'Dum De Dum Dum' --- Or The United Fund Drive Is Draggin' It

By JIM DEAN

Pampa News Managing Editor
The story you are about to read is true.
It happened here in Pampa, and, incredible that it is, it will probably happen again today and tomorrow. And this isn't even a big city—that is, not like on that TV show.
It was 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 26. We were wrapping up a few odds and ends at the paper, when I got a phone call from E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. Folks call him "Red." He's a card.

We were working together on publicity for the United Fund Campaign. I'm a newspaperman.
"Meet me at the drug store," Red said "got something we need to talk over."
At 2:40 p.m., I walked into the City Drug. Red was sitting at the counter. He had on a blue sports shirt open at the collar. Red wasn't as chipper as he usually is.
I could tell right off, something was wrong.

I decided not to waste words: "What's wrong, Red?" I asked.
Red motioned me over to a table where we sat down. The waitress asked if we wanted something to drink. Red didn't. I took water.
We looked at each other a minute, and then he told me:
The United Fund drive had hit a snag!
He gave me a letter with some information one of the drive workers had picked up on his rounds. It was signed Clifford C. Whitney, Jr. Whitney is on the executive board of the United Fund drive.

"I thought we were in good shape," Red said, "but it seems our workers are running into people who don't know enough about the United Fund and what the money is to be used for."
The suspect in this case was the city of Pampa and Gray County. They needed the facts.
Our job—tell 'em.
These are the facts, m'am.
The money you contribute to the United Fund is used over a 12-month period to finance the work of seven participating agencies: The Red Cross, The Salvation Army, The Boy Scouts, The Girl Scouts, The Heart Association, The USO and the Milk Fund.

Each of the agencies has a quota which it will receive from the $47,500 which is the goal for the drive this year. Some of them need more money than others.
The money is solicited by volunteer workers who are donating their time. They are not paid, and the money they collect goes into the United Fund account.

The expense of running the United Fund campaign is about two percent of the collections. That goes for office work, letters, postage, etc.
The organizations participating in the United Fund decided to get together for convenience sake. This way, there is only one big financial drive each year on a community-sponsored basis. It eliminates the necessity for many independent drives.
At 2:50 p.m., Red and I finished our talk.

"I can't believe folks don't know about the United Fund," I said.
"It's hard to believe," Red said "but maybe some of them just don't know how much is accomplished when they contribute generously."
"Oh, I don't know, Red," I said "I think they know, all right."
"What do you mean?" Red asked.
"Well, this is their town. They live here. It's nice and clean. It didn't just happen.
"You figure it out."

Ike Begins Working On Message To U.S.

GM Net May Be Billion

Corporation Has Record Profit

NEW YORK —UP— General Motors Corp., earning more during the first nine months of 1955 than any corporation in history has ever earned in a full year, seemed well on its way Thursday toward a $1 billion net profit year.
The giant firm's nine-month sales report, issued Wednesday, said its sales for 1955 already have amounted to $9,607,875,772 and its net income for the three-quarter period was $912,587,537. The previous year's net income record was $834,044,039, set in 1950.
The total sales figure for the first nine months of 1955 was nearly as great as the record sales figure of $9,823,529,000 for all of 1954. With the company entering full scale production, GM seemed certain to top the $10 billion sales mark this year.

Experts estimated sales for the full year of 1955 may exceed $12 billion and earnings may reach the staggering total of $1.2 billion. No corporation ever has earned $1 billion in a single year.
The report, signed by Harlow H. Curtice, president, and Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the board, also announced new records for a three-month period were earned in the third quarter of this year. Third quarter sales totaled $3,054,346,770, against $2,174,508,905 for the record third quarter of 1954.
Net income per share for GM's many thousands of stockholders amounted to $3.31 on each of the 278,683,500 shares outstanding after the recent three-for-one split. The earnings on the same share basis in 1954 were $2.19.

THIS INSPECTION TEAM HAS QUITE A LET-DOWN

PORTLAND, Ore. — UP — Thirteen members of a state education board inspection team found at least one thing wrong Wednesday when they toured the new University of Oregon medical school building.
They stepped into an elevator and the cage promptly dropped them 10 floors into the elevator pit.
Thanks to a buffer at the bottom of the shaft, they emerged unhurt but finished the inspection via the stairways.

French Crisis Jars Western Solidity

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
GENEVA — UP — A major French political crisis that called Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay back to Paris jarred western solidarity Thursday just before the start of the Big Four foreign ministers' "acid test" conference.
The western Big Three foreign ministers had just agreed at a last-minute strategy session to attempt to seize the initiative from the Soviets when Pinay announced he would fly back to Paris Friday to await the outcome of a vote of confidence that threatened to topple his government.
Pinay, chairman of the opening sessions Thursday afternoon, indicated he would be gone for only a day. But if the government of Premier Edgar Faure falls Friday he would return as a "lame duck" without powers to negotiate.
Pinay's return as more or less of an "observer" would not change the West's basic stand but in fact it would be the western "big two," Britain and the United States, that would be dealing with the Soviet in this sequel to last July's "summit" conference.
Already the threat of war in the Middle East and the Soviet bid for power in that strategic region was beginning to overshadow the main issues of European security and German reunification. The French political situation further chilled hopes for an early end to the cold war.
Pinay, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan held their meeting at Pinay's "pretty but terribly expensive" villa and decided to present their package peace plan to Russia at the earliest possible moment.
By dumping the whole plan on Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov at once, informed sources reported the West hoped to put him on the defensive at the beginning. It was a flexible plan and one Dulles said would include the "necessary conciliation" in seeking Soviet approval of a United

Most Important Task Taken Since Illness

By MERRIMAN SMITH

DENVER — UP — President Eisenhower turned his attention Thursday to one of the most important tasks to face him since he was hospitalized Sept. 24—the early draft of his January State of the Union message to Congress.

Two presidential assistants, chief speech writer Kevin McCann and Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Jerry, persons, had a mid-morning appointment with the chief executive at Fitzsimons Army hospital to confer on the message. The session was one more significant step in the President's gradual return to a more active role at the government's helm, despite his scheduled hospitalization for another two weeks.
The President's condition continued to improve Thursday. He slept more than eight hours Wednesday night, according to the 8 a.m. medical bulletin, and "awoke feeling refreshed and in a jovial mood." No complications have developed.
Mr. Eisenhower's White House spokesmen remained firm in their determination to keep a "moratorium" clamped on any political discussion during the President's recovery.
However, Press Secretary James (See IKE, Page 4)

New Effort Made To End Polygamy

By MURRAY MOLER

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah —UP— Utah authorities, determined to wipe out the practice of polygamy by members of a dissident sect, searched Thursday for two men who left their seven wives and 31 children and fled in an attempt to escape prosecution.
Already jailed in the new campaign was Louis A. Kelsch, 49, a stone mason who has five wives and 31 children in the three apartments and two adjoining cabins of his Salt Lake county farm.
Names of the other two men were not announced publicly by County Attorney Frank Moss, directing the anti-polygamy campaign in Salt Lake county.
Moss said the men—both of whom had been arrested in the last major drive here 11 years ago—apparently had learned of the complaints and had run away.
At the same time it was revealed that the 1955 session of the Utah legislature had quietly appropriated $20,000 to Attorney General E. R. Callister Jr. to be used for "law enforcement."

Although nothing was said about polygamy in the legislation, it was understood that the fund would be used "to wipe out plural marriage," a practice that was outlawed before Utah became a state.
Members of the Fundamentalist sect to which all known advocates of polygamy belong claim their strength in Utah to be as great as 20,000 men, women and children.
However, state officials believe there are no more than 5,000 adults and their offspring on the rolls of the Fundamentalists.

Benson Says Farm Ills Exaggerated

By GAYLORD F. GODWIN

WASHINGTON —UP— Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said Thursday politicians are exaggerating the plight of the nation's farmers.

United Fund Collections $5,339.50

A total of $5,339.50 has been collected so far in the Pampa United Fund campaign.

A total of $259 came in this morning to add to yesterday's total of $5,080.50 collected yesterday to make the above total, according to Mrs. Emmett Lee, United Fund secretary.

United Fund workers held two meetings this morning, preceding the second check-in coffee scheduled for 10 a.m. tomorrow. The check-in coffee will determine a near total for the industrial drive, which ends Saturday. The general drive begins Monday.

Travis Lively, Jr., chairman of the business and professional division, met with his group in the City Club room to designate what part of town workers will canvass. Paul Beisenhars also gave a training program on worker's procedure in contacting the public.

Norman Henry, chairman of the individual canvass in the industrial drive, met with his group in the United Fund office. Henry's committee includes Ray Duncan, Dudley Steele, Bob Johnson, Kirk Duncan and J. C. Hopkins.
Johnny Campbell is the overall chairman of the business and professional drive.

Benson, central figure in the controversy about farm policies, declining farm income, prices of farm produce, and the new pork purchase program, asserted that politicians are deliberately kicking up a storm without cause.

"The farm program now in operation is the result of a year's study and was adopted on a bipartisan basis," Benson said in an interview with United Press. "A farm program should not serve partisan political purposes."

"Yet a determined effort is underway to paint the picture darker than it really is. Some politicians are not helping farmers much by their comments."

He answered with a grin only when asked if he thought those persons who advocate a return to 90 per cent of parity price supports should shut up. Advocates of 90 per cent of parity say it would jack up farm income.

Benson did not refer by name to those who have advocated recently a return to price supports of 90 per cent of parity—some on a temporary basis. Among those who have endorsed the high parity figure recently are Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, in 1952; Gov. Averell Harriman, New York; and Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Criticism of the administration's farm program has been severe. Benson has been pressured by right ranking politicians of both parties, farmers and farm groups in the Midwest, and others to do something about the economic situation of farmers. Indications are the clamor is mounting and is getting White House attention.
An indication of the severity of (See BENSON, Page 4)

Santa Day Parade Slated For Dec. 2

Plans for Pampa's annual Santa Day parade have been pretty well completed, according to Joe Tool-ey, chairman of the chamber of commerce's merchant's activities committee.

The parade is set for Friday, Dec. 2 at 3:30 p.m.
Schools will be dismissed for the parade at 2:30 p.m. in order for the bands and students to participate. Invitations have been sent out urging all local organizations to enter floats in the parade which will form on W. Foster at 3 p.m. and move down Foster to Frost, south to Browning, east to Cuyler, north to Brown and then east to Poole's Steak House where it will break up.

Bands from all over the Top of Texas area have been invited to enter the parade. Jack Edmondson, principal of Pampa High School, is band procurement chairman. Other special features will also be provided.
Only one organizational division will be in the parade, this year, regardless of the nature of the entry, and cash awards will be given instead of plaques for the first three places. First place will be $50; second, $25; and third, $15.

