Johnson Attorneys Race to Free Name for Ballot as Court Order Is Extended

FORT WORTH —(AP)— Attorneys for Lyndon B. Johnson raced today to free the name of the U. S. Senate candidate from legal bondage in time to get it on the general election ballot.

They rushed to appeal a trouncing in Fort Worth's Federal District Court even as the same court selected federal investigators to check South Texas voting practices.

Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson yesterday granted rival Senate Candidate Coke R. Stevenson a continued order keeping Johnson's name off the November ballot. At the same time he arranged to send federal men into Jim Wells, Zapata and Duvall Counties to investigate alleged voting frauds in the second Demoncratic primary, last Aug. 28.

Before nightfall, Johnson's legal advisors were expected to lay their appeal at the door of the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Johnson's name, to find a place on the ballot, must be legally free by Oct. 3.

His lawyers awaited only Davidson's final judgement in the case in Dallas today.

The dry-witted little jurist said he would hear reports from the federal investigators at a hearing in his Fort Worth court sometime next week. Their reports, said he, would guide him in deciding whether the injunction will be made permanent and whether he will order Stevenson's name placed on the general election ballot as the Democratic Party candidate for the Senate.

Stevenson in obtaining the original restraining order Sept. 15 against the ballot use of Johnson's name, had petitioned that he himself be named the Democratic nominee. The former Texas governor, in his court pleadings, alleged voting frauds in Jim Wells and Zapata Counties.

The State Democratic Convention certified Johnson had won the Democratic nomination from Stevenson by 87 votes.

During the two-day injunction hearing which ended last night, Johnson's attorneys threw jeers, sneers and thousands of hot words at these allegations—but unsuccessfully.

"An effort to build up a smoke-screen based on fictitious claims of fraud," cried John Cofer of Austin.

And Dudley Tarlton of Corpus Christi shouted: "The case of the plaintiffs is built on surmise and suspicion and insecure testimony. They ask that the will of the people of Texas be thwarted by an injunctive process from a federal court."

But the calm, grey-haired Davidson watched 13 South Texans troop to the witness stand, listened to them testify concerning the primary voting, and said, as he prepared to rule in the case:

"We think this whole situation should be gone into further. In cases of fraud, the rule is to throw open the door and let the light in."

Nor did the jurist budge from his position when Johnson's counselors pleaded that time is running out for Johnson's chances to get his name on the ballot.

Half a dozen times, James Allred, former governor of Texas, said "time is of the essence."

"Time is of the essence," said Allred as he sought to withdraw, before noon, Johnson's whole opposition to Stevenson's original allegations of fraud. This would have invited an early ruling by the judge and expedited an appeal. It also would have halted the parade of witnesses before it started. But the judge wouldn't allow the bill of opposition to be withdrawn.

"Time is of the essence," said Allred, over and over again, as he declined to cross-examine the South Texas occupants of the witness stand.

"Our rights are being jeopardized every hour," he shouted at one stage of the hearing.

And the cry was echoed by Cofer:

To continue the restraining order, he said, his voice trembling, "would be doing a great wrong to that young man there (Johnson) who has served so ably his people of the 10th District.

"It would be doing a great wrong to that little woman there (Mrs. Johnson) who has helped him bear the burden of his statesmanship."

And he added:

"This is an effort to delay this matter so this young man who has won this election may not be certified. They would rather have a Republican elected than have Lyndon Johnson as United States senator."

But Judge Davidson in his final opinion said:

"Delay may be disastrous but the delay hasn't been the making of the complainant (Stevenson) in this case."

The jurist said he figured the federal investigators could gather their evidence in three days.

Davidson, perched comfortably in his big chair in the finely paneled courtroom, smiled and seemed to enjoy the impassioned oratory that flowed generously from the legal talent of both factions.

And the attorneys smiled, too, when once he commented wryly: "You gentlemen should remember the court is hearing this as a court and not as a jury."

An interpreter was employed for some of the day's witnesses who spoke only Spanish.

Luis Salinas, 60, of Alice displayed his poll tax but said he didn't vote in the second primary election, Aug. 28. He slept all worked all night the night before. On notes from a polling list from Precinct 13, Jim Wells County, the name of Luis Salinas was listed as voter 911.

Stevenson alleges 200 fraudulent votes were added for Johnson in Precinct 13.

Hector B. Cerda, 21, resident of the precinct is a student at Texas A & I College, Kingsville. He was at Pharr, Texas, in the Rio Grande Valley on Aug. 28.

"I got back to Alice that night, too late to vote.

The name of Hector Cerda was on the introduced notes as voter 920.

Enriquita Acero, Alice, said she didn't vote. Her number on the plaintiff's notes: 842.

Stevenson claims all names on the voting list after 841 were placed fraudulently.

Mrs. J. M. Mitchell said she voted at "20 minutes of 6 as either voter 714 or 715."

The notes from the polling list were introduced by Harry Lee Adams of Alice, new county Democratic Committee chairman who said he was not allowed to have a copy of the polling list. He was not permitted to say who refused to let him have the list.

Ike Poole of Alice said he saw the polling list and noted a change in the ink after number 841.

E. M. Brownlee of Alice, who gave out election supplies, estimated he gave 600 ballots to precinct 13.

Brownlee testified he was present at an Alice bank when Stevenson "was refused permission to get copies of the Precinct 13 polling list.

"He was not permitted to take any information from it whatever."

The finally certified vote in Precinct 13 was 985 votes for Johnson and 61 for Stevenson, he stated.

WEST WAITS FOR RUSSIA'S NEXT MOVE

PARIS —(AP)— The United States, Britain and France began a tense wait today for Russia's next move in the East-West crisis over Berlin.

The foreign ministers of the three Western powers and their aides, as well as high officials from 58 countries here for the United Nations Assembly meeting, were gravely conscious that what happens in the next week may affect the course of world peace.

The three Western nations addressed identical notes to the Kremlin last night calling for a yes or no answer to this question:

Is a Berlin settlement possible along lines already broadly drawn at recent conferences in Moscow and Berlin?

Topmost in the minds of the Western diplomats and the U.N delegates were British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's ominous words to the British House of Commons yesterday during the course of a statement on Berlin.

"I am not saying that we are committed to war," Bevin told the house. "We have not reached that stage yet."

Bevin's two negatives were interpreted by the world's leading statesmen here as having a pessimistic ring.

No one would venture to guess what the Russian leaders will reply to the American, British and French notes. The answer is not expected from Moscow before early next week.

Suit Asks $50,000 for Damages

A suit asking $50,000 damages as a result of an accident on Nov. 30, 1947 on Highway 60, was struck by Coleman's car on yesterday by Lena Pearl Dick and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Dick, all of Lefors, against Austin W. Coleman, Plainview.

Miss Dick's petition alleges she was, struck by Coleman's car on the night of Nov. 30, 1947, as she and her mother were attempting to help her father push his disabled car off the road.

The Dicks further ask damages in the amount of $12,647.30 for the father, D. L. Dick, in compensation for hospital bills, past and future, and additional $12,000 damages for Mrs. Dick.

According to the plaintiff's petition, the girl suffered permanent disabling injuries through farctures of the leg and arm plus internal injuries and has had to be hospitalized several times since the mishap.

County Attorney Bruce Parker, chief counsel for the Dick family, said this morning that no answer by the defendant, Coleman, has been filed and that legal service is expected to be accomplished within several days.

Latest Fashions Are Displayed at Top o' Texas Fair

Oh, those curves—those fashions. Everything that is to be seen at a New York fashion show was duplicated at Recreation Park last night at the Top o' Texas Fair grounds.

More than 1,000 people crowded around the main exhibit building to view those 29 beautiful gals and guys show the latest thing in clothing.

Children's fashions started off the show, with Ken Bennett's orchestra providing background music and Luther Kelley giving the commentary.

First to brave the sea of watching faces was 15-month-old Susan Ann Boyles, in a blue organdy number with matching bonnet. She was accompanied by four-year-old Judy Gordon. Next was three-year old Joe Fischer. They modeled for the Tiny Top Shop.

Representing Simmons' Children's Wear was young Roy B. Webb, attired in best movie-cowboy fashion. Fancy, embroidered black shirt, black trousers, spurs' black hat, and guns in jeweled holders—everything in fact, except the horse, made up his costume.

Maynette Loftus and Mary Ann Kelley modeled older children's wear.

After a tumble and a spill taken by a younger model or two, a few premature and some tardy entrances, ladies' current fashions were shown. Models included Miss

Warning Is Aimed At Soviet Union

PARIS—(AP)—Secretary of State Marshall said today in a thinly veiled warning to the Soviet Union that American patience should not be mistaken for weakness.

Marshall outlined the United States' basic foreign policy in a speech to the fall session of the United Nations General Assembly.

He referred to the Russians and their six Eastern European satellites as the "small minority" which consistently boycotts the Balkan and Korean U.N. commissions and the "little assembly."

"It would be a tragic error," the American declared, "if, because of misunderstanding, the patience of others should be mistaken for weakness."

In an apparent reference to the Berlin crisis, Marshall said the United States "is prepared to seek in every possible way, in any appropriate forum, a constructive and peaceful settlement of the political controversies which contribute to the present tension and uncertainty."

The first reply to the American secretary from the Soviet bloc came from Poland's foreign minister, Zygmunt Modzelewski, who savagely attacked the European Reconstruction Program (ERP) and Western efforts to unite their zones of occupation in Germany.

Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines led off the general debate in the assembly with a call to the small nations of the world to unite in a "third force" that could maintain a balance of power between East and West.

Marshall said "The United States does not wish to increase the existing tension."

"It is its wholehearted desire to alleviate that tension. But we will not compromise the essential principles. We will under no circumstances barter away the rights and freedom of other peoples."

The "elementary requirement" for cooperation between nations, the American said, "is that international obligations be respected and that relations among states be based on mutual confidence, respect and tolerance."

He called for early peace settlements with Japan and Germany so that those nations "may exist as democratic and peaceful nations subject to safeguards against the revival of military or economic means of aggression and so they may, in due course, demonstrate their qualification for admission to membership in the United Nations."

"In Austria," he said, "our aim is restoration of its political and economic freedom within its 1937 frontiers and its immediate admission as a member of the United Nations."

Marshall advocated admission to the United Nations of Israel and Trans-Jordan, two combatants in the Palestine war.

The United States, he said, "favors" a Palestine free from strife, with "both Jews and Arabs assured of the peaceful development envisaged by the actions of the general assembly and the security council."

Two days ago Marshall endorsed Count Folke Bernadotte's report on Palestine. Today Marshall also advocated:

Truman Hammers Away at GOP Farm Policy

Aboard Truman Campaign Train —(AP)— President Truman campaigned for votes today among early-rising Californians with the assertion the Republicans propose only "crumbs for the little fellow."

He told a trainside crowd at Merced—in the heart of the rich San Joaquin Valley farming area—that "if the Republicans ever did anything for the farmers, it was an accident" and not "on purpose."

It was only 6:45 a.m., Pacific time, when the President appeared on the platform. He told the crowd Mrs. Truman and Margaret still were not up.

However, he had made his first appearance at Modesto at 5:50 a.m. to exchange "good mornings" with a crowd there.

He apologized for not being up when the train stopped at Tracy at 5 a.m.

"I didn't get up quite as early as usual," he explained. "I have to get a little sleep. I can't go all day and all night, too."

The President tossed into the increasingly bitter political campaign a suggestion for a "solid front" on foreign policy while he

Dewey Fires Criticism at Truman Administration's Soviet Dealings

Enroute With Dewey to Phoenix—(AP) — Swinging off senatorial circuit today, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey fired new barbed criticisms at the Truman administration's dealings with Russia.

As his special train rolled westward toward a fourth formal campaign speech at Phoenix tonight, the Republican nominee appeared ready to try some variations of the theme that Yalta, Potsdam and other decisions gave the Soviets too big a chunk of the world.

He got what his aides regarded as good crowd reaction when he asserted at Santa Fe, N.M., that the GOP's major task "is to get an administration which doesn't play 'footie' with the Communists and the next day say: 'We don't like you.' "

Dewey also has been contending that the Republican Congress provided 50 percent more funds for reclamation projects in the last two years than the Democratic Congress did in the preceding two.

That theme was expected to be a major one when Dewey discussed the problems of the Southwest at Phoenix.

He rides into California for a major talk at Los Angeles tomorrow night. California has no Senate race. Neither does Oregon or Washington, next on his schedule.

Dewey gave a boost yesterday to Patrick Hurley, Republican former secretary of war, running for the Senate in New Mexico against Clinton Anderson, former Democratic secretary of agriculture.

Lew Wentz, Oklahoma national committeeman, joined the train to urge Dewey to visit Oklahoma, where Rep. Ross Rizley, Republican, is running against former Gov. Robert Kerr, Democrat, in the Senate race. Wentz said he didn't get a final answer.

LONG BACKS DRIVE TO PLACE TRUMAN ON LOUISIANA BALLOT

Dixiecrats On Defense In Action

BATON ROUGE, La. —(AP)— States' Rights Democratic sympathizers manned the defenses today as Gov. Earl K. Long's supporters in the Louisiana Legislature drove toward placing President Truman on the ballot.

A bill to give Mr. Truman a chance at the state's 10 electoral votes in the November general election was introduced last night in the brief opening meeting of a hurriedly called special session.

W.H. (Eva) Talbot, national Democratic committeeman and one-time campaign manager for Governor Long, immediately declared his opposition. He accused Mr. Truman of "fighting a cold civil war against the South."

The States' Righters, he added, are out to take control of the National Democratic Executive Committee and of the Democratic delegations in Congress.

Leander Perez, South Louisiana political leader who led the move in the Democratic State Central Committee to pledge the Louisiana party to the States' Rights candidates instead of Mr. Truman and Senator Barkley, said he was studying the proposal and indicated he objected to a provision that the national committee might qualify candidates in Louisiana.

The measure would allow any national party committee or 100 qualified voters to place presidential and vice presidential candidates on the ballot upon certification of a slate of electors to the secretary of state. The word "national" would precede the name of the party on the ballot. In Mr. Truman's instance he could be qualified as the "National Democratic Party" nominee. But he would be denied use of the traditional rooster symbol of the Louisiana Democratic Party. Some legislators speculated the donkey, used in many other states, would be chosen. Names of candidates could be submitted until the secretary of state ordered the ballots printed.

The special session followed action Sept. 10 by the Democratic State Central Committee declaring HURRICANE—Heavy waves lash the road at Bakers Haulover at Miami Beach as a violent hurricane picked up speed to put the extreme southern part of Florida in the danger zone. The hurricane was heading for Cuba at the time this picture was made.—(NEA Telephoto).

Florida Begins Cleanup Job After Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla. —(AP)— A hurricane that left three dead and an estimated $25,000,000 damage in Florida swept farther out to sea today as the state began a mammoth cleanup job under a bright sun.

Six other persons were killed and $3,000,000 damage done by the storm when it raked Cuba before blowing into Florida.

The hurricane was about 250 miles east northeast of Melbourne, Fla., today. It continued to move away from the Atlantic Seaboard in a direction between northeast and east northeast at an accelerated speed of 16 miles an hour.

The hurricane, which lumbered through Florida at a slow eight miles an hour, crossed the coast line into the ocean near Jensen Beach yesterday. A rare double rainbow marked its end at Miami.

The Weather Bureau said the storm still packed winds of 100 miles an hour or more near the center. Gales entended outward 200 miles.

