Becky Petty is this week's winner in the RECORD's Jackpot Football Contest.

Mrs. Petty had a close call as she and Kathy Newby both missed six of the 24 games listed. Petty won on her tie-breaker guess of Dallas 28, Minnesota 18. Mrs. Newby predicted Dallas 20, Minnesota 17. The actual score was Dallas 37, Minnesota 24.

For her football knowledge Mrs. Petty earns $25.

Committee terms fair successful

The 1983 Mitchell County Fair, which was held last Thursday through Saturday, was termed another big success, according to co-chairpersons Ronnie Feaster and Ray Ritchey.

This year's fair had a turnout of about 2,500 people, Feaster said. Saturday was the biggest day of the fair, Ritchey said. The Second Annual Bake-Off, sponsored by the Colorado RECORD, brought out the crowds almost in record number.

"I thought we had good crowds every night," Feaster said. "We had a larger turnout than last year. I really thought it was a success."

"We were down in some departments this year, but some departments were double or triple from over last year. The Youth and Arts and Crafts departments were almost triple over last year."

Ritchey, who co-headed the activities for the first time this year, said it was a lot of hard work.

"I didn't think the entries would be as good as last year because of the weather," Ritchey said. "But it was pretty good."

Ritchey said it took the efforts of about 75 persons to get the fair running this year. He also said he wanted to thank the County Commissioners for the job they did in seeing that the trucks and supplies were at the barn in time.

Barber elected regional director

Mitchell County attorney Patrick Barber was elected Regional director of Region III at the annual Texas District and County Attorneys Association seminar in Fort Worth last weekend.

The directorship will also include a seat on the associations' board of directors. Region III includes 28 counties in West Central Texas.

Barber graduated from The University of Texas at Austin and received his law degree from Baylor University in Waco in 1976. He has been County attorney since 1976 in Mitchell County.

The changes made by the Texas Legislature in the criminal code during the last session have been more than anytime before, Barber said. The new criminal code was instituted in 1974. The new changes were the areas of major discussion during the seminar, Barber said.

One of the major law changes discussed was the totally revamped Driving While Intoxicated law (DWI). The old law and its provisions came under fire from groups such as Mothers Against Drunk Drivers.

One of the provisions of the new DWI law will require cities and towns with a population of 25,000 or over to purchase or have video taping equipment to record a person arrested for DWI, Barber said.

Counties like Travis County (Austin) and Lubbock County have already begun such a program.

Barber said he believes Mitchell County could benefit from using video taping equipment, although the county's population is under 25,000.

"I would like to ask the County Commissioners to purchase one," Barber said. "I would

Texans suffering from worst drought in years

Senator Lloyd Bentsen, noting that Texas ranchers are suffering through their worst drought in more than 30 years, introduced legislation September 27 that would require the Department of Agriculture to provide emergency feed assistance.

The Bentsen bill would eliminate the discretionary feature in current law which allows the Secretary of Agriculture to decide whether or not emergency feed assistance will be provided to drought-stricken ranchers. The secretary would retain discretion in determining what form the assistance would take.

The bill would also allow the Secretary of Agriculture to release stocks of feed owned by the Commodity Credit Corporation for livestock feed. At present these CCC-owned commodities can be released only through a presidential disaster declaration.

"The bill would also see to it that all farmers and ranchers suffering from a natural disaster could qualify for disaster assistance, whether or not their county has been declared a disaster area. Natural disasters do not follow county lines and there is no rational reason why disaster aid programs should be limited by these artificial constraints," Bentsen said.

"The CCC currently owns over 17 million bushels of corn that is classed as grade four or five and that is stored in or near the areas of Texas that are most in need of emergency livestock feed assistance."

"This corn, purchased in the Midwest following the Russian grain embargo and shipped to the Texas Panhandle for storage, now sits overhanging the local grain markets and costing taxpayers about $5 million a year to store."

"Although it is downgraded in the market and cannot be used for export or the Payment-in-Kind program it is still usable for livestock feed."

