Witness Tells Of Seeing Thieves At Work During Night

By R. C. HANKINS
Journal Staff Writer

In one of the boldest incidents reported to Lubbock law enforcement agencies in years, a ton and a half closed truck loaded with merchandise valued at from $5,000 to $6,000 was stolen here early today and later abandoned after thieves had pried open its doors and taken merchandise valued at perhaps "in excess of $4,000."

The truck, owned by Ponca Wholesale Mercantile company of 704 Broadway, was "pulled off" by a car from 2714 Sanders, the address of the truck's driver, A. A. Langford.

Parked Near Home

Langford had loaded the truck late Monday and parked it near his home so that he could leave town early today and distribute cigarets, candies, chewing gum, lighter fluid, various other tobaccos, razor blades, and other merchandise.

A witness living near Langford's residence told investigators she saw the truck pulled away by the car, and later saw the car return past Langford's without the truck in tow.

Hale county Dep. Sheriff C. L. Dyer located the truck at midmorning four miles west of Hale Center. He had it towed to the Ritchey-McMennamy Motor company garage in Hale Center.

Doors Pried Open

Motor company officials told newsmen that several of the truck's doors had been pried open, "but, naturally, we don't know what has been removed from the truck."

"About all that we identified in a casual inspection were candies, some smoking tobaccos, what appears to be order books and blanks, and various kinds of razor blades," he said.

A. H. Shepherd, manager of the wholesale company, said the estimate of loss was based upon belief that from 35 to 36 cases of cigarets had been removed from the truck, quantities of cigars and candies, and approximately 250 boxes of chewing gum."

Shepherd said he probably would authorize a reward for information leading to apprehension and conviction of those responsible for the theft, "after I have acquainted myself more fully as to legal procedure involved."

He told newsmen he was con-

Mexican Labor Talks Blocked

HARLINGEN, Oct. 4. (U.P.)—Negotiations between Rio Grande valley farmers and Mexican laborers reached a stalemate today after the Mexican government rejected all contracts calling for wages of less than 40 cents an hour.

A committee from the Texas citrus and vegetable growers and shippers said attempts to modify the overall international labor agreement were unsuccessful.

Information Requested

The committee asked W. F. Kelley of the U. S. Immigration service and Don Larin of the U. S. Employment service to advise the growers on who determines the prevailing wage scale for an area and who defines the area.

The valley men requested information on how soon they could be advised concerning modification in the minimum length of em-

President Expected To Ask Atom-Bomb Project Be Doubled

Emergency Funds Will Be Requested Of Present Session, Newspaper Reports

(By The Associated Press)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 4—President Truman will ask Congress to double the nation's atom bomb production as an answer to Russia's possession of that weapon, the Nashville Tennessean reported today.

Mr. Truman, at the request of the Atomic Energy commission will ask for emegency funds before Congress adjourns, the paper said in a copyrighted Washington dispatch.

The AEC, the article said, wants the President to ask Congress to double its 1950 appropriation of $378,000,000 and to okay $30,000,000 to $60,000,00 for construction during the present fiscal year.

(Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said last week in Washington that appropriations for the nation's atomic weapon program allowed in advance for Russian developments.

Action Awaits Talks

(The program from the start, he added, has been based on the assumption that Russia sooner or later would produce atomic bombs.

(Hickenlooper declared in the same statement that it was too early to say whether additional money will be needed for the atomic program here.

(Congress already has voted about $5,000,000).

(Shortly before Hickenlooper's statement, Chairman McMahon of the Senate-House atomic committee expressed the possibility that Congress would be called on for additional funds, in the wake of Russia's claim that the Soviet government now has the bomb.

(McMahon said further that the question of additional funds would have to await the outcome of current talks on American A-bomb making.

(He pointed out that this country is now using all the uranium it can get—mainly from Canada and the Belgian Congo—and that ways are being sought to increase

Shots Ring Out In Coal Mine Strike

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4—Gunfire and death broke the brief calm in strife-scarred mine fields as the twin strikes of 900,000 steel and coal workers ground on today at a staggering cost of more than $30,000,000 a day.

Violence flared in Tennessee.

John L. Lewis' 400,000 soft coal diggers east of the Mississippi have been strike-idle since Sept. 19.

Three Men Shot

And 500,000 of Phillip Murray's CIO steelworkers struck 95 per cent of the nation's steel mills and iron ore mines last Saturday.

Pensions are involved in both disputes.

Steel picketing is orderly and quiet—everywhere.

But there has been little peace in the coal fields. A week ago gunfire, rock-throwing and explosions ripped the mining countryside.

Violence broke out anew yesterday.

Matt Bunch, UMW Intrenational representative, said 20 union miners on a "peaceful mission" were ambushed at Pikeville Tenn., by non-union miners. Three men were shot, one seriously. Two others are missing. No arrests were made.

Bunch said between 75 and 100 shots were fired by men hiding behind bushes as the UMW miners walked up a small path toward a non-union mine. At Whitehall, state Patrolman Harmembers are in an ugly mood over the incident and there was talk of arming themselves.

Leland Olds Opposed For Third FPC Term

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP) — A Senate commerce subcommittee voted unanimously today against approving a third term for Leland Olds on the Federal Power commission.

The subcommittee includes four Democrats and three Republicans.

The full Interstate Commerce committee is slated to meet tomorrow morning and may act formally on the subcommittee's recommendation then. Since the full committee has only 13 members, the subcommittee constitutes a majority of it.

Dry Ice Freezes Acne Off Of Skin

CHICAGO, Oct. 4. (U.P.)—Dry ice has opened a path to relief for sufferers from common acne.

Good results have been obtained with the dry-ice treatment in more than 2,000 cases, according to Drs. Carroll S. Wright and E. R. Gross, of Philadelphia.

Writing in a recent issue of the Archives of Dermatology and Syphilology, the doctors said chips of the ice were applied directly to acne leisions.

In most cases, the lesions dried after a short time, with little or no scarring.

Liquor Found In Stolen Car

An automobile that had been stopped in a night chase by police bullets and held as bait to induce an admission of complicity from an unknown driver who escaped in the darkness, had been stolen, the sheriff's department was informed at 8:45 a. m. by the car's record owner.

It was Charles W. Walker who phoned.

Walker, giving officials the address of 1511 Fourteenth, said the car—the gasoline tank of which had been ventilated by lead fired by patrolman James Clark—had been stolen from him.

Walker said he had left the car in an alley behind 1511 Fourteenth, keys in the ignition, for "use of a friend."

He said he left town and only returned today.

The car, he said, had been stolen in the meantime.

The 1947 light automobile was hit three times by Clark while Cecil Dickey and Clark pursued it in Northwest Lubbock.

The driver leaped from the machine on North Ave. Q and disappeared. All the gasoline had drained from the tank.

Liquor In Car

Two cases of whisky and two of beer were in the car.

Investigation was being continued into the case this afternoon.

Two-Day Gathering Is Held; Auxiliary Also In Session

BY BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

Two hundred Northwest Texas doctors were arriving in Lubbock today for sessions of a semi-annual two-day convention of the Panhandle District Medical society in Lubbock hotel.

Registration began at 9 o'clock this morning on the mezzanine floor of the hotel.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon more than 100 doctors had already registered for the two-day meeting.

The society's eye, ear, nose and throat and medical sessions heard discussions of technical subjects today, and the obstetrics and gynecology and surgical sessions will hear lectures and discussion of technical subjects Wednesday.

Discussions Held

The morning program opened today with invocation by Rev. Travis A. White, pastor of First Christian church here.

Dr. C. B. Jones of Wellington, president of the Panhandle District society, called the meeting to order and extended a welcome address.

Discussion sections began at 10 a. m. and continued after a noon luncheon. Adjournment was scheduled for 5 p. m.

Serving as chairman of the eye, ear, nose and throat discussion section was Dr. F. B. Malone of Lubbock, with Dr. James T. Hall of Lubbock as secretary.

Dr. Gaylord R. Chase of Amarillo lectured on "Bronchoscopy in the Diagnosis and Treatment of Pulmonary Disease," with Dr. Hall leading a discussion on the subject. Dr. Frank H. Newton of Dallas spoke on "Practical Points in Glaucoma Surgery," following which Dr. J. T. Hutchinson of Lubbock led a discussion.

Sinusitis Subject

Dr. J. M. Robison of Houston concluded the morning session with discussion of "Pressure Treatment of Allergic and Purulent Sinusitis," with Dr. E. M. Blake of Lubbock leading the discussion.

Dr. Robison opened the afternoon session of a combined eye, ear, nose and throat and medical section meeting with a paper on "Septic Meningitis." Dr. Jones E. Witcher of Amarillo led the discussion afterward. The two sections then separated again.

Dr. H. J. Roberts of Big Spring discussed "Radium-D in Ophthalmology," with Dr. Fred J. Crumley of Amarillo leading the discussion. Dr. Newton then discussed "Office Treatment and Surgery of the Eye," with Dr.

Idalou To Vote On Bond Issue

IDALOU, Oct. 4 (Special) — Idalou voters will go to the polls on Tuesday, Oct. 29, to vote on the issuance of $85,000 in revenue bonds for improvements on the city waterworks and sewer systems. The election will call for issuance of $10,000 in water bonds and $75,000 in sewer bonds.

The election was ordered in a meeting of the city council Monday night, Mayor Foy Hudson said today.

Bonds Five Per Cent

It was explained in the meeting that present plans call for the issuance of but $65,000 of the sewer bonds; holding the $10,000 in water bonds and the remaining $10,000 in the sewer bonds until expansion of the city demands additional extensions.

The revenue bonds, all to be issued for 30 years, will bear 5 per cent interest.

Extension of the sewer system will cover the entire town, Mayor Hudson said. Plans for the project were drawn by Joe Ward, Wichita Falls engineer.

Harry Ratliff of Abilene, representative of the First Of Texas investment company, aided in working out financial details of the bonds.

Total Eclipse Of Moon Due Thursday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP) — The harvest moon — one of the best bets in the song-writer's book —will have dimmers on this year.

There will be a total eclipse of the moon on the night of October 6-7 — favorably visible in the United States and Europe. But don't bank on seeing a virtual blackout such as occurred in the total lunar eclipse of last spring.

TOBIN STRESSES COOPERATION

Labor Unity Urged By Demo Official

(By The Associated Press)

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 4—Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin today called on organized labor to replace discord and cross-purposes with "the solidarity of cooperation" to secure such objectives as repeal of the Taft-Hartley act.

"It has already been proved that when an international crisis is being faced, or when the labor movement is being threatened within a state or in Washington, AFL and CIO can work together effectively and harmoniously," Tobin said in a speech prepared for the national AFL convention.

Cooperation Urged

"I am pleading merely for a logical projection of the spirit behind such activities," the cabinet officer said, pointing out that he had no "program of unification" or "any scheme for making labor one and indivisible."

He urged cooperation on the political level "if we are to get rid of Taft-Hartley" and realize other parts of President Truman's "fair deal."

"Labor must be united certainly on the local and state level if congressmen and senators are to heed the will of the people," Tobin said.

Program Advocated By Bernard Baruch

Development Of A-Weapons And Mobilization Plan Urged

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 4—Russia's atomic explosion means that America must maintain overwhelming advantage in the development of atomic weapons and enact a stand-by mobilization plan, Bernard Baruch said today.

The presidential adviser and drafter of a program for international control of atomic energy offered a four-point program in response to requests for comment on the reported atomic explosion in Russia.

He urged:

1. That the United States stand pat in insisting on nothing less than a trully effective international control of atomic energy.

2. Until such safe and sure control is obtained, "maintain our overwhelming advantage in the development of atomic weapons."

3. Reexamination of our strategy for peace making.

4. Immediate enactment of a standby mobilization plan including a thorough going

Loss To Crops High; Damage In Cities Light

Rain Up To Nine Inches Falls In Stricken Sections

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Oct. 4.—A hurricane which swept out of the Gulf of Mexico did surprisingly little harm in this Texas metropolis but crop damage over a wide area mounted today.

At noon it was dying out about 80 miles north of Houston.

Heaviest hit was a bumper rice crop just ready for harvest. But also badly hurt was a ripening cotton crop and vegetables.

The hurricane churned in from the Gulf late last night, lashing first at a rich industrial coastal strip between Matagorda and Freeport.

Little Houston Damage

Then, at about 1:30 a. m., the hurricane struck Houston with 90-mile-an-hour winds and torrential rains.

There was very little property damage in Houston. Some streets and under passes were flooded, debris was scattered about and trees bent level by the blast. A large number of telephone circuits were knocked out.

But in the fertile sea-level rice fields along the coast, and especially in Jefferson county, damage was heavy. The deluge of rain — up to nine inches at Beaumont— was whipped by high winds. The rice was flattened and beat into the mud.

Streets Are Flooded

There also was extensive damage to the rice, cotton and vegetable crops in Harris county, of which Houston is county seat. Orange county, not so hard hit, expected lesser damage.

Heavy seas at Port Aransas flooded streets and ripped out 200 feet of South Pier, known to thousands of Texas fishermen. Another 200 feet of the pier was buckled. Damage was estimated at $10,000.

Addington Farrer, one of Brazoria county's biggest rice growers, said "we'll be lucky if we can harvest half the crop."

Power failed in some of the coastal cities. Freeport was cut off from outside communication after 11:30 p. m. because of a power failure. Six of eight light poles in Freeport's new $156,000 high school stadium were torn down. Damage to the stadium facilities was estimated at $12,000.

One Person Missing

Despite the wide area covered by the storm there was no positive reports of lives lost, although one person was missing.

Area Forecast Dry And Clear

Dry and clear weather was forecast for the South Plains this afternoon and Wednesday, although heavy cloud formations remained over the area at mid-morning.

Fog moved in on the Lubbock area at 2:30 o'clock this morning, dropping visibility to "zero-zero" for three hours and 15 minutes, said Harold Frost, chief meteorologist at the U. S. Weather bureau station and Municipal airport.

However, no airplane schedules were interrupted, the fog scattering before the first scheduled flight arrived.

Cold Front Expected

The minimum temperature early today was 58 degrees, 12 degrees warmer than Monday's early morning minimum of 46 degrees. A minimum of 50 to 52 degrees is expected tonight.

A cold front moving southeastward had arrived at Clovis, N. M., at mid-morning and should be felt over Lubbock tonight, although its effects will be slight, Frost said. No moisture will accompany it, although rain was falling at Wichita Falls this morning.

Cotton farmers will welcome continued dry conditions, agricultural observers agreed.

September Figures Cited

The last major rain recorded at the weather station was .69 inch on Sept. 15. Scattered showers fell on the South Plains Sept. 30, but only .06 was measured by the Weather bureau here. Traces of rain were recorded Sept. 16 and 19.

In spite of the dry two weeks in the latter part of September, the month's total was 4.76 inches, or 1.86 above the 38 year average.

September temperatures were slightly below normal, records showed. The monthly average temperature was 69.6 degrees, 1.7 degrees below the 38-year average of 71.3.

Highest September temperature was 94 degrees, posted Sept. 3 and 4. Lows of 49 were recorded Sept. 13, 14 and 25.

High Naval Officers' Criticism Of Defense Policies Is Slipped To Newsmen In Capital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. (AP)—A thorough congressional investigation was promised today of complaints by high naval officers that navy morale is at a low ebb with resulting peril to national security.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) said the House armed services committee will "get to the bottom of this" as soon as possible. The committee will be busy for some time yet with its B-36 bomber investigation, scheduled to be resumed tomorrow.

The navy complaints were contained in typed copies of papers signed with the names of Admiral Louis Denfeld, chief of naval operations; Vice-Admiral Gerald F. Bogan, commander of the first Pacific task fleet, and Admiral A. W. Radford, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet.

Navy May Start Probe

They were slipped to newsmen last night in a downtown office building by a naval source who stipulated that his name not be used. There were indications that the navy might start a probe to find out who turned them loose.

Vinson told newsmen the complaints, in view of "the responsibility and high standing" of the men whose names were signed to them, merit full consideration.

He noted, though, that they were not official documents officially released and said, too, that there was a possibility that propaganda on behalf of the navy might have been the motive behind their publication. In speaking of such a possible purpose he was referring to navy complaints, some public and some otherwise, that the navy is getting a bad deal out of the "unification" of the army, navy and air force.

Hearing Favored

The three admirals, Vinson said, should be given an opportunity to "freely express what is on their minds, if they want to."

"They will be given that opportunity," he added. "If the national security is endangered because of what may be going on, we want to know about it and we want to know all there is to know."

The gist of the documents was this:

1. A statement by Denfeld that a "navy stripped of its offensive power means a nation stripped of its offensive power."

2. An assertion by Bogan that navy morale has sunk "almost to despondency" because of belief that the nation is being sold "a false bill of goods."

3. A statement by Radford that most Pacific fleet officers concur in Bogan's and Captain John G. Crommelin's views. Crommelin has publicly charged that the navy's attack force is being "nibbled to death" at defense headquarters.

Navy Chief Disturbed

There was no official comment from Secretary of Defense Johnson. Nor was there any from Denfeld and Secretary of the Navy Matthews, who were reported "very much disturbed" by publication of the complaints.

Some members of Vinson's committee privately viewed the release of the documents as another blast by navy champions in the unofficial war between the navy and the air force for congressional favor and strategic assignments. In recent years, the air force has replaced the navy as capitol hill's favorite when defense billions have been appropriated.

Bogan's "hearty and complete" endorsement of Captain Crommelin's charges was part of a letter to Secretary Matthews. Denfeld's and Radford's views were appended as the letter proceeded through customary channels to Washington.

Copies got out of official channels after it reached the capital.

"The basic reason" behind the Crommelin statement, Bogan wrote Matthews, "is a genuine fear in the navy for the security of our country if the policies followed in the Department of Defense since the national security act became law are not drastically changed and soon."

Bickering Claimed Rule

The defense act lumped the army, the navy and the air force into a single department—over original navy opposition.

While unification "can be made to and does operate effectively in the field," Bogan continued, "it would be sheer balderdash to assume that there has been anything approaching it among the secretariat, the joint staff or the high command of the three services."

"Bickering is still the rule; unanimity is non-existant," he added.

Not since he entered the navy in 1916, Bogan told Matthews, has navy morale been lower, with "complete confusion as to the future role of the navy and its advantages or disadvantages as a permanent career."

In forwarding Bogan's letter to Washington, Radford referred to its author as "an officer of great ability" about whose sincerity and high principle "there is no question."

Denfeld's comment as the letter went through his hands contained his linking of national and navy interest in naval offensive power.

Then he added that the present concern of the navy was summed up in October, 1945, by Fleet Admiral Ernest King in a report saying:

". . . Seapower will not be accorded adequate recognition, because the organization contemplated would permit reduction of that seapower by individuals who are not thoroughly familiar with its potentialities, as has happened in several other countries . . ."

A. B. Watkins Named Toastmasters' Prexy

A. B. Watkins was installed as president of the Hub Toastmasters' Club No. 660 in a ladies night program in the Navajo room of the Hilton hotel Monday night, completing the first year of the organization.

Approximately 50 club members, their wives and guests attended the affair. Dr. O. W. English, retiring president, presided at the dinner meeting. W. D. Rogers, jr., was toastmaster. Kenneth Moore was topic master and one-minute talks were made by club members and guests during the serving of the meal.

Talks were made by Wm. R. Sewell, Lonnie Langston, Dr. Jim Reynolds and Waggoner Carr. Critics were Dr. Marshall Harvey, Dr. G. G. Boyson, Warlick Carr, Joe Torrance and Norman Gibson, general critic.

