Airlift brings out 165; Talks to begin Sunday

■ As U.S. President George Bush flies to Helsinki, Finland, for Sunday talks with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev, Americans freed from Kuwait relate the fears of life in occupied territory.

By Laura King
Associated Press Writer

A U.S.-chartered airlift plucked 165 Americans from occupied Kuwait on Friday and carried them to safety in Jordan, raising hopes the pace of freedom flights might quicken. One arriving American said: "It's terrible there."

A Jordanian border official said 225,000 Egyptian refugees were waiting to cross from Iraq but that Jordan was holding them back because it was overwhelmed by the 100,000 refugees already stranded in its desert.

As the Iraqi occupation of Kuwait stretched into a sixth week, President Bush was flying Friday night to Helsinki, Finland, where he will meet with Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev on Sunday to try to break the desert deadlock.

The State Department meanwhile said Friday night the United States would "view with utmost seriousness" any Iraqi-sponsored terrorism.

In diplomatic circles, such language is considered a grave warning of severe consequences.

Spokesman Mark Dillen, when asked why the statement was issued at the unusual hour of 8:30 p.m. EDT, said only, it "simply updates and further draws attention to the phenomena described in the statement." He said the department did not know of any specific or general, "credible" terrorist threat.

U.S. officials say the 100,000-strong American force in the Persian Gulf region is costing about $1 billion a month, and Japan, South Korea and Kuwait on Friday promised financial aid to defray the cost.

Kuwait's ousted royal rulers pledged $5 billion, and one U.S. official said Japan was being asked for "billions of dollars." No other dollar figures were given.

In Kuwait, a few foreign embassies — including the U.S. mission — were still defying a 2-week-old Iraqi order to shut their doors. But without power, water, telephone service or food, the diplomats were being forced to retreat. Norway said it planned to evacuate its embassy Saturday.

The embassies have tried to stay open in part to avoid the appearance of having accepted Iraq's annexation of the emirate, and in part to try to provide protection to their citizens.

But there was less and less they could do to help. Americans arriving in the Jordanian capital of Amman on Friday aboard a U.S.-chartered Iraqi Airways jet described desperate conditions.

Dillen, of the State Department, put the number of Americans on the flight at 165, most of them women and children, and said there also were a few other foreigners.

Oil issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Energy Secretary James Watkins met representatives from oil producing states Friday to discuss ways that domestic oil production might be increased, department officials said.

The meeting was attended by officials from states belonging to the 29-member Interstate Oil Compact Commission, which is chaired by Wyoming Gov. Mike Sullivan.

MC, UTPB offer course on reading

By Myra Lee Salcedo
Staff Writer

It's National Newspaper Literacy Day and two area institutions of higher learning have banded together to educate teachers on diagnosing reading problems.

The University of Texas of the Permian Basin is offering a reading diagnosis masters level course at Midland College beginning Wednesday. Although other universities have offered courses at MC, it's the first time ever a masters level course has been provided at MC by UTPB, according to Raymond Yell, vice president of instruction.

"It really is a first," said H.A. Tuck, MC spokesperson.

It seems fitting that the two learning institutions would unite in the spirit of promoting literacy.

It's estimated that between one and two people out of every 10 in Midland County cannot read these words.

But inability to read is a nationwide problem. According to the United States Census Bureau, there may be as many as 21 million functionally illiterate adults. A recent estimate from the U.S. Department of Education put that number at 26 million.

Local SAT scores show improvement

By Myra Lee Salcedo
Staff Writer

Despite the problems of overcrowded schools and the worry over an impending bond issue, Midland school teachers and administrators have reason to pause and pat their collective backs.

Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores are in and Midland Independent School District high school students topped state and national averages, soaring an average of 20 points per student.

"This caliber of output is remarkable when you consider our district's input factors," said Joe Baressi, MISD superintendent. "We spend $500 less per student than the state average and $1,000 less per student than the national average."

MISD's mean score for mathematics rose from 465 last year to 487 this year. The state mean SAT math score was 461, according to the Texas Education Agency (TEA). MISD's mean verbal score increased from 431 to 446. The state mean verbal score was 413, the TEA said.

According to a TEA spokesperson,

Film may tell story of war hero

■ Despite discriminatory policies that confined him in a ship's kitchen, black sailor Doris Miller shot down four Japanese planes during the attack on Pearl Harbor — and that feat may result in a television movie about the hero.

On Nov. 24, 1943, the USS Liscome Bay was torpedoed by a Japanese submarine near the Gilbert Islands and went down with 646 sailors aboard.

Among them was Doris Miller, a black sailor whose exploits at Pearl Harbor less than two years earlier had earned him the title of "first American hero of World War II."

Miller, who was 23 when he was killed in action, didn't leave behind any children to carry on his legacy.

But he did leave behind family, and a generation later they still recall with pride the heroics of the burly "mess attendant" who distinguished himself during the Pearl Harbor raid.

"He could have hid," said Gerald Miller, one of Doris' 15 or so surviving nephews and nieces. "He could have stayed down there cooking bacon and eggs."

Nuns must choose successor for 'a saint'

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — The nuns of Mother Teresa's Missionaries of Charity have gathered to elect a successor to "a saint."

Pleading old age and ill health, Mother Teresa is stepping down as head of her order two weeks after her 80th birthday and a year after she suffered a near-fatal heart attack.

Pope John Paul II, who had rejected her earlier pleas to step aside, accepted her resignation last March.

Her successor is expected to be one of the six nuns who serve on the council administering the order, which operate 430 homes in 95 countries under the mission to "help the poorest of the poor" — lepers, the severely handicapped and maimed and abandoned infants.

More than 100 nuns are expected to cast secret ballots Saturday at the Kennedy Center for retarded women and children in Calcutta, where the Yugoslavian-born Mother Teresa founded the order in the late 1940s.

The order's new superior general will be announced at the Vatican after the pope approves the decision.

The delegates have been in an eight-day period of prayer, reflection and religious instruction. They are forbidden to even discuss the election among themselves or with outsiders.

The Missionaries of Charity grew from Mother Teresa's calling 43 years ago to leave convent teaching and plunge into Calcutta's most impoverished sections. She became known as "the saint of the gutters."

In 1982, she helped evacuate mentally retarded children from Beirut, Lebanon, during the height of battles between Israeli troops and the Palestine Liberation Organization. Her order has also stressed Vatican-approved natural family planning methods despite the severe overpopulation in India and other nations.

Shooting

Staff Reports

A Midland couple remained in jail Friday in connection with a shooting Wednesday evening at the air terminal post office, 10000 Sloan Field, federal officials said.

Lonnie Joe Foster, 43, and Lois Marie Foster, 39, who reside at 9501 E. Highway 80, made an initial appearance on Friday before federal magistrate Robert R. Sykes. A motion was filed to detain the two without bond pending a detention hearing scheduled for Tuesday.

The Fosters reportedly turned themselves over to authorities following a shooting incident that resulted in minor injuries to John Ray McGraw, 43, and Glenda Sue Williams, 18.

According to officials, the victims were sitting in the cab of a mail truck at the time of the shooting. One of several shots fired from a .22-caliber revolver broke out the driver's side window resulting in lacerations sustained by the victims.

The Fosters have been charged with "forcible assault on a contract postal employee enhance by use of a dangerous weapon," federal officials said. Additional charges are expected to be filed at the time of the detention hearing, officials added.

The shooting occurred as a result of a family disagreement, officials said.

Midland police arrested Bruce Marshall Lewins, 20, of Midland on Thursday in the 1200 block of Missouri Avenue in connection with a burglary of a habitation that occurred shortly before his apprehension.

Burglary

A Midland man was in jail Friday in connection with a burglary after he was spotted riding a bicycle and carrying a VCR inside a pillowcase on Thursday, police said.

Bruce Marshall Lewins, 20, 1810 Cloverdale Road, remained in jail on a $2,500 bond set by Justice of the Peace Keith Jobe on a charge of burglary of a habitation, according to officials.

The suspect was observed about 1 p.m. riding the bike when an officer attempted to speak with the suspect, who ran off from the policeman.

A chase ensued and the suspect was apprehended in the 1200 block of Missouri Avenue in connection with the burglary of a home in the 1900 block of Holloway Ave., police said.

The VCR was valued at $300 and a television remote control valued at $100 also was taken.

Arrested

Police said they arrested a suspect after a Midland resident walked in on an apparent burglary at his home about 10 a.m. Thursday.

James Everett Price, 40, 1914 Jackson St., remained in jail Friday charged with burglary of a habitation. Bond was set at $7,500 by Justice of the Peace Keith Jobe.

The burglary was reported after Donny Leaton found his VCR on his kitchen counter and became suspicious. Leaton then began checking his residence, located in the 4000 block of Avondale Drive, when he noticed a man running from a bedroom and out the front door, police said.

The burglar fled in an older model oldsmobile that was parked near the home and Leaton called the police.

Price was arrested at the Oasis Club, 3101 Bankhead Highway, after police noticed a 1976 Oldsmobile — believed to be the same vehicle he was driving — pull into the parking lot of the club.

Rape

ODESSA — A 21-year-old woman reported that she was raped about 11:50 p.m. Wednesday at her apartment located in northeast Odessa, police said.

The woman told police she was raped by a 26-year-old Midland man.

The woman was reportedly on a date with the man Wednesday evening. When they arrived at her home, he insisted on being invited inside, she said. Once inside, the victim said she excused herself to another room.

Upon returning, she found the suspect partially undressed. He reportedly pulled her on the couch, pinned her down, and sexually assaulted her before dressing and leaving.

Police are continuing an investigation into the incident.

Escape

Law enforcement officials are searching for a female inmate who escaped after walking out of the 238th District Courtroom about 9:20 a.m. Friday, officials said.

Diana Rose Perez, 32, exited the fourth floor courtroom and down the north staircase to freedom. She had been scheduled to go before a judge to determine whether she had an attorney, officials said.

The woman had been in jail since Saturday charged with violation of parole, criminal mischief and felony theft.

The escapee was described as a Hispanic woman with red hair and hazel eyes, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighing about 110 pounds and sporting various tattoos.

Robbery

A robber, armed with a semi-automatic handgun, got away with nothing after a clerk at a the Royal Inn, 3601 W. Wall Ave., refused to cooperate with his demands, police said.

According to reports, the robber entered the motel, pulled a gun and demanded cash. After the clerk refused, the would-be robber fled.

The suspect was described as a white man, about 5 feet 7 inches tall and approximately 160 pounds. He was wearing a gray T-shirt, plaid overshirt, blue jeans and a dark cap.

READING: Master's class first of kind

(From 1A)

Corporate America indicates that many problems in the workplace stem from their employees inability to read.

"America has got one of the lowest literacy rates of employees in any industrial nation," according to Judith Cochran, associate professor of education and director of graduate reading programs at UTPB.

"Kodack, Motorola, and AT&T are starting massive reading programs," Ms. Cochran said.

Ms. Cochran diagnosed reading problems for a major corporation in Colorado recently. "About 75 percent of the factory workers couldn't read their safety requirements," she said. "I created a computer program which enabled the workers to work at their own pace without anyone knowing that they needed help with vowels or were reading at the first grade level."

Ms. Cochran, who will be teaching the reading diagnosis class at MC, said that the country's literacy problems stem from the false assumption that once students get to the sixth or seventh grade they can read.

"It's not a valid assumption," Ms. Cochran said. She said junior high school students are confronted with various texts in different disciplines in more difficult language than they are accustomed to reading.

"The students who are problem readers may have been passed along without having the reading skills they need," the educator said.

They'll be reading, not buying

Staff Report

It may be unusual to see people seated in a bookstore reading — instead of buying — books, but Midland Need to Read tutors and students intend to catch the eye of passersby.

From 10:30 a.m.-6:30 p.m. today members of Midland Need to Read will stage a Read-a-thon at Waldenbooks in Midland Park Mall.

"We will be calling attention to literacy," said Patti Groce, executive director of Midland Need to Read. She said the public is invited to interrupt the readers to chat and find out more about literacy problems. "People are often surprised to find that we have a literacy problem in Midland," she said, "but we do have a serious problem."

Ms. Cochran said she discovered the problem first hand when teaching a speech class to high school students in Colorado. "Students were required to take speech in order to graduate," she said. "I had sophomores and seniors. The seniors were students who had moved from out of state who hadn't taken speech."

Ms. Cochran said students weren't doing the assignments. "It was very disappointing," she said. "Being a teacher and being all fired up about a subject, it was upsetting to find out I couldn't inspire these students to do the work. Something was wrong."

What was wrong was that many of the high school students could only read on a third or fourth grade level. After diagnosing the students' reading levels, Ms. Cochran said she was faced with a dilemma. "I asked myself: 'Do I teach speech or do I teach these students to read before they graduate.' " She opted to teach reading and realized the necessity to diagnose reading problems and correct them as soon as possible.

Ms. Cochran said reading should be taught using the entire reading concept. "Instead of isolating reading from writing and spelling it is included with everything from creative drama to reader's theater," she said.

The educator's thrust has been to utilize the whole reading concept to instruct teachers of all disciplines on how to employ reading in their respective disciplines.

"For example," Ms. Cochran said. "Some first grade teachers decided their science units would be too boring for their students. So, they used the whole concept to study the life cycle of the frog." She said the teachers employed songs, videos and limericks about frogs into the curriculum.

"The teachers also used original literature, not the basal stuff written for first grade," she added.

Ms. Cochran said more than 100 Midland Independent School District teachers have taken programs which teach reading, offered by UTPB in recent months. The reading diagnosis class, which will focus on diagnosing reading problems, will allow participants to work with children or adults diagnosed with reading problems.

Ms. Cochran said the diagnostic tests will reveal medical or physical problems, disabilities such as dyslexia or Attention Deficit Disorder or comprehension problems.

The educator said UTPB instructors are now required to be able to teach reading along with their respective disciplines.

"The University and Midland College are now working together to prepare teachers to go into the schools and help people with any reading problem they may have," she said. "Any interested person can take the reading diagnostic course. They don't have to be working on their masters degree."

Ms. Cochran's diagnostic reading course will be offered as a masters level course. It will be taught from 4:15-8:30 p.m. Wednesdays in Room 103 of Midland College's Allison Fine Arts Center. Registration will continue through Sept. 19. Persons may register by attending the first class this Wednesday or by calling UTPB at 563-2400.