Another division, commercial, will provide plaques for the first three places.
The kids' costume division, in which all kids in the Top of Texas area are invited to participate, portraying any comic, comedy or famous character, will be given $10, $7.50 and $5 awards for the first three places. The fourth section, the kid's pet division, will be a display of any pets kids in the area may want to enter with $10, $7.50 and $5 prizes given.
Only two restrictions have been named for the parade. They are: (1) that all entries must be on the Christmas theme; and (2) that there be no Santa Claus in the entries. The Pampa Chamber of Commerce has already contacted Santa Claus and he has agreed to represent them in the parade and the committee has stipulated that no takes or frauds will be allowed to enter the parade as St. Nick.

Highway Men Wants Action On 'Arteries'

AUSTIN — UP — The State Highway Commission Tuesday called for action on what it termed the "keynote of the arch" in Ellis county on two Texas' main highway arteries, U.S. 75 and 77.

The commission asked Ellis county to acquire "at once" a 30-foot width of expressway-type right-of-way on both U.S. 77 and 75. The commission also provided for "complete development" of a business route at Waxahachie which will be an integral part of the county's expressway system.

Ellis county, by a special law passed by the legislature earlier this year, was granted the right to issue certificates of indebtedness for purchase of this right-of-way.

The commission said its action, "it followed by the action of Ellis county that is anticipated," will provide a continuous four-lane divided facility throughout Dallas, Ellis and Navarro counties from the north on the two highways.

The agency said four-lane divided highway development is completed on a large part of the U.S. 81-U.S. 77 route between Dallas and San Antonio, and construction is continuing. On U.S. 75, the commission added, work is either completed, underway, or in sight in Dallas and Navarro counties and in Harris and Montgomery counties.

Baptists Set High Budget For Next Year

HOUSTON — UP — A $9 million budget, largest in history and $500,000 more than that adopted for the year just ending, was adopted by the Baptist General Convention of Texas Wednesday night for the year beginning Nov. 1.

The new budget includes two major divisions—one of $7 million to be used for undesignated cooperative programs of Southern Baptist churches in Texas and the other of $2 million which will be received in special offerings during the year and used for specified purposes.

"The 70th annual convention Thursday will hear a report from the convention's resolutions committee and witness the presentation of the convention's 1955 press award and presentation of a state rural achievement recognition award for outstanding work."

In presenting the convention's annual budget, Dr. E. H. Westmoreland, pastor of the South Baptist Church in Houston, said the first $4,500,000 of the undesignated funds for the cooperative program will be distributed at a rate of 35 per cent for world mission causes and 65 per cent for state mission causes.

The next $500,000 of the undesignated funds will be distributed at the rate of 45 per cent for world-wide causes, 45 per cent for Texas Baptist institutions and 10 per cent for state missions, after the $25,000 earmarked for the Gloria Baptist Assembly in New Mexico is paid.

A preliminary report showed that Texas Baptists have baptized more than 70,000 persons during the past 12 months. Last year's figure was $6,434.

Dr. Forrest C. Fezzer, executive secretary of the convention, said Southern Baptists have established an average of two new churches each Sunday during the past year. The total number of congregations now co-operating with the convention in Texas is 3,625, he said.

Cold Snap Lingers In Southland

By UNITED PRESS

A frosty cold snap lingered in the southland Thursday and floods plagued the Pacific Northwest.

In marked contrast, a forest fire raged out of control in Montana woodlands and wide areas of the nation enjoyed Indian summer.

The southern chill relaxed a little after spreading a general frost from Mississippi to the Carolinas. But local areas were still in danger of more frost, with Tuscaloosa, Ala., thermometers registering 37 degrees and New Orleans 41.

The New Orleans cold combined Wednesday with a stifling, dusty smog which touched off the worst attacks of asthma in years and caused monumental traffic jams. Two asthma patients died and two persons were killed in car accidents blamed on the smog.

In the state of Washington, meanwhile, a 150-foot rip in the bank of a fresh water slough sent flood waters pouring over 1,000 acres of low-lying land near Mount Vernon.

The flood halted harvesting of broccoli crops and the weather bureau predicted rain for the next two days.

Rain was a sorely-needed commodity in Montana, where a forest fire blazed out of control across about 2,000 acres in the Lewis and Clark national forest.

Indian summer still reigned in most of the country, except for areas where a new cold front dropped temperatures more than 20 degrees from North Dakota to central California. Heat records for so late in the season were set Wednesday at Rochester, Minn., with 81 degrees and Alexandria, Minn., with 78.

Probe Of Bus Strike In Recess

By THOMAS MACCABE

EDINBURG, Tex. — UP — The Hidalgo county grand jury has recessed until Saturday its investigation of the six-day old Lower Rio Grande Valley bus strike.

The grand jury conducted a day-long investigation Wednesday but adjourned shortly after 5 p.m. until 9 a.m. Saturday without making a public report.

It heard witnesses representing both the strike-bound Valley Transit Co. and the bus drivers' union.

District Attorney Jim Bates disclosed he submitted several sworn statements to the grand jury concerning a traffic accident involving a bus and an automobile occupied by two striking drivers.

The accident took place Tuesday at a McAllen intersection. Police said the strikers' automobile attempted a left turn from the right-hand lane and hit a bus. No one was hurt.

Company General Manager R. E. Folles charged that other cars driven by strikers have "been cutting in and out around the buses, trying to delay our schedules."

The strike was called last Friday by the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motorcoach Employees of America, an AFL union. It has affected the entire Lower Valley.

Union business representative Charles W. Hunter of Fort Worth was before the grand jury more than two hours Wednesday afternoon.

When Hunter came out of the grand jury room he said that "normally, an accident like that (the bus-car collision) would have been settled in corporation court. This has been blown up out of proportion because of the strike."

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, former Army chief of staff, warning of "weapons of almost incalculable destruction": "We stand on the threshold of an almost unimaginable age."

Air Secretary Donald A. Quarles on an investigation which showed no evidence of the existence of flying saucers: "We are now entering a period of aviation technology in which aircraft of unusual configuration and flight characteristics will begin to appear."

Thousands of Viet Namese residents streamed into Saigon from the outlying rice country for the ceremony that marked the main milestone in Diem's determined fight to win independence for this one-time French colony.

The crowds, moving in trucks and on foot, massed in the center of the city to hear Diem read his proclamation from the balcony of independence palace, the one-time residence of the French governors.

"I solemnly proclaim the state of Viet Nam is now a republic following the will of the Viet Nam expressed in the vote of Oct. 23," Diem said.

In that referendum the residents of this Indo-China state voted overwhelmingly to end the long reign of absentee Emperor Bao Dai, the playboy head of state who spent his time on the French Riviera.

The office of Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) reported the Navy decision to give the contract to the Camden firm.

Case's office said the contract was awarded on competitive negotiation with the Camden shipyard making a "substantially lower" offer than the only other bidder, the Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding & Drydock Co.

The Navy later confirmed the award and said the bid received from the New York Shipbuilding Corp. was "the lowest by a substantial margin."

The Navy said the contract price includes the cost of preparing working plans and construction of the hull. Outfitting the big ship after the hull is built will run the cost up towards the $200 million mark.

Hostess Training Starts Young

DAUGHTER'S HALLOWEEN PARTY offers opportunity for her to practice the graceful ways of a hostess. The trick is to manage the arrangements simple—well within her young capacity to manage on her own—and, at the same time, have fun at her own party.

For refreshments, she probably would like a big plate of doughnuts with apple juice, chilled, tangy and sweet.

Poured into a large punch bowl, the apple juice wafts its own apple perfume. And the punch bowl helps create the special party air.

Other Serving Suggestions:
1. To be sure the juice is cold, pile ice cubes in punch bowl and pour chilled apple juice over.

2. Float slices of lemon, lime or orange on top. And toss in a few red maraschino cherries.

3. A half-and-half combination of apple juice and gingerale is a delicious one. Or, for a more elaborate punch, blend one 6-oz. can of frozen orange juice and 3 cups of charged water to each quart of apple juice.

Halloween Party Treat Is Toastees

Halloween hobgoblins and witches can get pretty famished after a delicious schedule of "trick-or-treating" to say nothing of the ravenous appetites they usually display at the traditional costume party.

Behind the false faces, your young guests will be all smiles when you serve this cream cheese toastee. In fact, they'll beg for more (this goes for the grown-ups, too, so make plenty to go around).

Toastees are quick and easy to prepare, using a Silco-Handy Hot Biddle, and shaped like pumpkin faces they add a festive note quite in keeping with their delicious taste.

CREAM CHEESE TOASTEES
1 whole egg (or 2 yolks)
1 small wedge onion (or 1 tsp. onion)
1 8-oz. cream cheese
1 raw mushrooms (or pitted ripe olives)
Put egg in Blendette. Spin 1 min. Add onion. Cover and add cream cheese (½ in. slices). Spin until smooth. Add mushrooms or olives (Cap.) and spin a few seconds more. Yield: 1½ cups of spread. Cut slices of bread into circles, or use English Muffin halves. Butter and broiler toast 1 side. Lightly butter untoasted side and spread on cheese mix. Broil until mixture bubbles up. Garnish with olive slices for Jack-O-Lantern eyes, nose and mouth.

Quick Apple Pie Is In Season Favorite

If you believe statistics you know that apple pie is the most popular pie in the country. And you'll probably be having plenty of calls for it at your house.

You'll want several apple recipes at hand so you can serve this popular fruit in a variety of interesting ways. One of them will certainly be this quick apple pie from Crisco Kitchens. It takes only minutes to make and you need not roll a pie crust. Simply fill an 8 inch pie plate with apple sauce, then sprinkle over the top the crust mixture to which you've added cinnamon, brown sugar and other flavorful ingredients. It's a real quickie.

SPEEDY APPLE PIE
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup Crisco
1 cup brown sugar, packed
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup applesauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Cream or regular cream
Bartlett heating oven at 375 Degrees F. Rub 4 inch pie plate with Crisco. Cut Crisco and salt into sifted flour with pastry blender or two knives until the pieces are the size of small peas. Then add brown sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg, and mix well. Fill pie plate with apple sauce, add lemon juice, and spread the Crisco crumbly mixture over it. Bake for 25 minutes or until the top is golden brown. Serve it with ice cream or regular cream. This will make about 4 servings for average eaters.

Leftover Vegetables Make Tasty Salads

Leftover canned vegetables — carrots, peas, green beans, corn, lima beans — make wonderful salads and sandwich fillings. Toss together with your favorite salad dressing and add shredded cabbage or lettuce, and a few chunks of ripe tomato. Serve as a tossed salad or make into sandwiches.

Tomatoes may be substituted for lettuce in Potato Salad. Cook and combine with the other ingredients. Makes four to six servings.

