Court Sets Annexation Case Nov. 4

Next step in the fight by Gay Hill and Center Point School Districts to keep their identity and avoid being annexed as a part of the Big Spring Independent School District will be on Nov. 4. Eastland Court of Appeals, 11th Supreme Court District, will hear oral argument on that date in the appeal brought by the two common school districts from the ruling of the 118th District Court that it had no jurisdiction to try the annexation protest case on its merits.

JONES TO APPEAR

Gil Jones, district attorney, who has been employed by the Howard County School Board, the agency which ordered the annexation, said he would appear before the court on that date to argue the county board's position. He said he presumed Bill Kerr, Midland attorney, one of the lawyers who represent Gay Hill and Center Point, would speak for the two schools.

The attempt to annex the two common schools to the Big Spring district began last May 4. On that date, the county school board, in a special meeting, summarily ordered the two districts annexed to the Big Spring Independent district. The board cited the law which specifies when attendance in a common school district diminishes to below 250, it can be so annexed to another district. On May 12, the schools obtained a temporary injunction to prevent Big Spring district from taking over the operation of the schools. This first injunction was made effective through Aug. 1. On July 27, the injunction was made effective until such time as some district court with jurisdiction settles the validity of the county board's action.

CONTINUED TO OPERATE

The two districts have continued to operate under the direction of their school boards and in the usual form since the filing of the order. In the meantime, the schools had given notice to the county board they would appeal from the annexation order. They filed a petition appealing the action with the state school commissioner of education; they also filed a petition in the district court.

When it was attempted to have the matter tried on its merits in the 118th District Court, the county board attacked the jurisdiction of the local court to hear the case. The board argued that the earlier appeal had been filed with the commissioner of education. Thereby, the county board insisted, the common schools had selected the route of appeal they had followed.

RULED FOR BOARD

In a hearing before the court on the jurisdictional question, the court ruled with the county board, holding it had no jurisdiction to try the case. The common schools then carried their case to the Court of Civil Appeals. It has now reached the place on the court's docket where it will be argued.

-Veteran Fliers Stop Here

Veteran aircraft and veteran fliers completed another successful day of the 12th annual All Texas Air Tour Monday when they set down at the Howard County Airport for an overnight stay in Big Spring. Asa Burroughs, wearing the hat, shakes hands with Cliff Fisher, chamber of commerce president, after stepping from the plane which has carried him on the last 11 tours. The plane, in the background, is a Beechcraft Bonanza owned by Humble at Houston. Burroughs is with the Texas Aeronautics Commission and lives at Austin. In the picture are, from left, Mrs. Burroughs, Mike Hackdorn, who pilots the Humble plane, Burroughs, Judge Ralph Caton, and Fisher. Hackdorn has piloted the plane for Burroughs on each of the 11 tours. There were 40 private planes, some of which are pictured above, and 80 pilots and their passengers. The fliers were guests of the chamber of commerce, Webb AFB Aero club and Couden Petroleum Corp., which turned the Couden Club over to the group for a dinner-party Monday night. E. M. Anderson, Air Tour president, said the Big Spring welcome was one of the finest received along the trip. The group was welcomed by Mayor Lee O. Rogers and Fisher. Overnight accommodations for the four members were provided at the Settles Hotel. The tour left this morning for Lamesa, the first leg of today's trip. From Lamesa, the fliers were to travel to Brownfield, Littlefield, Plainview, Hereford and Amarillo before stopping at Pampa for the night.

U.N. Refuses To Surrender Lumumba To Congo Officials

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo

(AP)—The United Nations today refused to surrender Patrice Lumumba to the forces of Col. Joseph Mobutu.

The Congolese provisional government had demanded that the U.N. permit arrest of the deposed premier for unauthorized political activities.

Congolese officials threatened a military assault on Lumumba's home if the United Nations refused to permit Lumumba's arrest by 3 p.m. today.

The deadline passed with Lumumba still safely in his residence, with U.N. and Congolese troops standing by.

The United Nations announced

Lumumba was under U.N. protection and that he could be arrested only if his parliamentary immunity was lifted by a vote of the Congolese Parliament.

A U.N. statement said political dignitaries of the central government "have enjoyed protection of the U.N. without consideration as to where each stood in the political crisis or in relation to each other."

The U.N. overnight had asked for instructions from Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, after a threat to seize Lumumba had been voiced by Justin Bomboko, head of the commission of young college graduates appointed by Mobutu to operate the Congo government.

Bomboko said after conferring with U.N. chief Rajeshwar Dayal "we are on the point of resolving the crisis." Bomboko refused to go into detail.

As the deadline passed Col. Mobutu had withdrawn all but a dozen of the bristling cordon of troops which he had thrown around Lumumba's residence Monday. Mobutu himself was conferring with U.N. officials at their headquarters.

Bomboko said earlier the demand for Lumumba's arrest had been approved by President Joseph Kasavubu.

The Ghanians, whose government backs Lumumba's claim to the premiership, could be expected to put up stiff resistance to any attempt to arrest Lumumba.

The ultimatum was issued Monday night after the fiery premier reasserted his claim to head the government in a surprise tour Sunday of local bars, escorted by Ghanian and Moroccan soldiers.

Action Due On Street Plan

Action on the proposed one-way street design for downtown Big Spring was expected by the city commission at its regular meeting today at 5:15 p.m. at city hall.

The one-way street pattern has been recommended by the traffic commission and was to be presented to the city commission for official action.

Also due a hearing by the commissioners were bids for three new city cars. Other items on the agenda include consideration of a police code, re-zoning ordinances and additional streets to the assessment paving program.

36,000 Bale Crop Expected

Howard County is expected to produce 36,000 bales of cotton during October, according to the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Officials estimate an overall average of 2,038,000 bales and an all-time new production record in the 23 counties on the Texas high plains area.

Estimates for other nearby counties are Borden, 12,000 bales; Dawson, 150,000 bales; and Garza, 26,000 bales.

Veteran cotton observers say conditions of both dryland and irrigated cotton are in good-to-excellent shape and if October weather continues warm and the first frost does not come until the average frost date of about November 5, the new production total could easily be reached.

Receipts at the Lubbock Cotton Classing office indicate the area cotton crop is a week to 10 days behind the 1959 crop.

The existing record production was made in 1958 when 2,025,000 bales were harvested.

Trial Delayed

HILLSBORO, Tex. (AP)—Judge Sam Johnson Monday agreed to continue until Jan. 23 the trial of B. R. Sheffield on charges stemming from the veterans land scandals because the defense lawyers said a key witness could not appear because of illness.

GROCEER FINDS HONEST FOLK

John Taylor, manager at Safeway, is convinced that the quality of honesty is not a lost one. He has a refreshing case in point.

After Saturday's business, Taylor checked and rechecked—but always receipts came out $19.97 short. He took a fresh start the next day, but the result was the same.

Monday morning, Alan Kernodle, 802 W. 15th, walked in and asked if the store had checked up short. He and Mrs. Kernodle had discovered a $20 bill in their sack of groceries Saturday evening.

Sailor Jumps Nikita's Ship, Asks U. S. Asylum

Officials Hold Cagey Russian

NEW YORK (AP)—An Estonian sailor from Soviet Premier Khrushchev's own ship, the Baltika, fled the ship Monday while visiting the city with companions, and has requested political asylum.

He was identified as Victor Jaanimets, 29, an oiler on the ship which brought Khrushchev here for the U. N. General Assembly.

Estonian Vice Consul Ernst Jaakson said Jaanimets had visited an Estonian center Monday night.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service said today Jaanimets "is presently in our custody in this building and will remain until his story is checked out and we determine that he is a bona fide political refugee."

Department officials said, "his present status is that of an alien who illegally jumped his ship."

HAD HIS FILL

"I've had my fill of Khrushchev. He is a tyrant—another Hitler," the Journal-American quoted him as saying in a copyrighted interview.

The Journal-American story carried the byline of George Carpozi Jr., with Richard Piperno, Don Vandegrift and Frank Borsky. It quoted the defector as saying: "I have been in America only a short time but I have seen enough to know that all the bad things said about your country in the Soviet Union is propaganda. The Russian people are told nothing but lies, lies, lies."

Jaanimets said through an interpreter that "there are others on the ship who will try and get away now that I've escaped. Half the crew, maybe more, would walk off right now if they could, and never go back."

"I am lucky to have escaped and I never want to go back. I know what this means. My family, my mother and my three sisters and brother may suffer. They will suffer. The Russians will undoubtedly retaliate against them. I feel badly leaving them behind. But I cannot help it. I am fed up. I must live my own life at liberty. I am lucky to have escaped," the article said.

LOT OF SPYING

"I am not satisfied with the Soviet system. There is nothing but spying and oppression. In my own country, Estonia, and the other Baltic nations, Latvia and Lithuania, which are under the heel of Soviet domination, Khrushchev is hated. You have seen him here at the United Nations."

HE UNDERSTOOD

"I tried to tell him in my awful bad English that I was from the Khrushchev ship and made him understand my predicament. So the seaman went to the telephone book in the back of the saloon and looked up the Estonia House and telephoned there."

When Immigration and Naturalization Service officials here were notified, it was said, they directed that Jaanimets be brought to them.

The Journal-American said Jaanimets was whisked upstairs by officials for what turned out to be an all-night questioning session.

The newspaper said that from an unofficial source it was learned the immigration people may spirit Jaanimets out of the city at least until the Baltika sails, possibly by the end of the week, perhaps later.

Valeri Kravchenko, a Soviet consular official and a group of about 10 other persons from Washington arrived at the immigration office here shortly before noon and told newsmen: "We want to find out what happened."

Immigration officials declined to permit the press to interview or photograph the seaman until his status is determined.

"If we decide he is a bona fide political refugee and he himself wishes to talk such notice will be given," said P. A. Esperdy, district director.

TAX ROLL ABOUT READY

If all goes well, the county tax roll will be completed this week, Mrs. Viola Robinson, county tax assessor-collector, said Tuesday.