Lunsford died Wednesday in a local hospital.

Pallbearers will be H.E. Erwin, W.H. Munn, Casper Campbell, Tim Bornin, Dennis Oglesby and Johnny Dowing. Honorary pallbearer is W.E. Brown.

SAT: Midland scores top state, national averages

(From 1A)

"The scores of Texas students who took the SAT in 1990 showed a slight decrease in both the verbal and math sections of the examination."

In a press release Friday, Commissioner of Education W.N. Kirby, said, "It appears that we are caught up in a nationwide pattern of declining SAT scores."

Despite the downward trend, Kirby noted that minority youths in Texas were able to hold their own or slightly increase scores in either the verbal or math sections.

In Midland, ethnic groups also scored above state and national reports, with the exception of black students. Black students taking the SAT in Midland had a mean score of 349 on the verbal section of the test, higher than the state mean of 347 for blacks, but lower than the national mean score of 352 for blacks. Midland blacks scored a mean 363 in the math section, lower than the 383 score statewide and 395 nationwide for blacks.

"Increasing minority student scores is a priority for the district," said Joe Cummins, MISD executive director of planning and evaluation and testing. "Our long-range goals target at-risk and minority students, decreasing the dropout rate, recruiting minority teachers and providing a relevant curriculum."

Forty percent of Texas' high school seniors took the exam, a total of 78,057, the TEA said. About 48 percent of Midland students took the SAT, six percentile above the state average.

Ted Miller, MISD spokesperson, said, "The most significant factor in interpreting SAT scores is the proportion of eligible students taking the exam — the participation rate. In general, the higher the percentage of students taking the exam, the lower the average scores will be."

HERO: Family hopes movie will accurately portray Pearl Harbor hero

(From 1A)

Miller, was Doris Miller's brother. It was Selvia who first told the Miller youngsters about their illustrious uncle.

"He told us that Doris worked in the kitchen on the Navy ship," Gerald said. "During that time, it was segregated."

Indeed, the only positions open to black sailors in 1941 were in the kitchen, Gerald said. Blacks were forbidden from firing weapons, even in practice exercises, he added.

It is ironic, therefore, that Doris Miller is credited with shooting down as many as four Japanese planes during the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor attack.

According to accounts, Miller was collecting laundry below decks on board the USS West Virginia when the Japanese bombs began to fall.

Miller, a Waco native, ran to his battle station amid ships but found it damaged by torpedo blasts. Emerging topside, he helped pull the ship's mortally wounded captain to shelter and then manned an idle .50-caliber machine gun, historical accounts said.

Historians say Miller was an accomplished marksman who had bullseyed varmints with a .22 rifle during his childhood. They say he learned how to handle an anti-aircraft gun by watching other sailors practice gunnery.

But Gerald Miller is skeptical of those stories. By his father's account, Doris Miller had never before fired a gun when he began blasting away at the incoming Zeros.

"He wasn't taught to shoot a gun," Gerald said. "He was taught to fry eggs, mop the floor."

Gerald Miller and his family hope a proposed television movie about their uncle will portray him accurately — as a black man who risked his life in defense of a country which discriminated against him.

"We think it should be the truth," Gerald said. "I don't want him portrayed as being something he wasn't on that ship."

Vickie Gail Miller, 35, said the movie "should show how he was made, where he came from."

Doris Miller was a sharecropper's son and a high school dropout who reportedly joined the U.S. Navy in 1939 to help support his family. At 6-3, 225 pounds, he was the USS West Virginia's heavyweight boxing champion.

His mother, according to family members, urged him not to return to sea duty after he came home on leave following his receipt of the Navy Cross.

"She always said, 'I begged my baby to stay stateside,' " said Brenda Miller Ahven, 41. "Six months later his ship went down and they never found him."

The Chrysler Corporation and ABC Television have agreed to commission a "treatment" of the Doris Miller story, an initial step in a movie's production.

The movie is tentatively scheduled to air next year in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the Pearl Harbor attack.

The movie possibilities are intriguing to the Millers, who see the recognition as a positive statement about the contributions of blacks to the war effort.

For his bravery, Doris Miller received the Navy Cross in 1942. He was the first black ever awarded the medal. He also received a letter of commendation from the Navy.

In 1973, the Navy named a destroyer in his honor. A Waco cemetery and YMCA bear his name.

But as far as the Miller family is concerned, a Congressional Medal of Honor is perhaps the only award equal to their uncle's exploits.

"You've got to have plenty of nerve to do what he did," Ms. Ahven said. "Planes bombing and going on — my first mind would be to say, save yourself."

Bills introduced in Congress in 1942 to award Miller the medal were lost in the bureaucratic shuffle, reports state.

Three years ago, historians' efforts revived interest in Doris Miller among members of Congress, and the possibility of a Medal of Honor for Miller re-emerged. The legislative process is a slow one, however, and no medal has been forthcoming.

For the local Millers, the notoriety that would come from movies and medals commemorating their uncle is important only insofar as it would help publicize a little-known event in black history.

"It'll give people more hope," Gerald said. "That this is a black man who did this."

Battleship Texas will be reopened

HOUSTON (AP) — The historic Battleship Texas, the only combat ship to serve in both world wars, reopens to the public this weekend after two years and more than $12 million for restoration.

Nearly 350,000 pounds of steel and some 40,000 rivets have been replaced on the battleship, the last of the vessels known as dreadnoughts. The Texas is docked at the San Jacinto Battleground State Historical Park.

Money to restore the ship came from a combination of public and private sources and was used for hull repairs, a new wooden deck, special mooring devices and a dark blue paint job that makes the ship appear similar to what it looked like in 1945 when it took part in the invasion of Okinawa.

Today, Gov. Bill Clements will lead a program honoring the 573-foot-long ship. Officials with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission expect more than 25,000 people to turn out for the weekend festivities.

The Texas was launched in 1912 and commissioned two years later.

Its logs tell just how far the vessel sailed and how heated the war was: North Africa, 279 rounds fired; Normandy, 1,355 rounds; Southern France, 691 rounds; Iwo Jima, 1,894 rounds; and Okinawa, 10,524 rounds.

Some of the Texas' history was recalled when many veterans returned to see their old ship as it floated back to San Jacinto in July.

Houstonian Beuron Boyd, who served on the battleship from 1942 to 1945, remembers one battle in particular.

"Cherbourg was the most exciting battle we were ever in," Boyd said. "It was a miracle we ever got out of there, but the Texas was a miracle ship."

As for World War II veteran Mark Been, he was on the ship on Dec. 7, 1941.

"I was in the transmitter room when they broke in and said that Pearl Harbor had been attacked," he recalled. "Nobody knew how bad it was. The crew didn't know how bad it was for a quite a long time."

The Texas was turned over to the state in 1948. The hull began rusting in the mud of its berth and the ship had to be closed in 1988 in preparation for the renovation. After more than a year of repairs in a Galveston drydock, it returned to its normal berth.

Renovation of the battleship's interior areas hasn't been completed, and so work inside the ship will continue.

Texans fleeing to suburbs, figures indicate

AUSTIN (AP) — Today's Texans are more likely to be fleeing to the suburbs than setting up a home on the range, according to preliminary, 1990 census figures.

Throughout Texas, suburban counties on the outskirts of metropolitan areas grew the fastest since 1960, State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday.

More Texans have lived in cities than rural areas since the 1940s, but now, the cities are playing second fiddle to the suburbs in the rate of growth.

"Our analysis of the early numbers reveals that where Texans are choosing to live has changed dramatically in the last decade," Bullock said.

The Census Bureau has calculated that Texas has grown by 2.6 million people — 18.2 percent — since 1980, compared with a national growth rate of 8.5 percent.

For instance, the Dallas-Fort Worth area grew 29.7 percent; San Antonio, 20.6 percent and Houston, 19.6 percent. Inner cities grew an average of 9.9 percent.

But suburban counties grew an average of 50.6 percent over the past 10 years.

The population of Denton County outside Dallas increased 88.8 percent and Williamson County outside Austin increased 81.8 percent.

Mirroring the national trend away from rural counties, Texas' rural areas showed either slow growth or declining populations with non-metropolitan areas growing at 6.1 percent.

SSC cost report delayed again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Energy Department Friday postponed its expected report on the revised cost of the superconducting super collider, the second delay in a month.

The report was being edited for stylistic reasons, said DOE spokesman Jeff Sherwood. "We expect it to be available next week," he said.

Since the collider's redesign last fall, the DOE and Congress have estimated a roughly $8 billion cost for the atom smasher, to be built south of Dallas in Ellis County. The DOE ordered four teams of estimators to analyze the changes and develop a revised cost estimate.

Three of the teams had placed the cost at between $7.8 billion and $8.6 billion, Deputy Energy Secretary Henson Moore said in July. A fourth team reportedly estimated a cost of $11.7 billion.

Moore hoped in July to have all four figures reconciled into one number by Aug. 17. On Aug. 16, Moore told congressional leaders that the cost announcement would be delayed until Sept. 7.

Critics say a $3 billion leap could doom the project, which has met some opposition already. The House in May capped federal spending on the collider at $5 billion over the next five years. Texas has pledged $1 billion.

Titan rocket booster explodes; One reported dead, 2 hurt

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A Titan 4 rocket booster motor erupted in flames at a test site Friday, injuring two people and leaving one missing while spewing a toxic cloud over the Mojave Desert, officials said.

A bottom section of a solid-fuel booster ignited when it was apparently dropped by a crane while being moved at the Air Force Astronautics Laboratory here, said Lt. Col. Jan Dalby.

"It actually started burning. We call it an ignition rather than an explosion," Dalby said. "Rocket fuel burns very fast. It's hard to fight a fire with rocket fuel burning. It's best to just let it burn out."

Nearby test areas were evacuated and the injured were taken to the base hospital. The condition and identity of the injured wasn't known, but Dalby said of the missing man, "We assume he is dead."

By midafternoon, about 50 firefighters and Air Force security police worked in the area of the ferocious blaze. The Air Force sealed off the area, saying it was too dangerous for civilians.

Desert residents saw a huge cloud pass overhead and the California Highway Patrol closed Highway 58 through the region for a time after they were warned by base officials.

"There was a big cloud of smoke. It was really bright," said Roberta Martinson, clerk at a convenience store in Boron, five miles away.

The Air Force said the cloud wasn't a danger to residents and that chemical levels were below federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration regulations.

"It's a harmless cloud," Dalby said four hours after the fire, adding the base Disaster Response Team monitored the toxicity of the hydrogen chloride at .5 parts per million — "well below OSHA safety standards."

The part of the rocket that ignited was a bottom segment of one of two solid-fueled boosters that would be strapped to the main Titan 4 liquid-fuel rocket. The main liquid-fueled section was not at the site.

There was no radiation hazard. The Titan 4, built by Martin Marietta Corp., is considered the Air Force's primary booster for launching heavy payloads into orbit. It is not used as a nuclear missile.

NATION

The second Titan 4, worth $173 million, was launched June 8 from Cape Canaveral, Fla., carrying a secret surveillance satellite into orbit. The first was launched on June 14, 1989, boosting what analysts said was either a missile-warning satellite or an electronic eavesdropping satellite.

Ten launches were planned during 1990-91, but six were postponed because of delays in preparing launch sites and taking delivery of the rockets. As of June, the Air Force said it planned two more Titan 4 launches this year.

The Pentagon also has said it plans to launch 10 Titan 4s annually by 1995.

The Air Force initially planned to build only 10 Titan 4s to complement the space shuttle as a way to launch heavy payloads. But the 1986 explosion that destroyed the shuttle Challenger and killed seven crew members prompted the Pentagon to decide to obtain many more.

As of June, the Air Force had let contracts for construction of 41 Titan 4s, and had funds available for nine more.

Youths get probation in assault on Studds

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal magistrate ordered probation Friday for two Maryland teenagers who pleaded guilty to beating Rep. Gerry Studds, D-Mass., in June.

Magistrate Patrick Attridge told the two youths that he seriously considered ordering them to prison but opted for probation instead because he said drunkenness impaired their judgment at the time of the assault. Attridge also said their admission of guilt also played a part in his decision.

Rooftop sniper shoots himself

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A gunman who held police at bay for 5½ hours Friday ended the standoff by shooting himself in the head and falling from atop a 16-story building in one of the city's busiest neighborhoods, authorities said.

Paul A. Fisher, aged mid- to late 30s, was propelled forward off an apartment building's roof by a single shot from a handgun about 5:10 p.m., said Police Chief Mayer DeRoy. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

No one on the ground was injured.

"He said he was going to jump since we wouldn't assassinate him," DeRoy said.

Fisher, who had a history of mental illness and problems at home, apparently was trying to draw attention to himself on the apartment building's roof, DeRoy said.

He wore a bright orange hat and blue short-sleeved shirt, and had 50 rounds of ammunition in a duffel bag, DeRoy said.

About noon, Fisher fired one shot from a .22-caliber rifle at an unmarked police car and 11 other rifle shots into the air, police said.

Two Roman Catholic schools were evacuated, and a four- to five-block area was blocked off to traffic.

Police believed they were making progress 15 minutes before Fisher killed himself because he turned over the rifle to police negotiators.

Budget talks resume

ANDREWS AIR FORCE BASE, Md. (AP) — President Bush and congressional leaders resumed budget talks Friday as lawmakers said foreign payments for U.S. troops in the Persian Gulf would ease some — but not all — pressure on the deficit.

After a five-week break for Congress' summer vacation, negotiators returned to work in the main bar of the base Officers' Club, 10 miles from the capitol.

Their goal was to finish by Monday a $50 billion package of tax boosts and spending cuts for next year and $500 billion in savings over the next five years. Reporters were confined to another building on the base about two miles away in an effort to reduce interruptions.

Democrats and Republicans swapped plans Friday afternoon as the bargaining began, said officials who asked to not be identified.

The administration proposal calls for $52.5 billion in savings next year and $513.2 billion over the next five years, one official said. It is similar to the budget Bush proposed in January, and to a July administration plan never formally released but revealed by GOP bargainers.

Jobless rate climbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's civilian unemployment rate hit a two-year high of 5.6 percent last month, the government said Friday, reviving worries that the economy is on the brink of a recessioon — if not already sliding in.

