

On The BEAM

By J. W. King, Sr

Prospects for a good crop of cotton, maize, and other farm commodities in this territory are as bright as we have seen here for some time. If insects do not do too much damage cotton should turn out very good. Maize and other row crops, too, will be good.

It has been several years since Loraine has had a fair to show off the products of the filed and homes of this community. We believe it is about time we had one.

We could put on a good little fair with a little work on the part of some organization, and with very little expense to anyone. The Lions Club is the logical organization to sponsor a fair.

In connection with the fair the Lions could have their annual carnival to raise funds for their various activities throughout the year.

Despite the fact that some of our citizens are hopeful that some day Loraine will become a of metropolis, it remains the center of a farming territory second to none in its productivity, and it looks now like it will remain as such for a time. Since this is true it behooves all of us to take the farming advantage of the opportunity to improve every phase of the farming industry. We must continue to strive for better crops of all kinds, to learn new ways for the farmer to make money, and sponsor improvement organizations for cotton, maize cows, hogs and chickens. It takes all of these to make a prosperous community.

Farmers who did not know already are finding out this year that sometimes it is expensive to make a cotton crop.

SAFETY IN THE HOME

College Station, July 31—More farm accidents occur in the home than in any other single place on the farm and about the most dangerous room in the house is the kitchen. There are many reasons why accidents happen in the kitchen says Mrs. Bernice Claytor, extension home management specialist of Texas A. & M. College, but few outrank carelessness and household disorder.

Poor connections on the gas stove; overheating or using kerosene in coal or wood ranges; gas escaping when a boiling pot has extinguished a flame, pots and pans containing hot food or water upset by children, using worn out equipment, especially electrical appliances, matches not placed out of children's reach and accidents that often happen to the housemaker while frying foods in deep fat—these are common causes of kitchen accidents.

Mrs. Claytor says that a well kept kitchen, one that is provided with plenty of cabinet and storage space, is most likely to be safe room. However, carlessness can nullify the features of even the best planned and constructed kitchens. One gas explosion or a fire caused from hot grease removes the kitchen and often times the housewife from further safety troubles.

Frozen black eye or other peas require only about one-half as much time cooking as do fresh peas.

Magician Coming To Lorex Theatre

The skeptic is hard to convience of the potentialities of Magic. ut to Morno, the Merry Magician, appearing Thursday and Friday at the Lorex. Magic is not only a life study, but also a life saver.

This strange experience for Morena occurred a few years ago when the magician, on a world tour, attempted to witness a voodoo ritual conducted by a tribe on the Island of Hati.

Discovered by the savages, Morno was hailed before the "head-man" of the tribe. He faced almost certain death. Sensing the gullibility of the natives, Moreno went into an exhibition of sleight-ofhand and magic that for hours held these savage people in awe throughout the performance. Instead of beheading the magician the savages made him guest of honor and invited him to remain as their ruler, believing him possessed of super-natural powers. One narrow escape being sufficient, Moreno, of course politely declined the offer and returned as quickly as possible to civilization.

Moreno also has been called on numerous occasions into court to disprove cliams of medium and so-called "fortune tellers," producing any and all of the supernatural manfestations of the occult gentry requested by the court. He, too, has exposed gamblers, confidence men and swindlers. The professional magician presents his wares for entertainment only and never to the disadvantage of audience, be it packed theatre, or individual.

The history of magic, a combination of the sciences, dated back further than any type of entertainment . The temples of Egypt, Rome and Greece were filled with mechancial devices that performed seemingly miracles. Proper dilivery of magic amazes, startles, surprises and generally confuses all who witness it.

Moreno points out that, contrary to public belief, the hand is not quicker than the eye. The hand however, can misdirect attention and deceive the eye. Long hours sometimes weeks of rehearsales are required to perfect most of these illusions.

Heavy Rain Fell Here Monday Afternoon

The weatherman closed out the month of July on Monday with the heaviest rain in the Loraine territory of the month. The official gage caught 1.95 inches Monday which brought the total for the month of July to 4.40. Some parts of the territory have received a great deal more rain than that during the month while others have received about the same or less than fell here in town.

Rain fell here in town on 11 out 31 days of July.

The rain Monday did considerable damage to the curbs along the farm to market road where the paving had not been finished out to the curb. Several sections of the curb were undertermined by the water and were broken.

The moisture has made wonderful prospects for cotton and grain sorghum crops. Insect damage and hail will be about the only worry for farmers now. Some early feed was damaged some before the rains came but as a whole the feed crop will be the biggest in this territory for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lawrence of Baird were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Anders Sunday after noon.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

American Troops Taking Beating In Korea; Mobilization of U. S. Manpower and Industry Forecast

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

KOREA:

GI's Take Beating

As the Korean battle went into the fourth week it became apparent to every American that U.S. troops were taking a beating.

They were outnumbered; tanks were inferior and too few; guns and bazookas could not pierce the 12-inch armor of the Russian made tanks. They were pinned to foxholes by tanks, artillery and mortars; overwhelmed by massed infantry, sniped at from the sides and rear by infiltrating columns.

Taejon, provisional capital of South Korea, was abandoned after the Kum river line was broken by thousands of fanatical Communists who charged American positions without regard to casualties. They overran first aid stations, killing patients and chaplains, and for every one the Americans killed, ten took his place.

American forces began a slow withdrawal which appeared would halt some 35 miles southeast of Taejon where a range of hills offered a natural defense position. Whether or not they held this position would depend upon reinforcements and the continued flow of guns, tanks, and ammunition.

No matter how optimistic a view an observer was inclined to take, the situation appeared serious. As has often been the case in the past, Americans greatly underrated North Korea's military strength and fighting determination.

Facts of the situation indicated: North Korea had 10 to 15 divisions —100,000 to 250,000 men, with replacements handy from the armies of Communist China when needed. At least 200 tanks, with replacements also available from Russia, and almost unlimited supplies behind the lines in Siberia and in Manchuria.

United States would need eight full divisions, perhaps 250,000 men. The inadequate supply of tanks and heavy artillery in the Pacific would have to be remedied.

The one bright spot in the picture was the work of the U.S. air force which had knocked out tanks, bombed and strafed troop concentrations and supply lines, and driven the North Korean planes from the air.

But military observers pointed out that air power will greatly increase the chances of victory, but the Korean war, as has been the case in all wars, will be won by the soldier who fights through mud and rain and cold and heat. The foot soldier has not been replaced with push-button warfare, as yet.

Korea Commander

Lt. General Walton H. Walker, a tank expert from Texas and commander of the Eighth Army, has been named to the top command post in Korea. Walker gained fame as commander of the 20th corps in Patton's Third Army.

MOBILIZATION:

Is It Near?

Many observers are wondering if complete mobilization of this country's manpower and industrial strength is in prospect for the near future. Some believe it is, unless the world situation takes a sudden and unexpected turn for the better.

Within a matter of hours after this writing, President Truman was expected to go before congress and outline for the American people steps deemed urgent to cope with the Korean war. He was also scheduled to speak over a nation-wide radio hookup and tell Americans just where we stand.

One official predicted the President would:

1. Request new military funds or contract authorizations totaling $5,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000.

2. Propose legislation authorizing 160,000 more men for the army above the present legal limit of 837,000 and 60,000 more for the Navy, which now cannot exceed 666,882. An increase may also be ordered for the 502,000-man air force.

HOME FRONT:

Controls Likely

Observers on the home front are predicting limited controls to back up an intensified military campaign in Korea.

At this writing the controls had not been asked for, but observers pointed out that anti-inflationary action was becoming more urgent with each day. They predicted President Truman would ask for them within a very short time.

A request for higher taxes, to cover an expected jump in military spending, was held to be inevitable.

Government officials were predicting privately that President Truman would ask congress:

1. Power to allocate—by voluntary means, or more drastic measures if necessary—steel and a few other basic metals.

2. Authority to put quantity ceilings on the production of automobiles, television and radio sets and other civilian products consuming large quantities of metal, so that the demands of these industries will not interfere with arms production or create a "gray market" in prices.

3. Restoration of consumer credit controls. By tightening up on easy-payment credit for automobiles and other consumer goods, it is hoped that some of boom-level buying demand may be removed from the market.

LABOR:

Mobilization Urged

At least one labor leader, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has demanded all-out preparedness for any eventuality, including mobolization of labor.

"We find ourselves facing a situation with the implication of a third world war . . . . If war is localized now, we know it is only a question of time until the inevitable happens. Only adequate preparedness can safeguard us," Green said.

He added: "We cannot send our soldier to the fighting front without training equipment and regular supplies . . . . We must provide quick transportation which will increase mobility . . . . There will be no side lines secure from bombing . . . . There must be mobilization of labor."

Electoral College

In what observers believe to be one of the strangest line-ups in modern political history, the house killed, 210 to 134, the proposal that would have made a presidential election more nearly reflect the popular vote.

The senate approved the constitutional amendment last spring. The measure needed a two thirds vote. Had it passed, it would have needed approval by states.

McCARTHY:

Called a Liar

Senator Joseph McCarthy, who has had more front-page publicity in the American press than any one man in a number of years, has made the front pages again, but not to his liking.

The senator, still screaming charges of communism in the state department, was called a liar by three Democratic members of a senate investigating subcommittee.

