Confederates of Stonewall Jackson Camp to Meet in Last Reunion at Holliday Thursday

By H. I. KIEFER

Those of the new South will pay tribute to those of the old when surviving members of Stonewall Jackson camp No. 149 gather at their campgrounds near Holliday Thursday for the reunion which probably will be their last.

Only five of the nearly 100 veterans who organized the camp about 40 years ago still survive. Of those five, failing health probably will prevent the attendance of some. Their average age is 87 years. The youngest is more than 83 and the oldest is approaching 94. Their ages total 435 years.

Arrangements for the last reunion of the veterans are in charge of Stonewall Jackson camp of Sons of Confederate veterans in Archer county, with Joe McDonald, Archer City, as chairman of the committee. George Brown of Holliday is captain of the sons' camp. W. R. Scurry camp of sons here, as well as the Daughters of the Confederacy, likewise are cooperating.

Judge Edgar Scurry, pioneer citizen of Wichita Falls, a former commander in chief of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans and son of the late Gen. W. R. Scurry, is taking an active part here in preparation for the reunion.

The five who will answer, by self or by proxy, the last roll call of the camp Thursday are, in order of ages:

Ben Ferguson, 93, Iowa Park.

John Woodhouse, 87, of 1103 Travis, Wichita Falls.

John Ground, 86, of 1600 Thirteenth street, Wichita Falls, captain of the camp.

Mat Wicker, 86, Cloud Chief, Okla., adjutant of the camp.

George Norwood, 83, of near Iowa Park.

To Dispose of Grounds

One important matter of business remains to be disposed of by the veterans before they take their final adjournment. More than a third of a century ago the members of the camp purchased 106 2-3 acres of land situated on Holliday creek which since has been the scene of the veterans' reunion. The land was purchased with the stipulation that it could never be sold, and it yet remains to be decided whether the title will be transferred to Stonewall Jackson camp of the sons, or the tract will be offered to the state as a state park.

Whatever is done, however, the land, beautifully wooded and ideal for such gatherings as it has been since the 90's will remain a monument to men who returned from the civil war to pioneer the West.

The actual business of the reunion will require little time. The remainder of the day will be devoted to entertainment, the nature of which has not been completely arranged. An application for a blanket fishing permit has been filed with the state fish and game department, and one of the big features of the occasion will be a fish fry.

There will be a basket picnic of the old fashioned kind. There will be some speechmaking, but not much. Sack races, potato races and similar contests likely will also be on the program. There will be music in abundance, and an old-fashioned dance in the evening. But pri-

SIX WITNESS FATAL SHOOTING AT HOME WHERE VICTIM'S WIFE WAS ENGAGED AS HOUSEKEEPER

AMARILLO, Texas, Aug. 22. (AP)—B. O. Stanley, 36, of Clarendon was fatally shot here tonight. He died in an ambulance on the way to a hospital, a bullet in his head.

The shooting occurred on the porch of the residence of John F. Williams, where Stanley's estranged wife had been employed as housekeeper for a week.

Mrs. Stanley told police her husband threatened her and Williams. Six persons were present when the shooting occurred.

Police tonight said they were holding a man for questioning. No charges had been filed.

CITY MANAGER CUTS $87,468. YEAR'S BUDGET

Monthly Saving of $12,495 Balance of Fiscal Year Ending April 1, 1932

TWENTY-EIGHT EMPLOYES WILL LOSE POSITIONS

Many Wage Reductions Due to Decrease in Revenue From City Taxes

A total reduction of $87,468.52 from the expenses of the city as budgeted in the beginning of this fiscal year is the feature of a revised budget arranged by V. R. Smitham, city manager, who will propose the revisions for adoption Monday night at the regular meeting of the city council.

Mr. Smitham prepared a report Saturday showing the changes in the budgets of the different departments maintained by the city. The report showed that the total budget for this fiscal year as made effective April 1, 1931, was $955,218.23. The revised budget totals only $867,749.71, making a reduction of $87,468.52 in all the expenses of the city. The changes made in the various departments and the revised budget would be effective in Wichita Falls beginning Sept. 1 for the remainder of this fiscal year. As five months of the year have already passed with the city operating on the old budget, the revised budget covers only the remaining seven months of the fiscal year, Mr. Smitham pointed out.

At least 28 employes of the city departments will be laid off Sept. 1 or have already been laid off and two appropriations for employes will be cancelled. The following persons will be cut off from the Comanche county is a fruit and truck growing section and ex-Congressman Oscar Calloway, who is serving the truckers without pay, said that the anti-peddler law, if left to become effective, would be ruinous to Comanche county and will throw out of employment 10,000 men engaged in various forms of peddling in Texas.

LET'S SNAP OUT OF IT!

AN EDITORIAL

Crude oil is now bringing 70 cents a barrel in Northwest Texas. There are good reasons for believing that dollar oil is coming. The advance has already had a cheering, stimulating effect. It has brought about a definite upturn in local business. It is very far from meaning that all our problems are solved, but it is certain to bring about a marked improvement in conditions.

It ought to mean an abandonment of the state of mind that has governed us in the past few months. It ought to give us a new determination to make the most of our resources. It is time to shake off the lethargy into which we have drifted. It should, in the vernacular, cause us to snap out of it, to formulate a plan of action and marshal our forces to follow it.

This paper appeals to local leadership to cast aside the timidity and conservatism which have been dominating it, to begin exploiting the advantage of this city and section, to revive that spirit which has accomplished so much in the past and which is equal to the challenge of these times. There has been enough of inertia and indecision. Such things never built a city.

Nothing that has happened in recent months or in recent years has lessened this city's opportunities. They still exist and they still challenge us. Oil, our trade territory, our irrigated valley—these offer the same possibilities of growth and development as they always did. There are scores of lesser opportunities. Wichita Falls has been looking at the hole in the doughnut long enough.

It's time to try to make things happen. We believe local civic and business leadership are equal to the task.

President Cuba Returns to Havana Confident Revolt Is Stamped Out Deny Fighting Interior Continues

HAVANA, Aug. 22. (AP)—Back in the palace here tonight after a fortnight in Santa Clara directing his troops, President Gerardo Machado said he believed the revolution had been successfully stamped out and that action had ceased on all fronts.

Worn by loss of sleep, the president retired immediately after arriving and napped three hours before dining with his family.

Army headquarters denied reports there still was firing in many parts of Oriente province—reports which were circulated by revolutionary leaders here today. The anti-Machadoists had asserted that some progress was being made by the rebels in the eastern province and that loyal troops had been unsuccessful in preventing the opposition from gathering in force at Manzanillo and Bayamo.

It was also denied there had been action at Chaparra and other points in Oriente today.

Huge crowds gathered at the Cabarllerria landing today when the gunboat Patria docked and unloaded confiscated arms taken at Gibara during the battle there the first part of the week.

President Machado's return was interpreted by observers as a sign of the executive's confidence that the revolt had been brought to an end and his statement tonight confirmed this attitude.

MAN OVERCOME BY GAS IN OLD WELL DIES AT STAMFORD

STAMFORD, Texas, Aug. 22.—George P. McClesky, 40, who was overcome by gas while cleaning out an old well on his farm near Rotan, died in a Stamford sanitarium at 10 o'clock Saturday night.

McClesky was overcome by fumes in the 40-foot well and fell unconscious eight feet to the bottom. His brother, Gene McClesky, narrowly escaped death when he entered the well to rescue the unconscious man, and had to be pulled out by the rope which had been attached to him. Help was called and it was 30 minutes before Ernest Kolb, a neighbor, rescued the injured man from the well. He was brought to the Stamford sanitarium Saturday afternoon when his condition became steadily worse.

The body was forwarded to Rotan, Saturday night where funeral arrangements were being made. Mr. McClesky has been a resident of the Rotan section for 17 years. He is survived by his widow, five children, his parents and several brothers and sisters.

LABOR RESISTS LOWER WAGES

Strikes Against Reductions On Increase

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (US)—Strikes for higher wages or against slashes in pay are on the increase, reports to the labor department today disclosed.

The number of men involved was said to be smaller than during business boom periods of former years, but it was evident that organized labor is beginning to rise against wage cuts and for maintenance of the "prevailing scale" of the district on federal projects.

Labor department records also showed that the total pay rolls of 14,000-odd manufacturing establishments had been reduced 37 per cent since the crash in the stock market in October, 1929.

For the week ended Aug. 22, the department reported 60 new strikes and 26 controversies during that period, compared with 57 strikes and 24 disputes which had not reached the strike stage during the preceding week.

Labor troubles have developed on federal buildings, with workers charging the contractors with violating the act of congress requiring that the pay scale be equal to that of the district in which the buildings are going up.

Licenses must be issued to the individual peddler and not to the firms or corporations by which they are employed.

Money Stretcher

WHENEVER you mention that George Washington threw a dollar across the Potomac river, somebody always says that that was no feat, because money in those days would go farther than it does NOW. But sometimes we aren't so sure about that, for when it comes to stretching money, think what a Daily Times-Record News Classified Want Ad can do. One of these ads stretched $3 to nearly $3,000.

And the stretching WAS DONE in THIS way: The Williams-Dwyer company advertised a five-room house for sale, in a recent issue of these TWO papers. Their ad cost $3, and the house was sold for $2,800. Stretching $3 to $2,800 is GOOD BATTING in any league. Williams-Dwyer company's classified ad, placed by Mrs. Ruth Cain, reads as follows:

ABSOLUTELY the best buy in Wichita Falls. Price $2,800; $750 cash, balance 6 per cent semi-annually. Five large rooms, bath, hall, large front and back porch, fenced back yard, double garage, solid drive, restricted residential section; must sell this week. Williams-Dwyer company; phone 3131. ## BACKING UP OF FLOOD WATER IN CHINA ADDS GREATLY TO DISTRESS

SHANGHAI, Aug. 22. (US)—With the very existence of Hankow, city of more than 800,000 people, threatened, and its two sister cities across the great Yangtze river—Wuchang, 500,000; and Hanhang, 100,000—virtually wiped out, the great river continues to swell. Fifty-three feet, five inches above normal and still rising, only the tops of the highest houses in the three cities rise above the water, to mark like tombstones, the buried millions.

As the Yangtze's waters continued to rise today, the backing-up of the waters added new thousands of square miles to flooded districts, and raised the estimates of 30,000,000 homeless to 50,000,000 and maybe 60,000,000.

What actual number of these are dead of drowning or certain to die of pestilence, can only be estimated by wildest guesses, but that the number may reach millions is not impossible—it is probable.

Disease Spreads

Starvation, ruination of thousands of square miles of crops, in the nation's most fertile lands, typhoid, dysentery and the dread of yellow fever, combine to make the situation hopeless even for those who escape the wrath of the water which "covers the earth."

In Hankow corpses by the thousands and all sorts of refuge are floating in the labyrinth streets marked by housetops sticking up through the boiling river. With the temperature ranging around 100 degrees Fahrenheit, and the sun beating down, thousands of those "res-

ACTING PRESIDENT OF BAYLOR QUITS FACULTY 15 YEARS WITH SCHOOL

WACO, Texas, Aug. 22. (AP)—W. S. Allen, acting president of Baylor university, tendered his resignation both from the president's chair and the university's faculty today.

He had served for 15 years as a member of the Baylor faculty.

In a statement issued today he said: "I, as acting president, made a recommendation to the Waco executive committee of the board of trustees, which recommendation I considered vital to the ongoing of Baylor university. The executive committee declined to approve this recommendation and, as a result, I have tendered my resignation, effective at once."

Allen was dean of the university.

He refused positively to admit, or discuss, reports the committee's refusal to dismiss George Belew, business manager, prompted him to tender his resignation.

Dean Allen served as acting president of Baylor since Dr. S. P. Brooks died a few months ago. Less than two weeks ago the Baylor board of trustees selected him to serve as president until June, 1932.

The Baylor board of trustees held three meetings here this year to select Doctor Brooks' successor. Dean Allen was among those recommended to the board as Baylor's permanent president. Failing to agree at their last meeting here this month. The trustees voted to extend Dean Allen's term as acting president through the next school year.

From 1912 to 1916 Dean Allen served as principal of the Italy and Waco High schools. He joined the Baylor faculty in 1916 as an instructor in Latin. In 1917 he was appointed to an assistant professorship in the department of languages.

STERLING ASKS EXPRESSION ON COTTON POLICY

Governor Wants Quick Expression of Views on Huey Long Plan

EXTRA SESSION MAY BE CALLED TO PASS LAW

Agricultural Commissioner Urges Immediate Call Of Legislature

AUSTIN, Aug. 22 (AP)—Gov. Ross S. Sterling today asked Texas cotton farmers and legislators to give him quick expressions of their views on a special session of the legislature to curb cotton production.

The governor's statement follows:

"To the members of the legislature and our cotton growers:

"At a meeting held in New Orleans yesterday called by Gov. Huey P. Long of Louisiana, which was attended by governor and representatives of governors from nearly all of the cotton states, it was practically uanimously decided to call on the legislatures of the different states to enact a law prohibiting the growing of cotton for the year 1932.

"As governor of Texas, I would like an expression from the cotton farmers of Texas as to whether they would favor a called session of the legislature to enact such a law. If you are not in favor of the resolution that was passed preventing the planting of any cotton whatever in the year 1932, would you favor a law reducing the cotton acreage one-half or one-third? I am asking these questions through the press of the state in order to get quick response.

"I would also appreciate a frank statement from each member of the legislature as to whether they would favor such legislation, having in mind the fact that the legislature recently declined to pass a law to regulate the cotton acreage, though since that time there has been a great reduction in the price of cotton which has caused great confusion and unrest in the minds of our cotton farmers."

J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture, returned today from the New Orleans meeting, where he unsuccessfully sponsored a plan to limit the 1932 cotton acreage to one-third of the land cultivated in the southern states.

McDonald urged all supporters of acreage reduction by law to request the governor to call a special session without delay.

Long to Call Session

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 22. (INS)—With opponents of the proposal doubtful of its success, Gov. Huey Long today went ahead with his plans to summon a special session of the Louisiana legislature to pass a law prohibiting the planting of cotton in 1932.

The New Orleans cotton conference yesterday officially approved the Long plan and also the proposal of Senator R. H. Caraway of Arkansas, which requires purchase by the federal farm board of 8,000,000 bales of cotton from farmers at prices above the market, to be allocated among farmers on the basis of their former crops, conditioned upon their agreement not to grow a crop in 1932.

Gov. Ira C. Blackwood of South Carolina said he would issue a call for the South Carolina legislature to pass legislation in line with the Long plan.

The Long proposal, as adopted by the conference, would have legislation of each state made effective only if it is adopted by legislatures of other states producing an aggregate of not less than three-fourths of the American crop.

Opponents of the proposal pointed out that the plan was seriously endangered by the attitude of Texas and Arkansas.

AUGUST POSTAL RECEIPTS GET $2,121 BOOST IN SINGLE CHECK POSTAGE ON 28,405 CATALOGS

August receipts of the Wichita Falls postoffice were boosted $2,121.24 Saturday when Postmaster O. P. Maricle received a check for that amount from a Chicago mail order company to pay postage on a carload of 28,405 catalogs scheduled to arrive here late Saturday night.

The catalogs, shipped from Chicago to Wichita Falls by freight in order to save the tremendous parcel post fees that would have been charged for that long distance, are already in mail sacks ready for dispatching by parcel post from Wichita Falls to various points over Texas.

The freight car will be unloaded by railroad employes Monday and the mail sacks loaded onto mail trucks under the supervision of postal employes. The 28,405 catalogs will all go out of here Monday, the same day they are unloaded, but from here on the trip will be made as parcel post mail instead of freight.

Mr. Maricle said that the same company had made a similar shipment last February and the satisfactory manner in which the catalogs were handled by the postoffice here at that time was responsible for the second shipment.

Mr. Maricle also said that he had complete blueprint plans of the new federal building in his office in the postoffice and would be glad to show them to all citizens who would drop in to see him.

President Farmers Union Offers Plan for Relief Unemployed and To Raise Price of Farm Products

NORFOLK, Neb., Aug. 22. (AP)—John A. Simpson, national president of the farmers union, suggests 7,000,000 unemployed persons be put to work on federal projects and new money be issued by the federal government and not by national banks of the country, to pay them.

He made the suggestion in an address here last night to 500 persons during an intermission at a band concert at a park.

He said the plan would put the price of wheat up to $2 a bushel and eggs up to 50 cents a dozen.

This would hurt "Wall street," he said, "but would help the other 120,000,000 citizens of the United States."

There now are too many "toll gates" between the producer and consumer, Simpson asserted, pointing out that a loaf of bread still costs the same with wheat at 50 cents a bushel as it did with wheat at $3, and a quart of motor oil costs the same with crude oil at 10 cents a barrel as it did in 1920 with crude oil at $2 a barrel.

Simpson predicted that in 10 years, if conditions remain the same, 90 per cent of America's wealth will be in the hands of six families.

SHAW PREFERS SMALL CHANGE

MALVERN, England, Aug. 22. (AP)—George Bernard Shaw would rather pick up a piece of small change many times than take a big profit once in a while, he said today at a rally here in the interests of the national theater movement.

It would be surprising to know, he said, how much money he gets from little groups of players putting on his dramas in halls where the admission price is 10 cents to a quarter. Although some dramatists would demand $25, said he, "I take my 15 cents, touch my hat and trust for a renewal of favors."

TEN COMPANIES ADVANCE CRUDE

sas. This company uses about 100,000 barrels of oil daily in these areas.

The Carter company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, made the higher prices effective in Oklahoma where its purchases average about 60,000 barrels daily. The Empire company applied its prices to Oklahoma.

The Wilcox company prices will be adapted principally to the Panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma. That company uses about 3,500 barrels daily in Gray county and 5,500 daily in Oklahoma. The American and Dale refining companies adopted the new schedule in North and North Central Texas.

Officers Keep Watch

KILGORE, Texas, Aug. 22. (AP)—Intelligent officers under command of Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters kept watch in the vast East Texas oil field today to prevent any mass meetings by protestants against the martial law regime.

The general spent most of the day in Tyler, where it repeatedly had been reported that an attempt would be made to hold such a meeting.

All appeared quiet in the field, but military authorities took every precaution to avoid an outbreak of opposition to Gov. Ross Sterling's shutdown order.

General Wolters was accompanied by Senators Walter Woodul and Tom Pollard in his rounds of inspections.

Observation planes droning above the 40-mile-long production area found the countryside peaceful. Cavalry patrols also failed to discover any wells operating.

Oil operators were pleased over the 43-cent oil increase reported for East Texas crude and expressed anxiety to begin producing again.

In six days of military occupation there have been no disturbances in the field.

Advised tonight it had been announced that Col. Alvin Owsley of Dallas, former national commander of the American Legion, would attempt to defy the general order and speak to a mass meeting in Tyler next week, General Wolters said:

"The only comment I have to make is that I have been fairly successful in the past in crossing bridges when I get to them."

Sunday for the troops will be a working day, as is any other day in the week. In the headquarters camp here, Rev. P. B. Hill of San Antonio, official chaplain of the Texas rangers, will hold open air services under the pines, to which townspeople have been invited.

Kansas Swings Into Line

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 22. (AP)—Kansas swung into line tonight with Oklahoma and Texas in an effort to force the price of midcontinent crude oil up to a $1 minimum through state enforced curtailment of production in the three states.

Effective next Monday at 7 a. m., the state public service commission ordered a 100 per cent shutdown of production in the Ritz-Canton pool in McPherson county. The pool's present output was estimated at around 20,000 barrels daily, approximately one-fifth of the state's production.

The action came after martial law had been invoked in Oklahoma and Texas to enforce shutdowns, and after prices for midcontinent crude had climbed to 70 cents a barrel in response to the pinching-in of thousands of wells.

Gov. Harry H. Woodring of Kansas announced in a statement he was in "full accord with the efforts made by Governor Murray of Oklahoma and Governor Sterling of Texas to force the price of oil to $1 a barrel, which I consider the minimum price it should bring considering the domestic supply and demand."

The order was made effective pending hearing at Wichita Sept. 14, of a complaint seeking a general shutdown in the state.

It was the second to be issued under the new Kansas oil proration law. Reports received by the commission today were its order issued yesterday that wells in the Raymond pool, in Rice county, remain closed, was being obeyed.

NEW RISES ADD TO CHINA'S DISTRESS

cued" are hourly hoping for death. There is no more room in any of the hospitals. The foreign community has chartered a hospital ship to take care, as far as possible, of their own cases arising from the terrible conditions.

Relief measures are almost impossible. Food is scarce and mostly putrid.

There is belief in Hankow that the Nanking government will be able to secure quantities of American relief to help avert famine—now and later.

American Losses

Most of the Americans in Hankow and nearby cities have been removed from the flooded areas. Their property finds no favor with the flood and is threatened with complete destriuction. The big Standard Oil plant at Hankow, which is an important part of the $12,000,000 of American investment in the neighborhood, has been almost washed away.

President Chiang Kai Shek, head of the Nanking government, 600 miles away at the mouth of the big river, has ordered all available ships sent at once up the Yangtze valley with food and other supplies. Medical supplies and other necessities are being dispatched as rapidly as available.

Several foreign war ships in Chinese waters have started down the Yangtze with food and medical supplies. These include the U. S. Tutuila.

U. S. Sends Aid

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (US)—American naval ships in Asiatic waters are mobilizing to aid the Chinese flood sufferers along the Yangtze river, as the flood waters rose to a record stage, the navy department was informed today.

No instructions were sent from the department for this move since navy officials in foreign waters have standing orders to use their own discretion in matters of this kind. Relief work being done, however, has the approval of the department officials.

Since the waters of the Yangtze have spread over both banks no large ships, not even destroyers, will be sent up the river because of the difficulty in keeping them in midstream.

Seven American navy patrol boats, however, will ply between Shanghai and Hankow. They were constructed especially for the Yangtze and it is not necessary to keep them in midstream.

The American navy radio service is now about the only form of communication between Shanghai and the flooded districts, as the Chinese telegraph system has been rendered useless.

KILGORE NEGRO BAPTIST CHURCH CONGREGATION HAS 30,000-BARREL WELL

DALLAS, Aug. 22. (AP)—The mighty magic of Texas' "black gold," all but vanished in an era of mired markets and a military shutdown, seemed to be working for the Kilgore negro Baptist church congregation today.

Although not allowed to flow, a well, estimated to be good for 30,000 barrels of oil a day, has been brought in on the Kilgore negro Baptist church lot.

As a result one of the finest negro churches in the world may be erected by the congregation.

Harried Police Force Seeking New Means to Curb Crime in New York After Gun Battle Costing Six Lives

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (US)—The federal government today took cognizance of New York's gangland warfare.

Before leaving for his camp in Virginia, President Hoover directed the department of justice to detail a special squad of operatives to look into the gun battle in which six were killed and 13 wounded, among the dead being a 4-year-old girl.

The president also ordered Walter Ferguson, chief of the secret service for the eastern division, with headquarters in Providence, R. I., to proceed to New York to cooperate with the New York police. Ferguson is one of the most expert detectives in the government employ.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (AP)—With six persons dead and two more believed dying as a result of New York's latest and most sensational gun battle, a harried police department today sought new means to curb crime.

The sixth victim, Gloria Lopez, 3-year-old daughter of a fireman, died this morning.

The two in precarious condition are a 13-year-old messenger boy, shot from his bicycle, and a taxicab driver who was among the scores taking part in last night's wild 15-mile pursuit of two murderers of a policeman seeking to shoot their way to freedom with a $4,619 stolen pay roll.

Many Volunteer Aid

Dozens of patrolmen doing clerical work volunteered today for extra duty after their regular hours and were assigned to precincts where the danger of more holdups and gang war was deemed greatest.

High police officials held a conference late today and Acting Mayor McKee called for a meeting with Police Commissioner Mulrooney on Monday, when they will seek to devise new methods of combatting crime.

They also will discuss the commissioner's recommendation for an appropriation of $100,000 to buy short wave radio sets for installation in police stations and on roving police cars.

Tracing the case back to its inception, police learned the young bandits had been friends since school days; that both had been out of work for a year; that the family of one owned a six-story apartment house, and that the youths had made elaborate plans for their big splurge of crime.

HEARING ON TEXAS PRORATION STARTS AT AUSTIN TUESDAY

AUSTIN, Aug. 22. (AP)—The railroad commission next week is expected to fix the amount of oil which the East Texas wells will be allowed to produce when Gov. Ross S. Sterling's troops let them start flowing again.

Evidence adduced at a hearing here starting Tuesday will be the basis for that figure. A large number of oil men with conflicting opinions likely will be here for the session which may last several days. The commission's order pursuant to that hearing will be the first under the new conservation law enacted by the legislature in its special session which ended Aug. 12.

The law gives the commission power to prevent physical waste only and the purpose of Tuesday's hearing will be to determine the maximum figure at which physical dissipation of the giant field will not occur.

Most of the "guesses" on the allowable production of the field were around 300,000 or 350,000 barrels daily. At its last hearing nearly two months ago, the allowable was fixed at approximately 270,000 barrels daily.

It was thought likely the hearing would last two or three days. The railroad commission will require some time to prepare its order, so the allowable probably won't be set until the latter part of the week. Governor Sterling was expected to give the commission time to get its order working before withdrawing state militia men.

PHILLIPS CONFIRMS SALE OF INTEREST PIPE LINE TO EAST

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Aug. 22. (AP)—Frank Phillips, president of the Phillips Petroleum corporation, today confirmed sale of that corporation's interest in the $100,000,000 natural gas pipe line from the Texas Panhandle to Chicago to other joint owners of the project.

He did not reveal the stipulation but said the sale was "to other members of the group on a very satisfactory basis, together with gas rights on a substantial amount of gas acreage in the Panhandle."

First gas reached Chicago Thursday and the pipe line was expected to be in regular operation early next week. Other owners are Cities Service, the Insull interests, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texas company, Skelly Oil, Southwestern Development and Columbia Carbon.

KING BRITAIN RUSHES HOME CRISIS NEARS

Sovereign Believed Returning to Receive Resignation of Cabinet

OTHER RUMOR CONTENDS AGREEMENT IS REACHED

Downing Street Spokesman Says Plan Agreed Upon To Meet Situation

LONDON, Aug. 22. (US)—King George cut short his vacation at Balmoral castle, Scotland, and hastened by special train to London tonight, strengthening reports that the Labor government may resign in the face of the most serious crisis it has faced.

At the same time, it was reported the cabinet has definitely agreed on a concrete economy plan and that Prime Minister MacDonald has decided to summon a special session of parliament to implement the measures, banking on Liberal party support in the house of commons to keep his government from being overthrown.

Reports that the government has found it impossible to reconcile divergent views of a section of its constituency and opposition leaders on how the $600,000,000 budget deficit is to be met and consequently would be forced to surrender office have swamped London for the past 48 hours. British newspapers have seized on the king's return as confirmation of these rumors.

They declare it a more likely reason for his coming to London than the fact that his third son, the Duke of Gloucester, today underwent an operation for removal of his appendix. In discounting that as a reason it is pointed out that the duke is progressing favorably and that the king would have returned before the operation, were that his motive.

These theories were put forth while the Labor cabinet went through another day of conferences and adjourned at 3:45 p. m. with the announcement that it will meet again tomorrow. A session of the cabinet on Sunday has not been held since the world war.

Downing street sources declared the king's return to London was not at the government's request. It was said he was coming back in order to keep in closer touch with a situation hourly growing more perilous for MacDonald.

Meanwhile, the government continued to reiterate its confidence that the situation would be met. A downing street spokesman declared the cabinet had spent the day putting the finishing touches to an economy plan, "which, it is believed, will meet the situation."

At the same time, it was learned the advisory committee of the Liberal party will meet with cabinet members tomorrow. It was regarded as significant that the conference apparently will not include conservative representatives.

As told to police, the killing followed a wild ride through Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin with frequent stops for drinks from numerous bottles of liquor. Those in the party, the officer said, were Mrs. Patterson, "Blackie," Mrs. Ledbetter and Frank Bartelino.