Winds diminished along the Florida coast.

The hurricane was expected to pass about 500 miles east of Jacksonville and away from the busy Atlantic coastal shipping lanes.

The ponderous storm needed 30 hours to travel through Florida on a 240-mile line from Key West to Jensen Beach, attended by thrashing winds up to 160 miles an hour.

Tremendous property damage was reported at Key West, in the choice Indian River citrus area and to vegetable crops along the southern and eastern rim of Lake Okeechobee.

Key West alone estimated loss at one million dollars, principally to its waterfront and shipping. More than 100 pleasure and commercial boats were sunk. Many were smashed to pieces. A 200-foot dock was swept out to sea and the city's two principal commercial docks badly damaged.

mercial docks badly damaged.

Power and telephone lines were hard hit. The island's sponge and fishing fleet was practically wiped out. Damage to boats alone was estimated at more than $300,000.

All schools on the island sustained some damage. About 1,000 trees were uprooted in Key West alone. Ten inches of rain fell there. Some Navy boats and installations were damaged but no official figures were available.

French Get Wage Hike

PARIS —(AP)—The government decided today to grant French workers a 15 percent wage increase.

The increase was less than the demands of both Communist and non-Communist unions which have been calling a series of harassing strikes. A two-hour nationwide general strike to support such demands has been scheduled for tomorrow.

The cabinet decision came amid reports that a timely American financial gesture had saved the government from collapse.

Reliable American sources said Premier Henri Queuille had received a life belt in the form of a United States decision to unfreeze 70,000,000,000 francs (about $230,000,000) representing profits from sales of goods such as coal and tractors furnished to France under the European Recovery Program (ERP).

Both American and French sources said this fund will permit Queuille to stave off disaster in the form of strikes and dissension within his cabinet.

Scarce Skunks Hurt Trade Hunter Can't Make Scent

John Silver: "You might say that my rifle is for sale."

YARMOUTHPORT, Mass. (NEA)— The skunk oil business ain't what it used to be.

That's the sad report from 80-year-old John Silver, whose business is killing skunks, rendering the oil from their carcasses, and selling it to mothers who, he says, are smart enough to know what to do for a croupy infant.

It's the greatest known remedy for croup," says Silver. I've had persons come from as far as Chicago to get a bottle of skunk oil. It cures aches, pains and muscular stiffness, too."

In addition, it clears the room of anybody whose duty does not require him to remain, but Silver did not mention that.

The trouble with business is not with demand, which seems to hold up well enough. The trouble is with supply.

"I walked more than 200 miles last season," Silver says, "and didn't get a single skunk. In two years I've only been able to get one of 'em."

The current market price for the oil is $1 an ounce. "A few years ago," Mr. Silver said, I sold it for 50 cents a pint, but the varmints are getting scarce, so I had to raise my price."

Unlike his namesake, Long John Silver, the pirate of Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island," the skunk trapper is an admitted 5 feet, 4 inches in height.

"How do I make the skunk oil? Well, I'll tell you. First, I catch a skunk." Here the brown eyes twinkled. "Then I skin it and cut away the layer of fat around the carcass. I put the fat in the oven in an earthenware pot and let it simmer. It has to be tried carefully," he added, "so it won't burn.

"When it's ready I pour off the oil and strain it to remove the sediment." The trapper grinned. "Want to see some?"

Removing an eight-ounce bottle from a secret cache, he held it up to the light. "There it is," he said, "my complete stock—and," he added, "it's not for sale at any price. It's all I've got left and I may need it myself."

Describing his methods of trapping the skunks, Mr. Silver said he had his best luck on the shores of ponds.

"When I find a skunk in one of my traps I approach the animal cautiously."

Here the trapper illustrated how he raised his .22-caliber rifle and fired the shot that meant skunk oil in stock. "I have to be careful and walk up on the skunk real slow," he said. If I don't, Mr. Skunk might get ideas and shoot first."

The trapper chuckled.

In answer to the unspoken question, he grinned. "Only once," he said. "It was when I was a kid. I found a skunk in the woods and mistook it for a cat. I was wrong."

John Silver laughed. "I buried my clothes, and never made the same mistake again."

Mr. Silver said he learned his unique profession as a youth, from an elderly man in Dennis. "Been at it ever since," he added.

"This rifle," he patted the satin-smooth stock of his skunking piece, "has killed more skunks than you could shake a stick at. It was given to me by Edward Hallett of West Groton, more years ago than I can remember. It was build," he said with a note of pride, "in 1862, before the Civil War."

The rifle is indeed an antique. Stamped on the barrel of the eight-pound, .22-caliber weapon is the legend: "Frank Wesson, Worcester, Patent Applied for, 1862."

"You might say," Mr. Silver grinned, "that my rifle is for sale. I think I can pick up another one for my business.

"Price? Here the brown eyes twinkled again and the shrewd Yankee trapper caressed his chin. "I won't mention any price," he said. "I'd like to dicker, or maybe make a trade."

Shifting his rocking chair from the shade of an elm tree on his lawn, to catch the later afternoon sun, Silver relaxed and lit his pipe. "Yes," he said, "it's quite a business. The season is short, Nov. 1 to March 1, and skunks are getting harder to find every year.

"Some days in this business, you can't make a scent!"

Every Day Is Moving Day For Government Agencies

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Every day, including Sunday, all year round, is moving day for the government.

New agencies are born, old ones wiped out. Others are made bigger or smaller.

Some agencies move to Washington, some away from it, and others from one building to another here in Washington.

In short, the need for space by government agencies is always changing.

This doesn't happen with the main parts of a big agency, like the Commerce or Labor or Justice departments.

They have their own buildings and their main offices are there.

About 10 years ago each government agency handled its own moving. This sometimes ended in a mess.

Gradually, this was changed and it goes like this now:

When some government outfit has to move, it's told when by the government's Office of Real Estate Management.

And that office also notifies the Office of Buildings Management. The Office of Buildings Management notifies its moving section.

The moving section has to have its trucks and crew of movers at the right place at the right time.

This moving section has about 600 men, divided into special groups.

Records of the moving section show that this was done in 1947:

Trucks that moved the government around, in and out of the District of Columbia, traveled 3,330,000 miles and hauled 34,510 loads of office furniture, files and equipment.

There were 537 separate moves. Twenty-seven federal departments and agencies were involved in those moves.

Wayne Plans To Take Lead In New Film

By JACK QUIGG

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—With his Republic films all on the indefinite list, John Wayne plans to transfer his talents. The rugged actor says he'll sign for the lead in "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon" and go to work "as soon as I can grow a moustache."

John Agar and Ben Johnson are Utah. Wayne will be working for his old friend, Director John Ford.

Wayne was set for several films at Republic, including his pet project "Alamo." But since the studio's recent production cut he's not sure when they'll be made.

The stage is a far better medium than the screen for presenting Shakespeare, opines Sir Ralph Richardson. The value of movies, says the noted Shakesperean actor, is in bringing the classics to people who otherwise would never see them. "One can never be the worse for any association with a noble mind," quoth he on "The Heiress" set.

Errol Flynn will return to his Jamaica haunts after "Montana." He has to re-shoot underwater scenes of his movie on oceanic life. . . . Those reports that Rita Hayworth was on suspension for tarrying too long in Europe are unfounded. Rita's contract guarantees her year around pay.

Danny Kaye will fly to London, stay a day, then fly back. Occasion for the hurried journey is the King and Queen's command performance. Determined not to miss it, the comic will take off from his "Happy Times" duties.

Tuberculosis was the leading cause of death in the United States in 1900 with 195 deaths per 100,000. Today, diseases of the heart are the leading cause of death with about 307 deaths per 100,000.

Look for Causes, Not the Symptons

The President's message to the special session of Congress dwelt at length on rising prices and the high cost of living. But it did not touch at all on one of the basic reasons for inflation—the high cost of government.

Since 1939, according to government figures, the cost of living has risen 73 percent. But in the same period the cost of the federal government has risen 337 percent—from less than $9,000,000,000 in 1939 to nearly $40,000,000,000 for the fiscal year of 1948. To put it another way, the cost of government, federal, state and local, has increased at a rate nearly 4 1-2 times as fast as cost of living and taxes now constitute the largest single item in the budget of the American people—larger than the nation's bill for food.

This underlines the folly of trying to find a scapegoat for high prices. They aren't the fault of manufacturers or retailers or any other group. Industry taking it as a whole, has raised prices reluctantly and only when no other course was possible, because high prices ultimately reduce sales. Our whold government fiscal policy is of a kind that makes more and more inflation inevitable.

It is a gross deception to argue that the cure for higher prices lies in controls and roll-backs to the level of 1946 or some other year. Nothing would do more to discourage production, and to give this country a taste of what a police state is like. No one, whether he be a manufacturer or a storekeeper, can do business at a loss. And nothing in the proposed controls could reduce by a single penny the cost of operating an enterprise.

We must attack inflation by dealing with the causes, not the symptoms. Economical government combined with a tax policy that offers incentives to production, is the first step.

GOPs Hold First Primary in R.I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Rhode Island Republicans have chosen a wealthy retired industrialist and a veteran mayor to lead them in an attempt to gain political control of this long-time Democratic stronghold in November.

Thomas Pierpont Hazard, 55, of Peace Dale, was nominated for U.S. senator and Mayor Albert P. Ruerat, 44, of Warwick, for governor in Monday's GOP primary election—the first in the state's history.

Only the Republicans voted. The Democratic primary is Sept. 29.

U.S. Senator Theodore Francis Green, three-times governor and veteran of a dozen years in Congress, and Gov. John O. Pastore are unopposed for Democratic renomination.

Air Force Pilot Killed in Crash

SAN ANTONIO —(AP)— A Randolph Air Force Base officer was killed and another injured when a T-6 training plane, on a night proficiency flight, crashed last night nine miles notheast of New Braunfels near Hwy. 81.

Base authorities said both pilots apparently attempted to parachute from the plane at low altitude and one chute failed to open in time. Identification of the dead man was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Revolt Seethes Behind Iron Curtain; Commies Attacked

By JOHN FISHER

Mass demonstrations by the plucky Berlin public reveal to the outside world that open resistance to the odious Russians is growing.

The Germans dared to express their opinions because of the presence of Allied troops. Elsewhere in the Soviet orbit downtrodden people are snarling at their masters.

The embittered populace mostly is kept in check by police, soldiers and MVD. But violence and planned outbreaks are increasing, a fact admitted by some Communist papers published in slave states.

The rift in Warsaw between Vice Premier Gomulka—once dubbed the "Little Stalin of Poland"—and the Cominform faithful is a family row similar to the Tito feud. Gomulka opposed the Soviet scheme for a united Germany, as do most Poles, regardless of party, who fear a revived Germany.

His stand not only weakens the Reds but bolsters the spirit of non-Communist Poles. Although he has bowed to Stalin again, his "deviation" has damaged the Communist movement.

Guerrilla warfare has erupted from the Baltic to the Black Sea, especially in the heavily wooded areas. Several well-armed organizations are operating in Poland under the names "Boa", "National Fighting Union," "Freedom and Independence," and "Home Army of the Polish Republic." When captured, their members are severely punished or shot. But new heroes replace the lost.

UNDERGROUND IN BALTIC

In the lonely Baltic stretches the underground performs as a large-scale military body, taking orders from a general staff of army officers. Many men wear uniforms. Bands of "Iron Wolves" comb the forests at night, squaring accounts with isolated Russian garrisons.

At dawn, they vanish, hiding in hayloffs of sympathizers. Russian troops are constantly raiding farms, seeking the partisan But often the Reds are so bu looting the farm houses of fo and valuables that they make on perfunctory searches of hiding places.

The newest, big outbreaks are by the "Ukrainan Insurgent Army" (UPA). It is recruited from Ukrainians who were forcibly settled by Russia in the territory from former German East Prussia to the Pripet marshes. Detachments operate all through this region. Lately they have invaded Czechoslovakia.

Prague security authorities published the following communique: "Czech army and police troops are fighting heavily against UPA units which hold fortifications of World War II in Slovakia." The announcement mentioned a battle in which a band of UPA men, when their ammunition was exhausted, fought with daggers until slain.

CZECHS JOIN REBELS

Tvorba, Communist newspaper, said, "Small but exceedingly well-equipped and well-disciplined UPA units again have broken into Czechoslovakia. It is most alarming that Czech rebels have joined them and have begun to liquidate Communists."

The organ chided Communist leaders for not issuing slogans to counteract the "poison" circulated by the UPA and for not placing sufficient stress that "all of the UPA are in the service of American and British imperialists."

Only daring, able-bodied men in Eastern Europe can be guerrillas. But these organized fighters could not function were they not supported in secret by loyal friends who provide food, shelter and hiding places. Many courageous peasant families risk death all the time by helping their more active patriots.

Unrest is present in the Soviet Union itself. One of our best "pipelines" of information is German prisoners of war who have returned to the American zone. Some are haggard scarecrows, living exhibits to the home folk of the deprivations endured in the "Proletariat Paradise."

Others were more fortunate, if they had skills useful to Red industrialists. Mechanics were employed in factories beside Russians. But their technical experience was so valuable that they were given better food than the Soviet workers. Often hungry Russians begged bread from the POWs.

They report wide distress and dissatisfaction. They say that at first the Russians feasted on lend-lease canned goods and powdered eggs and milk. But today the government hoards the remaining American supplies in warehouses. During the war peasants were allowed to raise and sell extra crops. Now Moscow grabs nearly everything. By February the farmers will run out of food and will swarm into the cities hunting for something to eat.

EVEN SOLDIERS DESERT

Officials from the American zone in Germany declare that lack of food is one of the chief causes of desertion in the Soviet Army. Famished soldiers have been observed around garbage pails of officers' kitchens snatching swill. Paris is full of ex-soldiers and civilians who have escaped from Russia. Any soldier caught in an attemp to run away is first placed in a cell, called a "dog hole," so small that he cannot stand erect. Later he is removed and never is heard of again.

Communists, not only in Russia but everywhere behind the Iron Curtain, show no mercy to deserters or opposition groups. A terrible account of Red cruelty was recently given by Zbigniew Stypulkowski on his arrival in Switzerland. A member of the Polish National Party, he was one of the 16 leaders whose arrest by Russia in 1945 caused such a world protest as to nearly wreck the San Francisco conference that launched the United Nations.

In his first three months in prison he says, he was questioned 500 times. Previous to an interrogation his hands were tied behind his back and he was marched to the place of query by a jailor who held a pistol to his head. A bright light burned in his cell all night. He was compelled to keep his hands outside the blanket and his face turned toward the light. If he rolled over in his sleep the guard awakened him.

Is it any wonder that Moscow's native and foreign captives are learing to hate communism?

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN

We ordinary people think we've got troubles with taxes, the high cost of living and war scares, but all these sort of fade away when you think of the crisis the Department of Agriculture is going throug. It seems that lately, through scientific feeding and pleasant environment, American hens are laying eggs so large that they don't fit into the regular egg cartons and crates any more.

My heart goes out to the Dept. of Agriculture at a time like this, of course, but it's somehow comforting to know that, despite foreign propaganda, American hens are so deliriously happy in this country they try to show their thanks by laying larger eggs. Yes sir, the Russians may steal our atomic bomb and our plane secret, but if they try to kidnap an American hen, she'll probably be so depressed she'll lay an egg the size of an orange seed.

I never knew before that scientific feeding caused larger eggs. My husband George certainly was never fed scientifically, but in the days of vaudeville, he laid two of the biggest eggs that were ever seen in Cincinnati and Poughkeepsie.