Reporting their conclusions from a four-month inquiry, they attacked the Wisconsin Republican in terms of harshness rarely used in the senate's history. They accused him of conscious falsehood and of serving the interests of the Communists by raising baseless suspicion among the people of the country.

They cleared every person McCarthy accused of being a Communist.

The Republican members of the subcommittee, Senators Hickenlooper and Lodge, declined to sign the report.

The Democrat members termed McCarthy's charges "a fraud and a hoax perpetrated on the senate of the United States and the American people."

Their report said, in part:

"They (McCarthy's charges) represent perhaps the most nefarious campaign of half truths and untruth in the history of this republic. For the first time in our history we have seen the totalitarian technique of the big lie employed on a sustained basis.

"The result has been to confuse and divide the American people, at a time when they should be strong in their unity, to a degree far beyond the hopes of the Communists themselves, whose stock in trade is confusion and division."

SOVIET UNION:

An Olive Branch

Although no official announcement has been made, it is believed in many quarters the Soviet Union has offered terms for settling the Korean war. It is a bloody and wilted branch the Russians are holding out to the United Nations.

After the sugar coating of diplomatic language is penetrated, it seems Russia would be willing to call off the affair after China is seated in the United Nations.

ECONOMY:

Profits and Prices

As the Korean war roared into its fourth week much of the news was being made on the home front in the form of profits and prices.

Government agencies announced after-tax profits of American manufacturing firms as a whole were nearly five percent higher in the first quarter of 1950 than in the fourth quarter of 1949.

At the same time the prices of foods, especially meat and coffee, took an upward swing that made many consumers catch their breaths.

At least one congressman, Representative Klein of New York, demanded an investigation of high living costs and profiteering. He went so far as to charge bakers and dairies with "soaking the consumer without conscience."

"Meat prices are threatening to turn this country into a nation of vegetarians and ruin the cattle raising states," he said.

Also on the economic front, the Federal Reserve Board said preliminary figures show that industrial production reached a new postwar peak in June.

Production was estimated at about one percent higher than the previous postwar peak of October-November, 1948, and 17 percent above the level of June, 1949.

Some highlights on the net profits report:

1. After-tax profits were $100,000,000 higher in first-quarter 1950 than the preceding quarter, but unchanged from the 1949 first-quarter mark of $2,400,000,000.

2. The rate of return on stockholders' equity was 12 percent in first-quarter 1950 against 11.6 in last year's fourth quarter and 12.8 in its first-quarter.

3. Dividend payments to stockholders totaled $1,000,000,000 against $1,700,000,000 in last year's fourth quarter and $900,000,000 in first-quarter 1949.

4. Profits per dollar of sales rose to 6.2 cents from 6 in last year's fourth quarter and 6.1 in its first quarter.

5. Setasides for federal - income taxes amounted to $1,500,000,000 in both the 1950 and 1949 first in fourth-quarter 1949.

EDUCATION:

No One Flunks

A new trend in education—100 percent promotion of pupils in the lower grades—is reported by educators.

Educators won't come right out and say no one flunks any more in the lower grades on the ground that some elementary pupils still need the threat of failing to spur them on, but it's true that fewer are flunking.

The new trend seems to be based on four points:

1. Little is learned by repeating.

2. Failure merely discourages and does not aid pupils.

3. There is no reliable way of determining failures.

4. Real failures cannot do the work, no matter how often they repeat.

This is a long jump from the days of reading, writing and arithmetic and the rule of the hickory stick. The educators sum up their report:

"Nonpromotion is an admission of an inadequate school program and has no place in a school where children are motivated properly and work to the level of their capacities.

"What is looked on as a pupil failure may be a teacher, supervisor, or administrator failure."

The realities of the Korean war were impressed on Americans in every walk of life as this country's soldier went into action in Korea. Scenes like the one above were grim reminders to Americans that the foot soldier is still the workhorse of war. A group of U.S. soldiers above are nearing the front.

GOOD CITIZEN

Taxes You Kick About Paying Finance Your Conveniences

This is the fifth of a series of ten articles from the booklet "Good Citizen" published by The American Heritage Foundation concerning the rights and duties of an American.

THE FOURTH promise of a good citizen: I will pay my taxes understandingly (if not cheerfully).

Yes, it's human nature to squirm when the government (even though it's your government) strikes at your pocketbook nerve through taxation.

But it's also human nature to demand the conveniences, improvements and protection that you want for your family, your community and your country.

What paves the street in front of your house and throws a network of smooth highways across the country?

What keeps police cars cruising the streets, and maintains an army, a navy, an airforce and the F.B.I.?

What supports the farmer's friend, the county agent, and sends consuls and ambassadors to protect our citizens and interests in foreign lands?

THE ANSWER, obviously, is taxes —the tried and proved method of everybody chipping in to provide the things which all of us need and none of us can pay for by himself.

The weather forecast you read in the paper or get on the radio is made possible by a tax-supported organization.

Your tax money and the other fellow's protect the purity of the water you drink and insure full weight and wholesomeness in the food you buy. Taxes make possible the public schools, the public libraries, the public parks, the public fire department and the public everything from the street light on the corner to the lighthouse at sea.

Every hour of the day and night your safety, your health, your security and your valuables are protected by public servants paid for by your taxes.

Taxes represent the cost of our government doing business. They are determined by the people we elect to office. We give these people the right to do a lot of things with our money but hold them accountable to us.

If we feel they are spending it unwisely or too freely we can "turn the rascals out."

"In this world," wrote Benjamin Franklin, "nothing is certain but death and taxes." But isn't our method of taxation with representation an improvement over the confiscatory system of the dictator who sees what you have and takes as much as he wants?

Taxes are levied by four levels of government — federal, state, county and municipal. To become law, a tax must be voted upon and passed by the elected representatives of the people.

There are three general tax classifications:

A HIDDEN TAX—A hidden tax is one which is not apparent to the eye, and is usually part of anything you buy. For example, the price of a loaf of bread includes all the taxes which have been imposed from the time it is raw wheat until it reaches you.

A DIRECT TAX—A direct tax is one directly paid by the person on whom the ultimate tax burden falls. In other words, there is no middle man between you and the government. Examples are property, income, and inheritance taxes.

AN INDIRECT TAX—An indirect tax is one which is paid by someone other than the person who will finally pay it. In other words, it is a tax which is passed on to someone else. The manufacturer of an imported product pays the customs duty, and indirect tax because he will pass this on to the consumer by increasing the price of the product.

TWO OF the most important bodies which the public may come into contact in relation to taxation are the tax commissions and the tax court of the United States.

Tax commissions are state fiscal bodies, consisting usually of three appointive or elective members, which supervises local tax officials, assesses public utility and other property, collects most taxes not collected locally.

If you consider your tax assessment unfair you may appeal to a tax reviewing board.

The federal government knows mistakes can be made in the taxes claimed from you. That's why we have the United States Tax Court. You can contest before that court, before you pay, certain taxes which the commissioner of internal revenue claims you owe.

From the decisions of the tax court you may appeal to a higher court.

MICHAEL RABIN, 14-year-old violinist, will probably make August 10th a day to remember, when he makes his network debut on The Telephone Hour. Rodzinski, directing the Havana Philharmonic when Rabin made his world debut last April, said "He is marvelous, fantastic. He has a tremendous future!" Jascha Heifetz and other famed musicians have also advised and encouraged this young genius. Not that Michael thinks of himself as one; his bicycle is one of his most prized possessions, he likes to swim and collect stamps and play ping pong, looks forward to having a car. That he may be one of the world's greatest violinists is no concern of his.

The U.S. State Department has endorsed the Walter Huston Memorial International Scholarship now being set up to finance the education of two English speaking students from Trikkala, Greece, at the University of Arizona.

THE FICTION CORNER

ANNETTE PASSES OUT

By Richard H. Wilkinson

IN SEPTEMBER Bill decided he wasn't in love. He told himself it had been a summer romance. He regretted it. He couldn't walk out and leave Annette flat. He had to offer some sort of explanation.

The wind whipped in their faces as the roadster sped through the night. Annette snuggled contentedly at his shoulder.

3-Minute Fiction

He swung the roadster off the highway. They bumped along a wagon road, presently emerging into a clearing. Bill stopped. Toward the north the horizon was illuminated by a dull glow. Lights from the town.

Bill turned. Annette said: "Oh, Bill, I'm so glad we came out here. It was here you first told me you loved me. Remember?"

"Sure. I remember."

"Say it now. Bill. Say you love me!"

Bill had intended to say just the opposite. Without knowing why, he pitied her. He spoke, but what he said was: "Of course I love you. You know that." It was as if she impelled him to say it.

"Kiss me, Bill. Kiss me and say it again."

He kissed her, repeating the words, cursing himself for doing so.

Why did she have to cling to him so?

He got a grip on himself. He formed the words in his mind.

"Bill, I've got a surprise for you."

"Surprise?"

"I'm going back to Belfast with you," Annette said. "I've got a job there for the winter."

"I'm going back to Belfast with you. I've got a job there for the winter. We'll be together all winter, Bill, Isn't it grand!"

Lord! Now he was in for it. He hadn't expected that. Well, he'd have to be blunt, cruel. He'd have to tell her once and for all.

