Germany Not Far Away From Entry Into Alliance

Army Quizzes Freed Captives Of Red Army

WAIDHAUS, Germany, Oct. 2 (AP)—Two American soldiers sporting Czech-style military haircuts as souvenirs of two weeks' imprisonment in Communist Czechoslovakia as spy suspects were set free at this West German border point today.

U.S. intelligence agents hustled them to nearby Weiden, where they were questioned tonight on their experiences in Red captivity.

Two grim-faced Czech army officers accompanied 1st Lt. Richard H. Dries of St. Albans, Long Island, N.Y., and Pfc. George Pisk of Austin, Tex., to the spot where U.S. military agents met them.

The Army said Dries and Pisk will tell their story at a news conference at Nuernberg Monday. They were not permitted to talk to newsmen today.

They were driven to the border in two limousines. Both were spruced up for their release with haircuts clipped close to the side of the head—the traditional Czech army style.

Czech border guards had nabbed them Sept. 17 near Eslarn. The Czechs sent a note to the United States accusing them of being on an espionage mission. The United States said it wasn't so, that they were on a routine border mission.

Both men appeared tired and nervous when they were returned.

Dries was still in the gray tweed suit he wore when he and Pisk were picked up. The Army explained he was wearing civilian clothes because he is an interrogation officer who interviews civilians along the west side of the border. Both Dries and Pisk had the binoculars they had when the Czech patrol arrested them.

Bavarian border police here told reporters the Americans were supposed to have been released last Sunday but their return then was cancelled after a U.S. 7th Army platoon arrived at the crossing point "armed and in combat dress."

"The soldiers drove up in jeeps and took combat positions," one Bavarian frontier officer said. "We were afraid war was going to break out. Then after two hours the American soldiers left."

He said he was told of the cancelled plan by U.S. Army officers.

Two U.S. soldiers armed with carbines were on hand today.

Adlai Says US Slipping Backward

DETROIT, Oct. 2 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said tonight that "the lesson we must now learn is that stablization of the economy is not good enough."

Stevenson, in a speech prepared for delivery at a Democratic rally here, criticized what he called "creeping GOP normalcy." He described this as "a 'normal' underemployment of our resources and a transfer of our resources and concern from the many to the few."

And the 1952 Democratic nominee for President said that "the most disturbing aspect of the GOP economic record in these past months is not just that we have slipped backwards, but . . . failure to show genuine, human concern for it."

Citing what he said were government statistics to show national income off three per cent, one out of every 20 in the labor force jobless, the cost of living at an all-time peak, and the gap between farmer income and outgo widening, Stevenson said:

"The big economic problem ahead for the United States is to arrest the drift and assure the steady growth of our economy . . .

"America must grow. There are 7,000 more Americans today than there were yesterday. The American economy must provide 1,600 new jobs every day. And it is a responsibility of government to make sure that its policies and actions encourage growth.

"These are not just fine words dreamed up for a campaign speech. The Employment Act of 1946 makes it a responsibility of the government to keep the economy operating at 'maximum employment, production, and purchasing power.' It is one of the laws of the land which the President and his Cabinet swore to uphold . . .

East Europe Suffers From Lack Of Food

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—U.S. officials reported today that all Eastern Europe is suffering from a severe food shortage due in part to bad weather but primarily to Communist attempts to force farming into a political straitjacket.

The food deficit has been growing several years and the situation has now become so bad that Communist leaders and the Red press can no longer ignore it. In fact, the U.S. Information Agency came up with evidence tonight that they are talking about it throughout the satellite area.

Supplementing the USIA report, officials said that the problems reflected in calls by the Communist leadership for greater production, fulfillment of assigned quotas and the like seemed to stem basically from three causes:

1. Political control of the farmers. This includes forcing them into collective farms, constantly interfering with their operations, and seizing their produce at harvest time for government purposes.

2. Herding people out of the rural regions into industrial areas, a process of converting peasants into workers in order to step up factory output. In the satellite countries this is part of the process of industrialization which goes on also in the Soviet Union. In the satellite countries it is not a question of local needs or goals, but one of production demands from Moscow.

3. Weather conditions have been bad for the last three years, with much drought adding to political harassment of the farmers.

Child With Long Record Is Problem

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 2 (AP)—What to do about a 12-year-old boy with a 4-year crime record topped by yesterday's gun spree against 15 policemen had his elders puzzled today.

Right now the blond youngster, Travis Wisenberg, is in a ward at the El Paso County Jail. His fierce truculence of yesterday, when he shouted, "I hate cops," had given way to sullenness and self-pity. He read comic books, saying he likes the weird ones.

No one was wounded during the 90 minutes the boy poured shots from a revolver and automatic pistol from his hiding place atop a brushy hill in Manitour Springs, a mineral springs resort west of here. The shooting started when he tried to steal a pickup truck.

The police hemming the hillside fired only a few times under explicit instructions not to come close to the boy. And Travis insisted today he hadn't tried to hit any of the officers.

"Why, out on the ranch I could put 9 shots out of 10 through the bullseye with a .22 pistol at 100 yards," he said. "I could have come a lot closer to you guys."

Police Chief Earl Sullivan of Manitour Springs said the boy has been a problem since he was 8, accused of armed robbery, arson, burglary and automobile theft. He was released from the State Industrial School last June.

County Judge Charles J. Simon said the boy is not insane, but tests at the Colorado Psychopathic Hospital last year showed he had suffered brain damage earlier in life which caused aggressive, criminal acts.

Defense Is Economy, Sec. Humphrey Says

TULSA, Oct. 2 (AP)—A healthy and vital economy is America's first line of defense, Treasury Secretary George Humphrey told Oklahoma Republican bigwigs and party faithful tonight at a fund raising dinner.

The Cabinet member said in a speech prepared for the $100-per-plate dinner "a sick American economy would fulfill the Communist dream of conquest just as surely as victory on the battlefield."

Charging that the Democratic administration deliberately planned and practiced inflation, the Ohioan told his audience of about 500 the Eisenhower administration has in its 20 months in office created the most "relatively stable period in years."

BACK TO SCHOOL

A happy crowd of students at the combined elementary and high school in Milford, Del., waves and cheers as they prepare to return to classes after the school board dropped 11 Negro students from school rolls. Most of the white students who had been kept from school during the segregation dispute returned.

French Getting To Bottom Of Mystery In Defense Secrets

PARIS, Oct. 2 (AP)—A Communist journalist arrested in flight, a top-ranking civil servant charged with endangering France's security, a former premier as a surprise witness and a mysterious young woman summoned for questioning — those were today's developments in France's sensational defense secrets case.

Security agents appeared to be moving rapidly toward a complete explanation of how top secret information from the nation's highest military planning body was leaked and wound up in the Communist party's top command. But why and specifically to whom were questions not yet fully answered officially.

Andre Baranes, Communist newspaperman and police informer who had disappeared after his interrogation by counterespionage agents Sept. 21, was arrested at a monastery in east central France, reportedly in flight toward the Swiss frontier.

Jean Mons, top official in the French national defense organization, faced a military examining magistrate to explain how two of his most trusted aides—now under arrest—were extreme leftist sympathizers who leaked official secrets to outsiders. Mons, under job suspension, was charged formally today with endangering the security of the state but was not jailed.

Paul Reynaud, wartime premier of France and prominent elder statesman, made a surprise appearance to give evidence to the magistrate.

The mysterious young woman, who was not identified, also went before Maj. Jean de Resseguier, the investigator.

The case broke two weeks ago when an anti-Communist police inspector Jean Dides was searched by counterintelligence officers and found to have in his possession a report of a meeting of the National Defense Council. He claimed to have obtained the paper from Baranes, the informer. Because Dides was not entitled to have it, he was suspended.

Baranes is believed to have received reports of the top secret defense meetings through two aides of Mons, who is permanent secretary general for national defense. Although Baranes passed some of them to Dides, his exact role is still not clear. It is suspected he may have acted as double agent, passing information to the French Communist party, too.

France, West Allies Settling Disputes

LONDON, Sunday, Oct. 3 (AP)—The nine-power conference announced settlement of all major disputes and arranged for a wind-up session later today to sign historic agreements bringing West Germany into the Atlantic pact as an armed sovereign nation.

This comes as the climax of 72 hours of almost ceaseless diplomatic effort entailing concessions by both fearful France and ambitious West Germany.

The conference now has advanced through its crisis to within a penstroke of final success.

"I do not anticipate any last minute hitch," a British Foreign Office spokesman said, echoing the optimism of other delegates.

The nine foreign ministers arranged to meet again on Oct. 21 in Paris to confirm the details which experts will work out after the signing of agreements today.

A mass of complicated legal and technical detail remains to be handled by these experts.

The Big Four — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer — will meet in Paris perhaps the day before the nine-power conference to approve similar details on restoration of German independence.

The Council of Ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will hold a special meeting in Paris on Oct. 26 to formally admit West Germany as its 15th member.

The ministers worked late in a night session Saturday and recessed shortly before midnight.

American and British sources said an expert's report on the key hurdle — how to prevent any runaway German rearmament such as France feared — was not approved at the night session only because it still had to be translated into official languages, English, French and German.

Translators worked through the night to get the documents in shape for formal signing at 2 p.m. (9 a.m. EST).

Dulles and most other foreign ministers arranged to leave London for their home capitals late this afternoon.

With an agreement in hand, Mendes-France, running a high temperature from influenza, left the French Embassy residence. A doctor said he was very uncomfortable but not seriously ill.

The other delegates left Lancaster House, scene of the dramatic conference, just before midnight looking tired but elated.

"Everything went admirably, admirably," said Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak.

Diplomats said the final agreement could be credited to no single statesman. Rather, they said, it was patched up from many propositions submitted by nearly every foreign minister.

But Adenauer told newsmen the settlement was based on a proposal by Spaak, modified by experts which combined the rival methods of controlling German rearmament — by NATO and a new seven-nation Brussels Alliance which will be a part of NATO.

Apparently, too, Dulles' proposals played a significant part when a last-minute hitch developed over Mendes-France's big worry that West Germany would build up a giant arsenal between the end of the occupation early next year and the formation of the complicated seven-nation control agency.

Dulles was said to have stepped in with the idea West Germany be bound not to produce any items on an agreed list of weapons for two years after the Allied occupation ends.

That list includes all the big stuff—A-B-C (atomic, bacteriological, chemical), guided missiles, rockets, tanks, bombers, submarines and big naval ships.

Top Educator To Speak At Meeting Here

Dr. A. J. Stoddard, who recently retired as superintendent of Los Angeles schools, will be main speaker here tomorrow night at the fall meeting of the Oil Belt Schoolmasters and School Board Association.

The group will meet at the high school cafeteria at 7 o'clock tomorrow night. A part of the business will be election of new officers. Now president of the association is Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, superintendent of schools here. Morgan Jones, member of the Abilene school board, is chairman of the school board section of the group. Paul Keaton of the Snyder board is a member of the state executive committee of the state organization.

Dr. Stoddard, who also was formerly superintendent of Philadelphia schools, once served as president of the American Association of School Administrators. During his time here tomorrow, he and a committee made up of Nat Williams of Lubbock, Dr. W. M. Madley of Midland, and W. C. Blankenship of Big Spring, all school superintendents, will review materials and policies of the schools here, meet with the staff, board, and with the faculty at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in the high school cafeteria, and tour the school plant. This is a routine tour, Yarbrough said, adding that it does not concern the school's present problem of lack of enough facilities.

Bob Clinton will have charge of music during the night meeting. Yarbrough said the public is invited to the faculty meeting and the night dinner-meeting. Those interested in the night meeting, he said, should call A. T. Nicholas, school business administrator, to make reservations.

WEATHER

NORTH CENTRAL and WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy Sunday and Monday with widely scattered thundershowers: not much change in temperature.

EAST TEXAS: Partly cloudy; scattered thundershowers near the coast Sunday afternoon; Monday, occasional showers in south and partly cloudy with scattered thundershowers in north portion; not so warm south portion Monday; increasing east and southeast winds on coast, becoming strong with occasional squalls Sunday night and Monday.

SOUTH CENTRAL TEXAS: Partly cloudy, scattered thundershowers near coast late Sunday; Monday, partly cloudy, scattered showers, mostly in northeast portion; no important temperature changes; moderate easterly winds on coast, becoming locally strong with occasional squalls Monday.

State Fair Sets Opening

DALLAS, Oct. 2 (AP)—The 1954 State Fair of Texas, the largest annual exposition in all the land, opens here next Saturday for 16 days.

As usual, the 1954 fair will be devoted almost exclusively to upholding the Texas reputation for doing things bigger and better than anybody else and having the best possible time doing it. A total attendance of at least 2,400,000 is expected to top last year's 2,382,712.

That's about twice as many people as any other fair in the nation draws.

The fair will open with the Texas-Oklahoma football game.

Kickoff for the game will come at 2 p.m., a few hours after Gov. Allan Shivers ships silken ribbon with a pair of golden shears to officially open the fair.

Topping the entertainment program is a Broadway hit musical, "The King and I," with Yul Brynner and Patricia Morison of the New York cast.

The current version of "Ice Cycles," a perennial fair favorite, will be a feature.

There will be more than one thousand individual judging events in the livestock and poultry shows.

There will be hundreds of exhibits, including homes, autos, machinery, and scores of various kinds of shows.

Lake Thomas' First Drowning Reported

Bruce Woodson, about 50, Snyder mechanic, was reported last night to have become Lake J. B. Thomas' first drowning victim.

Word of the incident reached Snyder about 9:45 o'clock last night, when a general fire alarm was sounded to summon volunteers to search for Woodson's body. About a dozen firemen left here soon afterward with fire trucks equipped with searchlights and two-way radios.

A squad car from the sheriff's department had arrived at the lake shore soon after the incident was reported, and reports from E. E. (Buddy) Norris, deputy handling this unit, were that the body had not been found shortly before midnight.

Sid Reeder, sheriff of Borden County, summoned help at Gail and joined the search. A boat equipped with lights and two-way radio and belonging to the Big Spring fire department was sent to the lake soon after the accident was reported. Snyder's equipment included a new lake-dragging device with 1,800 feet of rope, 1,200 feet of which were already reeled for emergency use. A boat was taken by Harold Denson, a volunteer fireman, to the lake.

Location of the accident was believed to have been near the west end of the lake, near the Borden-Scurry County line. This area is due north of Vincent.

E. H. (Ab) Williamson, owner of Williamson & Sons Motor Co., of which Woodson was an employe, said Woodson worked until noon yesterday and took the afternoon off with plans to go fishing.

Survivors include a brother, J. E. (Ennis) Woodson, who lives four and a half miles west of here on the Lamesa highway; two sisters, one of whom is Mrs. J. H. Kimmel; a wife and two daughters, and his mother, who was said to live in another city with his other sister.

Woodson had lived in Snyder many years.

Jimmy Shaver Gets Death

BRADY, Tex., Oct. 2 (AP)—Airman Jimmy Shaver of San Antonio today was convicted of murder with malice in the rape and slaying of 3-year-old Chere Jo Horton and sentenced to death.

Shaver didn't bat an eye when the jury returned with the verdict after deliberating since 6 p.m. last night.

Attorneys for the airman said they would appeal. They had pleaded Shaver was insane.

The little girl disappeared from a San Antonio tavern the night of July 3. She had been taken to the tavern by her parents, who were visiting the owner.

The body of the child was found the next day in a gravel pit.

Turns Down B&PW Talk

PASADENA, Tex., Oct. 2 (AP)—The Pasadena School Board last night turned down a request that a school auditorium be made available for a speech by the president of the Port Arthur Business and Professional Women's Club.

Supt. V. W. Miller said he had been told the talk by Mrs. Artie Cook would be anti-labor.

Mrs. Opal White, president of the Pasadena Business and Professional Womens' Club, denied that the speech would be anti-labor. She said permission for use of the auditorium had been granted by Miller Sept. 3.

"We gave him full details that it was an anti-Communist meeting, not an anti-labor meeting," she said. "It is difficult to understand his actions."

Mrs. White said an appeal would be made to Mayor Clyde Gary for use of a municipal building.

High Court To Face Segregation Issue

By PAUL W. YOST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Supreme Court opens a new term Monday, faced with the problem of finding a way to put into effect its decision against racial segregation in public schools.

Chief Justice Warren and his eight associate justices, back from summer vacations, will be confronted with a docket of about 400 cases. But the No. 1 issue will be how to accomplish desegregation.

In an unusual pre-term conference the court reached unanimous agreement that the week of Dec. 6 be set aside for hearing further arguments and reports on the school racial question. This was the earliest time available on the court's argument schedule.

Both sides in segregation cases from Virginia, South Carolina, Kansas, Delaware and The District of Columbia will have one hour each to present followup arguments for and against the court's unanimous decision last May 17 that their school segregation practices are unconstitutional.

In addition, North Carolina, Arkansas, Texas, Florida, Maryland, Tennessee and Oklahoma have permission to present arguments if they wish, and Atty. Gen. Brownell is expected to argue for an hour. This adds up to a possible 18 hours, or more than four afternoons of legal debate.

The Topeka, Kan., Board of Education—defendant in the Kansas case—has informed the high tribunal there is no need for further court action in its situation because desegregation is advancing "as rapidly as is practicable." Segregation in Topeka schools will be terminated by September, 1955 "with full public cooperation and acceptance by white and Negro pupils, teachers and parents," the board said.

Desegregation also is advancing rapidly in District of Columbia schools. In Delaware, strong opposition to integration has developed. Virginia and South Carolina appear to be standing firm in their opposition to mixing Negroes and whites in schools.

All these states and the District of Columbia have until Nov. 15 to file briefs, preliminary to the December arguments.

Fixing of the Dec. 6 date provided an interesting coincidence, since it meant that the court for the third December in three straight years is giving its longest argument sessions to the segregation problem.

In December 1952—during the regime of the late Chief Justice Vinson—the court heard arguments on the constitutional issue itself. It was unable to reach a decision then. In December 1953—in the first year of Chief Justice Warren's tenure—the court heard more arguments dealing with the intent of the framers and ratifiers of the Constitution's 14th Amendment.

In the further arguments next December, the court wants lawyers to discuss whether segregation should be ordered abolished "forthwith" or by a gradual transition.

It also wants to hear discussion on whether the five cases on which it ruled last May should be sent back to federal district courts, with instructions to formulate orders for the most equitable method of carrying out the end of segregation locally.

The high court's final ruling and method and timing of desegregation could come some time early in the new year. But some lawyers believe the justices will take time to discuss the situation thoroughly during their conferences, so that the decision may not be handed down until about the close of the present school term.

Two new appeals in racial cases filed during the summer ask the court to strike down on Alabama law banning marriage of Negroes and whites, and to abolish a requirement that Negro lawyers and litigants sit at a special table in the Harris County, Tex. Law Library.

Another new appeal asks the high tribunal to overturn a decision by the New Jersey Supreme Court that free Bibles may not be distributed to children in the state's public schools.

Mitchell Assails GOP On Red - In - Goverment Issue

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The heads of the two national political committees tonight stepped up their war of words over the Communists-in-government issue.

Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell demanded that Vice President Nixon name "the Communists who have been kicked out" of the government or else repudiate statements he has made and apologize to the public.

Republican Chairman Leonard W. Hall replied with a statement saying he suspected Mitchell "is attempting to minimize the previous administration's disgraceful inattention to internal security—and is afraid of what the new record may disclose."

"By his sniping at the Eisenhower security program" Hall said, "Mr. Mitchell has again emphasied communism as an issue in this campaign."

Mitchell, in another of a series of Democratic attacks on a speech made by Nixon Sept. 18 said:

"The facts are as follows:

"On Sept. 18, the vice president said in Huron, S.D., that the Eisenhower administration is 'kicking the Communists and the fellow travelers and the security risks out of the government not by the hundreds but by the thousands.'

"Was this statement designed to enlighten the public or deceive it?

"I think it is fair to say that anyone hearing or reading Mr. Nixon's statement would get the impression that the Eisenhower administration had kicked a large number of Communists out of the government . . .

"There is a simple way of testing the truthfulness of the vice president's statement. Let him publicly name the Communists he says the administration has kicked out of the government. The statement Mr. Nixon has made time and time again is not supported by any public evidence or by any public testimony. Mr. Nixon should either produce the facts to support his claim by identifying the Communists who have been kicked out, or he should repudiate the statement he has been making, and apologize to the public for having made it."

Mitchell issued his statement through Democratic headquarters during his absence on a speech-making trip to Puerto Rico.

Hall said:

"With his usual slick evasiveness, Mr. Mitchell has ducked the main point in question—which is the Eisenhower administration's effectiveness in dealing with communism and subversive infiltration, as opposed to the previous administration's do-nothing attitude.

"As Vice President Nixon has repeatedly declared, even on the basis of last spring's figures, over 2,400 security risks have been eliminated from the federal service. Mr. Mitchell should recheck the record. Some 400 of these had definite subversive connections — and that includes active communism or fellow traveling . . ."

Hall added that Mitchell's attitude "establishes beyond doubt that his wing of the Democrat party still considers communism as a 'red herring' and cannot be trusted by the American people to control the next Congress."

Monday Is Dollar Day In Snyder...Don't Miss It

Red Assault Would Fail, Chief Says

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 2 (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe, declared at President Eisenhower's headquarters today that Russia would be "beaten very badly" if it put loose an all-out assault against western Europe now.

Gruenther's prediction came as word arrived from the nine-power conference in London that the Allies had agreed on a formula for controlling West German rearmament in the proposed new alliance against communism.

Gruenther told a news conference that the Western Allies probably would lose the first phase in retaliating against any massive Soviet onslaught launched now. But he said the Allies' overwhelming air superiority in long range atomic bombers like the American B47 would win the war in the long run.

The chief of the North Atlantic Treaty forces cautioned that the Malenkov regime in Russia is "much cleverer" than the old Stalin government was. And he declared "only old Malenkov . . . who sits back chuckling" would stand to benefit by the Soviet Union's latest proposal to ban production of atomic and hydrogen bombs.

Gruenther talked with newsmen just before reporting to Eisenhower on the military aspects of building a new defense in Western Europe against the Communist threat.

He took note today, however, of a development since then—Russia's new proposal in the U.N. for prohibition of atomic and hydrogen bombs.

Gruenther spoke of the proposal as a "divisive" tactic and said adoption of it would strip the United States of its war-deterrent weapons and leave the Western Allies at the mercy in Europe of Russia's tremendous manpower superiority.

The general called the Soviet proposal a clever piece of propaganda.

"They say 'ban the atomic bomb because we don't want to kill women and children.'" Gruenther declared, adding that it becomes a potentially effective propaganda argument unless stripped to expose the true Soviet motive.

Gruenther's prediction Russia would be "beaten very badly" in the long run if it launched an all-out attack against Western Europe now came after he had talked about what the situation may be three or four years from now.

Court Martial Called Warning

HOUSTON, Oct. 2 (AP) — The Houston Post will say in an editorial tomorrow that the court-martial of Cpl. Claude Batchelor offers a stern warning to any future POW that ". . . the United States Army will not excuse collaborating with the enemy on the plea of brainwashing."

