Kennedy Move 'Error'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. John Kennedy's telegram asking to appear before a Texas caucus was regarded as a serious strategy error—perhaps Kennedy's first—by leaders in Lyndon Johnson's headquarters today. They said they thought the telegram was probably a form message sent by a clerk without Kennedy's knowledge but they felt Johnson would make the most of it in his final scramble for votes. Johnson started at once a whirlwind round of state delegation caucuses to say over and over again that he was ready to meet Kennedy in debate at any time. North Carolina delegates laughed and applauded when Johnson told them he challenged Kennedy to a public exchange of views on convention issues. GETS APPLAUSE The Senate majority leader got a warm round of handclaps from the North Carolina delegates who stood as he appeared waving a tiny Confederate flag. The delegates laughed when Johnson said: "I am surprised that they (the Kennedy people) are sending wires like this in view of their victory claims. Maybe they want a surplus." Democrats who have already counted out Johnson as the nominee are dead wrong, Texas national committeeman Byron Skelton said. "It's an uphill fight but it's still a fight," Skelton said after studying reports from Johnson's aides who worked the floor at the opening session of the Democratic convention. "It's far too early to count Johnson out and those who do are dead wrong." GLOOM DISPELLED Johnson's workers from Texas and elsewhere sought today to dispel some of the gloom that fogged through their camp yesterday. "The Kennedy-can't-win-the-election word is seeping gradually through delegations not already pledged," Skelton said in an interview. "Every floor worker in Johnson's behalf says that is the first question that comes up in interviewing delegates from uncommitted states. They want to know if Kennedy can win the election and it's worrying many." The Texans meet later today to get new instructions and to report on progress made in their individual button-holing efforts overnight.

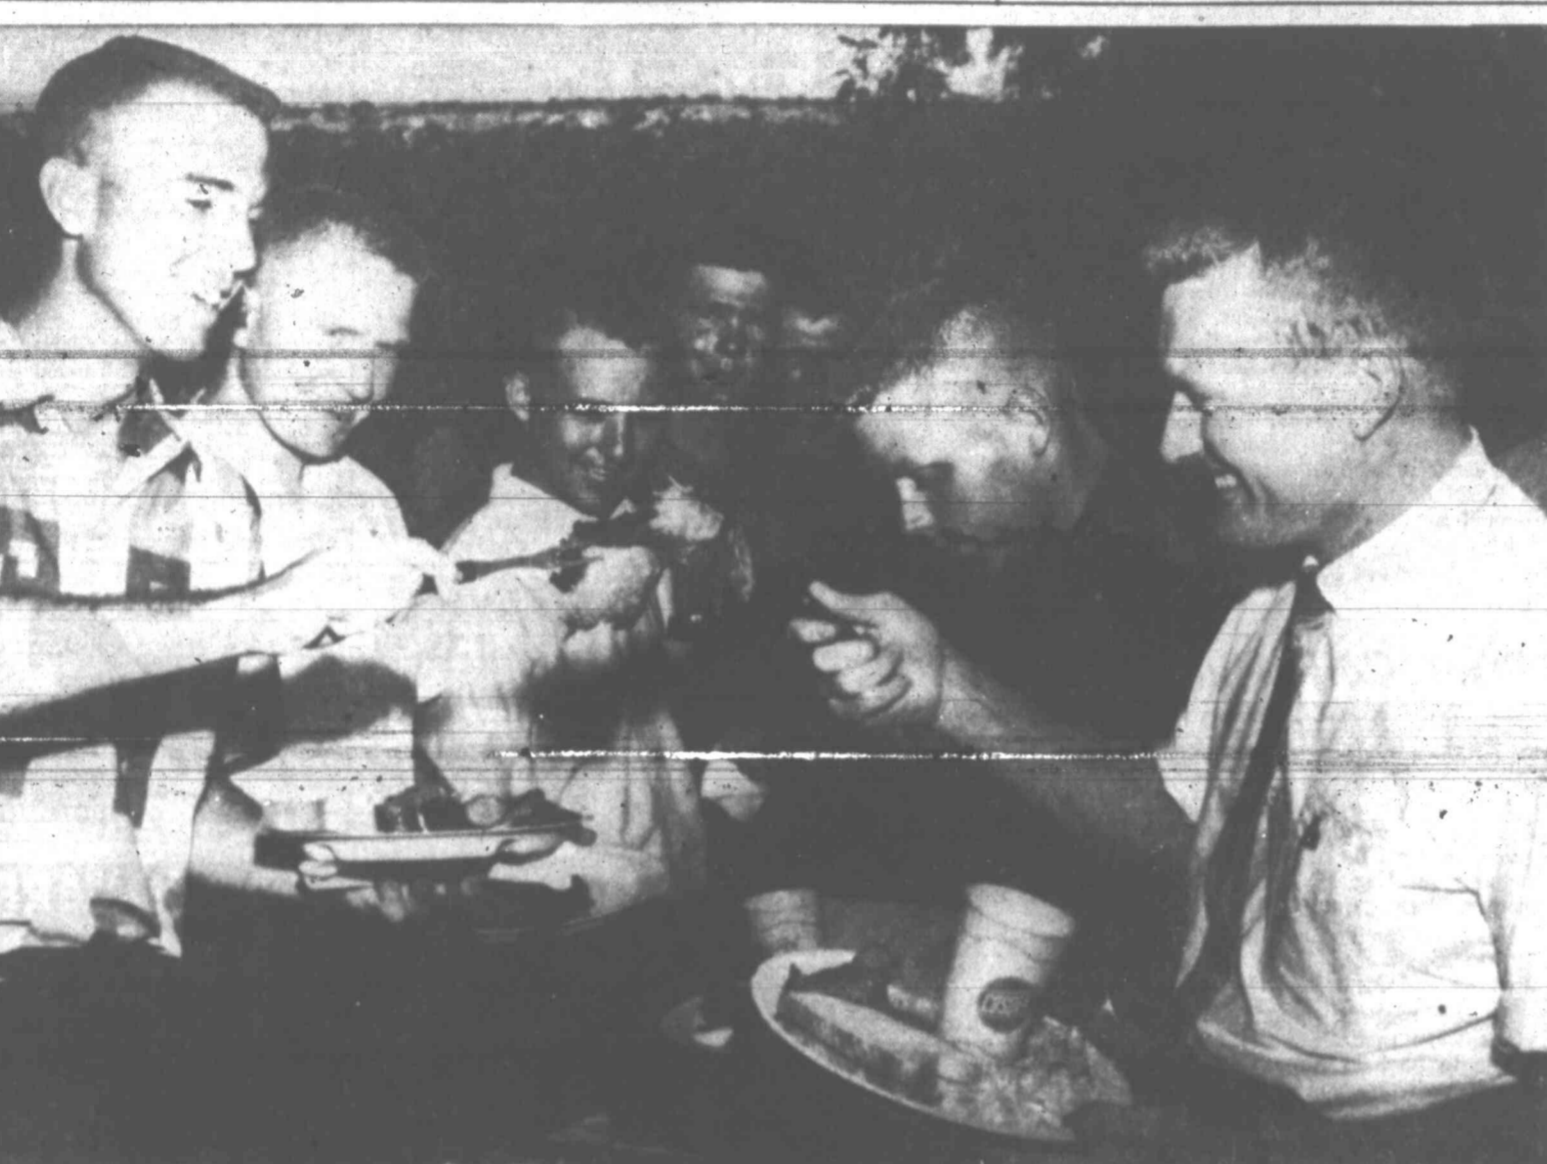

Niki Warns On Flights

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned today that a resumption of American U2 spy flights over the Soviet Union would "heat the existing tension to boiling point and bring matters to the outbreak of war." The Soviet Premier gave this warning at a Kremlin news conference in answer to a question about the possibility of renewal of U2 flights. He did not elaborate.

Ike Claims Provocation

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—The White House today accused the Soviet Union of "a deliberate and reckless attempt to create an international incident" in shooting down an American reconnaissance plane in the Arctic. At President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters, press secretary James C. Hagerty also denied Russian claims that the plane was over Soviet territory when it was brought down July 1.

