Cancer Unit Makes Plans For Program

The Collingsworth County unit of the American Cancer Society received its certificate of authorization in a meeting Friday, September 27, at the Heritage Room. Making the presentation was Jerry Alexander, field representative, from Amarillo.

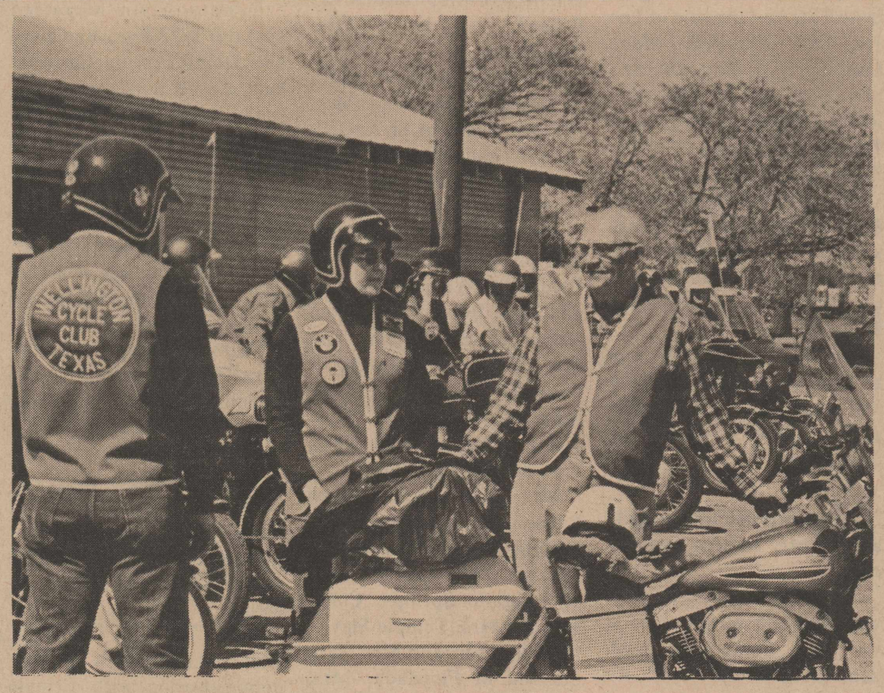
He also gave the status report for the county and read the by-laws.

Mrs. David Phipps gave the annual Crusade report, stating that county residents gave $1,358 which was 99 per cent of the goal.

Mrs. Lynn Wright accepted the post of public education chairman for the coming year.

Meetings of the unit will be held five times each year, with the next to be in November. The date will be announced.

Gary Archer, unit president, was in charge of the meeting.



AWARD TO OLDEST RIDER

A member of the Wellington Cycle Club, 84-year-old Harvey Taylor, right, received the trophy as the oldest rider among the estimated 10,000 at the Ruidoso, N.M. Motorcycle Rally during the week end. Mr. Taylor lives at Hollis and has ridden motorcycles since he was a young man. With him are Pat McAlister, left, president of the Wellington Club, and Mrs. McAlister. All of the 39 members attending the Rally wore the distinctive red and white Wellington Cycle Club jackets.

1974 Crop Tour and Field Day To Be Held in County Oct. 10

Cotton and grain sorghum varieties, along with grass experiments and drainage structures will be featured on the annual Collingsworth County Tour and Field Day, sponsored by the Extension Service and Soil Conservation Service.

The tour will be held Thursday, October 10, with participants starting at 9:00 a.m. from the south side of the court house. Salt Fork Soil Conservation District supervisors will host a barbecue at noon.

Plans were announced by Don Reeves, county extension agent, after he and Tommy Powell, SCS unit conservationist, had completed arrangements.

Six stops will be those carried out by the Northwest Texas Research Demonstration Program, under the direction of Tim Detwiler, farm demonstration assistant.

The two drainage structures were engineered by SCS personnel, including Mr. Powell, James Herring and the projects will include in brief:

- Cotton varieties at the Troy Thomason farm.
- The new drainage system north of Wellington to reroute water around town.
- Grain sorghum varieties at the Jerry Nix farm, and the same varieties under different conditions at the Earl L. Bartlett farm.
- A grazing demonstration at the Pat Bouchelle farm at Lillie.
- Broadcast cotton at the Earl Patterson farm.

If there is time stops will be made at the Fred Cox farm south of Lillie for pasture improvement work, and at the Clifford Christian place to see new waterways, said Mr. Reeves.

Extension Service specialists from Districts 1 and 3 will be here to discuss the experiments and answer questions.

Paul Gross, new District 1 Agent, will make his first visit to Wellington and will handle both cotton demonstrations, according to Mr. Reeves.

Dr. Frank Petr, area agronomist from the district 1 office in Amarillo will discuss grain sorghums and Dr. Dale Lovelace, area agronomist from District 3, Vernon, will assist with the grass experiments.

Two beef cattle specialists will participate, Dr. Dennis White of Vernon and Dr. Cal Parrott of Amarillo.

Fletcher Lee White, 83, prominent farmer in the Kelley community, died in Collingsworth General Hospital Monday morning, September 30, after a long period of ill health. He had returned a few days ago after surgery and treatment in an Amarillo hospital.

Mr. White came to that community 68 years ago, in 1906, as a youth from Montague County. Throughout his adult life he was a leader in farming and in community life in the southeast part of the county.

He worked for the improvement of the school, and education for all children. Over a long period of years he was active in Kelley Methodist Church, one of the thriving rural churches of the county, until it became a part of First United Methodist Church in Wellington.

Mr. White was born in Montague County March 8, 1891, the son of the late W.S. White, Sr. and Rebecca Davis White.

He was married to Miss Claudia Stewart on February 21, 1919, at Dodson.

Funeral services for Mr. White were conducted at First United Methodist Church at 2:00 p.m. Tuesday, October 1. Officiating were the Rev. James Boswell, pastor, and the Rev. Howard Smith, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene of Dodson.

Mrs. W.J. Gosnell, 85, died in Thomas Nursing Center at 3:50 a.m. Wednesday, September 25, after a long illness.

She came to Collingsworth County 45 years ago from Scott County, Ark., and lived much of the time in the Quail area, where she reared her family.

She was active in community affairs and the Methodist Church of her area, later becoming a member of Trinity United Methodist Church.

The former Inez Ritz, she was born in Scott County, Ark., April 3, 1889, and grew up there. She was married to W.J. Gosnell December 21, 1901, at Blansett, Ark.

After coming here they lived on the same farm three miles southeast of Quail for most of the time until his death June 7, 1967.

