MHS GOLFERS BEAT CHILDRESS; DISTRICT PLAY SLATED FRIDAY

By JO ANNE WEBSTER
The Memphis High School golf team defeated Childress first and second teams in an 18-hole match Saturday at the local Country Club. High winds and, according to some of the boys, fences in the wrong places caused the scores to be somewhat higher than usual.

The first team scores for Memphis were: Ronnie Mac Smith, 40, 43-83; Bert Sheen, 45-47-92; Bob Sheen, 51-43-94; and Omer Johnson, 47-59-106. For Childress the scores were: Clint Crawford, 39-40-79; Mickey Compton, 47-51-98; Sammy Wrinkle, 45-55-100; and Bobby Guess, 61-58-119.

Clint Crawford of Childress was medalist with 79. Ronnie Mac Smith of Memphis was second with 83. Team score for Memphis was 375 while Childress scored 396.

The Memphis second team scores were: Julius Stevens, 54-53-107; Rayford Hutcherson, 56-52-108; and Gayle Monzingo 53-60-113. Childress scores were Troy Boykin, 63-62-125; Jimmy Todd 70-62-132; and Freddy Meek 71-69-140.

Totals for these boys were Memphis, 328 and Childress, 397.

District Meet Here
The Memphis linksmen will play host Friday to Shamrock and Childress in the district tournament. Teasing off in the 36-hole contest is due to get underway at 10 a. m. at the Country Club course.

First and second teams and the two low individuals will qualify for the regional tournament which will be played at Lubbock later this month.

Any One Could Win
Any one of the three schools entered could take first place, but Memphis and Shamrock are due to fight it out for the championship.

All three schools have at least one man apiece that can wind up medalist for the day. Memphis' Ronnie Mac Smith, who shot an 83 last week, and Clint Crawford of Childress, who came up with a nice 79 the same day, are due to have a lot of competition from Bennie Parks of Shamrock.

Handicraft Class Works With Metal

Metal-work is the new class project of Mrs. Clint Strygley's handicraft students and an interesting display of their skill is in the first floor display case. They have made aluminum coasters and trays with stencil designs of initials, butterflies, dogs, and deer. All the students in the class participated in this project.

Some students are still using their skill in their work in leather craft. Ronnie Mac Smith, Mackie Allen and Nancy Brewer have made purses that are on display in the trophy case. Ronnie made an 11-inch shoulder bag and Nancy and Mackie made a 7-inch purse.

Special Assembly Presented Friday

A special assembly was called in MHS Monday so that students could see a movie titled "College Life at OCV."

Dr. Dan Procter, President of Oklahoma College for Women explained OCV's philosophy of education. He said, "We try to help the freshmen from the start of college life so that they can succeed. OCV is big enough to offer the best in education, yet small enough to treat each student as an individual."

After the brief message from Dr. Procter, the movie was shown. It was actually filmed on the campus of the college at Chickasha, Okla. The story depicted the life of a girl during her college years.

For a BETTER COTTON CROP

PROPER SEED TREATMENT MAY MAKE THIS DIFFERENCE

The photo above shows ten good cotton seedlings, well on the way to the kind of growth which can produce a good crop of cotton. This is the result you may expect when properly treated cottonseed is planted... seed that has been treated with a recommended seed disinfectant.

Below, the effects of seed decay, sore-shin, and both pre-emergence and post-emergence damping-off are illustrated. This seed was not treated and this is one reason why it is often necessary to replant.

Treated seed can be planted 3 to 5 days earlier—can get off to a good start even in cool weather. Once a good stand is established and growing well your chance for a better cotton crop increases.

Hunter, district health and safety chairman, announced this week.

Compete in 5-Man Teams
The Explorers will compete in teams of five men for the first, second, and third places to qualify as the Southern District's representatives at the Adobe Walls Council Meet to be held in Pampa, April 18. At the Council Meet prizes of equipment will be given to the winning teams.

First of Its Kind
The Explorer First Aid Meet is the first of its kind to be held in the Southern District, and is an activity promoted by the District Health and Safety Committee to help train Explorers to help others in time of emergency," Dr. Hunter said. "We have an excellent group of men working with our committee in promoting and operating this event. Ed Poole, and John Lee are serving as Physical Arrangements Committee and we have ten judges so far: Dr. E. K. Jones, Dr. D. V. Watkins, Bura Handley, Bill McDonald, Russell Yates, Riley Dunson, Hiram Cudd, Coach Maxie McKnight, all of Wellington; Herman Moseley of Quail; and Dr. T. A. Hunt, of Memphis. These men will be responsible for making the decisions as to the proficiency of the Explorers in First Aid," Dr. Hunter added.

"Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World" is the theme for Home Demonstration Week which will be observed in Texas and the nation from April 27 to May 3.

Cotton gin owners and operators who attend the series of 2-day ginners schools scheduled for different gin machinery manufacturing plants in Dallas the latter part of April and early May will be given information that should result in getting maximum efficiency from their machinery.

Producers are urged to buy the latest in gin machinery. This will insure that the right gin is purchased and when applied that results will be better.

For a BETTER COTTON CROP

Bacterial blight is a disease which cotton growers have become more and more aware of in recent years. The disease is also known as angular leaf spot, boll blight, blackarm, sore shin and damping off, depending on time of year and part of the cotton plant affected.

On the leaf, bacterial blight appears as watersoaked, angular spots which become brown upon drying. On the bolls, the watersoaked round lesions become sunken and black upon drying. The blackarm phase of the disease occurs as black elongated lesions on the stems and fruiting branches. Sore shin and damping off are seedling diseases and infect the shank of young cotton just after it comes up.

The angular leaf spot infection maintains the disease in the field during the entire growing season and may then spread to the boll blight phase of the disease which probably causes the greatest loss. In boll blight, the bacteria may stain fibers, thus reducing the grade of the lint. Boll blight lesions may serve as avenues of entrance for boll rot fungi which normally would not infect healthy cotton.

Treating cotton planting seed with Ceresan M is helpful in preventing bacterial blight during the seedling stage.

Ranson presented the gifts to the honoree.

The table in the dining room was laid with an Eern lace cloth and appointed in crystal. The table was centered with a miniature bride entering an arch of apple blossoms and greenery, placed on a reflector and encircled with peach and apple blossoms and greenery. Those assisting with the serving of punch and angel food cake included Mrs. James W. M. Davis, Thurman El lerd, M. G. Alewine, A. E. Ranson, and Miss Bonnie Black. Recorded music was played during the serving.

Guests were registered by Mrs. W. M. Oufar. Arrangements of pink gladioli, jonquils and flowering peach were used throughout the entertaining rooms. The bride was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts.

Others assisting with hostess duties were: Mesdames Clifton Burnett, Boyd Waddell, J. W.

Goffinett, Bray Cook, Herman Vallance, Gene Hughes, W. H. Goodnight, Jr., Garvis Davis and Bill Henson.

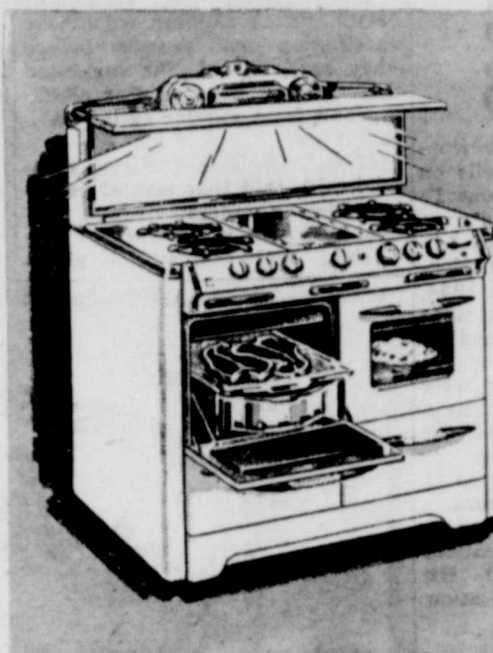

Homemakers can save time and trouble by keeping a select number of household tools where they can always be found. A fishing tackle box or a tool board makes a mighty handy container for the tools.

For a BETTER COTTON CROP

Progressive registered and certified cotton planting seed breeders are changing to the slurry method of Ceresan treating all the seed they sell to farmers.

The slurry is the newest method of treating and requires a different machine from the dust method. It is the result of years of technical development and testing.

The machine referred to as the slurry treater synchronizes the flow of the seed and the disinfectant so that every bushel of seed receives the same accurate dosage of chemical.

The slurry method combines most of the long-sought features for a new material, a better method and a more foolproof machine for treating seed. It is rapid, dust-free, accurate and thorough.

STUDY SHOWS IRRIGATION WELLS COST FROM 4,000 TO 5,000 DOLLARS

It costs between $4,000 and $5,000 to develop and equip a new irrigation well on the High Plains of Texas, according to a study just published by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at College Station.