Congo Regime Asks U. S. To Send Troops

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Congolese government has asked the United States to send troops to the Congo to help restore order, the Belgian radio said today. The U.S. ambassador in Leopoldville, Clare Timberlake, has given agreement in principle and will transmit the request to Washington. The decision to request U. S. troops was reached at a meeting of the Congolese government this morning, the broadcast said. U. S. troops have been on the alert in Germany several days, awaiting a possible call to the Congo. The government of the strife-torn young republic earlier asked the United Nations to intervene to restore order. Negro troops rebelled against their white officers last week. The United States Monday alerted troops in West Germany for possible duty in the Congo and said the decision on whether they would be used was up to the U. N. This apparently was to avoid giving the Communists an opportunity to charge U. S. intervention in the Congo. Moscow, however, broadcast a charge today that the United States and other Western Powers were in "a monstrous" plot to take away the young Congo republic's independence, achieved from Belgium 12 days ago. The Congolese government acted as it faced the possibility of losing its richest province, Katanga, in the southeast. Premier Moise Tshombe of Katanga, accusing the Congolese government of using Communist methods, said Monday he had set up a state independent of the central government in Leopoldville. Tshombe, 42, a member of a wealthy Negro plantation and business family, said in a radio broadcast from Elisabethville that his Katanga government wants to form an economic community with Belgium and wants economic and military assistance from the Congo's former white rulers. AID IS WELCOME Tshombe said he would welcome aid from other countries of the free world if the Belgians do not support his secession from Premier Patrice Lumumba's central government in Leopoldville, which meanwhile asked the United Nations to help it regain control of its mutinous, rampaging native army. Tshombe accused Lumumba of using Communist tactics and promoting chaos in the Congo, independent from Belgium for only 12 days. Although Congo President Joseph Kasubvu has appealed repeatedly for the European population to stay and help run the new nation, Tshombe charged Lumumba is trying to drive the Belgians and other West Europeans out and supplant them with technicians from Communist countries. "After elections, which were falsified in certain provinces, a central government based on an extremist majority has been created," Tshombe said. "The result came quickly. Soldiers, ridding themselves of all discipline, have been indulging since July 5 in acts of insubordination, threats, brutalities principally against European populations, searches, illegal arrests and finally, murders." At least 12 Europeans and scores of Africans have been reported killed in the army mutiny that followed Congolese independence. At least 15,000 of the 100,000 whites have fled to neighboring African territories, Belgian, Dutch, Italian, American and other planes are mobilizing to fly them out. The Congo army mutiny spread to Elisabethville Sunday. Native troops besieged several hundred Europeans in a hotel and killed eight Europeans, including the Italian consul. Tshombe appealed for aid from Belgian troops stationed at bases in the Congo. Paratroopers were dropped in, freed the besieged whites, and restored order. Lumumba protested to the Brussels government against the troop intervention, but Tshombe defiantly said he would ask for more Belgian troops. IN FULL CONTROL A European official reported by telephone from Elisabethville today that the Belgian army was in full control of the city of more than 75,000 and that "confidence is being slowly restored." Katanga, in the eastern Congo, is about the size of Arizona and Utah combined and has a population of more than 1,300,000. It produces about 60 to 70 per cent of the new nation's wealth. Its mainstays are copper, uranium, and other minerals. It is mostly a temperate plateau and has considerable cattle and other agriculture. The leaders of Katanga, traditionally independent, were the 19th century. Tshombe had favored a loose federal government for the new Congo state, fearing the central government would milk the province of its resources and not give back a fair share in services.

Citizens Join Cadets For Fun-Filled Fete

Air Force ROTC cadets frolicked with all the zest and fun that only collegians can as Big Spring staged its traditional party for them Monday. Nearly 200 of the young men from several college campuses, spread across the nation, were feted to a barbecue and swim party at Couden Country Club Monday evening. Joining in the high-jinks were their hosts, more than three score Big Spring business and professional men. The cadets—assigned to Webb for a month of training—put up a combo, which played part of the evening; had a lively barber-shop quartet and a guitar soloist; then indulged in a general sing-song. Sponsors were as delighted as the young men were for the cadets enjoyed their food so well that they came back for seconds until it was all gone. With some exuberance, they tossed their cadet officers and a few of their Air Force officers into the lake. They discreetly paused short of the higher echelons. Tuesday, however, they found how early the dawn breaks. At 4:30 a.m. they were routed out and started on their day's regimen. This will continue until Saturday, when the cadets will have their graduation day. After four weeks of dust, heat, rain, sweat, sore feet, and perseverance, the cadets are going to participate in events that will mark the close of their summer program. At 8 a.m. Saturday, exercises will be held in the base chapel. Guest speaker will be Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College. All cadets will receive diplomas, and outstanding cadets will receive recognition for their personal efforts. Immediately after graduation ceremonies are completed, the cadets will form, in company with student officers in pilot training at Webb and other base personnel, to stage a Wing Review. Seven of the cadets will receive A. F. Commissions. The review, under the direction of Pilot Training Group, will be held in front of Base Operations on the ramp. Elaborate plans have been made to entertain the public and military dependents as observers of the big event. A special feature of the review will be a fly-over by base aircraft as the troops pass in review.

Johnson Gibes At Big Claims

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas today challenged Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts to a face-to-face debate of the issues at a joint meeting of their state delegations. Kennedy, riding a triumphant crest toward the Democratic presidential nomination, replied he would go before the Texas delegation and proceed in any way Johnson and his state delegates deemed advisable. However, Kennedy said he had campaigned in seven primary states and appeared in all 50 states "and I have never found it necessary to bring the Massachusetts delegation with me." Johnson, running second in the stakes but still insisting that he can overtake Kennedy, sprung his proposal for a joint debate at a morning news conference. He did so after receiving a request from Kennedy that the Massachusetts senator be permitted to appear before the Texas delegation and present his views. JOINT MEETING The Texan proposed instead that the two state delegations have a joint meeting and that he and Kennedy argue out the major-convention issues before them. Johnson suggested that the meeting be thrown open to the press, radio, and television. Kennedy's reply telegram was read by his brother, Robert F. Kennedy, at a news conference. Kennedy said he accepted the invitation to appear at 3 o'clock PDT. "As you know," Kennedy added, "I have appeared before many caucuses since arriving in Los Angeles last Saturday. I have also campaigned in seven primary states and appeared in all 50 states and I never found it necessary to bring the Massachusetts delegation with me. "Therefore, I will appear alone before the Texas caucus and will proceed in any way you and the delegation deem advisable." Kennedy was at a breakfast meeting of North and South Carolina convention delegates when Johnson made public his challenge. Kennedy declined to say at once whether he would accept. KENNEDY REQUEST Johnson said he received a telegram from Kennedy Monday saying he would appreciate an opportunity to meet with the Texas delegation. Kennedy's telegram said he was "most grateful for the support and friendship of my Southern friends in 1956" when he was backed by Johnson, unsuccessfully, for the vice presidential nomination. Johnson fired back with his challenge-to-debate telegram saying he was happy to know Kennedy was grateful for the support of his Southern friends at the 1960 convention. "It is interesting to know that Kennedy is so grateful for the support of his Southern friends at the 1960 convention," Johnson went on to suggest that the Texas and Massachusetts delegations have a joint session and that he and Kennedy debate the major issues before the press, radio, and television. In reply to questions, Johnson said there has been no material change in the relative delegate strength of himself and Kennedy since the delegates gathered here for their convention. "I am very happy to know that you are grateful for the support and friendship that your Southern friends gave you in 1956. "It is interesting to know that you need them now. Personally, I believe that the problems before us are far too important to be determined on the basis solely of regional and sectional issues. "As a firm believer in the Democratic process, especially as it relates to national party conventions, may I suggest that in response to your request we meet together before a joint session of the Texas and Massachusetts delegations in caucus and debate the major issues on which these bodies solemnly will act later this week." Johnson proposed that they meet at 3 p.m. today at a place to be determined. KENNEDY'S REPLY Kennedy's request, as made public by Johnson, said: "For the first time since 1956 we are meeting in a convention to nominate a Democratic candidate for president. I am most grateful for the support and friendship of my Southern friends in 1956. As a candidate for president I would appreciate very much the privilege of meeting your 1960 delegation in your caucus to explain my views and to answer their questions. If this privilege can be extended to me, please telephone my personal secretary, Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln, MA-6-3592, extension 66." In response to questions at a news conference, Johnson asserted that he believed the situation as to voting strength among the delegates "except for the headlines, is about the same as when we came here."

99 Enroll At HCJC

Registration for the second six weeks of Howard County Junior College summer school reached 99 today and a substantially larger figure is expected. Dr. Marvin Baker, assistant to the president and director of the adult education program, said that the total did not include signing up at Webb. Registration will continue through this week, although classes start today. Students may sign for courses during the day between 6:30 p.m.-8 p.m. through Thursday. Friday and Saturday they will need to sign during the day. Dr. Baker said only 11 reported for the teachers course in methods of teaching arithmetic, whereas 20 are required before the University of Texas will offer it through HCJC. This is a chance for teachers to get UT credit for the work and at the same time, satisfy Texas Education Agency requirements in the field, he said. Should this course fail to materialize, many of those signing for it may take a business math course instead.