Batchelor, 22, of Kermit, Tex., was convicted at San Antonio Thursday night of collaborating with the enemy and informing on fellow prisoners while a prisoner of the Communists in Korea. He was sentenced to life in prison.

"There may be extenuating circumstances in individual cases," the 400-word Post editorial continued, "but an American soldier who throws in with the enemy. . . cannot expect forgiveness."

The editorial adds, "Suppose Cpls. Batchelor and Dickenson had been acquitted. Then in future similar cases . . . American POWs could say, 'The Army has said it's OK, so why not go along with the Comies and enjoy prison life?'"

Cpl. Edward Dickenson of Cracker's Neck, Va., drew a 10-year term on charges similar to those against Batchelor.

Federal Grand Jury Resumes Parr Probe

HOUSTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The September term federal grand jury Monday resumes its investigation of 1949-1953 income tax reports of Duval County's George Parr.

William Ninedorf, Internal Revenue Service agent, spent two hours with the jury yesterday as the probe got under way.

Ninedorf carried a large stack of files into the jury room.

Among those listed as Monday witnesses are Earl Delaney, partner in the Parr-Delaney Oil Co. and president of the First Bank of San Diego, and C.G. Palacios, J.C. King and A.V. Barrera, all of San Diego.

Most of the 30 other witnesses reside in Duval or Jim Wells counties.

Alabama's Vice Lords Go On Trial

PHENIX CITY, Ala., Oct. 2 (AP)—The vice lords and their lackeys who built a terrifying empire of sin in Phenix City face a long-promised day of reckoning Monday in court.

With the city still under limited martial law, the first of the 72 defendants indicted thus far by an emergency crime-busting grand jury go on trial at a special term of court.

The grand jury is in recess until Wednesday. Still more indictments are believed to have been returned already but withheld so special prosecutors could turn their attention to the approaching trials.

Meanwhile, there were promising signs today that other state investigators have made significant progress in their hunt for the phantom gunman who murdered anti-vice crusader A. L. Patterson 15 weeks ago and touched off the unprecedented campaign against crime and corruption in Phenix City.

Patterson was slain outside his law office here the night of June 18 only a few days after he had won the Democratic nomination for state attorney general on a pledge to rid his state of organized racketeering.

One crime investigator confided today that "I think the case is breaking."

Virginia Asks For A Change In Agreement

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The Virginia State Ports Authority wants the U.S. Department of Agriculture to discuss the so-called Liverpool lard agreement with the British. It seems that the British some 35 years ago declared that if any meats went bad which were shipped in summer from a U.S. port south of Philadelphia the sellers would bear the loss. This risk not only limited summer shipments—American sellers used northern ports the year round rather than alternate.

But says the ports authority, modern refrigeration has made such a rule obsolete.

Gamma Globulin Used Against Polio Strike

TEMPLE, Oct. 2 (AP)—Officials of the Bell County Health Unit gave gamma globulin shots to 254 children and 12 expectant mothers of the Academy and Little River communities today in a move to halt a polio outbreak.

More shots were being given by private doctors.

The shipment of serum was ordered for the communities after five cases of polio were reported among the 400 students of the Academy school.

Ivan Gattlin was taken by Bolger ambulance yesterday from Battenfield-Jones Clinic-Hospital here to Methodist Hospital at Lubbock.

ALL PALS NOW

Tiny Rita Moreno shakes hands with the officers involved after she was absolved by Los Angeles police. It was charged that she kicked and slapped an officer after her friend, meat packing heir George A. Hormel, was arrested on a narcotics charge two weeks ago. The city attorney's office refused to issue a battery complaint after the actress related she thought the attempt to search her purse by the two men was one of Hormel's gags. Hormel is awaiting trial on a narcotics charge. Matthew O'Connor (left), a state narcotics agent, and Det. Sgt. John O'Grady say they found 13 marijuana cigarettes in his car.

Midwesterners Have Not Picked Sides

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said today that most voters in the Midwest farm and dairy belts "have not made up their minds" yet about the Nov. 2 elections.

Back here after a quick speech-making tour of Illinois and Wisconsin, Aiken said in an interview that party control of Congress "will be decided in the two or three weeks just before elections."

Aiken, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he believes that "the Republicans will retain control of the Senate while the House is probably a toss-up right now."

After talking with many farmers, dairymen and business leaders in the two states, Aiken said he is convinced that "the Democrats won't take control of the Senate."

The present party lineup in the Senate, with 37 or 38 seats to be filled next month, is 49 Republicans, 46 Democrats and 1 independent. Nevada courts will decide whether a senatorial election must be held there to fill the remaining two years of the term of the late Sen. McCarran (D-Nev), who died this week. A Republican, Ernest Brown, has been appointed to succeed him.

"If people were telling me the truth, and I think they were, most of them have not yet decided how they will vote," Aiken said.

He sharply disputed an earlier claim here by Sen. Kerr (D-Okla), who is up for reelection, that the administration's flexible farm price support law would cost Republicans control of Congress.

"The flexible price supports are not a partisan issue," Aiken contended. "If Clinton Anderson and Spessard Holland had not stood up and slugged with us, we would not have won."

Aiken referred to the Senate fight he led, with backing from Democratic Sens. Anderson (NM) and Holland (Fla), which put across the flexible price support legislation.

"If the Republicans do lose control of Congress, it won't be because of the farm program," Aiken said.

"We (Republicans) have got enough issues and material to win

Makes Smoggy Haul

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A thief broke a window screen on an office building, reached in, and grabed for valuables. All he got, the Stanford Research Institute reported, was a notebook of smog control records — "flowmeter calibration charts."

Says Solons Neglecting Conservation

AUSTIN, Oct. 2 (AP)—Robert Lee Bobbitt, former attorney general, asserted today that state officials and the Legislature have fallen down for 10 years on water conservation.

"They haven't done right by the citizenship," Bobbitt told the Texas Water Conservation Assn.

"They have not furnished us proper leadership. There has been too much theorizing and resoluting, and not enough legislating and appropriating.

"Our legislators have not measured up to the tasks they were elected to. I say that, though I have many friends in both houses."

"The trouble is, there has been too much sectionalism," the San Antonio lawyer continued. "They have been too eager to get this project or that attended to, and failed to look to the state's needs as a whole."

Bobbitt said, "the Legislature should submit, and the people should adopt," a state finance plan to help the development of water conservation projects.

Rep. Harold Parish of Portland has pending a constitutional amendment for a 200 million dollar state bond issue, plus authority for the state to guarantee half the bonds of local districts. It would levy a one-cent property tax for the state's program.

H. N. Smith, state conservationist from Temple, used the Benbrook Dam as an example that small upstream water control measures would conserve much more of the water supply reaching the big storage dams.

World Should Know US Well, Daniel Says

NACOGDOCHES, Tex., Oct. 2 (AP)—U.S. Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex) told a group of newspapermen at Stephen F. Austin College tonight "people around the world would respect us more if they knew of our ideals and our spirit of freedom expressed through freedom of the press."

He said we must lead in informing the world or we will lose the battle of propaganda now in progress. Daniel praised newspapers of America for their work, saying, "The liberty and democracy of America would never have existed without freedom of the press."

His remarks were delivered at a dinner following ceremonies marking the site where the first newspaper in Texas, the "Gazeta de Texas" was published in 1813.

The ceremony was held at the old stone fort museum on the Stephen F. Austin College campus, near the site where a Spaniard named Toledo published the first copy of the Gazeta on a hand press May 25, 1813. A plaque was presented by the Texas Press Assn. to mark the site.

At that program, William B. Ruggles, editorial page editor of the Dallas Morning News, told the gathering, "We have come a long way from the tiny tabloid of the 'Gazeta de Texas,' but we have not come far, thank God, from the historic truth in the words that Toledo wrote."

Toledo's journal was published on a freedom movement theme before the Texas Revolution.

The ceremonies were the first in an annual series commemorating great moments in the history of Texas journalism and the first annual newspaper week dinner. Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, sponsored the affairs.

Comic Book Dealers Defy Houston Ruling

HOUSTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—An attorney said today his news dealer clients will resume displaying all published comic books, despite a city ordinance prohibiting sale to minors, of comic books which "prominently feature" a long list of crimes.

Seymour Liberman, attorney for news dealer James Malone and "several hundred" other news dealers, asked an injunction against enforcement of the new law, which became effective a week ago. The plea was denied by Judge Sears McGee.

Shepperd To Testify In Duval County

SAN DIEGO, Tex., Oct. 2 (AP)—Texas Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd will make his first appearance in person in the Duval County political turmoil next week.

Shepperd and Asst. Atty. Gen. Willis Gresham were subpoenaed today to testify in a motion by George Parr to quash the present Duval County grand jury.

They are to appear, along with grand jury foreman Otto Brandt, Tuesday at 10 a.m. in 79th District Court.

Parr filed the motion with the comment that investigations under way into alleged irregularities in Duval County are "politics." He has been a central figure in the investigations.

New Dog Tag Detects Exposure To Radiation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Navy has developed a "dog tag" locket of glass which changes color and warns the wearer when he has been exposed to atomic radiation.

It said the small and simple little gadget already has been used "for monitoring personnel against an overdose of radiation of nuclear weapons"—presumably during tests at the Marshall Islands and Nevada proving grounds.

The Navy said the locket is of use not only for personnel safety but also as a "low-cost, easy-to-use device" for measuring the amount of high intensity of radiation required in the pasteurization or sterilization of food and drugs.

Women Draw Fines On Shoplifting Charges

Fines of $90 each were assessed three Negro women and a fine of $75 was assessed another Negro woman in corporation court yesterday when they pleaded guilty shoplifting charges.

All four of the women were from Lubbock.

Three of the women were charged with stealing articles from local stores, and the fourth was charged with being an accomplice to the thefts.

Police arrested the quartet Friday afternoon.

Robert Kohl, desk dispatcher, said that the four women had taken a watch from Bruton's Jewelry, and clothing from the Fair Store and Franklin's Dress Shop.

Baltimore Integration Marked By Violence

By The Associated Press

Passive resistance Saturday had forced 11 Negroes out of a previously all-white school in Milford, Del., but violence broke out as demonstrations against mixing white and Negro students spread to six Baltimore schools.

This somewhat unexpected resistance in the so-called border areas was viewed by some leaders as an indication of what might happen in applying the Supreme Court ruling against segregated schools to the Deep South states.

A boycott, promoted by Bryant Bowles, president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People, kept nearly two thirds of the pupils out of Milford's Lakeview Ave. School where 11 Negroes were registered. Attendance jumped nearly back to normal Friday after a new school board rescinded an order admitting the Negroes.

After one Baltimore demonstration a 24-year-old white man was fined $100 for hitting a Negro pupil leaving Southern High School. Jack Zimerman was arrested on the spot and fined before the day ended for punching 14-year-old Leon Thompson.

Two other white men and a Negro were arrested in the same disturbance and were fined $25 each for disorderly conduct.

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina was the first to point out last week that incidents were occurring in areas with relatively small Negro populations and might be multiplied in states with a greater percentage of Negro population.

Similar views were expressed by officials in Florida, Georgia, Virginia, North Carolina and Louisiana.

"Such episodes will spread wherever integration is tried, regardless of what kind of decree the Supreme Court hands down," said Louisiana Sen. William Rainach, chairman of a joint legislative committee to continue segregation.

"I'm afraid," he added, "the United States will head into the worst period of internal strife and dissension in its history unless the Supreme Court reverses its stand and permits each state to solve the destiny of its people in its own way." Rainach's committee is closely watching the Maryland and Delaware incidents and other integration steps.

Atty. Gen. Richard W. Ervin told the Supreme Court that immediate de-segregation in Florida would "only result in translating the present passive intellectual differences in thought and emotional feelings to an active, positive and violent physical resistance."

He said in a brief that unless the state is given sufficient time to work out the problem "we frankly doubt whether we can save our public school system."

Ervin submitted the brief upon request of the court for views on how best to apply the decision of May 17 outlawing public school segregation. The court will hear arguments, Dec. 6.

Georgia's Democratic gubernatorial nominee, Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin, shared Byrnes' view.

"Already, throughout the fringe areas of states where segregation is the law, we see strong evidences of revolt and opposition to this monstrous anti - segregation edict," Griffin said in accepting his formal nomination by the Georgia Democratic state convention. "If this strong opposition is found in Maryland, West Virginia, Delaware and even Ohio, you can be assured that the masses of the people of Georgia will resist it with all their power when the proper time arrives."

In North Carolina, Thomas J. Pearsall, chairman of the Governor's Advisory Committee studying Segregation, commented on the Delaware and Maryland situations that the trouble "they are having there with their small Negro populations is just some indication of what we might have down here."

And J. A. Pritchett, member of a North Carolina Board of Education Committee on Segregation, said "I think that it certainly would indicate to the Supreme Court that the problem down here is far greater than anyone can anticipate unless they allow us a long time in my opinion to do it."

Gov. Thomas B. Stanley and Atty. Gen. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., leaders in Virginia's fight to circumvent the antisegregation decision, declined to comment directly. But Almond pointed out that the Delaware trouble is occurring in northern states that do not begin to have the problem that southern states have.

The Deep South states are continuing their segregation school systems pending the final Supreme Court decree, and some are laying plans to circumvent it by one means or another.

But Delaware, West Virginia and Baltimore began integration with the opening of fall terms of school last month. Desegregation began peacefully enough, but trouble soon developed.

It flared up suddenly in Baltimore Friday with demonstrations against mixing of white and Negro pupils at six schools. Police narrowly averted violence at one.

Baltimore schools affected are in the poorer residential sections, occupied largely by day laborers, factory workers and domestic servants.

At Milford, Del., attendance was nearly back to normal at the Lakeview Ave. School after a new school board rescinded an order admitting 10 Negroes. Nearly two thirds of the pupils had boycotted the school most of the week.

Delaware Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, who has urged residents to obey the law, declined comment "for the present."

But Vice President Richard Nixon, whom Boggs was entertaining at Wilmington, commented at a news conference:

"We in America must bring into reality the dream of equality in education, employment and other fields to show the rest of the world our sincerity of purpose so that they will feel free to join our society of free nations instead of the Communist regime. . .

"Here in Delaware there are honest differences of opinion but I believe these will be reconciled so that the spirit and letter of the law can be carried out."

A judge brought a sudden halt to picketing which closed the Annabelle School near Fairmont, W. Va. for two days. A group of parents picketed in protesting admission of 13 Negro pupils.

Issuing an injunction, Judge J. Harper Meredith declared the picketing "a rebellion against the government, which cannot be tolerated." He added: "It cannot continue and I will not permit it to continue. If necessary, I'll fill the jail until their feet are sticking out of the windows."

A group of about 200 persons, protesting increased enrollment of Negroes at the Centerville Grade school near East St. Louis, interrupted a district school board meeting Thursday night and demanded the board's resignation.

A few Negro pupils have been enrolled in the Centerville school for years. The group's spokesman, Paul Chitty, said about 100 Negroes who formerly attended an all-Negro school now are enrolled at Centerville. The school board said it would meet Monday with a 10-member committee named by Chitty to discuss the situation.

STAR IN COMEBACK

Judy Garland arrives with her husband, Sid Luft, for the world premiere in Hollywood, Calif., of the movie that marks her motion picture comeback—"A Star is Born." The onetime child star, whose film career seemed wrecked when she squabbled with her studio after her last picture four years ago, told newsmen she was "nervous but happy" as she arrived at Pantages theater. The opening brought one of the biggest turnouts of stars in years.

Encephalitis Epidemic Ends In South Texas

AUSTIN, Oct. 2 (AP)—The State Health Department said today the epidemic of encephalitis which struck 400 persons in the Rio Grande Valley the past two months has ended but exhaustive tests have failed to find the agent that caused it.

"We are still conducting tests here and at the U.S. Public Health Service Laboratory in Montgomery, Ala." said State Health Officer Henry Holle. "The possibility persists that this is something new or at least highly unusual."

Indians Scalped In 4th Game

Giants Put National Loop Back In Front

By JACK HAND

CLEVELAND, Oct. 2 (AP)—The tremendous New York Giants humbled the stunned Cleveland Indians in four straight games to become the first National League World Series winners since 1946 by grabbing today's loosely played, 7-4 finale.

Leo Durocher's opportunists, alert to every chance, piled up an early 7-0 lead for Don Liddle, and then called on Hoyt Wilhelm's dancing knuckler and finally 21-game winner Johnny Antonelli to stave off the dying gasps of the futile Tribe.

Not since 1922 when the Giants of John McGraw rode over the New York Yankees had a National League champ gone through a series without defeat. That sweep, however, was somewhat blemished by one tie game. Actually, the Miracle Boston Braves of 1914 were the last Nationals to do it in four games.

Cleveland, winningest team in American League history with 111 victories while dethroning the five-time champion New York Yankees, suffered the same shocking fate as the Chicago Cubs of 1906 whose 116 triumphs still stands as the major league high. Those old time Cubs, however, did manage to cop a couple from the White Sox.

Down the drain with Cleveland's proud record of never losing a World Series went a $500,000 Sunday gate. The Indians now will have to begin the doleful duty of returning fifth-game ticket money to the fans, just as the Giants will have to redeem tickets for the phantom sixth and seventh.

Lightly regarded as 17-10 underdogs against Cleveland's "Big Three" pitching staff, the underrated Giants never let the Tribe off the floor. After taking the thrilling 10-inning opener 5-2 and beating Early Wynn in the 3-1 second game, they moved into Cleveland's home park to floor the Tribe for the third time, 6-2, and finally put them out for the count.

With the sweep went the big share of the richest player pool in history, $798,763.72. The two series participants whack up 70 per cent of $559,134.60. The Giants' pot comes to $335,480.76 and the Indians $223,653.84. Commissioner Ford Frick's office refused to announce how the clubs split the loot but it is understood Cleveland has about 38 shares. Without knowing for sure how they divided the money, each winner should get about $9,000 and each loser about $6,000.

At the end it was Antonelli, the young lefthander the Giants' snared from Milwaukee with Liddle in the trade for Bobby Thomson, who officiated at the burial services.

Wilhelm had put down a seventh-inning Cleveland threat that produced one run but was in a jam with two on and one out in the eighth when Durocher called for Antonelli, the $65,000 bonus baby of a few years back.

In came the Rochester, N.Y. youngster to blow a third strike past Vic Wertz, whose eight hits were high for the Series. Wally Westlake looked at a called third strike to end the last real threat.

Antonelli walked Sam Dente opening the ninth but got Jim Hegan to foul out, and fanned pinch hitter Dave Philley. Then Dale Mitchell, batting for Dave Pope, lofted a feeble foul pop to third baseman Hank Thompson who gathered it fondly in his glove to touch off a hilarious Giant bench.

Out they swarmed from the dugout for an impromptu victory celebration near the spot where Thompson caught the ball for the final out that ended seven years of American League Series domination. The last Nationals to win were the St. Louis Cards in 1946 and it took them seven games. The last Giants World Champions were in 1933 when they beat Washington.

And the Giants today did it without Dusty Rhodes, pinch-hitting hero of the first three triumphs who finished the Series on the bench with a .667 batting average while Monte Irvin, his "stand in" as the left field starter in every game, helped wrap it up with a double and single that knocked in two of the seven runs.

Only once all season had Cleveland lost four in a row, during that "lost weekend" at Chicago, July 9-11 just before the All-Star break. They avoided a bad slump all season only to run into their worst days when it counted most.

At that, the big crowd of 78,102 that piled up a record gate of $480,085.64 for a single game, saw the Indians put up more fight in their last gasp than they had in yesterday's stumbling effort. Despite that early 7-0 deficit, they made it reasonably close in the final stages so Durocher had to dig into that deeply stacked bullpen for help.

Liddle, the half pint leftly with the well - controled curve, had Cleveland at his mercy through the first four innings, allowing only one hit. Two successive errors, one by himself when he failed to touch first base while fielding a throw from Whitey Lockman, and another by Dave Williams, set it up for Hank Majeski to deliver a three-run pinch homer in the fifth.

Majeski's homer into the left field corner, incidentally, was only the fifth by a pinch hitter in all Series competition but the second in this particular set. Rhodes, of course, hit the other in the 10th inning of the first game at the Polo Grounds.

After singles by Wertz, Jim Hegan and pinch-hitter Rudy Regalado added up to another run in the seventh. Durocher called for Wilhelm. Dave Pope, the man who had boasted in today's papers that he hit three or four homers off Wilhelm's knuckler in the spring, hit weakly to the mound to end the inning.

Bob Lemon, who went the route in the first game and was trying to come back in a desperation move with only two days rest, was charged with the first six New York runs. The other one was a black mark on the record of Lefty Hal Newhouser, the former Detroit veteran, who relieved Lemon in the fifth inning.

Don Mueller and Al Dark worked their hit-and-run specialty with precision in the third and fifth to start scoring spurts. Mueller's three singles made him the Giant leader with seven hits, followed by Dark's six.

It was a team triumph, just as Durocher said in the joyous Giant clubhouse. "It belongs to the team," said the manager. "It was a team victory. Everything we did seemed to be right. Everything they did seemed to go against them."

The writing was on the sun-kissed walls for all to see in the second inning when a walk to Hank Thompson, his first of three during the day on the way to a Series record of seven, started Lemon on the way to trouble. Irvin then doubled, sending Thompson to third.

Dave Williams lined to Wertz at first but the converted outfielder, in his eagerness to try for a double play, threw wildly into left field, letting Thompson score as Irvin raced to third.

Haney Given New Contract

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates said today Manager Fred Haney, who in two years has not been able to get his club out of the National League cellar, has been signed to a new one-year contract.

General Manager Branch Rickey telephoned from Cleveland to say Haney has signed. Terms were not disclosed.

Rickey and Haney were in Cleveland for the World Series. There was no comment on their plans for the future of the hapless Pirates.

Haney, 56, took over after a successful four years at the helm of Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League. In Hollywood he won two pennants and never finished in less than third place.

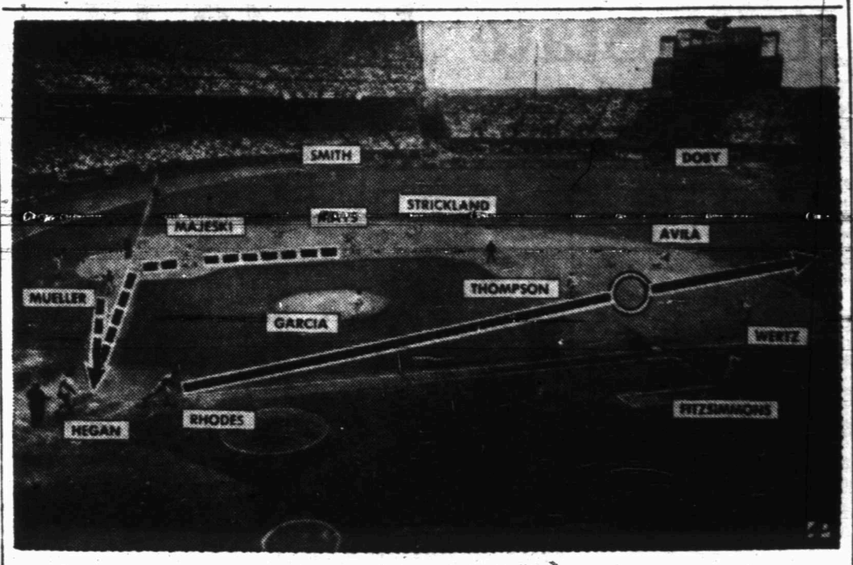

In Pittsburgh, Haney has had his share of trouble. The Pirates lost more than 100 games each year under him and have been the source of much criticism by Pittsburgh sports writers.

