Reviewing the . . . Big Spring Week . . . with Joe Pickle

So far as records reveal, Capt. Howard M. Grominger, member of Class 72-05 at Webb AFB, did something last week that has never been before — at least at Webb. He made a clean sweep of all top honors — the Air Training Command Commander's trophy, the academic and flying training awards, as well as the leadership award. Whew!

The flu bug, upper respiratory ailment, or virus X — whatever you call it — was making serious inroads during the week. At Coahoma, where 124 pupils and six faculty members were out Friday, school was called off for Monday in hopes that this extra day of rest and recuperation would turn the tide. Big Spring school absentees were running higher than normal, but not enough to warrant closing down.

That Kennel Club show brought visitors in from the four corners Saturday, and most of the inns were filled with exhibitors who entered a lydry: by Sandra INK THROWER IN CUSTODY — Karine Cooper, 31, of Sweden, is taken in custody at Egmont Palace in Brussels, Saturday, after she threw a plastic bag of ink onto British Prime Minister Edward Heath who was arriving to sign the treaty taking Britain into the European Common Market. The ink-splattered Miss Cooper still holds the plastic bag.

Wheel Plays No Favorites

Anyone 21 years of age and under 65, and an eligible voter in Howard County can be called to serve on a jury in 118th District Court.

This was borne out this week when District Judge R. W. Caton's name was among those selected from the jury "wheel" for jury selection. Others in the list included Deputy Sheriff Eddie Owen and radio newsman, Ken Carter.

Deputy Owen could be disqualified because the lawyers might think that he has too much prior knowledge of the cases, and Carter could be disqualified because he moved out of the county and then back since his name was added to the jury wheel. As for Judge Caton, perhaps he can claim he has other duties which would prevent his serving on a jury.

Jody Hilliard, 19, Monahans, charge of robbery by assault will go to trial Monday on a charge of robbery by assault in connection with the Dec. 11, 1970, robbery of two service stations which resulted in the wounding of one service station attendant, James Gregory.

Hilliard has been in custody in Howard County jail since his arrest Dec. 11, 1970. He was indicted by the grand jury Jan. 28, 1971 on two counts of robbery by assault and one count of assault with intent to murder.

The . . . INSIDE . . . News

Britain, Ireland, Norway and Denmark will be full members of the European Common Market by Jan. 1, 1973, bringing the total population of the expanded 10-nation market to 257,242,000 persons. The market will then have a greater population than that of the Soviet Union or the United States. British Prime Minister Heath outlines four goals for a stronger Europe. See Page 3-A.

A close knit, slightly lunatic "family" of writers, cartoonists, satirists and artists turn out the phenomenally successful and profitable Mad Magazine. Termed "an adult comic book," Mad is a magazine which has risen to fame because it "puts down anything dumb." See Page 5-B.

MATHEMATICIAN DESIGN ADOPTED INSTEAD

Federal Panel Nixes Redistricting Plan

DALLAS (AP) — A three-judge federal panel threw out the Texas Legislature's congressional districting Saturday, ruling it unconstitutional.

At the same time, the jurists accepted a proposed new plan based solely on population and said it will be the law until the next census in 1980 unless the legislature meanwhile comes up with some new plan that the court will accept.

The judges retained jurisdiction for extending the filing deadline for candidates, now set at Feb. 7, "in the event it is made known to this court that a called session of the legislature will include congressional reapportionment."

The plan adopted is one of two submitted by plaintiffs in the suit—10 Texas voters, headed by Don Weiser, a Dallas mathematician employed in the research department of an oil corporation. But the judges said their order was "determinative of the rights of all others."

However, they did allow the intervention of Van Henry Archer Jr., chairman of the Bexar County Republican party, although they did not use a plan he submitted. U.S. Circuit Judge Joe M. Ingraham of Houston presided over the court, sitting with U.S. District Court Judges William M. Taylor Jr. and Robert M. Hill.

Texas Secretary of State Bob Bullock was defendant. The case was argued before the judges Friday morning, but they reserved their opinion until 11 a.m. Saturday.

Lawrence Fischman, lawyer for the plaintiffs, said members of the legislature made two trips to Washington "at the expense of the people of Texas" to consult Texas congressmen about their redistricting wishes. He also quoted House Speaker Gus Mutscher Jr. as saying "with a most remarkable piece of political candor" that the approach to redistricting is determined by what can be avoided.

Fischman said he took this to mean: "We can make a deal."

A comparison of the maps of districts as created by the legislature and the court show occasional remarkable differences in some areas.

- The new plan included:
- 16. Brewster, Crane, Culberson, El Paso, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Loving, Pecos, Presidio, Reeves, Terrell, Val Verde, Ward and Winkler.
 - 17. Archer, Baylor, Callahan, Clay, Comanche, Eastland, Erath, Jack, Jones, Montague, Palo Pinto, Parker, Shackelford, Stephens, Taylor, Throckmorton, Wichita, Wilbarger, Wise, Young, the eastern half of Haskell, and the far southeast corner of Knox.
 - 18. Central Harris County.
 - 19. Andrews, Borden, Cochran, Dawson, Ector, Gaines, Garza, Howard, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Midland, Terry, Upton, Yoakum and a small southeastern rectangle of Haskell.
 - 20. Bandera, Coke, Coleman, Comal, Concho, Crockett, Dimmit, Edwards, Fisher, Frio, Gillespie, Glasscock, Irion, Kendall, Kerr, Kinney, Kinsey, LaSalle, Llano, Mason, Maverick, McCulloch, Medina, Menard, Mitchell, Nolan, Reagan, Real, Runnels, Schleicher, Scurry, Sterling, Sutton, Tom Green, Uvalde, Webb, Zavala, the northern two-thirds of Brown, about the southern two-thirds of San Saba, and all but a very small portion of Atascosa.

CONG. GEO. MAHON IS PLEASED TO SERVE HOWARD ONCE MORE

Con. George Mahon (D-Tex.), when he was informed that a federal panel of judges had ordered a new plan for congressional districts in Texas, informed The Herald Saturday night he was delighted at the prospect of having Howard County returned to his district.

Mahon also stated:

"I am surprised at the courts overturning the redistricting law. I had no complaints about the district the legislature gave me. I have no complaints about the courts have proposed for me."

"I do regret to lose areas which I thought would be in my district but I welcome the opportunity to represent areas outlined in the court decision, some of which are in the old district which I now represent and some which I represented for years in the districts as formerly constituted."

Bush Is More Sold On UN Than Ever

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Despite some frustrations and setbacks, George Bush says he is more sold on the United Nations today than when he took over as chief U.S. delegate early last year.

In an interview, the 47-year-old former congressman from Texas acknowledged it was unpopular to say so but "I've come to believe that, in spite of its shortcomings, it's in our national self-interest and it's to the benefit of our taxpayers in many, many fields to support the United Nations." Bush was appointed by President Nixon on Dec. 11, 1970, and sworn in as U.S. ambassador last Feb. 26.

"When one balances out the pluses and minuses, the pluses outweigh the minuses," he said. "I'm more supportive of the United Nations than I was when I came here."

ESCHESWS ROLE

He eschewed a Pollyanna role, fending off all criticism of the United Nations, since he himself was a critic, but said he did not believe the American public would support a reduction in U.S. financial support of the organization if it knew the facts.

Bush said fundamental changes are needed and that they will be very hard to bring about because of the difficulty of amending the U.N. charter, but that the organization should not be blamed when certain countries block the will of the overwhelming majority.

This was a reference to the use of the veto three times by the Soviet Union to prevent the Security Council from calling for a cease-fire in the Indian-Pakistan fighting.

"I think that the U.N.'s inability to end the war hurt it in the eyes of world opinion," he observed.

Bush expressed the belief that some U.N. deficiencies, such as waste, inefficiency and a paper-clogged secretariat, could be corrected.

He vigorously defended the U.S. "dual representation" policy under which Peking would have been admitted to the United Nations while Taiwan retained its seat everywhere except in the Security Council.

SHERRILL TO SUB Caton Elects Not To Hear Trial

District Judge R. W. Caton Friday voluntarily agreed not to preside over the Feb. 7 murder trial of Whitmer Jean Ballard in Alpine. District Judge Charles Sherrill, 112th District Court, Fort Stockton, has agreed to preside in Judge Caton's stead.

Ballard is being tried Feb. 7 in Alpine for murder with malice in connection with the Dec. 2, 1970, death of Steve Currie, 71, Glasscock County rancher. The trial was moved on a change of venue from Glasscock County to Midland and from Midland to Alpine following the life sentence conviction in Midland of Orville Davis, 51, also charged with murder in connection with Currie's death.

Judge Caton, in a 118th District Court hearing Friday afternoon, overruled a motion filed by Bobby Bearden, court-appointed Midland attorney defending Ballard, that he disqualify himself from presiding.

In overruling the motion, Judge Caton said that Bearden had failed to produce any evidence supporting his allegation that Judge Caton would be unable to act with neutrality in the case because of "economic and political" forces acting against him.

Bearden attempted to have Judge Caton descend from the bench to the witness stand to testify in connection with the motion. Judge Caton refused stating the law which states that no judge can be called as a witness without his prior consent and unless he feels that his testimony can add to the case.

"I just don't think anything I can say can add to your suit," said Caton to Bearden.

Bearden then took the stand and testified that in private conversations with Judge Caton, Judge Caton had said that he did not think he could appoint additional counsel to assist Bearden because the Glasscock County commissioners, who must pay for the costs of the murder case moved from Garden City in June on a change of venue, "had been giving him trouble."

Bearden presented no other evidence than his repeat of an alleged conversation with Judge Caton.

Following Judge Caton's overruling of his motion, Bearden said that he had been in contact with Judge Sherrill, and that Judge Sherrill had said that he would "be happy to take the case."

Judge Caton instructed Bearden to telephone Judge Sherrill to determine if he would take the case. Bearden called Judge Sherrill, and it was agreed that he would take over Judge Caton's Feb. 7 duties in Alpine.

Judge Caton said that he was happy to allow Judge Sherrill to preside because Judge Sherrill was closer to Alpine than he was, and that it would allow him to fulfill duties here rather than leaving them to preside over a trial expected to last from 10 days to three weeks.

Caucuses And Conventions Herald Upcoming Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first voting in the difficult process of electing the next President of the United States are already being cast in the selection of delegates to the national nominating conventions.

Although these caucuses and conventions don't attract the attention given to the state primaries, they are drawing a share of the electioneering contenders and may be more decisive in the long run.

And reforms imposed or suggested by both major parties are making the whole thing more interesting if sometimes more complicated. In many states the once closed process is being shifted from the smoke filled room to the public arena.

The selection started Saturday in Mississippi with Democratic precinct meetings where delegates were picked to the congressional district and state conventions which will name the national delegates.

TOM J. VANDERGRIFF

Full House For Banquet

With well over 300 tickets already sold, indications point to a sellout crowd of 500 or more for the 1972 membership banquet of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

The event is to be at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 2, at the High School Cafeteria.

The Chamber announced that tickets must be obtained by Monday, Jan. 31, since arrangements have to be made for accommodating the crowd. Guest speaker will be Tom J. Vandergriff, mayor of Arlington, and one of the dynamic public figures in Texas. He is given much credit for many factors which have developed his town into a metropolis: including the advancement of the University of Texas at Arlington; the new regional airport in the Dallas-Fort Worth area; the new Seven Seas tourist attraction at Arlington; and more recently, the bringing of Major League baseball to North Texas.

The banquet will follow a theme of "Industry and You in '72", and recognition will be given to officials of industries which have been located in Big Spring in recent months.

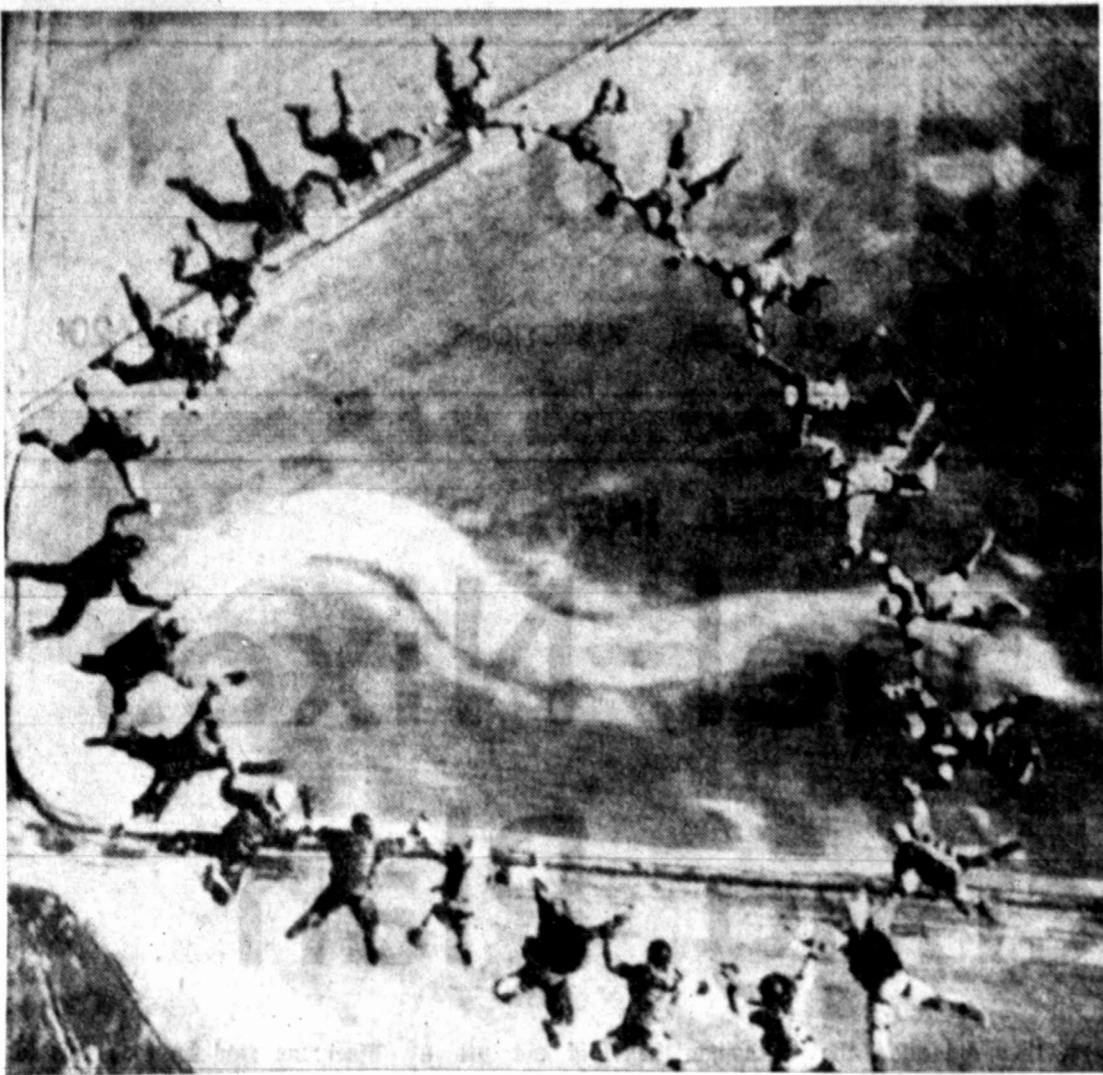

The dinner also marks a change of administration in the Chamber of Commerce, with R. H. Weaver becoming president, succeeding Paul Meek. The new Chamber manager, Ron Mercer, together with his wife, also will be introduced.

Presentations will be made to the Webb AFB Airman of the Year, and to the Jaycees' Outstanding Young Man.

Pledge of Allegiance will be led by Ike Robb III, president of the High School Honor Society. Invocation will be by Father Louis Moeller of the Immaculate Heart of St. Mary Church, and dinner music will be by the Golden Horns of the BSHS Band.

Joe Pickle will be master of ceremonies. Arrangements for the banquet have been handled by a group including Mrs. Morris Rhodes, Mrs. Walter Wheat, Mrs. Odell Womack, Mrs. Harold Davis, Mrs. Garner McAdams and Don Womack. The High School Art Department has assisted, and members of the High School Home Making Department will serve.

SKY DIVERS CLAIM WORLD RECORD—These 24 sky divers holding hands to form a "star" bailed out of three airplanes, at 14,500 feet last weekend over Perris Valley airport near Riverside, Calif., and are claimants to a new record, exceeding the old mark of 22 men. They had 70 seconds to maneuver themselves into position before opening their parachutes. Jumping with them was photographer Carl Boehish of Hawthorne, Calif., who made the picture with a motorized Nikon F camera equipped with 35 mm. lens.

Judge Cautious On Trial Report

ABILENE (AP) — Cameras and recording devices were prohibited Friday for the Feb. 28 trial here of Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher and two others on charges of bribery.

District Court Judge J. Neil Daniel, who will preside at the trial growing out of the Texas stock scandals, also outlined rules of conduct for court officials and for newsmen reporting the trial.

Several television stations told the judge they would send artists to make courtroom sketches.

Daniel ordered attorneys in the case not to release information or opinion by means of public communication in connection with the case "if there is a reasonable likelihood that such dissemination will interfere with a fair trial or otherwise prejudice the due administration of justice."

All courthouse personnel received orders not to disclose information on the case that is not part of the public record, and spectators were ordered seated. The courtroom will be closed to entry or exit except at recess and adjournment periods, he said.

A. Mutscher aide, Rush Mc-

Killer, 75, Free Following Edict

HAZEL COBBES, 75, who pleaded no contest last summer in the axe killing of her husband a year after their golden wedding anniversary, has been released on probation.

One condition is that she remain in a nursing home. Superior Court Judge Lican B. Vandergrift said Friday in approving the recommendation of psychiatrists that she was unlikely to resort to violence again.

Mrs. Cobbes at first pleaded innocent to a murder charge last July, saying she had struck her husband Howard, 77, in self-defense.

She changed her plea to no contest when the charge was reduced to voluntary manslaughter.

Scouting Council Adds New Staffer

Harold L. Drummonds, Brownfield, has been named as a new district scout executive of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America. The announcement was made by Steve Odum, scout executive of the council.

Drummonds will serve the Comanche Trails District, which includes Ector and Andrews counties, beginning Feb. 1.

The Comanche Trails District is a new Scout district that has been formed by combining the Black Gold and Sunset Trail districts, and includes 95 Scouts units with over 3,000 registered boys.

Drummonds is a veteran scoutmaster with eight years of professional service. He received an associate degree in science from Eastern Oklahoma A&M College, and studied at Oklahoma State University. He and Mrs. Drummond have two sons, Stephen and Jeffrey.

Nursing Inn Is TNHA Member

The Big Spring Nursing Inn, Inc., 901 Goliad, has been accepted as a member of the Texas Nursing Home Association. John E. Barker, administrator, will serve as the representative of the home in TNHA activities.

TNHA is the professional association of licensed nursing and custodial care homes in Texas. Its membership is made up of proprietary and non-proprietary homes. All members of TNHA are also affiliated with the American Nursing Home Association.

Officials Working To Quell Trouble

DALLAS (AP) — Officials of new, sparkling Skyline High School sought means Saturday to prevent another outbreak of fighting like that of Friday afternoon.

The fight, which raged up and down the halls but centered in the cafeteria, left as many as 16 known injured with six taken to hospitals.

A school statement read, "Police said there is no way of knowing how many students might have been treated by private physicians, as many left the campus under their own steam."

There were some variations of why and how the fight started, but most said it began when some pupils turned loose white mice in the cafeteria as a prank.

Said the official statement, "A black student and a white student squared off at each other in the cafeteria, but teachers moved in real fast and headed off trouble. No blows were struck."

"However, shortly afterward, the mice were released and there were lots of them." This set off shoving and bumping and the fight started.

Pupils used chairs, and forks and knives from the cafeteria equipment as tools.

Pupils not in classrooms when the fight ended were herded to the auditorium.

About 800 persons were in the cafeteria eating when the fight broke out.

A fire started in the band equipment room but was extinguished quickly. Officials said the cause of the blaze was not known.

Trouble had been breaking out in small degrees all school year at the integrated institution. It rose sharply Thursday when white pupils threw rocks at buses carrying black students. One pupil claimed

CPAs Set Hearing

Frank Kubica, Midland, president of the Permian Basin Chapter of Certified Public Accountants, said Saturday that one of only four area meetings in the state regarding a continuing education proposal will be held in Midland Monday.

The place will be the First National Bank building, Midland, at 9 a.m. Purpose is to formulate recommendations of the executive committee and directors of the Texas Association of CPAs as to whether and how to proceed with proposals for required continuing professional education for CPAs.

The proposal has been made by the American Institute of CPAs.

Among chapters due to be represented at the hearing Monday at Midland are Abilene, El Paso, Lubbock, Panhandle, San Angelo, Wichita Falls and Permian Basin. Kubica said he anticipated a large turnout due to importance of the hearing.

Senator To Speak

LUBBOCK — U.S. Sen. Robert Packwood of Oregon, whose December address at Texas Tech University was cancelled because of weather conditions, is rescheduled to speak at 7:15 p.m. Thursday in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

Packwood's appearance here, sponsored by the Texas Tech University Speakers Series, will be open to the public without charge. His topic will be "Sex and Survival."

blacks had thrown stones at some of the white pupils' cars. Those most seriously hurt were two pupils and two school staff members.

Danny Paul Fugitt, 17, suffered stab wounds in the lower back from a fork.

Frank A. Ramsey, 17, had fractured ribs and head cuts.

Mrs. Alice Marie Abbott, 47, was treated for a fracture of the foot and ankle in a fall.

Nancy Shutt, 27, had a fractured ankle after a table fell on her.

Debra Leeman, a white pupil, said chairs were flying over her head but that she was not scratched. "It was too short," she said.

A black pupil wearing a Skyline cheerleader's jacket blamed white boys for the melee. "Some white guys threw bricks and pipes at the Frazier bus (all black) yesterday," she said. "They (two blacks) asked about it today and the fight started when the two white guys got smart."

Prison Hunger Strike Goes Into 6th Day

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — A hunger strike by 22 prisoners in San Quentin's maximum-security Adjustment Center is in its sixth day.

The strike, which was disclosed Friday by prison authorities, affects the first floor of the Adjustment Center where six men died last Aug. 21 during what authorities said was an escape attempt by Soledad Brother George Jackson. He, two white prisoners and three white guards were killed.

Friday night the strikers, who claim they are being "treated as animals," again refused dinner.

"Some pushed the trays back, some threw it," said corrections officer Lee De Bord. "Otherwise it's nonviolent."

"As reasonable men," the prisoners wrote in a letter to Associate Warden James Park, "we feel it should not be necessary to tear up things, burn and throw feces on you to obtain our human rights." Their demands included hot food on metal trays instead of paper plates, permission to go to the visiting rooms without chains or shackles, and access to the prison chapel, religious literature and books dealing with minorities.

Douglas Vaughn, lawyer for one of the prisoners, said the strike began after Sunday's dinner arrived at on one paper plate, with ice cream on the bottom, covered with a pork chop, gravy, potatoes, salad and bread.

Park said his staff told him they tried to separate the food properly and if necessary used two paper plates.

Among the strikers are the surviving Soledad Brothers, John Clutchette and Fleeta Drumgo, who are accused of killing a Soledad prison guard; six inmates charged with murdering three guards and two white inmates last August; and Ruchell Magee who, with Angela Davis, is charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in the 1970 Marin County Civic Center shootout in which four persons died.

"Certainly we'll review all these things to make sure we're doing things reasonably, but most of the things we're not doing, we're not doing for good reasons—reasons of safety."

Adjustment Center prisoners are chained and shackled when they go to the visiting room, he said, "because we're not going to take chances with any more correctional officers being hurt or killed."

Guards will continue offering the men food "and try to keep it under control," Park said.

Martin County plummeted from its habitual position of third place in Permian Basin drilling last week to a tie for 11th place.

Half a dozen wells which had been drilling were completed, and several others were testing. The number of active rigs turning was pegged at four; it had been 15 the previous week, and 19 the week before that when than school children, and health officials say this indicates many adults who caught the virus three years ago are still immune.

In South Dakota, however, where a regional outbreak of the Hong Kong flu is spreading, about 20 per cent of the employees of state government—some 2,000 workers—are on sick leave.

"This has had a very severe effect on the operation of state government particularly here in Pierre during the legislative session, when there is a great demand for state services," said Robert Mullally, state personnel director.

Widespread or regional outbreaks of the flu have been reported this year in 20 other states from the East Coast to the Rockies. Officials in some states say the disease is still spreading while others report a decline.

OKLAHOMA HIT

Schools have been closed for a day or more in two dozen Oklahoma communities and absentee rates at businesses in some areas in the state have also been unusually high. In Ripley County, Ind., where there have been 800 cases of flu each week this month, Dr. Charles L. Barrett, a state epidemiologist, advised the schools would not to close because it would not prevent young people from gathering and spreading the disease.

Twenty-five Maryland schools have closed during the past two weeks because of flu outbreaks.

Officer's Father Victim In Chase

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Police officer Michael Hitchingham was manning the desk Friday when a call came in about a fatal accident some three miles west of the city.

