike over a two year period.

Management and union officials met Wednesday but reported no progress.

Farm Eliasville couple wins farm award

FORT WORTH — A 29-year-old Young County farmer and his wife were cited here Monday night for the progress they have made in developing their own farm and ranch enterprise.

Larry Pratt and his wife, Karen, of Eliasville received the Texas Farm Bureau's Outstanding Young Farmer and Rancher Award at the 43rd annual TFB convention. They will attend the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation in January in Honolulu where they and other state winners will be honored. A national award will be presented three families who have won their respective state awards.

The Pratts farm and ranch 650 acres, growing wheat, oats and hay and have 50 mother cows. Pratt also does some custom farming and harvesting.

They took over a ranch that had pastures which were heavily infested with mesquite and cactus and cropland with depleted fertility. The cultivated land was deep-plowed and the soil-structure and fertility have been improved. Pastures were tree-grubbed and seeded to coastal bermuda grass, love grass and kleingrass. Runtown facilities have been renovated with some new improvements constructed.

Pratt is a member of the Young County Farm Bureau Board of directors and chairman of the Safety and Young Farmer and Rancher Committees. Karen is chairman of the queen contest committee.

Ag-business meeting set

The monthly meeting of Howard County Agriculture and business leaders will be conducted starting at 6 p.m., Monday, in the Western Sizzler Restaurant, 3rd and Gregg Street.

The program will be offered by Terry Hanson. This will be a Dutch-treat supper.

Harvesting is nearing end

Harvesting of cotton and feed grain on the High Plains is nearing an end. The harvest will mean about $1.3 billion to area farmers.

The cotton crop will likely be three per cent less than predicted a month ago. The grain harvest has virtually been completed about a week ahead of schedule.

Anticipated cotton harvest in a 25-county area, including Howard, Martin and Dawson, is 1,750,000 bales, which represents a decrease of 57,000 bales from the figure projected in November.

Last year's cotton harvest in the 25-county area totaled 1,420,200 bales.

Six Flags attendance reaches all-time high

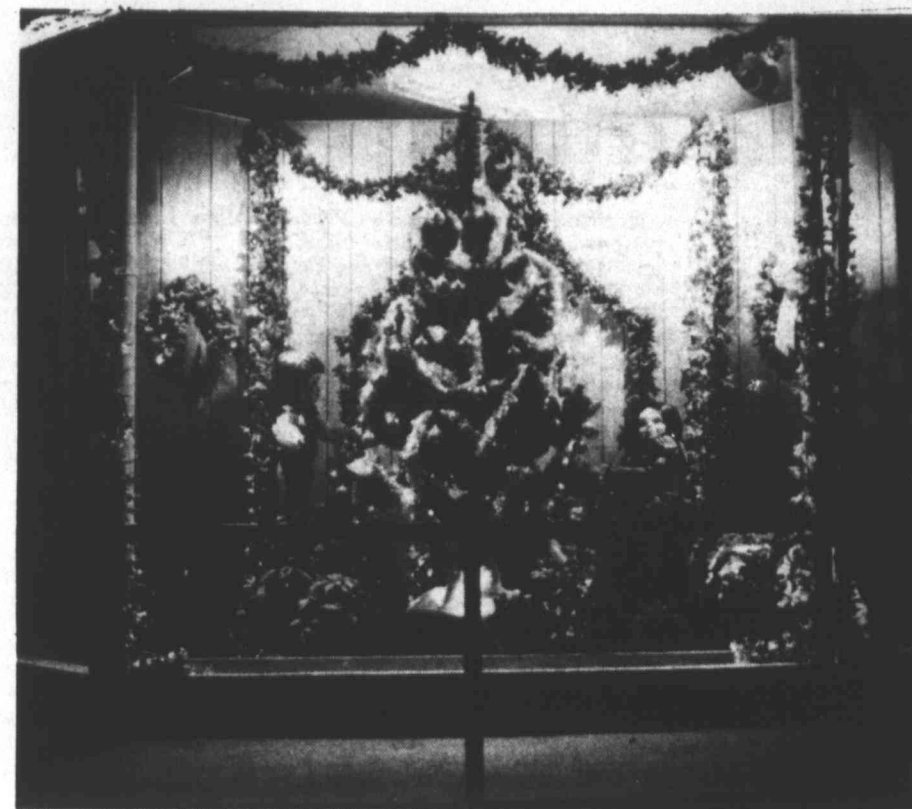

ARLINGTON — Attendance at Six Flags Over Texas in 1976 topped all previous records in the theme park's 16-year history.

A total of 2,429,532 persons clicked through the turnstiles during the 167-day season at the park which ended Saturday, Nov. 27.

That number was an increase of seven per cent over last year's record attendance of 2,277,006.

Six Flags Over Texas General Manager Dan Howells attributed the most successful season in Six Flags' history to several factors, including the introduction of the 200-foot tall parachute ride called the Texas Chute Out.

"The new parachute ride was an instant success, and we feel it proved, conclusively, that our policy of investing heavily in new

Sales, use-tax permits mailed to retailers

AUSTIN — Comptroller Bob Bullock has asked Texas retailers to be on the lookout for new state sales and use tax permits that should be arriving in the mail later this month.

Bullock said his office is issuing new permits to the 290,931 holders of the "Limited Sales Tax Permit" and the 4,594 holders of the "Texas Use Tax Certificate." The new permits are scheduled to be mailed December 10, he said.

Because of the Christmas mail rush, however, he said retailers should not be alarmed if the new permit arrives late in the month.

The Comptroller said the new gold-colored permits will replace all existing green permits, which will then become void.

Only those retailers currently holding valid permits will receive a new one, Bullock emphasized. "Those businesses which have become delinquent and have had their permit suspended will not get a new permit until they pay up," he said.

He reminded all retailers that law requires the permits to be prominently displayed in their place of business.

"I am asking the news media to help us get this message out to minimize any confusion," Bullock said.

Bullock also urged retailers to read the new permit closely to make certain all information on it is correct. If it is not, he added, they should contact the Comptroller's field office nearest them.

Sales and use tax permits have never been reissued since the inception of the sales tax, he said. Retailers are supposed to get their permits corrected should their address or ownership change, but many have not, he added.

"The result is that many of the old permits — some dating back to the early 1960's — are illegible, incorrect or, in some cases, lost," Bullock said.

Bullock said the issuance of new gold permits will be followed by a statewide effort to get all retailers to properly display them.

"Consumers ought to be able to glance up at the wall of a business and be assured by a gold permit there that the sales tax pennies and nickles they pay are being properly remitted to the state," Bullock said.

School finance plan attacked

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Gov. Dolph Briscoe's school finance plan is a "de-equalizer" that would give rich districts more additional state aid than poor ones, the executive director of the Texas Research League says.

Jim McGrew has attacked the governor's proposal in several forums, most recently the 11th Annual Conference on Inter-governmental Relations and Regional Planning, held in El Paso Monday.