"If all our machines continue to function," she said, "we will have the rolls completed. As soon as they are out of the way, the public can begin paying taxes."

6 Construction Contracts Given For Webb Projects

Six construction contracts with a total value of $41,068 have been awarded at Webb AFB. At the same time, an invitation for bids was announced for six other projects.

The contract awards include: Suggs Construction Co., Big Spring, modification of ADC building and providing an access road and parking area, $2,355; J. W. Little, Big Spring, construct test cell facilities, $19,333; Smith and Wardrop Co. of Lubbock, repair housing units at Ozona, $3,510; repair and repaint housing units at Pyote Air Force station, $4,680; tions and how he has behaved. Back home he is worse. He has power there. All of us are under his iron fist. There is no freedom anywhere. We listen to him talk and we don't believe him. He is a liar. He promises everything but gives us nothing. We despise him. He is another Hitler."

The New York Daily News said in a copyrighted story that Jaanimets escaped while in company of four fellow crewmen by going into a department store on the pretext of buying hair tonic and hurrying out another door.

GIVES ACCOUNT

The Journal-American quoted the sailor as giving this account of his escape in the presence of Alfred Anderson, the secretary-general of the Estonian Relief Committee of the United States, whom Jaanimets had begged for help in hiding him.

"We were never allowed to go ashore alone. We always had to go ashore with another seaman, sometimes with several. When I left the ship around noon, I was in the company of Harry Simon. My instructions had been to watch Simon. And I'm sure Simon was ordered to keep his eyes on me."

"This is the system—spying. We must spy on each other. We must find out who is against the Soviet system and why. Every Soviet seaman plays the role of the spy. He must look for military objects, airdromes, and other intelligence data that can be useful to the Soviet government."

ESCAPE IN MIND

"When I left the ship with Simon, escape was uppermost on my mind. My leave was for five hours, until 5 o'clock. We walked along a busy street not too very far from the ship."

"I don't remember the name or number of the street. We came to a restaurant and went in for something to eat. While we were at the table, I got up to go to the men's room. I was looking to see how I could get away."

"When I went into the men's room, I saw a door in back. I prayed it would open to my freedom. I went up and turned the knob. I opened it. It was another way out!"

"I ran like anything. Then when I thought I was safe, I started to walk. I got away from the neighborhood and walked into a saloon. There I met an American seaman (the seaman was identified as Bryan Quinn of the Seaman's Institute).

Badly-Beaten K Dropping U.N. Disarmament Drive

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

Premier Khrushchev, badly beaten again on two key issues in the United Nations, appeared ready today to abandon the drive to put over his disarmament plan.

Big Gifts Unit Of United Fund Plans Report

The big gifts division of the United Fund was to make the first report meeting of the drive today at 5 p.m.

Report meetings will be held each Tuesday and Thursday throughout the drive.

Metropolitan division leaders James M. Hardy and Edna Womack were to meet at 4 p.m. to select workers in preparation for the division's kickoff next week.

A breakfast in the Settles Hotel ballroom at 7 a.m. Wednesday will signal the beginning of the drive for the special gifts division headed by Larson Lloyd.

Two other divisions have begun work. They are the big gifts division and the public employee division.

The employees division, under the chairmanship of Arnold Marshall, will begin work Thursday at 7 a.m. Workers for the division have already been selected. This division will contact 125 firms.

The out of town gifts division, under the chairmanship of John Currie has also begun work.

Split Insurance Board Kills Auto Penalties

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' controversial automobile insurance program got a minor face-lifting today by a dissension-split State Board of Insurance.

By a 2-1 vote the board agreed to remove 7.3 per cent of the traffic violation penalties, effective Jan. 1, 1961. The major controversial items, including speeding and running stop signs, remain in the so-called safe driving program.

The penalties eliminated include traffic tickets given for fraudulent use of drivers licenses, mental incompetence, physical incapability, illegal backing, driving on wrong side of street or road, failure to yield right of way, wrong way on a one-way street, following too close, blocking traffic, lane violation, failure to stop and give information, improper start from parked position, illegal signal, improper lookout, and unnecessary noise.

Board Chairman Penn Jackson, the dissenter, said the board met

Monday. He announced the changes today by revealing the minutes of the meeting.

Five times Jackson was defeated by the other members, Robert W. Strain and Ned Price, in his efforts to abolish or radically change the program.

Arguments over proposed rate changes in the auto insurance and a suggested amendment by Jackson to discount penalty points for "unavoidable accidents" will continue at another board meeting Oct. 17.

"I don't care to make any statement now because we are not much more than half through considering this," Price told reporters after Jackson's announcement.

"The only thing I will say now is that I am not in favor of abolishing the safe-driving plan. I think its objectives are good and I want to preserve that."

Strain was reported in Chicago attending a committee meeting of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

The safe driving plan was put in force last Jan. 1 with the idea of cutting Texas' traffic accident rates by encouraging safe driving through insurance premium penalties assessed for traffic violations. All three commissioners approved it at the time.

Jackson said today he did not dissent last year "but I have substantially the same positions now as I did before."

"This plan will never succeed until the inequities are taken out," Jackson told reporters. "I do not believe this action today takes out these inequities."

Jackson said he believes the major inequity is assessing penalty points for minor traffic violations not connected with an accident. That was one of his amendments voted down 2-1.

"The lack of uniformity of peace officers, even a peace officer's designation on a certain day, is not an accurate gauge of a driver's ability or what he will do in an accident two years from now," Jackson said.

Jackson also said he thought the $25 minimum for assessing points in accidents was too low. His effort to raise it to $50 Monday failed.

"I think the optional approach will bring better savings to better drivers," Jackson said of his defeated amendment to allow insurance companies to adopt competing safe-driving plans. "I believe under present law we could have optional rating plans and I believe some companies could even offer more than the 20 per cent discount."

"But most companies don't want any competition on the price of automobile insurance," he said. "They prefer to let the board fix the rates than to have competition."

Jackson declined to name any specific groups of companies.

Rambler Offers Variety

The car which will go unchanged for the next few years, the Rambler American, (top photo), features shorter exterior dimensions, but interior room for a family of six. The 1961 models include two-door and four-door station wagons and sedans, and the newly added convertible which will be available the first of the year. The 1961 Rambler American represents the first basic styling change in 11 years. Shown below is the 1961 Ambassador V-8 by Rambler. It's a 117-inch wheelbase model, the first car to apply the compact concept to the luxury car field. The entire Rambler line is to be seen beginning tomorrow, at McDonald Motor Co., 206 Johnson.

Rambler American Modified, Ambassador V-8 Is New Model

Variety is the word for Rambler—the low-cost car which has set the industry pace in recent years—in its lines for 1961. All of them are to be seen Wednesday at McDonald Motor Co., 206 Johnson St.

For the first time since its introduction more than 10 years ago, as the original compact car, the Rambler American has completely new styling. This car, which has avoided appearance change just for the sake of change, will continue to keep a stable style, the makers announce, to protect owners' investment.

And Rambler this year is unveiling the Ambassador V-8, the first car to apply the compact concept to the luxury car field.

The line of Rambler Six and V-8 models make up the "Classic" series, and have major engineering innovations.

The 1961 Rambler American has reduced exterior dimensions but with the same interior room for six persons.

CONVERTIBLE
A convertible and a four-door station wagon have been added to the line, which also includes two-door station wagons and two-door and four-door sedans. A total of 13 models are offered.

The 100-inch-wheelbase Rambler American is 52 inches shorter—now 173.1 inches in length—and three inches narrower than last year's model. The reductions in bulk were made possible by reducing the front and rear overhang, and by slimming down the side panels. It has room for a family of six. At the same time, usable trunk space has been increased 50 per cent to 23.8 cubic feet.

The Ambassador V-8, built on a 117-inch wheelbase, is available in six four-door models, including a Super and Custom sedan, Super and Custom two-door station wagon, and Super and Custom three-door station wagon.

IMPROVEMENTS
The Ambassador V-8 features a new ceramic-coated muffler and tailpipe, a cushioned, acoustical fiber glass ceiling panel, vacuum powered four-door locking system, a new heating and ventilating system.

Prayer And Forgiveness

We need to obtain forgiveness; for sin separates men from God (Isa. 59:1, 2). We must obtain forgiveness to become children of God; and this comes through faith and obedience (Acts 6:7; and 2:38).

We must obtain forgiveness every day after becoming Christians; and this comes through repentance and prayer (Acts 8:22; 1 Jno. 1:8, 9).

In the New Testament, no alien sinner is told to pray for forgiveness; and no erring Christian is told to be baptized. There are two divine laws of pardon for these two classes.

In praying for forgiveness, the Christian must have a forgiving attitude toward his fellow man; else his prayer will not be answered (Matt. 6:12-15). Perhaps this explains why your prayers are not being heard.

"LOVE, COURTSHIP AND MARRIAGE" will be the sermon Thursday evening, 7:30, 3900 West Highway 80. Welcome.

Tom Tarbet, Christian who preaches Church of Christ, W. Highway 80.

Surgeon Announces Gadget That Can Aid Paraplegics

By RENNIE TAYLOR

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An electronic gadget can be built that will make paraplegics walk, a research surgeon reported Monday.

It isn't ready for production yet but Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz of Brooklyn, N. Y., said its workability has been demonstrated by experiments on the temporarily paralyzed legs of dogs.

About three more years of experimentation and $600,000 will be needed to bring the project to the point where it can be tried on patients, he said in a report to the American College of Surgeons.

Paraplegics are people who are paralyzed on both sides from the waist down. It has been estimated there are about 250,000 of them in the United States. Mostly they are wheel chair cases.

Dr. Kantrowitz and an associate, Dr. Rene Khafiz, produced walking motion in the legs of dogs paralyzed by anaesthetics.

To do this they built an electronic system, operated by magnetic tape, that would deliver little electric shocks to the four groups of leg muscles that carry out the walking motion.

