SNOW'S WEIGHT TOO MUCH FOR ROOF—Car owners go to work freeing their cars after the roof of this Passaic, N. J., garage collapsed under weight of the snow. The East, hardly dug out of the heavy holiday snow, has suffered bitter cold and more snow as has the South and some parts of the Southwest.

Man Sought in Bank Robbery at Bremond Captured

DALLAS —(AP)— The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced today that Francis M. Hooper, 22, sought for the $12,500 robbery of the First State Bank of Bremond, Tex., Dec. 23 was arrested last night in Los Angeles.

Hooper's brother, John Bernard Hooper, 26, was shot and killed by Sheriff Bob Reeves of Robertson County as the robbers fled from the bank.

The FBI said that Francis Hooper had $5,750 in his possession at the time of his arrest. He was picked up by FBI agents and Hollywood detectives. He offered no resistance.

The last previous trace of Francis Hooper was found at Fort Worth Christmas [illegible] blood-stained, bullet-marked car used in the robbery was discovered in the River Oaks section there. More than $500 in packaged coins was found in the car. The car was identified as having been stolen in an armed robbery at Dallas last August.

Hooper is under charges of armed robbery in Robertson County. He formerly lived at Belton and Port Arthur, Texas.

Sheriff Reeves, whose office is at Franklin, happened to be in Bremond at the time of the robbery. He was in a garage across the street from the bank when the two robbers emerged with pistols in their hands.

He shot down J. B. Hooper. "It was either me or him," he said later.

The second gunman unsuccessfully tried to drag his campanion into the car, then pushed the body into the street and sped away.

Jurors Answer Case Questions

The jury in the suit of S. C. Couch vs. William Paul Hugg, et al., returned an answer at 3 p. m. yesterday, after having been charged by the Court to answer special issues in the case. Judgment was not pronounced yesterday.

The suit grew out of injuries and damages alleged to have been received in a collision near McLean on March 13, 1947.

The special issues included the amount to which the plaintiff had suffered and the compensation to which he was entitled, set by the jury at $12,500. Special issue No. 2 set the value of the plaintiff's car before the collision as $470, with the value after the collision being set at $200.

Special issue No. 3 set the value of the defendant's car before the collision as $1,800 and $1,200 after the accident.

Jurors were C. C. Matheny, Robert Hollis, E. S. Overall, Ewing Williams, R. A. Baker, W. A. Green, R. G. Head, M. R. Blasingim, Mark Heath and O. W. Hampton, all of Pampa; Guy Beasley of McLean and H. F. Britten of Groom.

New Cold Wave Hits In East

By the Associated Press

After a brief respite from last week's frigid weather, a new but less severe cold wave appeared in prospect for eastern United States.

A fresh outbreak of cold air surged across the Canadian border and moved into the north central sections. It was expected to cover the same area gripped by winter's iciest blasts last week.

Accompanied by snow flurries and strong winds, the cold air moved down the Missouri and temperatures dropped rapidly in the Dakotas and Minnesota, reaching sub-zero levels this morning.

The mercury was expected to dip to near the zero mark in Chicago tomorrow.

Temperatures had moderated considerably throughout the cold belt in advance of the fresh frigid blasts, particularly in the southern plains and the Great Lakes region, but the southeast states continued to shiver in abnormally cold readings.

The new cold spell, federal forecasters in Chicago said, will not approach the severity of the recent frigid weather which enveloped the eastern half of the country and caused at least 50 deaths.

City Plumbing Inspector Quits

R. R. Jones, city plumbing inspector since 1939, handed in his resignation from that post late yesterday afternoon during the regular meeting of the City Commission.

No successor has been appointed to the job, but Building Inspector Fred Brooke will act in his place until a new man is named.

In accepting the resignation Mayor C. A. Huff and the City Commission extended the city's thanks and appreciation for Jones' service and enforcement of the local plumbing ordinance.

The city at the same time rejected all bids on remodeling of the Central Fire Station for lack of sufficient funds to meet the expense involved. Three Pampa concerns bid on the job. Lowest bid was $1,024.45. City Manager Steve Matthews said that there was not sufficient money in this year's budget to meet the alteration expense.

The Tom Rose Ford Company was successful bidder for a three-ton Ford truck at $3,093.69, less freight at Pampa. The truck is to be delivered to the Garwood Industry, Detroit, for installation of a trash packer body an dthen shipped to Pampa. The commission accepted the low bid of the Culberson Chevrolet Company for a four-door sedan for the Fire Department. Culberson promised delivery of the first 1948 deluxe sedan that comes in. The car will cost the city $1,360.

Violence Trial Ends in Mistrial

HOPE, Ark. —(AP)— Trial of three United Mine Workers organizers on charges of violating an Arkansas law forbidding violence in labor disputes ended in a mistrial here.

Circuit Judge Dexter Bush declared a mistrial yesterday after the jury reported it was hopelessly deadlocked nine to three.

H. Lee Martin of Lynchburg, Va., Owen Bolen of Dora, Ala., and Fred Thomason of Springfield, Ill., were indicted in the beating of a Negro worker during a strike at a Texarkana cotton oil mill last year.

We Saw . . .

Local American Red Cross Goal Set at $10,908

The quota of the Pampa chapter in the annual local and national joint campaign of the American Red Cross which will be conducted in March has been set at $10,908.

This is approximately $2,500 more than the amount sought in 1947, but there is little actual increase on a monthly basis, the date of the fiscal year having been changed so that current contributions will cover virtually 16 months instead of one year.

Pampa chapter includes most of Gray County, except McLean which will conduct its own fund drive.

Ben Guill, chairman of the Pampa campaign, will be assisted by chairmen and members of several committees which will solicit from groups and areas—the business men, the industries, rural areas and house to house work in residential neighborhoods by club women and P-TA organizations.

The Texas City disaster and the April tornadoes which brought death and property destruction to Higgins, Glazier, Woodward and White Deer, where Red Cross workers were sent to cooperate in relief work with other organizations, provide convincing evidence of the urgent need for contributions, Red Cross leaders said.

In this connection the leaders pointed out it should be taken into account that 54 percent of the fund subscribed locally remains with the Pampa chapter and that much of the remainder is allocated to a national fund which was drawn upon heavily for quick relief of Texas City, the tornado sufferers and victims of other major disasters in many localities.

Mrs. E. J. Swain, 50, Dies at Home Here

Mrs. E. J. Swain, 50, died this morning at 5:10 o'clock at her home at 216 West Brown, following a long illness.

Funeral arrangements are pending, and until time for services, the body will lie in state at the Clegg Funeral Home.

Mrs. Swain, a resident of Pampa for 11 years, came here from Oklahoma. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

She is survived by her husband; two daughters, Mrs. J. W. Harrison of Pampa and Mrs. D. J. Scarberry of Pampa; two sons, Vernon of Pampa, and Elston of Benton, Ark.; two sisters, Mrs. Otis Mack of Oklahoma City, and Mrs. J. W. Nichols of Madill, Okla.; one brother, Lloyd Brown of Madill, Okla.; and five grandchildren.

Permanent Committee Will Carry On Water Studies for West Texas

BIG SPRING —(AP)— West Texas public officials, industrial chiefs and civic leaders have taken up the serious study of adequate water supplies for 2,500,000 persons, 44,000,000 acres of pasture land, 20,000,000 acres of farm tillable land, and 18,000,000 head of livestock.

At a meeting here yesterday sponsored by Gov. Beauford H. Jester, about 275 West Texans discussed present water supplies, future needs and solutions to current water problems.

Jester said it was a "fine start."

He suggested and got approval for a permanent committee to carry on the water studies.

Jester said the meeting of representatives from the 92-county region was the first of a series of water study meets for the entire state. He said others would be called during 1948 with locations to be determined by common area problems.

The committee will be directed by Frank Kelley, Colorado City, coordinator of yesterday's conference. Other members include D. A. Bandeen, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and the 11 representatives of areas who presented briefs covering water situations in the West Texas sector.

The reports yesterday told of water needs based largely on the [illegible] population growth, increased water usage, and need for wells and more surface reservoirs.

Bandeen said West Texas must impound more of the surface water run-off.

He said of 250 municipalities with public water supply, 194 were dependent on wells.

His estimate of future needs was:

"We need water for 2,500,000 people, for 44,000,000 acres of pasture land, 20,000,000 acres of crop land, 40,000,000 other tillable acres and 18,000,000 head of livestock."

E. V. Spence, chairman of the State Board of Water Engineers, said some cities with adequate supplies should plan "big brother" developments to help their smaller neighbors. He also asked for establishment of water districts where several towns could finance joint surface water supply facilities.

In his talk to the group, Jester said that in many areas the industrial and agricultural growth had reached the maximum unless supplemental water supplies are developed.

J. B. Thomas said that the Permian Basin [illegible] had rainfall to meets its orderly needs only with careful planning.

Greek Newspaper Takes American Mission to Task

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Greeks are a proud and independent folk, with a glorious past and, we trust, a glorious future.

One of the things we admire about them is their Spartan courage and their quickness in defense of their rights. Still, there is an old saying that discretion is the better part of valor, and we take the liberty of commending this thought to the Athens royalist newspaper Vradyni, which seems to us not only to be indiscreet but ill informed—and rather ungracious toward a very good friend.

Vradyni, which frequently speaks for the dominant Royalist Party, has taken the American aid mission, headed by Dwight P. Griswold, to task for notes to the Greek government. The newspaper says these notes have sounded as though written for "the Japanese or to a country inhabited by gangsters." It hopes that the threat of the Communist Guerrillas in the north will be ended before long so "we soon can forget our friendly allies and return to where we were bofer."

Vraydm doesn't specify what the notes contained but it is known that Griswold recently told Foreign Minister Tsaldaris that America won't tolerate a "dictatorial solution" of Greece's problem. We also know that some Greek politicians have discussed the possibility of a semi-dictatorship under which Parliament would be dissolved.

Heaven preserve Greece from another such dictatorship as she suffered under th late General (Little John) Metaxas who ruled with an iron hand from 1936 to 1941 when he died. It isn't that Metaxas lacked capability. Most "successful" dictators have been capable, and Little John was "successful." However, Greece lived in the shadow of fear, as I found when I was there in 1938 as the world war was boiling up.

Metaxas was made premier in 1936. It took Little John just four months to make himself complete dictator. He abolished all political parties and put several thousands of his political foes into exile among the Greek islands.