"BILL!" There was terror in her tone. He turned quickly. She was looking away from him toward the horizon where the dull glow had been. The dull glow he had thought to be town lights had developed into astonishing brilliance.

"Fire! The whole ridge is ablaze. Say, we'd better get going!"

He jammed his foot down on the starter. The motor whirred, and that was all. Bill swore, yanking out the choke. There was a sputtering whine, a cough, silence.

Bill opened the roadster's door. "Come on! Engine's dead. We'll have to run for it."

He yanked her out of the car, started running along the wagon road, dragging her behind him. He hadn't realized that fire could be like this. The speed of its approach amazed him.

"Bill! Wait! You're going too fast."

Bill turned just as she fell forward. He knelt beside her. "Try and get up. We've got to keep going. It's our only chance."

Pitifully she tried, sank to the ground, moaning softly. He stooped and lifted her in his arms.

"Bill, don't! You can't! Go on and leave me. There's no use in both of us—"

He went on blindly. Behind him now he could hear the crackle of flames. The road ahead was alight from the brilliance of the fire. It required no effort to move.

Then suddenly, ahead, he saw the main highway. There were lights there. The lights from automobiles and trucks.

Bill lay sprawled in the back seat of a joggling touring car. He opened his eyes and saw Annette. Behind her the sky was dull red.

"Bill, why did you do it? Why didn't you leave me there when—when you knew——"

He said: "Say, what do you take me for? Leave behind the girl I love!"

"Oh, Bill, I've known for a month you didn't. I wouldn't let myself believe I was losing you. I wouldn't give you the chance to tell the truth."

Bill swallowed. So that was it? So that was the reason she had—— Suddenly he lifted her in his arms "Annette," he whispered, "say you love me. Say it, and kiss me, darling."

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET

Bing Bewitched, Bothered Over Meeting Met Problems

By BILLY ROSE

A New York paper recently carried the following dispatch from Paris:

Rudolf Bing, new general manager of the Metropolitan Opera House, said today that he had come to Europe on the biggest talent search in operatic history.

Asked about the offer last year of Billy Rose, Broadway producer and columnist, to take over the Met and make it pay, Mr. Bing asked:

"Who's he?"

When reminded of Rose's identity, the impresario laughed and added:

"The problems of the Met will never be solved by Broadway methods."

Judging from the above, it's evident that Mr. Bing has a sense of humor and, as Groucho Marx once said, if there's anything I like in a man or an opera director it's a sense of humor. But on the off-chance that some folks may have missed the hilarious overtones of Rudy's remarks, perhaps I ought to translate them and let everybody in on the joke.

Billy Rose

FIRST OFF, our Viennese friend wants us to know that he's in Europe on what he modestly calls "the biggest talent search in operatic history." An admirable undertaking, but seeing as how the Herr Direktor recently put Kirsten Flagstadt on the Met payroll, the natural question is whether the talent he's looking for is in the tonsil or treason department.

A second question, equally natural, is why Mr. Bing doesn't case this country for talent before taking his eyes and eardrums to the Continent. After all, when a gent with threadbare spats is imported to boss our No. 1 opera house and handed plenty of steak and salary for so doing, it would seem the part of good public relations for him to first give the home talent a careful look-listen.

It may very well be that the larynxes in Filadelfia, Germany, are superior to those in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, but you can't prove it by Marian Anderson

Next we come to Rudy's side-splitting "Who dat?" when asked about me. When you come right down to it, there's no reason why Mr. B. should ever have heard hiss or hosannah of an American proter of a century in the entertainment business.

After all, it wasn't until recently that this Dapper Danubian had either time or incentive to keep up with theatrical news. According to the record, he has spent a good deal of his adult life as amanuensis and assistant to various assistants, but nowhere do I find any mention of his having produced so much as a necktie—although, come to think of it, he did sell a few of them when he clerked in a London haberdashery during the war.

ACTUALLY, UNLESS he suffers from a slapsy - lapsey memory, Brother Bing was only kidding when he said, "Who dat?" The fact is that he's made two tries in recent years to strike up a nodding acquaintance with me—both of which left me nodding. Once in London and once in New York, he did his darnedest to fast-talk me into backing some party venture he was fronting for, and each time I shooed him off with the polite explanation that my policy was, "Neither a borrower nor a sucker be"

There is, of course, an outside chance that this joker no longer remembers trying to put the bite on me — in which event we're even because I didn't know who he was when the Met announced his appointment.

For a long time, I thought the Bing in question was Herman Bing, the baggy-pantsed Dutch comedian —who else would hire Flagstadt and fire Melchior? Who else would substitute the grunt-and-groan German operas for the melodic Italian ones?

The final jest is rollicking Rudy's statement that "the problems of the Met will never be solved by Broadway methods." Mebbe so, but it seems to me that this carpy contention doesn't quite jibe with his much publicized efforts to sign Garson Kanin, Margaret Webster, Danny Kaye and Oscar Hammerstein II. If any of these Times Square tots ever set foot or adenoids in La Scala, then I'm a monkey's uncle and Mr. Bing is an opera impresario.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Beauty Can Be Achieved by Pointing up Good Features

By Ertta Haley

WOMEN WHO really care how they look can really achieve true beauty. This does not come from hit and miss care or snap judgements on choice of clothing. It's the result of careful study of your good points as well as weak ones, then playing down one feature while pointing up another.

Many women say they are confused by all that's offered them in the way of clothing, they don't know what they should choose. You can easily learn principles and then study them in relation to yourself for most effective application.

It sometimes helps to know why you should not wear certain hats or dresses, because this helps you remember them and also teaches you to look for certain details which will help dramatize best features.

Certain styles of hats and dresses are good for all face and figure types, but naturally they must be worn differently so they can look their best.

The same applies to colors. Blue, for example has been called the American woman's best color, because whether you are redhead, brunette, blonde, gray, white or in-between, you can safely choose it. However, to be most effective, you should be able to choose the best shade of blue for your particular coloring.

There's an answer, too, for those with real problems that clothing and proper choice of jewelry can answer. The scarred neck can be covered easily, as can the lined throat. Prominent neckbones can be hidden with the correct jewelry and neckline.

Such beauty debits as freckles are easily minimized, and sallow complexions can be improved with proper attention to color. Whatever the problem, there's an answer for you.

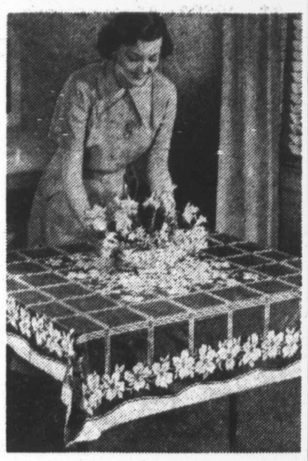

Hats Need Fitting To Face and Figure

Hats should be chosen to suit both face and figure, as well as the clothes with which they're to be worn. You may want to observe the effects of the hat closely in a small mirror, but the final choice should always be made after you've seen how it looks in the full length mirror.

Those with a very narrow silhouette should not give the appearance of toppling over with a gigantic hat. Better balance can be achieved in the small or medium brimmed hat.

The large hats should be chosen to go with the somewhat full skirts as they look too disproportionate with skimpy, short or narrow skirts. Skirts may be worn slightly longer with the large brimmed hats to give smarter appearance.

Serviceable Cloth

Tablecloths that combine new service and beauty are now being made of a vinylite plastic film that is colorfully printed to give the appearance of fine block linen. These will cut down summer launderings because they can be kept clean easily and quickly by sponging, and need no ironing. Two popular sizes in red, green, yellow, blue, plum, chartreuse and grey are available.

One of the smartest ways to decide what hats or clothing are right for you is to pick those which do for you what face or figure does not. A good example of this is in sloping shoulders. The hat should have some upward movement to counteract the slope in the shoulder. Wearing a soft hairdo will help, too. Avoid the severe hair dress and mushroom-brimmed hat that only accent shoulder sag.

Most women can wear berets, but the style should be chosen carefully. An older woman or one with a large nose looks stunning in profile types now shown. If you're tall, have one that's worn flat and forward to cut down height. Those who are young and short wear them best to the back of the head.

Brimmed hats, no matter how

handsome, should never be set on uncovered ears. Soften them by placing a curl or cluster of curls at ears, or place a bow which fits near the ear on the hat.

Complexion Helps Determine Best Color For You

Those who have coarse complexioned skins should soften the harsh effect of their skin by wearing soft, in-between shades. It's best to avoid brilliant colors right next to the face, as well as hat materials like rough straw which will only emphasize the coarseness.

Too delicate materials will give the same effect as too harsh colors and materials. Cute bows and trimmings, brilliant flowers and metallic trimmings should be eliminated from hats.

Sallow-complexioned individuals should also avoid harsh colors. Colored veiling is excellent for minimizing this fault, and so are muted shades of dusty rose, gray, pale yellow, green and gray-blue.

You can well imagine what effect polka dots have if the face is freckled, but also to be avoided are anything which might suggest or accent freckles such as flower centers and perforated bags and other accessories. Freckles are less noticeable if you wear plain materials. If you must wear figured materials, choose stripes.

If you're blonde, feminine, with hazel eyes and the pink and white complexion, you have few worries. Stay with feminine clothing, but avoid frills or fuss.

With chestnut hair and brown eyes, you can wear daring color combinations and choose those which are vivid and striking. Pale, in-between colors will age or sober you too much.

