Reuther Tells Wage Plans Guaranteed

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 21 (AP)—Walter P. Reuther disclosed today that his United Auto Workers already has drawn up a rough blueprint of the guaranteed annual wage plan that will top the powerful union's next set of industry-wide demand.

Reuther, president of both the CIO and the UAW, invited employers and a group of nationally-known economists for suggestions on improving the plan.

But he said the union will not compromise on the basic principle of a guaranteed annual wage when its negotiations with the major car producers come to a head on expiration of the current five-year contracts in mid-1955.

Reuther served this notice to management in his annual president's report made public on the eve of the UAW's 14th International Convention opening here Sunday.

At a press conference today Reuther said the union will set a $230 goal on monthly pension demands for the 195 contracts. Most contracts now provide $125, including social security benefits.

He said by 1960 money in all UAW pension trust funds can be expected to approach one billion dollars.

Asked about reports that the steelworkers union might bolt the CIO, Reuther replied, "I believe the steelworkers are anchored firmly in the CIO."

TURKISH EARTHQUAKE DAMAGE

Natives stand alongside a badly shattered house in Conen, Turkey, near the center of the earthquake which devestated villages and towns in the western section of the country March 18. Unofficial estimates indicate 1,000 persons may have perished in the disaster. Between 3,000 and 4,000 homes were destroyed or damaged.

Tito Pleased With Results Of His Trip

LONDON, March 21 (AP)—Grinning broadly, Marshal Tito sailed back to Yugoslavia today in high spirits over British promises to support him—with bullets, if necessary—in his struggle against the Soviet Union.

There was no doubt that the Communist dictator-president considered his historic five-day visit to Great Britain a resounding success.

"All that we have hoped for has been attained," he said before leaving for his homeland, which is surrounded by hostile Soviet bloc nations.

And the British, too, were pleased with the results of the visit. For Tito and his lieutenants had given clear signs that they were now on the side of the West, despite their divergent political ideologies.

Smiling, saluting and handwaving, Tito sailed down the Thames estuary to the English Channel in the Yugoslav training ship Galeb escorted by four Royal Navy destroyers. He wore full uniform with a light grey coat with scarlet lapels.

Tito's cheerfulness stemmed from talks that yielded him firm British assurances that any power attacking Yugoslavia would also have to deal with Britain.

Drastic Change In Red Propaganda Line Noted

Admit U.S. Helped Win World War

LONDON, March 21 (AP) — In a surprising switch of the old Soviet propaganda line, one of Moscow radio's best known commentators told the world today it was harmonious co-operation by the Soviet Union, the United States and Britain that produced victory in World War II.

For years the Russians have insisted that the war was won by the Red Army, while the "capitalist states" sat back and got rich.

The broadcast, by Boris Leontyev, immediately aroused the interest of Western diplomats in view of statements made by Soviet leaders since the death of Stalin and the coming to power of Georgi Malenkov as Prime Minister.

What it, they asked, part of a pattern which could be taken to mean the new Russian rulers are ready to ease up on the cold war with the West and come to some sort of terms? Or is it just a change of pace? For the most part, the diplomats were inclined to wait for more definite, concrete acts.

Only yesterday the British Foreign Office disclosed that Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had personally promised to help obtain the release of nine British subjects and an Irish missionary held by the North Korean Reds.

For another thing, only two days ago the Russian commander in Germany had proposed that he and his counterpart Briton, Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick, get together to try to prevent any more incidents like the shooting down of a British bomber by Russian MIGs.

The switch in Soviet tone came while the West had been growing stronger. A new pact between Yugoslavia, Turkey and Greece has plugged a big gap in the Southeast Mediterranean defense area.

The visit of Marshal Tito to Great Britain, which ended today, has strengthened the bonds between the two countries.

Today's talk by Leontyev was in English.

He started by asserting that "peaceful co-existence of the two systems, the capitalist and the socialist, is perhaps one of the most crucial issues of our time." Then he insisted that Soviet statesmen have always emphasized that such co-operation is possible and what's more has been confirmed by history.

Leontyev cited trade with the Western world before the last war and then became almost lyrical in telling how the West co-operated as allies in the last war.

"As can be seen the possibility of co-operation on a mutually advantageous business foundation has been proved in practice again and again over the years," he continued. The speaker said such peaceful coexistence is possible on the basis of non-interference in internal affairs of other states. He added:

"The Soviet Union has never had and does not have any intention of interfering in the affairs of the capitalist countries."

Then, expanding on the idea of collaboration, the commentator said:

"The possibility of co-operation was manifested still more vividly during the war against the Fascist states. The Soviet Union, the USA and Britain harmoniously co-operated in that war as allies, helping each other and co-ordinating their military efforts. This co-operation had splendid results—a common victory over the enemy."

McCarthy Raising Row Over Appointment Of Ambassador

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP) — The fight of a Senate group against President Eisenhower's choice of an ambassador to Russia appeared to be all over but the last-minute speechmaking today as Sen. Taft opposed McCarthy's efforts to call Secretary of State Dulles for new questioning.

Taft, Senate Republican leader, announced he will bring the nomination of Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen before the Senate Monday. He said he could see no value in the idea of recalling Dulles for sworn testimony This had been proposed by McCarthy (R-Wis), who insists Bohlen is a "security risk."

With Eisenhower and Dulles standing firm for Bohlen, McCarthy conceded the Bohlen nomination can't be beaten when it comes to a Senate vote. McCarthy continued his fight, however, accusing Dulles of making "untrue" statements about the case.

McCarthy's drive to beat the Bohlen nomination suffered a further blow today when R. W. Scott McLeod, the State Department's new security chief, passed up a meeting of McCarthy's Senate Investigating Committee. McLeod had "gone to the country" for the week end, officials said.

McCarthy and other anti-Bohlen senators had been counting on McLeod's appearance to deal a blow to Bohlen. McLeod is a former aide to Sen. Bridges (R-NH) who along with Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) and McCarthy is leading the fight against Bohlen.

Backers of Bohlen declare the only "derogatory" information in the FBI files against him is anonymous rumors or hearsay which do not reflect on his loyalty. Sen Tobey (R-NH) accused foes of Bohlen of trying to "stab the President in the back."

Wage, Price, Rent Freeze Is Asked For

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP) — Senate supporters of a proposed 90 day freeze on prices, wages and rents, for use in an emergency, expect to get strong backing Monday from Bernard M. Baruch.

Baruch, veteran mobilization expert and adviser to presidents, is to testify before the banking committee on bills designed to protect against leaping prices if all-out war should come.

He strongly advocated an across-the-board freeze when the Korean War started in June, 1950. It was not done, however, and he later told Congress the government and consumers lost many billions of dollars as a result.

Several Cabinet officers have been asked to testify in open session later in the week, including Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson and Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks.

Chairman Capehart (R-Ind) said he does not know whether these or other administration witnesses will support the freeze bill. He indicated however, that their testimony would not be unfriendly to the measure.

BARTENDERS OUGHT TO BE LET IN ON OWNER'S GIMMICK

GREEN BAY, Wis., March 21 (AP)—Bernard Loch, a tavernkeeper here, is something of a practical joker. He put a sign in the tavern window saying "We will pay $10 for 1947 pennies."

Get it? That's $10 for one thousand, nine hundred and forty seven pennies, or $19.47 in coppers.

But Loch forgot to explain the joke to his bartender

Now Loch's out $20 and has only two 1947 pennies to show for it.

Jury Takes Sapet Case After Defense Offered No Witnesses

BROWNWOOD, March 21 (AP) — Dist. Judge A.O. Newman charged the jury in Mario (El Turko) Sapet's murder trial today after the defense jarred the case into its final stages by suddenly resting without offering a word of testimony.

The jury's job is to decide whether the poker-faced Sapet was "the leader of hired killers" who slew the wrong man—Jacob S. (Buddy) Floyd Jr., 22. The victim's father said it was a fouled-up political assassination plot in which he was the intended target.

The defense finished its case without calling any of the 39 witnesses it had brought to Brownwood for the trial.

Defense Atty. Fred Semaan of San Antonio last night accused the state of "trying George B. Parr and not Mario Sapet."

COURT IS SURPRISED

Parr is a former sheriff of Duval County and long the dominant political power in the South Texas area where the killing took place. He and Jacob S. Floyd Sr. are political enemies.

"The defense rests" was announced seven minutes after court convened at 10:13 a.m. The announcement caught the state and a courtroom that has been packed to its 300-person capacity for a week completely by surprise.

Defense Atty. Louis Schlesinger said "the state has not made a case" and that was the reason for the surprise strategy of Sapet's lawyers.

Sapet was named with Nago Alaniz, Alice attorney, and Alfredo Cervantes, a Mexican national who has never been arrested, in a multiple-count indictment in the death in Alice last Sept. 8 of young Floyd.

ALANIZ CASE NEXT

Alaniz will be tried after this case is completed. A change of venue switched the trials from the 79th District.

Before resting, the defense made its fifth motion for a mistrial and when this was overruled asked for an instructed verdict of innocence. Newman denied this, too.

Semaan charged last night that the state was trying "to paint a picture of Parr as a crooked and dirty politician and indicated that the defendant was working hand and hand with him."

Today Semaan went through the motions of going over the stories his 39 subpoenaed witnesses would tell. This was an effort to keep the state from guessing the defense was planning to rest without testimony and stake its case on final arguments. Sapet had been scheduled to testify.

MURDER PLOT RETOLD

Young Floyd's father, a prominent Alice attorney, testified he was told by Alaniz of a murder plot to kill him and then District Judge Sam G. Reams. He said he was told Sapet was the "leader of the killers."

The state in testimony from 35 witnesses tried to link Sapet with Cervantes and Alaniz—and injected into the trial the bitter feeling between the Parr political faction and anti-Parr party persons.

Neither Sapet nor Alaniz was named as the triggerman in the shooting. Cervantes was once named as the slayer, but this charge was withdrawn and one substituted naming an "unknown person" as the actual killer.

Negro Picked Year's Woman In Virginia

WAYNESBORO, Va., March 21 (AP)—Like any other mother, Mrs. Leah Sykes Young wanted her children to have the best.

That's why she baked apple pies and made dresses to sell to her neighbors at Courtland, Va. She wanted her 14 children to have good educations. She wanted them to go to college.

Mrs. Young wasn't satisfied at tending her own family, big as it was. She and her husband, John, took in five orphans to raise on their small farm in Southeast Virginia's peanut country.

They had many a lean year when the kids were growing up. But Mrs. Young never despaired. She used to tell herself:

"In this good country, you can dream as big as you wish. The Lord willing, those dreams will come true."

Today, a dream she never dreamed came true for Mrs. Young. A committee of white clubwomen chose her as Virginia's "Mother of the Year." Several on the award committee were former winners.

Virginia has had many "Mothers of the Year" before, but none like Mrs. Young, a Negro.

Her children grew up and got their educations. Most of them finished college. Six are now teaching, one is a nurse, another a librarian. Two are contractors.

Mrs. Young's cooking has paid off, too. In 1950, she won a national food contest award of $1,000 for her recipe for "Old Virginia Apple Cobbler."

3 Insurance Companies Are Hit By Court

AUSTIN, March 21 (AP) —Dist. Judge J. Harris Gardner today temporarily restrained three insurance companies from doing business on a complaint brought by Att.-Gen. John Ben Shepperd.

Shepperd sued in 53rd District Court to cancel the charters of the companies, alleging their incorporators made false and fraudulent affidavits to obtain charters. He alleged they were now insolvent.

Also named in a charter-cancelling suit was the Atlantic Finance Corp. of Beaumont and Ennis.

The insurance companies named were the Texas Fire Insurance Co. and the Lone Star Casualty Co., Ennis, and Texas Western Assurance Co., Beaumont.

The attorney general alleged the Atlantic Finance Corp. was insolvent and it had violated the Texas banking laws.

Judge Gardner issued the temporary restraining order to be in effect for 10 days and set a hearing on Shepperd's application for temporary injunction March 30.

The suits also named numerous individuals.

Also named were several banks who were temporarily restrained from disposing of or transferring any assets belonging to the four corporations.

The restraining order prohibits the insurance companies from disposing or concealing assets and from soliciting policies pending further court action.

Taft Pleased About Cuts In Military Spending Promised

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Taft today applauded Pentagon plans to cut the rate of military spending and expressed hope that the slashes can go as deep as four billion dollars.