Plain clothes police spied on the public and anyone who spoke disparagingly of Little John ended up in jail. The censorship on news was so fierce that a Greek newspaperman committed suicide after being hbunded and arrested many times because the authorities figured he was disclosing too much.

Man Still Held On Theft Charge

Roy U. Armstrong was being held in County Jail this morning on a charge of theft after a billfold containing $240 was found missing after Armstrong was said to have been seen in the room of an acquaintance.

Armstrong, who gave no regular Pampa address, but who received mail here general delivery, is not to be confused with Roy Armstrong of 545 Barnes St., Pampa.

Roy U. Armstrong was apprehended by members of the [illegible] office as he was on his way out of town shortly after the theft is said to have occurred.

Counterfeit Money Is Spotted in Area

Counterfeit money, first spotted in this area in Borger yesterday when some bad twenties were presented at a bank, showed up later here yesterday when a local bank teller detected an off-shade $10 bill.

Fives, tens, twenties and fifties are known to be in circulation, and Secret Service men are working in the area.

Postal and bank officials, in warning the public, said the U. S. Secret Service, Treasury Department, has announced the description of the following four new counterfeit Federal Reserve notes in circulation:

A new counterfeit $5 Federal Reserve note bears a green treasury seal and the insignia of the Federal Reserve Board of Chicogo. It bears check letter "E", face plate number 214, back plate number 1638, and series 1834 C. This note is of the same workmanship as SS No. 1160, 1161, 1162. As on the others, the face of this counterfeit is a gray monotone with little contrast. Seal and serial number (G2390569 1B) are printed in yellowish-green. On note back the names of several states which are visible on the genuine along the top of the Lincoln Memorial cannot be distinguished on the counterfeit, even under magnification.

A new counterfeit $10 Federal Reserve note bears a green treasury seal, and the insignia of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. It bears check letter "F," face place number 399, back plate number 1177, and series 1934 C. This note is printed on grayish paper with red ink lines simulating the genuine threads. Missing lines in Hamilton's hair give it an unnaturally white appearance. On the back, the lines representing steps to the treasury building are missing, so that the area just under the columns at the entrance is solid white. Seal and serial number (G59267442C) are in yellowish-green so light that many features of the seal cannot be distinguished.

A new counterfeit $20 Federal Reserve note bears a green treasury seal, and the insignia of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. It bears check letter "D," face plate number 95, back plate number 521, and series 1934 B. Another note of this type bears check letter "A," face plate No. 96, back plate No. 508. Paper has grayish cast and bears red ink lines in imitation of genuine threads. On the back there is practically no representation of the sky above the White House. Specimens at hand carry serial numbers G06713272B & G06418927B.

A new counterfeit $50 Federal Reserve note bears a green treasury seal, an dthe insignia of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. It bears check letter "J," face plate number 6, back plate number 117, and series 1934. The face of this note is a gray monotone, accented by a dirty gray tint in the paper itself. Seal and serial numbers are in dull yellow-green so light that it is almost impossible to distinguish characteristics in the seal design. On the back, steps under columns in center of Capitol beneath dome and those at entrance to wing at far left are missing, so that white spaces exist where there should be lines representing steps. Serial number of specimen at hand is G07293838A, but may vary.

Solons Touchy About Talk of Meat Rationing

WASHINGTON — (AP) — All the hot talk in Congress about meat rationing is simply serving to build up private stocks in cold storage lockers, Senator Thye (R-Minn) contended today.

While steering clear of the controversy between GOP Senators Wherry (Neb) and Flanders (Vt.) over Wherry's "kidding" accusation that his New England colleague is a meat "hoarder," Thye said he wishes the whole subject of rationing could be dropped.

Otherwise, he told a reporter, housewives will buy all the meat they can and put it into frozen storage. Thye said talk of rationing "already is jeopardizing our meat supply" by discouraging the feeding of beef cattle to full weight.

His contention is that producers, weary of the future, are eager to take advantage of current high prices and are rushing their cattle to market.

Flanders and Rep. Javits (R-NY), sponsors of a bill to let the administration get set for meat rationing, take the position that if a spring shortage predicted by the Agriculture Department develops, the public will demand rationing.

Under their measure, Congress would have the final say on whether any program prepared should be put into effect.

The Wherry-Flanders incident came about when the Nebraska senator departed from the prepared text of an address he was delivering before th Republican National Committee yesterday to take note of reports that Flanders has a locker full of meat.

Afterwards, Wherry told newsmen he was "just kidding" and "I just thought it was amusing." But he added he didn't care if Flanders took exception.

Flanders did. He said he does not believe it was right for Wherry to kid, "because I am not sure the meeting he was addressing knew that he was kidding." Flanders added:

"My entire stock of stored beef is one steer put in early last fall long before I had any thought whatsoever of meat rationing."

He said he stored the steer "for the benefit of my three childrn, their wives and husbands and my eight grandchildren . . . and I don't imagine there is much left."

The Senate Banking Committee is holding hearings on the Flanders-Javits Bill, as well as on various measures dealing with President Truman's 10-point anti-inflation program. Among other things that program calls for stand-by power to reimpose wage-price controls and rationing on a selective basis.

Sturgeon May Enter County Attorney Race

Attorney Aaron Sturgeon today partially confirmed a rumor that he would seek the office of county attorney at the July Democratic primaries.

The burly attorney admitted he had been approached by several persons and that they had asked him to run.

Asked directly if he is in the running Sturgeon answered:

"Not yet. I have been approached by several citizens and told I would have their support, but I haven't fully made up my mind. However, I am giving the matter serious consideration and will make a definite statement later."

Sturgeon has never before held any elective office.

Allocation Plan for Oil Field Tubular Goods Is Outlined

MIDLAND, —(AP)— Voluntary allocation of oil field tubular goods through a system of state committees and sub-committees has been approved by the executive committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

At a quarterly meeting here yesterday the group voted approval of an allocation program proposed by the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association.

The plan calls for the governor of each oil producing state to appoint a state committee of five members—two independent oil producers, two representatives of major oil companies and one steel industry representative.

Chain Letter Craze Becomes Big Business

After simmering here undecidedly for a couple of weeks the chain letter craze has gathered momentum until it has become big business, with an estimated hundred or more persons involved in "letters" ranging from the 25-cent type to the get-rich-quick $10 letter.

One Pampa man said yesterday he had collected $180. The day before another reportedly collected $200. This is not included in the sales talk handed out by the letter brokers themselves.

During the depression the chain letter craze reached its previous height, men seemingly grasping at any straw for a little easy money; now the compulsion seems to have arisen from surplus money on hand. At any rate, the results are the same: a few collect and many pay.

And pay is the word, for some phases of the new chain letter system are erroneously believed to be within the law, although the U. S. Postal Department issued a special bulletin on the subject back in August, when the craze began spreading over the nation.

The bulletin stated that the new scheme differs from those previously encountered in that participants are warned not to forward the chain letter through the mails, but to keep the letter and send a sum of money to the person whose name heads the list of ten.

It appears that the originators of this scheme have the erroneous belief that by not sending the letter through the mails they will escape prosecution, the bulletin continues.

The bulletin invites attention to the fact that deposit of any matter including money, for transfer through the mails in furtherance of this scheme is a violation of 18 United States Code 336 and 368, the postal lottery fraud statute, and participants are subjecting themselves to possible prosecution as well as fraud order action under 39 United States Code 259 and 732.

Quick House Passage Seen; Veto Likely

WASHINGTON — AP — Approved "as is" by the House Republican leadership, the $5,600 million tax-slashing bill moved today toward swift House passage and a virtual certain veto.

Democrats claimed enough votes to blork its final enartment, however, unless the Senate trims the size of the tax cut when the legislation reaches that body.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass) set the House vote for next week, probably Friday.

The House Republican Steering Committee, in approving the measure late yesterday, refused flatly to make any concessions that might attract Democratic support. A two-thirds majority is needed in both houses to overturn a Presidential veto.

Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas told reporters "the bill as it is will never become law, and I think the Republicans know it."

But Rep. Knutson (R-Minn), author of the measure, shot back that Rayburn is "indulging in wishful thinking" and added: "The bill will become law." Knutson's bill calls for percentage cuts and raised exemptions.

The GOP leaders ignored President Truman's substitute proposal calling for a $40 "cost of living" tax cut for everyone and a compensating $3,200,000,000 excess profits levy on corporations.

Martin told a news conference that the Republicans will slash Mr. Truman's $39,700,000,000 budget to make room for the tax cut and a payment on the national debt of at least $2,000,000,000.

"We need to cut the budget only by $1,500,000,000 to do that," Martin said, "but we are going to reduce the budget much more than that."

To which Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the House Appropriations Committee added in an interview: "When we get through with the President's budget we will have money enough for a $5,000,000,000 tax reduction and at least a $5,000,000,000 payment on the debt."

Missing Young Concert Pianist Held as Runaway

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— Police today announced Jacqueline Horner, 14-year-old movie actress and concert pianist, missing from her Los Angeles home eight days, was found here. They arrested a sailor with whom they said she had visited taverns and charged him with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Police Inspectors John Merrill and Dan Shelley located the girl they identified as Miss Horner at a Van Ness Avenue Hotel last night. She was taken into custody and held at the juvenile home as a runaway.

A Navy sailor, Wallace Wells, 19, assigned to the Navy tanker Cimarron at Hunters Point here, was booked on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and is held in the city jail.

Search for Miss Horner had been widespread, extending to Buffalo, N. Y., where her father, George W. Horner, lives, since her mother, Mrs. Clara Horner, reported her missing here. The parents were divorced in 1942.

Inspector Merrill said Miss Horner, her hair dyed a "reddish blonde," and Wells were found at the hotel after a search lasting several hours of several taverns the pair had visited.

However, Merrill added, "the girl, who looks a lot older than her 14 years, said she had not been drinking and had done nothing more than just have fun."

The first tip that Jacqueline might be in San Francisco, the inspectors said, came from a tavern owner who thought he recognized the juvenile star as the girl who ha dbeen in his place several times with a sailor.

As a result of the tip, Merrill said, he and Shelley were able to locate a Jean Costello, 23, who

School Bus, Car In Collision; No Children Injured

Twenty-two to 25 school children miraculously escaped death or serious injury late yesterday afternoon when a Pampa Independent School District bus collided with a 1941 Chevrolet coach at the intersection of N. Charles and Kentucky.