Sausage Surprise Is Post-Game Dish

After the football game why not have friends stop by your home for a bite to eat? Here's a snappy serving that will satisfy hearty appetites — Sausage-Muffin Surprise.

Plump sausage links are used for this open-face sandwich. Allow 3 or 4 per serving. Place the sausage links in a frying-pan. Add 2 or 3 tablespoons of water. Cover and let them steam for 8 minutes. Then remove the cover and lightly brown the sausage links.

Next, cut large English muffins in half and butter lightly. Then place the muffins on a cookie sheet or broiler pan. On each muffin place a half slice of American cheese and top with 3 or 4 of the cooked sausage links. Spread with a tablespoon of catchup and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese.

Then slip them in your broiler — about 3 inches from heat — and broil for 5 minutes or until the cheese is bubbly. Allow 2 sandwiches per person. Serve with a big bowl of potato chips or French fried onion rings. Add a tray of relishes or a tossed salad. For dessert you might like a basket of big red apples and doughnuts.

Are you sure you are using honey as often as you can in the kitchen? Carrots are one of the most economical and incidentally, one of the most healthful — vegetables on the market. Dress them up the next time you serve them by coating them with a honey glaze. Just pour a little honey over them after they are cooked, and watch them sparkle!

King Paul Of Greece May Have Stymied Political Crisis

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

King Paul of Greece seems to have headed off a possible serious political crisis by appointing Constantine Karamanlis as premier. Paul has been accused more than once of overstepping his power and interfering in Greek politics. It happened once back in 1951 when the late Field Marshal Alexander Papagos quit as commander-in-chief of the armed forces. Papagos accused the king of weakening the army by giving his court favorites high posts. Papagos entered politics and as head of a new "Greek Rally" party won a landslide victory in the 1952 election. He became premier.

Does It Again
The king overstepped his powers again after Papagos died on Oct. 4.

He passed over the two leading candidates for the prime ministry and gave Karamanlis the job.

As a constitutional monarch, the king should have chosen a man who was recommended to him by the Greek Rally.

The party's choice probably would have been Foreign Minister Stephanos Stephanopoulos or Defense Minister Panagiotis Kanellopoulos, both vice premiers under Papagos. Both were open rivals for the post. Karamanlis, though he had made an excellent record as minister of communications and public works, was just one of several party leaders.

Dispatches from Athens seem to agree, however, that in naming him premier the king may at least have postponed a crisis which would have thrown Greece back into the state of turmoil which existed before Papagos took office.

Karamanlis has started out well. The day after the king appointed him, there were serious anti-Greek riots in Turkey over Greece's claim to the island of Cyprus. This incident might have had serious results.

But Karamanlis kept his head. The incident was ended Monday when a Turkish cabinet minister ceremonially raised the Greek flag to the staff of a new Greek consulate at Izmir, which a mob had wrecked. The Turkish army paid military honors.

Karamanlis has the reputation of being pro-Western. He has said that despite the bitterness in Greece over the Cyprus issue, the country will remain loyal to its alliances with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations.

Trouble still may come in Greece. National elections, which were to have been held next November, have been advanced to next April. It probably will be a bitter campaign. But opposition parties appear to be weakening in their demand, made after Papagos' death, for an immediate election at a time of confusion.

Karamanlis is 48, a lawyer, a dark and handsome six-footer. He made himself popular by carrying out an ambitious highway-building program as minister of public works.

He may be only a caretaker premier, but he seems to be a good choice.

Fire Hits Valley Fruit Warehouse

MISSION, Tex. —UP— Fire swept a large fruit packing shed and warehouse about three miles east of Mission Tuesday, and firemen said damage would probably run to more than $100,000.

The fire broke out in a storeroom at the Texas Citrus and Fruit Growers Exchange at the small community of Sharyland. The building was one of the first citrus sheds built in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and was about 20 years old.

The blaze raged out of control more than two hours and burned the shed almost to the ground. Although the building had not been used for packing since the Valley freeze in 1951, firemen said it contained a large quantity of machinery and packing cases.

A shortage of water at the scene hampered firemen. Flying sparks ignited several railroad freight cars standing on a nearby siding, but damage to the cars was not heavy.

Two Asthma Patients Die In Smog

NEW ORLEANS —UP— Two asthmatic patients died and more than 200 others were treated at hospitals between midnight and dawn Wednesday as atmospheric conditions, including smog, touched off one of the worst conditions for asthma sufferers in many years.

A Charity hospital doctor described the condition of the patients as "unusually severe" and said the rush in the emergency room was "the worst in memory."

Dr. George Ramsey of the Charity hospital emergency staff, said the attacks suffered by the asthma victims were severe and added: "It's a miracle we didn't lose more."

The dead were identified as Jules Glapion, 65, Negro, and Joe Adams, about 60.

The Orleans parish coroner's office said that it was "purely coincidental" that the two who died during the attacks had been asthmatic. However, a spokesman admitted that one died of a heart attack, which could have been brought on by the breathing difficulty. An autopsy was to be performed on the other. Charity doctors, however, emphasized that their deaths were brought on by the asthma.

The weather bureau reported a lot of fog and smog during the cool night. A spokesman said the condition was unique because there seemed to be a considerable amount of dust late Tuesday afternoon and through the night.

Jury Awards Damages In Fatal Mishap

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. —UP— A jury of six women and six men Wednesday granted $30,000 damages to the estates of three Texas Western College students killed in a traffic accident in 1953.

The jury received the case Tuesday night and finally quit for the night after several hours of deliberations. It took it only a few minutes after resuming consideration Wednesday morning to return its verdict.

The suit was brought against the Ferguson-Steele Motor Co. of Artesia, N. M., owner of a truck that was involved in the accident. Four Texas Western students were killed. The estate of one settled out of court.

The suit originally called for $150,000 damages for the deaths of three of the victims but this was scaled down to $10,000 apiece as the result of a state law limiting the amount of damages which can be asked in such a suit.

Three victims whose survivors and estates brought suit were Clyde Dale Brittan, Stewart James Cunningham and John Stanton Meyer.

The plaintiffs were Henry W. Ryan of El Paso, administrator for Brittan's estate, James Levi Cunningham, father of one of the victims, from Oregon, and Grace H. Tauch, mother of Meyer, from San Antonio, Tex.

Survivors of the fourth victim, Robert Houke, settled out of court. The mishap occurred Nov. 22, 1953, on U.S. Highway 70 near Ruidoso in what is commonly known as Dark Canyon.

Driver of the Ferguson-Steele truck involved was G. Clifford Hodges of Amarillo, Tex.

Paris Skin Doctor Tells Of The Latest Wrinkle-Stoppers

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK —UP— Ready for the latest wrinkle on how to postpone having them?

A 67-year-old woman skin doctor from Paris recently arrived here with some common-sense advice on preserving youth and postponing wrinkles.

The reply Dr. Nadine G. Payot made to the question, "What is the single most important thing a woman can do to keep her skin looking young?" was unexpected. Whether women agree with it or not, however, it is one of the least costly beauty aids to be suggested in some time.

"Chew your food slowly," said Dr. Payot. The advice was obviously sincere, since the gray-haired woman doctor also heads a cosmetic company in Paris and could have given an easy boost to one of her own beauty products.

Skin Is a Reflection

"They say," she said, speaking slowly, since her English has become rusty in the 35 years since she last visited here, "that the face is the mirror of the soul. But the skin is only a reflection of all our organism."

The first place a doctor can spot stomach trouble, the doctor said, is in the face. Slow chewing aids digestion.

"Also when you chew slowly you use important muscles in your face," she continued. "If you chew very fast, it does not happen."

She illustrated the difference between leisurely chewing and rapid chomping. The former, she said, helps keep muscles firm.

Dr. Payot brought with her a large supply of her own products, since she and her son recently began selling them at a Fifth Avenue store and in several other American cities.

"You shouldn't think I brought something miraculous," she vivaciously doctor said. "I brought only my good, medically sound products and my need for collaborators."

She consistently refers to women as collaborators. They must do their daily part, she emphasizes, or the best beauty aids won't help. "You must get proper rest," she said. "Learn to empty your mind from troubles when you go to bed. You pray, maybe, or if somebody does not pray you think of beautiful things. But you must rest."

But Someday Wrinkles

"And if every day you cleanse the face, massaging well around and around their hands" moved in small circles over her face to show what she meant, you can help the nature. But you cannot overpass the nature. There will come someday wrinkles."

Dr. Payot, who got her medical diploma in 1912 from a Swiss university, has fine wrinkles around her eyes and in her neck, though her cheeks are smooth and she generally gives the impression of youthful vitality.

"I tell women to remember that destruction goes much quicker than construction," she said, referring to women who come to her

Assaulted Woman Expects Child

DENVER —UP— A young Denver matron who was raped Sept. 16 in her apartment is pregnant as the result of the attack, Denver police said Wednesday.

The woman, who was living alone while her husband was hospitalized, is one of three whom John Donald Peters, 18, a Lowry Air Force Base stockade guard, has confessed raping.

Peters is serving a 90-day jail sentence and a $300 fine imposed Saturday by Municipal Judge Edward O. Geer for attempted assault of another woman in her apartment Thursday night. He was apprehended at that time by two men who heard the woman's screams.

The woman's physicians last week reported to the district attorney that the woman had become pregnant from the assault and asked if an abortion could be performed legally on the woman. Assistant District Attorney Max Melville said state statutes do not authorize such operations on the basis of pregnancy from criminal assaults. He said such an operation was legal only if performed to save the patient's life or prevent permanent bodily injury.

Paris salon. "One night missed cleansing your face takes three nights to make up. And when you are young you should begin the care. It is so much easier to keep what you have than to try and bring it back."

BUD-TO-BLOSSOM IN MINUTES—All taken during a period of less than 15 minutes, the photographs above depict the amazing performance of the moonflower, which blossoms into full bloom before the watcher's eyes. The series was taken recently at the home of W. F. Post, near Sharpsville, Pa. He pointed out that the process would have required even less time had the evening been warmer. When completely opened the flower measures about five inches in diameter. Once it has bloomed, it lasts only through the night, but its life is taken by others the next evening. Post's two plants contain thousands of buds which should continue blooming until the first frost.

Crackdown On Free Air Travel Asked

WASHINGTON—UP—Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), demanding a congressional crackdown on free travel in government planes by federal officials, said Wednesday air-planes are available for personal use of "30 to 40 assistant secretaries" of the Defense Department any time they want to use them. Russell said these planes often carry only a few officials per trip and that it costs as much to haul them as congressmen.

The assistant secretaries generally are heads of sections within the Defense Department. According to Russell, planes will take them to Europe or wherever they wish to go.

He did not say whether the assistant secretaries had abused their privileges but only made known that free transportation was available.

Russell's call for a curtailment of free travel by government officials at the taxpayers' expense was directed to other departments in the executive branch as well as the Defense Department.