The victim apparently had been chasing a drunken driver with whom he had been involved in a minor accident. He was forced off Interstate 94 and crashed into a tree, according to witnesses.

State police set up road blocks and captured the fleeing driver a few miles away.

"From the crash scene, a patrol car radioed the license number of the smashed car. Hitchingham recognized the number, went to the scene and saw the officers take out the body."

It was his father, William Hitchingham.

Widespread or regional outbreaks of the flu have been reported this year in 20 other states from the East Coast to the Rockies. Officials in some states say the disease is still spreading while others report a decline.

OKLAHOMA HIT

Schools have been closed for a day or more in two dozen Oklahoma communities and absentee rates at businesses in some areas in the state have also been unusually high. In Ripley County, Ind., where there have been 800 cases of flu each week this month, Dr. Charles L. Barrett, a state epidemiologist, advised the schools would not to close because it would not prevent young people from gathering and spreading the disease.

Twenty-five Maryland schools have closed during the past two weeks because of flu outbreaks.

COMMON MARKET MEMBERSHIP TO BE INCREASED—Britain, Ireland, Denmark and Norway, shown as shaded areas, signed treaties Saturday to become members of the European Common Market, depicted in black. The signing, which will take place in Egmont Palace in Brussels, will make the Common Market the biggest trading bloc in history.

Europe Common Market Adds Four Countries

BRUSSELS (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath of Britain Saturday signed the treaty to make Britain a member of the European Common Market. He urged a new, greater united Europe that would have better relations with the Soviet Union and its allies.

Heath signed along with the prime ministers of Ireland, Norway and Denmark who also seek to become full members of the trading bloc Jan. 1. The present members are France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Belgium.

"We in Britain," Heath said, "have every reason to wish for better relations with the states of Eastern Europe. And we do sincerely want them."

"Our new partners on the continent have shown that their feelings are the same. Henceforth our efforts can be united."

Heath's short speech did not mention the United States. He referred once to links with the Commonwealth, which he said would help Britain "contribute to the universal nature of Europe's responsibility."

He listed four elements in the design to be sought for a "new Europe":

- "It must be a Europe which is strong and confident within itself."
- "A Europe in which we shall be working for the progressive relaxation and elimination of East-West tensions."
- "A Europe alive to its great responsibilities in the common struggle of humanity for a better life."
- "An end to the divisions which have stricken Europe for centuries," he explained, "a beginning of another stage in the construction of a new and greater united Europe."

He said clear thinking would be needed to recognize that each member remains proudly attached to its national identity. At the same time, he went on, all have come to recognize their common European heritage.

When the candidates become full members Jan. 1, 1973, the expanded 10-nation market will have a population of 257,242,000 — greater than that of the Soviet Union or the United States.

The 10 also will produce more steel and automobiles, do more foreign trade and sail more merchant ships, according to figures compiled by the Common Market Executive Commission.

The commission figures showed that in 1970, the gross production of the 10 was about $637 billion, compared to $933 billion for the United States. But the same 10 carried on 41 per cent of the world's international trade, compared with 14 per cent for the United States, 6 per cent for Japan and 4 per cent for the Soviet Union.

All 10 nations still must ratify the treaties, and the candidates must enact all the legislation the Common Market has passed over the past 13 years. Ireland, Denmark and Norway must hold referendums.

Later this year, the 10 nations will hold a summit conference to see where they want their organization to move in the future.

Under the treaties, Britain gets the same voting rights as France, West Germany and Italy. The other candidates get rights in proportion to their size.

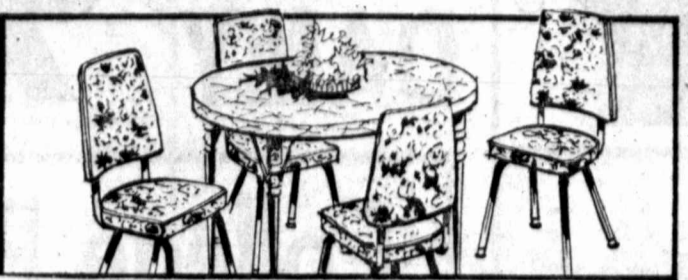

There will be an "orderly and gradual rundown" of the pound sterling as a world currency, but with no timetable.

Violinist Dies Following Fall

NEW YORK (AP) — The city medical examiner's office says violinist Machael Rabin, 35, died Wednesday of a skull fracture he suffered in a fall.

The fall may have been caused by an epileptic seizure but the seizure itself was not the direct cause of death as police had reported earlier, Examiner Michael Hespern said Friday.

Rabin made his Carnegie Hall debut in 1950 at the age of 14.

An important message for people who prepare their own income tax returns.

Maybe you've been cheating yourself all these years.

Every year, between January and April, millions of people sit down to do battle with Uncle Sam. Some are "self styled" accountants. Others think they can save a few dollars doing it themselves—so why not?

The sad truth is, however, no matter what their reason was for starting, many of them end the same. On the short end.

You see, when it comes to income taxes, amateurs should depend on H&R Block. We have all the facilities to help you make "income tax time" a pleasant experience. To begin with, H&R Block now has over 6,000 conveniently located offices manned by thousands of specially trained personnel who are anxious to help you. They'll sit you down over a free cup of coffee and show you some things about your income tax that you might never have known existed. For example, do you know all about deductions for child care or casualty losses? And maybe you aren't aware that if your income increased last year, you may be able to save tax dollars by "income averaging."

Well, when it comes to income taxes, H&R Block is aware of just about everything because we're a company that eats, sleeps, and drinks tax returns 365 days a year.

Yes, maybe you can save a couple of bucks by doing your own return but it really may be costing you a lot more by not having your return done by H&R Block.

DON'T LET AN AMATEUR DO H&R BLOCK'S JOB.

The income tax people.

Solons, Lobbyists Involved In Deal

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Three land deal that has doubled its records show Reps. Don Cavness, Austin; Hillary B. Doran Jr., Del Rio, and Dean Cobb, Dumas, are among 21 investors who purchased 300 acres of choice undeveloped property in the suburbs of Westlake Hills and Rollingwood for $3,000 an acre in November.

Tourists Are Attracted To Whirling Dervishes

KONYA, Turkey (AP) — Erol Kucukbakirci is a well-spoken and intelligent young man of 19. He is a student and a member of Turkey's national bicycling team.

But for two weeks every year, Erol forgets his bicycling and his studies, puts on a white robe and a conical felt hat with a foot high and turns round and round in a trance to the tune of a hypnotic flute. He is one of Turkey's new whirling dervishes.

The whirling dervishes used to have an important place in Turkey's religious life. They were followers of Jelaluddin Mevlana Rumi, a 13th century Muslim mystic who died here and whose tomb still makes Konya a pilgrimage center for devout Turks. Mevlana taught total surrender to God through asceticism and meditation.

ONE FORM — His followers lived in convents, or tekkes, from childhood on, practicing as one form of religious exercise the whirling dance which gave them their name. In 1925 the reform government of Kemal Ataturk abolished the dervishes and turned the tekkes into museums.

In 1954 however, a right wing government allowed the dervishes of Mevlana's order to perform their dance in Konya for just two weeks every December, ostensibly as a tourist attraction. The monastic life taught by Mevlana is still prohibited.

For Erol and 20 other young dancers, however, the slow gyrations are not done simply for the tourists. "It is a sort of prayer," he said. "It helps you think about God."

Arson Figure Cut Himself, Police Say

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas investigators say the Rev. Cabel Roberts, central figure in a Fort Worth arson probe, admitted using a razor blade to slash himself superficially in a Dallas hotel.

A security officer in the Statler Hilton Hotel found the clergyman sprawled nude on a bloodsoaked bed Friday.

Investigators J. H. Cawthon and Charles Roy of the Police Department questioned Roberts at Parkland Hospital. They said he admitted inflicting the wounds but gave no reason.

Two churches of which the Rev. Mr. Roberts was or had been pastor caught fire in late December, and he reported that an attempt was made to burn his home.

Roberts is pastor of the Friendly Lane Baptist Church of Haltom City, a Fort Worth suburb. The congregation also owns another church building in Fort Worth which was not in use except for storage.

The Fort Worth structure caught fire first with $20,000 damages. In about 16 hours, the Haltom City church burned, with an estimated loss of $100,000.

Investigators Cawthon and Roy said officers found 15 to 20 notes placed in addressed envelopes in Roberts' hotel room. They declined to reveal the contents.

Officers said Roberts checked into the hotel Thursday morning with baggage. The Roberts family filed a missing persons report Thursday night.

Dallas police said blood in the room had dried, and said this was an indication the wounds were inflicted a considerable time before he was found at 9:30 a.m.

A maid said she opened the door and saw blood and called hotel security.

Court To Pick Appointees

LAMESA — Several appointments are due for consideration by the Dawson County commissioners court at its meeting Monday.

For one thing, the court is due to name a representative for Dawson County on the Region 9 Drug and Alcohol Abuse council. The court also is due to name a member of the Child Protective Services advisory board. It also will name an advisory committee to work with engineers making the comprehensive water and sewer survey for the Permian Basin regional planning commission.

The court will receive the South Plains Health Unit report, along with reviewing the adult probation report, according to the agenda posted by Judge Leslie C. Pratt.

Barry New Base Exec; Awards To 5 Officers

A former section commander in the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron has recently assumed duties as Webb's base executive officer.

Lt. Col. Arnold G. Barry takes the position formerly held by Maj. Robert Pettit, who will be retiring soon.

As the base executive officer it is Col. Barry's job to be a special aide to the base commander, to assist him in the performance of his duties.

Col. Barry began his military career in 1953 as an aviation cadet at Lackland AFB, Tex. He was commissioned a second lieutenant and sent to Eindhoven AFB, Alaska, to serve as a navigator. In 1956 he went through the first half of Undergraduate Pilot Training at Stallings, N.C., a civilian contract base. For the second half the colonel came to Webb for the first time.

After completion of training he was sent to Portland, Ore.,

where he flew F-102s for five years.

In 1963 he was sent to Keflavik AB, Iceland, then in 1964 to Perrin AFB, Tex., where he instructed in the F-102s. In 1968 he attended the F-4 air-ground gunnery course at Davis-Monthan AFB, Ariz., then was sent to Nha Trang AB, Vietnam, where he was assigned to 5th Special Forces as a forward air controller.

Col. Barry arrived here in December, 1969. Before serving as a section commander in the 61st he was a flight commander for a short time.

The colonel has earned the Air Medal with nine oak leaf clusters, Combat Readiness Medal and various Vietnam service medals.

A native of Whitefish, Mont., Col. Barry married the former Miss Patricia Moore, from Morenci, Ariz. The couple has one child, Robert 10. The colonel's family is now living in Tempe, Ariz., where he will go after retirement in another year.

Three Distinguished Flying Crosses, a Bronze Star and an Air Medal were presented to five Webb captains in ceremonies held recently at the base flagpole.

Honored were Capt. Joseph R. Wolozyn, DFC; Alan H. Webster, DFC; Larry G. Curtis, DFC; Terry J. Hadley, Bronze Star; and Nicholas R. Pchelkin, Air Medal.

The 3560th Organizational Maintenance Squadron recently named it flights and dock of the month for December.

Bravo Flight earned the T-37 Flight of the Month honor; T-38 Flight of the Month award went to Fox Flight; Dock 4 won the Dock of the Month award.

Members of Bravo Flight are M. Sgt. David M. Ray; T. Sgts. John P. Tuscher, James R. Browder, Kenneth M. Rideout and Thomas G. Harves; S. Sgts. Wilford F. Barton, Leland L. Gayheart, Gerod E. McElwain, Larry D. Brown and Sanford E. Krider; Sgts. Alton L. Hilliger, Jeffery D. Williams, Dennis B. Solsbery, John C. Reynolds, Kenneth Stanford and Lee H. Stagers; and Airmen Arnold F. Ison, Wayne Wagner, Juan F. Padilla Rodriguez and John W. White.

Members of Dock 4 are T. Sgt. Reynaldo Garcia Jr., S. Sgt. Freddy G. Malaney, Sgts. Carl W. Morris, Roy G. Prince and William F. O'Connor and Airman Joseph A. Warges III.

Col. Charles F. Walker, who will next week assume command of the 3560th Air Base Group, has been deputy commander of Operations since September, 1970. During that time the Operations complex has accomplished its mission of turning pedestrians into pilots in a manner that would make any commander proud.

Government workers and military personnel have been exempted from Phase 2 controls since their salaries are set by Congress. The Postal Service, however, starts its own salaries, either directly for the white-collar workers or through collective bargaining for some 500,000 unionized postal workers.

There is no indication that either the Pay Board or the Cost of Living Council intend to act on the increases for about 80,000 postal managers. They have been in effect since the freeze ended Nov. 14.

The Postal Service notified managers of the increase Nov. 17, but made no public announcement.

White-collar workers benefiting from the raises work in headquarters, regional and district offices as well as local post offices. They earn between $8,000 and $20,000 though most fall in the $8,000 to $14,000 range.

For someone earning $10,000 the increase would amount to 10 per cent, compared with the 5.5 per cent guideline set by the board.

Postal reform legislation set up the service as an independent agency within the legislative branch of the federal government effective July 1, 1971.

NEW COMMANDER—Lt. Col. Ronald E. Catton, new deputy commander for Operations chats informally with a member of the graduated class 72-63.

Catton Succeeds Walker As Commander Of ABG

Col. Charles F. Walker, present deputy commander of Operations, next week assumes command of the 3560th Air Base Group.

Col. Walker will be succeeded by Lt. Col. Ronald E. Catton, formerly assigned to Randolph AFB, Tex.

Col. Catton, a former member of the U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds aerial demonstration team, has been assigned to Air Training Command a little over a year. In that time he has served as a commander to the 3517th Student Squadron, the 3516th Pilot Training Squadron and the 3516th Flying Training Squadron, all at Randolph Command.

Col. Catton remarked, "It was like taking a drink with a fire hose. But I've gained a great deal of experience from it."

When he takes-over as DO next week, Col. Catton will be the youngest DO in the command. The full colonel selectee (secondary zone) is 38 years old.

Col. Catton entered the military in October, 1952, and received his commission a year later through the Aviation Cadet Program. He completed flying training in November, 1953, and saw action in Korea as an F-84 Thunderflash pilot during 1954.

From the fall of 1954 until December, 1959, Col. Catton was stationed at Cannon AFB, N.M., flying F-86 Sabres and F-100 Supersabers. He served as a Fighter Weapons School instructor pilot in the F-100 at Nellis AFB, Nev., at Omaha, Col. Catton was selected as a pilot with the Thunderbirds while at Omaha. He flew F-100s and F-105 Thunderchiefs while a member of the team from June, 1962, to December, 1964.

Subsequent duty stations were at Eglin AFB, Fla., as a flight test supervisor on the F-5A "Project Sparrowhawk," January, 1965, to June, 1965, Maxwell AFB, Ala., where he attended the Air Command and Staff College, July, 1965, to January, 1966; MacDill AFB, Fla., in an F-4 Phantom replacement training unit from July, 1966, to January, 1967; and Ubon RTAFB, Thailand, as a flight commander and wing leader in Brig. Gen. Robin Olds' "Wolfpack" of the 8th Tactical Fighter Wing.

Before his various assignments at Randolph, Col. Catton was an Air Staff Operations officer at the Pentagon.

The former Thunderbird pilot has more than 4,000 hours flying time in 20 different aircraft. He holds the Silver Star Medal, the Distinguished Flying Cross with two oak leaf clusters, the Meritorious Service Medal, the Air Medal with 10 oak leaf clusters and the USAF Commenda-

SMITHEREENS — Boxcars in a switching yard of the Alton and Southern Railway Co. in East St. Louis were blasted off their tracks by an explosion Saturday morning. A tank containing liquefied petroleum gas was ruptured in a yard accident and the blast concussion damaged hundreds of homes in the city. About 150 persons were treated at hospitals, 18 of them admitted as patients.

Railway Explosion Is Heard Long Way Off

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—rail yard near downtown Saturday, shattering windows over a plod in a ball of flame at a wide area. Authorities said 92 persons were injured, most of them cut by flying glass.

BIRMINGHAM'S FIRST BLACK JUDGE — Peter Hall will begin his duties Monday as a Recorder's Court judge, the first black judge in Birmingham. He was appointed by the City Council to fill a vacancy created by death.

Gov. Smith Backs Corpus Man As Party Chairman

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—William Anderson Jr. of Corpus Christi is Gov. Preston Smith's choice for chairman of the State Democratic Party if Roy Orr should resign. Orr quit as mayor of DeSoto when he was sworn in as Dallas county commissioner, but he has said he does not plan to resign as party chairman until later, probably within 30 days. Secretary of State Bob Bullcock says he will not certify Orr to the $27,600 commissioner's job until he quits the political job. Orr won the post, 32-30, over State Agriculture Commissioner John White despite Smith's support of White. Smith said Friday it was important that the state party have an "energetic chairman" in the 1972 elections, and "I can think of no man who is more able or more dedicated than Bill Anderson."

There were no reports of fatalities. The blast at the Alton & Southern Railway yard rattled windows 15 miles away and shattered glass in Collinsville to the east, Belleville to the south and in downtown St. Louis, about five miles away. Homes near the yard were heavily damaged, furniture knocked from ceilings and doors and windows blown in. The fire, which threatened dozens of other damaged cars in the yards, continued to burn for more than three hours as fire fighters proceeded with caution for fear of further explosions. Spokesmen at St. Mary's Hospital said 35 persons were treated for minor injuries there, most of them cuts caused by flying glass. Forty persons were treated for injuries at Christian Welfare Hospital and released. Seventeen other persons were admitted for further treatment. A spokesman at the general yardmaster's office of the railroad said the explosion may have been caused by a chemical believed to be propylene which leaked from one of the tank cars being transferred in the yard. Extensively damaged at the yard were a maintenance shop built recently and the main office building, a four-floor structure. "We were lucky," Fire Commissioner Elmo Bush said. "There's no report of anybody being killed."

"It was like a tornado or a bombing," said Jimmie Lee Moore, 48, whose home near the train yard was damaged by the explosion at daybreak. Windows were shattered from stores along Collinsville Avenue, the city's main street through the downtown area about 20 blocks away. State and city police along with sheriff's officers from Madison and St. Clair counties combined to seal off the downtown area to prevent looting.

Anderson is presently chairman of the State Democratic party's subcommittee that is recommending changes in party rules to conform with national party guidelines, particularly for selecting delegates to the national convention in Miami

Lay Institute Is Scheduled

Monday at 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the First Baptist Church of Midland, an organizational meeting preparatory to the Midland Lay Institute for Evangelism Feb. 27 through March 4 will be held. W. O. (Bill) Menefee, Houston, will be director of the institute which composed of a five lectures and five seminars. The lectures are to explain how to experience a more meaningful Christian life, and the seminars for men, women and youth will deal with more effective communication with others on Christian life. Cost of the institute is $6 per person, and the institute will be conducted by the lay division of the Campus Crusade for Christ International. Midland pastors and laymen participating include J. Woodford Sale, chairman of the planning committee, and the Rev. Bill Cathey, pastor of Fannin Terrace Baptist Church, chairman of the pastor's committee.

For further information on the institute, contact Bob Todd, publicity director, telephone, 684-5761; or Sale, of the planning committee, telephone 683-1919.

No Charges Due In Disturbance

Two disturbances were investigated by police, one in which a knife was allegedly drawn, but no charges were filed in the matter. A knife was allegedly drawn by one of the parties in a disturbance at Hoppe Auto Sales at 5:12 p.m. which reportedly resulted from an argument concerning a debt. Police investigated and reported that the matter had been settled without injury, and that no charges would be filed.

Personality Vital In Contest Here

"We're looking for the natural little girl," said Mrs. R. V. Colclazer, who is helping to organize the Big Spring Little Miss Pageant to take place Feb. 12 in the Big Spring High School Auditorium.

Mrs. Colclazer said that some parents think their daughters would have to have some type of professional talent to enter the contest which is open to girls aged 3 to 16. "This is not true. We're more interested in the way the girls show their personality rather than any polished talents," said Mrs. Colclazer. Talent, looks and personality of all contestants will be the total basis for judging.

Rites Held For C. R. Lawdermilk

Chandos Richard Lawdermilk Sr., 69, died in a local hospital at 3:35 p.m. Friday following an extended illness. He was a meat cutter by trade. Services were conducted at 4 p.m. Saturday at the Primitive Baptist Church with Elder B. R. Howze, pastor, officiating. He was assisted by the Rev. Jack Clinkscales, Westside Baptist minister. Burial was in the Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of River - Welch Funeral Home.

Born in Chickasha, Okla., Aug. 3, 1902, Lawdermilk had been a Big Spring resident since 1906. He was married to the former Hattie Rice, and he was a member of the Eagle Cove Baptist Church.

Surviving him are his wife; two sons, Richard Lawdermilk, Ballinger, and Dr. Bob Lawdermilk, Morton; three daughters, Miss Margaret L. Lawdermilk, Mrs. W. W. Lepard, both of Big Spring, and Mrs. Doug Smith, Garden City; 12 grandchildren; one great-grandchild; He also leaves one brother, N. L. Lawdermilk, Bowie; three

Sosa Funeral Is Held In El Paso

LINO C. SOSA

Funeral services for Lino C. Sosa, 42, a former resident of Big Spring, who died in Mohahans Jan. 15, were conducted in El Paso Thursday. He had lived in El Paso a number of years. Burial took place in the Fort Bliss National Cemetery with full military honors. He was a veteran of the Korean conflict. Sosa's survivors, in addition to his immediate family, included five sisters, among them Mrs. Vidala Dominguez, Mrs. Eva Sosa and Marie Munoz, all of Big Spring; and three brothers.

Mrs. Jackson's Mother Expires

Sarah Catherine Crouch, 78, died Friday after a three-year illness in Rusk. Mrs. Crouch is the mother of a Big Spring woman, Mrs. Essie Jackson. Services will be held this afternoon or Monday morning under the direction of the Cason and Monk Funeral Home in Nacogdoches with burial in Chireno Cemetery in Chireno. Mrs. Crouch was born Feb. 10, 1893, in Shelby County. She married Claude N. Crouch in November of 1914, and he preceded her in death. Survivors include Mrs. Jackson and three other daughters, three brothers, three sisters, two half-brothers, one half-sister, and 10 grandchildren.

THE WEEK

total of 934 dogs. That's nearly a thousand, even if you bark it real fast. A federal court decision striking down filing fees has created problems for party organizations, and particularly the Democrats. Because the Demo primaries have experienced turnouts comparable to general elections, manpower required is almost that of the general elections. But the cost must be borne by the party — which has historically passed it on to the candidates.

Our city was shocked by the hanging death of Steven Earl Knight, 20, outside a youth movement hostel. Found on the youth's person was a photograph (which we used) of a youth in unorthodox garb, including battered top hat. Officers took it to be his likeness, but the Acadie, University of Texas alumni magazine, has an identical picture on its current cover.

The Mother's March portion of the March of Dimes campaign brought in upwards of a thousand dollars more than a year ago, which is a big help. However, campaign leaders had hoped for twice that margin to meet growing demands for help in birth defects cases. You still have time to contribute one way or another to this cause.

This week brings up the biggest show of the year — the title always accorded Campus Revue CR-72 — sponsored by the band — is just about sold out for three nights, and to meet demands some tickets may be sold for dress rehearsal (press night). Coming next will be the Choir production, the Little Miss contest Feb. 12

Crime figures for our city showed an 8.2 per cent gain in 1971 over the previous year. Among contributing factors was a shocking jump in murders, a big jump in robberies, also in burglaries. Police have set sights on reversing the trend.

Ron Mercer, new Chamber of Commerce manager, is now on the ground. He has his hands full for a few weeks — what with shaping a 1972 budget, committee structure, and then the annual banquet just a week away on Feb. 2.

Heritage Museum trustees paid a fine tribute to Jerry Worthy last week at the annual meeting, not only presenting him a handsome plaque as the first president, but a resolution commending him for "tireless and selfless service" which helped in a large league to create a solid foundation upon which the Heritage Museum can grow." In other words, he got it off to a great start. Mrs. Clyde Angel now takes over for this year.

There's some good news coming soon. Paul D. Meek is having a luncheon Feb. 2, ostensibly to announce a major expansion at the Big Spring

R. D. Buchanan Death Victim

COLORADO CITY — Roy D. Buchanan, 86, died at 4 a.m. Saturday in Root Memorial Hospital following a two-weeks' illness. Funeral services will be today at 2:30 p.m. in Kiker-Rains-Seale Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Billy Wilkinson, pastor of First United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Colorado City Cemetery.

Mr. Buchanan was born Nov. 16, 1885 in Cleburne, Tex. He moved to Mitchell County with his parents when he was five years old. His parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Buchanan. Mr. Buchanan graduated from Colorado City High School and the University of Texas. He was a Mitchell County surveyor for many years, and was a member of First United Methodist Church.

