CONNER JURY IS UNABLE TO AGREE, AND DISMISSED

HOPELESS DEADLOCK IS RESULT AFTER MORE THAN 15 HOURS

NEW TRIAL NOT SET

VOTE WAS SEVEN TO FIVE FOR FREEING ACCUSED MAN

(By Associated Press) FORT WORTH, Oct. 28. Hopelessly deadlocked after 15 hours and 45 minutes of deliberation, the jury before which Harry Conner, former city detective, was tried for alleged participation in the flogging of Morris Straus, plumbing supplies dealer, was discharged this afternoon by Judge G. E. Hesey of criminal courts here.

The specific charge against Conner was violation of the state anti-mock law and aggravated assault. It was not announced when a second trial will be held.

Since the jury had not reached a verdict by 4:30 p. m., the court granted the request of the lawyers that they be dismissed.

The court which had parked the case throughout the five days had not reached a verdict by 4:30 p. m. and there was but a handful of spectators present when the jury reported.

Conner's defense attorney, Chester Collins, who defended J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist church here, in his trial several months ago for slaying B. J. Phillips, said tonight that he considered the failure of the jury to reach a verdict as an overwhelming victory.

The First Baptist church contributed a fund for Conner's defense.

WOODSON JURY HUNG

Fail To Reach an Agreement at 11 O'Clock and Are Locked Up Until Morning

WACO, Oct. 28.—Indications of a hung jury in the case of M. C. Woodson, charged with robbing the First National bank of 5500 dollars, were apparent at 11 o'clock tonight, when the jurors after almost an hour of debate returned to the jury box with a statement that it would be impossible for them to agree on a verdict before morning.

Argument in the case began at 10 o'clock and continued until almost 11 o'clock, when time County Attorney Jack Holt asked the jury to give the defendant a penalty which would be a lesson to future bank robbers and criminals in McLannan county.

They Came and Saw and Were Pleased

Yesterday Lubbock had as guests for the football game many visitors, some of which were very distinguished gentlemen holding important positions in political places as well as men of big affairs in the commercial world. They came, some of them many hundreds of miles to be present at the football game—the first of its class to be held in this part of the state.

They were all most agreeably surprised at the growth and development of the city of Lubbock and the South Plains and they were also very much surprised to see such a wonderful institution as the Texas Technological College. The plant and the scope of the work that is given in this college was far ahead of what most of the people from a distance thought they would find in the new school.

We are indeed glad that so many distinguished guests were here and we are sure that if everyone of them were not show every courtesy possible by the people of Lubbock that it was because the Lubbock folks did not get a chance to get in touch with all of the visitors, for it was certainly in the hearts of every Lubbock man, woman and child to make every visitor feel welcome to the city.

NICHLAUS' LINE SMASHES ARE BRIGHT SPOTS OF FREELAND OFFENSE; EIGHT THOUSAND SEE WEST TEXAS' GRID CLASSIC

A bewildering second-half aerial attack, led by Captain Joel Hunt and carried to completion by Petty and Sikes, ends, and Halfback Alsabrook, triumphed on the gridiron for Texas A. & M. college here yesterday but not before an inspired Texas Tech eleven had at first paced the scoring and then held the heralded Farmers to an 8-6 tally throughout the first two periods. Eight thousand spectators, many of them former Aggie students who had traveled hundreds of miles to witness the fray, were on hand in Tech's spacious new athletic plant when the South Plains was given its first taste of big-time, intercollegiate football. The final score was 47 to 6.

PARIS WELCOMES AMERICAN FLIERS

FRENCH GIVE A FRIENDLY GREETING TO RUTH ELDER AND HER PILOT

(By Associated Press) PARIS, Oct. 28.—Ruth Elder, 18 days out of New York, completed her trans-Atlantic journey as she began it—by air—when she landed at Le Bourget field at 3:47 o'clock this afternoon. In finally reaching Paris, Ruth and her flying companion, Captain George W. Haldeman, broke another record. They set a speed mark from New York to Bourget.

