House explodes; six Kansans die

OLATHE, Kan. (AP) — Six persons died and two were critically injured Saturday when an explosion ripped through a home in a quiet residential neighborhood of Olathe, police said.

Authorities said the cause of the blast, which rocked houses as far as a mile away, was not immediately known. But natural gas was being ruled out as a cause.

State and local authorities and officials from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms were trying to determine whether an explosive device caused the blast.

Olathe Police Lt. Bob Patterson identified the victims as Robert Post, 51; his wife, Norma Jean, 47; their daughters Diane Crump, 20, and Susan Post, 18 or 19; and his sons, Richard, 21; and James, 10.

Injured in the blast, which occurred about 9:30 a.m., were Randy Crump, Diane Crump's 4-month-old son, and Craig Weber, 10 or 12, who was visiting. They were listed in critical condition, Patterson said.

A ninth person in the home escaped serious injury, police said.

Post was head of a popular children's softball organization in Johnson County.

Patterson said five of the victims were dead at the scene and three others were rushed to an Olathe hospital, where one died in surgery.

"I've been here five years and it's the worst thing I'm aware of," Patterson said.

Residents in the quiet neighborhood on the north side of the Kansas City suburb, used rakes and snow shovels to clear debris from the explosion that leveled the two-story frame house. Only the chimney and a portion of the living room were left standing.

Douglas Strieby, who lives just north of house, said the torso of a body was blown into his back yard. Strieby said he was the first one at the scene and there were parts of bodies scattered throughout the rubble.

Shortly after the explosion, a police officer sifting through the debris uncovered the family's cocker spaniel, which was still alive and apparently not seriously injured.

Presidential candidates' debate

Republican Reagan vs. Independent Anderson vs. the man who wouldn't show up BALTIMORE (AP) — Ronald Reagan and independent John B. Anderson meet in televised campaign debate Sunday night, each aiming past the other at Jimmy Carter, the president who wouldn't come.

As a result, the Reagan-Anderson confrontation is likely to be more sideswipe than collision.

Carter was to spend the evening at home in the White House, 40 miles to the south. His spokesmen wouldn't say whether the president would watch a debate he dismissed as a meeting between two Republicans.

And there will be a choice of television fare. NBC and CBS were carrying the hour-long debate that begins at 10 p.m. EDT. Associated Press Radio and other radio networks were broadcasting the debate live. The Public Broadcasting Service planned to carry the event on a tape delay basis, while ABC-TV planned to stick with its prime-time movie, "Midnight Express."

That suits the Democrats, who are rooting for the movie to win the ratings. They've done everything they can to play down the debate, concerned that the forum will give Anderson a campaign boost. That's why Carter wouldn't go — he figures anything that elevates the status of the liberal Anderson can only hurt the Democratic ticket on Nov. 4.

The two debaters took time out from their campaign travels to prepare for Sunday's forum. Anderson views it as an opening to establish his credibility as an independent challenger for the White House, and to enhance his standing in the public opinion polls. His 15 percent-plus ratings were a major factor in the League decision to invite him.

Anderson worked at his House office and at home, honing up on issues, and viewing tapes of his past debate appearances. "I can't hire a coach," he said. "I can't take acting lessons at this point." He said he'll try to come on as a candidate of warmth and understanding.

Reagan did his homework at his rented estate in Middleburg, Va., going over issues papers, preparing answers to questions his advisers consider likely to be asked.

The debate debate has been going on all season; indeed, all year, counting the primary election campaign. Carter wouldn't debate Sen. Edward M. Kennedy then, and he won't now debate if Anderson is present.

Carter insists that the first debate should be between the major party candidates — "the only two men with a chance of winning." He said he'd be willing to include Anderson later.

Reagan, who says Anderson is a bigger hazard to Carter than to him, accuses the president of trying to hide his administration's record by skipping the debate and blaming his absence on the inclusion of the third candidate.