These averages are based on installation and operation costs reported during 1947, 1948 and 1949 in a study of a yearly average of 176 wells in Lubbock, Hockley, Hale, Floyd and Smith counties. Present costs may be somewhat higher than during the period of the study.

4 Types of Power Units

Installation costs include the drilling, casing and spoolway for the well, which averaged $1,272. Purchase and operating costs are given for four types of power units used to pump irrigation wells. These were electric engines, small and large automobile engines and industrial engines. Respective initial costs during the period of this study were $720, $485, $782 and $1,320.

An average of 126 acre-feet of water was pumped per well each year of the study. The cost per acre-foot varied with the type of power used and whether the unit was operated with electricity butane, gasoline or natural gas. Price ranges are shown for each kind of fuel.

Most Wells Drilled Since 1945

The study, reported in Bulletin

745, briefs the historical development of irrigation from wells on the Texas High Plains. About 1,860,000 acres of Plains land were irrigated in 1950 from about 14,000 wells. Most of this development has taken place since 1934, with the greatest expansion since 1945. Well drilling continued at a rapid rate during 1951.

Cooperating in the study were the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology of the Texas Station and the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Copies of Bulletin 745 may be obtained from the Publications Office, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, College Station, Texas.

SECOND OIL CROP ON WAY

The Osage Indians who benefited from oil production on their Oklahoma reservation a quarter century ago, are about to see history repeat itself. Re-pressuring of old oil fields, by means of water-flooding, began in June when Chief Dee-Hee-Bee turned a valve that started water from the Arkansas River flowing toward abandoned wells. In this type of re-pressuring, water is injected into the oil-bearing formation through wells drilled for the purpose. The water then forces the oil to flow to the existing well holes. An engineer of the chief oil company operating the re-pressuring project estimates that almost as much oil as originally came from the Osage fields will be recovered.

Stephen F. Austin PTA Plans Night Meeting For April

Plans were made for "dad's" evening to be held on April 24 by members of the Stephen F. Austin Parent-Teacher Association at the regular March meeting.

Mrs. Henry Foster, president, presided. Members voted to buy a new portable victrola for the school. Also the regular meeting dates were changed from afternoon meeting to night meetings to be held on the 4th Tuesdays at 7:30 p. m.

A program on "Health" was introduced by Mrs. Lloyd Phillips. Mrs. Ed Hutcherson gave the devotional on "Faith" and brought scripture readings from the Bible.

A symposium on the topic, "What Makes Good Schools," was presented by Mrs. W. Wilson, Mrs. H. B. Estes, Mrs. Ross Gentry and Rev. Bedford Smith.

Mrs. Ted Trulove, who served as leader, said that a good school provides for needs of all youth. This is made possible by the responsible citizens of our community of today.

Mrs. Wilson, who spoke on health, stated children must have vaccination and serums before they enter school. She suggested that children have regular check-ups and form regular eating habits.

Mrs. Estes in her talk on mental health said that mental health is harder to understand than physical health. It is our duty to help a child feel comfortable about himself and this requires endless patience on the part of the parents and teachers, she added.

Mrs. Gentry said to be socially right one must be emotionally right. The three C's children must learn are choice, change and citizenship. They must also learn the meaning of realism and independence, she added.

Rev. Smith stated that it is a good sign when a community associates the church along with the home and school. The Objects are four-fold: 1. Discover character and nature of God; 2. Discover best means of God making self-known to men; 3. Discover of acquiring the ultimate values of religion; 4. develop spiritual side.

Miss Zady Belle Walker, principal, had arranged an attractive health display.

The room award was won by Mrs. Stilwell's room.

Value Of Texas Cotton Protected By Research

Texas cotton farmers now have more dollars in the bank and protection against unjustified rumors which might hurt the value of their crops, thanks to a University of Texas service.

The University's Cotton Merchandising Research Division is preparing for its fourth year of getting the facts about Texas cotton, facts which replace the general opinions—sometimes right sometimes wrong—about its worth.

The Division is sponsored by the Texas Cotton Research Committee, composed of the heads of Texas A & M College, Texas Technological College and the University.

As soon as 1952 cotton was on the ground, University researchers will make a survey to find out how much of each variety planted over the state will be in cotton, they'll take samples from representative fields and determine fiber properties each variety.

"When rumors spring of the quality of Texas cotton, now have the facts to protect the interests of the cotton merchants," Dr. A. J. Division director, said. "The of Texas cotton by providing information which helps the best use from the fiber buy."