Miss Elder alighted at the famous French airfield to the flammings of a multitude which at once gave her an affectionate title, "The smiling American Matinée on holiday."

The charming smile and cheerful nature of the American girl instantly made a hit with the enthusiastic French crowd, while Haldeman's appearance and blase demeanor caused the crowd to ponder.

The Woman's Day By Allene Sumner

One of the best books of family life ever written is "Julia", the novel by Made De La Roche which won the Atlantic $14,000 prize for "the best novel submitted by any author." Julia is the name of the great estate built by Captain Philip and Adeline Whiteoak in the wilderness of Ontario whether they emigrated from an army post in India. The post was Julia, and the new home built on Lake Ontario was named after it.

"GRAN" "Gran" is the character of the book. The literal old woman of the tribe, a despot to her sons, daughters and grandchildren. She is as robust as a storm, as vivid as lightning, and as full of vitality as a cricket. She is no brow-beaten, ashamed remnant of the older generation, sitting in a chimney corner and grateful for whatever, if any, crumbs of attention are showered upon her. She makes the younger generation conform to her standards of things—not she to theirs. She dominates the conversation. She says what she wants. She goes where she wants to. She makes her family go to church and she regulates the rest of their manners and morals.

"MOTHOR FLOWERS" Alayne, the girl from the states who marries one of Gran's grandsons, and comes home with him to Julia, resents the old woman of the tribe, just as she, daughter of a professor father, reared in a household of culture, resents many things of Julia. Family bickerings, cruelties, all the hue and tumult and turmoil resulting from a large family made up of personalities as different as butter in a ribbon cake. It's the sort of family atmosphere that most all large families take pretty much for granted. It's the sort of thing that small families can never understand. Read it!

"CHILD PROTECTION" There is a law which says that children may not have operations without their parents' consent. Many children died because of this law. Little Jane Smith, 11, of Cleveland, almost died. Jane had been left with a neighbor while her mother went to another state. The little girl had an attack of acute appendicitis. Her parents could not be reached. Hours elapsed while legal red tape was cut and a temporary guardian appointed. Jane will live, but it makes one wonder if childhood may not be over-protected.

"DIFFERENT THEN" Paris seems quite excited about "discovery" that divorcees are fraudulently obtained in its favor; that Americans give false residential facts and procure their divorces by collusion. I wonder if shocked and grieved Paris has checked up as yet on the thousands and thousands of dollars which its landlords have netted from these same "fraudulent divorcees." I wonder, too,

WESTERNERS AND COYOTES READY FOR GAME

WEST TEXAS GRID HISTORY MADE AS TECH LOSES TO AGGIES

WESTERNERS IN DETERMINED ATTITUDE

With the realization that upon the outcome of today's game depends the survival or demise of Lubbock's hopes in the Conference championship race, the Westerners are possessed of a grim determination last night—a determination to retrieve the name of Plains gridsters by defeating Wichita Falls in the Class A scheduled for this afternoon at the Tech stadium.

The Westerners realize that they are the underdogs for the tilt today but nevertheless have hopes of winning from Wichita Falls. They have more than hopes—they have determination.

The Coyotes arrived Friday and took a light workout on the Tech gridiron, prior to the Tech-Aggie game. The entire squad witnessed this contest in a hazy. The Coyotes came to Lubbock via bus and the extra day of rest was thought by Coach McCallum to be necessary due to the strenuous trip by this morning.

Field has been inactivated in the Westerners by their two coaches, Frinks and Morgan, during the past week's fight, along with a lot of useful football knowledge, defense formations for the Wichita Falls plays, and offensive tricks to be used on the system.

Sibes Wichita Falls is reputed to possess one of the most dangerous offense passing machines in high school circles, a spectacular offensive battles almost certain.

The probable line-ups: Lubbock Tech. Wichita Falls. Kerr 11; Bell. Dickinson 10; Habers. Allen 10; Hartop. Parkinson 10; Ramsey. Tatum 10; Smith. Whiteside 10; Powell. Williams 10; Black. Whitehair 10; Mitchell. Almy 10; Alford. Smith 10; Mills. Officials for the game: Strittger (Harvard) referee; Hart (Texas U) umpire, and De Point (N. T. S. C.) headlinesman.