MRS. BASSETT WINS VICTORY IN BATTLE WITH GOV. MURRAY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 22. (AP)—Mrs. Mabel Bassett, state commissioner of charities and corrections, today had won a victory over Gov. W. H. Murray in his attempt to prevent her questioning Herman Parman, who escaped from the institution for feeble-minded at Enid, concerning treatment he allegedly received while an inmate.

Late yesterday, Governor Murray ordered operatives of the state bureau of criminal identification to intercept the youth upon his arrival here from Shidler in custody of a woman assistant to Mrs. Bassett. Learning of this, however, Mrs. Bassett "smuggled" Parman into the city, took him to a private home and heard his testimony, throwing off the trail state operatives who kept watch at her home and at her offices at the capitol.

Parman told Mrs. Bassett he ran away from the institution because he was "knocked down and kicked in the face" by two employes of the hospital.

BRAZILIAN BARTER MAY OPEN WAY FOR MORE WHEAT DEALS

Surplus Grain May Be Swapped for Other Products Country Needs

FARM BOARD PLEASED WITH COFFEE TRADE

Idea May Be Frowned Upon As Government Going Into Business

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (US)—By swapping American wheat for Brazilian coffee and thus reopening the door to the oldest form of bargaining, the federal farm board will probably dispose of more of its wheat by trading it for other products this country needs, it was learned today.

Elation of the board members over their trade with Brazil was a plain indication that other such transactions can be expected if the board can find takers for the grain.

Although the board took a temporary loss in the 25,000,000 bushels of wheat it will send to Brazil, it expects to make this up on the rise that is expected to take place in the price of coffee when business revives.

Storage Cost Saved

Other phases of the transaction also pleased the board members. They will no longer be compelled to pay storage on the wheat and they feel they have introduced American wheat into a market that was always closed to it before.

Chairman Stone said today he did not anticipate any protest from the American coffee trade over the importation of 1,050,000 bags of coffee, since it would be held for a year and then sold in lots of only 62,000 bags to keep from disturbing the market. Coffee importers will meet in New York next week to determine how much the deal has affected their interests.

Although there is no doubt that the farm board is willing to make further trades of the same kind, it is possible that the idea may be frowned upon as bordering too near to the government going into the commodity business, a practice frequently condemned by President Hoover.

Cotton Opening Lowers Number Of Local Needy

Assistance is now being given 146 needy families through the commissary operated at 605 Austin by the Common Laborers union, according to information given Saturday by members of the committee in charge. The number of dependents will be reduced during the next few days as the movement toward the cotton fields continues to get under way, it was added. Several families found such employment during the last week, the committee reported.

Resolutions expressing appreciation to those who have made contributions the past week mentioned particularly the name of Dan Oster for having baked without charge 600 pound and half whole wheat loaves in his bakery at 1307 Holliday.

Those who can make any contributions toward the work were asked to notify the committee.

The names of O. B. Kelly, J. C. Brown, J. S. Terrett, A. R. Taylor, P. Stewart and E. P. Lee were attached to the report.

Louisiana Publisher Urges Texas to Support Long Plan Under Which No Cotton Would Be Planted in 1932

An appeal to Texas to support the Huey Long plan under which no cotton would be planted in 1932 has been sent out by James M. Thomson, publisher of the New Orleans Item and Tribune. Mr. Thomson declares that Louisiana is solidly behind the Long proposal. In a telegram to The Times Saturday, Mr. Thomson said:

"So far as I am able to judge, Louisiana is absolutely united for legislative action to carry out the Long plan to completely drop the raising of cotton for the year 1932. We realize that this movement is more important to Texas than any other southern state and I personally believe that the South will follow Texas.

"We found the actual cotton farmer in the conference yesterday more enthusiastic for the plan than were some of the politicians. Your state gave Louisiana 100 per cent support for flood control which was even more vital to us than is cotton price control.

"I think if yours and other leading newspapers in Texas feel about this cotton price control plan as my papers do, and agitate it strongly you can put it over in Texas. I believe this means a quarter billion dollars to your state in enhanced price of your present cotton crop. We have subordinated all local political and factional differences to support this Long plan in Louisiana.

QUICK RELIEF FOR HUNGRY IS URGED IN MEET

County Conference Held Here Saturday to Urge Immediate Action

COMMISSIONERS TO TAKE UP DISCUSSION MONDAY

. B. Marlow Says Some Have Been Living on Overripe Melons

An urgent need for immediate relief for destitute families in Wichita county was revealed at a meeting of representatives from Iowa Park, Electra, Burkburnett and Wichita Falls with County Judge John Marrs at the courthouse Saturday.

Several of those present expressed the opinion that charity cases could be taken care of until Monday, but that action would have to be taken early this week to relieve the situation.

It was decided that another meeting would be held Monday afternoon with the commissioners court here and that a definite program would be worked out at that time.

The lapse in available work between the grain harvest and cotton picking time has brought about a large increase in unemployment and the condition in the county has become serious within the last few days, it was said.

Charity Donations

The fact that the county stopped all charity payments, amounting to approximately $2,000 each month, two weeks ago has contributed to the destitute condition of many families.

The plan which appeared to be favored by the group, which included officials, charity workers, business men and chamber of commerce officials, was the proposed establishment of a county commissary, which would purchase supplies in large amounts at wholesale prices.

J. B. Marlow, who has been doing some purchasing for the local relief organizations, said that he could furnish supplies at the following costs: Meat, five pounds, 42½c; meal, 20 pounds, 22 cents; coffee, two pounds, 21 cents; rice, five pounds, 15 cents; sugar, five pounds, 23c; wholewheat flour, 20 pounds, 14 cents; beans, five pounds, 15 cents; soda, package, 6 cents; salt, package, 3 cents.

Mills Burdened

In discussing the situation it was brought out that there was a danger of the mills in this territory being overloaded with the thousands of bushels of wheat which farmers are seeking to have ground for home consumption. It was also stated that in some parts of Texas farmers are refusing to employ cotton pickers and plan to abandon the portion of the crop which they are unable to pick with the aid of their families.

Mr. Marlow said he had found cases where people in Wichita Falls had become ill after living on a diet of buttermilk and overripe cantaloupes, discarded by stores here.

It was indicated that many families during the summer months had their gas cut off and have spent the meter deposit. This means that there will be a serious problem in keeping the needy warm next winter. It was suggested that wood be purchased and the applicants for charity, if ablebodied, be required to cut wood.

Judge Marrs stressed the point that whatever plan is worked out the commissary must refuse to give aid to any but Wichita county citizens in order to discourage people from coming here from other counties to aggravate the local problem.

EMPLOYMENT AGENCY TO ENROLL WORKERS TO BUILD RAILROAD

CHILDRESS, Aug. 22.—An employment agency will be opened in the rooms of the chamber of commerce Monday morning for the purpose of enrolling men for work on the railway building from Childress to Pampa. According to present plans local men will be given first opportunity to work, all the contractors having agreed to this. If the local unemployed cannot fill the ranks outside men will be employed as needed. The men seeking work will be required to fill out blanks for the purpose and they will be called as needed.

It is expected that local labor will be able to handle the situation for the next 60 days. A little later there will be a demand for cotton pickers, as the cotton crop will be large.

GRAIN ACREAGE TO BE REDUCED AT CHILDRESS

CHILDRESS, Aug. 22.—Farmers are preparing lands for the sowing of wheat this fall, but the acreage will be at least 40 per cent less than a year ago, when the largest acreage ever sown in the county was put in. Most of the farmers will sow wheat for pasturage, but if the season is right next spring will harvest the crop for seed and some to exchange for flour at a local mill. Many farmers have prepared ground for planting alfalfa seed in the fall. Last spring a number of farmers put out alfalfa, but the weeds prevented good stands and in some instances took the fields. The county agent claims if alfalfa is sown in the fall the plants will get a start ahead of the weeds in the spring and will come through in good condition. The farm dairy interests are looking for a better feed crop than grass and alfalfa seems to be preferred to other crops.

Professional Torch Burner Blamed Here By Chief for Losses

The conviction that professional "torch burners," probably working in a somewhat loose knit organization, have been responsible for a considerable proportion of incendiary fires in Texas during the past year or two was expressed here Saturday by J. L. McClure, fire chief.

Chief McClure disclosed in that connection that clues now are being worked on here which, officials believe, may lead to concrete evidence against individuals or a gang responsible for fires here and in other Texas cities.

The information he already has gathered, it was declared, has led him to the conclusion that the torch burner seeks out prospects and conducts a careful approach resulting in a flat offer to set fire to insured property if the prospective owner gives evidence of being in a receptive mood.

The system most commonly employed by the torch burner, according to information to authorities, is to ask the owner of vacant and insured property if the property is for sale for cash.

The reply almost invariably is that it is for sale.

The next step is the assertion that it can be sold for a fee which usually ranges from $50 to $100. Unless the prospective agent becomes suspicious, the negotiations eventually lead to the explanation that the proposed "sale" is an offer to cause the destruction of the property by fire so that insurance may be collected. The same incendiarist seldom remains longer than a few days in the same city.

"We have information on good authority that one property owner here who was so approached instantly and emphatically rejected it, but has refrained from reporting the incident to authorities because of his reluctance to become involved in the prosecution of a criminal case," Chief McClure said.

"We are trying to locate that particular owner in the belief that he can assist in furthering the inquiry. Incendiarism has become a serious problem, perhaps no more so here than in other cities."

Meanwhile, a group of officials and citizens who met about 10 days ago to plan steps intended to lessen fire losses here has continued its work, it was declared. At that time, the group adopted resolutions urging insurance companies to make more careful valuations of property offered for insurance, and asking that thorough investigations be made of all fires.

James Byrne, assistant state fire marshal, was here earlier last week, will return to Wichita Falls early this week to assist in investigations, Chief McClure was advised.

Death Ends Long Search for Slayer Of Young Attorney

CHICAGO, Aug. 22. (UP)—The five-year search of Sergt. Anthony McSwiggin for the slayers of his son has ended. McSwiggin is dead.

The 56-year-old police seargeant who stood in April, 1926, over the fresh grave of his only son, William, and vowed to track down the youth's gangster slayers, died last night as the result of a head injury received in an automobile accident.

The killing of William McSwiggin is written into the annals of Illinois crime as the outstanding example of gangdom mystery and power. He was 26 when he died, a brilliant youth who as assistant state's attorney already had sent so many men to the gallows he was known as "the hanging procesutor."

The night of April 17 in 1926 young McSwiggin and two other men were mowed down by machine gun fire in front of a saloon in Cicero, the suburb then reportedly ruled by Scarface Al Capone.

MAN HELD FOR SLAYING TWO YOUTHS IN KANSAS NEAR WATERMELON PATCH

STOCKTON, Kan., Aug. 22. (AP)—Arthur Merriweather, 46, faced first degree murder charges today in the deaths of William Francis, 17, and Jack Screen, 14, two youths who were shot near a watermelon patch on the Merriweather farm Thursday night.

Merriweather was named as the slayer by a coroner's jury here last night. F. E. Young, county attorney, said he had intended to file only manslaughter charges against the prisoner, but evidence presented before the jury warranted more serious charges.

The youths, accompanied by Leland McCall, 19, were shot as they approached the patch, which is on the farm of Merriweather's father.

HUNDRED FIVE MINERS KILLED MONTH OF JULY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP)—One hundred and five men were killed in coal mine accidents in July as compared with 87 in June and 155 in July of last year.

The bureau of mines reported today a total of 838 accidental deaths in coal mines for the first seven months of 1931 against 1,159 in the same period last year.

OKLAHOMA AFTER WILBUR UNDERHILL CONFESSED SLAYER

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 22. (AP)—Wichita authorities today had under consideration a proposal that Wilbur Underhill, confessed slayer of Patrolman Merle Clover, be returned to Oklahoma for trial on charges of first degree murder in connection with the killing of a boy at Picher, Okla., more than four years ago.

Ed Nolan, deputy warden of the Oklahoma state penitentiary, was in Wichita today with a warrant and a request that the slayer be turned over to him. Underhill, Nolan said, never has been tried on the Picher slaying and predicted that if Kansas authorities turn him over to Oklahoma, charges of first degree murder will be sworn and the slayer subsequently sent to the electric chair.

The Picher killing, Nolan said, occurred when police attempted to arrest Underhill and return him to the Oklahoma state penitentiary, from which he had escaped. While two police held guns on the convict, Nolan said, a 16-year-old boy was tossed a pair of handcuffs to clamp on Underhill. As the youth moved between the police and Underhill, Nolan said, the slayer quickly dropped his hands, grabbed his gun, killed the youth and fled.

Police wounded Underhill, the deputy warden said, but he escaped from a hospital where his wounds were being dressed. Before he was captured again, he had slain an Okmulgee drug clerk, for which crime he was given life imprisonment. He again escaped last July 14.

AMERICANS IN MEXICO PLEDGE GOVERNMENT AID

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 22. (AP)—The American colony today pledged close cooperation to the government in efforts to solve the economic depression and appointed a committee to notify Finance Secretary Louis Montes de Oca of its decision.

At a meeting of the American Chamber of Commerce, means of paying extraordinary taxes levied on business were discussed and steps were taken to foment the tourist business as a means of bringing money into the country.

TWO INJURED WHEN CAR PLUNGES OFF HIGHWAY

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 22. (AP)—Two persons were injured seriously and a third escaped with slight injuries this morning when their car plunged off a 14-foot embankment on the Castroville road. Newton McKinney, driver of the car, was the most seriously injured, suffering internal hurts when he was pinned beneath the car. Miss Dororthy May Rant received a fractured skull and other injuries.

Expect Five Pleas of Guilty Before Judge P. A. Martin Monday in Felony Cases Under New Non-Jury Trial Law

Five pleas of guilty probably will be taken before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Monday, the first to be taken here under the new state law which went into effect at midnight Friday.

The new law provides that the defendant in a felony case may waive his right to a trial by jury with the written consent of the district attorney and enter a plea of guilty in court with sentence to be set and pronounced by the presiding judge. The statute specifies that the defendant must be represented by counsel.

Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney, visited the men under indictment in the Wichita county jail Saturday and found five who indicated that they were willing to plead guilty under the new law and permit Judge Martin to set their sentences.

County officials said that this law would save the county the money ordinarily spent in paying for juries for the trial of many pleas of guilty cases and would also enable the prisoner to start serving his time immediately after indictment. It will enable the county to send prisoners to state prison sooner after indictment and save money on the feeding and housing of prisoners who take advantage of this law.

TWO EYE WITNESSES FOUND TO SHOOTING OF YOUNG ALTUS MAN

ALTUS, Okla., Aug. 22.—Bill Allen, who lives nearby Mrs. Elanch Dickson's home has admitted being an eyewitness to the shooting late Tuesday night of Thurman Fitzgerald by Mrs. Annie Howse in front of the Dickson home, according to County Attorney Ross Rutherford. Allen is expected to testify for the state in the prosecution of Mrs. Howse. Rutherford disclosed the fact Saturday that he has discovered another eyewitness to the shooting of Fitzgerald, but is withholding the name of the individual. Preliminary hearing for Mrs. Howse which was postponed Friday by County Judge Sheila Starnes, is scheduled for 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

COTTON PICKERS IN CHILDRESS COUNTY TO GET 25 CENTS HUNDRED

CHILDRESS, Texas, Aug. 22.—The farmers are planning to pay only 25 cents per hundred for cotton picking. It is low, and the farmers recognize that fact, but the price is low and the grower cannot afford to pay more, or at least but little more, for picking. Picking will begin about the middle of September, according to the farmers.

After 35 Years Former Convict Hunts for Sister

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Aug. 22 (AP)—Grown old behind prison walls, where he had served 34 years for the slaying of a man who had mistreated his 8-year-old sister, Lillian, Henry Stewart today was engaged in a search for the sister, whose married name he does not know.

Thirty-five years ago, Stewart, then living in Chicopee Falls, Mass., was sentenced to life imprisonment for the slaying. He was recently pardoned.

Acting on fruitless tips, Stewart searched Sioux City, Council Bluffs, and Dewitt, Iowa. Yesterday he made a house to house canvas of Dewitt, but found no trace of her. Today he planned to go to Rockford, Ill., to continue the search.

CHILDRESS FLOUR MILL DOES BIG TOLL BUSINESS

CHILDRESS, Aug. 22.—A local flour mill is having a large business with the farmers at this time, running on full time to keep up with the demands made upon them. This company is exchanging 100 pounds of flour for three bushels of wheat, thus providing the farmers with flour at the rate of less than $1 per hundred. The mill turns out good flour and the farmers are well pleased with the terms.

There is some agitation on the part of Red Cross officials to purchase from the farmers, not the federal farm board, surplus wheat to be made into flour to be given to the needy during the winter months, if there should develop a demand for the same. It is claimed it would be far less expensive than to purchase the flour through the regular channels.

MICHIGAN MAN SPEAKS TO ELECTRA ROTARIANS

ELECTRA, Texas, Aug. 22.—E. Ray Skinner of Detroit, Mich., was the principal speaker at the Rotary club luncheon Friday at the Armilda hotel. "Depression in General" was the subject of Mr. Skinner's remarks. B. M. Dinsmore, club president, presided at the luncheon. Visitors introduced were Ed F. Theland, Kansas City, Mo., guest of Wendell Douglas, and Mr. Skinner. Little Miss Shannon Chapman of Borger was presented in a tap dance number.

Retail sales of merchandise in the United States amounted to $53,000,000,000 in 1929, according to a report of the U. S. department of commerce.

Your Car Will Be Better Lubricated and Serviced by the Dealer Who Sells That Car

Jack-of-all-cars and good at.....

Each car factory spends great gobs of money training its own dealers' service men—just to service their one make of car. Those same dealers' men couldn't half do the job without this factory instruction.

Then consider the outside service man!

He attempts to service all cars—lubricate, adjust, repair them. Not just one make, but all makes! And he doesn't receive this constant instruction from any factory, not even one.

Even if he has equal natural ability, he just can't possibly keep up with correct methods.

Today is a day of specialization and nowhere is specialization more necessary than in servicing modern automobiles.

Take your car for all maintenance attention to the dealer who sells that car—lubrication, adjustments, repairs, everything. You'll save money. And you'll get better car satisfaction.

BRAKES are easy for the one who knows. But nobody can know all brakes! Each car has different brakes, and changes are even made in different year models.

A car dealer doesn't pretend to know all brakes—just the brakes on his car better. If you want the most certain brakes, take them only to the dealer who sells your car.

UNBUSINESSLIKE GOVERNMENT COSTS TAXPAYERS TOO MUCH

County Units Same as 100 Years Ago and Methods Same as in Ox Cart and Horseback Age

By ALFRED E. SMITH

Competition in the business world today compels two things: modern methods of conducting business and the curtailing of the cost of conducting business as far as this can possibly be done. This has two effects. It distinctly improves the output and cheapens cost of production.

Study any highly competitive business. For the sake of argument let it be automobiles. Visualize the improvement of automobiles in 20 years. Because the business is highly competitive, every company engaged in the manufacture of automobiles is constantly studying two things: better output and cheaper cost of production. Competition compels the cutting out of unnecessary expense. In a highly organized business institution, there cannot be any duplication of effort because it is unnecessary and, what is worse, it is costly. Modern methods of production along every line of endeavor call for modern types of machinery, modern methods of merchandising, modern methods of salesmanship, and modern methods of distribution.

How far could organized business in the industrial world today proceed with the machinery of a hundred years ago? The very newspaper that you are reading could not be turned out with the printing presses of that time. Modern ingenuity and invention have changed all these things. But the impulse to modernize them comes from the necessity of meeting competition.

Government, of course, has no competition. Consequently all the old time methods of government hold today pretty much as they did a hundred years ago. There may be very radical changes in governmental policies but the machinery of government remains pretty much the same. And this applies not only to local governments but to the governments of states and of the nation. We are carrying along our public business largely in the same way that we did when our government was founded. Now and then some innovation, some new theory of governmental service finds its way into the statute books, but the basic structure and the fundamental ideas remain practically unchanged.

Only Government Unchanged

No account has ever been taken of changing conditions, of increase of population, of a departure from the government adapted to a time when the United States was an agricultural community, through the years and up to the time when it became a manufacturing country. It is not so many years ago in the life of a nation when everybody in the United States lived in the country. Today, great masses of our population, in fact, the majority, probably, live in cities and all their endeavors are directed toward manufacturing as against agricultural pursuits. New York state is a shining example. Assuming a population of twelve million people, it is a matter of fact that seven and a half million of them live in five cities along the line of the Erie canal and the Hudson river, from the Atlantic ocean to Lake Erie. This is notwithstanding the fact that there are more than 35 cities, not to speak of large villages, whose population would permit their incorporating as a city.

During all this period of reconstruction, reorganization, advance in business methods and scientific application of new and advanced means of communication, government in the small units remains practically the same as it was in the days when we were a colony of Great Britain. In every state, in our early days we set up different units of government. The popular one, of course, was the county. This was taken from the English system and the whole theory of the organization of counties was convenience to the population. There being no railroads, no improved roads, no real means of transportation, except by water, counties were naturally small. That is the reason why New York state today has 62 counties and Wisconsin has 71. There are several states of the union with even more counties than New York or Wisconsin.

During all the years that have elapsed since the setting up of the various units of government, nothing has been done to take advantage of modern means of transportation. Years ago when these counties were set up it was difficult, if not impossible, in some cases to go from one end of a county to the other in a single day. But taking New York state as an example, you can leave in your automobile after lunch and ride to Saratoga, a distance of approximately 190 miles, and be there in time for dinner—passing through eight counties on the way. In the old days, when these counties were set up, 30 miles was quite a distance. Today 20 miles is less than one hour's ride. But still we maintain the same number of counties, with all of the expense and waste that goes with their maintenance.

All that I say is directed not against the multiplicity of counties or the desirability of maintaining them, but it is meant to call attention to the cost in dollars and cents to the taxpayers who maintain this costly system of county government that we now have in so many states in the union.

Illustrations From New York

Conditions as they appear in the state of New York are unquestionably duplicated throughout the country. Let me therefore as an example state the situation in New York. There are three counties in New York state—Tompkins, Tioga and Chemung—which have a combined population of approximately 138,000. Adjoining these three counties is the county of Chautauqua, with a population of 128,000. The combined area of the three counties is 1,403 square miles and the area of Chautauqua, 1,069 square miles. Chautauqua has a real property worth of $225,000,000, whereas the realty worth of the three other counties is about $188,000,000. In the year 1926 the overhead expenses of the Chautauqua county government were $123,571, and the overhead expense of the three named counties were $251,940. In other words, it cost twice as much for the overhead expense in the three small counties as it did in one county.

Suppose these facts were made apparent in the conduct of a business institution, what would happen? There would be a consolidation of the three named counties for the purpose of removing a large percentage of the overhead expenses of maintenance and operation. Why is it not logical to apply business principles to county governments? Why should 137 thousand people in Tompkins, Tioga and Chemung pay $128,000 more yearly for the overhead expenses in their three county governments than 128 thousand people pay in Chautauqua county? Let us look at the per capita cost. In the three counties every citizen had to contribute $1.83 in taxes to maintain these counties; while in the one county the per capita cost was 97 cents.

Taking the cold-blooded business view of the three counties by comparison with the one, the acreage is the same, the facilities for travel and communication are identical, but because we have frozen into our constitution this old-fashioned form of government with so many counties, the difference in the cost is explained by the fact that the group of three must maintain three county clerks, three county judges, three courthouses, three county jails, and three of every official and three of every county institution, as against Chautauqua, which has just one. Nothing to my mind is more ridiculous than the maintenance of a county in the state of New York with less than 3,000 people in it, duplicating all the machinery that is to be found in the county of Kings with two and a half million people. Similar conditions are to be found all over the country.

It goes without saying that when these counties were originally set up a hundred years ago it was necessary to have the county seat near the mass of population. But the advent of the automobile, the railroads, the improved state roads, have made it entirely unnecessary. In the old days, when the farmer drove to the county seat he was lucky if he kept the old old horse trotting at the rate of eight miles an hour. Today the legal rate of speed in many of the states is about 40 miles an hour. The logical conclusion of that is that the farmer who lives 20 miles away from the county seat today is as close to it as the farmer who in the old days lived five miles away.

In subsequent articles I shall discuss what causes the costliness of county government and also the wastefulness of some forms of local government, and suggest constructive remedies.

CENSUS FIGURES AND A THEORY

One of the favorite theories that folks hold is threatened by the recently announced census figures on population according to sex. The theory is that, in the years following a war, male babies are born in larger proportion than normally; it is nature's effort to replace the males who did not survive the war.

In 1910, the census showed 106 males to each 100 females. The 1920 census showed a ratio of 104 to 100, the war accounting for part of the reduction. If the theory were a sound one, the 1930 census would have shown a higher ratio of males to females. Instead, it recorded a further decline. The 1930 figures show only 102.5 males for each 100 females. The female population is increasing more rapidly than that of the so-called stronger sex.

Perhaps Dame Nature knows that there aren't going to be any more wars and that replenishment of the supply of males therefore isn't necessary. Or does she?

ABUSING A PRIVILEGE

When local autoists were first accorded the privilege of making right hand turns on red traffic signals, they accepted that privilege in the right spirit. They took pains to observe the rules. They made the turns slowly, keeping close to the corner curb, and respecting the rights of pedestrians and of other traffic.

Lately, however, too many autoists have come to consider the right hand turn as a right rather than as a privilege. It is not uncommon to see turns made without slackening speed and without heeding the rights of pedestrians. If it is not convenient to make the turn close to the curb, it is likely to be made in the middle of the street.

We were skeptical of the right hand turn when the rule was first announced. We have come to believe that it does relieve congestion somewhat and that it has its merits, if cautiously and considerately done. The manner in which the privilege is being abused points to the need of more watchfulness by traffic officers and for a stricter enforcement of the rules.

THE TRUCK LAW DECISIONS

Enforcement of the two new truck regulation measures did not begin Saturday, being prevented by federal injunctions. The federal courts appear to have some doubts as to the constitutionality of both of the laws. It may develop that neither is valid.

It reflects no credit on the legislature that it did not in the face of a public need, frame and pass regulatory laws that would stand up. There was when the legislature convened, a definite need for such regulatory legislation. In attempting to meet that need, the legislators went to radical and burdensome lengths that, in all probability, will be found to have defeated the ends sought.

Obviously the eventual result will be truck legislation that protects the public without strangling an industry. The federal court action should lead to the enactment of regulatory measures in which there is a larger measure of common sense, and a smaller measure of hysterical radicalism.

THE DEMAGOGUE'S SERVICE

Is there a need, in times like these, of more demagogues? The average American would return an emphatically negative answer to the question, probably with the observation that the country has troubles enough just now, without any more demagogic politicians than it now has.

There is, however, a very useful purpose that the demagogue can serve at present, according to Gerald W. Johnson, writing in Harper's Magazine for September under the title, "Bryan, Thou Shouldst Be Living."

Mr. Johnson makes the interesting point that a demagogue, while his own measures may be unworthy or dangerous, nevertheless promotes leadership by causing able men to think. Whether it is accurate to class Bryan with the demagogues is a matter on which there will be difference of opinion, but it does not affect the point of the magazine writer's statement.

We are suffering just now from lack of leadership in public affairs. If Bryan were alive, says Mr. Johnson, he might not be able to provide that leadership, but he would very likely be able to goad or stimulate others into doing some helpful thinking and into assuming the leadership the nation needs.

Listing some of the noted liberal leaders of this country and England Mr. Johnson undertakes to show that few of them were thinkers. Nevertheless, he adds, each of them "was responsible for some tremendous thinking." Mr. Johnson continues:

The point is that he didn't do it. It was done by the men who found themselves under the necessity of putting him down. This much is true even of William Jennings Bryan, the quality of whose own cerebration is such that he stated on oath that man is not a mammal. But he made Mark Hanna think. He made Roosevelt, Aldrich, Tom Rood, E. H. Harriman, the elder Morgan, Judge Gary, Whitelaw Reid, Henry Watterson, John Hay, William Allen White, Lodge, Penrose, Platt, Quay and William H. Taft think.