POP'S CAMPAIGN . . . . . By Doug Larsen

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— It was a smart move all around to have the President's daughter Margaret accompany him on his cross-country campaigning.

Of all the ups and downs that the President has experienced during the past couple of years in the White House, watching his daughter mature into a fine young lady has been one of his most constant sources of personal satisfaction. When she is around him his spirits are always high. And he has come to rely more and more on her good common sense and professional knowledge of public appearances. When she is at his side he appears to be more at ease and more confident.

It's not easy to be the daughter of the President of the United States. Especially when you're unmarried, fairly attractive, talented and ambitious for a career. It's certainly not something that the average girl of today could handle without making plenty of mistakes.

The spirited Roosevelt children found out rather bitterly what it means to have a father who is president. When one of them got caught exceeding the speed limit on Connecticut Ave. it immediately became a page-one story.

The extremely plain home life and tastes of the Trumans before they moved into the White House made Margaret and Mrs. Truman the target of much petty criticism and gossip at first. Margaret rose above it by maintaining a simple dignity, forgetting none of her old friends and by taking her new status well in stride.

She was smart enough to take advice, however. It wasn't long before her clothes became more stylish and her grooming more careful. The hardest thing she had to learn was how to pose before a camera. Newspictures showed deep, dark circles under her eyes and ugly hollows in her face. The public began to think that the new first daughter of the land was some kind of a goon from seeing her picture in the paper.

It took a while to learn how to put makeup on differently when she planned public appearances. And she learned to tilt her head backwards slightly to avoid the flash camera shadow. At the same time she became more confident and poised when the photographers asked her for "just one more" picture.

The question of whether to capitalize on being the President's daughter and accept the offer of a profitable concert tour last winter was a decision her friends report she worried over a long time. The President said he was leaving it up to her to decide that one. Those who know Margaret best say that she took the word of her teacher that her voice was ready for the tour.

If some of the music critics decided that her voice at the time was not of top professional quality, Margaret can point to hundreds of other singing stars today whose first appearances weren't hailed as sensational artistic achievements, either. But best of all, she took the criticism in good grace with only a determination to work harder and try to improve.

HANDLES MALE ADMIRERS

In the matter of boy-friends Margaret has handled herself especially well. It would obviously have been the scoop of the year for the Washington society reporter who could have gotten the beat on Margaret's engagement. That put Margaret and her dates under uncomfortable scrutiny every time they went out. And first, an especially friendly smile from her to a male companion quickly showed up next day in the gossip columns as a virtual engagement. That soon wore off.

Since then there have been several more reliable stories of her serious interest in a couple of young men. And what attractive girl doesn't have a couple of men after her whom she might consider marrying if all the circumstances were right? But as yet, nothing approaching an engagement to one of them seems to be in the offing, at least according to her best friends.

On the present campaign tour, the thousands of persons who will walk through the President's special cars will have their general impression of the visit improved by the graciousness of Margaret.

WOULD AMERICA COLLAPSE?

Some wag once said that if we should suddenly do away with all advertising in the United States, our civilization would immediately collapse. This statement contains more truth than is at first apparent. There are those who refuse to see the importance of advertising in the economic life of the nation. Moreover, there are those who have singled out this phase of trade and industry for strong criticism.

Civilization today would collapse if it were not bolstered up by American advertising. Today the rest of the world depends upon American production. Yet, too few people recognize that this nation's great productive capacity could not have been built up without advertising. Again, there are too few people who correctly see advertising as the bulwark of American economic freedom. Advertising is the golden key that has unlocked the door to plenty for us all.

GREATEST USERS

Our world-renowned standards of living were achieved because we found out how to produce in volume: bath-tubs, cars, radios, clothing, food. We learned how to make wise use of the human resources of work and brain-power. We learned to harness water-power, steam, oil, gas, and all the others. We created machinery to do most of our hard work. We learned the value of tools. In brief, we have made our factories hum.

But is that all? By no means. The Socialist schemers have failed to evaluate their old slogan, "production for use," in the light of America's vast ecnomy. Not only did we learn to produce, we have learned to use. Americans are the world's greatest producers, and also the world's greatest users. Only 7 per cent of the world's population, we own 70 per cent of the world's automobiles, 37 per cent of the railroads, 50 per cent of the telephones.

BETTER PRICES, QUALITY

There's more to it than just production. Ask any manufacturer, and he'll tell you that the heart of his outfit is his sales force. The fellows who sell and distribute goods represent the other half of our great mass production system. Your high production is fine, but it would do no good unless the goods are placed in the hands of consumers. Continued high output lowers the price. Get the picture?

Selling and distribution simply could not do the job without advertising. Advertising not only sells goods, it always helps measurably to lower prices and to increase quality. When electric refrigerators were first sold only a few thousand were made, and it took $600 or more to buy one. But during fifteen years of advertising millions were sold, the price came down to a fourth of the original price, and the quality was improved greatly.

WAKE UP TO FACTS

Socialists and Communists have had some success in attacking this part of American economic life. A few years ago a survey of 5,000 consumers found that 72 per cent of those interviewed believed advertising increased its costs to the consumer. Among high school teachers, this figure reached 82 per cent. Another survey, answered by 3,174 students in 33 colleges, revealed that 12 per cent considered advertising an economic waste.

It is high time we woke up to the economic facts-of-life! Good and wise advertising is a vital part of free competitive enterprise. Naturally, advertising would be unnecessary in a dictatorship. The dictator could simply tell the people what to eat, wear, and enjoy. He would also tell them what they could not have. Under a system that permits no advertising, we would have two choices: a lower standard of living or a dictatorship.

Ozo Lowde, For Congress

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG
news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON— A partial explanation for President Truman's periodical complaints about his inability to tap good men, including scientists, for federal service may be found in a letter now in the files of Herbert Hoover's Commission for reorganization and strengthening of the national government. It throws the blame directly on the White House.

The indictment was written by John M. Carmody, who was not reappointed to the Maritime Commission by Mr. Truman because he was, as the President said in an off-hand remark, "too mean."

Mr. Carmody was requested by Robert R. Bowie, executive secretary of the Hoover body, to comment on an analysis of the Maritime Commission setup made by the commission's technical experts.

ATTITUDE As background of the Truman - Carmody incident it should be noted that Mr. Carmody has always had the support and confidence of Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, former Senator Robert F. La Follette of Wisconsin, the Railway Brotherhoods and other union organizations. As a labor, engineering and production expert, he had served with such varied agencies as the NRA, the CWA, the REA, the NLRB and the Maritime Commission.

On the latter outfit, he was credited with an important part in building the "bridge of ships" so vital in the winning of World War II. He settled many tough strikes when they threatened shipping production.

He fought the faction on the commission which, in his opinion, cost the government millions of dollars through their generosity to contractors. His friends believe that it was this attitude which accounted for Mr. Truman's failure to reappoint him.

UNCERTAINTY The Carmody letter's discussion of President Truman's hiring and firing troubles may have current significance because he had to deal with scientific personnel on many of his federal assignments. While they were willing to assist the government in wartime, they shied away from a permanent job for various reasons.

The principal factor, as the Hoover document reveals, is not so much fear of a Congressional investigation or "smear" as the employment uncertainty and lack of security caused, in part at least, by the Roosevelt-Truman administration's harsh handling of numerous distinguished public servants.

Mr. Carmody calls the roll of an impressive list of former officials who were summarily discharged or doghoused by the White House without any explanation. To wit:

DOGHOUSE "John Fahey, than whom there was never in any department of government under any administration a more thoroughly competent public official, and whose integrity was never questioned, got short shrift from Mr. Truman.

"The Marriner Eccles debacle is fresh in our minds. I doubt if anybody has been told precisely what happened to Jim Landis. I know that modest Eddie Macauley former member of Maritime, was deeply hurt by the treatment he got from the President, operating through John Snyder.

"Tom Woodward, the one member of the Maritime Commission who had made a special study of regulation of transportation by rail and water, was dropped without one word of commendation or condemnation.

"Ribbon clerks are treated with more respect. The doghouse is crowded; will there be room for more tennants!"

Mr. Carmody might have noted FDR's supplanting of Jesse H. Jones by Henry A. Wallace as secretary of commerce for the simple reason that the third party candidate had been a good political soldier, even after he was fired off the 1944 ticket in favor of Mr. Truman.

PAINT Mr. Carmody then questions the efficacy and methods of preparation of the heralded Hoover report and recommendations. He asks whether the commission's technical experts have interviewed the former officials who were dismissed without any satisfactory explanation, and for possibly political reasons.

"All this, of course," he continues, "is not the fault of the young men who write your reports, but it might well be part of their overall study of how to achieve efficiency in the executive branch of the government.

"Must it become a shambles and a roost for sycophants when an accidental commander-in-chief appears on the scene?

If that is what your top report is about, I wonder if the John Faheys and the Marriner Eccleses and the Jim Landises have been asked for their views. We may have in this situation one answer to Truman's constant plaint that he "can't get good men to take government jobs!"

MEANEST "Some people are inclined to blame some of this fumbling on the loss of Foerster and Latta, long - time, faithful White House secretaries, who knew everybody and everything, and who never 'slipped a cog.' I am inclined to blame some of it on the loss of Fala.

"If there is any other reason for not reappointing me to the Maritime Commission, the President has never told me. I think it may interest young Bob La Follette. I wonder what Truman would have said about Bob's father, old, fighting Bob La Follette!"

This reference recalls the days when "Old Bob" was known as the "meanest man on Capitol Hill" because of his unceasing war on the so-called "interests."

REPORTERS — Another anti-Truman straw in the wind now worries and discourages White House political strategists.

On the last count, only thirty-six newspaper correspondents accompany President Truman on his first major campaign trip, while about 150 are trouping with Governor Thomas E. Dewey. Indeed, when Governor Earl Warren reaches the East, the Republicans' vice-presidential nominee will have as large a journalistic train as the Chief Executive.

And while this statement may earn me the ill will of those of my newspaper friends on the Truman train, the topflight reporters have been assigned to Dewey.

Texas in First Place for New Construction

WASHINGTON, — (AP) — An eight-state Midwestern region is listed as surpassing all others in major new industrial construction during the first three postwar years. In it 792 plants worth more than $548,700,000 have been built.

This report comes from an organization called the Territorial Information Department, representing four private Midwestern utilities.

The study covers the period from July, 1945, through June, 1948. Figures are based on construction contracts awarded for factories or plant additions costing $100,000 or more.

The states included in the central region are Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Strong as the central states were in their showing as a group, none managed to take first place individually in the nation. Top honors went to Texas, with 209 plants at a cost of $258,700,000. California was listed with 300 new establishments worth $167,400,000 to run second in dollar volume and first in number of plants.

Authorities estimate that 11,000 Americans will die in fires this year, and more than double that number will be badly burned.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD —(NEA) — Uncle Sam's income tax boys are prowling the Hollywood beat to see if they can beat some of those deductions claimed by film stars as part of their business expenses. Two of the items on the questionable list are yachts and expensive wardrobes.

The latest report is that from now on Marie MacDonald will have to pay cash for her footwear. Her marriage to shoe magnate Harry Karl is on thin ice again.

Hollywood has taken the sensational night club entertainers, Jerry Lewis and Dean Martin, to its heart. These boys are well on the way to a successful film career. Not only has Hal Wallis signed them to do a picture—he caught their act at Slapsy Maxie's—but already there's talk of both of them getting divorced.

Marie Wilson is in the running for the plum role of the dumb dame in "Born Yesterday." I'm still burning about Betty Hutton getting that lead in the film version of "My Friend Irma."

IT HAD TO HAPPEN

That Birmingham, Ala., newspaper that made a slip and printed a film ad with the cast headed by "Humphrey Bacall" has H. Bogart knee deep in mail from the deep South. Gist of the fan letters: "We knew it would happen. Anyone who married THAT girl would have to become Mr. Bacall sooner or later."

Peggy Ryan gets a change of pace from those slapstick comedy dancing roles. She'll go dramatic in "Enchanted Hill," her first grown-up role. . .The same day that story broke about a woman leaving $10,000,000 to a small town in Pennsylvania, Fred Dickenson and Michael Raymond turned out a film treatment synopsis on the yarn titled, "Cinderella City."

POOR ORSON

Orson Welles must be livid. Italian critics tore apart "Macbeth." They called it "poor, with amateur direction and bad interpretation." Welles' performance as Macbeth was called "frantic, convulsed and truculent."

Charles Korvin, who went east to investigate Broadway play offers, and his wife have rented a 17-room, four-bath Connecticut home. This is known in Beverly Hills as "roughing it in New England."

It happened in San Francisco during location filming for "I Remember Mama." Two women were watching the shooting and one said: "With all the trouble they're taking, why don't they shoot this movie in technicolor? To which her friend replied: "Don't be silly. The action takes place in 1910 and they didn't have technicolor in those days."

Of all the Babe Ruth stories making the rounds, I like this one the best. During filming of his life story, Ruth complained about the stance which Bill Bendix, as the Bambino, assumed when stepping up at the plate. Bendix stood pigeon-toed, as the Babe did. Bill had studied newsreels and still pictures of Ruth and knew he was right.

But Ruth said they were all wrong—that he didn't stand pigeon-toed. So they showed him photographs of himself at bat. He stood pigeon-toed. Ruth scratched his head and said: "They reversed the pictures on me, that's what they did."

The Nation's Press

THE FEAR OF BLEEDING
(The Wall Street Journal)

One French premier designate after another has failed to gain approval from the parliament. The result is a kind of creeping paralysis; French foreign office officials cannot act with any authority abroad, no internal policy decisions can be made, the franc is showing signs of panic, and no one has the responsibility or power to make fiscal decisions.

French leaders have sought many ways out of this dilemma. But one possible cure they have approached with reserve, considering it only as a last desperate resort. That is to hold a national election.

France's parliamentary chaos stems from the fact that the assembly is fragmentized into many parties, none of which has a majority or can achieve a majority through coalition. These parties cover a wide political spectrum, from the extreme left to the extreme right. The gift for compromise has never been part of the French genius. Stubbornly each party sticks by its minutest "principle" even at the cost of bankruptcy for the government.

To the assembly the thought of an election raises two spectors. One is that the people might now give General de Gaulle's party a majority. The other is that the voting might show an upsurge of communist strength. Either alternative is anathema to the present leaders.

There is a calm acceptance of the idea that submitting the issue to the people risks a terrible calamity and is thus to be staved off as long as possible.

The French leaders make no pretense that the present parliament is a representative one. Every byeelection since the last national voting has shown shifts in popular feeling. Yet so fearful are the leaders of the electorate that they have resorted to obvious subterfuges to avoid elections. The "no confidence" votes that have overturned successive cabinets have been called by everything but their right names, because if rightly labelled an election would be mandatory under the constitution.

The subterfuges are justified as being necessary to save France for democracy. The voters are being protected against themselves; if free to choose they might select a dictatorship of the right or left.

Perhaps they might. We have no idea whether an election would improve matters; the voters might swing left or right or compound chaos by further splintering. But to believe that an election is a sure disaster is to have little faith in democracy. And it is certainly specious to say that democracy is being preserved by denying it.