Casa Manana's Play Successful

FORT WORTH (AP)—A 1960 version of "Rosalinda," staged imaginatively by producer-director Michael Pollock, opened before a sellout audience at Casa Manana Monday night. Elston Brooks, amusements editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, said Pollock turned the comic opera into a "delightful Rube Goldberg operetta that stops just this side of the exploding cigar." The show, which opened a two-week run, stars Metropolitan opera star, Ralph Herbert and Thomas Hayward, and Lucille Smith, Jacquelyne Moody and Melvin Dacus.

End Of School Creates A Rise In Lists Of Jobless

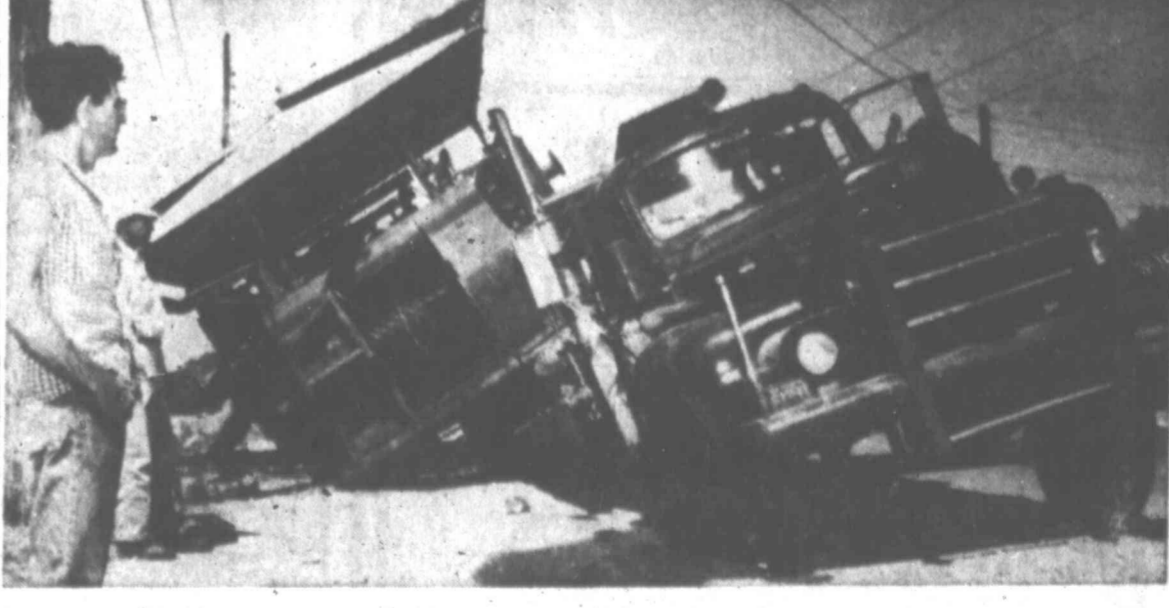

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unemployment rose by nearly one million in June as record numbers of summer job-seekers poured from school into the labor market, the Labor Department announced today. But unprecedented numbers of them found work waiting, with the result that total employment soared by 1,400,000 to 68,579,000, the highest level in history. This was about one million greater than a year ago. The comparison excludes Alaska and Hawaii, which were not counted in the Bureau of Labor Statistics tabulation last year. The over-all labor force, civilian jobholders and jobseekers combined, rose by 2,300,000, of which all but about 100,000 were boys and girls 14 to 19 years old. The unemployment rate, after allowing for seasonal trends, rose from May's 4.9 per cent to 5.5 per cent. 4 Changes In City Master Plan Zoning Ordinance Suggested

Four changes in the new proposed zoning ordinance were suggested by members of the Master Plan steering committee Monday. Marvin Springer, Master Plan consultant, wrapped up his explanation of the proposed ordinance. Springer presented the bulk of the zoning regulations, not covered in a meeting last month, to members of the steering committee, city commission, planning and zoning commission and zoning board of adjustment. The meetings are held in the police building. The amendments including placing service stations under neighborhood service district zoning rather than retail district, leaving alcoholic beverage sales out of the zoning ordinance entirely, and placing cotton ginning and baling, along with wrecking and salvag-

Platform Contains Strong 'Rights'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Despite stiff Dixie opposition, the Democratic convention is expected to adopt tonight a platform containing the party's strongest stand yet on civil rights. Delegates from nine Southern states filed a vehement protest that will be read to the convention, saying the civil rights declarations transgress state rights guarantees of the constitution. Adherents of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas refused to give up hope that he can wrest the nomination away from Kennedy by a dramatic last-hour rally.

Soft Shoulder Causes Shift More than 40 tons of machinery were demobilized this morning when this Lane Trucking Co. truck slipped off the pavement in the 100 block of NE 12th. Driver Lee Davison (foreground), San Angelo, said that apparently the gigantic motor started sliding when the right side of the truck sank into the shoulder of the road. The sliding motor threw the truck off balance and tipped the entire side into its lopsided position. A water line is buried near the spot where the mishap occurred and apparently some leakage had occurred to cause the soft shoulder. The mishap occurred shortly after 8 a.m.

Wants Food In Small Packages

By LYDIA RICKFORD
AP News Service Writer

Dr. Kathryn Langwill is typical of most women who live alone and prepare meals for one. She does not like leftovers.

So it's no wonder she's heart and soul in a research project which will package exact portions of food items, to be prepared and eaten with not a bit of waste.

She envisions a shopping situation in which the buyer can purchase a box with six or more individual containers in it, and can prepare only the exact portions she needs.

This kind of packaging should be a boon to the lone diner, or to the odd-numbered family. "In frozen food dinner items, did you ever see a package for one—or three or five?" asks Dr. Langwill.

She adds that these pre-cooked foods may still present a leftover problem.

Before she began her research in this new approach to packaging,

Dr. Langwill tried out her idea on a mother of five. "What new products would you like to find on your kitchen shelf?" she asked.

"I don't need anything new," was the response, "but I'd like food prepared for the exact number of diners."

That was all the research chemist needed. In the plant at Yonkers, N. Y., where she heads research in sugar products, she began her experimentation — which still is top secret.

"Convenience packaging" — and development of products which lend themselves to this type of packaging — are only a part of Dr. Langwill's research activities.

Her company's main interest is in supplying liquid sugar to food processors, and her research in the laboratories continues along these lines.

Earlier, Dr. Langwill was professor of nutrition at Texas Institute of Technology. Before that, while doing research in the physics department at Columbia University during World War II she performed highly secret experimental work on the atomic bomb under Dr. Harold Urey. She was granted a U. S. patent for her contribution, a method for plating uranium salts on platinum foil.

Research, it seems, has taken Dr. Langwill quite a distance: from bombs to boxes.

Midget Submarine Found

Jay Skidmore, Chula Vista, Calif., U. S. Navy Photographer, grasps the periscope of a wrecked Japanese midget submarine resting upright on a coral bed a mile outside of Pearl Harbor. The sub was found accidentally by navy divers in 70 feet of water. The Navy said it believed the midget was one of three taking part in the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941. One was sunk inside the harbor, a second was beached. This picture was taken by Donald Williams, Navy underwater photographer, of Wabdo, Wisconsin.

British Worry Over Keeping In Touch With The Spy Flights

LONDON (AP) — Demands mounted in Britain today for firm assurance that Washington is consulting fully with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government on the activities of American planes flying from British bases. That was the first reaction to the Soviet claim to have shot down another U.S. reconnaissance aircraft over Soviet territory. The missing RB47 took off from the U.S. air force base at Brize Norton, England, and many Britons want to know whether its flight was first sanctioned by Macmillan.

assuming heavy responsibility for the possible consequences. Macmillan faces a barrage of questions on this and the May 1 incident in the House of Commons today. When questioned previously on the May Day shooting down over the Soviet Union of the American U2 plane, the Prime Minister contended there could be no public discussion of intelligence activities. The Conservative Daily Mail in a front-page editorial today conceded that such secrecy was necessary, but said that "to disclose whether or not Britain is consulted before any American flight which may involve her in a grave international incident is a different matter. There is reason to believe," said the Mail, "that she is not always consulted. It is said that the agreement which allows our government to veto operational flights by U.S. aircraft does not cover reconnaissance flights."

Hurricane Moves West

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The season's first tropical storm continued a slow, deliberate westward movement today across the Caribbean.