Haney took over a last place club when he succeeded Bill Mayer who resigned because of ill health.

Yale Gets By Brown

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 2 (AP)—Yale, led by sophomore Denny McGill, outfought Brown 26-24 in an Ivy League football battle today. Brown's failure to kick extra points after any of its scores marked the difference.

McGill scored twice from 29 and 12 yards and sparked the Elis. Yale, scoring in each period, held a 20-6 advantage early in the third quarter, but was never able to relax in the face of Brown's desperate rallies.

RHODES MAKES THIRD PINCH HIT

Ball, circled, heads through infield between first and second as New York Giants' Jim (Dusty) Rhodes heads for first with third World Series pinch hit (solid arrow) in the third inning against Cleveland. Streaking in from third and second with runs, broken arrows, are Don Mueller and Willie Mays. Rhodes, Giants pitching star and sometimes leftfielder, tied record of New York Yankees' Bobby Brown in 1947 with this hit in the third Series game. Giants won 6-2.

Buckies Shine As Three Of Snyder's District Foes Win

The Breckenridge Buckaroos continued to dominate the spotlight in football circles here last week as three of Snyder's district opponents won games Friday night and three lost games.

The only District 3A-1 team which did not have a game was Lamesa, which had already finished its non-district schedule with a 2-1 record.

Breckenridge, which had already stormed over Wichita Falls and Brownwood, forgot it was playing the state's top-rated Class AAAA team and slaughtered Abilene 35-13.

Abilene played a close game during the first half, and the two were tied 7-7 at the midway mark. The Buckies had scored first early in the first quarter as Jake Sandefer rounded end 12 yards for the final few yards, ending at long march. Abilene came back, demonstrating the power it was said to have, and made a 56-yard drive, passing over Breckenridge's tough line to score.

The two teams battled in a close match during the first half, but after halftime the Buckies tore up the Abilene line and made the Eagles look something like a second-rate Class AA team. In one and one-half minutes, the Buckies had the lead when Abilene fumbled on its own 27 and Breck recovered, following it up with a keeper play by Bennett Watts to the 21 and then a pitchout from Watts to Sandefer, who passed to Clyde Harris for the score.

Throughout the night, Breckenridge's perfectly-timed pitchouts looked clumsy but always worked. Watts demonstarted his ability as a quarterback throughout the game with his pitchouts, handoffs, and keepers on option almost always paying off in yardage. Watts carried three yards across right tackle later in the third to end a 56-yard drive and make it 21-7 after Harris kicked one of his five extra points of the night.

Abilene, later backed up to its own 10 after a penalty, moved out to the 33 and lost the ball on a fumble. A jump pass, Watts to Tommy Beasley, changed the score to 28-7. Harris later crossed tackle for a one-yard touchdown plunge to end a 51-yard drive in the fourth. With about half a minute to go, Abilene finally got its second score when H. P. Hawkins passed to Henry Colwell for 23 yards and the score after two other passes had made good yardage.

Levelland, which had scared up the district with its big wins over Brownfield and Littlefield, finally fell from the undefeated ranks when it lost to powerful Class AA Phillips 32-26. Levelland punched across the goal line first in the game when Mack Freeman passed seven yards to Bobby Evans. The game was a hard and close one until the final gun.

Phillips struck back on the kickoff, with Don Meek returning it 83 yards for a score. Meek took the ball eight yards to count again in the second period and put his team ahead, but Levelland got a 13-12 edge when Gary Lawhorn took a pass and finished the play for 44 yards and a TD. Jim Oehrlein converted for one of two times during the night. Meek went another eight across tackle in the third period and converted, but Levelland tied it up in the same period 19-19 when Tommy Evans pushed one yard into the end zone.

Meek made another one-yard touchdown in the fourth, and his team tallied again when Jackie Webb raced 22 yards. Phillips was ahead 32-19, but Levelland, late in the fourth, scored again, with Eddie Mitchell taking four yards around end. Levelland was headed for another score and had made it to the Phillips 18 when the game ended.

Big Spring, which had already beat Andrews and Stephenville, stayed undefeated as it took Ysleta 39-12. Snyder had downed Ysleta in the first game of the season 26-12. Lefty Reynolds opened scoring for the Steers in the first quarter, pusing one yard. In the same period, Reynolds went through the line seven yards for another TD in the fourth, and Sal Arzola passed 25 yards to Charles Rosemond, with Rosemond going another 20 yards for the second Ysleta rally. Ronnie Wooten finished up Steer scoring near the end of the game when he intercepted a pass and went back 35 yards for a touchdown. Jenkins kicked the point.

Sweetwater, still considered a power although it has not yet won a game, fell to San Angelo 21-0.

Marvin Lasater moved Angelo from the 13 to the three in two plays after his team had recovered a Sweetwater fumble, and Pat Adams split the middle from there to score. Bobby Smith's extra point was one of three good kicks of the night. Harold Hobbs punted out to the Sweetwater 38 after the kickoff, and 11 plays took San Angelo back for another score, with Lasater taking the last two yards. A bad pass went over Hobbs' head when he was trying to punt, and he was caught on the Mustang 10-yard line. Lasater crossed the goal line on the second play.

Sweetwater got to the Angelo five when Hobbs carried 42 yards to that point, but the team fumbled on the second down and lost the ball.

Palinview, still without a win, was held scoreless for almost all of the first half of its 32-21 loss to Amarillo, but the team picked up and played the Sandies a hard game.

After Amarillo had tallied 20 points, Plainview scored with less than three minutes to go in the second period when Lonnie Holland passed to David Kendall 31 yards. Amarillo scored again with less than a minute left in the half when Royal Yarbrough passed to Jimmy Duncan 34 yards. The Sandies tallied again in the third quarter to make it 32-7, then Plainview started a too-late rally, scoring two touchdowns against Amarillo's substitutes. Holland passed the team to the Amarillo six and pulled a sneak for the TD, with Jack Williams converting for one of three times. The next Plainview scored came when the team recovered an Amarillo fumble 17 yards from the goal line. Holland threw to Kendall six yards for the touchdown.

During the night, Holland connected 10 of 16 passes for 157 yards.

No information was immediately available on Vernon's 27-0 win over Lawton. The win brought Vernon's record to 3-1.

Eagles Peddle Nine Players

DALLAS, Oct. 2 (AP)—The sale of nine players, largest deal in recent years, to Galveston of the Big State League was announced today by Dick Burnett, owner of the Dallas club in the Texas League.

From Dallas went Bill Bagwell and Hoot Gibson, pitchers; Gene Herbert, infielder; Jim Basso and Charley Watts, outfielders, and Jodie Beeler, utility man.

From Artesia of the Longhorn League, where Dallas furnished players, went pitchers Vic Stryska and Harry Young, and infielder Frank Gallardo.

The sale of these made room on the Dallas roster for players from the New York Giants farm system with which Burnett signed a working agreement last week.

Dallas also recalled several of these players from its farm clubs: Pitchers Bart DiMaggio, Artesia; Ed Konick, Galveston; Pete Mazar, Wichita, Kan.; catcher Bob Bareford, Wichita, and Leonard Hunt, outfielder, who was on option to Augusta of the Sally League.

Fondern Peps Up Shorthorns

AUSTIN, Oct. 2 (AP)—Walter Fondern, voted the state's outstanding high school football player last year, is bringing joy to Texas freshman Coach Ed Kelley as the Shorthorns prepare for their first game with Baylor's cubs.

The teams will meet Friday night at Temple.

Fondren was a single wing tailback when he led Lamar of Houston to the Class AAAA title last year, but he's taking well to Texas' split-T.

"He's good on the handoffs and fakes and runs the keeper play well. He's a better than average passer," says Kelley.

Competition for other backfield spots is strong. Bobby Graham, Amarillo speedster, and Curtis Reeves, a tricky runner from Wichita Falls, are vying for left half.

Three are scrapping for fullback. They are Jim Welch of Lubbock, Johnny Elam of Luling and Cleo Cooper of Yoakum.

Hermleigh Knocks Off District Foe

The Hermleigh Cardinals knocked one of its District 6-B opponents down Friday night and is now preparing for its last non-district game. The Cards stomped the Hobbs Panthers 43-14 on the Rotan field. This brought Hermleigh's season record to 3-1 and that of Hobbs to 1-4.

Billy Mack Davidson led the Cardinal attack as Hermleigh got a 24-point lead in the first half of the game.

Scoring first was Robbie Robinson, while Davidson followed with two more. Wendell Goodman tallied the fourth TD to put his team ahead 24-0 at halftime.

In the third, Davidson made a 60-yard run for the fifth Card score. Hobbs began to hustle then, and Ralph Hardin went eight yards for one touchdown and 25 yards for another. Durwood Hooper converted both times.

Jackie Roemish got one fourth period TD for Hermleigh, and Neal Wilcox tallied the last one on a 25-yard run. On the last touchdown, Davidson got Hermleigh's only conversion.

Also in this area, Loraine shut out Trent 19-0 in a 6-B game, with Roy Johnson scoring two touchdowns and one extra point, with the TDs tallied on runs of 20 and one yard, and Eddie Galvan going through the middle 40 yards for the third score. Galvan led the Loraine offense throughout the night, while Jack McDonald was top defensive man.

Bronte, a member of 6-B, downed Melvin 21-6 Friday night. Ken Scott went two yards for the first score in the second period, with Dennis Braswell converting. Braswell went three yards to score in the third quarter, with Scott converting. Buck James, Bronte tackle, blocked a Melvin punt three yards away from the goal line, and Arbie Phillips took the ball across for the third score. Scott converted.

Thursday night, Robert Lee downed the Abilene sophomores 26-13. The Robert Lee team moved from behind to win, with Glen Davis going 20 yards for one score, Ben Bessent six for another, Davis returning a punt 70 yards for the third and 40 yards for the fourth. He also made both extra points.

ABOVE THE BLEACHERS

By DALE WALTON

We're not sure what the population of Breckenridge is now, but we're almost sure that about one-third of that population was in Abilene Friday night to watch the Buckaroos defeat the Class AAAA power.

On the east side of the stands in Fair Park, every person from the 50-yard line north was representing Breckenridge. That made up almost one-fourth of the more than 10,000 persons attending that game. Yells from Breck fans every time the Buckies made yardage, rocked the stadium.

Back in Breckenridge, there couldn't have been much more than one service station and a cafe open, because there must not have been enough persons left in that town to run more than that much business.

TICKETS ON SALE

While we're on the subject of fans following their teams, we might say that Snyder fans can get tickets, starting tomorrow, for the Snyder-Levelland game, which is coming up Friday night.

Levelland lost to Phillips Friday night but was only 19 yards short of tying the game when time ran out. The Tigers will have to use all the pass defense they have against the Lobos, who are this year the top passers in the district.

All teams in District 3A-1 are rough this year, so any games the Tigers win are going to be plenty hard. It might help if there are plenty of fans along to boost the home team.

The reserved seat tickets, $1.25 each, will be sold in the office of Forrest Beavers on the main floor of the courthouse. Art Nicholas, school business administrator here, said the school has only 347 reserved seat tickets available for that game. Those seats are between the 38 and 50-yard lines on the east side of the stands. Sales of these start tomorrow and will last until noon Friday. Student tickets are on sale at the high school. If students buy tickets there, they can get them for 25 cents each. It costs them 50 cents at the gate. General admission for adults is $1.

QUARTERBACK SMART

Back to Breckenridge again. Kenny Ford was probably as valuable to the Buckies as anyone they ever had, but we don't think the team is in bad shape this year.

While Ford could pass until his opponents were blue in the face, Bennett Watts appears to be smarter. He fakes well, is quick with any action he takes, and has one of the best lines the Bucks have ever had to support him. The Breck backfield is just as good as it ever was. While Watts evidently is not an exceptional passer, all he has to do is pitch out to Jake Sandefer, who would do any team credit in the pass department.

That Breck line can block down almost every key man on the opposing team for enough yardage to keep Breckenridge going.

The Buckies will come to Snyder to meet the Tigers Nov. 12.

Coyotes Open District Play With Victory

The Gail Coyotes opened district play Friday afternoon with 34-6 victory, winning that game over Courtney.

The six-man Borden County team held Courtney scoreless until the third period, when the losers, who were hosts for the tilt, marched down the field to the Gail six-yard line, moved to the one-yard line on a Gail penalty, and went around the flank to score.

Left end Shorty Farmer scored four of Gail's five touchdowns. The first came when he intercepted a Courtney pass and ran it back about 40 yards into the end zone.

Later, Farmer caught a pass from Larry Smith for about eight yards and another TD. Two more tallies were picked up by Farmer, each on about 40-yard runs, on end-around plays.

The final Gail TD came when Borden Reeder sped about 60 yards for the score. The Borden County team, crippled with a few injuries, brought its season record to 2-1 in the game. Coach Eddie James used several freshmen in the game. The team this year lacks depth of experienced players.

Glenn Kingston did most of the passing, completing eight. Smith's only aerial was the one touchdown pass. The gall punter was Farmer, who, on one occasion punted deep and out of bounds. That was responsible for one of the Gail tallies later.

GAME IN FIGURES

	Gail	Courtney
First downs	9	4
Yards rushing	200	180
Pass attempts	13	6
Completions	8-130	3-30
Intercepted by	1	0
Fumbles	0	1
Own recovered	0	0
Punts, ave.	3-38	4-35
Penalties	0-00	3-30

Reeder led ground gain for the Coyotes, while he was also main pass receiver. He and Donald Reddell were outstanding offensive blockers, while 120-pound junior Mike Smith and Lonnie Doyle excelled in defense. Reddell and Reeder converted once each on kicks.

The Coyotes will meet Ackerly in their next game on Oct. 15. The night game will be played at Ackerly.

James has also organized a junior high team, and that team Thursday night downed the Klondike junior high 18-12 in its first game of the season.

The coach called it more a team victory than anything else, praising the younger gridders for their work together. The team, trailing 12-0 at the half, came back for three touchdowns in the last half. Larry Doyle scored two touchdowns, while Jerry Staggs caught a pass from Wilson Walker for the other.

The junior high team has on its schedule games with Ackerly at Gail Oct. 21, Loop away from home Nov. 4, and Dawson away Nov. 11. The last game will be a day tilt.

Steers Set For Sooners

DALLAS, Oct. 2 (AP)—Texas faces the other half of the nation's one-two collegiate football punch here next Saturday when the Longhorns play Oklahoma's Big Red Sooners in the Cotton Bowl.

The Longhorns played the first half last week and took a 21-0 trimming from Notre Dame.

Texas will be trying to regain prestige and can do it by whipping an Oklahoma team that's undefeated and favored to finish around the top in the national championship picture.

The game is always colorful and for nine straight years has drawn a sellout crowd. All 75,504 tickets were sold weeks ago.

Ten Bowl principals have emerged from this rich rivalry in nine games and one national champion came from it. That was in 1950 when the Sooners beat Texas 14-13.

Texas last beat Oklahoma in 1951. The score was 9-7.

In the all-time rivalry, the Longhorns have won 30 games, lost 16 and tied 2.

Each school has retained most of the personnel that gained success last year. Among the prominent Sooner veterans are fullback Bob Burris, halfback Buddy Leake, end Max Boydstun, center Kurt Burris and tackle Don Brown. Quarterback Gene Calame is a doubtful starter but sophomore Jim Harris, a Texan, is carrying on well with Oklahoma.

Halfback Delano Womack, quarterback Charley Brewer, center Johnny Tatum and tackle Herb Gray are among the Longhorns returning from 1953.

Aggies Pass To 6-0 Upset Over Georgia

By MERCER BAILEY

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 2 (AP)—Texas A&M, an undermanned underdog, abandoned its racehorse running game in the clutch today and turned to passing to upset Georgia 6-0.

Coach Bear Bryant brought only 31 players to Athens but they were a determined group and refused to wilt under a blazing sun and hard play.

Swift Aggie backs such as Elwood Kettler, Don Watson and Don Kachtik and a mobile, fast charging line kept the ball in Georgia territory practically the whole game, although they managed only one touchdown.

Georgia, favored by a touchdown and with a greater stock of reserves, never was able to get a threatening offense rolling. Quarterback Jimmy Harper had a bad day, failing to connect on a pass until well into the fourth quarter.

GAME IN FIGURES	Texas A&M	Georgia
First downs	10	8
Rushing yardage	163	69
Passing yardage	94	76
Passes attempted	22	11
Passes completed	7	3
Passes intercepted by	3	3
Punts	8	10
Punting average	37.6	34.0
Fumbles lost	1	1
Yards penalized	65	35

Kachtik intercepted a Harper pass on the Bulldog 47 and returned it to the 30 to set up the Aggie score. Kettler, a quarterback converted from halfback, passed 14 yards to end Jack Pardee and the final 16 to end Gene Stallings.

It was the first victory of the season for the Aggies and Georgia's first defeat. The Bulldogs have never beaten A&M in three meetings.

A tremendous defensive play by halfback John Bell prevented the Aggies from scoring in the middle of the first quatter. From the Georgia 24, Kettler tossed a beauty to Pardee on the goal line but Bell reached over the end's shoulder and knocked the ball out of his hands.

After another pass failed, halfback Gene Henderson tried a field goal but the kick was wide.

Just before the first quarter ended, Watson gathered in a punt on his 36 and raced 52 yards through the entire Georgia team to the Bulldog 12, where fullback Bob Clemens slammed him down. Three plays later, Kettler tried his luck with a field goal but again it was wide.

Then, eight minutes before the half, Kachtik made his key interception.

Last year, the Aggies beat Georgia by recovering a fumble in the closing minutes.

A third field goal attempt by the Aggies in the fourth quarter was no good and that was the last serious threat.

League Tilts Dot Schoolboy Grid Schedule

By The Associated Press

Play for keeps starts this week in the top divisions of Texas schoolboy football. Conference games dot the schedule. Several games match members of the fast-dwindling undefeated, untied circle.

District 1 in Class AAAA, where the wreckage was big last week in interclass struggles, opens the conference race full blast and the big game is between Midland and San Angelo, last unbeaten, untied teams.

Abilene and Lubbock took lickings last week to cut that district's list of teams with perfect records to Midland, which had an open date, and San Angelo, which beat Sweetwater 21-0.

The Dallas district has conference play and so does District 8, where the power of the state may rest. Here are Port Arthur and Baytown. But there also are two other undefeated, untied teams, Galveston and Pasadena, and they play Friday night at Galveston.

South Oak Cliff may be the team to beat in the Dallas district. It will find out because it plays undefeated, untied Hillcrest.

Class AAA where Breckenridge looms as a state finalist and possibly is the best team in Texas, all classes considered, also has conference action. But none of the championship games match undefeated, untied teams.

Breckenridge shoved to the very top last week by blasting Abilene, the team that's rated No. 1 in Class AAAA, 35-13.

But Class AAA also has Port Neches, which won the title last year, and it looks even stronger this season. Port Neches slammed Freeport of Class AAAA 26-6 last week. This team is the one that's likely to meet Breckenridge in the finals.

Upsets were numerous last week end with the fall of Abilene the most notable. Lubbock took a 13-7 trimming from North Side of Fort Worth. Sunset of Dallas fell before Tyler 14-7 and Highland Park of Dallas rose up to swat highly regarded Odessa 14-0.

It may be considered a mild upset but Lamar of Houston beat Ray of Corpus Christi 13-7. Lamar, however, had shown it had another top football team when it almost licked Baytown.

Port Arthur showed unbridled power in smashing Reagan of Houston 45-6.

There are 55 games this week in the top classes.

This week's schedule by Districts (C-Denotes Conference)

Army Takes Surprise Win Over Michigan

By JOE FALLS

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 2 (AP)—Army's Black Knights, uncoiling a frightening ground game, extended one of football's most baffling jinxes today by upsetting Michigan 26 to 7 today before 69,783 fans.

The cadets, 13-point underdogs, scored three times in the first half on end thrusts by Mike Zeigler, Pat Uebel and Tommy Bell.

Bell, a hard-running halfback from the Bronx, N.Y., scored his second touchdown on a 48-yard sprint in the fourth period.

Army's line, supposedly weak and inexperienced, stood firm in the second half to stop Michigan cold.

It was a brilliant win for Coach Earl Blaik's Cadets who lost 34-20 to South Carolina last week.

It was a bitter loss for the Wolverines who have beaten every one of their opponents—except Army. The Cadets have a perfect five-out-of-five record against Michigan in the intersectional series through the years.

Michigan, hoping to make it two straight after last week's 14-0 victory over Washington, cracked Army's defense only once and needed a weird play to score.

It was a combination pass-lateral with Ed Hickey scoring on the end of a 46-yard play in the first quarter. Other than that, it was Army's game.

Displaying brute ground power, the Cadets hamered out 152 yards rushing in the first half while holding Michigan to 49. Army recovered a Michigan fumble in the first minute of the game. They scored in seven ground plays with Zeigler taking a pitchout and racing six yards around right end.

Ohio Edges — California

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 2 (AP)—Red-haired Hopalong Cassady put on a one man show of pass catching and running today as Ohio State defeated California 21-13 in an intersectional football game before 79,524.

The 168-pound Buckeye junior who scored two touchdowns last week in the 28-0 victory over Indiana, did it again today in sensational style.

The first time Ohio had the ball, Cassady started around right end, cut back through the middle of the line and eased into the end zone 27 yards away without being touched.

In the fourth period, with Ohio leading only 14-13, the speedy Buckeye back intercepted a pass, ran for six yards over tackle, took a 20-yard pass from quarterback Dave Leggett and then sped 29 yards around right end for the touchdown on a pitch-out.

Ohio, in turning back the West Coast club, scored its touchdowns after recovering two California fumbles and intercepting an aerial. For the Westerners, quarterback Paul Larson put on a fine passing and running performance.

Massachusetts Takes Upset Victory, 13-7

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 2 (AP)—The University of Massachusetts, which couldn't score a touchdown in Harvard Stadium in three previous meetings, tallied a pair today to stun Harvard with an upset 13-7 victory. The winning touchdown was made in the final quarter.

The loss was only the eighth in an opening game for Harvard which began its 81st year of football.

The winning squad recovered from a jittery opening period in which it could do nothing properly, losing the ball thrice on fumbles, to come from a 7-0 deficit for its startling triumph.

Longhorns Clean Bench, Take Washington State By 40-14

By BO BYERS

AUSTIN, Oct. 2 (AP)—A Texas attack as scorching as the rays of the sun wilted the fighting Washington State Cougars this hot, humid day 40-14.

The first Washington State tally came on the most sensational run of the day, a 73-yard gallop by fullback Duke Washington, the first Negro ever to play in Memorial Stadium.