When you have good gray or blue eyes and want to dramatize them, place matching or lighter blue next to the face. If the eyes are dull, use a deeper blue shade. Too much eye make-up and too bright colors should be discarded.

Normalize Necklines With Proper Apparel

Anything which would emphasize thinness is to be avoided if the neck is long and thin. These include V-shaped necklines, curls piled high on the head, tight, narrow waves, or highly perched hats. Try to get width in the hairdo by smoothing the crown and having curls at either side. Have hats that cover the head, forehead, ears and back of the neck so the thin neckline can be broken.

Circular hair arrangement, yokes and full gathered bodices are on the taboo list if the neck is short and thick. Open necklines, simple bodice lines and tapered effects in the hairdo will counteract the short look.

Jewelry at the neck can be of great help for heavy necklines. Tight chokers, naturally, are to be avoided, but pearls or beads that are graduated to form an oval, especially when worn with a simple V neckline, can be very effective.

Short bobs or up-swept hair arrangements will make scrawny necks look all the more so, while soft, long bobs break the long look. In clothing choose dresses that are built high; in sun or evening apparel avoid the open, strapless tops and use wide straps.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Pretend Fickle Lover Is Dead

LINETTE ROY is 34. Her younger years were spent in the care of invalid parents, and in holding a responsible post-office job, which she still has. Two years ago she met one Robert Francis, a medical student two years younger than herself. Robert also had had family responsibilities, and was only as far as his first year in medicine. He has now been obliged to interrupt his studies, and is driving for a doctor in a city some 300 miles away, hoping to save enough to get started in another year.

Robert gave Linette her first thrilling love affair. To her, hard-working, conscientious, lonely, it was a miracle of delight. To have a fine man's companionship, to talk over their respective trials and responsibilities, to listen to his first words of admiration, and to feel her own heart respond—well, perhaps only a woman placed as Linette was knows what that means.

They were never formally engaged. But they became lovers, Robert using the old arguments of appealing to her trust, her belief in his promises. Linette was not a girl in years then, but she was completely inexperienced, her father was dead, her invalided old mother was far past the point of advising. On the contrary, she had returned to childishness, and Linette had to make her own decisions. Carried off her feet by the passion and ecstasy that had come too late to her, she gave way to the emotions that are too strong for almost any woman so ignorant and so isolated.

Miserably Unsatisfactory

Like any other self-respecting woman she found this arrangement miserably unsatisfactory, and when Robert went off to take his job in another city, they decided upon an understanding that would lead within the year to marriage, no matter what their financial or domestic situations might be.

A part of Linette's letter follows:

"This was the way things were at New Years. Bob went away, and we wrote to each other, daily at first, then his letters fell off, as I expected they might. At Easter he was at home three days, and I saw him there three times, but I felt that things had changed. There was no love talk, and no talk of marriage. But he was working terribly hard, and looked and acted tired.

"That was all, until this week, when I discovered that he has been home, was here for two nights, about 10 days ago, without a word or telephone message to me.

"Mrs. Norris," Linette's letter goes on, "I was stunned. I have been unable to eat or sleep since. Loving and trusting him as I do I know that something has happened, he is angry with me, or someone has told him something that has changed him. I telephoned him at once, but it was most unsatisfactory. He pleaded that his mother and sisters had absorbed his time, that he had tried to call me, and so on. He said to wait for his letter; there has been no letter, and inasmuch as I cannot live—I feel I actually will die—if things are left this way, I am appealing to you. Of one thing I am sure; Robert loves me. If I did not know that, I would try to put the whole thing behind me. But Robert loves me. How can I win him back?"

Love Is Gone

Linette, I say in reply, the one thing of which I am sure, and of which you are yourself sure, deep in your heart, is that Robert doesn't love you. Any man who loves a woman won't be in the same town with her for three hours, much less three days, without telephoning, rushing to see her, dating her for every possible instant.

Your love affair is over. Accept this terribly hard dictum, and start fresh tomorrow. Act as if Robert were dead; many a brave woman has had to rise to that situation in the past few years. Plunge into three or four different activities; make yourself do it. Every fibre of soul and body will revolt at first, but that's the only cure. Study a language; that is always my first suggestion. Then get a puppy to spoil and be spoiled by. My own predilection is for a cocker. They are happy in an apartment and very loving.

Head For Car During Storm

HERE'S COMFORT for those who dive under the nearest bed at the first crash of thunder. The National Geographic Magazine has some advice on how to dodge lightning.

Don't head for the nearest bed. Your automobile is much safer. It's one of the safest places you can take refuge in because the steel of the body will conduct the current away from the occupants. That goes for airplanes too.

Your chances of being killed by lightning in the United States are about one in 365,000. And this is true despite the fact that over the earth some 44,000 lightning storms occur every day, with 100 flashes of lightning every second.

Moreover, some strokes at their peaks generate temperatures as high as 27,000 degrees Fahrenheit. It is "turned on" only 35 millionths of a second during the 20,000 mile an hour flash.

Lightning is known to strike between two clouds, or within a single cloud far more often than between a cloud and the ground. A flash may speed more than 10 miles between two clouds, and it may race to the ground from a distance of only three miles.

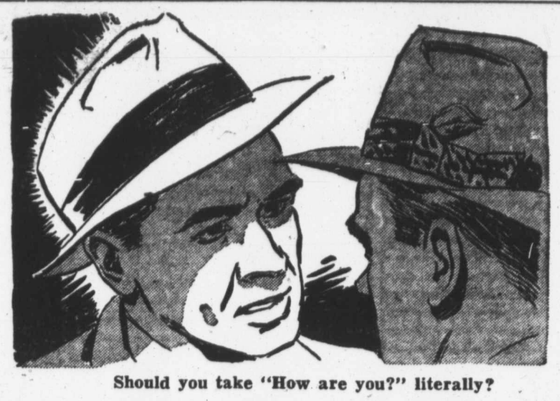

Strikes Same Place Twice

Lightning can and does strike the same place twice. It has hit the Empire State building in New York city as many as 12 times in 20 minutes, and as often as 50 times a year.

Another feature recently discovered is that lightning may strike upward from the ground. That is because it is really a high speed flow of current back and forth between powerful electric charges.

MIRROR Of Your MIND ■ ■ ■ 'How Are You?' Is Just Polite

By Lawrence Gould

Should you take "How are you?" literally?

Answer: As a rule, No. When the average person asks about your health, he's merely being "polite" and you'll surprise and annoy him if you go into details about how you are feeling. Of course, if you've been ill and it is a friend who asks you, that's another matter. But even so, telling someone that you feel bad when there's nothing he can do about it does you no good and makes him needlessly uncomfortable. Keep your aches and pains to yourself even with your family, unless it is necessary to explain why you are not your usual self.

Is it easier to be childish than to be adult?

Answer: Yes. And one proof is that as our mental powers decline in old age, we tend to revert to childish ways of thinking. Psychologists Wayne Dennis and Betty Mallinger report that seventy-five per cent of inmates of homes for the aged gave answers to test questions which showed a less realistic view of life than would be normal for children of twelve to fourteen. To face and accept life as it is, while worth the effort, requires the full use of all our mental powers, and when these decline, we become children again.

Are there different ways of reading?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Emmett Albert Betts, Director of Temple University Reading Clinic, Philadelphia. In a well-balanced reading program, a child should be taught to "skim" material at high speed to locate ideas: to "read rapidly" to get a general impression of an author's meaning, and to do "study-type reading" to think problems through and organize ideas. The old-fashioned notion that you should read every word of every type of reading matter both makes you waste time and may discourage you from reading at all.

KEEPING HEALTHY

Adding to the Working Life Span

By Dr. James W. Barton

BECAUSE THE AVERAGE LIFE expectancy has increased almost 20 years—from 47 to 66—since the beginning of the century, there are more elderly men and women than any other single age group. This great increase in the number of elderly persons has brought problems of health and security to every community.

While security is very important to everybody, there are other points to be considered, such as the working span; that is, how long the elderly man and woman is able to work or allowed to work.

Because of the great number of the aged and the problems they present to the community and themselves, medical journals, magazines and even newspapers are now published for the elderly.

In "The Journal of Gerontology," Dr. E. C. Clague shows that while life expectancy has been steadily increasing in recent decades, there have been no corresponding gains in the working life span. Modern industry and occupational trends have had the effect of not lengthening the working life span; in fact if anything, they tend to shorten it, because there has been no increase in the kind of work elderly men and women are able to do.

"A program for extension of working life is needed as an alternative to a steady increase in the period of old age dependency and in the corresponding economic burden," Dr. Clague writes.

During the depression period we are told that the British workers preferred to work for 30 shillings rather than remain idle and collect 25 shillings a week from the government. The same applies to the elderly, who greatly dislike the thought that employers consider them unfit for work when they reach a certain age.

To keep elderly people happy, employment for which they are fit should be provided by the community. Dr. Clague states that "this will require concerted community action.

THE READER'S COURTROOM

No Seats No Excuse for Suit

By Will Bernard, LL.B.

May a Train Passenger Collect Damages because He Could Not Find a Seat?