The truth of what Mr. Johnson writes may be demonstrated within the next 12 or 15 months. Consider, for example, the governor of Oklahoma, whose presidential boom is approaching the significant stage. It is highly improbable that Mr. Murray will be nominated. But if he campaigns actively for the nomination, he is apt to make Roosevelt, Ritchie, Robinson, Baker and some others do some better thinking than they might do if he were not a contender. In other words, the presence in the race of such a man as he may result in the choosing of a better candidate—or a better president.

However that may be, few will disagree with Mr. Johnson when he says that the lack of leadership is apparent. If some one appears who can stir the crowd, he may serve the very useful purpose of evoking leadership where none now is in evidence.

MR. GIFFORD'S TASK

It is to be hoped that Walter S. Gifford, whom President Hoover has appointed to deal with the unemployment problem, will fare better than did Col. Arthur Woods, who was charged with a similar task last winter. Colonel Woods brought to the task the insight and executive ability that made him a successful business man and a successful public official. But he found that these attributes counted for little in dealing with governmental bureaus. At every turn, he found his efforts tangled up with departmental red tape. He made recommendations and saw them pigeon-holed and forgotten. He initiated plans and saw them deftly sidetracked by bureaucratic officialdom. He accomplished little because he lacked the authority to slash red tape or to override objections.

The president saw fit to pay Col. Woods a compliment for his efforts. Probably, when Colonel Woods read that, he smiled grimly to himself. Official kind words mean little when official cooperation is denied.

If Mr. Gifford encounters the same obstacles that Colonel Woods met, there is no reason to believe that he can accomplish very much. The task would be difficult enough, if he were to enjoy complete official cooperation. Without that cooperation, it is well night hopeless. Unless there is a change in the spirit at Washington, the appointment is a mere gesture.

As Our Sons Leave for College

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

The thronging of students into American colleges and universities in this particular autumn of 1931 will have a meaning alike to the students and to the nation, quite beyond the meaning that ordinarily attaches to the opening of the school year.

I hope the peculiar significance of the period through which the nation and the world are now passing will filter into the minds of our sons and daughters and inspire in them a new devotion to those rigorous disciplines of mind and character which alone can produce men and women equipped to rescue our generation from the political, social, and economic confusion into which it has fallen in these days of world-wide depression.

The students entering college this year will have to live their lives and practice their professions in a world disturbed by something deeper than the after-effects of a market crash, in a world that has become so complex that it has over-taxed the managerial skill of existing leadership.

And these students, like their predecessors, will fail their generation unless from their college training they bring to the affairs of their time two things.

(1) Sanely disciplined minds.

(2) Soundly developed characters.

I hope that in the selection of their courses and in the persistent question they put to their professors, the students of 1931-32 will demand that the colleges and universities give them a genuine insight into the problems that now haunt the American social order.

I hope that, in their social life outside the classroom the students of 1931-32 will consciously practice that self-control and subject themselves to that self-discipline which alone can produce the strength that the strains of the future will demand.

The colleges and universities must do everything possible to help their students in this enterprise of self-development.

They must perfect the program and personnel of an adequate system of guidance, supervision, and counsel alike in matters of mind and of character.

And this service of guidance, supervision, and counsel, in those deeper and more personal matters that make or mar the character of students, must be conducted without annoying and self-defeating paternalism.

Seven

(Being, with no apologies to Wordsworth, the early a. m musings of an individual, normally intelligent, who in an aberrant hour, found himself in a tourist camp, overnight with his family).

Sleepless I lay in the tourist camp,
Where the August night had found me,
There was no breeze and the floor was damp,
And the flies they buzzed around me.

I lay and thought my troubles o'er,
The while the night was fleeting,
When a little sprite came through the door,
And gravely gave me greeting.

"How many are there, sir?" asked he,
"That here with you abide?"
He cocked his head and stared at me,
"We are seven," I replied.

"Seven?" said he, and looked about,
I can see here only four.
Your word I do not like to doubt,
But really, are there more?"

"O stranger, we are seven," I said,
"There are two upon the floor,
Where a pallet serves as a restless bed,
And one behind the door.

"When you stay all night in a tourist shack,
With a family like this one,
You must put 'em in every cranny and crack,
And be careful not to miss one."

Then the baby stirred and cried a bit,
On the suitcase where it lay,
And I gave it a pickle to quiet it,
And longed for the break of day.

"You haven't miscounted?" inquired the sprite,
"You're sure it's not nine or leven?"
And I said, as he vanished into the night,
"No, stranger—we are seven."

Oh, the merry month of August, with the fields all turning brown, with the tax rates going up and the Spudders going down.

On learning that the census showed 102.5 men to each 100 women, Vera Dumb, the office flapper, said that she knew all about the odd five-tenths of a man; that it was just her luck to have had a date with him the night before.

Rested

Well, we have had a week's vacation, just like we told you, so as to give our brain a little rest. The results were immensely gratifying. It was just what our brain needed. It has fully recuperated. Problems that were a sore trial to it, before, are now crystal-clear. The old machine is hitting on all 16 cylinders.

As a result of its recuperation, we are able this morning to give our readers the long and eagerly-awaited solution of the world's economic problems. We have thought out an effective and feasible plan, which, for the sake of convenience, we shall call the John Gould Plan for World-Wide Economic Relief. A great many other individuals are offering relief plans, but no one, throughout the wide world, has thought of a plan like our own. It is unique. And it is practically certain to work; at any rate it ought to work as well as most of the others.

The beautiful feature of our plan is its simplicity. It is so simple that even the Republican administration can grasp it.

The Plan

Briefly, our plan is just this. Impose a special excise tax of five dollars per pound, on spinach.

That's all there is to it. Just as simple as that!

Now take a look at the arithmetic of it. There are 122,000,000 people in the United States. Allowing for babies too young to enjoy spinach and for some others, we have left 115,000,000 spinach-eaters. If these eat two pounds of spinach a week, that is $1,150,000,000 per week in taxes, or $59,800,000,000 a year.

With that much money, the government could cancel the foreign debts, build a new navy, buy up the wheat at $2 a bushel and the cotton at 25 cents a pound. The money thus put into circulation would send oil up to $3 a barrel, and the resultant prosperity would engender a demand for still more spinach, producing still more taxes for the government to spend. The depression would vanish in a trice, whatever that is.

Details

There are some minor details of the plan still to be worked out. For instance, there is the question of where anybody would get the $5 to pay the tax with. That is something we haven't yet worked out. It may be necessary to give our brain another rest before we tackle it. But it is a mere matter of detail.

The question might be raised, whether the general public would continue to eat spinach. Those who raise such a question do not know the habits and temper of the American people. Ours is a nation of spinach addicts. That fact accounts for many of the things that happen in this country, but that is beside the point.

Parents might wish, in the interest of economy, to eliminate spinach from the menu. But they could not. When the little children, sitting down to a meal and seeing no spinach on the table, begin their pathetic, plaintive sobbing, hard, indeed, would be the parental heart that would deny them.

"I don't care how you raise the money," the mother would say to the father, "go out and get it somehow, and bring home spinach for these little ones."

And the father would go and sell 20 or 25 bushels of wheat, or a tankfull of crude oil, or maybe four or five dozen crates of cantaloupes, and get the spinach and bring the color back into his children's cheeks and the happy laughter back to their faces.

Well, it may have its weak points, but there's this about it. It's a good plan if it works.

They're using airplanes on the East Texas front, but East Texans will have no trouble in distinguishing them from mosquitoes. The planes are smaller and make less noise.

The earthquake didn't attract much attention in Texas. Too much competition!

Health and Diet Advice

Strange Appetites

A new food flavor is not usually relished at first, but one acquires a taste for it. Most of us can remember when we disliked the flavor of carrots when we were children, or perhaps turnips, cabbage, or squash.

Foods that seem repugnant to one individual may be relished by another. Some find calves' brains delicious and others find them repugnant. Some enjoy the raw oyster, and others would not swallow it on a bet. Those who do like oysters usually flavor the oyster with some strong condiment such as horseradish or catsup. The oyster eater would be made sick if he put sugar or honey on as a flavoring.

Some nations have foods which seem odd to others, as the Chinese preserved egg which may be kept many years, and their bird's nest soups, made of nests which are formed of the saliva of a certain type of bird of the swift family.

In some parts of the world, notably in some of the Russian Siberian villages, there is a type of individual with a large belly. Because of their fondness for dirt, which they eat as a regular addition to their meals, these people are called "dirt eaters." For a long time science ridiculed the idea that there was any nourishing quality in the dirt, but after a careful investigation, it was found that the soil in these particular localities was rich in small dried and living animal structures and these were actually digested by these individuals and used as nourishment. The strain of handling such a large amount of inorganic mineral matter, however, produced pendulous abdomens.

Mothers are often driven to the verge of despair by seeing their children gnawing at pieces of wood, or nibbling the paint off their toys and scooping up the soil into their mouths. Dirt eating children and babies are very numerous. Children may taste small quantities of these things when they are babies and later actually acquire a taste for them so that they enjoy their flavor.

While a lack of mineral elements in the food undoubtedly contributes to the craving for these substances, the dirt-eating habit is acutally a habit, and must usually be broken even after the diet is corrected. The dirt-eating tendency in adults seems to be associated usually with feeble mindedness.

Babies undoubtedly need some hard substance to bite on when they are developing their teeth. Pieces of hard rubber and celluloid are good for them to chew on. They may also be allowed to bite on washed raw carrots. It is unlikely that babies will be able to chew off enough of the carrot to cause any disturbance. Celery stalks may also be employed. If the baby shows the tendency to chew at its crib, it may be necessary to wrap the exposed areas in fuzzy cotton material.

The first efforts to correct this habit should be to change and improve the diet. Usually the addition of some raw food is necessary. Orange juice and raw carrot juice may be given to babies, and some of the raw salad vegetables to children. The taste for raw vegetables is instinctive, and most children prefer raw carrots and turnips to cooked ones. They should be encouraged in this by their mothers, since some of the uncooked foods are necessary to our good health.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Large Veins in Hands

Question—Mrs. K. writes: "The veins in my hands appear very prominent and blue. Am very thin. What could I do to correct this?"

Answer—Veins usually look large on thin hands. There isn't much that can be done to correct this trouble. I would suggest the use of sufficient exercise to insure good circulation, as well as the use of cold shower baths and massage from the fingertips toward the shoulders.

Some Diet Questions

Question—Inquisitive asks: "I do not have an oven for broiling meat. How can I cook it? Are there any substitutes that I could use with my sinus trouble? I feel so much better for your first information that I am encouraged to give your diet a full trial. When I finish the Cleansing Diet course, can I eat corn, lima beans, raw cabbage, vegetable soup, cottage cheese, or other kinds of cheese and nuts?"

Answer—You can pan-boil your meat in a dry frying pan, turning it rapidly and not using any grease. The fire should not be too high. I have never found any substitutes as satisfactory as meat, especially for one suffering from sinus trouble or hay fever. If your sinus trouble and hay fever have cleared up after you have finished the Cleansing Diet course, you could eat the foods you inquire about. If your trouble has not entirely cleared up by that time, I would advise you to repeat the short fast again and return to the diet and do not add any foods which are not listed in the course.

Twenty Years Ago Today

From Files Wichita Times

August 23, 1911

The Citizens Light and Power company yesterday received one of the three gas engines purchased for the plant at this place and it has been unloaded and placed in the power house ready for installation. The engine is a 10 horsepower Bessemer and will be used for pumping water and for providing air compression for the larger engines required to furnish power.

T. B. Noble Jr. secured license No. 1 under the ordinance passed yesterday governing bicycle riding and has already equipped his wheel with the corresponding number as provided in the new law. There have beben several applications for the license already.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Suggestion for a Cartoon

Editor the Times: If I were a cartoonist, I believe that I would draw a picture, which, if passed by the censors, would supply some man of power, influence and a sense of justice, with the proper implement for ending the depression.

To you I will outline my picture and hope that you may like it well enough to place in the hands of a cartoonist, who will help us to get the man at the top of my picture to jump off.

The scene is beside a large body of water: I see a poor and ragged laboring man, flat on his stomach hands full extending—reaching for a plate of food but his reach is shy. Stretched on top of the laborer, forming a cross I see a long haired, stubby bearded farmer, reaching in vain for fair prices. Sitting, shoulders drooped, on top of the farmer is local merchant, desperately reaching for emergency business. Astride this merchant's neck sits the wholesaler reaching for unpaid bills. With legs locked tightly around the wholesaler's neck, sits the manufacturer, pleading for more credit. On the back of the manufacturer sits great banking system, with all pockets stuffed with money, and demanding more security. And, on a soft cushion on the head of great banking system, sits the Hon. Mr. Hoover, all smiles, fishing rod extended, anxiously awaiting the strike of a large fish.

Drawn up all around this picture is the billion dollar army, lazily resting on arms. Out in the water I can see that five billion dollar navy—with all hands asleep on the decks.

The final curtain: The vast rum fleet chasing and shooting at a scared and lone negro in a row boat, rowing with one hand and holding a bottle of Canadian Club in the other hand.

Pardon me, gentlemen, but I almost forgot that we still have a congress. I think I see them off to the side, playing some kind of game. I can't tell whether it is bridge or poker, and I just heard one of them ask the question: "Have you heard about the depression."

If you think this an attempt to be "funny" you are certainly wrong because I am all seriousness. Please publish if you can't cartoon the picture. Sincerely yours,

Byrle L. Beach,
Memphis, Texas.

DAILY HEALTH TALK

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Historically vitamin B comes first, but because these vitamins are recognized in the human mind alphabetically they are here being discussed in alphabetical order. It will be remembered that vitamin B1 was really discovered by Eijkman, who fed the polishings of rice to the sailors and thereby prevented beriberi. Hundreds of feeding experiments have been conducted with this vitamin since that time. Indeed, much is already known concerning its chemical character, but that knowledge is so complicated and technical that it is of little value to the average reader.

In ordinary people who live on diets quite deficient in vitamin B there will develop general weakness, loss of appetite, disturbance of the tissues generally and apparently a lowered resistance to infection. If the vitamin B deficiency becomes exceedingly great, serious nervous symptoms result, which have given to this vitamin the name of anti-neuritic vitamin. Much additional study has been made, however, on the other symptoms that have been mentioned.

The conspicuous effect of a deficiency of vitamin B is a sudden loss of appetite. Coincident with any loss of appetite, there is a loss of weight and an interference with nutrition. The question of the palatability of the food is apparently not involved, because the feeding of vitamin B restores appetite regardless of the fact that the same type of food is being fed. Hence it is being well accepted that one of the important functions of vitamin B is to stimulate the appetite. Apparently it is also related to stimulation of the secreting functions of the stomach and intestines and to the power of the stomach and intestines to move the food along. Failure of the motor functions of the stomach and intestines results in all sorts of serious reactions. Hence, it is important that a sufficient amount of vitamin B be taken to prevent all of the conditions that can occur from such failure.

As with vitamin A, there seems to be also a relationship of vitamin B to general body conditions, including proper metabolism or carrying on of the chemistry of the body, reproduction, and ability to provide the infant with milk. The infant gets its vitamin B through the mother's milk, but investigators are convinced that the amount it gets may not always be sufficient for its needs.

Brennan Announces Legion Stand Against All Forms of Radicalism

OFFERS AMERICANISM AS UNEMPLOYMENT CURE

Wichita Falls Drum and Bugle Corps Parades Business Section

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 22. (AP)—A steady stream of world war veterans trickled into El Paso tonight for the annual convention of the American Legion, Texas department, which begins Monday.

Among early arrivals was Hal Brennan of Laredo, state commander, who brought a message at once setting up the legion as a bulwark against radicalism and as an instrument of utility in the country's time of depression.

He declared the legion would fight radicalism in every form, in capital as well as among the masses, with "patriotic propaganda," if it was necessary to make each of its more than one million members a first line reserve behind constituted authority.

He described unemployment as the most dangerous issue confronting the American people and offered "Americanism" as the best means for curing it. In this connection, a resolution calling on the federal government to establish a "peace time army" to work on governmental projects may be introduced.

The Wichita Falls drum and bugle corps arrived this afternoon and paraded through downtown streets. A number of special trains and a big automobile caravan from Amarillo were due tomorrow.

The executive committee planned to meet tomorrow to receive reports of officers. A meeting of the 40 and 8, organization affiliated with the legion, was arranged for the same time.

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 22. (AP)—Elsie Janis, movie star, plans to attend the Texas state convention of the American Legion here. Officials said she would arrive Monday by plane. During the world war, she was an entertainer in France.

Rodeo Performer On Holiday Loses At Bull-Dogging

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 22. (AP)—Among delegates to the state American Legion convention is a rodeo performer.

"I can bulldog anything from a long-horn steer to a red-headed woman," he shouted this morning, as he rolled up to headquarters in a taxi.

Just then who should pass but such a woman? She was a waitress on her way to work. The rodeo artist did not hesitate.

With a whoop, he dived from the taxi, grasped the girl by the neck and applied his best bull-dogging tactics.

This is what the intended victim did to him:

Closed one eye with a smack of her fist. Split his lip with a straight left jab. Mashed his toes with a high-heeled stamp. Planted two more blows on his chin, and as he sank to the sidewalk landed a clean kick in the stomach.

Police arrived and picked the rodeo man up, but there was no complaint against him. The girl whisked into a restaurant.

"That's nothing," she sniffed. "If he tries that sort of thing again, I may get rough."

MISS CHARLOTTE JOINER

MISS MARIETTA HUNT

MISS MARGUERETE PEERY

IN THE PICTURES

Miss Mary Virginia Barron, daughter of Mr. Fred C. Barron, is taking her place as leader at the forum in the office of Junior forum president for 1931-32.

Miss Elizabeth Carrigan, daughter of Judge and Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, is first vice president and chairman of the program committee.

Miss Marguerite Peery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Peery, as second vice president, is chairman of the social committee.

Miss Charlotte Joiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lee Joiner, heads the membership committee as third vice president.

Miss Kay Cason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cason, will be Junior forum secretary.

Miss Marietta Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hunt, will be the treasurer.

High Ideals of Junior Forum Members Shown in Activities Outlined for Coming Season

While the early summer season was filled with pretty benefit affairs sponsored by the members of the Junior forum of Wichita Falls, the greater number of people who took part in them did not pause to consider what the Junior forum means. In this organization is found the answer to the question that has been disturbing the older circles of club life for the past two years, "Is the federated club movement on the decline?" The coming women of Wichita Falls are enrolled in the Junior forum; the home makers and housekeepers, the artists and writers, the business and professional women. In this club they are having a contact that will enable them to carry on the work that has made Wichita Falls a name that stands high in the state and general federation, whose officers already know of the unusual work done by the young women and girls of this organization.

The Junior forum has always been fortunate in its sponsors and officers; Mrs. Claude B. Woods and Miss Joline Woods as sponsor and president established the precedent of accomplishment. Mrs. T. A. Hicks and Miss Mary Tancred as sponsor and president, carried it on nobly and Mrs. P. P. Langford, the sponsor for 1931-32 has entered into the work of the organization with all the ardor and zest that inspires girls to untiring effort with Miss Mary Virginia Barron as a president who will never falter in efforts to reach the climax of junior achievement.

Varied Work

The May breakfast that closed the spring programs at the clubhouse was a brilliant promise for the incoming officers. Junior forum members not only arranged the spring setting but furnished the delightful program. Social affairs, however, were not the only ideal cherished by this group. When the Kiwanis club put on a ticket sale for the Royal Russian chorus, the proceeds to go to vocational school work, members of the junior forum entered the drive, won a splendid commission for their work and turned it back to the Kiwanis club for the work that organization was sponsoring.

Three bridge tournaments sponsored by the Junior forum netted the treasury a handseme sum. Money made by the club is never for their own glory. Each year the senior forum is presented with a check and some handsome gift and there is a scholarship fund for the Junior college of Wichita Falls, awarded for merit to a girl who could not otherwise get this education.

Junior forum members were the best saleswomen for Miss Johnny Morgan's "History of Wichita Falls" when that drive was put on by pioneer residents of the city.

A June luncheon and a June home-coming dance" particularly honoring those Junior forum girls who had just arrived from schools out of the city, were features of the month of roses. Mrs. Langford threw open her beautiful home for

WICHITANS WINNERS IN CAMP ACTIVITIES

Final contests in archery, tennis, horseshoes and basket ball, with closing exhibitions in dancing, riding, art, music and dramatics are filling the days of girls in camp at Camp Kinnikinnik, Manitou, Colo., where Miss Marguerite Fisher of Wichita Falls is dramatic counselor and where a number of Wichitans are spending the summer.

A trip to Monument Valley park, a hike up Kinnikinnik for a sunrise breakfast, horseback rides and swimming have been August outdoor activities.

Wild flowers blooming high on the sides of the mountains have been studied and pressed by nature lovers and music is a feature for each day.

Camp is divided inte two parties, the reds and the greens; the total of winning credits on a side will make it winner at the close of camp.

One interesting program arranged for presentation by Miss Marguerite Fisher, was of inspirational poems. The program was really an inspiration to the campers to make their last weeks of camp work the best. Wichita Falls girls are still taking honors in all activities.

LOCAL WRITERS LEAD IN ONE ACT PLAYS

According to figures of the publishers, the book of plays compiled by Mrs. Ben G. Oneal under the title "Prize Winning One-Act Plays" has sold up to the 400 mark in the year of its existence.

It has been much in demand throughout the state for club use and the extension library of the University of Texas has found it necessary to put a number of extra volumes in circulation to meet the demand.

Interesting criticisms from the New York Times speak of the variety in the volume with the positive value offered, making the book of special value for amateur groups.

Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, who compiled the volume, which by the way contains plays by Mrs. James P. Bowen and Mrs. Oneal, is working on two plays that will be presented at the Woman's Forum in the next season. A Christmas play will be given for the writer's department and a Texas play for the literature department. Forum members anticipate hearing the plays read and seeing them produced.

Engagement News Told Friday Eve At Dinner Party

No prettier midsummer dinner party has been given this season than that at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. McKinney, 2105 Tenth street on Friday evening when the engagement and approaching marriage of their only daughter, Miss Zaidee Congrave McKinney and Edd W. Gowan was announced to a few close friends of the couple. The wedding will take place Wednesday, Sept. 9 at the McKinney home.

With yellow and blue noted as the chosen colors of the charming bride-elect, bowls of yellow tube-roses furnished an exquisite table decoration and tall yellow tapers in silver holders shed a soft light on the scene.

Announcement was made in a pretty fashion. The napkins, rolled in cones, were tied with yellow tulle ribbons and inside these, were small cards engraved "Zaidee and Edd, Sept. 9."

Covers were laid for the lovely bride elect and Mr. Gowan, Misses Rose Marion Art and Madelyn McCarty, who will be bridesmaids and Mrs. J. M. Palmer of Waco, who will be matron of honor; Messrs. Pat Hardage, who will be best man and Elbert Childers of Tyler and Jimmie C. Gamewell, who will be attendants.

News of the wedding has already brought announcements of many pretty pre-nupital courtesies that will be extended to Miss McKinney.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS HONORED AT DINNER

A number of out-of-town guests were entertained Thursday evening when Mrs. H. D. Biles, 1212 Polk street, gave a small dinner party.

Covers were laid for Mrs. F. J. Wright of El Paso and her daughter, Miss Virginia Wright; Mrs. U. C. Howard and her mother, Mrs. Whitlow of Henrietta; Mrs. Kate Biles and daughter, Miss Ruth Biles of Montgomery, Ala., and the sister of the hostess, Miss Evelyn Parrish of Tulsa, Okla.

PEGGY PIEDMONT Says

I must still be substitute as she is still vacationing. Oh, well, when she comes home, she'll have so much to talk about. A change of scene does give one a greater viewpoint. That "having so much to talk about" phrase reminds me of the old joke about those who have had operations always having something to talk about. I heard it first so many years ago that I will not name them (my years having grown tender), and I read a reminder of it last week in one of the new books of the year, "Plain Anne Ellis," a follow-up of the author's book of last year.

I read some other things in that book—many of them quite clever. But author and publishers slipped up on one thing. Anne Ellis ran for office and when telling of adventures of her race, she repeated a story told against Wilson's character when "Harding was running against Wilson." Think fast, Kitty, if you're not a politician. Wilson was broken in health and out of the running when Harding ran for president against Cox.

Speaking of books, I must tell you of one collector we have in Wichita Falls. Mrs. O. T. Alles loves books. There are many valuable ones in her library and just recently I called her to the phone when she was opening a box that contained four volumes of the Robert Burns seventh edition published in 1813 for the aid of his needy family. I will wager she detested me. The books have a criticism of Burns' life and writing, written by his brother.

But this is the one that makes my mouth water; she has a first edition of "Dombey and Son," printed in 1848—a large volume filled with lovely illustrations that are almost like etchings in their grace and vigor. Why Dickens may even have handled it!

A letter from Mrs. P. P. Langford, telling of her wonderful trip to her sister's home in Seattle, gives me a vision of fairy land. The vistas of beauty that opened before her eyes on her trip by car never lacked appreciation. They traveled more than 600 miles the first day and she woke in those glorious reds and blues and golds that make artists go to New Mexico and paint pictures that the uninitiated think must be overdone.

The great California groves drew a description from her that makes me remember "the groves were God's first temples," and as she wrote, she lay in a long chair in her sister's garden, wrapped in a blanket watching the ever changing lights and shades on Puget sound. Mrs. Langford's sister has written some beautiful verses. Mrs. Langford has a poet's soul and she has the rhythm and beauty in herself if she doesn't write it in meter.

Do you remember, Kittie, a singer we used to hear last winter at so many entertainments? She was generous with her glorious voice and I know I told you that she reminded me of a swaying daffodil, with her yellow hair and graceful carriage. Well, I have had a letter from Nelle Lowrey, my daffodil lady. She's being entertained right and left during her summer stay in Hollywood, but it's music

CITY VIEW CLUB HAS MEETING

Mrs. W. H. Kiel entertained the City View Demonstration club at her home on the Iowa Park road Friday afternoon. The planning and planting of the fall garden was the subject for study. The program was carried out in round table discussion using material furnished from the county demonstration office. The discussions brought out the fact that in order to properly prepare the ground and to conserve moisture, all old plants and weeds should be killed off early, but the ground should not be turned under at this time. Certain insecticides for use against plant lice and biting insects were recommended and planting dates for the different vegetables were pointed out.

A registration of all members who would attend the county encampment to be held at lake Diversion was made and plans for the exhibit at the county fair to be held at Iowa Park were completed. Refreshments were served to members and visitors. The next meeting of the club is to be held Sept. 5 with Mrs. Moliett.

Miss Margaret Smith Becomes Bride of Stephen F. Hancock At Beautiful Noon Weddin

A wedding noted for its dignified beauty was solemnized Saturd at noon when Miss Margaret Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith of this city, became the bride of Stephen F. Hancock of Galv ton, the impressive ring ceremony being read by Dr. C. M. Stimpso pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church, at the home of t bride, 2602 Tenth street, in the presence of close friends and relatives.

The ceremony was said in the spacious dining room, where a large mirror, an heirloom in the family, formed a background that reflected the beautiful scene. A five-branched candelabra before it held showers of gladioluses and asters in dainty shades of pink and from the cathedral candles on each side, the same flowers hung in basket effect. Palms and ferns formed the altar background. The large doorways leading into the living room were lovely with wall pockets filled with shasta dasies and pink asters, and the same colors were noted in the dignified arrangement of blossoms throughout the home.

Mrs. Walter M. Priddy sang, "I Love You Truly," as prenuptial music, accompanied by Mrs. O. B. Kiel. Mrs. Kiel played the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" as the bridal party entered and during the ceremony, Cadman's "At Dawning," was the beautiful subdued music.