Rockets Open 2A Play at Memphis

Wellington's gallant Skyrockets open District 2-A play Friday night, October 4, with their opponent the Memphis Cyclone, ranked by some pollsters as the No. 2 Class A team in Texas.

The game will be played at Memphis beginning at 7:30 p.m.

For the Rockets, it's a new start, for district competition is what counts, the boys and their coaches reason. Whatever problems they may have had earlier, and particularly their loss to big Class AA Childress, will serve as hardening experience for conference play ahead.

Wellington coaches regard the Cyclone as every bit as good as it is said to be, Coach James Williams affirmed.

"They have a real fine defensive football team," he pointed out. The Cyclone record backs this up, for Memphis has had only 18 points scored on them in the three games to date.

Childress Bobcats went down 14-12 in the opener. The next week Coach Clyde McMurray's Cyclone shut out Crowell, ranked No. 6 in Class A in the state, 6-0. Friday night, Memphis played Lubbock Christian High School in Lubbock and won 16-6.

If there is a standout in the Memphis contingent, it is James Beck, split end, who is a fine receiver, has excellent speed and is 6'3" in height. Don Davis and Charles Briley add strength to the defense.

The defensive unit, in fact, is Memphis' strongest point right now, although they maintain a well balanced team all the way through.

"They control the football on the ground -- mostly by running over people," said the Wellington head coach.

Drivers License School Planned

A Drivers License School is scheduled in Wellington on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 7, 8, and 9th from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. at the Community Action Center, 612 East Avenue.

The school is sponsored by the Department of Public Safety and the Collingsworth County Community Action and is designed for all people, even those who have difficulty reading and writing. Handbooks will be available in both English and Spanish.

Patrolman Don Hatcher, Safety Officer for the DPS, and Patrolman W.W. (Bill) Ricks, Driver License Service, will conduct the school and will cover all questions that will be asked on any drivers license examination, including rules and signs. Both Mr. Hatcher and Mr. Ricks stated that "It is not our purpose to find out who does not have a license, but to assist those who need help in obtaining a license."

The course is free of charge and open to anyone in the area who is interested.

For those who already have a Driver's License, but are confused about the new signs that are beginning to appear along the highways, this would be a good opportunity to familiarized themselves with these.

Four such schools have been held in Wellington in the past and approximately 75% of those taking the course were able to obtain a drivers license upon their completion.

Annual Golf Tournaments For Men, Women Planned

The Wellington State Bank is sponsoring its fourth annual ladies' golf tournament and twelfth annual men's golf tournament, to be played at Hay Camp Country Club Golf Course during the first half of October. The announcement was made by C.T. Hubbard, bank president.

Play in the ladies tournament began Wednesday, October 2, and the qualifying round of 9 holes each to determine which flight the player will be in is to be completed by Friday evening, October 4.

Final play will include an additional 18 holes to be played Wednesday through Friday, October 9, 10 and 11, for a total of 27 holes. This will determine the winners of each flight, Mr. Hubbard explained.

If there should be a tie, then a sudden death play-off will determine the winner.

Prizes will be given for first, second, third and fourth place winners in each flight, and these will be awarded at the close of tournament play Sunday, October 13.

In men's play, the first 18 holes will determine the flight in which each is

Fire Prevention Contest to Open for County Students

Students in the first six grades of the Wellington, Quail and Samnorwood schools will compete this week in the annual Fire Prevention Week Poster Contest, Chief David Peters announced Tuesday, October 1.

This is the fifth year the contest has been held, and winning posters will be entered in the district contest sponsored by the Panhandle Fireman's Association. Those winners, in turn, will be judged on the state level in 1975.

The posters are to be turned in at the Fire Department or City Hall some time during Fire Prevention Week, October 6 to 12.

The posters must be the child's own work, but any theme the youngster wishes may be carried out.

Posters must be the standard 14 x 22 size.

An open house to show these posters will be held at a later date, Mr. Peters said.

Anyone wishing additional information may contact him or the Fire Department Office in City Hall.

The fire chief also announced that the annual election of new officers will be held at the regular meeting Monday night, October 14. In addition to Mr. Peters, officers are Carroll Reynolds, first assistant chief; Bob Watson, second assistant chief; and Billy Wilkerson, secretary. The post of president was held by J.D. Baker, who recently moved from here.

Drug Store Door Battered

An apparent attempt was made to batter in the back door of Parsons Drug some time Sunday night or early Monday, September 28 or 29, Deputy Sheriff Alvin Minatrea reported.

He said that it appears that a vehicle, probably a pickup, was driven with considerable force against the door, which is covered on the outside by 1/8 inch steel plate.

The metal was dented and the lower part of the wooden door shattered, Mr. Minatrea reported.

Investigating the incident were Deputy Minatrea and Policeman Mike Gilmore.

Elementary School Begins Non-Graded Reading Program

Wellington Elementary School is looking at the possibility of beginning a non-graded multi-level reading program, Bob Copeland, principal, announced this week. To carry this out, the third grade is being used as an experimental group this year.

Mr. Copeland explained that "non-graded multi--level" means that everyone in the third grade reading on the same level, using the same material, irregardless of reading ability, will be abandoned.

Instead, many levels of reading will be substituted. Children capable of reading material more difficult than that given in the third grade will be given more difficult reading assignments.

Those who for one reason or another have assignments they are capable of handling and will be helped to catch up.

Non-graded has nothing to do with report cards. The youngsters will continue to have these grades as usual, the principal explained.

"We think this is the logical grade to use, not only because it is our smallest class, but also is mid-way between our lower and upper elementary grades," said Mr. Copeland.

"The strength of this non-graded reading program is that every child can progress at his or her own ability and not be restrained, held back, or pushed forward too fast in the traditional

Firemen at Control School in Canyon

Two Wellington firemen, Buster Hughs and John R. Henard, III, joined 391 firefighters from 47 area towns to participate in the First Canyon Area Fire Control School, held at Canyon.

Classes were conducted by the Firemen's Training School, Texas A&M University Engineering Extension Service and were sponsored by the State Firemen's and Fire Marshall's Association. Facilities were provided by the Canyon Fire Department.

W.B. (Cotton) Dorman, who is well known here, was the instructor, and Joe Wright of the Canyon department was control officer. Bill Barrett, 4th vice president of the Association, assisted.

Firemen fought and controlled fires in five projects: oil spillage which was a tank truck which had turned over and included both control and cleanup; a house fire, garage fire; junk and hay fire; and LP gas fire.

After receiving verbal instruction and learning to use breathing apparatuses, instructors took each group of firemen into the blaze. These were always backed up by two standby groups for safety.

Safety officers in the background watched the preceding.