A feeble old man boarded an interurban train, only to find that all the seats were taken. When the conductor came by to collect fares, the man complained—but to no avail. Reluctantly, he paid for his ticket and stood up throughout the trip. Utterly exhausted by the ordeal, he later sued the railroad for damages. The court agreed that a railroad ought to provide a seat for every passenger. However, the judge turned down the old man's claim on the ground that he had "waived his rights" by staying aboard the train. The judge said that if he wanted to sue, he should have refused to pay his fare and gotten off at the first stop.

Does a Divorcee Lose Her Alimony if She Remarries?

After several years of unhappy married life, the wife of a contractor went to court and got a divorce. She also was awarded weekly alimony payments "until further order of the court." Some time later, the woman remarried — this time choosing a laborer who was hardly making a living for himself. The contractor promptly asked the court to stop his alimony payments, but the judge refused to do so. The judge said that remarriage alone wasn't enough to end the woman's right to alimony. It was also necessary, the judge ruled, that the second husband be able to support his wife properly. If he couldn't, said the judge, the first husband just had to keep on paying!

Is It "Kidnaping" For a Father To Take His Child Away From the Mother?

A husband and wife had a bitter quarrel, and decided to separate. Before parting, they agreed that their seven-year-old son should remain with his mother. A few months later, the man decided he had made a bad bargain in giving up the child. One day he went to the house and, over his wife's violent protests, took the child with him. An alarm was sent out and the man was soon picked up on a charge of kidnaping. However, a court ruled that he was not guilty. The judge said that, unless deprived of his child's custody by actual court order, the father had just as much right to the boy as the mother had.

May a Lawyer Play Upon the Sectional Feelings of the Jury?

A southern woman owed some money to a large New Jersey corporation. After collection efforts had failed, the company filed a lawsuit against the woman. At the trial, her lawyer made an impassioned plea to the jury on behalf of his client. "I appeal to you as southern gentlemen," he cried, "to rule in favor of this southern woman—and against this soulless corporation from the North!" But the court declared that this line of argument was improper, and ordered the jury to disregard it. The judge said that the lawyer should not try to win his case by appealing to the sectional feelings of the jury.

How mild can a cigarette be?

MORE PEOPLE SMOKE CAMELS than any other cigarette!

and among the millions who do...

EZIO PINZA who starred in "South Pacific"

Ezio Pinza says: "Mildness is all-important to me as a singer. I smoke the cigarette that agrees with my throat... Camel!"

HAILS AMAZING RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

"I suffered with constipation, but bad. Medicines didn't help for long. Lucky for me, I decided to make ALL-BRAN my breakfast cereal. Believe me, I feel like a new man!" Sam Plesky, 10517 Churchill Av., Cleve., O. Just one of many unsolicited letters from ALL-BRAN users. If you suffer from constipation due to lack of dietary bulk, eat an ounce of tasty Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily, drink plenty of water! If not completely satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Mich. GET DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

Mrs. Ann Poling, 609 Delaware St., Indianapolis, Indiana, who was suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron, and Niacin, smiles as she pours herself another cup of coffee. Mrs. Poling says life lately is like it used to be years ago . . . "that is, of course, since I've been taking HADACOL." She can't get over what a difference HADACOL has made in her outlook on life.

Mrs. Poling says: "Three months ago a good friend of mine told me about HADACOL—she knew how much stomach distress I have had. Any type of food that was fried or that had acid in it I just couldn't eat. It affected my sleep, too. In fact, I couldn't have been in a worse condition. When I ate what I wanted to I felt miserable and when I didn't eat these things—I didn't have a proper diet and still felt bad. Then, when I started taking HADACOL, I felt better immediately. I've got a bottle in the house now—and will continue to keep HADACOL from now on. I have told many folks about HADACOL—and they all thank me for telling them about HADACOL. They all have gotten wonderful results from HADACOL like I have. Now I eat anything I want and get a good night's sleep. I can't praise HADACOL enough."

HADACOL Can Help You, Too!

. . . as it has helped thousands of others whose systems lacked Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin. Yes, even hundreds of doctors have recommended HADACOL to their patients. The HADACOL formula is so effective for stomach distress, nervousness, insomnia, constipation, aches and pains of neuritis, and a general run-down condition caused by such deficiencies.

Make Up Your Mind

. . . to give HADACOL a chance to help you, as it has helped countless thousands of others. Remember, there are no substitutes for HADACOL. Always insist on the genuine HADACOL. No risk involved. Buy a bottle of HADACOL, either the trial size, $1.25, or the large family or hospital size, $3.50, and if HADACOL does not help you your money will be refunded.

If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. Send no money. Just your name and address on a penny post card. Pay postman. State whether you want the $3.50 hospital economy size or $1.25 trial size. Remember, money cheerfully refunded unless you are 100% satisfied.—Adv.

Ben Ramsey In August Runoff

Ben Ramsey of San Augustine, canditate for Lieutenant Governor and former Secretary of State, thanked the voters of Texas this week for the votes and support which put him in the second primary election run-off for Lieutenant Governor.

Ramsey expressed confidence in victory in the second primary election August 26.

Ramsey's statement to the voters said:

"My showing in the first primary for Lieutenant Governor fills my heart with humble gratitude. It convinces me that I will be nominated in the run-off.

"Among my opponents were some of the ablest and most experienced of Texas' public servants—men whose legislative records have made them widely and favorably known. It seems clear that they divided with me the support of that great majority of citizens who believe that experience counts in public service, as it does everywhere else.

"I served in the senate while three of these men were members of that body and three others were members of the House. Many of my friends are also their friends and many others who know me only from legislative record faced a choice between several men whom they deemed competent and deserving

"The situation in the run-off will be very different. I will no longer be confronting the popularity and prestige of men who have served ably in one or both Houses of our law-making bodies and many friends who share my own admiration for those men will feel free to cast their ballots for me. I believe that great majority of Texans will agree with me in these crucial times the post of Lieutenatnt Governor should be filled by a trained and experiecned man.

See Your Dentist Before School Starts

AUSTIN, TEXAS, July 26, 1950 "Now is an excellent time for school children of all ages to make a trip to their dentists' offices," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer reminds Texas parents. Since school progress is influenced by the pupil's health which is in turn affected by mouth conditions, it is wise to visit the dentist during the summer vacation and obtain any needed treatment before school starts.

"It s dangerous to assume that there is no need for dental attention simply because a child does not complain of a tooth ache or the parent does not notice any cavaties. Only careful examination by a dentist can justify such a conclusion.

"Children entering school for the first time are particularly in need of dental attention. Usually they are at the age when the first four permanent teeth, the sixth year molars, appear. Because these erupt before the shedding of any baby teeth, they are often mistaken for baby teeth. Since these are important teeth they should receive early and regular attention by the family dentist.

"Postponement of a visit to the dentist may result in pain and discomfort for the child later on. To avoid such suffering and to prevent the development of conditions that may require more extensive dental services at a later date, parents are strongly urged to take their children to the dentist for an examination now. Prompt action will allow time to complete any needed corrections before school opens.

Mr. and Mrs. Butch Swafford and daughters of Grandfalls are here spending their vacation with friends and relatives.

This Is Your Paper
Not All Pictures Are Good Ones

By William R. Nelson

A PICTURE may or may not be worth "10,000 words", as the Chinese proverb claims, but it certainly represents a pretty penny in costs, time, space and judgment, if published in a newspaper. In addition, it is seldom desirable to republish a picture, so all of the effort, time and money expended is for a single use.

Editors appreciate the interest shown when readers suggest publication of pictures, and they comply as often as possible. But publishing a picture in a newspaper is not as easy as it may seem.

Pictures Are News, Too

Pictures are only "worth 10,000 words" when they convey desired information. That immediately classifies them as news and means they should be selected for their news value. Unless a photograph is of someone or some event currently in the news, publication has little or no meaning.

Assuming that a picture has news value, it then must be of such quality it will reproduce well in the paper. Many photographs which are entirely satisfactory for an album cannot be reproduced distinctly enough to be recognizable in a newspaper. Publishing such pictures is a disappointing waste of space, effort and money.

There are other factors, too, such as permission of those in the picture for its publication, its news value or the amount of interest in it among the paper's readers, and whether there is time to make a cut.

No Place for Incongruity

If not taken specifically for the paper, on its order, a photograph may not be timely and therefore its use may seem incongruous. Even if timely but received too late to get a cut made, it may not be practical to use it in a later issue because reader interest will have waned by then.

For these and many other reasons, the editor is always the best judge of whether or not a picture can be or should be published.

If the paper publishes other pictures, some not local in origin, in the very issue for which your's was rejected, it is well to remember that in addition to the above factors, there is still another. It is that some pictures, always of news value, are furnished to the paper in forms that make their use easy and inexpensive, because they are also supplied to many other newspapers.

THANKS

I take this method of thanking the people of Mitchell County for the cooperation given me during this term of office as your county Judge, and for the confidence you placed in me by electing me for another term. I will strive to make you a better officer in the future than I have in the past.

Mr. Link Robinson, 519 Lindsey, is the most content and satisfied man in Newport, Ky. In fact he says there isn't a thing in the world that can irritate or upset him now that he is on the HADACOL band wagon. If there ever was a man who thought HADACOL is the most wonderful thing in the world, it is Link Robinson since he learned that his system lacked Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron, and Niacin.