The 0.1 percentage point rise, which followed a 0.3 percentage point increase in July, showed widespread sluggishness. Over the last two months, the ranks of the jobless have swelled by 550,000.

"There's a little bit of life, but it looks like it's ebbing away and we'll probably tilt into recession by the fourth quarter," said David Jones, an economist at Aubrey G. Lanston & Co., a government securities dealer.

"It's becoming clear that we are sliding into a recession," said Martin Regalia, chief economist at the National Council of Savings Institutions.

Many private economists did not expect the Federal Reserve Board to view the Labor Department's employment report as weak enough to justify lowering interest rates, especially in light of inflation fears renewed by the Mideast oil shock.

Judge sees roaches

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP) — An apartment tenant was cited for contempt after unleashing thousands of cockroaches in court to protest her living conditions, authorities said.

Maria Terwen said she wanted to demonstrate to court officials that her apartment was uninhabitable. So she dumped the insects on the desk in front of Morgan County Magistrate Margaret Gordon at a hearing Wednesday.

"Thousands of roaches must have been in the container," Gordon said. "It was awful. It really freaked me out. I never had anything like this happen before in court."

A Place For Kids.

Remember when you were a kid? Wasn't life filled with excitement and promise in those days? Simple joys were so meaningful. Like the soothing coolness of a popsicle on a hot summer afternoon. Or a loving hug from Mom after a job well done.

Nowadays life is more complicated for kids. There are more diversions. And more temptations. But the same basic needs are there. Especially the need to dream the biggest dreams a little heart can hold.

Sometimes our world makes kids grow up too fast. That's a shame. Because they need a place that's wide enough to let them be themselves. A place of learning and love. We're doing everything we can to be that kind of place. Because we remember.

PERSIAN GULF CRISIS

Songwriter questions music's role

N.Y. Times News Service

The Persian Gulf crisis has prompted outspoken country singer Hank Williams Jr. to pen "Don't Give Us a Reason."

In the defiant anthem, he thumbs his nose at Iraq, daring them not to give the United States a reason to use military force against them. Or, to paraphrase: "You can take your poison gas, and stick it up your sassafras."

"I don't know what his reasons are for writing that," country crossover artist Eddie Rabbitt said. "I guess he thinks he's speaking for America and the way people feel when he says: 'Don't give us a reason to kick your butt.' "

Just as "Don't Give Us a Reason" promises to be a surefire hit, radio requests for Rabbitt's own "American Boy" have been snowballing along with tensions in the Middle East. Yet he is wary of mixing pop music and politics.

"I'm not much into those kind of songs," said Rabbitt, citing the ever-present threat of exploitation. "To play with this thing is kind of dangerous because we're not the government. We may not understand the whole situation, the behind-the-scenes picture. There may be more to this than we see on the news. The president may be dealing with things that are going to happen next week that nobody knows about.

"We in the entertainment business have to be careful about the statements we make politically," he added, "because they may be wrong. And they may affect people more than we know. So to speak for an entire country: 'Don't Give Us a Reason to kick your butt,' " is a bit of an attitude. I thought we were a gentler, kinder nation than being a bunch of scruffy, violent rednecks."

Rabbitt's "American Boy," from his 15th album, Jersey Boy, is less antagonistic than the Williams counterpart. In it, the Brooklyn-born, New Jersey-bred Rabbitt affirms his patriotic pride via tried-and-true images such as American-made pickup trucks. Although he wrote the song long before the recent Iraqi invasion of Kuwait, Rabbitt said his concern for our country is constant, and his love for this nation sincere.

"We need a little more pride in America," he said. "There are too many little splinter groups breaking down the fabric of a great nation. We need to get our education back on line, get our biases out of the way and try to make it a less violent nation."

The singer who has racked up an astounding 26 No. 1 records, blames the music industry for society's moral decay.

"Heavy metal reveres violence, and rap music is creating almost a reverse racism, if you will," he said. "We've got heavy violence and sex showering younger kids all the time. I think we're really pushing the envelope on a lot of things."

Americans airlifted out of Kuwait describe ordeal

By Mort Rosenblum
AP Special Correspondent

AMMAN, Jordan — Patricia Hammer stepped off a plane from Kuwait on Friday and described five weeks of hell: a foiled desert escape, a frantic house-to-house search for safety, and the pain of leaving her children behind.

She was one of about 170 people, nearly all Americans, who arrived in the Jordanian capital aboard a U.S.-chartered Iraqi Airways jet, the first U.S.-arranged flight out of the emirate overrun by Iraq on Aug. 2.

Most of the passengers were woman and children, but some Arab-American husbands and a few other men were also aboard. Mothers pushed baby carriages and tugged startled children through a crush of cameras.

Theu left behind possessions and lives in Kuwait and brought harrowing tales of life under Iraqi occupation.

"Until I felt my feet on freedom, it was just terrifying. I didn't know night and day when they would come and knock down my door. You feel relieved but still worried. You left part of your life back there," said Elena Reyes of Los Angeles.

Mary Willett, 35, of Chicago, said of the situation in Kuwait: "It's a disaster."

The charter flight stopped over in Baghdad, where its passengers obtained exit permits from Iraqi authorities before taking off for Amman.

On arrival, the Americans were whisked to the airport hotel to wait for a flight home. U.S. officials said they would remain in Amman overnight and probably fly to Charleston, S.C., on Saturday.

State Department spokesman Mark Dillen put the number of Americans on the flight at 165 and said there were a few other foreigners on board.

Previous evacuees have mostly refused comment, reflecting their governments' instructions not to say anything that might complicate the delicate situation for hundreds of foreigners still trapped in Iraq and Kuwait. But many in this group seemed overwhelmed by their experience, eager to talk even if they did not give their full names.

Maureen Aldakheel of St. Louis, asked what advice she would give President Bush, replied: "Go for it. Do something. People are tired of waiting for something to happen."

"People are very tired of waiting everyday, hoping for news of some military strike," said Mrs. Aldakheel, who lived in Kuwait for 11 years and left her husband behind.

"I don't want war, but it's inevitable," said Sandra Williams, who said she was from Ohio but gave no city. "You're dealing with a madman."

Difficult as their journey had been, this group was lucky. They were among the first to be airlifted out of Kuwait.

A handful of Americans in Kuwait were flown on a regular Iraqi Airways flight to Baghdad last week, escorted by civil rights leader Jesse Jackson. But most of the other foreign evacuees have had to cross the desert under baking sun to Baghdad to catch flights out.

Mrs. Hammer, originally from Denver, described the fear-filled days that followed the invasion.

At first, Iraqi jets streaked over rooftops to frighten the population, she said. Later, patrols and roadblocks had people cowering behind locked doors.

Bush says he won't seek Soviet troops

ABOARD AIR FORCE ONE (AP) — President Bush said Friday night he would not ask Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev to contribute troops to help defend Saudi Arabia when the two leaders meet this weekend for their third and shortest summit conference.

The president, speaking to reporters aboard his plane as it prepared to take off for Helsinki, Finland, also said he wants to visit U.S. troops in the Middle East kingdom, but not right away.

"Not now. Eventually I want very much to do it, but I may wait for a while until all our forces are there and things calm down and (the troops) get settled in," the president said. "I very much want to do it, but I have no schedule or plans, no set plans."

The president and the Soviet leader were to meet for five hours of talks and a one-hour lunch in the Finnish capital on Sunday. The session was to focus primarily on the Persian Gulf crisis, and Bush was asked whether he would ask for Soviet ground forces.

"I have no plans to do that, but I will be talking about a wide array of cooperative arrangements," the president replied.

The Soviets have supported the U.S. position in several United Nations votes.

Bush did say he was interested in trading U.S. oil technology for oil from the Soviet Union, the world's largest producer.

An oil deal "could well come up at these meetings," Bush said. "I think it's something that we can work closely with the Soviet Union."

"I'm all for that," he said. "I've already told Mr. Gorbachev that. That came up when he was here."

The president said he would "welcome the best in American ... drilling, production and seismic work going to the Soviet Union."

Administration officials said that the summit, which Bush proposed, was designed as an informal session for consultation and that it was unlikely to produce any major announcements or new initiatives.

Bush's eight-hour flight, accompanied by aides and his wife Barbara, was his first international trip aboard the new Air Force One, a modified Boeing 747 jetliner.

On Saturday, after the overnight flight, the Bushes were to have lunch at Finland's presidential palace with Finnish President Mauno Koivisto and his wife.

Then, Bush was to make a short stop at the U.S. Embassy in Helsinki to speak with American diplomats before checking into government guest quarters at the Kalastajatorppa Hotel on the outskirts of town.

Gorbachev was also due to arrive in Helsinki on Saturday, from Moscow, as was Secretary of State James A. Baker III, from the Middle East.

Osho Rajneesh's dentist says fix Saddam's teeth, end crisis

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The crisis in the Persian Gulf could be settled peacefully if Iraqi President Saddam Hussein got his teeth fixed, the personal dentist to the late guru Osho Rajneesh said Friday.

Swami Devageet said Rajneesh, the mystic who was expelled from the United States in 1985 and died in January, discovered a year ago that "man's animal past, including his aggressive instincts, are mysteriously stored in the human dental structure."

In a telex from the commune that Rajneesh founded in Poona, Devageet said Saddam could become "a blissful human being instead of a blistering warmonger" if he submitted to tooth-centered character analysis.

Premier Li Peng dismissed from Chinese economic post

BEIJING (AP) — A little-known political and business figure was named Friday to replace Premier Li Peng as shepherd of China's stumbling economy.

It was not immediately known how the loss of the economic post could affect Li, 61, who faced criticism for his strict fiscal policies and his role in the 1989 crackdown on the nation's pro-democracy movement.

The China News Service said Li asked to be relieved as minister of the State Commission for Restructuring the Economy so he could concentrate on his duties as premier. Li took charge of the commission in 1988, the same year he became premier.

Li remains one of China's top leaders and the main person in charge of government policy on a day-to-day basis.

Radio Beijing and China Central Broadcasting said Li's replacement was Chen Jinhua, 61. The China News Service said Chen was a "longtime leader in economic work" who had been president of the China National Petrochemical Corp. since 1983 and held several political posts in Shanghai.

Li's austerity program has reduced inflation, which peaked at about 40 percent in 1988, but it brought the nation to the brink of recession and forced millions of small factories to close.

The program also halted many market-oriented reforms and returned much of the economic decision-making power to the central government. Local and provincial goverments had gained a greater say in economic affairs during the past decade.

Li was in the forefront of officials advocating a hard line against last year's student-led pro-democracy efforts, which ended when tanks and riot troops were ordered into Beijing's Tiananmen Square.

He was an opponent of former Communist Party General Secretary Zhao Ziyang, who pushed rapid economic reform but was ousted for allegedly supporting the pro-democracy protests.

Li spent many years as an engineer in various ministries before being elevated to full membership in the party Central Committee in 1978.

In 1987, Li became a member of the power-wielding standing committee of the Politburo.

The National People's Congress standing committee, whose 135 members meet between annual sessions of the full congress, concluded an 11-day session Friday.

From 1977 to 1979, Chen was a deputy chairman of Shanghai's Revolutionary Committee, which replaced the city government during the tumultuous Cultural Revolution. He was deputy mayor of Shanghai from 1979 to 1983.

Moscow mayor calls for premier's resignation as shortages continue

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow's radical mayor blamed the central government Friday for shortages of bread and cigarettes in the capital and joined the calls for Soviet Premier Nikolai Ryzhkov to resign, press reports said.

Ryzhkov said on Soviet television Friday night that the nation's economic problems were due in part to lack of discipline by workers and disruptive strikes. He said the government would take "severe measures" against disruptive workers.

Moscow's bread shortage was the result of increased demand by returning vacationers and students, as well as panic-buying, Ryzhkov said, apparently trying to steer the blame away from the government.

"The political clock has speeded up sharply," Ryzhkov said. "We are aware that the national economy is in a very serious situation and tensions are growing all the time."

President Mikhail S. Gorbachev called together economic experts earlier Friday to work on combining a radical economic reform plan with the moderate one that Ryzhkov prepared, the Tass news agency reported.

Gorbachev is expected to submit a reform plan after the Soviet parliament convenes Monday. The plan will be drafted in large part by Stanislav Shatalin, a reformer who sits on Gorbachev's Presidential Council, apparently bypassing the proposal by Ryzhkov.

Reformers such as Russian Federation President Boris N. Yeltsin have been pushing Gorbachev to adopt a more radical plan than Ryzhkov's.

Moscow Mayor Gavriil Popov, at a session of the Russian parliament, sharply denounced the Soviet government and accused it of trying to retain full control over the country's economic life, Tass said.

He called on Ryzhkov, and the rest of the Council of Ministers, or Cabinet, to resign. Popov said pressure for Ryzhkov's resignation was growing across the country and a similar call would be made at the Soviet parliament next week by a radical wing of legislators known as the Inter-Regional Group, Tass reported.

During his televised talk, Ryzhkov did not address the calls for his resignation, but vowed to stand by his economic plan.

Popov also blasted the Cabinet for barring the Moscow City Council from selling cigarettes at free-market prices. The introduction of commercial prices helped relieve the "tobacco crisis" in Moscow in recent days, Tass quoted Popov as saying.

The official price of a premium pack of Soviet cigarettes rose this week to 3 rubles, about $4.80, and newspapers reported consumers grumbled about the increase. The old price for a premium pack of cigarettes was about 90 cents.

The government later prohibited the increase.

Soviet police arrest 'sadist'

MOSCOW (AP) — Police said Friday they arrested a man they believe is the "sexual sadist" who raped eight women, killing four of them, in a series of attacks that terrorized Moscow's northern neighborhoods.

Deputy Police Chief Maj. Gen. A. Bugayev told the Soviet evening television news program "Vremya" the man was captured after being identified by a woman who survived an attack.

Bugayev refused to identify the suspect, but said he had a long criminal record, including six previous convictions, and lived in Moscow after being recently released from prison.

The Moscow City Council had offered a reward of 10,000 rubles — about $16,000 — for help in apprehending the man who stalked the Timiryazevsky district of northern Moscow since July 13, the newspaper Moskovskaya Pravda reported.

Pope sees AIDS clinic

KIGALI, Rwanda (AP) — Pope John Paul II, continuing his travels across AIDS-ravaged central Africa, comforted dying patients Friday and assured them "you are not alone in your ordeal."