Just how all of that plays with the electorate depends on Sunday night's performance — and on the future of the debate series.

The League of Women Voters is sponsoring the Baltimore debate, and plans future debates in Portland, Ore., and Cleveland, plus a vice presidential candidate debate in Louisville, Ky., early next month.

But if Reagan and Anderson are the only participants, interest and television coverage is likely to wane.

There is no sign of settlement. Both Carter and Reagan now say they may never meet, each blaming the other. The president repeated on Thursday his demand that Reagan debate him alone.

Reagan hasn't quite closed the door on a two-man debate with Carter, saying his future judgment will depend on whether the independent remains a viable candidate.

That's just what worries the Democrats. Carter fears that Anderson will drain votes that would otherwise be his, especially in key industrial states.

Ironically, it was a debate Reagan shunned, in Des Moines, Iowa, on Jan. 5, that got Anderson going. The lone liberal among a half-dozen GOP candidates, Anderson gained attention, if not Republican votes.

Reagan joined the debate roster later; he and Anderson have shared debate platforms twice before, in Manchester, N.H., and in Chicago.

This time, they'll face a panel of six journalists, three of them women, in a forum moderated by public television commentator Bill Moyers.

They'll take turns answering questions, each candidate getting 2½ minutes to respond, then 1½ minutes for rebuttal. Reagan and Anderson will get three minutes apiece for closing statements.

The League tried to come up with a compromise Carter would buy, proposing a round robin of two-man debates, the order determined by lot, or a guarantee of a second debate without Anderson if the president agreed to the three-way format in the first. Carter's representatives rejected anything short of a first debate between the major party candidates.

At first, the League had said it would put an empty chair on the stage at the Baltimore Convention Center as a symbol of Carter's absence.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Song's origin

Q. How old is the old Western folk song, "Get Along Little Dogie," and is there any record of who wrote it?

A. It's at least 87 years old and probably older. The first record of the song is found in the travel journals of Owen Wister, author of "The Virginian." No composer is mentioned, according to the folk music history titled "Git Along Little Dogies" by John I. White, only that Wister said it was a unique song with "the earmark of entire genuineness."

Railroad Commission races attracting eyes of Texans

By JACKIE CALMES

AUSTIN — Forced to compete with presidential candidates, aspirants for two seats on the powerful but lackluster Texas Railroad Commission are having a harder time than usual attracting the eyes of Texas voters.

One of the four major party candidates, Republican Henry C. "Hank" Grover of Houston, seems to have dropped from sight altogether since reports of his troubled finances were published recently.

In contrast, fellow Republican underdog H.J. "Doc" Blanchard of Austin desperately seeks recognition, despite what he bitterly says is a lack of moral and monetary support from his newly adopted party.

The two Democratic frontrunners, incumbent Commissioner Jim Nugent of Kerrville and former state Rep. Buddy Temple of Diboll, continue to campaign actively, refusing to take victory for granted.

The main attraction of the two races, particularly for reporters, is the search for the elusive Grover. Many reporters end up reporting their failures. The state GOP headquarters in Austin first had no telephone number but now gives out one that belongs to Grover's brother. Messages go unanswered.

In desperation, some reporters turn to Temple, Grover's Democratic opponent. But Temple says, "I haven't heard of him or seen him."

"We're trying not to take things for granted," a Temple aide said, "but it's getting harder and harder the longer he doesn't surface."

The Dallas Morning News reported last month that Grover, a former state senator and 1972 Republican candidate for governor, has been sued six times in the past three years for defaulting on $74,000 in loans.

Despite that, Grover spent $63,000 — more than anyone in the country — to aid Ronald Reagan's 1976 campaign. This spring, he spent $30,000 on an anti-abortion, pro-John Connally campaign in the Iowa primary.

In the Texas GOP primary last May, Grover defeated two unknowns to win nomination to the Railroad Commission. Earlier, Grover said he was running for the six-year term to bring some industry expertise to the commission that regulates the state's oil, gas, coal and transportation industries.