Germans Bitter in Jokes About Reds

FRANKFURT —(AP)— The Germans used to joke about Hitler's love life. Now it's the Russians who are the butt of the German story-tellers. Here's a sampling:

A Russian started a discussion with his German audience after a lecture in the "House of Soviet Culture." Questions were raised about food rations. He turned them down indignantly, saying "I don't know why the Germans always talk about eating. In the Soviet Union, people always talk about culture." Said a voice from the auditorium: "Well, people usually talk about things they don't have."

The dismantling of railroad tracks in the Russian-occupied Eastern Zone of Germany has produced dozens of jokes. One goes:

Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky, the Russian military governor, and Gen. Lucius D. Clay, his American counterpart, argued about transportation in their respective zones, the joke said. "In my zone, trains move at peacetime speed again," said Clay. "That's nothing," Sokolovsky retorted in the story. "In my zone, they go so fast you can't even see the second track."

Here's a bit of skepticism about Russian politics in Germany:

"What's the difference between the (Communist-sponsored) Socialist Unity Party and a lumber-laden truck?"—"The lumber truck has the red flag at its tail and moves forward but the Socialist Unity Party has the red flag in front and moves backward."

Any attempt to read (his) supporters out of the Democratic Party is like the tail trying to throw the dog out of the kennel.

Justice Is Blind, But Sightless Judge 'Can See Behind His Back'

BLIND JUSTICE—Magistrate Pieroni: his Seeing-Eye dog shares the bench.

By NEA Service

MUNCIE, Ind. -(NEA)- Justice is blind here.

By now court attendants are used to seeing him walk into court each morning, led by his dog "Baron," and promptly at 8:30 begin the orderly trials of petty thieves, drunks and traffic violators.

Justice is Mario Pieroni, blind since childhood, who was recently elected.

Blindness, however doesn't keep him from acutely observing voice, manner and attitudes of witnesses and defendants.

"That judge can see behind his back," a courtroom attache said recently.

For the first week, Magistrate Pieroni used a Braille typewriter to record docket entries and memoranda. Now he dictates these to a clerk. But he insists on silence in the courtroom, where acoustics are poor, because he is unable to see those on trial and must rely on his hearing.

Pieroni recently surprised a bedraggled defendant and lawyers in his court when he refused to accept a guilty plea.

The defendant had said:

"I don't know whether I did it or not. Guess I was drunk. I'll pay the fine, whatever it is—but I want out of here."

"I'm sorry," the judge said, "but that won't do. I won't take your plea. You've got to have a fair trial."

On another occasion, a youth was charged with driving while intoxicated, usually a prison offense. He had no lawyer and although warned that he would be subject to cross-examination, testified in his own case. Prosecutors urged that, technically, he had not denied the charge.

"Well, the sense of his evidence is a denial," Pieroni said, "and the state has not proved he was drunk while operating a motor vehicle. He will be acquitted."

The judge believes in postponing hearings on family quarrel cases on the theory that "they usually solve themselves," but he insists on quick trials for "cheaters" such as liquor license violators.

And he insists that courtroom attendants not pet his seeing-eye dog who shares the bench with him.

"It gets his mind off his work and he's too friendly already."

Pieroni, 33, graduated from Notre Dame law school in 1940. His wife, who also is blind, does all her own housework. When they go out together in the evening, which is frequently, he holds his dog on the leash and she takes his arm. Together they lead the life of an average prosperous small town couple.

Clark Says Fifth Column 'On the Run'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Attorney General Tom Clark said that "We have the fifth column on the run in the United States."

Clark accused Congress of failing to provide "needed laws" for dealing with subversive elements.

Despite this, he promised, any fifth column in America will "be attacked with every legal weapon we possess, when and where it raises its hideous head."

His remarks were made before the American Hotel Association convention.

"Some have tried to make the welkin ring with all sorts of weird Communist 'spy' stories. These stories are as preposterous as to allege that all our hotels are harboring spies under the beds in every one of their rooms," Clark said.

★ WE, THE WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

From a news story with a Hollywood dateline: "Mr. Mitchum's arrest forced cancellation of a date he had made to speak from the City Hall steps on juvenile delinquency in connection with National Youth Week."

Well, if the kids of the country read the whole story of film actor Robert Mitchum's arrest, along with three other Hollywoodites, on a narcotics charge by police who raided a marijuana party in the home of a movie starlet, they got a real, though unplanned, lecture on juvenile delinquency.

The remarks Mr. Mitchum is reported to have made to the police contained the sermon.

For when he was arrested the movie star is reported to have dropped his cigaret on the floor and said: "Might as well admit it. Sure, I've been using the stuff since I was a kid."

Then as he was booked at the police station he added: "This is the bitter end of everything—my career, my home, my marriage." THAT'S IT.

There's the lecture on juvenile delinquency right there: "I've been using the stuff since I was a kid. . .This is the bitter end of everything."

The planned speech was canceled. But Mr. Mitchum spoke out to youth just the same—not intentionally, but dramatically.

What he told them, had they pieced his words together, was that a bad habit picked up in youth can reach out and pull a man down from the top rung of the ladder of success.

Luncheon Honors Ladies' Division Fair Judges

The Top o' Texas Fair Association complimented judges of the ladies' division of the fair with a luncheon Tuesday afternoon.

Prize winning dahlias, furnished by the Hopkins Home Demonstration Club, decorated the tables which were in a "v" shaped arrangement.

Mrs. Ernest McKnight, Gray County council chairman, acted as master of ceremonies. She introduced Miss Odevern Spencer who sang two selections. Mrs. R. Virgil Mott accompanied her on the piano.

A get-acquainted game had each woman find out something nice about her luncheon neighbor and later introduce her, telling what she had learned. Mrs. Emmett Osborne did a satire on a movie goer after shopping all day.

Judges in the women's division of the fair include: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sloan, art, photography and hobbies; Miss Dorothy Crosslin, Hutchinson County home demonstrator, clothing and handiwork; Miss Lou Ella Patterson, home demonstration agent of Canyon, home furnishings; and Mrs. Myrtle Austin, Armstrong County home demonstration agent, canned and baked products.

Kathryn Mosley Feted at Shower

A pre-nuptial shower for Miss Kathryn Mosley, bride-elect of Robert E. Rose, was given Sept. 16, in the home of Mrs. Claude Wilson, 1024 Charles. Assisting Mrs. Wilson as hostesses were Mmes. Homer Doggett, Oscar McCoy, Rupert Orr, H. A. Hanks, A. L. Prigmore, L. H. Anderson, Roy Jones, Lewis Tarpley, Miss June Hanks and Miss Elva Jean Anderson.

Miss Betty Mosley, sister of the bride-to-be, presided at the white and gold bride's book. Mrs. Tarpley poured the punch and Mrs. Hanks served the cake.

The bride's chosen colors, orchid and gold, were carried out in the refreshments and in the flowers which decorated the house. The centerpiece on the serving table was a bowl of orchid asters in a crystal bowl, surrounded by golden candles in crystal holders.

The hostesses presented Miss Mosley with a corsage of giant golden daisies. Mrs. James B. Rose's corsage was white baby mums and Mrs. Vestal Mosley's was white asters.

One-hundred guests called during the evening. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wilson, Elk City, Okla.; Mrs. Jiggs Mosley, Borger; Mrs. Bill Bromley, Clarendon; Mrs. J. D. Riley, Clarendon; and Mrs. M. W. Mosley, Hedley.

New Coiffure Is Antidote for Age

The lest-distressing way to keep count of gray hairs is to give yourself a new coiffure each time a new flock appears.

The novelty of a new style diverts a woman's mind from worrying about each new threat to her youth. Moreover, the more up-to-the-minute a coiffure looks, the less a woman needs to fret about the color of her hair.

In your search for a new style, arm yourself with interesting hair-do possibilities clipped from newspapers and magazines. Then give the likeliest a tryout in front of your mirror. When you have hit upon an arrangement that you really favor, go to a hairdresser and have him cut and shape your hair to fit the fashion.

The only requirement of a new coiffure, besides becomingness, is that it must be a style which lends itself to easy good grooming. Nothing seems to play up the gray hairs which a woman wants to underplay by styling more than the unkempt look of a coiffure.

Women to Be Recruited

The Army and Air Force will begin recruiting women in earnest on Sept. 27 with the inauguration of a nation-wide drive to procure enlistments in the regular WAC and WAF, M-Sgt. Davis A. Brown, recruiting officer here, said.

The ranks of the WAC and WAF will be open to all qualified women between the ages of 18 through 34, regardless of prior military service, but non-veterans must possess a certificate of graduation from high school, or its equivalent.

Applicants for enlistment who are under 21 must have the written permission of their parents or guardians. In certain cases, top age limitations may be waived for former WACs.

All WAFs will be trained or processed at the Air Force's indoctrination division, Lackland Air Base, San Antonio, beginning about Oct. 15. The WAC training center, Camp Lee, Va., will open about Oct. 1 for the training of women without prior military service and for processing those with former service.

Application blanks and full information on the WAC and WAF will be obtainable soon at the Army and Air Force recruiting station in the basement of the Pampa Postoffice, Sgt. Brown said.

Hatchery Production Declines For Month

AUSTIN, — (AP) — Texas Commercial Hatcheries produced 10 percent less chicks last month than in the comparable month a year ago, the United States Department of Agriculture reported this week.

August production was placed at 1,800,000 chicks.

The figure was 37 percent above average, USDA said.

The scarcity of hatching eggs and low hatchability was said limiting the output of all operating hatcheries.

Australian Prices Boom; Controls Off

SYDNEY, — (AP) — The Australian government lifted price ceilings on about 30,000 items. These are some of today's reactions in Sydney:

Used cars sold at 20 percent over the pegged prices, but at less than black market prices.

Land prices went up to twice the former fixed prices and even higher than black market prices.

Harvesters May Have Close Game With Indians Friday

Teams to Get Severe Tests This Weekend

By the Associated Press

Fifty-eight games this weekend will establish sectional strength in Texas schoolboy football.

The highest ranking teams get severe tests. Port Arthur, Brackenridge (San Antonio), Wichita Falls, Brownwood, Highland Park and Corpus Christi of the top 10 all will know they've had a ball game.

Port Arthur takes on San Jacinto of Houston, Brackenridge runs into Corpus Christi, Wichita Falls entertains Breckenridge and Brownwood plays Sweetwater in top tilts of the week.

It also will mark the start of conference play. Alamo Heights and Lanier blast the district race at San Antonio in the City Conference.

Brownwood, last school to open the campaign, goes to Lamesa Friday in a nonconference game in Class AA.

The 33 teams with undefeated, untied records are due to be cut to probably 22 when the firing ceases Saturday night. A half-dozen unbeaten teams meet each other. This is true in the San Jacinto-Port Arthur, Austin (Houston) - Galveston, Brackenridge-Corpus Christi, Midland-Austin (El Paso), Sweetwater-Brownwood and Greenville-Corsicana games.

In Class AA the following games will be played

District 1-Friday: Lubbock at North Side (Fort Worth); Ysleta at Pampa; Saturday: Childress at Borger.

District 2-Friday: Fort Worth Tech at Quanah, Breckenridge at Wichita Falls, Bowie at Electra, Sherman at Vernon.

District 3-Friday: El Paso High at Odessa, Brownfield at Lamesa, Amarillo at Abilene, Brownwood at Sweetwater.

District 4-Thursday: Bowie (El Paso) vs Cathedral (El Paso); Friday: Midland at Austin (El Paso).

Recently Wheeler explained that he hadn't filed a juvenile case in several months.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Although Louisiana State took a 33-0 trimming from Texas last Saturday, some fans still are raving about Harrell Collins, who punted out of bounds inside the Texas ten-yard line three times in the first half. . .The U. of Miami line will average seven pounds to the man lighter this year—just because tackle Ernie Setterbre reduced from 275 to 235 pounds.

Cleveland Outlook Extremely Bright

By the Associated Press

Cleveland's pennant outlook is extremely bright today. How long it stays that way depends on the fifth-place Detroit Tigers.

The Indians beat the Red Sox, 5-2, last night to tie Boston for the American League lead, a half game ahead of the third-place New York Yankees. The Yanks brushed off the Chicago White Sox, 7-2. Another victory over Chicago today would jump the Yanks into a three-way tie for first.

Cleveland's advantage lies in the remaining schedule. The Indians have eight games to go, all against second division clubs. The Red Sox also have eight to play, but five of them are against the Yanks, who have nine games left.

Bob Feller was selected by Manager Lou Boudreau to pitch the "must" game against the Red Sox last night.

Feller stopped the Sox on three hits and fanned six in winning his fifth straight game and 17th of the season.

The Yanks also got some great pitching as lefty Tommy Byrne checked the tail end White Sox on six safeties and fanned 11.

The Tigers downed the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-1, as lefty Hal Newhouser scattered seven hits in gaining his 19th victory and 150th of his career.

In the other American League game, the Washington Senators nosed out the St. Louis Cardinals and Stan Musial hogged the National League spotlight. The Cards prevented the Boston Braves from clinching their first pennant in 34 years by trouncing them, 8-2.

The Braves, if they had beaten the Cards, would have won the flag by eliminating both the Cards and Brooklyn Dodgers. The Dodgers, beaten 5-1 by the Pittsburgh Pirates, dropped to third place as the Cards took over second.

Boston needs to win two games to nail down the pennant. It can also clinch if it wins a game and the Dodgers and Cards each lose one.

The Chicago Cubs took a double-header from the New York Giants, 3-2 and 11-7. Andy Pafko drove in all Chicago runs in the first game with a homer and an infield out.

The Cincinnati Reds edged the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3, in the National's only night game.

Flies, Mosquitoes Rated Carriers of Many Diseases

SAN ANTONIO —(AP)—Mosquitoes and flies as carriers of diseases were discussed by speakers before the South Texas regional meeting of the Texas Public Health Association.

The one-day convention was attended by 150 delegates Wednesday.

Dr. Austin E. Hill, San Antonio city health director and president of the organization, presided.

He quoted a Rice Institute professor as claiming mosquitoes are carriers of some polio.

The house fly as a carrier was discussed by Major Elmer A. Jones, Forth Army Area medical laboratory, Fort Sam Houston.

He asserted one fly could carry as many as 4 million bacteria organisms.

Summer diarhea, dysentry and other diseases are spread by the house fly, he said.

DALLAS —(AP)— Some California sports writers here to cover the Los Angeles Rams-Philadelphia Eagles professional football game observed that Doak Walker wasn't as good as he was cracked up to be—that he failed to keep Southern Methodist's perfect record intact.

They pointed out that Doak missed the try for point that would have beaten Texas Christian, whereas the Methodists got only a tie. And they blamed him for the tie in the Cotton Bowl game with Penn State.

It reminds me of the story Amos Melton, Fort Worth Star-Telegram golf writer, tells about the recent National PGA Tournament. Chick Harbert, the long-driving professional, did a 61, which cracked par as it never had been cracked before. He'd have beaten that except he missed a short putt on the eighteenth hole.

"In the crowd looking on one man said, 'I knew that guy would blow up,'" Melton relates.

The Californians had an opportunity to see Walker in action when he played against UCLA on the coast. They were not impressed. "He didn't do a thing that day," said one of them. Records show that Doak scored all the points as Southern Methodist beat UCLA 7-0.

Delmer Brown, the energetic trainer at Baylor University, reveals that it takes 24,000 yards, or better than 13 miles, of tape a year to wrap the ankles of Golden Bear athletes. Six miles of this is for football. It costs $1,800 a season.

The rising cost of living threatens to put a crimp in the activities of the famed Twelfth Man at Texas A and M College this fall. The Twelfth Man is the Aggie rooting section that usually follows the cadet grid team wherever it goes.