Before arriving in Rwanda on the third stop of his 10-day African trip, the pope visited a hospital in neighboring Burundi for people with AIDS and other terminal illnesses.

John Paul appeared moved as he stopped at the bedsides of about 40 men and women at the Prince-Regent Charles Hospital in Bujumbura. Doctors said 85 percent of the patients have acquired immune deficiency syndrome and most are in advanced stages of the disease.

Democrats take lead

TORONTO (AP) — The New Democratic Party ended a five-year Liberal Party rule in Ontario and gained its first legislative majority in elections in Canada's most populous province.

The NDP stunned the Liberals by taking 74 of the 130 seats in the legislature, knocking off Premier David Peterson and prominent Cabinet members. "We have an obligation to govern and provide people with leadership . . . this was not a sneak attack. It was an election, " said NDP leader Bob Rae, who had an easy victory in his Toronto district of York South in the Thursday elections.

The Yukon territory has the only other government led by the New Democratic Party, which supports a socialist platform.

Ontario, which has about 6 million voters, has been ruled by the Liberals since 1985.

Hijacker sentenced

MOSCOW (AP) — A teen-ager who hijacked an Aeroflot jet to Sweden in June has been convicted of air piracy and sentenced to five years in prison, Soviet media reported.

Dmitry Semenov, 17, pretended he had a grenade and forced the Minsk-to-Murmansk flight to land in Stockholm on June 9. He told authorities he hijacked the jet for personal rather than political reasons.

Airline hijackings carry a penalty of 5 to 20 years in jail in the Soviet Union, but because he is under 18, Semenov faced a maximum of 10 years.

Hyena floods house

SKUKUZA, South Africa (AP) — A hyena that accidentally locked itself in the bathroom at a game park got the last laugh — it tore the room apart and opened the shower tap, flooding the house.

The Star newspaper said Friday the hyena spent 24 hours in the bathroom last weekend at the house in Skukuza, a village in Kruger National Park in eastern South Africa. It apparently wandered into the house while the occupants were away.

The hyena pulled down curtains, ripped the medicine chest from the wall, smashed the toilet seat, damaged a towel rail and bit into aerosal shaving cream and deodorant cans, the Star said.

It also turned on the shower, causing overflowing water to seep under the door into the rest of the house, the newspaper said.

Neighbors saw water coming out from under the front door and alerted game rangers, who shot the hyena with a tranquilizer dart through the bathroom window. Tests on the animal indicated no serious injuries, and the hyena was released.

Catholic man, 34, shot to death while asleep in Northern Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Intruders shot and killed a man Friday while he was in bed, police said.

The Royal Ulster Constabulary said the 34-year-old Catholic man died soon after he was shot five times in the head and body by at least two assailants. His girlfriend was in bed with him at the time of the shooting, police said.

The man's companion, her two children and a friend spending the night at the south Belfast house were unharmed, police said.

Police detectives said the dead man, identified as Emmanuel Shields, had no connection to the security forces, and they were afraid the killing was a random attack by Protestant loyalists.

The Apprentice Boys of Derry, meanwhile, said the Rev. Ian Paisley and four others had been expelled from the group, a major Northern Ireland Protestant organization, because they publicly opposed asking for money from a fund set up under the Anglo-Irish agreement, to build a heritage center.

Derek Miller, general secretary of the Apprentice Boys, said the five men had broken the rules of the 9,000-member lovalist organization of clubs. which commemorate Protestants shutting the gates of Londonderry to the advancing Catholic King James in 1688.

Paisley, a Democratic Unionist Party member of Parliament, was unavailable for comment.

'Dogs surprise Plainsmen

Brian Adamcik Reporter-Telegram

Midland High quarterback Jessie Arenivas threw for the game's lone touchdown in the first quarter.

■ Midland High erases the painful memory of last year's 33-6 letdown by Lubbock Monterey, allowing the Plainsmen just 122 total offensive yards.

By Terry Williamson
Sports Editor

Memories are hard to forget, but Midland High left one behind Friday night at Memorial Stadium with a 7-3 season opening victory over Lubbock Monterey.

Before the game, many of the Bulldogs had their minds on what happened a year ago when the Plainsmen dispatched MHS, 33-6, in Davis Corley's debut as head coach. It was a nightmare.

"To tell the truth, I thought we were a little intimidated by Monterey before the game by just thinking about what happened last year," said Midland High lineman Joe Phillips, who played both ways. "But I think we got it out of our system during the first series of plays and just knew they couldn't stop us."

Well, the Bulldogs used that first series of downs to march 59 yards in four plays to take a 7-0 lead with just one minute gone in the game. Then they used a bone-crunching defense to make it stand up in what may be one of the most physical nose bleeding season openers in a long while for the Bulldogs.

The victory also gave Midland High a 17-16-1 lead in the series and it came on that decisive first drive.

Touted halfback James Lee covered 36 yards on one sweep and quarterback Jesse Arenivas split two Monterey defenders to find Matt Wyatt for the final 27 yards. David Worley added the point after. No one knew it at the time, but that was the victory.

Then the game degenerated into a defensive slugfest worthy of Rocky IV. Monterey was hit with four lost fumbles in the first half alone and had only 35 total yards against the stubborn Midland offense at the half.

"We did great. We just didn't have the mistakes we had last year against Monterey," said MHS linebacker Larry Tompkins. "We've got our work together on defense, but we need to work more on the offense."

But Corley knew what the Bulldogs were in for.

"We kept telling our kids all week to hang on because we knew Monterey was exceptional on defense. We just wanted to keep plugging and something good

Andress gets back at turnover-happy Rebs

By Bill Price
Staff Writer

EL PASO — El Paso Andress junior quarterback Isiah Lee never though he would get the chance to be the main man against Midland Lee.

But Lee almost single-handedly orchestrated perhaps the biggest ever upset of the Rebels in non-district play as Andress stunned Midland Lee 10-3 here Friday at Andress Stadium in the season opener for both teams.

After senior starting quarterback Chris Spates was lost to the Eagles by an early second quarter knee injury, Lee came in to complete three key passes for 65 yards and ran for 50 more, including nine on the game-winning touchdown dash in the fourth quarter. He also set up the game's first score, a 43-yard field goal by sophomore Steve Guardado, by returning the opening kickoff 59 yards to the Rebel 30 yard line.

"Oh man, we wanted it bad. We've waited so long for this, and it finally happened. We said to ourselves we could do it, and we did it. I never thought I'd get to play quarterback in this game, but I knew I would have to take control when Chris went down," Lee said.

The win was the first for Andress head coach Allan Sepkowitz against Midland Lee in four tries, and it was the first time that an El Paso team has downed a District 4-5A representative in so long that nobody in the Sun Valley cares to remember.

The Andress stunner also was sweet revenge for the Eagles, who were convinced Lee ran the score up on them in a 48-16 playoff loss last year that saw the Rebels score on a 31-yard pass with 10 seconds remaining.

"I really didn't wanted to make an issue of that pass this week. But the kids remembered it. I didn't want this game to be the focal point of our whole season. We still have to get ready to play (El Paso) Bel Air.

Buffs say "we beat ourselves"

■ A tough second-half Stanton defense which held Seagraves to 56 yards matters not thanks to 11 Buffalo turnovers.

By Bill Grimes
Staff Writer

STANTON — It's highly possible that any Stanton Buffalo football player asked would have echoed Kenny McCalister's statement after the Seagraves Eagles edged the Buffs 16-8 in the season opener for both schools here Friday.

"All we did was beat ourselves," the junior wide receiver said.

Stanton's 11 turnovers negated the Buffs' outstanding defensive performance, especially in the second half. The Buffs held Seagraves to 57 yards net rushing in the second half, after the Eagles' unrelated backfield tandem of fullback Kendrick and halfback Quincy Anderson shredded the Buff defense for 166 first-half yards.

The Eagles wasted little time in the first quarter, driving 52 yards on only

Mayfield pours it on 'Horns

By Joe Wyatt
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — It has been said that because of his sturdy, linebacker-type frame that Neal Mayfield is deceptively quick.

Well, the deception is over.

Mayfield put it in high gear and outgained the Longhorns of Amarillo Caprock 355-301 and accounted for 30 points as the Steers launched the 1990 grid campaign with a 42-13 victory here Friday night.

Although Big Spring head coach David Thompson refered to it as "an ugly win," it was a positive first step in the Steers would-be march back to the state playoffs.

"I'm not complaining about winning 42-13, but we have to get a whole lot more agressive than what we were tonight," Thompson said. "We didn't play well at all for three quarters.

"I do think we picked it up a little in the fourth," he said.

REBELS: Lee hampered by turnovers, penalties, Andress' Isiah Lee

(From 1B)

"I think this win shows we can play with anybody in the state," Sepkowitz said.

Ironically for Midland Lee, the Eagles were able to muster only 75 yards total offense in the first 24 minutes, while the Rebs amassed 133 yards on quarterback Derrick Turner's 80 in the first two quarters. However, the score was still 3-0 Andress at halftime.

For the game, the Rebels outgained the Eagles by a 253-202 margin in total yards, with all but nine of the Midland Lee yards coming on the ground. Turner flished with 120 yards rushing on 21 carres, while halfback Reggie Webb had 93 on 15 totes.

But the Rebels' yards all came between the 20-yard lines, as the Andress defense somehow found a way to turn turn them back every time but once.

That time was on a masterful Midland Lee drive to start the second half. On that drive, the Rebs used 15 plays to gain six first downs and 67 yards, and eat 9:43 off the clock. It culminated with a 30-yard field goal by Todd Robinson to tie the game 3-3 with 2:17 left in the third period.

After stopping the Eagles at the Midland Lee 37, the Rebs came back with another charge and looked to be taking control of the game by marching from their own 4 to the Andress 30 before losing the ball on a fumble.

That turnover led to the Eagle scoring drive, which was highlighted by the 160-pound Lee's 27-yard scamper and a 25-yard Lee pass to Gabriel Bolling to the Rebel nine. Lee scored around the right end on the next play.

In all, the Rebels put the ball on the ground six times and lost two of them. Also, Turner had repeated trouble taking the snap from new center Anthony Shupp, who replaced the injured K.C. Jones on short notice.

Midland Lee's special teams also looked ragged at times and the Rebs hurt themselves plenty with 65 yards in penalties, 60 of which came in the first half.

Those mysteries might be a tribute to being denied two-a-day workouts because of teacher in-service. But Rebel head coach Earl Miller would hear none of that.

"You can make all kinds of excuses, but the fact of the matter is they just wanted it worse than we did. We had the opportunites and just didn't take advantage of them. We didn't execute on offense. If you keep giving them a chance, eventually something is going to happen," he said.

MHS: Bulldog defense shuts down Plainsmen would happen. Fortunately, something good happened early and our kids didn't quit when they had some opportunities to down the stretch."

And the opportunity came in the third period when Monterey came out in a Power I formation and moved in for a 28-yard Stephen Crabb field goal. The score was set up on Andy Hasting's interception that was returned to the Midland 38-yard line.

It had the Bulldogs thinking back to the first half when drives to the Monterey 31, 7, 21, 17 and 13 came up point empty.

"You hate not to score in those situations," said Corley. "We tried a couple of field goals, but I think (David) Worley lost a little confidence when he missed that short (27-yard) field goal early. We tried to go on fourth down the other times and didn't make it. We knew it was going to be rough moving the ball. We had some young offensive linemen out there who grew up a lot against a good team. Phillips and (Mark) Monroe did a good job for us playing both ways."

Then when Monterey made its drive for cash, the MHS defense rose again, halting the Plainsmen at the 11-yard line. Then Monterey mounted another drive and got the the MHS 24-yard line before Philip Warlick, a sophomore, made a key tackle on fourth and two to halt the bid.

"Those missed scoring chances can come back to haunt you and I was thinking just that when Monterey came out in the Power I with two tight ends," said Corley.

But Phillips said, "We were told during the week that Monterey might go to an offense with a back close to the line if they were in trouble. They played really well, but we didn't see anything from them that we didn't expect."

The Bulldogs now hit the road for two straight weeks before returning home to open the District 4-5A schedule against Midland Lee. MHS will battle Monahans next week at 8 p.m. in Monahans.

And Midland High can go into that game without thinking about something like 33-6. What a difference a year makes.

Permian beats EP Irvin; waits for Monday

Staff Report

ODESSA — Odessa Permian held only a narrow 7-0 lead at the half over El Paso Irvin in Ratliff Stadium Friday night, but scored 20 second half points to end up with a 27-7 season opening football victory over the Rockets.

The Panthers got 104 yards rushing from Josh Sumner and three touchdowns while Clint Stewart hit seven of 14 passes for 126 yards.

Sumner's 10-yard run with 7:28 left in the second period gave Permian its first big break of the game and then erupted for 13 third quarter points to put the game out of danger. Malcolm Hamilton and Sumner both scored in the period and Sumner scored again in the final period.

Permian has another big test Monday when the Panthers face the District 4-5A Executive Committee in Big Spring on allegations of violating preseason workout rules of the University Interscholastic League.

Those allegations against Permian have been brought to the attention of the UIL by Jerry Taylor, coach at Odessa High.

Permian has been conducting a 15-day in-house investigation of its own, but now must turn it over to the league committee, the ruling body of District 4-5A.

But Permian handled the massive pressure of this investigation after getting untracked against Irvin. Irvin had only 125 yards of total offense while Permian rolled out 202 rushing and 126 passing.

Ryan Warner led the El Paso team with 59 yards on 14 carries and got the only Rocket touchdown, coming with 3:46 left in the game. By that time hope was gone for Irvin and they faced the long trip home.

Permian has a long road trip waiting next week with a 2 p.m. game Saturday in Tyler.

Palo Duro sinks OHS, 20-7

Staff Report

AMARILLO — Amarillo Palo Duro, the team Midland Lee will host at home in two weeks, opened the 1990 football season here Friday night with a 20-7 victory over District 4-5A's Odessa High.

Palo Duro's Donald Shanklin, a returning starter from last year's Dons team, rushed for 129 yards against the Bronchos, scoring two touchdowns, including one on a run of 73 yards.

Shawn Jones had 130 yards rushing in the game.

In addition to Shanklin's 129 yards rushing on 11 carries, he completed two of eight passes for 29 yards.