The bride, a striking brunet beauty, was lovely in a beige lace gown with accessories to harmonize. She wore a corsage bouquet of orchids. Her only attendant was the sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Robert K. Taylor, who was charming in a chartreuse imported frock with harmonizing accessories and a colonial bouquet of roses.

Mr. Hancock had as his best man, his brother-in-law, Lieut. Robert K. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Hancock left directly after the ceremony for a wedding trip in Colorado and will be at home later to their friends in Galveston.

The wedding, which is of statewide interest, unites members of two prominent families.

Mrs. Hancock is a graduate of Wichita Falls High school and completed her education at Lubbock Tech and at Texas university. She is a Kappa Kappa Gamma pledge.

Mr. Hancock, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Hancock of Galveston, represents one of the most prominent families in Galveston. Mr. Hancock is a graduate of Culver Military academy and is in the steamship business.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Hancock a Lieut. and Mrs. Robert K. Tayl of Galveston, were members of t wedding party.

Mending Sheets

When your sheets tear down the center, instead of just sewing them up, split them in two, reseam them by sewing the outer edges together and hem for the outside what used to be the center. This gives them more strength and extends the life of your sheets.

Peggy Piedmont

that is making a small paradise there for her.

Being a mere woman, Kittie, you as well as other women will get a little kick (umph, umph! sounds like pre-prohibition) out of the bridge luncheon with which the wife of a well known Hollywood star honored Mrs. Lowrey. A silver cloth on a 20-foot table with masses of California flowers in orchid and yellow (you see that's her color) and a hostess in an autumn afternoon gown of wine colored velvet trimmed in real lace. Then tea with this celebrity and dinner with another! Just one comfort, her head cannot be turned. And let me whisper to you before I tell you of any of the music—she's been singing over radio out there.

"The bowl," Mrs. Lowrey writes, "is one of the most beautiful and inspirational places I've seen in a long time. To witness close to 35,000 people hearing one concert! If season tickets are bought, the price of each concert, including solo nights, is 25 cents. Those are not reserved seats, but by going a little early, you can get choice seats. I wish all our younger musicians could hear just one concert; it would mean so much to them. The foreigners—how they crowd to them—and it is interesting to see how sincerely good music interests movie stars. They are not only on the permanent patron list, but you find them in their places on concert nights."

"The Pilgrimage play," another letter says, "is one of the most effective stories I've ever seen enacted. The surrounding mountains and general atmosphere combine to make you feel you are in Palestine, particularly when the characters come out in their lovely biblical roles. That little canyon effect we have out on the Seymour road could be used in the same way, of course on a smaller scale. Of course, Texas weather is changeable for outdoor plays, but it would mean so much to Wichita Falls and I am sure it would attract people from all surrounding counties. When you stop to think of the genuine musicians in that city, it would surprise you to know how favorably the percentage compares with any other Texas city. It is enough to make us hang out a red banner for Wichita Falls."

Back to the music in the bowl, Kitty; Mrs. Lowrey heard magnificent conductors in magnificent concerts; Damrosch, past 70, but with a marvelous personality and the vitality of a young man; Sir Hamilton Harty, Irish, but generally spoken of as English, who brought with him more fire and vigor than Damrosch and gave his audience the feeling of one who attained his knowledge in a somewhat different schooling.

When I read Nelle's letter I felt the rhythmic beauty and saw the color and heard the dewdrops dripping and wished that I too might sit in the bowl and hear a twilight concert. Though not always a savage breast, mine is often roused to fury and needs soothing. Twilight and early morning are rather holy hours, when I might become a placid soul. But, Kitty, if you hear of some one being taken to the asylum repeating in a questioning manner "T for Thomas or P for Paul" you may know that it is Peggy's —SUBSTITUTE.

High Ideals of Junior Forum Members Shown in Activities

Coming Year

The programs for the coming year are of particular interest. Approximately 50 members joined during the summer months and each new member, as well as the ones already on the roll, were requested to check the program building feature they liked best. From this check, the programs were arranged.

Dramatics will be featured in the work of the juniors. There will be six plays presented by junior members directed by talented artists in that line; Miss Minnie T. Baker will arrange a muscial phantasy on the December luncheon program and a historical pageant, "Texas Under Six Flags," will be written and staged in January by Misses Elizabeth Carrigan and Dorothy Knight and Mrs. Helen Peters Mangum. The "Mothers' and Daughters' Luncheon" in March, will be in charge of Mrs. Darroid Kahn, whose magnificent original work and splendid training have made the operettas given on this date of more than local interest.

Vocal, piano and violin numbers are on the programs with original stories and poems by talented girls of the city. The harp will add to the delight of musicians in the 1931-32 program, Mrs. Jess McLarry appearing in an ensemble number on the program honoring the Fine Arts department. It is a new idea established by original leaders this year that different departments of the forum shall be honored in different programs. The October program, for instance, will honor the civic, literature and writers' departments; the January program, the fine arts department; the February the board of directors and executive board, In April, Junior forum graduates will be special honorees and as always March honors mothers of junior members.

Officers and Chairmen

The Junior forum is fortunate in the sponsor for the coming year. Mrs. P. P. Langford is an inspiration to all those with whom she works. Miss Mary Virginia Barron, who has always been active in the organization, is the new president and serving with her are Misses Marguerite Peery, first vice president; Elizabeth Carrigan, second vice president; Charlotte Joiner, third vice president; Kay Cason, secretary and Marietta Hunt, treasurer. Miss Mary Brown Basham is the historian.

Efficient chairmen have been appointed for several committees, including Mrs. Jess McLarry, chairman of social service; Miss Jeannette Moore, chairman of club extension and Miss Marjorie Bright, chairman of out of town members. Mrs. Lloyd Taylor is official accompanist for the body.

The splendid program which has been arranged for 1931-32 is the work of Misses Elizabeth Carrigan, Dorothy Knight, Minnie T. Baker, Mesdames Darroid Kahn and C. E. Mangum.

What the Junior forum of Wichita Falls has accomplished in the past and what it is planning for the future is proof that in this city a splendid body of young women is carrying on all the work of uplift, physical, mental and spiritual that was the ideal inspiring the organization of the Woman's Forum.

How to Lose Fat a Pound a Day on a Full Stomach

Do Just These Two Simple Things

Fat Melts Away

Science has made important discoveries in fat reduction. The average fat person can now rip off fat a pound a day—four to seven pounds every week!—on a full stomach. Thus it is foolish now to stay fat.

This is what you do: Take a teaspoonful ordinary Jad salts in a glass of water a half hour before breakfast every morning. This reduces moisture-weight instantly. Also cleanses the system of the waste matter and excess toxins that most fat people have, and banishes puffiness and bloat.

Then do this about eating. FILL YOUR STOMACH—eat your fill—of lean meats, vegetables like spinach, cauliflower, cabbage, tomatoes, etc., and lots of salads. Eat a lot. Eat all you can hold. Don't go hungry a minute! Cut down on butter, sweets and desserts, bread. Eat any fruit for dessert.

That's all you do. Fat seems to melt away. The coarse lines of overweight give way to the refined ones of slenderness. You lose as much as a pound a day. You feel better than for years. For in this treatment you achieve two important results. The Jad Salts clear your system of toxins. *The diet takes off fat with food that turns into energy instead of weight.

If you're tired of being embarrassed by fat, try this way. You'll be glad that you did. You can get Jad Salts at any drug store.

*Note particularly—the salts are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food does the work.—Adv.

WICHITA FALLS RECORD NEWS PATTERNS

Hot weather is not nearly over when the first thoughts of fall fashions come from all sides. For adults and children alike, the filling in of the depleted summer wardrobe becomes at once a problem of "what shall it be." For neither is it difficult to solve; it is more a matter of color than of fabric. In place of the pale shades of blue, green and red so extensively used all summer, you've only to choose a deeper blue, a darker green and a rust red or maroon—fabrics need not be changed as the satins, triple georgettes and silks used all season will be equally smart this fall—adding, perhaps velvet to the list. At this moment no radical changes in silhouette are involved, except for the fussiness of sleeves. For the younger smart set, school presents the most vital problem and for the first two months, shantung, dimity, challis and jersey are just right. With sleeves or without, frocks are stylish and the vital thing is the choosing of colors that do not readily show soil. Prints remain the most popular of fabrics in well covered, darker grounds.

Pattern 1135

For the woman whose weight has increased with the years, this lovely frock has been designed with details that give maximum slenderness and becoming. Beltless for length of line, pointed skirt details for narrowness of silhouette and draped neck for feminine softness. It is charming in one of the above mentioned fabrics, in plain color or print. Sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4⅛ yards of 39-inch fabric, one-fourth yard six-inch lace.

Pattern 1113

This little lady has an adorable frock with V neck both front and back. Her shoulder capelets are very chic and the pointed skirt line has been adapted from the smart adult mode. The dress may be made with or without sleeves. It is equally nice in cotton, silk or sheer wool. Sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 6 requires 2⅛ yards of 39-inch fabric.

Pattern 1087

This frock combines youthfulness and chic in its tailored appearance and may be made of linen, cotton mesh, percale, gingham, cotton broadcloth etc. The trimming is nice of contrasting pique. Long sleeves are included with the pattern. Sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 8, with long sleeves, requires 2½ yards of 36-material and one-half yard contrasting.

These models are very easy to make as each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern ordered.

Send for our new fall fashion catalog. It offers an opportunity select smart fall and winter styles for afternoon frocks, sport models, house dresses, lingerie, pajamas, clothes for the kiddies, and accessory patterns. This catalog is 15 cents when ordered alone. Catalog and pattern together, 25 cents. Address all mail and orders to The Record News Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

CAMP FIRE SPARKS

Enjoy Watermelon Party

The Camp Fire Girls enjoyed a watermelon party at Kiwanis park on Friday evening. Members met at the Memorial auditorium at 7 o'clock. The North Texas Furniture company furnished a truck for the occasion, and Dr. J. W. Bradley, new member of the council, was initiated as volunteer "driver." Dr. Wallace Masters, president of council, and Mrs. W. E. Polk, guardian, furnished cars. After the ride to the park, lively games were played by the light of the moon and a camp fire. Impromptu skits were worked out by the girls, showing the earning of honor beads in the various crafts. The generous portions of watermelon came as a climax to the evening of fun, for the 35 members attending.

"Overnight" Planned

The weekly summer activities will be brought to a close Tuesday night with an overnight at Kiwanis park. Members are to report at the park at 7 o'clock. Beds will be spread, and preparation made for the night in the open. A program around the fire will include songs, and reports of interesting things seen and done by members during the summer months. Parents, council members and friends are cordially invited to come out for the evening's program. Breakfast will be cooked over the campfire on Wednesday morning, each group making its own arrangements for food, supplies, etc.

Executive Board Meeting

The monthly meeting of the executive board of the local council was held in the directors room at the Wichita State bank Wednesday afternoon, with Dr. Wallace Masters, president, in charge. Lester Jones, treasurer, made the financial report and submitted the 1931-32 budget for approval of the board members. Mrs. Frank W. Michaux, chairman of guardian association made a report of activities for the past two months, as follows: Early morning breakfast, weekly swimming classes, closing with a swimming meet on Aug. 14, visit to general hospital, taking picture puzzles to children; making of garments for children at day nursery, visit to colored day nursery, taking toys and clothing, class of instruction in first aid, and participation in American Legion parade. Plans for overnight and watermelon party were mentioned.

Dr. Masters spoke enthusiastically on the summer camp, held at Craterville, Okla., stating that he felt the camp was a real success, judging from the enthusiasm of the members who attended and the report of work accomplished. He stated that he found sanitary conditions at the camp very satisfactory on the trips he made there. He thanked Mr. Bebb, chairman of the camp committee, for his splendid service on transportation, investigation, etc. Mrs. R. E. Davis was thanked for herself and Mrs. Davis' assistance in helping to bring the campers home.

Mrs. Davis, who has been appointed chairman of the institute to be held in Wichita Falls, April 1 and 2, reported on the nature of the institute as a source of inspiration, and training for leaders and others interested in the Camp Fire program. She stated that plans were under way to hold the institue at Kemp hotel, with Miss Eldora De Motts, one of associate field workers, in charge.

Prof. J. E. Park, new chairman of the educational committee, spoke briefly telling of his interest in the program after seeing the splendid work done by the Oawakiya group at Alamo school. "I had never quite realized before, what splendid training our girls are getting in home making and other worth while activities. I am glad to lend what assistance I can to such an organization.

The following new members were voted to membership on the council: Dr. Fillers, Mrs. Harmen Cloughley, and Mrs. Fred Gates.

Those attending the meeting were Mesdames R. E. Davis, Frank W. Michaux, Messrs. Wallace Masters, J. W. Culbertson, Lester Jones, J. E. Park, and Edwin A. Bebb, and Miss Mary McIlheran, executive.

The next meeting will be a luncheon at the local headquarters.

Oawakiya Group

The members of the Oawakiya group were guests of Leonida James, at her home, 1609 Elizabeth, on Wednesday. Plans were made for the outdoor breakfast this week, to be cooked by the candidates for fire maker rank. Details for completing requirement for birthday honor were discussed. A swim was planned for Monday afternoon, when details for the breakfast will be completed.

This group is proud to boast that Lois Schram, one of the members, has this year passed her junior Red Cross life saving test. Lois carried off the high honors at the swimming meet.

Refreshments were served to Mary Arwood, Bernice Syr, Lorita Tanner, Dorthea Whitehead, Evelyn Howard, Ethel Ranbarger, Lois and Frank Schram, Margaret Hutchinson, and visitors as follows: Lillian Mowrey, Erdine Smith of Holliday, house guest of Margaret Hutchinson and Willie Mae Brawley.

Executive Vacation

Miss McIlheran expects to leave Wednesday of this week for a two-week vacation to South Texas. The office will be kept open from 10 to 12 a. m. and 2 to 5 p. m. by the assistance of the members who will give volunteer service.

Mending Sheets

When your sheets tear down the center, instead of just sewing them up, split them in two, reseam them by sewing the outer edges together and hem for the outside what used to be the center. This gives them more strength and extends the life of your sheets.

Peggy Piedmont

Being a mere woman, Kittie, you as well as other women will get a little kick (umph, umph! sounds like pre-prohibition) out of the bridge luncheon with which the wife of a well known Hollywood star honored Mrs. Lowrey. A silver cloth on a 20-foot table with masses of California flowers in orchid and yellow (you see that's her color) and a hostess in an autumn afternoon gown of wine colored velvet trimmed in real lace. Then tea with this celebrity and dinner with another! Just one comfort, her head cannot be turned. And let me whisper to you before I tell you of any of the music—she's been singing over radio out there.

"The bowl," Mrs. Lowrey writes, "is one of the most beautiful and inspirational places I've seen in a long time. To witness close to 35,000 people hearing one concert! If season tickets are bought, the price of each concert, including solo nights, is 25 cents. Those are not reserved seats, but by going a little early, you can get choice seats. I wish all our younger musicians could hear just one concert; it would mean so much to them. The foreigners—how they crowd to them—and it is interesting to see how sincerely good music interests movie stars. They are not only on the permanent patron list, but you find them in their places on concert nights."

"The Pilgrimage play," another letter says, "is one of the most effective stories I've ever seen enacted. The surrounding mountains and general atmosphere combine to make you feel you are in Palestine, particularly when the characters come out in their lovely biblical roles. That little canyon effect we have out on the Seymour road could be used in the same way, of course on a smaller scale. Of course, Texas weather is changeable for outdoor plays, but it would mean so much to Wichita Falls and I am sure it would attract people from all surrounding counties. When you stop to think of the genuine musicians in that city, it would surprise you to know how favorably the percentage compares with any other Texas city. It is enough to make us hang out a red banner for Wichita Falls."

Back to the music in the bowl, Kitty; Mrs. Lowrey heard magnificent conductors in magnificent concerts; Damrosch, past 70, but with a marvelous personality and the vitality of a young man; Sir Hamilton Harty, Irish, but generally spoken of as English, who brought with him more fire and vigor than Damrosch and gave his audience the feeling of one who attained his knowledge in a somewhat different schooling.

When I read Nelle's letter I felt the rhythmic beauty and saw the color and heard the dewdrops dripping and wished that I too might sit in the bowl and hear a twilight concert. Though not always a savage breast, mine is often roused to fury and needs soothing. Twilight and early morning are rather holy hours, when I might become a placid soul. But, Kitty, if you hear of some one being taken to the asylum repeating in a questioning manner "T for Thomas or P for Paul" you may know that it is Peggy's —SUBSTITUTE.

Coming Year

The programs for the coming year are of particular interest. Approximately 50 members joined during the summer months and each new member, as well as the ones already on the roll, were requested to check the program building feature they liked best. From this check, the programs were arranged.

Dramatics will be featured in the work of the juniors. There will be six plays presented by junior members directed by talented artists in that line; Miss Minnie T. Baker will arrange a muscial phantasy on the December luncheon program and a historical pageant, "Texas Under Six Flags," will be written and staged in January by Misses Elizabeth Carrigan and Dorothy Knight and Mrs. Helen Peters Mangum. The "Mothers' and Daughters' Luncheon" in March, will be in charge of Mrs. Darrold Kahn, whose magnificent original work and splendid training have made the operettas given on this date of more than local interest.

Vocal, piano and violin numbers are on the programs with original stories and poems by talented girls of the city. The harp will add to the delight of musicians in the 1931-32 program, Mrs. Jess McLarry appearing in an ensemble number on the program honoring the Fine Arts department. It is a new idea etsablished by original leaders this year that different departments of the forum shall be honored in different programs. The October program, for instance, will honor the civic, literature and writers' departments; the January program, the fine arts department; the February the board of directors and executive board. In April, Junior forum graduates will be special honorees and as always March honors mothers of junior members.

Officers and Chairmen

The Junior forum is fortunate in the sponsor for the coming year, Mrs. P. P. Langford is an inspiration to all those with whom she works. Miss Mary Virginia Barron, who has always been active in the organization, is the new president and serving with her are Misses Marguerite Peery, first vice president; Elizabeth Carrigan, second vice president; Charlotte Joiner, third vice president; Kay Cason, secretary and Marietta Hunt, treasurer. Miss Mary Brown Basham is the historian.

Efficient chairmen have been appointed for several committees, including Mrs. Jess McLarry, chairman of social service; Miss Jeannette Moore, chairman of club extension and Miss Marjorie Bright, chairman of out of town members. Mrs. Lloyd Taylor is official accompanist for the body.

The splendid program which has been arranged for 1931-32 is the work of Misses Elizabeth Carrigan, Dorothy Knight, Minnie T. Baker, Mesdames Darrold Kahn and C. E. Mangum.

What the Junior forum of Wichita Falls has accomplished in the past and what it is planning for the future is proof that in this city a splendid body of young women is carrying on all the work of uplift, physical, mental and spiritual that was the ideal inspiring the organization of the Woman's Forum.

How to Lose Fat a Pound a Day on a Full Stomach

Do Just These Two Simple Things

Fat Melts Away

Science has made important discoveries in fat reduction. The average fat person can now rip off fat a pound a day—four to seven pounds every week!—on a full stomach. Thus it is foolish now to stay fat.

This is what you do: Take a teaspoonful ordinary Jad salts in a glass of water a half hour before breakfast every morning. This reduces moisture-weight instantly. Also cleanses the system of the waste matter and excess toxins that most fat people have, and banishes puffiness and bloat.

Then do this about eating. FILL YOUR STOMACH—eat your fill—of lean meats, vegetables like spinach, cauliflower, cabbage, tomatoes, etc., and lots of salads. Eat a lot. Eat all you can hold. Don't go hungry a minute! Cut down on butter, sweets and desserts, bread. Eat any fruit for dessert.

That's all you do. Fat seems to melt away. The coarse lines of overweight give way to the refined ones of slenderness. You lose as much as a pound a day. You feel better than for years. For in this treatment you achieve two important results. The Jad Salts clear your system of toxins. *The diet takes off fat with food that turns into energy instead of weight.

If you're tired of being embarrassed by fat, try this way. You'll be glad that you did. You can get Jad Salts at any drug store.

*Note particularly—the salts are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food does the work.—Adv.

WICHITA FALLS RECORD NEWS PATTERNS

Hot weather is not nearly over when the first thoughts of fall fashions come from all sides. For adults and children alike, the filling in of the depleted summer wardrobe becomes at once a problem of "what shall it be." For neither is it difficult to solve; it is more a matter of color than of fabric. In place of the pale shades of blue, green and red so extensively used all summer, you've only to choose a deeper blue, a darker green and a rust red or maroon—fabrics need not be changed as the satins, triple georgettes and silks used all season will be equally smart this fall—adding, perhaps velvet to the list. At this moment no radical changes in silhouette are involved, except for the fussiness of sleeves. For the younger smart set, school presents the most vital problem and for the first two months, shantung, dimity, challis and jersey are just right. With sleeves or without, frocks are stylish and the vital thing is the choosing of colors that do not readily show soil. Prints remain the most popular of fabrics in well covered, darker grounds.

Pattern 1135

For the woman whose weight has increased with the years, this lovely frock has been designed with details that give maximum slenderness and becoming. Beltless for length of line, pointed skirt details for narrowness of silhouette and draped neck for feminine softness. It is charming in one of the above mentioned fabrics, in plain color or print. Sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4⅛ yards of 39-inch fabric, one-fourth yard six-inch lace.

Pattern 1113

This little lady has an adorable frock with V neck both front and back. Her shoulder capelets are very chic and the pointed skirt line has been adapted from the smart adult mode. The dress may be made with or without sleeves. It is equally nice in cotton, silk or sheer wool. Sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 6 requires 2⅛ yards of 39-inch fabric.

Pattern 1087

This frock combines youthfulness and chic in its tailored appearance and may be made of linen, cotton mesh, percale, gingham, cotton broadcloth etc. The trimming is nice of contrasting pique. Long sleeves are included with the pattern. Sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 8, with long sleeves, requires 2⅛ yards of 36-material and one-half yard contrasting.

These models are very easy to make as each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern ordered.

Send for our new fall fashion catalog. It offers an opportunity select smart fall and winter styles for afternoon frocks, sport models, house dresses, lingerie, pajamas, clothes for the kiddies, and accessory patterns. This catalog is 15 cents when ordered alone. Catalog and pattern together, 25 cents. Address all mail and orders to The Record News Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

CAMP FIRE SPARKS

Enjoy Watermelon Party

The Camp Fire Girls enjoyed a watermelon party at Kiwanis park on Friday evening. Members met at the Memorial auditorium at 7 o'clock. The North Texas Furniture company furnished a truck for the occasion, and Dr. J. W. Bradley, new member of the council, was initiated as volunteer "driver." Dr. Wallace Masters, president of council, and Mrs. W. E. Polk, guardian, furnished cars. After the ride to the park, lively games were played by the light of the moon and a camp fire. Impromptu skits were worked out by the girls, showing the earning of honor beads in the various crafts. The generous portions of watermelon came as a climax to the evening of fun, for the 35 members attending.

"Overnight" Planned

The weekly summer activities will be brought to a close Tuesday night with an overnight at Kiwanis park. Members are to report at the park at 7 o'clock. Beds will be spread, and preparation made for the night in the open. A program around the fire will include songs, and reports of interesting things seen and done by members during the summer months. Parents, council members and friends are cordially invited to come out for the evening's program. Breakfast will be cooked over the campfire on Wednesday morning, each group making its own arrangements for food, supplies, etc.

Executive Board Meeting

The monthly meeting of the executive board of the local council was held in the directors room at the Wichita State bank Wednesday afternoon, with Dr. Wallace Masters, president, in charge. Lester Jones, treasurer, made the financial report and submitted the 1931-32 budget for approval of the board members. Mrs. Frank W. Michaux, chairman of guardian association made a report of activities for the past two months, as follows: Early morning breakfast, weekly swimming classes, closing with a swimming meet on Aug. 14, visit to general hospital, taking picture puzzles to children; making of garments for children at day nursery, visit to colored day nursery, taking toys and clothing, class of instruction in first aid, and participation in American Legion parade. Plans for overnight and watermelon party were mentioned.

Dr. Masters spoke enthusiastically on the summer camp, held at Craterville, Okla., stating that he felt the camp was a real success, judging from the enthusiasm of the members who attended and the report of work accomplished. He stated that he found sanitary conditions at the camp very satisfactory on the trips he made there. He thanked Mr. Bebb, chairman of the camp committee, for his splendid service on transportation, investigation, etc. Mrs. R. E. Davis was thanked for herself and Mrs. Davis' assistance in helping to bring the campers home.

Mrs. Davis, who has been appointed chairman of the institute to be held in Wichita Falls, April 1 and 2, reported on the nature of the institute as a source of inspiration, and training for leaders and others interested in the Camp Fire program. She stated that plans were under way to hold the institue at Kemp hotel, with Miss Eldora De Motts, one of associate field workers, in charge.

Prof. J. E. Park, new chairman of the educational committee, spoke briefly telling of his interest in the program after seeing the splendid work done by the Oawakiya group at Alamo school. "I had never quite realized before, what splendid training our girls are getting in home making and other worth while activities. I am glad to lend what assistance I can to such an organization.

The following new members were voted to membership on the council: Dr. Fillers, Mrs. Harmen Cloughley, and Mrs. Fred Gates.

Those attending the meeting were Mesdames R. E. Davis, Frank W. Michaux, Messrs. Wallace Masters, J. W. Culbertson, Lester Jones, J. E. Park, and Edwin A. Bebb, and Miss Mary McIlheran, executive.

The next meeting will be a luncheon at the local headquarters.

Oawakiya Group

The members of the Oawakiya group were guests of Leonida James, at her home, 1609 Elizabeth, on Wednesday. Plans were made for the outdoor breakfast this week, to be cooked by the candidates for fire maker rank. Details for completing requirement for birthday honor were discussed. A swim was planned for Monday afternoon, when details for the breakfast will be completed.

This group is proud to boast that Lois Schram, one of the members, has this year passed her junior Red Cross life saving test. Lois carried off the high honors at the swimming meet.

Refreshments were served to Mary Arwood, Bernice Syr, Lorita Tanner, Dorthea Whitehead, Evelyn Howard, Ethel Ranbarger, Lois and Frank Schram, Margaret Hutchinson, and visitors as follows: Lillian Mowrey, Erdine Smith of Holliday, house guest of Margaret Hutchinson and Willie Mae Brawley.

The product will carry the trade name of "Paymaster" and milling will be in progress both day and night for four or five months, it is expected.

Inquiries regarding the date of the opening of the mill have been received from several counties in northern Texas and southern Oklahoma. The mill is one of a very small number of mills in a large territory operating on a toll basis. The mill will also operate on a commercial basis.

The plant is a short system mill with a daily capacity of 200 sacks of 48 pounds each. M. D. McNatt had charge of installing the machinery and will remain in charge until the plant is fully adjusted.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY HAS TWO NEW GIRLS WHO WANT FOSTER PARENTS

Mrs. Harley Snyder, executive secretary of the Children's Aid society, announced Saturday that the local girls' boarding home had two additions, whom she is trying to place in local homes for the school terms.

A 14-year-old girl who became an orphan through a tragic accident, is now in the home of charity waiting for someone to give her a home. She is tiny for her age, but so intelligent that her active, reasoning brain makes up for her undersized physique.

The other addition is an 18-year-old girl, who was placed under the supervision of charity through misfortune. This girl is experienced in doing housework, but she has been unable to find a place which she could really call home as well as a place in which to work.

Mrs. Snyder can show any one interested other girls who have just as many prospects of pleasing the foster mother as the two described above. The secretary's office is at the Memorial auditorium, and an interview may be arranged with her by phoning 2-2183.

Takes Acre Wheat To Buy Bacon and Eggs for Breakfast

Hair Cut Takes Bushel and Half of Wheat and Show Bushel of Oats—24 Bushels of Oats for Carton of Cigarets Without Tax—10 Bushels of Wheat Will Let Family See Movies.

By WILL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers. Let me state you all some figures! Three bushels of wheat buys 1 bushel of Potatoes. It takes 5 bu. of Oats to buy one bu. of Potatoes, 2 barrels of oil buys one bu. of Potatoes, and mind you potatoes aint high either, they are only worth about 80 cents a bushel.