Here's the budgetary $64 question at Aggieland these days: How can you make a corps trip to Dallas for the Southern Methodist game, Nov. 6 on $3.33?

In rules and regulations of the Aggie manual, the fiscal office estimates an Aggie can get by on from $60 to $120 a school year for what it calls "miscellaneous items." Cadets figure that gives them from $6.66 to $13.13 per month to splurge.

C. C. Munroe, a reporter for The Battalion, Aggie newspaper, asks: "How are you going to spend it? That gives you $3.33 per game, provided you don't smoke, drink, eat away from the campus, buy stamps or get clothes cleaned."

Stopping Big Ysleta Backs May Prove to Be Hard Job

By GENE GARRISON

Coaches Tom Tipps' and Aubra Nooncaster's Pampa Harvesters will flee the "high seas" and enter the "breakers" tomorrow night in Harvester Park when they engage the powerful Ysleta Indians in an important intersectional grid battle.

The local schoolboys, riding high on two consecutive victories and still unscored upstretch where the going gets rougher and rougher. The Indians, although boasting only a 1-1 record, still command attention, as they whipped the New Mexico state favorites Carlsbad, 6-0, last week.

Always rated a perennial threat to the District 4-AA crown, this year seems no exception, as the Indians have two returning regulars, three more lettermen, and 10 returning squadmen.

Their backs are big and fast. Running off the box formation, the ground gainers average 161 pounds, nine pounds more than the Harvester backs. Their line has the same average, 161, while the local forward wall totals 1,338 pounds for an average of 171 pounds per man.

If Ysleta Quarterback Gene Gillis is as good as most of his supporters think he is, then the Harvesters will be in for a rough time. Gillis has been all-district in the 4-AA circuit for the past two years and is a triple-threater. He runs, passes, punts, blocks and plays defensively with more than average ability. His coach, Gene Jordan, states of him, "He is a great passer and punter, a driving runner, and much better than average on defense. We believe that he is a prospect that any college would be glad to have."

But Gillis is not the only outstanding Indian back. Big Dave Zubiate, 170-pound blocking back, is also a "rugged character," as proven by his showing last week. Zubiate, who was chosen second team all-district last year, specializes in blocking and backing up the line. Last year he kicked 26 out of 29 attempted conversions.

Henry Bartell, 160-pound right halfback, and Bob Plumbley, 150-pound left half, are the other two rounding out the starting Ysleta backfield.

If Gillis' arm is in working order tomorrow evening, the Harvesters can look for a "heads up" aerial game with Gillis doing most of the tossing to ends Fran Loya and Gene Odell. Neither boy saw action from the varsity squad last year, but both have earned starting booths this season. Odell hits 162 pounds while Loya tips 145.

Jack Caldwell, squadman held over from last season, will start at one guard and Budd Hamilton, hefty 155-pounder, will operate from the other post. The largest man on the starting lineup will start at left tackle when Bill Lucky, 180-pounder from last year's "B" squad, works that position. Bill Ellis, 172, one of the three returning lettermen, will start at the other tackle slot.

Another "B" squader of last year, Jerry Porter, will operate from the pivot slot, alternating with Paul Phillips, a last-year squadman.

All in all, the Indians are well balanced. Their running game looks sound and their passing attack may fare better than average. The adage of "as Gillis goes, so goes Ysleta," may be applied, but the Harvesters are going to have to stop more than one man to keep their winning string intact.

The Harvesters will be weakened by the absence of Bobby Jack Phillips, 185-pound tackle, who suffered a sprained ankle in last week's game against the Graham Steers. Phillips will be replaced by LeRoy Troop, 180-pounder, who has seen lots of action in both of the other games this season.

Wesley Kieth, diminutive fireball who has scored 24 points already this season, may be used sparingly due to a severed blood vessel in his leg, also suffered in last week's game.

Outside of these two, the locals seem to be in good shape. Co-Captain Jack Williams, Kieth, Lamar Lively, and Fullback Leon Taylor will start tomorrow night's game in the Harvester backfield. Taylor, a defensive player, will alternate with Sophomore Jimmy Hayes.

Bill Bond and Derral Davis will start at ends, Troop and Ralph Hutsell at tackles, and Phillip Payne and Jimmy Hill, at the guard slots. Bill Runyon will work at center and will alternate with Paul Boswell on all Harvester punts.

Reapers Clash With Rangers

The Pampa Junior High School Reapers and the Sam Houston Rangers of Amarillo met this afternoon in Harvester Park in a conference game.

The Reapers last week battled the Horace Mann Buffaloes to a 0-0 deadlock and will be seeking their first victory today.

Much of the Reaper burden will fall on the shoulders of Quarterback DeWey Cudney and Fullback Charles Ely. Both boys were regulars last year and were two of the leading ground gainers in the district.

The two Reaper coaches, Dwaine Lyons and Pernal Scoggin, with L. J. Edmondson, principal, traveled to Amarillo Sept. 12 and drew up a schedule for the current season.

The Reaper schedule is as follows:

Sept. 23—Sam Houston, here
Oct. 7—Elizabeth Nixon, there
Oct. 14—Borger, here
Oct. 21—Horace Mann, here
Oct. 28—Sam Houston, there
Nov. 11—Elizabeth Nixon, here
Nov. 18—Borger, here

Today's probable Reaper starters are as follows:

LE—Jimmy Cook
LT—Richard Qualls
LG—Barton Lockhart
C —Tollie Hutchens
RG—Barton Lockhart
RT—James Shelton
RE—Alvin Ward
LH—Derrall Wilson
RH—Billy Davis

Wortham and Boggs Tangle In Feature

Jimmy Boggs of Oklahoma City and Jack Wortham of Amarillo, who fought the six-round semi-final in Pampa's first professional boxing matches Aug. 27, will meet in a return match in the eight-round main event at the Sportatorium tonight at 8:30

Roy Fulcher of Lefors, who won over Kenneth Twig in the four-round curtain raiser in August, will lead off the card tonight in a four-rounder against Dickie Brown of Amarillo. Both men are heavyweights.

In the second four-rounder, Howard Carr of Tulsa has been signed to meet Elton Gonzales of Fort Worth. Both are lightweights who will weigh in at around 135 pounds.

The six-round semi-final will find two young welterweights meeting on Promoter Charles Bretthauer's card. Ed Travis of Oklahoma City and Dean Smith of Dallas were signed this week.

Ben Evans, referee for the matches, is an outstanding welterweight who has just returned from Australia, where he beat the Australian champion, Joe Burns. Burns was originally scheduled to meet Ray "Sugar" Robinson for the world welterweight title, but, when Evans whipped him, the Robinson bout was called off, Bretthauer said.

If Evans' fighting contracts can be adjusted, he may meet the Texas state champion in a state title bout here, Bretthauer said.

Boggs, who won the Oklahoma state and district Golden Gloves title in 1943, has moved to Pampa and is coaching a team of amateur boxers that meets almost nightly at the Sportatorium.

Boggs said there is some very promising material here in town and he invited anyone who wishes to come to the Sportatorium for workouts. In just a little while, he said, a first-class amateur team can be build up here that would be ready to meet teams from other cities.

A hundred local merchants, called the "100 Club," are helping sponsor tonight's matches by lending their support, Bretthauer said.

Guerillas to Try for Revenge Against Plainview 11 Tonight

The Pampa High School Guerillas will be out for revenge tonight in Harvester Park when they engage the Plainview Bullpups, victors in two straight contests over the Guerillas last season.

The Guerillas, hurt badly by the eligibility rule which disqualified three of their key players, will be engaging someone more their own size tonight. Last Friday evening they met the Wheeler Mustangs, rated as the No. 2 team in state Class "B" Competition, and lost 12-0. The Guerillas are rated as a "B" team but are not in any official class.

The Plainview team holds one win thus far, that being a 12-6 verdict over the Borger team of the same name last week. The Plainview club whipped the Guerillas 19-7 and 6-0 last season.

The probable starting line-up for the Guerillas is as follows:

LE—Bob McPherson (Co-Capt.)
LT—Dale Gantz
LG—Jimmy Campbell
C —Harold Smith
RG—Eddie Marlow (Co-Capt.)
RT—Buzzy Tarpley
RE—Bud Flemming
RH—Hugh Gracey

TCSC Takes Over Boxing War Tonight

NEW YORK —(AP)— The boxing war moves across the river tonight to the Yankee Stadium where a Twentieth Century Sporting Club doubleheader, starring champions Ike Williams and Ray (Sugar) Robinson, ends the outdoor season.

Buried in the bilingual uproar over Marcel Cerdan's smashing upset victory, at Jersey City, this attractive outdoor show will be lucky to gross $100,000.

Lightweight king Williams will risk his crown over the 15-round route against Jesse Flores, a capable ring "cutie" form Stockton, Calif. Robinson will not try to make the 147-pound welterweight limit for his non-title 10-rounder with Kid Gavilan of Cuba.

Both Williams and Robinson are such topheavy favorites that there is little wagering reported on either contest. They're both about 1 to 5.

SOXERS MEET DRILLERS FOR TEXAS 'C' TITLE

KILGORE —(AP)— The Kilgore Drillers, champions of the Lone Star League, will go to Amarillo tomorrow to open a series with the West Texas-New Mexico League winners, for the Class C championship of the state.

The Drillers last night won the Lone Star title by beating Longview 7-2 at Longview, making it four straight in the final playoff. Amarillo won the West Texas-New Mexico League crown Tuesday night by whipping Pampa, 9-7.

The series will be seven games with the first three in Amarillo and the final four to be played here.

Cats Whip Tulsa To Go Ahead In TL Playoffs

FORT WORTH —(AP)— Fort Worth's Cats had the Tulsa Oilers one down today in the battle for the Texas League championship.

The Cats whitewashed the Oilers 7-0 last night in the opener of the final seven-game series to determine the league's representative in the Dixie series.

Manager Al Vincent of the Oilers will send the loop-leading pitcher, Harry Perkowski, to the mound tonight in an effort to square the playoff. Perkowski has won 24 games while losing 10 this season. Manager Bobby Bragan of Fort Worth nominated Willard Ramsdell, who has a 7-3 record.

A crowd of 9,545 turned out last night to watch Chandler hurl a masterpiece. He faced only 29 Tulsa batters.

THE GREAT GILMER

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. —(AP)— In four seasons at Alabama, Harry Gilmer completed 215 forward passes out of 407 for a .530 percentage. The completions were good for 2,863 yards and 29 touchdowns. Twenty-two of the aerials were intercepted. His 57 completions out of 88 passes for .648 set a collegiate percentage record in 1945.

The United States has about six percent of the world's population and produces about 12 percent of the world's food.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Nicest Compliment I've Had

One of the nicest comments I've received about this column was from an editor in the Middle West I called on. And while I don't like to give myself orchids, I think it illustrates a point.

"Joe," he said, "it so happens I don't agree with everything you say, but I always like to run your column. Because it gets down to earth and talks about the right to disagree. And it only asks for tolerance towards the other person's point of view."

He went on to explain, by way of illustration, that he never had happened to have a taste for ale or beer. But that when I spoke of the right to enjoy a moderate beverage like beer, well, he was right there with me!

And from where I sit, that's the important thing: not whether you share another person's tastes or point of view—but whether you recognize his right to exercise a free choice in a free land.

Sagging Stomach --So Young, Too

HARTFORD, Conn. —(AP)—Don't, says the Connecticut State Health Department, "burp" the baby by holding him over your shoulder. Do you want him to get a sagging stomach and have poor posture when he grows up?

In a pamphlet called "Let's Keep Them Straight" the department says to do it this way:

"Hold baby across mother's lap with his head higher than his feet, his lower abdomen resting on mother's knee, and gently stroke his back."

Latest Red Move on Surface Seems Big-Hearted Gesture

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

That's an interesting though not particularly adroit exhibition of the old shell-game given by Russia in announcing that she will withdraw her troops from Northern Korea by the near year, and calling on Uncle Sam to pull out of the South.

On the face of it this is a big-hearted gesture of amity, and a [illegible] unwary. However, we may be quite sure that if American troops did withdraw from Southern Korea, the bolshevists would move to take over quicker than you could lose a silver dollar betting to guess which shell the elusive pea is under.

This isn't to say that the United States might not decide to withdraw. That's a dish which still is on the fire. There are two schools of thought on this subject of withdrawal. One holds that it would be a [illegible] ror to pull out. The other maintains that it's a [illegible] since there is such a thing as spreading your strength too thin, and furthermore America has military forces in neighboring Japan.

Wether Russia will indeed withdraw if the United States does not, remains to be seen. The Muscovites might pull back across the frontier into Manchuria in any event. And why not? Northern Korea has been thoroughly communized. A Soviet government has been established, and it's an open secret that the country is overrun with the bolshevist armed secret police which spearhead the setting up of any Soviet regime.

Moreover, the Russians have organized and equipped a big Korean army in their Northern zone and, judging from past events, we may be sure this force is heavily officered by Russians. Thus even if the Muscovites did pull back into Manchuria, there still would remain a big "Korean" force of soldiers and police which could be used to invade Southern Korea with the idea of overthrowing the new republic there and consolidating the two zones under the Communist regime of the North. As a matter of fact, the Red government has broadcast its intention of smashing the Southern republic.

Washington's response to the Russian announcement about withdrawal is that American troops of occupation will remain in Korea until the United Nations General Assembly considers the Korean situation at Paris.

Whatever action the assembly may take, one assumes that it will represent the views of the anti-Communist states, since they are in the majority.

'Air Horse' Looks Like Grasshopper

World's largest helicopter is the 7½-ton Cierva "Air Horse," which looks more like a gigantic grasshopper. The queer craft, whose rotors are 48 feet long, can carry 24 passengers or a three-to-four-ton payload. It was exhibited at the Society of British Aircraft Constructors' show, Farnborough, England.

ILL WIND — $3.25 WORTH

JOLIET, Ill. —(AP)— The wind blew out the tail light on his automobile, Allen R. Thayer told police when he was arrested for operating a vehicle without a tail light. Thayer explained he was using a kerosene tail light. Police Magistrate Thomas K. Sprague fined him $3.25 and told him to modernize the car's lighting or he might be arrested again—if the wind is blowing.

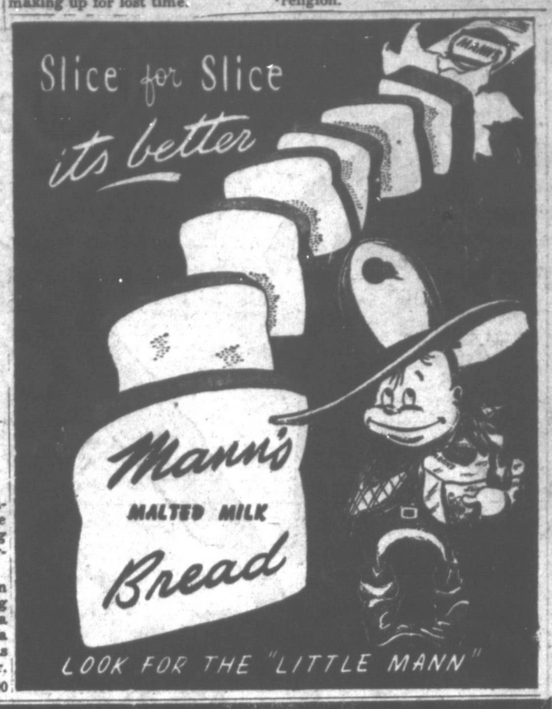

Mired for Days, Cow Picks up Poundage

ELECTRA, —(AP)— An 18-month-old Hereford heifer belonging to Ace E. Reid, Electra rancher, is picking up poundage again after being mired in a mudhole for 24 days.