MORE CARS PER STATION

Latest estimates indicate during 1950 the average of passenger cars per station in the country was by about 13—rising from age of 157.1 cars per station at the end of 1949 to 168.1 at the end of 1950. And average per station last year was $1,000 above the 1949 figure. Estimated. Total service sales were $6.4 billion in 1949 and $6.8 billion in 1950.

PROPERLY TREATED COTTONSEED

For a good stand of cotton with the first planting can be in-ly when seed that has been treated properly with a recom-disinfectant is planted. In the picture above illustrate the difference seed treating. Treated seed and seedlings are less apt to suffer from seed-ing-off or sore-shin. The cost of treating is unimportant when compared with the oil preparation, fertilizers, labor and equipment needed to od crop. Less than 10c per acre spent for seed protection can many dollars profit when the crop is brought to the gin. tion about treating your seed and the name of the cotton-eariest you consult your county agricultural agent.

Silk Buys 16 Registered Herefords for Double E

After waiting two years for his name to reach the top of the order list, E. E. Silk, owner of the "Double E" ranch near here, this week received 16 richly-bred Hereford heifers from the famous Wyoming Hereford Ranch of Cheyenne, Wyo.

The Hereford aristocrats, representing the blood of WHR Royal Duke 3d, Proud Princeps 9th, Prince C and other Registered of Merit breeding, were selected by Silk who recently drove to the Wyoming ranch after being notified that his 1950 order could at last be filled.

Silk plans to establish a high class Hereford herd on his 3,500-acre ranch near Memphis. Previous experience with purebred cattle proved to him that choice stock make the most profit, yet cost no more to raise than grades or mixed breeds. The difference is in the foundation stock, he reasoned—so he sold off what he had to start over with a better foundation.

Retained from the herd he sold was a young bull of great depth of body and smoothness throughout, a grandson of WHR Royal Domino 51st. He is straight WHR breeding and will be placed at the head of the growing herd.

Included in the shipment are four heifers bred to the Register of Merit bull, WHR Royal Duke 3d, and three bred to the $100,000 WHR Ideal Duke 1st. The others are bred to sons of these two noted sires.

When Silk bought his present ranch in 1946 after service in the air force, he started planning for a herd of Hereford cattle. Buildings and fences had to be repaired. More wells were drilled, pastures were improved. A mesquite eradication campaign was started, the spraying being done from an airplane.

The poison spray improved the pastures by getting rid of weed as well as killing the mesquite. But Silk wanted still better pastures. He has seeded many acres to a mixture of side-oats grama, Indian grass, switch grass and little bluestem, as well as a cultivated 100-acre plot seeded to blue panic grass. Still looking for better pasture plants, he is seeding 30 pounds of the scarce buffel this spring.

Silk plans to add other choice breeding stock, buying carefully to get the kind of foundation he wants. He is a close student of pedigrees and wants individual excellence equalled by a strong background. He is looking forward to the development of the herd and some fitting and showing of his cattle.

Sharing his enthusiasm for the future of the "Double E" ranch is his attractive wife, the former Constance Appleby of Wichita Falls. They have a six-month-old son, Edward Everett, Jr., and it should be a safe wager that he will be as enthusiastic about the ranch and its Hereford cattle as his parents.

The annual Texas 4-H Club Roundup will be held at Texas A & M College on June 9-10.

Cafe Ceiling Prices Effective April 7

Some 2400 restaurants and other eating and drinking establishments in the Far West Texas district of the Office of Price Stabilization were reminded today that the new ceiling price regulation covering their operations becomes effective next Monday, April 7.

Must Post Prices
District price officials pointed out the new regulation (CPR-134) freezes restaurant prices at the level shown on menus or charged during the week of February 3 to 9, 1952. It also requires operators of eating and drinking establishments to post dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for their principal meals, food items and beverages.

These frozen prices, with permissible adjustment by operators who have been charging lower than permitted under the present restaurant regulation (CPR-11) will be the dollars-and-cents ceilings which restaurants will post.

May Make Adjustments
The posted prices may be changed in the future only by the direction of the Office of Price Stabilization. The regulation provides that future adjustments may be made if the OPS determines that food and other costs have changed significantly, either upward or downward.

A series of trade meetings will be held throughout the district by price officials in the next few weeks to acquaint operators of restaurants and other drinking and eating establishments of the detailed provisions of the new regulation. The schedule of meetings will be released as soon as it is available.

New Postal Rates Increase Cost Of Mailing This Paper

New postal rates which went into effect April 1 for second and third class mail will effect both The Democrat and local readers who send single wrap issues to distant friends.