Two bushels of wheat to get a frying chicken, and the old Pullette aint high either. She is only retailing at about 50 cents on the hoof. It takes ten bushels of wheat to get a 50 pound sack of flour. Think of that, ten bushels of wheat to each sack of flour. You would think the thing wasent made out of wheat wouldent you? It takes 20 bushels of wheat to buy one pair of shoes, and then you only get five dollar shoes.

A pair of good Cowboy shop made Boots would just cause you to raise three whole acres of wheat at about 33 bushels to the acre, and that aint counting on rust. It takes a bushel of wheat to get a mess of roasting ears. You know what that is, you City Slickers? Well its that stuff you eat off the cobb, and get it all in your ears, and if you got a front tooth missing you miss one row. Three bushels of wheat to get you two pounds of bacon.

It takes two whole bushels of oats to get you one pound of steak, and that wont be so tender either. Two bu. of wheat buys you one pound of coffee. You have to trade two bushels of oats for one quart of Motor Oil, and three barrels of oil for one Quart of Motor Oil. You see, its like the wheat and the Flour, what a thing is made out of has nothing to do with the finished product. The price of a Cow has nothing to do with a steak, wheat to flour, or Oil to Motor Oil. A Bushel of wheat will get you a dozen eggs to go with your three bushels worth of bacon. So, for about a quarter of an acre's growing of wheat, you can have bacon and eggs in the One morning.

A Bushel for a Package

It takes a bu. of wheat to get a package of Post Bran. Now whats it made out of? I dident think it was wheat, and I guess it is not. If you want some butter on your bread that will cost you another bushel of wheat, and it takes a whole bushel of wheat to get one package of Cigarettes. Up to now you have blowed in 159 bushels of wheat and all you got is some bacon and eggs, one chicken, some fried potatoes, and a pair of Cowboy boots, on three full wagon loads of wheat. Oh yes, you had some motor oil and some roastin ears and a package of Cigarettes. Now you got you some smokes you got to go to town and show the Boys you can inhale. It will just cost you 3400 bushels of wheat to plant yourself in a Ford Sedan. At forty bushels to the acre, the Ford will just pet you back 60 acres of wheat. Course you can go seventy acres and get a Chevrolet, that's if you got plenty of acres.

By now you need some more Cigarettes so you got to shell out another bushel of oats. Takes another five acres to get you a radio so you can keep track of the Market, and see how many bushels of wheat a Package of Cigarettes are running that day. With a radio you can tell how bad you are off every minute of the day. Two pair of silk hose will knock your old grainery loose from eight bushels of wheat, or twelve of Oats. Just one lone Golf club bumps you off for another ten bu. of wheat. Now the wife and children are smoking, we got to have more Cigarettes. "Let's get 24 boxes?" Well haul twenty four bushels of oats to town, and make the trade.

A Hair Cut and Shave

Need a hair cut but I forgot to bring a bushel and a half of wheat with me. A shave is a bushel of oats. "Here, Rastus, is a bushel of oats; give me a shine." Two hundred bushels of wheat gets you one set of new harness to start raising some more high priced wheat. A new work team will cost you 600 bushels. A bushel of oats will get you three packs of chewing gum. Now we need ten gallons of oil for the car, so we got to sack off 15 bushels of wheat.

What you say about a Permanent? Cost you twelve bushels of wheat. If we had just put in another acre of wheat we could have got that pair of silk pajamas. Well take in another truck load of wheat and bring out another days rations of meat and bread and bran and Cigarettes.

10 Bushels for the Movies

"Pa, if you got ten bushels of wheat the family can all go to the Movies and see the gangsters kill each other and talk about millions". "What do you say we get a Tuxedo and turn Gangster, Pa? This farming is the bunk. All we got to do is see two more Pictures and we can do it as good as the Gangsters. Send in the truck with another load of wheat, we got to have some Gasoline, Radio Batteries some new Rube records, and Cigarettes. Minnie is going to High School but it takes 20 bushels of wheat to get her a Bathing suit.

And Lord rest my Soul if there aint the tax man. This land is taxed at $60. an acre,—was taxed when wheat was $2.50 a Bushel. Now wheat is two bits and its still taxed at $60. When they going to do like the City folks do, pay on your income. If you dont earn anything you dont pay anything. And if there aint the old Banker who had a mortgage on my crop and Teams and Tools. Paid him 8 per cent and a bonus to get the loan. Reading where money was loaning in the City for as low as 1 per cent. Well thats what you get for living in the Country I guess. Wish all the Farmers would move to town one year thats the only way I know to clear the thing up.

Cathedral Hour

Notable contrasts in religious music of the past and present will be achieved by the presentation of Haydn's work, "With Verdure Clad" and Deems' Taylor's motet, "Before the Shrine," during the broadcast of the cathedral hour, which, under the direction of Channon Collinge, will be heard over the WABC-Columbia network Sunday, Aug. 23, from 2 to 3 p. m., central standard time.

NOTED DRAMATIC WRITER TO TALK ACROSS ATLANTIC

John van Druten, who at the age of 27 wrote the most successful play of the year for the London stage, "Young Woodley," will be the speaker in Columbia's international broadcast period Sunday, Aug. 23, from 10:30 to 10:45 p. m. central standard time, taking as his subject "Youth and the Home." He will be heard through WABC's nationwide network.

From 1923 to 1926 van Druten was lecturer in English law at the University College of Wales, and was not publicly known as being in any way connected with the stage. In 1927 he produced "Chance Acquaintance," but when, a year later, "Young Woodley" took the boards, he was still unknown to the great majority of theater-going people. Within a few weeks he found himself a nationally prominent figure in the drama, and the play ran for months at the Savoy, being later produced with great success in the United States and the British Dominions.

The keen insight into the psychology of an adolescent which van Druten demonstrated in this play is one of his most striking characteristics, and his choice of "Youth and the Home" as the theme for his transatlantic radio talk is indicative of how deeply he is interested in the subject.

ALBERT COATES SELECTS PROGRAM FOR LEWISOHN STADIUM CONCERT AUG. 23

An unusually varied program has been chosen by Albert Coates, famous Anglo-Russian conductor, for the Lewisohn Stadium concert Sunday, Aug. 23, part of which will be broadcast over the WABC-Columbia network from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m., central standard time.

Coates will lead the New York Philharmonic Symphony orchestra in a new arrangement of the last movement, allegro molto vivace, of Mendelssohn's violin concerto, in which the part written for the solo instrument will be played by the entire group of 18 first violins.

A novelty which Coates has brought back with him from Russia, where he now spends six months of the year, is the suite of eight folk songs by Liadov which comes second in the program. Other numbers will be by Richard Strauss, and Wagner.

NINTH COLUMBIA CAMP CONCERT TO BE GIVEN AUG. 26

Campers and vacationists will hear the ninth of a series of Columbia camp concerts, the summer extension of the American School of the Air, at 2:30 p. m., central standard time, over a nationwide network of the Columbia Broadcasting System, Wednesday, Aug. 26. The subject is to be insects.

Some very beautiful music has been written about fireflies, butterflies, glow worms, bumble bees and even gnats and fleas, so the arrangement of a musical program on such a subject as insects is not as difficult as might be supposed.

The program will open with a selection by Grieg called "The Butterfly." This will be followed by the "Dance of the Mosquitoes," by the Russian composer Liadoff and "The Flight of the Bumble Bee" by Rimsky-Korsakoff.

These selections will be followed by a dancing game and the program will close with a talk by Dr. Bertha Chapman Cady, naturalist for the Girl Scouts, on "The Ways of the Six Footed Hosts."

Schubert Songs To Be Featured In Tuesday Bill

Some of Schubert's most popular operatic writing, and the finale from one of his lesser known symphonies, will make up the program to be conducted by Howard Barlow over the WABC-Columbia network, from 6:45 to 7 p. m. central standard time, Tuesday, Aug. 25.

The overture to "Rosamunde" has long been one of the most popular Schubert items in the repertoire, consisting as it does of smoothly flowing tunes woven into a harmonious whole, and orchestrated in Schubert's best style. Another phase of the composer's versatile genius is revealed in his symphonic writing, the finale from his fifth symphony being in strict classical form and at the same time stamped with his own distinctive personality.

Savino Tone Pictures

The whimsical and onomatopoeic quality of Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Flight of the Bumble Bee" will distinguish the composition as one of the outstanding numbers in the Savino tone pictures, which will be broadcast under the direction of Domenico Savino on Tuesday, Aug. 25, from 10:30 to 11 p. m. One of the songs which Lucas will sing to the strumming of his mandolin will be "Tiptoe Through the Tulips," introduced by him with much success in the motion-picture, "Gold-Diggers of Broadway". His other offering will be the current hit-tune "That's My Desire."

For the orchestral highlight of the program, Freddie Rich will direct his 35 musicians in his special arrangement of medley from the Broadway revue "The Band Wagon." The tournament is scheduled to be played at the Beverly Country club, in Chicago, from Monday, Aug. 31, to Saturday, Sept. 5, inclusive. During the broadcast Ramsay will tell something about the rules and conditions under which the championship will be played, and will discuss briefly some of the outstanding amateur golfers who will battle for the title relinquished by "Bobby" Jones when he withdrew from all golf competition.

"The Common Law" at the Majestic ,starring Constance Bennett, is a vivid, realistic drama with excellent entertainment value. It is an ideal story for Miss Bennett, giving her splendid opportunities to display her histrionic talents, her charm, and her ability to wear clothes smartly. There are many tense moments in the picture which Miss Bennett puts over skillfully.

"The Common Law" was adapted from Robert W. Chambers' famous book. While the story has been modernized, it still retains the vital situations of the original novel.

Constance Bennett plays the role of the artists' model who believes that conventions should not interfere with love. Joel McCrea does excellent work in the role of the conservative artist who is in love with Miss Bennett. Lew Cody and Hedda Hopper give their usual intelligent performances.

For a real good laugh there is one of those hilarious comedies featuring "The Boy Friends." These young fellows certainly know how to be funny and keep the audience in a constant uproar of laughter. The Krazy Kat cartoon also received its share of the applause. Majestic Talking news was unusually interesting.

"Honeymoon Lane"

There seems to be a trend, among the newer productions of Hollywood, toward simplicity and charm in talkie plots, a trend toward warm and appealing "heart interest."

Eddie Dowling gives a splendid example of this seeming vogue in "Honeymoon Lane," his first picture since "The Rainbow Man," which comes to the Majestic next Wednesday.

"Honeymoon Lane" is far, far removed from the blood-curdling, or jazzy films of a few months ago. It is romantic fervor, seasoned with plenty of chuckles and outright laughs and played by a brilliant cast of actors including Ray Dooley, Raymond Hatton, June Collyer, Mary Carr, Noah Beery and Ethel Wales.

"Dirigible"

A picture that combines the timeliness of today's newspaper with the compelling drama of a Broadway hit is to be seen next Saturday at the Majestic theater. It is "Dirigible," in which the fine talents of Jack Holt and Ralph Graves are once more combined.

The picture is based on an original story by Commander Frank Wilber Wead, U. S. N., Retired.

The supporting cast includes Fay Wray, Hobart Bosworth, Roscoe Karns and Clarence Muse.

STATE THEATER FEATURES CLIVE BROOK IN 'SILENCE'

Condemned to death, spending his last few hours on earth cooped up in a cell, in the shadow of the gallows, shunned by his fellow men, when all that stands between him and freedom is a word. A word which he locks securely behind his tightly clenched teeth.

Such is the tense, opening scene of "Silence," in which Clive Brook, Peggy Shannon, Marjorie Rambeau and Charles Starrett are seen at the State theater Sunday through Wednesday.

The story is fast moving, flashing from climax to climax, plunging its audience from dismay to suspense, lifting it to the heights of hope and exultation, with each surprising twist of its strange plot. "Silence" is the life drama of a weak but likable crook, and Clive Brook makes the character glow.

Of interest to the multitude of new Peggy Shannon fans, built up over night since her sensational appearance in "The Secret Call" is the unusual opportunity she has to play two roles in this one picture. Marjorie Rambeau the popular screen actress is cast in a dashing colorful role that motivates the early action.

A Paramount comedy with Smith and Dale, entitled "Fur, Fur Away." A Mickey Mouse cartoon, "Mickey's Choo Choo;" a Johnny Farrell golf subject, "Under Par" and Paramount Sound News, add entertainment to the program.

"Always Goodbye"

The state presents Elissa Landi, Lewis Stone and Paul Cavanaugh in a stirring romantic drama, "Always Goodbye" starting Thursday for three days.

"Set a thief to catch a thief." Lewis Stone uses this method to expose an imposter in this highly praised film. It is said by critics who have seen this picture that Elissa Landi, does a greater performance in "Always Goodbye" than she did in "Body and Soul."

A cartoon, comedy and State talking news round out the program.

Jack Oakie Fun Feature of Film At Gem Sunday

What makes the Wild West wild? Jack Oakie and his pals and playmates attempt to give the answer in the highly amusing "Dude Ranch" which comes to the Gem theater Sunday for three days.

The setting is the familiar "wide open spaces"—where men are men, and women also chaw terbaccy. In this rough-shod environment Stuart Erwin is the owner of a ranch-hotel where gullible folks from the East come to get a load of the local color.

But things don't seem to color up for Erwin. His guests are disgusted and discouraged, for there hasn't been an Indian scalping or a hoss-thief shooting all season. His guests threaten to pack up and go back home when a traveling show troupe, consisting of Oakie, Eugene Pallette, Mitzi Green and Cecil Weston arrive. With the aid of props and costumes they have brought, the troupers put on some hair raising scenes in the hotel's environs which make the guests believe that here at last is the real West.

The business outlook brightens for Erwin what with all this shooting going on and with Pallette doubling as Chief Bad Medicine, a Cherokee brave, until a gang of real outlaws arrive at the hotel after robbing a bank in the neighborhood.

June Collyer is the girl who sticks with Jack through thick and thin.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT . . . . . By Robert L. Ripley

EXPLANATION OF LAST SUNDAY'S CARTOON — The Empire of the Iroquois Exceeded the Roman Empire in Area: The Iroquis, the most powerful confederation of American Indians on this continent, consisted of six nations constituting a confederacy. They were known as the "Romans of North America," and originally occupied western and central New York. Supplied with firearms by the friendly Dutch they expanded their commonwealth by conquest and annexation on a scale hitherto unheard of. At the time of their greatest expansion their rule extended from Hudson bay to the Cherokee frontier of Carolina, and from Connecticut to the Mississippi, embracing most of New England, all of New York, Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and almost all of upper Canada. The total area under their influence is estimated at more than 3,000,000 square miles. That is about 500,000 miles more than the Roman Empire at the time of its greatest expansion under Trajan and Hadrian (2nd century A. D.) The Cradle Tomb: Princess Sophia, daughter of King James I of England, died June 23, 1606, at the age of 3 days. Her resting place in Westminster Abbey is marked by this curious tombstone, a perfect replica of the royal infant's cradle. Lloyd's Is Not an Insurance Company: Lloyd's in London was originally a coffee house kept by Edward Lloyd in the 17th century. At present Lloyd's in London is an association of underwriters, each of whom does business according to his own individual views. The corporation and its committee, which is its executive, have nothing to do with insurance. Its business is to conduct its own affairs in a corporate capacity, to guard as trustee its corporate funds and property, and to carry out a supply and distribution of shipping intelligence. The Teething Grandmother: Mrs. Katharine Reimers of Oldenbuttel, Holstein, Germany, grew a third set of teeth at the age of 52 (1926). The third set of teeth was of the baby variety and broke off within a year. German newspapers elaborated on this curious case under a caption of the "Teething Matriarch."

READY TO BEGIN CANNON INQUIRY CAMPAIGN FUND

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (INS)—The Nye campaign fund committee was prepared today to start anew in its efforts to determine what Bishop James Cannon Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, did with a $65,300 political fund in the 1928 presidential election.

The committee's inquiry, launched last spring, was blocked when the bishop refused to discuss his financial affairs, while declaring a large portion of the fund had been used locally in Virginia and was not subject to federal investigation. He subsequently tried to halt the inquiry by court action, but the district supreme court here ruled against him.

Proceeding apparently without expecting aid from the cleric, the committee has subpoenaed a number of southern bankers, the bishop's private secretary and two dry Republican leaders who were active in the Hoover campaign. The senate group hopes to learn from them whether Cannon actually spent the whole $65,300 in behalf of President Hoover's candidacy in the South. Cannon received the fund from E. C. Jameson, a New York dry, to be used to aid Hoover's election.

Husband German Film Actress Not Worried by Suits

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (INS)—Laughing scornfully at the unfiled $600,000 love piracy suits threatening his wife, Marlene Dietrich, German film star, Rudolph Sieber, moving picture director, sailed for Europe early today aboard the Bremen.

With a careless wave of his hand, he asked:

"Why worry about such tripe?"

Mrs. Josef Von Sternberg, wife of the famous director, served Marlene with papers some time ago in a threatened $500,000 for libel.

Sieber, 35, has been in this country a month visiting Marlene and their daughter, Maria, 6, in Hollywood.

RULE MAN RUNS OVER COYOTE ON HIGHWAY

RULE, Texas, Aug. 22.—As W. H. Handley, manager of the West Texas Utilities company of this city, was returning a few nights ago from a meeting in Hamlin, about five miles south of rule, he saw three large coyotes. Two of the coyotes jumped off into a bar pit, the other one making a blue streak down the road. Mr. Handley chased the wolf down the road for some distance, before running over and killing it. Mr. Handley brought the dead wolf home and exhibited it at his office here.

MAN HELD AS SUSPECT NUMBER BANK ROBBERIES

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 22. (INS)—A man giving the name of E. R. Toon was being held by police here today as a suspect in a number of Illinois and Texas bank robberies.

His arrest came about in a mysterious manner. Some unknown person called Chief of Detectives Fred Simon on the telephone and tipped him off that a man badly wanted by Illinois authorities was rooming at 516 East New York street. Chief Simon sent Detectives John White and Walter Coleman to the address given him and they brought in Toon.

OKLAHOMA MAN HELD AUTO DEATH OF WIFE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 22. (UP)—Contending new evidence had been discovered in the auto death of Mrs. Jack Cully, 28, county authorities today arrested her husband, Sergt. Jack Cully, and placed him in the county jail.

Cully was taken to a river bottom locality where officers said boys had told them they had seen a man beating a woman. He admitted a shoe found by officers was his wife's.

Confederates of Stonewall Jackson Camp to Hold Last Meeting Thursday

marily, the occasion will provide opportunity for the swapping of reminiscences.

Recall Old Days

Preparations for the reunion brought recollections among the surviving veterans of the events which led up to the acquisition of the reunion grounds. About 1890—none could recall the exact date and none knew the whereabouts of the records of the camp—Wichita and Archer counties had begun to become fairly well settled. A considerable proportion of the then residents had seen service during the civil war and an organization meeting was held, probably in Archer City. For a few years, the reunions were held in the vicinity of Archer City, but about 1893 to 1895 it was decided to acquire a permanent camp.

The late A. H. Palmer, then captain of the camp, Mr. Ground and others served on the committee which finally selected the present grounds, situated about a mile and a half south of Holliday. The tract cost $600 and the veterans paid for it. There have been times in late years when the land probably would have brought $100 an acre on the open market, it was declared.

The annual reunions then held from year to year during "the light of the moon in August" became one of the big events of the year in Northwest Texas, according to Mrs. Woodhouse. She and Mr. Woodhouse have been married for 56 years.

Tells of Early Reunion

"People used to come from all over this section to the picnics," she related. "They would bring their camping outfits, and many would spend several days. The entertainment was not so different from that of later years. There would be speeches, stands, barbecue, contests, music and dancing. But chiefly, people were there to have a good time with each other."

Although the ranks of the veterans thinned as years passed, the picnics were continued without interruption until about three years ago. During those years, no attempt has been made by the veterans to hold a reunion because they were more or less feeble.

When the veterans first assembled in about 1896 at the campgrounds for their reunion, some of those who attended recalled, their ages averaged about 45 years, and only a few had grandchildren. Great, great grandchildren of some of the charter members of the camp will be there Thursday.

Veterans who are able to attend will have abundant material for the swapping of yarns. All smelled powder during the war. Two were wounded. All experienced hardships and sufferings beyond the comprehension of most of those of us today. But not one has advanced into old age with a feeling of bitterness toward the North. In the words of one, "The damn Yanks were damn good men and damn good soldiers."

Fought Four Years

Mr. Woodhouse saw the longest service of the five remaining members of the camp. He was 16 when he joined company G, First Texas regiment of Hood's brigade. During most of his four years of service he was attached to the army of Virginia of which Robert E. Lee was commander. At Chickamaugua, Mr. Woodhouse was wounded in the arm. At Gettysburg, greatest and decisive battle of the war, he was wounded in the side. He was at Gaines Mill, the Wilderness, the second battle of Bull Run, at Antietam, at Petersburg, to mention some, and at last, at Appomattox, when Lee surrendered to Grant.

It has been observed as a marked characteristic of world war veterans who saw horrors of active service in France that they seldom discuss their experiences. Mr. Woodhouse has little to say of the hardships of the closing days of the civil war, and particularly in regard to the fare. Sometimes they had something to eat—sometimes they didn't.

However, after he had stacked his arms at Appomattox, he and a number of companions started for home, on foot. Railroads had been torn up in Virginia and East Tennessee, and he walked most of the way to Cairo, Ill., where he boarded a steamer downward bound on the Mississippi.

Describes Journey Home

Mr. Woodhouse still cherishes a kindly feeling for Cairo. "The ladies gave up grub and one gave me a $20 note, and they were Union people, too," he observed. He left the steamer at Natchez, Miss., and there he and a number of companions, procured a row boat. The Mississippi was at flood and at that point then was 40 miles wide. They negotiated the distance, and Mr. Woodhouse then walked the remaining 300-odd miles home. He and Mrs. Woodhouse were married 56 years ago and have lived in Wichita Falls 48 years.

Mr. Ground, to use his own words, was another who "caught a Yankee bullet." He was hit in the leg during service in Louisiana with Veal's company of "Tex" Parsons' regiment. He saw about two years of active service, moved to Dallas county "before Dallas was a town" and in 1883 settled on a farm in Archer county. He and Mrs. Ground were married in 1895. Four years ago they moved to Wichita Falls and have made their home here since.

Mr. Ground has been ill recently, but during the past few days has been able to get about some, although he still is weakened.

Mr. Ferguson, Mr. Norwood and Mr. Wicker all saw service west of the Mississippi. Mr. Ferguson was attached to Crabie's brigade and saw about two years of fighting. He has made Wichita county his home for about half a century. Mr. and Mrs. Norwood, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary some years ago, settled on the farm near Iowa Park in 1879 and since have made their home there. Mr. Wicker moved to Cloud Chief several years ago.

Efforts are being made to locate a roster of the original membership of Stonewall Jackson camp No. 149, United Confederate Veterans, as plans go forward for the final reunion of the camp to be held at the memorial grounds near Holliday Thursday, according to Joe McDonald of Archer City, adjutant of Stonewall Jackson camp, Sons of Confederate veterans, which is making arrangements. Lists of the membership undoubtedly are in existence, it is said, but efforts to find them have been unsuccessful.

CITY MANAGER CUTS $87,468 OFF BUDGET

city pay roll: Legal department, assistant city attorney; purchasing department, one stenographer; tax department, appropriations for one clerk; engineering department, plumbing inspector and one rodman; police department, five policemen and one janitor; fire department, three firemen and appropriations for one other; health department, one nurse and one inspector; recreation department, 12 persons, including one director, supervisors of playgrounds and guards for public pools.

The sewer maintenance foreman has taken over the duties of the plumbing inspector, who will be cut off the pay roll. The sanitary and food inspectors have added to their duties those of deputy fire marshals.

Mr. Smitham stated that in all the city departments' day laborers have a five-day week, which was adopted Aug. 15.

Four days' pay a month is deducted from the salaries of all those who work regularly six days a week.

Two days' pay a month deducted from the wages of all those employes who work regularly seven days a week. Those persons who have a regular seven-day week for work include the firemen, policemen, two zoo keepers, two cemetery caretakers, the pumpers at the water plant, and watchmen hired by the city.

All salaried employes will work their full time in all departments, even though they will be paid on a basis of five days a week.

The reduction in expenses was made necessary, Mr. Smitham stated, as a result of a reduction of $4,428,690 in taxable values, a decrease in miscellaneous revenues, and anticipation of property owners not being able to pay taxes.

Mr. Smitham added that of the $867,749.71, which is the total of the revised budget, $263,546.49 is for debt service, leaving only $604,203.22 for operation, maintenance and construction. The city manager stated that practically all of the money appropriated for construction has already been used for that purpose under the old budget.

The city council will adopt or reject the revised budget Monday night at the regular meeting in the council room of the Memorial auditorium, when the aldermen will also decide on the city tax rate. The tax rate is expected to be $1.40, according to Ralph Hyer, tax assessor and collector, and the city manager.

"IT ALWAYS HAS"

1—A STORY IS TOLD OF A TRAVELER who alighted from the train to find himself in a drenching rain on the platform of a little country station, with only one individual in sight, a native—a tall, gaunt, uncommunicative individual drawn up against the station wall in a vain effort to protect himself from the storm. The traveler greeted him and only received a grunt in reply. Again the traveler addressed to the Silent One the question—"Lived here all your life?" Back came the reply "Not yit." Making one more effort to be sociable the traveler queried—"Think this rain will ever stop?"—and promptly came the reply, "IT ALWAYS HAS!"

2—THAT COUNTRYMAN MAY HAVE LACKED what we call "education" but his was a philosophy that the people of the United States need today; a philosophy which, if practiced, would do more to restore our business equilibrium than all the statistics, Governmental or otherwise, that could be printed in a year's time.

3—IN TALKING WITH MANY BUSINESS MEN and in reading their communications during recent months we have found many of them thinking only in terms of the present. Their minds appear to be static, they stand still and move neither backward nor forward in their consideration of conditions in the business world. For such men past experiences mean nothing and in the future there is wrapt no hopes nor possibilities. Perspective is utterly lacking. Too many of us are dealing with present day conditions just as though they were entirely unrelated to the months and years that are gone and those that must inevitably follow. We speak and act as though TODAY were all of life, and ofttimes we permit ourselves to become gloomy, discouraged and bereft of all hope in the belief that today is bad and tomorrow will be worse. Does it not occur to us that "tomorrow" is even now beckoning us on to better things, that the future is bright with hope and promise and that the storm through which we are passing will cease? "IT ALWAYS HAS."

4—"IT ALWAYS HAS!" Summer follows winter, night follows day, the day of maturity and old age follows youth, death follows life, the swallows go but they come again, the storm is followed by calm and even so prosperity follows "depression"—"IT ALWAYS HAS!"

5—IT IS NOT OUR FUNCTION to prophesy, make predictions or indulge in other such foolishness. The Government, the press, the politicians and the stock market manipulators will furnish just about all of the prophecies and predictions that the public can digest—and more. It is for us, however, to concern ourselves with that most regrettable and, at the same time, dangerous attitude assumed by many which prevents them from seeing things as they really are—a condition of mind which is fatal to present or future success. We, many of us at least, speak and think as though this were the only age in which the world has existed and that our own individual business is the hub of American commerce. Our eyes are fixed upon our desks and our immediate surroundings and thoughts go afield no further than this present day. We are so close up in our mental attitude to our own business and conditions as they are today that we are without that vision which enables us to wisely and intelligently appreciate and understand relations instead of things. We are regarding the period embracing the last two or three years as a thing set apart by itself and holding no relationship with the past or the future, rather than regarding this present moment in which we are living and acting as a casual continuum.