Earl D. Davis, driver of the automobile, suffered a slight cut above the left eye. He was the only person injured.

City police said the school bus, driven by Mrs. Geneva Chapman, Route 4, was traveling west on Kentucky and Davis was driving south on Charles when the collision occurred. The force of the impact shattered the entire front of the Davis car and sent the school bus careening over into the front yard of the southwest corner home at 1233 N. Charles.

Damage was estimated at approximately $200 to the bus by both police and school officials.

Mrs. Chapman, driver of the bus, was charged by police with driving without a chauffeur's license, and her husband, charged with permitting an unauthorized person to drive the bus.

Police added that children on the bus showed no anxiety or signs of fright as they scampered from bus to automobile to inspect the damage. None of them were shaken up, police added.

This morning Mrs. Chapman pleaded guilty to driving without a chauffeur's license before Corporation Court Judge Clifford

WALL STREET

NEW YORK Jan. 20 (AP) Timid professional bidding for a technical rebound aided individual oil, rail and industrial stocks today although dealings were sluggish throughout and many market leaders suffered from neglect.

The ticker tape frequently idled after a moderately active start. Advances of fractions to a point or so were fairly well distributed at the close but drops of the same magnitude predominated. Transfers for the full proceedings of around 750,000 were among the lows for the year to date.

Wilson & Co. and Barnsdall Oil tilted forward on pleasing dividends. Ahead most of the time were Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Southern Railway, Pacific Western Oil, Mission Corp., Texas Pacific Land Trust and International Telephone. The majority of steels, motors, rubbers and aircraft clung to a slim groove.

Intermittent laggards included International Harvester, Firestone Tire, North American, American Tobacco "B", Johns-Manville, Phelps Dodge and Gulf Oil.

Brokerage customers continued to give the market a wide berth or trim accounts because of concern over criticism regarding taxes, the long-term business outlook and murky foreign

EASY DOES IT

One day I heard my Uncle Ben, the most successfully lazy man in Logan County, Ky., calling the maid by his wife's name. When I corrected him, he explained, "I call everybody Cora now—even the dog and the stock. It's easier. I can sit here on the porch and when I holler 'Cora' I know somebody's going to come. Them I don't want I send back."

MURDER AT MY HOUSE

By Rene Ryerson Mart

Copyright by NEA SERVICE INC

XXVII

I WAS sitting up in bed just finishing the orange juice and toast and coffee Marie had brought me, when Marie came back and said Jeff was there. I told her to send him in.

To my surprise he strode right over to the bed, sat down on the edge of it, put the tray on the floor and masterfully took me in his arms.

"Oh, my darling. My darling!" he said. He kissed me ardently.

I deliberately let him prolong the kiss, lying quiescent in his arms and, being a romantic fool and a woman, hoping even then to feel an answering surge of emotion. I didn't. His kisses might have been cold water running over my lips for all I felt.

I sat up then and pushed him away with a hand on his chest.

"It's too bad, Jeff," I said, "that you didn't do that a couple of days ago. It would have meant something then."

"What do you mean, Holly? What's wrong?"

"A lot of things have happened, Jeff."

"Like what? Honey . . ." He made another grab for me, but I wasn't having any of it. I stiffened back against the pillows, keeping out of his reach. He let his arms fall.

"Like what?" he repeated, a little deflated.

"Like you telling the police I had been in a sanitarium. Making them think I was crazy."

He colored and stammered. He sat up straight on the edge of the bed away from me. "I—I did it for your own protection. I thought if they had anything incriminating on you, it was better for them to know about that. It was your best line of defense."

"THANKS," I said dryly. "It was also your best line of defense, wasn't it? To keep them from prying too much into your affairs?"

"I swear, Holly, it was nothing like that. Of course, at first they thought I might have had a motive for poisoning Avis because she wouldn't give me a divorce. They had dug up all that mess about the contract between us. But they found the remains of the drink I had given her—you remember it was straight Scotch. And had it analyzed. There was nothing in it. And then why would I have poisoned poor old Art? I had nothing against him. I was grateful to him for taking Avis off my neck, believe it or not."

"And I suppose I had a motive for poisoning him!"

"Holly, don't you see — after what your agent told me, I thought . . . There was just a possibility that you might have gone a little bit haywire. I didn't really believe "

He drew a long breath. "I want to marry you, Holly," he said.

"That's all over now, Jeff."

He looked at me and the eagerness went out of his eyes. I think he had known it wasn't any good from the moment he had kissed me. A man can't kiss a woman like that and not know what she is feeling about him.

He moved from the side of the bed and sat on the same chair Leiphan had sat on the night before.

After a little bit he began to talk about the picture and about the tests that had been made of Madge. He said everyone was satisfied with Madge in the leading part and that everything was all set to start shooting again in the morning. He thought she was going to be a real hit.

I was glad for Madge.

THE doctor had been right about shock. I felt all right until I tried to stand up and then my legs behaved like rubber and my head felt as if someone had used it for a football in a scrimmage work-out. I was glad enough to crawl back into bed and stay there until noon. I slept some more, and after that I tried it again and felt better. So I stayed up and got dressed and went downstairs and Marie had a nice hot lunch ready for me.

After I'd finished eating she reminded me that she was leaving. Since we'd agreed on that the night before I said, "All right, Marie."

I went out in the patio and lay down in the deck chair where I had stretched taking a sun bath the day this story began; the day I had the glorious feeling that life was beginning to be worth living again.

Well, it seemed I had completed the cycle. I was back where I had started. Nothing but emptiness faced me again.

I lay there until the sun slipped down toward the west garden wall and the patio grew cool with that bone chill that comes with 4 o'clock in sunny California. I shivered and got up and went into the house. I went up to my room and got my purse, thinking I'd pay Marie off—she must have finished her packing. I took my purse and went back downstairs and through the kitchen and across the patio and knocked on the door of the maid's room.

There was no answer. I knocked again, loudly.

It was strange, the silence. Marie wouldn't have gone without her pay. She must be in there.

I opened the door and walked in and pressed my hand hard across my mouth to keep from screaming.

Marie Maloney, dressed for the street in the frivolous high-heeled shoes and the hat with the deep veil and the fur jacket in which she had arrived at my house, lay huddled on the floor halfway between her dressing table and the bed.

Drastic New Controls To Curb Subversive Activity Are Approved

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Attorney General Clark has approved drastic new controls to curb subversive activity by alien visitors to the United States.

Designed to provide much closer surveillance over the activities of such visitors, the new regulations are scheduled to become effective about March 15.

After that time, the ordinary one-year visiting permit now in common use will be abolished, and the visiting privilege limited to three to six months.

Extensions may be obtained.

Department officials said the new rules are aimed solely at the alien who gets in as a visitor and then engages in subversive activity.

The authority over extensions of stays "and the responsibility for overseeing visitors in the United States," now held by the Philadelphia headquarters of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, would be passed by the new rule to the 16 district immigration officers scattered across the country.

The department said that in cases where the visitor expects to remain in one place, six-month admissions will be available.

But if the visitor expects "to sojourn in more than one immigration district," he will get only a three-month entry, requiring renewal.

In any case, all alien visitors will be required to notify Immigration Commissioner Watson B. Miller at Philadelphia of current address every three months.

All alien visitors now must post $500 bond upon entry to the country to assure among other things that they have the cash to get back home. Under the new regulations, the department said, "most visitors whose stay is extended for over a year will be required to post additional bond."

The conditions of admission include declarations that (1) the visit is for business or pleasure, (2) the trip is "reasonable and legitimate and temporary in nature," (3) the visitor will leave promptly upon expiration of visit-or time, (4) the visitor "will not pursue any purpose not specifically authorized by immigration authorities," and (5) he is not subject to exclusion under any of the immigration regulations.

An easy way to make a friend is tell someone he works too hard.

I can't see why we should have a recession next year — quite the reverse, I can't see why business won't be better.

Mrs. Montgomery Is Hostess to HD Club

Mrs. Bob Montgomery entertained the Wayside Home Demonstration Club Friday afternoon, Jan. 16, in her home north of town.

Mrs. Ernest Edwards, vice president, conducted the business discussion at the close of which textile painting was demonstrated to twelve members by Mrs. Ed Barnes.

"Distinction and individuality can be added to your home interior, clothes and personal accessories, and household articles with textile paints," Mrs. Barnes stated, as she painted several different designs on materials using paints which withstand both laundering and dry cleaning.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Edwards on Feb. 5.

The Lards Have Come Back "Home" to Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lard, 1108 Buchanan, Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lard of Lubbock have been guests in the home of Mrs. Grayce Morrison. The Lards were residents of Pampa for 21 years having moved to Amarillo last November. Claude Lard is employed in the Haley Furniture Company in Amarillo. The Claude Lards spent Saturday night in the home of their daughter, Mrs. James W. Love, and Mr. Love.

Mrs. Lard spent a day in Canadian with her mother, Mrs. Anna Reaves. The Kenneth Lards visited Saturday night in the home of V. N. Osborn.

Mrs. Leo Tilley Is Club Hostess

The Good Neighbor Club met in the home of Mrs. Leo Tilley, at 2 p. m. Jan. 15. A short business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Hubert Stone.

Previously the Good Neighbor Club consisted of only the women of John's Camp but at this meeting it was voted to extend an invitation to the remainder of the women in the Standish Pipeline Department to join.

The social part of the afternoon was spent in sewing, embroidering, and crocheting.

Refreshments of cake, tea and jello were served to those mentioned and Mesdames R. E. Warren, Jr. L. J. Berry, H. M. Medley, E. N. Mills, A. H. Finney, and two visitors, Mrs. O. L. Chewning and Mrs. Mickey Patrick.

Correction

In Sunday's story of the announcement of Wanda Campbell Beezley's engagement and approaching marriage to Charles C. (Chuck) Fenoglio, Jr., the date was erroneously given as March 18, 1948—the correct date being March 28, 1948. Names omitted from the invited guest list were those of Miss Joan Clay and Mrs. William G. Sturm.

WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT

The older woman who would like to be able to fit in with younger groups—like her grown children's friends—should remember these points:

1. Don't find fault with young people in general. That builds up a wall between the generations.
2. Don't disapprove of too many things. Your disapproval won't influence the younger crowd but will only tempt them to keep things from you.
3. Don't talk too much. Listen.
4. Don't look on the gloomy side of every question.
5. Don't expect them to be interested in your experiences.
6. Don't be free with advice.
7. Don't act indulgent or superior toward their ideas.
8. Be your age, but don't harp on it.
9. Don't parade your prejudices.
10. Try to give the young people something of what experience has taught you—without ramming it down their throats.

WHAT IT TAKES

That may seem like a lot of trouble to go to just to be able to get on well with younger people. But it takes considerable tact and restraint for a member of one generation to get along well with those of another.

And the woman with grown children who isn't willing to make the effort to get along with their friends inevitably grows to have less in common with them.

Bead-Ettes Add Glamor To Milady's Hair-Do

With the national elections coming off and prosperity continuing, signs indicate that 1948 will be a glamorous year.

Among the newest accessories for adding glamour to my lady's coiffure is a clever bobby pin that is decorated with pretty beads of all colors. There are gold ones and silver ones in the metallic beads, and then there are glass beads in a host of beautiful pastels.

These clever Bead-Ettes, as they are called, are worn at the side of the head like a barrette or in back instead of a comb. The little indentations between the beads provide a gripping surface that holds securely. They will stay in many places where a comb will fall out and they can be inserted much easier than an ordinary barrette.

They're made in two different sizes, a two inch and a three inch. Either size can be arranged in groups in the hair, especially in the back, and, when so arranged they are truly glamorous.

Bead-Ettes may be purchased at almost any notion or beauty counter.

POT LUCK SUPPER

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary and their husbands and the members of the American Legion and their wives will have a pot luck supper in the American Legion Hall Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Frank Lard, president of the Auxiliary, is in charge of arrangements. Each lady attending is asked to bring a covered dish.

Lettuce is usually used as the foundation or base for individual salads. But numerous other greens may be used successfully. Some of these are watercress, celery leaves, spinach, parsley, cabbage; they may be used alone or combined.

Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament Finals Tonight

Harvesters to Battle Lubbock In Local Gym Tomorrow Night

Ball Hawk

With a string of 17 straight victories including one conference win the Pampa High School Harvester basketball quintet will engage the Lubbock Westerners tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Junior High School Gym.

The Westerners, coached by Harvey Dunn, hold a record of six wins and three losses, including a conference loss to Amarillo last week. Their wins include two over Big Spring, two over Abilene, one over Sudan, and one over Ysleta High School of El Paso, while their non-conference losses were suffered at the hands of El Paso High School and Austin High School of El Paso.

Coach Dunn is in his second year as Westerner basketball coach. Last year, his first, he directed the team to second place in the District 1-AA standings.

The Westerners with six returning lettermen, three of which were regulars last year, should prove to be the Harvesters roughest competition to date. Led by Jack Alderson, a two-year letterman, the Lubbock team will travel to Pampa with their varsity squad. There will be no preliminary game tomorrow night.

In 17 games the Harvesters have racked up 807 points for an average of 47 points per game, while they have held their opponents to 645 points; an average of 32 points per game.

Derrell Davis leads the Harvester scoring with 275 points followed by Miller with 140, King, 111; Hernandez, 107; Gamblin, 82; and Laffoon, 50.

Friday night, the Harvesters journey to Brownfield where they will meet the Cubs in District 1-AA conference clash.

The Pampa News-Junior Chamber of Commerce first annual Golden Gloves Tournament passed through its second night of boxing last night at the Sportatorium, with a capacity crowd witnessing 11 fast exhibitions of amateur fighting, as the boys fought their ways into the finals that will be held tonight.

One knockout, two technical knockouts, and eight decisions were handed out in last night's fighting.

Sammy Martin's close decision over John Boyce of Shamrock handed the fine group of Shamrock boxers their first tournament defeat.

Much praise is due the Shamrock boxers, and their coach, Kenneth Glasgow, for their team spirit, courage, and sportsmanship, shown in the first two nights of the tournament.

Wesley Keith of Pampa proved to be a real threat for Carroll "Comanche" Martin in the 126-pound high school class by winning a very close decision over Ray York last night. Both boys were capable boxers and a first round knockdown seemed to hand Keith the deciding edge. Keith and Martin will meet in the 126-pound finals tonight.

Probably the outstanding performer of last night's show was 135-pound Tom Landrum from Shamrock. Landrum showed his prowess by scoring a TKO over Jimmy Vineyard of McLean in the second round.

In the 160-lb. high school division Francis Hunt scored a TKO in the second round over Kelly Anderson and in the 135-lb. open division Lloyd Stracner of Lefors KO'd Weldon Witcher of Pampa in the second round.

Finals in both the high school and open divisions will be held tonight. Winners will receive championship trophies, the runners-up will receive miniature golden gloves. The Pampa News will present a trophy to the boxer voted the most outstanding boxer of the tournament. This will be judged on both the boy's ability and sportsmanship.

Fights tonight: (All championship bouts)

High School Division:

112-lb. Joe Rice, Lefors, vs. Donny Ray, Shamrock

118-lb. Buster Kelly, Pampa, vs. Joe Landrum, Shamrock

Few Contract Squabbles Heard By Maior Clubs

NEW YORK —(AP)— The major baseball leagues enjoyed a banner year at the gate in 1947 and indications are that the owners are kicking back a good part of the take to their players for the 1948 season.

With spring training a little more than a month away, few contract squabbles have been reported by the clubs which have revealed the signing of athletes for the coming season.

Three players, catcher Jim Hegan of Cleveland and First Sacker Ferris Fain and outfielder Elmer Valo of the Philadelphia Athletics are among those who have admitted they are dissatisfied with terms offered by their clubs.

The Cincinnati Reds have signed the most players so far—22—with the Boston Braves next with 20 and the New York Giants third with 19. The New York Yankees have signed the most players among American League clubs—18.

Three teams, the Brooklyn Dodgers, Philadelphia Phillies and the St. Louis Browns haven't announced the signing of any players while the Chicago White Sox and the Chicago Cubs are reported to have formally signed one player each.

Seven clubs reported the signing of 12 players yesterday with the Reds and Detroit Tigers leading the way with three each.

The Reds who agreed to terms were outfielders Al Libke, Pitcher Johnny Hetki and infielder Kermit Wahl. The Bengals were catcher Harvey Riebe, Pitcher Lou Kretlow and outfielder Ed Mierkowicz. The Tigers now have 12 in the fold.

Outfielders Terry Moore and Chuck Diering signed with the St. Louis Cardinals, while Pitcher Spud Chandler of the Yanks, hurler Kirby Higbe of Pittsburgh, outfielder Neil Sheridan of the Boston Red Sox and infielder Alvin Dark of the Boston Braves came to terms with their respective clubs.

Quick and delicious foundations for creamed dishes are made by cutting the crusts of slices of bread, buttering them on both sides, fitting each one into a muffin pan and toasting in a moderate oven until the corners are lightly browned.

Rodeos About To Produce Two National Champs

DENVER —(AP)— The rodeos are about to produce two "national champions."

The Rodeo Cowboys Association announced plans today to name a national champion cowboy. It's virtually certain that its top hand won't be the same one as that of the International Rodeo Association which has had the field to itself until now.

The men who run the rodeos make up the IRA. At each rodeo sponsored by it, the association gives cowboys one point for each dollar of prize money they win. The points are totaled at the end of the year, and the one with the most points reigns as the rodeo circuit's top hand for a year.

About 1,800 cowboys who ride and rope for money make up the RCA. The president, Toots Mansfield of Big Spring, Texas, explained that many of them appear in shows not affiliated with the IRA, and don't like the idea of getting no credit in the national standings for many performances.

The cowboys, who already name their champs for various events, will give their members one point for each dollar of prize and entry money won, and all shows approved by the RCA will be counted.

Entry fees make up a big part of the rodeo hands' winnings. At the National Western Rodeo where 300 are competing this year, the calf roping prize money is $3,600, but entry fees boost that to nearly $11,000.

Bud Linderman of Red Lodge, Mont., was the IRA's 1947 champion, but presumably, Todd Whatley of Bethel, Okla., would have been the RCA's champion last year as he won the most money—about $25,000.

Whatley won both brahma bull riding and steer wrestling last year, according to the RCA's figures, while the IRA's top brahma rider was Wag Blesing of Glendale, Calif., and its best bulldogger was Homer Pettigrew of Chandler, Ariz.

Linderman was the RCA's top saddle bronc rider last year, while Jerry Ambler led the IRA ratings. Larry Finley of Phoenix, Ariz., topped the RCA's saddle bronc standings; Carl Mendes won the IRA competition.

Troy Fort of Lovington, N. M., led the RCA's calf ropers, and Buckshot Sorrells of Tucson, Ariz., topped those rated by the IRA.

Non-Title Bout Between Getz And Corlin Wrestling Feature

Tomorrow night's double-main event on Promoter Vic Burnett's Sportatorium card will feature a non-title bout between the 190-pound Southwestern states champion Al Getz and Johnny Corlin of Tampa, Fla., and Pierre LaBelle of Portland, Ore., against Jack Kiser of Oswego, Ore.

Getz, a Dutchman from Pittsburgh, is considered one of the toughest and smartest mat men in the game today. Getz, a great ring general, will be trying to outsmart his opponent. The burly Dutchman does plenty thinking while he is working, and when he seems to be in a bad way, that's when he is most dangerous.

Corlin has by far the most colorful career of any grappler yet to appear in the local ring. The 40-year-old Swedish-born mat man came to the United States in 1922 after wrestling on the continent. In 1924, in Chicago he fought the world's middleweight champion to a draw, and later wrestled the late Jack Reynolds in Cincinnati, before the largest crowd ever to witness a wrestling match in that city. Corlin has grappled in Madison Square Garden and many of the other leading sports arenas throughout the country. He has held both the middleweight and light heavyweight titles. In three appearances in the local ring he holds victories over Pat O'Dowdy and George Lopez, and a tag match victory over O'Dowdy and Boynton, while teamed with Lopez.

The companion feature between Kiser and the French-Canadian LaBelle should prove to be just as rough as last week's match between Boynton and Dory Funk, when Boynton was disqualified by Referee Dutch Jones for unnecessary roughness. Jones will referee tonight's matches.