Sophomore A Star In Alabama Team

DAVIS BRASFIELD

Although he wasn't good enough to make the freshman team last year, Davis Brasfield is the star of the Alabama backfield this year. Brasfield has been the real threat of the Alabama backfield this season. He is a shifty runner, and also does most of the passing and punting.

COWBOYS LOSE GAME WITH SIMMONS

(By Associated Press.) BROWNWOOD, Oct. 28.—Daniel Baker won the annual grid game between Simmons University, 28 to 7, Friday afternoon. The half ended in a scoreless tie, but the Hillbillies came back fighting and blocked two Cowboy punts within five minutes and covered each time for a touchdown.

Kicks For Point Are Harder Now

BY J. O'BRIEN, Kansas Football Referee. There has been a great deal of opposition since the past year to the try for points which allowed a team to increase its score by one point by successfully executing a drop or place kick forward pass on a running play after a touchdown.

SCHREINER WINS FROM ST. MARY'S BY 25 TO 6

KERRVILLE, Oct. 28 (AP)—In a hotly played game here Friday afternoon, Schreiner defeated St. Mary's University, 25 to 6. All Schreiner's points were scored in the first half.

STAGE SET FOR PONY-STEER CONTEST

(By Associated Press.) DALLAS, Oct. 28.—A record-breaking crowd, a busy Indian summer day and two formidable eleven in excellent condition were promised Friday night for the major engagement here Saturday afternoon between Southern Methodist University, Southwest Conference champions, Texas university, conquerors of Vanderbilt. Attendance of nearly 25,000 was forecast by seat sales through Friday. The game will start at 7:30 p. m.

S. M. U. ruled a slight favorite here Friday, but with the arrival of more Longhorn supporters it appeared that the odds would go to almost even money. The Mustangs, showing this year as well as last and the fact that nearly all of the Ponies will be able to play in the game, contributed to the slight edge they held.

The Longhorns arrived in Dallas Friday night accompanied by Mrs. Sewell, who has been in the hospital all week, indicating that he will be in condition to play at least for a time.

The NUT CRACKER by Joe Williams

Gene Tunney says he wants at least three fights during the coming year. That's three more than a lot of fight fans will care to see.

Walter Johnson says he is through as a pitcher. Yes, through and through.

Undertakers, we have discovered, like football because someone is always kicking off.

If the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame can repulse the Army, the Navy having already been vanquished, Ireland can justify its claim to this country.

What a lot of pretty replies Owen E. Hanes Drayton of the Pittsburgh club would have to offer if any of his athletes should ask for an increase after losing four straight to the Yankees!

Sidelights at the Big Game

Captain Joel Hunt and Coach Dana Bible left immediately after the grid game to attend the S. M. U.—Texas university football game at Dallas tomorrow. The Aggies and S. M. U. clash next week at College Station while the Farmers will meet the Longhorns on their own field on Thanksgiving day.

When is an All-Conference tackle not an All-Conference tackle? The answer is easy. It's when Nicholas hits his side of the line. Aggie, betty Aggie forward, was tucked soup for "Windy" and before the first half was over Coach Bible had ordered Sprott to the sidelines. Nicholas had a wonderful day. Too much credit cannot be given him for his work.

The Aggies were due to win from the Tech from a mathematical standpoint. Their school has more men to choose from. It is older, more established. It has more material and through the years, has held a great grid machine. Yet had Tech been able to stop the attack from the air the result might have been different. At any rate the score would have been closer.

Woodridge, plucky quarterback of the Matadors, is deserving of special mention. He intercepted several Aggie passes and he was the only Tech backfield man to show prowess in this respect, and generally played a splendid game both offensively and defensively.