Briscoe wants the state's share of the Foundation School Program to increase from 75 per cent to 90 per cent, with local shares based on the market value of taxable property. He proposes a total infusion of additional state money of $850 million over the next two years.

McGrew says that in the coming school year, Briscoe's plan would give the 273 poorest districts an additional $145 per pupil in state aid. But the 272 richest districts would get $230 more per pupil.

"Those rich districts have market values averaging about $420,000 per pupil.

Those poor districts have market values averaging under $55,000. So the rich are about 7½ times as wealthy as the poor—yet they would get more of the additional state aid," McGrew said.

"This is what we mean by de-equalization and it is why we think every effort should be made to hold the state share at somewhere in the vicinity of the historic 20 per cent or the de facto 25 per cent established in 1975."

McGrew also casts doubt on the need for property tax relief.

"One of the reasons why attempts to provide property tax relief through a school finance plan is so distasteful is that the wealthy taxpayers wind up being the prime beneficiaries."

He pointed out that taking the minimum figures for highway finance, public school money and tax relief for utility consumers would leave enough for only a $500 million increase in state agency funding.

"And that is far, far, below what they have requested, what they have received in the past and, perhaps, even below what they really need. If so, that could become another crisis," McGrew said.

Future of agriculture cheers bureau speaker

FORT WORTH — Despite some pressing immediate problems, agriculture has "a bright future," according to the president of the Texas Farm Bureau.

Carroll Chaloupka of Dalhart assessed the current situation for farmers and ranchers and pinpointed some "issues that must be dealt with" in his annual address to the Texas Farm Bureau convention here today.

With an anticipated population increase of 25 per cent in 25 years in the United States and a doubling of world population in 30 to 35 years, he said farmers and ranchers can expect "a tremendous increase in demand for our food and fiber products." He said the struggle for world market continues, and "there are other factors that adversely affect our ability to manage our farms."

Unimpeded exports of agricultural commodities "are vital to us in agriculture," he declared. Texas ranks third behind Illinois and Iowa in value of farm products exported, and, nationally, the production from about one acre in three is shipped overseas, he pointed out.

"We depend upon exports to take 60 per cent of our wheat, 55 per cent of our rice, 50 per cent of our soybeans, 40 per cent of our cotton and 20 per cent of our feed grains," he explained.

Chaloupka noted that current farm programs for rice, wheat, feed grains and upland cotton expire with the 1977 crops and said national farm legislation is "another factor affecting what we grow and how we sell."

attractions each year is the only way to go," Howells said.

"Next season will be no exception. We have already begun work which will result in striking changes for the coming season. This will include a major thrill ride, a really unique addition to the show" lineup and some structural changes which will give the park an exciting look of newness when the 17th season gets underway in mid-March," Howells said.

Some $2 million will be spent on capital improvements in the park for the coming season. This amount pays for new attractions and for refurbishing existing rides and buildings while the park is closed in the winter.

The major construction being done in the next few months will be on Skull Island, which will be turned into a totally new section with a new thrill ride and an additional show designed for all ages. Details about this new section will be announced soon.

"In addition," Howells said, "we've already started the search for some major entertainers who will appear in Music Mill Theater concerts next season. There will be an emphasis on 'big name' talent with 40 to 50 concerts scheduled for next season."

Six Flags Over Texas retains the rank as Texas' number one tourist attraction, hosting a total of 29,217,532 persons since the park opened in 1961.

Emergency gas Sales Made

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma Natural Gas Co. will make a 60-day emergency gas sale to Lone Star Gas Co. to try to ease a gas shortage that has affected 27 Oklahoma cities and towns and sections of North Texas.

Severe cold weather caused Lone Star, a Texas-based firm, to curtail deliveries to certain industrial customers in southern Oklahoma and North Texas Wednesday.

C. C. Ingram, ONG chief executive officer, said Thursday ONG will begin making the emergency sales as quickly as contractual arrangements can be worked out.

He said the gas will be delivered in Garvin County, where 12-inch transmission pipelines of both companies meet.

Ingram said ONG will sell the gas to Lone Star at $1.80 per 1,000 cubic feet, approximately the same price other ONG customers pay.

Fired when he refused to join in probe of exec?

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. executive James Ashley says he was fired from his $55,000-a-year job after he refused to cooperate with the company in a probe of the late T.O. Gravitt.

Gravitt was head of Bell's Texas operations when he committed suicide at his Dallas home in October 1974.

After the investigation, Ashley was fired after the probe.

Ashley, who described Gravitt as a close personal friend and confidant, testified for the second day Thursday in his $4 million invasion of privacy suit against Southwestern Bell. He was to face cross-examination today.

Ashley said he was advised from of his suspension from the company on Oct. 9, 1974, by C.L. Todd, San Antonio manager, for Southwestern Bell.

"They wanted me to give evidence of Gravitt's wrongdoing that didn't exist," Ashley testified. "I refused. They advised me to think it over."

After Gravitt's suicide later in October, Ashley said he saw Todd at the Gravitt funeral in Dallas. Ashley said he was at that time considering a suit against the company for firing him.

He said Todd told him: "Ashley, you may get some money out of this, but you'll never live to enjoy it."

In November 1974, Ashley joined with the Gravitt family to file a $29 million libel and slander suit against Southwestern Bell. No date has been set for trial of this suit.

Ashley alleges, in his current invasion of privacy suit, that Bell wiretapped his telephones and improperly used his long distance call records after he filed the $29 million suit.

He testified Thursday that he contacted friends and associates within Southwestern Bell after he filed the suit. He said he hoped they would help him assemble information he needed in the action.

But Ashley said his friends soon were confronted by Southwestern Bell security men who had records of Ashley's calls to them. The security men warned the people not to talk with Ashley, that they were watching him closely.

Ashley also testified that he checked his home telephones and believed they were bugged. He said friends told him the company knew every move he made, every call he placed, who he talked with and what he said.

In the past two years, Ashley said he has lived with "a constant feeling of never being alone."

He also testified Thursday that Gravitt, before his death, warned him that his telephones were wiretapped by company security officers. Gravitt said his own phones also were bugged, Ashley said.

Overestimated amount of clear-cut land?

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — A Texas Forestry Association lawyer contends Dallas environmentalist Edward Fritz has overestimated the amount of clear-cut land in Texas national forests by "multiples of four."

Attorney James Ulmer of Houston verbally sparred with Fritz, chairman of an environmental group seeking to permanently ban the practice of clear-cutting in Texas national forests, in a federal court hearing here Thursday.

The hearing before U.S. District Court Judge William Wayne Justice was to enter its fifth day today. The Texas Committee on Natural Resources filed the suit seeking to stop the U.S. Forestry Service from allowing the logging practice.

The Texas Forestry Service and lumber interests are acting as intervenors on behalf of the federal agency.

Ulmer challenged Fritz' Wednesday testimony and put the Dallas attorney through intense cross-examination.

Ulmer said it "was the result of bull-headedness" that Fritz "took the bit between his teeth and hauled off and filed this major federal suit."