"The Department of Agriculture has sat on this problem too long."

The total turnout for this year's Bake-off was this year's Bake-Off were 204 entries.

According to Bake-Off chairman Sheila Plagens, this year's contest ran a lot smoother than the previous year.

The judging of items only took an hour and the judges were very capable.

After the announcement of the winners, an auction was held.

Bringing the most money was Holbert's toffee. The City National Bank Motor Bank paid a lofty sum of $125 for the grand prize entry.

A total of $1,134 was raised in the auction with proceeds going to the Mitchell County Day Care Center and the Chamber of Commerce.

like to see Mitchell County set one up. It would be beneficial for law enforcement.

"I intend to ask the County Commissioners to purchase a video tape equipment for our jail."

Barber added that the changes made in the DWI law were massive. The law was completely rewritten and made tougher. For instance, a prosecuting attorney may admit in court that the defendant refused to take a breath analyzer test. Under the old law this was not allowed.

"I think that the new law removes some of the abuse that occurred in the other counties," Barber said.

What Barber referred to as abuse was the deferred adjudication probation. The deferred adjudication probation has been eliminated completely.

The breath test provision has been toughened also. Under the new law if a person refuses to take a breath test, "they may automatically suspend their driver's license for 90 days."

"I approve of the legislation that allowed to tell the jury that a defendant refused to take a breath analyzer test," Barber said.

TSTA supports stronger course requirements for teachers

The Texas State Teachers Association wants to make it tougher to become a teacher by beefing up course requirements in Texas colleges of education and extending preparation for teaching to a five-year degree program.

TSTA President Dale Young told members of the Select Committee on Public Education, meeting in Austin this week, that many Texas universities offer instruction to prospective teachers which is not necessarily relevant to daily classroom teaching experiences.

The 95,000 member teachers' organization proposes that colleges of education revamp teacher education programs to improve academic training and provide more time for professional teaching preparation through a five-year study program with longer experiences in student teaching and internship.

The TSTA plan would place student teachers in school districts under the supervision of a master teacher for one year prior to certification. Student teachers would be salaried during the internship.

Other suggested course requirements would include more academic classes in the major and minor fields plus instruction in critical thinking, problem solving and creativity, human growth and development, learning theories, decision-making and communication skills.

In other testimony, a Brownwood principal, Don Martin, also speaking for TSTA, said he believed most Texas superintendents and coaches are ready to support higher academic standards for students and would be willing to tie stiffer minimum achievement levels to participation in extracurricular activities.

Speaking to the merit pay issue, James Butler, executive secretary-treasurer of TSTA, cautioned against hasty implementation of this type of compensation plan.

"TSTA will support a plan that is directed toward the goal of attracting and retaining excellent teachers," Butler said, "but we see no reason for optimism in any of the merit pay schemes currently being tried or proposed in Texas."

Butler said his organization was willing to discuss the possibility of using some kind of merit plan which would eliminate opportunities for abuse, favoritism, dissension and which would not be offered in lieu of competitive entry level salaries.

Other TSTA proposals called for improvements in teacher and administrator evaluations and in-service training, restoration of grade integrity and teacher authority, and stricter discipline policies statewide.

C.M.S. Spikers down Water Valley

Monday night the Wolves seventh and eighth grade volleyballers treated the Water Valley Wildcats very unfriendly.

Both Middle School teams trounced their opponents in fine form.

After losing the first match, the seventh grade rallied to win the game via the next two matches.

After falling 11-15 in the first match, the Pack jumped to a 3-0 lead in the second match, thanks to the service of Mary Reyes. The visitors rallied for seven consecutive points. Darla Gregory tied the game up at seven, behind some fine hits by Oria Gonzales.

Gonzales put the Pack ahead, and they would never trail the rest of the match. Sylvia Alvarez finished off the Wildcats with four points, as the Wolves took the match 15-11.

In the tie-breaker match with the Wolves trailing 4-3, Alvarez reeled off six low hard serves for points and the Pack had the lead 9-4.