The shocks activated the inert muscles of the anaesthetized dogs, producing the motions needed for walking, Dr. Kantrowitz said. In doing this the machine took over the function of the brain. In paraplegics the muscles do not function because the nerves controlling them have lost their connection with the brain.

Electronic stimulation of these muscles, the surgeon said, required a complicated system for delivering electric signals at just the right time to make a leg straighten or bend, and swing forward and to the rear.

The signal system must make one set of muscles relax while another is contracting. It calls for five sets of wires running from a little power supply to different sites on the leg.

The experimental machinery is large and cumbersome but it can be reduced to portable size, Dr. Kantrowitz predicted.

areas are enlarged for safety. All-new body colors harmonize with changes in interior styling. The Larks are on display at McDonald Motor Co., 206 Johnson.

Studebaker Lark Line For 1961 Has Variety Of Models

The models are to be seen at McDonald Motor Co., 206 Johnson. All Lark models are available with either the new, more powerful six cylinder OHV engine—the Skybolt Six—or the V-8 power plant.

Four-door sedans and four-door station wagons are offered with a choice of Deluxe or Regal styling in body and interior trims.

Models with Regal trims are the two-door hardtop, two-door convertible, the new Cruiser and the Hawk.

An accessory trim kit available for two-door sedans includes extra sun visor, rear ash tray, and stainless steel windshield and rear window reveal moldings. Rear door arm rests are added in the kits for four-door sedans. Station Wagons contain the rear ash tray, extra visor and windshield moulding while the four-door wagon kits add the rear door arm rests.

An extensive list of equipment is optional for all models.

Among the more popular options offered are the Climatizer, power steering, power brakes, tinted glass, electric windshield washers, white sidewall tires, back-up lights, chrome wheel discs, manual or push button radio, hill holder for cars with standard transmissions, air conditioning (except convertibles) and the Twin Traction "limited-slip" differential.

Apron Covers Nude Statue

DETROIT (AP)—A bronze apron now covers the once nude statue of the Spirit of Transportation in the Civic Center here.

City Councilman Eugene van Antwerp condemned the original as "immoral and indecent."

The statue of an Indian carrying a canoe was created by the late Swedish sculptor Carl Milles. An apron was welded across the Indian's loins after Van Antwerp protested. He also has protested a statue of a nude mermaid astride a dolphin to be set up in the center, but nothing has been done about her yet.

Nixon Talking Peace, Getting Big Applause

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon is putting new stress on an old issue as he makes his bid for the winning of the West. Everywhere Nixon goes he talks peace, and every time he talks peace, he gets applause.

In Salt Lake City Monday Nixon got what sounded like the blessing of President David O. McKay of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Two weeks ago McKay seemed unusually friendly to Sen. John F. Kennedy when he dropped by to pay his respects.

But Nixon got more than a friendly greeting.

"I told your competitor," McKay informed Nixon, "that if he is successful in November, we would be behind him. I say to you today that I hope you are."

Elated Utah Republicans who heard it regarded the statement as an endorsement, unprecedented in church history.

Republicans, who thought the state was leaning toward Nixon anyway, now figure that with the McKay statement Utah's four electoral votes are in the bag.

Both candidates have worked the peace issue in this campaign—naturally, they're both for it—but Nixon seems to put unusual stress on it.

Nixon said of the American people: "They can be forever grateful to Dwight D. Eisenhower that he got us out of one war, that he kept us out of any others, and that there is peace without surrender in the world today."

Earlier, in Denver, he put it this way: "President Eisenhower has stood for peace. He's always been willing to go the extra mile, to negotiate, but he has also stood for principle, and that is what we must do—firmness without belligerence."

In a pre-breakfast speech in Billings, Mont., he took only a slightly different tack: "The truth of the matter is that in this administration, under the leadership of President Eisenhower, we got the United States out of one war; we've kept her out of other wars, and we do have peace without surrender today, and we want to keep that kind of leadership in Washington."

Kennedy Urges Another Debate Before Election

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy today urged that a fifth television-radio debate be staged between himself and Vice President Richard M. Nixon a few days before the Nov. 3 election. The Democratic presidential nominee sent a telegram to the National Broadcasting Co. and the American Broadcasting Co. accepting their proposal for such a meeting.

He said he hoped the other networks would join in.

"In a political campaign of such importance as this one, I do not believe we should permit the last 18 days of the campaign to go by without one further exchange between the two candidates," he explained.

"The first two joint appearances have demonstrated their value. Some 130 million Americans were tuned in—an unparalleled audience for a political program."

"In today's world, the issues shift quickly and I believe that a fifth appearance would fill the void left in the present scheduling. I hope that Mr. Nixon will join in this proposal."

Under the present schedule, the fourth and last debate will be Oct. 21. The third is on Thursday night of this week.

Kennedy did not say so in his wire, but it was learned that the Democratic contender also would like another debate closer to the election because he feels he has done well in the first two.

Some Democratic leaders also have told newsmen they fear a Republican TV blitz in the last two weeks of the campaign after the fourth debate—a saturation campaign using films of Nixon and President Eisenhower which Democrats would be unable to

A Devotional For Today

After Paul had seen the vision, immediately we endeavored to go into Macedonia. (Acts 16:10.)
PRAYER: Lead us, our Father, to full submission of our wills to Thine. Consecrate us to Thy service. Help us to use our talents in ways acceptable in Thy sight. In the name of Christ we pray. Amen.

As Fast As We'll Let It Go

The earmarking of $252,000 for structures, grading and base for an extension of FM-700 northward from Interstate 20 to State 390 (Snyder Highway) is another evidence that the Texas Highway Department is still ready to move forward in Howard County.

Right now we are awaiting the final deed for right of way on U.S. 87 from Fairview north to Martin County line. The commission had made plain its desire to tackle the very next step, the widening of the roadway from Fairview into Big Spring so that the divided highway will stretch from Big Spring to the county line. Plans in the Odessa and in the Lubbock districts call for a continuation of this project to Lamesa, where the road now widens into divided highway all the way to Tahoka. Ultimately it will go from there into Lubbock as a divided highway. Additional grade separation within Big Spring is still another possibility. Ultimately, an extension of FM 700—or rather a partial rerouting of it—from U.S. 87 to Interstate 20 on the west—will be in order. Still other routes, in addition to state lateral road projects, are in the offing.

The point is that the state is ready to move just as Howard County will let it move. We hope that machinery can be set in motion to open the way to an even accelerated program of joining hands with the state.

Ferment In Africa

The position of President Sekou Toure of Guinea in going down the line in support of Nikita Khrushchev's proposal for an United Nations overhaul is not apt to get any more response than the original version proposed by the Russian premier. Toure did say that the secretary-general should remain but proposed a committee of three assistants along the lines of the triumvirate secretariat suggested by Khrushchev. Ostensibly, the secretary-general would become a sort of figurehead, subservient to the committee of three.

From our point, the most disturbing thing is that a member of the African bloc would take up the Russian proposal. This had happened, it appeared that the Communist trap play to get into the saddle among the new nations of Africa had gone awry. Sunday the discredited and deposed Patrice Lumumba, escorted by U.N. forces, came out of his custodial seclusion and began drumming up support for a return to power. Prime Minister Mobutu of the Congo republic, who thwarted the Communist coup with Lumumba, announced that he would put a stop to that sort of thing by seeing that Mr. Lumumba didn't go out on the town any more.

Perhaps at the bottom of the Toure expression is a desire to exercise pressure to get U.N. forces out of the troubled area. This is understandable, but it isn't practical until a lot more stability is in sight and until there is some assurance that Russia can be blocked from its meddling.

Marquis Childs Eisenhower's Continuing Appeal

WASHINGTON — The veteran campaigner in war and in peace is about to set out on the campaign trail again. President Eisenhower in the days ahead will be doing what comes naturally, making the kind of "nonpolitical" speeches that have helped to hold his place in the esteem of a large proportion of his fellow citizens.

Already the oldest man ever to serve in the White House, the President will be 70 on Friday. In the light of this it is hard to recall the atmosphere of five years ago just after he had had his heart attack in Denver.

AS HE SLOWLY convalesced leaders in his own party were doubtful that he would run again and Democrats hopefully believed he would refuse a second term. After he had taken his decision the following spring and when the ill-effects operation in June compounded the doubts many believed he would not live out his second four years. They saw Vice President Nixon inheriting the Presidency.

But, above all, it is the consistency of the President that has marked his second term. He has been exactly what he is and what he is not. To most Americans he seems before everything else to have the smiling, warm-hearted assurance that the comfortable America of the past is still the America of the present. And his beneficent image on the political horizon—a setting sun perhaps but nevertheless a glowing sun—is a complicating factor for both the Republican and Democratic presidential candidates.

YOU HAD ONLY to see the crowds waiting on the curb to watch him pass in Philadelphia and New York the other day to realize the nostalgic hold he has. There is a feeling that with his departure an era is ending—a relaxed interregnum in which despite the alarms and excursions of crisis after crisis all was well with like in the White House. The two ambitious, hard-driving men in their forties campaigning for the presidency with talk about sacrifices, higher taxes, stern times ahead are something quite different. And it is hardly surprising that many Americans instead of giving Vice President Nixon and Senator Kennedy their full attention are inclined to look back nostalgically at the Eisenhower years.

WHAT HE IS and what he is not were never better illustrated than during his brief intervention at the United Nations. It was a reluctant intervention forced by Premier Khrushchev's decision to head the Soviet delegation to the General Assembly. The President got in first and made a speech full of good will and concern for the newly independent nations of Africa and Asia. It seemed to open a door to a meeting with Mr. K.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The consumer is not high on the list of those who share the benefits of increased productivity in this increasingly mechanized era. Latest proof is a government report showing that labor costs for marketable $58 billion worth of farm-produced foods in the U. S. came to $29.5 billion in 1959.

With more clever machines preparing, packaging and distributing food, where go the expected savings of such increased productivity? The answer is a bit startling, considering there are only a few more marketing workers today than a decade ago. But in that decade their hourly earnings have risen 70 per cent and their fringe benefits such as pensions, welfare and insurance have driven the bill even higher.