In 1917, Mr. Buchanan helped to survey for railroads in western Mexico, and in 1927, he was invited by the Russian government, along with other American engineers, to select sites along rivers for Russian power projects. For a number of years, he lived in Dutch Guana, and he worked for an engineer for American Aluminum Co.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. Angelina Hammock, Abilene, Mrs. Ruth Major and Katherine Buchanan, both of Colorado City; one grand niece and one grand nephew.

Commission Will Study Position

Members of the Howard County Fire Department Committee will report to county commissioners Monday on their discussion concerning fire marshal-like duties to be performed by one of the deputies in the Howard County Sheriff's department.

Deputy Sheriff Bill Chadwell, a former police chief and who has had some experience as a fire marshal, was the man suggested for the job by Sheriff A. N. Standard. Deputy Chadwell currently is night deputy on the sheriff's staff, and has not accepted the new duties definitely.

Other items on the agenda for Monday include a discussion concerning new asphalt topping for the Howard County Airport and a meeting at 9 a.m. with Marvin Hanson, acting road and bridge administrator.

Fire Units Sent To Grass Blaze

City fire trucks were dispatched to a grassfire and a burning auto over the weekend. Fire units were needed at a grassfire at 3:03 p.m. Saturday at 711 N. San Antonio and at 7:37 p.m. Friday for a burning car at the intersection of Second and Runnels. Both fires were reported quickly extinguished.

Spelling Bee Books Now Available At Newspaper

Books for the annual Howard County Spelling Bee are now available at the Herald. Cost for copies of the booklet — "Words of Champions" — is 20 cents per copy. This is the practice book issued by the National Spelling Bee, and the book from which words for the county and regional bee in Lubbock will be selected.

Last year Howard County furnished the regional champion in the person of Maridene Margolis, who also went on to capture 10th place in the national finals at Washington, D.C. Maridene was the second regional champion from Howard County, and her showing at the national was one of the highest ever for the 19th Region.

Accompanying her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Margolis, and other members of the family to Washington, Maridene got to meet such personalities as the First Lady, Mrs. Richard Nixon, Cong. George Mahon, Cong. Omar Burleson, during a week of touring the nations capital.

The Spelling Bee is open to all schools, public and private, in Howard County. Any boy or girl who has not passed beyond the eighth grade, or who has not reached his or her 16th birthday by the time of the county finals (which will be held either the last week in March or the first in April) is eligible to participate.

Each school will name its classroom and then its school champions, the latter to be finalists in the county Spelling Bee. Judges decisions within the schools are final in the selection of school champions and alternates. County judges' decisions are final for the county Spelling Bee.

Anyone may purchase a book at the Herald, but for most Big Spring schools, the books will be made available in the different schools for purchase.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is forecast today for the Northeast. Snow will fall from the northern Great Plains to the Rockies. Showers are slated for the Pacific Northwest. It will be colder in the Midwest and milder in the southern half of the nation.

GOOD LUCK TO A CHAMP—Maridene Margolis, Howard County's champion speller in 1971, and also the Region 19 champion, was wished good luck by Rep. George Mahon and Rep. Omar Burleson in Washington, D.C. last summer. Evidently it worked; Maridene was 10th out of 77 national finalists. The 1972 Spelling Bee books are now available at The Herald.

Unusual Epitaphs Mark Graves Of Movie Stars

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Swashbuckler-lover Errol Flynn sleeps in an unmarked grave. For 12 years Ethel Barrymore, queen of the theater's royal family, has lain in an unmarked crypt, apart from her brothers John and Lionel.

Clara Bow's epitaph recalls her reign as the silent screen's sex goddess: "Hollywood's 'It' Girl."

A half-lifesize bronze figure of Al Jolson, in smiling, "Mammy" singing pose, kneels beside a 30-foot marble tower that shelters his sarcophagus.

But such oddities and stand-out memorials are exceptions. Most stars rest under simple epitaphs.

Names on theaters in blazing lights are replaced now by modest marquees consisting most often of just names and dates cast in bronze or engraved on marble:

"Marilyn Monroe, 1926-1962"

"Nelson Eddy, June 29, 1901-March 6, 1967"

"Clifton Webb, 1889-1966"

"Nat Cole, 1919-1965"

FIELDS INQUIRY

A somber, seven-cemetery survey of 76 resting places, to determine stars' final billings, was suggested by a reader's query concerning W. C. Fields.

The comedian was said to have once quipped that his marker would read, "On the whole, I'd rather be here than in Philadelphia." Does it? No.

A brass plate on marble, in a wall of many niches containing ashes at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, reads merely, "W. C. Fields, 1880-1946."

The survey showed that occasional epitaph embellishment is more often familiar than theatrical:

"Alan Ladd, 1913-1964, Beloved Husband and Father."

"John Hodiak, 1914-1955, Loving Father, Son, Brother"

"Beloved Husband-Father-Grandfather, Eddie Cantor, 1892-1964."

Only an informed fan would know that "Louis Francis Cristillo, 1906-1959, Beloved Husband and Father," was comedian Lou Costello.

A Forest Lawn source says the cemetery doesn't know why Errol Flynn's grave is unmarked among the 200,000 graves on its 317 acres in suburban Glendale.

But a veteran publicist friend of Flynn's says, "My guess is that he just didn't care about any monuments. He'd have said, 'When you live you live, and when you're dead you're dead. And who cares?'"

The Barrymores are entombed in the Catholic Calvary Cemetery's mausoleum on Los Angeles' east side. At floor level adjoining the chapel is "John Barrymore, 1942" — just the year of his death — and next above "Lionel Barrymore," with no dates. A cemetery counselor speculates they were "sensitive about their ages."

John, the suave "Great Profile," died at 60. Gruff Lionel died in 1954 at 76. To his left is "Irene Fenwick Barrymore, Beloved Wife of Lionel Barrymore." The actress had preceded him in death by 18 years.

UNMARKED FACE

A guide leads the way through the chapel, then leftward down a hall where he points to the unmarked marble face of an apparently empty, floor-level crypt and says, "That's Ethel Barrymore."

Why no inscription? "I can't understand it," he says. "It could be temporary." Temporary? Regal Ethel, 79, born a year after Lionel and three years before John, died June 18, 1959.

Her son, Samuel Barrymore Colt, cleared up the mystery. Colt, who has done some movie acting but said he is now retired, explained why Ethel is entombed separately from John and Lionel: "Whoever held the crypt next to the brothers asked some outrageous price we couldn't afford," he said.

RELEASED—

Boston community leader Malik Makim was released from Massachusetts Correctional Institution in Norfolk Thursday night when Massachusetts State Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn's office failed to establish that he is the same person who is wanted in St. Louis, Missouri, to face charges of rape, armed robbery, attempted murder and parole violation. A writ of habeas corpus was issued in Suffolk Superior Court freeing Makim, 37, whose real name is Albert L. Bradford.

Short Courses Started At HC

Four community service short courses have been started at Howard County Junior College, and a fifth likely will be launched Monday evening. So far 63 individuals have signed, and a sizable number is expected for the fifth class — this one in poodle grooming.

Dr. Charles Hays, in charge of the program, reported the enrollment as follows: Income tax information (to aid in filing returns), 13; grocery and discount store checking, 13; flower arranging, 19; conversational Spanish, 18. There are two more sessions on the income tax short course Monday and Tuesday from 7-9 p.m. at the adult education building (the old SUB).

There are five more sessions for the grocery checking course which meets each Thursday from 7-9 p.m. The next meeting of the flower arranging course is Tuesday from 7-9 p.m. and for conversational Spanish the next 14 weeks Monday evenings.

The poodle grooming course will be in the Practical Arts building, Room 109; others are in the adult education building, and in most instances enrollments are continuing.

In February, said Dr. Hays, short courses will be offered in woodwork; in crafts (foil, decoupage, toile painting); bookkeeping; and fundamentals of insurance (basin informational course for laymen). Information may be had from Dr. Hays at the college.

State Parks Bond Program Not Working Due To Market

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas history lovers urged the Parks and Wildlife Commission Friday to save the state's historical sites before they are destroyed.

She said the commission should turn to a tax set up by the 1971 legislature. It specifies that a one cent per pack cigarette tax shall go to a parks fund which may be used to acquire, plan and develop state parks and historic sites.

She said the state comptroller has estimated the fund will have $25 million by August, 1973, and by spending about $7 million "an impressive number of sites reflecting all phases of Texas history could be held in trust for future generations."

Mrs. Wilson said the survey committee favored acquiring and preserving a large number of historic and archeological sites at once rather than fully developing only a few of them.

Development, she said, does not include the "Disneyland treatment" when an historical site is "pretified and interpreted" past the point of recognition.

Mrs. Wilson said the survey committee objects to "acres of asphalt adjoining a tiny cluster of log cabins, or a multi-media side show" plugged into a simple adobe house."

She said the survey committee's final version of a state reservation plan will be ready in December.

Couple Find They Prefer Life In Remote Country

ON THE YUKON RIVER, Alaska (AP) — Mike and Sue Holland live in a log cabin deep in the Alaskan wilderness, where summer chickadees sing but winter shivers to 60 below and snuffs the sun after only three hours.

They chose to live there, because they like it.

And they say that, barring disaster, they plan to stay the rest of their lives.

Mike, 29, came to Alaska on a whim nine years ago. He had finished his Army duty and was waiting in line to buy a ticket home to Alabama when he saw a poster saying "Come to Alaska." So he changed lines and went.

He later met Sue, 21, near Fairbanks while he held a tourist job. She was a tourist looking over this frontier land far from her Havertown, Pa., home.

They married, and Mike, who prefers to stay away from towns and people, took her to the cabin which had been his home for five years.

They live 150 miles north of Fairbanks, their only touch with civilization being visits by a bush pilot who flies in supplies twice each winter.

Their cabin, 16-by-29-feet with moss stuffed between the spruce logs to keep out leaks and drafts, was built years ago by a Russian trapper.

There is no electricity, no plumbing. The Hollands burn candles for light, wood for heat and cooking. Mike fells the trees and brings the logs to the cabin; Sue cuts and splits them into smaller pieces.

Their main foods are moose meat, canned vegetables and instant potatoes. Their main source of income is Mike's trapping, about 10 miles long.

During the long hours of mid-winter darkness, the Hollands read, play chess and do such chores as sharpening tools, stretching pets, building furniture and washing clothes on a tub board in a small tub.

Mike shoots their winter's supply of meat in the fall. He cuts the carcass into five main parts, then sets them aside in a log cache to freeze. When they need meat, he cuts off a couple of steaks with the wood saw, brings them into the cabin and hangs them to thaw near the roof.

The Hollands supplement the moose meat diet with lynx meat, which both say is their favorite.

Mike checks his trapline frequently. As spring comes, the traps freeze open, failing to snap even when an animal steps on the baited trigger. That means running them twice a day, once in the morning and again after sunset to free any traps locked in refrozen ice after the sun's thawing.

Jaycees Occupying New Quarters

Formally settled in their new home now, the Big Spring Jaycees can lean back and breathe a sigh of relief, and be quite proud of their modern new office.

Formal opening of the office was made at 12:45 p.m. Friday, as Mayor J. Arnold Marshall opened a bottle of the "bubbly" and formally spewed the Jaycee office into existence.

Not only was the office honored by the presence of the one dignitary, members of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors Club were there as well. Also approximately 200 other visitors paid visits to the building during the day between 11:30 a.m. and 2 p.m.

The new office, in the Homan Building, is located at 210 W. Third Street, directly across from the new Chamber of Commerce office.

Rejuvenation of the building started in June of 1971. Jaycees combined approximately 300 man hours and $500 in finishing touches, which resulted in the modern new home for the organization.

DONATIONS HELP
Also various donations from local businesses, including polystyrene from Cosden Research and Development Lab and bulletin boards from GAMCO, were utilized in refurbishing the structure.

President of the organization, R. K. Taylor, thanked all who had a hand in refurbishing the building, and said that his main goal in taking office this year was to establish the facilities for the club.

Lenthy Agenda To Be Tackled

City commissioners will study a lengthy agenda in the regular session of the city commission Tuesday evening, but most of the items are of a routine nature.

One agenda item that might cause some smoke, and possibly some fire will be the Charter Action Committee request for an ordinance calling for a charter revision election in the city.

Other important items will be the second readings of the Texas Electric Service Co. six per cent rate increase ordinance and the appropriation ordinance and budget for fiscal year 1971-72.

Also Harry Nagel, city manager, will make a recommendation for revision of the existing personnel policy of the city of Big Spring.

Researcher Here Winds Up Survey

Richard Helbig, research associate for Sandoz Pharmaceuticals in Hanover, N.J., surveyed progress on a project in the alcoholic unit at Big Spring last week.

The company is supporting a study under the supervision of Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent, and Dr. Diana Funderburk, concerning the use of pharmaceuticals to be used in conjunction with other programs.

Evaluations are being run on the relative benefits of two well known drugs used in alcohol withdrawal. Some 50 residents of the unit are participating.

This is part of a continuing effort to improve the care and treatment of alcoholic patients, said Dr. Harrison. The study could have important implications on the expanded alcoholic rehabilitation program at the hospital.

SPEW IN?—Mayor J. Arnold Marshall and R. K. Taylor, Jaycee president, formally christen the new Jaycee office at 210 W. Third, by spewing a bottle of bubbly.

the organization's records in old houses and buildings, which meant from year to year with the changes in administration a lot of the records were lost or destroyed," said Ben Faulkner, regional director.

He said for that reason alone, the new Jaycee office is a necessity and a luxury.

The building which houses the office was built by J. H. Homan in 1928. The building consists of the entire southeast quarter of the 200 block between Second and Third streets.

GROCERY FIRST
A grocery store was the first business located in the portion which is now the Jaycee office.

However, the majority of the time since establishment of the building, Big Spring Building Supply Co. was located in the office space.

On the corner of Third and Scurry streets, there is a gasoline station which was one of the first in Big Spring, and which is a portion of the Homan building.

W. H. Homan, a retired railroad worker and father of J. H. Homan, worked at the station before the construction of the building. The structure was originally built with the intentions of adding three to four more floors on it, however the future plans never came to fruition.

"Everything that has been done on the office space is such an improvement. We hated to see the building unused," said Mrs. J. H. Homan Friday at the opening.

"The office is in use now, and we plan on it being the hub of civic activity in Big Spring in the future," said Taylor.

Horoscope Forecast

TODAY AND TOMORROW
—CARROL RIGHTER

SUNDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a chance to find the apparent you would like to have, in order to show special affection where it exists and to have, in order to show more affection where it does not exist. At the same time use care in any business arrangement you make. Avoid anything of a business nature that could result in mistakes.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Don't do anything that will let an associate concentrate on gaining a personal aim that means much to you. Show affection for those you love, but do not waste time to spend too much money.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You are able to make yourself look charming today with little effort on your part and make a fine impression on others. Wait until next week to handle an important property affair.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can handle private matters well but do not relegate duties to others or you will be disappointed. Give moral support and encouragement to someone who is ill. Be kind.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A fine day to show devotion to good friends. Avoid anything of a business nature. You look charming but have a martyr complex. Get rid of it quickly.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A good day to concentrate on your true philosophy of life. Show that you are a very fine citizen. Not a good day for talks with important persons. Not the evening of a restful one.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can improve relationship with persons you like by being more considerate of them. Listen carefully to ideas of others. Make notes for further study. Show that you have ability.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Mate wants more attention and affection, so be sure to please without expecting favors in return. Be sure to pay your bills, but show leniency with those who owe you money.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can be charming with an associate and get much cooperation for a plan you have in mind. Don't be too forceful and you won't be disappointed. Relax tonight with loved one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Others have talents they do not know they have, and if you point them out you will be appreciated. Relax tonight with loved one. A little flattery can do wonders for all concerned.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can go out and have a delightful time socially or engage in other recreations since you are in a most happy mood. Do only the work that is necessary today. Relax tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Instead of wanting your own way, go along with ideas which you have and improve harmony of home. Keep your ideas to yourself for now. Your kids now have very practical ideas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You can discuss matters very well with associates provided you do not complain or argue. Study figures well before making any purchases. Don't be overly extravagant. Be wise.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Now you have a day and evening to clear your desk and surroundings for action by getting rid of longtime plans and working out whatever has been difficult for some time. Plan good. Not good for putting new arrangements in effect.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Show those who have control over you that you are sensible concerning practical monetary matters. Study financial reports that can be most helpful. Prove that you are a serious person.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Although you think you have too much work to do, if you make yourself useful you get good results plus the respect of those who count. Plan how to improve your social life, also. Weed out acquaintances who are not your type.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Plan how to get rid of problems in a wise fashion instead of just thinking they will go away by themselves. Show that you can be successful at philanthropic and social activities. Take your rightful place in the sun.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Some kind of long standing can now give you the cooperation you need to make some personal wish come true. Avoid groups, though, who trouble might brew. Think constructively, wisely.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Get any government and civic affairs handled satisfactorily now and show you are one of the citizens. You have other work to do that is little fun, but dig in and get it done, behind you for once and for all. Relax happily tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Stumbling blocks crop up in that new project you have started that are giving you cold feet, but persevere and they are soon removed. The rest of the path is clear. Study small details thoroughly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Although you have much work to do, do not get upset because you think you cannot finish it all. Labor diligently and all works out fine. Try to please mate as much as possible.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You must carry through with promises you have made to associates today, so relax all else to the background. Do only what is important. Tonight handle that civic matter satisfactorily.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): If you handle your duties efficiently now, you gain the approval of higher-ups, as well as co-workers, so be of your best. Later be sure to take those health necessities that are so important. Don't drink tonight. Get to bed early.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You need to enjoy some amusements that were enjoyed in the past, so go back to those during spare time today. Give more attention to special talents you possess and you come out at the top of the heap. Show that you are sure of yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Get busy with duties; they seem somewhat difficult, but that is only because you have the wrong attitude. Change it. It is not wise to go off to other outlets now. Laugh at some silly remark which a family member may make. Don't use your temper.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): Routine work needs to be done with precision and speed, so stop procrastinating and get it all now. Show that you are cooperative. Listening to complaints of allies shows you what to do about them.

Enrollment Dips Below 2,000

For the first time this school year, senior high enrollment has dipped below 2,000, latest enrollment figures for Big Spring Independent School District show. The loss of 16 pupils from high school pulled the number to 1,997 and left secondary totals at 3,148.

Elementary enrollment eased off six, making 3,598.

Special education total of 265 was down one, making a loss of 13 for the week and a total of 7,011. This is 275 less than for the comparable time a year ago.

SAYS COACH DICK NOLAN OF PRO BOWL GAME

Specialty Teams Could Make Difference

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The National Football League All-Stars in Sunday's 22nd annual Pro Bowl abound with classy passers and 1,000-yard ground gainers.

But, said Coach Dick Nolan of San Francisco, head of the National Conference aggregation, watch out for kickoff and punt returns.

The nationally televised game—with Southern California blacked out—gets under way at 4:15 p.m. EST, in Memorial Coliseum.

Last year, in the first Pro

Bowl since the merger, Dallas' Mel Renfro broke the game open for the NFC with touch-down punt returns of 82 and 56 yards.

"Yes," said Nolan, "special teams could be the difference again."

RENFRO BACK

Renfro is back for his eighth Pro Bowl in as many NFL seasons, starting at free safety for the NFC, which turned away the American Conference 27-6 in 1971.

All 26 NFL coaches put great stock in special teams, but when selecting the two 40-man squads, only two players besides kickers and punters were chosen on the basis of their special team play during the season.

They are kick returners Mercury Morris of Miami for the AFC and Leslie Duncan of Washington for the NFC.

Winning shares are $2,000 and losers get $1,500 each.

Nolan and AFC coach Don McCafferty of Baltimore said the starting quarterbacks will be Roger Staubach of Dallas for the AFC and Bob Griese of Miami for the AFC, who opposed each other in the Super Bowl.

Nolan said he decided to go with Staubach because he is a co-captain; McCafferty said he flipped a coin over Kansas City's Len Dawson, who is a co-captain.

OTHERS TO PLAY

Both coaches said, however, that quarterbacks Greg Landry of Detroit for the AFC and Dawson will play about half the game.

The 36-year-old Dawson, a 15-year pro, is the game's oldest all-star and he has said this "possibly" will be his last professional game. Griese and Dawson both played at Purdue, although a decade apart.

Staubach, a 29-year-old three-year pro after serving four years in the Navy, led Dallas to the 34-3 Super Bowl championship over Miami after gaining the starting assignment during 1971. But Coach Tom Landry of Dallas insisted on calling the Cowboys' plays from the bench.

Nolan said he will let Staubach and Greg Landry call most of the plays.

The NFC quarterbacks, particularly Landry, are known for their ability to run the football as well as throw it. But both hope to take advantage of premier running backs.

OWENS TO START

Starting for the AFC are Steve Owens of Detroit, who gained 1,035 yards, and Larry Brown of Washington, 948. Also available is John Brockington of Green Bay, 1,105.

The AFC's starting runners are Larry Csonka of Miami, 1,051, and Leroy Kelly of Cleveland, 865. Denver's Floyd Little, who led all NFL rushers with 1,133 yards, also will play.

Both defenses, loaded with the likes of Allen Page of Minnesota for the AFC and Bubba Smith of Baltimore for the AFC, will be tough to run or pass against.

That leaves special teams that include kickers Jan Stenerud of Kansas City for the AFC and Curt Knight of Washington for the NFC.

Bob Nichols Low In Tucson Play

SOMEbody UP THERE LIKES ME — Bobby Nichols looks up in thanks after sinking a 30-foot putt for his third birdie in a row during the third round of the Dean Martin Tucson Open on Saturday. Nichols took over the lead from George Archer toward the end of the day's play.

Long Beach Winner Over Loyola Quint

CHICAGO (AP) — With four players hitting in double figures, led by Ed Ratleff with 22 points, fourth-ranked Long Beach State breezed to its 15th basketball victory in 16 starts by defeating Loyola of Chicago 79-58 Saturday in the opener of a Chicago Stadium doubleheader.

In the second game, Iowa led all the way to upset fifth-ranked South Carolina 91-85.

Long Beach's fluid 49ers took command early by rolling up a 20-7 lead, as the Ramblers went without a basket for 2½ minutes. Loyola, 7-7, never recovered after that.

A spurt by Long Beach made the score 54-33 when Loyola failed to hit from the field in four minutes; and, with 10 minutes left in the game, the 49ers drew away 57-44 and ballooned that to 73-56 with five minutes left to go.

Nate Stephens netted 16 points, Chuck Terry 15 and Bob Lynn 11 in gearing the 49ers balanced attack.

Nate Hayes topped Loyola with 23 points.

Porkers Hurry Past Aggies

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Martin Terry scored 45 points to set a school record and lead the Arkansas Razorbacks to a 100-89 Southwest Conference basketball victory over Texas A&M Saturday afternoon.

Terry hit 12 field goals and connected on 22 of 24 free shots to take scoring honors. He scored 23 points in each half.

Despite Terry's high scoring, the game remained close until the final four minutes when he hit two free throws to break an 89-89 tie. The Porkers widened the lead and never trailed after that.

Wayne Howard paced the Aggies with 25 points followed by Jeff Overhouse and Mario Brown with 18 each.

Vernon and Murphy added 25 for Arkansas. Both teams are now 1-1 in conference play.

Prince Frib Race Choice

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — Prince Frib, one of the top handicap horses in the Southwest last year, makes his spring debut in today's featured Ho Jo Farm Purse at Sunland Park.

But the rags-to-riches gelding owned by Eddie Bruner of Carmen, Okla., won't find easy pickings in the six-furlong run for a prize of $2,000. The impressive 10-head lineup includes such tough customers as Ataboy Junior, Stubby's Kid, Gogo Duke and Bottle A.

Twelve races are on tap, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Prince Frib, slated to be handled by Mike Hidingar at 115 pounds, started 1971 around the lower claiming ranks, and was eventually acquired by Bruner on a modest five-grand claim.

Since then, the stout-hearted stretch runner has caught fire. While en route to the top of the Southwest handicap ranks, he earned just a shade under $23,000. His record includes upset victories in two major stakes: the $10,000-added Rocky Mountain Empire Handicap in Denver, and the $15,000-added New Mexico State Fair Handicap in Albuquerque.

Prince Frib has made only two Sunland Park appearances. He failed to get a share in the Fall Inaugural Handicap, then came back on Dec. 5 for the Herald-Post Handicap at a mile-and-sixteenth, turning on strong stretch power for a third-place finish at 7-1.

Iowa Upends Gamecocks

CHICAGO (AP) — Iowa led all the way with Rick Williams pouring in 40 points, and the Hawkeyes upset fifth-ranked South Carolina 91-85 Saturday after No. 4 Long Beach State ripped Loyola of Chicago 79-58 in a Chicago stadium basketball doubleheader.

The Gamecocks, sagging to a 10-3 mark, only twice came within one point of catching the Hawkeyes, 7-5.

After lagging 42-39 at half-time, South Carolina moved in at 56-55 on a jumper by Casey Manning and a minute later made it 58-57 on a shot by Danny Traylor.

Topping South Carolina was Kevin Joyce with 23 points and Tom Tiker with 18.