Reid found the animal in an abandoned oil well pit after a long search. She was hauled out by a rope attached to her horns, and a two-inch thick mud coating was washed off with a stream of water.

The heifer had lost about 100 pounds of weight. At first she refused food or water, but now is making up for lost time.

Eradication of Prairie Dogs Starts In Roberts County

Tom O'Bryan has done a great deal of work on prairie dog eradication this summer by using poisoned oats and maize, the Roberts County Soil Conversation District reports.

It is necessary to follow this up with gas since a few of the dogs do not take the poison. Driving through the dog town and broadcasting the poison from a pickup seems to be an adequate way of getting it out. As long as it is fairly well distributed over the area, it does not have to be placed in every prairie dog hole.

It is important to get a county-wide coverage since the dogs will soon migrate to areas cleaned out if they are not eradicated.

The poison is sold at cost by Earl Breeding, Roberts County agent, from his office at the Courthouse.

In the past the district handled requests for fish for stocking farm fish ponds. However, this procedure will no longer be followed. The land owners are able to obtain fish by requesting application forms from H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary, Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, Austin.

Most Texas Areas Have Favorable Harvest Weather

AUSTIN —(AP)— Open weather in most Texas areas last week continued to favor harvesting and to hinder growing crops.

The United States Department of Agriculture reported that all areas remained dry with the exception of southcentral, southeastern and southern areas and eastern counties of the Edwards Plateau.

Soils in most small grain areas were dry and many growers were waiting for another rain, USDA said.

Prospects for South Texas fall and winter vegetables continued good with favorable moisture conditions. Tomatoes, peppers and eggplant were showing much improvement following generous rains.

Adequate fall range and pasture feed was virtually assured in most southern, southcentral and all coastal counties as rains and showers added further to moisture reserves.

Every advertisement is devoted to the topic of saving the land. Articles by soil experts and business and professional men discuss the conservation of natural resources from a multitude of angles.

The Republican standard bearers, Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Governor Earl Warren of California, are shown here on the Dewey farm near Pawling, N. Y., as they made plans for the Presidential campaign which will take them to all parts of the U. S. In the background is the dairy barn in which the Dewey herd of approximately 50 cows—mostly Holsteins—is fed and milked. His farm neighbors credit Governor Dewey with a well-grounded knowledge of farming and the farmer's problems—knowledge gained from first-hand experience. National farm policy is expected to be one of the major campaign issues.

Farm Leader Gives Dewey Plan for Study of Dollar

Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for president, is "sympathetic" to a proposal for the creation of a joint Congressional Committee, with close White House cooperation, which would be charged with a study designed to stabilize the dollar, according to one of the nation's top-ranking farm leaders.

The proposal was presented to the New York Governor by Allan B. Kline, of Vinton, Iowa, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who called at the executive office in Albany, N.Y., to discuss a long-range farm program and current farm prices with Dewey.

Kline said Dewey was "quite interested" in the suggested committee, which would study causes and effects of inflation. Aided by a technical staff of experts, the committee would study the whole problem of money, credit, control of the national debt, income and federal spending as well as the relationship between farming and the general price level.

Other topics discussed with Dewey, Kline reported, included decentralization of government and the advantages which could be expected from such a move.

Kline said he believed that federal agricultural agencies must be financed at the federal level, but that control of their activities should be turned over to the states, as far as possible, "to make use of the maximum initiative, ability, enterprise, and sound local thinking, based on local problems, within each state."

Asked by reporters if there was any substance to the recent charge by Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan that the Republican Party intended to destroy farm price supports, Kline said that the Republican Party platform had clearly endorsed price supports, and that Dewey, as well as the Republican spokesmen for the two Congressional committees on agriculture—Senator George Aiken and Representative Clifford Hope—had each gone on record as favoring flexible price supports for farm commodities.

Referring again to his proposed committee, Kline declared that one of the farmers' major complaints today is that "the government is not now using all the available machinery already at hand to bring stability to prices."

Suit Filed by Pension Party

FORT WORTH —(AP)—The Texas Pension Party went to court in an effort to get its candidates' names on the November election ballot.

The party filed a petition in Federal District Court seeking to force Secretary of State Paul H. Brown to include the candidates on the ballot.

The party's action was in the form of an injunction suit.

W. E. Kaufman, chairman, and D. R. Jamerson, co-chairman, of the Pension Party allege in the petition that Brown refused to certify their candidates on the grounds "it does not appear that the Texas Pension Party was organized by any authorized or proper procedure."

Secret Parley Is Being Hinted

WASHINGTON —(AP)— American diplomats think there may be a secret conference of top Soviet bloc officials under way in Russia.

Reports from several capitals that a number of leaders in the satellite countries appear to be out of circulation indicate to U.S. officials that such a strategy meeting either is in progress or has just ended.

Cyclone Davis of Dallas is the party's candidate for U.S. senator.

The petition lists Roger Q. Evans of Denison as the Texas Pension Party candidate for governor; Ira G. Lowe of Dallas for lieutenant governor; William R. Bryant of Sherman for attorney general; Julius Barrett of Dallas for railroad commissioner.

Hirohito Thanks Church Leaders

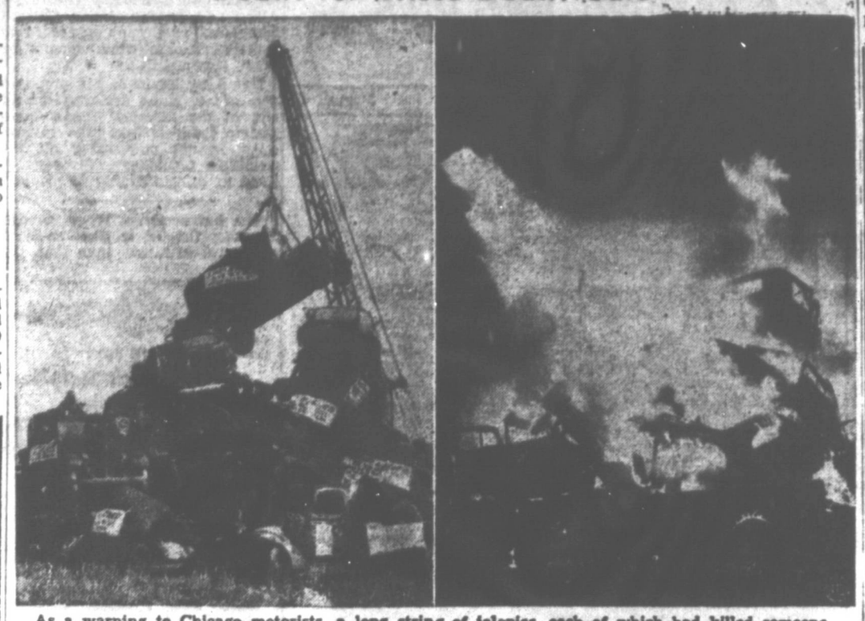

TOKYO —(AP)— Emperor Hirohito thanked Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Eddy, leaders in the World Federation of Churches and the International YMCA, for their efforts in the democratization of Japan through religion.

At an audience with the emperor, Eddy expressed the opinion the Japanese were "bearing up well under their hardships."

NEW CLUB NOT FISHY

VAIHINGEN, Germany —(AP)— The U.S. Constabulary announced that its newly-formed "rod and gin" club quickly obtained 80 charter members. It was a teleprinter error. It should have said "rod and gun" club. But the club still got its 80 members.

Death for These Death Cars

As a warning to Chicago motorists, a long string of jalopies, each of which had killed someone, was paraded through downtown streets. Then, left, they were piled into a heap and set afire, right. The vivid demonstration was sponsored by the city traffic safety committee and the Chicago Automobile Trade Association.

Nature Does It

Among the luscious things grown around Las Vegas, Nev., are these handsome grapes, displayed by Jeannette Pracejus.

Engineer Offers Highway Cure

SALT LAKE CITY —(AP)— One way to prevent costly spring breakup of highways is to bar heavy traffic during the thaw period.

M. J. Hoffman, Minnesota commissioner of highways, told the American Association of Highway Officials that's how his state does it.

In a panel discussion on maintenance, C. C. Greer, Texas state highway engineer, suggested "preventive maintenance" as a remedy for the nation's back-breaking cost of road upkeep.

He said that in Texas the resident engineer and maintenance foreman are "required" to work in harmony to avoid such expensive post-construction costs as repairing roads built with poor drainage, weakened subgrade, frost heaves and surface failure.

P-TA Group Hopeful Of Comic Book Ban

AUSTIN —(AP)— The president of the Texas Congress of Parents and eachers is hopeful that the Congress will declare war against undesirable comic books.

"I hope that we can unite over the state and nation to drive unwholesome and violent comic books out of circulation," Mrs. J. H. Moore of Deport said in a message to the membership.

EARLY TAXATION

As far back as 3800 B. C., there were, in Babylonia, maps which were based on land surveys and which were used for taxation purposes.

In a normal year, New York state produces more than $1,500,000,000 worth of clothing, almost half the national output.

Seventy percent of the nation's dresses, coats, blouses and furs for women are manufactured every year in New York state.

SICK!

STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS

and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids, Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite, Underweight, Dizzy Spells.

Drugless Health

IF YOU ARE a sufferer of these ailments, try GEO-MINERAL. You may be astonished at the results. You need not guess—you will see facts. GEO-MINERAL comes from the earth — Nature's Laboratory. Contains NO dope, NO alcohol, NO oil. ONLY Nature's minerals, the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments.

GEO-MINERAL will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. Lack of minerals in the blood causes anemia, headaches, nervousness. Minerals generate mental brilliancy, give sparkling eyes, red cheeks, fight disease, build up health.

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid condition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there regularly twice a year.

Amazing Results

GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it. Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wondrous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thermion in ancient Greece where, according to legend Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

Read What They Say!

"We wish to state that after selling Geo-Mineral for eight months, this product has broken all sales records in the medicine line in our drug store"—reports Jack Wright, owner of Economy Drug Co., Anderson, S. C. "Users report almost miraculous results, helping sufferers with rheumatism, arthritis, weak kidneys, and various stomach ailments. We believe that there exist very few items on the druggists' shelf with the merit of this natural mineral medicine. Of thousands of bottles sold on guarantee basis, there have been very few refunds."

He's Bugs About Bugs

Backgrounding James A. Hyslop, of Silver Springs, Md., in this picture are some of the 75 feet of shelves that hold the manuscript of his recently completed "Encyclopedia of Economic Insects." Started in 1921, it is the only book of its kind ever compiled. It lists 30,000 different kinds of U. S. insects. Hyslop, a retired Agriculture Department officer, is looking for a publisher.

His Pickle Taste Got Him in Trouble

WINNIPEG, Man. —(AP)— Alphonse Letendre, 21, is in a pretty pickle.

He told a local court he stole a 40-gallon barrel of tomato pickles from a warehouse. Not liking their flavor, he said, he returned to exchange them for a barrel of dills. Nabbed on the second trip, he was sentenced to six months in jail.

Frugal Gasoline Experts Ready for Mileage Race

WOOD RIVER, Ill. — (NEA) — The nation's stingiest men with a gallon of gas are hiding inside their garages again with the shades pulled down, getting ready for their annual Mileage Marathon.

These fuel misers—a small group of oil company engineers, scientists and laboratory workers—are working in top secret, tuning up the family sedan for the big day. Late this month, 30 or more of them will start out over a carefully-surveyed road course, each one trying to get further than the other on a single gallon of gas.

They can make a gallon last a long time.

In 1942, last year of the Marathon because of wartime gasoline restrictions, the winner averaged a startling 88.3 miles per gallon. In 1941 the prize mileage was 58.8 per gallon; in 1940, 55.7 miles; and in 1939 it was 49.7.

Although rules of the contest contain many complicated formulas and slide rule calculations, they are actually quite simple. No car may be lightened below its normal weight, no mechanical gadgets or "gas savers" may be used, and the fuel must be a regularly sold grade, not tampered with or improved with special ingredients.

Started in 1939 as an innocent diversion for the annual picnic of the research laboratorities of Shell Oil Co. at Wood River, the Mileage Marathon stirred up a lot of interest.

Though each contestant closely guards the methods he uses to achieve maximum mileage, it is no secret that motors are tuned to watch-like precision, that every friction point is lubricated to perfection, that the driving speed is carefully calculated, and that techniques of starting, stopping and driving are studied in fabulous detail.

The laboratory men on a "scientist's holiday" keep slide rules hot with calculations and make many secret practice runs over the course at night to determine the most economical speeds and to perfect driving techniques.

The winner of the last Marathon averaged 14.95 miles per hour with a 1937 De Soto, while the second place finisher averaged 13.35 miles per hour with a 1940 Studebaker. Eleven different makes of cars were entered.

The amount of work which goes into each machine would stagger the average car owner, and the scientists admit their elaborate preparations have very little practical applications for ordinary driving. Since the marathon has but one idea—that of maximum mileage from one gallon of gasoline—every other consideration of motoring is given second place. Still, they say, the driver can probably improve his mileage by keeping his car in top condition and driving at moderate speeds.

The direct loss from forest fires each year is estimated at more than $32,000,000.

RKO Plans Roles for Jane Greer

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Big plans are being made for Jane Greer, according to a wind sweeping out of the RKO lot.

Announcements and rumors (and dropped employes) have been about the only things coming out of the studio since Howard Hughes took over. Latest report is that the air-film tycoon has big picture plans for Miss Greer.

Else why would he turn down offers from four other studios to borrow her for starring movies? The actress, ex-wife of Rudy Vallee, has long been RKO's prime candidate for top star brackets. She must be getting impatient.

Helen Hayes may yet be lured to films. Charles Feldman, who owns picture rights of "The Glass Menagerie," wants to star her in the Tennessee Williams story. But she doesn't like Hollywood. So the film might be made in England. If so, another Heflin may hit the screen Van's sister Frances, who played Miss Hayes' daughter in the London run (or was it a walk) of the play. The show didn't score so well with the English.

The whole Houston family is slated to appear in "Rough Sketch." Walter makes his usual guest appearance in son John's picture as a bank teller. And John and wife Evelyn Keyes (in a black wig) are planning to enact spectators in a bank-robbing scene.

THE DREAMER

Lolling beside a Pacific shore for two weeks gives a guy a chance to view the Hollywood scene from a comfortable distance. So maybe you won't blame me for dreaming up a fantasy of what I'd do if I were Czar of Hollywood. I'd enforce noiseless popcorn in all theaters. . .Bring back the two-reel comedy as an antidote to double features. . .Advertise pictures for what they are. . .

See that studios exchange stars so we wouldn't see such constant teams as Power-Tierney, Ladd-Lake, Carson-Pidgeon, Alyson-Johnson. . .Stop the industry's catering to certain misbehaving stars and give their roles to newcomers. . .Establish a fund for experimental films. . .

Stop musicals until new ideas are uncovered. . .Inject new blood among directors and cameramen. . .Look to classics for story material instead of present-day trash. . .Well, I can dream, can't I?

Capsule review: "Johnny Belinda" (WB) is an adult drama told with a good feeling for excitement. It's a grim tale—a helpless deaf mute who mothers an illegitimate child. But many fans in these days of over-cooked film will welcome the different story in these days of over-cooked film plots. Jane Wyman and Lew Ayres give understanding performances, aided by Charles Bickford and Agnes Moorehead.