He also said Fritz was using the Texas Committee on Natural Resources as "an alter ego."

Fritz conceded he might have been in error on a few points of his Wednesday testimony, which included a graphic color slide display of alleged clear-cutting sites in Texas national forests.

Ulmer said Fritz overestimated his figures on the amount of clear-cut land by "multiples of four." The Houston attorney also contended that Fritz had sometimes included in his estimates lands in the private domain that were adjacent to government clearcut areas.

Ulmer also questioned Fritz' testimony concerning a photograph of a "no trespassing" sign that Fritz had said was posted on a national forest road leading to a clear-cut area.

Fritz said he "forgot" that the sign had an exception allowing foot traffic.

Fritz filed the suit on behalf of the environmental group in July, resulting in a temporary injunction banning clear-cutting in Texas' four national forests.

SEEKS FUNDS — Richard A. Sprague, chief counsel to the House select committee on assassinations, presents a presentation for funding to the panel Thursday in Washington. Sprague sought and won approval from the panel for funds amounting to $6.5 million in the first year of an estimated investigation into the assassinations of President John F. Kennedy and Dr. Martin Luther King.

Council met recently

The Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Odell Womack, 1601 Tucson Road, recently.

Many projects for the coming year were discussed. All will be in keeping with the Goals of the City of Big Spring to continue to beautify the city. It was stressed that because the Bicentennial year was drawing to a close members should not let down but continue to work for Litter Control and other things that would help the City in keeping it clean.

Council voted to have an Educational Display of Horticulture and Artistic Arrangements at the Howard County Fair in 1977. The Council will open the show to the public, so that anyone in the county can bring their plants and arrangements.

The club will plant some 65-70 trees in Cottonwood Arbor in January, it was announced. The Cottonwood Arbor was a project that was begun in 1975.

The Council also voted to decorate the tables for the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Banquet. Another project is to plant 10-12 Golden Dwarf Junipers at the Howard County Museum.

Next meeting will be Jan. 19 in the home of Mrs. Womack.

Howard County

Sheriff's Posse

The Howard County Sheriff's Posse held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 7 at the Chamber of Commerce building. Spring activities which include sponsoring a circus, a rodeo, and the West Texas — New Mexico Girls Barrel Racing Event were discussed. Newly elected officers began their new term with this meeting.

Posse officers for 1977 include Russell Walters, president; Bud Braham, vice-president; Ruth Nanny, secretary; and Frank Knapp, treasurer.

Others are Carol Ann Cone, queen; Deborah Tanis, alternate queen; Sandy Wanner, reporter; Max Roberts, parade marshal; Clide Roberts, assistant parade marshal; and Maybelle Roberts, concession manager.

Members of the board of directors include Carol Cone, R.D. Carpenter, Babe Murphy, Barry Watson, and John Wanner.

The Posse held its Award Presentations for 1976 at its Christmas banquet. The president presented the high point awards to Clide Roberts, senior men; Frances Cherry, senior women; Dee Nanny, intermediate boys; and Arna Nanny, intermediate girls.

Other awards went to Steve Chapman, junior boys; Terri Graham, junior girls; and Sherri Graham, pee wee girls.

Gifts were also presented to outgoing president, Ed Cherry, and outgoing vice president, Frank Knapp. Elvie Murphy received a pants apron in appreciation for all her work with the concession stand this past year. Incoming Possee queen, Carol Ann Cone, was presented a belt buckle to wear in all the '77 parades which the Posse will participate in.

The next Posse event will be a Christmas Party on Friday, Dec. 17 at the Murphy's on Gail Rd.

Class holds yule party

The Dorcas Sunday School Class of Wesley United Methodist Church met for a dinner meeting at the home of Mrs. Richard Mitchell. Dinner was served to fifteen members and three visitors.

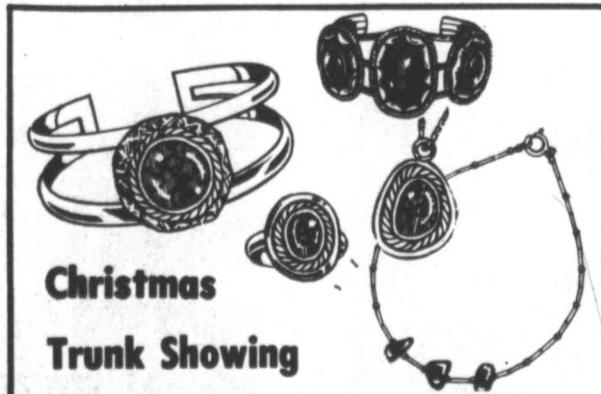

Mrs. Mitchell gave the devotion titled "Giving of Christmas," and worded the prayer. A buffet-style dinner was served from a table decorated with poinsettia and candle arrangements. Gifts were exchanged and some games were enjoyed by all.

The following members were installed as officers for the coming year: Mrs. Ray Anderson, president; Mrs. Tommie Lovelace, vice president; Mrs. Tricey Butler, treasurer; and Mrs. Richard Mitchell, recording secretary.

Needs a brother, not a lover

DEAR ABBY: I am a recently divorced 26-year-old man. I'm a college graduate and have a good job. My problem is a girl named Marcie. She will be 14 next week but she's very mature for her age and looks much older.

Marcie and I hit it off immediately, and it was soon apparent that she wanted to be more than just friends. I tried to ignore her not-too-subtle advances, hoping it would pass, but I must admit I was very much attracted to her. She's very pretty, bright and extremely honest. She told me she has gone all the way with several fellows, but she's not a tramp—she just has a healthy sex-drive. We've done some kissing and heavy petting, but I wouldn't let myself go beyond that because of her age.

I'll be truthful, Abby. If it weren't for what people would say about my dating a 14-year-old girl, I'd date her, not because I know she'd be "easy," but because I do have strong feelings for her.

Is something wrong with me to feel this way about a girl half my age? What should I do?

CONFUSED AND WONDERING

DEAR ABBY: Nip this inflammable relationship in the bud. Should you get carried away by this aggressive little sexpot with a "healthy sex drive," you would be contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Marcie desperately needs counseling. Do her a favor and help her get her head together before she gets into serious trouble. She needs a big brother—not a lover.

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing this for our whole family. Our problem is our 30-year-old sister. She is very intelligent, holds a highly respected position, and makes a fantastic salary, but she thinks our bathroom is a library.

She takes magazines, books and newspapers into the bathroom and stays for hours. It's the only bathroom in the house, and besides our parents there are four of us younger kids living at home.

If anyone knocks on the door to use the bathroom, she gets angry. Please put this in your column. She reads it every day—in the bathroom.

KID SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Your sister may be very intelligent, but she is also very inconsiderate. If she plans to continue living at home and using the family bathroom as a library, she should use some loot from her "fantastic salary" to build a second bathroom.

DEAR ABBY: Two of my friends recently had surgical staples placed in their ears by a doctor to help control their overeating.