For single wraps, the increase will amount to about one cent for a normal 16-page issue.

A flat ten per cent increase has been placed on bulk mailing for The Democrat. A considerable part of the paper's circulation is affected by the new higher rates.

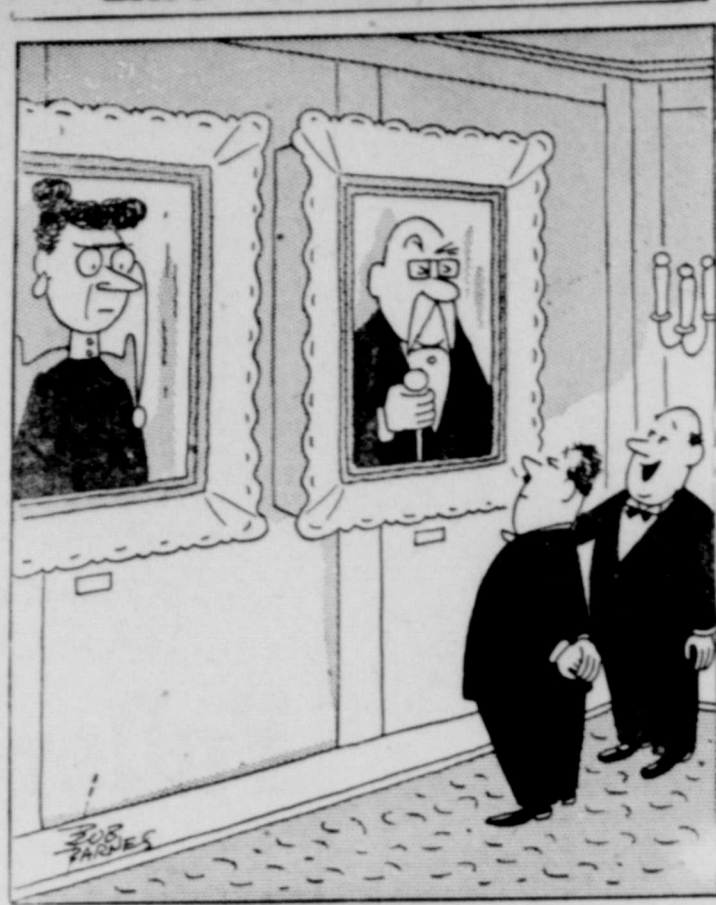

Postmaster J. H. Vallance said that postal cards have been put back on the flat price of two cents per card, regardless of number purchased. Heretofore, there has been a ten per cent increase in price where more than 50 cards were bought at a time.

Comments—

"There are some tax-payers in my district." Anyway, the amendment was adopted by a vote of 192 to 154. It is a shame that congressmen from all over the U. S. do not try to hold down the appropriations.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"The one on the left is my Great-Aunt Flutachio. - After I picked up at an auction for night work."

How did that runlet go? Can't quite get it, but it went something like this: "Winter has went; Fall has fell; Spring has sprung into Summer, and it will be hot as ---." From floor furnaces to air conditioners in two days time, shows that Winter was Spring was not, and Summer is. The thing we all agree upon is, a rain is needed.

Wife's redbud tree is in full bloom, and it breaks the monotony of an otherwise dreary winter appearance.

Of all my friends, was I astonished a few days ago when my friend and stand-by of more than a quarter of a century, George Forzy, admitted reading Comments? A lot of sand has blown across the bridge during the past 20 years, but I recall with a feeling of thankfulness and appreciation the big-hearted work that George did during the time the Red Cross helped a lot of people in Hall County. I was county chairman of the Red Cross at that time and when George saw the amount of work that needed to be done in administering aid he volunteered his services and worked day and night without pay for weeks, until temporary relief was accomplished. I will always think of George as a friend in need, whole-hearted and a lover of mankind.

Have examined some of the peach buds and found most of those examined to be alright. The freezes left some and it is hoped the Easter spell will not finish them off.

Since HST has announced he is not a candidate for president, a lot of people are glad. The next thing is for the populace to see that a lot of fellows now in office, elective or appointive, are given the boot so the government may have a new start somewhat toward the right. Under the beaurocrats wielding a lot of power America has done considerable sliding toward complete socialism. Americans have become alarmed at the trend and an aroused populace can put the government back on the right road.

Having some yard work done, and with each shovel of dirt may be found some nice fat juicy worms. And that, my friends, bring up thoughts of going fishing.