Russell told newsmen executive agencies use government aircraft far more than congress does.

His comment was an outgrowth of a Defense Department charge, later retracted as an error, that two senators had demanded plush air transportation to return them from European inspection tours.

White Deer FTA Delegates Picked

WHITE DEER — (Special) — John Parsons and Kay Mills have been selected to represent the Emmitt D. Smith chapter of the Future Teachers of America at the annual District F.T.A. convention to be held at West Texas State College, Canyon, in the near future.

Other members of the White Deer-Skellytown Chapter will attend the Canyon meeting.

In addition to having been selected Mr. F.T.A. of the local group, Parsons has been chosen as a nominee in the district officer election, and will run for the office of President. Miss Regenia Baker of the local school will run for District Secretary-Treasurer.

Young Parsons and Miss Mills are to prepare and deliver educational speeches in competition with representatives of other area chapters in a speaking contest. The winners of the contest will be district delegates to the state convention to be held at North Texas State College, Denton, next spring.

Pianos Are 'Out' In Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. —UP—Pianos in bars attract "dope addicts" and sex perverts, Wichita County Sheriff Weldon Bailey said Wednesday, and there isn't going to be any more piano playing in taverns around here.

There is no law in Texas against having pianos in taverns, Bailey conceded. Neither, he said, is there a law against his deputies inspecting all taverns which feature live music.

A tavern owner who has a piano said 21 officers inspected his place late Saturday. One customer was removed, he said, and those remaining were "kept uneasy by officers demanding to see identification cards and shining flashlights around."

"Most of those places," the sheriff replied, "are so dark you have to use a flashlight to see the identification cards."

Another tavern operator, where the piano stayed around about a week, said he complained to the sheriff's department that he had no place to take the instrument. "One of them told me," the tavern man said, "that if I wanted to keep it they would send over a deputy with two big pistols to watch it for me. I took it out."

Sheriff Bailey warned all Wichita County tavern operators that have pianos that their places will come under strict surveillance.

The sheriff said his views on the subject of pianos were well known and should surprise no one.

"We have always discouraged the use of live music in Wichita Falls taverns," he said.

"In the past, when some of these places did have live music, we had to take 'dope addicts' right off the piano stools. It seems that pianos in these places attract those particular types of people, along with sex perverts."

An informer recently told a deputy, he said, that he bought marijuana in a tavern where live music was used.

Bailey said his renewed anti-piano campaign had already enjoyed moderate success. Two bars junked their pianos last week.

Wichita Falls Police Chief C. C. Daniel had no comment about the piano situation.

Truman's Ex-Partner Dies At 64

KANSAS CITY —UP—Eddie Jacobson, a former business partner of Harry S. Truman, died here Tuesday following a coronary attack.

It was the second attack he suffered in four weeks following a minor heart attack two years ago.

Mr. Truman immediately expressed great shock at the news of Jacobson's death and concern for his family.

"He was one of the best friends I had in this world," said Mr. Truman. "I don't know how I am going to get along without him."

"I want to see the family as soon as I properly can. This certainly is a blow to me and to his thousands of friends everywhere."

Jacobson, 64, operated a men's clothing store in mid-town Kansas City. He started in the haberdashery business with Mr. Truman shortly after World War I when the two returned from France after serving together in the 129th Field Artillery.

The business operated profitably for a year or two, then failed. It was this failure that pushed Mr. Truman into Jackson County Democratic politics and toward his climb to the White House.

Jacobson, in the meantime, found work as a salesman and eventually re-entered the haberdashery business.

Jacobson was prominent in Jewish circles in Kansas City and served as an unofficial good-will ambassador to Israel shortly after the country was founded in 1948.

Result Of Saar Vote Won't Aid Reunification Plans

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

The Allied bid for the reunification of Germany is not likely to be helped by the result of the Saar referendum.

Germany's future is the key issue to be discussed at the Big Four foreign ministers meeting which opened Thursday in Geneva.

There is no indication, of course, that Russia is going to change its policy. That policy is to keep Germany divided.

Aside from that, France may be somewhat lukewarm in its support of the United States-British argument for unification.

France hardly can be blamed if it thinks it detects, in the Saar vote and related developments, a sort of "here we go again" warning against the revival of a powerful, armed Germany.

Rejected by Saar 2 to 1
Saarlanders, their nationalist spirit whipped up by a former Nazis, rejected the proposal that they accept "European" status by a vote of 67.71 per cent to 32.29 per cent.

The former Nazi is Heinrich
Schneider. He has made himself a hero to nationalists throughout Germany.

France must have noted that when Baron Franz Von Papen, master of intrigue, returned to the Saar to vote against the proposed European statute, he was serenaded.

Papen is the slippery diplomatist who knifed the pre-war German
Weimar republic to help Adolf
Hitler get into power.

There is also the fact that Sepp
Dietrich, the former commander of Hitler's elite bodyguard—the "Leibstandarte Adolf Hitler"—was released from a United States-governed prison last Saturday.

Dietrich was one of Hitler's pioneer strong armed men. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1946 for the slaughter of American prisoners in the Battle of the Bulge, among other crimes.

In France, they are still sentencing German war criminals.

France endured occupation by German nationalists in World War
I and by the German Nazis in World War II. It can not be expected to draw nice distinctions between nationalists and Nazis.

Adenauer Recovery Slow
Finally, there is the fact that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is not making too good a recovery from his recent attack of pneumonia. He will be 80 years old next Jan. 5.
With Germany rearming, France and the Western world generally would have grave reason to be sorry if Adenauer died or was incapacitated.

Papen's brief emergence from obscurity was interesting. He was entitled to vote in the Saar referendum as a former resident. Hitler sent him there in 1934 as a hatchet man, to help build up the 1935 plebiscite vote which resulted in the Saar's return to Germany after it had been under League of Nations administration.

It could be that Papen would like to get back into politics, even though he is 77. He has sounded off a couple of times about his views. He would like to see Germany a rearmament country, "neutral" as between East and West.
If that happened, he or men like him would be able to betray either side.

Fish Eaters Apt To Sire Daughters

TOKYO — UP — Marry a fish-eating man, a Japanese professor told women who want daughters instead of sons.

"The more virile and younger the husband," says Prof. Hajime Uda of Meiji University, "the greater the chances for birth of a female."

He adds that a survey he took in 10 towns and villages in the fishing villages, where men are well nourished from protein contained in fish, shows the birth tendency is for girls.

"A tired-out, perennially undernourished husband," says the professor, "tends to begat male heirs much more frequently."

failed to prove her case.

Shocked by Nazi's Release
WASHINGTON — UP — Timothy
J. Murphy, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars said Monday he was "shocked beyond words" by the release of former Nazi Gen. Sepp Dietrich from prison. He said "it is a tragedy that in the short span of 10 years
United States authorities have forgotten the violent deeds of one of Hitler's most vicious killers."

Relations committee, in a dispatch

"If a basis for agreement can be reached... I am confident that we shall be on the threshold of an era of genuine peace, an era which will draw mankind closer together in common humanity rather than condemn us all to the fraternity of the damned."

CIO President Walter F. Reuther, when asked if rank and file union members would approve the uni-

"The invasion of basic American still serious and American opinion should be aware of this state of affairs and should do something

Navy Curbs Its Cooks

WASHINGTON — UP — The Navy, in an economy move to hold down cooks who prepare too much food, has started to limit Navy ration money to the number of meals actually served.

The new order, which went into effect the first of the month, will not reduce the amount of rations for the individual sailor. But it should eliminate culinary frits in some messes and garbage in others.

Previously, Navy messes were given money for food on the basis of the number of people in the command entitled to rations, whether the sailors ate at the mess or not. From now on they will receive money for food only on the basis of actual meals served.

Under the old system, messes were able to accumulate extra food money or else prepared too much food when men went ashore for liberty and did not eat on the base or ship. Many messes used the accumulated money to add certain bills to their menu—such as one entrée for a meal.

Code Expert To Examine Bard's Work

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON — UP — A world-famous code expert has completed a scientific study expected to throw light on whether Shakespeare's works were written by Shakespeare or 36 other fellows.

With his wife, William F. Friedman has written a book now in the hands of a publisher. Its tentative title: "The Cryptologist Looks at Shakespeare."

Friedman retired Oct. 12 from the National Security Agency after a career, dating back to World War I, which earned him international fame as an authority on secret codes.

For reasons which historical scholars have trouble pinning down, each generation produces a new crop of skeptics who refuse to believe that William Shakespeare, "the butcher boy of Stratford," wrote all those plays and poems published under his name.

By now more than a score of candidates have been nominated as the real authors of the works of Shakespeare. Their disciples usually are gifted at spotting in the published plays hidden codes, anagrams, cyphers, and crypto-

Altrusa Club Hears Talk On Europe; Holds Contest For Modeling Of Hats

Mrs. Ray Martin, chairman of the international affairs committee, the U.S. State Institutions. As was in charge of the program for the dinner meeting of the Pampa Altrusa Club recently in the City Club Room.

Mrs. Grant Anderson introduced the speaker, Mrs. J. C. Vollmert, who told of her recent trip through Europe. She advised the women that anyone traveling abroad should take a lunch as "you never know when you'll get something to eat." She explained that the Germans were "a solemn people," which she said is understandable when viewing the wreckage from bombings. She pointed out that the Germans were "80 percent bombed out."

"Do they like us," she queried? "I wonder how they can." She added the rebuilding, however, shows an American influence.

She explained that the English are "very aloof," but have developed the art of serving.

"Everyone in Europe takes two hours to eat," she pointed out.

Mrs. Vollmert told the women that the language barrier and the monetary system are two problems that confront Americans traveling in Europe.

Prior to Mrs. Vollmert's speech, Mrs. Juanita Suttle spoke on the International Altrusa grant aids, which she explained help "to develop friendly relations in the Western Hemisphere," giving Latin Americans advanced training in the U.S. State Institutions. As was in charge of the program for the dinner meeting of the Pampa Altrusa Club recently in the City Club Room.

She pointed out that these women share the benefit of this advanced education with their people and also share with them the understanding of North America.

Special music was a piano solo by Miss Peggy O'Neal of White Deer.

Following the program, a hat modeling contest was held, with each member assessed 75 cents to enter the contest. Winner for the oldest hat was Mrs. Inez Carter, who modeled a bonnet worn in 1882 and which was worn by the wife of a colorful senator from Colorado. Mrs. Grant Anderson won the prize for the most unusual hat, which was a straw hat with a wide brim decorated with a banyard scene, and Mrs. Frank Lard won the prize for the "tackiest" hat, a creation of the 1920's.