Reyes added another point, and Amber Stephens hit forced side out for Water Valley. Reyes finally finished off the 'Cats as the Pack took the match and game 15-10.

The win raises their record to 4-3 for the season.

The eighth grade Wolves defeated their opponents 15-0, 9-15, 15-5 to gain their fourth win versus three losses.

The big gun for the Pack in the first match was Hilda Rodriguez who reeled off eight consecutive points as the Pack took a 9-0 bulge. Jennifer Monroe closed the door as she made the last four points.

In the third match, Marie Coronado served up the first three points, and the Pack never trailed. Mistry Strain scored two points, Rodriguez, three and the Pack lead was 8-1.

Yolanda Salazar finished off the Wildcats with the final point, to send Water Valley home winless.

Lowrey to perform at Kristi Lee Manor

Fred Lowrey, nationally acclaimed as the High and Mighty Whistler, will perform at the Kristi Lee Manor October 17 at 9:30 a.m.

At the age of two Lowrey was orphaned and because of an illness became almost totally blind. Despite these overwhelming odds, during adolescence he set out to make his mark as a pioneer in the art of whistling.

Fred graduated from high school into a job with Radio Station WFAA in Dallas, Texas. Three years later he set out for New York determined not to return to Texas until he had made a success.

There were rebuffs, but Fred was not to be downed. Before long he was whistling with the big name bands and symphony orchestras, network radio, theaters, night clubs, movies and later television.

His first national radio program was the Rudy Vallee Variety Hour.

He was brought to national prominence by the great showman, Horace Heidt. For eight years he remained with Horace Heidt and his Musical Knights during which time he recorded the famous "Indian Love Call" which sold over three million copies.

Slumping Pack faces test of character

A wise old coach once said that a team's character is sometimes measured on how well they can bounce back from adversity and setback.

In that case, the Wolves will find out just how much character they have Friday night when the Coahoma Bulldogs come to town in the district opener for both teams.

The Wolves are coming off disappointing losses to Abilene Wylie and Clyde, as both teams came from behind to down the Pack.

In the past two games, the Wolves have been outscored 45-0 in the second half and coach

Tom Ramsey is busy this week trying to figure out how to get his troops to play four full quarters.

The Bulldogs come into the contest sporting a 3-2 contest, and second year coach Larry Hudson seems to have the program turned around.

Last week the 'Dogs dropped a 26-14 contest to Denver City, whom the Wolves defeated earlier 14-12. The Bulldogs other loss came at the hands of a tough Kermit Yellowjacket squad by a count of 8-0. Last week Kermit was rated number 15 in the state. The Bulldogs have defeated Stanton 13-11, who the Pack defeated in a scrimmage, Big Lake 19-14 and Tahoka 37-0.

Ramsey compares Coahoma to Clyde, big and strong. Hudson agrees that his squad of 14 returning lettermen, including six starters each on offense and defense are powerful, with the strength lying on the offense and defensive lines.

"We have three returning linemen that are back, and they are big and strong. They have good leg strength and they are more mature," said Hudson.

The three men keying the Bulldogs Wing-T for mation are all-district center James Sanders, 220, all district tackle Jeff Dever 245, and tackle Shawn Justiss 205. These three along with David Gross and Ricky DeLaCruz give the Bulldogs a solid 215 across the line.

And a team with a powerful line should have a powerful runner, and the 'Dogs have just the player in fullback Richard Seals, a 5-11, 185 pound bruiser.

The Bulldogs seldom throw, but when they do they like to go to split end Jimmy Carruthers who has garnered in eight passes.

Linebacker DeLaCruz and tackle Sanders lead the Bulldogs' 52 defense. Hudson calls DeLaCruz a leader who plays excellent technique. "Ricky is one of the more mature players on the team who gives 100 percent all the time," Hudson said. The senior linebacker has been averaging 15 tackles per game.

The Bulldogs feel that their secondary will face a stern test against the Wolves passing game. "We must control the line of scrimmage so we can keep the ball out of their hands. They can score from anywhere on the field," said Hudson.