"It's certainly a move in the right direction—all I can say is that I hope the cut can be larger," the Ohioan said in commenting on Secretary of Defense Wilson's news conference statements yesterday.

Wilson named no specific amount but he told newsmen he believes both spending and manpower can be reduced without weakening the nation's fighting strength.

The secretary said defense spending is frozen at the January level of nearly four billion dollars. He said there will be no boost in former President Truman's $46,296,000,000 military spending program for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Taft said he still believes that Truman's budget estimates for more than 78 billion dollars in the next fiscal year could be reduced by eight billions. He said this would include cuts of about 1¼ billion from domestic spending, 2½ billions from foreign aid and four billions from the military.

Such a reduction probably could pave the way for a cut in federal taxes, Taft said.

Wilson said he believed this country could maintain combat strength and still reduce the more than 3½ million persons in uniform. He said monthly draft calls, now running more than 50,000, can be trimmed.

The secretary, who formerly headed General Motors, said that production of some items — and monthly spending—could be slowed without stretching out production of short and critical defense requirements.

Czechs Given New President

VIENNA, Austria, March 21 (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia's rubber stamp Parliament today elected Premier Antonin Zapotocky, 68, to the presidency vacated by the death of Dictator Klement Gottwald.

A tall, gaunt man with stainless steel teeth who is regarded as more moderate than some of the Red heirarchy, Zapotocky was sworn in immediately after winning a unanimous vote from the 271 legislators assembled in the Spanish Hall of Prague's Hradcany Castle.

Zapotocky was chosen for the job by the Czechoslovak Communist party's Central Committee which has had plenty of chances to learn the Kremlin's views.

Radio Prague broadcast details of the shakeup brought on by the death of Gottwald, who succumbed at 56 a week ago to an illness officially described as pneumonia and pleurisy soon after returning from Prime Minister Stalin's funeral.

NEWSMEN ABOARD

American's Yacht Captured By Armed Red Chinese Junk

HONG KONG, Sunday, March 22 (AP)—Two U. S. news and radio correspondents and an American ship captain were reported captured by the Chinese Communists late Saturday near Hong Kong when an armed Red junk ran down and seized a small sailing boat, flying the American flag.

The Royal Navy Observatory at Lantao Island, six miles west of Hong Kong, reported it saw the craft intercepted and towed toward Communist-held Lapsamai Island, 10 miles farther west of this British crown colony.

The boat was believed the 42-foot yawl Kert, owned by Richard Applegate of Medford, Ore., former United Press war correspondent and currently National Broadcasting Company representative in Hong Kong.

(In New York, NBC said it asked the State Department to take "whatever steps possible" toward Applegate's release. Similar representations were made in London and Tokyo.)

Applegate, 37, a life-long boating enthusiast, left here at 11 a.m with Don Dixon, 25, of New York City, a Far Eastern correspondent of the International News Service and two Chinese "boat-boys" for a 40 mile sail to Macau, Portuguese colony on the China mainland.

While only four persons left the slipway where the Kert was moored, it appeared Applegate had later picked up Benjamin Krasner, an American sea captain from Brooklyn, and possibly two others. Friends said it was not known for sure how many were actually aboard.

Applegate and Dixon had planned to sail to Macau to meet David Cicero, International News Photo Service photographer and bring him back with them.

It was not immediately known whether the Kert had reached Macau and was intercepted on the return voyage. If it had, Cicero also might likely be among those held.

Georgi Still Holds Power

MOSCOW, March 21 (AP) — The latest changes in the leadership of the Soviet Communist party in no way lessen the authority of Prime Minister Georgi M. Malenkov.

These changes involve Malenkov's resignation as secretary of the party's powerful Central Committee and assignment of a Secretariat headed by Nikita S. Khrushchev to handle the party work.

The shift, announced by the newspaper Pravda today, is consistent with the present policy of consolidation and increased efficiency in the government and the party

From a widespread organization of many ministries that grew up under Prime Minister Stalin, the government was streamlined earlier this month. Now the same thing has ben completed in the party. The Secretariat used to have 10 members. With Krushchev, a former Ukrainian party boss, at the helm, it will have five.

Fluvanna School Bond Election Passes 66-11

A Fluvanna school election to decide on issuance of $30,000 in bonds for a gymnasium carried yesterday by a vote of 66-11.

The election was called March 10, J. C. Chorn, superintendent of Fluvanna schools, said. The school board will meet there tomorrow night to canvass the vote. No date has been set for selling the bonds, but Chorn said it would be soon.

Valuation of taxable property in the Fluvanna district is approximately $1,053,200 The tax rate is $1 per $100 valuation which gives the district an assessment total of $10,532.80 for 1953.

Russians Get New Challenge

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 21 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross asked the Russians today whether the peace declarations of Prime Minister Malenkov are "empty words." He called once more on the new Soviet leader to show his sincerity and work for peace "in the name of humanity."

In a move from a neutral quarter to see whether the Russians really mean peace, L. N. Palar, Indonesian delegate who has steered a careful middle course in the East-West cold war, proposed formally that the 60-nation U. N. Political Committee take up immediately a Polish proposal wrapping up Moscow's peace plan for Korea and other problems.

The committee adjourned until Monday so delegates could go into a huddle on this surprise move but Russia may oppose it because Chief Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky will not return until Thursday.

Construction Workers In Dallas Call Off Strike, Getting Raises

DALLAS, March 21 (AP)—A 19-day strike of AFL iron workers that stopped construction on some 40 major buildings in Dallas ended at noon today.

David Keeler, president of Local 481 of the union, said the workers will go back on the job Monday.

Keeler said workers in three classes will receive a 12½ cent hourly raise and those in a fourth class will get 15 cents more an hour.

The strike began March 2. Seventeen buildings were picketed, and about 3,000 members of other crafts unions refused to cross the picket lines.

Among the buildings struck was the Republic National Bank's new 40-story sky scraper and a new city-county hospital.

Sales Tax Said Threatening State; Liberals Form Ranks

AUSTIN, March 21 (AP) —Opponents of the Legislature's economy block that won a no-tax victory in the House served notice today that their fight has just begun.

They said Texas is threatened by a sales tax and the way to avoid it is to levy on natural gas going into pipe lines.

Gov. Shivers' team won the first round in the Legislature's big money tournament and seems headed for a final victory.

But House opponents led by Reps. Dolph Briscoe Jr., Uvalde; George T. Hinson, Mineola; Charles E. Hughes, Sherman; Maury Maverick, San Antonio, and John A. Warden, McKinney, renewed their plea that more money is needed and natural gas should be the source.

STRATEGY PLAIN

They said the situation poses the threat of a sales tax

The administration's strategy of low spending and rockbottom taxing was written clearly in big black letters in the House this week and underlined by the governor himself.

Shivers endorsed the House action which brought out the first version of the bill providing money for general state services at levels approximating today's. The House added no important amounts to its appropriations committee recommendations.

DEPENDS ON LAWSUIT

The administration plan in brief is this:

Keep spending at present rates for general services. Hold up additional "worthy" projects until a pending lawsuit over pipe line line taxes is cleared up, then perhaps call a special session to take care of them.

Also keep taxing for general revenue at current figures, but add a penny a gallon to the gasoline sales levy for additional highway money.

The next test of the administration's general fiscal plan comes in the Senate, perhaps by Wednesday. The gasoline tax idea has not yet been made an issue and Shivers apparently had some trouble getting a House member to sponsor it.

VOTES CLOSE

The session's first public hearing on a tax measure has been set for April 1. It is on a bill boosting the levies on oil, gas, chemicals, beer and earth products and adding a tax on timber.

Senate Finance Committee Chairman Otis Lock, Lufkin, figured there was only about three million dollars difference between its version and the House version of the general spending bill. The House set it at $163,202,700 for the next two fiscal years.

Administration forces had some close shaves in shoving their spending bill through the House They lost a few points but prevailed generally.

Opposition came chiefly from members who had new state projects in their districts, from those who want more money for such purposes as state hospitals, from those who want to raise pay of all state workers, including college teachers 10 per cent on the first $3,000 of their salaries, and from opponents of Shivers' new public school finance plan.

SOME DESERT

There may be some significance in the fact that the economy block lost on the issue of raising funds for junior colleges. Enough of the economy faction deserted to vote the group generally identified as high spenders and high taxers.

The administration also just barely survived the effort to add 14 million to the biennial budget for state workers pay—another issue.

Crash Dead Being Identified By Air Force Team In Oakland

OAKLAND, Calif., March 21 (AP)—The slow, grim task of identifying the bodies of 35 air crash victims continued tonight as engineers studied wreckage in hope of learning what caused a four-engine plane to fall from the skies late yesterday. No one aboard survived.

Thirty of the dead were Air Force men from Roswell, N. M., en route to Korea. The others were the plane crew, including two stewardesses.

The big Transocean Air Lines transport, operated on lease by the Air Force, plunged into a cabbage patch near Decoco, 20 miles south of Oakland.

The accident occurred about 6:40 p.m., just after the pilot had been given landing instructions by Oakland Airport. The plane reached the airport area an hour earlier but because traffic was heavy and visibility poor, the tower assigned it to cruise aloft until its landing turn came.

The radio record contained no hint that the plane was in any danger that was known to the pilot.

After receiving landing instructions, the plane swooped so low over Decoto that it missed some homes by little more than 50 feet. Then, as the engines roared, the ship lurched into the cabbage field, skidding and churning and smashing itself to pieces on the rain-soaked ground.

There came an explosion that shook nearby houses. Flames pillared from the shattered wreckage.

Some of the first to reach the scene thought they could see men move in what was left of the rear structure. But there was no life in anyone as ambulances carried the victims to nearby Parks Air Force Base where identification work began.

The crew dead included Harvey W. Rogers, 41, chief pilot for Tranoceans Air Lines, a resident of Lafayette, Calif. The others were Herman E. Hum, 41, pilot, Daly City, Calif.; Fred W. Patchett, 37, co-pilot, Burlingame, Calif.; Stewardess Thelma Sandige, 27, Oakland, and Mrs. Franklin E. Chapman of El Paso, Tex., wife of a Standard Oil Company executive, who served as second stewardess as she flew here for a visit.

Moves To Free Oatis Since Reds Are Acting So Friendly

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP) — Red Czechoslovakia's new bosses, taking power in a period of Kremlin peace gestures, are due to receive soon new demands for the release from prison of Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis.

U. S. officials said today that the Oatis case is the No. 1 problem between this country and Czechoslovakia and that Ambassador George Wadsworth is expected to press the new Prague government for a solution.

A different atmosphere may now surround the discussion with Czech officials. For one thing Antonin Zapotocky has succeeded the late Klement Gottwald as president of Czechoslovakia. For another the Communist high command in Moscow appears to be embarked upon a peace offensive, involving moves of calculated friendliness towards the West.

Whether the aim of this Kremlin operation is really to reduce cold war tensions or, as some authorities suspect, to split the Western Powers remains to be seen. There is no denying, however, that the Soviet government under Premier Georgi Malenkov is embarked upon some kind of new maneuver, and it could have an important bearing on Soviet and satellite handling of such matters as the imprisonment of Oatis.

Officials here were interested in the announcement yesterday that Moscow had promised Britain to try to obtain the release of 10 civilians imprisoned in North Korea for nearly three years. Earlier Soiet authorities in Germany had given a mild response to British protests over the recent shooting down of a British plane by a Soviet fighter.

The theory that the Soviets may be trying to drive a wedge between the Western Allies arises from the belief of American officials that this is a basic purpose of Soviet foreign policy. It is noted that the specific friendly gestures made by the Russians so far have been toward Britain alone. However, officials here said their theory would still be valid, if the Russians made equally specific gestures towards the United States because the essence of the strategy of division is believed to be to ease cold war tensions to such a degree that Allied countries will slacken their defense efforts and pull apart from each other.

Oatis, 39, was arrested in Prague April 23, 1951. He had been assigned there by The Associated Press the previous June.

Little more than two months after he was seized, he was convicted by a Communist court of espionage and was sentenced to 10 years in prison on July 4. The United States government denounced the trial and conviction as a "ludicrous travesty of justice" and shortly began imposing restrictions on relations between the United States and Czechoslovakia including prhobitions on travel and trade.