The following letter from Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Davenport of Lakeview is worthy of reprinting here, because it shows they are not only appreciative but credit is given to neighbors and friends for their part in rebuilding of the Lakeview community:

"We want you and your staff to know that we appreciate very much the nice things said about us in your last paper. We have always thought it was our responsibility to do what we could to help develop this community, and we feel there should be some nice things said about the people we have had to work with. We have had a lot of good help in doing what has been done."

"I often think of Jim McMurtry who was always jovial. He came into my store one day and said 'Dave, I am living on borrowed time now.' (He had just passed his 70th birthday). Then he said 'Dave, I would rather be in Texas

It's Papa Who Pays, Dallas Man Learns After Arrest Here

A woman got her baby back. Constable and Mrs. Jack Peabody were nursemaids for a night, and a Dallas man is still a long way from his Denver destination as a result of a little drama that unfolded here last week.

It all started when the man got himself arrested on a charge of driving while drunk. The sheriff's office picked him up between here and Estelline last Wednesday night. A search of the car revealed not only the tops of whiskey bottles and several cans of beer, but also a two-year-old baby boy.

The man, when he had at last become coherent in his speech, told an age-old tale: his marriage was on the rocks; he and his wife had reached a parting of the ways. So when he had left Dallas earlier that day, he took along his baby, and a plentiful supply of alcoholic beverages, it being a long, dry drive to Denver.

When the husband went to jail, unable to pay his fine, the infant was taken home by Peabody and his wife. Meanwhile the mother in Dallas was notified, and next day she showed up to claim her baby.

Hubby is still residing in the county jail where he has a 40-day lease on his penthouse cell, Sheriff E. S. Morrison said.

Man Found Guilty Of Statutory Rape

A 72-year-old man from Collingsworth County was found guilty of statutory rape Tuesday in a trial in the district court here. He was handed a five-year suspended sentence.

The jury deliberated three hours on the case which had been tried twice in Collingsworth County before being moved here on a charge of venue. The case had resulted in hung juries both times.

dead than back in Tennessee alive. I sometimes think of it the same way. It will be 63 years this April since I came to Hall County."

"We have found the people living here good enough for us to spend our lives with. We can go to Union Hill Cemetery and find the names of a lot of good friends on markers there. You have always treated us nicely in reporting news from Lakeview. Sincerely, D. H. Davenport."

He added that the boy's mother, Mrs. C. H. Booth was deeply grateful for the way people had responded. Mrs. Booth is a widow, her husband having died several months ago. Out-of-Town Donations
A small item appearing in last week's Democrat apparently drew some out-of-town donations. Kenard said that contributions had been sent in from Ft. Worth, Hereford, and Clarendon.

He added that anyone wishing to make a contribution toward paying the youth's hospitalization can contact one of the men mentioned above or leave their money at the First State Bank in Memphis with the "Joe Booth Fund."

Later, the rest of the family came to make their home there. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chappell lived there until their death.

Mr. Chappell was a cow hand on the Shoe Bar Ranch for a long time, and he was engaged in farming several years.

In 1915, he and his family moved to New Mexico where they lived until 1926. They moved from there to Littlefield.

Mr. Chappell was a member of the Baptist Church.

Byars will also enter the dairy show with his registered Jersey heifers.

Tomie Potts, an old hand at winning blue ribbons, said yesterday that he didn't know if he would get to make the Turkey show or not as he was expecting a shipment of cattle in at his ranch on the day of the show.

A livestock show at Paducah Saturday was expected to draw some of the show animals of this county.

Hope For Better Show
Officials of the Turkey show said they hoped for a better show this year than they have had in the past. The prizes will be about the same as last year, and "are adequate to pay for the trouble incurred in showing livestock."

The officials hope for that enough animals will be entered to make the prize ribbons more significant.

3,423 Vehicles

Total registration for all types of vehicles this year in Hall County amounted to 3,423, according to J. W. Coppedge, county tax collector and assessor.

Of that number, 2,434 were passenger cars, 418 commercial trucks, and 571 farm trucks.

Last year the total registration was 3,476. Then 2,497 were passenger vehicles, 463 commercial trucks, and 516 farm trucks.

Draft Eligibles Get Reminder Of Local Registrars

Boys who reach the age of 18, required to register with the nearest draft board, can register in Turkey with Cole Boswell, county service officer; in Memphis with Ellie Martin at the Chamber of Commerce; and in Estelline with Billy Holland, postmaster.