BEAVER HARD TO STOP

BUTTE, Mont. —(AP)— A super-eager beaver was balked in an effort to build himself a dam in suburban Meaderville but won his fight to remain free. The animal's engineering work on Silver Bow Creek didn't fit in at all with city planning, so Jack Ritter and Louis Bugni hauled the beaver off the job with a garden rake and dumped him in a sack. For a time they entertained ideas of making him a pet but he fought that idea, tooth and claw, so they freed him in nearby hills.

Healthy Row Brewing Over Texas Water

DALLAS —(AP)— The "free grass" wars of pioneer days will seem like a pillow fight compared to the row brewing over Texas' underground water, William O. Fortenberry of Lubbock declared here.

He told the Texas County Judges and Commissioners' Association:

"This state would be in the darndest mess you ever saw if the vicious legislation proposing state ownership and control of underground waters had been passed in the 50th Legislature.

"And we understand that bills just as vicious are being written for presentation to the 51st Legislature."

Fortenberry is president of the High Plains Waters Users and Conservation Association, an organization which includes 4,500 irrigation farmers.

"If that bill had passed giving the state ownership of Texas underground water," he said, "we of the plains country would, among other things, be making a gift of $300,000 to the government." He said he based these figures on a government estimate that there are three million acres on the plains that will some day be irrigated. Fortenberry estimated value of the underground water on this land at $100 the acre.

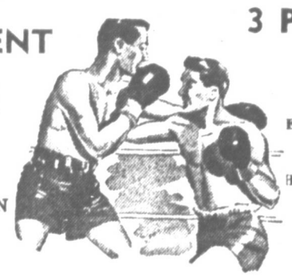

Fortenberry said a U.S. geological survey had found no critical underground water shortage in Texas.

Old Shirts and a Dream Built a Doll

MRS. LOTTIE BROCK patches up loose ends of the family budget as a doll-maker.

By NEA Service

RIPLEY, Okla. —(NEA)— It's money in the bank to the Brock family every time father wears out a shirt.

It didn't use to be that way, but a dream coupled with an ingenious idea suddenly turned a modest farm home into a rag doll factory. Now Mrs. Lottie Brock is using her spare time and her husband's worn-out shirts to average $300 a year as a doll-maker.

"Of course, it isn't a great lot," says the 57-year-old Oklahoma farm woman, "but it certainly helps to patch up loose ends of the family budget."

The whole idea grew out of a dream one summer night three years ago. A doll, 18 inches tall, played the dominant role in Mrs. Brock's dream and as it skipped along in slumberland, the dreamer was amazed to note it had a familiar look. It turned out that the familiar look was her husband's "Sunday - go-to-meeting" shirt. The doll looked as if it had been cut out of the tail of that good shirt.

Most women likely would have dismissed such an experience. But Mrs. Brock decided it would be fun to substitute an old shirt and try her hand at creating a rag doll, one similiar to the lead player of her dream.

Two hours at the sewing machine and the doll came into being, except for the finishing up work like embroidering lips and eyelashes. Once again this might have ended the farm woman's rag doll experience, except for a visitor who took special interest in the product and offered to buy it. Mrs. Brock was embarrassed and somewhat amazed. She forced the admirer to take the doll for free.

Mrs. Brock then made more dolls, giving them away to friends, small nieces and cousins. Her own children had outgrown the doll stage, but there was one adult who had not. She was Mrs. Rose Jacobs, owner of the small farming town's gift shop. She asked for a dozen dolls to sell on a commission basis.

The dolls sold like hotcakes. She urged Mrs. Brock to increase her production and even then turned doll customers away as word of the new product spread to larger cities in the area. The doll-maker still makes no attempt to keep pace with the demand, but she has shipped her dolls as far away as Maine and in June filled an order from Arkansas.

"We could sell all these dolls we could get," said the gift shop operator, who mourns the fact Mrs. Brock looks upon her work as a hobby and not a business.

The dolls bring from $3 for the smallest size to $10 and $12 for larger ones in more expensive dress.

Friends have told her she could easily double her income by spending more time at doll-making, but Mrs. Brock isn't interested. She thinks $300 a year is about all that can be expected from worn-out shirts.

JINXED — Kenneth Gardner, 3, made two trips to the hospital in the same day. The first was after a door his father was repairing fell on him. He then went home and slipped off the porch, face down, onto a broken bottle. He went back to the Milwaukee hospital for more treatment.

Cattle Disease Laboratory Site Still Unsettled

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Choice of an island site for the Agriculture Department's authorized $30 million foot and mouth research laboratory is still up in the air. Congress may have to settle the issue.

Department officials said that a report to be submitted soon to a Congressional committee will not recommend a specific site.

Earlier this year Congress approved establishment of the laboratory. The disease, which afflicts cattle, has been prevalent in parts of Mexico. Selection of a site was left to the department.

The law stipulates only that the laboratory be an island somewhere off the mainland coasts. Many congressmen expressed fear of popular reaction to its establishment on the mainland, although similar laboratories have existed for years near big urban centers in Europe.

Navy Trading Posts Pay Back Investment

HONOLULU —(AP)— The Navy's Pacific island trading posts made a half million dollars in its first five months—enough to pay back what the company borrowed to go into business Jan. 1. Officials of the corporation, the Island Trading Co., credit the record high price of copra. They deal with the Trust Territory of the Pacific, an area of two million square miles including the Marshalls, Carolines and Marianas.

"Actually, the Island Trading Co. is a non-profit organization for rehabilitating island economy," explains its treasurer, Comdr. Kenneth White. "But to operate successfully, we have had to put the company on a sound financial basis. About half of the $500,000 made by the company can be considered a Navy subsidy in free shipping, salaries for Navy men operating the business and assistance in financing."

Engineer Asked To Re-Design Brooklyn Bridge

NEW YORK —(AP)— David B. Steinman has been close to the Brooklyn Bridge ever since he grew up as a poor boy in its shadow.

Now he has a year assignment from the city to modernize the famous suspension bridge, completed in 1883. His consulting engineering office has designed 200 bridges on five continents.

He said: "Although we plan to convert the present two-lane roadway of Brooklyn Bridge into a six-lane modern concrete highway, the appearance of the bridge will not be changed. To me, Brooklyn Bridge is sacred."

Pittsburgh Gets Mellon Grant For Health School

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh was given $13,600,000 by the A. W. Mellon Educational and Charitable trust for a new graduate school of public health to be headed by Dr. Thomas Parran, former surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service.

The graduate school will emphasize occupational and industrial health and hygiene and do basic research in all phases of public health.

Livestock Show to Display Charbray Breed of Cattle

The Charbray breed of beef cattle, a cross between the French Charollais and the sacred cow of India, the Braham, will be one of the most interesting crossbreeds at the 1948 State Fair of Texas Livestock Show, Oct. 9-24, Ray W. Wilson, manager of the livestock and agriculture department, has announced.

An outstanding herd of Charbray developed by Turner and Thomas, cattle breeders of Weslaco and Raymondville, Tex., will be seen at the Fair's Livestock Show together with display herds of the Charollais and Brahman from which the breed was developed.

Charbray cattle retain the important characteristics of both originating breeds. The rapid growth characteristics of the Charollais and the ruggedness of the Brahman are combined in the Charbray to produce a beef type animal that is an excellent grazer, a fast breeder and easy to handle. Grown cows weigh from 1700 to 2200 pounds, grown bulls from 2500 to 3200 pounds.

Born a light tan, Charbray cattle bleach out to a cream white color. The Brahman hump is bred out, but a slight hint of the Brahman dewlap remains. They dress out from 60 to 65 percent high grade marbled beef which gives the meat a flavor hard to surpass, a characteristic of the parent Charollais breed which has long been a contributing factor in the distinction of French cooking.

The Charollais is said to be the most remarkable and important of French breeds. Mainly a beef type cattle, the breed originated in the French province of Charollais and was established and authenticated in 1887. Besides having admirable meat characteristics, the Charollais breed gives fine quality leather hides and an adequate milk supply for calving. The steers are often used as work animals in France.

The Brahman breed is one of the oldest and most numerous of all breeds. The rugged climatic conditions of their native India has fortified them with a ruggedness and adaptability for self preservation where other breeds have failed to survive.

Charbray is a crossbreed word —"Char" from Charollais and "bray" from Brahman.

THE STORY: Dying in the Indian desert, British secret agent Hilary Shenstone feels a desperate need to get back to England and to Nuns Farthing, his family home. He doesn't know the house has been let and that dreamy, 17-year-old Sabrina, whom he has never met, has adopted his old room and eagerly awaits his return. Hilary does return to England and to Nuns Farthing—after death. He is in his old attic room when Sabrina comes up, sits on the window seat.

XIX

HILARY sat down cautiously on the other end of the window seat and watched her, wondering what was in her thoughts.

At last she spoke again, very low, to herself.

"I don't see why I shouldn't talk to him sometimes—up here," she said.

"Who, me?" said Hilary, delighted. "Why not?"

She turned her head slowly, and her eyes went dubiously round the room, blinking a little in the sunlight. If only there was a picture of him, it would seem more reasonable to pretend he was actually there and could hear if she spoke to him. Or if only one knew his name. . . . You couldn't live in a room all your life and not leave your name somewhere in it—or could you?

She cast a helpless, ingratiating look round the four walls again, as if seeking him. Where could one look? Would he mind very much if—?

"If I could find his name," she said wistfully, just above a whisper, "I think I could talk to him—sometimes."

"My name is Hilary," he told her, with a sudden, aching desire that she know it.

The feeling grew on him minute by minute as he watched her that some sixth sense of hers would surely hear him, that already her sensitive, childlike perception had picked up some impression of his nearness and that she was glad of it.

SHE had risen and gone to the desk, and now she stood looking down at the blotter.

"There's that letter to Thompson," she murmured, "only he didn't sign it."

"The phone rang," he explained. "He might have had a bookplate," she muttered, drifting disconsolately across the carpet. "But all he ever does is write 'Shenstone' inside the cover."

"It's in my Kipling," he said, following her. "Surely you've had my Kipling off the shelf?"

She stood behind the chesterfield, scowling at the handsome rows of books in their open shelves which lined the walls.

"To your right, Sabrina—the other side of the mantelpiece—" He spoke urgently from the middle of the room behind her, motionless there, striving desperately now to reach her with some sense of his words. "Those red and gold books on the second shelf to the right of the mantelpiece—they were all given to me by a dear maiden aunt with a vice for scribbling on fly-leaves, dates and all. Find my Kipling, Sabrina—"

She wavered, hung on one foot, moved vaguely towards the mantelpiece, and halted again.

"Keep to your right, Sabrina—that's it—you're getting warm now—the Kipling, Sabrina, you can't miss it—no, the shelf above that one—above it—"

Her feet had carried her forward uncertainly. Her hand came up, hovered, and fell on "Puck of Pook's Hill."

"Got it!" cried Hilary with infinite satisfaction, from the middle of the room.

SHE lifted the book off the shelf and opened it, turning the leaves lovingly.

"Did you read this when you were little, I wonder?" she murmured. "I did, more than once. It would be fun to read it again—together."

She carried the book to the chesterfield and sat down there, one foot beneath her.

The cover, loosened from much use, fell open, away from the writing on the fly-leaf. Her eyes widened as she read.

"'To darling Hilary on his 12th birthday, with fondest love from his Auntie Dot. Sept. 6, 1916.'" She gave a little gasp of triumph and excitement, and read the words again unbelievingly. "Why, that's it! I've found you." And she repeated thoughtfully—"Hilary."

"That's it," he said, watching her. "Do you like it?"

"Hilary," she said again softly. "It's perfect. It couldn't have been anything else."

"You heard me!" he marveled. "You must have heard me—in a way. I can get through to you. Perhaps with practice I can make you know all the things I want to tell you—because you found your way to me here."

She had pulled a pillow into place behind her back and begun to read, becoming instantly absorbed. Hilary went back to the window seat and sat down there.

He had a good deal to think about, as they sat together through the lazy June morning. He would have come back to England, he was thinking, in the ordinary course of events, some time later in the summer—about the middle of August. He would have come down to Nuns Farthing at once to see about his room. He and Sabrina would have met then—those clear gray eyes, that wide, engaging smile, the warm little fingers—her implicit confidence in the man who belonged to this room. . . . He would have had to exercise patience—she was so young—but she was his, and he liked to think he would not have been clumsy, or hurried her. . . .

Obviously, whenever, however, he came, he was to find her here waiting for him. But it oughtn't to be like this. Something had gone wrong, out there on the Frontier. It was never meant to be like this. . . .

He Wants a Wife—With $20,000

The young man in this picture is 22-year-old Pierre Jackson, of Wadsworth, Kan. He wants a wife. So much so that he advertised for one in a Kansas City, Kan., newspaper. Jackson says he was born in Paris, is an excellent cook and dancer and speaks three foreign languages. He merely stipulates that any prospective bride must have $20,000. Photographer Marian Minor is taking a glamor picture of him. Marian, not a candidate, says "I don't have $20,000 and besides, I don't like glamor pictures."

Police Meet Match In Five-Year-Old

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. —(AP)— Five-year-old John Taylor Winslow's release from the police station was a relief to policemen. Johnny showed up one afternoon plodding along in cowboy boots. He was obviously lost but made himself at home at police headquarters.

He emptied all 28 private mail boxes of police officers, broke the hydrometer used to measure the sufficiency of anti-freeze in squad cars, and hung by his heels from the radio wires under the radio desk. One of his exploratory trips, however, took him into a jail cell and he swung the heavy steel door shut behind him. There he stayed until his mother arrived.

"If I cancel the order," he said, "someone in the purchase department may wake up to what's going on and send our research staff a bill for the whole 24 cases."

jail. I've suffered enough."

They turned the panic-stricken woman loose. The lady put her cat back in the suitcase—and they continued their sad pilgrimage to Brooklyn.

In the United States, a preventable fire breaks out every 20 seconds.

Market Briefs

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—(AP)—Stimulated by a demand for rails, the stock market moved higher today.

The volum was about 750,000 shares.

In quiet trading the railroads turned up by as much as 2 points with oils and steels following along for gains up to a point.

Early dealings were so quiet that trends in various groups were difficult to ascertain. However, only in a few cases were prices higher than major fractions in late trade.

The best performers were Santa Fe, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Standard Oil (NJ), Sinclair Oil, American Smelting, Electric Power and Light and Montgomery Ward.

Motors as a group were steady as were utilities. Chemicals were mixed.

The rise was a continuation of yesterday's recovery. The follow-through, however, was accompanied by small volume, a disappointing element to brokers on the bullish side of the market.

'... Important to Everybody'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Babe Ruth died of cancer after years of a conspiracy of silence by his friends and family. His passing focusses interest on the secrecy which time and custom have wrapped around the deadly killer.

Three days before Ruth died, another man sat down to his typewritter in Cleveland, O., and typed a message to his friends and townsmen which he captioned "Strictly Personal But Important to Everybody."

In that message, carried in the Cleveland Press editorial columns for which he wrote, Carl Matson said that he had cancer. Because the editors of NEA Service and this newspaper believe that his message IS "important to everybody" as a courageous step in the battle against cancer, we present it as carried on the editorial page of the Press.

By CARL MATSON

I've decided to write a piece which will be quite shocking to some people. But it shouldn't be.