Can you give me some information concerning the validity of this procedure? Is it a physical technique or is it just psychological, such as doctors giving patients "sugar pills"? Can these staples be harmful to a person's health?

CURIOUS IN TEXAS

DEAR CURIOUS: It's psychological. It has worked for some, but not for all. The only danger (which is slight) would be possible infection from the staples. Ask your friends who have them. They should know.

Police beat Relatively quiet day experienced by cops

For once, it seems that most Big Spring thugs took a break Thursday; perhaps just resting up for what will be their normal on-slaught against the town at Christmas time.

Rosa Evans, 4205 W 80, complained that someone had broken into her home and stolen a turquoise necklace.

According to reports, the burglars entered the residence through a West window between 4:00 p.m. Thursday and 1:00 a.m. Friday.

Someone stole the battery from a car belonging to E.P. Watkins, 1503 Stadium, sometime between 7:30 and 9:55 last night.

According to reports,

Watkins was parked at the 1700 block of 11th Place, when somebody opened the hoodlatch from inside the car and removed the battery.

A robbery of a model kit was thwarted by a clerk at 7-11, 800 S. Gregg, because she was fast enough to run after the young crook, who in his fright, dropped the kit and fled.

Unfortunately the clerk was not able to catch the car that came in a while later and made off with $5 worth of gas.

Jeff Byrd, 404 Goliad, is without wheels now because someone stole his bicycle sometime between Wednesday and Thursday.

There was only one fender-bender Thursday when cars driven by Ms. Debra Richie, Webb AFB, and Wayne Menew, 1215 Wright, collided at the 2900 block of W 80.

Wrecker truck she met had body dangling from truck's winch

HOUSTON (AP) — Esther Fugate couldn't believe what she had seen.

The wrecker truck she met had a body dangling from the truck's winch.

She turned her car around and followed the truck until it stopped, several blocks later.

For several minutes she searched for someone to confirm what she had seen.

"I had just come from the cleaners and a man drove this wrecker up," Mrs. Fugate said. "I didn't pay as much attention to him as I did the body on the back. I honked and turned around to get help.

After she tried unsuccessfully to get help from four men, she said a woman from a store "came with me and we saw it and called police."

Police identified the body as that of Russell Brown, 48, a self-employed wrecker service operator. The body was hanging with the winch cable wrapped under the left arm and round the neck. Brown had been shot once in the chest.

Ernest Edward Welch, 63, was arrested as he walked along a bayou not far from the abandoned vehicle.

Welch was being held in jail Thursday charged with murder.

Police said Welch was employed by Brown. They said Brown was shot to death Wednesday during an argument in a wrecker shop.

JUST A HANKY, NO PANKY — Utica, N.Y. Mayor Edward Hanna empties his pockets before newsmen after refusing to do that for officers who arrested him for ordering a locksmith to pick the city's police chief's office door. The mayor was charged Thursday afternoon with criminal trespass, later released on his own recognizance. He then suspended the chief and three others.

Unique charge 'Open government' bid puts mayor behind bars

LUBBOCK — A 24-year-old woman was arrested here Wednesday for selling flowers without a city permit. She told police she was trying to raise money for the Unification Church.

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Maverick Mayor Edward A. Hanna, who once removed the door to his office to promote "open government," didn't take kindly to being arrested for picking the lock of the police chief's office door. He suspended the chief and four officers.

The episode — which grew out of a dispute over access to gun permit records — was the latest in a three-year running battle between the flamboyant Hanna and the government, business circles and press in this upstate New York city.

"I was arrested tonight and I thought you might like the story," he said Thursday in a telephone call to The Associated Press in Albany.

"This was the only battlefield that even I was hesitant to jump into," he said. "I haven't been courageous enough to really fight them yet ... but I am now. This is the strongest, most controlled, self-serving Hanna and locksmith Donald Zuillieux were arrested and arraigned in city court on charges of third-degree criminal trespass. Both were released on their own recognizance and ordered to appear Dec. 16 for another hearing.

The mayor said he decided to inspect the records after Chief Benny Rotundo refused to provide them.

Rotundo could not be reached for comment.

Manson follower gets new trial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Charles Manson follower Leslie Van Houten will get a new murder trial, but her leader's conviction and life sentence will stand, the California Supreme Court says.

The court agreed 4 to 3 Thursday with a lower court ruling that Miss Van Houten, now 27 and the youngest of three women tried with Manson, was denied effective legal counsel because her attorney vanished before closing arguments were held. She was sentenced to life in prison after being convicted on two counts of murder and conspiracy.

In Los Angeles, a prosecutor who assisted in the original trial in 1970-71 said a new trial for Miss Van Houten could begin within two months. California's speedy trial law gives a defendant the right to go to trial within 60 days after a reversal is affirmed.

Stephen Kay said he has been preparing for a new trial since the Court of Appeals action in August.

"I have located all of the witnesses I intend to use, except for Linda Kasabian," Kay said. "I've had an investigator looking for her, but we can't find her."

Mrs. Kasabian, last reported living in New Hampshire, was a member of the Manson "family" who was granted immunity from prosecution in exchange for testimony against Manson and the others.

57,000,000 POUNDS OF RAW SUGAR — The largest cargo of raw sugar ever received by Imperial Sugar Company, and the largest ever to enter the Port of Galveston, arrived aboard the M. V. Dianna from the Philippines.

(57,000,000 pounds) of raw sugar

Record load arrives

The largest cargo of raw sugar ever received by the Imperial Sugar Company, and the largest ever to enter the Port of Galveston, arrived recently aboard the M. V. Dianna from Iloilo in the Philippine Islands. The record-breaking 57,000,000 pounds of raw sugar which was unloaded at the Company's Galveston Port Terminal is the first in a series of shipments under Imperial's recently negotiated 5-year contract with the Philippine Exchange Company, Inc. The total contract will amount to more than 2 billion pounds of raw sugar.

Imperial's Galveston facility includes an 11-ton shore gantry used for physically discharging the vessels to a 60 million-pound-capacity warehouse. The huge warehouse had to be almost empty to receive the unusually large cargo aboard the Dianna. Raw sugar is placed into and withdrawn from the warehouse by means of a complex conveying and weighing system. The sugar is ultimately loaded into rail cars for shipment to Sugar Land as it is needed to supply Imperial's refining process. Imperial's terminal staff and Port of Galveston longshoremen worked around the clock for several days unloading the Dianna in order to accommodate the arrival of another shipment of raw sugar from the Philippines. This second shipment which arrived aboard the M. V. Golden Fleece totaled more than 29 million pounds of raw sugar.

Halter horse show slated

The Nolan County 4-H Horse Club is sponsoring an Open Halter Horse Show Dec. 18, at the Nolan County Coliseum in Sweetwater. Registration at 9:00 a.m. show at 10:00. Age groups are 13 and under, 14 through 17, 18 and over.