Odessa High faces another tough task next week in the home opener when they host Killeen's Kangaroos.

Stephenville rocks Eagles

Staff Report

ABILENE — Stephenville ruined the home opener of the Abilene High Eagles with a 29-14 victory at Shotwell Stadium Friday night.

Cody Ledbetter ran for two touchdowns and threw for another to lead Stephenville. Abilene High has now lost eight games in a row, extending back to last season.

Season of high school pain begins

DALLAS (AP) — A new season is underway for 128,000 schoolboy football players across Texas, and for their sake, doctors hope they're in shape.

And even that may not help.

A new study by the Texas Medical Association said odds are most of them will suffer at least one minor injury during the season.

Greg Stocks, a doctor at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center, said preliminary results of the survey, which used reports from trainers at 48 of the state's larger high schools, show that 79 injuries were reported for every 100 players during the 1989 season.

"That, I think, is a shocking statistic," Stocks said.

—More than half of the injuries occurred during games.

Rangers shoot it up over Coahoma, 28-12

By Tom Ruiz
MRT Correspondent

COAHOMA — The Greenwood Rangers successfully opened their 1990 season with a 28-12 win over the Coahoma Bulldogs Friday, even though Ranger head coach Bob Purser wasn't impressed with his team's offense.

"I felt like like our defense played a whole lot better than our offense," Purser commented. "We're very lucky that we scored any points," he added.

Nonetheless, the Rangers scored when it counted. After a scoreless first period, Greenwood drew first blood near the end of the half. Beginning at their own 34, the Rangers used a three-play drive which culminated on a 61 yard run by running back Mitcheal Bishop. But the Rangers misfired on the extra point and led, 6-0 with 2:53 left in the half.

Coahoma, however, gave up the ball with under a minute to play, and the Rangers scored with time running out in the half, when senior quarterback Cody Mebane lofted a 29-yard touchdown pass to Eric Clutter near the corner of the end zone.

The two-point conversion by Joe Kilgore gave the Rangers a 14-0, lead at intermission.

Purser said the touchdown pass to Clutter was the deciding factor in the game.

"It really gave us the momentum we needed for the second half, and I believe that play took the air out of their sails."

The Bulldogs, however, made things very interesting early in the third period. Led by quarterback Shane Walker, the hosts went 71 yards in six plays.

It was Walker's 29-yard scoring pass to Kenny Lowery that cut the Greenwood lead to 14-6 with 9:40 left in the quarter, but the Bulldogs missed the two-point try.

Greenwood put away Coahoma in the fourth period on Clutter's 80-yard scoring run and 36-yard after a pitch from backup quarterback Irvin Welch on the option.

Purser felt the Rangers looked at impressive at times, but that they were not consistent.

"We'd like to execute the option a little better," Purser said.

MHS, Lee advance in spike tournaments

Staff Report

SEMINOLE — Both the Midland High and Midland Lee volleyball teams advanced to bracket play in their respective tournaments Friday.

MHS won over Sweetwater, Brownfield and the Denver City JV en route to a win in its pool at Seminole, while Lee lost to Class A power Bronte before beating Andrews to finish second in their pool at San Angelo.

Midland High will face Lubbock Estacado at 8:30 a.m. today in the first round of bracket play, while Lee will face Odessa Permian at 2:15 in its tournament.

The two local teams face each other in the District 4-5A opener Tuesday.

STEERS: Big Spring covers five fumbles

From 1B

But picking it up throughout the full 48 minutes was Mayfield.

The Big Spring wing back, who racked up 862 receiving yards a year ago, picked up right where he left off as junior quarterback Gerald Cobos capped the Steers' opening drive of the season with a picture-perfect 66-yard bomb to his 6-2, 218-pound target. And that was only the beginning.

Mayfield, who handled four Cobos passes on the night for an incredible 243 yards and a pair of touchdowns, also gathered 112 yards rushing for two more TDs. He kicked all six Big Spring extra points and ended up with 30 points in the opener, including all of the first 28 for the Steers.

"I think Gerald (Cobos) has really come along," said Mayfield of the junior. "When I saw them go into man-on-man coverage, I knew I could beat them. And Gerald just laid it right in there."

Big Spring, which recovered five fumbles in the contest, used the second one to start a six-play, 34-yard drive that ended when Mayfield fought his way into the end zone from nine yards out to give the Steers a 14-0 lead with 11:31 to play in the first half.

Caprock marched 80 yards to paydirt thanks to a 49-yard hookup between quarterback Richard Williams and Jason Connell, and David Davis' four-yard TD run made it 14-7 with 1:42 left before intermission.

And when Williams hit Connell with a 65-yard TD strike to start the scoring in the second half, the Steers pulled within a point of their hosts.

But Cobos hit Mayfield with a near identical 65-yard scoring pass on the following play, and the Steers were off to the races.

Mayfield added a 15-yard TD run to start the fourth quarter, and Roman Ortega and Pat Chavarria each scored for the Steers down the stretch, Chavarria's 14-yarder came with 14 seconds to play.

And it could have been worse. Big Spring recovered two Longhorn fumbles in the final minute. The second came with eight seconds left, and it was deep inside Caprock territory.

But the Steer opted to let the clock run out.

Jermaine Miller added 72 yards on 14 carries, and he recovered Caprock's initial fumble in the first quarter.

Malone's 200 yards leads Iraan by Rankin, 14-7

Staff Report

RANKIN — Riley Malone rushed for over 200 yards and scored both touchdowns for visiting Iraan as the Braves slipped by Rankin 14-7 in opening night high school action.

With less than one minute to play and the score knotted at 7-7, Malone scored his second TD, a four yard run which put the Braves ahead for the win.

Kirk Kennedy provided the only heroics for hometown Rankin on a 69 yard run in the third quarter.

Malone opened the evening's scoring with a three yard run which capped a 75 yard drive in the first.

Iraan's defense held Rankin to just six first downs and 193 total yards. Iraan racked up 322 yards, 267 of which came on the ground.

Passing was at a minimum with both teams combining for 96 total yards through the air.

The Red Devils are 1-0 after the first week; Rankin is 0-1.

The Red Devils try again next week for their first home win as Forsan comes to town.

Iraan will host Sanderson in the Braves' opening home game of the 1990 season.

Fumbles do in Mustangs, 12-7

Staff Report

ANDREWS — Too many turnovers proved the downer for the Andrews Mustangs in their 1990 home opener, a 12-7 loss to Frenship.

The Mustangs lost three of five fumbles and threw an interception for four turnovers — one of which came at a crucial point in the game.

Andrews had the ball on the Frenship seven yard line with a minute left and fumbled for the last time of the evening. Down only 12-7, holding onto the football might have meant the go-ahead touchdown, a score which never came.

Duane Young scored both touchdowns for Frenship, a one yarder in the first quarter and a five yarder in the second.

Andrews' running back Brandon Wilson had a 73 yard scoring run for the Mustangs, what would prove to be one of the only high moments of the game for the home team.

Mustang quarterback Al Gonzalez rushed for over 100 yards running the option.

Andrews totalled 263 yards, 234 of which came from their rushing game while Frenship was held to 218 yards. Andrews not only outgained Frenship on the ground, but also had 12 first downs to Frenship's 11.

The Mustang fall to 0-1 while Frenship is a perfect 1-0.

Andrews visits 3A Seminole next week in a try for its first win of the year.

Garden City scores 51 points in opening season road romp

Staff Report

FORSAN — The Garden City Bearkats romped to a 51-8 season opening football victory over Forsan in a road game Friday night, and look to be ready for another playoff run.

Garden City scored almost at will as Mario Aguilar led the way with 141 yards on 13 carries and one touchdown. Jim Bob Scott also caught four passes for 93 yards and two touchdowns while Allen Hoelshere had two receptions for 91 yards and a touchdown.

Garden City led only 17-0 at the half, but rallied for 21 third quarter points to easily put the game away.

The Bearkats travel to Grandfalls in another road trip next week.

Bowe impressive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Riddick Bowe took his time in earning the biggest victory of his pro career.

Bowe battered former World Boxing Council heavyweight champion Pinklon Thomas at will Friday night, even taking a break for two rounds before claiming an eight-round TKO for his 19th straight victory.

Thomas didn't resemble the champion he was less than five years ago, but for Bowe, he was the biggest name to an increasing list of knockout victims.

"It was a learning experience and Pinklon brought the best out in me," Bowe said. "Some say he's washed up, a has-been. But he brought out the best in me.

Ladies' finals set

N.Y. Times News Service

NEW YORK — The match was so one-sided, so easily won by Steffi Graf that Arantxa Sanchez Vicario pronounced herself quite happy to have played as well as she had in losing, which was not very well at all.

It had simply been her bad luck to catch Graf Friday at the peak of her summer season as the West German, seeded No. 1 at the United States Open, blasted her way into the women's final for a fourth consecutive year, winning, 6-1, 6-2.

A victory Saturday over Gabriela Sabatini of Argentina, who survived a 2-hour, 43-minute ordeal to defeat Mary Joe Fernandez in the other semifinal, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3, would give the 21-year-old Graf a third consecutive Open singles title and make her just the 12th woman to win three or more consecutive Open singles titles, the first since Chris Evert captured her fourth in a row in 1978.

It would also become Graf's 10th Grand Slam title, an achievement that carries far more personal significance, given the tumultuous period since her ninth, last January in the Australian Open.

In between, she endured a fractured thumb, the anguish of allegations of her father's involvement in an extramarital adventure and losses at the French Open (to Monica Seles in the final) and Wimbledon (to Zina Garrison in the semifinals) that raised questions about her invincibility. She also underwent minor surgery two months ago to correct a sinus problem.

The Open thus became her personal crusade to turn the recent past ancient, crowding out any distraction by the sheer force of her game. From round one through the dispatch of Sanchez Vicario, Graf spent more than an hour on the court just once in six matches, a 1-hour, 39-minute three-set victory over Elna Reinach of South Africa on a day the defending champion was bothered by an upset stomach. The sixth-seeded Sanchez Vicario, who had defeated Garrison in the quarterfinals, lasted all of 54 minutes.

Gabriela Sabatini

"It was just a tough time," Graf said of the months leading to the Open. "I just wanted to get it over. It was very difficult, so that's why playing like this and getting everything behind me means a lot to me.

"It would be something major for me now, being in the final and playing so well. It is already a big step for me. It means a whole lot. Nothing has meant so much to me for a long, long time."

For the degree to which the fifth-seeded Sabatini persevered through the afternoon haze and humidity against Fernandez, a 19-year-old Floridian who was seeded eighth, form suggests she will fare no better than the others Graf has vanquished.

Graf has an 18-3 career record against the 20-year-old Sabatini, a dominance that includes victories in the last two Opens: a three-set final in 1988 and a three-set semifinal last year.

Also, Sabatini has never won a Grand Slam event.

But she saw neither the past nor Graf's present Open as an impediment to the immediate future.

"I think I'm ready to win," Sabatini said. "I'm really eager to win the tournament. I think I've showed that in every match, and I want to show it tomorrow."

Bucs, Mets lose

NL

First baseman Sid Bream's throwing error allowed two runs to score in the fifth inning and the Montreal Expos beat division-leading Pittsburgh to stop the Pirates' six-game winning streak.

Oil Can Boyd (9-5) allowed three hits in 6 2-3 innings as the Expos beat Pittsburgh for the ninth time in 13 games. The Expos have won three straight and four of five over the Pirates and are 20-11 against them the last two seasons.

Tim Burke pitched one inning for his 17th save in 22 opportunities.

John Smiley (8-8), winless in five starts against the Expos the last two seasons and 3-8 lifetime, gave up six hits and three runs in 5 2-3 innings.

Jerry Reuss pitched for the Pirates for the first time since 1978 and became the 22nd player and eighth pitcher to play in four decades.

Pittsburgh took the lead in the third on Andy Van Slyke's RBI single but Bream's error allowed Montreal to go ahead for good in the fifth.

Junior Noboa singled, Mike Fitzgerald walked and Spike Owen flied out. Bream then fielded Boyd's bunt about a third of the way up the first-base line, but his throw sailed past third baseman Jeff King and into the left-field corner, scoring Noboa and Fitzgerald and sending Boyd to third.

Phillies 4, Mets 1

Jose DeJesus stopped New York again and Len Dykstra had three hits and scored three runs as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Mets, extending their losing streak to a season-long five games.

New York, swept by first-place Pittsburgh in a three-game series, has just three runs and 19 hits during its slide. The Mets remained 3½ games behind the Pirates, who lost to Montreal on Friday night.

DeJesus (5-6), who pitched a two-hit shutout against the Mets on Aug. 7, pitched a four-hitter, struck out three and walked three. He allowed just two runners past first after the first inning.

David Cone (11-8) struck out a career-high 12 in 6 1-3 innings, allowing five hits and walking three. He passed Ramon Martinez of the Los Angeles Dodgers for the National League strikeout lead with 193.

Cardinals 4, Cubs 3

Tom Pagnozzi drove in two runs and Bob Tewksbury won for the fifth time in his last eight starts as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs.

Pagnozzi hit a sacrifice fly with the bases-loaded in the sixth to break a 2-2 tie. Jose Oquendo followed with an RBI single to clinch the victory for Tewksbury (10-5).

Tewksbury, who has allowed two or fewer earned runs in 11 of his last 16 starts, gave up five hits in seven innings, including a two-run homer to Andre Dawson in the Cubs' first.

Jose Canseco and Mark McGwire homered as the Oakland Athletics beat the New York Yankees, 7-1, for the 10th straight time this year.

The Athletics, trying to become the first team ever to sweep a season series from the Yankees, have outscored New York 50-7. The clubs play twice more this weekend.

Oakland broke open the game with a five-run sixth inning that featured six walks and only one hit, a go-ahead single by Willie McGee.

The first-place Athletics opened their lead to 7½ games over Chicago in the American League West. Oakland won its fifth straight game overall and 12th in a row against the Yankees in two seasons.

McGwire hit his 35th home run in the fifth inning, tying it at 1. Canseco hit his 36th homer, and only second in 25 games, in the ninth.

Curt Young (8-5) gave up four hits, including Jesse Barfield's home run, in five innings. Todd Burns gave up two hits in four innings for his third save.