The business session was led by Mrs. Frank Lard, president. Mrs. F. W. Shotwell read a letter from Walter Roger's office in response to the club's letter concerning a postoffice for Girlstown. Miss Ola Gregory read a letter from Miss Amelia Anthony of Girlstown thanking the club members for addressing approximately 7,000 letters for Girlstown. The women voted to instruct their delegate to the district convention to vote to raise district dues to $1.50 a year.

Twentieth Century Forum Hears Talk On Newspapers, Pulitzer Prize Awards

Mrs. Bruce Pratt, 414 N. Gray, was hostess to Twentieth Century Forum Study Club. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. J. R. Holloway who reviewed the club by-laws.

"No fewer than 55 newspapers were started in Texas prior to the establishment of The Galveston News in 1842," stated Mrs. Roy Bourland in her presentation of "Texas Five-Star Final." "The early publishers had to wait on the boat from New Orleans to bring them news from the North. Therefore, it is likely that most of the papers were bi-monthly journals."

"The Galveston News was the only U.S. paper to operate under three flags," she stated.

"The Dallas News was established by The Galveston News in 1885, and was the first to use illustrations, have adequate market reports, telegraphic news and to print in color," she explained.

"In 1906 the Fort Worth Star opened its doors," Mrs. Bourland continued. Later it absorbed its rival, the Fort Worth Telegram, and became The Fort Worth Star-Telegram. This newspaper pays tribute to the people of Fort Worth and West Texas whose belief in it has made its success as a utility dedicated to their service," she concluded.

"Pulitzer Prize Winners" was the topic chosen by Mrs. E. J. Dunigan.

"Critics who feel the prizes too often go to big names and big papers received something of a squelch this year," said Mrs. Dunigan. "The awards committee honored two staffers on small Texas dailies. The prize for local reporting under deadline pressure went to Clara Brown of The Alice Daily Echo for her findings of the political situation in Duval County. The second award went to Roland Towery of the Cuero Record for his exposure and coverage of the veterans' land program."

Mrs. Henry Duer was introduced as a guest, and Mrs. Biggs Horn was welcomed.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Roy Bourland, Bob Curry, E. J. Dunigan, W. L. Ellis, H. C. Federer, W. T. Fraser, J. R. Holloway, Dick Hughes, Homer Johnson, Frank Kelley, R. Laycock, M. McDaniel, H. J. Rose, Aubrey Steele, F. J. Vendrell, E. D. Warner, C. V. Wilkinson and the hostess.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO

Pampa News Women's Editor

HALLOWEEN'S COMING UP . . . a day just made for fun for the small fry. One certain way of insuring good times is having a "Weeny Witch" party for the youngsters. As every mother knows, at any children's party the food, naturally, is the big come-on. Table decorations thrill them too, especially on such an occasion as Halloween when imaginations can run riot. The "Weeny Witch" table is so simple to decorate that with little supervision from you, even the smallest children can share in making their own decorations.

HERE'S HOW you go about it: Using a skinless frankfurter as the body for each "Weeny Witch," take black crepe paper to form a simple witch's hood and cut a circle of the black for her cape. Orange crepe paper fringed and tied to a pipe cleaner can serve as a broom for her to ride. Use another pipe cleaner to attach each witch to a large platter which can serve as a centerpiece for the table. Fill the center of the platter with miniature pumpkins made from large carrots using cloves for the eyes, nose and mouth.

For the meal itself why not teach the hot dog new tricks? You'll be amazed at how they love frankfurters when they are split lengthwise and filled with a variety of relishes or treats and broiled. The thing you may like best about the following recipes is that they take mere minutes of your time to prepare. Simply split the frankfurters, stuff with filling and broil or bake until brown.

ONE MOTHER who is always seeking economical and good-tasting variations for the wholesome staple, serves frankfurters filled with pineapple, cheese, parsley and chopped onion mix; or she sprinkles the frank with brown sugar and just before broiling adds a little pre-

THE POPCORN INSTITUTE, sponsor of the 8th annual National Popcorn Week, October 24-31, recommends these five simple rules for perfect popcorn:

1. Warm the popper, heavy pan or heavy skillet, with lid.
2. Put in one-fourth cup of favorite cooking oil or shortening.
3. Let the oil get hot — about 3 minutes. Drop in three or four kernels. When they begin to spin in the hot oil, it's time to start popping.
4. Pour enough kernels from can to cover the bottom of popper or skillet.
5. Cover and shake gently. When you hear the last few "pops," remove pan from heat and empty contents into a large bowl. Pour in melted butter and salt to taste. Serve immediately.

Other new officers are Joy Kotara, vice-president; Sandra Mercer, secretary; Delores Hess, treasurer; Wilma Dunivin, historian; Joy Lester, parliamentarian; Regina Baker, pianist; and Carolyn Anderwald, song leader.

Installing officer was Betty Fern Roles, outgoing president. Special guests were members' parents. FHA sponsor is Miss Geraldine Rampey, homemaker teacher.

Others on the program were Ruth Bagley, Kay Mills, Peggy O'Neal, Joyce Ballard, Cheryl Chance, Janice Hess, Sue Williams and Mary Sue Bryant.

Duke Of Windsor Might Give Margaret Some Good Advice

By GLORIA SWANSON
Written for United Press

LONDON—UP—If Princess Margaret's Uncle David, better known as the Duke of Windsor, were to write to his niece regarding her present situation—what would be his advice?

I can't help toying with the idea. Uncle David is the only qualified member of the royal family whose advice would not be theoretical, since he has a measuring stick of experience to judge the joys of living like "other people."

It is not at all unlikely that such a letter would contain great wisdom, gathered during 19 years of living as a former king among the commoners.

Would he tell Margaret that the privileges of royalty are not as great as the freedom of the average man? Or would he say this life of the average man is a rugged road and, if not born to it, one can find one's self a displaced person? Might he say that all difficulties can be compensated by great love?

I wonder if he would tell her that, if he had it all to do again, he would make the same decision?

On the other hand, he might say that if the group captain and the princess set aside their love for the laws of the church and the good of the crown, it might have a better chance to endure. This way it would probably go down in history as a great love story.

He might write Margaret that she is too young to realize that the one who has the least to sacrifice has a greater responsibility. In the case of Captain Townsend, who is not only a man but one of some years, think how he could prove his love, his character and integrity by insisting that this young princess should not make these great sacrifices for him.

Because of that old "time will tell," as it has an unrelenting way of doing, Uncle David might remind Margaret that should the marriage turn out to be an unhappy one, there would be no divorce, nor playing the role of the "innocent party."

While I am speculating, I might as well go the whole hog and wonder what "Wally" of Windsor would be able to offer Townsend in the way of good advice. For example, how to make the person who has sacrificed for love happy.

No Shooting War Seen In Holy Land

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — UP

— Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, United Nations Palestine truce supervisor, arrived to report to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld Wednesday and said he saw no immediate danger of a holy land shooting war.

Burns came directly from the airport for his personal report to with newsmen, he refused to comment on the new wave of border incidents between Israel and its Arab neighbors and declined to discuss the aggravation of Middle Eastern tensions by the sale of Communist arms to Egypt.

The Canadian Army officer said he came back at Hammarskjöld's request but that he had no plans to make a full report on the Palestine situation to the Security Council. He planned to leave next week for a short vacation in Canada.

Burns' arrival diverted attention somewhat from the "atoms-for-peace" debate in the general assembly's main political committee, in which a vote was expected Wednesday afternoon or Thursday.

Margaret Truman To Launch New NBC Radio Program

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK — UP— Margaret Truman, a self-styled sleepwalker, is bracing herself for a tangle with the alarm clock.

Beginning this Nov. 7, Miss Truman will help launch NBC's new five-week radio program, "Weekday." The show will be a kind of distant cousin of the same network's "Monitor"—it'll run from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and dish up an assorted platter of news and entertainment.

"I don't know too much about the show yet," confessed Miss Truman in her Manhattan hotel suite. "But we'll do all sorts of things—there will be music and interviews and service things for housewives and mothers. Mike Wallace and I will be on three-and-a-half hours a day—from 10 to 12 and from 2 to 3:30."

Miss Truman sighed. "That means I'll have to be at the studio around nine in the morning and, frankly, Margaret just hates to get up. I guess I'll have to start getting to bed early every night."

Miss Truman, who made her debut as a radio network singer with the Detroit Symphony back on a Sunday night in March, 1947, is no stranger to the medium.

"I started out on radio," said the former President's daughter. "There was a children's program I used to do in Washington and I did radio work at George Washington University—announcing, sound effects, everything."

"I love 'Monitor.' I think it's an exciting show. When I was abroad this summer, I tapped some impressions of places in Europe for it."

Happily, said Miss Truman, her radio commitment won't interfere with her television work. In the past, she has clowned with such entertainers as Jimmy Durante, Tallulah Bankhead and Fred Allen.

"I've got a Marjorie Ray show coming up," said Miss Truman, "and one with Jimmy Durante. And they tell me, one with George Gobel. I'll have to go out to the coast for that one."

"I won't do any concert work this season, but I'll keep up with my singing here in New York."

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH

Read Micah 6:1-8

The Old Testament shows a changing view of sin. The earliest religion of the Hebrews was ritualistic. An elaborate sacrificial system was carried on at the altars in order to attract the friendly attention of God. If sufficient sacrifices were offered, accompanied by proper ritual, the nation might hope for his blessing. Under such a system the sinner appeared as a slacker who failed to join the nation in its all-out effort to please Jehovah and win national favor.

Then came the prophets, inspired men who believed God was more interested in moral conduct than in ritualistic accuracy. They taught that justice, morality, and political uprightness were matters of grave concern to God. This was expressed best, perhaps in the words: "What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

Upon the destruction of the little Hebrew kingdom, the nation entered into a period of exile in Babylonia. Here the problem was one of preserving the nation and preparing it for the day when it should be restored to the Promised Land. This called for a return to loyalty to the ancient ideas and ideals, and sin came to have a new meaning.

Conservatism was the order of the day, and liberalism in the form of intermarriage with the Babylonians, or any other form of tolerance toward the life with which the people were surrounded, was esteemed to be a sin. "Holiness," which was considered to be a strict obedience of the racial and religious "Law," was not a moral achievement but a legalistic performance of rites and ceremonies. Incorrect service and legal disobedience were esteemed to be sins.

O God, thou hast never intended that I should go forever enslaved to my tempters, my lusts, my selfish desires, and my low moods. Thou hast expected me to rise above all such, and to enter into a life of serene enjoyment of, and participation in, thy will. I must rise and be at it. Amen.

Test your own ideas of sin alongside those of the Old Testament. What do you think is sinful? What do you think you have done this day which may be sinful? Is imperfection sinfulness or weakness? Does God hold you responsible for imperfection?