I write it not just to be shocking, although I'm willing to be that in a good cause. I'm writing it because I think it's time that some history be made by being as frank as I'm going to be here today.

Anything anybody can do to free the human race from terrifying and crippling bondage to ancient fears, should be done. To that end I aim to make my contribution.

I was told the other day that the back injury which has been bothering me for months, involves a malignancy. In plain language, my friends, that of course means cancer. This wasn't a complete surprise to me, by any means, but neither was it good news. It was staggeringly bad news, and would be to anyone.

But I didn't lose any time lying on the floor. I made arrangements to get the best treatment I could. There's plenty of wonderful treatment available in this country. . .

But let's skip the therapy, because this isn't a case discussion of the writer's back ailment. I'll work that out with the doctors.

What I want to do is to srrike a blow against this mysterious, paralyzing hush-hush that surrounds every case of cancer. I don't want anybody having to ask about me, "Does he know what he's got? Has he been told?" Yes, I've been told and I know.

Also I don't want good friends of mine feeling cautious and apprehensive about talking to me about anything and everything, including cancer. If my life on earth must be foreshortened—as certainly seems possible at this moment—I want every particle that's left of it wide open and uninhibited to the freest intercourse I know with all good souls.

I think these "whispering campaigns" about cases of cancer friendly and considerate as they may be intended are deadly destroyers of the human spirit. They make the hard fact of cancer doubly hard. I want none of them.

What I'm doing here today has been a matter of resolution ever since I've thought about this subject. And repeated cases, where fine people have been put behind the "iron curtain" long before their time, have hardened my resolution.

For instance, I have thought about a husband and wife, very close and dear to each other, who nevertheless lived together for six months throughout the death throes of her cancer, without the consolation of simple candor. They kept a desolate silence between them about her illness, secretly asking, each about the other, "Does she know? Does he know?" What tragic nonsense!

I will have none of it, and I want my friends to have none of it.

If they want to think of me from time to time as a man with a cancer, OK. The doctors might fool them, at that, but it's the fact, subject to further notice, and let's face up to it.

Meanwhile, there's so much to be done in this world, so much to think about, write about, and talk about, that it's an infernal nuisance to be laid up for repairs even for a short time. What a world it is: It's full of cause for worry, to be sure, but it's also a place where it's actually difficult to be bored.

Remember, we have a "prosperity" that couldn't stand one "washing." Under its soft surface anybody can discern the mortal symptoms of inflation. We have on our hands the dangerous business of a cold war. We're in the midst of a political campaign that looks like a circus, but is trademarked by destiny. We've made for ourselves the Atomic Age, and now we don't know what to do with it. We have all the gadgets to make the world a constellation of shining opportunities for everybody, beyond the utmost outer boundary of the most gifted imagination. Yet in the midst of it we sit, scared to death.

So, you see, I don't want to miss anything I can help missing. God willing, for a long time I shall be writing in this column on many subjects, among them, cancer.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP) — Tales of the machine age:

Large corporations are supposed to be tops in efficiency.

Sometimes they are. But—like governments—they can get bogged down in their own red tape.

A man who worked in the research department of one of the biggest corporations here became exasperated with the paper forms he had to fill out. As a joke one day he entered an order on one of the corporation's many blanks:

"Monthly supply of test tube cleaning fluid — one case of high-grade Scotch whiskey."

Somehow the memo went through the purchase department, was okayed—and the research staff was surprised and pleasantly cheered by the arrival of a case of Scotch.

Every month now for two years a fresh case of Scotch has been delivered and the man who started the whole business is getting worried. He wants to turn off the whiskey faucet, but doesn't know how.

Here is one that could probably happen nowhere except in the New York City area:

A lady who lived in an apartment in Yonkers had a cat that fell ill and died. Having no place to give her pet proper burial, she called her sister, who had a house in Brooklyn, and asked if she could inter the cat in her back yard. The sister said yes.

The lady put the dead cat in a small suitcase and set out. By the time she reached Manhattan she felt very lonely and depressed. She decided she needed a remembrance of some kind to remind her of her pet.

She went into a department store, put down her suitcase and asked the clerk if she had a bar of soap in the shape of a cat.

"I'll have to ask the manager," said the clerk. The manager came and said no, they were out of cat-shaped soap bars. Would she care for some soap shaped like a dog or a lion?

Just then the lady gasped:

"My suitcase—it's been stolen."

The manager, wise in the ways of shoplifters, immediately rushed the clerk to the women's rest room, figuring the thief would loot the bag there and throw it in a wastebasket.

He was right. In the restroom they found a strange sight—a woman sprawled in a faint, the open suitcase by her side, the dead cat lying in her lap.

Revived, the woman cried:

"Take it away! Lordy, lordy, I thought it was a fur wrap when I pulled it out. Don't send me to

Yugoslavs Communize Pork Chops

BELGRADE —(AP)— The Yugoslav government has communized the pork chop.

This was disclosed by the Communist newspaper Borba, which said the government is going into the business of raising, fattening and selling pigs.

Where did it get the pigs?

About two weeks ago the government sent squads throughout the country which rounded up most of the porker population from peasants' farms. The pigs were run into government pens. The farmers were paid about one-tenth of the prevailing market price.

The government said this was necessary in order to insure an adequate supply of food for the country's industrial workers.

Borba said this forced collection had given the government a foundation for state-controlled raising, fattening and selling of one of Yugoslavia's major food products.

This was believed to be a forerunner for similar developments in other products of the profitable Yugoslav food growing industry.

ARMY REVIVES HOSTELS

HEIDELBERG —(AP)— Germany's famed youth hostels, abolished by the Nazis, are being revived under U. S. Army auspices. Chains of hostels, a one-day's hike apart, were located throughout Germany in the pre-Hitler era. They were meeting places for the youth of Germany and other countries. The Nazis abolished them because the resulting exchanges of ideas and experiences was considered detrimental to Nazism.

Stumpy Point Gets 'Phone Line That's Kibitzer-Proof

STUMPY POINT, N. C. -(NEA)- Although it took a world war and the atomic age to do it, the fisherman of Stumpy Point finally has a voice heard around the world.

The eavesdropless wireless wire telephone has come to this age-old fishing village set out 30 miles in fish-filled Albemarle Sound on the Dare peninsula. It's just another dial phone on the desks of local fisherman's business-living quarters, but it uses the ether waves from Stumpy Point to the high-tension power lines, travels with the 60-cycle current into Englehard, jumps back to the ether—and is gathered, docile and unhampered, on the exchange.

George Wise, dean of local fish buyers, estimates that he has spent $20,000 in travel to reach a phone and for long-distance phone calls. The day after the phones came to Stumpy Point, George, with shrimp to sell, made enough profit via his new phone to pay his bill for two months.

Stumpy Pointers have been after telephones for years—they raised money for a cable over to Manteo across Croatan Sound, and they dickered for radio telephones. Then the late war came along, took all the youngsters around over the globe, and one of them, Russell Nixon, Jr., came back with all the wire ends neatly wrapped in radio waves.

Linking his post-war job with a telephone company and his Stumpy Point home life, Nixon got up a unanimous petition among Dare County mainlanders at Stumpy Point and Mann's Harbor, tipped off community leaders as to technical possibilities, including a hook-up with the local power lines. It's complicated, politically, economically, and technically—but it works. . . and sells fish while they're still fresh.

Technically, the new phone is a system developed to provide telephone service over power lines at the same time those power lines are used to transmit electrical current.

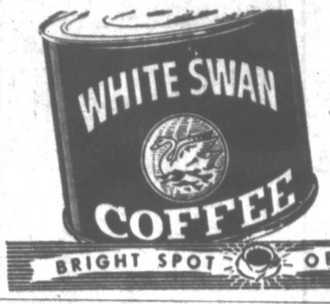

And there's no eavesdropping. If a third party picks up the phone the sounds are garbled.

FROM BUGGY TO BED

First coil bedspring was made by James Liddy, Watertown, N. Y., in the middle 19th Century with coils from the seat of a buggy.

This is Arthur Adams, characterized by investigators of the House Un-American Activities Committee as "one of the most important" wartime Soviet spies. They said he was assigned to get "atomic and radar secrets."

Coach Explains T Formation to Rotary Club

Coach Tom Tipps uses a T formation because his backfield is too light to shift into double and single wing back formations and act as blocking backs.

The Harvester's mentor explained this yesterday to the Pampa Rotary Club during its weekly meeting in the PoRo ,miCytm meeting in the Palm Room, City Hall.

Tipps elaborated and said that if high schools and colleges would not use the T formation, many light weighted boys would never be able to play football, because they were not built heavy enough to work defensively in the backfield. The coach, accompanied by practically all of the football squad at the Rotary luncheon, answered questions from the club in lieu of giving a full scale address or chalk talk.

He outlined the intricacies of building up offensive and defensive plays before training season starts and then working them out on the field.

Entertainment was furnished by Miss Dorotha Loewen, music teacher at Woodrow Wilson School, who sang several solos.

Club singing was led by George "Pinkey" Vineyard and Steve Matthews presided over the business session.

To Keep Jail Clean, Officer Washes Drunks

Want to get washed up—or down—while you're on a spree? If so, see Patrolman Denny Roan, Pampa Municipal Police.

Roan, the boys tell around City Hall, has inaugurated a new service in the department. It consists of a face washing and mouth mopping routine for hapless stews who happen to get messed up.

T'other night Roan and Patrolman Bob Crouch picked up one of the town's alcohol inhalers in a sorry state of affairs. Before loading him in the jail house taxi, Roan paternally took an absorbent towel and gently mopped the fellow's face, eyes and mouth. In City Hall the fatherly cop again washed down his charge before putting him in bed—a bed that cost $10 the following morning.

Crouch says:

"'Twas a sight to behold—and right there on the street too."

Tickets Now Ready For Teachers Dinner

All local business concerns that plan to purchase tickets for the Gray-Roberts County teachers banquet next Tuesday, are urged to do so immediately, Lieb Langston, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Goodwill Committee, said.

CHAPERONED

Until Victoria became queen, she was never permitted to talk with any adult unless her mother or her governess was present, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

"The plans for the dinner are progressing nicely," he said.

Approximately 450 are expected to attend the banquet. About 350 teachers and their wives or husbands will attend and approximately 100 local business people.

Federal Fine Levied Against Brake Company

NEW YORK —(AP)— Federal Judge Edward A. Conger Wednesday imposed fines totaling $152,000 against the Brake Lining Manufacturers Association, Inc., of New York, 17 corporate members and nine individual officials.

The action was taken after they withdrew innocent pleas and pleaded no contest to three criminal anti-trust indictments.

In addition to the fines, the association was ordered dissolved and the defendants agreed to abandon the alleged illegal practices charged in the indictments.

The indictments charged that the defendants had entered into three separate conspiracies to fix prices, discounts, classifications of customers and terms and conditions of sales on replacement brake linings and clutch facings.

Some Calves and a Shinn Make Pretty Pictures

If you're interested in calves, you might like the one at left, above—no, not THAT one—the four-footed one. It's a pedigreed Jersey calf, named Annabelle, and is an entry in the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona, Calif. The other calf belongs to comely Gwen De Voli, Princess of the Livestock. Maybe you're not interested in calves. For you we present Diana Shinn, at right, San Francisco night club dancer, leading contestant for the title of Queen of the forthcoming Portola Festival. The festival celebrates the third discovery of San Francisco Bay by Don Gaspar de Portola in 1769.

Draft Cards Are Mailed

Classification cards were being sent today by the Pampa office of Local Board 52, U. S. Selective Service to the 2,551 registrants throughout its jurisdiction.

The classifications in the new draft are set up similarly to the draft of World War II and are as follows:

Class 1

1-A—Available for military service.

1-A-D — Conscientious objector available for noncombative service only.

1-C—Member of the armed forces of the United States, Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic Survey, or Public Health Service.

1-D—Member of reserve component or student taking military training.

Class 2

2-A—Deferred because of civilian employment (except agriculture.)

2-C—Deferred because of employment in agriculture.

Class 3

3-A—Deferred because of dependents.

Class 4

4-A—Registrant who has completed service; sole surviving son.

4-B—Official deferred by law.

4-D—Minister of religion or divinity student.

4-E—Conscientious objector opposed to both combatant and noncombatant military service.

4-F—Physically, mentally or morally unfit.

Class 5

5-A—Registrant over the age of liability for military service.

Fulltime students in high school or college who are qualified for military service will be placed in Class 1-A, but may request deferment in writing to their board after they receive their order of induction. The deferments asked for by this group will be considered by the local boards.

Injured Actress Regains Consciousness

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— Actress Rita Johnson has regained consciousness in St. Vincent's Hospital after being in a coma for 16 days.

A special nurse said Wednesday that Miss Johnson could recognize persons in the hospital room but still was unable to talk. The actress' condition was described as much improved.

The actress was injured Sept. 6. Investigators believe a heavy hair drier fell on her head.

U.S. Navy Band To Give Concerts In Oiler Park

The United States Navy Band will hold its two concerts here, Oct. 16, in Oiler Park, rather than in the Junior High School Auditorium, J. B. McGuire of the American Legion said today.

The reason for the change is that the auditorium will not hold the crowd that is expected for the performances. The afternoon concert is prepared especially for the children of the community and surrounding towns, McGuire added.

The various musical numbers in the programs have been determined through study of many weeks in advance of the tour, with the exception of "hit parade" tunes planned for the matinee. However, Conductor Charles Brendler is anxious that his program conform to the desires of Pampans.

Persons who are particularly interested in certain selections are urged to write Brendler. They may reach him in care of The Naval Gun Factory, Washington, D. C.

If the tabulated results show a representative group has requested a certain composition, the band may be able to play that selection either during the regular program or as an encore number.

The Navy since 1935 has maintained a School of Music in Washington, D. C.

TRUMAN

threw new punches at the Republicans on domestic issues.

For his own part, the Chief Executive regarded it as "foolish" to overlook problems posed by tactics of the Soviet Union," but he said he did not regard them as "insuerable obstacles to peace."

In solemn tones he told a police-estimated crowd of 25,000 persons at San Francisco's City Hall that progress toward peace has been "much faster" than it would have been without the United Nations. He said the United Nations one day will bring that peace to the whole world.

Mr. Truman picked San Francisco, where he came in 1945 to witness the signing of the United Nations Charter, to voice his faith in the eventual success of the United Nations, and his wish to keep foreign policy out of the political campaign.

He said he had never "for one moment" underestimated the multitude of problems which the Soviet Union could cause if that country were unwilling to join with other nations in working for peace.

Then, turning to other sections of the world, Marshall demanded a unified, independent Korea, with membership in the United Nations, and that "Greece be made secure from aggressive and unlawful interference from without."

He asked "a negotiated settlement in Indonesia," where the Indonesian republic and the Netherlands East Indies government are at odds.

Marshall also called for adoption of an international system for the control of atomic energy and a progressive reduction of armaments "under an adequate and dependable guaranty against violation."

If these world problems are solved, he said, "New hope would arise among men and new confidence among the nations of the world."

the States' Rights candidates —Governors J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi—the Louisiana Democratic nominees. Mr. Truman was thus eliminated from the ballot, and only a special session of the Legislature amending election laws could restore him.

The Truman ticket question is one of 28 measures to be considered by the special session. Others include Gov. Long's request for repeal of the state civil service law, already drastically amended; and $6,000,000 in additional appropriations for free school lunches. No new taxes are being asked.