The president's cup for the best speech of the evening was awarded to Dr. Reynolds.

Dr. Weston A. Pettey officiated in the installation of officers and others installed besides Watkins were: Low Walker, vice president; W. D. Rogers, secretary-treasurer; Warren Faller, sergeant-at-arms; and Dr. M. H. Benson, deputy governor.

Red-Faced Police Find Man In Jail

BALTIMORE, Oct. 4 (AP)—After an eight-hour search, Baltimore police found their man yesterday.

He had been in jail all the time.

Howard Mosby, 16, arrested on a disorderly conduct charge and released on bail, has asked to be kept in jail because he "didn't want to be late for the hearing next morning."

The police obliged, but failed to make a notation on the docket.

Said Magistrate A. A. Koslovsky at the hearing:

"It looks like we owe you a little time now. Case dismissed."

Tech Students To Be Offered X-Ray Tests

Voluntary X-ray examinations for tuberculosis will be offered Texas Technological college students Oct. 25-29, Dr. E. R. Rose, college physician, announced Monday.

An annual service to the students, this year's X-rays will be given in Aggie auditorium, according to present plans, Dr. Rose said. Students may be examined at the rate of 1,500 per day.

Last year's X-rays were taken by approximately 65 per cent of the students, Dr. Rose declared, and no definite TB cases were found. Only one-half of one per cent of the pictures showed any sickness and most of those were for other diseases the individuals already knew about, he added.

Communists In China Gaining Recognition

LONDON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Romania and Bulgaria lined up with Soviet Russia today in recognizing the new Chinese Communist government.

Other Soviet satellites—particularly Czechoslovakia, Hungary, and Poland—were expected soon to formally accept Mao Tze-Tungs' Red regime in China.

Russia was the first to recognize the Communist government in China, breaking off relations with the Nationalist government in Canton on Sunday.

Britain announced she was ready to talk about recognition of Red China with the 11 nations of the North Atlantic alliance and the seven other countries of the British commonwealth. As a result, it was expected the matter would be discussed in New York Thursday by Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

IN HOLLYWOOD: BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

Benny Takes Ginger Rogers Back To Her Broadway Days

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 4 (NEA)—Behind the Screen:

I was lunching with Jack Benny at Romanoff's. Jack spotted Ginger Rogers across the room and immediately scribbled her a note reading:

"Some of These days' please. Guess who?"

Johnson

Benny explained: He remembered Ginger when she was in "Girl Crazy" on Broadway and spent most of her time doing impersonations of Sophie Tucker. Ginger scribbled a note right back. It read:

"I'm running all my pictures all afternoon until midnight. Then I'll do my impersonations."

Note from Polly Moran, following my story about the time she ran for mayor of Laguna Beach:

"Sorry I didn't tell you that out of the 8,000 population I got 30 votes—28 bartenders and two fry cooks."

Great gag that never came off:

One way to get ticket to "South Pacific."

Before coming to Hollywood, Eve Arden was in a series of flop plays for Oscar Hammerstein. So before she went East recently, she wired him:

"In the future you can let Mary Martin star in all your hits but I refuse to do any more flops for you if I can't see 'South Pacific'." She got the tickets.

Benny Rubin tells it:

In 1939, he was looking for some new material to show off his dialects. A young songwriter applied for the job and said he'd do it for $100. Rubin hired him but when the writer returned with the material Rubin paid him $300 and urged him to become an actor.

He did.

His name was Robert Mitchum.

Considerable curiosity around town about how the Bob Hope-Lucille Ball starrer, "Fancy Pants," got its title. Here's my theory:

In one scene Lucille wears such a riding habit as hasn't been seen since Grandma was a girl. The skirt gets caught in a bramble bush and is ripped clean off.

Now there's an idea for Gorgeous Gussie Moran.

Jennifer Rains, 10-year-old daughter of Claude Rains, is tired of being known as the film star's daughter. Recently she left for school and told her famous dad, who operates a profitable farm in Pennsylvania, that if anyone asked her who her father is she was going to say.

"Willie Rains, the Farmer."

They're making a radio show into a movie so it can be a weekly television show. Very confusing.

But an indication of things to come.

The show is "Life of Riley" and Irving Brecher, who directs the airshow, is directing the TV version. He also directed the Hollywood film version, released a few months ago by UI.

John Brown is playing Digger O'Dell again. He's the first actor in history to play the same role for a movie, a radio show and a movie for television. Jackie Gleason is Riley. Bill Bendix's contract stopped him from doing the TV version.

The set looks just like a movie set. But there is no long, boring wait between takes, no short scenes. Most of the "takes" run seven minutes. Brown summed it up:

"Just like working in pictures but they work so fast you don't have time to play gin rummy."

Film plans for the lift of Helen Morgan reminded George Renavent of the time he had his own theater in New York. George Brown, a publicity man, took him to see a girl singing in a night club and talked him into signing her for an eight-minute, one-act play.

The girls was so scared she refused to go on under her own name. She spelled it backwards, was billed as Neleh Nagrom and made such a hit that Ziegfeld signed her for "Show Boat."

The rest made Broadway history.

Animals Join In Church Services

HEREFORD, England, Oct. 4 (AP) — Forty horses went to church here yesterday.

So did hundreds of dogs and cats, guinea pigs, rabbits, goldfish, along with a goose, a cock, a grass snake, a canary, a calf, a goat and a tortoise.

Once yearly the Very Rev. Hedley Burrows, dean of Hereford, has a service for pets and their owners, dedicated to St. Francis of Assissi, patron saint of animals.

"I think the service was a marvellous success," said the vicar of Holy Trinity, the Rev. Leonard Snell. "It will help people to realize their responsibilities toward dumb animals."

The animals got the spirit of the ceremony. No dogs chased cats. No cats ate mice. The cats left the goldfish unmolested. Only a goose named Egbert disgraced his owner. Egbert waddled out just as the service began.

War Hero And Movie Actress To Separate

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 4 (AP) — Audie Murphy, war hero and actor, and his petite wife, Actress Wanda Hendrix, finish their film roles today as loving husband and wife—and will undertake a "trial separation."

Murphy, 25, plans a trip to Texas on business and to see relatives at Farmersville. Miss Hendrix, 20, will remain here.

"We expect to know better how we stand when I get back," explained Murphy.

Murphy, World War II's most decorated GI, and Miss Hendrix married last Jan. 8.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4 (AP) — James E. Taussig, who was president of the Wabash railroad from 1920 to 1931, died yesterday. He was 84.

Funeral services will be held here today.

Man Escapes Serious Burns In House Fire

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 4 (AP)—For years Albert Carney springled his bed with water every night. He told neighbors he liked to "water it down" to reduce the fire hazard.

Last night Carney's garage house burned to the ground — bed and all. He escaped with burns on his arms and hips.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Wife Is Emotionally Dead Toward Husband, Who Has Been Going With Younger Woman

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband and I, now in our forties, have been happily married for 15 years, although he has a free and easy-going temperament, while I hold stricter views, especially where love and marriage are concerned.

Four months ago I noticed a change in his manner toward me. Although as kind as ever, he seemed indifferent to some extent; also he would be late for dinner or miss it altogether, and he was staying away from home more. When he did get in he would have nothing to say, aside from such plausible excuse as "work at the shop." I had a feeling that something was eluding me.

Eventually I learned through an old and trusted friend that Matt was seeing a great deal of a young woman who was a client of his firm, for whom he had done some work; and that he was visiting her home and often staying until quite late at night. My informant, who casually knows the young woman, said the situation was hardly, or at least not entirely, Matt's fault, as the lady had actively courted his interest.

WIFE NOW SPURNS MAN'S LOVEMAKING

I DECIDED to wait and observe the situation, although I felt pretty badly and still am horribly hurt. Lately Matt has started to spend more time at home, but I find I've become emotionally dead where he is concerned. Knowing that he's been involved with another woman, I can't bear the thought of his making love to me.

Once since coming back he did make a conciliatory gesture along these lines, when I told him I knew what had been going on and that he had thereby destroyed the attraction he used to have for me. He didn't deny the circumstance but seemed surprised that I felt as I did; and things are now at a domestic impasse. No overt unpleasantness, just a sick situation that needs clarifying.

I know that marriage counsellors advise women to wait patiently for the return of an erring spouse and that all will be as usual again; but it doesn't seem that simple to me. In fairness to us both, should I continue our life together or seek a divorce? I shall be grateful for your views. Signed: B.B.

NOTHING NEW ABOUT WIFE'S NEGATIVE AIR

DEAR B. B.: Your attitude from the start of Matt's indiscretion until now seems to be that of a wife who hasn't positively loved her spouse for quite a long time, and now vindictively feels that she has "justification" for being frankly frigid and disobliging —whereas until he went astray, she had been expediently humoring or passively permitting his lovemaking, or possibly trying indirectly to discourage that sort of thing without giving offense.

You state that when Matt began to seem somewhat indifferent, though as kind as ever, four months ago, you had a feeling that something was eluding you—and I take it you mean that you were aware of the recession of positive interest on his part, without being able to account for it, until you heard the gossip about his offside adventure.

The fact that you "decided to wait and observe the situation" is evidence of a remarkably detached or singularly cool reaction to infidelity, it seems to me; thus I surmise it is mostly your ego, not your heart, that "felt pretty badly" and still is "horribly hurt."

A WIFE significantly in love with her husband, whether with a passionate physical attachment or with special emphasis on comradeship of mind, would have found it impossible, I am sure, to "wait and observe"—as with eye to keyhole—in a case like this.

The passionately devoted wife would have raised a storm right off; and the other type, who values and cultivates friendship of spirit in intimate relationships, would have invited an honest immediate examination of the rift in unit, pointed up by gossip—leaving open the question as to who (in the twain) was at fault, and what repairs should be undertaken "in fairness to both."

If Matt seems surprised at your sick resentment of his brief affair, does it mean perhaps that he long since assumed you didn't care "that way" about him? How much awareness or concern, do you have—how much have you ever had—regarding what he thinks, feels, hopes, wants, needs, etc.? It seems to me you can't sensibly consider whether to stay together or seek a divorce until you better know yourself and him—as a starting point from which to decide whether there are any "growth" potentials left in the relationship. M.H.

Coffee Is Courtesy

Mrs. Walter Howard and Mrs. G. C. Turner were hostesses Monday morning at a coffee in the Howard home, 2202 Thirtieth, continuinng the courtesies.

The refreshment table was decorated with a motif of pink and silver, carrying out the honoree's chosen colors. Laid with a cloth of ivory satin striped faille, the table was centered with an arrangement of pink chrysanthemums and tiny silver eucalyptus leaves.

Mrs. George Loveless presided and Mrs. Fray Smith and Miss Betty Jenkins assisted in hospitalities.

Injunctions Given In Liquor Hearing

Judge G. V. Pardue this morning enjoined five defendants from trafficking in alcoholic beverages within the boundaries of Lubbock county, and ordered forfeited to the state a large quantity of illegal intoxicating liquors.

The actions followed hearings in 99th district court this morning.

Temporary injunctions were issued against G. Fore and C. Biggs, C. C. Stewart, O. R. Reeves, and Nettie Finley Bowles.

The court found from a preponderance of the evidence that defendants had been engaged in trafficing in alcoholic beverages. It also adjudged costs of court against them.

Ordered forfeited to the state for sale to bidders in wet counties were: Twenty-one cases and 694 12-ounce containers of beer; 12 four-fifths quarts and 15 pints of whisky.

The forfeitures were in connection with these cases:

State against T. G. Sims and 168 containers of beer; State against 21 cases and 22 containers of beer (seized March 31 from Clarence Ellison); and State against C. O. Randolph and 504 Containers of beer, 12 four-fifths quarts of whisky and 15 pints of whisky.

Texas Laboratories Approved For Blood Tests Are Revealed

AUSTIN, Oct. 4 (AP)—The state health department today released a list of 105 Texas laboratories approved for the performance of pre-marital and prenatal serological examinations that will be required under new laws which become effective tomorrow.

One new law requires that both the intended bride and bridegroom must have taken a blood test before a marriage license can be issued. Another new law requires a prenatal bloodtest of women.

May Send Blood

State health officer George W. Cox said that persons residing in towns where there are no approved laboratories may send blood for analysis to a nerby laboratory or to the state health department at Austin.

Dr. Cox said he did not believe that requirement would be considered "hardship" on anyone. He described it as possibly "inconvenient but not a hardship."

Lubbock Lab Okayed

The law requiring premarital tests requires that the marriage must be performed within 15 days following the medical examinations for the exams to be recognized.

The list of approved laboratories includes: Lubbock: City-County Department of Public Health laboratory.

Lubbock Coaches Speakers At Hub City Kiwanis Club

RED RAIDERS Coach Dell Morgan and Westerner Coach C. R. "Pat" Pattison were special guests of the Hub City Kiwanis club during their regular weekly meeting at the Lubbock hotel this noon.

Coach Morgan spoke on the West Texas State game last Saturday, and commented on the motion pictures of it that he had seen.

He discussed future schedules for Tech teams, pointing out that they are attempting to play schedules that will be most beneficial to them financially, as there still is an indebetedness to be paid on Jones stadium.

Tough Game Expected

Coach Pattison gave the Kiwanians a preview of what might be expected when the Westerners clash with Vernon this Friday. "They probably are the best team we will play this year," he said. "They have one of the finest passers that we will run up against all season, and he can run, too."

He also discussed the remainder of the Lubbock high schedule which includes games with Amarillo, Lamesa, and Odessa.

Weldon S. Street, 2309 Fifth, was introduced as a new member by Dr. Jason O. Gordon, president. J. G. "Goober" Keyes introduced visitors, which included F. L. Mize and Arch Rambeau of the Lubbock Kiwanis club; Raymond A. Billings, Lubbock; R. P. Sawyer, Chicago; and John D. Davis, Dayton, Wash.

Pres. Gordon scheduled a special board meeting for Wednesday.

WAXAHACHIE, Oct. 4. (U.P.)—Two men were killed and a woman critically injured three miles north of here last night in a collision on U. S. Highway 77 during a heavy rain.

The dead were identified as Joe Thompson, jr., of Waxahachie, Ellis county clerk for the two-year term ending last year, and J. W. Maupin of San Antonio.

The woman, unidentified as yet, was not expected to live, ambulance attendants said. She was in Waxahachie sanitarium.

The scene of the accident was almost the exact spot where 19 persons were killed in a truck collision two years ago.

BEBE DANIELS ILL

LONDON, Oct. 4 (AP) — Bebe Daniels, film star of the silent days, is ill with food poisoning and has had to withdraw from a radio broadcast tonight.

"Learning By Doing" Said To Be Cornerstone For Camp Fire Program

In a conference Monday with Mrs. E. N. Jones, president, and Mrs. Roscoe Wilson, public relations chairman, Lubbock Council of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., Miss Louise Fargher and Miss Corinne Moller, members of the national field staff, pointed out that the theory of "learning by doing" has been the cornerstone of the program of Camp Fire Girls since its inception in 1910.

Camp Fire bases its program on the premise that girls in growing up are learning all the time, through every experience, in school and out, those things that will affect their whole lives, make them happy, useful wives, mothers and citizens, they added.

Miss Fargher and Miss Moller are in Lubbock to conduct a training course for leaders that began this morning at the First Christian church. "Primarily, this training course is to help leaders learn new skills and techniques in working with a group," Miss Moller said. "Through training, we hope to give the leaders a feeling of security and a sense of direction with the girls in their group."

In dissussing the ever present need for additional adult leadership, Miss Fargher said, "There are opportunities through the Camp Fire program for enjoyable, worth-while activities which can help girls to develop their best potentialities. These opportunities can be realized only if we can provide the girls with adequate leadership."

Seven September Polio Cases Reported

Spraying Of DDT To Continue Until City Fly Menace Ends

The city's spraying machines have been going full force the last few days and will continue to do so until the influx of flies here is brought under control.

This announcement came today from Gerald E. Jarvis, director of public health.

Jarvis said flies always increase after a rainy spell and that they had an added chance of multiplying immediately after the last spell because of mechanical difficulties in the spraying machines.

Seven Polio Cases

"However, we expect to have the fly situation under control by next week," he promised.

The city public health department also announced seven cases of polio were reported in Lubbock county last month. Four of the victims lived in the city limits. An eighth case was treated here, but the patient was from another county.

Suits To Be Filed

Jarvis said investigations into many of the cases revealed that victims had made trips to East Texas, been near outhouses or had drunk from open wells prior to coming down with the dread disease.

He said the city is preparing to file suits against persons on sewer lines who have failed to eliminate outhouses within the city limits. Response so far has been about 25 per cent, he added.

Last year 33 cases of polio were treated here, according to Polio Foundation records.

UNIFICATION WASTE IS DENIED

Navy Admiral Takes To Task Critics Of Brass-Hat Record

BY GEORGE TOWNSEND
INS Staff Correspondent

ATLANTA, Oct. 4 — A Navy admiral today lashed out at civilian critics of the armed services' "brass hats."

He is Rear Admiral Augustus J. Wellings, vice-commander of the U. S. navy's military seas transportation service, with offices in Washington.

In a short address before the fourth annual meeting of the National Defense Transportation association in Atlanta, he declared that "the high-ranking military brass is doing a top-notch job of unifying the armed services in spite of unfair criticism from persons who don't know what they're talking about."

Rumors Still Rampant

In an interview later, Wellings said:

"These unfounded rumors circulated about the inefficiency of the military leaders are not as prominent as they were during the ward, but they still exist.

"You see it in newspaper editorials once in a while — and hear it on the streets frequently — that 'the brass hats' are wasting millions of dollars in fighting each other over who is to have the most prominent role in the new unification program."

"I believe the military brass is handling the tremendous job before them with the utmost of efficiency and at the least possible cost to the taxpayer."

He added:

"And you can put that in your pipe and smoke it."

Big Job Ahead

The fiery Boston, Mass., officer has 33 years service with the navy. But he's not thing of retiring. He said:

We have a tremendous job ahead of us in taking over the army's transport ships (ATC) but I believe it can be completed within another six months or perhaps a year."

The newly formed MSTS is faced with the task of transporting overseas all the properties of a modern military force, including troops, equipment and supplies.

"No overseas operation can be carried out successfully without a smoothly-operating seas transport system."

Wellings said that other rumors also are being circulated concerning navy brass taking over the army's transport system. He added:

"Some rumors say the navy intends to fire all the civilian employes now used on the army transports. This is not true. We would indeed be foolish to throw away all of the trained army personnel who required years to be moulded into an efficient working team."

Elderly Man Dies In Fight At Gas Office

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 4 (AP) — Police say that a fight over who was to be first in line to pay a gas bill caused the death of 61-year-old William Holmes.

Booked in jail on suspicion of manslaughter is Albert Becker, 47, a Columbia movie studio employe.

The quarrel started, police said, when Becker rushed into the gas company office yesterday, pushed past Holmes and demanded that a cashier wait on him.

Holmes pushed Becker in the face, police said, then Becker struck the older man, an engineer, on the jaw. Holmes fell and died without regaining consciousness. He suffered a skull fracture.

Senator Vandenberg Reported Recovering From Lung Operation

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 4 (AP) —Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, who underwent a six-hour operation here Monday, was reported resting comfortably in University hospital today.

Further word on the Republican foreign affairs leader's condition is expected later today, after laboratory tests are completed.

In the operation, one half of the 65-year-old senator's left lung was removed. His condition during the operation was described as excellent.

Previous reports indicated that he had a lesion on the lung.