The course, unless altered, would carry Hurricane Abby well south of any point in the United States. With peak winds of 95 miles per hour, Abby swept wide of Puerto Rico Monday night and the Weather Bureau's hurricane watch for Haiti and the Dominican Republic was discontinued.

A 5 a.m. (EST) report from aircraft reconnaissance and surface ships placed Abby about 250 miles south southeast of Port Au Prince, Haiti. The hurricane was continuing toward the west at about 17 m.p.h. Hurricane winds extend outward about 100 miles from Abby's center. Gale force winds extend outward 160 miles in the northern semicircle and 80 miles in the southern semicircle. Little change in size or intensity was expected during the next 12 hours.

Small craft warnings were in effect along the south coasts of Haiti, Dominican Republic and Jamaica. They were discontinued for the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

Daily Average Oil Production Rises

TULSA (AP) — Daily average U.S. oil production increased 27,355 barrels to 6,828,995 during the week ended July 9, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Except for Texas, most states contributed to the net gain, with Oklahoma's 238,900 barrel climb of 317,100 leading the list. Texas, one of only four states with losses, was down 27,100 barrels to 2,434,800.

The Journal estimated 1960 production at 1,342,587 barrels compared to 1,363,341,900 a year ago.

Girl Stricken By Strange Malady Joined By Sister

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Bernadette Frantantonio, 3, a sleeping beauty struck down last fall by a mysterious malady, now has been joined by her 5-year-old sister in the same strange slumber.

Physicians, who are conducting tests, do not know yet whether the cases are related. Both girls are children of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent N. Frantantonio of Cleveland Heights. They have two young sons. The mother is expecting her fifth child any day.

Physicians, who are conducting tests, do not know yet whether the cases are related. Both girls are children of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent N. Frantantonio of Cleveland Heights. They have two young sons. The mother is expecting her fifth child any day. Venita complained of dizziness last Saturday, according to her mother, Lillian Frantantonio. She was driven to the hospital the next day to visit her younger sister. "She staggered when she got out of the car," said the mother. "The doctors tested her reflexes and said they were poor. She missed the end of her nose with her finger. They decided to admit her."

About 2 or 3 in the afternoon she fell into a coma and hasn't awakened yet," said Mrs. Frantantonio.

Hospital attendants said Bernadette was captured by the strange coma in the same way. Bernadette, a charming brown-eyed child, returned only last week from the Neurological Institute of the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center in New York.

She had undergone two weeks of examination there. Tests merely affirmed that modern science thus far has no answer.

New York experts said there was a progressive atrophy of the child's brain but were unable to explain absence of such evidence from her spinal fluids.

Conventions Are Circuses

By DAVID LAWRENCE
LOS ANGELES—National political conventions are incredibly self-centered. There's a crisis going on in the world that could mean war—but you don't get the slightest feeling of awareness of it here.

Whether Cuba may start a fire which will spread its damage through Latin America or whether Nikita Khrushchev will follow up his threats against the United States by some outward action of some kind seems to worry or bother the delegates or even the candidates.

Everything is focused on a "headliner"—how to swing delegates so that an impression of unanimity behind the nominee will be given as he starts off his campaign with a psychological bang.

But one can't help feeling that if the American people really could understand the artificialities and contrived mechanisms of this combining of pressures in private to choose party nominees and develop something more in keeping with the idealism and dignity of the United States.

Most of the delegates are not free agents. Many of them are the puppets of the bosses or organization leaders who sent them here. Several are officeholders who have their political futures to safeguard. The leaders who make the trades and deals are usually veteran politicians capable of talking, amphibious in public and not combining to pressure in private that come from the man who has the political benefits on the local or state or federal level.

NO QUALITY
The idea of mobilizing for the convention a group of thoughtful, well-informed Americans—the best 1,000 in the party—chosen in the first instance for their knowledge and judgment is not even mentioned. The system is criticized outside but not inside the party except occasionally as delegates take their hair down to one another and admit the current method is seriously defective.

This writer has watched at first hand every campaign since 1912 and has attended every national convention since 1916. So this is the had convention in a row, and it must be confessed that they have changed very little over the years. They are still the same childish spectacles they have always been.

PLENTY OF CRISIS
Oddly enough, as one looks back, there has been an international crisis in the background more often than not. In 1916 the First World War was on, and the Democrats at St. Louis were boasting that President Wilson had "kept us out of war." Yet within a few months thereafter America had entered the war.

Resentment against American entry into that war caused the Democrats to lose in 1920. The Republicans campaigned thereafter continuously against America's participation in the League of Nations, and gradually the Democrats came to the same conclusion. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who had been ardently for the League in 1920 as the Democratic candidate for vice president, deserted his friends in that cause in 1932 to get needed support in his fight to win the Democratic presidential nomination at the Chicago convention.

HITLER'S ERA
International affairs played a part in the Chicago convention of the Democrats in 1948 when Hitler had already invaded France and even the third-term tradition was waived to make F.D.R. the Democratic nominee in the midst of an era of crisis. He was able for the same reason to win renomination in 1944 for a fourth term.

Against the background of these "wars" in the background, the country was eager to have the boys brought home from Korea and a stop applied to the drafting of any more. As recently as 1956, the pressure of international issues was evident, and during the campaign the Soviet crisis helped the Republicans because the country was in no mood to "change horses in midstream."

This convention is disregarding foreign issues and war threats as it turns toward a candidate inexperienced in international affairs, but these questions may be uppermost in the coming campaign.

WHAT TO DO?
Criticism of the Eisenhower leadership will be voiced in the platform adapted here and in the speeches, but as yet nothing has crystallized or what the Democratic nominee, if elected, would actually do if Nikita Khrushchev keeps up his insults and really interferes in Cuba and Latin America.

Do the Democrats favor going to war? This is the question the Republicans will ask again and again during the campaign. As for convention sentiment, it is far removed even from thinking about the rest of the world and the threats from the Communists. This convention is too self-centered to worry about anything except its own "bandwagons" and the carnival of the hour.

Colorado City—Don Benson, president of the Colorado City Jaycees, and Drew Ballard, vice president, appeared before the Colorado City Council to offer to supply pipe and install street signs in Colorado City if the council would buy the signs.

Mayor Bob Robinson expressed his appreciation and asked for time to study the proposal, since the city did not have funds budgeted for the purchase of street signs.
Bill Cooper, who owns a farm adjoining Lake Colorado City, requested permission from the council to build and operate a fishing barge, 36 by 72 feet, on Lake Colorado City.

City Manager Earl Keaton told Cooper that he had received another application to operate a fishing barge on the lake. Robinson appointed councilmen Ira Utz, A. W. Hubbard and H. I. Berman to study the plan.

City Fathers To Discuss Money Matters

Students Here Favor Johnson

If it were left up to a group of high school government pupils, Sen. Lyndon Johnson would capture the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

John P. Yates, who is instructing the course, this summer had his students turn in themes on preferential nominations.

Eleven favored Richard Nixon, who is almost certain to receive the Republican nomination. Twelve favored Sen. John Kennedy, who currently seems to have the Democratic convention wrapped up as the Demo. nominee, whereas 19 wanted Sen. Lyndon Johnson as the nominee.

An interesting sidelight was the shift in case a favorite nominee doesn't make it. Whereas Johnson would get all of the Kennedy votes, Kennedy would lose 13 out of the 19 Johnson votes to Nixon in the general election.

Among the reasons given for preferences were:
Nixon — past experience and trips abroad; Kennedy — youth; intellectual service record; Johnson — past service common sense, record of Democratic leadership.

3 White Men Arrested In Dixie Bomb Attempt

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Three white men were seized by the FBI early today and charged with trying to blow up a dormitory-chapel building at Philander Smith College for Negroes.

Two hours after the arrests, an explosion rocked a small warehouse of the Little Rock school district only 10 blocks from the Methodist Negro college. No one was hurt.

J. J. Casper, FBI agent in charge at Little Rock, said two of the men were caught as they were lighting a candle leading to a fuse in a small black box loaded with 40 sticks of dynamite.

Police Chief R. E. Glascock said his men had been guarding a number of public buildings in Little Rock for several days "for security reasons." He added police had learned of a plot to dynamite some buildings but did not elaborate.

Students of Philander Smith College last spring figured in a number of lunch counter sit-ins. But the school with an enrollment of 500 has dismissed regular classes for summer vacation. Only a few students are attending summer school classes.

Desk, Derrick Hears Talk On Oil Recovery
"Secondary Recovery" was the subject of discussion at the meeting of the Desk and Derrick Club Monday evening in the Texas Electric Service "Hospitality Room."