Then, as the machines took over actual production jobs, new jobs have flowed in nonproduction areas. These nonproduction jobs now amount to one-third of the marketing work force.

TROPHY OF THE HUNT

James Marlow World Won't Be Same Any More

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world won't be the same any more.

That's the one thing which came through clear after three weeks of uproar at the United Nations. That body started in business 15 years ago with 51 nations. Last week it added its 99th.

Those 48 new members include not only neutrals but former colonial territories which are anxious to come abreast of the 20th century in a rush. If they don't get help from this country, they can try Russia.

They can play the two giants off against each other. And each for its own sake will have to do business with them. In these next 15 years the balance of world power may be settled for a century.

IT WOULD BE nice to think that the neutrals and former colonial nations might team up to keep the two great powers—and later the third great power, Red China—in line, out of a pure regard for the sake of mankind.

More practically they will probably be guided by economic needs and help and military pressure, following a course which nations have always followed—what's in it for me?

Premier Khrushchev is aware of the long struggle ahead. For whatever reason he was still confident over to weekend after demanding much and getting nothing in this session of the United Nations.

"We will win, we will win," he said, and although "today we, the Socialist states are in a minority tomorrow we prophesy you (the West) will be in the minority."

THE COMMUNIST world right now may be planning adventures undreamed of by the West for Khrushchev warned that unless he gets what he wants in the United Nations "we will rely on our own strength."

In its earlier days the United Nations, relying mainly on the support and leadership of the United States, was able to stop Communist ambitions in Iran, Greece, Korea.

Those were the days when this country was ahead in nuclear development. The United States then was indisputably the world's No. 1 power—financially and militarily, with its enormous industrialization and its monopoly of the atom bomb—but this country and Russia were partners.

Today Russia challenges the world leadership of the United States. The fact that Khrushchev lost every round in the U.N. session this year would indicate the majority opinion of mankind is still on the American side.

The great challenge in these next 15 years is to keep that opinion on the same side. This will almost certainly require new tactics, new strategy, new attitudes in this country, new understandings of other people's needs.

To Your Good Health Desensitizing Shots For Hay Fever

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Can hay fever make one's eyes feel like they are burning—dry and aching? Some days I suffer so terribly with them that my stomach becomes upset. My nose also itches."

"I seem to be O.K. until I go to work each day, and then the trouble starts. However, it seems to clear up in the afternoon."

"I have tried taking antihistamines but they make me upset and sometimes very drowsy, so I would rather not continue with them. Would vitamins build up my resistance to this?"

"I lived in two large cities before moving where I am now, and I never had this problem before. Is there anything I can do except move?—E.P."

Hay fever certainly can do just what you describe. It is most annoying.

Antihistamines usually are helpful, since you cannot tolerate them, your problem is that much more difficult. If it is possible to install an electric air filter in your office—and you can keep your office closed, to prevent pollen from getting in—this may be a solution. Or consult an allergist so he can determine which pollens bother you. In that case, a series of desensitizing shots beginning some months before the pollen season starts will be necessary.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My husband claims that people go to doctors for 'every little thing' and he refuses to go, although he has had a cough for over a year, and has spit up blood. He still claims it would be wasting a doctor's time to be examined. I thought maybe a word from you would convince him.—Mrs. M. B."

If it will convince him, here's my word: Better to "waste a doctor's time" than to waste part of your life. Spitting up blood, at the very least is a condition that warrants attention. At worst it can be a warning of deadly peril. Please, sir, go.

"Dear Dr. Molner: A lot has been printed about the effects of cigarette smoking. What about the use of snuff or chewing tobacco?—Mrs. H.M."

The big discussion is over the fact that heavy cigarette smokers are more likely to develop lung cancer. The statistics certainly are convincing, even though the figures can't "prove" that lung cancer comes from that cause. Obviously, since some (but far fewer) non-smokers sometimes develop lung cancer, we can't help assuming that other factors must be involved, too.

Cigarettes burn—and the product of this burning (whether the tobacco or the paper or both) seem to be important. There is also the matter of inhaling these combustion products into the lungs.

I can't say a great deal about snuff and chewing tobacco, except that they contain nicotine, and hence have their effect on the human system.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I would like your opinion on the use of saccharin in iced tea, etc., for a family of healthy children. Only one is overweight.—A.C."

There's no harm. Millions use saccharin every day. Since it has no calories, it will help the overweight youngster, and it will not hurt the others. (If they need more calories, they'll eat a little more food for dinner, that's all.)

Around The Rim Honest Confession On What We Wore

Older folk really have no grounds to voice disapproval of the way the younger generation elects to dress.

It just shows how one's memory can be conveniently defective when the picture to be shown is not as kind as it might be.

When I was a youngster, only the really poor kids wore overalls or jeans to school. There were times when circumstances forced me to so dress. I recall the acute sense of embarrassment I felt, and I was certain all of the other kids were making remarks about me. Today I note that jeans are the common custom—not only for boys but often for girls as well.

A certain sort of class snobbery prevailed in my school days. You had to go to school "dressed up." As a result, a lot of poorer families were hard pressed to dress their kids to the point where they felt their appearance in their classes would bring no reflection.

AND WHEN WE were teen-agers, we had about all of the common faults we so grimly charge to today's teen-agers. We conformed—which is to say we wore what the others wore.

There was a period, for example, when no self-respecting boy of 16 or so would go out on the street unless he had a silk shirt. These shirts were really gay gadgets—striped in all of the colors of the rainbow. Most had French cuffs and detachable collars. The silk was so flexible, I remember, that the collar seldom would stay in place around the neckband. As a result a gap developed through which the neck showed. But we had to have our silk shirts and they were expensive even in those days.

And we were particularly concerned in the kind of footwear we had. The fellows—all those who really mattered, you know—wore a spectacular shoe. These were called as I remember, "English Walkers." They featured pointed toes. These points were so pointed that had we kicked anyone with one of them it would have made a wound like a bayonet.

MOST BOYS OF THE time had big feet. In order to jam these feet into these needle-pointed shoes, it was necessary that the shoe be long. I once saw a battleship which had a false bow some 100 feet long. I think that the point of the shoes we wore were like that. Anyway a kid with a size 11 foot, wearing a pair of these English walkers gave the appearance of standing on two snow skis.

We must have been well worn looking over. There are a few faded photos still around showing me in such a getup. I have painstakingly destroyed these as I find them.

The girls, too, of that day were just as far out as were the boys. What they regarded as being really the berries was some thing that made most of them look like overstuffed sofa pillows.

AND THINGS WERE no better when the so called gay '20's were with us. The dresses and hats that the girls wore; those strings of beads so long that they posed a constant threat to trip the wearer; the skirts so short that they were not really entitled to the name—oh, brother! And the boys—"jellies"—were just as horrible to see. Peg top pants—wide at the waist and tapering down to such narrow widths at the cuffs that you couldn't possibly slip them off over a pair of shoes. Shirts with those detestable detachable soft collars.

Boy, oh boy, what a spectacle we were! No, we have no real grounds to quarrel with what the kids wear today. We weren't a whit better.—SAM BLACKBURN

Inez Robb Hypocrisy In A 'Quality' Magazine

Such is my passion for the printed word that I am ordinarily most grateful to any publisher who sends me a book, even about bookkeeping, or the mysteries of folk medicine.

But the World Publishing Company of New York has overreached my gratitude with a free copy of the true confessions, or semi-autobiography, of one of a quartette of Hungarian refugees, a mother and her three daughters. The volume, in pristine condition, is being returned pronto.

IT IS JUST possible that the particular daughter who has entrusted her "autobiography" to the skills of a professional writer is the most fascinating woman in the world. And it is even possible that her confessions comprise the greatest treatise ever written in this country on the panning of gold and diamonds.

Even so, I am too old to learn, and this textbook would be lost on me. I have not the slightest yen to know "the reality of the person behind the legend" as the publicity blurb has it. No matter how glamorous she is, or how many husbands and love affairs she has had, the author and her kismet kin, no matter how you slice 'em, are just so much salami to deponent. Salami may be another grade of bologna, but it is still bologna.

IN A LIFETIME devoted to the joys of reading, I have devoured everything from "The Dog of Flanders" to "Atlas Shrugged." And, man! you really have to be crazy about the printed word to plow through that last one. But I cannot even get past the title page of these memoirs of a woman who has been a cinder in the public eye ever since she landed on these shores.

Certainly, the semi-authors has every right to set down the record of her success, since in its own way it parallels the classic American story of the emigrant who makes good and plenty. If the most notorious madam in modern New York history can get her autobiography published, and she did, it is obvious that publishers believe no story should be lost to the world.

WHAT SURPRISES me is not that the current book has found a publisher, but that three lengthy excerpts from it should be published in three succeeding issues of a women's magazine, once regarded as a family publication fit for persons of all ages.

Even though the two major, mass circulation monthly magazines for women are now locked in a titanic circulation battle, the choice of this particular "autobiography" as ammunition is a new low in the war. This is a magazine that flutters over juvenile and adult delinquency and calls the nation to arms to fight it and other national evils.

YET IT HAS opened its pages and given its seal of approval to the kind of trash that, 25 years ago, appeared only in the cheapest of true confessions and movie magazines, none of which were ever permitted in any literate or well-ordered home. It is certainly the kind of trash that no parent with his wits about him would want his teen-agers to read.

But now it appears under the imprimatur of what was once an old and honorable publication. And no doubt, in its next issue this magazine will put out a stirring call for moral regeneration, more community concern for adolescents and a stern campaign against the man-eating shark.

Poppycock!

Not to mention hypocrisy.

Holmes Alexander The Master Retreat

IN NEW YORK WITH NIXON — Two slips of the tongue have lately revealed Richard Nixon — once for the better, once for the worse. In order to accentuate the positive and to show the Vice President to be improving with time, I prefer to reverse the chronological order of the two events.