Mr. Hughs said that Panhandle area firemen originated the idea. He praised the Canyon facilities, which includes a training field especially for this type of work.

"In my observation, this was one of the better firefighting schools I have attended," said Mr. Hughs.

Eleven seniors are listed on the roster, about evenly divided on offense and defense.

Memphis had an 8-2 record for the 1973 season, but then Coach McMurray's win-loss record for several years has been one of the best in the Panhandle. McMurray is known statewide for his outstanding off-season program.

The Skyrockets go into Friday night's game in good physical condition, with most early season bruises about healed.

"I think our kids will be ready to play, for they know they will have to be ready if they are to beat Memphis," Coach Williams said.

program. Testing, teacher appraisal and conferences by the professional staff will determine the child's placement and consequental advancement.

"Wellington once had a similar program but for various reasons it was allowed to terminate. When the elementary school was in this program, Wellington was noted for its strong, progressive reading leadership.

"We now want to reestablish this method of teaching reading because we realize that there is a direct relationship between a student's ability to read and mastering other subject areas.

"If our third grade experiment is successful, we intend to broaden the program to take in the other grades in the elementary school. Leaders in educational circles feel that this can be expanded to include the mathematics program as well," Mr. Copeland concluded.

Mr. Copeland, Mrs. Lynn Carter, fifth grade teacher, Mrs. Claude Savage, fourth grade teacher, Mrs. Gus Barton, third grade teacher, Mrs. Charles Floyd second grade teacher, visited the elementary schools at Hereford during the in-service training day September 16.

They spent much time in the new Tierra Blanca Elementary School that is designed for the non-graded open classroom concept.

Farmers Union Urges 50-Cent Cotton Support

Farmers Union cotton state representatives called for an emergency amendment to the 1973 Farm Bill providing for a mandatory increase in the cotton support price to 50 cents a pound on the 1974 crop. The action was taken at a meeting in Dallas all day Tuesday. States represented were New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas.

Collingsworth County president Wilbur DePauw was among the state Farmers Union leaders in Waco a week earlier to work on the proposal made at Dallas.

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco, reporting from the Dallas meeting, stated that an immediate increase in the 1974 cotton loan rate is essential to enable southwestern cotton producers to pay off their production loans and finance next year's crop.

"High costs, a poor crop, and below the cost of production prices spell disaster to cotton producers. Congress must take emergency action to increase the loan rate to a minimum of 50 cents a pound strict low middling 1-1/16", average location. This action would move the textile industry and shippers into the competitive market. They are now sitting back expecting farmers to bear the total responsibility of financing the crop until the trade needs it," Naman said.

Mrs. Manuel said her parents were riding alone when the accident occurred, although there was a group of Wellington Cyclists ahead of them and another group coming up behind.

Mr. Welch has a broken left collar bone and left shoulder out of place, along with bruises and cuts about the face and arms. He has been placed in traction, and attending doctors are not yet certain if surgery will be necessary.

Mrs. Welch has a broken left wrist and broken bone in her left hand, as well as cuts and bruises on the other hand. She plans to remain in Roswell with her husband after she is dismissed from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Manuel plan to return to Roswell this week end.

placed. Each participant will then be required to play an additional 36 holes, or a total of 54 holes, to determine the winners in each flight.

These can be played Thursday through Sunday, October 10, 11, 12 and 13, but final play must start no later than 1:30 p.m. Sunday, October 13.

There will be as many flights as needed and prizes will be given the first, second, third and fourth place winners in each flight, Mr. Hubbard said. These, too, will be awarded at the close of the tournament Sunday, October 13.

Mr. Hubbard emphasized that rules for the tournament in both men's and women's competition, will be Hay Camp Country Club rules along with P.G.A. Rules.

P.G.A. rules do not permit a participant to receive cash prizes in pro-amateur golf, therefore gift certificates will be presented.

Stansell and was born in Fannin County October 21, the daughter of Robert W. and Sally Stansell. She and Mr. Clement, who also grew up in the same county, were married November 21, 1906, and the following year, they moved to Oklaunion, east of Vernon. They farmed in Wilbarger County until they came here.

Mrs. Clement was a charter member of the Baptist Church at Oklaunion, and with Mr. Clement, helped to organize a Baptist Church at Fresno, where the family worshiped a number of years.

When rural churches of the county began to decline, the family came to First Baptist Church, where Mrs. Clement worked in many capacities.

The couple worked for improvement of the school at Fresno, to help make it one of the outstanding rural schools of the county. Nevertheless, they were among the first to see the advantages of consolidation and to urge that this step be taken.

Funeral services were conducted at First Baptist Church Monday, September 30, at 2:00 p.m. Officiating were the Rev. Roy Collins, pastor, and the Rev. Russell Pogue of Spearman, a former pastor.

Burial was in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Pall bearers were Carthel Lewis, John E. Forbis, J.B. Killian, Buddy Carter, Luther Sullivan and Claude Groves.

Surviving Mrs. Clement are two daughters, Miss Inez Clement and Miss Mabel Clement; two sons, Stansell Clement of Lamesa and Eli Clement of Mineral Wells; one brother, Eli Stansell of Dallas; four grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

area," Mr. Reeves explained.

"We have some new varieties and want to see if we can come up with something better than we have."

SCS personnel will be in charge of the second stop, at the new water drainage system immediately north of town. This will carry water from heavy rains to the east and into a natural waterway and eliminate flooding in the northeast section of Wellington. Before the drainage system was complete, this part of town was flooded twice in the early summer.

A grainsorghum demonstration on double cropped land will be seen at the Jerry Nix farm on US 83 north of town.

This land was in small grain last winter and the demonstration represents full season double cropping.

There are 19 varieties of grain sorghum, including four new hybrid varieties.

"We put this in to check double cropping and to look for some of the higher yielding hybrids," continued Mr. Reeves.

"We are looking also for standability, threshing qualities, disease resistance and insect tolerance," the county agent said.

The same 19 varieties will be seen at the Earl Lynn Bartlett farm at Cross Roads, but the land has not been double cropped.

"We are checking for the same things -- varieties better for this area, standability and yield," Reeves continued.

Both demonstrations were planted the same day.

The Pat Bouchelle stock farm at Lillie is a grazing demonstration with Ermelo Weeping Love Grass. This is the second year it has been included on the tour. Last year, the grass was being established, this year there are grazing records on the 100 acre demonstration. "We have some interesting data as to the number of cows it will carry and the rotation system Mr. Bouchelle is using.

The Fred Cox farm south of Lillie will feature pasture improvement now under way.

Broadcast irrigated cotton will be seen at the A.C. and Earl Patterson place.