Twenty members were present to hear Harold Summers, an engineer for Condon Petroleum Company. Summers explained secondary recovery—the second process used in getting all the oil from wells.

The primary process is the original flow of oil; the secondary recovery process is where outside forces are used to get the oil out of the well after the primary flow ceases.

Summers demonstrated his talk with a mechanical device. The device showed producing oil wells gradually decline, then showed the re-vitalizing of the wells when secondary recovery methods were used. Usually this involves pumping water into the oil bearing formation.

Consideration of a preliminary draft of the 1960-61 budget for the Big Spring Independent School District is the chief item on the board docket this evening.

Trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the administrative office to receive the budget suggestions presented by Supt. Floyd Parsons, Assistant Supt. Business Pat Murphy and the staff.

In its form as adopted by the board, the budget then will be set for a public hearing.
Other business is of the routine type except for consideration of a proposal received from the Howard County Junior College to enter into a base stabilization program surrounding Memorial Stadium.

The facility, located on the HCJC campus, is operated jointly by the college and schools.
The college board previously agreed to pay half the costs of stabilizing the soil in the stadium parking area to a depth of six inches. Also on tap is the consideration of teacher replacements for a few who have resigned since the end of the school term.

Lamar Master's Application Downed

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Commission on Higher Education said Monday Lamar State College of Technology, Beaumont, may not start master's degree programs in four fields of study. It rejected the school's plea for permission to set up master's programs in industrial engineering, electrical engineering, business administration, and geology. Consideration of Lamar Tech's request for a master's degree program in chemical engineering was deferred. Dr. F. L. McDonald, Lamar Tech president, said the school, sixth largest state college, was located in the heart of the state's chemical producing area, and a graduate, chemical engineering program would benefit the entire region. "The board of regents told me when I became president they wanted a strong engineering program," Dr. McDonald said. He said the graduate program would help Lamar Tech attract first-rate instructors. Dr. Ralph Green, commission director, recommended the application be rejected on grounds that Texas must accept a certain amount of limitation in its academic program in the interest of excellence. The commission approved a $3,082,183 appropriation request

No rain was reported Tuesday, but the forecasts called for isolated late afternoon and evening thundershowers in extreme southwest Texas west of the Pecos River. Temperatures were expected to be above normal the rest of the week.

Accused Man Describes Fight At School Meeting

TYLER (AP)—Dr. C.C. Rahm, his voice choked with emotion, told a news conference Monday he fired the shot that killed Thurman Jackson during a fight at the Brownsboro School Board meeting June 16, but said he had no malice toward Jackson. Rahm has been held in the Tyler jail on a charge of murder since four days after the shooting that climaxed years of bitter feuding over the school affairs of the small East Texas town. He gave his account of the fight for the first time at a news conference arranged by his lawyer, Charles Tessmer of Dallas. Earlier, Tessmer asked Judge V.M. Johnston of Athens to free Rahm on bond pending his trial. Johnston set a hearing on the habeas corpus petition for 9 a.m. Friday. Rahm, former mayor of Brownsboro, was secretary of the school board which earlier this year fired Homer Bass, longtime superintendent of schools. He said he had been threatened prior to the June 16 meeting but did not name the persons he said made the threats. He said he was scared and for that reason carried a .45 caliber pistol to the meeting. Rahm said the crowd attending the board meeting began to get out of hand after I.B. Long, board president, offered to read criticisms of the school by an evaluating team of the Texas Education Agency. He said he reminded Long the board had agreed to adjourn at 8 p.m. and that when Long adjourned the meeting, he (Rahm) asked a deputy sheriff "get us out of here." He said the deputy replied he was trying to do so. "I put my papers under my arm and tried to leave. "I was hit on the head and fell to the floor. My glasses were

Semi-Invalid Is Swimming Heroine

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Linda Burr, 12, a semi-invalid, took up swimming three years ago as therapy. Sunday night, she pulled a drowning boy, twice her weight, from the swimming pool at an apartment project. Linda dived into the pool and groped about until she found Jim Byrne, 15, and pulled him to the surface. She suffered from rheumatic fever. Since taking up swimming she has shown no evidence of the resulting heart trouble.

Why Am I Always Tired?

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C. You're as peppy as your nerves will permit! If you are slowing up, you'll find that your life energy transmission lines are faulty. Instead of investigating, we generally blame constant fatigue on the weather, overwork, too many social and civic obligations, etc. Result—we often put off a physical checkup until we hear of a friend, perhaps in his prime, dropping dead of a heart attack, or some other physical impairment that moves us to "wonder." The human body has the ability to compensate for its own loss or injury—and it has its own warning signals such as headaches, fevers, skin eruptions, dizziness, changes of weight, indigestion, nausea, difficult breathing, etc. Fatigue is one of the most common symptoms of physical impairment. When the body loses its ability to adapt, alter or compensate for itself, it is sick! We find ill health is usually the result of faulty body mechanics resulting from defective nerves—and usually the sick patient can't sleep because their nerve system is too heavily taxed—too burdened with spinal pressures and other interferences. When there is an interference in this spinal nerve section of your central nervous system, almost any organ or gland will become weakened or irritated. Sickness and health come from inside your body. Alston To Lead With Vern Law

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — National League Mgr. Walter Alston will go with Vern Law, another member of the Pittsburgh staff that led to the 3-3 first-game victory over the American League at Kansas City Monday in sweltering 100-degree heat.

Law threw seven pitches in stopping a ninth-inning threat and preserved the victory for teammate Bob Friend, who pitched one-hit ball for three shutout innings. It was the NL's 12th victory in 28 midsummer meetings with the AL and the second for Friend against one defeat.

Relief artist Elroy Face, third mound member of the Pirate All-

Star cast, earlier had stopped another serious American League threat by getting Luis Aparicio to bounce into sixth inning double play with the bases loaded.

The trio from the league-leading Pirates worked a combined 5-13 innings, allowing no runs and only one hit, a second-inning single by Baltimore's Ronnie Hansen off Friend.

American League Mgr. Al Lopez, who used six pitchers in a vain attempt to stop the National League power, indicated he would send southpaw Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees to the mound in the second game at Yankee Stadium. Left-handers generally are more effective at the Yankee park than at Kansas City, with its short left field fence that was cleared three times in the first game.

Ernie Banks, NL home run and RBI leader, slammed the first home run, off starter Bill Monbouquette of Boston, with a man on base in the first inning to feature a three-run attack that hung the defeat on the Red Sox' youthful right-hander.

Del Crandall, Milwaukee catcher, walked the other NL homer, a solo shot in the second inning. This, too, was hit off Monbouquette, who was tagged for five hits and four runs before giving up to Baltimore's Chuck Estrada in the third.

Willie Mays, the great center fielder of the San Francisco Giants, got two of those hits, a first-inning triple and a second-inning single. He doubled later, off New York's Jim Coates, and came within several feet of becoming the first man in All-Star competition to hit for the cycle. His drive to right off Cleveland's Gary Bell in the sixth was snared by Harvey Kuenn of Cleveland with a leaping catch.

The National League collected 12 hits to the AL's six, all but one of them was in the first five innings when they stored all their runs for a 5-0 lead.

The American League used a record number of 25 players, but only six of them hit safely against the five NL pitchers. The big blow was an eighth inning home run by Detroit's Al Kaline off Milwaukee right-hander Bob Buhl. The drive came after Kuenn had reached base on an error and reduced the NL's lead to 5-3.

The Americans, who had been held to only one hit in the first five innings, threatened to pull the game out of the fire in the last of the ninth. With one out, Baltimore's Jim Gentile singled off Buhl, after catcher Smokey Burgess of Pittsburgh had dropped his foul popup, and Jim Lemon of Washington walked.

Alston, who skipped the Los Angeles Dodgers to a pennant last year, then summoned Law from the bullpen. The big right-hander took the mound and Brooks Robinson to raise an easy fly to center and then disposed of Kuenn on a liner to right, where Roberto Clemente, still another Pittsburgher, caught the ball for the final out.

The first AL threat came in the sixth when they scored a run off Giant southpaw Mike McCormick on Nellie Fox's single after they had loaded the bases on one of four NL errors. Bill Skowron's single, and a walk.

With the bases still full and only one out, Face replaced McCormick and put out the fire by getting the fleet-footed Aparicio to ground sharply to shortstop Ernie Banks, who started the inning ending double play.

In all, 49 of the 60 players took part in the first All-Star game ever played in Kansas City. The nationally televised game netted $123,822.13, which goes into a fund that supports the player pension plan. The $250,000 TV and radio receipts also goes into the fund.