Dartmouth, Navy, Cornell Favored

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—What odds there were tonight were favoring Dartmouth over Yale, Cornell over Columbia, Indiana over Harvard, and Navy over Pennsylvania, as the East looked forward to a series of close hard fought college football battles tomorrow.

No fewer than ten major games, including these four, loomed as "naturals" in which anything might happen. The prospect assured capacity crowds at all the big games with probably 250,000 at the half dozen headliners, 70,000 of which were expected at New Haven.

Reversing relations with the Navy at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, had most of its crippled ready to return to the lineup, but this fact did not prevent the Middles from being made the favorites.

In another big inter-sectional battle Syracuse meets Nebraska. Bucknell's undefeated, and surprisingly powerful outfit meets the Army at West Point.

Besides Dartmouth, Bucknell and New York University, Princeton also will be seeking to maintain an unbeaten record, and should win easily from William and Mary, Washington and Jefferson, and Pittsburgh of the unbroken brigade, also have drawn impressive foes in Thiel and Allegheny. New York University meets Colgate at the Yankee Stadium.

This picture of Babe Ruth holding the Omaha hen named after him indicates that his barnstorming trip is having splendid results.

BATTLING TECH LINE PLEASES AUDIENCE

(Continued from Page 1) Hunt changed his tactics entirely and wrenched first a commanding lead and then an overwhelming victory by means of the pass and the "round end" play.

Nichlaus is Star. Aside from the occasional wing-skirting gains of "Handsome Rams" Walker the only bright spot of the Matador offense was the brilliant line plunges of Winfield "Windy" Nichlaus, who does the full-backing for the Freelandites. Throughout the first three quarters, field injuries forced him from the field of battle, the husky Amarillo loan pounded the Farmer forwards for gain after gain and his smashes across right tackle Sprott, an all-conference selection in 1926, resulted in Bible's calling the latter to the sideline in the second period.

Conches Freeland and Bible both called upon numerous reserves throughout the game, the former due to injuries which forced Nichlaus, Reed, Carpenter, Corley, DeWitt, White and Walker into retirement, and the latter evidently upon saving his men for the coming tilts after a safe score had been piled up.

In the brilliant Aggie machine fans from all over West Texas saw the finest aggregation of Lone Star gridmen to ever invade this section of the state. Alambrook and Silke, visioned three of the flashiest performers no wading duty in the south.

Abilene Crushes Ranger, 33 to 0

ABILENE, Oct. 28 (AP)—Unerring passes from Quarterback Walter, and sweeping end runs, led by deadly interference, assured a staggering total of first downs and yardage for Abilene, high and crashed the final hopes of the Ranger Bulldogs to repeat for the district and West Texas class "A" championship. Scoring in every period but the third, Abilene walked away with the victory, 33 to 0. Captain Smith went over for one touchdown in the first quarter and another in the second, and Salkeld followed with a third before the half ended. Hanna bucked the line for the fourth in the final period, and Sellers, intercepting a pass, raced 50 yards for the last counting play.

A special train bearing 425 fans accompanied the Ranger team on its western invasion.

Play By Play

FIRST QUARTER The Aggies won the toss and elected to kick, defending the south goal. A strong wind from the south was sweeping over the field. Hunt kicks off, out of bounds, and the play was called back. Hunt kicked off to Woodridge who made a nice return of 14 yards, being downed on his 23 yard yard line. A pass from Walker was intercepted by Petty for the Aggies. Aggie ball on their own 48 yard line. Conover hit right end for four yards. Hunt circled left end for 14 yards, down by Hamilton. Aggie ball on Tech 40 yard line. A pass Hunt to Sikes, was completed for 14 yards. Alambrook hit left tackle for six more. Hunt went around right end for six yards, stepping out of bounds. Alambrook was stopped at left tackle with a 3 yard gain. Alambrook crawled off left tackle for 3 more. Vermillion stopped Hunt at the line of scrimmage. The Tech line held Alambrook on fourth down and the ball went over to Tech on the 5 yard line.