AT A 2,000-MEMBER breakfast at the Commodore Hotel recently, Nixon meant to make a gay remark about getting started so early in the day. He said that he'd supposed New Yorkers observed "bankers' hours," and then he said—"I see many bankers here!"

Well, a campaigner, especially a Republican, isn't supposed to let on that he has any political friends who are "bankers." The campaigner is supposedly trying to woo the great unwashed, and he's supposed to be suspicious of the money-changers and all the big financial "executives"—another word that popped out in the Vice President's preliminary remarks.

BUT HAVING said "bankers" and "executives," Nixon went into an unprepared speech which was by far the best of the many I have heard him deliver. It was a concise, intelligent, communicative speech for the simple reason that Nixon was talking as an equal to co-equals. He was talking on the straight and level, instead of talking down, as he so often does.

The Vice President admitted that what he said was difficult to explain to "people in the mass." He was saying that the Democrats sell people on the idea that the Federal Government can and will take care of their wants. But, he added, the Republican problem is to sell people the much-harder-to-grasp idea that only the entire national economy—the productivity of 180,000,000 Americans—can provide everything we need from domestic welfare to military supremacy.

TO THIS the vice president added, paraphrasing the Kennedy-Stevenson line, that this truly is "a time for greatness"—but that he, Richard Nixon, could not honestly call himself great. All he and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, hoped to do, was to present their credentials and programs to the American people—and leave it to the people.

Now, for contrast, there was Nixon's previous slip of the tongue at Friendship Airport, Baltimore, with President Eisenhower, Ambassador Lodge, half a dozen Cabinet officers and senators present, the vice president began one of those silly, talking-down anecdotes which he apparently seems appropriate for "masses." He told us that his daughters had a cat named Donna (the hurricane of that name was still pouting outside) and that Donna had just delivered six kittens.

"THREE OF THEM," said the man aspiring to be the Free World's leading statesman, "are white. And three of them are black." (He was obviously going to say "black," but suddenly recalling the need of the Negro vote, he revised the sentence. "Three of them are striped.")

The difference between Nixon at Friendship and Nixon at the Commodore is the difference between talking down and talking straight and level.

In leaving the Commodore, I ran into two good friends of his. To one of them, who is a television executive, I put the hackneyed question about what was wrong with Nixon in the September 26th debate. The answer was revealing, for the executive said that the strategy was for Nixon's make-up and mannerism to project the image of the "common man"—a humble, hesitant, the opposite of Kennedy's cocksureness. Well, this again was the Nixon of Friendship Airport—stooping, unsuccessfully, to conquer.

TO THE OTHER Nixon friend, I expressed the hope that the Vice President would keep on being the Nixon of the Commodore Hotel, where he did both himself and his audience so proud. It is not too much to say that the struggle of these two roles to possess the personality of Richard Nixon is on a par with all the other great moral and intellectual battles of our election year.

For if the people can understand the big domestic and foreign questions, the American Republic can be saved by saving itself. But if a man like Nixon is going to tell kitchy jokes and treat the people like nincompoops and adolescents, we'll never have the chance to save ourselves.

Fashion Seems To Be Going Fur This Year

Fashion has never gone so far before. This winter it will be the rare woman who isn't swathed to the chin in fur, flaunting either precious pelts or the frankly fakes. For those who invest in the real thing, the choices are staggering in both silhouette and skin. Foremost among the silhouettes are the Princess Line — not closely molded, but a delicate shadowing of the figure. The Cape Coat — with cape fullness in back, cut in with short sleeves. The Soft Coat — full across the back, tapering to straight at the hemline.

The Slim Coat — mandarin in line, simple and sleek. Collars range from none to deep cape collars that can be pulled up into hoods, while sleeves are generally short, wider and uncuffed. In lengths, jackets are coming to the fore, ranging from hip bone to below the knee. Stoles are being replaced by mobile capelets and global capes. As for the fur itself, if she doesn't select the still ranking favorite, mink, she might select ocelot, leopard, cheetah or jaguar, or stripes — tiger, civet cat. For the fluffy, bulky look there are opossum, foxes and Norwegian blue fox.

For the sleek, slimming look, South American otter dyed beige or natural brown; Southwest African Persian lamb, dyed black or in new shades, Alaskan fur seal — and most unusual of all, natural white Southwest African Persian lamb, a rare collection of skins sufficient to make only 10 garments, which one manufacturer is rationing to his key states. For added glamor and evening wear, mink — natural, both wild and dark, plus all the shades found in the mutation colors, as well as chinchilla, sable and fitch, both in garments and in trim. And don't be surprised to see unusual fur styles in ponchos, dresses, vests — and yes, even dinner trousers.

GARDEN TALK

Suggestions For Care And Plantings For Planters

Mrs. W. C. Hutchins, Coahoma, writes: We have planted pinto beans in our back yard in the spring and again the 19th of July. They grow and bloom but the flowers break off and they don't make beans. Black eyed peas and tomatoes do well when we have favorable weather in the same soil.

Is there anything we can do to the soil to correct this condition, or is it too late now for this particular bean patch?

Pinto beans seem to do well in the higher cooler climate of Colorado, and I suspect our hot weather and alkali water and soil prevent them from setting a crop. I have had some good results with Kentucky Wonder beans and some success with butterbeans when the season was moist and the temperature stayed below 100 degrees. Try a different variety of beans next time. You may do well with English Peas started very early next spring.

Truman Reserves A Warm Spot For Republican Voters

to hell" and farmers "ought to lose everything they've got" if they vote Republican.

Truman spoke at a fund-raising dinner Monday attended by more than 800 persons who laughed, cheered and applauded delightedly when the ex-president ripped into Republicans.

Farmers and laboring men, he said in one of the many departures from his prepared text, "went haywire in 1952 and 1956 and I never get through telling 'em what I think of 'em."

"The damn farmers vote Republican," he said. "They ought to have their heads examined. They ought to have more than that—they ought to lose everything they've got if they do it again."

Truman said Vice President Richard M. Nixon "is against labor, against public housing, against public power. He is against adequate public health funds. I don't know what the hell he's for."

"I wish I had time to tell you all the things that you are for—that Democrats are for—that Nixon has voted against," Truman said. "And that bird has the nerve to come to Texas and ask you to vote for him."

"And if you do it, you ought to go to hell," the former president said.

Truman hit at Nixon in a press conference, saying the vice president "never told the truth in his life" and "doesn't know what he's talking about."

Asked about Nixon's political philosophy, Truman said, "I did not know he had any."

Asked about Nixon's political philosophy, Truman said, "I did not know he had any."

The former president said the Nixon-Kennedy debates on television are "excellent—they've put Nixon in his place and Kennedy on top."

"Foreign policy in this administration has been wretched," he said, "but we don't want to say that because the president is the only one who can make foreign policy. Now you draw your own conclusions."

Eisenhower "can't turn the clock back, but he's doing his best to stop it," Truman said in the evening speech, in which he criticized Eisenhower vetoes of bills on farm price supports, REA loan controls, aid to depressed areas, public housing and water pollution.

"No Eisenhower veto ever built a dam—or helped a farmer—or put a power line on a Texas farm," the former president said. "And tricky Dick Nixon is cut out of the same cloth—don't make any mistake about that."

That reference to Nixon brought one of the largest ovations from the crowd.

Guilty Plea Halts First Day Of Long Court Docket

Robert Lewis Myers, charged with DWI, pleaded guilty to the reduced charge of being intoxicated in a public place Tuesday morning. His decision to do so brought the initial day of a two-week jury docket in county court to an abrupt termination.

Judge Ed Carpenter, presiding in the court, excused the jurors with instructions to return Wednesday morning at 9 a.m.

Myers was fined $100 and costs. His was the first case scheduled for trial on the current docket.

Out of a panel of 60 drawn for the two weeks docket, Judge Carpenier wound up with 12 jurors.

Twenty reported when court opened. Two of the prospective jurors were excused because they did not speak the English language. One was excused because he was a minister. Four were excused because of personal problems relating to their businesses.

Six pleas of guilty were indicated when the docket was sounded by Judge Carpenter Monday afternoon. Six cases were to be dismissed and three were continued for the term.

MISSING
Lloyd R. Jenkins, charged with DWI, was reported missing and Burns indicated he would start proceedings to forfeit his bond.

Bond of Willie B. Hill, charged with sale of liquor in a wet area without license will also be forfeited, the county attorney said.

Myers' trial was set down as the first to be heard. Douthitt Clay Buchanan, charged with DWI, is slated for trial on Wednesday.

Harrison Smith, charged with transporting will go to trial on Thursday. Donald Brown, charged with selling beer to a minor, will be the defendant before the court on Friday.

FIRST ON TRIAL
Billy Rex Hardison, charged with DWI, will be the first defendant to face trial next week. He will be followed on Tuesday by Cleo Lowery, also charged with DWI. Also set for the same day is the case against Ollie Holcombe.

who is facing two DWI charges on the current docket. W. T. Arther, accused of carrying illegal weapons, goes to trial on Oct. 20. William Lewis Brown Jr., is slated for hearing on Oct. 21. Also set for trial on that date is Guillermo C. Serna, DWI.

OTHER PLEAS
Archie Stegert, charged with theft, is scheduled to plead guilty, Charles L. Cameron, charged with possession of a barbiturate, is to plead guilty and pay a fine of $150 and costs. A charge of unlawful weapons against the same defendant will be dismissed.

NO DATE SET
Three other cases were marked "ready" but no definite date was set for their trial. James O. Cochran, DWI, Lorie K. James, transporting, and a second case of DWI against Ollie Holcombe are so designated on the docket.

TRIAL OF PAUL D. LINER, charged with aggravated assault, was continued for the term. The reason, Burns said, was that an important witness in the case is now confined in a hospital with serious injuries received in a recent car accident. Two other DWI cases, one against Jacinto Hilario and the other against Charles W. Born are also to be continued for the term.