The government has taken the position that it would consider lifting these restrictions when Czechoslovakia was willing to let Oatis leave the country.

PLAY HERE TOMORROW

A scene from "The Three Little Pigs," a musical production to be preesnted at the high school auditorium tomorrow night at 8 o'clock is shown above. The play is being sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Associations from the Central Elementary and Central Primary Schools to raise funds for medical care to underprivileged children. An all-adult, professional cast plays the parts of fairy animals.

Profit Should Be Minimized In Scurry's Vocational Work

To much emphasis appears to be placed on profits in the work of agricultural students here, some stockmen and agriculturists believe.

Harrie Winston, long-time stockman here, said this week of 4-H club work, "When the profit motive becomes the principal consideration, the original purpose of club work has been lost." Winston said that it seems that too many of the boys now in club work are thinking only of profit.

Nolan von Roeder, who has been active in the work of the Scurry County Junior Livestock Association several years, agreed with Winston, indicated that he believes the agriculture leaders here may be responsible if such a thing is happening.

Von Roeder said he has wondered whether the created markets at junior livestock shows here is good. He explained that before such a market was held here the boys' animals were taken to Fort Worth and sold on the regular market for good market prices, but he pointed out that competitive bidding set up in the market of local businessmen at the livestock shows here may give young boys a wrong slant on commercial cattle raising, with the high prices they receive here creating the idea that a person could get rich quick in that business.

"Club work was not organized with profit in view," Winston said, adding, "if it were, all of us would be in it." The cattleman said a youth of 4-H club age should be given responsibilities with the idea of his learning how to assume them. Such a thing, he said, offers the opportunity for the boy to carry out a project, gaining early training to enable him to go out later and hold his own with his fellowman. In earing for a project, he can use his own judgment and his own imagination.

"It doesn't matter whether or not he's going to become a feeder when he's grown. The main thing is to start him to thinking." Even if the boy does lose money on his project, the boy has gained experience worth the cost, which could not have been bought for any amount of money, Winston said.

Oscar Fowler, county agent and leader of the 4-H group here, said that much of the boy's profit-mindedness starts at home. Speaking of the created market at the livestock show, Fowler said as long as projects are raised on a competitive basis it is better to have a premium for boys with the best animals and who care for them best, or there would be little interest in the show.

"Of course, a boy must develop his thinking to take defeat as if he had won, so he can go ahead and plan for the next day's or year's operations," Fowler said. He added that he believes that in most cases the boy's father and agent or instructor can help him to evaluate the worth of his animal and to know what to expect in a show.

Broadway Browning, realtor who is a former agriculture instructor, agreed that the "padded market" could tend to hurt the boy, but he said subsidizing of the market at the shows was created to stimulate interest in the shows themselves.

"Most teachers and agents do get the idea across to the boys that the commercial market is nothing like the one at a show "But if they don't, it could hurt them."

Browning said the students put more money into a feeder project feeder because they are raising the animals with showmanship in mind. "They don't make muck profit out of them because they want to fatten them for the shows," Browning said, explaining that the boys are quick to learn how to care for a commercial animal at the same time they are preparing one for a show.

Billy Boren, another man who has dealt with shows for a number of years, said he believes some boys can be led to believe profit is the main part of their learning days, "But I think the teachers themselves will help keep that down as much as they can."

The men expressed the opinion that the 4-H and FFA programs are good and can teach the boy many things he must learn not only to become stock raisers but to prepare themselves for any kind of profession.

Boys learning to raise animals, Winston said, can also learn to make their own financial arrangements, putting them in a position to make contacts early with persons on whom they may depend later for working capital.

Bobby R. Robbins, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Robbins of Snyder, is now completing basic airman indoctrination at Lackland Air Force Base, near San Antonio.

1952 Death Toll In Texas Lower Than US

AUSTIN, March 21 (AP)—Texas had a lower death rate from car accidents last year than the national average, Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, said today.

The figure of 2,498 persons killed set the rate at the lowest point since the creation of the department, he added. The figure was 48 below that for 1951.

Total number of accidents was up some 31,000 over the preceding year. The estimated economic loss from traffic accidents was set at more than 154 million dollars, up 21 million from 1951.

The engine which powered the first Wright airplane was made in their bicycle shop with three power tools, a drill press, a lathe and a bandsaw.

Farmers Cautious But Hopeful About Drought Ending In Area

Farmers are more optimistic about the possible breaking of the drought this spring than at any time in the past two years here, agricultural leaders say, but the farmers have learned from experience to be cautious.

Through caution, the farmers who were forced to find jobs other than farming to support their families while prevented from raising crops are still holding those jobs, waiting until planting time to see if there will be enough moisture.

Prospects look good for the drought to end, farmers say, because more moisture has fallen so far this year than during the same period of the last two years. More rain has fallen so far this month than fell during the entire month of March since 1945. This, some of them think, may be a very wet year.

Farmers remember the last two droughts, and some believe this one is following the same pattern. During the 1916-18 drought, rainfall was far below average for three years—totals of 12.61 inches in 1916, 8.15 in 1917, and 12.32 in 1918 — but in 1919, a total of 28.7 inches fell, far above the present 41-year average of 20.76.

During the next drought, the pattern was much the same, with 15.46 inches falling in 1933 and 10.78 in 1934, followed up by an above-average fall of 23.13 in 1935.

If this drought can be compared with the last two, the moisture running above average this month may be an indication of a good crop year coming on. Already this month 1.17 inches of moisture has fallen in slow, soaking rain, bringing the year's total so far to 1.8.

Jake Hodges, chief of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service here, said this week that the moisture is 20 to 30 inches deep in the soil in most places in the county and as deep as 40 inches in some of the sandier soil.

Both Hodges and Oscar Fowler, anticipate a good planting season if the weather does not get hot and windy and if the county receives at least one more good fall of moisture in early April or before the planting season arrives.

Most farmers have either bedded their land or are now in the process of doing so. That work is being done by most farmers after their working hours in their other jobs. With that done, and with equipment readied and seed bought, most farmers are now just waiting to see what occurs.

Hodges said two or three farmers are already seeding grass but that most will wait until the ground is warmer. He said grass is usually planted at about the same time as is cotton.

Cotton planting season, according to Fowler, is in May, usually from the first of that month until the last. The county agent added that if more moisture does not fall until June, there will still be plenty of cotton planted then.

Feeds are usually planted from the last part of May until mid-June, with some planting even in July if the moisture is late but adequate.

"Normally we don't get much rain in March. And with the kind of weather we have had the last two years, we didn't expect much moisture this month," Fowler said, adding "I hope it is an indicator of better times."

One seed dealer reported that he had sold completely out of cotton seed early, explaining that all of it had been on order. He said the recent March rains boosted sales of maize and grain sorghums, which are now selling out.

The seed dealer said sales of sudan grass seed, which will be crops, are also good.

Robert Deaton, administrator for the Farm Home Administration, said most farmers appear hopeful for good crops this year, adding that all, including him, believe prospects look better than they did during the last two years.

Total operating and disaster loans through Deaton's office, which serves both Scurry and Fisher Counties, now stand at $360,000, Deaton said. Disaster loans are paid by farmers at the end of the crop year, while operating loans are made for a period of three to seven years.

Deaton opined that the average family type, one-crop farmer is now in a worse financial strain than at any time during the depression years.

Original disaster loans through the Snyder office to Scurry farmers, of which 20 have been made since the fiscal year began last July 1, stand at $46,995, while three supplemental disaster loans amount to $3,872.

Three original operating loans total $10,190, and the office has made one supplemental operating loan of $1,880. Operating loans may be used to purchase equipment and livestock.

A few loans are pending now, Deaton said.

Boards Oppose Shivers' Plan

AUSTIN, Mar. 21 (AP)—The Texas Assn. of School Boards today announced results of a poll seeking to find out how its members feel about some education issues pending before the Legislature.

It said it had replies from 543 members of the approximately 2,254 in the association.

Of those replying, the association said in a press release, 57 per cent opposed Gov. Shivers plan to peg local participation in the minimum foundation program at 25 per cent of the total cost. It is about 21 per cent now.

Twenty-two per cent of those replying favored the plan, 21 per cent undecided, the association said.

Sixty-seven per cent of those plying favored setting up the minimum salary for teachers at $3,000 a year with corresponding increases across the board on state salary schedules above the minimum.

Twenty-eight per cent favored modified increase, the association said. Five per cent opposed the increase.

The plan to figure the economic index on a three or four year average of the local ability to pay, instead of the present one year basis, was approved by 81 per cent.

Rapist Dies In Electric Chair

HUNTSVILLE, March 21 (AP) — Samuel James Gasway, 35, died in the electric chair early today for the rape of a 9-year-old girl.

To the last, the Amarillo man maintained he was innocent. He was convicted of an attack on the girl who was delivering newspapers for a friend when she was forced into a car June 25, 1951.

Gasway, a slight, grim-faced little man, entered the state prison's death chamber two minutes after midnight. The first electric shock hit him at 12:05 a.m. He was pronounced dead three minutes later.

Before being strapped in the chair, the doomed man thanked prison officials "for being so nice to me" and shook hands with chaplains, guards and others.

Then he said to Don Reid Jr., Huntsville newspaperman with whom he'd eaten his last meal, "By the way, Don, I still want to say I'm not guilty."

Top Jet Ace To Give Corsicana Address

CORSICANA, March 21 (AP)—Top jet ace Col. Royal N. Baker today was invited by the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce to address a joint meeting of civic clubs here.

Baker was due to arrive this afternoon in San Francisco from Korea.

He's a native of Corsicana. The family moved to McKinney when Baker was a teen-ager.

A chamber spokesman said the invitation will be delivered after Baker arrives in McKinney.

Two Dead In Crash

ROSWELL, N. M., March 21(AP)—Two Oklahoma City men were killed last night when their small plane crashed eight miles east of here. Officers identified the pilot as H. A. Walker and the passenger as Percy L. King.

Local Trailer Dealers State Their Business Not Booming

Contrary to a report that trailer sales have reached an all-time high over the nation, most dealers in the house-on-wheels here say they are down in Snyder.

Only one trailer dealer said he had noticed a change for the better, with sales gradually picking up, but he said such a thing is seasonal.

"They usually pick up a little in February," the dealer said, adding that the increase in sales waited until March this year.

Another dealer said that he was told at a recent trailer show in Houston that sales are a little slow nationally but that propsects are good for sales. He added that no trailer firms would say that prices will drop.

Some dealers say there is now a trend to persons buying new trailers and not used ones.

"The used ones generally go to the boom areas for sale," one dealer said, adding that the market is better for the newer and more modern trailers here. Another dealer agreed, saying he had sold used trailers to several persons who now want newer and more modern trailers. He said he will soon add two-bedroom trailers to his market to supply a new demand for them here.

While some say sales are up and some say they are down, one dealer said he has noticed no change at all recently, adding that they have been at a low for several months.

"Rent has gone down here but trailer payments haven't," he said, explaining that many who would have bought trailers to prevent paying high rent are now renting apartments and houses.

One of the dealers estimated trailer sales at about 20 per cent that of the oil boom days here, and all agreed that the majority of their business came from oil field workers. Practically all the trade is local they say.

A total of 34 trailers have been transferred at the county tax assessor's office here since Jan. 1, about half of them sold by one individual to another.

Of those 34, 21 were sold to local persons. Those selling to out-of-town persons usually went to those living in cities with oil activity, such as Brownfield, Hobbs, N.M., Odessa, Midland, Aspermont, and others.

TEXAS LADY LOST 27 POUNDS

It's simple: it's amazing how quickly one may lose bulky, unsightly fat — or money back. Here is a home recipe to help take off ungainly weight and help restore graceful slenderness. Now get the improved Barcentrate. Mix with grapefruit juice as directed on label and take according to directions. Then watch the fat almost seem to melt off from neck, chin, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles. The improved Barcentrate contains in carton, in addition to liquid, appetite curb tablets, which help to lessen the taste buds which lie on the surface of the tongue. If the very first bottle and tablets doesn't show you the way to reduce, safely and easily, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Ralph J. Wesson, who doesn't think any composer has ever matched Bach, plays one of his favorite melodies on the vibraharp. The Snyder musician said the composer, a Lutheran choirmaster, wrote music especially for the organ, a favorite instrument of Wesson's. (Dolores Ketchersid Photograph).