A bad pass from center rolled, untouched, over the Tech goal line and gave the Aggies a safety. Score A. and M. 2; Tech 0. The ball was brought back in play on the 29 yard line, and Jennings punned to Hunt, who fumbled, and was downed on his 25 yard line. Conover made 3 yards in two line plunges. Hunt circled the right wing for 5 yards. Hunt punted 25 yards, the ball being killed on the Tech 46 yard line. Nichlaus smashed left tackle for 5 yards. Nichlaus picked up a yard at right guard. Woodridge punted 48 yards out of bounds on the Aggie 5 yard line. Alambrook hit left tackle for a yard. Hunt was thrown for a yard loss at left end. A pass Hunt to Richter, was intercepted by Woodridge on the Aggie 13 yard line. Nichlaus made a yard at left tackle. Nichlaus tipped the Aggie left guard for six yards. Nichlaus

FISHER'S MOTHER MAKES TESTIMONY

DEFENSE RESTS IN CASE AND ARGUMENT IS DUE TO BEGIN SOON

(By Associated Press) CAMERON, Oct. 28.—The defense in the case of Monroe Fisher, charged with the murder of Albert W. Bonds, former Bell county sheriff, rested at 2:30 p. m. Friday and court was recessed preparatory to opening rebuttal testimony. Defense testimony, which required only four hours, was featured by the appearance of Mrs. Wiley Fisher, mother of the defendant, on the stand. Monroe Fisher did not testify, regarding the slaying of her husband in Helton in August, 1925, and the effect of his death upon her son, Monroe. She said that she and her husband were in Helton to attend a funeral when her husband suddenly said, "There he is now," and pushed her aside. He was immediately shot to death by a shotgun in Helton in an automobile, she testified.

The man was Albert W. Bonds, she said. Now, Casey testified that he saw the crowd, roadside, alleged by the prosecution to be the one from which Bonds was shot last May. He said that he saw the driver of the car within ten feet just after the shots were fired. He testified that he knew Monroe Fisher and that the man in the car was not Fisher, the defendant. The defense sought all through the afternoon testimony to establish an alibi. The shooting of Bonds is alleged to have occurred about 11:15 or 11:20 a. m. in Helton, nine miles from Temple, J. M. Birchfield, Temple railway clerk, was with Monroe Fisher at 11 o'clock in Temple for about 15 minutes. He said Fisher he testified, gave him a ride to his car, in which was broken down at his home.

Paul Poteet, brakeman, said he saw Fisher at the Y. M. C. A. in Temple at 11:15 a. m. J. M. Gardner, conductor, was at his home in north fifth street in Temple and set his railway watch at 11:20. Some time between that time and the time he was called into his home for lunch by his wife at 11:55, Monroe Fisher passed by and spoke to him, he testified. Birchfield and Gardner said that the car in which they saw Fisher was different in make and color from that which the state Thursday contended was borrowed by Fisher and used in the slaying of Bonds.

MANY MEXICANS BEING DEPORTED

Some of Them Sent Back Had Lived in This Country for Several Years

(By Associated Press) HOUSTON, Oct. 28.—Special agents of whom have lived in the United States for many years, are being deported in considerable numbers from Texas to Mexico by immigration officers, according to a special telegram to the Houston Post Dispatch from Mexico, Texas. The telegram, which will be printed in the Post Dispatch tomorrow will explain that according to a report in this section members of the border patrol were recently requested to ascertain the number of aliens residing along the border. This survey evidently demonstrated as served to stimulate the activities of the immigration service in ascertaining the facts and they have been accordingly to report making wholesale deportations of Mexicans. "Many of the Mexicans have later returned to the United States with their proper papers, but in many instances these papers have not been available and the parties, some of whom have lived in the United States for years, have been held across the border. Meanwhile, the message said, many wild reports have been circulated among the Mexican residents of Southwest Texas. According to this authority, one was that they are being sent to Mexico to be pressed into the army and another was that they were being deported to colonies with Mexican lands at the instance of the Mexican government. Glass meetings, the Post Dispatch will say, are being held at many points to quiet the fears of the thousands of Mexicans along the Mexican border.