Miss Lambert was taken to the hospital in a River ambulance. Two minor accidents were reported Monday. Charles Vierogge notified officers that a car turned over in his front yard at 11th and N. Gregg, landed on its wheels and was immediately driven away.

William Eugene Randle, 808 NW 5th, and Henry Clyde Smith, 421 Edwards, were in a collision at 3rd and Lancaster.

Trustees Face Light Agenda

A relatively light agenda faces trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District, meeting in regular session at 7:30 p.m. today in the superintendent's office.

A school site offer from the developers of the Kentwood subdivision is one topic for discussion. The trustees have considered possible sites in this part of the city on other occasions.

A discussion on calling a bond assumption and tax rate election for recently annexed areas may be held. And annexation of the Suburban Heights subdivision also may be brought up.

A budget amendment, including several small changes which the trustees have approved since accepting the annual budget, will be considered. And various school problems in the programs at the senior high and Lakeview schools are on the agenda.

Webb Pilots Set Records

Six pilots of F-102's from the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Webb AFB made an excellent showing last week during their deployment to the Weapons Center at Tyndall AFB, Fla.

The six aircraft left Webb on Monday for the purpose of firing their deadly load of Hughes air-to-air radar guided missiles over the Gulf of Mexico firing ranges.

During the critique, Tyndall officials stated that the 331st had set some new records for an F-102 squadron so far this year, and presently stand on top of the list. The six 102 pilots were Maj. Curtis L. Utterback, asst. operations officer; Capt. Lynn Murray, Donald R. Thiel and Thomas A. Nelson; and 1st Lt. Raymond W. Bomkamp and Norris J. Krone Jr.

DEAR ABBY

QUIT NOW

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I married a man who never came home on time so I went to see his boss and found out his boss was nicer than he was.

I can't explain how it happened... but I got myself all involved with this man and now we are in love neither of us can see straight. I want to tell my husband and get it over with. My husband's boss says if he tells his wife, it would kill her. We have children and so do they, but I can't live like this any more. Isn't it more honorable to bring it all out in the open and take the consequences? Or must we hide our love the rest of our lives?

DEAR LIVING: There is nothing "honorable" about breaking up your home and asking a married man to break up his. Stop seeing this man. If possible, get your husband to change jobs and move far, far away. Out of sight, out of mind.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 and afraid of the dark. I vision horrible monsters and ghosts when I lie in bed at night. I am actually scared stiff. Miss Abby, am I being stupid and babyish or can this be cured? I can't talk to my parent about it. They tease me.

AFRAID OF THE DARK DEAR ABBY: You are neither babyish nor stupid. Ask your mother to put a dim night-light in your bedroom. Many adults with the same problem have solved it this way.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have many friends who know something about art. I know nothing about it, but I know what I like. When we are shown a painting that looks like great blobs of nothing, I frankly admit I don't understand it. My husband says I should pretend I understand it and remain silent, because it's better to be thought a fool than to open your mouth and remove all doubt. What's your opinion?

TOO HONEST DEAR TOO: Your husband is wrong. People who KNOW art are seldom deceived by people who don't, but pretend they do. There is no shame in not knowing—just in refusing to learn. Why not look into an art appreciation course?

DEAR ABBY: The problem I read in your column concerning middle-aged women using too much make-up is a common one. My mother had that problem. It was corrected, however, when she went to her eye doctor and discovered she needed bifocals.

Wiley's Third Trial Slated For Nov. 14

Big Spring and Howard County witnesses in the trial of Roosevelt Wiley, charged with murder, have been notified to report to Cleburne District Court, on Nov. 14.

Third trial of the Odessa Negro, charged with killing Shorty Canada, Gandy milk truck driver, has been set for trial that date in the Cleburne court. Half a dozen or more local people are witnesses in the case.

Wiley was arrested in Big Spring on Oct. 25, 1958 shortly before the victim was found in tall weeds just off U.S. 87 south of Sterling City. Wiley and a companion, now serving a life sentence, went on a spending spree in Big Spring with the money they stole from the slain truck driver. Canada lived in San Angelo.

Two previous efforts to convict Roosevelt have failed. At Lubbock a jury returned a guilty verdict and assessed the punishment at death. The case was reversed by the Court of Criminal Appeals. Reset for trial in Lubbock, where it had been set on a change of venue from Robert Lee, the second case hogged when a jury could not be qualified. It was then transferred to Cleburne where a third effort to try the defendant is slated.

Mother Saves Child, Loses One

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A panic-stricken mother, stalled at a railroad crossing, saved one child Monday night but lost another when a passenger train plowed into her car in North Hollywood.

The car was carried three-quarters of a mile by the Southern Pacific Coast Daylight, bound for Los Angeles.

Lynn Nine, 22, of North Hollywood, told police she stalled and panicked when the wooden arm of the automatic crossing guard came down as the train approached.

She said she ordered her son Jeffrey, 2, to jump and leaped out herself with her son Michael, 4 months. She said she raced back to try to save Jeffrey but the train beat her to the car.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An auto mechanic and his wife are suing Frank Sinatra for $350,000, accusing him of assault and battery, libel and slander.

James K. Kuykendahl, 22, and his wife, Beverly, 28, a school teacher, said the singer's car ran into theirs in West Los Angeles a year ago.

Their suit charges Sinatra pursued them after the accident, using obscene language and calling Kuykendahl a hit-and-run driver.

Mexico City Bans American Circus

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Federal District Entertainment Bureau said Monday it has refused permission to both Clyde Brothers Circus and Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey to show in Mexico City this year.

No reason was given. Earlier it had been announced that two Mexican shows had already been granted permits to appear.

Council Discusses Contract Change

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Colorado City's council, in a meeting this week, discussed possible amendments to the city's contract with the Texas Electric Service Co., then laid the contract aside for more study.

Texas Electric seeks to extend its present franchise in Colorado City—which runs out in 30 years—for 50 years, and wishes to extend its present contract, which covers Lake Colorado City, to Lake Champion. The company's amendment would raise present annual minimum payment for water from $12,000 per year to $36,000 per year and would result in an extra charge if the city should use more than 730 million gallons of water per year.

City Manager Earl Keaton suggested that if the present contract is to be amended, an entirely new contract might be completed. Among suggestions discussed by the council for possible inclusion in a new contract were taking Texas Electric properties into the city limits with the right to levy taxes, which is not possible under the present contract; and requesting additional land from Texas Electric for park purposes.

Keaton told the council that if the city assumed control of the new lake for recreation purposes money would have to be found for policing the lake. "We may have to double recreation fees," he said. "For example, make the 25 cents daily fee, 50 cents; and the $5 annual fee, $10." Keaton pointed out it would cost more to police two lakes.

S. C. Cooper of the firm of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, consulting engineers of Lubbock, told the council that he could see little direct benefit to Colorado City in Lake Champion. He said, "Lake Colorado City will supply all the water you need." He added, however, that Lake Champion did give the city a psychological advantage in being able to show interested industry a definite oversupply of water.

Mayor Bob Robinson suggested the council study the contract and be prepared with suggestions at a later meeting.

In other council action, the council donated one week's parking meter revenue to the United Fund.

It passed an ordinance to pay R. B. Hodgson and Co. $11,508.80 for relocating water lines under Interstate 20. It is the amount to be repaid the city by the Highway Department.

Thunderstorms Hit Panhandle

By The Associated Press
Thunderstorms continued to boom in the Panhandle Tuesday as cooler air from a cold front stirred up turbulent weather in Texas.

A heavy rainstorm with hail pounded Muleshoe late Monday. A severe weather alert was issued for the west part of the Texas Panhandle and extreme West Texas late Monday. It expired at 2 a.m. Tuesday without any major storms being reported.

Shortly before dawn light rain fell at Dalhart as a thunderstorm moved into the area. Childress also reported a thunderstorm in that sector.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the turbulent weather was triggered by cool air from the Central Rockies. However a high pressure ridge across the United States was expected to hold back some of the cold air mass.

Maximum temperatures Monday ranged from 80 at Sherman to 97 at Presidio.

Early morning temperatures Tuesday ranged from 59 at Amarillo and Dalhart to 75 at Brownsville.

Bigotry Cries Don't Stop Baptists, Pastor Declares

MCKINNEY, Tex. (AP)—Baptists are not deterred during the present presidential campaign by cries of bigotry, a Baptist leader said Monday.

Dr. J. M. Dawson, 81, of Austin, pastor of Waco's First Baptist Church for 31 years before his retirement, spoke before the 75th anniversary meeting here of the Collin Baptist Association.

The group represents 54 Baptist churches with a combined membership of more than 15,700 persons.

The association, before the Rev. Mr. Dawson's speech, passed a resolution that said the principle of religious freedom "is in grave danger in our day." Although the resolution did not mention either Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy or the Roman Catholic Church by name, the Rev. G. B. Bradshaw said it was "clearly aimed at both."

The Rev. Mr. Bradshaw is superintendent of missions for the Collin Baptist Association.

The Rev. Mr. Dawson, director of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs in Washington, D.C., after leaving Waco, told his audience:

"We Baptists are not deterred by the noisy, unintelligent cry of bigotry."

"We smile at the spectacle of those who side with a church that stigmatizes all other churches as counterfeits, that invalidates marriages performed by others and forbids its children from attending our public schools."

Banks Report Net Increases

LAMESA (SC)—Lamesa banks experienced net increases in deposits and loans in the last four months, according to statements of condition released in response to state and national bank calls.

Both firms showed increases in loans but the Lamesa National Bank showed the only hike in deposits. Their increase was from $9,442,491 to $10,811,271 and the First National Bank decreased by $258,591.

Loans were up considerably since June, with the First National reporting increases from $3,744,289 to $4,387,217 and Lamesa National had hikes from $5,664,200 to $8,013,103.

Approximate gains in both were about the same as in October of last year and reflect a normal, seasonal trend.