Poodle Owned By Canadian Declared 'Best Of Show'

Champion Tranchant Statesman, a miniature poodle owned by Beverly O'Toole, Vancouver, British Columbia, was named best-of-show Saturday at the Big Spring Kennel Club's dog show held in Hangar T-1 at Webb AFB.

Ch. Tranchant Statesman was also the winner in the non-sporting group.

Saturday's show was the first of five circuit shows to be held at Webb by the local Kennel Club. It was a combination obedience trial and dog show in which 934 dogs participated, according to Maj. Daniel Goodson, publicity chairman of the show.

Dog owners and trainers from all over the United States and Canada were on hand to show some of the finest dogs of the various breeds now being shown in American Kennel Club sanctioned shows.

According to Maj. Goodson, 100 of the 115 breeds recognized by the AKC were entered in the local show. The show was divided into six showing groups and five obedience classes.

Winners for each show group in addition to the best-of-show and non-sporting group winner are:

Champion Cheyenne Golden's Son of James, a golden retriever, sporting group winner owned by Cheyenne Golden Kennels of Wichita, Kan.; Champion Esquire's Sok-it-Tome, a long-haired Dachshund, hound group winner owned by Laura McCay, Elk Grove, Calif.; and Champion Val-Koa's Room, a German Shepherd, working group winner owned by D. William Anderson, Covina, Calif.

Sir Daniel Green, open B class winner, scored the highest points of all dogs entered in the obedience classes with a point total of 197½ out of a possible 200 points.

ROBINSON LOOKS OVER HIS NEW PLAYPEN — Frank Robinson, acquired during the winter by the Los Angeles Dodgers from the Baltimore Orioles, looks over Dodger Stadium while appearing in a television film on the 1972 team. Robinson, in a Dodger uniform for the first time, says he plans to shave off the beard before the start of the season.

Raiders Grab Lead In YMCA

The Raiders dumped the Buffaloes, 19-15 Saturday to grab first place from the idle Panthers in the YMCA grade school basketball league.

The Raiders who were tied with the Panthers last week, for first place, were led by Scotty Wilder who tossed in eight points. The Raiders padded their record to 3-0, while the Panthers remained at 2-0 since they didn't have a game this week.

The Rockets, who were idle last week, defeated and blasted past the Mustangs, 17-9. The Rockets are tied with the Panthers for second place with an identical 2-0 record.

Redskins over Bears, 18-16 (Wolfe with 8 points for the Redskins; Rice with 6 points for the Bears); Rockets over Mustangs, 17-9 (Tony with 4 for the Mustangs; Franks with 6 for the Rockets); Star over Bulldogs, 16-14 (Dunbar with 7 for the Stars; Wade and Scott with 4 apiece for the Bulldogs); Raiders over Buffaloes, 19-15 (Wilder with 8 points for the Raiders; Clarke with 6 points for the Buffaloes).

Game Lined Up

HOUSTON — Texas' two major league baseball teams — the Houston Astros and the new Texas Rangers — will meet for the first time ever on Thursday night, June 15 in the Astrodome, Astros general manager H. B. (Spec) Richardson and Rangers president Bob Short announced jointly. Game time will be 7:30 p.m.

Football Is Number One, But Still Trying Harder

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League has wheeled out some heavy artillery in the form of a Harris poll to underscore its exalted position on the American scene, pointing to ascendancy over major league baseball as the nation's No. 1 sport.

But the poll also underscores the fact that the general public has become increasingly aware of the vocal criticism of the sport by several former players—and that a significant segment of fans believes the critics are justified.

At the same time, the general public has been forming its own opinions, significant numbers taking a negative attitude toward pro football's commercialism, the number of injuries to players and the prevalence of field goal kicking.

The Harris poll, in which 1,614 people representing a cross-section of the nation's population were surveyed, was sponsored by the NFL and released at the time of the Super Bowl. It actually was conducted between Dec. 27 and Dec. 31, the peak point of the football season when baseball is pushed far into the background.

Even Commissioner Pete Rozelle, appearing at a press conference at the Super Bowl site, acknowledged that timing might be a factor in the results showing that football is followed by more people 18 years of age than any other sport in America.

According to the Harris poll, the top five are:

1. Football, followed by 51 per cent.
2. Super Bowl 20 per cent.
3. Basketball, 37 per cent.
4. Boxing, 23 per cent.
5. Bowling, 23 per cent.

When the same people were asked to name their favorite sport, football had an even wider margin. In response to that question, 29 per cent favored football and 21 per cent baseball. Basketball was a distant third at 9 per cent.

Oddly, however, baseball's World Series was named as the fans' No. 1 championship event. Asked which championship event they would most like to attend, the fans' top five were:

1. World Series, 23 per cent.
2. Super Bowl 22 per cent.
3. Kentucky Derby, 10 per cent.
4. Indianapolis 500, 10 per cent.
5. College bowl game, 8 per cent.

Criticism of pro football by such former players as Dave Meggsey and Bernie Parris has come to the attention of a substantial 47 per cent of the fans interviewed, largely through newspaper and television.

Of those aware of the criticism, 30 per cent agree with the criticism; 38 per cent disagree with the criticism, and 32 per cent are not sure.

Longhorn Netters Launch Monahans Competition

MONAHANS — Big Spring entries won three singles matches and as many doubles tests in girls' tennis competition with Monahans here Saturday.

In the boys' bracket, the Steers didn't fare as well, copying only one singles' match and two in doubles play.

The Big Spring team, coached by Novice Kniffen, faces a busy spring that includes appearances in tournaments at Lubbock, San Antonio, Snyder, Midland, Andrews, Seminole, Abilene, Amarillo and the district meet.

In addition, the Longhorns will be the host team in a Feb. 25-26 meet here.

Buckeyes Snatch Big Ten Victory

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Allan Hornyak fired in a season-high 36 points Saturday night, leading seventh-ranked Ohio State to its 13th straight Big Ten basketball victory 80-74 over Indiana.

Seven-foot Luke Witte contributed 21 points and 16 rebounds for the Buckeyes before fouling out with 27 seconds to play. The Buckeyes spurred to a 13-3 lead in the first five minutes and never trailed.

Hoist The Comfort Sail! New Line Of Boats Offered

By The Associated Press

Sailboat people are regarded as the best boating men and women around but now they apparently have learned something from those who guide power cruisers.

Some new type sailboats will be among the 500 craft on exhibit at the 62nd National Boat Show on four floors of the New York Coliseum for nine days, Jan. 22-30.

The new boats are for cruising enthusiasts who are willing to sacrifice speed for a few more comforts than on the traditional sailboats. This new breed of boat can be seen in several models under 40 feet.

They are sailing craft with double cabin designs with cockpit amidships and private stateroom aft. Forward cabins include either four or two berths with a convertible dinette making up the complement of six sleeping stations.

Features include wall-to-wall carpeting, shower facilities and enclosed companionways between cabins. Six-foot-five headroom makes for easy living.

"The new boatman is demanding comfort," says Jim Hunt, chairman of the American Sailing Council. "It is a spinoff from the power cruiser and houseboat market which continuously is upgrading its interior accommodations."

"These cruisers will make a lot of sailors very happy. And there are a lot more cruising enthusiasts than there are racers."

The largest sailboat in the show is a 390 double-cabin sloop spreading 633 square feet of sail. Selling price is $34,385. Don't be scared off. Available for $119 is a six-foot yacht tender of molded plastic. It weighs 55 pounds.

Largest boat is the Pacemaker 48-foot sportfisherman, a fiberglass sedan cruiser, a fibreglass sedan cruiser for about $98,000. It is fitted with the two gas turbine engines, the first for pleasure craft, each rated at 450-HP.

Most expensive boat in the show is $104,565. It's a 42-foot Hatteras sedan cruiser with three separate cabin areas and two diesel engines.

New outboard engines are drainless, preventing the discharge of unburned crankcase fuel into the water where people would like to swim and fish. Both Evinrude and Johnson are featuring this type of motor.

East And West Stars Collide

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The National Hockey League's expansion-laded West Division, flexing the added firepower of nine Chicago Black Hawk players, will try to make it two straight over their big brothers from the East in the league's Silver Anniversary All-Star game Tuesday night.

The switch of the Hawks from East to West led to a 2-1 victory for the newer division in last year's game. Both West goals were scored by Chicago players—Bobby Hull and Chico Maki.

Those two are back on this year's West team, along with seven teammates—goalie Tony Esposito, defenseman Keith Magnuson, Pat Stapleton and Bill White and forwards Pit Martin, Dennis Hull and Stan Mikita.

Minnesota, running second to the Hawks in the West Division race, placed four men on the team—goalie Gump Worsley, who at 42 is the oldest player in the game, defenseman Ted Harris and Doug Mohns and right winger Bill Goldsworthy.

Esposito will start in goal with Stapleton and White on defense, Bobby Hull, the lone unanimous choice on the team, at left wing, Mikita at center, and Goldsworthy on right wing. Goldsworthy is the only non-Chicago starter.

Also on the West roster are defenseman Carol Vadnais of California, centers Garry Unger of St. Louis and Bobby Clarke of Philadelphia, left wings Ross Lonsberry of Los Angeles and Greg Polis of Pittsburgh and right wing Simon Nolet of Philadelphia.

New York, Boston and Montreal dominate the East team with 14 of the 19 slots on the squad belonging to those three teams. There are six Rangers, four Bruins and four Canadiens.

The starters for the East will be Montreal goalie Ken Dryden, unanimous choice Robby Orr of Boston and Brad Park of New York on defense with center Phil Esposito of the Bruins, winger for left wing Vic Hadfield and right wing Ron Gilbert of New York.

The other New York players named were center John Tonello the NHL's scoring leader for the first half of the season, defenseman Brad Selinger and goalie Gilles Villeneuve. Besides Dryden, Montreal placed defenseman J.C. Tremblay, left wing Frank Mahovlich and right wing Vvan Cournoyer on the squad. Boston's contingent was completed by right wing John McKenzie and defenseman Dallas Smith.

MEETINGS UNDER WAY Winter Olympics Close At Hand

TOKYO (AP) — The International Olympic Committee opens a series of meetings Monday amid controversy over alleged professionalism and commercialism in amateur sports.

The decisions are likely to have a direct bearing on the 1972 Winter Games in Sapporo and perhaps on the entire Olympic structure.

Avery Brundage, 84-year-old president of the IOC, is expected to arrive Monday with the first crucial meeting scheduled for Wednesday, when the eligibility commission holds its session.

Then the scene shifts to Sapporo, 500 miles north of Tokyo for the Winter Olympics, Feb. 3-13. The general meetings open there Jan. 30 and continue until the start of the Games.

Brundage has said repeatedly that about 30-50 Alpine and Nordic skiers in his view were "out" of the games for alleged commercialism.

Marc Hodler, president of the International Ski Federation (FIS) countered by saying "if the differences with the IOC remain unbridgeable, world championships instead of Olympic competitions should be held at the Sapporo sites."

NIPS AT WORK
Tomoo Sato, secretary general of the Japanese organizing committee, said, "We have been preparing for Olympic Games, and not for world championships."

Hodler and Sato have expressed hope that a solution would be reached to keep skiing in the Olympics but they did not have the answer.

There are two possibilities—a compromise acceptable to all or a clear disavowal of Brundage by the IOC's plenary session.

There is even the possibility—although unlikely—that the Olympic Winter Games will be abolished altogether after the Sapporo Games or even that the Sapporo Games will be canceled.

HELP-P-I-N-G HAND — Atlanta Braves executive Donald Davidson caught in the Hank Aaron squeeze as he is helped from a table after posing for some pictures with Aaron. Both were honored Saturday night at the Houston Baseball Writers dinner. Aaron is receiving the Eddie Dyer Award as the slugger of the year and Davidson is being honored for his contribution to baseball.

Arkansas And SC Continue Series

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — University of Arkansas football Coach Frank Broyles and University of Southern California Coach John McKay announced Saturday that the football series between the two schools would be extended to the 1974 season.

Arkansas and Southern Cal open the season and series this Sept. 9 in Little Rock. The 1974 game will be played Sept. 14 at Little Rock. The two teams will play in Los Angeles in 1973.

Arkansas is a member of the Southwestern Conference. Southern Cal completes in the Pacific 8.

KEN LANCASTER

Lancaster Given Annual Whopper-Of-Year Award

Ken Lancaster, vice president of the Big Spring Bass Club, hooked a seven pound and 13 ounce bass last year which was the largest fish caught by any of the club members in 1971.

Lancaster received a trophy from the Bass Club Friday night for his catch at Oak Creek Lake.

Lancaster, who is also the club's tournament-director, announced a tournament at Amistad Lake, Jan. 29-30. A trophy will be given to the man who catches the largest fish and three prizes will be given to the top three catches. The entry fee is $3 for Sunday or $5 for both days.

The public is invited to participate in the tournament, join the club, or both. Contact Jerry Avery, club president, at 2717 Carol St.

The Bass Club usually has a monthly tournament. The club also shows action films on bass fishing at their monthly meetings.

The club has set a goal in their membership drive to tip the scales with 180 members. When the number is reached, the Garcia Manufacturing Company will give the club a trophy.

Phoenix Youth Sets Cycle Hop

HOUSTON (AP) — An Arizona teenager set an indoor motorcycle jump record last week in the Astrodome.

Gary Wells, 15, of Phoenix set the new high with a jump over 15 cars last Saturday night. The previous high jump was over 14 cars set last year in the Astrodome by Evel Knievel.

Young Wells tied Knievel's mark of 14 cars the night before and then broke it the next night.

A spokesman for the young rider said Well's final leap would have cleared two more cars.

'72 Astros Will Be Rough And Tough

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros Manager Harry "The Hat" Walker says the 1972 Houston Astros will be the best ever and his players don't need a great year to be a contender—an average performance by all hands will do it.

"I'm more excited about this spring training than ever before and I've been in baseball 35 years," Walker said.

"This club has a great future," Walker said. "We feel we can put together one of the best teams in baseball. My players won't need a great year. We just need an average year."

An impressive off-season trading performance by Astros General Manager Spec Richardson is one reason for Walker's optimism.

Richardson got three pitchers, Jim York and Lance Clemens from Kansas City and Dave Roberts from San Diego in one of the most-talked about coups of the trading season.

Richardson also got Lee May and Tommy Helms from Cincinnati to bolster the Astros infield. The Astros' defense was the second best in the National League last year and could be better this season.

Roberts is expected to add to the Astro pitching staff. Roberts, Don Wilson and Ken Forsch—expected to be part of the 1972 rotation—were second, third and fourth in the NL in earned run averages in 1971.

And Walker also said he expects outfielder Jim Wynn, the Toy Cannon who slumped badly last season, to rebound. "I really expect him to hit 25 to 35 home runs this season," Walker said.

"I think this spring will really be something to look forward to," Walker said. "This is a club with a future. It can play together four or five more years."

Walker said Wilson, voted the Astros' most valuable player for his 16 victories last season, is just coming into his prime as a pitcher.

"Last year, I thought he was one of the best pitchers in the league," Walker said. "The next five or six years will be his best in baseball."

There are two Gold Glove award winners in the Astro infield—Helms at second and Doug Rader at third. Shortstop Roger Mertzger committed only 17 errors last season and May, who will play first base, committed only eight errors in 143 games last season.

The Astros pitchers and catchers report to spring training in Florida Feb. 25 with the entire squad due Feb. 29.

Rice Prexy Is Vet At Hiring Coaches

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice University President Dr. Norman Hackerman spends part of his time teaching freshman chemistry and hiring football coaches and it's difficult to say in which area he gets the most volatile reactions.

Hackerman undoubtedly has more experience than any other freshman chemistry instructor (or president) in America at hiring football coaches.

It was jokingly suggested to Hackerman that he might write a book on the techniques of hiring coaches after two head football coaches resigned during Hackerman's first 16 months as president.

Hackerman has an intense interest in athletics and when Bo Hagan resigned shortly after Hackerman became president, this freshman chemistry teacher undertook an ambitious experiment to get a "name" coach for Rice.

What came out of Hackerman's test tube was Bill Peterson, the highly respected coach at Florida State. But the experiment blew up in Hackerman's face when an unexpected catalyst, the Houston Oilers, hired Peterson away at the end of the 1971 season.

Hackerman went back to the lab and after an unsuccessful search for another big name coach, promoted Al Conover, an assistant under Peterson, to the head job.

Now Hackerman is watching the smoke clear from his latest hiring spree and maybe flinching a little, wondering what will happen next. But being the competitor he is, squash is his game. Hackerman has an optimistic view for Rice's athletic future.

He calls losing Peterson an interruption, not a setback. "How can anybody say that after we went to so much trouble to bring Mr. Peterson here, that when he leaves us after only one year, that we haven't had a setback," Hackerman said.

"I think while the interruption has inhibited us for a short time, the fact is the program was set in motion and the interest in our program has been rekindled."

Peterson didn't produce as many victories as his predecessor but he did bring an exciting offense and he did produce interest and Hackerman feels Conover may be just the man to carry on.

AWAY A LOT
"Coach Pete spent a lot of time off campus and didn't know as much about the campus at the end of the year as his assistant coaches, who didn't spend as much time off campus," Hackerman said.

"The assistant coaches got to know people on campus very well and Mr. Peterson got to know people in town very well," Hackerman said that Conover, who was the first assistant Peterson hired when he took the Rice job, had emersed himself in Rice.

"He has a good view of this institution," Hackerman said. "He understands it quite well, the outlook of various people and the spectrum of the institution. So I think the campus itself will be quite satisfied with these arrangements."

Andrews' Coach, Keeling, Leaves
ANDREWS — Jimmie Keeling, head football coach of Andrews High School, resigned here Friday to accept the same position at Coronado High School in Lubbock.

Keeling came to Andrews from Estacado High School in Lubbock. One of his teams at Estacado won the AAA state championship.

The Andrews Mustangs won the bi-district championship in 1971.

RICE'S DR. HOWARD HACKERMAN

Retaining head football coaches hasn't been Hackerman's only problem since that is out of balance is the attention that is paid to the athletic program.

"We really can't make ourselves a judge of what people should like. People have always been interested in what they're interested in. That's an individual freedom too."

Hackerman does believe an athletic program should pay for itself and said Rice's did as it deemphasized. There was criticism of Rice spending $300,000 to put an artificial surface in Rice Stadium.

Hackerman doesn't feel there is any organized group opposing athletics on the campus, but he has answers to the criticism. "I think I can justify its existence on campus as well as justifying extracurricular activities that has to do with drama to achieve stardom is experience and better control of his breaking stuff. We plucked a prize in this Dartmouth kid and if he doesn't develop to be a standout I'll be greatly disappointed. He came right off the campus in mid-season last year and in winning five and losing nine he showed me tremendous ability.

Among games Pete didn't win last year was his first one against Boston. He tired in the seventh inning and left with a 3-0 lead. He pitched nine shut-out innings against the Tigers and left with a scoreless tie. He lost a 2-0 game to Chicago and a 2-1 tussle to California.

Broberg pitched in 18 games as a raw rookie. He went nine innings seven times, was beaten by a home run in the ninth on another occasion. He'll be 22 years old in March.

Burroughs by no means has made our club, but this is the year he should jump forward and that's after only two full years in the minors. He has the power to be a drawing card as a home run hitter, but so far has been inclined to take too many strikes. When he swings he can make pitchers shudder. He is 21 years old.

A key to our club will be shortstop Jim Mason, 21 years old. I don't know whether he can make the grade this year due to limited experience, but he can do it all in the field and his hitting helped Denver win the American Association championship last year. If he doesn't hit well enough we'll go with Toby Harrah. Toby wasn't quite ready as a rookie last year, hitting 230, but he'll be better after a year of knowing what he's up against. He is 21 years old.

Outfielder Tom Grieve, 22, now has had enough minor league experience, plus a smattering of major league time, to

Bearkats Crush Water Valley

GARDEN CITY — The Garden City Bearkats surprised the Water Valley quintet in the first quarter and never trailed to win their third game this season, 82-46.

The Bearkats manhandled their opponents and grabbed a 21-5, first period lead. They built up their lead to a 48-18 bulge at halftime and held the Water Valley squad to only four points in the third quarter before the Garden City team started bringing in their substitutes.

The Bearkats are 1-4 in district action. They are 3-13 in season play. They meet Blackwell Tuesday at home.

The girl Bearkats dumped Water Valley, 73-38 as Lisa Hirt pumped in 26 points. Bobbie Glenn and Debbie Pierce poured in 17 apiece to add to the girls' fourth district victory.

Odessa Tips Big Spring In Overtime, 80-77

Big Spring stumbled in overtime here Friday night, losing to Odessa High, 80-77.

The Longhorns came within four seconds of victory in the regulation game. Larry Shields hit one from out front with that much time remaining to send the contest into overtime.

The Steers' chances for victory diminished when 6-6½ Robert Wallace fouled with 3:39 left in the regulation game. Wallace, who was doing a job of fighting for the caroms, scored 20 points before he departed.

The defeat was the four in conference play for Big Spring, compared to two wins. Odessa is 4-2.

The two referees in the game, Edsel Buchanan and Harmon King, imported out of Lubbock, AWARDS WINNERS—George Robertson, center, local youth chairman for the Muscular Dystrophy chapter, rewards dystrophy bowling tournament winners, Anna Huante and R. M. Ringener.

In the three-minute overtime, Big Spring tied the score a couple of times but could never go ahead. Stan Wilkerson gave the visitors a lead with a two-pointer but Randle tied it by pushing in a followup shot.

With 54 seconds left, Leland Casey hit one for Odessa but David Carter deadlocked it with 41 seconds remaining. Casey hit another with 28 seconds to go. Then Wilkerson connected on two free shots to put the game out of reach.

Shields added another gratis pitch for Odessa because the invaders turned Randle loose for the final bucket.

Carl Campbell led Odessa with 22 points but four other players hit in double figures for the Hosses.

Johnny Tonn was poisonous for Big Spring, especially in the early going. He wound up with 14 points and was outstanding on the floor.

The Steers return to play Tuesday night, at which time they visit San Angelo.

In probably the highest scoring JV game ever played here, Big Spring creamed Odessa, 115-90. Neither team played any defense.

The local JVs had ten players get into the scoring act and five of them hit in double figures.

Ringener, Huante Claim Awards In Benefit Meet

J. M. Ringener and Anna Huante each bowled high series to win the Muscular Dystrophy Tournament held at the Bowl-A-Rama Jan. 10 through 14.

George Robertson, 13, youth chairman of the local chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Organization, presented each of the winners with an $18.50 check.

The tournament was conducted during league play at the Bowl-A-Rama, and the local Muscular Dystrophy Chapter netted $149 in profit from the project.

The chapter is a part of the Midland Area Muscular Dystrophy Organization. It was moved here from Midland, because chapter officers felt more money could be made in Big Spring than in Midland.

President of the chapter is Larry Anderson and Jane Ray is secretary. The next meeting of the chapter will be held Feb. 3.

Goodwill Trip Set For Team

HOUSTON — The Houston Astros begin a three-week goodwill caravan next Monday, Jan. 24 to visit 28 cities throughout the Southwest. It will be the most comprehensive tour the Astros ever have made.

Astros general manager H. B. (Spec) Richardson, manager Harry Walker, and executive assistant John Mullen will participate in segments of each tour.

The Astros' new left-hander Dave Roberts and pitcher Don Wilson will be joined by sportscaster Gene Elston, manager Walker, coach Buddy Hancken, Grady Hatton, traveling secretary Art Perkins and publicist Bobby Risinger on the first week, next Monday through Friday. They'll travel to Lake Charles, Lafayette, Baton Rouge, New Orleans, Beaumont, Port Arthur and Baytown.

Also, beginning Monday there'll be a special trip by Astros outfielders Jim Wynn and Norman Miller, with sportscaster Loel Passe, executive assistant John Mullen and Astros sales staffer Max Corell, to Jackson and Vicksburg, Miss., Monroe, La., and Ft. Dorado, Camden, Pine Bluff, Hot Springs and Little Rock, Ark.

Astros newcomers Lee May and Tommy Helms, plus Roberts and shortstop Roger Metzger will be on the second week of the tour, Monday, Jan. 31 through Feb. 4. They'll be joined by Elston, coach Salty Parker and Perkins. They'll appear in Shreveport, La., Longview, Tyler, Dallas, Killeen, Waco and Austin.

Dragons, Union Split Two Games

FLOWER GROVE — Flower Grove and Union Terry, split a district doubleheader here Thursday night.

Union's boys fought back to win, 65-58, leaving the Dragons with an 0-7 record, after Flower Grove's girls had prevailed, 53-27. The Flower Grove girls are 6-3 in conference.

Jimmy Ross had 29 points for the Flower Grove boys. Nancy Prybila tossed in 33 for the Flower Grove girls.

The Flower Grove teams return to play Tuesday night in Klondike.

CAN HIT LONG BALL Singleton Aiming For The Fences

Ken Singleton led the New York Mets in bases on balls last season, and now he hopes to lead them in home runs next season.

Singleton is the popular 6-foot-4 Mount Vernon, N.Y., switch hitter who in the final Shea Stadium game of the season blasted two home runs off Cardinal right hander Daryl Patterson. In 27 innings with St. Louis, Patterson gave up only one other homer.