Andy Hawkins (5-12) fell to 0-5 lifetime against the Athletics. He gave up just three hits and no walks through five innings before running into control trouble in the sixth.

More Sports, 8B

Rickey Henderson drew a leadoff walk, stole second and scored on McGee's single for a 2-1 lead. Canseco and Harold Baines walked to load the bases and Carney Lansford hit a grounder that first baseman Steve Balboni threw wildly past the plate, enabling two runs to score.

McGwire added an RBI grounder, and three more walks and a wild pitch by Jeff Robinson produced another run that made it 6-1.

Blue Jays 3, White Sox 1

Mookie Wilson's two-out, two-run double in the seventh inning gave the Toronto Blue Jays a 3-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox on Friday night in a matchup of second-place teams.

The Blue Jays entered the game trailing first-place Boston by 5½ games in the American League East.

Manny Lee drew a two-out walk from Melido Perez (12-13) in the seventh and moved to third on Junior Felix' single before Wilson's game-winning double. Perez pitched 5 2-3 no-hit innings until Kelly's Gruber's double.

Todd Stottlemyre (13-14) gave up one run and four hits in eight innings. Tom Henke got the last three outs for his 27th save.

Ozzie Guillen blooped a two-out, run-scoring single to shallow right-center field to give the White Sox a 1-0 lead in the fifth.

Twins 2, Indians 0

Allan Anderson pitched a five-hitter over 8⅓ innings as the Minnesota Twins beat Cleveland.

Anderson (7-17) was two outs away from his fourth complete game in his last five starts, but was removed after consecutive singles Chris James and Candy Maldonado.

Rick Aguilera struck out Sandy Alomar Jr. and Brook Jacoby for his 28th save.

Orioles 6, Angels 2

Sam Horn had three hits and four RBIs, including a three-run homer, as the Baltimore Orioles snapped a six-game losing streak by beating the California Angels.

Ben McDonald (6-4) gave up four hits and two runs in eight innings to earn his first victory since Aug. 13.

BUFFS: Stanton suffers young

From 1B

six plays before free safety McCalister ran back an intercepted pass 54 yards — before fumbling it away to the visitors.

That's the way it went all night for Coach Dale Ruth's Buffs. After Kendrick Anderson rolled for 13 yards on the heels of McCalister's interception, the Buffs strung out Seagraves' attempt at an outside running game for three straight TFL's totaling 16 yards, forcing the Eagles to punt and ultimately giving Stanton the ball at its own 44-yard-line.

But on John Eric Wyckoff's first play as the Buffs' varsity quarterback, the junior fired under heavy pressure into the arms of Rudy Garza for the first of four interceptions.

Kendrick Anderson rambled 48 yards on the next play to put Seagraves on the board with 6:11 left in the first quarter. The Eagles missed the extra point, but — no matter — the visitors got the ball back on a fumbled squib kickoff that eluded several Buffs.

The Buffs got the ball back five plays later on Seagraves' only fumble from scrimmage, and seemed to finally get their ground game going with the one-two punch of fullback Garry Don Thompson and halfback John Paul Barry. But wingback Jim Bob Kelly fumbled on his own 31 with about two minutes left in the first quarter.

Seven plays later, Quincy Anderson scored on a two-yard run and backup quarterback Ryan Collins threw a pass to Cole for two points to give the Eagles a 16-0 lead.

Stanton scored its only points later in the period on a 21-yard pass from Wyckoff to McCalister with 5:02 left in the half and Barry's run for the two-point conversion.

The second half was a defensive struggle punctuated by more Stanton turnovers. The Buff defense kept the game close by stopping Seagraves deep in Stanton territory twice in the third quarter.

Both Ruth and Seagraves mentor Jim Hamilton said much of the sloppiness could be traced to inexperience.

"We have some young kids, and it's just going to take them some time to get going," Ruth said.

Westhead gets Nuggets job

Associated Press

DENVER — The Denver Nuggets introduced Paul Westhead as their new head coach today, and Westhead wasted no time in promising to install a fast-paced offense and defense that will "knock your socks off."

Westhead, who has been the coach at Loyola Marymount University for the past five seasons, succeeds Doug Moe, who was fired on Thursday after 10 years with the Nuggets.

Nuggets General Manager Bernie Bickerstaff said Westhead's "style will fit the players we will put on the floor well."

Westhead's Loyola teams set NCAA scoring records, and he was convinced his uptempo style would be just as effective in the NBA.

"We'll be the fastest-paced team on offense and defense that you'll see," Westhead said. "You haven't seen anything yet. If you wear a neck brace, you won't be able to stay for all of our games. I'll work diligently to have the best conditioned team in all of professional sports. Starting out, win or lose, I can promise you our opponents will be very tired."

Westhead said he was excited to be returning to the NBA.

"This organization is in a rebuilding mode and I like to build programs," he said. "That's one of the reasons I took this job."

Moe's firing Thursday was announced amid tears and champagne at McNichols Arena, and the coach himself was the most emotional, choking in mid-sentence and unable to continue as his wife, Jane, poured champagne in celebration.

"Do we pick up the check, or do you mail it," she joked as Moe stood behind her, struggling to regain control.

Reports about Westhead started as soon as the Moe news conference ended.

Sneaky interview causes stir

Associated Press

MOSS POINT, Miss. — It may reek of supermarket tabloid sensationalism, but Doug and Sammie Mays' covert interview with inmate Pete Rose has created quite a stir.

Prison officials say it never happened; the National Enquirer says it did.

The Mays, of Moss Point, are gloating with patrons of their Key West Bar & Grill, over the tactics they said they used in sneaking into the minimum security at Marion, Ill., to photograph and interview Rose.

The pictures and story appear in the tabloid's Sept. 11 issue.

"We love it. We are elated," Mays said. "These little bitty Mississippians did it. We beat the federal government."

The 39-year-old musician-photographer and his 32-year-old wife, a reporter for the Mississippi Press in Pascagoula, said they caught up with Rose on Aug. 25 while he was watching a baseball game on television with fellow inmates.

"The money was one thing, but the thrill of doing it was unbeatable," Mays said. "That high, you will never get that again. And Pete Rose thought it was great we went to that much creative sneakiness."

Newspaper and magazine writers across the country have tried to scheme their way into the prison, where Rose is serving five months for cheating on his income taxes. The Mays claim they did it by convincing prison officials they had a date to do a free concert, then stuffing cameras into a speaker and paying an inmate $50 to take them to Rose. They say they got 15 minutes with Rose plus pictures, then played rock music for the inmates for 90 minutes before leaving.

"Pete Rose said, 'Man, ... y'all Mississippians are hell,'" Mays said. "He kept laughing about how we sneaked past the guards. He was impressed. We were totally in disbelief. We could not believe we were in there with Pete Rose."

The red kicker on the Enquirer cover reads: "Pete Rose In Prison — Exclusive First Photos and Interview."

But Robert Carr, the prison's chief psychologist, said: "It's all fabrication."

"They make claims that they talked to the warden. The warden wasn't here that week. He was a thousand miles away.

"Mr. Rose was not subjected to an interview and there may have been a picture taken, but it wouldn't have been with his approval. Mr. Rose has repeatedly said that he didn't want to be interviewed," Carr said.

"There was a band in here that evening, but our position is that the whole thing is a fabrication."

Another 65 paces Mayfair

Associated Press

COAL VALLEY, Ill. — Billy Mayfair shot a second straight 65 Friday to take a one-stroke lead in the Hardee's Classic.

Mayfair, critical of course officials for the dried out greens, had his complaints washed away by an overnight rainstorm which softened the putting areas. His 10-under 130 after 36-holes was one shy of the record by Scott Hoch in 1980 and Brad Fabel in 1987.

Willie Wood fired a 7-under 63 to move to 131, tied with Jay Delsing one in back of Mayfair.

Wood's bogey-free round, the best of the tournament, was highlighted by a successful 30-foot putt for one of his seven birdies on the 6,741-yard Oakwood Country Club course.

Delsing followed his opening 66 with a 65 that included six birdies and one bogey.

McBee leads seniors

Associated Press

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Defending champion Rives McBee started where he left off in last year's Bank One Senior Golf Classic, recording a 6-under 66 to take a two-stroke lead after Friday's first round.

McBee, who claimed his first Seniors victory in the 1989 tournament, finished with seven birdies over the Kearney Hill Golf Links to lead Quinton Gray, Dave Hill, Terry Dill and Orville Moody at 68.

"It was one of those days when the flat stick felt good in your hand all day," McBee said.

To heck with moral victory, let's win this darn thing

Associated Press

The varied Southwest Conference football menu this weekend features Texas Tech's first regular season national television appearance in seven years and the debut of Houston coach John Jenkins.

The Red Raiders take on the Ohio State Buckeyes Columbus with ABC-TV doing the honors along with Brent Musberger making the call.

Tech coach Spike Dykes said of the 2:30 p.m. meeting with the Big 10 Buckeyes: "If you can't get fire in your eyes for a game like this then something is the matter. We're not going after playing them close, either. I'm not a moral victory guy."

Tech must turn around in five days for another national TV experience on ESPN at 7:30 p.m. Thursday against Houston.

Ohio State was rated a 10-point favorite by the oddsmakers.

SWC Roundup

Jenkins and the Cougars play at home against Nevada-Las Vegas at 4 p.m. on Saturday. Houston defeated the Rebels 69-0 in Las Vegas last year and rated four touchdown favorites.

In other games, Penn State was an eight-point favorite over Texas in an 11 a.m. road match for the Longhorns; Texas Christian was a field goal underdog to Missouri at 1:30 p.m., Baylor was a two-point underdog to Arizona State their first meeting at 9:30 p.m, Rice was a seven-point choice over Tulane at home in a 6 p.m., game, and Vanderbilt was a 10-point favorite over Southern Methodist in a 7 p.m. game at Ownby Stadium.

Texas A&M and Arkansas are idle. Texas lost 16-12 to Penn State last year on a blocked punt late in the game. TCU fell 14-10 to Missouri last year.

TCU has made a change at quarterback after a 21-3 loss to Washington State. Matt Vogler will get the start over Leon Clay.

David Klinger will make his debut at starting quarterback for Houston now that Andre Ware has gone onto the NFL. Klingler threw for 104 yards and a touchdown last year as Ware's backup.

GRANDPARENTS... Our Living Legacy

Did you ever wonder what makes grandparents so special?

Grandparents represent an especially unique combination of qualities. They possess insight and patience, born of many years of the trial and error of child rearing. They have learned what is important and what is not . . . the knowledge of which situations warrant genuine concern and which will be solved by time alone.

Grandparents have learned the importance of a sense of humor. They can laugh at life as only those who have experienced it can. They have learned how to put life into perspective. Grandparents know how to listen and to guide their grandchildren gently and lovingly through the turmoil of youth.

Grandparents represent tradition and stability in an unstable world. They are living proof that the challenges of life can be conquered after all.

Grandparents represent love and warmth. They give us so much. This Grandparents Day let us give them our thanks and our appreciation for all the things they are, and let us remember them in our prayers as we worship this week.

Ex-ministers return for church celebration

A former associate minister and a former lay minister return to First Christian Church, 1301 W. Louisiana Ave., this month as the congregation salutes the involvement of its men during the past 100 years.

Layman Delbert Downing will be the guest speaker for the 8:30 a.m. and the 10:45 a.m. services Sunday. He taught the First Christian Church Fellowship Sunday School class for 20 years and is a former church elder. Downing is an elder emeritus in the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).

Downing is a well-known speaker, philosopher and humorist throughout the Southwest, and has spoken at hundreds of church youth groups, graduating classes, and Scouting gatherings. He resides in Snyder, where he is an elder at First Christian Church.

Downing was elected to the first Silver Haired Legislature of Texas and is now serving his second term. In addition to church work, he is involved with the Jaycees, the Lions Club, the Rotary Club and is also a recipient of the Silver Beaver Award from the Boy Scouts of America.

Then, at 7 p.m. Wednesday, First Christian Church welcomes former associate minister Rev. Steve Church to speak at the men's prayer breakfast. Church originated the prayer breakfasts while he served the congregation from 1978-1984.

He is senior minister at First Christian Church in Fort Worth. Since becoming associated with the Fort Worth congregation, Church has written and directed several short liturgical dramas and has been active as a singer. He is a member of the Fort Worth Archives Committee and the Mayor's Task Force on the Homeless.

In Fort Worth, Church has also been involved with the Tarrant Area Community of Churches, the Area Disciples Ministers Fellowship and the Italian City Committee in the Sister's City Program.

Midland Lutheran school year to begin

Midland Lutheran Church, 2705 W. Michigan, is beginning the new educational year.

Beginning at 9:15 a.m., the Sunday School will be holding its annual Rally Day where students meet their new teachers for the year.

The Lutheran Youth Organization, led by Rick and Kathy Odom, will present a puppet show entitled "What is a Christian?"

The LYO Rap Group conposed of Carol Holstein, Jami Nicholson, Kristina Odom, Susan Rodgers and Brandey Oxford will entertain the group. There will be a balloon release to spread the word and the sharing project for the day will be bringing school supplies to contribute to the Permian Basin Center for Battered Women and Their Children.

Sunday School Superintendent for the coming year will be Lynda Morris, assisted by Pat Krueger. Music coordinators for Sunday School will be Kris Solberg, Mary Ann Stice and Janet Daughtrey.

At 10:30 a.m. the church will have its annual outdoor service in the church backyard. The church's pastor, the Rev. Vince Nelson, will speak on "One Word (Jesus) Changes Everything," based on Matthew 16:13-20.

A barbecue dinner will follow the service. The meal is being coordinated by Bob Christensen and the Fellowship Committee.

The fall music program has begun at Midland Lutheran Church and all choirs are rehearsing on Wednesdays. The Joyful Singers, grades 1 through 6, meets at 5 p.m. and is directed by Ms. Solberg; the Klingel Choir, grades 4 through 8 bell choir, meets at 5:45 p.m.; the adult chancel choir meets at 7:30 p.m. and is directed by Eric Carlson; and the adult hand bell ringers meet at 6:30 p.m. The handbell director is Rena Harris.

For more information call the church office, 694-1373.

Man to head women's school

MARION, Ala. (AP) — A 1930 graduate of Judson College who has given more than 200 scholarships to students says she did all she could, in vain, to have a woman named president of the Baptist women's college.