Plainview Quintet Nips Borger 48-39

Led by Bill Howton the Plainview Bulldogs scored a 48 to 39 District 1-AA conference win over the Borger Bulldogs last night in Borger.

Trailing all the way through the first half the Borger team managed to gain a 38 to 34 lead at the three minute rest period, only to have the Plainview team tie the ball game, and go on to win in the remaining few minutes. Halftime score was 22 to 14, in favor of Plainview.

Howton led the scoring with 18 points followed by Dick Hill of Borger who racked-up 15 counters.

Aggies' 'New Deal' Coaching Staff Appears Completed

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. —(AP)—Texas A and M's "new deal" coaching staff apparently was completed today with the addition of Bill Dubose, Thurmon (Tugboat) Jones and Barlow (Bones) Irvin.

Harry Stiteler, who became head coach last month when Homer Norton resigned after being paid for the remainder of his contract by the alumni, will tutor the backfield, assisting him will be Jones, former Abilene Christian College and Brooklyn Dodgers player who comes here from Hardin College, Wichita Falls, to work both with the backs and ends.

Dubose, former University of Texas tackle and head coach at Corpus Christi and Waco High schools, will be line coach. He thus follows Stiteler a third time. DuBose was line coach at Corpus Christi and Waco when Stiteler was.

Irvin, head coach at Thomas Jefferson High School (San Anonio), becomes freshman mentor.

The athletic council approved these men at a meeting yesterday.

Since the resignation of Norton line coach Bill James and assistant line coach Botchey Koch also have resigned.

Charley Deware has been freshman coach and Johnny Frankie has been B team coach. They are expected to remain but with Deware to be given another duty.

Harrell Appointed Lamesa Coach

Harrell, graduate of Texas Christian University and former coach at De Leon, Odessa and Greenville, replaces Jim Neill, who resigned.

Prize Donated to Community Center Fund by Claytons

Words of appreciation were extended to the Clayton Floral Co. by Jim Arndt, president of the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, yesterday at the Jaycees' weekly luncheon in the Palm Room of the City Hall when Arndt announced that the Clayton Floral Co. had donated to the Jaycee Community Center Fund the $25 creck they were awarded by the Chamber of Commerce as first prize in the commercial entries in the Christmas decoration program.

The undefeated Harvester basketball team and their coach Clifton McNeely and the Shamrock boxing team currently fighting in the Pampa News-Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored District Golden Gloves Tournament were guests of the club at the luncheon. The Shamrock boxers are coached by Ken Glasgow. Both McNeely and Glasgow introduced the members of their respective teams to the club.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Since a two-year effort by the college baseball coaches to obtain a "hand-off" agreement with organized baseball has resulted in little but kind and meaningless words, this dept. hereby suggests taking a new angle. . .Instead of trying to get everything at once, they should adopt the "smorgasbord system" — a little bit here and a little bit there—in hopes of eventually achieving satisfactory results. . .As a starter, why shouldn't they merely ask that pro scouts be forbidden to approach a college player until they had first consulted his coach and college president?. . .That way the collegians would get at least an even break when they really want to keep a boy and, as far as this writer can learn, no college coach wants to stand in the way of a player who has a chance to become a highly-paid big-leaguer.

UNDER COVER, TOO

Gus Welch, the old Carlisle Indian quarterback, tells this one as an example of a "workable" system of handling college eligibility. . .Carlisle once had a player with a long, unpronounceable Indian name (something like Kinnikinnick) who played 13 years before "Harvard and Yale told us we'd have to observe the three year rule." . . . The next fall the athlete was back in Oklahoma when a judge asked how come he wasn't playing football for Carlisle. . .The boy explained and the judge asked: "what does Kinnikinnick mean?". . .The Indian replied: "under a tree." . . . "We'll fix that," said the judge, "we'll change your name." . . . "And so," Gus concludes, "he went back to Carlisle and played four more years as 'Underwood'."

It's easy to be one IN a million mighty hard to be one OF a million.

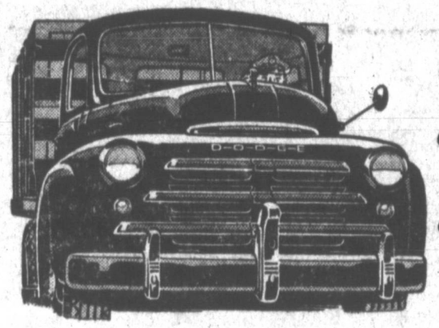
NEW DODGE "Job-Rated" TRUCKS



NEW "Pilot-House" Cabs with all-'round vision

Higher and wider windshield and windows give the driver real "Pilot-House" vision . . . in all directions! It's all-'round vision, still further augmented by newly available rear quarter windows. They're the safest truck cabs ever built, too, with welded all-steel construction. Their comfort is almost unbelievable. Take a ride . . . and you'll feel that you're "sitting on top of the world" . . . with all the road yours to command.

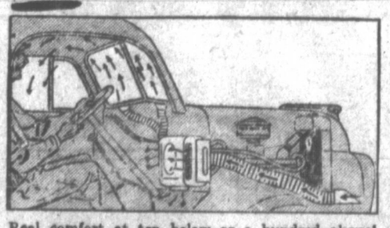
NOW ON DISPLAY

You're looking at the most attractive and useful trucks ever designed. The first thing you notice, of course, is their new massive "truck-like" appearance. But underneath—you'll find power-packed chassis, each "Job-Rated" for performance, economy, dependability, and long life.

Because these new Dodge trucks are "Job-Rated"—because they fit the job —they naturally save money and last longer. But you're in for a real surprise, when you see how many additional money-saving and time-saving advantages Dodge has built into these newest trucks.

We urge you to come in and see them without delay. You'll find them years ahead in design . . . the only really new trucks on the market this year!

NEW All-Weather Ventilation



Real comfort at ten below or a hundred above! That's because of an ingenious combination of truck heater, defroster vents, vent windows, cowl ventilator and a new fresh air intake from the radiator grille. It's the finest "All-Weather" heating and ventilating system available in any truck cab.

NEW Ease of Handling

First 100 Years Of the 'Utopia'

One hundred years ago this month Karl Marx, a 29-year-old German radical, and his collaborator Friedrich Engels, who was two years younger, issued their famous "Communist Manifesto."

In the century that followed the Marxian brand of socialism took on increasingly sharp turn away from the other socialistic forms to wind up, in a scarcely recognizable form, as the basis of the present Russian government.

The broad design of Marx's political and economic blueprint—though it doesn't all appear in the Manifesto—was this. There would have to be world revolution, with the peasants and workers starting from scratch and building anew. For a short time a "dictatorship of the proletariat" would be necessary, until opposition was crushed and difficulties solved.

After that there was to be a classless, frictionless society, a Utopia in which each would contribute to the common good according to his abilities and receive according to his need. There would be no war, no exploitation, no bitterness. Everybody would be happy and content.

Almost 70 years after the Manifesto appeared, a group of Communists got their chance to put the Marxian theory to the test in the vast, backward, war-torn Russian Empire. Their leader was a man who called himself Vladimir Lenin, and whose interpretation of the gospel according to Marx got him into some bitter fights with fellow Communists.

When Lenin died he was succeeded by a man who called himself Joseph Stalin. And if Lenin's communism departed somewhat from Marx's, Stalin's is not quite the brand that Lenin introduced.

Lenin was a revolutionist. Stalin may be a revolutionist, too. But he has been biding his postwar time by gobbling up surrounding countries with a speed that has given the whole world nervous jitters.

However, Lenin and Stalin have one thing in common. They have failed, in 30 years of trying to build anything like the Utopia that Marx dreamed of. They have not achieved world revolution. Their dictatorship is not of the proletariat, but of an iron-handed clique which rules over voiceless proletarian millions.

Russian communism admittedly has failed to gain the ideal of contribution according to ability and reward according to need. It has built instead a rigidly classed society, with great inequalities in the matter of money, food, clothing, and general comfort.

But, with promises and five-year plans, the Russian leaders keep striving for Utopia. They are going to make everybody happy, no matter how many people they have to kill, imprison or terrorize in the process.

Fair Enough . . . by Westbrook Pegler

It takes no expert to see that President Truman is weakly leading the United States into a fighting war with Soviet Russia. Our first engagements may involve us with Russia's unofficial Communist guerrillas in Greece. We may lose a naval ship in the Aegean or Adriatic, through more or less covert action by disguised Soviet forces employing a mine for the purpose. We turned the other cheek in the case of the Japanese attack on a little vessel of ours called the Panay; when Tito of Jugoslavia shot down one of our army transports which was unarmed and murdered five of our young men, we kept our indignation under control.

In the light of later information, it is not certain, as most of us believed at the time of the Panay attack, that we were entirely innocent there. We were pro-Chinse and we were not trying to avoid trouble. There was contributory negligence on our part. But in the murder of the American fliers by Tito we were entirely innocent, and the attack was inexcusable and an act of war.

James F. Byrnes, formerly our secretary of state, discussed this attack in his book, "Speaking Frankly."

The State Department asked for information and Marshal Tito made a belligerent speech in which he charged us with sending 'whole squadrons' of military planes over Jugoslavia," he wrote "I sent for the vice premier of Jugoslavia, Edward Kardelj, who headed his country's delegation to the peace conference. He said our planes had flown over his country on several occasions although they had been told not to do so.

" 'Jugoslavia claims to be a friendly government and your planes can fly over our territory at any time,' I told him. 'But even if you were not friendly and one of your planes, flying over Canada, got lost and happened to fly over the United States, the idea of a United States Army plane under such circumstances firing on a plane of Jugoslavia, killing its crew and passengers, is something the American government would never be guilty of and is something for which the American people will not forgive Jugoslavia.' "

That is the kind of people we are dealing with. The sailors on the Panay had a chance to defend themselves and had reason to be on guard. The Japanese were not supposed to be our friends. The Jugoslavs were eating our food and wearing American clothing, and the Americans still looked on the Jugoslavs as allies.

Mr. Byrnes went on to indicate very plainly that the Jugoslavian vice premier took up the American protest with Molotov, of Russia. In other words, Russia had the ultimate responsibility.

"We received a satisfactory reply" to our protest, he wrote.