Only nonplayers besides the pitchers were Cincinnati catcher Ed Bailey and Cleveland first baseman Vic Power.

Among the records set were a couple by Mays. His triple was the third in eight All-Star appearances, more than any other performer. He scored his 10th run in the first inning to tie St. Louis' Stan Musial and Boston's Ted Williams.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:
STAN MUSIAL, St. Louis baseball star, after being given a TV set and a radio by a fan club recently.

"I guess it won't be too long before I'll be needing them to find out how the Cardinals are making out."

JOE KING, New York writer:
"When Warren G. Gribble extorts the National League to strongly speed up the game, the N. L. president could refer to the files and list the two-hour-and-over playing time of a difference—more than 2 1/2 hours. If I were asked, I'd suggest he pick the Cardinals of 1942. They were my favorites, the last great team built by Branch Rickey in St. Louis. There was a team that ran on and off the field and even the manager, Billy Southworth, trotted to the third-base coaching box. Southworth didn't huddle the infield every time two rivals got on base, his pitchers didn't go into a trance thinking of something to throw, and all the Cards kept running as if they couldn't wait to relish the sport. Matter of fact, those Cards reminded Connie Mack fondly of the eager teams of his earlier days, away back in the early 1900's, as they raced to 106 wins and kept moving to leave the lordly New York Yankees stranded by four games to one in the World Series."

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS:
"There were reports that the two 'Ivy League' boys behind the Injo Johansson-Floyd Patterson promotion—Roy Cohn and Bill Fagan—passed out long and light and tried to get Cas D'Amato to give up a piece of Patterson's purse—so they wouldn't be badly hooked financially."

A veteran tennis coach, after watching MARIA BUENO in action:
"I'm not so sure that Bueno is a smart player. . . I doubt if she ever thinks about playing a match, about strategy. Her serve is beautiful, as near to the motion of a baseball pitcher as you can get. But she depends on her serve to beat them all. If someone comes along who can drop it to her feet, she'll jump as if she's thinking, 'How can you do that to me?'"

FRANK BROYLES, Arkansas football mentor, discussing his backfield whiz, Lance Alworth:
"He's a tremendous athlete. I've never been associated with a halfback I could compare him to. I've seen others who could do one thing as well, perhaps. In some ways, George Yolkert at Georgia Tech, as a sophomore, could equal Alworth. But Yolkert couldn't pass like Alworth, or kick like him. Alworth can do it all."

SEC TAYLOR, Des Moines writer:
"Pop Anson, said to be the first white child born in Potlawa-tawmle County, was a belligerent, umpire-baiting, hard-hitting shifting manager for the Chicago Colts. He pioneered in player shifts and was the first to take a team to spring training. He once ordered the club owner, who had criticized him, off the field. At another time, he bet $500 he would not strike out during the season, but lost the bet. He was called out on strikes in the 108th game. His reflexes were so good that it is claimed that he was never hit by a pitched ball."

DAVE SIME, the Duke sprinter, who competed in the ABC Relays here several years ago:
"My ambition in life is to be a doctor. I gave up a lot of money to stay in school. I could have had a real good baseball contract, but I turned it down, because I wanted to be a doctor more than anything. I finished in the upper half of my class this spring at Duke, and I feel more proud of that than my running."

Three No-Hitters Seen At Forsan

FORSAN (SC)—One of the rarest of all baseball feats—a double no-hitter—was seen Monday night in the Forsan softball tournament as Billy Paul Thomas, Newsom's, and Jack Long, McDonald Motors, each twirled hitless ball for the five-inning contest.

Newsom's won the ball game, 1-0, on an unearned run in the fourth inning. Oakie Hagood reached first on an error; went to third on an error and then scored on Joe Bell's sacrifice fly.

Thomas chalked up 10 strikeouts in his five-inning stint and Long whiffed three. All the open-

Bowlers Meet For Election

Men's Bowling Association of Big Spring will hold its annual meeting and election of officers for the 1960-61 season, Friday, July 15, at 7:30 p.m. at the Howard County Court House.

All members of the city association are invited to attend, but only team representatives are allowed to vote. Mixed leagues may have one voting member for each five male members in their league. Persons elected at this meeting will take office August 1.

One fourth of total number of teams registered must be present to constitute a quorum. Representatives that are unable to attend may designate an alternate delegate, in writing, to attend and vote for him.

This is the only meeting each year that representatives may voice an open opinion and make suggestions. All voting members are urged to attend.

Testimony

Just as the certificate in his hand, Dennis McAdams proves fishing is good in parts of New Mexico. The Big Spring man holds up a 16-inch, 2 1/2 pound rainbow trout which he caught near Red River, N. M. It's the second largest trout McAdams ever bagged.

Friend Says Heat Sapped His Strength

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The 100-degree heat, not the American League All-Stars, got the full attention of the winning National League star after Monday's 5-3 victory in the Municipal Stadium.

"I don't think I could have kept my good stuff very much longer," winning pitcher Bob Friend of Pittsburgh commented after the game. "Three innings was plenty. I just moved the ball around and went with my best stuff. These hitters don't have many weaknesses, anyway."

Friend pitched one-hit ball through the first three innings while his mates took a 3-0 lead. Hechinger, four runs off, loser Billy Monbouquette of Boston got homers by Ernie Banks (with one on) and Del Crandall (none on) after Willie Mays' triple and Bob Skinner's single scored the first run.

Losing Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox, witness in five All-Star appearances as a player and manager, wouldn't second-guess his choice of a starting pitcher.

"I still think Bill was the logical fellow for me to start," he said. "He's had great stuff lately and was well respected. Perhaps he was a little nervous at the start," Lopez added, explaining the Nationals' early slump.

"The heat was something," Lopez said. "It hit us all of a sudden. It had been fairly cool in Chicago and in the East where most of these fellows had been playing."

National League Manager Walter Alston, playfully wiper the brow of center-fielder Mays, was brief.

"We got the early hitting. I never got that hitting before in All-Star games," the Los Angeles skipper, now 2-2 in the mid-season clinic, remarked.

Vern Law, of Pittsburgh, was Alston's probable choice to start for the Nationals in New York Wednesday. He had to put down a threat by the AL in the ninth inning Monday by getting the last two outs with the tying run on base.

Harvey Kuenn, who made the final out of the game when he lined to right-fielder Bob Clemente, was most unhappy.

"The first ball I swung at was the one I should have hit," the Cleveland outfielder said. "That one would have gone out of the lot. It was a breaking pitch and I just didn't get it."

Sugar Ray Is Set To Meet Quevedo

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Hector (Chacho) Quevedo announced Monday former middleweight world champion Ray (Sugar) Robinson will meet Armano Muniz in a 10-rounder in September.

The Chacho's promoter said, Muniz is scheduled to fight Ted Wright on Aug. 9. Wright, a training mate of Robinson, has a tally of 49 wins and two defeats.

Beaten Fighter Praises Hank

By ED TUNSTALL
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Strange as it may seem, middleweight Hank Casey had nothing but praise today for Henry Hank of Detroit, his conqueror in their rematch here.

Hank, number four-ranking contender for Gene Fullmer's title, evened the score as he earned a unanimous decision Monday night over his smooth-boxing opponent from Los Angeles. Hank said he wanted a title bout.

"I think Hank could beat any middleweight in the world today that includes Fullmer and Paul Pender," Casey said as he nursed a split left eyelid after the 10-rounder.

"But I sure would like to meet him again and I think I could beat him," Casey added.

Casey, ranked No. five, said he lost some steam after the 7th round when a butt opened a gash over his left eye. The blood flowed freely until the end of the match.

Hank was jubilant over the outcome. He said he thought Casey "is as good a middleweight as there is in the business."

"But right now I'm going after Fullmer or Pender," he said. "I'll take either one."

Pender is recognized as middle-

Youth Dominates Field In Trans-Miss

By HAROLD HARRISON
CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — If the youngsters don't run the show in the 30th annual Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament, it won't be because they're out-numbered.

Teen-agers and stars in their early 30s dominated the field today as match play started over Kenwood Country Club's Kenwood course with women's par of 37-74.

A glance through the match play field of 64 showed it filled with players who, in the last couple of years or so, have won various high school, junior, and intercollegiate titles.

It shaped up as a wide-open battle for the title won last year by veteran Ann Casey Johnston of Mason City, Iowa.

On the basis of Monday's qualifying round, the top contender had to be Carol Mann, 19, of Flossmoor, Ill., who is giving up college to play golf regularly.