Ralph Wesson One Of Snyder's Busiest Full-time Musicians

Probably one of the busiest musicians in town is Ralph J. Wesson of 1600 Twenty-seventh Street who plays organ or vibraharp for civic, church and club events.

Regardless of the group he is playing to Wesson said audience reaction is about the same. The songs most frequently requested are "The Bells of St. Mary's," "The Rosary,", "Indian Love Call" and "When They Ring the Golden Bells." The first three are special favorites of Wessons, too, since they were some of the first he learned.

The music director of the First Baptist Church first started taking piano lessons when he was six years old. At the University of Oklahoma he completed a major in piano and a minor in cello, precussions and clarinet. Wesson has done almost three years work toward an organ degree and hopes to finish it "not for the degree, but to increase my abilities to perform."

The musician said the number appearances have dropped somewhat since World War II when as a chaplain's assistant he often had eight engagements per day. Wesson also said he has been forced to cut the four or five hours practice he used to put in every day. "One has to have three little ones before he can appreciate that," he said.

Wesson said his favorite instrument is the organ," or at least that is the one I have most of my money tied up in," he laughed, referring to the one installed in his home. The musician believes in Snyder "there has been an appreciable growth in appreciation of organ music." He pointed out that at least six organs have been placed in private homes in the last two years.

Wesson wrote and arranged music for the University Prep School orchestra but said he isn't primarily interested in composing. Occasionally he still arranges music for trios and quartets at the church. Wesson taught public school music before the war in Kinta, Okla., "a wide place in the road close to home." Originally he was from Stigler, Okla.

School Bands Play Thursday

The annual band review will be presented in a joint performance by junior high and high school bands Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

Varied musical numbers are listed on the program including English and circus marches, swing and classical music. Karlene Roberts, coronet, will solo in "Permier Polka" accompanied by Kenneth Lawrence at the piano. Tommy Smith, baritone, will be featured in "Ballad for Evening."

The junior high school band of 50 pieces, directed by Tim Dennis, will play for the first portion of the program followed by the 70-piece high school band under the direction of Melvin Montgomery. Five of the selections will be played at regional contests in San Angelo May 2, Montgomery said.

Novelty tunes to be included on the program are "Little Brown Jug Goes to Town (and the Piccolo Gets Left)" "Three Blind Mice at a Night Club Floor Show," and "Musical Jamboree." More serious numbers are Pares' "Fantasie Ballet," and Gundmand's "The Green Domino."

Baritone Ends Concert Series For This Year

Hugh Thompson, Metropolitan Opera baritone, will sing for the last Civic Music Association concert Friday night at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

Thompson is on his eighth coast-to-coast tour and has appeared with such opera companies as the Francisco Opera Company and the St. Louis Opera. He made his debut with Metropolitan in 1944.

Thompson was given his first singing lessons by his grandmother, Mrs. Bernhardt Bronson, in Tacoma, Washington. He graduated from the University of Washington and was granted a five-year fellowship at the Julliard Graduate School. Afterwards at Metropolitan he sang in "La Boheme," "Carmen," "The Magic Flute," and "Lorengrin" and toured with "Die Fledermaus."

Thompson has also appeared on National Broadcasting Company's "Serenade to America," Mutual's "Music for An Hour," "Opera Concert" as well as television opera programs.

H-SU Choir To Sing Here

The 65-voice Hardin - Simmons University Chapel Choir will present a concert for the public at the Snyder High School auditorium Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The choir is under the direction of Euell Porter, a former president of the Texas Music Educators Association who has been with the school for the past six years. The choir tours 15,000 miles annually throughout Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. Listed as a member of the group is Carl Smith of Ira.

Included on the program will be "Love Divine," "O Magnify the Lord," "Holy Lord God," "O Susanna," "Madam Jeanette," and "Charming Bells."

Science Made Interesting By Haynes' Book

(CELLULOSE THE CHEMICAL THAT GROWS, by William Haynes, Doubleday and Co., Inc., Garden City, $4.

Although 386 pages constitute a scientific book about cellulose Williams Haynes keeps it readable by frequent insertions of anecdotes and defined scientific terms.

Haynes traces cellulose from 35-00 B. C. when the Egyptians made papyrus from pith and aquatic reeds to 1950 and celanese. Such everday names as DuPont, Dow Chimical, Ansco and Kodak are found in the context. In almost every one of the 16 chapters the author discusses the material from a different angle including enamels for automobiles, sponges, newsprint, photographic film and fabrics.

Haynes has held chemistry to a minimum in his book but upon occasions felt compelled to use it. A quotation taken from the fourth chapter is typical of his definitions. "The idea of valence is made clear by imagining that the atoms have attached to them hooks which link to hooks of other atoms.." He uses graphs and pictures frequently to illustrate information. Chemistry isn't new to Haynes since he has written three books previously on the subject.

The author infers the story of cellulose may just be beginning and is probably destined for sharply increased growth, becoming higher in quality, lower in price and more useful to the consumer. Hayne lives with his wife in Stonington, Conn., where he not only writes books but breeds terriers. His book is the first in Doubleday's American Industry Series.

New Dance Records By Les Paul And Ford, Eddie Fisher Out

Favorite recording stars ranging from Les Paul and Mary Ford to Hugo Winterhalter have new records on the shelves this week.

Les and Mary branched off into unfamiliar melodies, "Dry My Tears," and "Cryin'." Both cut for Capitol, the songs are quietly blue but not mournful. Another disc the two have on the market "I'm Sitting on Top of the World," contrasts sharply with the first record from the downbeat to the last lively measure. On the opposite side, an old one called "Sleep," Les solos with a slight Hawaiian movement finished off with jazz.

Eddie Fisher who has never been extremely popular in Snyder but still sells records has a new record out that may hit the top. "Downhearted" as sung for RCA by Fisher has a smooth danceable tempo provided by the strings of Winterhalter's orchestra. At present the record occupies the twentieth position on the national poll.

On the opposite side Winterhalter rees a more dramatic arrangement for "How Do You Speak to an Angel?" taken from the musical production, "Hazel Flagg."

The orchestra leader has a new disc of his own out called "Will-O'-The Wisp Romance" in which his mixed chorus takes the vocal honors. It is a light little melody for after dinner. On the other side "The Magic Touch" from "More About Love" turns into a typical Winterhalter production which is too operatic to dance to but makes good listening.

A comparatively new singer, Dick Todd, has challenged the hillbilly interpretation of "Bumming Around" with his popular rendition done with the Commanders for Decca. Dick's voice, simular to Bing Crosby's picks up a light Latin-American beat for the opposite side, "Let Me Know." Hillbilly Jimmie Dean also has "Bumming Around" cut for 4 Star with "Picking Sweethearts" on the other side.

The most popular records last week were:

"Tell Me You're Mine," the Gaylords.

"Till I Waltz Again With You," Teresa Brewer.

"Oh, Happy Day," Lawrence Welk.

"Doggie in the Window," Patti Page.

"Kaw-Lige," Hank Williams.

"A Fool Such as I," Tommy Edwards.

"Don't Let the Stars Get in Your Eyes," Slim Willet.

"Side By Side," Kay Starr.

"My Baby's Coming Home," Les Paul and Mary Ford.

"No Help Wanted," the Carlisles.

Snyder Track Team Picks Up Two Seconds At Odessa Meet

Two second places were taken by the Tiger cinder team in the West Texas Relays at Odessa yesterday.

The places were taken by the sprint medley and mile relay teams.

The medley group, composed of Reagan White, Gerald Crawford, Gary Harris, and Keith Pitner, finished only a hair's distance behind Sweetwater's team, which won the event. Sweetwater finished with a time of 3:42.4, while Snyder had 3:42.6.

Both Sweetwater and Snyder times broke the record for that event in the meet. The record was 3:45.1, set by Lamesa in 1950. Sweetwater had a better time of 3:40 in the preliminaries. The Snyder team had taken second place in the same event at the Canyon Reef Relays here last week.

The mile relay squad, made up of White, Jackie Grimmett, Deanie Floyd, and Tommy Ivison, finished second in that race with a time of 3:33 1. Amarillo was one second ahead of the Snyder team with 3:32.1.

Gerald Crawford, who had qualified in the 100-yard dash, was eliminated in the semi finals.

Amarillo won the high school division of the meet followed by Odessa. Snyder was far down the list of numerous entries with six points.

The Snyder squad, coached by Jack Dillon and Horace Bostick, will journey to Brownwod next week end for the Bluebonnet Relays.

Taking first in the 100-yard dash was Gene Ellis of Andrews, who took second in 120-yard high hurdles and third in 180-yard low hurdles here last week.

In other relays, Pampa took the half-mile with a time of 1:33.5, and Amarillo won the 440-yard relay with 43.8.

Billy Harville of Odessa tossed the discus 167 feet, 1 inch to win that event. Bennie Clark of O'Donnell took the high jump with 6 feet 1 7—8 inch, breaking a record of 6 feet 3—8 inch set by Byron Townsend of Odessa in 1948. Don Trickey of Amarillo and Jerry Davis of Lubbock tied up with 11 feet. Dale Dodd of Wink won the shot put with 51 feet 4 inches. Dodd won the shot here last week with 50 feet 3 inches.

Bantam Holds Title In KO

JOHANNESBURG, SouthAfrica, March 21 (AP)—World Bantamweight Champion Jimmy Carruthers of Australia knocked out former Champ Vic Toweel after 29 seconds of the 10th round tonight to retain the title and prove that his sensational winning of the championship was no fluke.

Carruthers, a 5-4 favorite in the scheduled 15-round bout, disappointed a crowd of 36,000 in open air Rand Stadium, who had come to see their idol, Toweel, get even for a stunning first round knockout last Nov. 15. Carruthers weighed 117 pounds, 14 ounces, Toweel 117 pounds, 9 ounces.

For a brief time it seemed the South African hero might make it as he staged a short-lived rally in the middle rounds. But the former champion's supporters stopped cheering in the ninth round when Carruthers caught Toweel with a smashing left to the jaw.

After that it was just a question of how long it would take the southpaw Australian slugger to put away Toweel. The South African was wide-open but game target for the rest of the round, unable to prevent the barrage of blows from Carruthers' eager fists.

The champion came out swinging in the tenth, landing a short, sharp right to the head and following with another crushing left to the jaw. The South African, weakened by the pounding he took in Carruthers' opening burst, sank slowly to one knee, then onto both knees. He rolled over on the canvas and it was all over.

Standings Are Same In Loop

Standings remained unchanged in the top five of the men's bowling league ths week, but points were getting closer after a week's play.

Goss Car Lot, still leading the league, lost a part of its big point margin when it fell to Snyder Wholesale 2,713 to 2,551. Snyder Wholesale, with its score of 2,713, came the closest of any team in the league to the high team score of 2,766 set by Sun Oil No. 2 several weeks ago. The wholesalers are holding third place in the league.

Jackson Motor Sales and Newman Grill gained the same number of points when they finished their game with Jackson barely leading 2,611 to 2,604.

Chuck Wagon, another of the top five, downed Sun Oil No. 2 2,636 to 2,508, while Williams Jewelry, tied with Chuck Wagon for fourth place, defeated Sun Oil No. 1 2,688 to 2,487.

Permian Mud, which rolled 2,461, and Lewis-Burney Service, which scored 2,298, gained wins over Sun Pipeline teams No. 1 and 2 by forfeit.

High lines rolled last week were those by Dr. S. H. Merritt of Snyder Wholesale with 578, Don Hire of Williams Jewlery with 574, Q.F. Bryant of Chuck Wagon with 573, and Bob McKinney of Jackson Motors with 550.

15-1 Shot Is Florida Derby Event Winner

MIAMI, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Money Broker, a 15 to 1 shot in a field of 17 speedy three-year-olds, won the $100,000 added Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park today, beating Blaze by a neck in a driving finish.

Spring Hill Farm's Jamie K. and Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Slim finished in a dead heat for third in the rich mile and an eighth feature.

Money Broker, owned by Ed Grosfield and Aley Grissom, Detriot automobile dealers, ran the distance in 1:53 4-5 under Jockey Alfred Popara and paid a handsome $33.80, $13.70 and $6.60 in the $2 mutuels.