Here is what Mr. Robinson has to say about HADACOL, which is now supplying liberal quantities of these essential elements: "I have been a steel worker for over twenty years. When you are a steel worker, you have to eat plenty of good, hard work, and you need lots of good, substantial food. But when a stomach is in as bad a shape as mine was . . . I couldn't eat, I had gas pains, stomach bloating and nervousness; well, I just couldn't eat the proper foods I needed. My boss told me about HADACOL and I started taking it immediately. After the second bottle I could tell a definite improvement. Now I can eat the foods I need to eat to really be on the job. In fact I can eat anything I want to. I am not nervous anymore, either. Best of all, I haven't got those terrific gas pains and no more stomach bloating. HADACOL is the best ever. I recommend HADACOL to everyone."

HADACOL Is Different

Countless thousands are benefiting from HADACOL . . . even hundreds of doctors are recommending HADACOL to their patients whose systems lack Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron, and Niacin. HADACOL is so wonderful because HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ, and every part of your body—to the heart, liver, kidneys and lungs, even to the eyes, hair and nails.

Give remarkable HADACOL a chance and if you don't feel better with the first few bottles you take—you get your money back. Only $1.25 for Trial Size; Large Family or Hospital Size, $3.50.

Nail Picker Coming To Mitchell County

The magnetic nail picker of the Texas Highway Department will arrive in this county soon to sweep the highways and road shoulders in this area of metal objects. P. S. Bailey, State Highway Maintenance Engineer, points out to John Nations, Director of the Equipment division, the screws nails, spikes and other metal collected on a short run. Joe Webb of San Angelo is the driver.

Electric magnets at the rear of the nail picker collect metal objects. The metals are activated by a large generator in the bed of the truck and are strong enough to pick up manhole covers. Gathered in this pile of scrap metal are 2000 potential punctures.

Rita Beights of Midland spent the week end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Beights.

Friends from out of town attending the funeral of Mrs. Sarah Hildebrand were Lenord Fargason and daughter, Mrs. Thelma Hacker and daughter of Hermleigh, Mrs. J. A. Starnes and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Fargason all of Snyder.

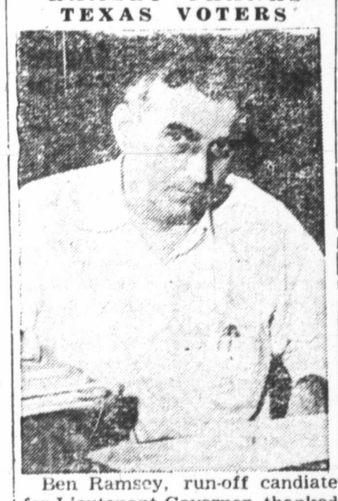

Mr. and Mrs. Jarrell Pulliman returned to their home in Fort Worth Tuesday after spending the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Preston.

Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Johnson and daughter Beverley spent the week end with Dr. and Mrs. Dale Johnson in Dallas. Mrs. Frank Johnson and the Dale Johnson daughters, Carol Ann and Ginger returned home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Duke and Dorthy visited Mr. and Mrs. Leon Duke at Rotan Sunday.

Mrs. A. L. McCarley of Midland spent the week end and the first of the week with her sister, Mrs. Homer Wilson. Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. McCarley and Mrs. S. H. Hart spent Tuesday in the A. W. McCarley home in Sweetwater.

RAMSEY THANKS TEXAS VOTERS

Ben Ramsey, run-off candiate for Lieutenant Governor, thanked Texas voters this week for the vote they gave him in the July 22 primary election. Ramsey, shown here in his San Augustine law office, said his heart was "filled with humble gratitude." and asked his supporters to continue the fight and elect him Lieutenant Governor in the Aug. 26 second primary. Ramsey is the only experienced candiate in the race

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Mayes and Mrs. Ralph Nelson of Fort Worth visited their parents Mr. and Mrs. Olen Mayes and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Nunn over the week end.

T. J. Green went to Corpus Christi last week for Mrs. Green and Patsy who had been there visiting in the Marion Rhodes home. Marion Ellen Rhodes returned with them. Mrs. Rhodes recently had major surgery in a Corpus hospital.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Snow over the week end were Henry Gray of Houston, Mary Matthews of Sweetwater and Sarah Allsup and Wilma Smith of Blackwell.

Guests of Dorthy Hallmark over the week end were Miss Mable Wells of Graham and Jo Alice Darden of Abilene. Dorthy returned to Graham with Miss Wells and is spending this week in her home.

In Most sections of Texas there are from 60 to 90 days of good growing weather during the fall season and that is sufficient to grow a good fall garden. The garden will help whip high prices.

Notice- The City has several desirable lots that can be sued on for delinquent taxes. If you are interested see the City Secretary. City of Loraine.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McCollum spent the week end and the first of the week with Mr. and Mrs. James A. Polk in Abilene. The Polk,s and daughter Linda returned with them Tuesday and visited Mrs. Dee McCollum Tuesday night.

Mrs. Charlie Marth, Jr. and son of McKinney came in Wednesday night and are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hallmark.

Mrs. Wayland Boyd and Mrs. Bob Horton attended an all day W. M. U. meeting held at Champion Church Tuesday.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Heredity in Sport

JOHN PARTRIDGE, the veteran race horse trainer and one of the smartest, was discussing a new angle concerning heredity in sport.

"Years ago," he said, "I spent some time at the Mayo's in Rochester, Minn. There I discovered to my surprise that Dr. Mayo was a turf lover as well as an occasional horse player.

"I spend most of my time," Dr. Mayo said, "with the sick and the dying. The thoroughbred is my only outside outlet."

"It was then," John Partridge said, "that we began discussing various angles on heredity among competitors.

"I've discovered one thing," Dr. Mayo said then. "That is that athletic mothers rarely give birth to athletic children. I mean the ones that come to me. They are so muscularly developed that apparently they need too many things to carry their own system. I have checked back as far as I could and have discovered that most fine athletes come from mothers who were not athletes—not in any way. I mean the Cobbs, the Ruths, the Dempseys, the Hagens. Most of them were rather frail.

"For that matter,' Dr. Mayo said, "not many fine athletes on the male side breeds sons or daughters who are good at athletic games. Out of a long list of children from these famous athletes I've discovered very few who ever amounted to much as competitors in sport.'

"This got me to thinking recently about this subject," Partridge said. "So I began looking into the horse angle. I discovered from a long review that very few good running mares ever gave the racing game either good colts or good fillies.

"Here's a list." The veteran trainer took out a record book and the figures were there to prove his statement. Most of the good ones came from well-bred mares, but not good racing mares.

"A Man O'War can be the sire of many great racing horses," John said. "But it doesn't work that way for mares who can win races. It must be for the same reason Dr. Mayo discovered or dug up a few years ago. One would think that an athletic father and mother would produce an athletic prodigy. Only they don't. Or at least rarely. Apparently heredity on the athletic field doesn't run that way."

It is a subject that could stand a bit more study.

The Younger Stars

What has become of the younger golf stars? Where are such kids from the past as Bobby Jones, Francis Ouimet, Chick Evans, Gene Sarazen, Walter Hagen, Johnny Goodman, Bob Gardner?

In the recent P.G.A. the last 16 left averaged around 36 years of age. Cary Middlecoff and Jack Burke are about the only new names that have sprung up lately. The P.G.A. apparently wants no youth in its major tournament which frequently leads to such results as we had at Columbus with two old-timers left.

It was nice to see two instructors fighting out the last round with the tournament stars beaten out, but someone in golf should start encouraging a few young fellows.

On the amateur side, they turn pro when they can make part of a living at the game.

Golf has always had one major trouble. It is too expensive for too many people. The price of golf balls has risen. The price of clubs is up. Caddies cost you $2 or more a round now against 75 cents and a dollar a few years back. There are few caddies from the younger crop watching crack veterans play as Sarazen, Hagen and others did.

Jerry Travers was a kid phenom at 15, Bobby Jones shot a 70 when he was 12. At 14 he reached the last eight in the amateur championship.

I saw Chick Evans shooting in the low 70's when he was 16. Francis Ouiment was scoring 70 or 71 when he was 18.

Golf was then a young man's game. It is still a young man's game but not many kids today have the money or the zest for hard work needed.

The Total Base Record

Recently Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox contributed two home runs, a triple and a single in one game.

Back in the 20's, Bobby Lowe of Boston and Ed Delehanty of Philadelphia each hit four home runs and a single in one game. This is a matter of 17 total bases and it still stands.

Lou Gehrig, one afternoon in Philadelphia, came the closest to cracking this mark. Lou hit four homers and at his last time at bat smashed out a long fly ball.

Smart Kid

"Here boy," said the man to the boy who was helping him drive a bunch of cattle, "hold this bull a minute, will you?"

"No," answered the boy, "I don't mind bein' a director in this company, but I'm darned if I want to be a stockholder."