Carol, a slender 6-foot-3 blonde, who plans to go to Florida for lessons and to play golf, didn't need any lessons Monday as she registered a four-under-par 70 for medalist honors. She plays the veteran Mrs. Bert Craig of Morrow, Ohio, today.

Carol's 70, the best score she ever has turned in, left her five strokes ahead of two more youngsters, Judy Eller of Old Hickory, Tenn., and Sherry Wheeler, Miss Eller, 20, was a member of the 1960 Curtis Cup team, and Miss Wheeler only two years ago was runner-up in the National Junior.

And so it went through the list of qualifiers.

IN TITLE CONTEST Veterans Defeat Braves, 17 To 5

The Veterans of Foreign Wars emerged as champions in the City Little League playoffs, defeating the Braves by a score of 17-5 here Monday night.

Both teams are members of the National Little League.

In smashing the Braves, the Vets scored in every inning but one—the third.

Lennie Clanton, on the mound for the Veterans, scattered seven hits while his mates were getting to three Brave hurriers for 15 assorted blows.

Greg Pace clubbed a home run, double and two singles for the winners. Pat McMahon smashed a round tripper and a brace of singles. Shorn, Terrance, teamed up with three singles while Bill Moser drove out two one-basers.

For the Braves, Paul Soidan lashed three singles while Wayne Bogan clubbed a home run and a double.

Clanton fanned four and issued seven free passes while on his way to victory.

Charles Douglas, Bogan and Lennie Prescott divided time on the pitching rubber for the Brave team.

West Side Winner Despite Big Play

Despite a triple play executed by the opposition, West Side Baptist topped First Baptist, 4-2, in YMCA Church softball league activity here Monday night.

The triple killing occurred in the fifth inning, at which time West Side Baptist had the bases loaded.

Morris Rhodes, at bat, lined to pitcher Thelbert Camp. Camp wheeled to throw to third baseman Bill Bradford in time to get James Hollis and Bradford, in turn, threw to Frank Hardesty Jr., at first time in time to arrest Pete Sanderson.

Rickie Wisener and Preston Hollis scored the seventh inning runs that enabled West Side Baptist to win and then knock First Baptist out of a tie for first place in the standings. East Fourth now stands alone at the top of the league.

Palmer Passes Up Tournament To Practice

COOPERSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Golfing great Arnold Palmer said today he's skipping the Western Open tournament in Detroit beginning Thursday because he needs rest and practice with the larger American ball for the PG tournament in Akron, Ohio, July 21.

"The Western is a good and big tournament, and I'd love to play in it," Palmer said. "But it almost would be ridiculous to try to play and do any good."

Palmer, U.S. Master and Open Golf champion who just missed a triple slam when he lost the British Open last week by a single stroke, arrived in New York Monday night after a flight from Paris.

Then he flew to this tiny eastern Pennsylvania community where his wife and two daughters were awaiting him. They stayed overnight with Mrs. Palmer's mother, who lives here. Palmer said he, his wife, and children are driving today to their home in Latrobe in western Pennsylvania.

"Western Open officials are hopeful they can get you in the tournament," Palmer was told.

"No," he answered. "I've got a house full of mail, and I've been a little tired. I've just got to get some rest if I expect to do any good and do justice to the PGA. I've got to get back to playing the larger ball."

A smaller ball was used in the British Open, as is customary.

Asked if he were angry because he was advised he would not be able to play in the French Open tournament in Paris beginning today because he had closed his entry too late, Palmer said:

"No, I don't think I was angry. I was a little disappointed. I wanted to play, since I was there."

Palmer said he had received a telegram last Saturday in England confirming his entry and hotel reservation.

"But when I got there yesterday morning," he explained, "the hotel reservation was canceled, and I was informed that I couldn't play in the French Open because the entry list had closed two days ago. Why I received confirmation I just don't know. But anyhow I didn't waste any time getting back here."

Palmer said that after the PGA his plans still are a little uncertain. He said he definitely will play in some of the tournaments the rest of the year, but he declined to name specific ones at this time.

For the rest of the week, Palmer said, he will remain around the Latrobe area. He will play in exhibitions in Beaver and New Castle, Pa., this weekend. He expects to be in Akron no later than next Tuesday.

McNeely Retires From Coaching

PAMPA (AP)—One of Texas' best known basketball coaches, Clifton McNeely of Pampa, stepped down from the schoolboy coaching ranks Monday.

McNeely resigned his position after 13 years with the Harvesters, in which time his charges captured four state championships and were runners-up once.

He has accepted an administrative position with Castleberry High School of Fort Worth. He will do no coaching.

Legionnaires Play Brownfield Club

Big Spring's American Legion Junior baseball team goes to Brownfield tonight, seeking to nail down a spot in the District 19 playoffs.

The local team lost a 2-1 heart-breaker to Lubbock's Red Cheks last Saturday night in their last start. Big Spring now has a 7-2 district record.

Tonight's game winds up regular play for the Big Spring team.

Water Usage, Resuming Climb

Water consumption climbed slightly Monday, compared with rates of the past week, and hit the seven million gallon mark. Since the rain last week, consumption has hovered around the three million gallon level.

The city filter plant pumped 6,085,000 gallons out of the Colorado River Municipal Water District reservoir and sent 7,109,000 gallons into residents' homes.

On the same date last year, 3,920,000 gallons were taken out of the reservoir, and 5,110,000 gallons delivered to residents.

DEAR ABBY PARENTS, GROW UP

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would do some innocent children a favor and say something about the following in your column: It is a neighborhood situation where the mothers are acting more childish than their children.

The children (six of them) had a spat. They have long since forgotten about it, but their mothers continue to hold a grudge and refuse to let the children play together.

They're between 7 and 9 and can't understand all this. What do you think? —ONE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: The mothers should grow up. Children who are encouraged to fight their own battles and settle their differences in their own ways are far better adjusted socially than those whose mothers have run interference for them during their childhood.

I hope the guilty mothers will read this and bury their hatchets along with their hostilities.

DEAR ABBY: I was taken in by a guy who gave me a line that was about as corny as, "My wife doesn't understand me." I have nobody to blame but myself. I wasn't young and innocent. I was 28 and should have known better.

I made the mistake of slapping a paternity suit on the heel and I lost. I am not the kind of person who gives away her baby. Even an animal wouldn't do that. Do you have a list of homes for unwed mothers? I want to go to one as far away from this town as I can get. When this is all over I want to start a new life somewhere. I can support myself and I'm not licked yet.

THROUGH THE MILL
DEAR THROUGH: I have the list. Send me your name and address.

DEAR ABBY: How many times should a boy let a girl turn him down for a date before giving up on her? I have asked this girl to go out with me 10 times and she has refused every time. She always gives me a real good excuse (at least it seems like it at the time) but I wonder if maybe she doesn't care to go out with me and is trying not to hurt my feelings? How is a guy supposed to know? I always give her plenty of notice, but she is either "busy" or "going out of town."

Her friends say she really likes me, but I am beginning to wonder. Please tell me if I should ask her again, as I am—
GETTING A COMPLEX

DEAR GETTING: Be yourself, a favor and forget her. TEN refusals is about seven more than the average man would tolerate.

CONFIDENTIAL TO STEVE: Do right and fear no man. Don't write and fear no woman. "Nuff said."

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of The Big Spring Herald and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers AOL letters.

Mexico Disowns Cuba Statements

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Two Mexican congressional leaders who sided with Cuba against the United States were not speaking for the Mexican government, Foreign Minister Manuel Tello says.

Instead Tello took a neutral stand Monday night toward the worsening dispute between Fidel Castro's regime and the U.S. He said President Adolfo Lopez Mateos hopes the two governments will resolve their differences and indicated the government thinks the dispute should be referred to the Organization of American States.

U.S. officials had been disturbed by the statements last week of two leaders of Lopez Mateos' ruling Party of Revolutionary Institutions. Emilio Sanchez Piedras, chairman of the permanent commission of Congress, said Mexico stands with the Cuban people. Senate leader Manuel Moreno Sanchez said Mexico stands with Cuba facing what he termed a social and human catastrophe.

Settlers Meet For Barbecue, Elect Officers

Martin County's annual Settlers Reunion terminates tonight with a barbecue and a general program. The barbecue will begin at 7 p.m. and the program will follow. Site for the gathering will be the Stanton City Park and tickets for the meal are $1.20.

All those who lived in Martin County 20 years ago are considered members of the Settlers Reunion. This is the 27th gathering of the group.

One of the highlights of the program will be the memorial service which recognizes a settler who came the farthest distance to the reunion: the oldest and the youngest settlers. George Shelbourne is in charge of the memorial service.