But Texas already had crossed the Cougar line three times before Washington made his great second run, and the Longhorns blasted across twice more before half time.

GAME IN FIGURES	Wash. State	Texas

Substitute fullback Don Maroney initiated the scoring with a 2-yard smash off left tackle as Texas struck over guard and off tackle for 77 yards in 12 plays.

Pat Tolar, the No. 3 Texas quarterback, accounted for two Longhorn touchdowns.

Glen Dyer, the No. 4 quarterback, also collected two Texas tallies. Joe Youngblood, No. 3 right half, banged over left tackle from the two for the touchdown that gave Texas a 20-0 lead just before Washington's score on a delayed buck.

Right half Pete Toomey went 15 yards on a reverse for Washington State's other touchdown with less than two and a half minutes to play.

Two of Texas' regular backfield men and the No. 2 quarterback watched the game from the bench because of injuries or illness, but they weren't missed.

Texas used 52 men, including a couple who weren't even listed on the roster.

Washington, 22 year-old senior from Tasco, Wash., was the leading ground gainer by virtue of his touchdown run. He carried 8 times for 94 yards and played a fine defensive game.

Maroney, looking better each game, led the Texas ground attack with 67 yards on 11 efforts.

Texas did not try a pass in its first scorching march, threw only 7 all day and completed 4 for 62 yards.

Washington State completed only one throw in 10 attempts as the Longhorns rushed hard and pass defenders showed vast improvement over their performance with Notre Dame last week.

The Longhorns came up with two interceptions, both by Youngblood, and both times Texas went on to score.

The statistics showed Washington State nearly matching Texas running with 216 yards to the Longhorns 233. That was largely because of Washington's long run and extensive use of Texas subs in the second half.

Wisconsin Decisions Mich. State

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING, Mich., Oct. 2 (AP)—A disputed touchdown by Alan (The Horse) Ameche—made when Michigan State had only 10 men on the field—gave Wisconsin a 6-0 victory in a wild and weird Big Ten football game watched by 51,194 here today.

The single score came in the second period when Ameche, busting through right end, drove over the goal line. Leroy Bolden, MSC's star back, had been injured on the previous play and was lying on the sidelines at the time.

Michigan State had failed to substitute and the Spartans claimed they thought a time-out had been allowed. MSC Coach Duffy Daugherty made an arm-waving protest, raging up and down the sidelines, but was overruled.

The defeat marked the first time that the Spartans, the most recent Rose Bowl winners, had been beaten on home grounds since Maryland did it early in 1949. It also was the first time MSC had lost two in a row since Notre Dame and Oregon State pulled the trick that same year.

Wisconsin went 88 yards for the touchdown. Quarterback Jim Miller, finding a wide hole on a keeper play, made the biggest gain of 38 yards to put the ball in position on the 28 for the score.

Wisconsin, the pregame favorite, had a definite edge in the game although both teams took turns threatening to score.

In the closing minutes of the game, Michigan State battled down as far as the Wisconsin 17 when quarterback Earl Morrall started hitting with his passes. The threat was stopped by a pass interception.

Just a few minutes before, Wisconsin was on the Michigan State eight-yard line, was thrown back and then missed a try at a field goal as Spartan linemen broke through, forced a fumble and recovered the ball.

Navy Scores 5 Times In Last 10 Minutes

HANOVER, N.H., Oct. 2 (AP)—Navy turned loose its manpower and an unexpected aerial attack today to score five touchdowns in the final 10 minutes and defeat a battling Dartmouth eleven 42-7.

Held to a 7-7 deadlock for three periods, Navy connected on touchdown passes from reserve quarterback Dick Echard to Ron Beagle, a great end, to grab a 21-7 lead. After that the Middies rolled over the fast tiring but fighting Indian band.

Beagle's first TD catch capped a 41-yard drive in four plays and put the Middies ahead to stay. Beagle got behind Dartmouth defenders in the end zone to grab Echard's 20-yard aerial. Less than three minutes later Beagle teamed with Echard again on an 11 yard pass, set up by Bob Craig's interception.

DeWitt Weaver Not Anxious To Depart

LUBBOCK, Oct. 2 (AP)—DeWitt Weaver, coach of Texas Tech, says he isn't anxious to leave and he hasn't been approached by the University of Florida as a successor to Bob Woodruff.

Weaver was commenting on reports by Don Oliver, sports writer of the Abilene Reporter-News, that Weaver was being boomed for the Florida job. Oliver, who had been in Florida on a football trip wrote that Woodruff was on his way out and Weaver was "in."

"If I had any desire to leave Tech, I certainly could have done so last Christmas when I had offers from good schools at higher salaries than I am getting here," Weaver declared. "But I'm not anxious to leave Tech, for if I had wanted to I had at least six different opportunities."

Tulane Knots Game 7-7

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2 (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Freddie Wilcox injected new life in a stagnant Tulane offense today to lead his team to a 7-7 tie with favored North Carolina.

Some 15,000 fans watched Carolina march almost at will and punch across a first quarter touchdown in only three minutes.

Tulane, which was lifeless throughout the first half, caught fire in the fourth quarter under Wilcox' guidance. He completed two passes for 36 yards to set up Tulane's touchdown. The drive carried 57 yards and ended one foot short of the goal and Tulane lost tthe ball on downs but Wilcox took Larry Parker's punt on the Carolina 48 and returned it to the 16 to give Tulane renewed life.

Wilcox passed the final seven yards to end Harry Duvigneaud and guard Emmett Zelenka converted to give Tulane a tie.

North Carolina scored on its play with halfback Connie Gravitte circling end for the last 14 yards. Fullback Don Klochak converted. The 24-yard drive was set up by tackle Roland Perdue's fumble recovery.

Colorado Hops Over Jayhowkers 27-0

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 2 (AP)—Unbeaten Colorado unleashed a 3-touchdown scoring burst in less than 10 minutes of the third period and humbled the Kansas Jayhawkers 27-0 in their Big Seven football opener today.

The Buffaloes had been held scoreless in the first half but used both a 43-yard pass play and two ground attacks to plow under the Kansans, who were losing their third straight.

Colorado's tailback Homer Jenkins, threw the touchdown pass that started the touchdown parade. Wingback Frank Bernardi caught the ball with a desperate lunge behind two Kansas defenders on the 15 and stumbled on to the goal.

The other two touchdowns were made on sneaks through the line by quarterback Sam Mathis.

Indians Whip Illini 12-2

PALO ALTO, Calif., Oct. 2 (AP)—Stanford's underdog Indians ripped for two touchdowns in the second period to defeat highly-rated Illinois 12-2 in their nationally televised game here today.

The Big Ten representative, rated a championship contender, bowed to a team that went into action expected to lose by as many as 10 points. The famous Illinois touchdown twins, J. C. Caroline and Mickey Bates, were throttled throughout.

Except for a first period safety and a drive to Stanford's 14 in the last few seconds, the Illini failed to pose a serious threat.

Stanford smashed 80 yards for one touchdown and completed a 16-yard pass for its second. Fullback Bill Tarr scored the first six points with a drive through the line and set up the second touchdown by intercepting an Illinois pass in the last minute of the first half.

The Indians held ball control for most of the second half with a savegely-charging line. Stanford's ends were particularly strong on defense.

Fumbles Beat Northwestern

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 2 (AP)—A 234-pound tackle lumbered 68 yards for a touchdown which launched unbeaten Southern California to a hard-earned 12 to 7 victory over fumble-stricken Northwestern today.

Northwestern fumbled 10 times and lost the ball 6.

It was the third straight victory for the Trojans, who scored both of their touchdowns in the first half and then had their hands full with the snarling, underdog Wildcats in the closing half.

In the final 20 seconds of the first quarter, tackle Ed Fouch of Southern California grabbed a fumble by Northwestern's John Rearden in mid-air on the Trojan 32 and pounded 68 yards to score.

Midway in the second period, the Trojans made it 12-0 on a 41-yard drive in 6 plays, capped by quarterback Jim Contratto's 8-yard touchdown pass to end Chuck Greenwood.

Sam Tsagalakis missed the point try after the first Trojan touchdown and Fouch failed after the second.

The Wildcats drew blood in the third period on sophomore George Condek's 14-yard run over the Trojan right side and center John Damore converted. The sprint by Goodrick, smallest man on the Wildcat squad at 158 pounds, capped a 34-yard Wildcat drive.

Gophers Take Pitt 46-7

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 2 (AP)—Geno Cappelletti, handling Minnesota's new look split-T like a magician and ably abetted by the brother act of Dick and Bob McNamara, directed the Gophers to a 46-7 rout of Pittsburgh today in an intersectional football game.

The Gophers stormed for two touchdowns in the first period, tacked on three in the third period and added insult to injury with two more in the final quarter.

Cappelletti passed 24 yards to Dick McNamara in the first quarter and skirted right end for 14 yards in the third quarter, for two of the TDs.

Dick McNamara scored his second touchdown on a sweep around right end from seven yards out in the third period. Brother Bob raced 65 yards on a punt return for one other score in the same period.

Frank Bachman, sophomore fullback from Minneapolis, smashed off left tackle from one foot out in the first period for Minnesota's second touchdown.

In the final quarter, Darrell Cochran raced 16 yards for one score and Don Swanson pitched 27 yards to end Thomas Juhl in the same zone, for the final tally.

Sophs Pace Virginia

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 2 (AP)—Virginia hitched its faltering offense to a pair of rising sophomore stars in the dying minutes of the final period today and the duo, Steve Hoffer and Whitey Clarke, produced a touchdown that meant a 14-13 victory over George Washington's Colonials.

Field Goal Puts Wyoming Out Front

LARAMIE, Wyo., Oct. 2 (AP)—Quarterback Joe Mastrogiovanni booted an 18-yard field goal with 2 seconds left today to boost Wyoming's Cowboys to a 23-21 victory over underdog Denver University thatheld a two touchdown lead until a desperate fourth-quarter Cowboy rally.

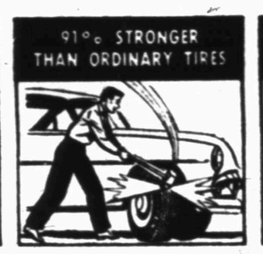

Wyoming, pre-season favorite to win the Skyline Conference championship, counted 16 points in the final period on a remarkable comeback touched off by Mastrogiovanni's passing.

THE NEW ALL-NYLON TUBELESS Firestone "500"

The Firestone "500" was developed at the Indianapolis "500" Speedway to give you extra high-speed protection on today's super highways. It stands up under race track speeds faster than you'll ever drive, . . . gives you a 15 MPH safety margin over conventional tires.

The all-nylon cord body of the Firestone "500" withstands the hazards of rocks, curbs and other causes of impact breaks. Unlike ordinary tires which develop weakened cords after several hours of driving, the "500" can be driven continuously without growing weak or "tired."

The Firestone "500" easily withstands the menace of internal heat generated by high-speed flexing and pavement radiation. It is virtually immune from temperatures which cause ordinary tires to "pop" like toy balloons, . . . gives you more protection than you need, even on a desert.

Tigers Down Jeffs 51-0 For Third Win

EL PASO — The Snyder Tigers took their third win of the season last night, trouncing the Silver Foxes of Thomas Jefferson, El Paso, 51-0 here.

The Tigers lost yardage on only one of their many plays as they tallied 27 points in the first half and 24 in the other.

Bernie Hagins, Jack Spikes, Joe Baxter, Gerald Crawford, Jimmy Bennett, and Powell Berry each shared in the ball handling, all making good gains against the Jeffs. On ground gain, Crawford made 208 yards in 13 carries, Spikes 117 in nine carries, Baxter 84 in 11 carries, Hagins 32 in two, and Bennett 26 in four. Pass-wise, Hagins tried three and completed one to Alan Snead for 25 yards, while Berry attempted five and connected for four of them, two to Milton Ham for a total of 55 yards, one to Crawford for 15, and one to Bennett for 39.

Defensively, Doug James, James Parker, Wayne Shuffield, Berry, and James Partain were the leaders.

Snyder scored only a few minutes deep in the first period. Receiving the first kickoff, the Tigers drove 59 yards in six plays, with Gerald Crawford eating up 23 yards in one right end run. Crawford also carried the last 15 yards through the middle for the touchdown. Frankie Minton's kick was no good, and the Tigers led 6-0.

Each team then punted out before Jefferson had its first sizeable drive of the night. That drive lasted from the Jeff 30 to the Snyder 40, where the team could not gain against Snyder's forward wall. Snyder took over on Jefferson's punt as the first period ended. Each run made long gains, and a pass from Bernie Hagins to Alan Snead gained 25 yards to put the ball on the Jeff 20. Crawford, on the next play, punched through the center to wipe out that yardage and score again. Minton's kick this time was good.

Two more Snyder tallies were made late in the first. Taking a Jeff punt, the Tigers started from their own 40, drove to the opposition's 16-yard line. Powell Berry, sophomore who took senior Hagins' place at quarterback midway in the second, tossed to Crawford to put the ball one yard away from the goal line. Jack Spikes' thrust put the ball across. Minton converted. The next score was on a 45-yard pass from Berry another sophomore, end Milton Ham, a very few minutes later. Minton's conversion made it 27-0 at halftime. One first half Snyder TD was called back on a clipping penalty. It was a 40-yard run by Jimmy Bennett around left end. The Snyder 40 was the closest Jefferson got to scoring.

Scoring in the second half:

Crawford broke loose and raced 77 yards to score midway through the third period. Frankie Minton's kick was bad.

Snyder recovered a Jefferson fumble on the kickoff on the Jeff 45, carried to the 33 in three plays, and Crawford took a pitchout from Hagins and chopped off that yardage, with Don McNew throwing the main block.

Shortly after the fourth opened, Bennett recovered a Jeff fumble on the Snyder 25, the closest Jefferson got all night. Three plays later, Crawford took a handoff from Berry, pitched out to Spikes, who went 71 yards for a touchdown. Minton's point try failed.

After Doug James fell on a Jefferson fumble, Berry threw a pass from the Jeff 39, to Bennett, who took it across the goal line for the final score. Minton missed the point, and the tally was 51-0.

Snyder had driven from its own four to the Jeff 20 when the game ended.

Pass Interception Puts Arkansas Over

FORT WORTH, Oct. 2 (AP)—Bobby Proctor dashed 63 yards with an intercepted pass to set up the winning touchdown with only a minute to go tonight as Arkansas upset Texas Christian 20-13 in the opening Southwest Conference football game.

The Horned Frogs rolled up a tremendous 229 yards with 168 of it on the ground. Arkansas got only 97 with 28 net rushing and 69 in the air. But the statistics do not show just what kind of football the Razorbacks played tonight. They were opportunists on offense and savage battlers on defense. They stopped so many TCU drives in the final period the crowd lost count. But it was rough, tough football that did it.

The Razorbacks shocked the Frogs with two touchdowns in the first period. TCU finally managed to tie the score late in the fourth but never could go ahead.

Walker's passing and tremendous kicking contributed greatly to the Razorback victory. Once he boomed a 70-yard punt to the Frog 6-yard line to get the Big Red team out of danger.

The game was filled with penalties, several of them halting potential scoring drives, but the breaks were about even on both sides. TCU scored its first touchdown after a recovered fumble.

Arkansas	13	0	0	7—20
Texas Christian	0	7	0	6—13

Arkansas scoring: Touchdowns, Walker, Moore 2. Conversion, Walker 2.

Texas Christian scoring: Touchdowns, Taylor, Swink. Conversion, Pollard.

The crowd of 25,000 was pandemonium as Henry Moore, the slashing Arkansas fullback, slammed across for the score that brought Arkansas its first victory in Texas since 1948. There were only 28 seconds left on the big clock as Moore, who had scored the second Arkansas touchdown with a 48-yard run, went over from just one foot out.

Arkansas' hungry fans paraded on the field as the band pranced.

The Razorbacks, one of the best conditioned teams ever to come out of the Ozarks, played solid football all the way, cashing in on a TCU fumble for one touchdown and almost scoring as the result of another. A fumble also lost TCU a touchdown when it dropped the ball on the Arkansas one.

Arkansas' defense also was solid as a rock as the fierce tackling Razorbacks halted surge after surge in the last minutes. And a pass interception by Joe Thomason, who recovered three fumbles for the night, one of them setting up the initial Arkansas touchdown, prevented a TCU score early in the game.

Georgia Walker, sophomore tailback, made the first Arkansas touchdown and kicked two extra points.

Scoring for Texas Christian were Ray Taylor and Jim Swink while Harold Pollard added the one TCU conversion.

Georgia Tech Edges Out SMU 10-7

By WILBUR MARTIN

DALLAS, Oct. 2 (AP)—Georgia Tech fumbles into a field goal and a touchdown tonight and won a battle of desperation passing 10-7.

A wobby screen pass and the jackrabbit running of George Volkert brought the once-beaten Yellow Jackets a fourth period touchdown and sent Southern Methodist vainly searching for another ringmaster for its once famed aerial circus.

Until Georgia Tech came back for the second half intent on doing just one thing—passing—the ball game was a one-sided affair for SMU.

A fumble recovery by Franklin Brooks set the stage for a 9-yard field goal by Burton Grant for Georgia Tech in the second period and sophomore quarterback Wade Mitchell figured in every phase on the winning touchdown.

Mitchell recovered Frank Eidom's fumble to give Georgia Tech the ball on SMU'S 47. He tossed the screen pass to Volkert, who caught it behind the line of scrimmage, then squirmed 49 yards as if the 83-degree heat had set the Cotton Bowl turf on fire. Then Mitchell added the extra point.

Southern Methodist, chewing up great hunks of yardage on the running of Frank Eidom and Don McIlhenny, marched 77 yards right after Grant's field goal for a touchdown. Duane Nutt scored it from inside the one and Tommy Beal kicked the extra point.

The pattern reversed itself in the remaining four minutes after Georgia Tech's touchdown.

Southern Methodist started heaving in desperation, connected on some, but failed miserably in its try for the jackpot.

The Mustangs had manhandled Georgia Tech in the first half. It wasn't until deep in the second period that the Yellow Jackets got a first down and it was the third before they completed a pass.

A rugged defense and a bad case of butterfingers stopped SMU scoring drives repeatedly. It drove 67 yards to Georgia Tech's 2 the first time it got the ball. Then it went inside the foe's 25 four times.

Eidom and McIlhenny paced a stable of fleet backs that ground out 191 yards rushing for SMU—compared to 49 for Georgia Tech. In the air, SMU picked up 8 yards to 132 for Tech on 10 completions of 25 attempts. The Yellow jackets completed a like number out of 26 tries.

Moegle Leads Rice Over Cornell 41-20

HOUSTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Speedster Dicky Moegle included a sizzling 78-yard scamper among four touchdown runs tonight while leading Rice Institute's Owls to a 41-20 intersectional football victory over Cornell University.

A crowd of 35,000 saw the hero of Rice's Cotton Bowl victory over Alabama last New Year's Day roll up 216 yards on offense, including 168 net yards rushing, while playing less than half the game.

The 20-year-old Taylor, Tex., senior broke over right guard for touchdown runs of 18 and 40 yards as Rice jumped into a 20-0 first quarter lead. He added another 6 points, this time a 10-yard gain at right end, in the second quarter.

His 78-yarder came on the first play after the Owls had received a punt early in the final period.

Cornell meanwhile took to the air for single scores in the second, third and fourth periods. Two of the touchdown tosses, for 12 and 16 yards, were from sophomore quarterback Art Sosenko to end Paul Kalinich.

Quarterback Joseph Marotta hit halfback James Suiter with an 8-yarder for the second Cornell tally.

End Lamoine Holland grabbed a midair fumble and raced 17 yards for Rice's third touchdown, while halfback Morris Stone plunged over from the 6 late in the second period.

Moegle got his 168 net yards rushing in just 6 carries. He also received 2 passes for 18 yards, and returned 2 punts for a total of 30 yards.

His four touchdowns were the most scored by a single player against Cornell since the great Glenn Davis of Army turned the same trick in 1946.

Rice rolled up 271 net yards rushing while the Owl line held Cornell to 42. Cornell completed 13 of 28 passes for 141 yards, while Rice completed 8 of 13 for 103.

Moegle's first touchdown came on the first play after Holland had intercepted a Cornell pass on the third play of the game. Stone's tally came on the fifth play after guard Don Costa had recovered a fumble on the Cornell 19.

Cornell's touchdown drives were good for 67, 51 and 70 yards.

Art Boland was Cornell's leading ground gainer with 22 yards in six carries. Marotta completed six out of 11 passes for 62 yards. Sosenko completed five out of 12 for 58. Each had one toss intercepted. Pinky Nisbet led Rice passers, completing 5 of 9 for 45 yards.

Fullback Jack Throckmorton kicked five out of six extra points for Rice. Suiter and James Van Buren added one each for Cornell.

Lions Undefeated

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Oct. 2 (AP)—Halfbacks Lenny Moore and Ron Younker lived up their billing again today to lead Penn State to a 13-0 victory over Syracuse and keep the Nittany Lions in the undefeated column.

Toe Gets 7-6 Win For Duke

DURHAM, N.C., Oct. 2 (AP)—The accurate toe of junior guard Jim Nelson was the difference today as Duke's highly-favored Blue Devils edged Tennessee 7-6.

Duke, ranked seventh nationally after its opening game rout of Pennsylvania, scored in the final minute of the first period on a 10-yard end sweep by halfback Bob Pascal. Nelson converted for a 7-0 lead that stood.

Tennessee marched the second half kickoff 91 yards in seven plays, fullback Tom Tracy covering the last 28 yards. Tracy's conversion attempt was low and wide, and that was the ball game.

Sharing starring honors for Duke was sophomore quarterback Sonny Jurgensen. He came off the bench to toss the pitchout which Pascal carried over for the score and twice in the final period Tennessee ventures into Duke territory were stoped by Jurgensen pass interceptions.

A crowd of 30,000 watched in 90-degree weather as Duke beat Tennessee for the third year in succession to even their series at 8 victories apiece with 2 ties.

Nebraska Strikes Iowa Down 39-14

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 2 (AP)—Heat, humidity and Nebraska's 2-team system beat down a game Iowa State football crew as the Nebraskans rallied twice for a 39-14 victory today.

Twice, Iowa State gained a touchdown lead in drives featured by the work of Max Burkett.

But the Cyclones never could hold the advantage and faded for good in the fourth when the Huskers went 40 yards for the game winning score in the opening Big Seven conference game for both clubs.

Colgate Cleans Field

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 2 (AP)—Colgate halfback Frank Nardulli scored two touchdowns—one on a 39 yard run and the other on a 15 yard pass from quarterback Dick Lalla—today as the Red Raiders whipped Holy Cross 18-0 for their second straight football victory.

Halfback Jack Call made the other Colgate TD by grabbing a 30-yard aerial from Rookie quarterback Guy Martin.

Purdue Romps Over No. 1 Team 27-14

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 2 (AP)—Sure-fire Len Dawson cut down the nation's No. 1 football team, Notre Dame, today with four touchdown passes good for a total of 156 yards to sharpshoot Purdue to a stunning 27-14 upset triumph.