The nearest draft board is Local Board No. 20, Childress, which has jurisdiction over Childress, Cottle, Collingsworth, Hall and Briscoe counties.

Services of these registrars enable Hall county boys to register in their own county without having to go to the expense and trouble of traveling to Childress.

A local board is maintained for the five-county area because one board can take care of it under present circumstances and thus help keep down the cost of government.

Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, said today that "people should appreciate the services these registrars are rendering the people of Hall county. They do this job without pay as a patriotic service to the country."

All males are required to register under the draft law on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter.

Maximum penalties that can be applied for failure to register is $10,000 fine, or five years in prison, or both.

What to look for if you want a better 1 1/2- or 2-ton truck

"Our Dodge 2-ton models have done a remarkable job for us."

— says S. W. TANNER
Veteran's Gas and Service Co., Pueblo, Colorado

"In all-round satisfactory performance, dependability and economy, our Dodge 'Job-Rated' 2-ton trucks have done a remarkable job for us."

"In fact, one truck has 80,000 miles on it, and the only replacement has been a new jet in the carburetor. That's economical maintenance you just can't beat!"

"My partner, Eric Samuelson, swears by Dodge, too. It says our 2-ton trucks handle just like a passenger car."

Look first for the truck that best fits your job! Look for strong, rugged load-carrying units—frame, springs, axles, wheels, and others—engineered to provide the strength and capacity you need. Look for load-moving units—engine, clutch, transmission, and others—engineered to meet the most severe operating conditions.

Look, too, for a powerful engine, easy steering, short turning ability, and extra payload capacity.

You'll get all these advantages when you choose a Dodge "Job-Rated" 1 1/2- or 2-ton truck.

Yes, look for the best in a 1 1/2- or 2-ton truck, and you'll find it in a Dodge. Come in today.

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Congressman, 18th District

By Walter Rogers

THE MEXICAN CATTLE

QUARANTINE: The announcement that the quarantine against Mexican cattle will probably be lifted on September 1st has caused a great deal of discussion among the cattle people. Many fear that it will tend to break the cattle market and do untold damage to many small operators. Others are of the opinion that it will cause the cattle market to level off and that it will create a healthy, rather than damaging, situation.

The decision concerning the lifting of the quarantine was prompted by the fact that Mexico presently appears to be free of the Hoof and Mouth Disease. If no new outbreaks occur between now and September 1st, Mexico will be declared free of the disease. This will mean that cattle can be imported under whatever regulations are decided upon as applicable. The Secretary of Agriculture, under the Tarrif Act, makes the declaration.

At the present time there are no definite regulations determined. Work is progressing in that field and the proposed regulations are being fully processed. It has been suggested that a period of quarantine at the port of entry should be established in order to permit observation before the cattle are brought in. This procedure was not followed before the outbreak.

It seems to be the consensus of opinion here that the lifting of the quarantine will not cause any great fluctuations in the cattle market. This opinion is based upon the fact that since the quarantine has been in effect a large meat packing and processing industry has been established in northern Mexico. It is logical to believe that the Mexican government is not going to let these establishments fail because they cannot obtain cattle.

May Restrict Export

This means that the Mexican government will probably invoke certain restrictions on the exportation of cattle in order to protect this industry that has grown up and means much to the economy of Mexico. The effect of such restrictions could be that only the surplus of certain grades of animals would be allowed to cross the border. Prior to the outbreak of the disease and the placing of the quarantine, 150,000 to 400,000 Mexican cattle crossed the border into this country each year. Most of these have who are thoroughly familiar with the subject are convinced that importations subsequent to the lifting of the quarantine will be far below that figure. This certainly seems logical. Actually the quarantine has in one respect been of great service to Mexico. It has made possible the building up of the large meat packing and processing industry that will contribute much to the progress of Mexico in the future. In fact it was probably more helpful than one of these foreign aid laws would have been. Mexico was able to wipe out a most serious disease and at the same time build up an industry that will serve the country well.

THE FOREIGN AID PROGRAM: The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and the House Committee on Foreign Affairs have been going full speed ahead in obtaining information concerning the proposed foreign aid budget request. As you know, General Gruenther has been testifying before these committees in support of the full aid bill, and has made an excellent witness.

Nearly 8 Billion Dollars
The full budget request involves expenditures of 7.9 billion dollars. It is going to be interesting to watch what happens on this proposed expenditure in the light of what has been happening to the domestic appropriations bills. These domestic appropriations bills have been cut and sliced from all sides in the committee and the treatment is renewed when they reach the House Floor.