6—THERE IS A BACKGROUND to all that we are going through now and we are going to relate the present to that background or we are going to fail utterly in qualifying for those days of prosperity and business health which is just as surely ahead of us as death itself. We have but to turn the pages of this nation's business life, during the past one hundred years, to discover that our fathers and our grandfathers passed through just exactly what we are passing through today and yet they lived to see this nation live on and prosper as has no other nation on earth. It would probably be a source of inspiration and encouragement to many of us to read back and familiarize ourselves with the business panics of 1837, 1857, 1873 and 1893, and again even as late as 1907, a depression less severe but none the less real.

7—IN 1837 ninety per cent of all the factories in the East suspended operation. Factories and trades generally stopped work. States repudiated their bonds and it became necessary, in many states, to enact laws to prevent the sale of property for debts. Many of the greatest firms of that day failed, the number running into tens of thousands with total liabilities running into hundreds of millions of dollars. Cotton was ten cents a pound and the price paid for labor was insufficient to buy bread, while the unemployment situation was acute to the point of provoking riots. This "depression" came to an end. "IT ALWAYS HAS!"

8—FOLLOWING CAME 1857 with its depression, bringing failures among great financial institutions and railroads, with industry suspended and labor in distress, a year when mobs marched through the streets of New York City with cries of "Bread or Death!" In 1860 a quick recovery followed. "IT ALWAYS HAS!"

9—THIRTEEN YEARS AFTERWARD the panic of 1873 came upon the country in full force and down went some of the largest financial institutions of that day, among them H. B. Claflin & Co., a name famous in the wholesale annals of that day. Within two years the railroads of the country had defaulted in the sum approaching one billion dollars. Marketing the cotton crop was impossible and foreign shipping paralyzed, with the result of a depressed local market, carrying with it prices far below manufacturing costs.

10—A CASUAL READING of trade journals and statistics of the years between 1873 and 1875 make present day conditions assume a roseate hue. Those conditions, which while they endured, cast a blight upon commerce and industry of this country, were succeeded from 1879 by years of prosperity and business development beyond the dreams of the most optimistic of that day. The clouds lifted and the sun shone forth upon happier days and a joyful and prosperous people. Prosperity followed depression—"IT ALWAYS HAS!"

11—THEN CAME 1893, ushering in two years of disaster for the industry, commerce and finance of the nation. One authority on the subject of the business collapse of that year places the total liabilities at fifty per cent greater than in 1873. Again the value of railway stocks melted away and the problem of unemployment reached the danger point. In two years recovery started, prices soared and this nation became again a happy and prosperous people. The clouds burst and the rain falls but in due time it stops. "IT ALWAYS HAS!" Prosperity follows depression—"IT ALWAYS HAS!"

12—LET'S READ LESS in the newspapers about depression (the headlines are frequently enough—and too much), let's TALK less and DO more. Let's rise up and throw off the sack cloth and ashes in which so many of us are sitting and look out and up—think seriously and reason intelligently.

13—NO ONE REALIZES more than we do that our industry has indeed come upon hard times but we realize, too, that our industry is but a part of the woof and fabric of the nation, no part of which has escaped the trying conditions through which we have been passing. We have suffered and are suffering not more, and perhaps less, than many other industries and as a nation we are passing through a situation that is not new and we are just as surely likewise moving forward to that day, and doubtless it is not a distant day, when the wheels of industry and commerce will turn with ever increasing rapidity, values will find their true level—a day when industry will be seeking labor and not labor industry, a day when prosperity and success will conquer over reverses and discouragement. We KNOW that such a condition will come to pass for we know that "IT ALWAYS HAS!"

14—MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO Lord Byron tersely expressed the wisdom of perspective when he wrote:

"The best of prophets of the future is the past."

15—AND SO IN THESE DAYS of depression we remind you that Prosperity WILL follow—"IT ALWAYS HAS!"

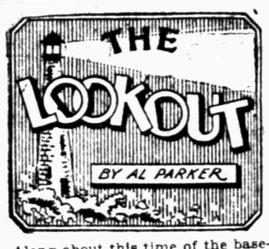
HOUSTON ROOKIE STOPS SPUDDERS TO WIN 6-1 DECISION



Along about this time of the baseball season with pennants stowed away and nothing but the Dixie series and world series to look forward to, the harmless and meaningless pastime of picking all-star teams blossoms into its own. The Texas league this year offers more standouts at the various positions than usual, and the all-star teams are not so difficult to manufacture. Even so, any attempt to name the outstanding player at each position, along with the best catchers and pitchers, is sure to start an argument. Arguments, like the all-star selections, are harmless, however, and here are some idle thoughts of the Lookout along that line: (We are willing to argue any and all points brought up in this discussion, but you'd better issue your challenge early, as we expect to be occupied for some time in defending these views).

Starting with the infield, it is our humble opinion that every position selects itself and mighty few arguments can develop over the infielders. The exception probably is at shortstop where Ray Flaskamper, Art Scharein and Eddie Taylor of Beaumont, and maybe Tom Carey of Houston and Joe Benes of Dallas, all will have their boosters. We take pen in hand and without the slightest hesitation cast our vote for Flaskamper as the one best shortstop in the league. We'd rate Scharein next, Taylor third and Carey and Benes somewhere further down in the list. Flaskamped not only is our champion shortstop because of his all round efficiency in a physical way, but because he is the winning type, a hustler and scrapper every minute of every ball game. If we were assembling a club for next year, we'd take Scharein in preference to Flaskamper, for one is coming forward and the other going back, but this little pipe dream concerns only what the players have done this season.

At first base we land nearer home and believe little bloodshed will result from the pronouncement of one George Stanton as the class of the league's first basemen. Lee Stebbins of San Antonio is his only competitor, and it's not even a close race. At second base it might be a little difficult for some, but this Selph fellow down at Houston has struck our fancy as being just about the best ball player in the entire league this season. He's the spark plug of the Houston club's attack and defense, and he's the sort always best in the pinches. You may hold a different view, but ours is that Selph is the standout of the entire league. Another Houston Buff, Eddie Hock, is even further ahead of the third basemen. The hot corner is the one position at which there should be no argument whatever. Hock is the best hitter, the best fielder, the fastest runner of all the third basemen, and that ought to settle that.

Getting around to the outfield, we find it is not nearly so easy. The outfield glory has been all but monopolized this season by young players. With each club forced to carry seven non-class men, it became necessary to use at least one youngster in the gardens, and most of the clubs have employed two or three. The two standouts of the season's crop, as we see it, are Joyner White of Beaumont and Joe Medwick of Houston. The third position we'd award Rip Radcliff of Shreveport, in spite of his fielding deficiencies. If we were picking a team to win ball games we'd select George Loepp of Dallas for his fielding skill, preferring to take a lighter hitter in that important center fielding spot to bolster the defense in view of the batting power that would be available at the other positions. The three youngsters named represent mighty little fielding skill for an all-star combination. But how they can hit! White is well up in the list in all offensive departments, leading the league in triples and stolen bases. Medwick is the leader in home runs and runs batted in and Radcliff has been Stanton's closest rival for the lead in average. He and the Spudder first baseman have been virtually tied for the league lead for several weeks. White would be the center fielder of that combination, Medwick the left fielder and Radcliff the right fielder.

Now for the battery departments. A survey of the catchers discloses the fact the league is just as weak as usual in this all-important position. Here's the list: Hungling and Bradbury, Wichita Falls; Funk and Sprinz, Houston; Krauss and Meyers, Fort Worth; Todd and Tesmer, Dallas; April and Ratliff, Galveston; Robertson and Heath, San Antonio, and Wise and Lorbeer, Beaumont. Which is the best? Frankly, we don't know. We'd give the first string job to Hal Funk of the Buffs, but don't ask us why. It might be embarrassing. Maybe it's just because the Buffs are winning the pennant and he is handling a great pitching staff. One defense of his selection might be that he has the best average of stolen bases and caught stealing of any Texas catcher. It seems that the second string job might be awarded by flipping a nickel or drawing straws, but we'll throw Todd into the job for no good reason at all unless it is that he is the best prospect for future development among the younger catchers.

This team is beginning to look more like the Houston Buffs all the time, but can we help it if Houston has three of the season's standout pitchers? None in the league has a better record than Jerome Dean, George W. Payne or Otto Carleton. We can't see how any one of the three can be left off. That leaves four pitching jobs open on our team (on which there are no paydays, and the boys who are left off probably won't feel at all bad about it). The other four jobs we'd award, not without a struggle, to Dick McCabe of Fort Worth, Bob Cooney of Wichita Falls, Hobo Carson of San Antonio and Whitlow Wyatt of Beaumont. What, no left-handers? Correct. A well behaved pitching staff ought to have a southpaw or two, but this particular club is not selected as a noble effort to pick the strongest winning combination, but the outstanding players at the various positions. The best lefties in the league, according to the records, are Roy Hansen and Mike Minogue of Dallas and Ralph Erickson of Shreveport. None of the three can produce a record as glowing as those of the seven right-handers named. The selection of Carson and Cooney might not be popular ones on that team, but both have been big winners on losing ball clubs, and that's a pretty fair test. Personally, we hold the opinion that Ash Hillin is as capable a performer as Cooney and that he has pitched fully as well through the season, but he hasn't had any kind of breaks but tough ones—and there's nothing that succeeds like success.

As for managing that outfit, we are going to turn the job over to Del Baker of Beaumont, with the belief that he has done more with the talent at hand than any manager in the league.

Pressnell Fails In Late Innings of Opening Game

Breeden's Pitching, Selph's Hitting and Fielding Account For Victory

HOUSTON, Aug. 22. — Charlie Breeden, rookie right-hander, here Saturday night held the Spudders to six hits, Houston winning, 6 to 1. Pressnell was knocked out in the seventh, with Florrid finishing. Selph starred for Houston at bat, and in the field.

George Payne will go against the Spudders Sunday afternoon, with Ash Hillin likely to toss for the visitors.

Wichitia Falls scored one in the first round. Gerken flied to center. Allday singled to center and Stanton walked. Allday stole third, and scored when Badgro singled through first.

Houston threatened in the second. After Medwick flied to center, Bear Allday robbed Sturdy, going over toward second to take a hard hit grounder. Sprinz singled to right, and with the hit-and-run on went to third when Carey singled to right. Breeden fanned.

Buffs Tie Count

In the third Gerken walked, but Allday hit into a lightning-fast double play, short to second to first. Stanton lined a single to left, but was out stealing on Sprinz' perfect peg to Selph. With two down in the third, Selph singled to right, stole second, and scored when Peel singled, his hard-hit grounder taking an erratic hop over the shortstop's head.

Eddie Hoch turned in a marvelous play in the fourth. Badgro sent a slow bunt toward third and Hoch came in fast, took the ball with his meat hand and nipped the runner by an eyelash.

The Buffs grabbed a two-run lead in the sixth. Selph singled over short. The hit-and-run was put on perfectly, Peel singling to right, with Selph going to third. Medwick lined a single over third, scoring Selph. Sturdy beat out a bunt toward third, loading the bases. Sprinz fanned. Carey flied to left, Peel scoring. Breeden fanned.

Pressnell Routed

Houston sent Pressnell to the showers in the seventh. Hoch rolled to short, but Smith lined a single to center, and took third when Selph singled through short. Peel forced Selph, second to short, with Smith scoring. Medwick singled to left, Peel stopping at second. Sturdy scored Peel with a single to right. Sprinz popped to third.

In the eighth Badgro was robbed by Selph, who dived at a hard drive, speared the ball with one hand, regained his feet and tossed out the hitter.

With one away in the eighth, Breeden doubled to left center, went to third when Hoch singled off the pitcher's glove and scored when Smith forced Hoch, first to short.

ANSON TIGERS' GRID PROSPECTS ARE ROSY

ANSON, Texas, Aug. 22.—Anson Tigers soon are to open the football training season with brighter prospects than since 1928, according to Coach M. O. Pittman.

The Tigers will be captained by a capable leader, Paul Brown, and his work will be supplemented by other letter men, including Allie Foster, Bill Ingram, Bill Parham, Herman Middlebrook, Dean Fleming, N. J. Mayfield, Clifford Gray, Norman Blankenship and Willard Bartlett. To those men as a nucleus will be added new material that will report for training and the reserves from last year's squad, promising a good battle for positions.

The training season for the Tigers will start Monday and those who expect to be in training are asked to report at the gym at 9 o'clock Monday morning in order to get uniforms.

Will Destiny March With Rufus King Again?

No Title Holder Has Repeated in 31 Years

VANDALIA, Ohio, Aug. 22.—A little, but mighty man of destiny is what they called Rufus A. King Jr., the 14-year-old Wichita Falls, Texas, youngster who won the Grand American Handicap championship here last year.

And, next Monday through Saturday, trapshooters in all sections of the United States, Canada and the Panama canal zone will be watching with interest to see what destiny has in store for the lad from the Lone Star state as he is to defend his title against the greatest trapshoot stars of the world when they gather here for the 32nd renewal of the Grand American tournament.

Within the short space of an afternoon, this healthy, happy American boy was transferred into a man, a little but mighty man. It was on Friday afternoon, Aug. 22, of last year that this lad stepped to the firing line in the Grand American Handicap with the gun his father had used in winning the amateur doubles championship in 1921 and '22. The gun was cut down so Rufus could handle it and he used it for the first time the day before the grand when he made a perfect run of 25 targets.

The youth had all the confidence in the world and he told his father and admirers from Texas he intended to break his first 50 targets. The youth carried out his threat, breaking his first 62 targets. He missed two more before the finish. He had to break his last 12 birds in order to get a 97 and a tie for first. But he was answering destiny's call and those last 12 birds fell.

Came the shoot-off and 12,000 assembled to see three men and a youth fight it out for the championship. The crowd to a man was for the boy. The three men were helpless at the hands of destiny and a boy who had changed into a man and knew how to answer when destiny called.

And after the victory Rufus A. King Jr. was just a boy again, a healthy, happy American boy who had just awakened to the fact that he had stepped into something awfully big, perhaps too big, but now that he was there, he had to stay.

"I'm glad I won the championship, but I think it was all luck." Those were his first words, the words of a boy who just a few minutes before had been walking down the road of victory hand in hand with destiny.

They've been running these Grand American Handicap tournaments for 31 years. The 1931 meet is the 32nd. Yet no man has ever won the championship twice.

Can it be that destiny will again take a hand and lead this little man to the head of the list again?

Double-Header Is Billed Sunday to Determine Winner

Hills and Buss Star as Hardware Men Take Opener by 6 to 1

By MACK TURNER

Cy Hills and Heinie Buss combined their efforts Saturday afternoon to give Bailey-Moline Hardware company a flying start in the playoff with Sullivan Grocery company for the City league title by winning the opening game, 6 to 1. A crowd of 200 paid admissions watched the game Saturday at Katy park. Hills was given wonderful support by his infield with Buss and Ben McLarry playing the leading roles. Hills kept the 11 Sullivan hits well scattered, many of which were of the scratchy type. Hills drove in two runs with a single while Buss' two triples led the attack for the winners. Buss also played a great defensive game on third base. Three sparkling double killings saved Hills in the pinches.

Skipper John Ivey shot his ace in the opening game, but Steve Franklin was slightly wild and six of the eight hits made off him were bunched in two of the hardware company's big innings. Five errors behind him kept him in hot water part of the time. The sensational playing and hitting of Lois Anderson, the speed merchant in left field for Sullivan was the lone bright spot in the team's play Saturday. Anderson roamed far and wide in left field to handle five drives while his catch of Red Nichols' smash in the second inning was one of the best seen this year at Katy park. Anderson at the bat collected four singles in four trips to the plate. Malcolm Mauldin also played a great defensive game in the outfield for Sullivan.

Infield Helps Hills

Hills started off rather rocky in the first two innings, and was saved by sensational playing of his inner works, but after this settled down to steady pitching the rest of the way. Eubanks opened the game with a hard smash over second which McLarry turned into a great play. R. Anderson reached first on an error, but Mauldin hit one over second which McLarry raced behind the bag to take and turn into one of the prettiest double plays of the year.

After one was out in the second, Sullivan filled the bases, but a second double play, engineered by Hills killed the chance to score. The first runs of the game came in the fourth after one was out. Buss crashed his first triple to deep right. Griffin beat out a bunt toward first, but Buss held third. After Griffin had stolen second, Hills bounced a hit over Franklin's head to score both runners.

McLarry opened the fifth with a single to left, took second on a passed ball and continued on to third when Thorn's throw went nowhere in particular. O'Neal filed to left and when Anderson's throw got past Thorn, McLarry scored. Hefner singled to left and scored when Buss hit his second triple to center field. Two walks, an infield hit and an error gave Bailey-Moline its final pair of runs.

Sullivan Scores One

The lone Sullivan tally came in the sixth inning after one was out. Jobe was hit with a pitched ball and stole second. Cossey filed to right and Jobe took third. J. C. Anderson poked a single through the left side of the infield to score Jobe. L. Anderson singled off Hills' glove and when a play was made for J. Anderson at third he raced to second and both men were safe, but Hills tightened down and struck out Thorn.

The two teams will play a double-header Sunday afternoon at Katy park starting at 2:30 o'clock. Bailey-Moline will need only one victory to sew up the pennant, while Sullivan grocery must sweep the double bill to win. The second game will be played regardless of the outcome of the first.

Phils Hold Cardinals To Even Break in Pair

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22. (AP)—The Cardinals and Phillies split a double-header Saturday, the champs winning the first, 6 to 4, and dropping the second, 6 to 5. Grimes outpitched a trio of Phillies hurlers to gain the decision in the first game, while Bartell's steal of third base and dash to home on Wilson's wild throw gave the Phils their winning tally in the ninth inning of the second contest. In this game Chuck Klein hit his 30th and 31st home runs of the season.

COYOTES CALLED OUT FOR FIRST GRID PRACTICE SEPT. 3

Holton on Scene For Pre-Season Football Drills

Pack to Get in Little More Than Two Weeks' Work Before Opening Game

Hidden away in the moth balls since last Thanksgiving day, football made its initial 1931 bid for recognition Saturday with the arrival here of Barry Holton and the announcement of the head coach at Wichita Falls High school of the start of pre-season training Sept. 3.

Holton has been attending summer school at Southern Methodist university, keeping in touch with the football situation here by periodical visits, but this time he is on the scene to make final preparations for the coming Coyote campaign. Announcement of the start of fall training Saturday followed a conference with H. D. Fillers, superintendent of schools, and Assistant Coach Bill Morris.

While plans for actual training have not been completed, it was decided to call the candidates out at 9 o'clock on the morning of Sept. 3 for the issuance of equipment and instructions for the start the following day of almost two weeks of physical and mental conditioning. The camp will be held at the school as in the past.

First Game Sept. 18

The third member of the coaching staff, Charles A. Lindsey, former Centenary university backfield star, who has been added to the corps of mentors since last season, has attended the Phelan-Wade coaching school at Lubbock and is taking a short vacation before reporting to Holton Sept. 2. Since Jimmy Phelan is a product of Notre Dame, and incidentally a roommate of Holton at South Bend when both were members of the Irish squad, Lindsey will start on his duties with a knowledge of Holton's football.

Starting on Sept. 3, the Coyote squad will receive little more than a week of actual work before the start of classes on Sept. 14, and only four days after school opens the team will dig into its first game of the season. Temple, Okla., will come here Friday, Sept. 18, and the coaches will have to take full advantage of the first two weeks of training to have their men ready for a regulation contest.

About 75 Expected

Coach Holton had not been on the scene long enough Saturday to make a survey of the talent that will be available for the early practice sessions, but at least 75 youngsters, filled with the energy stored up through the summer's vacation, were expected to answer the opening call. One thing certain is that all boys, regardless of ability will be welcome when training proper gets under way, as school officials are desirous of providing football training for as great a proportion as possible of the student body.

The Coyote squad this fall will benefit materially from a practice field much improved over that which has been used the last few years. The field immediately south of the school building has received constant attention during the spring and summer and is covered with a heavy sod. New regulation goal posts have been cemented into the ground and the field will more nearly approximate the gridirons on which the team will play its games.

COAST YOUNGSTER WINS FOUR-SET BATTLE FROM PERRY IN FINAL ROUND

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 22. (AP)—Ellsworth Vines, America's outstanding tennis youngster, Saturday won the Newport casino singles championship by overwhelming Frederick J. Perry, British Davis cup star, 6-2, 6-4, 6-8, 6-2.

It was the Briton's first defeat of his United States campaign, for in less than two weeks he accounted for six of the nation's first 10 players. His steady play, however, had but little effect on the 19-year-old Californian, who is ranked eighth.

HIGH SCHOOL COACHES TO HOLD MEET SEPT. 6

CORSICANA, Texas, Aug. 22. (AP)—Johnny Pierce, president of the Texas High School Football Coaches association, announced Saturday that the second annual convention of the association will be at San Antonio Sept. 6. More than 200 coaches are expected to attend.

Speakers on the program will be Joe Utay, Dallas; Jack Meagher, Rice institute; Clyde Littlefield, Texas university; H. E. Gable, Highland Park, and Floyd Betts, Wharton.

The coaches will attend the Southwestern conference officials meeting the Monday following their session.

INDIANS START GRID PRACTICE WEDNESDAY

QUANAH, Texas, Aug. 22.—The first football practice of the season will start next Wednesday, according to information sent out by Coach Dan Stallworth.

Practice will start at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Many of last year's players have participated in the spring training and are now free to take up the work planned for the coming gridiron season, but others are holding jobs and will delay their workouts until school actually starts.

A number of new faces will be seen on the squad this year.

MUSTANGS DISCONTINUE DUAL CAPTAIN SCHEME

DALLAS, Aug. 22. (AP)—One man will lead the Southern Methodist university Mustangs afield this fall.

Coach Ray Morrison of S. M. U. indicated Friday night the co-captain plan had not worked out so well and said the Ponies would have but one captain. He said he had not decided whether he would name his captain or allow the players to select a man.

MRS. MOODY TO PLAY MRS. WHITTINGSTALL FOR NATIONAL CROWN

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 22. (AP)—Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall, who two weeks ago was not considered a strong enough singles player to compete for England in the Wightman cup matches, Saturday night stood between Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and her seventh national women's tennis title.

Mrs. Whittingstall Saturday eliminated Betty Nuthall, the defending champion and England's No. 1 singles star, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4.

After watching the two English girls wage their fight, there were few thrills for the fans in seeing Mrs. Moody dispose of her semi-finals opponent, the hard-driving Phyllis Mudford of England, 6-2, 6-4.

Mrs. Moody and Mrs. Whittingstall will settle the singles championship Sunday.

Miss Dorothy Round of England and Miss Helen Jacobs reached the doubles final with a 6-2, 9-7 triumph over the English pair, Mrs. D. C. Shepherd-Barron and Phyllis Mudford. Betty Nuthall and Mrs. Whittingstall went into the final from the upper bracket by defeating Josephine Cruickshank, Sacramento, Calif., and Mrs. John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, 6-3, 6-2.

PUBLIC LINKS TOURNEY SLATED SEPT. 5 AND 6

DALLAS, Aug. 22. (AP)—John R. Noble, president of the Texas Public Golf Links association, Saturday announced eligibility rules of the tournament scheduled at Stevens park on Sept. 5 and 6, in which a new Texas amateur public links champion will be crowned.

Noble said players must be 16 years old or over who have resided in Texas for one year, and are within the class of amateur as defined by the United States Golf association rules. Contestants can not have been connected with any recognized country club for at least one year next before qualifying day, and must have been an active member of or player upon a municipal course in Texas.

According to President Noble, no player who has won the tournament in previous years will compete because of professional status or being members of country clubs. Past champions include Jay Renfro of Fort Worth, Jack Spear of Houston, Howard Estep of Dallas, Dennis Lavender of Dallas, Russell Collins of Dallas, Jack Dold of Houston and Francis McGonagill of Dallas.

KAYE DON ARRIVES FOR MATCH WITH GAR WOOD

DETROIT, Aug. 22. (AP)—Kaye Don, British speedboat racer who will pit his Miss England II against Gar Wood's entry in the Harmsworth trophy races on the Detroit river Sept. 5 and 7, arrived Saturday morning from New York.

"I have a good boat and I hope to make a good showing against Gar Wood," said Don.

He told members of the Harmsworth committee who met him at the station that his boat will arrive Monday.

Phils Recall Willingham

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22. (AP)—Announcement that the Philadelphia Nationals have returned Infielder Bobby Stevens to the Newark Internationals was made Saturday. Infielder Hugh Willingham has been recalled from the same club.

Bonner and Burns Battle Way Into Country Club Final

Three Important Links Events on September Slate

Withdrawal of Two Stars Leaves Women's All-City Wide Open

L. T. "Bobby" Burns and J. H. S. Bonner, veteran campaigners of the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club, will battle for the club championship in the 36-hole final round scheduled late this week. Burns defeated Paul Landes, 2 and 1, Saturday afternoon to go into the final after Bonner had beaten Bob Peck, winner last week of the Electra Country club invitation tournament, in a bitterly fought semifinal match Friday afternoon. Bonner and Peck battled two extra holes before the former won the decision.

Playing of the championship final has been delayed for several days due to Bonner's absence from the city, and a definite date for the 36-hole test has not yet been set.

The Bonner-Peck match Friday produced one of the hottest battles of the tournament, first one and then the other going into the lead, with neither able to produce a substantial margin. After finishing No. 18 all square, both played the nineteenth in regulation fours and moved to the twentieth, where the game of both players sagged. Bonner hooked to the rough, dubbed his out, but finally made it to the green and went down for a six. Peck played safely and well enough to the green, but three-putted and lost the hole and the match.

Burns and Landes also staged a ding-dong match, with the latter failing to take advantage of an opening on No. 17 to win the hole and halve the match.

Women's All-City

The first of three important events scheduled for Wichita Falls' two golf courses, Weeks park and Wichita Falls Golf and Country club, gets under way on Sept. 1, with the qualifying round in the women's all-city championship, an event that has been won since its inception by Mrs. R. R. Fisk, Texas state champion and country club member.

Announcement Saturday that Mrs. F. C. Rochon, ace of the Weeks park feminine players, would not compete, following a similar announcement made earlier by Mrs. Fisk, adds considerable interest to the women's event. Mrs. Fisk and Mrs. Rochon, the latter at present holding the state public links championship, have dominated Wichita Falls' competitive golf the past few years to the extent of all but killing interest in the annual all-city tournament. Mrs. Fisk has won the qualifying medal and the championship for the past three years, eliminating Mrs. Rochon the last two years.

With these two out of the picture, the tournament this year should produce a real battle for the city's most important women's title.

The Weeks park course will be the scene of the tourney and Professional Bill Strachan already is receiving entries. A field of about 20 is expected to compete in flights of eight players each, the makeup of each flight being determined by the scores registered in an 18-hole qualifying round Sept. 3. Match play will start the following day and the tournament completed as early as possible.

All women golfers, residents of Wichita Falls, are eligible to participate on payment of $2 entry fee, regardless of club affiliations.

Men's All-City

The men's all-city championship, probably the most popular event of the city's annual links program, will be staged as early as possible after the completion of the women's tourney. This event also is scheduled for Weeks park this year, and Professional Bill Strachan is getting things ready for the start about the middle of next month.

In this tournament, too, the defending champion is not likely to be entered. The even was won last year by Tommy Cochran, twice former Texas amateur champion, who at present is in East Texas. However, there is a possibility that Cochran will return to defend his crown. He defeated I. R. Sheldon last year in the final.

Country Club Invitation

The Wichita Falls Golf and Country club has announced the dates for its third annual invitation tournament as Sept. 23-24-25-26, and plans to interest Northwest Texas golfers in the event are being put to work by Professional Phil Hesler and the tournament committee.

The invitation this year will follow the general program that has proved so popular in the past, and complete details are to be announced within the next few days.

A starting field of between 75 and 100 golfers is expected.

LIGHTED 18-HOLE GOLF LINKS PLAN OF TEXAN

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 22. (AP)—San Antonio will have the first fully-lighted 18-hole golf course in the United States if plans of T. J. Dixon, who operates the Willow Springs Golf club course, materialize.

Dixon is dealing with an eastern concern for lighting equipment and has received plans and specifications for the illumination, "without a single shadow," of the entire Willow Springs links.