Condition Called "Fine"

Dr. John Alexander, chief surgeon at the operation, declined to say what it had disclosed. Vandenberg, internationally famous as a bi-partisan foreign policy spokesman, entered the hospital last week.

His condition late last night was described by Dr. Alexander as "fine."

"I couldn't expect him to be better," the physician observed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey of Grand Rapids, the senator's son-in-law and daughter, accompanied him to the hospital. His wife, ailing herself during the last year, remained home in Grand Rapids.

"Tears Of Blood" Said Shed By Girl

MANILA, Oct. 4 (INS) — Churchmen, lay persons and medical men alike marveled today at a reported "miracle" in which a blind Filipino girl has been shedding "tears of blood."

The Manila Chronicle reported that the girl, 18-year-old Josefina Layog, talked with an apparition of St. Theresa which appeared before her Thursday night at Bay City 35 miles south of Manila.

Catholic parish priest Father Napoleon Pantas was quoted as saying the young candidate for the Carmelite religious order had recovered from a serious illness after "actual conversations" with the midnight apparition.

Medical authorities were reported mystified by the "tears of blood" said to flow from the girls eyes after she had engaged in "serious meditation and long prayer."

Monterrey Refinery Is Being Planned

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 4 (U.P.) — Technicians of the government petroleum industry said today a refinery will be built at Monterrey if the new Reynosa field in northern Tamaulipas state fulfills expectations.

The technicians said they were optimistic over reports that great quantities of petroleum and gas had been located and that production would get underway soon. The Reynosa field is the most promising of any post-war exploration, they said.

Model Citizen Thrill Bandit

NAPERVILLE, Ill., Oct. 4. (INS) —A 44-year-old reputed "model citizen" was charged tonight with being the "thrill" bandit who made an unsuccessful attempt to rob a college girl and her escort.

Du Page county authorities held Ernest B. Knight, a project engineer for the electromotive division of General Motors corporation, for grand jury action after Knight allegedly confessed the crime.

Knight's face was badly bruised when he was taken in custody today from a beating administered by the intended victim, Miss Rose Hodel, 21, of Beckley, W. Va. Both of his eyes were blackened and his jaw was swollen, from the fight which occurred when she joined her escort in resisting Knight.

License Was Clue

Miss Hodel and her companion, Dwight Freshley, of Naperville, swung on the intruder with a bottle of cleaning fluid when the masked and armed bandit attempted to hold them up in Burlington forest near Naperville, Saturday night.

Police said the clue which led them to Knight was the license number on the bandit's getaway car. They added that cleaning fluid had saturated a jacket found in his home and a mask and pistol also were discovered there.

Knight, married and father of two children, reportedly told arresting officers he just decided to rob someone "to see what it feels like . . ."

The engineer earns a $450 monthly salary.

CLEARED BY JURY

HOUSE SEEKS TO EXPAND PROGRAM

Payments On Social Security May Be Boosted By Next Year

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—Don't raise any false hopes in your mind—if you're one of those benefitting from the social security program now—but there's a chance that the benefits will be increased.

Don't look for any increase in benefits before next year at the earliest. True, the House today was ready to tackle a bill making changes in the social security law.

And before the end of the week the House may pass it. But—that's still only the House acting. There can be no new law unless the Senate also approves, and it's not expected to do that before 1950, if then.

Payments Increased

The social security program is broad. The House bill would change most of it, but not all. Here is an outline of the present program and then, in parenthesis, the changes the House bill would make.

1. Old age and survivors insurance. This is the social security-old age pension. It is given to workers who, having been covered by the law, retire at 65; to their wives when they reach 65, the wife receiving half the amount her husband gets; and to a retired worker's widow if she is under 65 at the time of his death but has children under 18 dependent on her.

(The House bill would increase payments all these get.)

2. About 35,000,000 workers are in jobs covered by the social security pension law. A covered person is one who has the social security tax deducted from his pay. It's this tax which goes toward paying his pension when he retires. Many people are not in "covered" jobs and therefore face old age without a pension.

Coverage Expanded

(The House bill would add 11,000,000 workers to the list of those 35,000,000 now covered. People now not covered but who'd be covered under the House bill include many self-employed people like small storekeepers, regularly employed domestic servants, employes of state and city governments, employes of non-profit organizations like churches, the Red Cross and so on. The 11,000,000 would not include such people as farmers and farm workers, members of religious orders, and professional men like self-employed doctors, lawyers, engineers and so on.)

3. A "covered" person now has deducted one per cent of his pay up to the first $3,000 of it every year; and his employer pays a tax of one per cent on the salary of each of his covered employes up to the first $3,000.

(The House bill would apply the tax to the first $3,600 of pay and increase the tax deduction from one per cent to one and one-half per cent right away; 2 per cent in 1950; 2½ per cent in 1960; 3 per cent in 1965 and 3¼ per cent in 1970.

Other Aid Boosted

4. The federal government now helps states in paying money to aged persons in need. (The House bill would increase this help.)

5. The federal government now helps states in paying money to blind people who need such help. (The House bill would increase this help.)

6. The federal government now helps states in making payments to relatives of children where one parent is dead and the children need help. (The House bill would increase this help.)

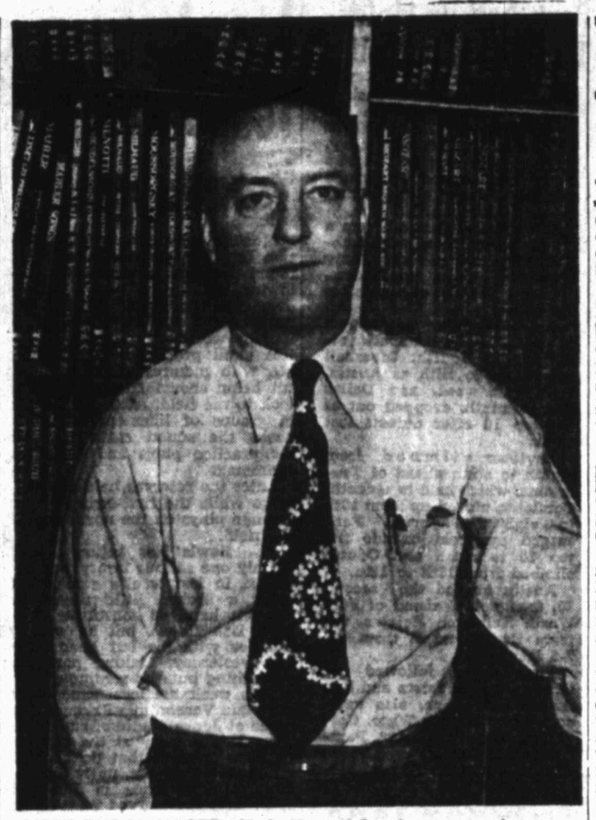

7. The federal government now helps states with money in trying to protect children in danger of becoming delinquents. (The House bill would increase this government help.)

8. The House bill would add something new to the social security program: provide federal help for people who became permanently and totally disabled.

For example: a "covered" worker, if he became permanently and totally disabled before reaching 65, would receive the same pension he would have received if he were 65 and getting the old age pension.

There are other parts of the social security program—like unemployment pay, federal help for crippled children — which the House bill would not change.

Early colonial families often made nails by hand to earn extra money.

Tucker Trial To Be Started

CHICAGO, Oct. 4 (AP)—Preston Tucker and seven other promoters of an unsuccessful multi-million dollar rear engine automobile company were called for trial today on criminal charges of mail fraud and securities act violations.

Judge Walter J. LaBuy summoned a venire of 200 prospective jurymen. Additional seats have been installed in the federal district courtroom in anticipation of large crowds. A public address system with microphones for lawyers, witnesses, and Judge LaBuy has been rigged.

60 Autos Hand-Made

The trial is expected to make public details of vital interest to hundreds of dealer and distributor franchise holders and stockholders who invested nearly $30,000,000 in Tucker Corp.

The company, which never got into mass production, and actually turned out less than 60 handmade automobiles, is undergoing reorganization under federal court supervision.

The firm's officers and former officials indicted June 10 were accused by the federal grand jury of having "devised and intended to devise a certain scheme and artifice to defraud and for obtaining money and property by false and fraudulent pretenses, representations and promises."

Maximum possible penalties for conviction under the indictment could imprison each defendant for 15 years and assess him a $60,000 fine.

Defendants Listed

Tucker, former Ypsilanti, Mich., resident, is president of the concern.

The other defendants are Floyd D. Cerf, head of the Chicago firm which handled $20,000,000 in Tucker stock sales; Fred Rockelman, former president of the Plymouth division of Chrysler Corp., and now executive vice-president and director of Tucker; Robert Pierce of Detroit, former Tucker director and treasurer; Mitchell W. Dulian, former director and general sales manager; Otis Radford, former director and treasurer; Cliff Noble, former advertising manager, and Harold A. Karsten, alias Abraham Karatz, a former Minneapolis lawyer who served a term in the Illinois penitentiary for fraud and conspiracy. All except Pierce have Chicago area residences.

Estimates by prosecuting and defense lawyers indicated that the trial will take at least two and one-half months. Otto Kerner, jr., assistant U. S. attorney, said he has 80 witnesses on call and the government's case will probably require six weeks.

Frank J. McAdams, jr., Tucker's attorney, said his side probably will require a month.

Services Scheduled For Accident Victim

Funeral services were to be held today for Charles Howard Parsley, 56, of 2309 Thirteenth street, who was killed Sunday morning in a traffic mishap on the Levelland highway nine miles west of Lubbock.

Services were conducted Monday for Miss Joan Lee, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lee of 3219 Twenty-fifth street, who received fatal injuries in a two-car collision in Lubbock late Sunday afternoon.

Others Still In Hospitals

Rites for Parsley were to be held at 3 p. m. today in the First Baptist church. Rev. J. Ralph Grant, pastor, assisted by Rev. C. A. Bickley, pastor of the Asbury Methodist church, was to officiate. Burial was to be in Tech Memorial Park under direction of Sanders Funeral home.

Snyder Jail Slaying Case Is Transferred

SWEETWATER, Oct. (AP)—The murder trial of Henry W. Strickland has been transferred from Scurry to Nolan county.

Strickland is charged in the death of Robert C. Sperry in county jail at Snyder. Judge A. S. Mauzey set the trial date for Oct. 11 here.

Tech Prof Improving In Lubbock Hospital

Dr. Lehman Hutchins, new addition to the Texas Technological college education and psychology teaching staff, is "much improved" in the West Texas Hospital and Clinic where he is recovering from virus pneumonia, attendants said Tuesday.

Dr. Hutchins was admitted to the hospital Friday and was said by physicians to have passed the crisis in his condition Monday morning. He is expected to resume his duties at the college within two weeks.

Classes taught by the professor, who came to Tech only this fall, have been divided among other instructors in the psychology department, Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of the college, said.

Hockley County Road Group To Meet Today

LEVELLAND, Oct. 3. (Special) A meeting of the newly-organized Hockley County Rural Roads association will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the county courtroom of the courthouse here.

The association was organized here Sept. 22.

On the agenda of the forthcoming meeting will be the election of a vice-president and secretary and 12 directors—three from each of the four precincts of the county.

At the first meeting, Tom Price and LaVern I. McCann were named president and treasurer respectively.

Events Are Planned By Legion Auxiliary

Plans for three activities by the American Legion auxiliary were made Monday night in a business meeting held in the Legion hall with Mrs. Orville Drake, auxiliary president, in charge.

The three future activities are the annual Poppy sale on Nov. 5, a visit to Girls' Town at Whiteface within the next two weeks and the 1950 membership drive during October.

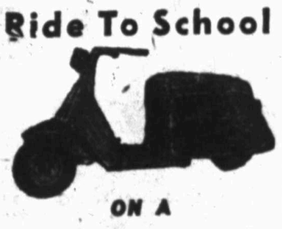

Mrs. Riley Duff reported on the 19th District convention held last weekend at Brownfield. The auxiliary members also heard a report on the child welfare and rehabilitation program being conducted for veterans' families.

Three new members attended the meeting. They are Mrs. Lee Echols, Mrs. Henry F. Evans and Mrs. Lois Farwell.

Yankees Favored In Series

Newcombe May Face Reynolds

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 4—Don Newcombe and Allie Reynolds emerge as the probable pitchers for tomorrow's Brooklyn - New York Yankee World Series opener after a mind-reading session with the opposing managers.

Burt Shotton, elderly keeper of the Brooks, says "you'll know tomorrow" about the Dodgers' starter at the Yankee stadium. Casey Stengel of the Yanks still is huddling with his brain trusters. The jury may be in by sundown.

For the Dodgers it's almost certain to be Don Newcombe, (17-8) the jumbo-sized rookie right-hander, or Preacher Roe, (15-6) the crafty southpaw ace. Roe needs several days rest between starts. Newcombe, if he opens, could work three times in a seven-game series.

As for the Yanks, it's strictly a guess. About the only sure bet is that fireman Joe Page will be striding in from the right field bullpen along about the sixth or seventh inning some time during the series. He did it 60 times this season, 20 times for Reynolds.

Reynolds Is Ready

Reynolds, (17-6) ineffective in a 2 1-3 inning chore against the Boston Red Sox Saturday before Page took over, is ready.

Tommy Byrne, (15-7) the unpredictable southpaw who usually either is very good or very bad, is a possibility. Despite his wildness, Stengel has handed many key games to Tommy.

Ed Lopat (15-10) might get the nod from Stengel However, the chunky lefthander was belted out in three innings by the Philadelphia A's Friday.

The odds, which now are close to 2 to 1 in favor of the Yanks, appear out of line. It's not such a lopsided thing as that, although the pick here is the Yankees in six games.

Both Clubs Weary

Both clubs were weary and battered. The Yanks' 71 injuries have received top billing because such important men as Joe DiMaggio, Yogi Berra and Tommy Henrich had been affected, but the Dodgers hospital list has been imposing, too.

Even now, there is no certainty that Carl Furillo, the .322 hitting right fielder, will be able to open because of a groin injury. Pewee Reese has the same trouble but not so bad.

Rest figures to help both teams, the Yanks the most. DiMaggio, still thin and weak from the after effects of a virus infection, looked better yesterday. He is improving but still is not up to snuff. A fit and ready DiMaggio could sway the series.

Henrich, tightly corseted a week ago, because of a back injury, has thrown away his girdle. Berra's hand is much improved. There also is a chance Catcher Charley Silvera, with a .315 batting average, may be available.

Have Picture Taken

Brooklyn took the day off yesterday but the Yanks posed for a team picture and had a 1½ hour drill. Later they split their World Series money. No announcement was made on how many shares were voted.

Shotton scheduled a Dodger workout at the stadium this morning. Following the Brooklyn drill, the Yanks will limber up.

Unsold tickets for this sixth "subway series" are practically non-existant.

A limited amount of tickets for standing room are being sold in advance of the games. The 13,500 stadium bleacher seats will go on sale the morning of the games.

Some 20,000,000 fans will see the series over television with all networks, including 51 stations, due to carry the show. The radio broadcast will be heard over 740 stations.

Game time each day is 1:00 p. m. (EST) except Sunday, if a fifth game is necessary in the best-of-seven play. Sunday's starting time is 2:05 p. m. (EST).

SMU IN TOP SHAPE

DALLAS, Oct. 4 — Southern Methodist university returned to practice Monday without a single injury from Saturday night's bruising game with Missouri. S.M.U. next plays Rice here Oct. 15.

Coaches Speak At Club Meet

There was a little-bit of everything on the program at the Quarterback club last night.

Three winning coaches gave talks, 1949 football rules were interpreted and discussed, Texas Tech freshman backfield men were introduced and pictures of the Plainview-Lubbock game Friday night were shown.

Cecil Cale, in charge of the program last night, was introduced by Bill Collins, club president, and lost no time in getting the interesting evening underway.

Called up first was Curtis Barrett, secretary of the South Plains Officials and Coaches association. He discussed rule changes in effect this year and went into an interpretation of the rules.

Picardor Game Good

Cale reminded fans that they had missed a fine game by going to Plainview Friday night, when the Picadors beat West Texas State college's freshman team 59-7. He called on Coach Allie White to introduce the 12 backs present.

White announced that W. H. Barker, star back from Colorado City, was not present because of an accident. Barker fell off a car yesterday afternoon and suffered a wrenched back, but will be back to practice soon.

Coach Damon Hill of Dunbar High school spoke on his team's victory over Midland last Thursday night. He related that he didn't know whether his boys were frightened or not, but that when he thinks they are, they usually play their best game. They played good ball except when a back threw a pass right to a Midland player for a touchdown.

Coach C. R. Pattison of Lubbock High school praised the work of his team Friday night, saying that their mental attitude was almost perfect to start the game. He said that he thought the entire squad had done a good job, while the pictures showed some good spots and some bad ones.

Pattison also praised the work of the Bulldog eleven in scrapping throughout and singled out Dale Scott as one of the finest backs on the field.

Coach Dell Morgan, introduced as "the man who's smiling for the first time in three weeks", acknowledged the introduction by saying it felt good to smile. The Texas Tech coach discussed the game played against West Texas State college Saturday night and declared that "we're improving".

Tulsa To Be Rough

Morgan said that Tulsa had scouted Tech thoroughly and Coach Buddy Brothers had been here Saturday in person. Morgan warned that Tulsa would be rough, even though they had a peculiar team.

Morris Turner, high school quarterback, and Bud Conley, Texas Tech fullback, were honored by the KFYO-Avalanche-Journal as players of the week for the games of Sept. 24.

Paul Cates, Matador club president, announced that the Red Raiders would be honored at a dinner Thursday night at Luby's cafeteria. Over 50 businessmen will be hosts to the players.

Port Arthur Holds Top Place In Poll

DALLAS, Oct. 3 (U.P.) — The Port Arthur Yellow Jackets held onto first place in the weekly Dallas Morning News' schoolboy football poll today, but an impressive Wichita Falls team moved up into a challenging spot close behind the coast favorite.

The Coyotes jumped from a tie for fourth place with Lubbock last week to second, only 24 points behind the leaders, who had 209 out of a possible 230 points.

Amarillo ranked third, down a notch, while Lubbock remained in fourth. Marshall moved up to fifth as Austin, third last week, and Dallas Sunset, ninth, dropped out of the top 10 after defeats last week.

Baytown climbed from eighth to sixth ahead of Texarkana, which held to seventh; Corsicana moved up from 10th to eighth; Highland Park surged up from outside the top 20 to ninth and Odessa climbed from 16th to 10th.

Austin headed the second 10, four points ahead of Fort Worth Arlington Heights, the team that knocked them off 7-6 last week.

They were followed by Grand Prairie, Ysleta and San Antonio Jefferson, also newcomers to the list; Waco, Galveston, Houston Lamar, Pampa and Abilene.

Michigan Tops Gridiron Poll

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—Michigan once more is the nation's best college football team, in the opinion of the experts who voted today in the first Associated Press poll of 1949. The results returned the Wolverines to the same position they held when the 1948 season closed.

The top ten teams produced by the initial balloting look surprisingly like the same ten which came out of the final poll at the end of the '48 campaign.

Only 80 sports writers and broadcasters participated in today's voting. But 34 of them decided that Michigan's Western conference champions belonged on top again.

Notre Dame, the runner-up in the final 1948 poll, landed in second place again. Oklahoma, fifth in 1948, drew the No. 3 position although it collected 17 first-place votes to 15 for Notre Dame.

On the basis of ten points for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third, and so on, Michigan topped the list with 648 points. Notre Dame had 627 and Oklahoma 505.