Also on the program will be the election of officers. Hoot Tom is the current president and Dan Saunders is the vice president. Mrs. Morgan Hall is the group's secretary.

Bernard-Houston is to be the master of ceremonies and approximately 600 Martin County settlers are expected for the program tonight.

A preliminary get-together was held Monday night in the Legion Hall and about 350 settlers were present to look at some of last year's pictures.

C-C Council Turns Down Revision Of Water Rates

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City's big tap rate, a subject of controversy since its passage in September, 1959, was a topic of discussion at Monday night's council meeting. The council voted five to two to retain the present ordinance pending a complete study of present water rates.

The rate involves the principal of a higher rate on water users who have larger taps. The standard opening is three-fourths inch and the patron is allowed to use 4,000 gallons of water for $2.50; on a larger tap, for example, a two-inch tap, the minimum charge is $10 and the water user may use up to 12,000 gallons of water.

The ordinance exempts commercial users from this "demand" rate on the theory that they use enough water to make it unnecessary.

This part of the ordinance was under fire Monday as attorneys Austin McCloud and R. H. Radtke told the city that they represented a group of the "large tap" owners who considered this provision of the ordinance discriminatory. But they told the council they agreed that the "demand rate" section of the ordinance was "as valid as any ordinance in Texas."

This represented a new front in the attack on the ordinance since complaints at a public hearing in October, 1959, were aimed at the rate structure.

H. I. Berman, retired merchant who had presented the council with a petition at the public hearing in October which asked for the repeal of the ordinance, is now a member of the city council. He made a motion to rescind the present water rate.

Dr. John Chinn apparently expressed the feeling of the council majority in stating that since the council is preparing to hire water engineers to study water needs, and is meeting next Monday to select an engineering firm to undertake the study, which would include a new rate structure, that the council should not switch from the present rate to another rate, and then make another rate change in the possible near future.

Chinn, Lawrence Ruddick, Ira Utz, Sam Majors Jr., and A. W. Hubbard voted against rescinding the present ordinance; Mayor Bob Robinson and Berman voted to rescind.

Board Refuses Zoning Change In Coronado Hills

Developers of the Coronado Hills subdivision on the old Country Club site, were refused again Monday in their bid to have the intersection at Wasson Road and Marcy Dr. zoned as a business district.

The developers have proposed a neighborhood service center for the area to serve Coronado Hills residents, but commission members agreed with Master Planner Marvin Springer that the retail center would probably be used more by surrounding residents in passing than by those living in the subdivision.

The commission previously held a public hearing on the request and other developers in the area, as well as residents living nearby, were on hand to urge that the petition be denied. There are several adjacent property owners who are also requesting that their property be zoned as a retail business district. These too, have been denied.

Commission members voted unanimously to deny the request, however Wendal Parks did not vote. Voting denial were Deputy Martin, George Elliott, Olen Puckett, Jim Bill Little and Brown Rogers.

ANOTHER REQUEST
The commission set Aug. 8 as the date for a public hearing on a request by the Desert Sands Restaurant, West U. S. 80, for commercial zoning to obtain a city permit to sell beer.

Wayne Basden, attorney representing the restaurant, presented the request. The restaurant property is presently zoned residential and, as such, cannot sell beer.

Guilty Pleas Settle Nine Court Cases

Nine pleas of guilty were accepted in felony cases before the 118th District Court Monday.

These, added to the four entered last week, bring to 13 the number of indictments disposed of without jury trial in the court.

Two cases remain on the current week's docket for jury disposition. It is probable one of these will terminate in a plea of guilty, it was said at the court house.

If this develops, a sanity hearing on Moses Pierra, under indictment for burglary, will be the only matter to be settled by a jury this week.

The Vierra case is set down for Wednesday.

Guilty pleas received Monday included James Carter, forgery, three years suspended sentence; Lloyd Ray Young, DWI, second offense, one year probated sentence and fine of $400 to be paid with 10 months; Emmett Tatum, forgery, three years suspended sentence; Nelda Bly Whitman, DWI, second offense, $250 fine and 10 days in the county jail; Eugene White, assault with intent to murder, three years suspended sentence; Robert Perez, theft over $50, three years suspended sentence; Jack Spivey, DWI second offense, six months in the county jail; Cleofas Rodriguez, DWI second offense, one year probated sentence and $250 fine to be paid in nine months; Harold Jean Pitts, murder by automobile, five years suspended sentence; Almus Hill, burglary, three year suspended sentence.

80 Yanks Cold War Casualties

NEW YORK (AP)—Eighty American airmen have died or been reported missing in cold war episodes during the past 10 years.

The heaviest toll occurred on Sept. 2, 1955, when a turboprop transport plane was shot down in Soviet territory after going off course on a flight in Turkey. Russian returned the bodies of six crewmen, disclaiming knowledge of others. The United States said there had been 17 in the crew.

Sixteen crewmen were lost July 29, 1953, when a B50 bomber was shot down by MIGs over the Sea of Japan.

Fatal Price Tag

Rio Grande On A Rise

LAREDO (AP)—The Rio Grande is on its biggest rise of the year after big rains in the Texas Big Bend Country and along the Rio Conchos in Mexico. The rise, although biggest of the year, is still small. The river reached a crest of 10,000 cubic feet per second here Sunday, dropped to 6,400 cubic feet per second Monday and is expected to hold steady at 6,000 cubic feet for several days. Saturday, the river was at its lowest flow of the year, 423 cubic feet per second. Meanwhile, inflow at Falcon Reservoir has been exceeding outflow for the first time since Mexico and the United States began heavy irrigation withdrawals in mid-May. Releases from the reservoir Monday totaled 2,500 cubic feet per second for Texas and 1,589 cubic feet per second for Mexico.

Missile Launched From Hard Site

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Mace-B guided missile has been launched for the first time from a hard site similar to that which will protect the missile when it is deployed at overseas bases. The Air Force successfully fired the 44-foot rocket from the concrete shelter Monday. Primary purpose was to study the effect of noise and vibration on the missile's inertial guidance system when the engine ignites in a closed area. Project officials called the test satisfactory. The Mace-B, with a range of more than 1,200 miles, is expected to be stationed in West Germany and Okinawa late in 1961. In Germany, it will replace the earlier Mace-A rocket.

Comedienne Can Change Her Character Once On The Stage

EDITOR'S NOTE — Television personalities are holding forth in AP TV-radio columnist Cynthia Lowry's corner during her vacation. Here the funny lady of the CBS "Garry Moore Show" talks about the secrets of her success. By CAROL BURNETT
 Written For The Associated Press

Whatever success I have had in show business has come from my modest talent as a comedienne. For this I am grateful because I can think of no more heart-warming sound than that of laughter coming from an appreciative audience. However, for the record, I must state that I am not now, nor have I ever been, a particularly funny gal. This is an apparent paradox, I realize, but there it is. Let me explain.

There are two types of comedians and comediennes. One type consists of those who are naturally funny 24 hours a day. They can toss off more jokes and make more genuinely funny remarks during the course of a quick lunch than the average gag writer can produce in a week of hard work. These are the comics who are always "on," who are the life of the party, and who can amuse any group at any time. There there is the second type, like me. When I attend parties, the life of them I'm not. When I meet people for the first time, do I leave them laughing? Oh no, not me. I leave them wondering: "Is that a comedienne?" And when I'm at a night club and the comedian's act is going well, do I feel so carried away with the hilarity of it all that I dash on stage to add my own inimitable humor to the happy occasion? That would be the day if my life depended on it. I couldn't stand up and trade jokes with a night club comic. And yet, professionally speaking, I have been known to make people laugh. Sometimes.

The only way I can explain it is to say that what I really am, and what I really want to be is an actress who specializes in comedy. Working within the confines of a humorous sketch, like those presented on "The Garry Moore Show" on the CBS television network, or within the confines of a musical comedy, like "Once Upon A Mattress," I feel free to let myself go. Facial expressions, vocal extremes, exaggerated mannerisms—all these become possible for me when I can indulge in them as a fictitious character. What I would never do as Carol Burnett, I do enthusiastically when someone tells me: "But you're not Carol Burnett. You're this real big deal glamour gal singer who can hit only two notes, see, both of them off-key, and . . ."

Jury Discharged In DWI Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A jury that tried actor Ramon Navarro on a charge of drunken driving failed to agree and was discharged Monday. The jury foreman said the vote was 9 to 3 for acquittal. Navarro, 61, was ordered to return to master calendar court to get a new trial date; but his attorney said he would move for dismissal of the charge. Navarro was arrested May 28 in Hollywood. He denied being drunk.