"The purpose of this plot is to check for yield, check for cost of the broadcast against conventional row cotton, and determine how much it cuts down on tillage," explained Reeves.

"This is pretty new to us and we are looking at it. We have a record of every dime spent putting in this crop. Under certain irrigation situations, there is a place for broadcast cotton, but we've got some things to learn."

The final stop, and this will be if time permits, is the Clifford Christian farm, where new waterways are being installed under SCS direction.

The barbecue, with supervisors of Salt Fork Soil Conservation district as host, will be at Ellison Park. Wellington State Bank is furnishing the sound system.

"This tour is for everyone who is interested in the progress of our agricultural economy, and we urge both farmers and business people of Wellington to attend," said Mr. Reeves.

Stolen Pickup Found Burning

A pickup stolen in Amarillo a year ago was found abandoned and burning approximately four miles northeast of Wellington on FM road 2734 Sunday evening, September 29.

Deputy Alvin Minatrea said the 1972 Ford Ranchero was facing east on the west side of the north-south FM road, beside a grove of trees.

The burning pickup was found by John R. Henard III, young rancher who is also a member of the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department. After determining that no one was in the pickup, he called for help.

Deputy Minatrea said the sheriff's department has learned that the pickup was stolen off an Amarillo car lot October 12, 1973. At that time it had dealer tags, but there were no tags at all when it was found Sunday. The pickup, originally a gold color, had been repainted white.

The Dorotheans Begin Study

The Dorotheans of the United Methodist Women met in the home of Mrs. Buster Hughs for their regular meeting on Thursday evening, September 26.

The group began a new study, Women-Over Half the Earth's People. Mrs. Barney Glenn is leader for this study and used the study book, Conduct Becoming to a Woman by Elaine Magalis. The pupose of this study is to communicate something of the struggle of the forebears of the present day churchwoman -- and perhaps to help her gain new perspective on her own life and work.

The 19th century American women emerged from the confines of home and pew to join in two world-shaking movement of their day -- Protestant Christian missions and woman's rights. The drama that began then is still continuing today. This study will be an attempt at understanding all women not only in the United States but throughout the world and to discover the comon goals and problems that affect over half of the Earth's people.

Special guests for the evening were Mrs. Delia Aguilar and Mrs. Ida B. Outley who are employed women at the Community Action Center and they participated in the question and answer session at the close of the program.

Dinner Given in Amarillo Honors Lee Scarberry on 80th Birthday

A family dinner in Amarillo honored Lee Scarberry on his 80th birthday Sunday, September 15, in the home of a daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C.D. Fidler, 5507 Emil Street.

A retired builder, Mr. Scarberry has lived in Wellington since 1917, coming from Quitaque.

"I spent my first night here in Eli Haralson's Wagon Yard," he recalls. Since then, the only time he has been away from Wellington any length of time was during his two years Army service in World War I. His overseas service was in France.

This is in contrast to some of his earlier years. Born at Honey Grove, he called "home" such towns as Clarksville, Texarkana, Texas, and Bennington, Tishamingo and Antlers, Oklahoma, before coming to the Panhandle.

He was married to Miss Pauline Jett on Christmas Day, 1919.

The couple has six children: Mrs. Fidler (Vivian), Mrs. Cleo Robinson (Mary Lee) and Mrs. Reba Deger of Amarillo; Mrs. V.P. Robertson, Jr., (Ruby) of Dallas; Melvin Scarberry; and Clois Scarberry of Snyder. Another daughter, Peggy, died several years ago. There are 19 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Present for the birthday dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Scarberry; their children Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Deger, Mr. and Mrs. Fidler, Nan and Cindy Fidler, all of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Cloyce Scarberry and daughters, Leigh Ann and Kelly of Snyder. Nieces and nephews were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Scarberry and John and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Elza of Amarillo.

Mrs. Tincy Miracle of Grandfield, Oklahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Woody Goforth of Muleshoe, and Mrs. Mae Morgan of Odessa, visited their sister, Mrs. Georgia Bartlett, over the week-end.

Happy Homemaking

By BARBARA BAKER

Corny as it sounds, one way to clean a fur article is to use, believe it or not, corn meal. You can either insert the article in a bag filled with clean corn meal or on smaller items, rub the meal into the fabric. Shake vigorously if in a bag or rub equally vigorously when rubbed in. Either way, the corn meal will absorb oil and dirt and save you a considerable cleaning bill.

Women tired of destroying a flattering bouffant when pulling a dress over their head can wrap a silk scarf over their head with three corners tucked into the mouth. Repeat when undressing.

Climbing the walls over climbing prices for firewood? Save newspapers and roll them into tight rolls then soak in water for a few minutes. After they dry, you can pitch an armful into the fireplace and they'll burn slowly, evenly and keep the room warm for hours — all free of charge!

Instead of using the flat edge of a knife to level off measuring cups when cooking or baking, use popcycle sticks that can be placed in cannisters.

No Conflict of Eggs-Cholesterol

"There's no reason why a healthy person should shy away from eggs just because they are relatively high in cholesterol," says a poultry marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. David B. Mellor contends that since cholesterol is a normal body compound, people should not avoid eggs in their diet as they are highly nutritious and a top source of protein.

"The problem of a high cholesterol level in the blood develops when the body metabolism fails to function properly.

Rock Shrimp, New Delicacy on Texas Tables, Requires Special Preparation

One new product on the seafood market, rock shrimp, has many shoppers baffled.

"What is it? Where does it come from? What does it taste like? What do you do with it?" they ask.

Rock shrimp comes from the deep waters of the Gulf of Mexico, often as far south as the Yucatan Penninsula.

It is a medium-sized shrimp, ranging from 21 to 36 count per pound. The extremely hard shell gives the shrimp its name.

Rock shrimp require special handling before consumption. Instead of peeling them, they must be split by inserting the lower blade of kitchen shears under the shell and clipping the entire length of the sand vein. The legs are then snipped off.

The shrimp should then be spread open in a "butterfly" fillet and rinsed thoroughly in cold running water.

The following recipe calls for the shrimp to be broiled in garlic butter for three of four minutes about four inches from the sourc of heat. One pound yields 30 to 35 hors d'oeuvre with the taste of lobster for one-third the price.

Recipes for rock shrimp and other seafoods may be obtained by sending a postcard with your name and address to Seafood Marketing, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701.

BROILED ROCK SHRIMP TAILS

1½ pounds rock shrimp tails, split and cleaned
2/3 cup butter or margarine, melted
1½ teaspoons garlic salt
paprika

Place cleaned tails in broiler pan, shell-side down. Combine butter and garlic salt, and drizzle over shrimp. Sprinkle with paprika and broil about four inches from source of heat for three to four minutes. Makes four to six servings of approximately 45 hors d'oeuvres.