For the record, here's the way the top ten looked in the final 1948 poll. Michigan, Notre Dame, North Carolina, California, Oklahoma, Army, Northwestern, Georgia, Oregon and Southern Methodist in that order.

Vote Is Listed

The total vote with points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-2-1 basis (first place votes in parentheses):

1. Michigan (34), 688.
2. Notre Dame (15), 627.
3. Oklahoma (17), 505.
4. Tulane (4), 442.
5. Minnesota (2), 353.
6. North Carolina (3), 294.
7. Army (1), 280.
8. Southern California, 210.
9. Southern Methodist, 194.
10. California, 129.

The second ten—11, Ohio State, 120; 12, Texas, 106; 13, Michigan State, 86; 14, Duke (3), 76; 15, Kentucky (1), 76; Villanova, 72; 17, Cornell, 39; 18, USLA, 32; 19, Pittsburgh, 28; 20, tie among Pennsylvania, Northwestern and Missouri, 11 each.

Others — Georgia, 6; Louisiana State, 5; Stanford, 3; Illinois, 2; Baylor, 1; Navy, 1.

ROYALS EARN WIN

MONTREAL, Oct. 4 (AP) — Behind the five-hit hurling of Dan Bankhead, the Montreal Royals earned a 3-1 victory over the Indianapolis Indians last night to win their first Little World series game in the best-of-seven series. The Indians lead 2-1 in games.

Between 1927 and 1939, the New York Yankees lost only three games in seven World Series.

Lubbock Holds Drill

Team To Meet Vernon Friday

Monday afternoon practice session for the Lubbock Westerners found the team in fine spirits following last week's 42-6 victory over Plainview, and Coach Pat Pattison put the boys through a lengthy workout.

A skull practice started things off, with pictures of the Bulldog tilt being shown before the team took to the field. After brief work in groups of linemen, ends and backs the squad came together for practice plays and dummy scrimmage.

Later the reserves held a scrimmage while the first-stringers ran through plays on the north end of the field.

Rawls Has Injury

Only one serious injury was incurred in last week's game, that being a broken little finger on the left hand of substitute Fullback Don Rawls, but he was at practice with his left hand in a cast yesterday, taking part in everything but the scrimmage.

This week the local squad will entertain Vernon in a Friday night game at Jones Stadium, and word from E. J. Lowry at the athletic business office is that tickets will be on sale from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m daily at his office in Lubbock High school. Reserved seats go at $1.50 each.

Standouts in the scrimmage between the two reserve teams were Mack Taylor, Morris Turner, and Billy Tooke in the backfield, with Wayne Noland, Dean White, Deverle Henslee, Curtis Roberts, Dick Cobb, Bob Newell, Dale Young, Ross Craig and Delwin Doyle showing up in the line.

Stroud Top Scorer

Leading scorer of the Westerner team at present is left Halfback Wayne Stroud with 35 points on five touchdowns and five extra points. He leads in yard rushing also with 219 yards in 18 carries.

Right Halfback Charlie Williams has scored 18 points and picked up 211 yards on 17 rushing plays. Fullback Malcolm Young also has scored 18 points, realizing 159 yards on 21 attempts on the ground.

Quarterback Bobby Brown has a passing and running total of 184 yards and has scored six points. Brown has carried the ball six times for 79 yards and completed eight of 16 passes for 105 yards, completing one touchdown toss.

Morris Turner has netted 55 yards on 11 running plays, including one touchdown, and has completed seven of 12 aerial tries for 89 yards and three touchdowns Turner converted once for a total of eight points.

Tommy Fisher carried the ball once for 63 yards.

Halfback Mack Taylor and End Garnet Reeves have scored 12 points each, with Taylor scoring once on a short pass and running 25 yards for the other. Reeves caught one pass for a score and covered a fumble over the goal for the other six-pointer.

Others scoring for Lubbock are Billy Tooke on a pass, Rawls on a running play, and substitute Quarterback Billy Pressley on six conversions.

Reeves leads pass receivers with four for 57 yards, Tooke has three for 36, Williams 3 for 45, Billy Wright 2 for 22, Taylor 2 for 21, Dean White one for 17 and Bobby Day one for nine yards.

The Westerners have been forced to punt but four times, with Young booting twice for 30 and 42 yards for a 36-yard average, and Turner kicked once for 43 and Taylor once for 42.

H. O. Young Paces Tournament Field

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 4—(AP)—H. O. Young won the medal of the state senators senior golf championship yesterday, firing a two over par 74 over the Brackenridge park course.

Hap Massengill was one strike back.

A record turnout, 243 over 50 golfers, took part in the medal round.

The 12 seasons in which Jimmy Foxx hit 30 or more home runs ranks second only to Babe Ruth's 13 campaigns.

Stewart Powerless To Act On Protest

TCU Coach Dutch Meyer Hits Rough Tactics Of Arkansas

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dutch Meyer's blast at Arkansas' "rough" tactics overshadowed routine training news of the Southwest conference.

"I can tell you that they'll win the conference championship if they let them get away with this kind of thing," Meyer said angrily yesterday.

The Texas Christian university coach pointed to his bruised and battered Horned Frog players and said:

"When a club of mine gets butchered up, I'm gonna let 'em have it. And I don't care whether anybody likes it or not."

Arkansas defeated Texas Christian, 27-7, Saturday in a conference game at Fayetteville.

Meyer Sends Protest

Meyer said was protesting to James H. Stewart, executive secretary of the conference, what her termed "flagrant" violation of the rules."

His chief complaint was Arkansas' offensive blocking and the use of elbows, which, he said, resulted in a broken jaw to one TCU player and numerous facial injuries.

John Barnhill, Arkansas coach, looked at moving pictures of the game for a second time last night and commented:

"I'll be very glad for a neutral committee set up by officials of the Southwest conference to study the pictures of the game last Saturday. I think all this should be handled through the conference and not fought out in the newspapers between Coach Meyer and I.

"We played aggressive, rough football, but there was nothing dirty on our part at all. We were trying to win a football game."

Some minor ailments were reported yesterday at other schools, but only two—Arkansas and the University of Texas—had what might be major casualties.

Leon (Muscles) Campbell, Arkansas' great fullback, is crippled up and there was doubt he would be ready for this week's game with Baylor at Waco.

Steer Players Hurt

Four University of Texas players had bad knees and a fifth—Joe Arnold, sophomore first string linebacker, a sprained ankle.

Halfback Bubba Shands, End Ben Procter, Fullback Ray Borneman and linebacker June Davis have knee trouble. Reed Quinn, who has been out all season with a broken hand, is still on the injury list.

Coach Blair Cherry said if his ailing players weren't ready by Saturday, "Oklahoma might run us out of the ball park."

Texas A. and M. came through its game with Oklahoma with no real injuries, and Baylor didn't get bunged up any against Mississippi State.

It was a different story at Texas Christian.

Back Orein Browning had a cracked jaw, End Morris Bailey, Quarterback Lindy Berry, and several others had an assortment of bruises.

These injuries brought Meyer's angry charge against Arkansas.

Yesterday the veteran TCU coach spoke to a quarterback club meeting and showed pictures of Saturday's game.

"Two broken jaws (Weldon Edwards last season) is a pretty stiff penalty. We were beaten up and butchered and I don't like it. I'm making no bones about it—I'm pulling no punches."

"I don't expect this to do me any good," he added. "They may run me out of the Southwest conference. But I'm not going to let them butcher my kids and do nothing about it."

Meyer admitted late in the game his players were guilty of similar infractions of the rules.

"You'll see them swinging in there—that kind of football brings on retaliation. That's the whole trouble; it wasn't a true test of football."

Stewart said at Dallas there was nothing he could do about Meyer's protest.

In that protest Meyer blamed officials. He said the officials could stop rough stuff if they "would throw a few players out of games."

Stewart said the only thing he could do would be to send a report to the faculty committee of the conference and, of course, caution the officials to watch for violations of the rules as concerns use of the hand and arms.

"I've been watching football for a long, long time, but I've never seen anything as flagrant as this," Meyer said.

He charged Arkansas didn't run "more than six or seven legal plays throughout the entire game."

Game statistics showed Arkansas was penalized 116 yards, Texas Christian 50.

Tulsa Oilers Notch Third Playoff Win

TULSA, (AP) Okla., Oct. 4 (U.P.) — The Tulsa Oilers were only one victory away from a Dixie Series championship today after Jim Avrea pitched the Texas league entry to a 4-1 win last night, the third in four starts against the Nashville Vols of the Southern association.

The two teams will play the fifth game here tonight and, if more games are needed to settle the best four-out-of-seven series, they will move to Nashville for the remainder of the series Thursday and Friday.

Last night's seven-hit triumph for Avrea was his second against the Southern association champs. He beat them 13-2 in the opener at Nashville. The Vols' only run was a home run by Carl Sawatski in the fourth inning.

Dunbar Rated As Contender In State Negro Grid Chase

It's like hoping to have Christmas twice, but there's a remote possibility that Lubbock might produce two state gridiron champions this year.

Lubbock's Westerners currently are rated fourth among the state's top Class AA teams, and now Dunbar High school is surging toward the front in the state negro schoolboy race.

Coach Damon Hill, head man in football at Dunbar for 13 years (which makes him dean of the city's coaches), thinks his Panthers might do all right in the state playoffs if they can get past San Angelo, their cheif Intra-district rival.

Dunbar In District 1

The state negro conference of which Dunbar High is a member closely conincides with the Interscholastic league Class AA setup, although the district alignments are slightly different.

Dunbar belongs to District 1, which also includes San Angelo, Abilene, Amarillo and Midland. Having already beaten Amarillo and Midland, the local negro team needs only to defeat Abilene and San Angelo to move into the inter-district playoffs.

According to Hill, San Angelo looks like the toughest hurdle. The Angeloans, district champs in 1948, have a big, all-letterman team back this season.

But Hill isn't underselling his own team. The Panthers have proved their merit by thumping Hobbs, N. M., (40-12), Amarillo (20-7) and Midland (26-7), and the coach is confident that they will do much better against San Angelo than in 1948, when they lost by alop-sided 45-0 margin.

One Of Top Teams

Operating from the T and—occasionally—the double wing, Dunbar has displayed one of the flashiest offensive attacks to be found in these parts. The well-balanced backfield has provided such good running that Hill hasn't had cause to call on the strong throwing arm of Quarterback Fred Wright, who was all-district a year ago.

Powerful Eddie Bullock, a stocky fullback, and speedy Lawrence Robinson, left half, have been the top guns in the Panther offensive. In the three games to date, Robinson has been the No. 1 breakaway runner, with scoring sprints ranging up to 61 yards.

Charles Harvey and Otis Walker add punch to the Panther attack, with Wright and Robert Oliver on hand to share passing duties.

The Panther line, although composed of rangy boys, has an average weight of less than 160 pounds per man. However, it has held up well in its three early-season tests.

Coach Hill is pleased by his team's great spirit this year. He points out that at present many of the players are working in the cotton fields several afternoons a week, but that practically all of them return in time for a late afternoon practice session.

"With boys who like to play the game that well, I think we might go places," he adds.

The Panthers have two games away from home before returning to action here against Odessa on Oct. 20. The remaining schedule: Oct. 6, Dunbar at Wichita Falls; Oct. 12, Dunbar at Abilene (conf.); Oct. 20, Odessa at Dunbar; Oct. 27, Vernon at Dunbar; Nov. 11, San Angelo at Dunbar (day) (conf.).

The Roster

The complete Panther roster, with weights, classifications and years—if any—as lettermen, includes:

ENDS—Albert Smith (140, Jr., 2L); Arthur Jones (162, Jr., IL); William Moore (138, Jr., IL); Erskus Dawson (159, Sr.); Leonard Means (125, Fresh.).

TACKLES — Dennis Sanders (175, Jr., 2L); O. P. Jackson (150, Soph.); Lafayette Locke (155, Jr.); Charles Kerr (145, Jr.); James Lewis (135, Fresh.).

GUARDS—Co-Capt. Nathaniel Sampson (160, Sr., 2L); Joe Billy Hewing (160, Jr.); Sammy Dedrick (140, Fresh.); Charles Payne (160, Jr., IL); J. D. Steptoe (140, Jr.).

CENTERS—Odell Gary (168, Soph., IL); A. J. Lewis (140, Soph., IL); Curtis Gipson (120, Fresh.).

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

Coach Dutch Meyer's blast at Arkansas yesterday comes as no great surprise to anyone, although the fact that one Southwest Conference coach makes it toward another is news. It long has been bandied that the best way to keep the local hospital staff in action is to play Arkansas' Razorbacks in football. Coach Tonto Coleman of Abilene Christian college said that there were no untoward events when they playen the Hogs last year, but SMU took a bad physical beating in 1948, as did TCU. Both those games were different. ACC couldn't bother Arkansas much, but the other two teams were both in the running for the Southwest Conference title.

• • •

We doubt if Coach John Barnhill intentionally teaches his players to use dirty tactics. In fact, we feel certain that he doesn't. We don't doubt for one moment that he arouses them to fever pitch for a game and that the player's enthusiasm leads them to use tactics that are mainly spur of the moment impulses. Coach Dell Morgan, if he wanted to, probably could blast Texas A. & M. for unsportsmanlike conduct. The Aggies were not averse to using knees and elbows against the Raiders. But it's also true, generally, that if one team resorts to those means the other team does also. At the same time, the situation at Arkansas must be pretty severe if Meyer, one of the oldest coaches in the SWC, in point of years, takes it officially to the conference officials.

• • •

Dutch, of course, has the reputation of producing fine teams, teams that play the game fair and square, win or lose. That's the way it should be played. But players are human. The more competitive spirit they have, the harder they play. They may commit acts in the heat of a game that they wouldn't do in practice, and commit them without thinking of those acts as malicious or dirty. We once were booted out of a game for slugging. The first thing the coach asked us was whether we had started it. When we replied no, he was satisfied. As a matter of fact, the player opposite us had slugged on the third play of the game and, being slightly determined, we were not going to take it lying down. It settled into a personal vendetta. Until three minutes remained in the game, the two of us enjoyed doing our best to eliminate the other. Finally a sharpeyed (?) official caught us in a loving mix-up and two players left the field.

• • •

Of course we could have been mistaken early in the game. The other player might not have slugged us but, football players being football players, we thought he did. As a result, we set out to make things even. That may have been the case in the Arkansas-TCU game. Not being there, or in the game, we don't know. We only know that Dutch Meyer, a highly respected coach, has brought serious charges against the Razorbacks. If he can conclusively prove them, the Fayetteville institution may suffer. We can offer only one word of advice (and possibly inspiration) to the SWC: If you don't want to play that kind of football, why not take Texas Tech into the conference? You know that they play decent ball and Lubbock is growing much faster than Fayetteville. It's only a thought, of course, but . . . .

• • •

Coach Damon Hill's Dunbar High school football team deserves a good deal of commendation. Damon brought out at the Quarterback club last night that the players really work for football. And he didn't mean just for two hours a day. One of the players owns a truck and he loads the other players into it early in the day. They go out, pick cotton and then come out to practice two hours or more every afternoon. That takes a lot of plain every day guts, to use a word generally shied from by most people. We hope the Panthers take Abilene and San Angelo in stride and go on to win the negro state football championship. a team that has that much gumption certainly deserves to win.

• • •

We have an idea that Coach Buddy Brothers of Tulsa may have been trying to build up Texas Tech hopes when he said that the Red Raiders could handle McMurry without too much difficulty. You may remember that the Golden Hurricanes had to come from behind to beat the Indians only 27-26. Therefore, if Tech could handle McMurry easily, Buddy was indicating that the Raiders shouldn't have too much trouble beating Tulsa Saturday night. All of which is not conclusive. Tulsa poteneially has a fine team. Their biggest trouble is going to pieces in the second half. If Buddy can get that whipped this week, Tech will be in for a tough night. Incidentally, Choc Hutcheson says that Gene Mayfield, WTSC quarterback, told him Saturday night after the game that McMurry would beat Tech. All of which is the word of a coach against a quarterback—and even George Gallup has been wrong.

• • •

Joey Kunel, Washington's manager, has been given a pink slip by Clark Griffith, commonly known as the "Old Fox" among baseball men. It isn't surprising. The Nats finished eighth in an eight-team league and better managers have been fired for finishing third with a better team, namely Bucky Harris, late of the yankees. But what got us was Griffith's statement: "Things just didn't work out for Joe. He just didn't have any luck. I am the slowest man in the world to make a change like this, but it had to be done." Griffith also is the slowest man with a pocketbook you've ever seen. In addition, he's also the blindest on some of the so-called material he disinters to play ball for the Senators. As colorful as he is personally and as important as he has been to baseball's history, it's time he was replaced in Washington by someone with the interests of a winner at heart.

REDSKINS BEAT STEELERS

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3. (AP)—That old Washington Redskin reliable, Sammy Baugh, threw three touchdown passes tonight to lead his team to a 27-14 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Bud McFadin, 235-pound junior guard at the University of Texas also is the school boxing champion and won the wrestling title as a freshman.

The football team of the University of Arizona was outscored 154 points to 232 in 1948, yet posted a record of six wins and four defeats.

Light Workout Held At Tech

Coach Dell Morgan, not dissatisfied with the showing of the Red Raiders Saturday night, but unhappy over some of the blocking shown, ended up what started out as a peaceful afternoon offensive session with a long defensive drill against the freshmen.

The varsity, which opened the afternoon split into two groups working at opposite ends of the field, went through an offensive drill, with linemen polishing blocking assignments and the backs working on timing. Passing also came in for scrutiny.

Holes Opened

When the two groups were joined, they were put on defense against a first year team that wasn't able to penetrate the varsity defenses too well. But occasionally a quick opening play blossomed and the ball carrier found himself well into the open.

After watching quietly for a while, Coach Morgan began fretting over the showing made by some of the players. He pointed out their mistakes and scrimmage went on, with most of the varsity taking part in the action.

Fullback Bud Conley, a wheelhorse Saturday night, missed the session. He re-injured his right foot against the Buffaloes and will be out of uniform for a day or two. He was the only casualty suffered in the game.

The hospital list at the Raider camp is beginning to show signs of abating. Ends Jack Davis and Luke Thompson both should be ready for duty against Tulsa this week, along with others who are on the borderline between being completely well, but still injured slightly.

A chalk talk last night, during which Coaches Polk Robison and Tipp Mooney, who scouted Tulsa last week, completed the day's activity for the Raiders. Both warned that the Golden Hurricane would be tough to beat.

Coach Allie White's freshman squad went through a routine practice session, learning new plays and polishing timing and assignments on old ones. The Picadors won't play a game for another three weeks.

Casey Stengel Certain To Be Named Manager Of Year

BY OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 4—Individual honors in the major leagues for 1949 were shared equally today by the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers as they headed into a World Series scrap for the year's top team prize.

Strictly unofficial but from all indications virtually certain choices for personal awards were:

Manager of the year—Casey Stengel of the Yankees.

American league most valuable player—Phil Rizzuto, Yankee shortstop.

Rookie of the year—Don Newcombe, Brooklyn pitcher.

There can be no doubt that Stengel is home free. The 58-year-old Missourian was not conceded a chance to finish better than third in the pre-season dope. But he weahered a staggering total of 70 injuries to his players with superb jockeying of his forces—and won the pennant by beating baseball's two best pitchers in the two final days of the season. It was an inspired bit of handling, from start to finish.

The honor was a long time coming for the man with the jughandle ears. In three years at Brooklyn and one at Boston he could do not better than fifth. But he showed finally what he could do with first class material.