The contract agreement with the Philippine Exchange Company, Inc. will provide Imperial Sugar Company with a continuing source of supply over the next five years in an amount equal to approximately 40 per cent of the Company's total annual requirement. Imperial is Texas' oldest business, having operated on the same site since 1843. Its average daily production of some 3,500,000 pounds of refined sugar is distributed to customers throughout the Southwest.

through 10th place. Entry fee is $1.00 per event. Event classes are: Halter Classes, Showmanship, Horsemanship, Western Pleasure, Reining, Trail Class, Simon Says Class, Barrels, Poles and Flags. Retired prof donates $100,000 to school

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — A retired Midwestern University educator who says he never earned more than $12,000 annually was able to "save a little money" during his 39-year career at the school.

Dr. D.L. Ligon, 72, and his wife donated $100,000 Thursday to the small university's fund-raising campaign. "I've been in the teaching business for 52 years and during that time my wife and I have been able to save a little money," said Ligon, who now works part time as Midwestern's part time sports information director at a $2,600 annual salary.

"We had been thinking about it for some time," the former coach and professor told The Associated Press. "We just felt a gift should be made to the university where I've spent nearly 40 years."

The chairman of the fund-raising campaign, Willard Still, said Ligon's donation is the drive's largest to date and one administrator said it was probably the largest donation ever made to the school, which has an enrollment of less than 5,000.

Ligon Thursday told a large crowd of university faculty and administrators: "Mrs. Ligon and I are happy to make this gift to the university we love."

Ligon also has served as the school's dean, vice president and president. The university's coliseum is named for him.

"The $100,000 will be used to establish a scholarship fund for deserving students," Still said. "You've been one of the great strengths of this university for many years," Dr. John Barker, MSU president, told Ligon.

The Ligon's have no children. He said the money had been raised with a "systematic savings plan." "We hope it will be of benefit to the university and its fine young people," Ligon said of the donation.

The advance Midwestern campaign kicked off less than a month ago is "approaching the half million mark" in donations and firm commitments, said Tom Haywood, university affairs director.

Junior College in 1937 as director of physical education. He was named coach when intercollegiate athletics were revived that year and served in that capacity until 1946.

Ligon established the school's intramural athletic program in 1937 and also taught Spanish, English, history, education and physical education until he retired in 1970.

In 1947 Ligon became the first dean of administration and in 1952 organized the graduate division and was named its first dean. From June 1955 to August 1956 he served as the school's president.

Ligon, in 1956, was named executive vice president and director of university development where he served until 1965.

He asked to be relieved of administrative duties in 1965 to return to full time teaching.

He retired from teaching in 1970 and has been sports information director, working part time since that date. "He is here every morning at 6 a.m.," said R.C. Alley, director of the physical plant. "He will be in that office every day and die happy."

CENTURY CLUB PARTY — The annual Christmas Bingo, held for Webb junior officers was held at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center Wednesday night with a large crowd attending. Century Club members and local

Action against terrorism

Western-Arab compromise

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A compromise between Western and Arab nations has lifted the first big obstacle to a comprehensive United Nations treaty against the taking of hostages.

As a result, a West German resolution calling for a 35-nation panel to draft the treaty next year was expected to win strong approval today from the General Assembly's legal committee.

Subsequent passage by the full assembly is largely a formality.

Previous efforts to get concrete U.N. action against acts of terrorism have been blocked by Arab nations and others of the Third World because usually the terrorists' targets were Israel, white colonialists or West European governments.

Conservative Middle East and African governments had a change of heart when their own radicals began using terrorism against them. The eyeopener was the raid in December, 1975, on the Vienna headquarters of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, when the raiders threatened to kill the oil ministers of Iran and Saudi Arabia.

The breakthrough on the latest proposal came

Thursday when Libya agreed to drop a proposed amendment that would have limited the scope of the treaty to those taking "innocent hostages." In the Libyan view, this would have exempted Arab guerrillas taking Israeli hostages, for example.

In return, the West Germans and their 37 cosponsors, most of them Western governments but including a number from the Third World, dropped reference in the resolution to punishment or extradition of those taking hostages.

The sponsors also amended the resolution to instruct the drafting committee "to consider suggestions and proposals from any state, bearing in mind the views expressed during the debate on this item" at the current assembly.

A West German diplomat said the compromise was the "product of a remarkable sense of cooperation and good will from all nations." An American diplomat said it was an "encouraging sign."

Observers agreed that militant Arabs could still give trouble in the drafting committee or when the treaty comes before the General Assembly for a vote next year.

Holtz leaves Jets, to grab the bacon?

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — For Lou Holtz, who loved the college life, the dream of coaching a pro team in New York turned out to be a nightmare. And the prospect of four more years with the Jets was more than he could bear.

"Lou Holtz is not made for professional football," said the affable 39-year-old blond with the horn-rimmed glasses and a penchant for speaking his mind. "I can't give professional football my heart. God did not put Lou Holtz on this earth for that."

So the miracle worker from North Carolina State, who could not work his magic in the Big Apple, cast a soulful look toward Arkansas Thursday — and the $100,000-a-year contract he had signed last Feb. 10 came to an abrupt end four years before its expiration date.

The Jets have one more game to play this National Football League season and are expected to end it the way they ended 1975, with a 3-11 record — the worst in their history. Mike Holovak, director of scouting and, since midseason, offensive backfield coach, will direct them Sunday against heavily favored Cincinnati.

Holtz' ambition is to become head coach at the University of Arkansas, where Frank Broyles has stepped aside to spend all his time as athletic director. "If Arkansas would be interested in talking to me, I would be interested in talking to them," Holtz said.

Arkansas is interested. Dr. Charles Bishop, the university's president, said Broyles had contacted Holtz. Bishop also said he would rely heavily on Broyles' judgment in filling the post and called Holtz the "kind of man we would like to hire."

HOLTZ RESIGNS — Lou Holtz listens to question Thursday at Hempstead, N.Y., news conference at Jets training camp in wake of announcement that he is quitting as the team's head coach. The announcement came only a day after he had insisted that he planned to be with the NFL team next year.

Holtz spent three years as head coach at William & Mary where he had a 1969-71 record of 13-15. Then he moved to N.C. State and the Wolfpack, which had posted a three-year mark of 9-21-2 before he arrived, went 33-12-2 in four years under him.

That brought him to New York to replace Charley Winner. "I was impressed with New York City and the opportunities, impressed with professional football, and there were things I didn't know I would miss as much as I did," he said.

Walt Michaels, the Jets' longtime defensive coordinator, has been mentioned as a successor, even though he has been bypassed twice since Weeb Ewbank retired after the 1973 season.

PATE AT WATER HAZARD — Jerry Pate dries off feet after hitting from the water hazard at 18th hole of Mission Hills golf course, Palm Springs, Calif., Thursday. Pate and his partner, Dave Stockton are representing the United States in the World Cup International golf championship.

Yanks back in pack, Scots hot to trot

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — "I suspect," mused Brian Barnes of Scotland, "the Americans rather like to see some overseas players leading in the early going — so long as the Americans can be on top at the end."