The two round trippers gave Singleton, who turns 25 next June, 13 homers for the season. That's not many but it was a good number in view of Singleton's right field activity. He went to bat only 298 times in 115 games.

Fourteen homers each by Ed Kranepool, Tommy Agee and Cleon Jones tied for the Mets lead. Both Kranepool and Agee batted more than 400 times and Jones was up 965 times.

"If I get to play more, I'll probably do all right," says Singleton at the mention of home runs.

"Those five weeks I spent with Ralph Kiner at St. Petersburg, Fla., after the season ended figure to help me. Ralph tried to eliminate most of the early motion in my swing. He made me feel more compact."

The Mets have been looking for a home run hitter but Gen. Mgr. Bob Scheffing refused to be pressured at the recent winter meetings. Such names as Orlando Cepeda, Richie Allen and Ron Santo were being mentioned as likely sluggers to give the Mets more power to challenge Pittsburgh and St. Louis.

The Mets just couldn't make a trade for any of those sluggers. "We would have to give up too much," says Scheffing.

Ever since his freshman days at Hofstra University at Hempstead, N.Y., the Mets have been high on Singleton. They made him their No. 1 draft choice five years ago and brought him along slowly in the farm system.

Buffalo Girls Swamp foe

FORSAN — The girls basketball team at Forsan High School won their fifth 11-B District game without a loss by swamping Blackwell, 50-17 here Friday.

The girls team ran their streak to 74 consecutive district victories. The Forsan team lost to Garden City in 1964.

The Blackwell High School boys basketball team nipped the Forsan squad, 54-52. The Forsan Buffaloes led at all three spots, but were clipped in the last quarter when Blackwell out-scored them, 17-10.

The Forsan boys team is 9-9 overall and 2-3 in the district. The Forsan B team nipped the Blackwell quintet, 55-52. Gary Daugherty paced the Forsan unit with 20 points. Larry Adcock had 21 for the losers.

Bass Tourny Is Set At Amistad

Amistad, which means "friendship" in Spanish, is an immense lake containing an unbelievable number of bass. According to those in-the-know in the outdoor world, it could very well be the hottest bass lake in the nation this year.

February 26-27 should determine just how accurate this Association invades "Big Friendly" (that's what the natives call it), for the first tournament on their 1972 Tournament Tour.

The Big International event, which offers $15,000 in cash and merchandise awards, is sponsored jointly by Lone Star Brewing Company of San Antonio, Tex., in cooperation with the Del Rio Chamber of Commerce, Del Rio Bank and Trust, Rio Diablo Ranch Estates, Diablo East Marina, and Amistad Lodge. Lone Star has amassed a profound reputation for their participation in supporting the great outdoors in the Southwest; they sank barges in the Gulf of Mexico to form fishing reefs for saltwater fishermen; for the freshwater fishermen, they originally stocked the Guadalupe River with Rainbow Trout; AND they've been the major sponsor in an American Anglers Association National event each year for the past four years.

ODessa — Odessa Permian zoomed in front of San Angelo in the first quarter and held on to the advantage to defeat the visitors, 79-61 here Friday.

The Permian squad roared to a 24-11 first-period margin and then held their ground the next two quarters and then inched forward to the final victory bulge.

Charles Sweedburg paced the Odessa team with 23 points and Oscar Gonzales pumped in 20 points for San Angelo.

ADD AGATE
Ken played in 69 games with the Mets during the last half, hit five homers and batted .263. He hit only .245 last year but slugged .333.

The chances are he will become a regular because he hits well for average against southpaws and hits for good distance against right handers. After his instructional league lessons with former home run champion Kiner, Kenneth Wayne Singleton may be the home run hitter the Mets have been seeking.

He drew 61 walks last season and if Manager Gil Hodges decides to move him nearer the top in the batting order it might just help the Met attack.

CISCO TRIUMPHS
CISCO — Cisco College raced to a 100-60 victory over Southwestern Christian College of Terrell here Thursday night.

The Wranglers are now 1-2 in conference. Southwestern was making its first league start.

PROFITING BY PARODY

There's More Than Method In Comic Magazine, 'Mad'

NEW YORK (AP) — Right away you know you're headed for the Mad Magazine offices because the elevator stops at the 13th floor.

Then you practically crash into a life-sized cardboard cutout of Alfred E. Neuman in lederhosen, following which:

—You hear a whirring sound from the stockroom which turns out to be an artist extracting fresh carrot juice.

—You come to a poster on a door — Karl Marx wearing glasses — behind which sits a living human of similar appearance who is mountainous, rumpled and bearded, and hair down to his shoulders, and you learn that he is millionaire publisher William M. Gaines.

—You find the next cubicle decorated with a sampler saying "God Bless Our Fallout Shelter" embroidered by editor Al Feldstein's ex-mother-in-law. —You see two cartoonists huddled over their drawing boards gleefully turning every photograph in that day's New York Times into publisher Gaines.

WORK WITH PEN

"With a few strokes and lots of hair, you can do it to any face," chuckles Sergio Aragones, a mustached Spaniard, applying his felt-tip pen to Sen. James Buckley, Mrs. Juan Peron and a silver-plated samovar from Bloomingdale's.

Actually, the samovar works into an exceptionally fine likeness.

It is, as they say somewhere, just another day with the folks who put out Mad Magazine — that hardy collection of parody, cartoons and Alfred E. Neumania that has turned up in the secret pouch of a captured Viet Cong and the U.S. House of Representatives. Mamie Eisenhower subscribed for her grandson, David, when they lived in the White House. An anonymous donor recently subscribed for Kim Agnew. And a Mad paperback was seen in the hands of a Beatle in the film, "A Hard Day's Night."

From appearances, it's a cheerful, amusing, occasionally sophomoric and even sometimes dull, publication that Gaines calls a "grown-up comic book."

In fact, Mad Magazine is big business. Eight times a year, 1.8 million fans plunk down 40 cents apiece to buy it at the newsstand, while another 100,000 readers get it through the mail. What began as an experimental comic book nearly 20 years ago is today a 48-page magazine supplemented by annual specials, 34 paperbacks with sales figures in the millions, plus foreign translations in nine languages including an Anglicized version, to remove anything critical of the royal family.

It carries no advertising, because Gaines says he doesn't want to compromise his integrity. A wholly owned subsidiary of the giant Kenney Services, it shares its corporate parents with the Warner Brothers News Service which distributes Mad and Paperback Library recently acquired to print the Mad paperbacks.

UNLIKELY BLEND

The secret of this free-wheeling humor magazine that appeals mainly to teenagers but also to a lot of their parents is its unlikely blend of creativity and commerce.

To some, Mad is irrelevant because it takes no political stand; to others, that is its genius, because according to freelance writer Frank Jacobs, "Mad puts down anything it thinks is dumb."

Jacobs, a song-and-poem parodist who recently composed lyrics of "Dum Spiro" to the tune of "Tit Willow" to be sung by a cartooned President Nixon also says the magazine works because he and his colleagues are "channeled eccentrics."

Others attribute their success to the phenomenon of the closet-knit, slightly lunatic, Mad "family."

The full-time staff consists only of six: publisher Gaines, editor Feldstein, associate editors Nick Meglin and Jerry De Fuccio, art director John Putnam and production man Leonard Brenner. Plus three women who handle subscriptions.

Brenner, known simply as "Beard," is the one with four different editions of Volume A from encyclopedia companies because "that's the one they give away free." Meglin and De Fuccio were the only two people breaking up with laughter at the movie "Love Story" while everyone else was crying.

AGELESS HIPPIE

They say they saw the potential for parody. Putnam is an ageless hippie who builds model planes and boats and has been known to send the entire fleet off with firecrackers on the Fourth of July.

Most of the writing and cartooning comes from a stable of about 25 freelancers: professional writers and artists who command high fees in television, movies, advertising and magazines, but who have been with Mad for years and generally accord it their first loyalty.

Much of that loyalty comes from respect for the patriarch of the family: Bill Gaines. A good-natured, generous gentleman with a widespread reputation for fairness and honesty, Gaines, 49, runs his magazine with the kid gloves of trust. He occupies a modest office right alongside his staffers in their rather unexceptional building on Madison (the magazine spells it MADison Avenue).

"I have a lot of juvenile interests — one of which is King Kong," Gaines explained with a deep laugh.

As for the flying aircraft, he said, "I'm just interested in zeppelins. You might know, unfortunately there are no zeppelins left! They would have such a big future today in cruises or for shipping bulk. Like, say you wanted to ship eight billion Ping-Pong balls to Europe," he said, entirely serious.

OTHER LOVES

Gaines' other loves are equally unusual. He makes frequent trips to the island of Haiti but disapproves of its government. He went out of his way to buy 72 pairs of cotton socks for 59 cents a pair at a bargain store, but proudly paid $90 for one bottle of wine. He considers himself cheap, but eagerly pays $100 for a gourmet meal.

BIG SPRING PRIVATE MEETS GENERAL PFC Charles White, Gen. Westmoreland

Army Pvt. I.C. Charles R. White (right), son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie M. White, 406 Donley, Big Spring, meets Gen. William C. Westmoreland, chief of staff, U.S. Army, during the general's recent inspection tour of Ft. Riley, Kan.

Pfc. White is regularly assigned as a tracked vehicle driver in Company B, 1st Battalion, 18th Infantry. He was introduced to Gen. Westmoreland while serving as colonel's orderly of the 1st Battalion, an honor given for his soldierly appearance and outstanding performance of duties.

The 21-year-old soldier entered the Army in January, 1971, and completed basic training at Ft. Polk, La. He is a 1970 graduate of Eden (Tex.) High School.

FT. POLK, La. — Army Pvt. William E. Davis III, 20, whose parents live at 1418 Tucson, Big Spring, recently completed basic training at Fort Polk. Pfc. Davis is a 1969 graduate of St. John's Academy, Winfield, Kan., and a 1971 graduate of St. John's Junior College, Winfield, where he received an AA degree.

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and army history and traditions.

quarters in Taipei.

Another aid the guild is seeking is rescinding of the Federal Communications Commission ruling that erased a half-hour of prime time from television network schedules. The ruling cut down the number of series and hence deprived actors of work, Gavin said.

"I think there will be a terrific market for actors' services in the future—if we can survive the current difficulties," Gavin said. "One is in cassettes, the other is cable television, or some form of pay TV.

"We need a new kind of box office to replace the one we have lost at the theaters—only 13 million go to the movies now, compared to 90 million in the 1930s. Television came along, but its box office is the advertising dollar, and there is a ceiling on how much can be

Samples representing 28,000 bales of cotton were received from this area for the week ending Jan. 21, 1972, according to the USDA Consumer and Marketing Service. This brought the season total to 151,200 samples processed, and B. B. Manly Jr., officer-in-charge of the Abilene classing office, reported that receipts had dropped off some this week. Grades and micronaire readings continued low, as they have been most of this season. The season is around 75 per cent completed, Manly estimated.

Low middling light spotted was the predominant grade and accounted for 36 per cent of the classing. Strict low middling light spotted was next at 33 per cent. Low middling spotted accounted for 14 per cent. Fifty-seven per cent was reduced in grade because of bark content. Staple distributions showed that 64 per cent were staple 30; 22 per cent staple 29; and 11 per cent staple 31.

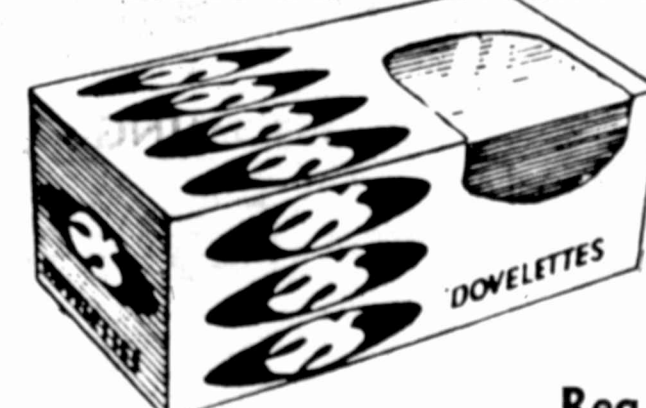

Mike readings continued low with 15 per cent in the premium 3.5-4.9 range. Twenty-six per cent of the samples miked 2.6 and lower; 28 per cent were 2.7-2.9; 23 per cent were 3.0-3.2; and 8 per cent miked in the 3.3-3.4 range.

Prices continued good with a range from 22 cents for the lowest to 32 cents for the better. Around 90 per cent of the current ginnings are selling for 28.00 to 30.00 cents per pound, said Manly.

Study Merger Of Two Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high-level Pentagon advisory committee is studying a plan to merge missile operations at Ft. Bliss and White Sands missile ranges, Congressman Richard White, D-Tex., disclosed Friday.

The plan would eliminate overlapping manpower and duplication at Ft. Bliss twin McGregor and Dena Ana ranges and at southern New Mexico's White Sands Missile Range, White said. A report is due this summer.

No Advice

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old conservative, responsible, open-minded guy. I am living away from home at college. My roommate (I'll call him Dave) and I have a problem. Recently, two very close friends of his (both girls) offered to share an apartment with us next year. Dave has known these girls since he was a little kid. They are like sisters to him. I believe his intentions are 100 per cent honorable.

A setup like this would give us great benefits. Dave and I wouldn't have to hassle with mending clothes, cooking, or housekeeping. Chris and Kathy (not their real names) would end up with a few extra bucks a month, plus they wouldn't have to worry about living alone, defenseless, like many girls do these days. At any rate, it would cost us all less than what it's costing us now. The only problem is that it is a bit extreme. Tell me, Abby, what would your advice be to your kid if he hit you with a proposition like this?

DEAR UNDECIDED AT UCSB: I'm highly unlikely that my "kid" will ever hit me with a proposition like that, but if he does I will let you know.

DEAR UNDECIDED: If at this stage of your life, you need help in recognizing the social boobytraps in premarital cohabitation, I doubt if you would take my advice seriously, so I'll withhold it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who has gone in for meditating. She meditates twice a day for 20 minutes, and when she does, she takes the telephone off the hook and forgets to put it back on. I get so angry when I call her and find her line "busy" for hours on end. I have even phoned her neighbor and asked her to please ring my friend's doorbell and tell her that her phone is off the hook.

I will donate $25 to your favorite charity if you publish this letter!

DEAR IRRITATED: Give the $25 to your local Mental Health Association. And try to control your irritation. It's bad for your blood pressure.

Shirley Jones, Husband Split

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Shirley Jones and her husband, actor Jack Cassidy, have agreed on a trial separation after 15 years of marriage. The actress, star of "The Partridge Family" television series, said Thursday that no formal legal action was planned. The couple were married in 1956. They have three sons.

Singer David Cassidy, also a "Partridge Family" star, is Cassidy's son by a previous marriage.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and my fiance (call him Bob) is 20. We have gone together off and on for four years and have been engaged for over a year. Bob is in the Navy and makes $400 a month. We want to get married, but my problem is my folks. They don't think we can make it on $400 a month. Bob is making more than my father. My Mom doesn't work, and we have four kids in our family, so I don't know how my folks figure, do

Varied Epilepsy

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you give me any information on "stomach epilepsy"? Not petit mal or gran mal epilepsy. — Mrs. J. B.

Epilepsy is a pretty complicated ailment and occurs in more varieties than folks suppose. Basically, of course, all types have in common the fact that convulsive seizures occur, but they may be frequent or not, severe or mild, brief or long.

Individuals subject to such seizures may have what is called an "epileptic equivalent," meaning that it is a seizure but not in the more usual form.

Among these is pain in the abdomen, referred to as "abdominal epilepsy," and I rather think that is what you call "stomach epilepsy." Obviously one must also consider other sources of abdominal pain — appendicitis, gall bladder trouble, pylorospasm, ulcer, kidney disorders, and so on.

But when the trouble is pinned down as abdominal epilepsy, it is usually controlled by the use of some of the various anti-convulsant drugs that are used for other forms of epilepsy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our 18-year-old niece has petit mal and is taking Dilantin and phenobarbital daily. She drinks at least two quarts of cola daily. We tell her this is bad for her, but she doesn't believe it. Will you please give your opinion? — Mrs. C.E.

Drinking two quarts of cola a day under the best of circumstances would be begging for some kind of trouble.

In your niece's case, it is even more unadvisable since cola contains caffeine which should be avoided in petit mal, a convulsive condition. Caffeine is a stimulant.

I suggest you have your niece's doctor deliver a few discreet words of advice to the young girl at the earliest convenience.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: The attached ad (offering a "do-it-yourself" Pap kit) was in the paper. I have an annual Pap test and can hardly imagine this as a "do-it-yourself" project. I intend to send for this kit to satisfy my curiosity." — Mrs. H.W.J.

Basically, a Pap test merely requires collecting a sample of moisture (and cells) from the cervix, and then examining them under a microscope, primarily to see whether cancer cells are present, the cervix being the most common area in which cancer attacks women. You'll doubtless find that the kit includes instructions on how to take the sample which then has to be sent or taken to a laboratory for examination.

The idea has been under consideration for a number of years, and has been tried out in some localities.

The advantage is the hope that even a do-it-yourself sample is better than none.

Disadvantages: the woman may not understand very accurately where the cervix is; may not get a good sample and then put too much dependence on a report that finds no cancer cells; the test can't be any better than the laboratory that examines the sample.

Finally, when a physician takes the sample, he also has an opportunity to note any other signs indicating that treatment of any kind is needed.

How useful the do-it-yourself kits may be, I am not prepared to answer, except that they are a second-best choice and not the best way.

Now Launches Mock Invasion

GEORGETOWN, Maine (AP) — The Navy began today its mock invasion of a stretch of Maine beach, a training exercise permitted only after a court skirmish with environmentalists.

As helicopters from a Navy task force hovered over them, some 900 Marines carrying snowshoes and battle packs hit the nearly snowless beach under leaden skies and in crisp, 15-degree weather.

The four-day winter amphibious assault exercise dubbed Operation Snowy Beach, came off only after conservationists' last-ditch efforts to block it failed.

On Friday, U.S. District Court Judge Edward T. Gignoux rejected a petition for an injunction against the exercise. Environmentalists had claimed the operation would upset the ecology of Reid State Park.

No demonstration against the operation was allowed at the mile-long landing site, but state police Lt. Allan Weeks said protesters would be permitted at the park's entrance later in the day.

The exercise, which involves 15,000 men, is designed to test equipment and train personnel in cold weather operations.

The landing called for three rifle companies and an artillery battery to be sent ashore in amphibious landing vehicles and helicopters from the carrier Guadalcanal.

Then, they move into the wooded interior of the park for a simulated combat exercise.

While the litigation was in progress, a task force of 33 ships from the U.S. Atlantic Fleet steamed toward the Maine coastline, accompanied by the Soviet trawler Nakhodka.

"There is normally a Soviet trawler off Norfolk, which will generally follow anything of interest that comes along," explained Vice Adm. Vincent P. DePois, commander of the 2nd Fleet.

DePois told a briefing session Friday aboard his flagship, the attack carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, that Snow Beach would be particularly valuable in the context of a growing threat to the northern flank of NATO, particularly the "sparsely populated and thinly defended" northern part of Norway.

Gov. Kenneth N. Curtis, asked Maine residents to view the military maneuver "in an unemotional manner and to exercise restraint."

Robber Admits To Other Jobs

MCLESTER, Okla. (AP) — A man who told authorities he had been involved in four West Coast bank robberies within two months was in the jail Saturday. He was arrested Friday shortly after $1,095 was taken from First National Bank and Trust Co.

Tommy Lee Irby Jr. of Oakland, Calif., told U.S. Magistrate Chal Wheeler he was wanted for the other robberies.

Irby was to have appeared Friday in Oakland for a hearing in connection with the robbery of three Oakland banks between November and December of 1971, federal sources confirmed.

The same but unnamed sources said Irby also claimed he was involved in a January robbery of the First Western Bank in Oakland but no court proceedings had been started against him.

An unarmed man demanded the banks money Friday from Mrs. Marilyn Alexander, a teller.

A nearby teller sounded a silent alarm. The man fled before police arrived, jumping into a taxicab.

Will Be Honored

WASHINGTON (AP) — Danny Murtagh, the recently retired manager of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, will be honored Jan. 31 by the Washington Heart Association as its "Heart Man of the Year."

Murtagh's career was twice interrupted by heart ailments before he led his team to victory in the 1971 World Series.

There's more to a Starcraft Motor Home than meets the eye!

One-piece, seamless, molded fiberglass body. Ribs of steel on 16-inch centers further reinforced with impact and roll bars. Full insulation for year-around comfort. The most precisely proportioned combination of engine, drive train, and chassis. A choice of interiors, each appointed and color coordinated to make the most fastidious homemaker green with envy.

Each and every Star Cruiser Motor Home is designed, engineered, and built to reflect Starcraft's more than 40 years experience making fiberglass and aluminum boats, campers, and travel trailers the standard of quality in their respective fields. Stop in soon and see for yourself in a test-drive of a Starcraft Motor Home we'll arrange to suit your convenience.

The quality construction illustrated by the see-thru view of the Star Cruiser 24 is common to all Star Cruiser Motor Homes.

Coming or going, you'll look great, feel great in a Starcraft Motor Home!

Unique Mission Program Begun

A unique effort in joint ministry is to be undertaken soon by the Airport Baptist Church, the Rev. Arthur Thomas, pastor, announced today.

The church, at 1208 Frazier, is starting a mission program within its church to serve the Mexican-American population in its general area of the city. Airport Church facilities will be used for the project.

There will be simultaneous services, both for Anglo and Spanish-speaking groups. While one group is holding worship services in the auditorium, the other will be having Sunday School in the educational building. Then, the role will be switched — the one having Sunday school first will then go to the auditorium for worship, and vice versa.

Vicente Aguilar, Big Spring, will be the preacher for the Spanish-language group and will serve as mission pastor. He is a member of Primera Iglesia Bautista, where Troy Smith is pastor. The Rev. Thomas will be pastor for the English speaking services.

There will be a coordinated mission program involving the Airport Baptist Church and Primera Iglesia Bautista, and the new mission group. A revival will precede the inauguration of the program, possibly the first week in

Mail Service Has Setback

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal appeals court has rejected a government request to immediately overturn a lower court ruling barring an immediate 24 per cent hike in third-class postal rates.

The action Friday by the U.S. Court of Appeals was the latest setback for the Postal Service in its efforts to hike third-class mail rates this year from 4.2 to 5 cents per piece.

The Postal Service originally planned a five-year increase, but then decided to take all of it immediately when Congress did not appropriate what it requested.

A U.S. District Court judge ruled last week on a request by direct mail advertisers that the service was not empowered by Congress to increase the rates so dramatically.

The Justice Department, acting on behalf of the Justice Postal Service, appealed the ruling and the appeals court said Friday the increase couldn't go into effect until at least Feb. 8 when briefs in the case will be heard.

Hong Kong-Type Flu Takes Nearly Thousand Lives

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The National Center for Disease Control says Hong Kong flu has claimed nearly a thousand lives this year, especially among the elderly and chronically ill.

In its report for the week ending Jan. 15, the center said Thursday 843 deaths were attributed to either influenza or pneumonia, 288 deaths higher than normal.

There were confirmed regional outbreaks of the flu in 15 states, isolated outbreaks in 14 states and respiratory illnesses not yet confirmed as the Hong Kong variety in 10 states, the report said.

The Hong Kong-type flu struck many areas of the United States in 1968-69, killing 27,900 persons. The CDC said most were elderly, the ones who suffer most from influenza. The center said widespread outbreaks have been reported this month in Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Nebraska, Delaware and Colorado.

Regional outbreaks have been reported in New York, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, Minnesota, Kansas, Iowa, South Dakota, Maryland, North Carolina, Texas, Louisiana, Idaho, Montana and Oregon.

Dioxide, Oxygen Is Used For Treatment

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A New York doctor and a Philadelphia hospital are conducting a pilot study for detoxifying heroin addicts with two common gases—carbon dioxide and pure oxygen.

An assistant district attorney who's been investigating the narcotics problem in the city says "the treatment has all the appearances of being a successful type of program."

Dr. Albert Laverne, a New York psychiatrist and pharmacologist, has set up a pilot program at Hahnemann Hospital here for 15 addicts and he and the hospital have applied for two grants to treat groups of 120 and 200 addicts in Philadelphia with CDY.

Most significant about the treatment is the change in the addict's personality during the detoxifying program.

"I haven't seen her this way in years," said the mother of a 24-year-old addict after nine days on the CDT program.

SMILING NOW
"This is the first time she's of the brain which are responsible for behavior," LaVerne said. He said that the gas also detoxifies the addict of heroin.

"It is now known exactly how it works, but clinically it has been observed to rapidly remove heroin from the body and brain tissues."

LaVerne said it has taken from 24 to 72 hours to detoxify each of the 15 addicts in the Hahnemann Hospital pilot program. All are hardcore addicts who have dropped out of several different drug programs.

In interviews with five of the addicts, all said they were extremely pleased with the CDT program. Two admitted trying heroin after they were detoxified "just to see what happened," but said they feel sick.