Rizzuto was the smallest regular in baseball and at the same time the biggest. The five-foot, six-inch Italian was the guy who made the Yankees tick.

You've got to see the "Scooter" to appreciate him. He is 160 pounds of strung-wire dynamite. He hit a respectable .276 and was one of the most feared men at the plate in the league.

There will be demands for Ted Williams and George Kell—but the "Scooter" is the guy.

Robinson will win his MVP laurels on the strength of being the National league batting king with a .342 mark and playing every game for a pennant winner. The honors could have gone to Stan Musial or Enos Slaughter, if the Cards had won, or even to Ralph Kiner. But you have to go for Robinson on his hitting victory and his startling upsetting speed on the basepaths.

He led the league with 36 stolen bases and was second in hits with 203 and in runs batted in with 124.

Newcombe could have been a 20-game winner if he had been with the Dodgers all season. He didn't get to make his first start until May 22 and still managed a 17 and 8 mark. His fast ball was the talk of rival American leaguers in the all-star game, even though he was tagged as the loser.

Six-feet-four and 235 pounds, the ponderous 27-year-old started 25 games for the Brooks—and went the distance in 21 of them. He broke even with the Cards and Braves, at 2-2, but held an edge on all the other clubs in the circuit, beating Pittsburgh four games to one, Cincinnati three to one, the Giants and Phillies each two games to one, and the Cubs in two without suffering a defeat.

Sing Sing Prisoners Get To Hear Series

OSSING, N. Y., Oct. 4 (INS) — Warden Snyder of Sing Sing prison announced today that all 1,755 prisoners will be excused from work so that they may hear the broadcast of the World Series.

The inmates will gather in the Prison yard to hear the broadcast over amplifiers.

REDS SIGN SCOUT

CINCINNATI, Oct. 4 (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds today signed Ernest Lorbeer of Beaumont, as a scout for the Texas-Oklahoma territory. He succeeded Jack Knott. Lorbeer formerly was a Yankee scout. He also did some scouting for Dallas in the Texas league.

Attendance At Games Hiked

DALLAS, Oct. 4 (AP) — Southern Methodist has jammed 109,000 fans into the Cotton Bowl for two games to shoot Southwest conference football attendance 78,779 ahead of last year at the same period.

A survey of the seven conference members shows that eleven home games have drawn 292,018 compared to 213,239 for nine games at a comparable time last year.

The average for 1948 23,694 per game; for 1949 it is 26,547.

Southern Methodist, playing all its games in the big Cotton Bowl this year, is 86,000 ahead of last year. But at this period in 1948 only one home game had been played—that in the bandbox SMU stadium that seats only 23,000.

Gains Are Shown

Rice- Baylor and Texas A. and M. show gains over last year. A. and M. has drawn 48,280 for two games this season compared to 21,000 for one last year. Baylor is 200 ahead of last year with 12,256. One game had been played in Waco at this time each year.

Rice is 4,000 ahead with 24,000 for one game.

Storm Lashes Texas Coast

leans weather bureau ordered all hurricane warnings down and said "the hurricane has gradually lost force." At that time the storm was centered about 80 miles north of Houston, moving north, northeatward about 15 miles per hour.

Torrential rains, up to nine inches at Beaumont, flattened and beat down the bumper rice crop. President A. H. Boyt of the American Rice Growers association said damage was "heavy." He declined to make a dollars-and-cents estimate.

Damage to the unharvested rice in Jefferson county, Boyt said, ranged from 20 to 70 per cent.

Storms First Target

The hurricane's first target was a coastal strip between Matagorda and Freeport, Tex., studded with industries and about 60 miles south of here.

One person was missing, much of a rich rice crop destroyed, and cotton heavily damaged as the hurricane twisted inland. Rains up to 7.21 inches at Port Arthur, fell throughout the coastal area.

An exact estimate of total damage was impossible immediately. It appeared heaviest damage was to rice and cotton, the area's vast and sprawling industry seemed relatively unhurt.

Walls Save Galveston

Galveston, island city about 50 miles southeast of here, caught the edge of the storm. But its high seawalls saved it from great damage.

Its force diminishing, the hurricane headed toward the Palestine-Lufkin area of East Texas, where it is expected to hit early this afternoon. A vast oil field is in that area but little damage was expected.

The New Orleans weather bureau indicated the hurricane already had lost much of its punch when it hit Houston about 1:30 a. m. (CST) today.

Residents Are Scoffing

The bureau said it had lost its clearly defined "eye"—the center of the storm near which destruction is greatest—when it reached Houston.

This morning many of the city's residents scoffed at the idea that a hurricane had passed in the night. "Lots of wind and lots of rain, but no hurricane," was the verdict of hurricane-wise Houston residents.

The Houston weather bureau wasn't able to get a positive reading on wind velocity. The bureau's instruments were being replaced and were not in a position to measure the storm. The bureau estimated the wind reached 90 miles an hour.

The Texas coast and its more than a million people had prepared for the blow two days. Many residents fled inland, planes were flown to West Texas fields and public shelters were opened.

Take Cover In Houston

About 5,000 took cover in Houston's city auditorium and Sam Houston coliseum.

The New Orleans weather bureau in a 4 a. m. (CST) advisory said that winds should diminish as the hurricane moved inland. But within 25 miles of the center of the hurricane they raged at a speed of 100 miles an hour.

Hurricane warnings may have cheated the big winds of human casualties.

Most towns in its path were buttoned up, many residents had fled to inland cities. Five thousand persons sought shelter in Houston's city auditorium and Sam Houston coliseum.

They were calm ,even cheerful. Many mothers carried babies in arms.

Youth Is Unreported

There was one person reported missing in the storm area. Jimmie Simpson, 21, Palacios, Tex., hasn't been reported since he volunteered to swim to shore from a stalled cabin cruiser in Ba[illegible]gorda bay Sunday. His companions on a fishing trip were towed in by another boat.

Some power lines were down after the first of the hurricane winds smashed industrial rich Houston. But the main blow swept over only the western part of town. Winds in the downtown area reached an estimated top velocity of 65 miles an hour.

The hurricane blasted inland from the coast at a speed of 20 miles an hour and hit Houston from an almost due south direction.

Winds of 73 miles an hour whipped across Galveston's pleasure pier, and an extremely high tide battered Freeport. Water lapped at the top of Galveston's seawall.

Freeport, Galveston, Texas City, Angleton, Alvin and many other smaller towns were in the hurricane's path as it roared in from the Gulf of Mexico toward Houston.

Covered Broad Area

The striking storm covered a broader area than had been expected. The base of its target extended 70 miles southwest from Galveston to Matagorda.

The big winds sent a litter of debris flying into numerous towns and villages. They ripped up small trees, uprooted some flimsy structures and blasted a rich, ripe rice crop.

Few persons ventured into the storm. Streets in Houston and Galveston were rain-swept and deserted.

Some of the towns were barren land when the great destructive hurricanes of other years smashed Texas.

In 1900, a hurricane left Galveston a twisted hulk—at least 5,000 dead and damage estimated at $30,000,000. Another hurricane in 1914—the second Galveston hurricane—smashed inland as far as San Augustine. The death toll here was 275 and damage estimated at $50,000,000.

Rain Accompanies Storm

A hard driving rain accompanied the hurricane. Many streets and underpasses were flooded here. E. A. Farrell, chief of the Houston weather bureau, calculated that the center of the hurricane moved across the east side of Houston—between the municipal airport—ten miles southeast of the city's business district—and the downtown area.

A quick survey at 5 a. m. (CST) at Angleton, Freeport and Alvin showed only slight damage. Few homes were hit.

The crowd of several hundred persons who waited out the blow in the Angleton courthouse early today ctarted returning to their homes.

The giant Dow chemical plant at Freeport rode the hurricane with ease. It is expected to be back in operation later today.

Communications were disrupted between Angleton and Freeport, but the highway was cleared of uprooted small trees and other debris.

Stock Market

STOCK PRICES LIFTED

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP) — Fresh demand streamed into the stock market today, lifting the general price level around the high for the year.

Leading issues — including a couple of steel stocks — advanced fractions to more than a point, some to their best prices for 1949. Business was almost double yesterday, when volume dropped below 1,000,000 shares for the first time in more than two weeks. Turnover was at the rate of around 1,300,000 shares for the full session.

Bidding for radio and television stocks morning.

The steel strike and the tie-up in the coal industry evidently had little affect on price trends.

U. S. Steel moved within a narrow price range, showing a slight gain a good part of the day.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP) — Cotton futures were firm today in active trading, paced by mill demand for contracts. Mills were believed to be protecting raw cotton needs later in the season, particularly on the possibility of a tight situation in free supply early next year as a result of withholding cotton from the loan. So far mills have been able to buy all the spot cotton readily at prices approximating loan levels.

Cotton closed very steady.

Leaders Plan Congress End

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. (AP)—Democratic leaders sought agreement today on a schedule to hurry Congress out of town. House and Senate chieftains arranged to talk over plans at lunch.

One of the leaders, Rep. McCormack (D-Mass), won the cheers of the House yesterday by saying: "I hope we won't be sitting here two weeks from today."

That would mean quitting about October 15.

Appointments Debated

The Senate commerce committee may shove one of them into the Senate's lap by a vote this week on President Truman's re-appointment of Leland Olds to the Federal Power commission.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, Democratic leader, said the Senate will get the other problem next week. This is a move to take the House-approved displaced persons bill away from the judiciary committee for direct Senate action.

Some Republican talk also is expected when the Senate takes up the President's nomination of Judge Sherman Minton as a member of the Supreme court. The appointment was approved by a 9 to 2 vote of the judiciary committee yesterday.

If the displaced persons bill provoked a filibuster, Lucas told a reporter he will try to shut off debate by invoking a rule under which 64 of the Senate's 96 members can stop talk.

HST Will Observe "Invasion" By Air

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—President Truman is brushing up on his military education today. He is flying to Fort Bragg, N. C., for the lesson.

Ready for him there was a review of 20,000 troops of the 82d airborne division and other units. The program of the demonstration included the latest tricks in capturing an "airhead" by the parachuting of men, supplies, and heavy weapons ready for action.

A main purpose of the demonstration was to give the President his first view of operations planned from lessons learned in the last war. The army made extensive preparations to impress the commander-in-chief, whose personal experience as an artillery officer dates back 31 years.

Officials In Party

Mr. Truman's immediate party included Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray and General J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff.

Between inspections and the air demonstration, the President had a date for luncheon at the Officers' club. Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge, commanding general of the Fifth corps, was the host.

The army show was centered on how to provide adequate artillery support for advance or protection until regular ground-transported artillery could fight its way forward to an "airhead," comparable to a beach head.

This was a major problem encountered in the last war. Assigned to show how it has been met were seven C-82 troop-cargo carriers—first to drop four 105-mm howitzers assembled for action and then 150 airborne field artillery men to man them.

The other necessary steps that go into the securing of an "airhead," including a mass drop of a battalion of infantry, were also on the program.

Men Are Listed

In all, about 1,000 men were included for the airborne operation.

The President's arrival at Pope air force base was set for 10 a. m. EST. He will return to Washington tonight.

Besides Secretary Gray and General Collins, those on the presidential travel list included Lt. Gen. Matthews B. Rridgeway, army deputy chief of staff for administration and senior paratroop commander; White House Secretaries Charles G. Ross and Mathew Connelly; Major General Harry H. Vaughan, military aide; Brig. Gen. Robert Landry, air force aide; Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, White House physician; Colonel C. J. Mara, assistant military aide; Lt. Col. Stanley R. Larsen, aide to General Collins; Major R. L. Morgan, aide to Secretary Gray, and David H. Stowe, administrative assistant to Mr. Truman.

Labor Unity

joint action locally.

Unity Is Advocated

Saying that the Democrats won last November because labor and agriculture voted for them, Tobin admonished convention delegates to "keep alive and strengthen the community of interest which manifested itself last year."

"Worker and farmer are both beneficiaries of what our Republican friends are calling 'statism,'" Tobin continued, charging "that is only another slogan intended to damn the party in power without specifying any objection which will stand up."

Yesterday, Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) scored the Taft-Hartley act, declaring "there will be no labor-management peace until this grossly unfair, anti-labor legislation is removed . . . and the economic relationship between labor and management are settled around the conference table."

Treaties Are Hit

In another call for unity Humphrey said "it is the responsibility of the labor movement and of every liberal and Democratic organization to forget personal pride and petty differences and to unite behind candidates and around a program between now and the 'pay dirt' year of 1950."

Sen Malone (R-Nev) yesterday spoke out against reciprocal trade treaties, saying "when we import cheap competitive goods we import unemployment . . .

"If our program to help the world involves weakening America and destroying the standard of living of the American worker, that program is bad for the entire world . . . because without a strong America the world is headed straight for the dogs," he said.

Baruch Plan

civilian defense program.

"We dare not wait until war has begun and bombs are falling to begin to debate what should be done in the control of prices, wages and rent, the elimination of profiteering, the rationing of scarce necessities, priorities, the civilian defense of our cities and other measures we know would have to be taken in event of war." Baruch said.

Baruch said his standby mobilization program was not urged in any "alarmist" sense.

"I urged it before the second World war when it might have prevented Hitler's blitzkrieg," he said. "I urged it before the Soviet 'atomic explosion.' Properly done it could prove our most effective, single deterrent against another war."

Tourists Attracted By Island Of Elba

ISLAND OF ELBA, Oct. 4 (UP) — This diminutive island which still bears the stamp of Napoleon's influence, fast is becoming a tourist resort.

Elba has modest accommodations for visitors. A tourist can get by on 1,200 to 1,800 lire ($2 to $3) a day for room and board in clean and tastefully appointed hotels. Good wines and cuisine are available.

The sea is deep blue enclosed in rocky little bays. There are sandy beaches with clean white sand. Then there are the chestnut forests on the mountains. Mount Capanne on the western side of the island rises 1,000 meters.

During his exile on Elba Napoleon built a network of roads to link the various small towns. The roads are still good enough for cars.

A boat plies twice daily between Piombino and Portoferraio, a 16-mile picturesque sea voyage. The tourist travels first class for 330 lire (50 cents). For 5,000 lire ($8) he can transport his car to the islands.

Texas Man, 79, Aids In Picking Cotton

HILLSBORO, Oct. 4 (UP)—Need for cotton pickers in Hill county became so great that W. B. Hardin, 79-year-old resident of the Huron community, decided to help out.

Hardin goes to the field three hours in the forenoon, rests up, and then returns for three hours in the afternoon. He has averaged picking 98 pounds of cotton daily.

Jail Trusty Slips Out To Postoffice To Get Letter And $100 To Pay Fine

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 4 (UP)—Reynaldo Abrego was a free man today because he slipped out of jail to pick up his mail.

The letter he went to get contained a check which enabled him to pay a fine.

Lack of funds prevented Abrego from paying the $100 fine a few weeks ago when he was arrested on a morals charge. He went to jail and was made a trusty.

Last week he disappeared. He was arrested in Edinburg Saturday on a tip he might stop at the post office.

Brought to Brownsville yesterday, he produced the letter, turned the enclosed check over to authorities and was released.

The Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce youth welfare committee Monday night issued a radio appeal for a campaign to push the total up to the $600 mark.

Jaycees are sponsoring the campaign but have asked that contributions be sent in care of the Avalanche-Journal.

Billie's physicians pointed out that any operation to correct his delicate heart condition will likely be delayed six months to two years after preliminary examinations at the University of Texas Medical School's diagnostic center in Galveston.

Two Lubbock business men have guaranteed the flight to Galveston and expense money for the mother. The Salvation Army has guaranteed hospital bills and announced the child's mother, Mrs. B. A. Williams, can stay in Salavation Army quarters in Galveston only eight blocks from the hospital.

However, Billie's 18-day stay at West Texas hospital through Monday had resulted in a bill of $466.29, which will likely be increased another $50 before he leaves for his trip to Galveston.

Marshal Tito Warns Reds That Yugoslavia Ready For Defense

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 4 (AP)—Premier Marshal Tito accusing Russia of trying to "endanger a small people" has bluntly warned that Yugoslavia is ready to defend itself to the last breath.

In one of his toughest speeches since Yugoslavia's feud with the Soviet bloc began, Tito told his army officers that Russia "has been forging its irons" against its one-time Communist partner.

Aiming At Russia

Unmistakably aiming at Russia, Tito said in a speech made public last night:

"No one has the right, regardless of who he may be, to endanger a small people."

"We are prepared," the Yugoslav chief added, "to defend this country to the last breath, regardless whence the attack comes."

"It pays to live," he added, "but it pays to die as one should."

Tito spoke at the conclusion of Yugoslavia's biggest troop maneuvers this year. Obviously pleased with the showing his soldiers had made, he said he was convinced of the army's ability to defend Yugoslavia.

Then, swinging into an attack on his Cominform neighbors, Tito declared Russia and its satellites "find themselves in a corner" unable to justify their attacks on Yugoslavia.

"Where the Soviet union is in the right," he asserted, "we shall go along with it. If it is not in the right and if its stand is a hypocritical one, we will call that by its right name."

Tito referred to his charges of a week ago that Russia and her followers are "rattling their arms" around Yugoslavia's borders, part of Russia's pressure campaign to oust Tito and his top lieutenants.

As part of this campaign Cominform countries have closed in with virtually complete economic sanctions and have begun to apply diplomatic pressure as well.

Tito spoke to 600 army officers and guests at a time and place which was not disclosed by the information ministry which released his speech.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 4 (UP)—Mrs. Estelle Carter Taylor celebrated her freedom from prison today by making plans to fly to Texas to visit her children.

She was released yesterday after serving two years of a three-year term for contractural larceny. She was convicted of accepting a $500 down payment on a house she allegedly had under a $10 five-day option.

Mrs. Taylor said she has 12 children in Houston. She said she will return to Nashville after her visit to seek a full pardon for herself, to establish a place where girls can go when they leave prison and to finish her autobiography.

Statement Signed

Robert G. and James Burnell Buckley, 23 and 29, of route 3 Gorman, substituted signed statements for oral admissions of several forgeries, it was announced Monday afternoon.

Bond of $1,000 was set for each by C. E. Lynn, justice of peace.

Men Admit Passing Checks

The men, brothers, admitted they had passed forged checks at Lubbock, Snyder, Brownfield, Seagraves, Fort Worth, Breckenridge, Eastland and Cisco. The checks, officials said, ranged from approximately $85 to approximately $120. Approximately $1,700 worth had been accounted for at various banks, the sheriff's department said. It was believed the men had received approximately $2,250 from the forged instruments.

Police too were centering their attention on suspects who may have had such motives.

The truck has a closed body fitted with three doors on each side and one in the rear.

First estimates of merchandise value were given to the police and sheriff's office as from $6,000 to $7,000.

ton, 23, was killed in a rock fall that buried the truck in which he was hauling non-union mined coal. An employe of a strike-bound mine was questioned several hours, then freed.

One fifth of Lewis' miners—80,000 anthracite diggers in eastern Pennsylvania and about 20,000 bitnuminous miners in 10 western states—trooped back to the pits yesterday.

Lewis himself ordered them back since their output— mostly for home heating use—won't hamper contract talks with mine owners.

Additionally, 15,000 non-union miners and 15,000 AFL progressive miners in Illinois are working.

In Utah the situation is tense. Some 4,000 UMW members said they would not return to work—that they'd picket non-union mines, instead.

More Strikes Possible

A few steel mills are operating. Either they came to terms with Murray or they have independent unions.