Craig, who has been mentioned as a possible Republican presidential candidate, said Tuesday he will not enter Indiana's first presidential preference primary next spring. # Midland Prepares For Rugged Test Friday Nite

By TED BATTLES
Reporter Telegram Sports Writer

MIDLAND — Remembering Pampa's last visit here and the scare The Harvesters threw into them in last year's trip north, the Midland Bulldogs were preparing for another rugged test this week when Coach Jack Lockett brings his Panhandle eleven south.

Last year Pampa wound up a 20-14 loser, but on quarterback

George Sauer Praised For Dismissals

HOUSTON — UP — Coach George Sauer's action in dismissing five Baylor football players for violating training rules had official praise Thursday by the Texas Baptist General Convention.

The convention unanimously passed a motion commending Sauer for his action, and said that "we will continue to back him as he builds the Baylor line."

Sauer fired the five players earlier this week after an investigation which disclosed they had been seen in a night club at 2:30 a.m. last Saturday—the day Texas A&M defeated Baylor.

The matter was brought up in the convention by the Rev. Jesse Horton of Orange.

U.S. Places Fifth

MACOLIN, Switzerland — UP —

Fonstantin Salnykov of Russia won the individual title in the modern pentathlon championship Wednesday with a total of 4,453.5 points.

Hungary won the team championship with 12,407 points, while the United States was fifth with 11,295.5 points in the 15-nation competition.

contact. A policy he plans to pursue for the remainder of the schedule.

Regular defensive tackle Kurt Von Osniski, guard Phillip Hubbard, guard Wesley Lintinich all will be sidelined for the Pampa game.

Midland will carry a 4-2 record into Friday's fray. The Bulldogs have been an up and down club all year, losing to Corpus Christi Miller and Lubbock while defeating Lamesa, 20-13, Fort Worth Arlington Heights, San Angelo and Amarillo.

The backfield is paced by all state holdover Wahoo McDaniel the other three boys are newcomers. Ray Phillips, 155, and Wayne Hansen, 165, are the halfbacks while the left-handed junior Larry Cooper, 173 is the quarterback.

On the ends, Jim Owens, 172, and A. W. Hammock, 180, return. Tackles are Bruce Monroe, 171, and Johnny Branson, 180, a converted linebacker. Monroe was a center last year. Gerald Watts, 180, and David Cunningham, 150, are the guards and Tom Inman is the center.

Defensively, Cunningham and McDaniel lineup at ends with John Starnes and Watts at tackles and Bob Wooten at middle guard. The linebackers will be conversion specialist Buddy Whitley, 185, Branson and Inman. Jerry Calloway and Owens team at halves and Cooper is a sure-tackling safety.

Pampa's is the second split-team to oppose the Bulldogs this year and it is feared will be more dangerous offensively than Amarillo since it has a passing attack. Midland's most vulnerable point

Houston Can Cinch MVC Tie With Wichita Victory

By JOHN COLTON

HOUSTON — UP — Coach Bill Meek, whose touch has turned a so-so Houston team into a power house in less than a year, has a potent threat to match Wichita's slippery, fast-moving backs.

But whether Meek will use his secret weapon—a "fullback backfield"—against Wichita Saturday night is moot.

Houston, sporting a 4-1 season record and currently in the driver's seat with a 2-0 conference score, can clinch at least a tie in the Missouri Valley Conference race with a win over Wichita Saturday.

But a wheatshocker victory would throw Detroit (2-1), Houston and Wichita (1-1) into a three-way deadlock. Wichita knocked Houston out of the MVC crown last year with a 9-7 upset victory spearheaded by a fullback Leroy Humman.

Humman is back, along with Shocker backfield stars Jack (Big Play) Conway, Jim Kilaanin, fourth currently among MVC rushers, and Jim Sippy, all-conference back last year.

Matching the Wichita ace, Houston's Kenzie Stegall has carried the ball only 22 times to lead the MVC scoring parade with 30 points, including six conversions. Right halfback Curley Johnson leads the MVC carriers with 327 yards gained in 42 trips for a 7.8 yard average.

Fullback Donnie Caraway is the league's leading punter with 42.9 yards. Johnson is third with a 39.3 yard average. Owen Mulholland has romped to three touchdowns for an 18-point total.

All three — Johnson, Mulholland and Caraway—are fullbacks.

Backfield Coach Jim La Rue had Johnson, Caraway and Mulholland running as a unit this week in pre-practice work under Meek's approving eyes. Meek cautiously remarked that he'd "like to try the big three in the same backfield some time."

Tulsa opens conference play at winless Oklahoma A&M Saturday afternoon and Detroit will be at Cincinnati for a non-conference hassle.

In Big Seven play, unbeaten Oklahoma will be entertained at Kansas State, Kansas plays Nebraska, Drake entertains Iowa State, and unshaven-until-victory Missouri is due for another week of whiskers against strong Colorado.

Baylor Thinks Aggies Will Go All The Way

By ED FITE

DALLAS — UP — The wisecracks have been waiting vainly for Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant's Texas Aggie football team, ranked 10th in the nation, to crack open at the seams some Saturday.

Instead, the light, supposedly inexperienced ragmats have met each of five straight tests since dropping a season-opener to UCLA, with amazing abandon, poise and a furious precision that has swept them to the top of the Southwest Conference heap.

And, rival coaches who have seen their own teams devoured by the flaming spirit that keeps the thin, young Aggies pressing constantly, seem to think Bryant's "probation kids" will stay on top.

George Sauer, whose Baylor team was the latest victim of the onrushing Aggies, had this to say: "They are a relentless club. Very quick. They take advantage of any mistake. Someone may slow them down this year, but I don't think anybody will stop them. A&M has the kind of team that will not have a letdown. They have one thing on their mind—to beat you."

A Motley Crew

In a nutshell, that pretty well sums up the motley crew of sophomores and juniors that Bryant, the canny disciplinarian, has sent forth to revive flagging Texas A&M grid fortunes this fall.

The line is small by college standards, averaging only 194 pounds, and the backs who have been doing much of the damage—Donald Grant—are all around the 160-pound mark.

But, the line makes up for its lack of weight with "quickness"—a quality that Bryant expounds as the basic formula for winning football.

"It isn't speed, necessarily," he says. "It's the jump, both mental and physical, which you get on the kickoff."

Eagles Pick Up Guard PHILADELPHIA — UP — Russ Carroccio, former University of Virginia guard who was released by the New York Giants earlier this week, has been picked up by the Philadelphia Eagles as a free agent. Carroccio, a 235-pounder, joins the Eagles Thursday and will play against the Pittsburgh Steelers next Sunday.

opposition that brings success in the line."

And, the Aggie line is vivid proof of that formula. It's won its games by outchargin' and outthinking the opposition—keeping the pressure on and hawking the ball at all times. It's paid off handsomely.

Good Record on Fumbles The Aggies opponents have fumbled 24 times and when the pileup was unscrambled an Aggie was on top of the ball 16 of those times. In addition, they've managed to pounce on 13 of their own 20 fumbles.

Bryant and his staff have done such a masterful coaching job that the team practically is without a star. A back or two and two or three linemen may stand out one Saturday, while any one or more of his two dozen regulars will take over the next week.

The Aggies go after their sixth straight triumph and third in conference play Saturday afternoon before an Arkansas homecoming crowd at Fayetteville—one of the toughest situations to face any Arkansas rival any year.

But, while Southern Methodist and Texas tangle at Dallas and Baylor and Texas Christian wrangle at Maco that afternoon, the Aggies won't let psychology bother them.

Their feelings are best expressed by the stubby little 160-pound Denny, who answered a question as to when they felt they had the Baylor game won by saying "when we took the field for the kickoff."

College Attendance Shows Increase Of 4.4 Per Cent

NEW YORK — UP — College football attendance has shown an increase of 4.4 per cent so far this season with the biggest gains being registered in the Rocky Mountains and the Southwest, the United Press annual mid-season survey revealed Thursday.

Tabulations of home crowds from 109 colleges showed a total of 7,264,473 fans have attended 297 games so far this year as compared with 6,957,435 fans who witnessed the identical number of home games a year ago.

Every section of the country showed an increase except the East and the Midlands.

In the East, where heavy rains that reached flood proportions threw something of a damper on college football, attendance was off by 18.0 per cent, while the Midlands showed a decrease of 5.2 per cent.

Rockies, Southwest Keep Rising

In the Rockies, where attendance showed a spectacular 17.6 increase in 1954, the crowds have kept growing larger so that there is an 18.0 increase so far this season over last year. The Southwest, which was also up 12.3 last year, continues upward so far this season with an increase of 18.6 over last year's attendance.

This year's overall increase in attendance so far is slightly less than the overall increase of 6.2 per cent registered in 1954 but it maintains a trend that began with the NCAA's controlled television policy which was introduced in 1951.

With unlimited TV in 1950, attendance was off 6.3 that year, but since then it has climbed slightly but consistently, with the exception of 1952 when it was down by only .89 of one per cent.

The average crowd per game this year has been 24,460 as against the average crowd of 23,426 a year ago.

Next to the Rocky Mountains and the Southwest, the West has shown the largest attendance gain so far this season with an increase of 10.8. The South is next in line with an increase of 10.7, followed by the Midwest which shows an upswing of 7.0 per cent.

Michigan Tops Home Stands

Michigan, the No. 1 team in the United Press coaches' ratings, also is at the top in home attendance, having played before 328,012 fans in four home games this season, compared with 254,001 fans last year.

The Midwest qualifies as the current "hotbed" of football with the highest attendance total up to now. A total of 1,955,561 fans have witnessed 46 games in the Midwest while the South is second in total attendance with 1,688,547 for 75

Giants' Rookie Lineman Plays On Empty Stomach

TODAY'S SPORTS

By EARL WRIGHT

NEW YORK — UP — Roosevelt Grier, the New York Giants' huge rookie lineman, has been tossing around like sacks of air—but they probably have been getting off easy.

The 265-pound Grier does it all on an empty stomach. He also has weak eyes which barely enable him to tell other pro football huskies from moving buses.

"I can't eat breakfast the day of a game. I have a nervous stomach," the former Penn State star said after the Giants romped through a workout for Sunday's home game against the Washington Redskins.

The 22-year-old youngster finished dressing by putting on a pair of black, horn-rimmed glasses. They made him look more like a professor than one of the National Football League's most promising rookies.

"I can see a bus without my glasses but I wouldn't be able to see if it's one I want to catch," he said with a grin.

Grier played defensive tackle in New York's first three games but was switched to defensive end for the crippled team's home opener against the Chicago Cardinals two weeks ago.

The husky youngster from Linden, N.J., starred in a mud-splattered, 10-0 victory over the Cardinals.

nals. But he had his troubles at the new position against the Pittsburgh Steelers last Sunday.

"It was a new position and Rosey was guessing wrong," Head Coach Jim Lee Howell said. "When he went inside, the Steelers went outside and when he went in outside they went inside."