Blaze, coupled with four others in the field, paid $5.10 and $3.90. The show price on Jamie K was $3.80 and on Slim $3.90.

Money Broker, which finished second to Matagorda in the Louisiana Derby a week ago and had won five straight races earlier in for today's effort and boosted his winnings this year to $99,900.

The chestnut colt, son of Half Crown out of Chartreuse 2nd, thus moved squarely into the Kentucky Derby picture.

C. A. O'Neil Jr.'s Air Pine and Harry N. Eads' Sir Mango were first out of the gate but by the time they had passed the stands Blaze had moved in front, with Slim a head away and Mrs. T. M. Daniel's Ace Destroyer in third position

Money Broker was fourth around the far turn and moved up to the front as they turned for home fighting it out with Blaze. The others were strung out far back.

Howard JC Is Darkhorse In NJC Tourney

HUTCHINSON, Kas., March 21 (AP)—Lon Morris of Jaconsville, Tex., with a 33 and 6 record for the season, is one of the favorites for the seventh annual National Junior College Athletic Association Basketball Tournament opening here next Tuesday.

The nation's top junior college teams are scheduled to begin arriving here Sunday morning, although the five-day national championship tourney grind doesn't begin until 12:30 p.m. (CST).

Sixteen teams, including two squads each from Kansas and Missouri, will vie for the crown won last year by Wharton County, Tex , junior college.

Mississippi's East Central cagers are from the region that has supplied two second-place tourney teams in recent years.

A second Texas entrant Howard County Junior College of Big Spring is rated the tournament darkhorse. The Texans are led by Bob Williams, a 6-foot, 4-inch performer who has been all-state, all-regional and all-conference two consecutive years. He has an 18.8 point average for his season's offensive work.

Lon Morris' big gun is Bob Burrow, 6-7 pivotman, who has found the hoop for 824 points.

The NJCAA meet, co-sponsored by Hutchinson's American Legion Post and Hutchinson Junior College, is in its fifth year here.

Bolt, Hawkins Lead Tourney

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Tommy Bolt, refreshed by a two-week rest from the tournament tour, covered the Hyde Park Municipal Course in 66 strokes today and caught Fred Hawkins at the miday point in the Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

Bolt, from Maplewood, N. J , had 68-66 for his 134—10 under par for the two rounds.

Hawkins, El Paso, Texas, added 69 to his opening round 65 for his 134.

They were two strokes ahead of Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa. After another two-stroke gap came five players at 138, including Jim Turnesa, Briarcliff, N. Y., national PGA champion; Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill.; Charles Haroer, Ft. Benning, Ga.; Jim Ferrier, San Francisco; and Jay Hebert, Erie, Pa.

Today it was Bolt who slipped an eagle into his round to gain first place Friday Hawkins had done it.

Bolt hit a No. 2 iron shot to the 14th green and sank an 18-foot putt for his eagle on the 466-yard par 5 hole. On the 16th hole Bolt's ball birdie putts from 10 and 7 feet on rimmed the cup and he missed the next two holes.

"I got to gassing those last three holes," Bolt reported. "I guess I was afraid I was going to break the record."

Hawkins' 65 Friday had tied the course record first set two years ago by Jerry Barber.

Hawkins had one bad break in his three-under-par round today. On the third hole his drive hit something in the fairway and kicked to the left, stopping squarely under the boundary fence.

Veeck's Man Who Got Braves Franchise Moved To Milwaukee

By Joe Reichler
And Jack Hand

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Milwaukee has Bill Veeck to thank for its return to the major leagues after 51 years. Sportshirt Bill lost his own fight to bring big league baseball to Baltimore but he was a key man in the shift of the Boston Braves to Milwaukee.

Owner Lou Perini of the Braves had not planned to move until 1954. He admitted he was forced into his sudden action "as a result of great pressure by Milwaukee fans to get major league ball in 1953."

Perini didn't say so but he might have added that it was Veeck who applied much of the pressure. Not until Veeck announced he was negotiating with Milwaukee brewing interests to move his St. Louis Browns to the Wisconsin metropolis did the Braves start the wheels moving for 1953.

When Perini turned down a $500,000 offer from Veeck for the Milwaukee franchise, which he had owned since 1948, he was on the hot spot. He was blamed for keeping Milwaukee out of the big leagues although he had promised he never would stand in the way.

"I am a man who usually keeps his word," Perini said then. "But there is a right way and a wrong way to do this thing. This way (Veeck's way) is the wrong way."

Here was Perini, owner of the Boston franchise since 1945 and owner of Milwaukee for five years, being pushed against the wall. He planned to move out of Boston, a losing proposition, to Milwaukee, in '54. Now he was faced with possible loss by "draft" of his valuable minor league property. It was time for him to show his hand.

The right time came when Veeck suddenly shifted interest to Baltimore and stories broke that he had bought the Baltimore franchise from Jack Dunn for $350,000 with the intention of moving the Browns to Baltimore and Baltimore into Toledo.

Toledo was the big stumbling block. That city, an "open" city without baseball since the American Assn. moved out last summer, was Perini's ace in the hole. In his mind, Toledo was to be the new home of the Milwaukee club. If Baltimore grabbed Toledo, it would leave Milwaukee with no place to go.

A week ago it seemed both the Baltimore and Milwaukee shifts were going to go through.

Yet Perini, needing a unanimous vote in the National, won out, 8-0, while Veeck, requiring only six votes in the American, lost, 2-5, only Cleveland and Chicago going along with him.

Why?

There may have been several factors but the most important were Perini's personal popularity with National League owners and the many animosities that Veeck has credited in the American League.

Anchor Man To Determine Win At Texas Meet

AUSTIN, March 21 (AP) — The anchor men probably will determine the victory or defeat of their own teams in the Texas Relays Friday and Saturday.

Every relay division of the big track and field meet boasts reliable clutch runners who may break some records.

Texas might be below top strength in the 440 and 880-yard relays in the university class, but remains a leading contender in both with anchor man Charley Thomas.

The Longhorns will draw strong competition from Houston, Oklahoma A&M and Kansas State, anchored by Olympic star Thane Baker.

Kansas and Oklahoma A&M seem strongest in the longer relay events. Both have fine anchor men. The Jayhawks return three members of the mile relay team which set a Drake Relays record of 3:13.1 last spring. They head a field including Oklahoma A&M, Houston, Texas A&M, and Kansas State.

SOONER NO. 2 TEAM

The Sooners will enter their No 2 team here in the mile relay. The top foursome, disqualified last year after running a record-breaking 3:13.1, will bypass the Texas relays to run against Michigan and Marquette in an indoor feature at the Chicago relays.

Oklahoma A&M could threaten records in the 2-mile and sprint medley if anchor man Bill Heard maintains the torrid 880 pace he has set in early meets. Kansas State is a strong challenger in both, and Texas has a good sprint medley team.

Kansas, the perennial leader in the distance medley and 4-mile relays, offers top teams in both, anchored by Wes Santee, an Olympic performer in the 5,000 meters.

City All-Stars Beat Female 5 Playing Here Friday Night

The Arkansas Travelers met their match here Friday night when the all-stars of the city cage league defeated them 90-77.

The Travelers, professional women's team, indicated with their accurate shooting in warming up before the game that they would take a win with ease, like any other pro squad, but the equal accuracy of sharpshoters Bobby Shipley, Jack Medford, and Gene Gibson put the fems behind.

The first quarter of the game was used up with the two teams trading one-point leads, but the all-stars came out on top at the end of that period 20-17, and they widened the gap to 45-35 by the half.

During the third period, All-American Frances Garroutte opened up and tallied 12 quick points, while Hazel Walker, another All-American and manager of the team, scored six. But the squad was still behind the Snyder group 60-55.

As the final period opened, the Travelers tied the score 65-65, and finally Garroutte put her squad ahead 69-68, but Charlie White fired right back to put his team in the lead.

Pat Johnson, 5-11 star who rarely missed a shot, poured on the steam in the final period, scoring 12 points while her teammates tallied 10, Shipley, Medford, Gibson and White kept up the Snyder score and finally won over the pros.

The Travelers, who were brought here under the sponsorhsip of the DeMolays, mixed comedy with their game by hackling the officials, Glenn Snyder and Billy J. Weaver. Snyder had his shirt ripped completely off him by the time the game ended.

At the half, Miss Walker gave a free throw exhibition in a match against Gibson. Miss Walker has been undefeated for six years, and Gibson once led the nation in free throws while he was at Texas Tech.

On standing shots, Miss Walker edged Gibson, making 13 out of 15 while Gibson made 12. Kneeling, Miss Walker made 10 and Gibson made six. Sitting, she hit five and he hit two.

Local School Man Goes In For Parakeets By Buying Over 100

"Parakeets live in a little society, and they are more conventional than people," according to Snyder's newest breeder, Herman Trigg of 909 Twenty - seventh.

True to their codes, the birds will take only one mate for life unless separated, Trigg said. "But one extra hen is like a frustrated woman," he stated, adding that if the hen is mated she soon ceases fighting. Trigg has one troublemaker in an isolated pen but said he will give her one more chance before giving her away. Although breeders usually kill rioters Trigg confessed he was "too chicken-hearted."

The Snyder man is starting in the parakeet business in a big way. He bought 125 birds and placed in three separate pens. He now has about 110 which he said is about the capacity and expects to hatch and sell over 500 this year. Trigg said the birds will market at $50 to $70 per dozen wholesale. He stated parakeet breeders could make a profit on the birds even if local persons didn't buy any since there are ready national wholesale outlets.

Trigg isn't sure the birds are a fad and pointed out that the market should have slumped after Christmas. Instead it is still rising. The breeder said parakeets have especially become popular in the last 10 years after an interstate shipping restriction was removed. He said it was inaccurately believed at one time that the birds were the sole transmitters of psittacosis (a wasting disease of birds, contagious to man), but it was later proved the disease is carried by almost any bird or animal.

Trigg is principal of the junior high school and started with the parakeets only for a hobby. When he and his wife lived in Brownwood, he ran motorboats on the lake there for a hobby. But Trigg said the present hobby "will at least maintain itself, and it's a lot of fun, too." Eventually he hopes to expand by adding finches and cockatoos to his pen.

The shell parakeets, sometimes inaccurately called love birds, come from Australia and are in shades of greens, blues and yellows. Trigg said some breeders have rare strains such as albinos which market for $45 to $50 each.

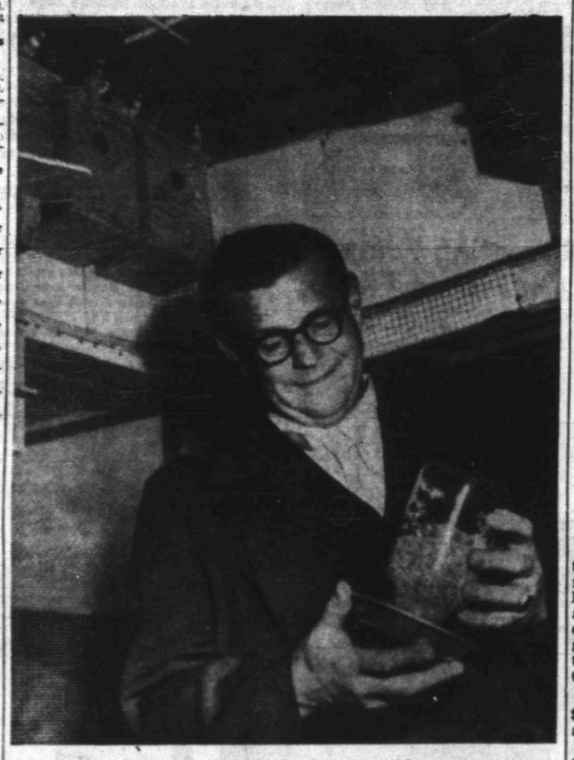
Caring for the birds is fairly simple. They have a 105 degree body temperature and keep healthier in a 68-degree room, Trigg said. On cold nights he turns on an infra-red lamp, but said next winter he plans to use a thermostat controlled heater. Up to date he hasn't worked out a cooling device for summer. For exercise Trigg attached about a 10-foot fly pen to the room.

Parakeet food consists of a mixture of 60 per cent white millet, 30 per cent oat groats and 10 per cent canary seed. Also included on their diet is a small amount of greens such as grass, carrot tops or celery. "Never put out more greens than they will clean up immediately," Trigg cautioned, adding that too much brings on diarrhea.