"The CDT makes me feel so good," said John, a 23-year-old athlete who had been on heroin for 2½ years and was taking 25 to 30 bags of heroin a day.

John has been on the CDT program since Dec. 1, has gained back about 30 pounds and is working out daily at the Philadelphia Athletic Club.

The use of carbon dioxide to treat psychoneurosis was devised by Prof. Lazlo Medun in the 1940s, but LaVerne developed the rapid coma technique. He started using it on psychiatric cases 10 years ago and five years later tried it on heroin addicts.

The technique involves giving the patient pure oxygen for about five minutes, followed by five to 20 breaths of a mixture of 75 per cent carbon dioxide and 25 per cent oxygen. The addict drops into a brief coma and quickly revives by himself.

He is then given pure air for a few minutes.

Opening lead: Five of ♠ North and South consumed several rounds of bidding to reach a four spade contract that was a distinct underdog. It should be pointed out on their behalf, however, that several of North's 11 points—in hearts and clubs—were a duplication of values. If North had the ace of clubs instead of the king-jack, for example, the odds would be considerably improved. Or, if South's doubleton were in clubs rather than hearts, he would stand a better chance.

West opened the five of hearts and East cashed the king and ace of that suit. From the bidding, it was apparent that declarer had at least 10 cards in spades and diamonds so that, if the defense were to garner a trick in clubs, it must be done at once. East accordingly shifted to a club and was duly rewarded for his analysis when West produced the ace. If East does not lead the suit, declarer can discard his one club on the queen of hearts.

With the defensive book in, West exited with a heart putting South in dummy. The latter's prospects apparently hinged on picking up both the king of diamonds and the queen of spades, which was something of a long shot. South observed a way to improve the odds slightly before he began his finessing chores.

On the queen of hearts, he discarded his ten of diamonds. He then cashed the king of clubs in order to dispose of the queen of diamonds. This elaborate unblocking was necessitated by the shortage of entries to dummy.

He was now ready to try the diamond finesse and the jack of that suit was put thru successfully. He cashed the king of spades next and finessed his jack on the return. When the jack held and East's queen fell under the ace on the next round, declarer was home.

Observe that, if South does not take both of his discards, choosing instead to repeat the diamond finesse, West will ruff in the second time to defeat the contract.

Fundamental Truths Of Christianity

THE NEW BIRTH
"... Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God." (John 3:5)

In all the Bible, there is no more interesting or meaningful passage of scripture than these words of the Lord, as He likens Christian conversion to a new birth and emphatically declares that no man come into His kingdom (or church) except he be born of water and of the Spirit. Jesus did not explain these words addressed to Nicodemus, but later, when he gave the great commission unto the apostles, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved..." (Mark 16:15, 16), these words on the new birth were no longer a mystery.

In the parable of the sower, Jesus teaches that the Word of God is the seed of the kingdom, germinating spiritual life in the hearts of men. James 1:18 declares we are begotten with the word of truth, and 1 Pet. 1:23, "Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God..." On the day of Pentecost, when the church was established, and later as the apostles went up and down the face of the earth preaching the gospel by the power of the Holy Spirit, this Spirit clothed in the word of God begat in the hearts of believers a divine new spiritual life and, with penitent hearts and confessing their faith in Christ, they were immediately baptized in water for the remission of sins. Emerging from the waters of baptism, this figure of the new birth was complete. Thus, they were made, not servants, but children of the spiritual family of God.

Acts of the Apostles contains a historical account of the establishment of the church and of a multitude of early conversions. Every conversion to Christ recorded in the Bible follows the order above set out: a process at once reasonable and understandable, revealing the handwork of God in the majesty of its simplicity. Now, with new hearts and a new life and the gift of the Holy Spirit which God has promised unto all baptized believers (Acts 2), these divinely transformed souls began their Christian pilgrimage. Surrounded by the finest fellowship of earth, they rejoiced "with gladness and singleness of heart, praising God, and having favor with all the people. And the Lord added to the church day by day those that were being saved."

LOOKING AHEAD — Big Spring High School's Class of '72 includes 48 students who earned their diplomas by mid-term and chose to graduate at that time. Actually, only 35 participated in commencement exercises held Thursday evening in the school auditorium; some others having already left for college campuses or jobs in other cities. S. M. Anderson, superintendent of schools, presided, with certification by John F. Smith, principal, and the graduates introduced by John M. Talmadge, assistant principal. Diplomas were presented by Roy E. Watkins, school board president, and Donald E. Crockett, assistant superintendent for business. Guest speaker was Dr. Charles Hays, administrative dean, Howard County Junior College.

Music, Dancing, Singing Of CR '72 Proclaims 'Love Is The Answer!'

"CR '68 is coming!" This slogan started something five years ago when it publicized the Big Spring High School Band's first "campus revue" which played a one-night stand.

Now, preparations for the fifth such production are in full swing, with "CR '72" scheduled to run four nights to the biggest paid attendance in its history.

The show will have its press night Tuesday (which has been opened to the public with general admission tickets being $2 on that night) and will then play Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights (Jan. 27-29) with the few remaining available tickets those nights being $4 each. Those desiring tickets are asked to call 267-7463, Ext. 70.

The band has put on memorable shows in the past, beginning with the "CR '68" which had as its theme, "The Wizard of Oz." The following year, "CR '69" was built around "The World of Disney"; opened three nights and highlighted hits from Walt Disney productions. The happy theme, "Carnival," was chosen for "CR '70," and the next year, "CR '71" reviewed "Those Were the Days."

All the shows have featured patriotic finales.

"Love is the Answer" is the timely theme of this year's show, and the full, two-hour production will feature acts from hit stage plays such as "Purlie," "Paint Your Wagon" and "Fiddler on the Roof."

The finale is described as "a social commentary as seen through the eyes of youth." The revue, which is being produced by the Big Spring Band Boosters Association, is being directed by Bill Bradley and Kyle Ellison, high school band directors; R. E. McKisicki and Jeff Whitmill, junior high school band directors; Mrs. Lynn Carr, choreographer; Mrs. Jean Hubbard, art work; and Todd Lane, staging and lighting. Lane, a resident of Lawton, Okla., has served in an advisory capacity for the revue since its inception, and has written the finale for every show.

Several special guests are expected to be in the audience next week. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and columnist Jean Adams have notified producers that they will attend the Thursday evening performance, and Gov. Preston Smith is expected to view the show Friday evening, with a party of eight. Also expected to attend are Dr. and Mrs. Frank Phillips of Austin. Dr. Phillips is in charge of planning programs for the Student Council state convention March 27-29 in Austin, where segments of "CR '72" will be performed.

The local high school holds the John Riherd and Ronnie Hise, presidency of the state Student Council organization.

Costumes for the revues have always been colorful and well-designed. Fabrics are purchased by the Band Boosters, L. Buntyn, Mrs. Luke Fortenberry, Mrs. Harold Pearce, responsible for making their costume or having it made. The Charles Wash, Bert Harris, costumes then become the property of the Band Boosters William McMillian, Carl Riherd, and are stored, often to be remodeled for further use.

Hervey Perry, Henry Thames Production assistants are and Lane.

1948 Hyperions Study Italian Renaissance

The Medici family of Florence was the subject of a program presented Thursday by Mrs. W. J. Kilpatrick to the 1948 Hyperion Club as a part of the club's continuing study of the Italian Renaissance. The luncheon meeting was held at Big Spring Country Club.

Mrs. Kilpatrick brought out that the names, Medici and Italian Renaissance are practically interchangeable, for when one thinks of the Italian Renaissance, the name, Medici, immediately comes to mind. Due to this family's promotion of letters and fine arts, their generosity in lending and giving money, their purchases of Greek and Latin manuscripts and the building of the first public library, the renaissance truly reached its zenith. They started as humble merchants and expanded into traders, bankers, philanthropists, rulers and soldiers. While there is no living issue on this earth, their greatness, as well as their evil deeds, shall never pass.

The origin of the name is a mystery; one thought being that they had originally joined a medical guild. All families at that time belonged to a guild.

The name seems to have appeared in Florentine chronicles as early as the close of the 12th century. In 1201, Charismatic de Medici was a member of the communal council. Averardo de Medici founded the family fortune and was chosen "gonfalonier" in 1314. The family came into prominence and greatness with Giovanni de Averardo, known as Vioanni di Bicci. He was born in 1360 and died in 1429.

The great empire of rulers, kings, queens, merchants, cardinals, popes and tyrants span nearly a 400-year period. The line died out in 1737 with the death of the last survivor who had become a dissolute and self-indulgent person.

There are generally considered to be two branches of the family — the elder and the younger. Giovanni di Bicci had two sons, Cosimo, whose heirs were considered the elder line, was born in 1389. The other son, Lorenzo, whose heirs are considered the younger line, was born in 1395.

Lorenzo's family did not gain prominence until the 16th century. His great-grandson emerged from obscurity to become the most valiant captain in the papal forces. His heirs ruled the first grand duchy of Tuscany, and for two centuries, ruled in Tuscany and Siena and territories. This branch also produced cardinals and rulers but none so eminent as Cosimo's side of the family.

Cosimo's branch of the family produced such great names as Lorenzo, the Magnificent, Pope Leo, the 10th and Clement, the 7th.

During a brief business session, the club contributed $30 to the YMCA for two youth memberships. Mrs. H. W. Smith was named to represent the club at the annual awards luncheon sponsored by the Volunteer Council of Big Spring State Hospital Jan. 27.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ross Boykin and Mrs. Zollie Boykin. The next club meeting will be Feb. 17 in the home of Mrs. Merle Stewart.

Mrs. T. Warren Feted At Shower

Mrs. Thomas Warren was honored at a surprise baby shower Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Gary Haines, 2505 Lynn, with Mrs. William May as cohostess.

The honoree was attired in a red, white and blue print dress fashioned with a scooped neckline. She was presented a corsage of pink and blue carnations.

The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth and centered with a miniature tree with a cradle and doll in it. The cake was decorated in a baby motif. Appointments were crystal.

Gold Star Group Meets Thursday

The Gold Star Mothers met Thursday morning in the home of Mrs. Rilla Webb, 1802 Wasson.

Mrs. Truett Thomas reported on a coffee which the group held recently for patients and personnel at the Veterans Administration Hospital. Mrs. Joe Jacobs read a poem, "What America Stands For."

The next meeting will be Feb. 17 in the home of Mrs. Herbert Smith, 901 Scurry.

Supper At Church Super At Church

The XYZ (Extra Years of Zest) Club met Thursday at the fellowship hall of Wesley United Methodist Church for a covered dish supper. Afterward, the 27 attending participated in games. Mrs. Mollie Crittenden was a guest. The next meeting will be Feb. 3 at the church.

Council On Aging Will Host Open Luncheon

The Howard County Council on Aging is sponsoring a covered dish luncheon and recreation day for senior citizens of Howard County. The luncheon will be on Wednesday, Feb. 2, at 12 o'clock noon at the Boys' Club building in Big Spring, 212 E. 3rd.

Area residents are invited to attend and bring their friends, both men and women. Those who can bring a dish are asked to do so, but it is not required.

After lunch there will be entertainment and those attending may play cards, dominoes or '42.

If planning to attend, residents are asked to call the County Extension Office, 267-8469, by Jan. 26 so the committee will know the approximate number to expect.

OWC Brunch Notes 'Chinese New Year'

It was a happy "Chinese New Year" at the January brunch members of Class 73-03. Mrs. Henry Rimmer, second vice president, made announcements, including that bridge and mah-jongg will be played and decorations. The women were attired in colorful kimono, and tables were accented with oriental flower arrangements flanked by fans. Some tables featured lacquered branches trimmed with Chinese symbols. A Chinese auction was held after the luncheon. Mrs. David Little, OWC president, presided, and the invocation was by Mrs. Robert Horwath. Mrs. Porter Medley, first vice president, introduced members that the project will be featured in an upcoming article in the Air Force magazine. Also, the OWC is still selling stationary and dress patterns. During the brunch, the OWC honorary president, Mrs. Malcolm Ryan, was introduced, along with Mrs. William King, base commander's wife, and Mrs. Charles Walker. Guests were Bonnie Carmanati, Rhonda Tompkins and Evalyn Norris. Newcomers introduced were Jane Hill, Jamie Caton and Tina Norelius. Women Discuss Credit Laws A discussion concerning present and pending legislation which effects credit and credit applications was led by Mrs. Noel Hull for Big Spring Credit Women Thursday at the Settles Hotel. Mrs. Hull presided at the luncheon meeting. The next one is scheduled at noon, Feb. 3 at the hotel.

Fondue Cookery Seen By Club Members

Only how Howard County home demonstration clubs were scheduled to meet during the past week; two of which heard programs on fondue cookery.

COLLEGE PARK CLUB
How to make fondue was demonstrated by Mrs. J. C. Williams and Mrs. Wayne Rock for College Park Home Demonstration Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Rock, 4007 Wasson.

The two women made quick cheese fondue, almond-cheese fondue and chocolate fondue for members to sample. Mrs. Williams said fondue should always be stirred with a wooden spoon and in a figure eight pattern.

Fondue means "melted cheese" in French, and Mrs. Rock said both the French and Swiss peoples claim to have originated fondue cookery. They suggested using French rye, whole wheat or pumpernickle bread for fondue dipping and said it should be cut in thick cubes.

Mrs. Williams presided and announced the annual HD arts and crafts exhibit is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., April 5 at Highland Center Mall.

The club will sponsor a film about new types of fabrics at 10 a.m., Jan. 25 at Howard County Library. The public is invited to attend, and there is no admission charge.

Miss Sherry Mullin, Howard County HD agent, will present the program at the next meeting, at 9:30 a.m., Feb. 1 in the home of Mrs. Gerald Miller, 606 Baylor.

ELBOW CLUB
Fondue cookery was discussed by Mrs. Stewart Anderson and Mrs. L. Z. Rhodes for members of Elbow Home Demonstration Club Thursday morning in the home of Mrs. B. N. Boroughs, 2903 Clanton.

The women prepared almond-cheese fondue and served it to members with fruit and bread squares. Guests were Mrs. Charles F. Camp, Mrs. Sarah Cunningham and Mrs. James L. Clemons of Maxwell AFB, Ala.

Mrs. Anderson presided, and Mrs. R. B. Covington Jr., exhibit chairman, announced the annual home demonstration club exhibit will be from 10 a.m. through 4 p.m., April 5 at Highland Center Mall.

The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., Feb. 3 in the home of Mrs. Covington, 2405 Carleton.

AIRPORT CLUB
Mrs. Lee Wright and Mrs. Henry Tubb were appointed to inquire about how members of Airport Home Demonstration Club could assist residents at Big Spring Nursing Inn, at a meeting Tuesday in Mrs. Tubb's home, 601 State.

Mrs. B. A. Bunn presided, and Mrs. Roy Spivey was named a delegate to the spring district meeting in Plainview March 28.

Mrs. Earl Grifford will be hostess for a 42 party at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 11 in her home at 2406 Carleton. The next regular meeting is at 1:30 p.m., Feb. 1 in the home of Mrs. Vern Vigar, 1608 Avion.

Devotion was by Mrs. Tubb, and Mrs. Vigar won the attendance prize.

LOMAX CLUB
Three kinds of fondue were made by Mrs. L. G. Adkins and Mrs. T. E. Newmann for members of Lomax Home Demonstration Club Thursday in the home of Mrs. Adkins, Lomax.

The women made two types of cheese fondue and a chocolate-peppermint fondue. All members and guests sampled the foods.

Mrs. Waymon Etchison presided, and members agreed to serve food at the annual hereford sale, the date to be announced.

Mrs. A. J. Stallings was a guest. The next meeting is at 2 p.m., Feb. 3 in the home of Mrs. David Roberts.

TO MARRY — Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Puteet of Cresson announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Nancy Jo, to Gary Edd Fish, son of Dr. and Mrs. John H. Fish, 907 Mountain Park Drive. The couple will be married June 10 in the Robert Carr Chapel, Texas Christian University.

Life Membership In Lions League

Mrs. Dan Conley was presented a life membership in the Texas Lions League for Crippled Children by members of Downtown Lions Auxiliary Wednesday in the home of Mrs. D. S. Riley, 505 Hillside.

Mrs. Jim Holmes, president, made the presentation. Mrs. Conley is a charter member of the auxiliary and served as its first president.

Mrs. Carl Hyde of Midland, a guest, showed slides of activities at the Lions Camp in Kerrville, where projects are established to help crippled or diabetic children and the blind.

Other guests were Mrs. Roy Minear of Midland and Mrs. Cecil Bridges of Stanton. Cohostess was Mrs. Perry Cotham.

Electric Blankets Demand Special Care In Laundering

By SHERRY MULLIN
County HD Agent

An electric blanket has many features in its favor. First and foremost, are its "sleep-ability" and "wash-ability." Because an automatic heating blanket gives uniform warmth to all the body's cold spots without the weight of piled-on coverings or the constriction of bed socks, it lulls the user into the bliss of a sound night's sleep. And how convenient to be able to launder it in an automatic washer or by hand. In fact, the dominant DON'T in electric blanket care is don't dry clean — because cleaning solvents can damage the insulating material which protects the wiring.

HOW TO WASH

Manufacturers contribute fast familiarity with a new automatic blanket by including specific directions on "how to" make the bed, regulate warmth, use safely and launder. Basically, what is good for one electric blanket is also beneficial for another. However, due to differences in design and fiber content, it is best to follow enclosed instructions to the letter. An alternative is to consult directions in the washer's manual for correct timing of soak, suds, rinse and spin cycles. The following basics serve as a helpful review of machine or hand-washing procedures:

1. Wash as soon as the blanket starts to be soiled — not only before summer storage. Don't wait for soil to become imbedded, or the gentle handling which is mandatory may not be adequate to do a thorough cleaning job.

2. Disconnect the control. Tie any dangling parts loosely in a washcloth or small towel, and shake the blanket gently to remove dust or lint.

3. Pre-treat soiled binding or spots with thick soap or detergent lather, or with sudsy solution rubbed in respectfully with a soft brush.

4. Use cool to warm water for both sudsing and rinsing — as for a baby's bath.

5. Never twist or wring an electric blanket during washing or rinsing.

6. A fabric softener may be added, following directions on the container.

When washing by hand, squeeze through plenty of soap or detergent suds in a bathtub or deep washtub, or use a plumber's plunger to suck suds through the fabric to loosen and remove soil.

Let the blanket lie in the tub while the suds are drained off. If possible, use the shower spray or a shampoo spray to flush soiled suds from the blanket and tub, then fill the tub with successive lukewarm rinses, turning the blanket over and over to make sure that the rinsing is thorough. Finally, squeeze out excess water without wringing.

TO DRY
Directions for some electric blankets permit use of an automatic dryer, others do not. Proceed accordingly. When a dryer is used, remove the blanket while damp to guard against overdrying and excessive tumbling that cause shrinkage. To finish the drying (or to dry it immediately after washing), drape the blanket over parallel lines — preferably outdoors in the shade. Then use both hands to straighten and pull it into shape. When bone-dry — restore the nap by a quick once-over with a soft brush. Do not iron the blanket, but the binding may be pressed with a cool iron. already permanently moth-proofed, so there is no need to clean electric blanket, use moth preventives which may injure the plastic parts.

Fresh air and sunshine are very good for good health but too much sunshine can bring on beauty troubles as well as being a downright dangerous thing.

According to a skin specialist, youngsters, particularly girls and young women, are asking for a lot of wrinkles if they persist in having a deep tan. When they allow their skin to blister and brown through the epidermis into next layer they are setting the stage for a wrinkled future. When the lower layer gets a good burn the tissues are damaged to the point where the elasticity is gone — therein lies the culprit. It won't come back again even if the wrinkle cream people do say so.

So just put a moderate amount of sun in your lives, girls.

ABWA Chapter Told Of Drug Use Survey

Bobby Carlie, a Big Spring High School senior and student drug education leader, was guest speaker Monday for the Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association.

Carlie works with Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent of schools. Mrs. Harold Rosson and Pam Piquet, the four forming a local drug education team. Carlie took part in the writing of a drug curriculum guide used locally in the educational program for grades five through 12. He spoke on drug abuse and the growing concern for education in regard to its causes and the effect drugs have on those who use them.

The speaker said that when students use drugs they require extra money and this can effect the business man because the user may steal or rob to obtain money. This, in turn, costs the consumer because prices are raised to make up the merchant's loss.

According to Carlie, some students use drugs because of emotional strain, or perhaps, and because of lack of love and understanding at home. Others may use drugs simply for pleasure or "thrills."

Wedding Ceremony Performed Saturday

MRS. JOE SILVA

Miss Janie Brito and Joe Silva were united in marriage at 10 a.m. Saturday in Sacred Heart Catholic Church with the Rev. J. P. Delaney officiating. The couple was married at an archway entwined with greenery and flanked by twin candelabra and baskets of white gladioli. Miss Connie Torres provided wedding music.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Vicente Silva of Garland and Melesio Brito of Knott and the late Mrs. Brito. The bride was attired in a formal-length gown fashioned in chantilly lace and chiffon with an Empire waist which was edged with lace and centered with a sheer bow. Her wedding ring collar of lace was accented with seed pearls, and her full, Bishop sleeves featured lace cuffs. A lace overskirt formed a redingote effect and was edged with lace which continued around the chapel-length train. Her long mantilla fell from a caplet of La Sada flowers, and she carried a bouquet of La Sada flowers interspersed with carnations and fern.

Miss Olga Alvarez was maid of honor, and Mrs. Teresa Carrasco was matron of honor. They wore floor-length gowns fashioned in white velvet with silver lace accents, Empire waists and long sleeves.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Lupe Rodriguez, Mrs. Lupe Saldivar and Mrs. Emma Cavazos, and serving as bridesmaids were Miss Ann Gonzales, Miss Ogapita Casas, Miss Senaida Hernandez, Miss Elida Hernandez, Miss Irene Uribe, Miss Gloria Garcia, Miss Carolyn Rodriguez and Miss Connie Brito. Cushion maids were Lucy Carrasco and Lidia Carrasco.

The attendants wore gowns of royal blue velvet styled like those of Miss Alvarez and Mrs. Carrasco. Henry Carrasco of Odessa was best man, and groomsmen were Pete Reyes, Ismael Rodriguez, Fidel Saldivar, Esabel Cavazos, Jose Luis Martinez, Alfonso Verbaiz, Johnny Gonzales, John Porraz, Mike Martinez, Raymond Martinez, Melesio Hernandez and Paul Martinez.

Sally Brito was flower girl, and Luis Silva was ring bearer. A reception honored the couple in the home of the bride's parents. The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a cake flanked by candelabra. Serving were Mrs. Mary Martinez, Mrs. Loreza Hernandez and Mrs. Hilaria Valdez.

Following a trip to Dallas, the couple will reside in Garland. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Elauterio Hernandez, Presidio; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Martinez, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hernandez, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Vicente Silva, Garland; Mr. and Mrs. Willie Moreno, Justiceburg; and Mr. and Mrs. Enrique Silva and Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Garza, California.

Before You Buy....

An Information Service For Consumers
 BY MARGARET DANA

By MARGARET DANA

How good are you at telling a real bargain from a phony one? It can make quite a difference in how far your money goes and what you get in return. Take, for instance, the traditional January "white sales," which bring low prices for bed-sheets, bath and hand towels, table linens, etc. They always sound alluring, and without any doubt, skillful shoppers can do some good dollar stretching at them.

But keep in mind as you look over the advertisements, and then at the goods in the stores, that there is a definite difference between "irregulars" and "seconds."

The Federal Trade Commission has ruled that an "irregular" of sheets — or anything, for that matter — is a product that varies from the maker's standards and has been rejected by his inspection line. But its defects are smaller ones, such as a measurement or size that's slightly off, or printed patterns that don't quite match up. These defects do not damage the product.

"Seconds," on the other hand, can have and usually do have damaging defects. These may be cuts, tears or holes of some kind which affect the wear and durability of the textile. Prices for "seconds," therefore, ought to be lower even than for "irregulars."

A smart buyer will try not to buy either kind without being able to spread the merchandise out and inspect it. This may not be easy to do in this day of packaged and sealed goods. A store should at least have a sample package opened so that you can look it over and perhaps get some idea of just what the defects are, or are likely to be.

'TOWEL TROUBLE'
 One particular place trouble can begin, especially in bath towels, is a badly woven selvage edge. Even when a towel is wrapped in a plastic package, it may be possible for you to get a close look at a section of selvage. Bend it back and forth — does the weaving seem tight all the way to the edge? If the crosswise threads do not extend all the way to the outside edge, going over and under the "warp" or lengthwise threads, and returning across the towel in an unbroken loop, you're going to have a towel which will soon fray under use and laundering.

Buying panty hose and stockings, or socks for men, is another spot where the matter of "irregulars" and "seconds" comes into the price — and the bargain. Just remember that while "irregular" hosiery may have some crooked spots, or be skimped upon in the measurements, it is not supposed to have broken threads or actual holes.