The Wolf Pack will be trying to get back on their feet after losing two consecutive games in which they have led in the early going.

Against Clyde, it seemed that the Pack was physically whipped, especially in the "trenches" as indicated by the Clyde quarterback gaining over 90 yards on quarterback sneaks.

But Ramsey credited mistakes to leading to the Wolves downfall. "Before viewing the films I thought we were just whipped, but after watching it we made a lot of mental mistakes. Take away those mistakes and we could have beaten Clyde just as bad as they beat us," Ramsey said.

The Clyde contest was the poorest offensive output for the Wolves this year. The Pack barely gained over 100 yards on the ground, and had a mere 61 through the air. "I have been real disappointed in our rushing game. We have worked and worked on it, but it just hasn't been there," Ramsey said.

Ramsey is preparing his troops for the "power game" the Bulldogs will unleash on them. "They are the biggest front line we have played so far. Seals is a good running back and we have to stop him and force them to pass," Ramsey said.

Then there is the fact that Coahoma and Colorado City have been rivals for a number of years, and this year is no different. "It is a good friendly rivalry. The kids like playing against Colorado City," said Hudson.

"If you can't get up for Coahoma, you can't get up for anybody," said Ramsey. And if the Pack does, then maybe they will prove to the Bulldogs and all those who doubt, just how much character C-City has.

C-City drops in Harris Poll

The Clyde Bulldogs were not kind at all to the Colorado City Wolves last Friday night.

The Harris Rating System was even less kind Tuesday morning.

The Wolves, who fell to the Bulldogs 38-14 after taking an early 14-point lead, fell to 94th place in the Harris Poll. The Pack was at 66th place before playing Clyde.