The breeder said feeding the birds candy, oranges, apples, lettuce or other foods foreign to them might kill them. He hangs cuttlebone in their pens and leaves sheetrock and dried hens' egg shell for them to provide needed minerals.

When nesting the male stands guard on the perch outside the box and feeds the female by regurgitation. After part of the young hatch they both feed them with the new little birds hatching from the rest of the eggs. About eight or 10 eggs may be laid in the boxes which are bare and have concave bottoms. Trigg said he always has extra boxes in the pen since the females "like to be choicy." Although parakeets will lay in the summer during molting season Trigg plans to rest them by simply removing the boxes.

The breeder hasn't taught any of his birds to talk yet. "Someone will come along and talk me out of them," he laughed. "It is just like teaching a child; you put several thousand hours of instruction in," he added.



Herman Trigg checks a feeder in one of his parakeet pens. Above his head are shown four of the 36 laying boxes he put up for 30 pairs of the birds. When boxes are first moved in Trigg said, the birds are "just like a bunch of women in a new housing project," but after about a week they find nests that please them. Only One Man In World Can Make Sound Like Saucers

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Milano is perhaps the only man in the world who can make a sound like a flying saucer.

"It takes off with a strange whistling, whining noise, like this—oo—ooo-oo—ooo-oo—then it becomes supersonic, and you can't hear it," he said.

Milano is firmly convinced flying saucers do exist, they are not of this planet and it is high time us earth people came to terms with them.

"They are not hallucinations," he insisted. "I have seen one myself and my wife has seen several."

Frank's ability to imitate the sound of a flying saucer stems from a highly educated set of vocal chords that earn him $35,000 to $50,000 a year. He is one of the nation's few professional animal imitators and vocal effects artists.

Milano, a pleasant, mild-mannered ex-actor, drifted into this specialty by accident. But today, radio and television would be hard put to do without him. He does the voice effects for half a dozen programs, ranging from a pup on the Rootie Kazootie show to a live parrot on the Bill Goodwin show.

"I can imitate anything from a cricket to a roaring lion," Frank said.

He has also been the voice of a motor boat with a sense of humor, a wayward bus, a jet-propelled spoon and an automobile starter with a rundown battery. Oh, yes, he also was a rice krispie for a while. His "snap, crackle and pop" performance in that role is, of course, now a part of theatrical history—like Hamlet.

All great artists have their sorrows, and Frank has his. There is one sound he has never been able to imitate.

"I can't tinkle like a bell," he said. "I have tried and tried, but I can't make it."

License Plate Sales Go Slow

Less than one-third of the estimated number of vehicles to be registered here this year have been registerd already for 1953, according to Jim Ikard, county tax assessor - collector.

"Most motorists wait until the deadline is near," Ikard said, "but we certainly appreciate those that register their vehicles early, thus helping to avoid the inconvenience of long waiting lines in the rush that usually happens the last week of March."

The total number of vehicles registered since the 1953 plates went on issue Feb. 1 was 4,652 at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. The office has received 13,945 sets of plates for issuance in the county, the number having been based on the number registered during all of last year, which was 12,238.

Those registered this year are 3,239 passenger cars, 722 commercial trucks, 36 commercial truck tractors, 147 commercial trailers, 457 farm trucks, 12 house trailers, 27 dealer numbers, three motorcycles, and seven motor scooters.

Anti-Aircraft Men Get Camp Entertainment

NEW YORK, March 21, (AP) — Question: when is 100 yards longer than 300 feet?

Answer: when you're a GI stationed within 100 yards of normal civilian life you can't enjoy.

Many of the GIs who man the nation's anti-aircraft defenses and radar stations face this paradox. They feel lonely and forgotten despite the fact that they are serving right in or near big American cities.

Because they're specialists—and there aren't enough specialists to go around—they get much less leave time away from their posts than other units. Because they're small outfits, they don't attract the big camp shows which entertain at the large military bases.

To combat this situation, the National Jewish Welfare Board has led a movement to bring small troupes of entertainers to the men at the radar stations and ack-ack batteries. Usually the audience is no more than 30 or 40 men.

"The need is great," said Ben Sternberg, JWB's director of field operations. "True, these men aren't in danger. But psychologically their loneliness and frustration are as great as it is for many men overseas."

For example, says Sternberg, there's an anti-aircraft unit stationed in Baltimore. The men live in tents on the side of a small hill. The GI side is grim, muddy, heavily wooded.

On the civilian side of the hill, only 100 yards away, there is an amusement park, full of laughter, music and noise in season. On their side, the GIs can hear all the fun and enjoy none of it.

Through the co - operation of United Service Organizations, JWB has begun bringing entertainment to these men in Baltimore and others along the East and West Coasts. The average troupe numbers about 8 to 10 performers. It usually includes a small musical combination, an M. C., singer, girl dancer and acrobat.

HAPPY OSCAR WINNERS

One of Hollywood's veterans and a comparative newcomer, Cecil B. DeMille and Gloria Grahame, are equally happy as they hug the gold statuettes given them at the annual Academy Award presentations in Hollywood. DeMille won an Oscar, his first in 40 years of picture making, when his movie "Greatest Show On Earth" was picked as the best picture, and he was given the Irving Thalberg award for consistently high production achievement. Miss Grahame won her Oscar as the best supporting actress.

PMA Lists Farms In Scurry, Borden Getting Aid In 1951

The latest year, 1951, for which the Production and Marketing Administration has made available lists of farmers and ranchers and amounts of federal aid each received shows that 59 individual grants were made in Scurry County and 75 were made in Borden County.

These were made for a total of $19,414.66 in aid in Scurry County and $18,393.84 in Borden.

In the list below there are several names with more than one figure following it. This is because payments were made according to farms rather than individuals and one person may own more than one place.

Sentell Votes For Increased College Grants

AUSTIN—Rep. C. F. Sentell voted with the majority of the House last week when it voted for a raise in grants to junior colleges, breaking the economy wall built up by the House. It ups the money bill by about $700,000 annully.

The amendment, sponsored by William Ehlert of Brenham, will mean an $11 per capita hike for Cisco Junior College, Howard County Junior College, Odessa Junior College, Ranger Junior College, and San Angelo Junior College.

In addition, several schools will share in a $316,000 "equalization fund" set up by the bill.

The Senate has not yet acted on its appropriation bill.

6,000 Scientists To Convene At Gulf Coast During Week

HOUSTON, March 21 (AP)—Scientists who have the job of finding new sources for oil production will use the Texas Gulf Coast the next five days as an outdoors classroom.

Petroleum geologists, geophysicists and paleontologists from 16 countries will study and examine geological structures of one of the nation's most highly concentrated oil and gas producing areas.

Field trips for special studies will supplement a Houston meeting of three oil explorer groups—the American Assn. of Petroleum Geologists, the Society of Exploration Geophysicists and the Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists.

The convention brings together the largest collection of skilled petroleum exploration personnel ever assembled. Preliminary sessions begin tomorrow. Registration is expected to exceed 6,000 by Tuesday.

MAY SEE TIDELANDS

Twenty-four oil and gas fields of special geological significance will figure in the field trips. Of special interest will be salt dome fields, which in addition to oil and gas are a rich source of sulphur. Weather permitting, there will be an inspection of tidelands explorations and operations.

There was a day when the three scientific groups operated independently, and, at times, somewhat skeptically, of each other during their searches for new oil sources.

During the past 20 years, however, the specialized fields have supplemented each other. The most rapid and significant oil discoveries have been recorded during this period.

DIFFERENT FIELDS

The search for oil reservoirs finds geologists studying and mapping the earth's surface, exposed rock formations, core drillings. Geophysicists add information by measuring subsurface structures through use of scientific instruments. Paleontologists, aided by microscopes, interpret fossils found in geological formations.

The 30,000 square mile, Texas-Louisiana Gulf Coast area is an outstanding example of what close co-ordination among the three groups has meant to the oil industry.

Over 400 oil and gas producing structures have been discovered in the area the last 50 years.

Only 40 such structures were discovered between 1901's Spindletop days and 1923. There was comparatively little science connected with oil exploration. A hunch or an oil and gas seepage played a major role.

TEXTBOOK PROVIDED

The 1923-1929 period marked the beginning of scientific subsurface geology and the application of geophysics and paleontology to the search for oil. Seventy producing structures were found in these six years.

The boom came in 1930 when the three sciences commenced to recognize their interdependence of basic thinking on geological problems. Since that time, over 300 structures have been added.

A 165-page guidebook will be the scientists' textbook for their outdoors classroom.

The field trips will supplement a Houston convention program which includes presentation of 75 papers on recent developments in explorations.

Dan Stone

New Manager Of Halliburton Assigned Here

Halliburton Oil well Cementing Company's new superintendent of the Snyder district began his duties here last week.

He is Dan Stone, 36, who has been superintendent of the Houston district for the company for the last two years.

Stone replaces Harold Grant who had been superintendent here since the boom. Grant and Stone exchanged districts, each remaining in the capacity of district superintendent.

"I began as a truck driver for Halliburton like all their employes do," Stone said.

That was 12 years ago in Southern Louisiana for Stone. The native of Kansas worked his way up through the ranks to become fieldman for the company's Cleveland, Tex., district, then superintendent of the Beaumont district before going to the larger district office in Houston.

Here, Stone's district extends about 70 miles north of Snyder, and covers a wide territory in all directions, taking in all of Scurry, Kent, Borden, and Nolan counties and parts of Mitchell and other adjoining counties.

Stone is married and has three children, a 13-year-old son, and two daughters, 11, and four years old. He is a member of the Baptist Church. The family lives at the Halliburton camp five miles north of town.

Lea Field Extender Indicated In Tests

Five-eighths of a mile northeast extension to the East Lovington (Strawn) field of East-Central Lea County has been indicated at Tide Water Associated Oil Co. and George H. Coates No. 1-B M. T. Monteith.

Open two hours and 25 minutes on a drillstem test from 11,315 to 11,335 feet, the well showed gas at the top in four minutes and oil in 25.

It tested to tanks two hours and made 60.32 barrels of 40.5-gravity oil. Amount of oil reversed out of the drillpipe was not reported.

Flowing pressure ranged from zero to 163 pounds and shutin pressure was 3,740 pounds in 30 minutes.

Operators are preparing to core ahead.

Location is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 20-16s-37e and four miles southeast of the town of Lovington.

Coal Company Joins Chorus For Import Curbs On Foreign Oil

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Mounting concern over the flow of foreign crude oil into the United States is lining up the domestic coal and petroleum industries in a common cause.

These competitive industries see eye-to-eye in opposition to imports of crude oil. In Congress, legislators from both oil and coal producing districts separately cry their protests and ask for curtailment of imports.

The volume of these imports reached a total of 1,135,100 barrels a day in the week ended March 14, according to the American Petroleum Institute. The four-week average ended that date was 1,074,600 barrels a day.

AVERAGE IMPORTS HIGH

For the week ended March 14, the petroleum imports averaged 740,800 barrels of crude a day, 37,400 barrels of residual fuel oil; 4,300 barrels of distillate fuel oil; 12,600 barrels of asphalt.

While the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA) was meeting this week in San Antonio and adopting a resolution urging congress to curb oil imports, Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) was telling the House that oil imports had been bad for the domestic coal industry.

Van Zandt, who has introduced one of several bills to check imports of residual oil, said heavy unemployment and human suffering have resulted from the use of foreign oil.

"Each succeeding day becomes darker for residents of communities where business is being suspended as a direct result of the unfair competition of alien residual oil," he said, "and in the gloomy skies over West Germany Russian jet planes have underlined the warning that this is not the time for Uncle Sam to permit the weakening of any of his vital industries."

COAL IS DISPLACED

The Pennsylvanian said daily imports of residual oil are enough to displace more than 100,000 tons of coal and that many mining companies are being driven out of business. From Oct. 1, 1952, through March 7, a total of 69 million barrels of residual oil was imported, he said, adding that in the same period in central Pennsylvania alone 13 mines, employing 1,658 men, closed down. In addition, he said, six other mines were forced to curtail operations, dropping 250 workers.

From the standpoint of national safety, said Van Zandt, it is unwise to let coal mines shut down, be filled with water and made useless for emergencies.