The lanky six-foot sophomore quarterback from Alliance, Ohio, also converted three times and keyed the Boilermakers' pass-defense that eventually smothered desperation shots by two Irish aerialists, Ralph Guglielmi and sophomore Paul Hornung.

The victory, before 58,256 screaming fans, snapped Notre Dame's undefeated string at 13 and repeated history of Purdue's 28-14 decision four years ago that ended the Irish's 39-game unbeaten streak.

The 19-year-old Dawson, who fired four touchdown tosses as Purdue blanked Missouri 31-0 last week, was without peer today as his range-finding shots put Notre Dame in the hole 14-0 in the first 5½ minutes of the game.

He hit senior end John Kerr for an eight-yard payoff in the opening 3½ minutes then followed with a 41-yard scoring pass play to lefthalf Rex Brock.

After Notre Dame trimmed the lead to 14-8 at halftime with a safety and Nick Raich's one-yard touchdown blast after Hornung's 61-yard run, Dawson struck again for touchdowns in the third and fourth periods.

Guglielmi's toss to end Dan Shannon was good for 42 yards at the outset of the third and set up Don Shaefer's Notre Dame touchdown from the 2. Schaefer's try for point was wide, as was Hornung's in the second period.

With the score tied 14-14, the lean-lanky Dawson rode to the rescue on a 73-yard pass payoff to Lamore Lundy.

Lundy, giant 6-7, 213-pound sophomore end from Richmond, Ind., hugged the ball on the Notre Dame 40 and lumbered into the end zone without a man in front of him.

For good measure, Dawson guided the Boilermakers on a 77-yard touchdown romp in the first four minutes of the finale. He uncorked a screen-pass to junior fullback Bill Murkowski who sped across on a play covering 34 yards.

In taking their sixth victory over Notre Dame in a 26-game series dating back to 1896, Purdue piled up 224 yards by passing and 94 by rushing. Notre Dame gained 179 and 91.

Jim Peters' recovery of Schaefer's fumble on the Notre Dame 34 at the start of the game touched off Purdue's first touchdown. Dawson's 20-yard pass to Bob Springer was instrumental in the drive.

A poor punt by Guglielmi gave Purdue the ball on the Irish 41 a few minutes later and that paved the way for Dawson's touchdown toss to Brock, who skipped down the right sideline behind Jim Whitmer's key block.

Notre Dame collected a safety midway in the second. Sophomore Don Fife, centering the ball on the Purdue 35, snapped it back over Brock's head. The ball went into the end zone and before Brock could run it out, Ray Lemek tackled him.

On the ensuing kickoff, Hornung raced back 61 yards to the Purdue 1. Raich drilled over on the next play.

Notre Dame's scoring drive in the third covered 91 yards in 18 plays and absorbed five first downs. After a 15-yard holding penalty jolted the Irish, Guglielmi pitched 42 yards to Shannon and Schaefer slashed the final 2.

Dawson hit on 7 out of 12 passes for 213 yards. Guglielmi connected on 13 out of 22 for 154.

Texas Tech, Okla. Aggies Tie 13-13

LUBBOCK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Texas Tech drove 60 yards on 7 plays to fight from behind to gain a 13-13 tie with Oklahoma A&M's Cowboys before 24,000 fans tonight.

Time ran out as guard Louie Flores went back to the 24-yard line in a field goal attempt.

The Aggies had marched 74 yards less than two minutes before Tech's tying score to take the lead from the Red Raiders.

It was a see-saw game, with A&M scoring in the second quarter to hold a 6-0 lead at the half.

Halfback Joel Favara capped the first Aggie touchdown drive that covered 32 yards. End Lee Snider recovered a bad pitchout by Tech quarterback Jerry Johnson on the Raider 32. Fullback Earl Lunsford raced 24 yards and a pass interference on fourth down gave the Aggies new life on the Tech 1.

Favara went over on the first play, but Tech fullback Jim Sides blocked Flores' attempted conversion.

Tech took the second half kickoff and drove 57 yards, scoring on a 20-yard pass to end Dean White. Fullback Rick Spinks converted.

Late in the fourth quarter, the Aggies marched 74 yards to take the lead. Lunsford, Favara and Dick Whitt led the drive, with quarterback Fred Duval pitching 11 yards to end Choppy Spencer, who raced the remaining 28 yards. Flores converted for a 13-7 lead.

Less than two minutes later, quarterback Jack Kirkpiatrick led the Raiders to the tying tally, a 15-yard holding penalty, and halfback Jo-Jo Bryan's 17-yard run, which put the ball on the Aggie 8, set up the score.

On the second play, Spinks skipped around right end for 8 yards and the touchdown.

End Bob LaRue rushed Spinks' conversion attempt, with the ball hitting the goal post.

Tech held an edge in first downs 15-13 and in rushing yardage 194-156, but the Aggies had the upper hand 143-33 in passing.

No. 3 Football Team Crushes Montana

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Oct. 2 (AP)—Iowa's power-packed football legions crushed Montana 48-6 today in an intersectional contest played in humid, 75-degree temperature.

Ranked No. 3 in The Associated Press poll after a 14-10 victory over Michigan State last Saturday, Iowa rolled to a 20-0 halftime lead over the Skyline Conference lads who were overmatched in Montana's first engagement with a Big Ten team.

Coach Forest Evashevski, who had alternated his first and second teams in the first half, had his third unit in operation late in the third period which ended with Iowa far in front 34-0.

Iowa came back with its No. 2 lineup for the last period and halfback Bobby Stearnes dazzled the crowd of 37,590 with a 94-yard pass interception run for a touchdown, the longest of its kinds in Iowa history.

Hoosiers Top COP

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 2 (AP)—Florian Helinski, Indiana's all-purpose quarterback, threw two touchdown passes and scored once himself today in a 34-6 Hoosier rout of College of Pacific.

Milt Campbell, former national decathlon champion, scored his first touchdown for Indiana on a 77-yard punt return.

Gators Eat Auburn

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Oct. 2 (AP)—Three versatile quarterbacks guided the Florida Gators to their second Southeastern Conference upset victory in a row today, spilling Auburn 19-13.

Bobby Lance ran 86 yards for one Florida touchdown and Fred Robinson and Dick Allen passed for the others.

Miss. Wrecks Villanova

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2 (AP)—Mississippi's racing Rebels wrecked inexperienced Villanova tonight near perfect passing attack that buried the Wildcats 52-0 before 35,607 spectators.

The split T Rebels showed the "grocery bowl" patrons—most of the fans attended on tickets obtained with purchases made at a grocery chain in the Philadelphia area—what was in store in the very first period.

After stopping the only serious Villanova drive on their 2-yard line, Houston Patton, a junior, lofted a pass over the heads of the Villanova secondary to end Dave Dickerson who raced unmolested the rest of the 79 yards to score.

Eagle Day, another junior signal caller, picked off a Villanova pass three plays later and returned it 16 yards to the Wildcat 47. Day hit halfback Earl Blair for 19 yards and then Red Muirhead broke through left guard, shook off two linemen and went 26 yards for a score.

Villanova again failed to gain and Blair returned a punt to the Wildcat 33. Three plays later, Day kept the ball on a split T option, slid outside left tackle and went 25 yards into the end zone.

About two minutes later, Day connected with Blair on a spot pass in the right secondary and the sprinting junior covered the rest of the 68 yards without trouble.

Tulsa Shamed By Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2 (AP)—Tulsa's Golden Hurricane failed to generate enough velocity tonight to slow the University of Cincinnati's speedy halfbacks as the Bearcats ground out a 40-7 football triumph.

The lone score for Tulsa came early in the fourth period as Dick Hughes plunged over from the one-yard line.

Wake Forest Winner

WAKE FOREST, N.C., Oct. 2 (AP)—Wake Forest turned two blocked punts into touchdowns and shook loose halfback Bill Barnes on a 48-yard touchdown run as it defeated North Carolina State, 26-0, today in an Atlantic Coast Conference game.

FPC Order Causing Mountains Of Paper Work For Producers

By MAX B. SKELTON

SAN ANTONIO Oct. 2 (AP) — A Houston oil firm this week was reported to have loaded two big freight vans with natural gas records and shipped them to Washington.

This was neither confirmed nor denied but everyone agreed the amount of paper work set into motion by a Federal Power Commission order freezing gas prices at the gas producer.

Future consumer prices will be affected by the outcome.

Texas is affected more than any other gas producing area. The state produces 53 per cent of the nation's natural gas output.

Over half the estimated 4,100 gas producers affected by the price freeze are Texans.

The state's oil and gas producers meet next week for the first time since a Supreme Court decision June 7 paved the way for the freeze.

The dispute will be the primary topic of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn. Tuesday and Wednesday. The membership includes major and independent operators.

The price freeze argument centers around the definition of a natural gas company.

The Supreme Court held that FPC has authority to regulate the well price of all natural gas sold to pipeline companies which carry the gas into interstate commerce for resale.

Oilmen are interpreting the decision to mean that if an operator owns one gas well he subjects himself to FPC price control by selling to a transmission company which resells the gas to a distributor in another state.

The same interpretation is being applied to major companies which own many gas wells, produce millions of cubic feet of oil well gas daily and dispose of all or even a small portion of the interstate lines.

Until the June 7 decision, FPC had claimed price jurisdiction only over gas produced by the interstate transporters. As late as 1947 FPC said it had no jurisdiction over producers and gatherers.

FPC reaffirmed this position in 1951 in ruling it had no jurisdiction over gas sold by Phillips Petroleum Co., one of the nation's largest gas producers.

The ruling was appealed by Midwest consumers and was reversed by a circuit court which held that Phillips is a natural gas company and, as such, is subject to FPC jurisdiction. The Supreme Court upheld the circuit court June 7.

Suporters of FPC price control contend such action is necessary to prevent sharp price hikes in the future.

Oilmen contend the price control order is in conflict with many contracts held by producers. They contend the order will force many small producers out of business.

OIL NEWS

DRILLING REPORT

Two dry holes have been reported in Garza County.

One was the R. B. Harris and others No. 1 W. C. Williams Estate. It was quit on total depth of 2,703 feet in lime and shale. Thomas No. 1 Arledge was drilled to total depth of 2,642 feet in lime before being quit. It found water at the bottom, and has reported no signs of oil or gas.

• • •

P. R. Futherford No. 1-A B. O. Brown and others, a stepout to production in the Sara-Mag-Pennsylvanian field of Howard, has been quit as a failure at total depth of 7,976 feet. No shows for commercial production were reported.

• • •

Trans-Tex Drilling No. 1 Ubben, Fisher wildcat three miles northeast of Roby, is drilling in lime and shale after a two-hour drillstem test from 5,030-038 feet. Recovery was 35 feet of very slightly oil and gas-cut mud with a salty taste.

In North Fisher County, 14 miles west of Hamlin, J. J. Lynn No. 1 W. I. Martin is drilling in shale below 5,163 feet.

• • •

Union Oil of California No. 1 M. L. Simmons, Northeast Scurry wildcat in section 138-2-H&TC is drilling in shale below 1,210 feet.

Sun Oil No. 1 Simpson in North Howard is drilling in lime below 7,170 feet.

LaGorce No. 1 Franklin, Garza exploration, has cored from 4,178-221 feet and is now pulling that core.

Texas Crude Oil and B. L. McFarland No. 1-288 J. N. Brumley, 10 miles west of Snyder in the southwest quarter of section 288-97-H&TC is drilling in lime and shale below 6,968 feet.

• • •

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil No. 1 Graham, North Howard venture, is to core deeper after a drillstem test from 9,920-929 feet.

The tool was open three hours, with gas at the surface in 30 minutes at the rate of 12,000 cubic feet per day. Recovery was eight feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil, gas or water.

Injured Girls Receiving Aid

DENISON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The 614 people of Bells, Tex., are taking up a collection.

This is for three young girls to help them walk again.

The girls are members of the Bells High School pep squad.

On Friday, Sept. 29, the pep squad was conducting a pre-game pep rally downtown and was marching across Highway 82.

A car driven by a teenage Nocona youth en route to a football game at Bonham crashed into the students.

The mascot of the pep squad, Millie Newsom, 5, whose daddy is basketball coach, was injured critically. Jo Ann Galyon, 16, had her back broken. Linda Reynolds, 14, received a broken leg.

At school last Monday the idea just started and began growing to take up a fund to help pay the medical bills. A lot of students went without lunch that day and by noon there was a cigar box full of coins.

The men downtown took up the idea. More than $200 came in that first day.

"I've never seen the people here so stirred up about anything before," said Mayor J. E. Dopson.

Two Soldiers Killed In Traffic Accident

AUSTIN, Oct. 2 (AP)—Two Fort Hood soldiers were killed and another was critically injured early today when their car ran off Highway 183 about 12 miles north of Austin.

The dead were identified as Cpl. Anthony Camardelle, 22, driver, West Wago, La., and Pvt. Roland Hamilton, 28, Binghamton, N.Y.

Still unconscious in Brackenridge Hospital was Pvt. William Adams of Fort Worth.

Patrolmen said the auto left the highway on a straight stretch at a high rate of speed and "airplaned" across a gully before smashing into an oak tree.

The impact was so great that the left and right headlights met on the other side of the tree.

Shepperd Subpoenaed In Parr Case Hearing

SAN DIEGO, Tex., Oct. 2 (AP)—Attorney General John Ben Shepperd was subpoenaed today to testify Tuesday in a motion by George Parr to quash the present Duval County grand jury.

Shepperd's assistant, Willis Gresham, and Otto Brandt, foreman of the grand jury, were also subpoenaed.

Gresham has been in this area several months while the grand jury checked in Duval County finances. Parr has said repeatedly that the investigations are "political."

Location Is Spotted In Southeast Howard

Warren - Bradshaw Exploration Co. of Midland has set location for a new venutre one and three-quarter miles southwest of the Snyder field in Southeast Howard County.

The project will be drilled as the No. 1 TVL on a drillsite 330 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 41-30-tls-T&P. Contract depth is 3,100 feet, with drilling to begin immediately.

209 New Oil Wells Completed In State

AUSTIN, Oct. 2 (AP)—Operators completed 209 oil wells in Texas this week, jumping the year's total to 9,032, the Railroad Commission said today. The total was 7,809 last year.

There were 14 new gas wells, sending the year's figure of 1,014 compared to 766. Operators plugged 136 dry holes.

Of the 209 new oil wells, 12 were wildcat.

The total average calendar day crude oil allowable today was 2,771,745 barrels, down 93,888 from last week. The October producing schedule had gone into effect.

Coke Wildcat Gets Oil Flow

Homer Snowden of San Angelo No. 1 Nora Gee, Northwest Coke County wildcat, is flowing oil at the rate of 12 barrels per hour on a production test.

The flow is from the zone at 7,086-103 feet, which had been treated with 500 gallons of mud acid and fractured with 12,240 gallons of sand oil.

The No. 1 Gee was originally drilled to 8,341 feet by Murray Petroleum Co. and abandoned as a dry failure. Snowden recently re-entered the hole and cleaned out to about 7,300 feet for tests of the section which is now flowing oil. The pay has tentatively been identified as the Strawn.

Drillsite for the project is 2,315 feet from north and 2,321.4 feet from west lines of section 144-2-H&TC. It is about one and one-half miles southeast of the South Fuller-Coke field.

Good Show In Fisher Test

A two-hour drillstem test has found oil, gas and water in the Ellenburger at General Crude Oil Co. No. 1 Diedrich Wolff, Jr., Northeast Fisher County wildcat.

Gas came to the top in 10 minutes on the test, which covered the interval from 6,036-046 feet. Mud surfaced in 58 minutes and oil in one hour. There was no estimate on the flow of oil.

Recovery was 2,520 feet of oil, 2,250 feet of sulphur water.

A previous drillstem test from 6,021-036 feet had recovered clean oil with no water. The prospector is to drill deeper.

The No. 1 Wolff is three-quarters of a mile northwest of the Cooper Ranch-Strawn field in section 104-1-H&TC. It is about nine miles west and slightly north of Hamlin.

Wildcat Test Slated In Central Runnels

Geochemical Surveys, Inc., and J. J. Coyle, both of Abilene, have filed application to drill a 2,700-foot wildcat in Central Runnels County.

The well will be the No. 2 E. F. Bogelsong, located 1,650 feet from north and 990 feet from east lines of section 167, ET survey. That is about one-half mile north of the Ballinger field. Operations are to begin at once.

POLIO PATIENT

David Lee Oliver, 4, Springfield, Ill., rests in a hospital at Southampton, England, following his removal from the U.S. Transport Maurice Rose in the Atlantic. David was stricken with polio while traveling with his mother, Mrs. David Oliver, and his sister, Caroline Jean, en route to Bremerhaven, Germany, to rejoin his Army sergeant father. The Royal Navy sent a helicopter with an iron lung and a tug to the transport, and the boy was taken ashore on the tug.

Conservation Vital, Farm Group Is Told

The urgent need for soil conservation was the keynote of an address by O. F. Armstrong of Abilene at a stockholders' meeting of the Snyder National Farm Loan Association Friday night.

The meeting was preceded by a barbecue held in the livestock barn at Towle Memorial Park. Max West, secretary-treasurer of the association, opened the business meeting. Martin Murphy introduced members of the board of directors. Clarence Wade was re-elected to the board.

Armstrong, a representative of the Soil Conservation board, was introduced by West. Armstrong spoke here in August during a farm tour arranged by the Chamber of Commerce.

There is so much that can be said and so much to be done in conservation, Armstrong said. He pointed out that erosion depletes the soil 17 times as rapidly as crop production. Soil which is overworked and ranges which are overgrazed are left open to all types of erosion, he said, and the production from them becomes less and less.

The importance of soil conservation extends past the cash income gained by the man who works it, Armstrong added. Many people are dependant on the land for their livelihood even though they are employed away from the farms and ranches. Of the approximately 7,019 manufacturing concerns in Texas, 5,039 of them depend directly on raw materials produced from the soil, Armstrong stated. Diminishing production must have its effect on these industries as well as on the farmer who takes his crops to market.

Water is one of the major considerations in conservation work, Armstrong said. This area needs more water, but there is also a need to learn to keep what is available, he said. At present, 83 to 87 per cent of the rainfall in this area is lost through runoff. The 83 per cent is a conservative figure, he added, and at best this leaves 17 per cent of the water to be utilized.

Heat is another element which needs control, the speaker continued. On days when the temperature is registered at 105 degrees above ground level the temperature of uncovered, unprotected soil may be up to 155 degrees. Organic matter in and on the soil holds down that temperature and gives invaluable protection. Cover crops such as legumes or stalks left standing after harvest were two methods of returning organic matter to the soil mentioned by Armstrong. Cover also holds the soil against blowing and water erosion and increases the productivity of the soil it protects, Armstrong said, and common sense shows its value.

Soil in this area which becomes unproductive is a loss for at least a period of years, the conservationist said. Because of the limited rainfall, it is almost impossible to return the soil to a good condition while trying to make a living on it. Conservation is the best policy, paying in added production now and in the future, and paying for itself many times, Armstrong concluded.

Hermleigh FFA Elects Dick Etheredge To Serve As President

Dick Etheredge was elected last week to serve as president this year of the Hermleigh chapter of the Future Farmers of America.

Elected at the same time were Alvis Tarter, vice-president; Jackie Roemisch, song leader; Robbie Robinson, treasurer; Neal Wilcox, sentinel; Billy Mack Davidson, secretary; Charles Smith, reporter; Morris Light, historian; and Clarence Stahl, parliamentarian.

Chapter sweetheart is Viola Roemisch. Jake Greene, agriculture instructor, is advisor of the chapter, which has 46 members.

Etheredge and Morris Light, a sophomore who won the Farm Bureau award as outstanding boy in the Hermleigh chapter, will leave Oct. 8 for Dallas, where they will attend the state fair for one day before going to Kansas City for the FFA national convention. Texas Electric Service Co. is paying the expenses of the boys to the convention, since the Hermleigh chapter won a $150 award for that purpose for outstanding achievement in farm electrification. This award was made in July at the state convention in San Antonio.

FARM AND RANCH

The Bureau of Census has set October and November as time for its farm census.

Questionnaires will be mailed to farmers in the near future for completing, and the information will later be compiled into this year's census of agriculture.

Among questions to be included in the questionnair are the number and size of farms, tenure, acreage of land in various uses, crops harvested, livestock inventory, production; expenditures for labor, machinery, feed, fertilizers, lime, petroleum fuels, and oil; information on the number of television sets, food freezers, piped running water, tractors, harvesting machines, autos, trucks, irrigation, conservation practices, farm value, mortgage debt, and cash rent.

FISHER FARMERS UNION

Joe Dismore, president of the Fisher County Farmers Union, says the next tax bill passed by Congress gives the farmer attention in two respects: He is able to charge off soil and water conservation improvements in amounts up to 25 per cent of gross income, and he can charge off part of depreciable farm improvements one year and part the next, if they run more than 25 per cent of his gross.

Dismore, however, contends that if farmers got a small break from the new bill, business got a big one in the form of a wide-open tax write-off concession. Under the law, he explains, business can set aside billions of tax-free dollars each year by labeling them for expansion and improvement. That will amount to some 64 billion dollars in the next few years, according to estimates, he said.

The farmer, the FCFU head says, got a few concessions but got no aid on personal exemptions, while big business has been given huge benefits at the time their earnings are highest in history. "Under our sliding scale of price support the price of the farmer's product is going to slide some more, but there will be few or small reductions in the price of the product the farmer buys back over the grocery and dry goods counter," he said.

"Food processors and manufacturers are big business in our country today," he added. "They do not seem to be lowering the price of the product they sell very much. However, they are demanding that the farmer put his product on the market at a cheaper price.

WHAT FCFU IS

The Fisher County group organized about four weeks ago and elected Dismore. David Williams of the Hobbs community is secretary. The organization now has about 97 farmer members and plans expansion soon. Dismore said the main objective of the union is to see that the farmer gets his fair share of the national income.

BUYS SHOW STOCK

From Hermleigh comes a note from Jake Greene, high school FFA advisor, that Butch Nachlinger, member of the chapter, has bought a calf from Dr. T. D. Young of Sweetwater to enter in the lightweight class of the Scurry County Junior Livestock Show and the Nolan County Livestock Show. The calf now weighs 450 pounds.

Nachlinger, Greene says, is also working five acres of cotton as a project and has a sow for pig production.

Alaniz Faces Trial Tomorrow In Waco

By WILBUR MARTIN

WACO, Oct. 2 (AP)—The case of a killing called a bungled political assassination unfolds again here Monday when Nago Alaniz goes on trial.

The attorney from Duval County is charged on three counts in the two-year-old "mistake" slaying of Jacob Floyd Jr.

Jacob Floyd Sr. said his son was killed by mistake; that the ambush was meant for him. He said the motive was "politics."

The three shots in the darkness behind the Floyd home in Alice, Sept. 8, 1952, triggered burning feuds in the stormy 79th Judicial District of South Texas.