But more trouble is ahead in the steel picture.

The 500,000 men who take the raw iron and turn it into refrigerators, baby carriages and hairpins are members of Murray's union too. Their contracts begin expiring Oct. 15—and the CIO national president says they, too, will strike if necessary, for free pensions and insurance.

Nothing but bad news comes from industry and business. Moans and Groans accompany mounting reports of losses totalling milions.

Dock workers quit their jobs on the great lakes in support of the steel walkout.

Packard Motor Car company announced a two-day work suspension Thursday and Friday because of steel shortages. Nearly 80,000 will be idle the two days. Afterwards Packard announced, it will set up a curtailed working schedule.

Railroads which depend on steel and coal business are getting ready to lay off more men. Already, they've furloughed 40,000.

The commission has been working on plans for a tremendous expansion in bomb production for the last six months, according to the article in the Tennessean, and now feels that the urgency of the armament race with Russia demands immediate action.

Oak Ridge, Tenn., is expected to bear the brunt of the expansion, the article said, because it is the key bomb production site in the nation.

5,000 Refugees Huddle In Houston Auditorium

HOUSTON, Oct. 4 (U.P.)—Houston's city auditorium looked like a gigantic dormitory early today as 5,000 refugees huddled within its massive walls while a hurricane raged around them.

The auditorium was thrown open to the public as thousands of residents from surrounding towns crowded into the city in fear that the storm might sweep away their homes.

Many From Freeport

Many refugees were from the coastal town of Freeport, 50 miles to the south.

They remembered the big hurricane of 1900 that hurled a giant tidal wave against the shore and killed 6,000 persons in the nearby city of Galveston.

Few people slept as the wind flung rain against the auditorium's windows. Adults stood about in little groups and talked about past storms. Farmers wondered how their crops would come out of the blow. Children made a show of playing together and then gave up to cower against their mothers' skirts.

Just Too Scarey

From time to time, the crying of babies rose above the whispered hubbub of the people as they sat in the auditorium's tiered seats, rested on improvised pallets or sprawled on the bare floor.

Mrs. E. L. McGohey of near Freeport told her new-found friend, Mrs. Veda Vachin, how her husband decided all of sudden to put the three McGohey children in the car and come to Houston.

"It was just too scarey," she said, 'and then we always heard from our folks about that big 1900 hurricane. So here we are."

Nearby, on cots, were the McGohey children. Full of Red Cross milk and doughnuts, they slept fitfully in the hot, stuffy shelter.

Just across the aisle, a week-old baby clung to its mother. The father had decided to stay on the farm to look after the livestock.

Helpers Keep Busy

Registered nurses, volunteer physicians and Red Cross nurses' aides shuffled in an out of the zig-zag floor space.

Ruth Shaw of Houston, a Red Cross worker, had been on duty steadily since early yesterday. This morning she was due to return to her regular job at 6 a. m.

Miss Shaw spent a full day and night preparing formulas for infants, giving aspirin for headaches, comforting the elderly people and massaging sore muscles.

"Now, I'm going home and sleep two hours," she smiled.

Injured Farmer Is Aided By Neighbors

ARLINGTON, Texas, Oce. 4 (U.P.)—The corn was gathered and the fields plowed today on the place of Dick Thomas on the old Alvin Watson farm south of here—thanks to the "good neighbor" policy.

Thomas suffered a broken leg in two places when kicked by a horse. But neighbors came to his aid as farm work mounted. While Thomas lay in bed, neighbors converged on the farm to gather the corn and plow the ground.

Lives "Simple" Life On $1,500 Weekly

Al Jolson, 64, Energetic As A Youngster On A Pogo Stick

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—There is a Broadway saying that Al Jolson didn't invent hokum—he just found a way to put it in the bank.

And at 64 the king of schmaltz is still a young man working overtime to keep the wolf from his door.

His fellow entertainers say, however, this isn't a necessity now—it's a habit. They estimate that nasty old wolf would have to chaw through $4,000,000 to $15,000,000 in greenbacks before he could cross the Jolson threshold.

I dropped in on the timeless mammy singer the other night, and found him still as energetic as a boy on a pogo stick.

"Come in, kid," he said, jaunty.

For the next hour Al kept up a running fire of wisecracks on his past, present and future. "There's one thing about the oldtime entertainers—they put on as good a show for one listener as they do for a packed house.

At the moment Jolson is still collecting from "The Jolson Story" and waiting for the golden harvest from "Jolson Sings Again" to roll in. He's in the spot of a man who can't make any more money by working—because of the tax laws—but he still wants to keep busy. Mr. Whispers has got "Sonny Boy" crying uncle.

"I had to pay a million dollars in taxes last year," he grimaced. "The worst thing is they want you to show receipts and data.

Jolson said he and his wife tried to live a simple life in the San Fernando valley, but it was hard.

"You just can't lead a normal life," he grinned. "You have a butler, a maid, a cook, a place at Palm Springs—and they aren't deducs with the tax boys. And if you drive a jaloppy out there, why they call you names.

SUCCEEDS DESPITE PHYSICAL HANDICAP—The experience of Herschel Collings, above, assistant secretary and auditor of Texas New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches, should be an inspiration to other persons during National Employ the Physically Handicapped week. Herschel Collings Leading Full Life

Lubbock Man Refused To Quit When He Was Struck By Polio

By BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

Consequently he is popular with his friends and fellow workers as they will gladly testify.

Legs Were Paralyzed

On July 7, 1913, Collings, then four years old, was stricken with infantile paralysis. He suffered paralysis of the legs and not until he was six years old did he learn to walk on crutches in a very halting manner.

"I had many a fall and hard knock," he recalls today, "before I acquired the ability to handle myself on crutches."

He learned, though, and overcame the first of many obstacles that stood in his path. Until 1938 he could walk across the room without crutches. Then he suffered a severe knee injury in a fall which left him with no use of his right leg, and some movement of his left leg. Since that time he has been unable to walk without crutches.

Does About Everything

Today Herschel Collings, in addition to holding down a mansized and highly responsible position with Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches, drives his own car, hunts, fishes, carries suitcases and does nearly anything that anybody else does.

As assistant secretary and auditor of the bus company, he has a job that keeps him plenty busy. But he does it well, his co-workers say, and he still has time to devote plenty of effort to the service of his church and community.

"It's very easy to become discouraged," Collings says. "It takes stamina, zeal and determination to push on. Personally, I do not consider himself handicapped."

He Entered College

Collings made up his mind to be an accountant and entered college

Pageant Will Be Highlight

By BILL WARREN
Journal Staff Correspondent

LAMESA, Oct. 4—The Dawson county fair and South Plains horse show will be held here October 12-15, and officials say the four-day event will be the best fair in the country's history.

Lamesa males have been growing beards of varied styles for almost a month in preparation for the yearly celebration which has been held since 1927 except for a wartime lay-off of four years.

Pageant Is Highlight

Attendance at the fair is expected to top 20,000 for the four-day program which will be highlighted by the "Boom Days" pageant, a panoramic history of the pioneer days in this area.

The "Boom Days" spectacle is costumed and directed by Geller Productions of Hollywood, and will include a cast of about 500 local people. The pageant will be presented each night of the fair on a huge, outdoor set being constructed on the playing field at Lobo park.

Walter J. Brough of Hollywood is directing the pageant. Scenes will include the naming of Lamesa as the county seat, the "land rush," "Christmas at the Slaughter Ranch," and other scenes depicting the early days in West Texas.

Queen To Be Named

A "Queen of the South Plains" will be named here October 10, and will be crowned during the pageant. Eight local girls between the ages of 16 and 26 are in a contest for the honor of being named the queen.

The fair officially gets underway at 9 a. m. October 12, but the parade, expected by parade chairman Guy Weeks to be the biggest in the history of the fair here, will begin at 1:30 p. m. on opening day.

First-day activities will include the judging of agriculture, ladies, educational, community exhibits, and the judging of palominos and half-breeds in the horse show.

Performance classes and amateur roping events will be held in the evening at the rodeo arena where admission will be charged.

For Second Day

The second day's schedule will include the judging of performance classes in the horse show and matched roping events at the rodeo arena in the afternoon, and the pageant that night.

The third day's program calls for the judging of dairy cattle, Hereford cattle and swine.

Saturday, the last day of the event, will be taken up with polo games and an Old Fiddler's contest in the afternoon, and the final showing of the pageant in the

THE QUESTION

What was your reaction when you heard that the Russians have the atomic bomb?

THE ANSWERS

ED WRIGHT, Route 7, worker at Ater-Whitwell Lumber Co.: "I think that it is just England's way to get more money. They are just trying to get us to give them money to arm themselves and all those other countries. I think England will keep all the money they can for themselves. I don't think the Russians really have the atomic bomb.

BOOTS CREWS, Whitharral, farmer: "It could be a destructive thing but I doubt it. I haven't really given it much thought. I think it might be propaganda; just trying to make Americans think that they have it. As closely as the atomic bomb has been guarded, I don't see how they could have it."

MISS IVA LEE McBride, 318 Paris Ave., employe of Wharton's Drug: "If we'd quit fussing about it and leave it alone, everything would turn out all right. We're trying to make a mountain out of a mole hill. I don't really think we are in any danger."

MRS. JUANITA HAMILTON, 316 Ave H. druggist at Willis Drug: "I've always thought it was a just a bluff to scare us into giving them our secret. I think they might have something similar to our atomic bomb, but I don't think that they have the real thing."

E. B. DICK, Whitharral, farmer: "I really haven't thought seriously about it. I don't think there's enough to it to be over anxious. I think they are just pulling another nerve war; just trying to get us all upset. I don't think they have the materials to produce large enough quastities to get us excited."

ARVAIL HERRING, 2101 First, laborer: "I try not to think about it. I don't know whether they really have it or not. I don't think that the United States is in any danger even if they do have it.

Levelland Planning Oil Progress Week

LEVELLAND, Oct. 4 (Special) Levellanders will observe "Oil Progress Week" here Oct. 16-22.

Features of the week's observance will include a parade on Monday, Oct. 17, in which high school bands from a number of South Plains towns are to participate; a joint banquet on the evening of Tuesday, Oct. 18, sponsored by the Jaycees, Rotary and Lions clubs of Levelland, at which oil men will be guests; and a series of conducted tours during the week to the Stanolind plant near Sundown.

BIG SPRING, Oct. 4 — They brought Big Spring's past to life last night and told it in a historical pageant that covered 100 years.

Mingling with the celebrants is a life term convict from Tennessee, a man who yesterday stood side by side with the governor of Texas on a parade reviewing stand.

There Are No Barriers

For Frank Grandstaff, on a special furlough from the Tennessee state prison, there are no barriers, no special rules, and no "don'ts" while he is here.

It was Grandstaff's cantata, "Big Spring," a musical history of the town, that Sunday started the big celebraetion. He composed it while in solitary, tapping the time on the wall of a cell.

Sunday he heard his work for the first time—and as he did he cried.

Gov. Allan Shivers, who arranged with Gov. Gordon Browning of Tennessee the furlough which enabled Grandstaff to come here, told him:

Last night Grandstaff became a part of the first 100 years of Big Spring. Before the crowd of 6,000 he played his piano interpretation of a West Texas sandstorm as the "Centurama" drew to a close.

Huge Parade Is Held

Grandstaff's furlough was for six days. He will start back to prison Thursday or Friday, to a life term as a habitual criminal. He was convicted mostly on petty thefts.

Thousands jammed the streets yesterday and watched a gigantic street parade.

Some sought out Grandstaff. One, an elderly woman, said: "I have a son about your age, and I'm going to do for you just what I would do for him if he were in your plight—pray for your freedom.

Grandstaff thanked her. Yesterday, he went shopping for his

"TIME OF CHANGE" FORECAST

Another Cash Crop Looms For Farmer

By OPAL DIXON
Journal Staff Writer

"It is a time of change and if we can be there to meet the demand, the farmers can come up with another cash crop."

That statement was made by one of the men who has worked years in the Texas Agricultural Experiment station system in helping develop grain sorghums suitable for industrial use.

The "time of change" to which he referred finds industry already making starches and other products from grain sorghums, which formerly were used almost exclusively for grain and forage for livestock.

It finds Texas Technological college conducting research on baking qualities of flour milled from grain sorghums and also on nutritive properties of grain sorghums. Research on possible by-products of sorghums also is underway at Harvest Queen Mills at Plainview and at Kansas State College of Agriculture and Applied Science at Manhattan, Kas.

ROSE FESTIVAL QUEEN — Miss Rose Marie Young, blue-eyed brunette, was queen of this year's annual Texas Rose Festival at Tyler. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Young of Tyler and is a native of Smackover, Ark. She has lived in Tyler five years.

Research Continuing

It finds intense research on development of grain sorghums for industrial use continuing in the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station system, under leadership of R. E. Karper, agronomist in charge of sorghum grain investigation in the experiment station system, with headquarters at Lubbock experiment substation. Karper now is in Mexico at request of the Rockefeller foundation to observe about 69 varieties of grain sorghum which were planted there in May and to help the Mexican government work out a program of improvement of sorghum varieties.

The "time of change" finds another important change in the offing—cotton acreage control which is to be voted upon by farmers and which would go into effect Jan. 1. With such acreage control, sorghum production on the South Plains could easily be doubled through use of the released acreage, said Frank Gaines, who has headquarters at Lubbock experiment substation and has worked with Karper about 10 years in helping develop types of grain sorghum suitable for industrial use.

Several Types Available

Gaines, who made the statement that it is a "time of change and if we can be there to meet the demand, the farmers can come up with another cash crop," said several types already are available for industrial use and, "When industry demands it, the farmers will start growing it."

Such varieties are Waxy Sooner Milo, Combine Waxy Kafir and straight combine Kafir. Those varieties have white grain, which is suitable for industrial use. It would not take long to increase the supply to meet a demand for seed if it should develop, said Gaines. By use of planned genetics, the experiment station system has eliminated color in the seed.

"If it works out for domestic use, then the capacity to produce is unlimited in this area," said

Community Chest And Tokyo Kids Compete

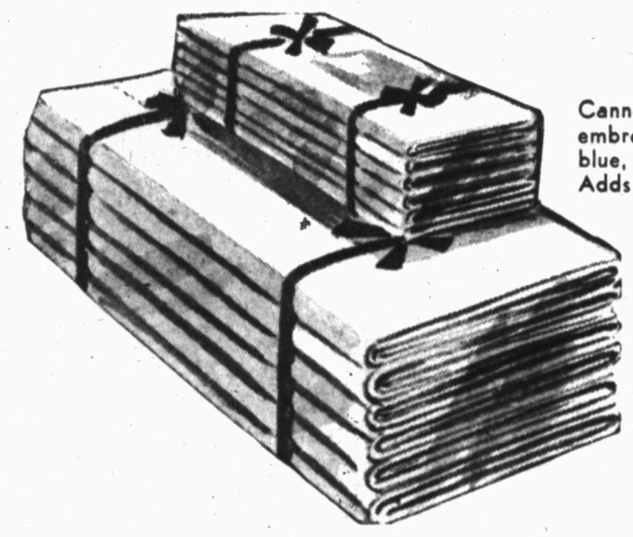

TOKYO, Oct. 4 (AP) — Tokyo's urchins, always eager to make a fast buck, or yen, competed with Community Chest workers today.

Trooping behind fund solicitors, who doled out red feathers to donors, the urchins sold duplicate red feathers for a small fee.

Passengers May Have Confused Bus Driver, Causing Accident

ONTARIO, Calif., Oct. 4. (AP)—The GI bus driver in the tragic railroad crossing crash that took 16 lives was described today as extra cautious and conscientious by one of the survivors.

Meanwhile, an inquest will be held here tomorrow into the deaths of 10 Air Force men, five girls and their chaperone, killed when their bus was demolished by a speeding passenger train.

The death list dropped to 16 yesterday when the coroner's office discovered a duplication. The five other passengers were injured.

Survivors indicated that the bus driver, identified as Corp. Doyle W. Hall, 24, Hobbs Island, Ala., became confused at the crossing as several passengers shouted conflicting directions to him.

Marquita Pearce, one of the survivors, told police that the caution displayed by the GI driver had prompted remarks from the passengers. She added that he had conscientiously stopped at all previous railroad crossings.

Signal Working

Railroad officials said the train was observing all safety regulations and that the wig-wag at the crossing was working.

P. J. Lynch, Union Pacific's vice president in charge of operations, said:

"Our investigation showed that the bus did not stop before proceeding onto the tracks . . . under state law all buses carrying passengers are required to stop before crossing railroad tracks."

Engineer A. A. Hall said he was picking up speed after leaving Ontario, some 30 miles east of Los Angeles, and saw the bus creep toward the crossing but thought it would stop.

Buddy Clark Funeral Services Set Today

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4 (AP) — Final rites will be held today for Buddy Clark, 38, top recording and radio crooner who died Saturday night in the crash-landing of a private plane on a busy midtown boulevard.

The four others aboard the twin-engine Cessna were hurt, including Sam Hayes, well known NBC west coats newscaster who plans to resume his broadcasts tonight.

The party was en route back from the Stanford-Michigan game. Pilot James Hayter, 27, recovering from shock, cuts and bruises, said the plane was running out of fuel.

Others hurt in the crash are Hayes' wife, Sally, 28, and Frank Berend, 56, and Jennings Pierce, 52, both National Broadcasting Co. executives. Pierce, the most seriously hurt, received a skull fracture.

Rabbi Morton Bauman will conduct Clark's funeral services at the Church of the Recessional, Forest Lawn.

Presbyterian Group To Meet At Sherman

The Synod of Texas, Presbyterian church, U. S. will convene at Austin college in Sherman tonight and will continue through Thursday.

Attending from Lubbock are Dr. J. M. Lewis and S. C. Wilson from First Presbyterian church; Rev. Roy L. McCown, jr., from Chapel Presbyterian church; and Rev. David L. Zacharias, Leo C. Hay, and Wyatt Hester from Westminster Presbyterian church.

The meeting is in charge of Dr. William H. Foster, superintendent of the Presbyterian's work.

Rev. W. F. Rogan, director of Presbyterian student work here, is to attend a similar meeting to be held in Denison at the same time.

Episcopal Church Bishops Warned That A Divided Jerusalem Can Mean Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4 (AP)—A half Jewish and half Arab Jerusalem could become a hotbed of smuggling "and a thousand other sordid practices," a spokesman for Palestinian Christians has warned.

The Rev. Walter C. Klien of St. George's cathedral in Jerusalem told the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church that an international Jerusalem would solve that problem.

"An international Jerusalem stabilized from without, will be an economic as well as a political buffer," he said.

The church's house of deputies yesterday refused to amend the 160-year-old constitution which bans women deputies. An amendment, proposing one woman member in the house from each diocese, was defeated, 53¼ to 81¾.

Women Denied Seats

Stroughton Bell of Boston, a lay deputy, started a two-hour debate by declaring: "This is a day when the women are doing magnificent work for the church. They should be admitted to this house."

The Rev. William P. Barnds of Lincoln, Neb., warned, however, that if women were seated in the house the clergy might be replaced ultimately by deaconesses and dowager bishops might head the dioceses.

The Rev. William H. Brady of Alton, Ill., said women in the house of deputies might make the church "a place for old women and plush-bottomed acolytes."

Four women, who had been elected as deputies, were denied seats last week.

England's Laborites Quell Election Talk

LONDON, Oct. 4 (AP) — The Laborite Daily Herald threw cold water today on talk of a close-at-hand British general election—but conceded changing political conditions might bring a nearly vote.