Rep. Leon H. Gavin (R-Pa.), hailing from an oil producing district, agreed with his colleague. He said imports of oil are hurting the economy of his state.

Union Man Is Charged With Blasting Home

TYLER, March 21 —Two men —one identified as a union representative—have been charged with firing two shotgun blasts into the home here of a strike-bound foundry's president.

Charges were filed last night in Justice of the Peace Martin L. Lilly's court against Grady Alexander, 33, and James Gill, 18 ,both Tyler.

Deputy Sheriff Walter Jernigan said Alexander was a representative of the International Moulders and Foundry Workers (AFL).

Two shotgun blasts tore through a window of Israel Smith's home about 1:45 a.m. Wednesday. The pellets lodged in the ceiling of a room in which Smith's 12-year-old son, Jerome, was sleeping. Glass cascaded over the boy, but he was not injured.

Alexander and Gill were charged specifically with burglary of a private residence at night. A section of the charge claims the alleged burglary was committed "with intent to kill and murder Israel Smith."

Smith is president of the Western Foundry here. Last Feb. 9, 200 members of the union went on strike, protesting a lower wage rate on piece work. They're still out.

They struck after the foundry installed new machinery which, company officials said, would allow a worker to turn out 33 1-3 per cent more work. The foundry cut piece rate wages 20 per cent, holding that despite the rate cut workers still would make more money.

Land And Mineral Interest Change Hands As Result Of Settlement Of Court Suit

Eight instruments were recorded in the county clerk's office Friday showing conveyances of land and mineral interest made in settlement Monday of a federal district court suit against Gerald M. Heinzelman of Snyder.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Maude B. Seifert, widow of the defendant's uncle, and her daughter, Mrs. Beatruce M. Ford, seeking an accounting and judgment from Heinzelman for proceeds from about 50 oil and gas leases and mineral and oil interests in Scurry County. The plaintiffs are of Danbury, Conn., former residence of the defendant.

The suit in federal district court in Amarillo had been scheduled to last about a week but was halted Monday when attorneys for both sides announced to Judge Joe B. Dooley they were about to reach an agreement. The plaintiffs had alleged in their original petition that Heinzelman, carrying on an oil and gas lease business in partnership with them, had violated an agreement and was charged with breech of trust.

Mrs. Seifert and Mrs. Ford were reported intending to drill immediately in the area in which they have taken over some of Heinzelman's interests in settlement.

Instruments recorded here show conveyance by Heinzelman and his wife, Mrs. Fayette C. Heinzelman, to Mrs. Seifert and Mrs. Ford of:

All of the grantors' undivided half interest in an oil and gas leasehold estate with like interest in an oil well thereon and personal property installed and —or used in connection with the well, said leasehold estate having been created by oil and gas lease dated April 20, 1945, from J. E. Murphy and wife to Edward L. Goos, relating to 120 acres of northeast quarter of section 114, block 97, H&TC survey, together with like interest in production which accrues to lessee from said well and all wells now or hereafter drilled under said lease; save and except the so-called shallow rights in oil and gas found and produced from depth at and above 4,000 feet in 100 acres of said leasehold now owned by R. L. Wheelock, Jr., trustee, which 100 acres is all of 120-acre leasehold except 20-acres "well tract" in the middle of the north 60 acres of the leasehold; and save and except the remaining right, title and interest to oil payment which may accrue from R. L. Wheelock, Jr., trustee, by virtue of an assignment and contract relating to the above shallow rights of 100 acres; and save and except remaining right, title and interest in oil and—or gas produced from "well tract" and equities arising with reference to one-fourth leasehold interest heretofore assigned to H.P. Slagel as to amounts hereafter to become payable to Edward L. Goos;

One-half of each and all of following oil, gas and other mineral rights under: one-fourth undivided interest in west 120 acres of northeast quarter of section 114, block 97, H&TC survey, in name of J. Murphy; one-eighth undivided interest in 338 acres in name of O. H. Holliday, being west 338 acres of section 120, block 97, H&TC survey, and a one-eighth undivided interest in 80 acres, being west half of southwest quarter of section 120, block 97, H&TC survey; one-fourth undivided interest in 320 acres in name of W. D. Haney, being southwest quarter of section 121, and west half of west half of section 114, block 97, H&TC survey; half undivided interest in 80.9 acres in name of W. H. Baker, being north half of southeast quarter of section 114, block 97, H&TC survey; one-fourth undivided interest in 160 acres in name of Mollie McWilliams, being northeast quarter of section 121, block 97, H&TC survey; one-fourth undivided interest in 160 acres in name of W. M. Carruthers, being northwest quarter of section 121, block 97, H&TC survey; one-fourth undivided interest in 160 acres in name of Myrtle Ann Hailey, being northeast quarter of section 131, block 97, H&TC survey; one-fourth undivided interest in 60 acres known as Bihl-Newman tract, being southeast portion of northeast quarter of section 113, block 97, H&TC survey; and one-fourth undivided interest in 160 acres in name of W. A. Wade, being northwest quarter of section 115, block 97, H&TC survey.

Remaining undivided half of all right, title and interest vested to grantors by virtue of stipulation consisting of proportionate oil payment as set foreth in assignment, intending to convey all right and title and interest to said oil payment, aggregate sum of which is $4,045, accruing monthly to J. E. Murphy, one-fourth; G. M. Heinzelman, one-half; Maurice Brownfield, one-fourth market value of oil run through a pipe line or storage, 1-16 of 7-8 of lessee's part of oil; on south 84 acres of southeast quarter of section 114, block 97, H&TC survey;

Goos to Helmerich & Payne, Inc., all being right, title and interest vested in Heinzelmans by virtue of said assignment and conveyance from Goos to Heinzelman and Beatrice Ford, relating to southwest quarter of section 141, block 97, H&TC survey, containing 160 acres;

Right, title and interest in overriding royalty as vested in grantor by assignment from Goos, relating to west 80 acres of northeast quarter of section 141, block 97, H&TC survey;

Right, title & interest of half undivided interest in oil payment of southeast quarter of section 114, block 97, H&TC survey, which interest grantor had by virtue of assignment by Goos;

And overriding royalty of one-sixteenth of seven-eighths of 80 acres of southwest quarter of section 121, block 97, H&TC survey, which is now deeded to Mrs. Seifert and Mrs. Ford, royalty of which had been reserved by grantor when lease assigned to J. Ralph Stewart.

All the above instruments were signed Wednesday and specified they were effective as of 7 o'clock the morning of March 1, 1953. The transactions were included in the settlement of the suit, whether or not they represented all the settlement or only a part of it, and most, if not all, transactions were in consideration of $10, according to the instruments.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 3, No. 279 SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MARCH 22, 1953 SECTION TWO

Easter Bonnets For Snyder Parade

Mrs. W. D. Everett, Jr., 610 Twenty-fourth Street, poses above in a rock sunken garden in her small-brim sailor Easter hat. Of gray wool material, the hat has a dash of color added in the red band with pearl bead trim. Her Easter suit is gray wool, and her blouse is gray silk with white polkadots. White gloves and gray box type bag complete the ensemble.

Snyder women are putting on their bonnets to lead the Easter parades here. Miss Lou Miller, above, 2807 Avenue T, poses in her Navy straw off-the-face hat with pearl bead trim, and her Easter dress of silk navy shantung with red and white polkadots. Posed against a setting of plum tree blossoms, she also wears a white tie pinned at the neck with a pearl clip.

Many women will be hard put to describe the Easter hats they will be wearing, but Mrs. David Crichton, above, 1312 Avenue T, simply calls hers an off-the-face hat. It is black straw with veil and wide brim in front which tapers to the head on each side. Tall women can wear it with the brim up as does Mrs. Crichton, and shorter women could tilt the brim down, she said. Her dress is tan silk with black design, and her duster is black faille.

Mrs. Miller Price, above, who lives in the Texas-New Mexico Pipeline Camp north of town, chose for her Easter bonnet a head-fitting tan hat with a brown rose trim. Her tan linen dress and toast bown duster feature matching rhinestone and pearl designs. She selected lace gloves to complete the Easter outfit.

This heavy black cotton coatdress by Toni Owen will grow right into the summer months and reach its maturity in the Fall. It is a basic dress that can be worn for any occasion depending on the fabric you select. The sleeves are cut in one with the waist Pattern No. 1105 is available in standard pattern sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 12 requires five yards of 39-inch material or three and three-fourths yards of 54-inch material. The dress would also be good in taffeta, faille or wool. Pattern No. 1081 was also designed by Toni Owen. Make two blouses, one cut in matching skirt fabric, and the other to contrast with the skirt. Center front and back are accentuated with pleated fullness. The blouse is completely plain with a peter-pan collar. It is available in standard pattern sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, and 18. Size 12 requires one and three-eighths yards of fabric. It's fun to combine denim for the skirt and cotton for the blouse. To order either, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P.O. Box 535, Dept. 163, G.P.O., New York 1, N. Y. Send $1 for each.

Mrs. C. H. Jeffress was hostess for a Mexican dinner at her home on the Colorado City Highway for members of Epsilon chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary teachers' sororotiy.

Miss Ann Wilson, high school Spanish teacher, described a trip she took last year from Mexico City to Mayan ruins in the jungle region of southern Mexico. She described the frescos in the ruins of the Borampak temples which were discovered in 1948. She also told of Kin Obregon, official caretaker of the ruins and one of 32 remaining Mayans who uses the temples for religious ceremonies. Age of the murals, done in vivid colors, has not been determined, the speaker said. She said the colors had withstood exposure for "untold centuries."

Members attending were Mrs. M. M. O'Rear, Mrs. Wayne Boren, Mrs. Dan Hamil, Mrs. Joyce Gorman, Mrs. Silas Devenport, Mrs. J. P. Nelson, Miss Bess Johnston, Mrs. L. F. Cox and Miss Vera Periman. Members from Colorado City also attended.

Bacall Says Hollywood Is Bad Name

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If Lauren Bacall had her way, this would be a different dateline. She says Hollywood should change its name.

"Hollywood already has two strikes against it because of its name," remarked the willowy blonde. "By years of the wrong kind of publicity, the name has gotten a bad connotation with the general public. 'Hollywood' has become a term of derision, a synonym for cheapness and immorality in the minds of too many citizens.

"A resident of Hollywood has two reactions when he is asked where he's from. Either he tries to hide the fact and dodge the query, or he replies defiantly that he's from Hollywood and waits for the adverse reaction.

"The public has a strange conception of our behavior here. According to some individuals, actors spend a few of the morning hours making faces before the cameras. The afternoon is given up to a mad whirl of drinking and carousing. Then we dash home, pat our children on the head, change clothes and hurry out to a wild evening of drinking, dancing and debauch.

"Unfortunately, too many people have identified that kind of life with Hollywood. It is too much of a stigma to overcome. I think the only way to get a fresh start is to get a new name for the movie capital.

"The name 'Hollywood' doesn't really pertain to the entire film capital anyway. Most of the studios are in other places (Westwood, Culver City, Burbank, Universal City, Studio City, etc.) and most of the movie workers live in other places (Beverly Hills, Los Angeles, Santa Monica, San Fernando Valley, etc.)"

Miss Bacall had no ready suggestion for a new name for this burg. How about Movie City? Filmville? Or maybe Chlorophyl, Calif. That might accomplish what she is after.

After a three-year absence, Bacall is again before the cameras in "How To Marry a Millionaire." She hoots at the notion it is a comeback.

"If you're off the screen for six months, you're supposed to be making a comeback," she complained. "I'm 28, and I've been in the movies for eight years. This is not a comeback."

THE SNYDER SCHOOLS

Marking Systems Vary With Progress In School Levels

The following is the 10th article in a series by Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, superintendent of Schools, written in answer to questions submitted by the Daily News.

By C. L. YARBROUGH

Question No. 10: Should the same grading system be used in all grades? What system do you favor for elementary school? Why? What system do you favor for junior and senior high schools and why? Do you think individual competition should be encouraged in scholastic achievement? Why? Should grading be done "on the curve" throughout the school system? Why?

Any grading method involves comparison. Each individual student's achievement is compared to a fixed standard, to achievements of other students, or to his own capacity.