The post, as before, went to a man. Trustees chose David Earl Potts to succeed N.H. McCrummen, retiring after 20 years as president. Potts, 40, has been executive vice president.

"I'm just real disappointed because I wanted a woman," said Emmie Frances Wolfer, 81, of Decatur, treasurer of the Judson alumnae association. She has raised $13 million for the endowment fund of the 153-year-old women's school and has been providing scholarships since 1948.

She said "a woman would have been better at this point."

Number of Catholics up by 13 million

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Roman Catholics in the world total 906 million, up 13 million from the year before, reports the Vatican Statistical Yearbook. Their proportion of world population held steady at 18 percent.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Calvary church to hold revival

Calvary Assembly of God Church, 908 S. Johnston St., is holding its revival today through Wednesday.

Evangelist for the special services are Paula and Ron Kelley.

Kelley is a graduate of Central Bible College in Springfield, Mo., with a bachelor of arts in Bible. While at college he was a member of three musical groups, one of which he organized himself.

Mrs. Kelley is a graduate of Southwestern Assemblies of God Junior College in Waxahachie, with a major in music. While there, she was a member of the Harvester's choir. She is a songwriter.

"Evangelists Ron and Paula Kelley believe that music and the preaching of God's word go hand in hand," says a release from the church. "However, the preaching of God's word is top priority. Having a natural love for music, it is appropriate that Nashville, Tenn., would be their home. Their style ranges from contemporary to country and traditional gospel."

Services times are 6:30 p.m. today, 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 p.m. Monday through Wednesday. The church's pastor, the Rev. Gayle Reeves, invites the public to attend.

Church gets new pastor

The Rev. Ben G. Condray begins his ministry at Alamo Heights Baptist Church Sunday.

Condray

Condray and his wife, Becky, moved to Midland from Waxahachie, where he was serving as minister of discipleship, evangelism and youth at Ferris Avenue Baptist Church.

He is a graduate of West Texas State Baptist University in Marshall, and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

The new pastor arrives in time to provide leadership as the church begins a major Sunday School attendance emphasis called Super September. Each Sunday a different department will be honored. This Sunday the department is the Pre School and a hot dog lunch is planned for pre-schoolers and their parents with activities to follow the meal.

The public is invited to attend any service. A nursery is provided.

Fall Roundup slated

The Christian Church of Midland's 1990 Fall Roundup is being held Sept. 16 through 19.

Theme for the Roundup is "Fishers of Men," based on Matthew 4:18-20.

Guest speaker will be Gene Sheppard, president of Dallas Chrisitan College, who will lead adult Sunday School classes along with the services.

Don Fankhauser, associate minister of Antioch Christian Church of Odessa, will serve as worship leader. The Lighthouse Five will bring a special song service at 6 p.m. Sept. 16.

Each service will have a special theme including "Fisherman's Wharf" services at 7 p.m. Sept. 17, "Cast Your Net" which refers to filling the pews is set for Sept. 18 and a fish fry will be held the closing night.

The public is invited to attend. Tickets for the fish fry dinner may be obtained at any of the services.

Adult seminar planned

First United Methodist Church is beginning its "Adventures in Living for Adults" program Tuesday through Nov. 27.

Pre-enrollment is necessary and may be done in the Gallery Area of the Fellowship Hall from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

The fee for registration is $15 and entitles a person to attend as many classes within the 12-week semester as desired as well as use of the Activities Center. A fee of $2 per class will be charged for those opting to take only one course. Some classes will have additional fees for books or supplies.

"Adventures in Living for Adults" will be held on Tuesdays and include a variety of options from favorite Bible passages to Clowning.

For more information call the church, 682-3701.

UMC meeting scheduled

The Rev. Jim Jackson, new pastor at Lubbock's First United Methodist Church, will be the guest preacher for the Big Spring District Conference at St. Luke United Methodist Church, planned for 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Jackson

Jackson moved to Lubbock from Columbus, Ga., where he pastored the St. Mark United Methodist Church and led his conference in evangelism for the last six years. He has served as evangelist for numerous camp meetings, including the Candler Camp Meeting, a jurisdiction-sponsored event at Lake Junaluska, N.C.

Jackson will preach at the District Conference Workshop Hour following the district set-up meeting which begins at 3 p.m. Delegates will be coming from the 37 churches of the Big Spring District.

Women's program set

SAN ANGELO — The Young Women's Department of the New Jerusalem Church here is having its Annual Day Program Sept. 9.

Theme for the event is "Rise Up Ye Careless Daughters." Keynote speaker is the Rev. Linda Hollies, pastor of Richards Street United Methodist Church in Joliet, Ill. She is founder and executive director of Woman to Woman Ministries, Inc., and author of the book "Inner Healing for Broken Vessels."

In addition, New Jerusalem Church of God in Christ is presenting a workshop for women from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sept. 8 at La Quinta Inn, 2307 Loop 306, San Angelo.

The workshop, "The Beatitudes of a Holy Woman," will be conducted by Mother Victorine Mackey of Levelland. A donation of $15 covers registration, breakfast, the workshop and lunch.

Meeting at Crestview

A Texas Baptist Regional Sunday School Convention is scheduled at Crestview Baptist Church Sept. 17.

The Midland convention is one of 24 scheduled throughout the state by the Sunday School Division of the Baptist General Convention of Texas to help strengthen Sunday School work in local churches.

"Breakthrough: Reach to Win Texas" is the theme of the convention to motivate and provide information to help Sunday School workers "break through" barriers in reaching people for Bible study.

Featured speaker for the Midland convention is Jim Denison, pastor of Midland's First Baptist Church. Schedule for the convention is 2 to 4:45 and 6:45 to 9:20 p.m. There is no registration fee and pre-registration is not required.

Parenting seminar set

The Family Ministry of Golf Course Road Church of Christ will host a "Step-Parenting Seminar" from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday.

The seminar will be conducted by Tom Milholland of Abilene, a licensed professional counselor and authority in the field of family therapy.

The free seminar is designed for those who are in a blended family or those who are considering remarriage and would like to know more about what to expect and learn skills to use in enhancing the family system. Child care is provided by the church at no cost, but pre-registration is required by calling 694-8836.

A monthly support group for participants will be held. For more information call the church.

Officers to be elected

Ranchland Heights Baptist Church will hold its annual business meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Officers and teachers will be elected and the budget will be adopted.

H.V. Beck has led the nominations committee and Joe Nelson, the church treasure, has prepared the budget, which reflects a 20 percent increase over last year.

For more information call 684-6544 or 683-1947.

Convocation upcoming

The San Angelo District Convocation is scheduled for Monday through Sept. 15 at Alexander Temple Church of God in Christ, 200 North Tyler.

Services will be held at 8 p.m. each day.

Guest choirs and preachers will attend these services.

Host District Superintendent Elder C.S. Johnson invites the public to attend.

Bible Study to meet

The downtown Bible Study will host a get-acquainted fellowship from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Wednesday.

The Bible Study meets at 312 E. Illinois Ave., Suite 6. For more information call 682-3415.

Church plans brunch

The Unitarian-Universalist Church of Midland, Neely at Midkiff, is holding its annual homecoming brunch Sunday to celebrate the resumption of regular worship services in the fall.

The public is invited to attend.

Early women ordained?

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A University of Wisconsin researcher says there are indications that women were ordained priests in the early church.

Mary Ann Rossi, speaker at a recent interdisciplinary meeting on women, cited evidence that Pope Gelasius I in the late fifth century admonished bishops in southern Italy to stop ordaining women.

Syringes found in Capitol trash cans

AUSTIN (AP) — Increasing numbers of syringes are turning up in trash cans in the Capitol and other state offices, placing custodial workers in danger, says a state official.

Jesse Williams, fire and safety director for State Purchasing and General Services Commission, said he is not sure whether transients or state workers were depositing the needles in the trash.

He said he suspects "it's people that have diabetes or something or take a shot. They aren't thinking ... and throw the needle in the trash."

Capitol Police Sgt. Henry Duran said officers "really don't have that much of a problem with transients."

The Capitol is locked from 11 p.m. to 6 a.m.

"We kind of assume they (needles) are coming from employees who are taking allergy shots," Duran said.

But Betty King, secretary of the Senate and a long-time Capitol employee, said she doesn't believe the needles are coming from state workers. "It's probably transients in the building," she said.

Williams posted a notice in at least three Capitol restrooms: "The syringes, because of the residue content and the needle, pose a safety and health hazard to anyone who may come in contact with them."

"Especially vulnerable is the custodial staff who have to empty the trash receptacles," he wrote.

Hypodermic needles contaminated with the AIDS virus are one means of transmission of the disease.

Williams said, "We've had only one employee stuck but we have the potential" for more mishaps.

Besides being found in the restrooms, he said, workers also have found syringes "on the floor throughout the first floor and out on the grounds."

Democratic sheriffs endorse Williams

DALLAS (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams was endorsed by 25 Democratic sheriffs Friday while Democratic opponent Ann Richards continued to hammer on his environmental record.

"He (Williams) is the law enforcement candidate," said Starr County Sheriff Eugenio Falcon from the Rio Grande Valley. "He is the only candidate in this race to show a commitment to build new prisons."

A Richards campaign spokesman said Richards has been endorsed by more than 150 people in law enforcement, including sheriffs, constables, district attorneys and justices of the peace.

The Richards campaign blasted Williams Friday for an incident in the early 1980s when one of his wells blew out and threatened the water supply of Brenham.

Williams has said he responded to the threat quickly and state regulators were satisfied with the job he did. But the Richards campaign said Williams did not act soon enough to bring the blowout under control.

"Williams' failure to act despite all of the early warnings by concerned public officials shows his callous disregard for the environment and the health of innocent citizens," Richards spokesman Bill Cryer said.

"Any oil incident, or oil spill that Clayton Williams has been involved in, he has cleaned up," Mona Palmer, a spokeswoman for the campaign, said.

She said the Richards campaign is using the issue as a smokescreen because the Democrat is embarrassed that a group of Democratic sheriffs endorsed Williams.

STATE IN BRIEF

Austin has no plans for base

AUSTIN (AP) — The City Council says it has no plan for what to do with Bergstrom Air Force Base should the federal government abandon the facility, and that it will call upon a citizen task force to supply an answer.

The seven-member group, which will be appointed in two weeks, will have 120 days to consider the question, including alternatives to converting Bergstrom to a municipal airport.

The city has been considering construction of an alternative to Robert Mueller Municipal Airport for more than a decade. In 1987 voters authorized construction of an airport at Manor, but the project has been bogged in controversy.

In January the federal government announced that Bergstrom might be closed as a military air base, raising the possibility of using it as a municipal airport.

Suit won't be appealed

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Tarrant County Hospital District says it won't appeal a $121,030 award to the family of a 2-year-old girl who died of AIDS after getting a tainted blood transfusion.

"It was not a win-win situation," said John Peter Smith Hospital administrator Tom Philpot.

State District Judge William Hughes awarded the money in July to the family of Tristainne Jackson, who died in 1985. She contracted the AIDS virus when she was given tainted blood in 1983.

The family's attorney, Lowell Dushman, said he "always felt it would be a mistake for them to appeal."

"Those folks are trying to be more carefuyl today. I can't help but feel that was prompted by our litigation," said Dushman, who is representing plaintiffs in three other AIDS-related cases.

Boys are rape suspects

BRYAN (AP) — Police are considering two Bryan boys, one 9 and the other 11, as the main suspects in the alleged rape of a 4-year-old girl.

The mother of the girl told authorities Thursday her daughter was attacked outside a west Bryan home some time between Aug. 12 and Aug. 18.

The 9-year-old suspect, if found guilty, would be handled by the state Department of Human Services and most likely be put into counseling, said Bryan police Detective Alice Anderson, who handles juvenile cases.

Children 10 years and older who are accused of crimes fall under the jurisdiction of Brazos County's juvenile justice system and can be held in the Juvenile Detention Center.

Neither of the boys, identified as neighbors, has been detained, police said.

Firm to pay $7 million

HOUSTON (AP) — Brown & Root has agreed to pay $7 million to the family of a construction worker who died after stepping on an allegedly defective plank, causing him to hit his head on a concrete beam and fall 17 feet.

Pedro Orozco Castillo was injured Sept. 18, 1986, while working at a highway construction site in Houston. The 43-year-old worker died the next day.

A lawsuit filed on behalf of Castillo's widow and eight children accused Brown & Root of negligence. The company agreed to settle the case moments before a jury was to be picked to consider evidence in the case.

Dog lawsuit settled

AUSTIN (AP) — A woman who gave birth shortly after being attacked by two dogs has settled a lawsuit against the dogs' owner for $47,500, it was reported Friday.

Kathleen MacKenzie said she was trying to save her cat from two dogs, a husky and pit bull terrier, when the incident occurred in November. She suffered scarring injuries to her right arm, according to the Austin American-Statesman.

The baby, a boy, was not injured, the newspaper said.

The dogs were killed by Austin police officers shortly after the attack.

Base project honored

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush on Friday named a San Antonio project matching military personnel with young people as the recipient of the White House daily "Point of Light" award.

The project is called San Antonio Air Logistics Center-Kelly Air Force Base and Southwest Independent School District Mentoring Partnership.

Volunteers from the air base serve as mentors to second- and fourth-grade students, reading to them, tutoring them and serving as role models, the White House said.

The Point of Light designation goes to individuals or groups who exemplify Bush's inaugural call for people to involve themselves in community activity like "1,000 points of light" making society better for everyone.

15-year-old suspect in rape, multiple stabbing of woman

EL PASO (AP) — A 15-year-old former paperboy is accused of raping and killing a woman after telling her he needed to collect for her newspaper delivery. The victim was stabbed nearly 100 times, police said.

Lt. Paul Saucedo, commander of Crimes Against Persons, said police believe Patrick Denney used a pocketknife in the slaying of Theresa Kathryn Latimer, 27. Saucedo said Ms. Latimer also was raped.

Police were holding the teenager Friday in the El Paso County Juvenile Detention Center.

Police said they believe Denney, a former newspaper carrier, talked his way into Ms. Latimer's home by claiming that he was collecting for newspaper deliveries.

Ms. Latimer's live-in boyfriend found her nude body in a pool of blood about 8 p.m. Aug. 28.