The slaying of the student, 21, has echoed in the background as the turbulent politics of Duval County have spilled across Texas in a running series of investigations, charges, counter-charges and brawls.

The state claims the triggerman was a Mexican, Alfredo Cervantes. It claims Alaniz and Mario Sapet conspired with Cervantes to ambush the elder Floyd.

Sapet, a San Antonio bar owner and one-time Duval County deputy sheriff, was sentenced to 99 years last year after conviction as a conspirator in the slaying.

Cervantes, described as a flunky along San Antonio's produce row, has never been arrested. Mexico has been asked to hunt him.

Alaniz is being tried here on a change of venue. He is free on $15,000 bond.

Short, 38, and a natty dresser, Alaniz has claimed he heard of the murder plot against Floyd Sr. while in Rio Grande City and drove 90 miles an hour to reach Alice and tell Floyd of it.

Floyd has testified Alaniz called him to a secret meeting the night of the slaying and told him "hired killers" were waiting in the Floyd garage to kill you "now."

Floyd said Alaniz told him: "I am in on it. I have agreed to say the killer was with me. He has to have an alibi."

In the Sapet trial, the elder Floyd said Alaniz told him the murder plot was hatched because "They are afraid you will keep Judge Reams in office."

Dist. Judge Sam Reams had been defeated for reelection in 1952 by Woodrow Laughlin. A write-in campaign for Reams developed in the general election after the Floyd youth was killed. It was not successful.

Floyd testified Reams was also scheduled to be killed. No attempt was ever made.

In Sapet's trial, his attorneys accused the state of "trying George Parr" and not Sapet.

Parr, the long dominant political power in Duval County and the 79th District, has denied any knowledge of the shooting.

Floyd and Parr are bitter enemies.

Texas Rangers have been stationed in Duval County since the shooting. They were kept there because of the political turbulence between supporters of Parr and his opposition, the "Freedom party."

The fastest snake in the United States — the western whip snake — crawls at scarcely more than three miles an hour.

Ginning Total Tops 6,500

Cotton ginning is picking up all over the county, and this year's cotton crop is beginning to look as if it will hit fairly near early estimates.

Guesses before the harvest began ran from 11,000 up to about 13,000 on this year's crop for the county.

Already the gins have put out 6,518 bales, and most areas say the harvest is about half done. Holding back ginning in some parts of the county is lack of labor. Most ginners say some of their customers have said they could not find labor to harvest their crops. That is expected to be eased some within the next few days, however, as many farmers complete their harvest and the cotton pullers go on to other fields.

The weather has been slightly damp in the county during the last few days, but it has not been moist enough to injure the cotton, ginners say. Some ginners said farmers had to leave cotton in the fields about two days after a shower last week before they could pull it.

This week's ginning figures shows that the eight gins in the county have put out more than 2,700 bales in the last week.

By communities, the figures are: Snyder 2,103, Hermleigh 921, Ira-dale 863, Fluvanna 846, Ennis Grove 800, Ira 380, and Dunn 357.

Accidentally Gets In Cotton Business

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Eight-year-old Ann Dexter decided she wanted her own flower garden this year and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dexter, were happy to let their daughter go down to the store and pick out her own seed.

While helping his daughter clean out her flower bed this week, Dexter noticed some of the blooms on the plants looked peculiar. He checked further and found several cotton plants were growing in the garden.

Ann couldn't explain how she got the cotton seed but she's waiting anxiously now to harvest the crop.

C-C Agriculture Unit Sets Meeting Tuesday

The agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce will hold a meeting at the chamber office at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

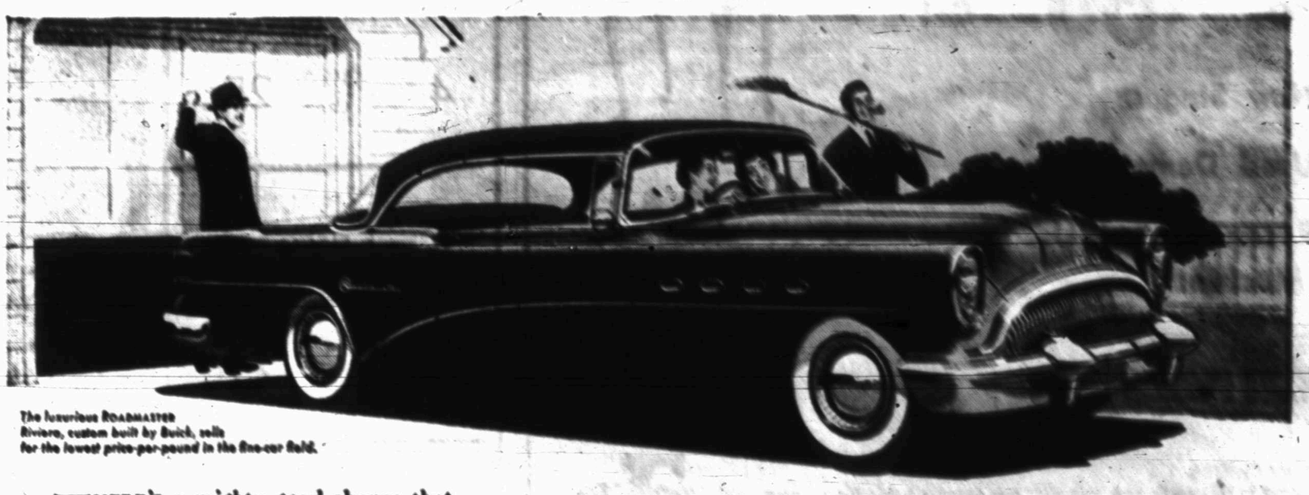

The group, headed by rancher Max West, will discuss the planned range tour, which is scheduled for sometime this fall.

The chamber has already held one tour, that one a general farm tour covering several crops and farm programs.

We're out to break a record in October!

The luxurious ROADMASTER Riviera, custom built by Buick, sells for the lowest price-per-pound in the fine-car field.

THERE'S a mighty good chance that October 1954 will be the biggest October in Buick history.

In fact, we know it will—if we can keep Buick sales rolling as they've been rolling thus far this year.

This is the car that has romped ahead of competition—climbed up into the circle of America's three top sales leaders.

It's the car that has been winning customers because it has the power, the ride, the room, and the styling that make it the buy of the year.

So we're in the mood to talk turkey, if you are in the market. Come in today for a car—and a deal—too good to miss.

THIS IS THE 3-WAY BONUS WE OFFER IN BUICK TODAY

1. Tomorrow's Styling
True year-ahead beauty with long, low glamor lines, keynoted by that spectacular new panoramic windshield that most other cars won't have till 1955 or later.

2. Higher Resale Value in the years to come
From the far-in-advance styling that will keep your Buick new and modern-looking well into the future, as other cars catch up.

3. Bigger Allowance from our volume business
For the huge sales success that has moved Buick into the circle of the "Big 3" means we can offer you a higher trade-in on your present car. Come in and see for yourself that we can make you a better deal.

Absorb the time to make your buy because—

Rain Guage Bare During September

The monthly averages of rainfall in Snyder since 1911 dropped again the last two months, due to only .81 of an inch falling during August and none during September.

A few sprinkles during the last month were not measurable. October began in the right spirit, however, with a small but measurable amount of rainfall between midnight Sept. 30 and the first dawn of the new month.

The fact that August's .81 of an inch was far below the previous 42-year average for that month dropped the average since 1911 from 2.20 to 2.17. Absence of rain during September changed the 42-year average of 2.30 inches to a 43-year average of 2.24.

We were bettered on both months during 1953 with 3.30 in August and .98 in September. In 1952, these months had .85 and 2.42 inches. The figures in 1951 were 1.42 and 2.36 and in 1950 they were .38 and 4.20.

The total rainfall in Snyder through September this year was 9.10 inches. The nine-month totals through September for the last four previous years: 10.30 in 1953, 12.34 in 1952, 9.74 in 1951, and 21.24 in 1950.

The average for October for the last 42 years is 2.33 inches.

Revolution Led To Newspaper In Texas

Editor's note — This is one of a series of articles to appear in the Daily News concerning history of the press in Texas. The author is Millard Cope, publisher of the Marshall News - Messenger, who prepared the series for publication in connection with observance of National Newspaper Week.

By MILLARD COPE

The Texas press, dedicated to liberty, was born in revolution in 1813 to inspire a plot to wrest freedom from Spain.

Fate, though, prevented the first printing press from being put into use. Its owners, pursuing a dubious diplomatic gamble, learned to their dismay that a co-conspirator had assumed dictatorial command. Political defeat called for their hasty retreat on the eve of publication at Nacogdoches.

Thus it was that the press hurriedly was removed from Texas to the safety of Natchitoches, La., denied the honor of printing, on Texas soil, the Gaceta de Texas:

1. The first newspaper written on Texas soil.
2. The first newspaper for which type was set in Texas.
3. The first newspaper addressed entirely to Texans and devoted exclusively to Texas affairs.
4. The first newspaper to avoid censorship in a Spanish colony in North America.

Actual printing of the Texas-set newspaper was accomplished in Louisiana, though dated at Nacogdoches, May 25, 1813.

Whether a single copy ever reached Texas is not known, nor has it been determined that a second issue ever came from the press. A copy of the Texas-composed Gaceta de Texas in State Department files at Washington has given proof that the paper, denied publication in Texas, finally achieved production even though without effective purpose.

The Gaceta de Texas was the product of William Shaler, United States special agent to Cuba and Mexico, and Jose Alvarez de Toledo, 34-year-old Cuban revolutionist. A printer named Moore is believed to have set the type.

Toledo, a veteran of filibustering plots against New Spain, found his way to Texas, with the printing press, determined to supplant Jose Bernardo Gutierrez de Lara as leader of the Gutierrez-Magee Expedition.

Shaler sided with Toledo in a diplomatic coup, the American agent being convinced that with Toledo in charge the interests of the United States would best be promoted. At the same time, Toledo's leadership would more nearly assure Mexican independence and would eliminate Gutierrez's apparent acceptance of French intrigue.

The Texas independence Shaler sought to assure had come on April 1, when the Republican army captured San Antonio de Bexar, the capital. There the royalist army capitulated to about 300 volunteers, commanded by a former American Army officer, Lt. William Augustus Magee.

Magee, leading a band of Mexican refugees, Indians, and Angelo-Americans, crossed into Texas in August, 1812, and set up a republican government at Nacogdoches. Victory at Bexar was followed by a Texas declaration of independence from Spain, the king's officials were put to brutal death, and the republicans embraced Guiterrez, excluding Anglo-American leaders.

Gutierrez assumed supreme authority as president-protector of the Texas Republic; the door of dependence upon the U.S. was closed; and Shaler and Toledo, their dreams shattered, fled Nacogdoches. Thus an already composed newspaper was prevented from being printed on Texas soil that May day in 1813.

* * *

Nearly three centuries before a printing press reached Texas soil, Cabeza de Vaca employed the printed word to advise his native Spain of the Texas in which he had traveled.

It was in 1542 that his Relacion came off the press at Zamora, Spain, to mark the first use of a printing press to tell of Texas.

Ironical it was, then, that the first printing press to come to Texas would be dedicated to destruction of the Spanish regime.

The first actual printing in Texas, concerning which there is a definite record, took place on Feb. 22, 1817, nearly four years after arrival of the ill-fated Shaler-Toledo press.

It was the Manifesto of Mena, printed on Galveston Island upon arrival there of Gen. Francisco Xavier Mena, Mexican revolutionist. It bore the imprint of Samuel Bangs, a native of Boston who thereby established himself as Texas' first printer.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 5, No. 133 — SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1954 — SECTION B

Among the many newcomers to Snyder are Mr. and Mrs. Sterling W. Price, 405 Thirtieth Street. Mrs. Price is shown above pouring cream for her husband's coffee while the couple spent last week in their home here made lonely by the absence of their five-year-old daughter, Rebecca Ann Price, who was visiting a grandmother in Abilene. Price is an acidizer for the Western Co. here. Prior to moving here he had worked with the same company in Odessa for the past year.

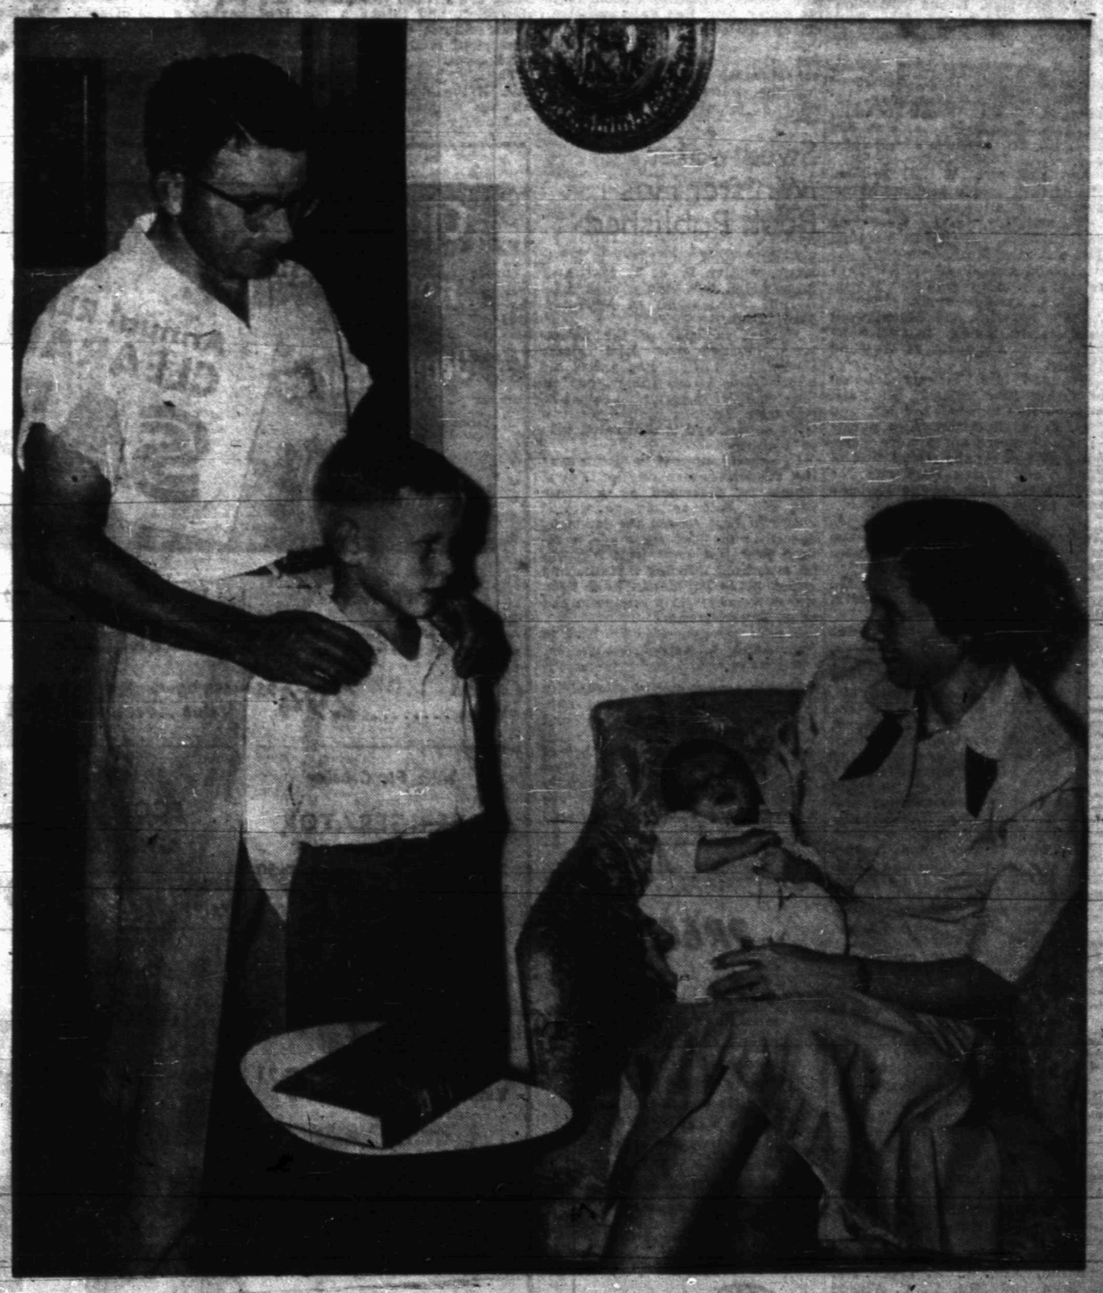

NEW SNYDERITES

Waving her greeting to Snyderites above is 21-months-old Kathy Hughes, shown with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hughes. They are one of many families new to Snyder. Hughes is an engineer for Sun Pipeline Co. The family moved here August 1 from Corpus Christi where he has been employed by Sun Pipeline for the past six and one-half years. To preserve good family relations, Hughes always attends the Thanksgiving Day Texas University-Texas A&M football game alone, since he is a graduate of A&M, and she a graduate of Texas U. (Lee Watson photographs)

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Morris, 1904 Coleman Avenue, and their one and one-half year old son, Michael Morris, are new Snyderites who moved here recently from Amarillo. Morris is a geologist for the Standard Oil Co. of Texas, with which he has been employed for the past three years.

A newcomer to newcomers here is little David S. Folk, six-weeks-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Folk, who live in the Humble Camp in southwest Snyder. Mr. and Mrs. Folk and their other son, seven-year-old Russell H. (Rusty) Folk, moved to Snyder from Hobbs, N.M., June 7. The assistant district chief clerk in charge of inventory for the Humble Oil & Refining Co.'s Snyder district production office here has been employed by the firm for the past eight years. Both are graduates of Texas Technological College.

ANNE FOGARTY

Anne Fogarty, queen of princess dresses, comes up with still another version of her well cut, carefully fitted models. This time, she does what looks like a very plain bodice, except that it is darted and molded to give the lines and outlines for which she is famous. The high-cut armhole and tight sleeve is another new point, all a part of the new upper-story simplicity. The full skirt has four gores set on the lowered bodice. Miss Forgarty originally showed this one in a patterned tweed but it is equally great in faille or brocade for more formal occasions, or in light weight wool for general wear. This pattern is cut to designer measurements, not standard pattern measurements. When ordering, please state bust, waist and hip measurements. Size 11 requires 3⅝ yards of 54 inch material for dress. To order Pattern No. 1196, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P.O. Box 535, G.P.O., Dept. S-13, New York 1, N.Y. State size. Send $1.00. Airmail handling twenty-five cents extra. New Pattern Booklet No. 11 available for twenty-five cents. Add four cents, for handling, if paid by check or money order.

Sweetwater Minister Has Book Published

A new book on travel in Bible lands, written by J. T. Marlin of Sweetwater, has been published by DeHoff Publications of Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Marlin, minister of the Sweetwater Fourth and Elm Street Church of Christ, has titled his book "Bible Lands Illustrated." It records brief historical sketches of countries he has visited in two trips abroad and is illustrated with 56 pictures.

Of special interest to Marlin was the hidden desert city of Petra, which he described as a "rose red city half as old as time."

Marlin first toured the lands he describes in 1950. He made a return tour last year with a party he organized. Moving pictures and slides made by Marlin have been shown to many civic groups in and near Sweetwater.

Marlin has dedicated his book to Mrs. Annie B. Aycock.

Here's a party-pretty salad: Mix finely shredded crisp green cabbage with cubed orange and French dressing. Pile the salad into scooped-out orange halves and sprinkle with paprika. The orange shells will be especially pretty if you scallop their edges with a sharp knife before filling with the slaw.

Quine Leaps From Minor Role To Director's Post

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In 1942, a young actor named Richard Quine played a minor role in a movie called "My Sister Eileen." Today Columbia is making "My Sister Eileen" again, and the director is named Richard Quine. Same guy.

This is one of those success stories that make you believe anybody can do anything if he has the will. Talent helps, too.

We fade in on a young actor from Detroit who was seeking his fortune in the big city. He landed in a Broadway show, "Very Warm For May", at 18, then drew the part of Frank Lippencott in "My Sister Eileen" with Shirley Booth. That brought him to Hollywood with an MGM contract.

One of his first films was a loan-out to Columbia to repeat as Frank Lippencott in "My Sister Eileen" with Rosalind Russell and Janet Blair. He continued at MGM as a juvenile, with time out for the Coast Guard during the war.

His acting fortunes didn't thrive after the war. Hollywood descended into its depression and Dick was dropped by MGM. He decided to seek other fields.

"I never had been entirely happy as an actor," he told me. "Whenever I saw myself on the screen, I always thought, 'if only I could have told myself what to do!'"

With a friend, he wrote, directed and produced a quickie called "Leather Gloves," which attracted some attention. He turned talent scout for Columbia. Then he decided he needed to know more about the movie business. So he took a job as dialogue director at $150 a week. Quite a comedown for an actor who had been getting $1,000 a week.

But he watched and learned and soon he was ready to fly solo as a director. He started with a musical melange called "Sunny Side" of the Street" and continued with some Mickey Rooney films that were low on budget but high in entertainment.

Recently he came through with a sleeper, "Pushover," with Fred MacMurray and Kim Novak. That won him the "Eileen" assignment.

In between Columbia assignments, Dick has managed to knock out "So This is Paris," a Tony Curtis musical, and the pilot film that sold Mickey Rooney's new show, "Hey Mulligan." He doesn't work on the Rooney show now but gets a comfortable check every week for his contribution.

I asked Dick if he didn't miss acting.

"Now and then," he admitted. "but I generally get into my pictures somehow. I supplied the fingersnaps for Billy Daniels number in one of them. And I did the narration in another picture. I got paid $70 for it. Then the screen actors guild notified me I was $183 in arrears in dues. It cost me $113 to do the narration."

One of Hollywood's youngest directors at 33, Quine has grown a mustache. But he still looks like a juvenile.

Parents Are Pressed To Keep Pace

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Today's children are so smart that it's a super-parent who can keep up with them, says Don A. Walter of Chicago, managing editor of the Children's Encyclopedia, Britannica junior.

It also keeps the encyclopedia editors and their army of research specialists hopping to provide the answers.

Today's kids ask such questions as this: "How does it feel to break the supersonic barrier?" "What do boys in Indochina do for fun?" "When can I have a space ship?" and "What's it like on Mars?"

"People always have underestimated the intelligence of children," says Walter, a former teacher from Baraboo, Wis., who has taught in grade schools and high schools all over the country, with periods of lecturing at the University of Kansas, Kansas State and Washburn universities.

"Boys and girls are always way ahead of what we think they can do and learn, and today they have such varied fields of interest that they're likely to frighten their parents."

World War II and the Korean War, along with atomic developments and other sensations of the last decade have given children so many new questions to ask that it's enough to stagger even a staff of encyclopedia experts, says Walter.

"We keep hundreds of people busy constantly revising our volumes, just to keep up with the ever-widening field of children's interests.

"Then there's television. This has changed the whole perspective of children's interests, widening them almost to the entire field of human knowledge.

"The parent who actually tries to answer all the answers the average boy or girl asks in a year will end up with a liberal education himself."