President Truman is hopelessly committed to a political tradition and a course toward war with Soviet Russia. The tradition holds that his late chief, Roosevelt, was a wise and great man who acted for the best in violating our Constitution and our laws by involving the United States in the war with Nazi Germany through acts of unprovoked American aggression. By Roosevelt's own order, American naval ships were harassing the Germans in the North Atlantic, as auxiliaries of the British Royal Navy, long before Pearl Harbor. We had even lost one modern destroyer by German defensive action. We knew so well that our ship had been in the wrong that we did not have the effrontery to tell even ourselves that the Nazi attack was unprovoked. We had also landed American infantry in Iceland to take over from the British and relieve their troops for combat. In other words, we sent a garrison to hold a British outpost against Britain's enemy. If the case had been reversed we Americans certainly would have regarded that troop movement as a hostile military act.

Now, on these precedents, Mr. Truman feels justified in sending a few Marines, who would be powerless in a real fight, to some vague mission in the Mediterranean; sending submarines to Turkey to be used against Russia, and in sending American officers to serve with the Grecks in the field against the detached and unofficial Russian army of Communists.

We may also be drawn into the Palestine war, a terribly ominous affair, if we use as a pretext the guarding of our consulate. We had far better close up the consulate and get out.

The Marines can only court trouble. They cannot cope with it and if they should be challenged and beaten in a fight, we would have to back them up with everything in another total war. We would not even know our enemies and would have to attack or even invade nations or countries with whom we would have no excuse of war.

In the first World War, France and Britain conspired to give Russia the Dardanelles at Turkey's expense as Russia's honest reward in fulfillment of her legitimate need. Now the United States alone undertakes to maintain the ancient blockade and frustrate an old Russian ambition.

The Palestine war is a political monstrosity disguised as a religious migration. Many of the agitators who have been crying for a religious homeland have absolutely no religion and are Communists with no loyalty but to Soviet Russia. Those atheistic exploiters of American susceptibilities would readily turn on any Americans who might be sent to Palestine if that would serve Stalin's purpose, and we would be involved in a real war, which would certainly lead to intense antiJewish feeling in the United States. The Communists everywhere would then exploit this feeling to our disadvantage and perhaps our ruin. They aggravate and exploit it now.

President Truman simply cannot muster the character to repudiate a wicked adventurer and abandon his precedents, which will certainly be fatal to the United States if they are not abandoned.

The people of the United States have no obligation to establish any homeland for anybody anywhere, but there is a queasy fear of saying so. This cowardice may cost the lives of a million Americans.

If Truman continues to monkey around in Europe and if we do not choke off the Palestine war on the New York front, we will be back in another world war, our third, simply for lack of the courage and integrity to be the American people in the American nation and mind our own business.

MORAL OF THE FRENCH STRIKES

(Truth, London, England)

Despite strenuous attempts by the Communists to prolong the strikes, French workers in the main seem, for the time being, to have had enough of them. They have been going back to work throughout the week, ignoring the threats of the extremists. Until such time as they again become bored with their jobs, and so ready for another break, it seems probable that the French economy will be given the chance to recover some of its lost ground. The Communists, of course, will make it their business to ensure, if they can, that the breathing-spell does not last too long. According to Communist dogma, capitalism—of which social-democracy is regarded only as a variant—must break down of its own accord, but the Reds see in that circumstance no reason why they should not lend inevitability a helping hand!

If the French Communists can precipitate a series of crises without allowing themselves to be exposed to an actual "show-down," it is probable that, before long, they will wreck the French economy. Whether or not the Marxists are right in their diagnosis of the distempers within the capitalist system, there is no doubt that a capitalist, or even a Socialist, economy cannot continue to function in the teeth of Communist sabotage. This is the outstanding problem which the modern age has to solve, but neither in France nor in Britain has there yet been heard any hint as to what shape the solution is likely to take.

Being a scientist doesn't mean one can understand politics. There is no reason why the opinion of a scientist is any better than any other man's when it comes to politics.

WAR IN FIVE YEARS? ..... by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — (NEA)— President Truman's Air Policy Commission report, "Survival in the Air Age," makes some of the gloomiest reading in a long time. It says the United States had better get ready for a war by Jan. 1, 1953, which is called A-Day.

The honorable Commission says we can blunder into a war before that time. But the five-year interval between then and now is all the time in which the U. S. may be reasonably sure of having a monopoly on the atomic bomb.

If this report had been written by a bunch of admirals, generals and representatives of the aircraft industry, it might be discounted as so much propaganda from the militarists and the manufacturers who want a subsidized industry. That the report was written by five distinguished, and presumably disinterested, private citizens after exhaustive investigation is merely evidence of the seriousness of the situation.

The five were: Chairman Thomas K. Finletter, lawyer and special assistant to the Secretary of State from 1941 to 1944. Vice Chairman George P. Baker was an Air Force colonel during the war, then head of international aviation affairs in the State Department and is now with the Harvard business school. The three members were Denver newspaper publisher Palmer Hoyt, Dun and Bradstreet's Arthur D. Whiteside, and John A. Mc[illegible] of the Joshua Hendy Iron Works, who replaced Henry Ford.

REPORT'S GLOOM MATCHES PREPAREDNESS IN BUDGET

Couple their forebodings with the heavy preparedness outlays in the President's budget message, and you really get the glooms.

The Finletter Commission estimates that, for the past year, military expenditures have been roughly $3 billion for the Army, $3 billion for the sea-going Navy, and $4 billion for the Air Force plus naval aviation.

This $10 billion total, says the Commission, should be increased to $11,900,000,000 for the calendar year 1948, and $13,200,000,000 for 1949. Of this last total, $5,500,000,000 should go for a strong defensive and counter-attacking air force. In short, air power must be the future first line of defense, instead of a strong Navy. The projected total cost of Army, Navy and Air Force in 1952 would be $18 billion.

All this talk of increased military appropriations will probably be used by the Moscow Radio, Henry Wallace and the American Communists as evidence that the U. S. is preparing for another war. Such arguments will have to be taken cautiously.

STRONG U. S. AIR FORCE AN AID TO PEACE

The Finletter Commission apparently approached its job with the idea that it wanted to work for peace. But the farther the Commission pursued its studies, the more convinced it became that the only way to keep the peace was to make the U. S. strong in the air. The outlay it recommends for building up U. S. air power is therefore the price of keeping the peace, and the price of maintaining democratic world leadership.

If this is correct, it leads to a number of sobering thoughts. If the U. S. taxpayer is ever to get out from under this burden of maintaining huge military establishments, the U. S. government must dedicate itself to a number of parallel courses of action.

It must work still harder towards international control of atomic energy and the outlawing of the atomic bomb. Its ultimate goal must be world disarmament, and the leaders of both political parties should be on record to that effect.

There should be still more determined efforts to make the United Nations work. There should be renewed efforts and constant pressure to conclude peace treaties with Austria, Germany and Japan. And the Marshall Plan for European reconstruction must succeed.

The most valuable contribution of the Finletter Commission, therefore, is something not stated in its report at all. It is that, before 1953, the U. S. must find some way to bank its now airborne ship of state, and do a 180-degree turn in the direction of peace, instead of heading for even a defensive war.

LOOKING AHEAD

by GEORGE S. BENSON

Searcy, Arkansas

YOU PAY FOR IT

Other day that classic journal of ours, the Arkansas Gazette, commented: "The government has to all figured out what people do with every penny of their money. Now, if only the people could figure out what the government does with it." That is a real poser! To be sure, government has to spend a lot of money. We are a big nation. Moreover, we find it necessary to take on obligations in many foreign lands.

But whether the government (specifically the federal government, where they throw around big sums) spends ino more than is needful is important to every-One. Government is not a luxury; it is a necessity. Yet, to read the budget figures you would think all operations were on a luxury basis. The cost of government is largely a non-productive investment. When you settle your income taxes next March, you will get no interest on past payments.

GOVERNMENT SPENDS

That government is expensive was proved again by John T. Flynn, who showed in Reader's Digest that TVA, a government project, forgot to include certain items in its bookkeeping. Instead of the indicated profit, there was a real deficit of $130,000,000 to June 30, 1944. Flynn shows there was an actual loss in sales of power to that date of $15,000,000. This demonstrates that efficiency is a quality unknown to government operations.

Say what we may, then add all the dismal stories of waste and corruption, there is no evidence government projects can muster to promote the idea of government ownership. Too many of our citizens have seen first hand examples of government waste and inefficiency. That has been the story whenever the government has handled large sums of money, as in the war and in the Thirties.

WAY TO DEPRESSION

Here's a prophecy. Wait until the budget is presented to this Congress, then watch the departments and bureaus fight any reductions. Increase the appropriation and swell the payroll—but shrink the swollen department? Never. This kind of selfishness means meager tax savings. It permits little tax reduction for folks who so much need relief. The more we tax and the more we spend for government, the nearer we get to depression.

Taxes of all kinds are too heavy these days. Corporation taxse are burdensome. Income taxes on all levels are too high. The individual income taxes cut down the rewards of the wage earner, keeping him from saving and investing. Instead, his tax payment is earmarked: "government expense." Some people oppose tax reductions for corporations and individuals, without realizing that continued heavy taxes will undermine our economic system and their own standard of living.

DECISIONS LIE AHEAD

Obviously, one of the quickest ways to halt wasteful and unprofitable bureaucracy is to stop feeding fuel to its fires. Government, without a plentiful supply of tax money, could hardly be wasteful government. Congress has the power to say what the government shall spend and what amount it shall collect in taxes. It is up to us to see that our Congress keeps a proper rein on collections and expenditures.

Unwise spending and taxing could take this nation into the bankruptcy of communism. It could do it more quickly than anything else. Indeed, the power to tax is the power to destroy. We must see to it that America keeps an efficient and well-managed government, not a wasteful bureaucracy. That will be a powerful factor in deciding, in the coming months, whether America will remain prosperous and economically stable.

That story about the parrot in Newark who could not only speak English but Italian, too, interested me. I'm always glad to see some evidence that our feathered and animal friends are improving themselves. Somebody's got to take over running the world pretty soon, as human beings have certainly shown they can't handle the job.

Maybe this particular parrot could line up a few feathered pals, teach them to play instruments, and they could all earn a few crackers with musical recordings, something which Mr. Petrillo's humans are no longer allowed to do.