Ernest Jay, political correspondent of the labor party's organ, wrote:

"On the known facts and circumstances of the situation, both home and international, there will be no general election this year."

But Jay added that "unforeseeable circumstances" might arise which would make an early election desirable.

The labor government's full term does not end until next July though the government can call a general election at any time.

Talk has been current in England recently that labor might call such a "snap" election soon, hoping to secure another term before rising commodity prices—expected in the wake of currency devaluation—could turn the voters against the ruling party.

Jay declared the chief argument against an election this fall was that two important measures now going through Parliament would be lost, at least temporarily. These are the bill to nationalize the steel industry and another reducing the power of the House of Lords to delay legislation from two years to one.

GOP PROTESTS DEMO METHOD

Expansion Of Social Security Comes Up For House Debate

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP) — The administration bill for expanding the social security program came up for House debate today, and possible passage before the end of the week.

Republicans who want to make changes protested vigorously—not at the bill but at the fact that it was presented on a "this-or-nothing" basis.

The GOP lawmakers proposed a substitute resembling the administration bill in many respects, but calling for a slower boost in payroll taxes. They can call for a vote on their substitute even with a no-amendments rule.

Labor Demands Involved

Under the administration measure the government would levy higher taxes on payrolls to remove more of the financial hazards of old age, hard luck and death. The bill would extend social security to 11,000,000 more workers, making the total 46,000,000.

The ways and means committee, in presenting the bill, voiced hope it might soften labor's demands for special pension plans financed wholly by employers. In the federal insurance program the costs are shared equally by workers and their employers.

Administraetion leaders freely predicted victory for the bill by a comfortable House margin. But a sizzling fight was promised right at the start. Further, the Senate has no plans to act on it until next year.

Procedure To Be Fought

The rules committee, on a 5 to 4 party line vote, yesterday cleared the bill for consideration in the House under a rule barring presentation of any amendments.

Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts announced he would lead a battle to revise this procedure and open the bill for amendments.

If that happens, the House also might find itself in a rough and tumble fight over the Townsend old age pension plan.

Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts called a mass meeting of all House Democrats in a move to line up power for the administraetion measure as it stands.

1. Increase the 35,000,000 workers now covered by old age and survivors insurance by 11,000,000—including self-employed persons, employes of state and local governments, (if these governments want their employes to participate), domestic servants, employes of non profit institutions, and several smaller groups. Farmers and farm workers would not be covered.

Benefits Increased

2. Increase old age benefits by an average of 70 to 80 per cent.

3. Create a new insurance for persons who become totally and permanently disabled.

4. Boost the payroll taxes—assuming the national income remains about the same—from the present $1,800,000,000 a year to about $2,700,000,000 next year, and $3,600,000,000 in 1951. There would be other increases in 1965 and 1970.

The Republican bill provides for the same increase in 1950 and 1951, but would delay further increases until 1970 and 1980.

It also would delete the provision for disability insurance. The Republicans argue that such disabled persons can be aided through the public assistance program, in which the federal government and the states share the cost of direct relief payments.

Gaines.

About 90 per cent of the sorghum investigation now is centered on adapting shallu grain characters to double dwarf commercial combine types.

Products Are Exported

Illustrating the need for the white grain varieties is the fact that the Corn Products Refining Co., at Corpus Christi, which has pioneered in the field of grain sorghum processing, exported three million pounds cargo of starch in July of this year to the Far East. The starch was not pure white, such as American housewives are accustomed to.

Principal products the company at Corpus Christi plans to produce are dextrose sugar, dextrin, syrups, salad and cooking oils and gluten feeds for livestock. The first unit of the plant is to process 6,000,000 bushels of grain sorghum annually and a similar unit is contemplated.

Although a definite start in taking Texas grain sorghums into industrial channels, the plant would utilize only a small proportion of the grain already produced in the state.

Production Is High

Based on eight-year figures, an average of 4,062,000 acres was planted annually in Texas and 70,892,000 bushels were produced annually, representing 62 per cent of the national average. In 1948, 4,713,000 acres in Texas were planted in grain sorghums and the production was 77,764,000 bushels, representing 60.5 per cent of the national average.

A "go signal" from industry in the form of increased demands is necessary before farmers will find it practical to plant large quantities of grain sorghums.

An important phase of developments in recent years has been found not only in development of white varieties but in development of combine varieties, as described by Karper in a story on "The Rise of Combine Sorghums" appearing in "Crops and Soils," published by the American Society of Agronomy, in February of this year and later reported by the American Society of Agronomy.

Labor Requirements

"Labor requirements in harvesting have been the bottleneck in increasing acreage and production," Karper wrote. "The grain sorghum — kafir, milo, hegari — were not adapted to mechanical harvesting but were formerly harvested with a row-binder and threshed out of the bundle. Often they were hand-headed from the standing stalks with a pocket knife, ahead at a time, and at the rate of an acre or two a day.

"Such a paradox," he continued, "became a glaring challenge to plant breeders and to farmers during the labor shortages and speed-up of the early war years. Combine harvesting types became a necessity, and a revolution in Great Plains agriculture was in the making.

"As late as Pearl Harbor, considerably less than 10 per cent of the grain sorghum crop consisted of combine varieties. By the time the war ended, 85 to 90 per cent of the sorghum crop was of this type, and the mechanization of grain sorghum harvesting was an accomplished fact.

"Corn and wheat, in short supply because of large exports, began to be supplemented by sorghum grain. A high demand for the sorghum grain developed, not only for livestock feed but for industrial uses in starch and alcohol manufacture and in distilleries. Solution of the harvesting problem through plant breeding and rapid distribution of disease resistant, dwarf combine-harvesting varieties enabled production to more than double. In 1944, the nation produced over 180 million bushels, much of which entered commercial grain channels to substitute for grain cereals." Karper outlined the development of combine varieties.

During the war, General Foods corporation turned to waxy endosperm grain sorghum as the new material for manufacture of "Minute Tapioca," he said.

Industrial demand due to the war has practically disappeared, and grain sorghum now stands on its own merits in progress in the industrial field, without scarcities in corn and wheat to give it a boost.

during the depresston. He worked on a ranch, driving a car, riding horses, milking cows, dipping sheep, and generally doing a full day's work during his first year at school. Later, when he had proved himself, the college wanted him for an office job.

A Lubbock resident since March 15, 1937, he has worked for the bus firm since Jan. 15, 1938.

"A person has to develop a courteous, helpful, friendly attitude toward all the employes to get along," he comments. "The main thing is to have a lot of determination, zeal and will power. If a man has that he can drive himself to accomplish what he wishes. I think a person goes just as far as he wants to if he has the minimum of ability to do so.

Friends Must Help

"A person has to live a straightforward, clean life. And he can't accomplish everything by himself. His friends have to help him.

"Another thing that helps is to do for yourself until you can't do. Then, if someone helps you, be ready to thank him."

Collings mentions two mottoes that have stood him in good stead. One is: "If a job is worth doing, it's worth doing right." The other: "If you do not succeed at first, try, try again."

A physically handicapped person must stay in number one condition, Collings points out.

And for those who employ or work with physically handicapped persons, he offers this word: Make them do for themselves, don't help them.

Collings has two brothers who were disabled in the service. Each of them holds a good job and gets along well.

He is a member of the board of stewards and auditor for the First Methodist church. A man who never seems too busy for a friendly word, he can frequently be seen greeting bus passengers or exchanging pleasantries with an elderly person.

TOUGH LIFE FOR BEES

LINCOLN, Neb. (U.P.) — Bees in Nebraska have had a hard year of it. State-federal agricultural statisticians said the unusually severe winter resulted in a loss of 52 per cent of the colonies on hand last fall. The bees could not leave the hives for water and many starved.

A rolling mill that rolled iron into desired shapes was patented by Henry Cort of England in 1783.

LUCAS WARNS OF HIGH GUARANTEES

Senators Debating Extent Of Supports For Farm Products

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP) — Senator Young (R-ND) pushed a drive in the Senate today to jack up the level of government price props proposed for cotton, wheat and other basic crops in a compromise farm bill.

The schedule administration leaders set up called for action on the legislation before nightfall.

Young said the nation will be headed for another depression unless the government assures farmers a fair price for their products.

Senator Lucas, of Illinois, the Democratic leader, and others advised against trying to overdo government guarantees of farm prices. Lucas said that if support levels are set too high, the whole program may collapse and hurt farmers seriously.

High Supports Asked

The compromise bill was worked out by Senator Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture. It provides for a sliding scale of price supports, varying with supply. They would range from 75 to 90 per cent of parity for most basic crops. Parity is a price intended to give farmers a fair return on what they grow in terms of what they have to buy.

Young urged adoption of an amendment offered by himself and Senator Russell (D-Ga) to peg support prices for six basic crops—wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, rice and peanuts — at 90 per cent of parity if they are under such production controls as acreage allotments or marketing quotas.

Lucas predicted the amendment would be defeated. He likened it to the House-passed bill and said "we have to beat it."

The House bill would continue for another year the rigid wartime level of price supports — 90 per cent of parity for most major crops.

Brannan Plan Considered

Anderson's measure is a compromise between that and the Aiken law, which Congress passed last year to take effect on Jan. 1, 1950. The Aiken law provides for price supports ranging from 60 to 90 per cent of parity.

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla), chairman of the Senate agriculture committee, said that right now he is not sure whether he will offer the Brannan plan as a substitute for the Anderson bill.

The plan was proposed by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and Thomas has had some kind words for it. It would let prices of perishable products drop to the open market level. Then the government would pay producers a direct subsidy to make up the difference between the price they received and a predetermined fair price.

Surpluses Excluded

The Senate yesterday amended the Anderson bill to provide that the secretary of agriculture, in determining the normal supply of a crop, shall exclude any surpluses which the government has to dispose of at a loss.

Lucas, who won on this, said the effect would be to reduce support levels for peanuts and other commodities for which such surpluses have been taken into account in fixing the normal supply.

It is not realistic, he said, to include amounts of farm crops that have to be dumped at a loss.

The Senate also adopted an amendment adding honey to the nonbasic commodities to be supported at 60 to 90 per cent of parity. Still another approved change directs that broilers must be included in any price supports provided by the secretary of agriculture for other poultry products.

Russia May Play Host To UN General Assembly During '53

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—The New York Times said today Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky has suggested Russia play host to the United Nations general assembly in 1953.

The Times said the suggestion was made at a dinner Friday at Soviet delegation headquarters here, after Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, president of the current session, had asked Vishinsky whether the 1950 assembly could convene in Moscow.

Other Sites Suggested

Vishinsky pondered a moment, the Times said, then suggested 1955. The Times added:

"Secretary General Trygve Lie, sitting close by, heard the reply that so many delegates have hoped to hear from the aloof Russians, and he quickly cut in to ask Mr. Vishinsky why not earlier than 1955.

"Again Mr. Vishinsky pondered, and finally he said 1953 was all right."

All week the delegates have been talking about temporarily shifting the scene of operations out of the U. S. It has been suggested that the 1950 session be held in Paris, Mexico City, Edinburgh, or some other city yet to be entered in te still-unofficial bidding.

The Moscow suggestion is certain to plunge the delegates into discussions on the whole subject of rotating the annual assembly sessions from time to time.

The Times said:

"The Soviet development was regarded with special interest for once the subject was opened it was Mr. Lie who pressed for an early meeting in Moscow. The secretary general usually has opposed any shift from New York on the grounds of efficiency and economy, but it was assumed that Mr. Lie would abandon his stand if it meant any lessening of the east-west suspicions, as, indeed, a Moscow meeting would be interpreted generally to mean."

Others To Follow

Pendergraft's plane was to drop dummy bombs on the bombing range near Midland shortly after 7:30 a. m. (CST). His craft was due over Phoenix at 10 a. m. (CST). He was due over San Francisco at 3:25 p. m. and at Sacramento at 4 p. m.

The other planes will follow closely behind Pendergraft's lead.

B-36s and B-50s of other groups will follow similar courses tomorrow.

Negro Actor Facing 18 Months In Prison

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Oct. 4 (AP) —A federal judge sentenced negro actor Rex Ingram to 18 months in prison yesterday on a Mann act charge involving a 15-year-old white girl.

Ingram was charged with transporting 15-year-old Jeannette Anna Hughes of Salina, Kas., to New York City for immoral purposes.

The 54-year-old actor pleaded guilty last May to that charge and also to one of sending a lewd letter through the mails to the girl.

Sentencing of the actor, who portrayed "De Lawd" in the movie, "The Green Pastures," had been delayed to give him time to get his business affairs in order.

Judge Arthur J. Mellott sentenced Ingram.

"Hey, Pop," hollered the 12-year-old busy at his homework, "what was the Mayflower?"

ONE OF the local preachers went to town the other Sunday in an old fashioned, arm-waving sermon about hell fire and damnation.

He had been bearing down on the devil for some minutes, picturing that individual as wearing horns, having cloven hooves and breathing fire and brimstone.

A six-year-old girl, her eyes as big as saucers, had been listening intently. All of a sudden, she punched her father in the ribs.

"Daddy," she whispered, "Daddy! What'll we do if he gets loose?"

SEVERAL weeks ago, when Gen. Bob Smith, president of Pioneer Air Lines, was in Lubbock, he wowed some of his friends here by reading to them an essay entitled, "How To Guess Your Age."

We remembered it well, having printed it here some years ago. General Smith got his copy from a friend in Houston and we note from perusing other newspapers that the humorous bit is popping back into publication—as well it should.

Wes Izzard printed "How To Guess Your Age" in his column of the Amarillo News, getting his copy from Dr. D. M. Wiggins, of Texas Tech. Ed Pooley, of the El Paso Herald-Post, also has used it—securing his copy from a friend named Walker Stone, who lives in Washington.

Since the darn thing is so good—and so true in the eyes of gentlemen of certain (or uncertain) age—we think it will be well received here, even if it did appear in this department a number of years ago.

So we give it to you now.

"It seems to me that they are building staircases steeper than they used to. The risers are higher, or there are more of them, or something. Maybe this is because it is so much farther today from the first floor to the second floor, but I've noticed it is getting harder to make two steps at a time any more. Nowadays it is all I can do to make one step at a time.

"Another thing I've noticed is the small print they're using lately. Newspapers are getting farther and farther away when I hold them, and I have to squint to make them out. The other day I had to back halfway out of a telephone booth in order to read the numbers on the coin box. It is obviously ridiculous to suggest that a person my age needs glasses, but the only other way I can find out what's going on is to have somebody read aloud to me, and that's not too satisfactory because people speak in such low voice these days that I can't hear them very well.

"EVERYTHING is farther than it used to be. It's twice the distance and they've added a fair-sized hill from my home to the station now, that I have never noticed before. The train leaves sooner too. I've given up running for them, because they start faster these days when I try to catch them.

"You can't depend on time tables any more, and it's no use asking the conductor. I ask him a dozen times a trip if the next station is where I get off, and he always says it isn't. How can you trust a conductor like that? Usually I gather up my bundles and put on my hat and coat and stand in the aisle for a couple of stops away, just to make sure I don't go past my destination. Sometimes I make doubly sure by getting off at the station ahead.

"A lot of things are different lately. Barbers no longer hold up the mirror behind me when they've finished so I can see the back of my head, and my wife has been taking care of the tickets lately when we go to the theater. They don't put the same material into clothes any more, either. I've noticed that all my suits have a tendency to shrink, especially in certain places such as around the waist or in the seat of the pants, and the laces they put in shoes nowadays are much harder to reach.

"Even the weather is changing. It's getting colder in the winter, and the summers are hotter than they used to be. I'd go away, if it wasn't so far. Snow is heavier when I try to shovel it, and I have to put on rubbers whenever I go out, because rain today is wetter than we used to get. Drafts are more severe too; it must be the way they build windows now.

"People are changing too. For one thing, they're younger than they used to be when I was their age. I went back recently to an alumni reunion at the college I graduated from in 1943—that is, 1933—I mean 1923— and I was shocked to see the mere tots they're admitting as students these days. The average age of the freshman class couldn't have been more than seven. They seem to be more polite than in my time, though several undergraduates called me "Sir" and one of them asked me if he could help me across the street. On the other hand, people of my own age are so much older than I am. I realize that my generation is approaching middle age (I define middle age roughly as the period between 21 and 110) but there is no excuse for my classmates tottering into a state of advanced senility. I ran into my old roommate at the bar, and he's changed so much that he didn't recognize me.

"'YOU'VE put on a little weight, George,' I said. 'It's this modern food,' George said. 'It seems to be more fattening.'

"'How about another Martini?' I said. 'Have you noticed how much weaker the Martinis are these days?'

"'Everything is different' said George. 'Even the food you get. It's more fattening.'

"'How long since I've seen you, George?' I said. 'Must be several years.'

"George thought a moment. 'Coolidge' he said.

"I ordered a couple more Martinis. 'Have you noticed these Martins are weaker than they used to be?' George said. 'Remember when we'd go down to the speak and order some orange blossoms, and maybe pick up a couple of flappers? Boy, could they neck. Hot ziggety!' I said.

"'It isn't like the good old days.'

"You used to be quite a cake-eater, George,' I said. 'Do you still do the Black Bottom?'

"'I know'. I said. 'You mentioned that just a minute ago.'

"'How about another Martini?' I said. 'Have you noticed the Martinis aren't as strong as they used to be?'

"'Yeah', said George. 'You said that twice before.' 'Oh,' I said . . .

"I got to thinking about poor old George while I was shaving this morning. I stopped for a moment and looked at my own reflection in the mirror. They don't seem to use the same kind of glass in mirrors any more."

WE can think of about 50 guys in our particular age group who have been experiencing situations similar to those encountered in the meeting between "George" and his old college friend.

Come to think of it, we see one of them in the mirror every morning when we shave!

BY DREW PEARSON: DEATH OF RAY WAKEFIELD WAS TRAGIC END FOR PUBLIC SERVANT

Woman Lawyer Champions Reappointment Of Olds

WASHINGTON—Ray Wakefield, who had served his country long and faithfully, was found in the bathtub the other day with his wrists slashed. His death, shortly thereafter, did not provoke the same storm that followed the suicide of another high public official last spring, but it should not pass unnoticed.

PEARSON

Ray Wakefield was a Republican who had made a career of government. Beginning as a California district attorney, then as a California railroad commissioner, he worked his way up to be a Federal Communications commissioner. Most of his adult life he spent serving his government, and both Democrats and Republicans testified that he served it well.

When his term expired on the Federal Communications commission in 1947, both Republican and Democratic senators, together with the Democratic FCC chairman, recommended him for reappointment.

And he was reappointed. This particular post of the FCC had to be filled by a Republican, and Truman sent Wakefield's name up to the Senate.

Then, one day after President Truman made a speech at Princeton, June, 1947, urging young men to make a career of government service, he suddenly withdrew Wakefield's name from the Senate.

"There is a critical shortage of such men," the President had told the Princeton graduates referring to government servants. Then he went back to Washington and killed the appointment of a man who had spent 25 faithful years in government service.

• • •

Stepped On Toes

Wakefield, just before his appointment was withdrawn, had issued a report which saved the American public $2,500,000 a year in radio and telegraph rates. Because of this and his consistent championship of lower rates for the public, the big radio and communications companies didn't like him. On top of this he had ruled against giving a radio station to Speaker Sam Rayburn's nephew at Houston, Texas. Finally, Senator Bricker of Ohio, who sought a radio station at Columbus, O., wanted his friend, Congressman Robert Jones of Ohio, appointed in Wakefield's place.