Walter believes too many textbooks are written from the adult's viewpoint, and thinks a board of junior editors could improve the product of many textbook publishing houses.

There's just one catch to all this. If the kids get any smarter, all the grown-up editors will be looking for jobs.

Newlyweds Are At Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hammitt of Rotan are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Jelinda Hammitt, to L. V. (Pete) Perryman, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Perryman of McCaulley.

The couple was married September 11 in Clovis, N.M., and are now at home in Snyder.

The bride is a 1954 graduate of Rotan High School, where she was a twirler with the Yellowhammer band. The bridegroom attended McCaulley schools and later served in the Navy.

You can make a quick sauce for plain cake or cottage pudding by heating a cup of apricot preserves with a little lemon rind and lemon juice. Top the dessert with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream. This amount of sauce will make enough for four servings of cake or pudding. The sauce may also be used over baked custard.

FOR SCHOOL OR PLAY!

Young-timer's favorite includes dress with puff or angel sleeves and panties. Contrasting collar or square neckline.

No. 2180 is cut in sizes 2, 4, 6, 8. Size 4: Dress with collar, panties, 2¾ yds. 35-in. with ⅜ yd. for collar.

Altrurian Daughters Study Americanism

Mrs. Harry Ward presided at the Altrurian Daughter's Club meeting September 29 at the Country Club. Mrs. Bill Atwood was the hostess.

The program topic was "What Is An American?" Mrs. P. W. Cloud read an essay, "I Speak For Democracy," that was written by Elizabeth Evans. The essay won a national Jaycee award last year.

The title of Mrs. D. K. Ratliff's speech was "I Am An American In My Heart." Mrs. N. R. Clements' speech was entitled "I Am An American In My Actions."

There were 15 members present.

SOCIETY SCRIBBLINGS

Diamond Anniversary Is Celebrated By Couple

By ANITA HALL

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. BERRY, 2304 Thirtieth Street, are celebrating their sixtieth wedding anniversary today. They were married September 30, 1894 in Johnson county. The wedding ceremony was performed in Mrs. Berry's home. Her bridal gown was of cream colored wool, styled in the fashion of that time with a tight fitting bodice and full - length sleeves. The sleeves, puffed at the shoulder, were of cream colored silk. The couple had known each other since childhood as their fathers owned adjoining farms.

They lived in Grandview about four years before coming to west Texas. They settled in Scurry county in 1900 and lived on their farm two miles west of Union until ten years ago when they moved into town.

The Berrys have eight sons and daughters, 21 grandchildren and 22 great - grandchildren. Their daughters are Mrs. JODIE BYNUM, Mrs. EVERETTE CLARKSON, Mrs. NOEL BANKS, Mrs. S. E. BATEMAN, Sundown, Mrs. J. W. BEGGS of Post. Their sons are ERNEST BERRY, JACK BERRY and GEORGE BERRY, Elida, N. M. The grandchildren are WAYNE BERRY, ELLEN DALE SNYDER, WANDA CROSBY, JOAN PAYNE, BILL BERRY, JOCELLE BURKS, BRADY T. BYNUM, HAL CLARKSON, GENE CLARKSON, RAMONA CARKSON, ELLEN JANE SHINN, SHIRLEY NOBLES, ADRIAN BANKS, KAY BANKS, DICKEY BEGGS, LILLIAN MINOR, ZONNELLE ROGERS, ANDY ERVIN, LEONARD ERVIN, WELDON ERVIN and BEVERLY BERRY.

More than 100 invitations have been set for the open house this afternoon honoring the Berrys. The only living member of their wedding party, Mrs. D. J. Berry of Fort Worth, is expected to attend.

Miss Virden Is Bride Of Rex Bomar

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Bomar are at home here following their recent marriage in Lovington, N. M.

The bride is the former Peggy Virden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Virden of Ballinger. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bomar of Talpha.

The Rev. Ed Hamilton, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Lovington, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride wore a two-piece ensemble of blue with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Peggy June Sullen and Tom Price, Tatum, N.M., were the couple's attendants.

Colleen Soles To Be Majorette At TCU

FORT WORTH, Oct. 2 — Colleen Soles of Snyder has been selected as one of six majorettes to march with the TCU Horned Frog band during the school's football shows this fall.

A junior at TCU, Miss Soles is majoring in speech, drama, and radio. She is the daughter of Adam Soles, Arah Rt.

Miss Roe Is Honored With Gift Tea At Country Club

Rose Marie Roe, bride-elect of A. C. Floyd, Jr., was honored with a gift tea September 25 at the Country Club.

In the receiving line with the honoree were her mother, Mrs. M. H. Roe, her aunt, Mrs. Hollis Browning of Plainview and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. C. N. Firestone of Clovis, N.M.

The bride-elect's colors of bronze and gold were used in the decorations. The serving table was covered with a gold colored taffeta cloth over which was a cloth of brown organdy. Yellow rosebuds adorned the ruffled edging of the floor-length cloth. The centerpiece featured yellow roses in a silver bowl. Gifts were displayed on tables spread with yellow cloths.

Mary Jim Stinson and Mary Ann Doak presided at the silver coffee service. They were assisted by Juanez Teaff.

Mrs. Ralph Wesson presented musical selections during the receiving hours. Mrs. M. M. O'Rear gave a group of readings which included "Love's Philosophy," "Any Wife or Husband," "Her Answer-Her Wedding Day," and several excerpts from Elizabeth Barrett Browning's "Sonnets to the Portugese." Jenning Cargile sang "Always" and "My Wonderful One" with piano accompaniment by Kay Watson. Mrs. Landis Lee accompanied Louise Crook as she sang "Sweetheart" and "Rose Marie."

About 125 guests registered in the bride's book.

Hostesses were Mrs. O. L. Nichols, Mrs. Silas Devenport, Mrs. H. H. Eiland, Mrs. Hollis Jones, Mrs. Melvin Newton, Mrs. Bill Teaff, Mrs. Lee T. Stinson, Mrs. Herman Doak, Mrs. L. P. Houston, Mrs. Charlie Youngblood, Mrs. P. W. Cloud, Mrs. S. L. Terry, Mrs. G. C. Coleman, Mrs. E. S. Donner, Mrs. Nolan von Roeder, Mrs. Jack Phillips, Mrs. Roy Stokes, Mrs. Renal Rosson and Mrs. A. WILL REVIEW BOOK

Mrs. T. D. Young of Sweetwater will be the reviewer at the first meeting of the Snyder Book Review Club. The club will meet Thursday at 3:00 p.m., in Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Young has been reviewing books for nine years and has selected several new publications to review which later became best-sellers. Her appearances here have met with popular aporoval and she was invited to make a return engagement.

QUICK-EASY SUPPER
. . . Tomato rarebit and rice with franks

Helps For Homemakers

Send your questions to "Helps for Homemakers," Snyder Daily News, or call 3-8486.

If you have the gang in some night for TV or just plain "talking," here is an ideal quick-easy supper. Set the franks to frying then start the rarebit and rice. Use packaged pre-cooked rice and your job is a cinch.

TOMATO RAREBIT AND RICE

1 1-3 cups (5-ounce package) pre-cooked rice
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups boiling water
1 can condensed tomato soup
1½ cups grated Cheddar cheese
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash of cayenne

Add packaged pre-cooked rice and salt to boiling water in saucepan. Mix just to moisten the rice. Let stand for 13 minutes. Meanwhile, heat soup over low heat (do not boil). Add grated cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Then stir in Worcestershire sauce and the cayenne. Serve over the rice. Makes 4 servings.

Houston's Polio Rises

HOUSTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Metropolitan Houston's polio count has risen to 406 with the reporting of three new cases, including a Houston man and his wife. Ted Wood, 26, and his wife, 21, are in Galena Park Hospital. There have been 18 deaths from polio in the area this year. Last year at this time, 166 cases and three deaths had been reported.

Out-Of-Town Visitors

Visiting Mrs. A. M. Curry, 3112 Avenue K, are her daughter, Allene Curry of Los Alamos, N.M. and her brother, Levi F. Teague of Dallas. Miss Curry, a former employe of the Daily News, works for the University of California at Los Alamos. She will spend three weeks here.

Mrs. Curry returned last week from Waxahachie where she attended funeral services last Sunday for her sister, Mrs. C. L. Verheyden. She was accompanied to Waxahachie by her son, Sykes Curry, Hobbs, N.M., and her daughter, Mrs. Herman D. Borden of Midland.

Ballets Are Scheduled

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 2 (AP)—The San Antonio Symphony will present two ballets during its 1954-55 season which will open Nov. 6. The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo will be presented March 7 and the London Festival Ballet Jan. 7.

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of THE SCURRY COUNTY TIMES for Oct. 3, 1929.)

Snyder closed up the entire city Friday to join in Snyder Day at the Scurry County Fair, and practically every business house closed its doors in one of the greatest celebrations ever held locally.

The fair which had opened the previous day drew a heavy attendance with much interest shown in the imense displays arranged in the various departments. Football was the big attraction Friday with the Tigers winning over their age-old rivals, Rotan, 20 to 0 before a crowd variously estimated at between 4,000 and 5,000 people. . .

Fluvanna, with an attractive booth containing a high quality of products, won first prize of $75 among the communities. Union took second place and $50 and German third and $25.

• • •

One of the greatest announcements to come out of Snyder High Schools comes from J. P. Jamison, head of the Vocational Agriculture class who will run butter fat tests on cream of whole milk for any one in Scurry County who so desires this information.

Mr. Jamison says the department now has a Babcock milk tester and is anxious to furnish this information.

Saturday, October 5, the curtain will ring down on the greastest subscription campaign ever conducted in West Texas.

During the past seven weeks the ladies whose names grace the list of contestants in the Times-Signal's great subscription campaign have been vieing with each other to decide who would be proclaimed winners of high honors and the two grand prizes. In all the Times-Signal will award over $1,800 in handsome prices, including two late model fully equipped Chevrolet cars valued at $735 each. . .

Next week's issue of the Times-Signal will give the complete count of votes and also the names of winners and their prices.

• • •

Scurry County ginnings up to Oct. 1, 1929, total 4,005 bales, according to the Fuller Cotton Oil Co.'s weekly report. By gins, the figures are as follows:

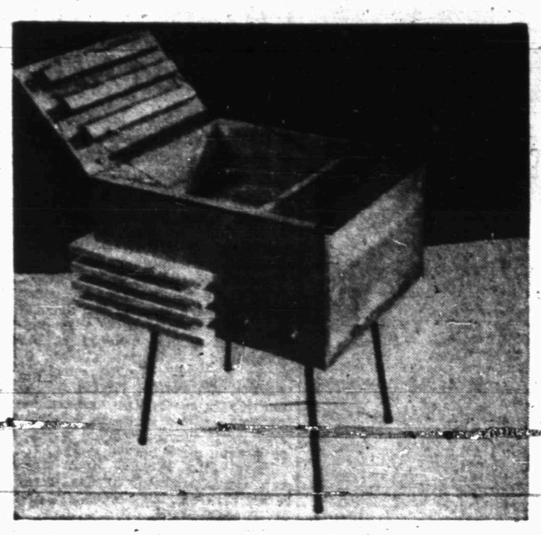

Snyder	1976
Hermleigh	504
Inadale	350
China Grove	348
Ira	318
Dunn	244
Camp Springs	138
Fluvanna	127

The last few days of last week Mrs. D. C. Bentley was kept in suspense by her daughters and daughters-in-law phoning each other and not telling her what they were talking about, and she was afraid to ask them for fear they were talking about her.

Sunday morning about 11 o'clock Mrs. Bentley and her daughter, Mrs. J. G. Biggs, and family went to Mrs. J. H. Rollins' where they met the rest of her children and their children and a few friends. From there they went to the Rollins home on Deep Creek, commonly known as the Thompson Dam, and there one of the best chicken dinners was spread that the writer has ever helped to eat. There were exactly 40 people who partook of the feast which was in honor of Mrs. Bentley's birthday.

DO IT YOURSELF

It's not too early to think about Christmas, and if there's a special lady on your gift list you can be sure that she will really appreciate this beautiful sewing cabinet. You'll be able to build it easily without expensive tools or material. The sewing cabinet is a project that even the most inexperienced woodworker can tackle without worry. A unique feature is the thread-holder section. Located near the doors, there is space for 72 spools. There is ample room for a great deal of fabric, and there is a removable spool for storage of yarn. The full story is found in Bill Baker's extra-simple Pattern No. 111. You can get it by sending $1 in cash, check or money order, to Bill Baker, Snyder Daily News, Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, Calif. Remember to ask for Pattern No. 1111.

Shriners Set To Present Navy Band

Snyder Shriners are preparing for presentation of the U.S. Navy Band here on Nov. 7.

The band, which is rated as possibly the top concert band in the country, has been booked for an appearance here on Nov. 7.

Three concerts will be presented on that date, two of them designed primarily for students. Tickets will be offered for sale in a number of surrounding cities, towns and communities, especially for the matinee performances scheduled for 2 p.m. and 4 p.m.

The evening concert will be held at 8:30 p.m.

In Snyder, ticket headquarters will be located in the Chamber of Commerce office. The tickets will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis. However, adults who purchase tickets for the evening concert may consult a chart at the office and select seats when they make purchases.

Ticket sales for each performance will continue only until the seating capacity of the High School auditorium is filled. There will be no standing room tickets sold.

Consequently, each person who buys a ticket will be assured that a seat will be available.

The student tickets for the matinee performances will sell for $1.20 each. Only 200 adult tickets will be sold for the matinee concerts, and these will be held for parents of students who wish to attend with their children.

For the evening show, the Shriners will have available 378 tickets for seats in the center section of the auditorium, priced at $3.60 each, and 725 tickets for seats on the sides of the building at $2.40 each.

Many school band directors in the area already have expressed interest in the concert, Shrine officials said, and a number of students from a radius of some 75 miles probably will attend.

The sale of tickets will begin on Oct. 25.

Table Setting Is Key To Personality Of Hostess

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

The way you set the table is a key to your personality, outlook and way of life, says Helen Chamberlin, of Seattle, a natural-born hostess who has made a career out of it.

"For instance," says this vibrant, sparkling westerner, "there's the traditional gal who clings to grandmother's damask and haviland china, even though she has no maid to serve a formal dinner. There's the slipshod one who takes the course of least resistance, and slops the food on the table in chipped dime-store dishes.

"There's the fussy type who uses a real lace tablecloth and priceless crystal, and then worries throughout the meal for fear one of her guests is going to spill or break something. In each case the table setting is a dead giveaway."

Mrs. Chamberlin aired her views while in New York preparing a series of 32 table settings for the modern living exposition being staged by the nation's lumber dealers at the Kingsbridge Armory. There's nothing timid, slipshod or traditional about Mrs. Chamberlin's table designs. She's as likely to use burlap as damask for table mats, she loves contemporary American dishes and unusual flower arrangements.

"There's a whole new trend in table settings, brought about by our new casual way of living," she explains. "Few people have servants any more, and this has made formal dinners impractical. The buffet and the semi-buffet have replaced the formal sit-down dinner. With this has come a new conception of using informal dishes, linen and silver."

Mrs. Chamberlin came upon her career somewhat by accident. A former newspaperwoman with a knack for entertaining, she was asked by an Oregon newspaper to design some table settings for a home show sponsored by the paper. Invitations from other organizations followed. All of a suden she found herself in business.

Now she spends a great part of each year traveling from home show to home show, accompanied by her unique table settings carefully packed in separate trunks, each complete down to the last teaspoon.

She represents only American manufacturers, and uses china, glassware, silver and linen made in the United States. Says she:

"Some of the best design in the world is being done right here in the good old U.S.A. For generations we've looked to Paris for fashions, to England for bone china, to Italy for Venetian glass and so on, until we've developed a national inferiority complex. American china and tableware is designed specifically for the American way of life."

"Your table should be as personal as your wardrobe," says Mrs. Chamberlin," and your supply of china should be just as versatile."

Child In San Antonio Is Scalded To Death

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 2 (AP)—Five-months-old Denis Fisher was scalded to death today while her mother bathed her in a kitchen sink at their home.

Mrs. Robert Fisher told police she was bathing Denise and her brother, Ricky, 2, and left them in the sink to go into a bedroom for some clothing.

Hearing screams, she ran back into the kitchen to find Denise sitting upright in the sink with scalding water pouring over her body. Firemen administered oxygen for 10 minutes. The child was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Expectant Mother Is Attacked In Her Home

DALLAS, Oct. 2 (AP)—A 20-year-old expectant mother said she was raped twice early today by a medium-built man who told her he would kill her if she screamed.

The woman, expecting a child within a month, said she awoke when the man entered her apartment by unlatching a screen door before her husband returned from work.

She said that after the man had raped her, he made her stand up and face a wall, while he wiped prints off furniture with a handkerchief.

TOP FASHION NEWS . . . The car coat with zip-up hood and quilted lining.

SOMETHING NEW . . . This short, saucy skirt has its own attached cotton shorts.

College Girls Set Fashion Pace In Smart New Cottons

It is a well-known fashion axiom that the college girl sets the pace. Many of the trends that come to the world of high-fashion originate on the campus.

Fashion reports this year say that the coed is picking cotton for fashions ranging from snug dormitory lounging pajamas to glamorous dresses suitable for the dean's tea.

Campuses throughout the country are seeing an invasion from Bermuda this year in the form of long shorts and the Bermuda kilt, a new skirt shortie the same length as the shorts. Bermuda shorts are favorites in cotton khaki, cotton plaids like the Black Watch green or Stuart red, and in soft corduroys. Some of the pert kilt skirts have their own attached underpants. Worn with both of these shorties are cotton ribbed, knee-high socks.

CAR COAT

The current craze for the foreign sports car has popularized a new kind of coat — the "sports car coat." The hooded coat has become a favorite for the open car. Many of these are designed in wind and rain resistant cotton, with natural, black and grey as most notable colors. The coats frequently are lined in contrasting plaid. The hood protects the woman's hair whether she is riding or walking.

SEASON-SPANNING FABRICS

Such season-spanning fabrics as cotton tweeds, dark ginghams, menswear suitings, cotton failles, damasks, khaki twills and textured cottons have captured the fancy of all modern women.

An accessory that rates high everywhere is the tote bag. Popular in velveteen and in plaid cotton, tote bags are ideal for any woman because there is plenty of room for storing all the odds and ends she accumulates in her purse.

Judges Oppose Gas Price Fix

DALLAS, Oct. 2 (AP)—The convention of the North and East Texas Assn. of County Judges and Commissioners ended today on a note of opposition to government price-fixing on natural gas.

Officials from 72 counties passed a resolution urging Congress to exempt independent natural gas producers from price-fixing by the Federal Power Commission, if the Supreme Court allows its decision in favor of such FPC authority to stand.

Rockwall County Judge Ralph Hall was named president. Commissioners Lynn Lawther of Dallas and Robert Bellows of Fannin County were elected vice presidents.

Attorney General John Ben Shepperd wrote the natural gas resolution. He said a federally fixed price would remove competition, cause re-adjustment of state tax revenues from natural gas, and might cause curtailment of road building and other state and county programs.

The convention also opposed a two-cent-a-gallon federal gasoline tax.

Breaded pork chops are delicious but you must make sure they are well done. To test, cut a small slit near the bone; if no trace of pink can be seen on the meat it is ready to serve.

Unorthodox Approach Pulls In Business For New Mexico Man

By SANKY TRIMBLE

TAOS, N. M., Oct. 2 (AP)—A character in a community of characters, Doughbelly Price has his own result-getting method of selling property.

He scares the stuffings out of his customers by telling them the unvarnished truth about a house. He throws in his opinion free.

Then, while they're still off balance, he likely as not gets them right on the dotted line.

After which, he goes back to writing another real estate ad or commenting on the affairs of the day in his column, which, if no one will print, he mimeographs and spreads around town himself.

Doughbelly is as well known in this northern New Mexico resort center as frontiersman Kit Carson was in his day here. He runs what he advertises far and wide as "Doughbelly's Clip Joint" and advises everyone not to bet on his being too honest "as you might lose."

Price can more easily list the things he hasn't done than those he has. He claims to have been a cowpuncher, bootlegger, bronc buster, rodeo rider, apartment house operator, gambler, night club operator, cook, politician and a few other assorted odds and ends.

He brags about how many times he has been in jail but says the last sentence was in 1929. "I am just as crooked as I ever was," he maintains, "but I am more careful."

But his colorful real estate business is what draws people to him, and cash to his pockets. Some of his advertisements go like this:

"You can stand to hear the price without fainting."

"Lovely place six months of the year. The other six, get out before you get snowed in."

"You might want it. I don't."

"Can be had for about $2500 and the rest in uneasy payments."

Doughbelly is a sawed off hunk of man with a suspicious resemblance to the late Will Rogers and a writing flair that patterns what the famous Oklahoman used to turn out.

Doughbelly says he has settled down in recent years. He claims not to know much about the artists and similar citizens around the town. "I'm a sort of Jerkel (sic) and Hyde guy, I guess," he says.

He is, too. Even the name Doughbelly doesn't fit. He's only got a very healthy suggestion of the middle-age paunch which in his case is long past due. And, by the testimony of bankers and businessmen, he's a shrewd operator not nearly as illiterate as he'd have you think.

For instance, he runs a sort of banking business for his friends the Taos Indians and the local Spanish-Americans. And he's the only man who knows how much he has on deposit or loan. And he won't give a customer a dime if he thinks it's going for too much whisky.

Doughbelly wrote a book not so long ago which he "respectfully dedicated to anyone that is simple minded enough to pay a dollar for it."

He also has run twice for the state House of Representatives — neither time successfully. He made his last bid on this personal platform:

"Dishonest enough to catch the other crooks.

"Ignorant enough to be frank.

"Noisy enough to be respected.

"And smart enough not to pass any more silly laws."

'Water Ghosts' Visit Islands

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Sentries on Nationalist islands off the Chinese Comunist mainland are seeing ghosts these nights—Red ones. "Water ghosts" is the name the Nationalists have given them. The United States calls them "frogmen." They are strong swimmers who raid by night.

Their job is to abduct Nationalist soldiers for intelligence purposes.

A qualified official source says they operate this way: eight to 10 of them, their faces painted to make them look like visitors from the nether world, approach an island by boat.

Some distance away, they swim quietly ashore, pounce upon a sentry, stifle his outcries, knock him unconscious and swim back with him to the boat.

The raiders carry only light arms and rarely are successful. But the Communists pulled one successful foray last month on Quemoy, Nationalist held island only seven miles from the mainland.

Red propaganda made it appear an invading army had landed on Quemoy. Here is the Nationalist version of the episode:

Eight water ghosts landed on the northwestern tip of Quemoy and decamped with a Nationalist soldier.

As they were pulling away in their boat, Nationalist troops ashore opened fire. As the night was dark, they could not tell whether they had inflicted any casualties. The water ghosts did not fire a shot.

An official who declined to be quoted by name observed: "For the Communists to have portrayed such an episode as a memorable victory creates something of a novelty in military history."

Periscopes Now Go Into Gas Ranges

Periscopes are now being built into gas ranges.