Excess Vitamins May Be Harmful

College Station --- "If a few vitamins are good, then lots of vitamins must be better" has been said more than once.

"It's just not true," one foods and nutrition expert says--"too many vitamins don't make you healthier--they might even be harmful."

She's Sally Springer, foods and nutrition specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service,

"Fat-soluble vitamins A, D, E and K are stored in the body and excess amounts taken for an extended time may be toxic," the specialist warned.

Because of this danger, the Food and Drug Administration has limited the amount of vitamins A and D supplements sold across the counter, she added.

"If a person restricts his diet to specific foods and takes supplemental vitamins over an extended time, toxic symtoms of certain vitamins may appear," she continued.

Water-soluble vitamins--C and B-complex--do not stockpile in the body--so excess amounts of these do neither good nor harm.

Rockets Drop Game To Childress 34-0

By Gary Archer

With a 1-1 record the Wellington Skyrockets traveled to Childress Friday night, September 27, only to lose to the Bobcats 34-0. The game was played under clear skies before a large group of spectators. Childress won the toss and elected to receive and defend the East goal.

Ricky Smith took the opening kick off on the 5 yard line and returned it to the 20. Childress failed to make a first down and Bobby Feltons 36 yard punt went out of bounds on Wellington's 37 yard line.

Wellington's first series netted a one yard loss and George Brewer's punt traveled some 17 yards to the Childress 45. After Childress gained 3 first downs on carries by Ronnie Hawkins, Jody Hernandez punched into the end zone from 1 yard out. The point after was good and Childress led in the game 7 to 0 with 5:46 left in the first quarter.

Wellington went back to action on their 20 yard line. George Brewer completed a 10 yard pass to Arnie Ingram for Wellington's first first down of the evening.

After an incomplete pass and a 10 yard loss Wellington attempted a third down quick kick which was blocked by Childress and covered on Wellington's 1 yard line. Jeff Reed ran a 1 yard quarterback keeper to tack 6 more points on the board.

The point after was good making the score with 5:14 left in the first quarter at 14-0.

After receiving the Childress kick off on the 33 yard line Wellington drove forward for 1 first down on a roll out pass to Edward Thomas. Wellington then failed to move the ball and was forced to punt.

Childress took over on their 40 yard line, after a 15 yard penalty against Wellington and a 15 yard penalty against Childress and another 15 yard penalty against Wellington, a pass and a couple of runs by Childress.

Wellington's Jackie Black recovered a Childress fumble on Wellington's 13 yard line stopping a Childress drive. Wellington again failed to generate enough offence to move the football and were again forced to punt just after the second quarter got under way. George Brewer fumbled the punt attempt and was forced to run with the ball, after breaking several tackles along the way Brewer was finally dumped short of a first down with Childress taking over on downs on Wellington's 18 yard line. Wellington Skyrockets held the Childress offence and took over on downs on their own 9 yard line.

Wellington was unable to move the football and were forced to punt from the shadow of their own goal post. Childress fumbled the punt and Wellington's Tony Martinez recovered the fumble. Wellington rolled forward picking up 2 first downs and was threatening to score, however, the drive was stopped by an interception of a Brewer pass by Jim Shelton.

This set up a 37 yard touchdown run by Ronnie Hawkins, the third touchdown of the game with 3:46 left in the first half. The point after failed.

With little offence by the Childress Bobcats and 9 seconds left in the first half George Brewer intercepted a Jeff Reed Pass on the Wellington 44 yard line.

With the First Childress possession in the third quarter Mark Keys scored on a 50 yard pass and run with 10:53 left in the third quarter. After a first down Brewer to Gonzales pass the Wellington Skyrockets were again forced to punt away the football.

Childress then drove the ball to the 1 yard line. Jeff Reed scored the final touchdown of the game with a 1 yard quarterback keeper the point after was good making the score 34-0 with 7:20 left in the third quarter.

From this point on the Wellington Skyrocket defense and offense picked up some momentum. George Brewer moved the club for 2 first downs and after a 15 yard loss was forced to again punt the ball. Childress Failed to put together much offense and the Wellington Skyrockets took over on downs.

In the fourth quarter the Wellington defense limited the Childress offense to very little gain. The Wellington offense was unable to sustain three seperate drives in the last quarter of play.

Final score Childress Bobcats 34 Wellington Skyrockets 0.

The Wellington Skyrockets will be looking for a win this Friday night in Memphis to even their season record at 2-2. Everyone is encouraged to support the Wellington Skyrockets.

Reports Up of Cattle Loose On Highways

The last three weeks have brought a marked increase in reports of cattle on the highways, creating a dangerous situation for motorists, Sheriff John Rainey reported.

Several accidents have occurred from this cause during the late summer, part reported and others not reported to the sheriff's office.

Mr. Rainey urged livestock owners to keep their fences checked and repaired.

Some cattle get out through gates left open by dove hunters, he believes, as there has been an upturn in reports since the season opened. Part of these hunters may not see cattle when they drive into a pasture, but others just don't seem to care, the sheriff said.

Sheriff Rainey, himself, was a victim of this recently when someone drove into his pasture at Greasy Corner, threw the gate back and let his cows get out.

In the latest accident reported, a cattle truck owned by Cudd Brothers and driven by Odean Lewis hit a steer on the highway 3.4 miles west of Quail, according to Patrolman Harold Price.

There was only minor damage to the truck, which was returning to Wellington after making a delivery. The white face steer was killed and its ownership has not been determined.

Visits Ill Trio In Amarillo

Mrs. Bill Tarter spent last week in Amarillo with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Delmo Risley and their children.

Mrs. Lev Cannon of Dalhart, Mrs. Tarter's niece, had surgery in High Plains Baptist Hospital, so Mrs. Tarter and Mrs. Risley spent considerable time with her. She is improving and due to go home.

Mrs. Tarter also visited with Mrs. Mabel Epps, who spent 10 days in High Plains Hospital. She, too, is doing well, and is now with her son, Mr. and Mrs. Joe McCutchen, in Amarillo this week. Still a third person with whom Mrs. Tarter visited was Mrs. C.E. Killingsworth, who is now at home recovering from a broken hip.

Our Fire Department Protects From Life and Property Loss

Wellington has had an outstanding Volunteer Fire Department for so many years it becomes a little easy to take for granted the department and the two dozen men who comprise it.