Tax Office Deputy Quits

Sophie Corcoran, long time deputy in the office of Mrs. Viola Robinson, Howard County tax assessor-collector, has resigned her post to accept a job with the T&P Credit Union.

Genevieve Cass, another veteran in the office, has replaced Mrs. Corcoran as chief deputy. Lorena Smith has been named second deputy. The designations were officially approved by the county commissioners court Monday.

The commissioners also authorized Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, to employ Darla Bradshaw as an extra deputy in her office for the period Oct. 19 through Nov. 4. This is the time that absentee voting for the general election will be in progress.

Mrs. Petty said that early applications for absentee ballots indicates an extremely heavy vote in this department. No ballots have been received by her office as yet.

Rally Postponed

A Democratic rally slated for the Howard County Courthouse Tuesday night has been postponed exactly one week, Frank Hardesty, Howard County Democratic chairman, announced. The meeting set for tonight will be held on Oct. 18.

Jack Pokes Fun At Poster Of Nixon Wagging Nikita

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy poked fun Monday night at Republican campaign posters "of Mr. Khrushchev with Mr. Nixon's finger under his nose."

At a Democratic rally here, Kennedy drew laughter and applause in telling about a billboard he saw here depicting Vice President Richard M. Nixon's "kitchen debate" with the Soviet premier in Moscow last year.

Kennedy said that last Friday night, after his second TV debate with the Republican presidential nominee, he went over to shake hands with Nixon and the photographers rushed up to them.

"Suddenly the finger came up in my nose," said Kennedy. "I thought here it comes: he is going to tell me how wrong I am about the plight of America, and do you know what he said?"

"Senator, I hear you have been getting better, crowds than I have in Cleveland."

After the laughter died down, Kennedy went on like this:

Tides Equality Bill Is Planned

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Rep. Overton Brooks, D-La., plans to introduce a bill at the next session of Congress to give all coastal states equal treatment for offshore boundaries.

In the meantime, Brooks said Monday night, he hopes to get commitments from both Democratic and Republican presidential candidates to support the measure.

Brooks' measure would apply to states bordering on the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans as well as those on the Gulf.

He revealed the proposal after the U.S. Supreme Court turned down the claims of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama for a 10½-mile boundary in the Gulf of Mexico. Texas and Florida have been awarded the 10½-mile boundary whereas the other Gulf states are still in the 3-mile limit.

In Baton Rouge, Gov. Jimmie Davis said he hoped Congress would take the necessary steps for equal treatment for coastal states.

A Word From Khrushchev

District Court Jurors Dwindle

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, qualified a jury panel which had dwindled to 38 from its original 90 members, and then excused the body until Wednesday morning.

No cases were ready Monday afternoon or Tuesday.

Whether there will be work for the jury on Wednesday was uncertain. Judge Caton said that the Federal District Court, which opened Monday in Pecos has drained away nearly all of the attorneys whose cases he had set down for the current week's civil jury docket.

He had hopes one or two cases would be ready to start Wednesday.

Lamesa Police Have Busy Time

LAMESA (SC)—Lamesa city police established two departmental records during September as they answered 961 complaints and listed 198 traffic details.

The number of complaints topped the old mark of 905 set in June, 1959 and the number of traffic details shaded the old figure by more than 50 per cent.

A total of 92 persons were jailed during the month and police destroyed 45 dogs while checking out an additional 72 animal complaints.

Fines from the 92 persons jailed totaled $1,044 and $803 in fines were assessed for traffic violations. Parking meter receipts (from fines) amounted to $267.50.

Why Am I Always Tired?

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

You're as peppy as your nerves will permit! If you are slowing up, you'll find that your life energy transmission lines are faulty.

Instead of investigating, we generally blame constant fatigue on the weather.

Overwork, too many social and civic obligations, etc. Result—we often put off a physical checkup until we hear of a friend, perhaps in his prime, dropping dead of a heart attack, or some other physical impairment that moves us to "wonder."

The human body has the ability to compensate for its own loss or injury—and it has its own warning signals such as headaches, fevers, skin eruptions, dizziness, changes of weight, indigestion, nausea, difficult breathing, etc.

Fatigue is one of the most common symptoms of physical impairment. When the body loses its ability to adapt, alter or compensate for itself, it is sick! We find ill health is usually the result of faulty body mechanics resulting from defective nerves—and usually the sick patient can't sleep because their nerve system is too heavily taxed—too burdened with spinal pressures and other interferences.

When there is an interference in this spinal nerve section of your central nervous system, almost any organ or gland will become weakened or irritated.

Sickness and health come from inside your body. Health is the outward expression of normal function of all your organs, glands and muscles located inside.

If you are sure your transmission lines are clear, you can be sure your health will be normal.

To be sure, you might do as this case taken from our clinic files:

Several years ago an insurance executive brought his sick thirty five year old wife to the Hansen Chiropractic Clinic after all other methods had failed. Suffering all the usual symptoms of physical exhaustion, she had been previously diagnosed as "Neuro-Asthenia" (lack of nerve energy). It all began with severe intermittent pains in her lower back and female trouble. In spite of her past treatment, she became progressively worse as symptoms of insomnia, extreme nervousness, irritability, despondency, overweight, emotional disturbances, chest pains, difficult breathing, etc., gradually developed.

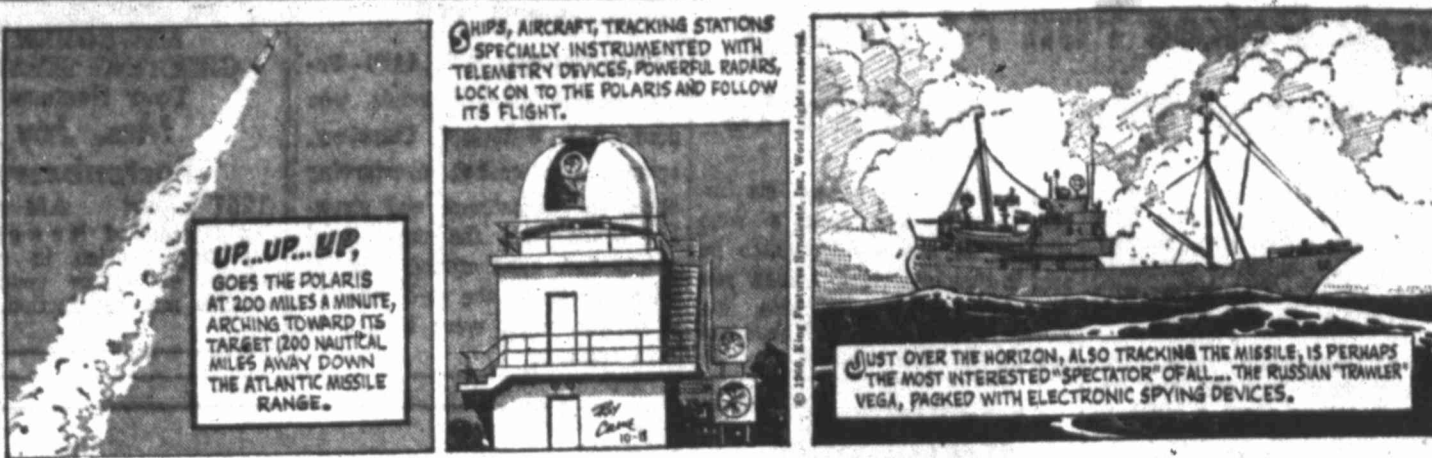

Our Spinal examination located several hot, defective nerve trunks. When X-rays disclosed the nature of these nerve disturbances our corrective spinal adjustments replaced the offending vertebrae back where they belonged. Nature quickly righted all. Symptoms of illness were gone within three months. She comes in periodically for spinal check-ups. When last seen she had not only regained her normal health, she had also regained her normal weight, losing some forty pounds and "never felt better." No 497

You are as healthy as your nervous system! If you can't rest properly—if you get up tired and exhausted in the mornings—if every little effort wears you out—investigate! What can you lose except your tired, weak feeling?

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

SPORTS dialogue:
SPOOK MURPHY, football coach at Memphis State:
"I'd like to play Ole Miss again. Next Saturday, or any other Saturday you can name. We simply played 'em a hell of a ball game and it took the No. 1 team in the nation to beat us."

FURMAN BISHOP, Atlanta sports writer
"After eating at a little Alabama restaurant just recently sporting a Duncan Hines shingle, I'm convinced the recommendation was made posthumously."

PHIL WRIGLEY, owner of the Chicago Cubs, after rejecting Lou Boudreau's request for a long term contract to manage his team
"The club does not like the idea of constantly changing managers any more than it likes too many changes in the team. But when things aren't going well, and that covers quite a period of years now, the only thing we can do is to make changes and try to find a winning combination."

HAROLD LAHAR, University of Houston coach, discussing his club's effort against Oregon State recently:
"Our's is a good football team, and I'll tell you why: They have the one thing you've got to have to be a good team. These kids have heart. They never get discouraged, even after those two quick touchdowns, and they were hitting right up to the final gun."

PAUL DIETZEL, coach at LSU, following the Tigers' losing effort against Baylor:
"Every time you lose, you die a little inside, but Baylor has a fine football team. Other things contributed to our defeat besides that fumble. We got down there and didn't score."

GEORGE WEISS, general manager of the New York Yankees, on why he recommended that the Yanks hire Casey as manager even after Stengel had forced a managerial record of finishing fifth on two occasions, sixth in two other seasons and seventh in five years:
"I knew Casey for 25 years. I have stayed up later with him, and listened longer, than anybody else. I was convinced that there was a great baseball man and I never saw anything to change my opinion. Lots of times Casey did things that surprised you, going against the 'book' and all that, but when you asked him why, he came up with reasons so sensible that you learned from him."

BILL BARNES, UCLA coach, after his team had been tied by Purdue:
"Playing a tie is like dating your sister. But it's better than losing."

LLOYD WANER, one-time Pittsburgh outfielder, refuting stories that the 1927 Bucs were swayed by the New York Yankees in the World Series after watching them take batting practice:
"I never even saw the Yankees before the first game. That's just talk of our being scared of 'em, a lot of hokey. We weren't afraid of them."