Jones had been elected with the support of Gerald L. K. Smith and other isolationist groups, once had belonged to the Black Legion. But Wakefield's name was withdrawn and Jones was appointed in his place.

To one who had dedicated his life to government service, who had raised a family on a skimpy government salary, and who had tried to defend the public's interest, naturally this was pretty hard for Ray Wakefield to take. At first he figured he might practice law, then went abroad on a makeshift radio assignment. But he couldn't sleep at night and he kept looking back at all those 25 years spent trying to work his way up from a young deputy district attorney in Fresno, Calif., then as a tax appraiser, then on to Washington—always working for the public.

And so, with no one particularly left to work for, Ray passed away last week. He was taken to no government hospital. His funeral will not be held in state. But his death will be mourned by many little people who knew Ray Wakefield as a friend of man.

PETITE Anne Alpern, noted city solicitor of Pittsburgh, Pa., gove senators on the interstate commerce committee a piece of her nimble mind the ither day.

Testifying on the stymied reappointment of Leland Olds, liberal federal power commissioner, the lady lawyer from Pittsburgh asked, in effect, whether the committee was taking orders from the American people or from the private gas-and-oil lobby which is so vehemently fighting Olds' confirmation.

The big gas companies, Miss Alpern asserted, were against Olds because he opposed legislation exempting them from federal rate regulation.

"I'm not concerned about the fate of one man," testified Miss Alpern, "but I am concerned about the fate of American consumers. We cannot afford to jettison men like Leland Olds who have devoted their careers to protecting consumers.

In the very middle of a sentence Sen. Lyndon "lying-down" Johnson of Texas, elected by those who opposed Pappy O'Daniel but who has been veering over to pappy's big oil-and-gas voting record, pulled a stop watch on the lady, informed her that her time was up.

"I wasn't expecting to share my time with members of the committee, who have asked me so many questions," replied Miss Alpern, and was given a few more words.

Note—Olds is another public servant who, like Wakefield, has not been afraid to buck te big interests in favor of his fellow men.

Frenchman Over Niagara

When French Foreign Minister Schuman was here for consultations with Secretary Acheson and Foreign Minister Bevin, he took a one-day trip to Canada to attend a religious ceremony.

Traveling in a plane put at his disposal by the U. S. government, Schumann was engrossed in seeing the marvels of Niagara Falls from the air.

Just at that moment, his secretary recalled that she had failed to hand M. Schumann some personal mail which had been forwarded from Paris. She put three letters in his hand.

Schumann, who was formerly finance minister of France, had helped revise the French tax structure. But over Niagara Falls, he wasn't interested in taxes.

"I should think they could have kept this until I got home!" he exclaimed, tossing the first letter into the lap of a companion.

SEN. Wayne Morse of Oregon, confined to a wheel chair with a wrenched back, got bored with his hospital and ordered that he be wheeled into the Senate each day—to keep on the job. At the sight of Morse in his wheel chair, fellow Republican Karl Mundt of South Dakota cracked: "I don't mind you voting like FDR, but you don't have to start coming around in a wheel chair, too." . . . A wild canary, seeking refuge from the chilly winds, somehow slipped past the guards the other day into the restricted area of the capitol building. Last seen, the canary was perched magnificently on an expensive chandelier outside Vice President Barkley's office. (Or perhaps it was a lovebird.)

"Little Men" Of Nations Hit By Devaluation Of Currency

MEMOS to the Editors — Last year this reporter was heckled (in Collier's) for saying in 1946: "Here it comes, the most devastating of all notes on inflation: The price of gold is expected to be pegged at $52 an ounce." Since world markets have been at the $55.000 level, a move to $52.00 would be a recognization of open market conditions . . . U. S. $20.000 gold pieces sold at $60.00 recently in Paris. Nine out of every ten people will be quick to say, as they were of gold or altering the gold certainly), that changing the price of gold or altering the gold content of the U. S. dollar does not affect them. . . In 1933 almost everyone (except students of free gold markets and currency) asserted their paper dollar, devalued to $0.59, purchased just as much as it always did.

For 650 years the price of gold has gone steadily upward. When local chieftains, feudal barons or countries incurred more debt than the productivity of the land would support they called in their hard money, chipped a piece off and returned the devalued coin to circulation. . . Devaluing the currency and raising the price of gold has long been the most expedient way of cancelling off excessive spending . . . At first glance the operation appears to be so painless that the vast majority of the people have no immediate concern. In 1933 currency in circulation in the U. S. exceeded gold on hand to a degree that there was only $0.85 in gold to meet each dollar of currency outstanding. . . . Since they were interchangeable, the public could call on more gold than the banks had available. . . A national bank holiday was the immediate expedient.

• • •

WORLD currencies were collapsing around us, and devaluation of the U. S. dollar was resorted to by the method of calling in all legal tender exchangeable for gold, calling in all gold and raising its price gradually from $20.67 per ounce to $35.000. The U. S. dollar was correspondingly depreciated to $0.59. In order to understand the relationship of gold and worldly goods it must be understood that hard money—gold, silver and precious jewels—are the only mediums of exchange for goods and services that a large part of the world population understands . . . It is only by accident of birth that we happen to be born in a portion of the world (northern U. S.) that has not suffered from total destruction of its currency.

• • •

Gold is the measuring stick, inch, foot, pound or quart, if you will, which has been accepted throughout the world as a symbol of a given quantity of grain, labor or worldly goods. . . When this equilibrium is disturbed by the arbitrary action of devaluation—which in reality changes the measuring stick—unbalance is created. At the time the change is made there is very little perceptible disturbance, except in foreign exchange. The dollars in your pocket, in the bank or in your endowment policy, your dividends, salary or fixed income have the same purchasing power they had the day before devaluation. BUT the balance has been distrubed; the supply of gold and goods are reasonably the same, but the measurement unit has been changed without actually altering the amount of gold. . . . Economic laws work slowly but with deadly certainty. . . Eventually that balance must be restored. . . There may be wars, famines and overproduction during the readjustment period, but eventually the increase in the price of gold and the devaluation of the dollar will be reflected in the price of the things you buy.

• • •

THE dollar, which in 1933 appeared to have the same purchasing power, now buys about one-half of what it did then. . . The cost of living index stands at 164%, compared with prewar years (1939), and devaluation was 41% . . . This is more than happenstance; it is the return to balance from a change in the measuring unit madein 1933. . . It is now quite evident that those who suffer are those who put aside for the rainy day. . . But those who saved and those who depend on fixed return are in the minority and not politically vocal, hence devaluation still remains the most expedient method of paying off excessive spending.

• • •

The little man in the street who has worked and saved through two wars is truly the forgotten man when nations resort to devaluation to bolster a declining economy or excessive spending. . . His purchasing power is diminishing, and time does not allow for a new start in life . . . His cries for relief are unheard above the demands of labor, who sell their services for cash, and the wealthy, who enjoy mobility of action even in a rapidly changing economy.

Okay, Gentlemen, When Do We Sign . . .

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

FIRST they protest; then they accept; and finally they expect.

That's the way a woman executive 10 years ago summed up the attitude of husbands whose wives were determined to hold onto their jobs after marriage.

Ten years ago she was right. That was the pattern then.

MILLETT

But the pattern has changed in 10 years. The first change came when men gradually stopped protesting. If their wives wanted to work it was okay by them. Why protest when so many wives were working, and it was no longer any reflection on a husband's ability to earn a living unaided?

By that time women had done a good job of selling men on the idea that a capable, clever girl used to holding down a job and earning a pay check would be miserable sitting around a house or small apartment all day waiting for her breadwinner to come home to dinner.

• • •

TODAY, a lot of young men have skipped both the preliminary stages toward expecting their wives to work. They just start out expecting it, even before they are married.

When they start talking to a girl about marriage they just assume that it will be managed on two pay checks, rather than on one.

And if women should some day decide they don't like it, they've only themselves to blame. After all, it was their idea in the beginning. They had to sell the men on the idea, and they did it over loud protests.

It only took 10 years to get men to the place where they expect their wives to work. But it will take a whole lot longer to get them back to protesting again.

Journal Jabs

FROM an unreliable source comes the report that 182 men who had seen the California girl driving in the nude were asked what kind of car she was driving, and only one of them knew—and he was 97 years old.

"Try And Stop Me"

COMEDIAN Morey Amsterdam once had a radio job for Smith Brothers' Ice Cream, but lost it when he announced, "This is the only ice cream with a beard. It comes in three delicious flavors: vanilla, chocolate, and moustacho." Another contract with a famous soap company went a-glimmering when he quippel. "I don't know why we keep advertising B. O. Who wants it?"

He still appears on so many programs, however, that Fred Allen remarked "The only thing I can turn on in my house without getting Morey Amsterdam is the water faucet."

A HEALTH SURVEY TO SUPPORT

Every civic-conscious resident of Lubbock should, and doubtless will, cooperate in the effort to make as thorough as possible the X-ray survey scheduled here later this month by a mobile unit of the State Health department. The Lubbock County Tuberculosis association and civic organizations of Lubbock will be the sponsors.

Without attempting details here, the survey will involve X-ray examinations of several thousand persons, mostly school children. The purpose will be to try to detect incipient cases of tuberculosis and to identify those who are in a condition of health which might make them peculiarly susceptible to the contractions of the disease.

Everyone doubtless appreciates the importance of discovering tuberculosis in the earliest possible stages or, still better, of preventing it entirely. Tuberculosis usually can be prevented or cured if the susceptibility or sickness is discovered in time. The approaching survey will contribute toward these ends and almost certainly will pay dividends in terms of healthier people and longer lives.

Night Club Tussle, Marriage Plans Of Royalty "Top News"

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—This has been a week of tremendous significance, not one to be lightly passed or easily forgotten. It began auspiciously, I thought, when Humphrey Bogart, slightly jubilant, wandered into El Morocco, bearing a toy panda, and accompanied by a gentleman friend who also carried a toy panda in lieu of female escort.

RUARK

Somewhere, somehow, civil liberties got twisted up into this one, and the right of a man to escort a panda was challenged. Two models—they are always described as models, beautiful models, laid violent hands on Bogey's panda, and there was a fine, New York-type ginmill confusion. The beautiful models, suitably attired in bruises, showed up next day with a lawsuit, and the companion of one, described as socialite John Jelke, the thrice, gained undying immortality in the prints. His handsome photo carried the descriptive passage: "almost mixed with Humphrey."

This places a fresh classification on bravery. When a man "almost mixes" with a celebrated tough guy, that is almost as brave as sneering at Joe Louis from a ringside pew. It stands somewhere between cowardly flight and open hostility. I intend to practice it myself, in future. There is literally a score of fellows I intend to almost mix with.

Plans For Marriage

As if the week were not already rich enough in excitement, we had the tidings that dear David, the Marquess of Milford Haven, had chosen as his bride an American divorcee name of Simpson, which just seemed too unutterably chic to be borne by us commoners. I am pleased that the royal family reversed precedent by blassing the union of the Marquess and the newest Mrs. Simpson, and I am also enchanted by the idea that El Morocco, having lost a customer in Mr. Bogart, gains a new one in Mrs. Simpson. I guess Mrs. Simpson is probably the only glamor lady in New York who has not been to Morocco in company with the Marquess, who sells stoves and writes of the fallibilities of American living.

My international wires being fouled momentarily, I cannot know whether the British uppercrust reaction to the pound's devaluation has fetched forth a rash of democratic activity, but the Earl of Harewood, who stands 11th in line to the throne, solidified himself with the masses by taking to wife a 22-year-old commoner named Marion Stein. Apart from my natural horror at decreasing the indigo content of the royal blood, I was appalled to learn that the bride's parents lived in a three-floor walkup. It seems to me that if socialism goes on much longer, the empah has had it.

IT was, even on this side of the water, a shattering seven days. Lila Leeds, the charming girl who went to jail with Robert Mitchum for smoking marijuana, seems inclined to sing, out on the coast, as the result of some sort of inquiry into the hotsy-totsy night life there. I just sit here and shudder over a baleful comment of Hedda Hopper, to the effect that "if Lila Leeds spills all she knows, it will drag in the name of a very prominent and beloved Hollywood man who's already paid more than $100,000 in blackmail." You worry about the atom, junior, I got enough to sweat out already.

Well, little Rae Scarborough gave it to the Boston Red Sox very good, for the second straight year. Little Rae, playing for the worst ball team in the majors, maybe even the minors, beat the Bostons ars the Yanks were winning, and perpetuated his legend as a giant-killer. It was Rae who knocked the Sox out of the pennant last year this time with the same sort of victory, and I guess the only way the Red Sox can handle him is to buy him.

Truman In Missouri

There was some muttering around, which I didn't catch, about steel and coal strikes and the Ford pension plan, and I do believe Mr. Truman flew to Missouri again to attend a Masonic meeting and a political shindig. There was some incoherent stuff about raising the pay of the cabinet ministers and some deputies tossed some gas grenades at some pickets somewhere, but not much of it rubbed off.

They keep mumbling about the Reds and the A-bomb and there was something, I disremember what, about Tito and Stalin calling off their lovely friendship, but it all got overshadowed by DiMaggia's return to semi-health. I tell you, this last one was a real rough week.

Today's Thought

That we may remember and do all my commandments, and be holy unto your God.—Numbers 15:40.

Remember that holiness is not the way to Christ, but Christ is the way to holiness.—Aughey.

SOVIET RECOGNIZES CHINA REDS

Russia Accused Of Trying To Turn China Into Vassal State

CANTON, Oct. 4. (AP)—The Nationalist government today accused the Soviet Union of using the Chinese communists to make China a Russian vassal state.

In a statement prompted by Russia's swift recognition of the new communist "peoples democracy of China," Acting President Li Tsung-Jen asserted:

"The Chinese communist bandits, under the direction and leadership of the U. S. S. R., have become part of the communist international aggressor bloc."

Earlier, Nationalist Foreign Minister George Yeh had declared at Lake Success that Russian recognition of the "bogus regime" at Peiping was "not only an act of aggression against China but also a threat to the peace and security of the Far East."

U. S. Going Slow

Yen personally read his government's note to Russian Charge d'Affaires Vladimir Varskov just 24 hours after the Soviet Union officially recognized the Red government and severed relations with the Nationalists. Yeh told Varskov relations with Russia were ended.

(Only the Soviet Union and two of her satellites—Bulgaria and Romania—have accorded the Chinese Red government recognition.

(In Washington, the U. S. State department said it will make no move toward recognition until congressional leaders have been consulted.

(In London it was reported the U. S., Britain and France are expected to assess this week their attitude on recognition.)

Declaring the Chinese communist party has been dominated from its beginning by the Soviet Union, Acting President Li said:

"We are determined to wipe out the communists. Military setbacks will not shake this determination. If all China falls to the communists, then world democracy and the security of mankind will be seriously threatened."

Treaty Claimed Violated

The man who took over when Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek "retired" as China's president conceded the profit motive might cause some nations to recognize the Peiping regime. He said this would be considered an unfriendly act by the "Chinese people."

Yeh told the Soviet charge d'affaires:

"The recognition by the Soviet Union of the bogus regime recently set up in Peiping is the natural culmination of the long series of violations to the Sino-Soviet treaty of friendship and alliance of 1945 on the part of the Soviet Union.

"It constitutes further evidence of Soviet infringement in China's political independence and territorial integrity."

(Reports from Lake Success said representatives of nations outside the Soviet sphere were taking a "go slow" attitude on the matter of Chinese Red recognition. A member of Yugoslavia's delegation said Marshal Tito's government would be in no hurry.

Problems Posed

(Press comment from Red China's Asian neighbors dealt heavily with the problem posed by recognition. The Japanese newspaper, Jiji Shimpo said "the world is watching what attitude will be taken by the United States and Britain."

(The Philippines' largest daily, the non-partisan Manila Times, noted the western democracies are facing Russian initiative in China, at Lake Success and in Germany. It said:

"This is the time for a western solid front for real unity. But where is such unity? England and India . . . lean heavily toward recognition and the stupidity of Chinese naval commanders may swing America that way."

(This reference was to Nationalist seizure of two American ships and halting of a third at the mouth of the Yangtze for attempting to run the Canton government's blockade of Red China. Neither the U. S. nor Britain recognized the blockade.)

If Benjamin Franklin had had his way, the turkey instead of the eagle would have been made the American national emblem.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed Proposals addressed to Mr. Steve Matthews, City Manager, Lubbock, Texas, will be received at his office until 2 P.M., October 27, 1949, for the construction of grading, drainage, concrete curb & gutter, and asphalt surface treatment on certain streets in the City of Lubbock, as hereinafter specifically designated.

As soon as possible after receiving the bids they will be considered and the successful bidder notified.

Prices in the Proposal shall be made on the basis of unit measurement for each of the 5 items in the proposal. The approximate quantities are as follows: Subgrade preparation 180,164.8 square yards; Concrete curb and gutter 36,061.05 linear feet; and Pavement (includes caliche base and asphalt surface) 154,259.94 square yds.

Bidder must submit cashier's or certified check issued by a bank satisfactory to the Owner, or a Bidder's Bond from a reliable Surety Company, payable without recourse to the order of the City of Lubbock in an amount not less than five (5%) per cent of the largest possible bid submitted as a guarantee that Bidder will enter into contract and execute bond and guaranty in the forms provided within ten (10) days after notice of award of contract to him. Bids without required check or Proposal Bond will not be considered.

The successful Bidder must furnish performance bond on the attached form in the amount of one hundred (100) per cent of the total contract price from a Surety Company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as Surety, or other Surety or Sureties acceptable to the Owner.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to waive formalities, to accept the bid which seems most advantageous to the City's interest.

Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding all local conditions.

Attention is called to the provisions of the Acts of the 43rd Legislature of the State of Texas, page 91, Chapter 49, (Article No. 5159A Civil Statutes, 1925) covering the wage scale and payment of prevailing rates of wages as established by the owner. Said scale of prevailing rates of wages is set forth in the specifications.

Information for bidders, proposal forms, plans and specifications are on file at the office of W. N. Harris, City Engineer, at the City Hall, Lubbock, Texas, and may be procured upon a deposit of $25.00 as a guarantee of safe return of the plans and specifications. The full amount of this deposit will be returned to each bidder immediately upon return of the plans and specifications in good condition. No refund on contract document and plans returned later than ten (10) days after the date of receiving bids will be obligatory. Additional sets of plans may be obtained at the cost of duplication.

The bidders attention is called to the fact that, although he will be paid in cash by the City of Lubbock for work performed under the terms of this contract, no work shall be commenced by the Contractor or any unit unless and until the City Engineer has issued his written order to the Contractor to proceed with construction of the unit and the City Engineer will not issue such written order unless contracts for the paving have been executed by all abutting property owners in the unit or the City Commission has otherwise by resolution authorized the City Engineer to issue such written order.

No bid may be withdrawn after the schedule closing for receiving of bids for at least thirty (30) days.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW! BY FAGALY and SHORTEN

In 1778, a huge iron chain 1,500 feet long was stretched across the Hudson River at West Point to prevent British gunboats from going up the river.

Marine Diver Averts Disaster Below Sea

ABOARD VELERO IV, Oct. 4 (AP)—Otis Barton was in greater danger in his steel sphere at a depth of only 300 feet yesterday than when he made the record dive 4500 feet Aug. 16 in the Pacific depths.

In a series of shallow contour dives off Santa Catalina island, the five-foot benthoscope with its thick quartz windows narrowly missed being smashed into unchartered reefs jutting from the bottom.