This unusual feature is appearing for the first time in the O'Keefe and Merritt Company's new "Hi-Vue" gas range model.

According to G. D. Boyle, O'Keefe and Merritt general sales manager, the Hi-Vue window, conveniently located in the backguard of the range, lets the busy homemaker check her baking at a glance, with no need to stoop and squint, no pause to open the oven door.

"By adapting the periscope principle to the modern gas range," said Boyle, "we are in effect providing the eye-level conveience of a door high oven. Emphasizing that O'Keefe and Merritt's Hi-Vue oven ranges have been extensively tested under actual kitchen conditions, he added:

"Since its introduction just a few months ago, the Hi-Vue has become one of the most popular models in the O'Keefe and Merritt line of deluxe gas ranges."

Other new features of the company's fall line of automatic gas ranges include the Low Temp (50 BTU) top burner and broiler — and all gas pilots.

The company will soon offer all of its deluxe models automatic burner control which will be known as ABC. This will give top burner control of the right, front burner for any fractional part of four hours and is an exclusive O'Keefe & Merritt feature, according to the manufacturer.

Also offered are two beautiful pastel colors for the O'Keefe & Merritt Company's deluxe ranges. The colors are sherwood green and stratford yellow. These ranges open up new horizons to the imaginative home decorator. Finished in titanium porcelain enamel, they are available in three models. The company also offers ranges in black, red and white, as before.

The company also developed the vanishing Shelf-Cover, Kool Kontrol Panel and Grillevator Broiler.

Demands Justice On Overtime Parking

BRISTOL, Conn. (AP)—Police Lt. Edward O'Connor said a man walked into headquarters yesterday and demanded a parking ticket.

O'Connor, who declined to identify the motorist quoted him thus:

"I saw a woman tagged for overtime parking. I was in the same location and was parked overtime but I got no ticket. How come? It just isn't fair."

O'Connor handed him a ticket and the man paid the fine.

Hurricanes In Gulf Give Short Notice

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 2 (AP)—Hurricanes in the western Gulf of Mexico this summer have given little notice of their arrival.

But they haven't actually been making like crazy or doing anything really new, says John Hagan of the Brownsville Weather Bureau.

The reason, hurricanes Alice, Barbara and Florence seemed to pop up overnight close to shore in the western Gulf is based on natural conditions that are different from the Atlantic where these storms make a long run for their target, he said.

In the Gulf there is relatively shallow water for a considerable distance offshore, but the shelf then plunges sharply to depths of 2,000 fathoms or more in some places.

A bunch of squalls over the central Gulf may be just that and no more so long as they are over the deep, cool water. But let them drift westward over the shallow shelf with its warmer water, and things are likely to happen, Hagan says.

Heat, which quickens air currents, and moisture are gathered from the water below. If there has been a tendency to form the sort of closed circulation that builds into a tropical disturbance or a hurricanee, this tendency will be given impetus.

In this fashion the sort of condition that resulted in hurricane Alice, which went inland 50 miles below Brownsville earlier this summer, can result. At 6 p.m. the night before Alice was located, the Weather Bureau at New Orleans, headquarters for hurricane-watching in the western Gulf, had its eye on a disturbed condition off the Mexican coast, but it was no hurriacne yet. At 4 a.m. New Orleans issued the storm announcement and Alice, with more rain than wind, moved inland that morning.

That's how fast they can happen in the western Gulf. The reason the same phenomenon doesn't occur in the Atlantic is that minor offshore disturbances haven't the same shallow warm-water conditions to feed on. Gulf water is eight or nine degrees warmer than Atlantic water anyway.

Hurricane Barbara, which went inshore on the Louisiana coast near Lake Charles, and hurricane Florence, which broke up as it reached the Mexican coast south of here, were other examples this summer of the condition peculiar to the western gulf.

These "quickies" don't have time to build up the really devastating winds that come out of a disturbance which has run a long course over open water. Although the Weather Bureau classes any wind of 75 miles an hour or more as hurricane velocity, old-timers who have been through numerous storms claim that "you ain't seen nuthin'" till the wind passes the 100-mile mark.

Not long ago there was no radar, no planes flying into the disturbances, and perhaps no reports at all if no ships happened to be in the vicinity.

Now they catch them early. It only seems late when your breakfast broadcast tells you to duck—Jill is coming.

Gas Co. Has Many Services

Are you the owner of a new, ultra-modern gas range?

Yes? Then stand by for a visit from the Lone Star Gas Company home economist serving your city.

She won't be calling to give you cooking lessons, unless you need and want them, that is. Rather, her purpose will be to show you how to get the most from your gas range of 1954-55 — a range as different from the range of your mother's day as day and night.

The modern timers, automatic clock controls, smokeless broilers, circulating heat ovens — these and many other new developments will be explained by the home economists.

Now, after you have learned why this new range of yours makes your kitchen completely modern, with emphasis on attractiveness, efficiency and economy, you may want to ask the home economist some questions about cooking.

How to cook a goose or a 50-pound turtle — if your husband is a hunter or fisherman. You may want to know the quantity of food needed to serve 100 or 1,000 guests. Perhaps you want to know how to plan entertainment for 25 of your daughter's friends.

Ask the question, then. The home economist will have the answer.

And the Lone Star home economics department's free service is also offered to many others, who may not be direct customers, through an extensive educational program, including work with public schools, colleges, Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls and other groups.

Other specific services include "Cooking With Gas" bulletins having a circulation of 45,000 copies each month; nutrition courses designed to provide properly balanced meals, cooking schools and cookery demonstrations before home economics classes, women's clubs and service groups.

Last year these Lone Star home economists contacted approximately 100,000 persons in pursuing their assignment of helping toward a "better standard of living through the use of modern gas appliances."

More than 3,000 soldiers died from exposure, illness and privation during Gen. Washington's Revolutionary War encampment at Valley Forge.

Hermleigh Schools Plan Savings Stamps Days

Hermleigh High School and elementary school have agreed to conduct weekly savings stamp days for this school year, according to Mrs. Evelyn Crowell of Dallas, general deputy of the U.S. Savings Bonds Division.

The department has set a goal of making the savings stamps available to 340,000 students in Texas this year.

Snyder Man Receives Degree At Illinois U.

Ralph L. Goodman of Snyder is among students at the University of Illinois who have earned degrees for summer graduation.

Goodman will receive his diploma by mail, since there is no commencement ceremony at the close of the summer session. He holds a bachelor of science degree.

Latest Flim Flam

HONEA PATH, S.C. (AP) —A flim-flam skin game is being worked on TV sets here.

R. L. Beasley Jr. said a man appeared at his home while he and Mrs. Beasley were at work, told neighbors he had come in response to a call from Beasley to get his TV set for repairs, took it away and hasn't been seen since.

One Killed, Four Hurt In Traffic Collision

DENISON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Lee Malone was killed and four persons were injured in a two-car collision near here last night.

His widow and their daughter, Mary Ann, were injured. Marion Chandler and Glenn Bock, Sherman, in the other car, also were hurt.

Construction Gains In Southwest Area

DALLAS, Oct. 2 (AP)—A decline of 1 per cent in department store sales in the Southwest but a 12 per cent gain in construction contracts for August, 1954, compared to August, 1953, were reported today by the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank.

The review reported loans rose 4 per cent during the five weeks ended Sept. 22. Investments declined while total deposits increased.

The review said hot, dry weather in September intensified the drought in most areas. Ranges and pastures continued to deteriorate. Prices of cotton and some classes of cattle rose in September, while prices of most other farm commodities declined.

Construction contracts in the district during August was 6 per cent below July but 12 per cent above August, 1953.

Business In State Declines In August

AUSTIN, Oct. 2 (AP)—Texas business slumped 2 per cent in August under the July level, the University of Texas reported today.

The business research bureau director, John Stockton, said the slow down in the rate of improvement in Texas business parallels "a pronounced feeling of hesitancy" in the national economic picture.

Increases included total electric power consumption, up 2 per cent; crude oil runs to stills, 1 per cent; and authorized building, 1 per cent.

Drops included retail sales, down 4 per cent; crude petroleum production, 3 per cent; ordinary life insurance sales, 2 per cent; and miscellaneous freight carloadings, 2 per cent.

On a normal school day, 115,000 school buses are used to take U. S. children to school.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 5, No. 133 | SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1954 | SECTION C

'Matchless' Lighting Is Fall Feature

Automatic "matchless" lighting late models of Florence gas ranges features the fall lines of Florence gas ranges.

Top burners light at the twist of a knob and the high-speed, fully automatic oven burner is controlled from an electric clock on the range backguard.

For the first time, Florence is introducing its new Roto-Broiler-cue, a removable unit which fits into the broiler compartment of the 40-inch range line.

This patented feature is described as a rotisserie cooker which produces a flavor in meats and poultry "approximating that obtained in outdoor barbecuing."

It is pointed out that any meat cooked by the rostisserie method will retain more of its natural juices and flavor due to the self-vasting action and at the same time there will be less shrinkage.

Completely new in appearance, are designed to harmonize with today's modern kitchen. The fall line includes models in pastel colors of Sherwood Green and Stratford Yellow, as well as one chrome top model. Of the nineteen models being offered, six bear the "C-P" seal designating highest standards of cooking performance.

The Florence gas range offers a family-size oven with precision temperatures controlled by a combination thermostat and gas cock. It contains a double-glass look-in window; the inner glass is removable for easy cleaning. Oven racks pull out to safety stops. Other oven features include a one-piece blue-black porcelained lining with rounded corners for ease in cleaning and an oven light with control switch on the range backguard.

A stow-away cutlery drawer is located in the top left storage compartment. It is ideal for forks, spoons, spatulas, etc., used in top-of-the-stove cooking.

SEPARATE UNITS PROVING POPULAR IN MANY HOMES

The extremely modern "arRANGEable" gas cooking units, now offered by the George D. Roper Corporation, are proving popular with America's discerning homemakers.

Consisting of an oven-broiler unit and as many two-burner top cooking units as the housewife desires, the "arRANGEable" units are ideal for the new, modern home or remodeled kitchen.

The oven-broiler unit is available as fully-automatic or with manual ignition. The top burner unit lights instantly.

The oven broiler positions in the wall at any convenient level. The top burners are placed in counter tops or islands.

The "arRANGEable" offers flexibility in kitchen planning. It permits the housewife to put her cooking exactly where she wants it. It also features the smartly modern, built-in appearance.

Shopping Now Done In Home

Preliminary shopping for a modern gas range may be done in the home this year.

Gas range manufacturers and dealers, and the gas utilities — through newspaper, radio and television advertising — will bring these new, revolutionary - type ranges directly to the breakfast table and the living room for the homemaker's inspection.

The chief purpose of this year's advertising program is to make it easier for the homemaker to evaluate the many outstanding qualities of the gas ranges to be unvieled this fall. These features—plus the economy values of modern-day gas range kitchens — are described with great clarity.

The homemaker, following this preliminary shopping tour in her breakfast nook or living room, will be in position to map her shopping tour to the display floors of the various gas range dealers, where she will make her final decision after having inspected the outstanding fall models.

Old Stove Roundup To Be Real Field Day For All Homemakers

The homemaker will enjoy a field day during this year's October - November Old Stove Round-Up.

Every gas range dealer is offering new, vastly-improved models designed to fit the needs of modern living in the home of today and tomorrow.

Hear this! There are ranges with periscope windows in the range tops, windows offering a full, unobstructed view of the oven interior from an erect position.

Top burner timer controls, perfected after 25 years of research, are standard equipment on many ranges.

A micro-jet pilot, made from a small stainless hypodermic needle, is only one of several improvements offered by one range manufacturer. The flame is no larger than the bead on a hatpin. Cool? Of course!

Some dealers are featuring gas ranges equipped with ringer-operated fold-a-way shelves and vanishing griddle tops with built-in grease shields.

Prospective owners of new gas ranges will see a one-pound griddle grease catcher which, when full, activates a warning light on the manifold panel.

Many ovens feature side circulation, designed to eliminate cold corners and loss of circulation.

Automatic clock controls will be standard equipment on virtually all models.

There is a gas range that cooks, then automatically washes, dries (and rinses) all dinner dishes for eight persons in minutes.

Homemakers will see a new development in gas cookery — a range featuring a separate built-in rotisserie, or barbecue cooker, complete with revolving skewer.

Oven cleaning is made easy by a "Lift-off" oven door. This door is easily removed from the range, without the aid of any tools.

One new range is designed in such a manner that it may be completely dismantled for more effective cleaning.

Built-in units, now making such attractive and efficient additions to many modern homes, are being featured by many builders.

There are ranges in solid colors, colors designed to fit individual tastes in home furnishing.

And there are other improvements to numerous to mention. The veteran homemaker, the October bride, the home economics teacher, all must inspect these fine ranges of today and tomorrow on the display floors. Only by visiting dealer showroms and inspecting the almost unlimited number of new, improved gas ranges can the prospective owner appreciate the many improvements incorporated in the various models — improvements made to insure modern living in the modern home.

Now You Can See What's Cooking

What's cooking?

This question is answered promptly by the exclusive "Top-Vue" oven window which is among innovations on new models of Detroit Jewel gas ranges.

The oven window is described as the modern, easy way to "see what's cooking." It eliminates squinting and stooping to look into the glass in the oven door. All the housewife need do is peek through the to poven window and she immediately can see what is cooking and how it is cooking.

Many other features of convenience, comfort, economy and ease in cooking are contained in the late Detroit Jewel gas range models.

An "Oven-Ready" light signals ready to use. This special signaling device is located on the range backguard, and when the thermostat is turned on and reaches the desired temperatures, a light flashes. This indicates the oven has reached the desired heat on which the thermostat has been set.

The automatic clock-controlled oven cooks, bakes or roasts entire meals. It turns on and shuts off the oven, all automatically. More efficient insulation keeps sides of the range cooler; this means cooler kitchens and cooler cooks. It also provides quicker even heat and more even temperatures.

Exclusive "signa-Dials" tell at a glance which burners are on and how high — even from across the room. Amont of gas that is on is shown by a red indicator on the valve panel of the range.

The "Handee-Hi" infra-red broiler broils steaks and chops faster and better. The broiler, placed conveniently high, is easy to clean. Detroit Jewel gas ranges are equipped with extra large ovens which will easily hold the largest roaster. Oven cooking temperatures are quickly reached and kept.

The new fall Detroit Jewel models feature the "Mrs. America Line." These ranges are functionally designed with every cooking convenience. They are completely automatic and easy to keep clean. "Simmer-Kook" top burners, with seperate simmer centers are guaranteed for life.

Standard equipment on the ranges include a porcelain finished, removable sanitary oven tray, broiler pan with separate smokeless grill, large utility compartment, recessed "toe room" base, flush-to-wall construction, porclain drip pans under top burners, automatic top burner lighters and oven heat control. The ovens are completely insulated with Fiberglass.

Adjustments Made Easily

Advanced new multi-port burner jets plus micrometer needle valves which given an infinite choice of accurate heat adjustments are among the convenience features of the Norge gas range line for fall showing.

Click-stop burners controls select exact cooking speeds from simmer to high. Controls have a self-locking safety feature.

The Norge top model gas range has a three-way griddle top. Insertion of a tray and grate in the griddle's space provides a fifth burner. A handy procelain cover makes the griddle space available for a working area.

New type Infinitrol burners, utilize more heat from the gas fuel. The horizontal flame ring "scrubs" utensil bottom, providing faster, thriftier cooking.

Burner units, oven vents on the backguard panel, chrome self supports, and oven bottom can be removed for cleaning.

The new Norge gas range line, which includes a 41-inch double oven, was built to the specifications of several thousand housewives who participated in a nationwide range survey conducted by the Norge Division of the Borg-Warner Corporation, Chicago.

Features preferred by homemakers and included in the new Norge ranges are:

1. Two ovens to permit baking and broiling at the same time.
2. An adjustable, cross-top lamp which completely lights the working surface of the range.
3. Waist-high broilers.
4. Divided top working surface, and provisions for a griddle or a fifth unit.
5. Appliance outlets and clock timers.
6. Easier to clean range burners which give off less heat and make for a cooler kitchen.
7. Styling in keeping with modern living.

Console Ranges Get Copper Finish

The gleam of copper need no longer be confined to pots and pans, but can play an important part in kitchen decoration.

This is now possible because Chambers of Shelbyville, Indiana, one of the nation's leading gas range manufacturers, has developed a special antique copper finish for console ranges.

All stains and food particles can be removed simply by washing with warm water and any standard detergent, without need of a special copper cleanser or scouring pads.

Editors and fashion stylists describe the new development as a perfect complement for copper and wrought iron kitchen accessories.

Saves Three Years

DES MOINES (AP) — When Mrs. Betty Keasling of Fremont, Iowa, bought a sewing machine here, she paid for it with 72 Liberty Bell half dollars, 700 Roosevelt dimes and 2,558 pennies. She said she had been saving for the machine for three years.

Makers Plan Many Gifts

Free gifts of comfort and efficiency items will be made to purchasers of many of the new gas ranges during the October-November Old Stove Round-Up.

Children accompanying their parents to dealers display floors will receive a wide assortment of attractive and serviceable toys.

One gas range manufacturer, for example, is making available to its dealers a "pleasure chest" consisting of an eight-cup vacuum coffee maker with five plastic rivets and four two-cut containers. Many of these dealers will give the pleasure chest to the purchasers of new gas ranges.

Dealers handling another popular line of gas ranges will give dual-controlled electric blankets. These blankets will be in four colors, ancient rose, forest green, sapphire blue and yellow.

A rotisserie and broiler cookbook containing 62 pages of recipes will be given with each purchase of another popular gas range.

Mixing bowls, pots, pans and knife sets are among other gift items purchasers of new gas ranges will receive.

Modern Gas Ranges Have New Controls

Practical gas range controls that automatically time and shut off individual top burners and ovens will be available on many of the latest model gas ranges being offered this fall.

This new invention, developed by Robertshaw-Fulton, provides dependable time control. The invention passes on to homemakers important savings in time, work, utensils, fuel, food and worry.

The new controls, known as the Pot-watcher (for top burners) and Temp 'n Time (for ovens) enable homemakers simply to adjust the flame or thermostat to the required cooking heat, set the timing mechanism which is combined on one knob with the gas dial, and then forget about the food while it is cooking. The new controls automatically shut off the gas at the end of the desired time.

With the new controls to do their remembering for them, homemakers can avoid boil - overs and scorched pots. Moreover, the timers should make possible lower fuel and food bills, since overcooking is less likely.

Also important are the savings in time and worry afforded by the new Pot-watcher and Temp 'n Time. Homemakers are now freed to do other tasks around the home while cooking meals. As an added convenience to the homemaker, both new controls were designed to operate independently of the timing mechanism. For timing cooking on the top burner, the Potwatcher can be set to shut off the gas after any period up to one hour in one minute intervals. The new oven control can be set at 15 minute intervals to shut off the gas after any period up to four hours.

Service tests have indicated that the new timing mechanism will perform dependably over many years of kitchen duty.

Hailed as "one of the greatest advances in cooking in recent years" by the American Gas Association, the Potwatcher and Temp 'n Time were said by an AGA spokesman to "ad a new dimension to the accepted advantages of gas cooking — speed, cleanliness, precise control of heat, and thrift.

plus:

INSTANT SPEED

Faster than non-flame methods, instant Gas saves precious minutes every day — never strains your patience.

101 INSTANT SETTINGS

Frying and simmering operations — candy and sauce making — require exact settings. Only Gas gives all you need.

SMOKELESS BROILING

No need to leave a Gas broiler door open — flame consumes food vapors. Broiling with Gas is cleaner — cooler — smokeless!

FLAME KISSED FLAVOR

Gas flame can sear steaks, seal juices inside, and leave the center rare or medium. There's no broiling like flame broiling for flavor.

ECONOMY

In most areas on Lone Star Gas System, Gas is cheaper 4-to-1 than non-flame cooking. Gas ranges cost less to buy and install also.

SUMMER COOKING

Tiny controllable points of flame keep your coffee warm — heat small and tiny vessels. They make waterless, vitamin-saving cookery easier, too.

It's Automatic Plus. Gas cooking tops, oven and broiler build into cabinets to save space and stooping. Only Gas gives you a separate broiler beneath the fully automatic oven. You get this advance design only with '55 Automatic Plus Built-In Gas Ranges.

Range Can Be Dismantled For Cleaning From Top To Bottom

Gas ranges that can be dismantled from top to bottom so the housewife may clean their individual parts in the kitchen sink are manufactured by the Caloric Stove Corporation of Topton, Pennsylvania. From this stems the company's slogan: "America's Easiest Ranges to Keep Clean."

Grates, splash plans that catch spillovers, burners and other parts lift right out. For instance, the entire broiler may be removed by flipping the side latches. The entire manifold panel across the range front can be removed in a second. The oven bottom is also removable and, after cleaning, a spring snap and channel lock it firmly back into position.

Every Caloric gas range, from apartment size to the largest fully automatic model, is finished in porcelian enamel inside and out. All white parts are finished in tripled-coated, acid resisting porcelain enamel. This smooth, durable surface, outside and inside, wipes clean in a jiffy.

Caloric gas ranges are color-styled for each individual kitchen. From twelve range handle colors, the housewife may select the one which will carry out her kitchen color scheme. The colors range from vermillion to gold and from royal blue to aspen green. The handles are detachable.

Caloric gas ranges light without matches, cook while the housewife is out, control oven heat, time top-of-range cooking and measure top burner heat — all automatically.

A solid fame of heavy gauge steel, from top to base and from side to side supports every Caloric gas range. The burner box is all porcelain enamel to prevent rusting in this most vulnerable part of a range. Smooth, rounded corners make the burner box easy to wipe clean. A big-thick layer of Fiberglass insulation encloses the range oven. This insulation is grease-proof, fire-proof and pest-proof and keeps the heat where it belongs — in the oven and out of the kitchen. The oven door spring is located away from the heat zone to prevent loss of tension.

Caloric gas ranges are equipped with numerous other features desired by housewifes. These include a broiler that moves forward as the broiler door is opened, so the food may be observed without touching the broiler pan; adjustable broiling pan, seamless oven with, rounded corners, "no-tilt" oven racks, an "Observador" oven window with oven light and an "Even Heat" aluminum griddle. The griddle fits over any two burners without moving grates and is scientifically designed to heat evenly over the entire surface to avoid lukewarm corners and scorching center. vb cmf cmf

Newest Range Washes Dishes

A gas range that washes dishes! Yes, it's true, there is such a range — the Universal. And it offers kitchen space-saving so new, so different, so conviently practical you have to see it to believe it.

Actually, it is a mobile dishwasher in a range. Equipped with rubber tires and ball bearing wheels, this mobile unit disappears into the range when not in use.

At dishwashing time, the housewife simple rolls it to the sink and plugs it in. No extra plumbing or installation is necessary.

It automatically washes, rinses and dries all dinner dishes for eight persons in minutes.

The dishwasher in a range has 100-piece capacity. It softens water automatically, washes, rinses, sterilizes and dries spotlessly.

It uses only 4½ gallons of water for the complete cycle, and maintains its own water pressure regardless of local conditions.