Three Lockhart physicians, who examined Millikin in his cell tonight, in the absence of his attorneys, will testify for the state. They are: Dr. H. A. Ross, Edgar Smith and W. H. O'Connell. A further professional defense attorney, over the examination in the absence of Millikin's counsel, was thought likely. Judge W. E. Hawkins of Millikin's counsel announced tonight Dr. Howard Whiteside of Wichita Falls will not be called to testify for the defense as to Millikin's sanity. The cross-examination of Sheriff Ellison by defense counsel, Judge Johnson adjourned court in the middle of a march that District Attorney Blundell and Hawkins were making for each other. Hawkins had asked Ellison a question and he started to answer when Hawkins interrupted. "Let him answer," Blundell said. "Well, I thought he had," Hawkins replied. "No, you didn't." "You sit by the watch," Hawkins

The district attorney then started at Hawkins saying: "You are gray-haired old man and I won't strike you, but your partner's young, trust him out," Hawkins replied that he would take care of himself, and Judge Jeffers immediately cut short the squabble by adjourning court. Judge Blundell apologized to the district attorney. Millikin broke into a laugh and said, "I'm a sheriff, he's a go home. That's getting too hot for me. You and I must take care of ourselves."

"OLD GLORY." There's a flag unfurled in the Western world. It was destined to be the flag of the free. And they christened it "Old Glory." It has flown to the breeze in Columbus's world. It has stood in the van of Liberty's way in peace and in war's commotion. It has severed the shackles affixed by Kings. And the shackles affixed by creeds. It has given to man his freedom of thought. Price For 'Stags' Up At Tech Dance

There would be no doubt that two can live cheaper than one if the same ratio applied on admittance fees to the dance held at the Tech College gymnasium here last night, were applied to all expenses. As a means of combatting the predominance of "stags" at the dance, those in charge placed the fee for couples at one-third less the price for a male unaccompanied by a lady friend. The reason assigned for this act is that the practice of males in "staging" dances, had become too popular a fashion, and as a result there was not enough girls to go around. Also the young men who brought a lady friend to the dance in the expectation of having most of the dances with her, had been discouraged by too much competition.

High Class Hindu Miss, Here To Study Medicine, Prefers Hospitals To Harems She Says; Wants 'Purpose' For Her Life

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 28.—Matilal W. Shahane, high caste Hindu girl prefers hospitals to harems. She also is in American studying medicine. She intends to open a hospital in north India after she finishes a four-year course at the Women's Medical college of Pennsylvania.

Colorful, "different," Miss Shahane (pronounced in a sturred, guttural way that "smell" almost anything but the way it is spelled) is a delightful example of the old-world woman turned modern.

Although she won't bob her black hair, Matilal Shahane believes in a career.

She always wears a native sari—a long, flowing tress of orange, saffron yellow or red finely woven material her forehead bears a "tilak" that "smell" almost anything but the way it is spelled) is a mark of caste in her native land.

Her reflections on American fashions show no objection to their being short on hair and skirts and long on personal freedom. She says: "They are living only for the present minute. Women should have some purpose in life—or of what she is fit."

COOKING SCHOOL

The store was given by the New Friends and Appliances and the National Hardware companies. The smoking of biscuits was demonstrated yesterday by Mrs. Chitwood, who gave a recipe for their preparation. She also gave a recipe

RUTH ELDER

Bourget, thousands had settled down to await the arrival of Miss Elder and Captain Haldeinan about 2 o'clock when suddenly out of the southern skies, heavily veiled with fog, a plane shot out.

"It can't be them," ungrammatically said pilots, but swooping down gracefully over the field Haldeinan brought his airplane to a stop still a few feet from the cement boardwalk used by the London-Paris express liners.

Haldeinan crawled out and then a shock of medium bobbed hair above a bright red sweater appeared over the side of the plane.

"There she is, that's Ruth," the spectators shouted. A look of dismay on the face of the pioneer American woman trans-Atlantic flier as she saw the crowd rushing forward; but smiling shortly, "Good good" and immediately repeating "Bon, Trés Bon."