Fire Prevention Week, October 6 through 12, is a reminder of the work they do every week, year in and year out. These Wellington men protect us, our property and at times our lives. In doing so, they keep us from economic loss that sometimes could be considerable -- could represent a lifetime of work and saving.

Through their work in keeping down the fire loss, they are responsible for the fire insurance credit all policy holders enjoy.

When you think of the number of fires we have at night and on Saturdays and Sundays, it can be said they have no assurance of a full night's sleep or an uninterrupted week end. They go anywhere in the county, and into neighboring counties if need be to fight blazes, working generally with only the water and chemicals they can take with them.

For as long as they are members of the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department, these men must train twice each month. As much as any group in the county, they carry on a program of continuing education, that is for our benefit.

They are a proud group -- and we should take pride in them and their work.

In Fire Prevention Week, let us remember that they are one of the most useful organizations in Collingsworth County.

The Birds Go South

Here they come again: Black smudges against the daytime sky, or, perhaps, for one fleeting moment, the moon. The birds are flying south; forsaking the colder climates. It is the surest sign that winter is coming on.

Birds are only a little like people. They have their favorite nesting spots, their preferred pecking grounds, just like the rest of us. And yet they have their winter places, too: A luxury denied most humans.

Off to balmy South America the birds of North America betake themselves each winter. A few, like the nighthawk and barn swallow, go to no small trouble to find comfort. Their flights begin as far north as the Yukon or Alaska, ending 7,000 miles away in Argentina. The chipping sparrow, grackle, bluebird and woodcock are less adventurous. They prefer, if you please, a shorter journey.

How do they know when to start? Mere humans are unsure. But among the birds themselves, there is consensus. They set off in bomber formation, moving together, eating together, resting together. Thousands will pass overhead before the great pilgrimage ends.

Well, one can't really blame any of them. Given clear, cool weather and a brisk north wind, which of us does not feel the urge to be on his feet and stirring? If the birds stir so far from home, one must remember: They lack the blessings of central heat.

For our own part, we stay on. Someone must mind the store; someone must keep the Northern Hemisphere going. The birds cannot.

They will be missed, of course. But only for a while. Come spring there will again be black smudges against the sky, then bluebirds and cardinals scratching and pecking in tree limbs. The winter will end; the birds will return from their winter resorting, just as they always return. They will find us waiting.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas governmental units need to spend $852 million over the next five years to improve transportation systems, according to a Texas Mass Transportation Commission staff estimate.

A TMTC preliminary development plan proposes $566 million worth of rail system improvements and construction and $286 million for bus systems.

The state, the report concluded, must come up with ideas for moving an increasing number of travelers among major cities by rail, new expressways parallelling existing ones or other means.

If travel increases as fast as expected, according to one authority, traffic on Interstate 35 between San Antonio and Dallas may be as congested by the year 2,000 as it is on the Gulf Freeway in the Houston area.

Cost of developing mail passenger facilities presents a generally unhappy picture. Railroads, according to TMTC Director Russell Cummings, are not enthusiastic about starting up new passenger service or turning their tracks over to any agency for passenger hauling in conflict with their freight business.

Only 18 cities in the state still maintain transit systems, as compared with 37 such systems 20 years ago, TMTC was informed. But use of transit systems is expected to increase three-fold by 1990. Buses are projected to handle 75 per cent of the future load, rail systems 18 per cent and "specialized systems" seven per cent.

LEASES TAKE UP—Cash bonus payments totalling more than $7.8 million reached the state Permanent University Fund from a recent oil and gas lease auction on University of Texas-owned lands.

More than 123,540 acres were leased for oil and gas exploration. With deposits of the cash bonus payments the Permanent University Fund increased to $678,-332,143.

Biggest areas of interest were Loving and Ward counties.

Superior Oil Company paid the largest cash bonus—$810,000 for a 640-acre tract in Ward County. Chalfant, Magee and Hansen were successful bidders on a 320-acre tract in Ward and Loving counties with a $435,000 cash bonus.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, chairman of the Board for Lease of University Lands, said increased demands for energy are being reflected in all public land lease sales.

INDUSTRIES INCREASE—Thirty-one new industries with a combined annual output of over $8 million located in Texas during August.

Total economic impact of the 31 firms was estimated by Texas Industrial Commission and the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research at more than $129 million a year.

The 31 new industries are expected to generate $7.7 million a year in federal taxes, $550,943 in local taxes and $502,943 in state taxes, and to create 1,743 new jobs with a spinoff of another 2,243.

The industries located in Alice, Amarillo, Athens, Austin, Port Arthur, Brownsville, Center, Coleto Creek, Channelview, Del Rio, Diboll, Freeport, Houston, La Porte, Laredo, Longview, Lufkin, Madisonville, Mineral Wells, Mount Pleasant, Rocksprings, Texarkana, Wharton, Weatherford and Wichita Falls.

DPS LOOKED OVER—A Senate sub-committee began its hearings on rights to personal privacy and Department of Public Safety surveillance activities involving private citizens.

DPS Chief Col. Wilson Speir agreed the legislature should furnish guidelines, but he warned against restraints so strict as to interfere with law enforcement efforts.

ENROLLMENT UP—Statewide enrollment at Texas colleges and universities is up about five and a half per cent above 1975, far above the national projection of a 1.3 per cent nationwide increase.

Preliminary tabulation shows total enrollment of 549,830 students at Texas public, private, junior and senior institutions. This is 28,300 more than the fall semester of 1973. Two hundred and seventy five thousand of the students are attending public senior colleges, 201,400 at public community colleges.

Even the private institutions in Texas are growing. Their total enrollment of 70,-800 represents a 1.4 per cent increase over the 1973 headcount. About 10 of the 37 may experience some decline in enrollments.

AG OPINIONS—Voters who participate in party primary elections are not eligible to sign applications of independent candidates where nominations for the office sought are made in primaries, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- State employees who leave their jobs before completing six months' service are eligible for no accrued vacation time.
- State licensing of private child care facilities does not sufficiently implicate the state in the policies of the institutions to make their discriminatory practices a "state action" for constitutional protection purposes.
- Receipt of guaranteed annual wage payments does not render an individual out of work ineligible for state unemployment compensation.
- When an employee given a merit pay raise is promoted, funds become available for merit raises to others in the agency.
- Director of the Division of Parole Supervision is not the executive head of a state agency, and the Board of Pardons and Paroles is legally responsible for his conduct.
- County clerks have no authority to issue certified copies of letters testamentary.

APPOINTMENTS—Dr. Lorene Rogers was named acting president of The University of Texas, Austin, after Dr. Stephen Spurr was fired.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe appointed Ronald Lee Wilson of Texas City to be 212th district attorney for Galveston County, succeeding Jules Damiani who became district judge.