Records at the El Paso Times show that Denney was Ms. Latimer's carrier but stopped delivering papers on that route July 31. He had started the route May 1.

Police said Latimer became a suspect because he contacted them an hour before Ms. Latimer's body was found and said he had been robbed at knifepoint only a few blocks from the murder scene. He told police he suffered a serious cut to his left thumb while fighting with four robbers.

On Thursday, police had asked the public to help them find Ms. Latimer's killer. Police had said a second blood type had been found at her home and that the slayer likely had cut his own hand and probably had bloodied clothing.

Are you currently making $30,000.00 or more per year? Would you like to be exposed to a unique money making opportunity, an opportunity which could enable you to make 30, 50, or even 100,000 dollars net per month, without quitting your present job? If your answer to these questions is yes, then we need to get together. I would like to introduce you to a low risk (less than $450) business that has virtually no limit in income potential and tax benefits.
This is not a get rich quick scheme. The opportunity offered here is based on a product that dates back over 60 years. The opportunity is a new addition to our story, for at the time the product was developed over 60 years ago, the intent was never to commercialize it.
Since the founding of the company in 1984, this opportunity has provided tremendous results to those who have taken part in it. The financial results now being experienced by some of our leading distributors exceed the incomes earned by major corporate executives in America today.
People from all walks of life are finding success in this industry. Corporate executives, office and factory workers, housewifes, as well as professionals from all fields of endeavor (attorneys, doctors & engineers) are joining this program, many of whom retire from their current jobs within as little as six to twelve months.
If you have the desire to become debt free, to generate lifestyle (the combination of money and free time), you are encouraged to attend a no-risk, no pressure, informative seminar being taught by Lemesa Veterinarian Dr. David Geeslin.
Dr. Geeslin is a 1978 graduate of the College of Veterinary Medicine, Texas A&M University. The no-nonsence manner in which this valuable seminar/opportunity session is presented will be memorable. As seating will be limited you are advised to arrive early.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1990

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: The financial outlook is brighter than in the recent past. Any marital difficulties should receive prompt attention in November. A change in employment is part of your plan. Keep your eyes and ears open in December. Old friends point the way to new business profits. Reach out to those who can provide the backing you need. Travel is favored in June. Make the summer of 1991 a very special time for your family.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: comedian Sid Caesar, composer Anton Dvorak, singer Patsy Cline, actor Peter Sellers.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your companions could tempt you to be extravagant today. Avoid going overboard. Romance heats up. Be true to your high ideals. Do not make promises you will not want to keep.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A lack of companionship could put you in a gloomy mood. Get out and socialize more. A world of leisure awaits you! Someone seeks your advice. Read for enlightenment as well as enjoyment.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A first-class day for negotiating agreements and seeking the support of your friends. A financial contract has good potential. Attending a social mixer introduces you to a privileged circle.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Play your cards close to the vest when dealing with strangers. Use afternoon hours for creative work. Special romantic arrangements are featured tonight. An important introduction takes place at a party.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Keep your impatience in check today. Mate is a stabilizing force. Cheerful spirits prevail on the home front. Invite neighbors or close friends over for dessert.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Do not expect an easy time if you choose to make changes today. Leave things as they are awhile longer. You need to be extra frugal now. Limit spending to essentials.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Do not allow yourself to get caught in the middle of a family quarrel. Seek pleasant pursuits to release your pent-up energies. Dine in a restaurant you have never visited before. Romance blossoms anew.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A complicated relationship may be draining your vitality. Refuse to be backed into a corner. A parent-child problem shows signs of improvement. You and your mate draw closer together.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You should be able to solidify a romantic union now. Keep any promises you make, even if doing so cuts into your playtime. A good weekend to engage in healthy self-improvement activities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Take care of routine chores before starting a big venture. Teamwork is essential to the success of your personal plans. Answer invitations to social affairs promptly. Entertain at home.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Creative efforts are favored. Distant affairs can be easily handled. Communication with your loved ones will improve when you take the initiative. A sense of humor is your strongest ally.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Your personal finances will soon be looking up! News from distant shores may be the cause. A loan is repaid without your asking. Open new lines of communication. Your romantic dreams come true!

TODAY'S CHILDREN may be fussy eaters as youngsters but can grow up to be real gourmets! Generous to a fault, these Virgos may have to be restrained from giving away their toys. They like to play their hunches, which usually turn out right on target. Organized and efficient, they can turn timid when they feel pressured. Encourage them to have more faith in their abilities. Their managerial skills make them excellent hosts.

Vulgarity, violence closes Capitol during filming of 'The Brotherhood'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The state Capitol will be closed this weekend for a display of violence and vulgarity: Hollywood has come to Little Rock.

Secretary of State Bill McCuen said the Capitol would be off-limits to the public during filming of "The Brotherhood," an adventure starring former football star Brian Bosworth.

If all goes well, the filming could be wrapped up by Monday, McCuen said.

The secretary of state said he didn't mean to offend anyone by closing the Capitol. On the contrary, he meant to save them from offensive dialogue.

"This is not a G or a PG-13 type of movie," he said. "They don't want to be involved with the public when some of their lines and scenes are being shot that have violence and vulgarity. I agreed to do that and it's no big deal. It's a violent movie and they say things that they don't want people to hear while walking down the halls of the state Capitol."

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Veteran singer Webb Pierce says being elected to the Country Music Hall of Fame would cap his career.

Pierce, 69, is among five finalists for this year's induction. Others are Tennessee Ernie Ford, Don Gibson, George Jones and the Louvin Brothers. The inductee will be announced Oct. 8 during the nationally televised Country Music Association awards show.

"It's important to me," Pierce said in an interview. "I want 'em all, all the awards. When I win this one, that'll be all of them."

Pierce, who underwent abdominal surgery for cancer in April, said he is getting stronger every day. "I still have a little trouble walking," Pierce said. "I can walk, but I kind of wobble. I take exercise each day. I go over to the bowling alley and walk up and down."

His biggest hit was "In the Jailhouse Now" in 1955. He has been semiretired for several years.

PARIS (AP) — Brigitte Bardot intervened Friday in an Anglo-French conflict over meat prices, condemning French farmers for slaughtering hundreds of imported British sheep.

Bardot

The former actress, a militant campaigner for animal rights, released the text of a letter she had sent to President Francois Mitterrand accusing the farmers of illegal acts of cruelty.

She cited incidents Thursday and in late August in which French farmers slaughtered more than 700 British sheep and lambs, burning some alive. She demanded an immediate halt to "this revolting, insolent and demented waste."

Farmers protesting lower-priced imported lamb have beaten British truck drivers, hijacked lamb trucks, blocked roads and burned a consignment of sheep.

On Friday, more than 200 farmers protested meat imports outside the main slaughterhouses of Bordeaux.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Prince Alexander Karadjordjevic, whose father served as Regent before the royal family was forced to flee Yugoslavia in 1941, was feted by hundreds of supporters Friday on his first visit home in 49 years.

He is the first male member of the banished Karadjordjevic dynasty to visit Yugoslavia since the communists assumed power after World War II.

Like all the other members of Yugoslavia's former ruling family, the prince is still legally banned from the country on the basis of a 1945 communist law that is still on the books.

But hundreds of people greeted him with tumultuous applause when he appeared at Belgrade's National Museum to promote a British biography about his father, Prince Pavle. The prince became Regent after King Alexander was assassinated in 1934 and served until shortly before the family fled the invading Nazis in 1941.

Irish singer Sinead O'Connor is all smiles as she displays two of the three awards she won Thursday evening at the 7th annual MTV Music Video Awards in the Los Angeles suburb of Universal City. O'Connor was honored for her video "Nothing Compares 2 U" in the Video of the Year, Female Video and Post-Modern Video catagories.

Farmers' Almanac editor Ray Geiger shows off the 1991 edition, Thursday, along with a calendar proposing a change in celebrating Thanksgiving. The 79-year-old editor says the almanac suggests moving Thanksgiving from the fourth Thursday in November to the second Monday in October, the date which Canada celebrates the holiday.

Farmers' Almanac suggests giving thought to an early Thanksgiving

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — Not one to tamper lightly with tradition, the Farmers' Almanac suggests nonetheless that the date designated for Thanksgiving is a turkey.

In its 1991 edition, just off the presses, the venerable publication says Americans should consider celebrating the holiday, the fourth Thursday in November, earlier in the fall.

An earlier date would rid Thanksgiving of pre-Christmas overtones, allow for more favorable travel weather and line it up more closely with the harvest whose bounty it is meant to celebrate, the almanac says.

The almanac says the second Monday in October, the date on which Canada celebrates Thanksgiving, might be an appropriate alternative. Almanac editor Ray Geiger invites readers to offer their own ideas.

"We're only suggesting that we examine this thing. We're not bold enough to say 'do it!'" Geiger said in an interview.

Thanksgiving, commemorating the feast held by members of the Plymouth Colony in Massachusetts in December 1621 to celebrate that year's harvest, has been observed at various dates over the years. It has remained at its current date since 1863, except for a brief period when President Franklin D. Roosevelt reset it for the third Thursday in November.

"Thanksgiving is a sacred holiday. What makes it sacrosanct is not that it is observed on a certain date each year, but rather what it means," the almanac says. "When one ponders the real reason for Thanksgiving, the date of celebration seems immaterial."

Geiger said the principal reason for change would be to separate Thanksgiving from the overlapping demands posed by the start of the Christmas season.

"You've got football, you've got Christmas pressing and you don't know whether you're celebrating Thanksgiving or Christmas," he said.

An earlier holiday would reduce the chances that travelers would encounter ice or snow while heading to family gatherings, Geiger said. And it would shift the holiday to a time closer to the end of the harvest, when the woods still are ablaze with colorful foliage, he said.

By contrast, fields and orchards are bare in late November and trees have lost their leaves. "When we celebrate Thanksgiving under these conditions, we seem to have lost our sense of timing," the almanac said.

The date change could mark the start of a new crusade by the 174-year-old almanac, which in years past has prodded the government to restore city names to postmarks and eliminate the nine-digit ZIP code.

Geiger's almanac is not to be confused with the Old Farmers Almanac, the 198-year-old New Hampshire-based publication. Geiger claims a circulation of about 5 million for the 48-page publication, sold to banks, insurance companies and other businesses that distribute it to customers as a promotional tool.

Last year's campaign promoting the introduction of a coin it calls the Columbus Dollar as a replacement for the $1 bill is making progress, Geiger said, and bills introduced in the House and Senate are enjoying increased support.

That proposal, along with the shuffling of Thanksgiving, does not mean that the almanac is abandoning its longstanding profession of traditional values.

"Tradition is a must for us, but we're not blinded by it," Geiger said.

Almanac traditions include calendar data, puzzles, household hints, inspirational messages, one-line jokes and "flavorite recipes."

Another tradition is weather data. This year's edition predicts a harsh winter — chilling news to households concerned about rising energy prices brought on by the crisis in the Persian Gulf.

Supreme Court asked to overturn Roe v. Wade

Hearst News Service

WASHINGTON – The Bush administration on Friday asked the U.S. Supreme Court to overturn Roe v. Wade, the landmark 1973 court decision that legalized abortion.

"We continue to believe that Roe was wrongly decided and should be overruled," U.S. Solicitor General Kenneth W. Starr said in a brief filed by the Justice Department with the court.

The administration submitted the brief in response to a New York state challenge of 1988 Reagan administration's rules on family planning clinic. Those rules prohibited healthcare workers in federally funded clinics from counseling patients about abortions.

Joined by the New York Health and Hospitals Corp. and New York City, the state said in a brief filed last July that the rules "impermissibly interfere" with the abortion rights of women and violate the First Amendment free-speech rights of healthcare workers.

The high court will consider the case in the term that begins next month. It is among the highlights of the court's coming term, presenting the increasingly conservative majority of justices with a further opportunity to trim back or overrule existing laws that allow abortion.

"The court's conclusion in Roe that there is a fundamental right to an abortion ... (finds) no support in the text, structure or history of the Constitution," the administration brief said.

The anti-abortion National Right to Life Committee applauded the Bush administration's brief as "a firm, principled defense of unborn babies."

Dawn Johnsen, legal director of the National Abortion Rights Action League said the administration's call for the overturn of Roe v. Wade in the New York case was "entirely unnecessary."

The rules at issue came about as additions to the 1970 Public Health Service Act, Title X of which permitted federal funding of family planning clinics that serve women in poverty stricken areas. The $139 million program now supports some 3,900 clinics, which serve an estimated 4.5 million women across the country.

Although the 1970 act banned federal funds for performing abortions, it permitted health professionals to inform pregnant women about the procedure.

That changed in 1988, when the Department of Health and Human Services interpreted the regulations to prohibit clinics from giving any advice on abortion.

Soon after the rules went into effect, New York state and city challenged them in federal district court in Manhattan.

That court upheld the federal government, and last November a three-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit in New York affirmed the decision.

The administration brief argued that if Roe is overturned, New York's contention that the rules burden abortion rights are moot, the brief said.

But even if the court continues upholding Roe, the rules still pass constitutional muster, the brief added. The rules are consistent with the intent of Congress in 1970 that federal funds not flow to clinics "where abortion is a method of family planning," the brief said.

This was the third time the administration has asked the high court to overturn Roe v. Wade. Last year, the White House followed in the footsteps of the Reagan administration in joining Missouri's anti-abortion position in the landmark Webster v. Reproductive Health Services case.

The court in that case declined to disturb Roe but gave state governments the green light to place limits on legal abortions.

Also last year, the Bush administration asked the court to overturn Roe in Hodgson v. Minnesota. In that case, the court approved Minnesota's requirement that a teenager contemplating abortion notify both parents, as long as the girl also had the option of obtaining approval from a judge.

The replacement of Justice Lewis F. Powell by Justice Anthony M. Kennedy in 1987 started the court in a markedly conservative direction on abortion. But still, conservatives have not been able to muster five votes to strike down Roe.

The court's swing vote on abortion, Justice Sandra Day O'Connor has exhibited hostility to elements of Roe. However, she has been unwilling to vote in favor of overturning it.

Legal analysts on both sides of the issue believe that the departure of Justice William Brennan last July and the subsequent nomination of former New Hampshire Supreme Court Justice David Souter may mark the advent of the fifth vote against Roe.

Souter's Senate confirmation hearings are scheduled to start next Thursday.