This evidently all the French she had for as she was almost buried under kisses of the demonstrative French women. She had not another word to say.

Typewriter officials airmen in glittering uniforms with many bright ribbons, adorning their breasts, fought to grasp her hand and in the lull of cheering a feminine American voice piped up: "Let me kiss George, that's all."

Miss Elder laughed and invited but Captain Haldeinan, grim with oil, finkered with the motor of the plane, and said, "I'm just the mechanic."

It was not the brightest of Paris October suns and photographers and the cameramen encumbered the entire vicinity immediately about the plane as French police tried to clear a path to the office of Commandant Renvoise, chief of the Bourget aviation club.

Miss Elder ascended the steps leading to the commandant's office rather haltingly as if she were weary. George was nowhere to be found then. Campaigne corks began to pop in a regular barrage but when Miss Elder was sought that she might be toasted she had disappeared. She was located a few minutes later by Commandant Renvoise's stenographer. The pioneer American woman Atlantic aviator was busy with comb and brush fixing up her hair.

"Here I am," she chuckled as she re-entered the room to say, "No thank you, no champagne, a little water please." Coming from a woman who had escaped death in the waters of the ocean this remark, when translated, seemed to amuse the French spectators.

Haldeinan came in at this time, reached for a glass and downed it without a word. He was located a few minutes later by Commandant Renvoise's stenographer. The pioneer American woman Atlantic aviator was busy with comb and brush fixing up her hair.

SINCLAIR TRIAL

the same grounds and in the presence of the jury they set out upon the winding trail of the bonds and their coupons.

As this trail was explored, the jury was taken rapidly from New York to Pueblo, Colorado, to El Paso, Texas; to Carrizozo, N. Mex.; to Denver, Colo., and finally to Washington, where the cancelled coupons were safely locked away in the federal treasury and from which the oil counsel obtained them.

The day's testimony was that by direction of H. E. Oiler, of Toronto, Canada, president of the Continental Trading company, who refused to give a deposition for use in the civil trial of the Teapot Dome case at Cheyenne, the New York agency of the Dominion bank of Canada, purchased $300,000 in Liberty Bonds through three New York brokerage houses.

Tells Of Lease. This was on April 21, 1922, six days after Fall and Sinclair attached their respective signatures to the lease by which Teapot Dome passed from control of the government to that of Sinclair's mammoth oil company. Oiler himself visited the Dominion bank agency and carried the bonds away, they having been wrapped in brown paper for him by the bank.

There the trail of the bonds was momentarily broken. It was in the following month that Everhart says he was in New York. From that city he came to Washington, he told the jury yesterday, and conferred with his father-in-law. That was around May 25, 1922, on which day Fall wrote a letter to the late E. H. Taylor, Jr., at Frankfort, Ky., about the purchase of four bulls for his Three Rivers, New Mexico, cattle ranch. The then interior secretary said he was enclosing a draft in payment drawn on the Three Rivers Cattle and Land company, with headquarters at Pueblo, that Everhart, general manager of that company, was leaving Washington for the Colorado city and would arrive before the draft. He added that he would have the money to meet the draft.

Everhart returned home on May 25, the evidence is, and on that day deposited $250,000 in Liberty bonds in a safety deposit box in the First

NOTHING FISHY ABOUT THIS YARN— IT'S THE TRUTH

With a friend of ours we went up to the Cafe for supper. He ordered a T-bone steak with a baked potato. The waitress asked him, "How did you find your steak?" He answered, "I rolled the potato over and found the steak under the potato." Now if you don't believe that one ask Wolf down at Swift and Co's for he is the guy that pulled it.

We both decided that we will eat fish hereafter as they are easy to find down here at the Lubbock Fish Market. Fresh Fish and plenty of them arriving daily. The greatest value of fish as food is their protein content, which contain nitrogenous substances, without which the body cannot replace its wear and tear and either develop or function normally.

Eat a Fish a day and keep the Doctor away.