COURTS SPEAK — Texas Court of Criminal Appeals unanimously upheld 1972 convictions of former House Speaker Gus Mutscher, former State Rep. Tommy Shannon and Rush McGinty for conspiring to accept a bribe in the famous Sharpstown case. All received five-year probated sentences.

The State Supreme Court ordered Secretary of State Mark White Jr. to certify Socialist Workers Party candidates for the November general election ballot unless he could prove their petitions insufficient with a name-by-name check of 55,000 signatures. White, changing his September 11 decision, certified the candidates.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

The performances in the Watergate national tantrum are making it look like a sin, and a penitentiary offense, to contribute to campaign funds for politicians.

And considering how a lot of them perform after getting elected, it is not unreasonable to say that anybody who helped elect them was aiding and abetting a crime.

There is no law against it of course, but it is hard to deny that it's sinful to turn some pretty good citizen into a squanderous, self-worshipping snob by sending him to Washington.

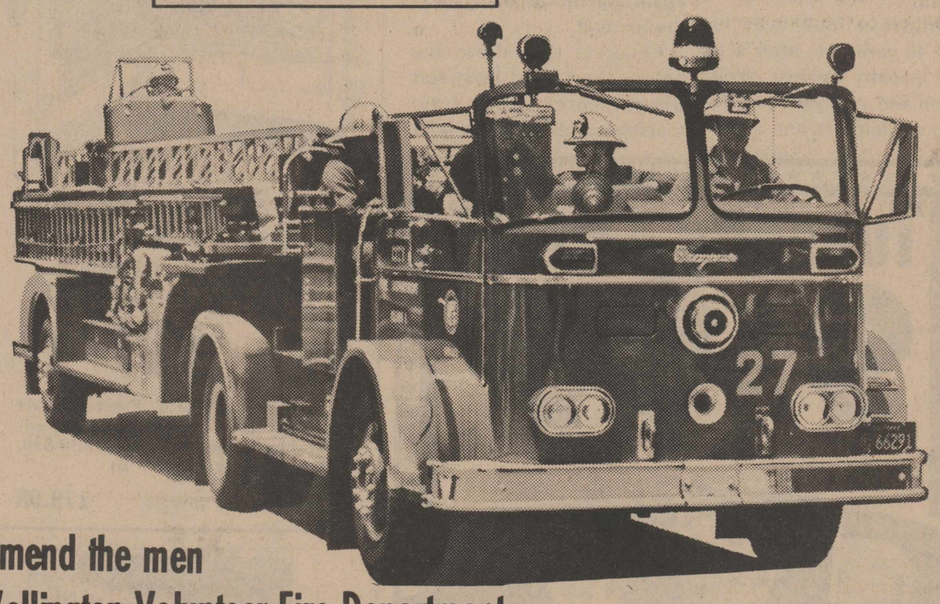
FIRE PREVENTION WEEK



We commend the men of the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department for their unselfish service to this community

The Wellington Volunteer Fire Department is made up of 25 of Wellington's choice citizens, men who give unselfishly of their time to fight fires, who use their evenings to study and practice the prevention and fighting of fires. We urge that you commend them in their work.

Every fire represents an economic loss to the owner of that property and his family. Beyond that, it represents an equal loss to the community. It is the concern of this bank, and all responsible citizens that our fire loss be kept to a minimum. Our firemen help make this possible.

Management of Texas Ground Water Studied

COLLEGE STATION -- Experts on various phases of the state's ground water resources said here during the Water for Texas Conference (Sept. 19-20) that "management" is the key word in planning for current and future water needs.

More than 280 Texans, along with several groups from New Mexico, California and Louisiana, registered for the two-day conference at the J. Earl Rudder Center, marking the largest attendance of any recent Water for Texas Conference.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe emphasized that ground water management can and must receive careful attention from Texans.

"By proper planning ahead, we should be able to avert a serious water shortage," Briscoe, who addressed the annual dinner meeting, told the group. He suggested that citizens might take a cue from the energy crisis and start planning now to prevent a serious ground water problem.

Earlier in the conference, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby emphasized that one of the major problems facing Texas now is water.

"Texas has today more than 160 reservoirs, with over 29 million acre-feet of conservation space, existing or under construction. But unless bold action is begun at once, Texas will be faced with a water shortage between 1990 and the year 2,000," Hobby said.

Hobby and other speakers emphasized that Texas faces three major problem areas with regard to ground water resources: subsidence, pollution and depletion. He emphasized that specific dangers to the state's ground water resources are regional, and that regional solutions that can fit together into a comprehensive program with asssured statewide support should be developed.

Both Hobby and State Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake, chairman of the House Interim Committee on Water, called attention to a current draft revision of Chapter 52 of the Texas Water Code, dealing with underground water conservation districts. The intent of the suggested changes, they said, is to encourage local solutions to local problems.

The draft calls for the Texas Water Rights Commission to declare appropriate areas of the state to be critical areas. The Texas Water Development Board would define the limit of the state's aquifers. Within 12 months of having been declared a critical area, residents there would vote on the creation of an underground water conservation district.

Should no district be created within the 12-month period, according to the draft, the Water Rights Commission would then carry out the responsibilities of an underground water conservation district until the people act. Purpose of the district would be to conserve ground water. Comments on the draft amendments were requested by Hobby and Clayton.

Clayton urged citizens to study ground water issues and management principles. Every legislator needs and wants counsel from citizens concerning ground water issues, he said.

"We must plot our course on ground water management with great care, and then act," Clayton said.

Texas A&M University System President Jack K. Williams welcomed conferees.

More than a dozen other speakers discussed such issues as approaches to ground water management; alternative ground water laws for Texas; legislative perspectives; technological limitations; ground water management in the coastal zone, metropolitan areas, and irrigated areas; government issues; ground water models; regulatory aspects of water quality management; economic impact of depletion; opportunities for artificial recharge; ground water development and land surface subsidence; and the cost of land subsidence.

Chairman for the conference was Dr. J.R. Runkles, director of the Texas Water Resources Institute and a scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the state's agricultural research agency.

CJC Meeting On Shoplifting Set for Oct. 17

A two-hour workshop on the control of shoplifting and bad check losses will be held on October 17 at Clarendon College from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., in room 102 of the Academic Building.

The course will be taught by the Small Business Administration and is supported by the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce.

Every year shopkeepers lose many thousands of dollars through the activity of shoplifters and check artists. No one knows how much these losses add up to in a year's time, but any retail businessman can tell you that they can be a very heavy drag on a small business enterprise. But the small businessman cannot afford to hire special policemen and he cannot afford the expensive and elaborate electronic devices large firms use to thwart the efforts of both the professional and amateur "light finger artists" who make off with merchandise or cash without getting caught.