The cost of the project, Dixon said, would be close to $30,000, without the price of 137 poles necessary to carry out the program. Light would be furnished by 743 globes of 1,000 watts each. The book of specifications has 45 pages.

Part of a Kansas City course was lighted some time ago and play was found practicable, Dixon declared.

It is estimated that the cost of electricity for lighting the course would be $50 or more per night.

"THEY CALL ME DIZZY"

BY JEROME H. (DIZZY) DEAN

By JEROME H. (DIZZY) DEAN
(Copyright, 1931, NEA Service Inc.)

While I was fooling around San Antonio to figure out a way of getting my name in the papers, I got a chance to pitch for an amateur team there. That night I dropped by a newspaper office to say to one of the sports editors, "I'm gonna pitch tomorrow and thought I'd ask you how many men you want me to strike out."

That was a laugh for him, but right away he comes back with, "Strike out 16."

That sort of stumped me. Sixteen men are a lot to fan, even among these sandlot hicks, because you don't know when a guy is going to boot one or a catcher is going to miss a third strike. But it was a chance to attract attention, so I went on the field next day and did it.

On Monday of the next week, I got an offer to go with the Public Service team in San Antonio. This was a pretty good ball club made up of fast amateurs. The first game I pitched I won and fanned about 9 or 10. I got a laugh at the way some of those chaps swung at anything. All you had to do was get two strikes on them and then start to working on 'em.

That year I won 13 games pitching just on Saturdays and Sundays. We won the state championship and I pitched two championship series games and won 'em. After that series I could see that old major league dream of mine coming true.

The Houston amateur champions were playing us in San Antonio. Pancho Snyder, now catching for St. Paul, was managing Houston. He came out to the game and asked me to come over to the San Antonio league park and work out next day.

I couldn't sleep that night. Here was the big chance. I was disappointed, however, because I thought he would let me pitch for Houston. He only asked me to throw him some balls. He seemed impressed.

Snyder returned to Houston and sent Don Curtis, Cardinal scout, around to see me. Don hid out in the grandstand and I didn't know he was there. We had a punk team to play and I wasn't bearing down any harder than I had to.

About the fifth inning I found out he was there and you should have seen me go then. If a guy made a loud foul off me I got mad because I saw that old major league contract waving at me.

We were playing the Cuban All-Stars that day. The Cubans got one lucky hit and that before I found out that Don was in the stands. We beat 'em 8-1 and I struck out about 10 of 'em.

After the game, Don asked me to meet him in the Hamilton hotel next day. I never touched the ground going home—I was walking on air.

Next day Rollie Harris, manager of the Public Service team, went with me. We met Don in the lobby. He invited us to his room.

When he got there, Don asked Harris if he would have a drink and Harris declined. He then passed it to me and I said:

"Nope, I'm not interested. You can't get to the big leagues that way."

Then and there Don became interested and told me to pack my bag and get ready to go to Houston, but Harris objected since we were a cinch in the state championship if I pitched. Don finally agreed to let Harris keep me for the duration of the season.

DALLAS TENNIS STAR CAPTURES NATIONAL WOMEN'S NET TITLE

DETROIT, Aug. 22. (INS)—Miss Mary Zita McHale of Dallas Saturday became national public parks tennis champion by defeating Mrs. Virginia Dueker of St. Louis in the women's final, 6-2, 6-2.

Miss McHale used a back court game almost exclusively only venturing to the net when points were needed. She used a chop stroke to an advantage when it was necessary to move forward but for the most part was content to outsteady her opponent.

The new champion is seeded No. 2 women's player in Texas and finished in second place in the Missouri valley tournament this summer. She is just 20 years old, younger than most of the players in the tournament.

A steady game that kept her opponent around the court won for the southern girl. She executed power in her drives and her placements boasted more accuracy than had been seen in the play all week. The dethroned title-holder was forced into numerous errors.

The loser was outclassed all the way but never lost hope. She forced many crucial games to deuce before admitting defeat.

To make it an all-Dallas triumph, Miss McHale and Charlotte McQuiston downed Mrs. Dueker and Mrs. Ann Lindermann in the women's doubles final, 2-6, 6-1, 6-2.

New Start This Week

Three tennis leagues, reorganized after the conclusion of their original schedules, start play this week on the Junior college and Weeks park courts, with prospects pointing to race even closer than the thrillers ending last week.

The Employes league ended its original schedule, with Panhandle Refining company winning the championship by a one-game margin over Record News. A single game back in third place was Times and only one game separated the fourth place Texas company entry and the third place winners.

This league is to start its new schedule in two sections, four stronger teams competing in one group and the remaining six in the other. Making up the class A division are Panhandle, Times, Courthouse and Katy. The latter two clubs finished in the second division in the first race, but strengthened late in the schedule to the extent of taking class A ranking.

The Free-For-All league, with its present standing somewhat jumbled because of many postponements and the winner still in doubt, also starts a new race this week, with four strong teams making up the roster. The Free-For-All league will continue to play its matches at Weeks park and the Employes league at Junior college.

The class B division of the Employes league, consisting of Floral Heights pharmacy, Southwestern Bell Telephone company, Municipal Gas company, Banks, Texas company and School Faculty, is the first to get under way. # THE WICHITA VALLEY FARMER

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE FARMER, DAIRYMAN, POULTRY RAISER AND FRUIT AND TRUCK GROWER

Big Variety of Crops Available For Fall Gardens and Planting Time Is Here—Careful Preparation Urged

By J. F. ROSBOROUGH
Horticulturist, Extension Service, Texas A. & M. College

The value of the fall garden cannot be overestimated. As a factor in reducing the grocery bill and as a necessity for obtaining that type of food needed by people at a season of the year when meat and bread comprise too large a portion of the daily ration, the fall garden is extremely important.

Soil Preparation—If the moisture in the soil is adequate the fall garden should be a continuation of the summer garden. In the late summer the moisture supply in the soil is limited and care must be exercised to conserve it in every way in order to get the vegetables up. To do this the ground should be free of all weeds and plants that are left from the summer garden. Plowing under this material at this time is a bad practice, because it will prevent the moisture from rising to the upper surface, and the seed will not germinate. Then, too, the unrotted plant materials seriously interfere with the cultivation of the young fall vegetables and the heat resulting from the turned under vegetation dries out the soil.

The soil for the fall garden should be plowed shallow to a depth of four to five inches, or thoroughly disced. Immediately following the breaking of the soil it should be harrowed and the seed bed made as firm as possible to re-establish capillary attraction of the soil particles and to bring the moisture, if possible, to within 1½ to 2 inches of the surface.

Where fertilizer is necessary, well rotted manure may be used, but quickly available commercial fertilizers are to be preferred at this time. This is because of the relative slowness with which the plant food elements in manure are made soluble at this season, thus favoring the use of commercial fertilizer. A commercial fertilizer mixture of 6-12-6 or 6-10-7 may be applied in the row at the time of planting, using 300 to 400 pounds for one-fourth acre. Nitrate of soda, ammonium sulphate or other concentrated nitrogenous fertilizers may be used as a side-dressing on leafy vegetables to stimulate growth. One to three pounds per 100 feet of row is the proper rate of application.

Planting the Fall Garden—In purchasing seed for the fall garden it is advisable to secure one-fourth more seed for this planting than for the spring garden. The germination of seed at this season is poor, consequently the extra quantity of seed will ordinarily be necessary to secure a good stand.

|---|---|---|---|---|
| Pinto Beans | Aug. 20-30 | 2 | 2-3 | ft. |
| Potatoes | Aug. 20-30 | 12 | 3 | ft. |
| Cabbage | Aug. 20-Sept. 5 | 18 | 3 | ft. |
| Radish | Aug. 20-Sept. 5 | 2 | 1½ | ft. |

A Type of Farm the Valley Needs More Of

With 26 acres in feed, garden and orchard, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Porter, whose farm is in the Pleasant Valley vicinity, aren't caring particularly what cotton sells for. They have some hogs, chickens and a cow to eat the hegari and other feed that they don't sell. A well-stocked pantry of home-cooked products will supplement the pork that will be put up this fall.

In the upper left hand picture is shown some of the shoulder-high hegari on the Porter farm. G. H. Williams, Fred L. Cone, O. A. Jones and B. B. Greever, who visited the farm recently, are shown with Mr. Porter and M. M. Beller, a neighbor. In the upper right picture is shown the orchard, with a nice crop of Sudan grass between the trees. ## Brilliant Pageant of Early Days in West Texas to Open Young County's Annual Fair, Graham, September 22

GRAHAM, Texas, Aug. 22.—With a brilliantly dressed royal party as a background, Graham plans to open its annual Young county fair one month from today, Sept. 22, with a historical pageant of West Texas, S-A-X-E-T, which is of a magnitude never before attempted in this part of the state.

After the crowning of King Ernest Endeavor and his queen, Prosperity, the audience will be regaled with an entertainment at once realistic and highly exciting. Real old-time square dancers and enthusiastic callers will give the show a sendoff in grand old breakdown style. A double quartet of cowboy singers with a flickering camp fire as a background will contribute a collection of familiar songs of the range which have soothed the hearts of West Texans for generations.

A tribe of Indians from the wilds of Dark Valley will stage a war dance and a blood-curdling battle. The days of the early oil booms will be re-lived in a dance hall scene with a chorus of beautiful tap dancers and a background of daringly gowned cabaret girls. Miss Freida Douglas, a radio blues singer of national reputation will pose as Queen of the Brazos, singing blues of yesteryear and today. She will make the trip from her home in Oklahoma for the purpose of appearing in Young county's S-A-X-E-T.

The swashbuckling Billy the Kid, the part being quite appropriately assigned to one of his descendants, will gallop out of the past on his faithful bronc to lend color and a dark aura of fear and danger to Graham's carefully recreated, living canvas of the good old days.

Charlie Chaplin's double will delight the kiddies with his antics at Young county's all western pageant.

The entertainment boasts more than 50 principals and a total cast of well over 100. It will be given at the fair park to give the maximum space for the performers and to eliminate any danger which might arise from the use of numerous riding horses, wagons, and buggies, necessary to the realism of the various scenes.

Young county offers this entertainment in appreciation of the consideration shown its citizens during business or pleasure trips to other cities of West Texas. It extends a special invitation to the citizens of Wichita Falls to join it in a revival of the adventuresome, perilous, yet friendly relations of other days. Graham hopes to be host to many of its Wichita Falls friends on the night of Sept. 22.

AKRON WARMED UP FOR MAIDEN TRIP NEXT WEDNESDAY

AKRON, Ohio, Aug. 22. (AP)—They warmed up the motors of the big dirigible Akron today and worked with feverish speed on the final touches of its construction in preparation for its maiden flight to be made possibly as early as Wednesday next week.

Inside the enormous hangar a force of workmen swarmed over the craft finishing the painting. Officers and engineers hopped in and out of the cabins and hull, making penciled notations of various tests. But over all of the human activity was the terrific roar of the propellers and the eight big Diesel engines.

The time for actual voyage will depend on weather conditions.

Tests already completed at the dock show the Akron is relatively far stronger than any other Zeppelin type ship ever constructed, it was said today by construction engineers.

Pioneer at Olney Shows Apple From Century-Old Tree

J. K. Luton, 83, of Olney, Saturday brought into the Times office an apple which came from a tree more than 100 years old. Mr. Luton received the apple from his brother, E. C. Luton, of Goodlettsville, Tenn., near which the tree and the boyhood home of the Luton brothers are situated.

Mr. Luton recalls vividly the time in his childhood when he and his brother climbed the old tree and picked the apples. He said Saturday that although the apple he had brought in to show the Times staff was large, it was nothing to compare with the giant apples that he once had the pleasure of pulling from the tree, which was considered old when he was only a child.

The tree is of the pippin variety.

Bankruptcy Will Prevail in South Without 20 Cent Cotton Huey Long Says Urging Holiday for Growers

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 22. (AP)—Twenty-cent cotton must prevail in the South in three weeks or bankruptcy will result to farmers and business, Gov. Huey P. Long said in a statement today which he issued as chairman of the steering committee of the New Orleans cotton conference.

"If the cotton growing states will act at once by absolutely prohibiting the planting of cotton for 1932 as recommended by the cotton conference held in New Orleans yesterday," the governor said, "the farmers will get the benefit of the best price for the biggest crop they have ever raised. If they will not do this, then we have nothing but calamity for the cotton farmer.

"Louisiana can be counted on as having as good as passed the law already. Prior to the adoption of the plan, a large majority of the members of the Louisiana house and senate voluntarily endorsed the plan, and I am prepared to call the legislature together within a few hours after the bill is written and looked over, and within four days secure the enactment of legislation prohibiting the planting of cotton in Louisiana for the year 1932, provided similar action is to be taken in a sufficient number of other states.

"Any amendment or modification of the plan will be fatal. It must be an entire 100 per cent prohibition against cotton planting for 1932 or nothing. . . . I urge every county in the cotton growing states to immediately hold meetings and call upon their legislators and their governors to adopt this plan. . . . It is up to the governors and legislators of the South whether we shall have 20 cent cotton in three weeks or bankruptcy."

The holdup men stopped the bus by blocking the road with a car and then fired their pistols to awaken the passengers. They made the travelers line up outside the machine and one of the men held a straw hat into which passengers were forced to toss their money. The other robber waved his weapon.

The loss was estimated at $50. Five women passengers were not molested. J. L. Foraker of Marion, Ohio, saved $50 by tossing it on the bus floor before emerging.

Every Day Life of The Farmer's Wife

Well folks, it doesn't appear that the farm board's plan to destroy one-third of the cotton crop has taken very well. The farm board is like everybody else. If any one has to be the goat they want it to be the farmer, but I guess the reason for that is because the farmer makes a goat of himself so often. If the farmer had not made a goat of himself last spring at cotton-planting time he would not have to be the other fellows' goat now. While all farmers have made fools of themselves, I want to assure you that the farmer is not always to blame.

Take for instance the farm that I live on. We work 220 acres. The owner demands 50 acres of cotton, and he is a lot more broadminded than a lot of other landowners I know. My husband told him last fall he didn't believe cotton would be worth picking this fall and asked him what he thought of sowing all the land. The owner said wheat was not worth anything and still insisted on 50 acres of cotton. Of course, wheat is not worth much but give me a surplus of wheat any time in preference to a surplus of cotton. When cotton is selling for the price it is sure to sell for this fall a farmer can't offer over 25 or 30 cents per hundred for gathering, and if a man has any conscience at all and if he ever picked cotton a day in his life he is ashamed to offer suffering humanity such a price for picking cotton. Any one who picks cotton is suffering and in want or he wouldn't do it. I believe every one will agree with me on that.

I don't believe we should call this surplus cotton "overproduction." I think we should call it "under-consumption" for if every one had the clothes and bedding he needed for this coming winter there would be no surplus. I don't know about other classes of folks, but I do know that farm folks could use cotton cloth by the thousands of yards and would use it if they had the money to buy it. If the farmer could get a reasonable price for his product he would at once start buying from manufacturers. He has let his tools, furniture, cars, and in fact everything he uses, run down because his produce for the last several years has not sold for enough to replace such equipment.

Farmers of the South have let cotton almost make peons of them. I despise cotton. It has ruined the health of more girls and women and robbed more children of an education than any other thing in the world. Instead of southern farmers ruling cotton they let cotton rule them.

On livestock farms 700 or 800 bushels of cheap wheat is no drawback. Think of all the ways a farmer can get his money back out of wheat. If he does nothing more than pasture it he can get the worth of his seed in winter grazing. After he thrashes if he has a hundred or two turkeys they will clean up the waste on the field and pay him back several dollars more. He can grind some of the wheat into flour for his own use. It makes good feed for all kind of livestock when mixed with other feed, particularly when ground, but not too finely ground. You can fatten a hog on wheat just as quickly as you can on corn. Wheat is very easily stored when it can be given the proper care, and harvesting comes at the time of year when we have ideal weather for work. The menfolks on a farm can take care of wheat without calling out the wife and children to do work that was never intended for women and children to do. A cotton crop requires women and children to stand on the wet cold ground until Christmas, and often later, picking the magic stuff that has made them and their ancestors before them the poorest downtrodden people on earth. Cotton makes young women old, pretty women ugly and smart women ignorant.

I just wondered why if the farm board thought plowing up one-third of the cotton would make it sell for 10 cents per pound, they did not suggest mowing down two rows and leaving two. That would make it sell for 15 or 18 cents per pound and the farmer could pay a decent wage for gathering.

I noticed the other day in some paper, I don't remember what paper now, where some guy who thought he knew all about farm troubles said before one of those cotton investigating committees that the farmer could not use his head to get out of this hole he was in because his head was empty. Those may not be his exact words but that is what he meant. Now, we know and most of us farmers admit that we have been fools but we don't care about some little paper-collared politician telling us about it. He probably got his job because his grandfather was a friend of some governor, or because in his political campaign he promised the farmers he would make the world a Garden of Eden for them if they would elect him. But, of course, after the return on the election came in he never thought of that again. Some of these politicians think they have all the brains, but I am afraid, if things don't change, they are going to learn that they can't eat their cake and have it, too. If they don't quit talking so much and make some effort to help the farmer pay his taxes the money for their salaries may come up missing. In fact I think if the state would do away with a lot of these school boy politicians and reduce taxes the amount of their salaries all real citizens would appreciate it. I see where one state in the East has gone on a business basis and reduced the state employes from over 100 to 17. I wonder why Texas can't take a hint from that. I feel towards politicians giving advice to farmers like I do about folks giving advice on child training. I think it should be against the law for any one to offer advice on training children except a mother who has reared as many as 10, and, who are all a credit to their country.

I don't consider any one capable of giving the farmer advice during times like these except some person who is living on a farm and making his daily bread out of the profits between the price of wheat he has to sell and what he has to buy. If he is doing that and keeping his head above deep water, then it is all right to accept his advice. He knows his beans. Some of these little politicians will tell you: "Oh! I lived on a farm when I was a boy." Well, let me tell you living on the farm 30 or 40 years ago and living on the farm today is quite different. The price of living has increased a great deal since then, and the price of everything a farmer has to buy has gone up, while the price of his products is the lowest in the history of America. This condition has not hit the farmer just since the Wall street crash or since oil has flunked, it hit him back in 1920 and has been gradually getting worse. We paid war time prices for wheat which he had to buy at that price for years, while we took next to nothing for our products.

If these little school boy politicians, who are saying that the farmer is a fool because he can't get out of this tight, were out on a farm today trying to make their living they would soon be in a worse plight than most farmers. I can't see that they have anything to crow about anyway. Agriculture is not in a much deeper hole than politics, and it is very plain to even us ignorant farmers that a lot of politicians are not holding their jobs because they have ability; the last two sessions of the legislature has proven that. Yes, folks, we farmers have been fools and the biggest fool trick we have done is sending a lot of little schoolboy politicians down to Austin and to Washington who pretend they know something about agriculture, when in fact they know nothing nor care nothing about agriculture.

But I believe that even the politicians, if he will tell the truth, will admit that the farmer has been the best sport in the United States. His products went to the bottom 10 years ago. He certainly did not share in what is known as the Coolidge prosperity, but he has not done half the howling that other businesses have done since the Wall street crash. They say the farmers are a bunch of fools, but if you will only look around at the other businesses that have gone on the rocks, you will have the consolation that in our ignorance we have company. In fact it looks to me as if the farmer has held up better under the times than any other business, considering that he has been under this depression for more than 10 years. Other business was not affected until the Wall street crash.

It looks to me as if all businesses as well as our government would learn after a while that when agriculture goes on the rocks everything else does, too. It takes prosperous agriculture to make a prosperous nation.

Well, folks, I meant to tell you all about my fall garden this week and advise you to make one at once, but I got all stirred up when I got to talking about this cotton situation and I have already used more than my space. I also intended to give you some of my choice recipes for putting up the grapes that are flooding our markets at the present, but that will also have to wait.

DR. ECKENER SKEPTICAL THAT SHADOW IN PHOTO REPRESENTS LOST PLANE

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Aug. 22. (AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, discussing a photograph taken while passing over Nova Zembia on the recent Graf Zeppelin cruise, said today he was skeptical that a shadow on the photo represented the plane of Roald Amundsen, noted arctic explorer, who was lost on a rescue expedition in 1928.

"If Amundsen had been forced down on Nova Zembla," he said, "he would know how to rescue himself. For him that would not have been a very dangerous spot. However, until I receive an enlarged photograph I cannot venture an opinion as to what else the plane-shaped blotch may be.

POSTING OF 70-CENT PRICE FOR OIL BRINGS JOY TO INDUSTRY

Effect Already Shown in Refining Branches as Crude Market Advances To Highest Price Since April, 1930

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

With posted prices of 70 cents per barrel in North Texas and 68 cents in the East Texas pool, the mirage of dollar oil that has faced the operators for the past 18 months passed into oblivion and in its stead comes concrete evidence of an upward trend in all branches of one of the nation's long suffering industries.

The advance announced by the Texas company Friday increasing the crude quotation in this district 30 cents per barrel over the previous price of 40 cents was the most welcome happening to occur in a long period, and joy reigned supreme not only with the producers and others in the industry, but with business men and the population as a whole.

The new price inaugurated by the Texas company was followed by the Gulf Production, Continental, Magnolia, Humble, Stanolind and other major purchasing companies. Local refiners, the Panhandle, American, and Dale each revised its schedule to meet the Texas prices.

The effect of the advance in crude was reflected in an improvement in the refining branch of the industry and a two-cent raise in the retail price of gasoline was posted by a number of companies throughout the state. In Wichita Falls the American, Panhandle, Atlantic-Pacific-Gulf, Sinclair and Continental companies boosted the price from 12 to 14 cents per gallon for white, and for special brands to 16 cents.

Highest Since 1930

The present price is the highest offered for the district's crude since April 23, 1930, when oil of 38.9 gravity was selling for $1.01 cents per barrel. That was about the time of the uncovering of the vast lake of oil in East Texas. With the inception of the pool and the completion of huge wells almost daily so as to gradually undermine the industry's price structure, plans were urged for measures to halve the output.

On April 1 a meeting was called at Austin to determine a plan of proration for the field. A partial plan was formulated but there arose among the producers a determination to oppose its successful operation and a general violation of the order was started. This resulted in a reckless campaign of drilling and with thousands of barrels of new oil pouring daily on a market already overburdened, drastic cuts were administered by the major purchasers. A number refused to enter the fields as buyers. On April 24, 1930, oil dropped from $1.01 cents to 53 cents per barrel, and gradually slumped to the unheard of price of 10 cents, a figure that was a factor in the demoralization of the country's entire price structure.

As a direct result of this wasteful and reckless development, hundreds of wells were shut down in all parts of the mid-continent fields. Thousands of workers left the fields for the street corners. The petroleum industry continued in the chaotic condition, brought upon it by the greed of a bunch of operators in the East Texas field.

Martial law inaugurated by the governor of Oklahoma, and later, after plenty of wrangling in the legislative halls at Austin, adopted by Governor Sterling of Texas, seems to be the only plan worked out for the salvation of the industry. Present indications are that under this rule, the industry already discerns shadows of a substantial improvement.

Seven New Locations

Development of the fields in the district failed to bring forth anything outside the usual number of drilling wells. Seven new locations were staked out. Archer and Young counties were favored by the operators. In Young county, a few new tests were spudded in on the shallow pools around Newcastle and Orth.

Efforts to pick up the 2200-foot sand is evidenced by six deep tests drilling on the different tracts in the vicinity of the Deep Oil-Lindsay No. 1 Wilson in block 76, northeast of Archer City.

Two failures in different parts of Archer county were reported, both deep tests and important in their immediate localities. Two miles south of Kemp City on the W. P. Ferguson farm, Patterson survey, the Shappell Oil company will pull pipe and abandon at a depth of 4,000 feet. This test is two miles south of the Jack Martin producer at Kemp City. It encountered the saturated lime at 3815 feet and had a nice show of oil. After considerable trouble caused from a collapsed pipe at 2400 feet bottom was again reached. Several saturated limes were encountered at various depths and the whole reached 3999 feet. This was balled and when no oil showed, it was decided to abandon.

Northwest of Archer City four miles, the Bridwell Oil company's No. 19 Oil Investment in lot 5, block 125, Harris survey, three miles northwest of the 2200-foot producer, missed the 2200-foot sand and is drilling at 2390 feet with indications of a dry hole.

What may mean the uncovering of another shallow pool in the territory five miles southwest of Windthorst is the showing of oil in a sand topped at 974 fet in the Beer & Kirkwood's No. 1 L. C. Herron wildcat, located in section 84, block 4, Clark and Plumb survey. The sand is showing enough oil to warrant a test. Casing is being run and bailing will commence the first of the week.

Other pools of the district remained practically devoid of drilling, with many wells shut down at various depths. The new price of oil will no doubt be an incentive to a resumption of operations on the greater part of the leases.

Pipe line runs for the week registered 54,263 barrels daily, a loss of 589 barrels per day under the figures of the previous week. Proration and many wells shut down are the prime causes of the drop.

AVERAGE CRUDE PRICE ADVANCES TWO CENTS

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (UP)—Reflecting the drastic cut in crude oil output recently, the average price for crude petroleum at 10 representative producing fields advanced from 70.8 cents a barrel to 72.8 cents a barrel, according to the index issued today by the Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter.

This compares with the average of $1.497 cents a barrel in the corresponding week of 1930. Gasoline at four principal refining centers also was higher at an average of 5 cents a gallon, compared with 4½ cents a gallon a week ago and 7.09 cents a gallon last year.

Domestic crude oil production, as estimated by the Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter, from Jan. 1, to Aug. 22 was 542,512,000 barrels, against 601,219,000 barrels in the corresponding period of 1930.

NOODLE CREEK AND WARD GET NEW OIL WELLS

Jones County Field Extended as Crude Rises in Test

PHILLIPS COMPANY TO BUILD NEW PIPE LINE

Shutting in of East Texas Production Fails to Help West Texas

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Aug. 22.—Striking of oil in another Ward county test and rising of oil in a test in the northwest extension of the Noodle Creek pool in Jones county were among developments in West Texas this week. Three of five of the world's deepest producers, in Reagan county, still on production registered gains during the week ending Aug. 15 and their yield totaled 155,145 barrels 3,232 barrels more than the week before when production declined 4,591 barrels. Four of the deep wells are shut in indefinitely.

Phillips Petroleum company began preparations to lay a three-inch welded pipe line from Crane City, Crane county, to McCamey, Upton, county, to provide an outlet for natural gasoline extracted from gas at its absorption plant. The gasoline will be shipped by rail from a loading rack to be built on the Santa Fe at McCamey. The pipe line will cost around $150,000 and is scheduled to be in operation by Oct. 1.

Shutting in of East Texas' producers by martial law had brought no change in West Texas, where the average crude price remained 25 cents per barrel. Since the bulk of the production, probably 90 per cent, is owned by major companies and it is restricted to 200,000 to 225,000 barrels daily, largely by proration, it was thought that there would be no oil available for the relief of refiners dependent upon East Texas wells. At the end of June, 16 West Texas counties had 28,276,227 barrels in storage and room for 25,192,139 barrels. Much of this oil is owned by companies that have East Texas production and withdrawals from storage likely will increase should martial law remain in effect for several weeks.

Surveyor Reports

One of the week's developments that may have a far reaching effect was the report of J. A. Simpson, Tom Green county surveyor, that he had found no vacant tracts in the Yates pool in Pecos county in a survey just completed for the land commissioner. Vacancies are claimed in suits that have led to much litigation, tying up an estimated $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 in royalties, and Simpson's report will be an important basis in the state's efforts to reach agreements, definitely establishing boundary lines long recognized.