Or an upstanding parrot with a fine resonant speaking voice might make a valuable place for himself at the political conventions this year. I hear there's going to be a lot of feathers flying, and from what I've seen of the heads of some Republican and Democratic politicians, they can't afford to lose many more feathers.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Henry A. Wallace has assured leftist friends and political backers that he will not withdraw as a third-party candidate in the presidential race, despite heavy pressure from old associates in the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations to persuade him to bow out on the basis of the President's recent report to Congress on the state of the union.

It is now known that the presidential message was rewritten several times after the Wallace announcement, and after public and private polls revealed that he might make deep inroads into the regular Democratic strength.

Besides aiming to make an appeal to Wallace radicals and liberals, Mr. Truman's aides held a faint hope that he might even lassoo the rebellious Iowan himself.

On domestic issues, according to reports from the third-party camp, the message gave complete satisfaction to the former Vice-President. That is, it did with respect to extension of the social, economic and educational reforms of the New Deal which Mr. Wallace helped to frame.

INVITATION — The insurgent gave careful and prayerful consideration to the document, which was described by politicos on Capitol Hill as a deliberate invitation to the prodigal son to return to the old party homestead. Mr. Wallace's supporters waited anxiously for several days while hestudied the message with Yogi-like concentration.

To their delight, he reported solemnly that the President had fallen short of his ideals and demands. Oddly, it was not Mr. Truman's strong endorsement of the Marshall Plan which fortified Mr. Wallace in his determination to proceed with his original program of revolt.

He explained that he could not support Mr. Truman, and would have to oppose him, because of the latter's demand for a system of universal military training. That has now become Mr. Wallace's major issue, largely because of its appeal to mothers, veterans and prospective trainees.

REBELLION — Mr. Wallace was also disappointed by the Chief Executive's attitude toward the Hartley-Taft Act, as well as toward the National Labor Relations Board's admnistration of the anti-labor statute.

In his address Mr. Truman reiterated his opposition to the law, but promised to enforce it to the utmost because of its enactment over his veto. The third-party candidate intimated that he might have quit the race if Mr. Truman had coupled his enforcement pledge with a ringing demand for repeal of the measure at this session.

The President's stand convinced Mr. Wallace and his friends that, despite his veto, Mr. Truman was not whole-heartedly against the act. That has long been the contention of many elements of organized labor.

Another Truman request which confirmed the Iowan in his decision of rebellion was the budget proposal for a national defense expenditure of approximately $11,000,000,000. Such an outlay convinced him, if further evidence were needed, that the man in the White House heads a "war Administration."

RUNNING - MATE — The Wallace-for-President Executive committee has three men in mind as his running-mate.

Senator Glen H. Taylor of Idaho, "the singing cowboy" has first call, if he will accept the nomination. Another man under consideration is the son of former Representative Usher Burdick of North Dakota. He has been active with numerous farm organizations at Washington and throughout the country.

They have also discussed Senator Elbert D. Thomas of Utah as a possibility, without knowing whether he would be agreeable. He was an ultra-New Dealer during the Roosevelt regime, and has been fairly regular since Mr. Truman's accession.

FUNDS — The Wallace leaders profess to entertain no fears about their ability to raise a campaign chest necessary for their needs. Although they plan to keep within the $3,000,000 maximum for the national organization in accord with the provisions of the Hatch Act, they point out that state groups will spend their own funds. They also expect voluntary aid that will compensate for any lack of cash.

They deny indignantly that they depend upon half-a-dozen leftist millionaires as "angels." Even more forcibly do they resent suggestions that pro-Moscow agencies or individuals may feed them a few dollars, directly or indirectly. As his new Marshall Plan attitude suggests, Mr. Wallace senses that the Democrats' scheme to depict him as a "Stalin stooge" may prove his heaviest handicap.

The political evangelist expects to obtain most of his funds by passing the hat at his revival meetings. Representative Vito Marcantonio, who will probably handle the New York campaign as chairman of the American Labor Party, reported to headquarters that he raised $65,000 in one dollar bills at a recent rally on the Upper East Side.

So, the message to Democrats and Republicans, despite bipartisan attempts to humanize their legislative programs as a leftist offset, is: Henry is on the march!

POLITICAL NOTE

Last summer my uncle in Mississippi was campaigning for sheriff. One night a stranger knocked at his door.

"Need a little help," he said. "My car went dead while I was getting some water outa the spring. How 'bout helping me shove off?"

"Sure," said Uncle Bob. We followed the man to the car and he got in. But before we could begin to shove he stepped on the starter and the motor roared. Leaning out, the driver said, "Jist wanted to know if you was the right kind of man to vote for."

LABOR PARTY SAINTS
(The Chicago Tribune)

The ashes of Beatrice and Sidney Webb, longtime leaders of Fabian socialism in England, have been consigned to 10 square feet of space under an aisle in Westminster abbey. Since Sidney's death in October, the remains had reposed at the Webb home, Passfield Corners. George Bernard Shaw, another old member of the Fabian society, suggested the abbey as more fitting. Prime Minister Attlee jumped at the chance to make capital for the Labor party, and he and his cabinet turned up for the rites.

Soldiers, empire builders, and the great men of English arts and letters lie all about the Webbs. The greatest posthumous honor that the empire can confer has come to them. They are the first Socialist politicians ever to be admitted to the abbey.

And yet there are overtones of irony to the whole proceeding which will not fail to attract discerning notice. As prophets, the Webbs backed the wrong horses. Time has proved the monumental proportions of their error—never more apparent than now, when their two greatest enthusiasms, the socialist state in Britain and soviet communism in Russia are demonstrable proof of their mistaken notion that collectivism was the light and hope of the world. The hopes of the Webbs, if they were not already dead, could have appropriately been buried with them.

The Webbs became disillusioned with the Labor party after what was regarded as Ramsay Mac Donald's betrayal of the movement in 1931. Sidney had twice held office in Labor governments. The enthusiastic discovery of soviet Russia by Beatrice and Sidney in the '30's sprang from this disillusion. Their ponderous work, "Soviet Communism: a New Civilization?", followed a visit to Russia in 1932, where the accommodating commissars loaded them with documents, confusing promise with performance and inducing them to mistake the word for the deed.

The Fabian society was inspired by Fabius of Rome, a general who wore his enemy down and was always going to fight tomorrow. The victories which the Webbs sought were won in their lifetime by the collectivist system they espoused. In practice socialist theory failed to pan out. It is such a hopeless failure in England that it can survive only on remittances from capitalist America.

Driven into apostasy at home by the failure of the two earlier Labor governments, the Webbs sought salvation over the horizon in Stalin's tyrannous burlesque of the Fabian blueprint. They had to believe that they had found it—terror, purges, and slavery notwithstanding. To admit anything else was to confess that they had been blind all of their lives. Under the stones of Westminster at last there is nepenthe for these animated filing cabinets whose endless pages of theory and statistics failed to take account of the fallacies and motives of humankind acting politically.

FOR THE GROOM

Frank Richey, the patent attorney, says he has propounded these precepts to more than a hundred brides and grooms on the eve of their marriages, and so far the marriages have been successes:

1. Never get mad when your wife does.

2. If your wife gets mad, don't talk, just mope, because a talking man stirs up the tigress in a woman, but a man who mopes appeals to the maternal instinct.

3. If these fail pretend you are hurt, and you will appeal to the first-aid instinct.

CANADIAN —(Special)— The 36th Division Association's quarterly newspaper was mailed here Monday. The 2,200 copies, Volume 6, Number 1, came from the press of the Lockhart Publishing Company over the weekend. It was the first issue to appear since a three-year contract to edit and publish "The-T-Patch" was awarded the local printing firm by the association's Board of Directors at a meeting in Austin Jan. 11.

Thomas H. McDonald of Amarillo, former commander of the Third Battalion of the 142nd Infantry, and Lt. Col. Vincent M. Lockhart, present G-I of the reconstituted division and former member of the 142nd Infantry and Divishon Headquarters, are owners of the firm which also publishes the Canadian Record and the Higgins News. Lockhart is the active manager of the firm and is the new editor of "The T-Patch".

Editor Lockhart stated that there are more than 50,000 men eligible for membership in the 36th Division Association. This includes every man who has ever worn the T-Patch on his shoulder, whether in World War I, World War II, or in the Guard between wars. Another interesting statement was that there are more members of the famous Texas division in Brooklyn than in Austin.

Gordon Miller, student minister from Phillips University, Enid, Okla., filled the pulpit at the First Christian Church Sunday morning and evening. The church is without a regular minister since Rev. Troy Plunk, the former pastor, accepted a call to the First Christian Church in Electra early in December.

• McLean

McLEAN — (Special) — The following students were presented in a musical program at Mrs. Willie Boyett's studio Jan. 8: Patricia Furguson, Norma Watson, Charles Boyd, Norma Chapman, Wanetca Hupp, Billy James Rainwater, Dicky Sligar, Darlene Shadid, LaWanda Shadid, Patsy Tindall, and Peggy Tindall. Mrs. W. R. Ferguson and Mrs. E. L. Watson served refreshments.

First Presbyterian Church leaders for another year were named at the annual congregational meeting last Sunday. Named to serve a three-year term as elders were W. W. Shadid and George Close; and James Massay, F. H. Bourland, Mrs. Jess Kemp and Mrs. H. E. Franks were named as deacons. Arthur Erwin was honored as having completed 40 years of service as an elder. Verbal tributes in the name of the church were paid to Mrs. Travis Stokes, church pianist, and Mrs. James M. Payne, general superintendent of the Sunday School.

LOOKING FOR GOOD LAND?

Well folks, here's one closer to home. 320 acres of good Wheeler County land, well fenced, good windmill. No chinnery or sage brush, 200 acres wheat, 1-3 goes. Wheat's in good shape. This place is in the recent leasing campaign, part of the minerals go. The rent on 180 acres paid the owner over $2200 last year. This old boy's got ramblin' fever and wants to get on the move. Price $40 per acre.

I have 2400 acres up in southeast Wyoming and northeast Colorado and I sure would like for some Texas folks to go up there too.

This is a dandy - - - 640 acres about as level as a floor. This is a well improved place, has three irrigation wells each with 900 gallons per minute capacity, two equipped with electricity and in operation. All you have to do is flip a switch and here comes the water. There is 300 acres of irrigated wheat, and 65 acres of alfalfa. All in cultivation and only four miles from town. All crops go. Price is $100 per acre. Wheat on land nearby made 52 bushels per acre last year.