Americans Dave Stockton and Jerry Pate, however, were considerably less than enthusiastic about their positions in the pack after the first round of the 48-nation World Cup international golf tournament.

"I want to win so bad ... I'm getting really angry with myself ... I'm pounding clubs on the ground. I'm frustrated," said Stockton, who struggled to a 74 in Thursday's opening round.

Pate, the U.S. Open champion, had the individual lead alone until stumbling to a bogey-bogey finish that left him with a two-under-par 70.

That gave the defending champion United States a 144 team total, one shot back of leading Scotland, which got a 70 from the veteran Barnes and a 73 from Sam Torrance. Taiwan also was at 144, with New Zealand and Australia at 145.

In the individual race, Mexico's Ernesto Perez Acosta and veteran Kuo Chie-Hsiung of Taiwan matched 69s, and shared the lead. Pate, with his 70, was one stroke back and tied with Barnes. Park Jung Ung of South Korea and Craig DeFoy of Wales.

The only others to break par on the warm, sunny, 7,181-yard Mission Hills Country Club course were Baldovino Dassau of Italy, Severiano Ballesteros of Spain, Bob Shearer of Australia and Simon Owen of New Zealand.

"And the scores aren't going to get any better," warned Stockton. "These greens are so big and so fast, it's a challenge just to keep from three-putting. And they're just going to get harder and faster as the week goes on."

'Heart Attack' Hawks beat Odessa

Get out the respirator!

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

The warning should be posted in big bold letters on the door to Hawk Gym: "Persons with weak hearts STAY OUT!"

Reggie Leffall, 6-4 sophomore, throttled through most of the going by an adhesive zone defense, scored only four points Thursday night, but two of them came with 14 seconds remaining in overtime, and gave the Howard College "heart-attack" Hawks a crucial three-point lead.

The Preybirds held on to the slim margin to win their first conference game of the season, 81-80, against the league-leading Odessa College Bronchos. The locals' Region V record now stands at 1-2, while the Ponies fell to 2-1.

Odessa brought its rock-solid defense to Big Spring to challenge the patented hard-nosed running and gunning offense of the Hawks, and most pre-game hub-bub centered around "something's gotta give."

Odessa's "circle-the-wagons" defense took the early edge in the confrontation, slowing the Hawks' run down to a walk, and coercing the locals' three tree-toppers, Paul Cathey, Joe Cooper and Lowell Walker into early foul trouble. With only nine minutes gone in the struggle, the trio had accumulated three each in the no-no column.

Clutch net-piercers by the big men, however, and hustling defense by Mike Little and Leffall kept the foul-riddled initial quarter nip-and-tuck, and the score knotted at 18-all with 9:46 remaining in the first half.

Eugene Williams, Hawk

freshman forward, had the hot hand that cooled the Bronchos in the second quarter. Williams hit nine of 10 free-throws, and brought down 14 rebounds in that stanza to lead the Hawks to a 43-41 bulge at intermission.

Williams, who finished the night as top scorer and rebounder with 23 and 24 respectively, was aided by the speedy defensive feet of Mike Little, and the offensive board work of Walker and Cathey.

Odessa's dampening zone work was paying off for the visitors, but gratis shots by Little, Ray and James, in addition to William's dead-eye key-picking, neutralized the effect of the visitors.

After an intermission that saw the notable Odessa College girls' bull-whipping specialists in action, the Bronchos surged out of the dressing room as if the popping leather had touched their hides. Conversely, the Hawks fell victim to a cold snap, and no amount of anti-freeze seemed to be able to thin the thickening Odessa defense.

Only by the board-cleaning, blocking and jump shooting of Paul Cathey did the Hawks stay close in the third quarter. But Cathey and Lowell Walker fouled out early in the fourth quarter, and cold hands from the field for HC led to a six-minute scoreless stretch for the Preybirds.

Head Coach Harold Wilder and his assistant Leroy McClendon decided to go into a full-court press with five minutes remaining in the contest, with their team down by 10, 58-68.

Jim Ray, playing one of his best games since he was a Steer in high school, responded to the S.O.S., and played like he had a hive of South African killer bees nesting in his trunks.

Ray popped in crucial points over, around and through the much taller Odessa defenders, and hit his most spectacular two-pointer of the night as he was completely covered by three blue-shirts. That bucket tied the score at 71-71 with just 2:29 remaining in the game.

The Hawks had a chance to win the game with 22 seconds remaining as Mike Little approached the free-throw line after Eugene Williams' unopposed stuff shot had made the score 75-73, and an ensuing foul by Odessa had given the Preybirds the chance for a put-away.

honor of the night with Leffall in the overtime, however.

Two free-throws by Williams, the last two by Leffall, and an "impossible" field goal by Little as he was horizontal to the floor, (falling down), gave the Hawks the edge as the final buzzer sounded in the extra inning.

In the locker room following the game, Wilder's comments to his team wrapped up the story of the game: "You did a great job as a team, and we won it as a team." The beaming, sweaty faces of his players, and an occasional "Alright!" showed their approval.

Wilder also alluded to the turning point in the game:

"We had a terrible time adjusting to their zone, but when we were down by 10 points and went into the press, and started attacking the zone, the tempo of the game changed to suit us, and we were fortunate enough to win."

Steer roundballers in Canyon Reef tourney

The Big Spring Steers will open play in Snyder's Canyon Reef Tournament this afternoon at 5:30 against the Snyder "Gold" team.

Teams from Monterey, Estacado, Vernon, Sweetwater, Big Spring, and the two host teams are participating in the West Texas Classic.

Steer Coach James Griffin indicated that his team has an excellent chance of capturing top honors.

"We had two super practices yesterday and the day before," Griffin said, "and if we go up there and play the ball we're capable of playing, we're going to win."

Griffin admitted that his charges, now sitting on a respectable 7-3 season slate, haven't played the caliber of ball lately that they should.

"Every team has a drop-off period in the season," he said, "and we have gone through ours in the last three games. But now we're ready to play."

The starting line-up will not change, unless Scott Wilder starts in place of his older brother Casey.

BS JV's, Soph's have success in tournament

Ed Henry's shorthorn roundballers opened their participation in the Midland tournament in rousing style Thursday night by defeating the Snyder sophomores 91-45.

Chippo Wright led the locals in scoring with 21, while teammates Marty Latta and Mark Poss had 17 and 10, respectively.

The JV's, whose record now stands at 8-2, played Midland Lee at 2 p.m. today in second round action.

Don Childs' Steer Sophomores, seeing action in the Sands tournament, upset the number one-seeded Roby varsity 58-56 in overtime.

Ysa Rubio popped in 26 points for Big Spring, and teammate Billy Johnson scored 10.

The Sophs entertained Southland at 2 p.m. today in further tourney action. The win over Roby brought Big Spring's record to 5-1.

Runnels 8th

ups its record

The Runnels Jr. High 8th grade basketball team advanced its season record to 3-1 with a 46-42 triumph over Snyder Travis Monday night, and a 53-46 whipping of Sweetwater Thursday.