The course is open to all businessmen and employees and will be taught at no charge to those taking it. For additional information, contact Beryl Clinton, Academic Dean at Clarendon College.

National 4-H Week Observed Oct. 6-12

COLLEGE STATION -- National 4-H Week will be observed Oct. 6-12, with the theme: "4-H -- We Can Make It Happen," and this offers a good opportunity to take a look at the 4-H program in Texas during the past year.

According to Dr. Don Stormer, state 4-H and youth leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, "4-H enrollment continues to make good strides. For 1973-74, a total of 124,747 Texas youth between the ages of 9 and 19 were active in 4-H activities. This is about an 8.75 per cent increase over the 1972-73 period.

Of the 4-Hers, the biggest percentage live in towns under 10,000 population -- 33 per cent. About the same number live on farms and ranches as live in central cities -- 23 to 24 per cent. Some 16 per cent of the members live in towns and cities of more than 10,000 population.

Stormer notes that there were a total of 3,433 different 4-H clubs or special groups, with at least one such club in each of the state's 254 counties.

The 4-Hers were enrolled in nearly 200,000 different projects. Those concerning agriculture and related subjects totaled some 71,000 while those in home economics and related areas totaled about 66,000. Some 60,000 other projects were in wide range of special interest areas.

"Almost 21,000 volunteer leaders were involved in 4-H programs and activities during the last year, up several hundred from the previous year," points out Stormer. Of this number, some 14,600 are adults whlie the remainder are junior and teen leaders.

"So, 4-H is continuing to progress in Texas. Programs are providing more learning and leadership experiences for youth so that they will be better equipped to take their place in tomorrow's world.

qq"4-H is indeed 'making it happen,' not only in Texas but throughout the nation," contends Stormer.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—by Deskins Wells

CANDLER HAWKINS, who owns cotton land in Collingsworth and Hall Counties, says the men who held their cotton when it was 65 cents a pound or more only to find it is 45 cents now, may not have been so dumb after all. Take a fictional case of a man who harvested 300 bales from the 73-74 crop. If he had sold it in 1973 at 65 cents a pound he would have faced a tremendous income tax. This year the 300 bale producer of last season will be lucky to grow 150 bales on the same acreage. So the difference of 65 cents and the price this year may have not been such a loss as some people thought.

EARLY FROST in the corn belt has shortened the supply of that essential food as well as cutting down on soybeans. So you can expect the price of our own Milo to stay up this fall. We have a fair to good crop this year. The only trouble is we do not have enough acreage in maize.

WE DO have plenty of acres in cotton; but the price is doubtful. Dry weather plus cold nights over the heavily producing area around Lubbock, as well as other key cotton producing areas, indicate that the total yield will be at least a half a million bales less than the Government indicated in its last estimate. This means that the price of cotton should stay from a fair to a good price again this year. The imponderable is the weather. Too early a frost could hurt the quality of the cotton and have a decided effect on the money the grower will receive.

SATURDAY Jimmie Kelso came by to bring me some mail and he apologized for interrupting the ball game. Texas was leading Tech 3 to 0 at the time. Considering what happened in that game (26 to 3) and what happened to the Cowboys the next day, Jimmie would have done better if he had walked over and jerked the TV cable out of the wall.

TECH just plain outplayed and outthought the Longhorns. If they had kept on passing in the second half, there is no telling what the score might have been. I find no words for the Texas passing defense. How do you describe something that does not exist? But give the Raider line credit, they gave their quarterback all the time he needed on every pass play.

THIS GAME will throw the SWC race into a big scramble. A&M is making a lot of noise this season and so is Arkansas. SMU-TCU and Baylor. So watch out for anything to happen. The Baylor Bears lost their first two games; but look at the teams they were playing - Oklahoma and Missouri and A&M's defeat of the Louisiana Tigers makes them a power house.

LAST YEAR I wrote that the Dallas Cowboys were hurting both SMU and TCU financially. They still are making it difficult for these two teams from Dallas and Fort Worth. Last week the SMU coach mentioned the poor attendance at the home games. He said there was more excitement in the stands at the out of town games than at the Cotton Bowl.

THE Raider-Longhorn game of 1974 reminded me of the one in 1968. That year Dr. J.M. Orr and Henry Sullivan went to Lubbock to see the Orange beat the Red. After the game they kept riding on west to the mountains of New Mexico and did not return to Wellington for a week.

YOU WILL see two full moons in October - a phenomina that does not occur very often. The Harvest moon was on October 1; and it is still big and bright for both the Harvest Moon and the Hunters Moon are two of the best as they brighten the landscape for several nights. The Hunters Moon will be October 31.

Classes will be on either Wednesday or Thursday nights or late afternoon and will be at the Home Economics Building of the Wellington High School.

"Mrs. Killian is well qualified for this course. She is a graduate of Texas Tech and is presently teaching Home Economics in the Wellington Schools," said Mrs. Burba.

Skyrocket Boosters Announce Projects

The Skyrocket Booster Club met Tuesday night at the Farm Bureau Room. A short business meeting was held and at that time Billy Mac Sims gave a report on last year's activities.

Projects which were accomplished last year included the following: purchased a set of yard-and-down-markers for the football field; paid for the special bus for the football team's Clarendon trip; paid for the 7th and 8th grade football banquet; helped with the All-Sports Banquet; bought a weight machine for the high school which may be used by all athletes of the school. This machine, which is big enough to enable fourteen to workout at the same time, cost $2,550 with half of this being paid last year and the other half due this first of November.

Projects for this year were discussed. It was decided to give away a shotgun and two turkeys at the Claude game October 18. The money made from those projects and from the dues will be used to try to pay the remainder of the debt on the weight machine.

There are now 115 members, which is about 50 short of last year's membership. Others are urged to join the Skyrocket Booster Club and attend the weekly meetings held at the Farm Bureau Room every Tuesday night at 7 o'clock. The agenda includes a short talk by Head Coach James Williams; a scouting report on the team to be played; the film of the previous football game will be shown and discussed.

Officers elected this year include Richard Nall, president; Jim Cochran, vice-president; Billy Mac Sims, secretary-treasurer. Directors are Bob Sessions, Dick Pendleton, David Caison, and Mike Smith.

All who are interested are welcomed to the meetings of Skyrocket Booster Club, which is a family organization. Membership dues this year are $7.50 for the whole family.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Cartwright this week is their four-year-old granddaughter, Sandra LaNell Hill of Texline. It is her first visit here alone.