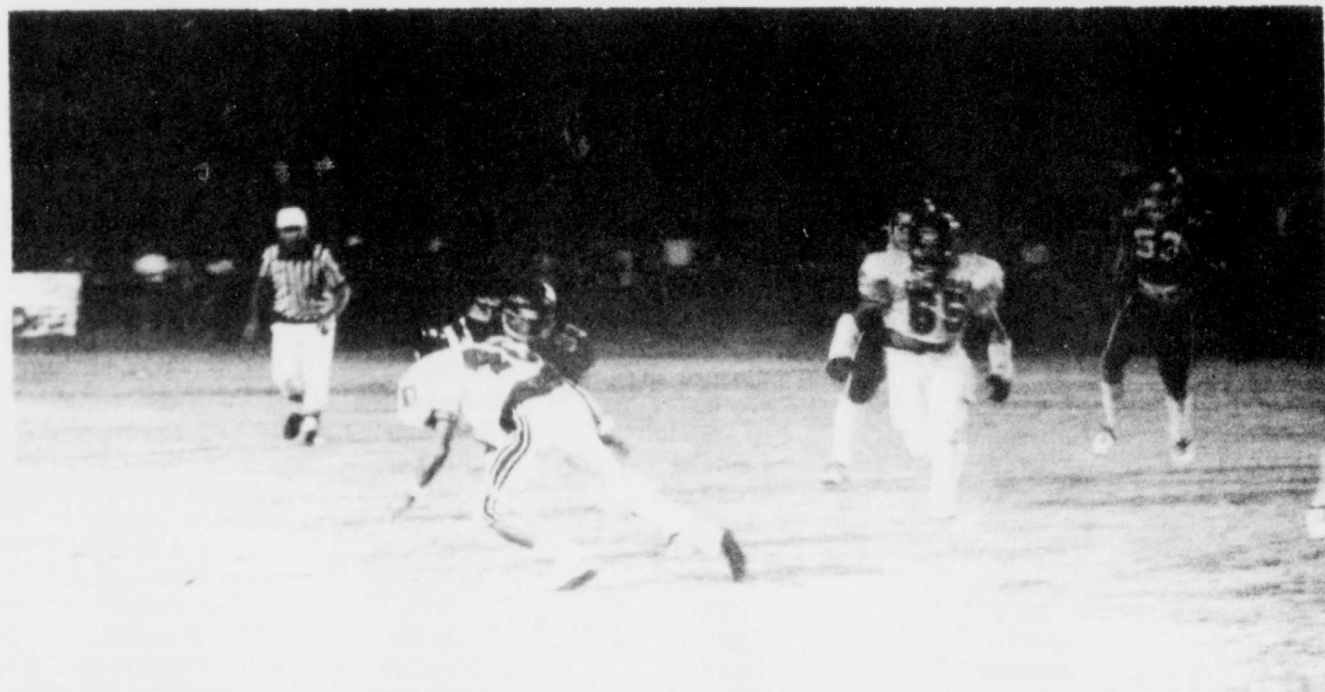

The slumping Wolves got off to a lightning start, winning their first three games. However, the bottom fell out and the bubble burst. The Wolves soon plummeted and lost to Abilene Wylie 28-18 for their first loss. The Pack has been the victim of misfortune and tragedy the past two weeks. Head coach Tom Ramsey is hoping his team can bounce back when they open district play against Coahoma Friday night.

The Wolves are a seven-point favorite over the Bulldogs, who are rated 105th according to Harris.

While the Wolves are on the downside, the Loraine Bulldogs were winning their first game of the season in Abilene. The Bulldogs upended ACHS 28-12.

Loraine will host Roscoe Friday night.

HEAD ON-Wolves cornerback Joey Ritchey comes up to hit Clyde running back Ismel Carrion last Friday night. Hustling to aid Ritchey is defensive end Fred Pineda. The Pack will test Coahoma Friday night at Wolf Stadium.

Government program working to provide farmers with help

The government farm program is working as it was intended to work—providing help to the farmer when he needs it.

That was the view expressed by Lloyd E. Cline, a Lamesa, Texas, cotton producer and National Cotton Council vice president, at a meeting this week of the Cotton Board.

Cline said that without question farm program costs have increased.

"But in all fairness," he added, "those outlays should be measured over a period of years and not just on the special conditions of the past two seasons."

He explained that government expenditures for cotton programs, as now constituted, averaged only about $266 million annually over the past ten years.

Reviewing the history of cotton programs since passage of the 1973 farm act, Cline explained there were no deficiency payments for cotton for the first seven years. They were triggered for the first time in 1981 by a record yield coming onto the market in the deepest worldwide recession since the 1930's.

Cline stated that when people talk about $22-23 billion in farm payment outlays they generally include all price support loans in the bottom line.

"What they fail to mention is that most of these loans are repaid with both interest and storage charges," he said, adding that some $7 billion of the so-called cost is repaid.

"It is important to remember that supply and demand are being brought into better balance," Cline told the group. "We are beginning to see some price recovery and the cost of deficiency payments is going down."

Loraine to face number 12 Roscoe

There is joy in Bulldog land, the drought is over for Loraine and spirits are high.

The reason? The Bulldogs won their first game of the season last week as they trounced Abilene Christian High School by a score of 28-12 thus ending a 13 game losing streak which dated back to the second game last season.

But Bulldog coach B. D. Trice and his band of merry men have little time to rejoice as the Roscoe Plowboys come to town in the district opener for both squads.

The Plowboys, under the direction of Troy Kennedy lost in the state finals to Union Hill last season, and are currently ranked 12th in the state while sporting a 4-1 record.

The Plowboys lost their first game of the season to class AA power Rotan 20-6, but has gone on to rack up wins over Jim Ned, Hawley, Bangs and Spur outscoring their opponents 93-0.

Kennedy returns five offensive and six defensive starters from the state finalist team, and says that now his troops are finally starting to roll. "We are improving week by week, and that is what you want," Kennedy said.