COMBINATION shooting preserve and cattle range with year-round grazing. Approximately 20,000 acres of cut over timber land in Northwest Florida about 30 miles west of Tallahassee located in Gadsden and Liberty Counties and lies astride the Greensboro-Bristol highway. Plentiful water supply from perpetual springhead creeks. Has been under fire protection eight years. Most of this land has a good stand of young pine sapplings on it. Some hardwood in branches, no commercial saw timber. Property lies within one mile of Applachicola and northern railroads. Good fishing on property which is traversed by Telogia Creek and lies within 25 miles of the famed Dead lake-fishing ground. Some quail, turkey and other game on the land now and can be made into fine hunting preserve. Mineral rights of three fourths of this land are intact. Some of the rest possibly reserved by previous owners. This land can be bought as a body or divided, depending on buyer's needs. As a body could be bought at $10 per acre, reserving one half of mineral rights. In smaller units price adjusted. Interested parties may contact Dr. C. K. WALL, Medical Bldg., Thomasville, Ga.

YOUR NATIONAL FORESTS

180 Million Acres of U.S. Forests Offer Ideal Vacation Opportunity

Perhaps you haven't thought much about it, but some 180 million acres of national forest land are yours for the using this summer. That's a little more than an acre apiece and with few exceptions they are yours to use for free. Owned by Uncle Sam and administered by the Forest Service, these acres offer recreation and vacation opportunities unlimited.

You don't have to know an oak from a pine tree to enjoy one of the 4,500 camping and picnicking areas scattered from Maine to California. For most American families one of these sites, complete with fireplace and picnic table and benches, is within a day's driving distance of home. The areas will accommodate 280,000 people at one time, insuring plenty of elbow room unless you choose a very popular area near a large city during a long weekend.

The forests provide boundless activities. The 750 rangers managing the areas don't organize trips for you; they don't serve as guides. However, they are friendly men, ready to answer questions, direct you to points of interest, and make your visit a pleasant one.

Miles of Trails

If it's sittin' and eatin' you want, the ranger can tell you where to get the best scenery with your meals. But if it's rockin' you want with your sittin', you'll have to bring your own chair, or patronize one of the 50 privately owned and operated resorts on national forest land.

What you do in the forest is pretty much up to your individual taste. There are 136,000 miles of trails, forming in places a maze of foot and horse paths. In the west the Pacific Coast Trail system traverses the cascades of the Pacific northwest and the Sierras of California, north and south across the United States from Canada to Mexico. In the east the Appalachian Trail stretches more than 2,000 miles from Mt. Katahdin in Maine to Mt. Oglethorpe in Georgia.

Short trails leading to scenic points offer half-hour to half-day jaunts for the tired business man and his family. The more experienced woodsman can plan a backpack trip of several days' duration, camping nights at three-sided shelters usually spaced 10 to 15 miles apart in the East.

For those who want to hike unencumbered except for personal items, the Appalachian Mountain Club of Boston operates a chain of huts in the White Mountains of New Hampshire where one can bunk for the night, get dinner and breakfast, and have a trail lunch put up at a reasonable rate.

The less adventuresome can join hiking clubs—the Sierra Club, the Obsidians, the American Alpine Club, the Appalachian Mountain Club or some of the smaller trail and mountain climbing clubs throughout the country. Many of these clubs run organized trips for members into the national forests.

Fine Fishing Offered

For rugged individuals the Forest Service has set aside 14 million acres of real wilderness. Untouched land preserved in its original state for future generations, these areas present a real challenge to those with a pioneer spirit.

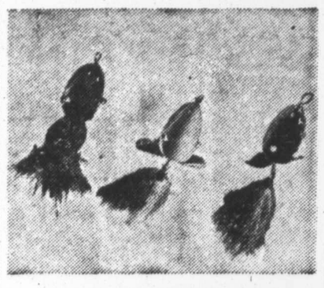

No roads lead into these wilderness areas. You walk, ride horseback, or paddle your own canoe and carry grub and equipment to last you the length of your stay. You can be your own guide and your own cook.

On the national forests there are many swimming areas, 70,000 miles of streams for fishing, and 100 million acres of good hunting country. There are 120,000 miles of forest highways and roads for the motorist or bicyclist.

Hundreds of trails like the one above wind through our national forests. The picture above is of Pilchuck Trail in Mt. Baker National Forest in the state of Washington.

American designers are exerting a greater influence every day on the mode of living in this country. Their activities include everything from fishbait to huge industrial plants.

Designers Have Big Influence On Mode Of Modern Living

From the time you shut off the alarm clock in the morning until you flick off the reading light at night, literally everything man-made you use, touch and see is the result of the creative genius of a designer.

Think about what you use in the course of a day—your toothbrush, toaster, hat, car, pen, radio, typewriter—every implement, building, article of clothing was first a designer's dream.

Among the many types of designers . . . fashion, architectural, interior decorator, etc. . . . the one which perhaps most influences our mode of living is the industrial designer. This man is artist, architect and engineer rolled into one. From his practical imagination, drawing board and models emerge the shape of things to come . . . our tools of living, from toys to heavy machinery. He, more than anyone, is concerned with your future comfort and joy of living.

Design for Comfort

One of the nation's foremost industrial designers is Dave Chapman of Chicago, vice-president of the national Society of Industrial Designers, who has fashioned some of the articles you use. Your own refrigerator, juicer, stove, washer, flashlight, clock, razor, coffee pot, hammer, fishing lure or sewing machine may be his design.

You probably aren't aware of it, but the myriad of things you take for granted are pleasant and satisfying because they are the right color, texture, weight and size. Why? Because before whatever the object may be was finally produced in the form you know it, a designer handled it, played with it, broke it, fixed it, tore it down, re-built it, tested it on countless others and lived with it until he was sure what you would like best. The designer eliminates all guesswork where your pleasure is involved. He knows what you will like.

Because his creations must be pleasing to millions, the industrial designer must be gifted with a super sixth sense. He has to know intuitively what will strike people, then work with engineers and production men in perfecting the product. Requisites for its success: look better; be more durable and efficient; be easier to keep and keep up; cost less than its competitors.

Important Field

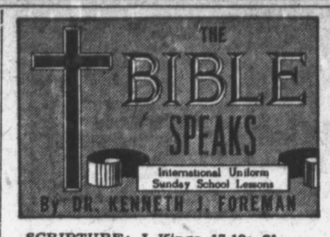

Like most of his contemporaries, Chapman finds relaxation and inspiration in other arts. Some designers write, paint, do sculpture or compose music, in addition to their designing. Chapman is an architect, recognized oil and water color painter, master black and white and color photographer, and collector of rare books and ethnic recordings.

As our culture progresses, our tastes grow finer, more exacting. We expect better and better things. So the industrial designer is growing in importance to our happiness. Your "crystal ball," revealing what you will use in the future, is the industrial designer's drawing board today. Right now, he's busy creating what you will use in 1955 and 1960.

26,000,000 Visited Forests Last Year

So long as you are considerate of others, leave the camping area clean, and are careful with fire, you can do pretty much as you please in the national forests. No salesman knocks at the tentflap or overtakes you on the trail. No alarm clock peals at an unearthly hour of the morning. You rise when you feel like it and go to bed likewise.

Last year Americans made 26,000,000 visits to the national forests. This year forest rangers expect even more people to get acquainted with their own backyards.

God Give Us Men!

Lesson for August 6, 1950

THERE ARE WAYS of saying "No" without using that short and ugly word. A writer in the Christian Century has pointed out three of these. One is to say, "This is not the time . . ." Another is to say, "I agree with you in principle, but . . ." and the third is to say, "I am with you—but don't quote me!" What we need nowadays is men who are willing to stand up and be quoted, quoted for good and against evil. All men are "against sin" in general; it takes a braver man to be against it in particular.

Dr. Foreman

In a large town in Kentucky recently the grand jury indicted the whole police force. In the course of the jury's report they said they had heard a good deal of testimony about rotten places and practices in and around town, but most of those who had come before the grand jury had said, in effect, "Don't quote me." It is hard to make any indictment stick if people who know damaging facts are not willing to come out in broad daylight and testify. So abuses go on and on, all because every one is too shy to point an accusing finger.

Man of Courage

WE NEED more men like the prophet Elijah. God providentially removed from him all the usual temptations to keep his mouth shut. He had no investments to protect—all he had he wore on his back, and that was not much. No family depended on him. He did not represent any institution. He could speak his mind—he could speak God's mind—without worrying about the effect it might have on investors, or his family, or some institution. Of course Elijah had Elijah to look after; but for himself he was not afraid in the least. Lone figure though he was, he stood out against lies and exploitation in varied forms. He stood out against popular opinion, and that is not easy for any normal man.

So many thousand votes or voices must be right we think. But Elijah did not think so. He knew that "one man with God is a majority." He stood out against official opposition; this was more dangerous still. The crowd's favor or dislike comes and goes, the crowd soon forgets; but a tyrant like Ahab (and still more like Jezebel) neither forgives nor forgets a man who has stood up to contradict and condemn him.

Then Elijah stood out against the most difficult enemy of all; organized religious leadership, that is, the false prophets. Even in the Christian era that organized church has sometimes taken the wrong side of some important questions and persecuted men who were on the side of right. But church tyranny is at least as bad as any other kind, and it takes a brave man to face it.

In Our Time

THANK GOD for all the Elijahs! Every generation has seen a few, and we have them in our time. They have not all had the spectacular success of the original prophet of Carmel, but they are here all the same.

In public life one thinks of those senators—and your state is fortunate if it has even one who stands up for persons against profits, for the advantage of all against benefits for a few, true representatives of the people as against invested privilege.