Dicky Wright led all scorers in both games, bucketing 13 and 15 respectively. Curtis Williams and Rudy Hilarie each had 14 markers in the Sweetwater contest.

Coach Rudy Montez indicated that his team would not play again until after the Christmas holidays.

Overflow banquet a success

By MARJ CARPENTER

An overflowing cafeteria saw a record crowd of over 400 attending the annual Fall Sports Banquet Thursday night. The large crowd heard Faye O'Dell, Oklahoma coach and humorist, turn serious about the effect of a coach on life of a youth.

O'Dell, who is active in the national organization of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, kept the crowd laughing with stories about Oklahoma High School football players and then stressed the impact that a coach can have on the life of a girl or boy.

He also told stories relating the feeling that a youth may have for their coach and ended with a plea for the old-fashioned virtue of patriotism.

His approach was unusual in that every point was made with a real story about an athlete, ending with a story of one who died in action.

Athletic Director Don Robbins thanked the large crowd for their "support in a losing season" and looked toward the future in the athletic program here.

Jerry Phillips served as master of ceremonies and Bubba Stripling, president of the Huddle group of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes gave the opening invocation. Emily Boyd, president of the Cuddle group, later gave the benediction.

Volleyball awards were presented after Coach Nancy Deason introduced her assistants, Wanda Ferguson and Christi Stewart, as well as the girls of her team.

The outstanding volleyball award, given by Texas Electric Service Co. was presented by Coach Deason to Rose Magers. Rose, who is a junior, was a unanimous selection for all-district and is an all-state nominee.

The coaches award, presented by Coach Ferguson, went to Emily Boyd, a senior. Coach Deason also presented the scholastic award to the player with the highest grades, which went to Becky Ragan.

Becky also was also recipient of the first Big Spring Herald trophy to the Most Aggressive Volleyball Players. This presentation was made by Marj Carpenter, reporter for the Herald. Becky is also all-district and a nominee for all-state honors.

Football awards were presented by the assistant coaches after Robbins introduced his crew, including Tom Adams, Garland Braun, Jerry Carter, Don Childs, Tom Collins, Larry Hoefer, Ed Henry, Ronnie Jones, Tom Koger, Ron Logback, Ben Neel, Rex Scofield and Levon Webb. Mike Biles, trainer and the team doctors, Dr. Jim Cowan and Dr. Jim Mathews and Tom Sorley, team photographer were also introduced.

Dibrell Sporting's Outstanding Back Award went to Kenneth Coffey, who received a standing ovation. The presentation was made by Coach Hoefer. Coach Koger presented the KBST Outstanding Lineman Award to Alan Partee.

The coaches award was presented by Coach Logback to Tommy Churchwell, who also received a standing ovation from the crowd. The KBYG defensive award was presented by Coach Logback to Billy Hays and Steve Wolfe was presented the scholastic award by Coach Tex Scofield. Wolfe and Steve Hughes were less than a point apart in scholastics.

Hughes and Stripling served as team captains this season and the co-champion volleyball team was captained by Emily Boyd and Rose Mager.

The cheerleaders, Jill Odom, Cynthia Fierro, Connie Jackson, Cathey Valdes and Irene Little presented humorous gifts to the coaches.

Tri captains of the Big Spring Quarterback and their spouses were introduced including Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Foesyth, Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Stripling Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McCutcheon.

Catholics, Jews show increase in Congress

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP) — The new U.S. Congress includes more Roman Catholics and Jews than the outgoing House and Senate, but fewer Protestants.

Although the changes in the denominational ratio are small, they continue a trend that has gone on for some time.

Statistics compiled by the evangelical fortnightly, Christianity Today, show there are 371 Protestants in the new Congress, down nine; 129 Roman Catholics, up six, and 27 Jews, up three. The Roman Catholic and Jewish totals are record highs for both groups.

Five members of the new Congress were listed as unaffiliated with any religious body.

In the present makeup, Roman Catholics constitute about 25 per cent of Congress, approximately their proportion of the general population. Protestants hold about 70 per cent of the seats in Congress.

That's about their share of the population according to survey samplings, although the actively participating membership in Protestant churches is only about 40 per cent of the population.

In the new Congress, including both House and Senate, Protestants were down six to 60; United Methodists down three to 80; the United Church of Christ down 3 to 22; Episcopalians down two to 64; Baptists down one to 55 and Unitarian-Universalists down two to 11.

Lutherans, however, were up two to 16; the Churches of Christ up two to six; Latter-day Saints churches up two to 12. The Christian Church Disciplines of Christ stayed the same with five members.

Baha'is group attends recent film showing

Baha'is from Big Spring, Stanton, San Angelo, Midland, and Lubbock attended a public showing of the color film "It's Just the Beginning" Saturday at 2 p.m. at the TESCO Reddy Room.

The film showing was sponsored by the West Texas District Teaching Committee, a committee of the National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of the United States.

"It's Just the Beginning" is a 30-minute color documentary of a national Baha'i Youth Conference held at the Baha'i House of Worship in Wilmette, Illinois, a suburb of Chicago. The conference was held in 1971.

The film was made by KIVA Films, Inc., a group of independent film makers based in New York City. KIVA Films has made films for Sesame Street, an educational T.V. show.

"It's Just the Beginning" shows youth of all races discussing some of the problems that face today's youth and how the Baha'i Faith attempts to solve those problems.

Baha'u'llah, prophet-founder of the Baha'i Faith, over one hundred years ago brought teachings that attempt to solve the problems of present-day society.

That makes seven clergymen in the new Congress.

Oral Roberts sets program on "Christmas Dream" soon

Oral Roberts has scheduled his latest one-hour special, titled "Christmas Dream." The special is scheduled on KMD-TV, Ch. 2, Tuesday, Dec. 21, 7 p.m.

True to the program's dream concept, the show opens with a weary parade of animals, symbolic of those who were at Bethlehem on the first Christmas.

They find themselves in a dream, following a star, unaware of their destination, knowing only that they are supposed to follow. Tired from their trek, weighed down with their burdens, they trudge on to find that indefinable something that

The annual family night tree trimming will be held at First United Methodist Sunday, Dec. 12 at 5 p.m.

Farm women

eye food costs

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Fifty-five United Methodist farm women stressed at a church-sponsored conference here that farmers have not shared in the recent rises in food costs.

Two-thirds of the price of foods go to processors, handlers and distributors, according to statistics cited at the conference, with the farmers who produce the food getting only a third or less.

Beautiful, But DEADLY

There is a man — he's a U.S. park ranger — who spends a lot of time deliberately starting avalanches on mountains like this.

His job is to produce carefully small, controlled snowslides to prevent devastating avalanches that could wreak terrible damage and claim lives.

Going to church can be like that. It can give you solutions to spiritual problems while they are small and manageable instead of letting them build up until they're too big to handle. Like snow on the side of a mountain, unfaced problems can swell into an avalanche of monumental proportions and simply swallow up your useful life.