Offensively, the Plowboys have two starters returning in the backfield with sophomore quarterback Matt Demond, 5-7, 150 and running back Rudy Guzman, 5-7, 145. Russell Graham is the other back in the Veer attack. Guzman has gained 400 yards on 90 carries, while Demond has 225 yards on 72 attempts while Graham has 250 yards on 60 carries. "We run the option pretty well, so our rushing attack is pretty balanced," said Kennedy. "Guzman is our best running back, and Demond has improved tremendously. His arm is stronger, and his speed is better."

When the Plowboys do throw, split end Russell Cravy is usually on the receiving end. He has 12 catches for 155 yards. Tight end Darren Kite, 6-2, 215 is also a reliable receiver.

The Plowboys have a big strong offensive line which averages close to 200 pounds. The two main men are Nathan Richburg, a 6-3, 250 pound tackle and Ruben Herrera, a 5-9, 170 guard.

Defensively, the Plowboys have been devastating in their last four games. Richburg at tackle and Herrera at line-backer key the charge. The front four of the split four defense averages 220 pounds per man.

"We have been controlling the line of scrimmage. We are aggressive and play good techniques," said Kennedy. "Loraine might give us fits with our three deep secondary and the way they throw the ball, we will have to get our pass rush working."

In Loraine's victory over ACHS, Trice was pleased with the play of his offensive and defensive lines. "We got after them and played a little aggressive," Trice said.

The "mad bomber" James Griffin had a super game for his first start at the quarterback position. The 6-2, 205 senior completed 13 of 25 passes for 173 yards and one touchdown. He also rushed for 90 yards and two touchdowns.

The Bulldogs' 334 yards total offense was the highest output this season. Split end Martin Leija caught five passes for 112 yards including a 45 yard touchdown pass and tackle turned tight end John McAdams caught three passes.

Ruben Garcia gained

50 yards rushing including a short touchdown run. Trice said he was also pleased with the line play of freshman Ricky Bailey. Garcia also held ACHS's leading receiver in check all night.

Trice knows a win over ACHS does not prove that they can play the Plowboys on even terms. "Roscoe is a big, strong team. They are by far the best team we have played this year. We are going out there and try to play with them," Trice said.

Kennedy says he has cautioned his team not too look ahead and forget about the Bulldogs, "because if they do, they will give us problems," he said.

And who knows? The Bulldogs might start a different type streak they are not used to winning.

Save energy with a heat pump.

If you're planning to install a new heating or cooling system, consider a high-efficiency heat pump. It's an energy-saving, year-round alternative.

The heat pump provides year-round heating and cooling, using only electricity. During the winter, it extracts heat from the outside air (even very cold air contains heat) and brings that heat inside where it's needed. In the summer, the heat pump is a regular air conditioner, removing unwanted heat from the inside air.

The heat pump is the most efficient combination heating and cooling system that can be installed in your home today.

To learn more about the heat pump, call your air conditioning contractor. And when you call, ask about the year-round heat pump that qualifies for a bonus check from Texas Electric.

Meskimen retires from Lubbock Piano Guild

The world of Cecile C. Meskimen has been filled with the beautiful sounds of music.

The Colorado City native's life has revolved around music for the past 76 years. Her formal education began at the tender age of 10 when she studied piano for two months.

Mrs. Meskimen, who now lives in Lubbock, retired as Lubbock Piano Guild chairperson earlier this year. She has served as the chairperson for 38 years.

She was also featured in the May issue of the Piano Guild Notes Magazine which is published in Austin.

At 14, she entered the Academy of Simmons College in Abilene, where her real formal piano study began. She later received a B.A. degree from Simmons College in 1917.

Mrs. Meskimen was dean of fine arts and piano instructor at Montezuma Baptist College in Las Vegas, NM, from 1927-1928; piano instructor at Texas Tech University from 1941 to 1948; and an independent piano and theory teacher in Colorado City and Abilene, and for the last 35 years in Lubbock.

An active member of the Lubbock Music Teachers Association, the Texas MTA, and National MTA, she is a nationally certified teacher and faculty member of the National Guild Auditions. She served as director of the TMTA executive board for four years; chairman of the TMTA Convention in Lubbock in 1958; co-chairman of the TMTA Convention in Lubbock in 1972; and president of the LMTA for two terms. She was given permission by the LMTA to start an Annual Hymn Festival in 1976; this year 290 pupils played.