In church life we need more men like that pastor down in Alabama who was recently "fired" because he would not take his stewards' advice and use more "tact" in his sermons against sin in general and drinking in particular. It takes courage to do such things. And Elijahs are needed in the business and professional worlds, not only in the pulpit.

Is Liquor a Sacred Cow?

THE LIQUOR traffic alone, to name but one public evil, is doing our fellow-citizens a vast amount of damage. What other business makes necessary wards in hospitals to cure its customers?

But how few men will stand up and be quoted for the facts! Newspapers will editorialize against gambling when they won't against liquor; gambling doesn't advertise but liquor does. Count the big newspapers or magazines which for the benefit of their readers are willing to go without the income which liquor advertising produces.

Entertain at Luncheon With Colorful, Tasty, Easily Prepared Menus

ENTERTAINING YOUR church, club or friends at luncheon during the warm weather need be no problem if you start out with ready made menus that are easily prepared. Those given in the column today have been planned for their colorful appeal, and they're full of tasty food that is guaranteed to please.

Your guests will be more apt to enjoy the luncheon if they find you awaiting them, looking as cool and delightful as though you had just stepped out of the proverbial hat box.

Desserts and salad should be planned so they may be prepared the evening before.

Menu I
Oven-Fried Chicken
Sweet Potatoes with Cranberry Glaze
Green Bean Salad
Rolls Relishes
Pineapple Whip

Prepare chicken as for fried chicken (dredge with flour, salt and pepper, and fry until golden brown in skillet). After browning, transfer to roasting pan or casserole. Add water, if desired. Cover and bake in a moderate (350°) oven until tender, about 1 to 1¼ hours.

Pineapple Whip
(Serves 6)
1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
16 marshmallows, cut in eights
½ pint whipping cream

Combine crushed pineapple and marshmallows, reserving a few pieces of pineapple for garnish.

Cover; let stand in the refrigerator for at least an hour. Just before serving, drain well. Whip cream and fold into pineapple mixture. Pile into chilled sherbet glasses and top with pineapple pieces.

Cranberry Glazed Sweet Potatoes
(Serves 4-6)
1 cup canned jellied cranberry sauce
¼ cup brown sugar
4 large sweet potatoes, cooked or canned

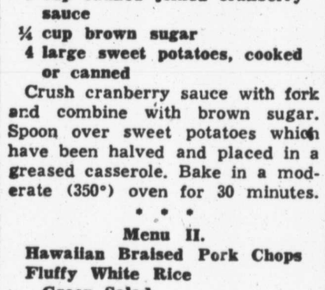

Crush cranberry sauce with fork and combine with brown sugar. Spoon over sweet potatoes which have been halved and placed in a greased casserole. Bake in a moderate (350°) oven for 30 minutes.

Menu II.
Hawaiian Braised Pork Chops
Fluffy White Rice
Green Salad
Cherry Mousse
Beverage
Cookies

How to Prepare: The evening before, prepare Cherry Mousse; also, wash greens for vegetables and refrigerate to chill. On the morning of the luncheon, prepare pork chops and place in oven to bake; cook rice while pork chops bake.

Hawaiian Braised Pork Chops
(Serves 6)
6 loin pork chops (about 2 pounds)
1½ teaspoons salt
1 cup water
2 tablespoons cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon cloves
¼ cup pineapple juice
1 small green pepper
3 slices pineapple

Oven-fried chicken with cranberry glazed sweet potatoes makes a colorful and tasty luncheon menu team. With a hearty main course like this, you'll want a frothy pineapple-marshmallow dessert as suggested in the column.

LYNN SAYS:
Put Wild greens to Use

As Cooked or Raw Vegetables

Wild greens can be useful as a vegetable. They're cooked like other greens and are delicious.

Strong-flavored wild greens are better when parboiled for two or three minutes in lots of water. Drain and cook as for other greens.

For cooking greens, use lightly, salted boiling water, and cook until leaves just wilt and greens are tender. Season and serve.

This cherry mousse made in a mold is a cool invitation to lazy summertime appetites. Made of smooth, whipped cream and sprinkled throughout with tempting bits of tart red cherries, this dessert is bound to please.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU
*Oven Fried Chicken
Cranberry Sauce
Mashed Potatoes
Cream Gravy
Sliced Cucumber-Tomato Salad
Carrot Sticks
Radishes
Celery
*Coconut Ice Cream Balls
Chocolate Cup Cakes
Beverage
*Recipes Given

Brown chops thoroughly without added fat. Add salt and water; cover and cook for 30 minutes. Remove chops; add dry ingredients, liquid and green pepper and pineapple, cut in pieces. Simmer until thick stirring constantly. Add chops and let simmer for 10 to 15 minutes.

Cherry Mousse
(Serves 6-8)
1 No. 2 can sour red cherries
½ cup sugar
4 drops red food coloring
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons gelatin
⅜ teaspoon almond extract
1½ cup heavy cream, whipped

Drain cherries and grind them medium fine; combine with sugar and food coloring. Heat to boiling and cook one minute. Remove from heat and add salt. Soften gelatin in one tablespoon of juice, dipped from ground cherries, then stir into hot cherry mixture until gelatin is dissolved. Chill until cherry mixture is thick, then fold in whipped cream lightly but thoroughly. Turn immediately into cold refrigerator tray and freeze at lowest temperature until firm. Return to normal temperature to let mousse mellow.

Menu III
Chilled Apricot Nectar
Sea Food Salad in Tomato Cups
Potato Chips Pickle Fans
Coconut Ice Cream Balls

How to prepare: Chill apricot nectar and all salad ingredients overnight. Ice cream balls may be made in advance if they can be frozen in refrigerator.

Coconut Ice Cream Balls
(Makes 12)
2 cups moist coconut
3 pints vanilla ice cream
Food coloring (red, yellow or green)

Place coconut in glass jar and add whatever color food coloring is desired. Cap jar and shake vigorously until color is distributed evenly on coconut. Scoop ice cream into balls, two inches in diameter. Roll in coconut until well coated. Place in freezing tray or freezer until serving time.

Seafood Salad
(Serves 6)
1 can tuna fish, crabmeat, shrimp
2 tablespoons French dressing
1 cup diced celery
½ cup diced cucumber
2 tablespoons chopped radishes
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup mayonnaise
Salt and pepper to taste

Flake tuna fish and shrimp; remove black line from shrimp. Mix all seafood together and add French dressing. Marinate for 15 minutes. Add remaining ingredients and toss lightly.

If the wild green hunt does not yield much, you might try combining several different kinds to give enough for a vegetable.

Wild greens will wilt quickly. Plan to use them as rapidly as possible to get them at their best, and for their vitamins and minerals too.

Discard wilted and damaged leaves, and cut off roots when you prepare them for use. Lift out of water several times to dislodge all dirt.

A neighborhood group meeting was called for the Crawford Group by K. C. McAdams at the Landers school on July 20, 1950, for the purpose of discussing stubble-mulch, winter cover, and other conservation practices. Those people attending were:

Mr. A. F. Land, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Porter, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. McAdams, Joan McAdams, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jones. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. White, Mr. and Mrs. David McKinzie, Mrs. J. A. Merket, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. McGowan Mrs. Willie Cornutt, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Merket, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Compton Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Boyd.

There was a discussion held in regard to planting the blank rows where the cotton and grain sorghum were planted on alternating four rows. Stock peas will be planted on blank rows in the summer, and Austrian peas and vetch in the winter. A legumes will be turned under in the summer.

Veterans' News

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q I am the widow of a world War II veteran, and I also served during the war in the WACs. Under a new law I understand that I, as an unmarried widow, am eligible for a GI home loan But I also am eligible under my own rights as a veteran. Can I get two home loans, one as a widow and the other as a veteran.

A No. Widows eligible for GI loans because of their own service are not entitled to additional loan benefits as widows.

Q I graduated from high school under the GI Bill thi June, and in the Fall, I'd like to go on to college, also under the GI Bill. Does VA consider this a change of course and will I have to submit justification before I can enroll?

A VA will not consider your college training as a change of course, so you will not need be required to submit a supplemental certificate of eligibility to the VA regional office which maintains your records.

Q My nephew was admitted to a VA hospital, and I paid his train fare to get there. Is there any way the Government will refund the cost of the trip?

A If VA authorized travel "before" the trip began. you may be entitled to a refund. Apply for it at the VA ofice or hospital that authorized transportation.

Q If I enter a VA domiciliary home, may I accept outside employment and still remain in the home?

A No. One of the requirments of eligibility for domicilary care is that the veteran has a chronic disability or disease which prevents him from earning a living for a prospective period of ime.

Dr. and Mrs. John Hamblen and James spent the week end with his brother and family in Dallas. David and Joan Hamblen returned with them after visiting there last week.

YOUR YARD FOR HAPPY PLEASANT EVENINGS OUTDOORS

Mowing the lawn is not nearly as tiring if its done in the cool of the evening.

You can enjoy your favorite outdoor game after the sun goes down.

For real relaxation after a hot, strenuous day, rest and read in the cool evening breeze.

Fire up the charcoal and invite the neighbors over—it's great fun to cook and serve an evening meal outdoors. Really enjoy your back yard these fine summer evenings—a yard light under the eaves, on the garage or on a portable pole will do the trick.

Your favorite store which sells electric appliances has a YARD LIGHT to fit your needs.