During the last few days the House has been considering the appropriations bill for the Department of Interior. Several sizeable cuts were made even though the bill had been whittled down pretty well in the committee.

American Indians Affected
Some of the cuts affected the American Indians, and this of course provoked heated debate. One member observed that you had to live outside the United States in order to be considered in any federal assistance program. Sometime ago this same member made the observation that the Confederacy was the only nation that the United States ever defeated on the battlefield and then failed to feed afterwards. He is a very able member and is really hitting the nail on the head.

Cuts Likely on Foreign Aid
I don't believe that this Congress is going to make the cuts on the domestic front that we have already made and then do a complete about-face and write out a blank check for foreign aid.

THE APPROPRIATIONS BILL

FOR DEPARTMENT OF INTERIOR: I introduced an amendment to reduce the Bureau of funds by the sum of $100 million. It was taken to the committee and members from making. One of them pointed out that there were no money in the budget. I admitted this, but there were some appropriations in the district.

Amendment Adopted
It seems that the members are more interested in the payers at the present time. They are in the fact that there are no mines in my district. The amendment was adopted by the vote of 100-0. These kind of cuts are being made to pare the budget. The talk is here that we are able to knock off $100 million.

June 30 Deadline For Volunteers In Service Of Country

The privilege of being a volunteer in the "Service of Country" after receipt of a notice, has been extended to June 30, 1952. This announcement was made by the American Red Cross recruiting station today.

End Of An Era

(Sob!)

Daisy Mae finally led Li'l Abner to the altar. The "ideal" of every red-blooded Hammerican boy done up and committed matrimony. For millions of Li'l Abner comic strip fans, an era has come to an end. (Oh, unhappy day.)

An entire generation of Americans have been brought up to believe that delectable Daisy Mae would never catch her man, that ridiculously naive hillbilly lout, Li'l Abner Yoakum. But, lo and behold, the impossible has happened.

In the 20 years that the denizens of Dogpatch have been entertaining Americans, all the way from moppets to high-brow intellectuals, there have been few concrete things left to put one's faith in. Depressions, revolutions, wars, and pestilences have come and gone, leaving the world weary and uncertain. Always, there has been that comforting thought: Daisy Mae would never catch Li'l Abner.

The end came swiftly and as a surprise. Young Yoakum had been altar-bound several times in the past, but there was always something to save him. He didn't exactly despise his constant pursuer, in fact, there was a soft spot in his heart for Daisy Mae, but Li'l Abner would be the last to admit it. He always had his mind on more important things—like cat-fishin', po'k' chops, and teasing his fav-or-ite comic strip, Fearless Fosdick.

It was his undying devotion to Fosdick (a funny parody of Dick Tracy) that "done him in." Like any good American boy, he had taken an oath to imitate every act of his "ideal." Recently, Fosdick was threatened, along with other detectives, with dismissal from the force unless he got married. So he took the fatal step and Li'l Abner was honor-bound to do likewise. This time there was no escape for the simple lout. Marryin' Sam performed the simple, $1.35 ceremony.

Al Capp, creator of the comic strip and its lovable characters, decided to marry the pair after his fans demanded a happy ending to the one-sided, "unwholesome" romance.

Capp has poked a lot of fun at American manners and morals in his comic strip. His spotlight of satire has looked into almost every nook and cranny of American life. Not many classes, groups, or cliques has escaped his witty criticism. He's kidded business tycoons, labor leaders, mobsters, statesmen and snobs. Lately people have begun criticising him for being un-American in his satire on the accepted customs of this country. So he's marrying off Li'l Abner as a form of appeasement. The man Time Magazine has called one of the greatest satirists of our time will henceforth take it easier in his criticism of the things he finds wrong with America.

It's an unhealthy situation when one is judged un-American just because he uses his inalienable right to criticize.

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Leave Us Alone Week

The Commerce Department reported recently there were only twenty-four days left in the year which were not designated days. All the weekend and months have been taken and, in many cases, taken twice. The officials suggested that the days not designated for any sort of national observance be called "un-days."

There are so many designations of days and weeks this year that nobody will be left alone. The Department's calendar listed 147 weeks and 22 months as special commemorative weeks or months in 1952. Since there are only fifty-two weeks and twelve months in the year, the overlapping is extensive.

In addition to the twenty-four "un-days" left, there ought to be a sort of "un-week" in which several weeks and several months each year will be left as "un-weeks" and "un-months."

There might even be a national "Leave Us Alone Month."

Why hasn't somebody thought of this before?