"Seconds" may have and usually do have something damaged. So weigh carefully the different prices of regulars, irregulars and seconds to see where you really get the most wear for your money. Pantyhose worn only once — or unwearable at all — are no bargain. January and early-February sales also usually bring clearances of goods from a variety of other departments in a store. A clearance sale held due to the store's need to clear out its winter warm clothes, blankets and sports equipment, can be a budget stretcher.

In a reputable store the stocks offered in such a clearance are usually sound, being neither defective nor of inferior quality. Often the left-overs are the result of some wrong guesses by the store as to which colors, sizes or styles would be most in demand. If these leftovers fit you, or your purpose, they may offer a good bargain in warm clothing, etc. with small outlay.

INVENTORY SALES
 Another kind of clearance sale which offers excellent bargains, if you are on the ball, is the

RESERVATIONS FOR LUNCHEON

The Volunteer Council of Big Spring State Hospital will hold its awards luncheon Thursday at 12 o'clock noon in the Alford Building at the hospital according to an announcement by Dr. Harold Smith, council president. Volunteers planning to attend the luncheon are asked to make reservations by Monday by calling 267-8216, Ext. 308.

pre-inventory sale. There is nothing phony about the reason for such a sale. It is better fiscal bookkeeping for a store to keep its stocks down to a planned level, especially when counting them all for inventory. So before the counting starts, it makes sense to clear out excess merchandise. To move it fast, the store may cut the price far down, almost to wholesale cost.

But there can be a catch to this. Look out if the advertisement says that "special purchases" have been added to the clearance merchandise. You won't be able to judge the "special purchases" from having seen them before, and knowing what their prices and values are in relation to the sale price.

One defect is scratches or dents that mar the appearance but not the performance. The other is an actual defect in a part which prevents the appliance from working. This can be a bargain. But before deciding, find out how much it will cost to repair it. That cost could knock out your bargain.

FORMER RESIDENTS RETURN — It was about 12 years ago that the Rev. and Mrs. Jimmy D. Law left Big Spring when he decided to go into the ministry. They recently returned when he accepted pastoral duties at College Baptist Church. Shown from left are Dovie, 12; Jim, 13; Mrs. Law, Mark, 9; and Rev. Law.

Pastor Traveled From Railroad To Ministry

By BARBARA LORD

After about a dozen years, the Jimmy D. Law family is back in Big Spring. When here before, Law worked for Texas and Pacific Railways and for an auto supply store. He is now the new pastor at College Baptist Church.

The Rev. and Mrs. Law have three children, Jim, 13; Dovie, 12; and Mark, 9.

Since leaving Big Spring, the Laws have seen a lot of Texas. He served churches in Vealmoor, two in Colorado City and Lamesa, Kermit and Schertz, where the family lived just prior to returning here.

Schertz is near San Antonio, and although they miss having a wider selection of shopping areas, the Laws think small cities have definite advantages over large ones, and they are glad they made this move.

Rev. and Mrs. Law both enjoy yard work and are both sports fans. Jim plays basketball at Rannels Junior High School. The family also likes football and baseball.

Although the Laws have only been here slightly more than one month, Mrs. Law already has everything unpacked and organized. Their home is done in an attractive early American decor which offers comfort and hospitality to visitors.

Rev. Law keeps busy as advisor and participant of all church groups and activities. In Schertz he belonged to the Lions Club. Mrs. Law assists the "Girls in Action" group at the

Horticulture Program Presented

Johnny Johansen, Big Spring park superintendent, discussed types of horticulture that are best for West Texas for members of Mary Jane Club, Thursday in the home of Mrs. Clovis Phinney of Coahoma.

Johansen stressed that trees and shrubbery should not be placed too deep in the soil or too heavily fertilized. He said too much fertilizer will burn a plant.

Pruning is important to proper growth, and Johansen also emphasized that lawns and plants should be watered at least once monthly during the winter and weekly during summer.

Trees suited for this area are Arizona Ash and fruitless mulberry and Johansen said junipers and holly are the best shrubs to grow. A discussion period followed.

Mrs. Marshall Day presided and members donated $5 to the March of Dimes drive. The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., Feb. 9 in the home of Mrs. Ralph Williams, east of Coahoma.

Legion Hut Gains New Member

Mrs. Manuel Gutierrez Sr. was accepted for membership in the American Legion Auxiliary Thursday evening at the Legion Hall.

Mrs. Ollie Branson presided, and appointed Mrs. Bill Gonzales as community service chairman and Mrs. E. N. Rea as legislative chairman.

Members contributed to the March of Dimes. Mrs. Rea announced the Veterans Administration Hospital had expressed appreciation for work done there by auxiliary volunteers. Anyone interested in doing volunteer work should contact her at the hospital.

It was announced that members and guests were invited to the Beta Sigma Phi Valentine ball, Feb. 12 at Coshden Country Club. Reservations must be made by Jan. 24.

Legionnaires and auxiliary members will meet for a party at 7:30 p.m., Thursday in the Legion Home.

High Tallies In Club-Card Play

Winners in the north-south positions in duplicate bridge play Friday at Big Spring Country Club were Mrs. J. H. Fish and Mrs. Fred Kasch, first; Mrs. Hayes Stripling and Mrs. Don Newsom, second; and Mrs. J. H. Parks and Mrs. Myrtle Lee, third.

In the east-west positions, winners were Mrs. J. D. Robertson and Mrs. John Stone, first; Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Hudson Landers, second; and Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. R. H. Weaver, third.

Miss Elicia Keele On Dean's List

Elicia Keele, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keele, 1606 Lexington, made the Deans List for attaining high academic achievement during the fall semester at Texas Tech University in Lubbock. Miss Keele had a 3.5 grade point average, based on a possible 4.0. She is a junior majoring in music education.

Women Advised To Check Cancer Signs

"Your First Wealth — Good Health" was the topic of the Friday afternoon program for The Woman's Forum when Dr. Henry Butler was the speaker at the home of Mrs. Clyde Johnston.

Mrs. C. R. Wiley introduced Dr. Butler, dermatologist at Malone-Hogan Clinic and a member of the board of the Howard-Glasscock Chapter American Cancer Society. Dr. Butler based his talk on acronyms stemming from the word, CAUTION. These would cover the seven danger signs of cancer: C — Changes in bowel or bladder; A — a sore that won't heal; U — unusual bleeding; T — thickening in breasts; I — indigestion, trouble swallowing; O — obvious change in warts or moles; N — nagging cough or hoarseness.

Emphasizing the importance of seeing a doctor at the first suspicion of cancer, Dr. Butler suggested that a woman who checks regularly for any unusual change in her breasts, would be likely to notice a change sooner than her doctor who would likely see her at intervals of six months or a year.

Concerning skin cancer, the doctor strongly urged that people in this part of the country protect their skin from the sun. He noted that among people who are out of doors a great deal there is a greater incidence of this problem. He said that there should be head coverings and long sleeves when working in the sun as well as lotions. There are also lotions that filter the sun's rays, which is helpful to those who work in the sun.

Mrs. Merrill Creighton of the local board of the American Cancer Society told the group that the society is one of the many organizations whose purpose is to preserve good health. Contrary to the belief of some that it is solely a fundraising organization there are several committees that function throughout the year. Of course, in order to maintain research and provide specified aid, funds must be raised during the year.

Two Forum members, Mrs. Wiley and Mrs. Clyde Thomas, head the committees that function throughout the year. Mrs. Wiley heads the Public Education Committee that arranges programs such as the program for the afternoon. These programs reach approximately 2,200 people; 25,000 pieces of literature are distributed and 150 posters displayed. The society considers this life-saving information.

Mrs. Thomas heads the service committee. She described her duties which at present entail regular calls on five indigent patients. She said there is an immediate need for muslin sheets with which to make bandages. According to Mrs. Thomas, there is much help that can be had through the society if the help is requested by the patient's doctor. While beds, bandages, chairs, etc., can be had through the state office, at present no funds are available to cancer victims.

During the business meeting money was donated for the Buck-of-the-Month Club at Big Spring State Hospital. Funds were also allotted for the West-side Community Center for materials in arts and crafts.

Mrs. Johnston, president, named Mrs. J. Arnold Marshall, Mrs. Bert Shive and Mrs. W. H. Bain to serve as the nominating committee and announced that reports for the district will be due on Feb. 1.

Mrs. Bain was cohostess.

TO BE HERE — Charles White, vice president in charge of retail store operations for White Stores Inc., will be present for the grand opening of the new White store in Big Spring at 1607 Gregg Street. He will be present at the ribbon-cutting ceremonies at 9 a.m. Thursday morning, to greet customers and friends.

Iraq Hopes To Rebuild Famed City Of Babylon

BABYLON, Iraq (AP) — The ruins of this storied capital of the Babylonian empire mostly are a pile of rubble and brown bricks that the government wants to rebuild.

Like many archeological sites in the eastern Arab world, at present off the tourist beat, Babylon virtually is deserted — few visitors, no souvenir shops, no guides hawkling slides, postcards or bargain restaurants.

Peasants walk their donkeys through the fields and palm groves along the nearby Euphrates River. A few crowds disturb the stillness of centuries.

It was in Babylon that Hammurabi drafted his famous code of law almost 2,000 years before Christ. Here more than 1,000 years later, Nebuchadnezzar built the hanging gardens, one of the seven wonders of the ancient world. Alexander the Great, just beginning to rule the vast empire he conquered, died at age 33 in Babylon of malaria.

Taleb Umran, an elderly man wearing Arab headdress and a gray, ankle length shirt called a dishdasha, conducts visitors through a museum with pictures and models of how Babylon looked when its splendor was unrivaled in the ancient world. He is reluctant to visit the sites.

"There's nothing to see really," he said. "Nearly every one who comes is disappointed. I guess that's why the government is anxious to rebuild it."

The site generally considered to hold the remains of the hanging gardens is about the size of a modest American backyard. It is difficult to believe such a small area could encompass one of the seven wonders of the world.

Guidebooks say Nebuchadnezzar built the gardens for his queen who missed the greenery of her native northern highlands in the arid plains of Mesopotamia, the land between the Tigris and Euphrates rivers.

Victorian artists portrayed the gardens as lush botanical treasure houses, but present day archeologists think the gardens were really fields of vegetables planted outside the city walls whose predominant fragrance was the smell of onions, not rare plants. There also were vineyards to provide wine.

Myth shatters notwithstanding, the government wants to reconstruct as faithfully as possible the palaces, gates and gardens.

Tarik Al-Naimie, assistant director of antiquities and an archeologist who supervised restoration at the Assyrian city of Ninevah in the north, said "if we work very hard we will be able to restore much of Babylon in five years."

The estimated cost is $33.6 million, most of which the government will pay.

Al Naimie said Babylon, an hour south of Baghdad by car, is a natural tourist drawing card "but it also is part of Iraq's cultural heritage and when we complete restoring it, it will be fantastic."

Spacious New White Store Formally Opens Thursday

The popular White store is celebrating its move from its old location at 202 S. Scurry to its spacious new home at 1607 Gregg Street. In order to meet the public demand and more efficiently serve its customers, the new store is greatly expanding its facilities. This store is only one of more than 500 retail outlets in the rapidly growing White Stores chain.

"We are impressed with the continued growth of Big Spring and believe it is a city in which we need to expand. The growth and popularity of your White store is due to the enthusiastic support of the public and we appreciate the gratifying response by the people of Big Spring to the old store," said W. Dean Stewart, President of White Stores Inc. "The new store will offer the same low prices, quality merchandise, and friendly service that has precipitated the move and caused the rapid growth of the entire chain," said Lane Hinton, the store manager.

RIBBON CUTTING

The official opening of the new store is set for 9 a.m., Thursday as executives from the home office in Wichita Falls cut the ribbon across the crystal glass entry. The gala grand opening celebration will follow with bargains at sacrifice prices for the public. Standing host will be Hinton.

Constructed of masonry and steel, the 22,547 square-foot store was built by their construction crew, and is approximately 5,500 square feet larger than the previous location.

"Planning of the building incorporates the newest customer service and merchandising ideas," said Carl Cattin, real estate manager. "One floor construction allows the customer easier, quicker shopping. He can find what he needs without time-consuming searching."

Included in the expanded facilities is the super service auto center in which batteries, mufflers, and seat covers may be installed. Able to service up to six cars at once, the new facility also offers wheel balancing, front end alignment and all manner of safety and electrical checks. Also provided is an inside entrance to the store proper, protecting the customer from inclement weather.

KROEHLER LINE

Another facility, the furniture section, stocks the finest in home furnishings. Room groupings by Kroehler, the largest manufacturer of upholstered furniture, are color and style coordinated, offering a huge selection for any taste. Also available are famous Dan River carpets, Serta mattresses and box springs and Virtue dinettes.

White Stores' standard inventory of 10,000 items will be offered, including many White private label items, including White tires, batteries, spark plugs, mufflers, and motor oils. The appliance section features Catalina color TVs, stereos, washers, dryers, refrigerators, and freezers in many decorator styles.

In the sports section, hunters will find Remington, Marlin and Springfield rifles and shotguns and Remington and Nimrod ammunition. The sporting enthusiast will find all he needs for any sport or recreation. Additionally, a huge selection of lawn and garden care tools, accessories, mowers, and trimmers is available.

Ample parking is available in front of the store.

Although many new conveniences have been added, the same friendly employees who operated the old store will be found in the new one.

The new store is part of the White chain of 500 retail outlets operating in 14 states from Colorado to the Atlantic coast which offers the policy of quality merchandise at the lowest price. The policy has resulted in White Stores' phenomenal growth over the past 38 years.

The store will remain open until 9 p.m. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday during the three-day celebration.

Actor, 67, Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Mitchell, 67, actor on stage, films and television died Thursday. He had roles recently in "Indians" and "Red, White and Maddox" on the stage, the movie "The Andromeda Strain" and as villains in the TV Westerns.

Tragedy Hasn't Changed Polanski's Life Much

NEW YORK (AP) — The murders of his wife, Sharon Tate, and friends in 1969 haven't changed him significantly either as an artist or a person, says Roman Polanski.

"Whatever happens to you changes you a little bit, but deep inside the thread of your personality runs the same from the beginning of your consciousness until the last day," said the 38-year-old Polish movie director who has made such films as "Knife in the Back," "Repulsion" and "Rosemary's Baby."

He says, however, the tragedy influenced him in choosing "Macbeth" as his latest work, the first since the incident.

"After the murders everything I was considering seemed futile. I couldn't think of a subject that seemed worthwhile or dignified enough to spend a year or more on in view of what had happened to me.

"I'd been thinking of doing a Shakespearean film for a long time, and it seemed it was the most appropriate time to do it. Why Macbeth? Because it hasn't been done well. All the past efforts are rather lamentable ones. So I thought I'd take a crack at it."

In the Polanski Macbeth blood flows freely, but he says all the violence was in the original play.

"The violence is necessary for the dramatic development of the story. This is a medieval play where people are quite rough. They think like philosophers but act like soldiers.

"There are certain experiences from my personal tragedy which helped me in re-creating certain situations. This seems to be a very cold statement, but life is an accumulation of experiences, and you use them in your art. However, contrary to what people may think, the murder scene of Macduff's wife and child has nothing to do with the incident, because I didn't witness it when it happened in Los Angeles. I was in London working on a script. In doing the scene, I drew more on my childhood experience. When I was seven, German policemen came to our apartment and ripped up our furniture. Their attitude, their behavior, their smiles and the screams of women are what I used."

His life has had more than a usual dose of violence. When he was eight, his mother died in a Nazi concentration camp. Not long after, he escaped from a ghetto in Cracow, and survived the war by living with whoever was willing to take him in. One day, a German soldier casually shot at him. "I've never run so fast," he laughs.

The director now makes London his home, because although he was born in Paris and grew up in Poland, he feels "closest to Anglo-Saxons."

Court Faces Big Decisions

The U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to take up phase II of the long fight for an integrated multiracial public education system in America. On the same day that the court agreed to rule on de facto segregation it rejected a plea for new school district lines to achieve racial balance.

Key issue in the latter case (from New Jersey) was that no claim was made that New Jersey ever had a dual system of schools (one for black, one for white). The dual system was the basis on which a federal court in Richmond, Va., has ordered district lines changed in order to desegregate.

Courts and government policy have held, so far, that de facto segregation is constitutional because it exists due to housing patterns, not by law or policy.

The interesting point arises in cases that have been tried since segregation was disallowed by the Supreme Court in 1954. Since that case, the courts have moved from separate-but-equal to desegregation to integration. Other cases have given sharper definition of state's responsibilities under the constitution. One, in San Antonio, strikes at state funding methods in a case likely to have national consequences. Others have made court-ordered mass busing a major political issue.

At least one Supreme Court justice, William

O. Douglas, has voiced a viewpoint that appears to have found a home in some court decisions. It is that the "right to education in the environment of a multiracial community" is a fundamental one. In the 1954 decision, the Supreme Court's unanimous decision came close to saying that. It held as "inherently unequal" any system that segregated students on color lines.

The new case to be heard (from Denver) is on appeal from a decision that the courts are "without power" to order desegregation when racial imbalance does not result from affirmative discrimination by public officials.

Denver has 12 schools that are predominantly black or predominantly Hispanic. Three others had been desegregated by court order based on officials' site selection and zone manipulation that affected the racial mix there.

Finally, a test case of law arises challenging the right of communities to decline to compel all their schools to reflect in enrollment the racial characteristics of the community.

Reporting Is Most Practical

People vote their personal interests. It is therefore unsurprising that Sen. Fred Harris, former Democratic national chairman, claims "moneyed interests" make political campaign contributions "to insure that special interest subsidies . . . will never be touched."

Harris' attack included a roundhouse swing at Treasury Secretary John B. Connally. Harris claims Connally was "involved" in big cash flow to the candidacy of Richard Nixon instead of to Hubert Humphrey four years ago.

Harris was trying to make a case for his position that there is a link between the country's $63 billion of subsidies and campaign contributions. To swallow all of the argument would entail a gulping help from the Congress, which votes subsidies, as well as Presidents.

There is likely more pressure on a candidate to make concessions on his views than is good for the country, to quote Walter Hickel, the fired Interior Secretary.

The most-reachable and probably most useful thing to be done, however, is detailed reporting of gifts and spending made timely enough to be useful to voters.

Do you remember when beer foamed and water didn't?

KEN HICKS, left-handed printer, says a motorist skidded off the road into a muddy ditch, and was working diligently to shovel his way out when another motorist pulled to a halt.

He got out of the car, watched for a few minutes, then asked: "Are you stuck in the mud?"

"Oh, no," the exasperated digger replied. "My motor died, and I'm just digging a grave for it."

Errors, of course, are the newspaperman's worst enemy. Unfortunately, they are always with us. Instead of goodness and mercy following us all the days of our lives, I suspect it will be badness and typographical errors.

But we keep trying — after 30 years in the "game."

"RED" McMAHEN, retired Herald newsman, reports a bowling team captain wasn't having his best day and he commented he had been talking to himself all through the match.

"One of the team members said to another: 'The way he's bowling, you'd think he'd quit speaking to himself.'"

Professional sports teams have been moving hither and yon for years, just about every time the rent came due.

But now that the Washington Senators are leaving, Congress is getting highly inflamed.

Maybe they're just confused about which Senators are going to go.

SO MY calculating cousin, Jimmy Ladd, transferred by IBM from New York City to smoggy Los Angeles, cracks:

Texas. If Texans can't put the government on a money-making basis, no one can."

My banking aunt, Leona Factor, says: "Total success exists only in the minds of total failures."

The United Press International says there is a woman in Newton, Ga., who claims to be 113 years old and who says whisky is the reason she is still around.

"Whisky is the big reason I've lived so long," Mrs. Vic Tompkins told UPI. "Man, I got great-grandchildren that got children. Praise the Lord and pass the gin!"

THE EYE OPENER, inmate publication at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary, has a cartoon showing two guards advising an inmate trying to crawl over the wall:

"Never try it on a foggy night, we always double the guard. Use a little soap on the hocksaw next time you cut out of the cell; helps to muffle the noise. Always pay your gin rummy debts before you go. Your cellmate snitched on you a week ago."

MY RICH UNCLE, Houston Ladd, an ex-soda pop bottler in Muskogee, has a statistic:

"If you had started in business in the year 1 A.D. with one billion dollars and lost $1,000 a day ever since, you would still have 770 years to go before you used up your capital."

"Now do you see why I've never sneered at Onassis?"

I don't think I could get rid of $1,000 a day, Uncle Houston — unless I had my kin folks help. (Aw, now mom, you know I'm just kiddin'.)

Tangled Puzzle

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — The most profound change President Nixon has worked in his three years in office is on the Supreme Court of the United States. Four Nixon appointees now sit on the high tribunal, and, with the conservative direction of John F. Kennedy's only legacy, Justice Byron White, the court is a different institution.

THE NEW COURT — the strict constructionist court — will receive in the next year or year and a half a succession of appeals in cases involving fundamental rights of the individual and the guarantees of freedom in the constitutional rights. Many cases will have political and sociological overtones hardly subject to strict interpretation of the law. In the court of the past, the Warren court, these extra-legal considerations were taken into account and the highest judicial body was regarded as a last resort of freedom.

ANGELA DAVIS, Daniel Ellsberg of the Pentagon Papers, along with many others are likely to have their appeal before the new court. More far reaching are the number of conspiracy cases now being pushed in one federal grand jury after another around the country. Guy Goodwin, chief of the litigation section of internal security in the Department of Justice, is zealously promoting in the federal courts the charge of conspiracy.

THE ACTS of violence in recent years must be part of a conspiracy — that is the conviction behind the department's effort to throw a net around the radicals of the New Left. The fear of civil libertarians is that in the secret proceedings of the grand jury chamber, where witnesses are without the protection of an attorney and where they may be cited for contempt and jailed for refusing to answer, is dangerous.

THE TENT of conspiracy was thrown over an even more dramatic and consequential case. The Rev. Philip Berrigan, a Catholic priest, and six other antiwar dissidents are going on trial at Harrisburg, Pa., charged with conspiracy to harass the Selective Service System and with conspiracy to blow up the heating system of the Capitol in Washington and kidnap Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security. Father Berrigan and two new defendants were already in prison for destroying draft records.

WAS THE plot to blow up the heating plants and kidnap Kissinger merely fantasizing? How could these religious pacifists hope to muster the strength — they estimated it would require six or seven men — to kidnap the President's aide who is under constant Secret Service protection. Was there any overt and illegal act that could convict all seven as conspirators?

HOW TO separate illegal acts from the right of dissent is the puzzle the courts must try to resolve. By throwing the tent of conspiracy over as many as a dozen cases, the Department of Justice has made the untangling of the puzzle far more difficult.

The nine black-robed judges might ponder the words of the late Justice Robert H. Jackson: "The modern crime of conspiracy is so vague that it almost defies definition." That is the challenge. (Copyright, 1971, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Hard-Core Nonviolence

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — There seems to be a dangerous trend in this country toward hard-core nonviolence. Many persons are becoming concerned about it and Dr. Womrath Shruggs has just completed a study on nonviolence which points up how this trend is affecting all of us.

DR. SHRUGGS told me, "You can't turn on your television set any more without finding at least one show devoted to nonviolence. It could be a comedy or a musical hour, but my study indicates that the public is willing to accept more nonviolence than it ever has before."

"But surely," I said, "they're not showing hard-core nonviolent shows in prime time?"

"Not many, I'll admit," Dr. Shruggs said, "but there are still enough to affect young persons' minds. Just the other day I saw my son watching two nonviolent shows back to back. What do you think was going through his mind while he sat there?"

"I have no idea," I said

"HE WAS THINKING: 'If this is the way life is on the TV screen then that's the way it must be on the outside.' He was getting a distorted picture of America."

"Why don't they ban hard-core nonviolence on television altogether?" I asked.

"Because there is a certain type of public that goes for it. Advertisers are only interested in selling their products and if they think they will, no do it with nonviolence they will, no matter what it does to children."

DR. SHRUGGS SAID, "This nonviolence syndrome is not just on television. It is permeating every part of our lives. In every town in this country there is at least one motion picture theater featuring a nonviolent film. These theaters blatantly advertise the picture in the newspapers. Look at this advertisement for 'Fiddler on the Roof.' Here is a musical, a hard-core nonviolent picture, and any child with $2.50 can go see it."

"But Dr. Shruggs," I said, "isn't there any argument made that it's better for people to let out their nonviolent feelings in the theater than take them out on somebody in the street?"

"IT'S NONSENSE," he said. "Nonviolence breeds nonviolence. Kids get ideas from what they see and emulate the nonviolence they've been exposed to. My study shows that the more nonviolence a child watches, the more pacified he becomes. I've known kids who have left a Walt Disney film and gone home and kissed their mothers."

"Oh, dear," I said, "what can we do to stop this trend from getting out of hand?" "We must make the producers and networks responsible for their products. If they won't police themselves and eliminate hard-core nonviolence from their entertainment, then the government should step in. And if the producers and network people still won't get into line then there is only one thing left to do — kill them!"

'BUT - THAT'S HIS ONLY FAULT'

Massive Generator

William F. Buckley Jr.