Grier readily admits he has plenty to learn.

"Sure, I get trapped," he said. "Sometimes you can see that the other guys are letting you in so they can run the ball through your position. Sometimes you can recover and sometimes you can't make it. The big thing is to do the best you can."

Grier, who wears size 50 suits and size 12 shoes, plans to return to Penn State in February to earn the one credit he needs for his degree in physical education.

Meanwhile, he's enjoying football more than he ever did in college. What does he think of the pro game?

"Love it. It's lots more fun than college football. It's great going just one way and I guess I like to play defense best."

Grier stands six feet, five inches and says he's still growing. He weighed 225 pounds in his senior year in high school and about 243 last year at Penn State.

"Now I weigh 268," he said, patting his flat stomach. "I guess I'm just filling out."

Packed House Watches Bouts

A jam-packed house witnessed some outstanding wrestling last night at the Top of Texas Sportsman's Club.

The curtain raiser went to Luis Martinez over Davis. Davis took the first fall in 11:02 with a back breaker and body press. Martinez came back to take the second fall in 11:50 with a series of drop kicks and a body press. In 1:50 of the third fall Davis was disqualified for failing to break.

The special attraction between the girls were declared a draw. Millie Stafford took the first fall in 6:44 with the airplum spin while the second fall went to China Mira in 8:22 with a back flip. The third fall was called a draw. The girls were wrestling out of the ring and did not return in the regulation count.

The main event went to Dory Funk over Rip Rogers. Funk took the first fall in 12:31 with a spinning hold. Rip came back to take the second fall in 4:01 with the atomic drop. The referee could not get Rogers stopped. He continued to apply his atomic drop on Funk so the referee disqualified Rogers and gave the match to Funk.

Shockers Host Palo Duro 'B' 7:30 Tonight

The Shockers will face the greatly improved Palo Duro "B" squad at Harvesters Park tonight at 7:30. The game was originally scheduled for the first of the season but was rained out.

The Palo Duro club has greatly improved since the teams' first meeting and is expected to play a good game and possibly come out on top, since the Shockers have lost three of their top boys to the Harvesters.

Dale Lake, Buster Baird and Robert Langford have moved up to Harvesters squad and will be replaced by Gary Wilhelm, Buddy Lamberson and Don Bigham. Robert Warren, the lad who scored three touchdowns on three long runs will be back in the lineup this week. He gathered in a total of 218 yards in three jaunts in the last game.

The Palo Duro team has won two games and have lost four while the Shockers, under the able guidance of Weldon Trice and Bob Field, have won four games in a row.

The probably starting lineup for the home town scrappers will be Gary Peterson at center, Bob Holmes and Charles Peacock at guards, Bill Walsh and Glen Howell at tackles, and Tommy Mullins and Frank Snow at the ends. The offensive starters will probably be Wilhelm, Warren, Lamberson, Bigham, with David Holt playing defense.

Unbeaten Navy Faces Spirited Notre Dame

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK — UP — Navy plays Notre Dame Saturday and the Midshipmen must beat a phantom as well as a first class foe. Sure, Navy is unbeaten. And Notre Dame isn't.

But Notre Dame will be seeking this one for a man whose memory still provides the spark of victory on the campus under the golden dome.

This will be the Knute K. Rockne memorial game. To the Fighting Irish that puts a mere football game in a special class because the "Rock" died these 25 years, still is the breathing spirit of Notre Dame.

It is not sacrilege to say that football is almost a religion at Notre Dame. "Knute," the bald, stocky man with the bushy nose, made it that way. As a player he gave the then-tiny university its first big win against Army. As a coach, he led it to national prominence.

And since that March day in 1951 when a plane crashed in a Kansas cornfield, Knute Rockne has been the legendary pattern for inspired performance at Notre Dame.

Mention his name to Notre Dame men in general and it kindles a zealous, devoted spark in their eyes. Mention it to Notre Dame athletes and usually they accomplish the impossible.

Terry Brennan, the youthful coach who fills the shoes that Rockne once wore, shouldn't have to say a word to his boys Saturday. It was against Navy that Rockne's last team, his unbeaten mythical national champions of 1950, dedicated the Notre Dame stadium 25 years ago.

Sitting up there in the stands watching them will be Rockne's widow, Jesse Harper, the "Rock's" coach, and such of Rockne's "boys" as Hank Anderson, Elmer Layden of the famed "Four Horsemen," Frank Leahy and Ed McKever.

Twenty-five years is a long time. But at Notre Dame they talk of him as if he flew out yesterday. Almost every time you listen, you hear something new.

"So you high school kids quit could on your education because you have to go into service," a Notre Dame professor will admonish.

Rocky's Wife Says Retire
By BILL BENT
LOS ANGELES — UP — The toughest battle he's ever fought, heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano said Thursday, was with his wife. She wants him to quit the ring.

"She'd like to see me stop right now," said the Rock during an overnight stay in Los Angeles to help celebrate a friend's retirement from the clothing business.

"My wife's a wonderful gal, but I have to keep repeating 'No retirement!'"

"I still feel good and feel like fighting. I know when I can go on. And I'll know when to quit, too. And it's not now."

Marciano, looking as fit as the day he wound up training for his title fight last month with Archie Moore, indicated he doesn't intend to hang up his gloves for at least another year, maybe two or more.

And to show Mrs. Marciano who's boss—at least of Marciano boxing matters—Rocky said he's open for a fight next June.

"I've got no idea who'd be the best opponent," he said. "They're planning that elimination tournament back East."

In Los Angeles? "Why not?" he said.

"And Moore would be okay again—providing he wins a couple of fights first."

Marciano said the income tax bite limits him to two fights a year. "Otherwise I'd go in debt to the government," he laughed.

ish. "Well, just remember that Rockne worked in a post office four years after he graduated from high school before he saved enough money to enroll at Notre Dame."

They laugh about when the chunky Norwegian, called a "Swede" by his classmates, almost started a riot at a pep rally.

"There's nothing dumber than a dumb Irishman," Rockne said, avoiding catastrophe by adding "except a smart Swede."

They glory in his traditions: A never-flagging will to win attested by 105 victories against 12 losses and five ties over 13 coaching years; his loyalty to his "boys" and his unflinching efforts in national youth development.

They talk as if he still is there. Which means that Navy had better be real good Saturday. Because the Rock is, and always will be, a living figure at Notre Dame. And this one they want for him.

NEW YORK — UP — A spokesman for automobile magnate Henry Ford II has described as "an unfounded rumor" a report here that Ford is interested in purchasing the Detroit Tigers.

The New York Daily News reported Thursday it had "learned" that Ford would be interested in purchasing the American League baseball club from the heirs of the late Walter O. Briggs, Sr., "if we can gain 100 per cent of the stock."

The report was denied by a spokesman for Ford in Detroit. In denying a similar report a week ago, Ford said, "I have a deep interest in baseball and have a box at Briggs Stadium. That's as close as I'll ever come to being an owner."

The News story, under the by-line of baseball writer Joe Trimble, also reported that "two or three other syndicates have expressed a desire to bid. One is a Baltimore brewery, and Bill Veeck, former boss of the Indians, heads another group which is comprised of Chicago banking and meat-packing people."

NEW YORK — UP — A spokesman for automobile magnate Henry Ford II has described as "an unfounded rumor" a report here that Ford is interested in purchasing the Detroit Tigers.

The New York Daily News reported Thursday it had "learned" that Ford would be interested in purchasing the American League baseball club from the heirs of the late Walter O. Briggs, Sr., "if we can gain 100 per cent of the stock."

The report was denied by a spokesman for Ford in Detroit. In denying a similar report a week ago, Ford said, "I have a deep interest in baseball and have a box at Briggs Stadium. That's as close as I'll ever come to being an owner."

The News story, under the by-line of baseball writer Joe Trimble, also reported that "two or three other syndicates have expressed a desire to bid. One is a Baltimore brewery, and Bill Veeck, former boss of the Indians, heads another group which is comprised of Chicago banking and meat-packing people."

Campanella, Snider And Newcombe Are UP All-Stars

By CARL LUNDQUIST
NEW YORK — UP — Those dominating Dodgers, the "champeens" of the world, placed three of their heroes, Roy Campanella, Duke Snider, and Don Newcombe, on the United Press National League all-star team selected Wednesday by 54 baseball writers from all the league cities.

Campanella and pitcher Robin Roberts of the Phillies were the only unanimous selections among the 10 players chosen, one for each position, with two pitchers. Each drew 54 votes.

Snider led the voting in the outfield with 51 while Willie Mays of the Giants with 48 votes and Stan Musial of the Cardinals with 38 filled the other two outfield berths. Musial additionally drew two votes for first base, giving him a total of 40.

Mathews Almost Unanimous
Cincinnati slugger Ted Kluszewski was selected as the first baseman with 47 votes while Red Schoendienst of the Cardinals was at second with 37. Ed Mathews, Milwaukee's home run star, drew 53 votes, all but one, at third base, and Chicago's bright young star, Ernie Banks, was picked at shortstop with 44.

The mythical lineup is one of the most formidable long-ball hitting arrays ever put together. The eight players aside from pitchers accounted for 301 homers last season. They also had a composited batting average of .306 with six of the players batting .314 or better.

The all-stars boast in addition, the only two 20-game winners in the major leagues this season. Roberts, going 20 or better for the sixth straight season, had a 23-14 mark and big Newk finished at 20-5 and with five, Carl Furillo of the Dodgers might have done much better except for arm trouble.

Pattern For Violence

It is later than we think.

Rioters, some 500 in number, assembled mysteriously outside a single small factory in New Castle, Indiana, have brought further union terrorism and bloodshed in what was once a free nation. Yet many of us believe government is for the purpose of preventing terrorism and bloodshed.

Why didn't the government take the necessary steps at New Castle?

We do not know.

But it is certainly true that if the government can't handle the one job it is supposed to handle, namely, that of protecting our lives and our property while we go about our business peacefully, then government has proved its inadequacy under any and every circumstance.

In New Castle, it was the same old story of ruthless and vicious lawlessness which follows in the wake of the United Auto Workers over which Walter Reuther holds dictatorial sway.

The Perfect Circle Corporation, manufacturers of piston rings, has been operating since July in spite of a strike. The firm is a small firm. It employs only about 260 workers altogether. And the manager of the firm has stated repeatedly that he is ready to negotiate with the union on affairs of this one plant. The CIO officials, however, want him to negotiate a binding contract which would affect other plants as well. This, the manager of Perfect Circle has refused to do.

After all, why should he? For that matter, there is no moral reason why he should negotiate at all with hoodlums, gangsters and racketeers. Yet, he has expressed a willingness to do so. However, the union bosses want everything their own way. And, as usual, their arguments, since they contain no logic, are backed up by lead pipes and guns.