The Jones county test which struck oil was Tex-Mex and Eastland's No. 1 O. N. Brewer, 330 feet out of the northwest corner of the J. W. Martin survey and an east of the Pope & Anderson and Julian's No. 1 Swann, which last fall extended the Noodle Creek pool one and one-half miles northwest. No. 1 Brewer had a good showing of oil from 2537-58 feet, topped the pay at 2551 feet and drilled to 2553, where oil rose 500 feet. The big pipe was pulled and the hole was cleaned out to run 6¾-inch casing. Culberson Brothers No. 1 W. D. Swann prepared to spud 660 feet north of the Pope & Anderson and Julian producer.

Black & Wadsworth's No. 1 Boogher in Ward county topped the pay at 2190 feet, after showing gas at 2115 and 2170 feet, and in drilling to 2250 feet in lime filled 200 feet with oil. It is 1400 feet from the southeast line and 500 feet from the southwest line of section 10, block 5, H. & T. C. Ry company survey. Clyde Bradford's No. 1 York, in the east corner of section 10, block 34, H. & T. C. Ry company survey, which had 1800 feet of oil in the hole when drilled to 2355 feet, showed no increase in deepening to 2490 feet in anhydrite and lime.

Humble's No. 1 Balmorhea Livestock association, in the northwest quarter of section 33, block 5, H. & T. C. Ry company survey, in Reeves county, topped the Delaware lime at 4647 feet and topped the Delaware sand at 4684 feet, according to the drillers' log and had progressed to 4770 feet in grey lime without encountering oil, gas or water. Elevation is 2632 feet.

Drilling Resumed

The next test due to reach the Delaware sand pay in Loving county, A. R. Eppenauer and L. E. Lockhart's No. 1 W. D. Johnson, in section 86, block 1, W. & N. W. Ry company, had drilled to 3300 feet in salt. In the southern Pecos valley pool in Pecos county, Messenger's No. 1 Buts, in section 84, block 10, H. & G. N. Ry company survey, began deepening at 1292 feet, after being shut down since last December, and had shown no change in drilling to 1307 feet in lime. It was credited with having made an estimated 500,000 cubic feet of gas daily from 1290-92 feet before being shut in eight months previous.

Cushing Refining and Gasoline company's Nos. 1, 2 and 3 Powell in Crockett county resumed pumping early in the week. They were shut down in mid-July when the price of oil was slashed from 25 cents to 10 cents a barrel. The wells are allowed a total of about 150 barrels a day under proration.

Engine repairs delayed J. D. Wesner's No. 1 Nicks, Schleicher county wildcat, from drilling plug after cementing 6¾-inch casing at 4065 feet, the total depth, in shale. Eastland Oil company and others' No. 1 Joe Tisdale, Schleicher county unit test, drilled to 2160 feet in lime and shale and pulled 8¼-inch casing from 3065 feet to put on a new shoe. This was expected to shut off sulphur water from 2725 and 2810 feet.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company's No. 1 W. H. Williams in southeastern Irion county had made new hole to 6010 feet in caving shale after drilling plug, 8-inch casing landed at 5924 feet, 26 feet off bottom, having been cemented three times. The Ellis-Fianery corpora-

District's Pipe Line Runs Drop 589 Daily

Crude oil movements from the different pools in the Wichita Falls district for the week ended Saturday, Aug. 22, 1931, averaged 54,263 barrels daily, a slump of approximately 589 barrels, compared with the previous week's runs.

These figures embrace the nine counties under the supervision of L. V. Hull, proration umpire. Four counties representing the North Texas division, Jack, Haskell, Throckmorton and south Young county registered 5,506 barrels per day, a slight loss of 55 barrels under the preceding week's figures.

Many leases shut in and proration of several producing pools were the chief factors in the losses. The runs for the week fell 8,737 barrels per day below the 63,000 barrels allowed by the railroad commission. Below is the run by pools:

ONE OPERATION CONTINUES IN CARTER COUNTY

Oil Activities at Virtual Standstill in South Oklahoma

SEEK ENLARGEMENT OF PRODUCERS BODY

Propose Addition of Four Counties to Oil Association

ARDMORE, Okla., Aug. 22.—Only one active operation remained at the close of this week in the prolific Tatums district of northwestern Carter county, Southern Oklahoma. It will only be a matter of a few days proration shut-down time until the test will be completed and shut it with the rest of the producers in the area.

Two other tests are being carried as locations in the district. However, they have been just locations for the past several months and there is not much probability of any drilling operations resulting from them. The field will be at an absolute standstill unless the governor's price of $1 per barrel for crude is met by the purchasing companies, when the one remaining test is completed.

The Carter Oil company's No. 4 Wirt Franklin in the center of the northeast corner of 24-1s-3w, has casing cemented on top of sand series topped at 1860 feet and 2063 feet. Total depth is 2113 feet in black shale. Operators expect to wait the full proration time before drilling out the cement.

K. D. Oil company and Frank Gouin's No. 1 M. E. Burton in the center of the south half of the southwest of 30-1s-2w, new producer a half mile south of production which was completed last week for 130 barrels in five hours on the swab has been shut in and will remain shut in until the shut-down order of Governor Murray is lifted. It had a series of sands between 2216 and 2460 feet and is estimated good for around 450 barrels daily.

The only other tests in the district are only locations and have been for the past several months. They are George Pace and others' No. 2 Mitchell in the southwest of the northwest of the northwest of 30-1s-2w on the south edge of the field and Chickasha Natural Gas company No. 1 Joe Carter in the southeast of the northwest of the northwest of 13-1s-3w, on the north side of production.

Rig Up for Test

Phillip Boyle Inc. of Oklahoma City has a rig up for a new Murray county test on the Cutchall farm in the center of the southeast of the southeast of the northeast of 6-1n-8e, six and a half miles north of Davis. It will be drilled with rotary tools. The block on which this test is located consists of approximately 2,200 acres and the test is about one and a half miles north of the old Bison test in the northwest corner of 17-1n-2e, drilled several years ago, and which showed considerable gas at 2100-15 feet and also gas and oil at 2245-75 feet. It was abandoned with total depth at 2500 feet.

Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas company and Ramsey Petroleum corporation's No. 6 Preston-Culp in the northwest of the northeast of the northeast of 6-5n-9w, Cement district, Caddo county, deepest test drilling in the state, was at 9280 feet. Operators were unable to recover core taken at 9190 feet where there were indications of a showing.

Batson, Starritt and Autry's No. 2 Dr. Autry in the southeast of the northeast of 27-6s-2e, seven miles northeast of Marietta, Love county, resumed drilling after being shut down for several days with total depth of 1609 feet. The test was shut down on reaching contract depth of 1600 feet, however, it was decided to drill deeper. It is reported as having had several small shows of oil and gas the best of which was in shale and sand at 1564-1600 feet.

Oil operators of Southern Oklahoma will petition directors of the Carter County Producers association to enlarge their district to include four additional counties, it was decided here at a general meeting held this week. Grady, Stephens, Cotton and Garvin county operators will be asked to join the association.

Shutdown movement in the Tatums field and proration for this part of the state did not come up for discussion and from the tone of the meeting it was indicated that operators were reconciled, both to the shutdown movement and to proration.

This meeting, held largely to discuss pollution work, followed a similar session held last month when it was suggested that the present organization be enlarged. A committee to investigate method of enlarging the association was appointed at that time by Harold B. Fell, president of the Southern Oklahoma Oil and Gas association.

Three oil and gas associations were represented in the meeting, the Southern Oklahoma Oil and Gas association, the Carter County Producers' association and the operators advisory committee. H. B. Fell presided.

This meeting will be devoted to a discussion of oil and gas lift equipment.

F. M. Stauffer of the Panhandle Refining company will present the principle of an automatic pump which has proved successful in tests made in this district

PACE WILDCAT STEPHENS CO. DRILLING 400

DUNCAN, Okla., Aug. 22.—George Pace was drilling Thursday at 400 feet in his No. 1-B Laura Toney, in the northwest corner of 27-2s-7w, a wildcat one and one-half miles east of the town of Comanche, in Stephens county. The test is between Pace's prolific Watkins estate lease, one of the best producing areas discovered in the county in recent years, and production on his Dilley lease in section 27-2s-7w.

The test is the first Pace has started in the county since he began operations in the East Texas field six months ago. Prior to the East Texas boom, Pace was the most active operator in the county.

J. C. Chambers and associates have cemented surface casing in their No. 1 M. Dare, in the SE NW SE of 2-2s-8w, a test for gas to be drilled on the north side of the old Comanche field.

H. J. Brown and K. D. Drilling company are shut down on their No. 1 Hightower, in the SW SE NE of 15-3s-5w, in the shallow gas field southwest of the town of Loco, after failing to get production in gas sand from 930 to 945 feet. Total depth is 989 feet.

Operators plan to clean out the hole in a third effort to get production any may be forced to drill a twin. The well showed water and gas when plugs were drilled the first time. It was believed the water was coming from leaking casing and a new string of pipe was set. Nothing showed when plugs were drilled the second time and operators feared the gas sand had been cemented off.

Paul Turner and associates' No. 1 W. M. Andrews, in the NW SW SW of 5-2s-7w, a wildcat six miles south of Duncan, is still shut down with around 2900 feet of drill stem stuck in the hole.

Crane & Rankin's No. 1 Adkins, in the NE NE SE of 14-1n-9w, a wildcat just north of the Oil City field, continues shut down in red lime at 3265 feet.

One inch of rain on an acre of land would fill more than 600 barrels of 45 gallons capacity each.

PLAN FIGHT ON INCREASED OIL FREIGHT RATES

Wichitan Heads Committee To Prepare Evidence For Hearing

DECLARE BOOST SOUGHT WOULD BE CONFISCATORY

Testimony on Petroleum Products to Be Heard Tuesday

Preparations were made here Saturday for the presentation of testimony at Dallas Tuesday before the joint hearing in progress there before examiners of the Interstate Commerce commission and members of the Texas Railroad commission seeking to show that the granting of an application to increase railroad freight rates by 15 per cent would be almost disastrous to the oil industry of the Southwest.

J. H. Davenport, traffic expert of the Panhandle Refining company here, is chairman of committees named by the Southwest and the Texas Industrial Traffic leagues to arrange for presentation of testimony relating to oil rates. Mr. Davenport, with the assistance of Dudley B. Foy, traffic manager of the chamber of commerce, spent practically the whole of Saturday in outlining the order in which testimony and exhibits will be introduced.

Mr. Davenport and Mr. Foy will leave for Dallas Sunday night and will confer further Monday with Walker Wilson, secretary of the Mid-Continent Rail Traffic commission, relative to matters to be presented at the hearing Tuesday.

Among the exhibits which will be offered, it was declared, will be those showing that the granting of the increase asked by railroads would close many large markets to the petroleum products of the Southwest. The proposed rate, it is contended, would be so high as to preclude competition with products shipped by water from points far more distant.

The hearing opened at Dallas Friday when the taking of testimony opposing the granting of the increase started. More than 100 traffic experts representative of seven southwestern states were present at the hearing.

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 22. (AP)—Governor Pinchot today urged members of the American Legion to support him "in an impending battle against want and despair."

In an address at the closing session of the Pennsylvania department's annual convention he reminded the service men he had asked President Hoover to call an extra session of congress to appropriate money for relief of the unemployed and said that whether or not federal aid is given Pennsylvania must do its best through private charity and public work to provide jobs for the jobless and food for the hungry.

This smashed the existing two-way transcontinental mark, set between Los Angeles and New York, by 9½ hours—the San Francisco-New York record by nearly 36 hours.

These marks were formerly held by cars costing several times the Plymouth price.

No greater example can be given of the astounding ruggedness, endurance and stamina of the New Plymouth. No finer proof can be offered of its performance, its power, its handling ease, its safety and its roadability.

NUMEROUS SIGNS INJECT CHEERFUL SENTIMENT IN BUSINESS

Increase in Production of Steel, Firmer Oil Prices, and Decrease In Failures Bolster Confidence

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (UP)—An increase in steel output, firmer crude oil and gasoline prices and another decline in business failures were among factors that injected a more cheerful sentiment into the business situation during the week.

Along with higher activity in clothing manufacturing and textile centers, these factors served to bolster confidence.

Steel output was estimated at around 32 per cent of capacity, against 30 per cent last week. Pittsburgh reported increased demand for automotive and pipe line requirements and at Chicago there were indications of a better demand for steel for railroad requirements.

The shutdowns of oil fields in Oklahoma and East Texas caused a drastic reduction in crude output, daily average production for the country dropping about 1,000,000 barrels a day. With the possibility of a shutdown in Kansas and prospects of a fast-approaching shortage in crude, indications were that refiners would soon be near the end of their reserves.

Crude and refined products prices advanced in all sections of the country.

For the fifth consecutive week, business failures, as reported by Bradstreet's, showed a decline from the preceding week. Retail trade was still largely featured by "sales" in summer lines and inventories of summer goods were considerably lowered.

Clothing factories stepped up activity in preparing for fall lines and the shoe manufacturing industry continued as one of the bright spots.

Conditions were unchanged in the automobile industry.

Increased employment in New England mills lent a better outlook to the textile lines. The New York market for unfinished cotton cloths was quiet. Prices were fairly steady.

Southwest Review

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 22. (AP)—An increase in business transactions and a more favorable sentiment were reported in the Southwest district this week.

Early advance of oil prices to $1 a barrel was predicted by some of the leaders in the petroleum industry as a consequence of closing of the Oklahoma and East Texas fields under martial law orders.

The livestock industry was another outstanding feature in this week's business. Fat cattle reached a new high price level since last spring on the local market, bringing $10.35 for yearling steers. Less livestock was reported on feed than for the like period of a year ago. Other classes of livestock were in good condition, excepting hogs which showed a slight decline.

Merchants Buying

Merchandise sales to retail merchants of the Southwest in the annual autumn market will average from 15 to 20 per cent more in money value than in the corresponding period of last year, reported the trade commissioner of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce.

Zinc and lead prices continued steady and unchanged.

Flour mills in the Southwest sold 126 per cent to capacity compared to 113 per cent a week ago, and 128 per cent a year ago. Spring wheat bookings declined, while prices were irregular. Hard winters advanced 10 cents, springs down 15 to 20 cents and soft winter was unchanged.

Range conditions were the poorest in the past nine years, according to a report of the United States department of agriculture.

Crop conditions showed little change from the preceding week, and depressed prices still prevailed.

Demand for credit was stronger, saving deposits declined and bank debts were about 20 per cent under last year.

STOCKHOLDERS OF PRAIRIE COMPANY TO FIGHT MERGER

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Aug. 22. (UP)—Reports here today said that many stockholders in Prairie Oil & Gas and Prairie Pipe Line companies were offering Rockefeller interests proxies to block the proposed merger with Sinclair Consolidated Oil company.

Negotiations between Prairie interests, Tidewater associated and Rio Grande companies are under way in New York. A billion dollar corporation to be known as Commonwealth Petroleum corporation headed by Harry Sinclair, is the goal of the discussions, reports said.

Prairie stockholders here, holding an estimated $12,000,000 block on the pre-cash basis but now estimated to be worth from one or two million, say the merger is "unwise and unfair."

The chief objection is the proposed rate of exchange of Prairie shares with Sinclair stock.

Rockefeller interests are said to hold a controlling interest in the Prairie companies.

MAY HAVE FOUR POLITICAL PARTIES SAYS HAM LEWIS

BERLIN, Aug. 22. (US)—The two major political parties in the United States may be split into four in 1932. That declaration was made here tonight by Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois who said:

"The issues in the United States are confused and the general situation is unreconcilable. If President Hoover is renominated it may well mean a bolt of the Republican party by the agricultural West. The nomination of a wet candidate for president by the Democrats would mean defection of the southern church element from the Democrats and the nomination of a prohibition candidate.

"I believe that President Hoover may try to submerge the prohibition issue with a program of world economic readjustments. There is some danger of a radical sweep."

Diver in Chicago Believed Hunting Russian Jewels

CHICAGO, Aug. 22. (AP)—The submarine jewel mystery lay hidden today beneath the murky waters of the Chicago river.

A diver bobbed periodically to the surface, beguiling a curious public that gathered near the Michigan boulevard bridge, but he kept locked within his helmet the secret of whether he searched for the $825,000 string of Russian crown jewels owned by Mrs. Hugh Dillman of Detroit.

Aboard the yacht "Delphine," lying at anchor in Lake Michigan a mile off the river mouth, belligerent silence answered the day's callers. No visitors were permitted aboard and a woman who slipped from the yacht to a tender reached shore and drove hurriedly away without being questioned.

Only the mysterious silence of the diver has given negative strength to the rumor that Mrs. Dillman had dropped the famous Catherine of Russia pearls into the river. A nautically-garbed man arrived at the scene of operations towards noon today in a "Delphine" tender and denied the jewels were lost, protesting Mrs. Dillman was annoyed by calls from her insurance companies. He did not identify himself, and the diver dropped back to work.

NAVY BALLOON OFFICIALLY DECLARED RACE WINNER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (US)—The U. S. navy balloon piloted by T. G. W. Settle was officially declared the winner in the national balloon race at Akron last month by the National Aeronautic association today.

An official check by the U. S. geographical survey showed that when it landed 18 miles east southeast of Buffalo, the navy entrant had covered 195 miles.

COTTON RESPONDS TO FOREIGN NEWS AND SHOWS GAINS

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (AP)—Cotton was higher today on week-end covering combined with some trade or commission house buying. The market firmed up again with prices reaching the highest levels of the day in the late trading. December sold at 7.10 and closed at 7.08 with the general market closing firm at net advances of 12 to 18 points.

The opening was steady 10 to 11 points higher, which was only a partial response to the relative strength of Liverpool, and prices slipped off 3 or 4 points during the early trading under liquidation or realizing combined with some local and southern selling. The decline brought in an increased demand from shorts, however, while offerings were comparatively light after the early selling had been taken, and prices worked up after in the morning. October contracts which had sold off from 6.83 to 6.73 early, rallied to 6.89 while March advanced from 7.23 to 7.38. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the best.

Covering Boosts Price

Liverpool cables contributed the advance in the market to covering with continental and Bombay buying, but said that the home trade in cloths was quiet with Shanghai auction results unsatisfactory. The New Orleans resolution favoring a reduction in cotton acreage through legislative action was not generally mentioned as an immediate market factor, but may have promoted some of the covering responsible for the late forenoon advance.

The week-end weather forecast was considered generally favorable, while the unsettled showing of the stock market probably encouraged some of the earlier selling. Brokers who sometimes operate for the cooperative interests were credited with selling near and buying distant months during the early trading, and spot houses were among the buyers on the late advance. Because of the lateness of the crop comparatively light ginning returns for the period prior to Aug. 16 are expected from the census bureau on Monday, but are not expected to create fresh sentiment as to the size of the crop. The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 30,000 bales against 43,000 last year.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 22. (AP)—There was considerable activity in the cotton market here today for a short Saturday session and prices showed a moderate upward trend. The stimulating influences were much better cables than due and is believed that the census ginning report due Monday will make a bullish showing. The close was steady with the general market showing net advances for the day of 15 to 17 points.

Liverpool cables came in 9 to 10 penny points better than due and private cables stated that shorts covered and the continent and bombay bought. Manchester cabled that the home trade in cloths was quiet and that the Shanghai auctions were unsatisfactory. The close was at or near the top showing a net gain for the day of 16 points and December a net gain of 17 points. Liverpool was due to come in about unchanged on Monday on New Orleans.

Port receipts 7,665; for season, 94,223; last season, 383,737. Exports, 90, for season, 188,268. Port stock, 2,728,611; last year, 1,748,244.

Boston Wool Market

BOSTON, Aug. 22. (AP)—A fair volume of sales of wools during the past week has been centered on the finer grades western grown wools in the original bag, owing to the availability for quick delivery. Prices on these lines were steady. Most on lower grades of both fleece and territory lines were characterized by hardening prices, due to restricted offerings of graded wools ready for immediate delivery. Buying ahead of current needs was noted to 364's but this movement was somewhat retarded by the rapidly advancing asking prices.

LISTLESS WEEK-END FINANCIAL MARKETS FEW SHARES HIGHER

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (AP)—The financial markets settled gradually in a listless week-end session today.

The selling flurry in stocks which appeared late Friday appeared to have spent itself, but there was a faint trickle which carried a few shares off a point or two, a few rails penetrating new minimum levels for the bear market. The bond market was fairly steady, but here too, a few more carrier obligations sank to new lows.

The price average of 90 representative shares showed a net loss of only 2-5 of a point, and the turnover in the stock exchange was only 423,650 shares, or less than half last Saturday's volume. The price average for 20 railroad shares eased with 1-10 of one point of the bear market bottom of June 2. Speculative quarters have been anxiously awaiting signs of support around this level for a new low in the rail average would be regarded as an unfavorable sign.

Corn was a soft spot in the commodities, declining about ¼ cent to new lows for the season. Wheat sagged only slightly, while cotton rallied in sympathy with Liverpool, closing .65 to 90 cents a bale higher.

Great Britain Faces Crisis

The news from London indicating an impending crisis for the MacDonald government may have been a somewhat unsettling factor in the stock market.

The petroleum industry continued to provide the bulk of the corporate and industrial news. Standard Oil of California confirmed reports that merger discussions with Standard of New Jersey had been resumed, and another rumor, on which there was no official comment, was that Texas Corporation and Skelley might combine. More companies announced crude oil and gasoline price advances. Oil stocks held about steady. Both Standards of California and New Jersey closed fractionally higher, and closed within a minor fraction of each quarter, as it is commonly felt that a merger would be effected through a share-for-share exchange of stock.

New York Central was a soft spot in the rails, in response to its midyear balance sheet, showing a reduction of about $12,000,000 in surplus, and indicating a need for new financing. The stock sold off nearly 2 points to a new low since 1921, then recovered slightly. Baltimore and Ohio, Southern Railway, Risco and Nickel Plate lost a point or two, but Chesapeake and Ohio and Union Pacific recovered about a point.

In the leading industrials, such issues as U. S. Steel American Can, and General Motors showed negligible changes. American Telephone closed up a minor fraction. Among a few issues losing a point or two were case, Coca-Cola, Eastman, Johns Manville, and Sears.

Bright Spots In Wire News

(By United Press)

NEW YORK.—Associated Gas Electric output rose 4 per cent in the week ended Aug. 15.

PITTSBURGH.—A 10 per cent increase in Pennsylvania crude oil production went into effect today.

NEW YORK.—New York Transit company today declared an extra dividend of 10 cents a share, similar to the payment in the previous quarter.

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Contracts were awarded today for construction of a city pumping plant to cost $1,400,000.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio.—Steel plant operations in the Mahoning valley will continue near the current 43 per cent level for another week, while numerous signs of improvement appear, it was reported here today.

WASHINGTON.—President Hoover believes the nation is hysterically fit for the winter campaign against distress.

DULL SESSION FOR CURB MARKET AND CHANGES NOMINAL

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (AP)—Total sales of only 110,000 shares on the curb exchange today measured the apathy of that market.

Not more than 15 issues could be classified as really active by any yardstick, and even among them the range between the high and low levels for the day was a fractional matter.

Consequently it was difficult to determine the trend of prices, although some of that small group closed with slight fractional gains, or recovered part of their early narrow losses.

The range in Cities Service and that of Electric Bond & Share amounted to one-half point. These fluctuations are typical rather than exceptional.

Utility issues recently favored oils were dull. Standard of Indiana, Solar Refining and Standard of Kentucky closed fractionally higher. Standard of Ohio was unchanged. No sales whatever were reported in several other oil stocks.

The Aluminum Company of America closed with a net loss of 1¾ points at 118¼ after being temporarily 1 point lower. Net losses of 1 point or more were scored by Cumberland Pipe Line, American Founders D preferred, Deere, Electric Power & Light optional warrants, Newark, California Electric and Parker Rust Proof.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF WICHITA FALLS TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 14

Superintendent H. D. Fillers Gives Answers to Many Questions Asked By Parents of Prospective Students

Monday, Sept. 14, will be the first day of the 1931-1932 school year, and lessons will continue until May 27, the last day of the semester.

At least 317 instructors have been assigned their duties and will be ready to begin work Sept. 14, when school bells will ring in Wichita Falls for the first time this fall to warn thousands of local students to hasten in from the campus or playground to classes and to study. Pupils will crowd the doorsteps of all the schoolhouses in the city, and without heeding the cunning eye of the school ma'am, they will renew their social activities within the classroom as well as without it.

In regard to the opening of the public schools here, H. D. Fillers, superintendent of the Wichita Falls public schools and president of the Junior college, has called attention to the requirements for admission to the various schools as a response to the many and varied questions asked him.

Among the policies, rules and regulations of the Wichita Falls public schools, as adopted by the board of education in August, 1931, are the following passages in regard to school ages, tuition and transfers, which apply to the elementary and high schools:

"All children who are 6 years of age on or before Sept. 1, or under 18, according to the scholastic census are entitled to free tuition in Wichita Falls public schools, provided their parents or guardians are bona fide residents of the Wichita Falls Independent School district.

"Children between the ages of 18 and 21 will be admitted without the payment of tuition.

When Tuition Payable

"Children who are 6 years of age between Sept. 1 and the beginning of the year shall be admitted by the payment of tuition at the rate of $2.50 per school month for the entire year.

"Pupils transferring to the city from any other school district shall be entitled to receive credit on their tuition for the amount of money so transferred to the credit of the Wichita Falls Independent School district. Such pupils shall pay tuition at the regular rate from the time of their entrance into the Wichita Falls schools.

"Transfers made for high school purposes will be accepted when properly certified by the county superintendent of school or by the president and secretary of the board of education of any independent school district."

The rules provide also that in case of failure to pay such transfer money on the part of the county administration or the independent school district, the Wichita Falls Independent School district reserves the right to collect such tuition from the transferred pupils.

Mr. Fillers urges all parents, guardians, or children to study the rules carefully so that unnecessary complications at the beginning of school may be averted. He asks the cooperation of the public in complying with all the regulations strictly.

Advance Inquiries Indicate Increase In Enrollment Wichita Falls Junior College for Session of 1931-1932

Registration in Wichita Falls Junior college Sept. 12-14 will bring an increased enrollment if advance requests for information furnish an accurate index, according to President H. D. Fillers. Although the number of bulletins of information printed this summer exceeded that of all previous issues, supplies have been practically exhausted by the early inquiries, he said, which have included prospects from neighboring cities and from Oklahoma as well as from Wichita Falls.

For the year 1931-1932 48 semester courses are to be offered in 17 branches of study. The course of study includes subjects designed to meet the standard freshman and sophomore programs for academic and for most professional curricula, all courses being full recognized by accrediting agencies of Texas and by leading colleges of the nation. Subjects to be offered in the long session are English, history, mathematics, chemistry, physics, clothing, education, psychology, engineering drawing, foods, French, Spanish, government, public speaking, stenography, typewriting, and zoology, with economics to be added in the summer session.

Extra-curricular activities are planned to bring out a variety of interests in the student body. These include among the subject clubs El Circulo Espanol, Le Cercle Francais, Speakers club, and the Euslideans; among the culture clubs the Blue Curtain Players, Writers club, and Girl Reserves; for citizenship training the Senate; for outdoor activities the Girls Hiking club, Boys' Outdoor club, and Tennis club; and in publications The Wai-Kun, or college annual, The Wichitan, a weekly newspaper, and Owakiya, a literary magazine.

Since the tuition cost is still slightly below the median for Texas junior colleges and since faculty and equipment rank well up with those of other like institutions, this increasing interest shown by the large number of early inquiries, according to officials, indicates a growing appreciation of the worth of the college to Wichita Falls and surrounding territory.

2 WAYS of Looking at it

"Give me the money instead"—often that's what the woman of twenty-five years ago said when her husband suggested paying out premiums for more Life Insurance for her benefit.

"Take all you can afford," says the modern woman. "Then you won't be worrying about me and the children."

ONE doesn't have to sell the idea of Life Insurance to the modern woman. She is well-versed in its far-reaching benefits. She urges her husband to put his Life Insurance in trust. With us as trustee, she will have no investment worries, and will enjoy the comfort of dependable income with extra funds for extra needs.

Which way does your wife look at this? How does the idea look to you? Wouldn't you like to have full particulars from our Trust Officer?