The strength to face your day-to-day problems is waiting for you right now — at your church.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, DEC. 11, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a chance to put in motion something of a creative nature by which you can make a cherished dream come true. Show more encouragement to co-workers who are doing a good job.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can enjoy yourself with congenials today at whatever appeals to you. Get some Christmas shopping done. Show generosity.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study new ventures that are fascinating to you. Avoid one who could give you trouble. Make improvements to your surroundings.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get busy improving those regular routines so they will be easier to handle in the future. Show that you have wisdom.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Study monetary matters and know how best to add to present abundance. Follow the advice of a financial expert.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Find the right ways to gain your cherished aims and put more effort into such activities. Improve your appearance.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) More devotion shown to your mate can bring fine results at this time. Expand your horizons and gain your cherished aims.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Look to a good and generous friend for the favors you need at this time. Avoid one who could do you harm when you least expect it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Good day to engage in civic work that is awaiting your attention. Avoid one who bickers and likes to waste your time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Fine day for having a good time with kin and friends at places of amusement that are mutually enjoyable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show increased devotion to loved one and get true response. Make plans to have greater abundance in the future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 29) Take time to study and work out some public matters of importance. Evening is the best time for needed recreation.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study your duties well and know how best to handle them. The evening can be a happy one with your mate.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will do so many fine things well that it behooves you to give praise for them. Direct the education along lines of government or big corporations, or whatever has great scope to it. Sports are good here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Howard sending 163 students to Texas Tech

LUBBOCK — Pick a county in Texas, a state in the United States or a nation in the world, and the odds are good that it will have students enrolled at Texas Tech University.

Pick a language, and chances are good that a student somewhere on the campus can speak and write it, and many of the students can handle three or four. Many regional accents are heard in the classroom, at the University Center, or on campus.

A total of 20,722 students come from 241 of the 254 counties of Texas; 841 come from 45 states, other than Texas, and Puerto Rico; and 613 come from 64 countries other than the U.S.

This largest number of in-state students, 7,419, list Lubbock County as home, but that figure includes many who came from other areas but have chosen to list Lubbock as their legal residence.

Dallas County ranks second with 2,091; Tarrant (Fort Worth) County is third with 982; Harris (Houston) is fourth with 877. Not far behind are El Paso, the most westerly county in the state, with 629; Midland with 590; and Bexar (San Antonio) with 430. Potter and Randall counties (Amarillo and Canyon) send 479 to Texas Tech.

Other Texas counties with more than 100 students at Texas Tech: Collin, 155; Crosby, 119; Dawson, 101; Deaf Smith, 112; Ector, 291;

Floyd, 128; Gaines, 103; Gray, 154; Hale, 316; Hockley, 205; Howard, 163; Hutchinson, 144; Lamb, 149; Lynn, 107; McLennan, 120; Nueces, 127; Taylor, 297; Tom Green, 119; Travis, 190; and Wichita, 179.

Counties not represented are Blanco, Freestone, Goliad, Jim Hogg, Kenedy, Lavaca, Newton, Rains, Sabine, San Augustine, San Jacinto, Trinity and Tyler.

New Mexico leads in out-of-state students with 239; California is second with 52; Oklahoma third with 48; New York fourth with 41; and Colorado fifth with 40.

Two students come from as far north as Maine and seven from icy Alaska. Twenty-three students from Florida are attending and from Hawaii four students are enrolled.

Only states not represented are Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont and West Virginia. Puerto Rico has 11 students at Texas Tech, but the territories of the Canal Zone, Guam and the Virgin Islands are not represented.

Iran leads other nations in enrollment at Texas Tech with 105. China (Taiwan) is second with 97. Others in double figures include Hong Kong with 41; Nigeria and South Vietnam, 40; Indian, 30; Mexico, 25; Thailand, 21; Pakistan, 17; Lebanon and Korea, 14; and Jordan 13.

November an unkind, cold month

November was an unkind month, according to figures released by the Big Spring experiment station. The mean temperature for the month is almost ten degrees colder than a 61-year average; 44 degrees this month and 52 degrees average. The high was 76 Nov. 6 and 9 and the low 11 on Nov. 28.

The average wind velocity for the month was 0.7 miles-per-hour greater than the average, which means it has been blowing strong.

Precipitation was .34 inches as opposed to a 77 year average of .94 inches. All that water came Nov. 12 as snow.

November, 1976, was drier, windier, and colder than other Novembers over the years, which means only that we ought to hope for a warm, calm, slightly rainy December to keep this year right on the average. And we all want that, don't we?

Ridin' fence

Driving force

with Marj Carpenter

Mrs. Dan (Charlene) Brasher is the driving influence in the Brown Community. And if you don't know where the Brown community is, you're in exactly the same fix that I was when I received a letter from some of the citizens out there.

It's kind of near Ackerly and kind of near Knott and the people out there really appreciate Charlene. One of her fellow citizens says in part, "Her husband is the manager of the Paymaster Gin, but she's the ramrod. She works long hours all fall and into spring when there's a big cotton harvest."

They then add that she does an awful lot of nice things for folks in that area and are quick to add that "All the folks out here help each other."

I do know that recently, Charlene got on the telephone and got the farmers in the area to help strip Virgil Graham's cotton crop when he was seriously ill.

She often posts bulletins on the gin bulletin board to let people know who needs what out in that part of the world.

She is really involved in things at Sands High School. Give her an opening and she'll tell you how great the Sands girls' basketball team is this year. And they really are... they've been beating everyone around, including a couple of Class A schools.

Last year, she helped produce the senior play at Sands High School.

She just helps with all kinds of things out that way. She's lived half her life in Big Spring as Charlene Eudy and half her life out there in the country.

"When my husband first brought me out here to live, I was scared because it was so

New phases explained

The American Association of Retired Persons held its December meeting at the Kentwood Older Adult Center Tuesday morning at ten o'clock, and President, Rev. C.A. Holcomb presided. Mrs. Thelma Newman, district director for the organization from Odessa, explained new phases of the AARP program designed to improve services for its members.

She introduced Jack Burnett, Odessa, who will become new district director on January first when Mrs. Newman assumes her new position as District Program Specialist.

New officers for the AARP will be: Mr. M.B. Irland-president; Mrs. J.C. Ebersole-vice-president; Mrs. J.C. Pierce-secretary; Mrs. M.B. Irland-treasurer; Mrs. T.K. Price-program chairman; A.E. Walker, J.C. Pierce, C.R. McClenny, Marshall Brown, and Rev. C.A. Holcomb, directors; and B.M. Keese, Mrs. Birdie Westbrook, and J.C. Pierce, the nominating committee.

Outgoing president, Rev. C.A. Holcomb presented a book and a "cross" necklace to Mrs. Newman in appreciation of her services to the organization.

Mrs. W.T. McRee played Christmas music on the piano for the 47 guests that attended the meeting, and luncheon followed.