BOB BROEG, St. Louis sports writer, discussing the same series:
"Despite their muscles, none of the Yankees reached the fences in spacious Forbes Field and, in fact, only the Babe homered twice in Yankee Stadium. Lou Gehrig did contribute two doubles and two triples. The Yankees won that '27 series with pitching, the pitching of Waite Hoyt, Herb Pennock, George Pipgras and Wiley Moore."

CHUCK CONERLY, veteran quarterback of the New York Giants:
"When I look good, I'm an old pro. When we lose, I'm an old man."

Stinnett Plays W. Deer Friday

By The Associated Press
Mighty Stinnett and surprising White Deer clash this week in the feature game of the Class A schoolboy football campaign.
The high-flying Raiders, and White Deer both are unbeaten and untied and the game more than likely will determine the District 1 championship.

Seventeen of the 19 teams entering last Friday night's activity maintained their perfect records with only Elkhart and Hull-Daisetta stumbling from the ranks.
Sour Lake, still unbeaten, sank Hull-Daisetta 20-14 and Alto crushed Elkhart 36-14.

Lance Alworth May Not Play Against Steers

By The Associated Press
The University of Texas and Arkansas Monday focused their football attention along the same channel—whether or not the Razorbacks' Lance Alworth will be able to play in Saturday's game.

The fleet halfback, Arkansas' most dangerous runner, reinjured a bruised knee against Baylor last week and was sidelined in the second half.

Arkansas and Texas clash Saturday in one of the feature games of the Southwest Conference.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal said Monday that Alworth will make a "big difference" if he's able to play, but word from the Porks' camp said Alworth's recovery by Saturday is doubtful.

Meanwhile, the Razorbacks ran through a loosening-up drill and worked on fundamentals and offensive and defensive assignments. At Austin, the Longhorns were told by Royal that Arkansas can beat Texas "even if we play a good game."

He said Arkansas will be the best team the Steers have met this year.

Texas A&M Coach Jim Myers worked his Aggies on offensive and defensive adjustments, criticizing the squad for "missing too many tackles" against Houston last week. Houston beat the Aggies 17-0.

Texas Christian, A&M's opponent Saturday, was confronted with a problem similar to Arkansas'. The Horned Frogs were wondering whether tackle Robert Lilly, an All-America candidate, will be on hand for the game.

Rowe, Townsend Corpus Leaders

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Medalist Earl Rowe and defending champion John Townsend today head the field into the first round of the 24th State Senior Championship Golf Tournament.

Rowe, of San Antonio, turned in a one-over-par 72 over the Corpus Christi Country Club course Monday to win medal honors by two shots. Runnersup with 74s were John Townsend and Bill Argue, both of Houston.

Rowe faces John Rossi of Corpus Christi in the first round today and Marshall, who shot a practice round of 72 Monday, takes on M. P. Wilson of San Antonio.

The tourney, open to golfers 55 or over, extends through Saturday.

Cannon Making Big Comeback

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Houston's Dave Smith is pulling away from the field in American Football League running but the greatest progress made last week was by the late-starting but now onrushing Billy Cannon, also of Houston.

Smith leads the league with 291 yards on 58 runs. Cannon, the former Louisiana State All-American, has swept from fifth to second with 227 yards on 44 carries.

Dave Rolle, Denver's big fullback, is third with 225 yards and Abner Haynes of Dallas has moved into the fourth spot with 202.

George Blanda, Houston quarterback, still leads the scoring with 49 points.

Leon Burton of New York tops in kickoff returns with a 33.1 yards average and Cannon is ahead in punt returns with an average of 24.0. The leading punter is Joe Padgug of New York, who has averaged 44.0 yards on seven kicks.

Odds makers Favor TCU, Bears, Herd

By The Associated Press
Texas, Baylor, Rice and Texas Christian will win Southwest Conference football games this week according to the odds makers.
Texas is a 10-point favorite over Arkansas. Baylor 12 points over Texas Tech. Rice seven points over Southern Methodist and Texas Christian eight points over Texas A&M.

Harris Case Is Back In Court

DALLAS (AP) — The topsey-turvy professional football battle involving Jimmy Harris once again has returned to the courtroom.

The Dallas Cowboys, in the Na-

The Cowboys posted a $30,000 bond which guarantees payment of any damages which the Texans might seek if it is decided that Harris can play for them.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

Since 'Alaskans,' Little On TV Of Far North Stories

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP-TV Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Amid the gunshow-horseshoe feast of this season's television, there has been a quiet demerit of "The Alaskans" there hasn't been one series about grizzled prospectors, gold-crazed tenderfeet and dancin' girls.

NBC filled the void Monday night with "Klondike." There was the usual plot involved, although there wasn't a snowflake in sight and the big fight did not take place in the trapper's cabin.

Ralph Taeger is the hero, and he's a rugged Humphrey Bogart type. In addition, there are two fair ladies vying for his affections. Their names are, and note the spelling, please, Jol Lansing and Mari Blanchard.

There was also "Bringing Up

Buddy" moving into its regular place on the CBS lineup. This situation comedy with an unfortunate title aims to be a sweet, gentle—okay, heartwarming—series mostly concerning a pair of dear, quaint aunts trying to do right by their young nephew, Doro Merande and Enid Markey. Playing the old girls in Joseph Hull style, may just pull this one into the spot "December Bride" left open.

The American Research Bureau says its audience sampling showed a drop-off in viewers of the second Nixon-Kennedy interview session. The company estimated the viewing audience for the first face-to-face interview at about 75 million viewers. For the second it has come up with a figure of "over 61 million."

Why? "Well," said a member of the ARB staff, "an awful lot of people go out on Friday nights."

My own personal survey of viewer reaction to the Friday night questioning session ("Beware of one-woman surveys" is a cardinal rule in the sampling business) indicates that many viewers seem more interested in how the candidates looked and acted than in what they said. Consensus was that Nixon looked much better his second time out, but I found marked disagreement with his choice of a shirt with a flaring collar. For better or for worse, this series of interestingly disquieting—aspects in campaigning.

BOOKS • MUSIC • ART • DRAMA CRITIQUE By Glenn Coates

We always give the leading parts the kudos following a play performance, and certainly this is partially the way it should be. But often forgotten is the director of a play.

The success or failure of a play is often in his hands. It is up to him to find the potential within the actors and bring it out to best advantage. It is his job to find the author's story and get it on the stage with the material he has at hand.

Although I'm told that "The Warrior's Husband," recently presented by the Big Spring Civic Theatre, was not quite as good the second night, surely it was one of the better productions staged by the group. Lt. James Marlin was director and probably much of the success of the play was due to his work.

"I was more than pleased with the production," he said following the three nights of performances. "It was far better than I had hoped for."

"The costumes were done in professional manner and the sets were some of the best by amateurs that I have seen." He admitted the second performance could have been better and pointed out some of the mistakes.

"In some cases, the actors did not wait for audience reaction and lost several lines." He adds that the strongest part of the production was attention to details. "An audience may not notice details specifically if they are left out, but it can sense when something is wrong."

Taking up his actors individually, Marlin made these points: Art Clonts—natural sense of timing; fast learner; suited to leads.

Pay Bodine... bit nervous, but excellent progress... should be in many plays to come.

Marge Brown—performance was remarkable, due to the part's difficulty... needs little direction... excellent interpretation.

Louis Dunlap—sensitive to audience... deft sense of timing... good voice... easy to direct.

Lynn Seebö—good voice ability... willingness to work... good appearance.

Gaye Hartwell—consistent... believable... shows promise.

Liz Massey—Handled her part well... shows promise.

Martha Conway — Old hand on the stage... projection was very good.

Fred Assad — good actor... must slow down on delivery.

I forgot to check Marlin on Walter Bermadyne, but I can add that this is one member of the group that can name his own part. He is an outstanding thespian.

Marlin added "the cast had a good time and enjoyed the play."

I will repeat again that the play may have been a milestone in the history of the BSCT here. All the cast and stage people are to be credited for it.

The board of directors is currently making plans for the future and the next play may well be something to anticipate. Particularly if it matches this recent production.

Pastors Decry Religion Issue

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Thirty-five Fort Worth pastors were on record today opposing preachers' trying to tell their congregations how to vote.

All are members of the Fort Worth General Ministers Association and all are Protestants.

They signed a statement offered at the association's regular monthly meeting Monday night. The statement was drawn by the Revs. Granville T. Walker, James Harris and Jack Prichard.

Prichard, president of the ministers' association, is pastor of the Hemp Hill Presbyterian Church here. Harris is pastor of University Baptist, and Walker is pastor of University Christian.

Walker, who presented the statement, emphasized it was not issued by the association. He said it represented the opinion only of those ministers who voluntarily signed it.

Among other things, the statement said that "exploitation of the religious issue (in the presidential campaign) is a disservice both to an objective approach to the election by the American people... and to our religious institutions."

Workers Already Have Yule Dreams

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Government workers already are dreaming of Christmas. The president Monday ordered that each would receive a full month's pay in addition to regular salaries.

Workers also are in line for special gifts from their labor unions, it was announced at the same time.

Loan Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—A loan of $425,000 to the South Plains Telephone Cooperative of Lubbock, Tex., was approved Monday by the Rural Electrification Administration. The loan was made to provide initial service to 382 subscribers.

Daily Average Oil Production Dips

TULSA (AP)—Daily average production of crude oil and condensate dipped 43,710 barrels to 8,814,110 barrels last week, the lowest level since July, the Oil and Gas Journal's survey showed today.

2,413,575 barrels was the principal factor in the net loss. Louisiana lost 3,650 to 1,071,150. Oklahoma had the week's best gain, 5,600 barrels to 479,300. The Journal estimated 1960 production at 1,972,613,400 barrels compared to 1,962,966,000 a year ago.

Other declines included New Mexico, down 1,800 barrels to 293,700.