In the first of these, a student's grade is based on what he learns in relation to what the subject or grade standard is. If he learns all that the subject includes he would expect 100 or A, 85 per cent would give him B, and so forth. This is the basis for part of the grading system in the high school but could not be used as the sole basis for grading students in all elementary school subjects.

For example, a normal third grade class will have students with reading achievement varying from the first through the sixth grade level. Use of grade or subject standards alone, in grading, therefore, might put a ceiling on the gifted student's effort or discourage the weaker one.

Another method of grading by comparison is based upon one student's achievement in relation to others in his class. The best one makes A. The poorest fails. The full application of this principle is based on the normal curve distribution, by which a fixed percentage of each group fail, a fixed percentage make A, and so on. This principle is not suitable for general practice in the public schools for several reasons. Chief among these is that a class size group is usually too small to conform to a normal distribution of ability. The normal curve implies also, that certain ones must fail and most public school officials believe that each child's passing or failing should be based on his individual effort.

Children should learn to succeed in school. It is fundamental to productive citizenship. They must also learn to cope with failure as a means of indivudal adjustment and growth. The principle of competition however, which is involved here, is an extremely useful incentive for student effort. While it is true that students vary in ability and that the same achievement cannot be expected from any two students, it is also true, that no student ever reaches his full capacity in achievement. Any worthwhile incentive, therefore, for additional effort must be utilized.

Competition is basic to our way of life and is perhaps the greatest incentive for child and adult effort known. While the full effect of grades on student effort has not been definitely proved, the effect of competition as a motive for all people is fundamental. Students want the approval of their fellow students. The principle of competition, I believe, is one reason why grading by the A, B, C method is still in general practice throughout the state in junior and senior high schools.

A third method of grading by comparison is based on the relationship between the student's individual capacity and his individual achievement. For example, it is commonly known that reading ability and achievement vary greatly among students. Children develop at different rates. A typical student in the third grade may be able to achieve fourth grade reading competency. If he can achieve fourth grade and is achieving only third grade reading requirements, this student shows room for improvement. By comparison with grade averages or with his classmates he may be a straight A student but by comparison with his ability he has room for improvement.

One actual example in Snyder is a child in the fifth grade, who according to standardized tests, has capacity for ninth grade scholastic achievement. Because of his age and other factors, the teachers and principal have not seen fit to double promote him to that grade. It would be foolish to hold this student back to the level of achievement of the average fifth grade student of which he is a member when he can do much better. If graded only in comparison with students in his grade, he might not be inspired to use more than a small portion of his ability.

In addition to grading him A, therefore, it is well and good that the school should tell the parents this child is doing excellent work but he has broad abilities for academic achievement. If he can improve on his achievement, his record should so indicate. We do not wish to put a ceiling on this boy's effort. The truth is that each child achieves at different rates and no grading system known is infallible in measuring the standards of each child's ability or achievement. Thus the problem of grading and reporting is very complex and as yet we do not have all the answers.

Within the past few years, a trend has developed in elementary schools throughout the nation to replace the A, B, C, D, E method of grading pupil achievment with a check system, using satisfactory and unsatisfactory as a basis for grading the various items. Prior to that time, the student in all grades from one to twelve was given a mark or grade in each subject taught. All grading was done by the teacher who, in most instances, developed the tests used in her classroom.

There are several factors which have been responsible for the change in this system in the elementary school. One has been the development of standardized achievement tests for the various academic subjects which are derived from the achievements of thousands of students. Such tests measure pupil progress in subject matter much more accurately than most tests prepared by teachers. Such tests have come into common use because criticisms have been raised concerning the accuracy of a system of grading based solely on teacher prepared tests. In some instances, the tests have not covered the subject fully. In others, the teacher's judgment of the value of parts of the question varies.

An incident was reported a few years ago when an average math paper was graded by 100 college math teachers. It received grades varying from 56 to 98. This is probably an extreme example but it illustrates the importance of the modern school's use of scientific measuring sticks along with other methods of appraising pupil progress.

In addition, citizenship, health, co-operation, dependability, intiative are all considered vital factors in the progress of the elementary and secondary child. Teachers have encountered difficulty in terms such as A, B, or C, or in giving them due recognition in any grading system.

In an effort to better record the true picture of each child's achievement the Snyder primary teachers, grades 1-3, and principals decided last spring to adopt on a trial basis the check system of marking and reporting to parents. This system has proved successful in many other schools in grades 1-6. Under this plan which is not fully developed here, students are checked on one of three possibilities: (1) Making satisfactory progress at grade level, (2) making satisfactory progress but below grade level, (3) unsatisfactory for each item to be rated. The rating for each subject is based upon the teacher's knowledge of the child's ability and achievement, his previous achievement record, his mental ability as measured by tests and the child's record of previous years. This system of rating is supplemented by parent - teacher conferences when needed.

Criticism of this system in other places has been based on the desire of parents to obtain, as concisely as possible, a specific statement of their child's progress in terms of percentages. Any system of reporting or marking must be understood by parents and teachers if it is to be effective and some do not understand the check system. Many parents and teachers, however, who have studied grading systems for elementary children are agreed that the A, B, C, method is inadequate for the elementary schools.

They are generally agreed that reports, grading, and marking, to be as effective as possible, should be supplemented by a number of added factors all looking toward better analysis and understanding of each individual child by both teachers and parents. Parent-teacher conferences, standard tests for mental maturity and achievement in fundamental skills, cumulative records for personal traits and academic skills, and a periodic study of each student's capacities in relation to his achievement all play an important part in stimulating each student to progress as rapidly as possible. These factors are doubly important in the primary school where the child is taught most subjects by the same teacher, and where every phase of his physical and mental growth is of great concern.

No one system or group of systems of grading has proved totally satisfactory for all grades. The same system would not necessarily be suitable for primary, elementary, junior and senior high school. As the child advances in school, subject standards become more dominant.

The A, B C method of marking which is based largely on comparison between one student's achievements and the standard for the subject may be incomplete by itself but has never been in serious jeopardy. Until we find something substantially more effective in judging the child's achievement, schools are likely to continue this system, supplemented by scientific tests and complete records. In the upper grades attempts to meet individual differences among students are made through guidance and through selectivity of subjects.

In each system of grading, except the use of standard tests, the teacher is a vital factor. She has authority to say what grade the student gets. Her idea of the course requirements and of the child's ability and attitude is important. It may or may not coincide exactly with those of her fellow teachers.

No radical changes are looked for at present in the marking system of students in Snyder Schools. It does seem apparent however, that the system of reporting to parents including a co-operative study of various problems of individual child achievement will be given considerable attention in the days ahead. If such a study reveals that our present system of grading does not meet the requirements of parents, students, teachers, and employment agencies, needed changes will be made.

Ex-Actress Is Picked Up By Vice Officers

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Former actress Dorothy Comingore has pleaded innocent and asked for a jury trial on charges of prostitution.

Miss Comingore, 40, was arrested by sheriff's vice squad officers last week. They said they picked her up at a bar and that she suggested: "Let's find a dark place to go."

The actress, who co-starred 13 years ago with Orson Welles in 'Citizen Kane," commented: "Even if I had left my head at home I wouldn't have said a thing like that. This is all a part of my being an 'unfriendly witness.'"

Miss Comingore lost a bitter child custody battle last November with her ex-husband, film writer Richard Collins. She declined at that time to say whether she was a member of the Communist party, saying she is "a loyal American."

Collins had renounced communism two years before and appeared as a friendly witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee. Last Oct. 6 Miss Comingore appeared before that committee in Los Angeles and refused to answer questions about party affiliations.

Russians Are Out To Drain Austrians Of All Resources

VIENNA, March 21 (AP)—It's no wonder Russia refuses to get out of Austria. Under Soviet occupation, the Russians are systematically denuding the country of its oil wealth—and even snatching its silk stockings and pencils for Russian women and children.

This is a key reason why hundreds of four-power meetings to try to get a state treaty for Austria always have failed.

The Russians plainly are out to take the last shirt of the eastern part of the country—their occupational zone. Two more years and the Russians will have taken the last drop of oil. Since 1945, they have stolen, plundered or cheated Austria out of one billion dollars.

Meanwhile, the United States has had to give Austria $1,419,000,000 in various aid. If it hadn't, the Alpine land would have collapsed under the Soviet heel long ago and the West would have lost a strategic foothold in Central Europe.

The Russian robbery of Austria is all-embracing. Not only do the Soviets take most of the output of 300 factories, but they run a huge illegal black market that nets tremendous profits. On top of that, they supervise a big East - West business that brings in vital war goods for the Soviet bloc. The Austrians and the Western occupation powers are helpless to stop this illegal traffic.

"The plan," said the Vienna newspaper Arbeiter Zeitung recently, "is to weaken the Austrian economy so much that Austria's successful resistance against foreign domination and Communist infiltration can be broken."

The Soviet exploitation has had this effect: Production is way above what it was in 1938, but the average Austrian's income is far lower. He has to pay in taxes for what the Russians take out.

This is how Russia's colonial empire in Austria works:

From 1945 to 1946, Soviet brigades carried off vast quantities of Austrian machinery, raw materials, textiles and vehicles as war booty. Then they declared they had a right to 300 factories and 100 agricultural properties plus the shipping of the Danube Steamship Company because these were "German assets"—meaning plants which the exploiting Nazis had seized before the Russians got to them.

Since then, Russian managers sitting in elegant offices of a five-story building in Central Vienna have been running these seized properties—organized into a trust known by the initials "USIA". Under them are 60,000 Austrian employees. The plants total one-fifth of Austria's industrial wealth.

These plants manufacture everything from steel products and bridges to silk stockings, bathtubs and wine. Seventy per cent of their output is shipped eastward down the Danube in Russian ships or in trucks and freight cars of the Soviet-run transport agency Juschwneschtrans. The rest can be sold to Austrians.

The first Wright brothers airplanes landed on skids rather than wheels because flying fields of the early days were too rough for wheel landings.

Frozen Food Plans Sweeping Country, Business Booming

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP)—Frozen food plans are sweeping the country as fast as any cold wave.

Business is terrific. Hundreds of firms have organized hastily to take a bite of the market. Trade sources figure there were 60 plans operating a year ago. Now there are more than 2,000.

It's big business too. Estimates of the value of frozen food sold through the plans necessarily are guesswork, but Amana Refrigeration, Inc., a big freezer maker, puts it as high as 250 million dollars a year. Retail food stores, obviously, are not happy about it.

The idea is simple. You agree to buy a freezer made or distributed by the sponsoring firm, together with a supply of frozen foods, perhaps enough for four months. One important dealer says the average contract is for $550 for freezer and food, payable in installments on what's called a "pay-as-you-eat plan."

The food comes from a distributor, who takes your order and delivers the food to your home. When your four-month supply is gone, you may order again. And so on, indefinitely.

Subscribers are offered lower prices through bulk buying. As the food plan men tell it, everyone gains. The freezer manufacturer takes his profit on the freezer. The distributor makes his money by adding a percentage to the wholesale prices he pays for the big volume of food he sells. And the consumer, the industry figures, may save about 15 per cent by buying in quantity at prices lower than those of retail stores.

Food plan members cite other advantages: a freezer full of food is convenient and makes for better balanced meals. The industry says frozen food is more nutritous than unfrozen.

But not everyone who has joined a food plan has stayed enthusiastic. A survey by one operator showed 25 per cent had decided against reordering supplies of frozen food. Another survey uncovered a novel reason for dissatisfaction: A consumer complained that with all that steak and ice cream in the freezer, he ate much more of them than ever before.

There have been other complaints, particularly about exaggerated claims. But at the moment, new business is coming in so fast that food planners are not too concerned about drop-outs.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clark and children, 405 Thirtieth Street, left yesterday for Austin where they will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Griffin. Mr. and Mrs. Clark will go on to Houston to attend the American Association of Petroleum Geologists convention.

Lynchings in the United States totaled 115 in 1900. In 1951 the total was one.

Abraham Lincoln's View on

HOME OWNERSHIP

"The strongest bond of human sympathy, outside of the family relation, should be one uniting all working people, of all nations, and tongues, and kindreds. Nor should this lead to a war upon property, or the owners of property. Property is the fruit of labor; property is desirable; is a positive good in the world. That some should be rich shows that others may become rich, and hence is just encouragement to industry and enterprise. Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him work diligently and build one for himself, thus by example, assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built."

—Abraham Lincoln