Last Wednesday a pitched battle ensued between the workers still on duty inside the plant and the howling mob of union savages outside the building. Desultory fire resulted in the wounding of 11 persons. And, then, just as it was reported that a cease-fire had been reached, a mysterious shot-gun blast tore into the home of one of the non-strikers, fortunately injuring no one.

What did the government do? Had it carried out its obvious duty it would have arrested the ring leaders of the violence, cleared the streets and packed the out-of-town hoodlums beyond the city limits.

Instead, the police CLOSED THE FACTORY, thereby interfering with the right of the owner to run his own business in his own way. This action also resulted in a work stoppage for some 260 brave American men and women who had decided that they would defend with arms if need be, their right to work.

Guns of the workers inside the plant were confiscated, yet they all had permits to carry arms. There is no report that guns of the mob outside the plant were picked up at all.

It is growing increasingly apparent in this land of lost liberty, that nationally, statewide and locally, our politicians and politicos owe too much of their political fortunes to the rapacious acts of men like Walter Reuther and his ilk. If government cannot cope with violence instigated by unions, what can it cope with? Obviously, it can always shove around the low-obedient who wish only to mind their own business. But, if at the first brush with hard reality, government sides in with the law-breakers, then it is clear that the days of the vigilantes must come again.

The American people will not forever tolerate the outrageous corruption, bloodshed, and murder which has, in recent years, grown to astonishing proportions throughout the length and breadth of America. Tempests right now are seething. Government had best mend its ways, or it is definite the people will mend their government.

The wanton acts of violence committed by Walter Reuther and his union the CIO-UAW, form a pattern. The threat to our freedom is serious.

Fixed Wrestling Result:
5,000 Unemployed Wrestlers

By HENRY McEMORE

If the sworn statements of a four seasons. There would be a couple of California referees are thousand interesting sequences. To be believed, wrestling is crook. Wrestlers all play for one - sliding. The referees testified that the down inclines using their ears as "fix" was as much a part of the game as the wrestling, twisting, and holding the other's arms and necks, butting thick heads together, and uprooting small trees.

Such statements would very well mark the end of wrestling. Let us hope and pray that this will not happen. If wrestling is banned, then some 5,000 professional wrestlers will become public charges, and as rich as this country is I would take a thousand wrestlers. The only solution I can think of, offhand, would be to turn the wrestlers out to graze on the same range where the buffaloes are being preserved. But who could guarantee that the wrestlers wouldn't eat the buffaloes' food?

It would be a pretty sight, though, at that - five thousand wrestlers stampeding across the plains, their great cauliflower ears standing out and their tortured grunts and groans shaking the earth. A lot of us would pay to see such a sight, provided, of course, there were proper safety measures taken.

What a picture Disney could make of a herd of wrestlers! He could call it "Wrestler Country" and show the wrestlers during all Century came in too fast the wres-

EXEMPTION FROM THE LAW
The Wall Street Journal

For more years than anyone now living can recollect the New York-New Jersey waterfront has been the scene of pillage on a large scale and racketeering, thuggery and murder. Not only the ranks, but in many cases the leadership, of the organized dock workers have been a haven for criminals. In many cases the employers have more or less willingly connived in this situation.

About two years and a half ago there was an investigation which brought into the newspaper headlines the abuses which were already known to anyone who wished to inform himself, and the law enforcement authorities stirred themselves.

By joint action the states of New York and New Jersey created a Waterfront Commission which was given the job of establishing law and order. Among other things it was given supervision over hiring practices which the union had used to milk the men who unloaded and loaded the ships.

Now the International Longshoremen's Association, a union with a record which caused its expulsion from the American Federation of Labor, is on strike. Not only has it paralyzed the port of New York but it has called out the longshoremen at ports along the whole eastern coast and the Gulf of Mexico. There is no dispute as to wages or working conditions. Those were settled in a way satisfactory to the union in a contract signed several months ago. The union is striking with the avowed aim of destroying or at least hamstringing the Waterfront Commission. In brief it is demanding that the law be repealed, mitigated or at least not enforced against it.

What has happened here is quite obvious. For years the law enforcement agencies of state, Federal Government and City proved inadequate - unable or unwilling to enforce the laws on the waterfront. The laws which applied to other people were not applied on the docks. By default the docks became an exempt area.

If that had not happened, if the law enforcement agencies had applied the ample police laws on the statute books, it would never have been necessary to create a special agency such as the Waterfront Commission.

Over the years the dock workers and their leaders, particularly the latter, came to believe that in some way they had a vested interest in being able to flout the laws. When the ordinary rules of conduct were applied to them they readily concluded that in some way their rights were being infringed.

And so we have the spectacle of a group of labor leaders demanding that the governors the legislatures or someone in Washington tell the Waterfront Commission that it must not apply the law. If that is not done these leaders will tie up all the ports on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts.

Well, it is not so amazing after all. Any man or any group of men long exempted from the rules that govern others will almost surely regard themselves as the injured party when the law is applied. The simplest analogy is the spoiled child to whom discipline is suddenly applied.

The very canor with which the longshoremen's leaders voice their demand that the law be less than adequately enforced is an indication of their state of mind. They really think that they are the aggrieved ones.

There are few situations where the law is openly flouted as it was on the New York waterfront. But in a lesser degree there are many situations where labor unions escape the legal penalties for actions which would send the ordinary citizen before a court of law. If you go into the street and overturn a man's automobile and then beat him, the penalty will be swift. Those things are often done on a picket line and very seldom is the perpetrator punished.

If you make a contract to perform services and then fail to perform them, you will be subject to legal action. Many strikes take place in violation of contracts. Labor unions are exempt from the antitrust laws. If you hire a painter or a plasterer the unions can tell him what materials and tools he may use and if you object, you will not get your painting and plastering done.

Very well, but after all these things have been going on for some time and we do manage to get things built and sold. The situation on the New York waterfront went on for some time also. But finally it threatened the very life of New York as a port; other cities were getting the cargoes. The guns that were used by thugs came from pilfered shipments. The drugs that made zombies of grown men and children came through the waterfront.

G.O.P. Drive To Get Colored Vote Starts

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Republican drive to recapture the vital colored and racial vote for next year gets under way today, when the nation's most influential employers hold an all-day conference on equal job opportunities with Vice-President Nixon's Committee on Government Contracts. It could also be a great day for the V-P in a personal and political way.

Today's meeting is the Eisenhower Administration's all-out attempt to achieve by persuasion what the Roosevelt and Truman regimes tried unsuccessfully to obtain through legislation. It is a voluntary rather than a compulsory FEPC. Its decisions, however, affect only companies doing business with Uncle Sam.

The special political significance in this venture is its elaborate nature and personnel. Although F.D.R. and Truman noisily advocated FEPC legislation, they never fought particularly hard for it because of resistance from the South. Confessions on the problem were entrusted to unimportant underlings in the Labor Department.

President Eisenhower, however, appointed the Nixon-headed committee, and invited the nation's leading industrialists to attend. Since most of them are co-operative Republicans, acceptance assured that employers representing about 80 per cent of American industry would be present.

Until he fell ill, Ike was to have wound up the affair today with a White House dinner. Instead, Vice-President Nixon will preside at a dinner at the Capital's swankiest hotel, Vice Chairman of the Contracts Committee, and the active promoter, is James P. Mitchell, Secretary of Labor. He has shown far more interest than his Cabinet predecessors in the effort to equalize working conditions, opportunities and wages, regardless of race or other prejudices.

These barriers, according to Secretary Mitchell, have been generally broken down outside the South. But even where employers agree to co-operate in Dixie, opposition to hiring Negroes stems from the labor unions and white workers. They oppose opening their doors on both racial and economic grounds.

Today's problem in other sections is not so much the employment of colored people or other groups sometimes the victims of discrimination. It involves the positions, regardless of their qualifications. Employers are reluctant to entrust them with the direction of white associates.

Administration spokesmen, with race frankness, concede that ballot-box mixtures mingle with economic considerations in this movement. Current and prospective labor shortages do require more and better skilled workers. ...with JAMES C. INGEBRESEN
President, Spiritual Mobilization

"Waiting, like Micawber, for something to turn up is a complete negation of government," declared Arthur Woodburn, once Socialist Secretary of State for Scotland, in criticizing the incumbent British Government for having "re-moved all (price and dividend) controls and let things drift," according to a recent news report from London.

Well, let's see. Is a military force held ready but inactive, "waiting for something to turn up," "a complete negation of government"? Is a police force, walking its beat, alert and ready but not interfering with anyone until something turns up "a complete negation of government"?

As I see it, the legitimate function of government is to lay down the rules by which the innocent are protected and the guilty restrained and then to stand by until a real and present threat to the innocent occurs—when it is its duty to step in and furnish as much protection to the innocent as it can by apprehending and judicially dealing with the culprit.

"Waiting for something to turn up" instead of being "a complete negation of government" is, in my opinion, the basic function of government. When it acts otherwise, it becomes the master of the people instead of their body guard.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

A correspondent writes that she had repeated back adviser at tackle and has been advised to have her gall bladder removed. This she intends to do, but wants some information concerning spinal anesthesia which the surgeon says he wants to use. This question raises the subject of anesthesia in general, which might be of interest to others.

First, on the subject of spinal anesthesia: This is a method of injecting a chemical substance into the lower part of the spinal canal. It results in lack of sensation in the lower part of the body while leaving the patient conscious. It is being used widely and is helpful in many types of surgery and is sometimes used in childbirth. If Mrs. M. has confidence in her surgeon, which she says she has, then she can safely leave it to him as to whether this is the best anesthesia to use in her particular case.

A GENERAL ANESTHETIC is a substance which, when given in sufficient quantities, causes complete absence of feeling for pain anywhere in the body and, usually, unconsciousness. Some anesthetics are breathed in gaseous forms. These include ether, laughing gas, ethylene and chloroform, although the latter is not much used in North America.

The gaseous anesthetics have saved millions of people untold amounts of pain. Until anesthetics came to be used in medicine (and this was not really so long ago) modern surgery as we know it was practically impossible. When a limb had to be amputated it was done without benefit of pain-relieving drugs. This was, of course, a terrific ordeal for both the patient and surgeon. The emphasis was on the speed with which it could be done.

SOME GENERAL anesthetics are given by injecting them into a vein. Each anesthetic has some advantages and some disadvantages, and the choice of which one to use depends on many factors, including how long the patient must be kept unconscious, the degree of muscular relaxation necessary, the state of health of the patient, and the preferences of the surgeon and anesthesiologist.

Other anesthetics can be injected into the roots of the nerves and will cause lack of feeling in areas which can be worked on without affecting the rest of the body. Local anesthetics also have many uses. Such anesthetics can be injected into a small area so that certain operations can be performed without resorting to loss of consciousness.