McMURDO STATION, Antarctica — I am not very good at science, and will not pretend to know what I am talking about. But that should not prevent me from calling to your attention the Antarctic, where fascinating things are happening under the aegis of a little-known treaty among a dozen nations which, incredibly, was also signed by the Soviet Union. I say incredibly, because the treaty calls on signatory powers not only to adjourn without prejudice any territorial claims in Antarctica, but to publish all scientific information developed in Antarctica, and to permit representatives of other nations to visit each other's scientific installations and to probe into the work being done.

THIS MEANS, if you can imagine it, that an American scientist can actually take residence in a Soviet installation, rummage about and exchange scientific shop-talk.

What kind of talk? The lineaments of the situation are as follows. Antarctica is about the size of the United States and Mexico. Its coastline is 18,000 miles long. During the winter, the ice doubles the size of the continent. The ice at the South Pole is about two miles thick. If the continent were to melt, it would raise the water level of the world by 200 feet, which means that the first 28 stories of the Empire State building would be, well, useless. The ice in Antarctica is a deposit of 90 per cent of the fresh water supply of the earth.

NOW HEAR this. Ocean water absorbs 90 per cent of the sun's heat. Snow and ice reflect 85 per cent. One can see — even I can see — that Antarctica is the principal generator, potentially, of the kind of energy that governs the metabolism of the earth.

Its effect even as things are — on weather, currents, and temperature — is critical. Its potential uses, if we come to know how to domesticate Antarctica, is something very like the uses of a key to the universe. There is everything there, potentially. The control of the weather. The answer to the fresh water problem. A vat of energy greater than the known supply of the world's oil.

THAT IS why we are spending 30 million dollars a year in Antarctica, a modest sum of money, niggardly, in fact; but enough to secure a foothold in the developing scientific melodrama. The Russians, needless to say, are all over the place. Our own venture there is the business of the National Science Foundation. If you have an idea you want to flex in the Antarctica, you write to the National Science Foundation. If they think it has merit, they put up the money to get you out there, equip you with the instruments you need, and give you the help you need. You may be interested in meteorology, in biology, in paleontology, in astronomy, in oceanography, you name it.

I DISCOVERED that there are people in Antarctica who are engaged in magneto hydrodynamics. I begged an eloquent scientist to please explain to me what is magneto hydrodynamics, and he talked non-stop for 10 minutes, but he might as well have been speaking in Russian. Even so, from the rapture he felt, I can report confidently that there is a magneto hydrodynamic in your future.

It comes down to 210 scientists, engaged in 65 projects, sponsored by 35 American colleges and institutions. Because Antarctica is so remote, it requires $10 of logistics to sustain a dollar of research. (The Washington Star Syndicate, Inc.)

Rent, Retail Controls Relaxed

By JOHN HENRY Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nixon administration announced a major relaxation of price controls during the past week but indicated it was not relenting in its fight against inflation.

Some 40 per cent of the nation's rental housing and three-fourths of its retail concerns were exempted from controls by the Cost of Living Council, which said competition from larger economic units still under restraints would prevent runaway price increases in the decontrolled sector.

Termining speculation about imminent decontrol of most of the economy "inaccurate," Donald Rumfeld, the council's executive director, said his agency's move would allow it to concentrate its efforts on businesses with the "greatest impact" on the economy.

SMALL SHARE Although the exemption affects 75 per cent of the nation's retail outlets, they account for only 15 per cent of total sales, the council said.

President Nixon didn't unveil any major new economic programs in his State of the Union message but he indicated his wage and price stabilization measures initiated in 1971 would bear fruit this year.

"We can look with confidence to 1972 as the year when the back of inflation will finally be broken," he said.

West Coast longshoremen, whose 100-day strike last year was halted by a court injunction in October, walked off their jobs again after contract negotiations foundered on the issues of cargo container handling and a work guarantee of 13,000 dockers. The government said it would seek legislation to end the strike.

INDICATORS UP Three important economic indicators released by the government during the past week showed positive trends.

Housing starts in December rose 9.3 per cent to a record annual rate of 2.52 million units. For last year as a whole, starts totaled 2.1 million units, a 43 per cent increase from 1970 and 7 per cent above the previous record established in 1950.

Industrial output last month climbed seven-tenths of 1 per cent after a rise of six-tenths

Connally Tells Business And Labor Public Interest First

By BILL KOSMAN Associated Press Writer

President Nixon's chief economic spokesman, Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, has issued a warning that labor "can no longer thumb its nose at the public and take every-thing it can grasp."

Connally made the statement Friday in New York — one day after he said in a Washington speech that big business should cooperate more and complain less if it wants current wage-and-price controls lifted.

Meanwhile, the government announced that the cost of living jumped four-tenths of 1 per cent during December after the price freeze, and the nation's output of goods and services grew, at a 6.1 per cent yearly rate in the last quarter.

And, some of the country's biggest commercial banks announced they will cut their prime lending rate to 4 1/2 per cent on Monday, dropping that key interest rate to its lowest level since 1965. The prime rate is the interest commercial banks charge on loans to their best corporate customers.

In his New York address, Connally told 400 businessmen that labor had a responsibility to work with government and business to revitalize the nation's economy.

"We can no longer tolerate the total and complete selfishness of any segment of this society. And we're not going to," the secretary said.

Connally made no specific reference to labor wage requests, but he said: "Labor is out to get what it can. It is out to represent the interests of its members just as you in business are out to represent stockholders."

"You are both out to do the best job possible, but there comes a time when we all have to give for the public interest."

In his Thursday address to a U.S. Chamber of Commerce gathering, Connally told businessmen, "When we end wage-and-price controls is going to depend on you. If you're not in a hurry, they're (the controls) going to be around for a long time."

Billy Graham

How can I really witness for Christ? People shut me out every time I mention His name. Should I leave these people alone? C.L.

In no area of life must we be more Spirit-led than in our witnessing for Christ. It is so easy to bungle the job at this point. It is probable that in our enthusiasm, we too often witness to our own virtue rather than His saving grace. This of course, would be repugnant to people.

I would say that about two-thirds of our witnessing should be living, and one third talking. The best kind of witnessing is when it flows unconsciously out of a heart of love. Stanley said of Livingston: "He made me a Christian and I never knew he was doing it."

After visiting Tolstoy, William Howells wrote to a friend, "I can never again see life in the way I saw it before I knew him."

No, I "would not leave these people alone," as you suggest. But I would pray for two things: the grace to live as you should before them, and the wisdom to say what should be said when the time comes. God will do the rest.

A Devotion For Today . . .

The earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the water cover the sea.

PRAYER: Father, often we feel ourselves to be inadequate, unwise, prone to waver. But we take comfort in Thy power, Thy love, Thy righteousness; and we draw strength from Thee. Amen.

IN SOUTH AFRICA, THAT IS Television Doesn't Pose Film Threat

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South African moviemakers have never been busier.

There is no competition from television — yet. Government subsidies are available, competent technicians plentiful, and the industry has no trade unions. The weather is excellent for outdoor shooting and there are plenty of exciting locations.

Yet for all this activity and potential, industry analysts admit to feeling a lack of real success. There is virtually no international recognition. The official subsidy may be more confining than helpful. Local box office hits are sometimes nothing more than successful radio shows transferred to film.

Important feature films continue to bewitch serious producers after more than 30 years of frustration. Some win critical acclaim, a few are successful financially, but many are criticized for their lack of creativity and professionalism.

SENSITIVE STORY
"Katrina," an all-South African production, was a success at the box office and with the critics. A sensitive drama based on race, it was maneuvered to official acceptability by producer Emil Nofal.

With the success of "Katrina," Nofal became more daring. He attempted bolder films on South African topics. Many were acclaimed by critics, but got nowhere at the box office and required subsidy help.

On the other hand, South African documentaries consistently win international awards.

Killarney Studios, which claims to be the oldest and largest filmmaker in the southern hemisphere, usually garners at least half a dozen awards for its excellent documentary films each year.

Veteran critic Percy Baneshick thinks he knows what's wrong with locally made features:

"They just don't have that curious quality. It is simply the motives for which films are made in South Africa. They are made for money or for ideology. Film-making in South Africa is like bounty-killing in the old west. You do it for the subsidy."

More than $1,960,000 was paid to moviemakers during 1970-71. The strings to the subsidy are not conducive to competitive big scale movies. But, say the financiers, if it wasn't for the subsidy the industry would be almost non-existent.

REGULATIONS
Of a production's total wages and salaries, 75 per cent must be spent on South Africans. The salary of any foreign leading actor, producer or director must be deducted before calculating whether this condition has been met. If two foreigners are employed, South African wages must be allotted 80 per cent of the rest of the pay roll.

Afrikaans-language films get the largest backing — 65 per cent upwards of the total gross box office income. English films receive 44 per cent subsidy and bilingual films 54 per cent of the box office gross.

Some studios hope to persuade the government to subsidize movies for the African market. There are 3.8 million whites in this country compared to some 18 million nonwhites.

The relatively untapped non-white market could eventually be a huge money spinner.

RESEARCHING
However, any official subsidy to help exploit the African market probably would have ideological strings attached, says Killarney Managing Director Pax Moren. His studio is researching the non-white market's potential.

Moren thinks this market will be difficult to penetrate in the near future.

ROBERT MITCHUM TAKES A BRIDE
Scene is from "Ryan's Daughter"

Mitchum Says All Stars Are Weird

Robert Mitchum was a hippie 25 years before the word was invented. In his own inimitable way, he still is.

Mitchum himself denies the letter of that judgment, while confirming its substance: "Hippies call themselves freaks, but movie stars are the biggest freaks of all. Hell, your eyeball is ten feet high on that screen. The people out front really think you amount to something. That's pretty freaky."

"Yeah, I'm a movie star. My fascinating life history is so many golden horse droppings. To compensate for the indignity of being a freak, they put flowers in your dressing room on the first day of shooting. I've played everything but women and dogs. If it fits between peacocks, I do it."

nearly two years ago. I read it and found it literate, lyrical, something to dwell on. Then Bolt called and asked me whether I would play the part. I said I would love to, but I am planning to commit suicide. And Bolt said 'If you would care to simply postpone your plan until after the film is completed, David and I would be happy to bear the expense of your funeral. So I went to Ireland.'

"Ryan's Daughter" is an original love story by Bolt and only his fourth screenplay. Like Lean, he has won two Academy Awards. The MGM film stars Mitchum, Trevor Howard, Christopher Jones, John Mills, Leo McKern, and Sarah Miles in the title role.

Asked about his performance, Mitchum is typically evasive. "Am I good in the film? That's like asking an old whore if she enjoyed it. Who can tell?"

Apparently David Lean himself can. "Bob is absolutely marvelous in 'Ryan's Daughter.' I've wanted to use him in a film ever since I saw him in Loughton's 'The Night of the Hunter.' Bob's a bloody good actor whose talent has seldom been fully utilized."

Like the man from Missouri, movie audiences will wait to be shown. But if Mitchum is as good as they say, he may have to reconsider his recently announced (for the fifth, or is it the sixth, time?) retirement from the screen.

"Oh, no," he protests. "I like going to seed. It's the only way."

As a voluntary spokesman for "the silent black majority," the slender, denim-jacketed Van Peebles declares that his most rounded statement thus far is "Aint Supposed to Die a Natural Death," the musical now at Broadway's Ambassador Theater that opened to controversial reviews.

The stage show, a kaleidoscopic melange of Harlem street life, is for its creator "a play about love, about the human condition, about man's inhumanity to man, nothing about color per se."

Prior to "Aint Supposed" Van Peebles emerged from the obscurity of steadfast but minimally profitable music and film work with the feature-length movie "Sweet Sweetback's Baadasssss Song," concerned with hoodlum violence and parlayed into existence on promissory notes, the picture seemed headed for swift oblivion.

Only two cinemas, an ex-bingo center in Detroit and a small theater in Atlanta were willing originally to exhibit the X-rated film.

Now "Sweetback" has grossed over $11 million, "played everywhere except in Miami where they wanted to cut" and led to such byproducts as record album, T-shirts and wines.

Despite Disaster, Medium Has Been Good To Moore

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Moore, who spent seven years playing a saint but has been lucky to scrape through one season as a lord, is even braver than Simon Templar and Brett Sinclair, his two television images.

Moore visited New York recently on a week when his ABC series, "The Persuaders," was the bottom show on Nielsen's popularity list and was agreeable — if not exactly eager — to talk about the program.

Moore politely brushed aside queries about why he thought "The Persuaders," in which he costars with Tony Curtis, had failed to catch on early in the season, although it will have a second chance at a different network time.

"Oh, I think we've been running into a bit of hard luck," Moore murmured in his best casual milord manner.

Whatever the ultimate fate of "The Persuaders," Moore really can not be too downcast: television has been good to him, from the day he won the title role in "Ivanhoe," which introduced the handsome stranger to American audiences.

Moore's Lord Brett Sinclair of "The Persuaders" and his Simon Templar of "The Saint" are almost interchangeable characters — poised, urbane, upper-crust — almost campy burlesques of the old-fashioned clean profile hero. He apparently was already socked into the part almost 10 years ago when, for a half a season, he played Beau Maverick, a long-lost British cousin of the poker-playing clan who surfaced after James Garner, who played Bart left the popular series and brother Brett needed a partner.

"The Saint" through seven years and 106 episodes — still playing around successfully on a lot of American channels — was his big hit.

"We stopped three years ago," Moore said, "and I was busy after that making films. I'm not quite certain how 'The Persuaders' came about except that my partner, Bob Baker, discussed the idea with Sir Lew Grade, although they didn't tell me."

Somebody thought it would be amusing to throw Moore, with his Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts accents, together with

All Things Going Right For Melvin Van Peebles

NEW YORK (AP) — Not too long ago, Melvin Van Peebles was so short of bread that he had to cudge to bucks from a pal to pay the parking fee for a truck, also borrowed.

Now he's in the heavy chips, but less than overwhelmed.

"Yeah," he concedes with a wave of an ever-unlit cigarillo, "I'm probably a millionaire, on paper anyway. You have to be financially independent to pull off the things I'm pulling off."

The multiple Van Peebles activities—song-writing, movies, books, a Broadway show and sundry spinoffs — are parts of a single purpose: freedom for the disfranchised.

"My constituency is the nitty-gritty people in the streets," he strikes a mildly evangelical note. "I probably have some of the missionary or minister in me, telling it like it is to the power structure."

BLACKS REACT, TOO
Van Peebles is no fire-breathing ethnic crusader, however. He cheerfully acknowledges middle-class blacks react as emphatically against his style as whites. "They all feel accused."

But neither that nor sordid episodes on the way up have turned him racially hostile.

"Well, you know, bitterness is very unproductive," says the 39-year-old entertainer who was born in Chicago's slums. Also he remarks, "the ghetto is in the mind, first."

As a voluntary spokesman for "the silent black majority," the slender, denim-jacketed Van Peebles declares that his most rounded statement thus far is "Aint Supposed to Die a Natural Death," the musical now at Broadway's Ambassador Theater that opened to controversial reviews.

Why not? "I supposed it has something to do with being born with blue eyes and a straight nose and growing to be 6-foot-2," he said.

Hollywood was only willing to give him a job as an elevator operator despite pleas to write and direct. "So I went to Europe on the GI bill and studied for a Ph.D. in astronomy at the University of Amsterdam."

BEST RACER — Acknowledged as one of the world's best racers, Steve McQueen challenges the power and speed of the most dangerous sport on earth in Cinema Center Films' "Le Mans."

Actor, Racer, Person McQueen Is Them All

HOLLYWOOD — Steve McQueen has always approached life as if it were a head-on duel. He is his own man, an individual in a world that increasingly calls for conformity. On and off camera McQueen absorbs and enjoys every second of this complex thing we call life.

In Cinema Center Films, "LE MANS," a spectacular drama, set at the world's most dangerous and exciting racing competition, the private and professional McQueen have come together. Acknowledged as one of the best racers around, McQueen was able to draw upon his skills for his role. Much to the dismay of his insurance company, he performed his own driving for the film... often at speeds in excess of 200 mph.

While filming on location for National General Pictures' release of "LE MANS," which opens Wednesday at the Jet Drive In Theatre, McQueen analyzed his fascination with speed. "People say that all racers are beckoning death," McQueen stated, "but it's not that way. I don't enjoy sheer speed over which you have no control. That frightens me. The challenge of racing is the knowledge that your equipment is the best, that you are in command."

As a voluntary spokesman for "the silent black majority," the slender, denim-jacketed Van Peebles declares that his most rounded statement thus far is "Aint Supposed to Die a Natural Death," the musical now at Broadway's Ambassador Theater that opened to controversial reviews.

The stage show, a kaleidoscopic melange of Harlem street life, is for its creator "a play about love, about the human condition, about man's inhumanity to man, nothing about color per se."

Prior to "Aint Supposed" Van Peebles emerged from the obscurity of steadfast but minimally profitable music and film work with the feature-length movie "Sweet Sweetback's Baadasssss Song," concerned with hoodlum violence and parlayed into existence on promissory notes, the picture seemed headed for swift oblivion.

Only two cinemas, an ex-bingo center in Detroit and a small theater in Atlanta were willing originally to exhibit the X-rated film.

Now "Sweetback" has grossed over $11 million, "played everywhere except in Miami where they wanted to cut" and led to such byproducts as record album, T-shirts and wines.

TABOO SUBJECTS
With good-natured slangy terseness, Van Peebles raps

"I find business fascinating," he said.

His acting ambition is to play a villain, but he believes that while he may be able to get away with playing an occasional "weird" role, the public would not accept him as a heavy.

Why not? "I supposed it has something to do with being born with blue eyes and a straight nose and growing to be 6-foot-2," he said.

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Moore, who spent seven years playing a saint but has been lucky to scrape through one season as a lord, is even braver than Simon Templar and Brett Sinclair, his two television images.

Moore visited New York recently on a week when his ABC series, "The Persuaders," was the bottom show on Nielsen's popularity list and was agreeable — if not exactly eager — to talk about the program.

Moore politely brushed aside queries about why he thought "The Persuaders," in which he costars with Tony Curtis, had failed to catch on early in the season, although it will have a second chance at a different network time.

"Oh, I think we've been running into a bit of hard luck," Moore murmured in his best casual milord manner.

Whatever the ultimate fate of "The Persuaders," Moore really can not be too downcast: television has been good to him, from the day he won the title role in "Ivanhoe," which introduced the handsome stranger to American audiences.

Moore's Lord Brett Sinclair of "The Persuaders" and his Simon Templar of "The Saint" are almost interchangeable characters — poised, urbane, upper-crust — almost campy burlesques of the old-fashioned clean profile hero. He apparently was already socked into the part almost 10 years ago when, for a half a season, he played Beau Maverick, a long-lost British cousin of the poker-playing clan who surfaced after James Garner, who played Bart left the popular series and brother Brett needed a partner.

"The Saint" through seven years and 106 episodes — still playing around successfully on a lot of American channels — was his big hit.

"We stopped three years ago," Moore said, "and I was busy after that making films. I'm not quite certain how 'The Persuaders' came about except that my partner, Bob Baker, discussed the idea with Sir Lew Grade, although they didn't tell me."

Somebody thought it would be amusing to throw Moore, with his Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts accents, together with

J. H. Taylor Heads New Task Force For Cosden

James H. Taylor has joined Cosden Oil & Chemical Company as director of business development. In this capacity he will head a new task force whose objective will be to develop new business opportunities for the company.

Taylor will report to Ken W. Perry, senior vice president. Working with him on special assignment are Birt Allison, manager of research, and William H. West, western regional marketing manager, who is relocating here from California.

JAMES H. TAYLOR

A graduate of the University of Minnesota, Taylor holds a BA degree in international studies. He did advance study at the University of Madrid. He has 11 years of international marketing and operations management experience with The Dow Chemical Company and Archer-Daniels-Midland Company, having recently been group product manager for Dow's styrene monomer and polymer business in Latin America.

Taylor has resided in several Caribbean and Latin American countries, and is fluent in both Spanish and Portuguese.

Melina Mercouri Wants Most To Return Home

MELINA MERCOURI NEW YORK (AP) — Sprawled barefoot on a couch in her hotel living room, Melina Mercouri wearily announced to the ceiling: "Do you want to see a dead person? Then look at me!"

Assured she looked far from dead, the vibrant Greek actress hopped to her feet, displayed the wide smile and lanky laugh first seen and heard by many in the film "Never On Sunday," shook hands, then lay down again.

"Why am I tired?" she repeated. "What a Greek question! I woke up at 6 o'clock this morning to do a television interview. That was followed by many other interviews. It is now late in the afternoon. And you, my love, came late!"

She laughed again and tucked her feet under her, explaining, "I have claustrophobia about my feet. I am very used to walking on the Greek sand and in the Greek sun without my shoes."

AWAY SINCE 1966 Miss Mercouri hasn't walked in Greece since late 1966. "That was the last time I am in Greece," she explained wistfully. She had come to New York to star in a musical show called "Ilya Darling." While the show, the stage version of "Never On Sunday," was running on Broadway, the Greek government changed and came under its present rule.

The current government, she says, took away her citizenship and confiscated her property, a fact she laments in her new book, "I Was Born Greek." The book, her first, tells of her early life, her friends, the political makeup of Greece — which she opposes — but mostly it celebrates her love for Greece. She remarks in the first paragraph: "What I love most in the world is Greece, but the Greek sea, the Greek hills, the Greek sun, the reflection of the sun on the Greek hills are not for me to see. I am not permitted to return to Greece. That is why I am writing this book."

Fingering a string of worry beads — "I am not worried. They make me think better. And I don't smoke too much" — Miss Mercouri says that despite the lack of a Greek passport she was given papers by Switzerland which enable her to be a "satellite."

"You don't know how I can be a satellite!" she laughs. "Then I will tell you. I go around the world. Since the Swiss gave me the papers I go often to Switzerland. I have great feeling for the Swiss. But I have not a home." However, she and her husband, filmmaker Jules Dassin, do keep an apartment in Paris.

"TERRIBLE THING" "No," she continues, "I cannot go to Greece, and I miss it like a damned woman! Like all Greeks miss Greece. The most terrible thing you can say to a person is, 'You are not Greek, you are not Spanish, you are not Pakistani.' That is the most terrible thing." She bit her lip, and then the laugh bubbled out again. "You know," she said, "they have declared me a non-Greek. They are ridiculous!"

Miss Mercouri, who trained as a classical actress in Greece but also has done many contemporary plays, among them "A Streetcar Named Desire," has no special feeling for the stage over the movies.

SAYS FATHA HINES Keyboard Artists Work To Keep Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl "Fatha" Hines, who now is 65 and has been playing jazz piano professionally since he was 15, says he has approached his career as he would have if he'd been a doctor.

A doctor has to keep up with all the new diseases and cures, and Hines has been keeping up with what's going on in the world of music. That doesn't mean he plays rock. "The kids have their own thing going. They have their own groups," he says. "If they want you, they'll find you, but they don't want to hear an old man playing rock."

What Hines does is play, as he recently did here, with a combo, bass, drums and trumpet, each of whom takes solos, and a young singer with a beautiful voice, Marva Josie. They're playing jazz, "Sweet Lorraine," "Going to Chicago," "Slaughter on 10th Avenue," with an occasional pop song like "That's Life" thrown in, but it isn't enough pure Fatha Hines jazz piano for real jazz buffs. Hines is considered the greatest jazz pianist alive today and one of the few true innovators in the past.

Those people don't realize, Hines says, that the biggest change in American audiences is the vast shortening of their attention span. He has gone for variety, hoping to keep people interested.

"I can't complain; I came up when conditions were very, very good. People did listen. Now they talk or smooch or jump up and dance. It's distracting for me to be playing a piano solo and trying to put some emphasis on it and have people jump up and dance. But we just try to overlook it.

Elephant Easy To Work With

KANDY, Ceylon (AP) — Nanda Sena is one of a vanishing breed of workers as is his partner, Menike.

Sena, 17, is a mahout, an elephant driver who learned to handle the animal and speak to it in "elephant language from my father and other old men in the village."

Menike, which means gem in Sinhala, is a docile elephant, according to Sena, and easy to work with in the forests and lumber yards near this old imperial capital of Ceylon.

The elephant is the tractor and the crane of the lumber industry in Ceylon. It drags logs from the forest, lifts them onto truck beds and stacks them into piles in the lumber yards.

Sena and an understudy, Aberatna Banda, also 17, work with Menike from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily, when there is work. In the afternoon, they go down to a nearby river where Sena and Banda scrub Menike's hide with coconut husks. Then Menike lolls in the river, relaxing.

If he works steadily Sena can earn about $160 a month, far above the national average income and quite good for a lad with little schooling "who never has wanted to do anything else but work with elephants."

GOOD TASTE IN MEDICINES

Everyone prefers a pleasant tasting and pleasant smelling medication. For, when we are ill, we are usually more aware of these two sensations. Somehow if the prescription does taste, smell and look good, it not only helps the body to get well, but it can help to ease the mind, give a lift to the spirit and calm the emotions.

Whenever a liquid medicine is released for public use and the manufacturer has sent us our first supply, we make it a point to see what its physical properties are like before we put it on the "new drug" shelf in our prescription department. Nowadays it seems that almost everyone of them TASTES, SMELLS, and LOOKS good.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.