Also have an 1100 acre valley farm, well improved. It has some irrigation. A 1500 gallon well was brought in about a half mile up the valley from this place last week. All of this farm is good land. Price is $37.50 per acre. Eight miles from town. Reason for selling, the owner is too old to continue farming. I have looked these two places over and I think they are worth the money.

The annual average rainfall in this locality for the past 17 years is 17.76 inches.

Texas Today

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
Associated Press Staff

From George Washington to W. Lee O'Daniel, the real estate business in the nation's capital has been exciting.

The junior senator from Texas manages to stay in the news with his, while George Washington's real estate ventures were almost silent.

Differences in their real estate dealings don't end there, howevr. O'Daniel has mad money out of the same land that caused Washington and his friends to lose.

Instead of buying property east of the Capitol as Washington and his friends had hoped, the federal government went west. Now buildings on that same land have returned handsome profits to O'Daniel and his business associates.

A few days ago O'Daniel sold the old Washington Bank Building on Pennsylvania avenue to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen for $55,000. He paid $26,500 for it in 1945. It formerly housed the offices of the "W. Lee O'Daniel News."

Just as the 80th Congress was recessing last summer, O'Daniel sold his 40-room, 14-bath residence, the Senate Arms, in transactions totaling $127,000. The Senator had bought it for $54,000 and evicted the tenants, because he needed it all, he said.

Now Jefferson Properties, Inc., a Delaware Corporation, headed by O'Daniel's executive secretary, Harry Knox, formerly adjutant general of Texas, is selling apartments in a building bought early last year for $19,000.

The six apartments in the Jefferson properties building range in price from $10,000 to $12,000 per unit.

Also listed as officers in Jefferson Properties, Inc., are Abby Jane Knox, vice-president, and Fred H. Donohoo. Donohoo, like Knox, is an O'Daniel aide.

Paradoxically, the building which once housed the O'Daniel News, critical of labor unions, now will house the Public Affairs Institute, an official of the BRT says.

The BRT man described the Public Affairs Institute as a "liberal research group."

There are Texans in Washington who believe the federal government should have bought all this proprty when Washington, George, that is, offered it for sale the first time.

Health Condition Of Nation Still Better Is Report

NEW YORK, N. Y. — "The health of the American people was excellent in 1947 and the picture during the closing months of the year gives cause for optimism regarding health conditions in 1948," says Dr. Louis I. Dublin, second vice-president and statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. In expressing confidence in the outlook for 1948, Dr. Dublin based his views on an analysis of the factors that produced an exceptionally good health record in the past year.

"The 1947 death rate will probably be the lowest in our history when allowance is made for the increased numbers of infants and old people in our population," Dr. Dublin says. "Death rates at most ages were lower in 1947 than in 1946, the previous record health year. For a large number of important diseases, new low rates were established in 1947.

"An outstanding feature of the year's record was the decline in the mortality of mothers and infants to new low levels. This is all the more remarkable since the unprecedentedly large number of births taxed hospital facilities to the utmost. The splendid accomplishments in maternal and infant health in the face of this handicap reflect the benefits of more widespread parental care, improved obstetrics, and better control of infections by means of the sulfa drugs and penicillin. Particularly noteworthy is the record for infantile diarrhea which, for the first time in history failed to show a nominal summertime peak in mortality.

"Superb health conditions prevailed among young children," Dr. Dublin notes. "This is particularly fortunate because their numbers have grown by several millions as a result of the high birth rate in recent years. cases of measles and scarlet fever were at low ebb. Whooping caugh had a periodic increase, but deaths rose less than did cases, indicating that greater success is being achieved in treatingt he disease. Diphtheria was at the lowest level in our history. For all of these conditions, the outlook in 1948 is favorable, although a normal periodic increase in some of them is possible. The poliomyelitis record in 1947 was encouraging, the numbers of cases and deaths being the smallest in five years. Cerebrospinal fever, unusually prevalent in wartime, maintained its downward trend in 1947 toward prewar levels.

"The 1947 record for tuberculosis is of exceptional interest. The mortality from this disease fell to a new low in 1947, while the rate of its decline was probably the largest in many years. The prospect is good for a continuation of the favorable trend in 1948. A new minimum death rate was also established for pneumonia, thanks largely to the high rate of recovery of cases treated with sulfa drugs and penicillin. The mortality from influenza was also down. Appendicitis was still another disease in which a new low rate was established in 1947. For over a decade now the rate from this disease has declined without interruption and in 1947 it was less than one third that of ten years ago. Chemotherapy has been the major factor in bringing about this marked improvement," he said.

MISSING GIRL

came to San Francisco with Jacqueline on a bus last Wednesday.

It was through a conversation of Miss Costello's that the tavern owner checked on the picture, the inspectors said.

Miss Costello told Merrill and Shelley that she met Jacqueline on the bus as both were traveling from Los Angeles and had not known her previously. She was able, however, to provide them with a list of places where Miss Horner had stayed and with taverns where she and Wells had gone.

Long and Jones Leading Race In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Two archrivals of Louisiana politics since the days of the "scandals"—Former Governors Earl K. Long and Sam H. Jones—today were out in front and close together as the slow count of yesterday's Democratic Gubernatorial Primary Election continued.

There were four candidates in the race and it was certain that a runoff primary, set for Feb. 24, would be necessary. But hundreds of country boxes remained to be tabulated, so it wasn't yet certain that Long and Jones would qualify as the two highest and therefore eligible to repeat their runoff primary battle of 1940. The prize is a nomination equivalent to election.

Jones is the man who led a ballot box revolt in that year against the late Huey P. Long's political organization, which backed Earl Long Huey's brother, for the governorship. Jones won and was succeeded in 1944 by a political ally, the singing governor, Jimmie H. Davis. This year Jones and Long again were made standard-bearers by their respective factions.

The old regular organization of New Orleans, breaking an alliance originally imposed by Huey Long, ha dits own candidate, U. S. Rep. James H. Morrison. Judge Robert F. Kennon made an appeal for the ex-servicemen's vote with an "All-GI Ticket."

Unofficial returns from 613 of the 1,878 Louisiana voting precincts in Tuesday's Democratic Primary Election gave the following vote for Governor: Jones 70,274, Kennon 39,486, Long 76,701, Morrison 45,671.

Wheeler County Group Makes Transcription For Texas Network

A group of Wheeler County 4-H Club members and leaders met in Pampa yesterday afternoon with D. A. (Andy) Adam, radio editor of the Texas A & M Extension Service, to make a transcription which is to be broadcast over the Texas Quality Network Friday morning at 6 o'clock. WBAP, Fort Worth, and WOAI, San Antonio, are listed among the number of stations to carry the transcription on the Farm and Home Hour series.

Among those to be heard on the program are Ralph Jones, assistant Wheeler County agent; W. R. Ritter, Shamrock, Wheeler County sanitarian; Tommy Laman, Mobeetie, 4-H Club member; and Rozena Zybach, Wheeler County 4-H Club representative who won the 1946 district talent contest, taking regional honors in 1947 in the annual contest sponsored by Producers Grain Cooperative.

The transcribed interviews present the work of Wheeler 4-H Club members in achieving better health conditions for the community. These programs are presented every other week from outstanding club groups over the state, illustrating some phase of 4-H Club ideals and goals. The San Angelo 4-H Club was featured on the previous broadcast.

The group met in the office of County Agent Ralph Thomas for a discussion period before making the transcriptions at KPDN. W. K. Fry, Wheeler County agent, accompanied the group here.

COLLISION

Braly. The Court accepted the plea and waived the fine. Mr. Chapman's charge was "held in abeyance" by the Court.

Judge Braly told newsmen that Mr. Chapman had been in the hospital and his wife was driving in order to get the children back and forth from school. However, Chapman was in court this morning.

ONE INTOXICATION

One man, charged with intoxication, was assessed a $10 fine by Corporation Court Judge Clifford Braly this morning in Corporation Court. One man and a woman had their disturbance of the peace charges deferred until Jan. 28 when the full story of the altercation could be learned.

INFECTION FROM SMOKE

Oil Production Increase Expected

AUSTIN —(AP)— An increase over current crude oil production is anticipated by the Railroad Commission in its February oil order, issued yesterday and designed to bring a flow of 2,397,888 barrels per day.

The commission set a net allowable of 2,612,502 barrels per day, but increased its estimate of underproduction from 7.68 percent for January to 8.25 percent for February.

Analysis shows the actual production for February will be 3,000 barrels per day more than that reached with a net allowable of 2,593,912 barrels daily on Jan. 17, the latest available figure.

Increased production for February will be achieved by maintaining a 20-day schedule for the East Texas Field in the 29-day month. This will mean an increase in net allowable of 19,590 barrels. All other fields, which are exempt from shutdown, maintain the same allowables as now are in effect.

Texas crude production will exceed the U. S. Bureau of Mines estimate of market demand by 37,888 barrels. An additional 220,178 barrels of natural gasoline and distillate will kick total Texas production to 2,618,066 barrels per day above the Bureau of Mines figure.

Article Discusses 'Straying Husband'

NEW YORK, N. Y. — No matter how good your husband is, he is more or less susceptible to the wiles of the "other woman," declares Dr. George Lawton, noted psychologist and author.

A husband may be theoretically all that he should be, says Dr. Lawton in the January Journal of Living, but if he starts taking his wife for granted, excuses his indifference with complaints of hard work or tiredness, shows concern at approaching baldness or middle age and feels only partially successful in his work - then it's time for wives to beware!

Unless a wife can recognize these warning signals, her husband may be ready to look for a woman who "understands" him. It's not the other woman but his susceptibility to any woman which counts most, insists Dr. Lawton. A man is sure bait for any woman who gives him a feeling of masculinity, assurance and importance.

Every wife can use the same implements as the "other woman" with the same effect, the article points out. It's an important part of marriage for a wife to know the signs of a husband who may "go looking" - and she should know what he is looking for. Simply supplying it is the answer to her problem, the expert declares.

50 POUNDS LOST WITH BARCENTRATE
Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.
If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.
Here is what Mrs. C. M. Earsh, 363 N. 12th St., McAllen, Texas, says about Barcentrate: "I want to tell you that I have lost 50 pounds since taking Barcentrate. I still want to lose 20 more pounds as I now weigh 167, a reduction from 217 pounds."
To lose weight the grapefruit juice way, get Barcentrate from your favorite druggist today.