Cecile Meskimen has served as certification chairman of the LMTA since 1974. This year LMTA ranked fourth in the number of nationally certified teachers in Texas.

She authored a manual for piano "Class

Teaching" in combination with private lessons, with a "Materials Guide;" and compiled an article, "Teaching Hymn Playing," published in Texas Music Teacher in 1977. She was an active judge for Guild Auditions for many years, judging in California, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

Many of her former students have music degrees, have won scholarships, and are pursuing careers in universities as teachers. Others are independent music teachers and church musicians.

Mrs. Meskimen is listed in Who's Who of American Women and "Music and Dance of the Southwest." She was named Teacher of the Year of the LMTA in 1966 and Texas Music Teacher of the Year by TMTA in 1979.

CAF members discuss embargo

By CHARLES STENHOLM Will Rogers once described Prohibition as an idea that "sounds good, but it won't work." The same description fits any proposal for a unilateral grain embargo in response to the recent attack on a Korean Air Lines jetliner by the Soviet Union.

That was the message that the bipartisan Congressional Agricultural Forum (CAF), which Congressman Pat Roberts (D-Kan.) and I organized last spring, took to members of the Washington press corps during a news conference in Capitol Hill this past week.

This was the first public action taken by the CAF, which now includes 35 members of the House of Representatives, although we have been meeting from time to time for discussions on issues for the 1985 Farm Bill. As a group, the CAF members do not always agree on every issue that affects agriculture, but we have found that our disagreements on some specifics do not prevent us from agreement on other issues.

The embargo issue is one that the CAF membership solidly agreed upon, with 23 representatives joining in to counter embargo rhetoric often heard on Capitol Hill and most recently triggered by the downing of Flight 007 by the Soviets. While most in the 17th District of Texas might immediately understand that such actions are the diplomatic equivalent of shooting the American farmer in the foot, many in less agriculturally-oriented areas of the country see such actions as a quick-fix to a delicate situation that no one argues deserves a resolute and firm reactor by our country.

In the wake of the outrage, a strong defense against Soviet aggression is more necessary than ever. There are clearly circumstances in which trade sanctions should be imposed. But in the current debate, those who have called for a grain sales cutoff seem to have done so because they really couldn't think of much else to suggest. This is not a sound reason to impose an embargo. We have to ask ourselves not simply whether an embargo is an option open to us, but also what would be the likely consequences of exercising that option unilaterally.

If all nations that sell grain to the Russians agreed to join in a sales cutoff, and if they abided by that agreement, and if agriculture was not singled out, but was part of an across-the-board trade embargo—then this approach would hold some promise. Unfortunately, that's a great many "ifs," and recent history teaches us that unilateral embargoes hurt Americans more than Russians.

How quickly we forget the lessons of the last few years! The 1980 Soviet grain embargo is estimated to have cost this nation $11.4 billion in overall output and 310,000 jobs. More than nine months passed before prices for wheat, corn and soybeans returned to pre-embargo levels. Price supports triggered by post-embargo conditions cost the U.S. taxpayer more than $2 billion. Again, in 1982, the pipeline sanctions proved ineffective and idled American workers while severely straining the Western alliance.

In the past, we have put the cart of trade embargoes before the horse of Western unity. This has been our basic mistake. We must build up the cohesion and will of the non-Communist nations, including our own. As their ultimate defender, the U.S. must also be these nations' moral leader. But we do not fulfill that role by trade cutoffs in the absence of any discernible consensus whatever.

Let us rededicate ourselves to a strong defense in the wake of the Soviets' brutal act. And let us rededicate ourselves also to a real and measurable strengthening of the Western alliance—not in force of arms only, but in force of will. But let us be ever mindful that an action against an enemy should be more than a noble gesture: It should have some promise of having an effect. Experience teaches us that a unilateral grain embargo would not meet this test.