Grover, who described himself then as a broker leasing land for Western coal and uranium production, said he would campaign after the primaries.

Temple, meanwhile, spent about $700,000 and months of 18-hour days to unseat commission Chairman John Poerner in the May primary. Now he finds himself shadow-boxing across the state.

"Even fairly sophisticated people who are active in politics ask me who my opponent is," Temple says.

"He's the one who has to play catch-up," Temple says of Grover. "Frankly, my campaign is going to respond to his." Of his rival's financial woes, Temple says, "I don't intend to bring that up at all."

Since the primary, Temple's strategy has called for four-to-five-day weeks of meet-and-greet politicking. He says he is picking up former loyalists and contributors of the vanquished Poerner. Temple lost West Texas in May but won big in East Texas, where his family owns the major timber barony, and in South Texas and the major metropolitan areas, except Dallas.

Could Grover, again without campaigning, coast in on Reagan's coattails? Temple is watching polls, and hired one of his own this summer, to gauge the potential cross-over vote. "If the polls indicate Reagan would sweep the state 70-30, I would be concerned about it," Temple says. "But the polls don't show that." He says he expects a close presidential race in Texas.

Democrat Nugent, running for the final two years of an unexpired term, also is unphased by talk of a Reagan-led, Republican stampede. Nugent, who has held a vacated seat on the three-member commission since former state senator from Lubbock who is now an Austin attorney.

Nugent survived a spiritual challenge to his incumbency in last May's Democratic primary, defeating populist Jim Hightower.

In that race, Nugent depicted Denison-native Hightower as the Yankee pawn in a grab for Texas' energy wealth. In contrast, Nugent now says, "I'm not running against anybody, I'm running for the office."

Though Hightower has been shot down, Nugent still is fighting his civil war against "energy-greedy Northeasterners." "That type of rhetoric has no place in this race," opponent Blanchard says, miffed that Nugent is ignoring him in the crusade against the North.

Nugent apparently is not the only one ignoring Blanchard. The Republican state party is "completely engrossed in the Reagan thing."

ABILENE — The Register of Merit Hereford competition at the recent West Texas Fair in Abilene was one of strong competition as winners of blue ribbons had a cross country flavor with owners from eight states winning firsts. Judge Marvin Feddes, Manhattan, Mont., had abundant quality to select from in making the placings.

J.L. "Curly" Hayes was given special recognition during the show. He has served many years as secretary-treasurer of the West Texas Hereford Association and as farm and ranch supervisor of the West Texas Utilities Co.

NEW YORK, NEW YORK — Opal Jones stands with her trophies and creations at the Howard County Fair. She left today on an all-expense paid trip to New York City and the Tri-Chem factory in Harrison, N.J. Mrs. Jones won the trip as a sales representative for Tri-Chem.

Big Spring woman wins trip for outstanding salesmanship

By RICHARD HORN
Opal Jones took her first trip to Las Vegas, Nev. in July of this year. On that trip, a convention for the Tri-Chem Co., Mrs. Jones won a sales award that will send her on another journey, this time to New York City.

Mrs. Jones and her husband Woodrow have been members of the Big Spring community for 21 years. She works as a seller for Tri-Chem and acts as a sales representative for their "liquid embroidery" and patterns. She has been using the product herself since 1951. (The Tri-Chem booth at the Howard County Fair is covered with some of her creations) and she started selling for them ten years ago by holding classes on how to paint with the embroidery.

"It's very simple to use and is very relaxing," she says. "It's better than a tranquilizer."

At the convention in Las Vegas, on July 21, Mrs. Jones was "amazed" when she walked away with one of the highest awards of the convention the Gallery of Greats, Hands of Success, given for selling 1,000 orders a month for eight months.

Along with a trophy, she won an all-expense-paid trip to Harrison, N.J., to tour the Tri-Chem plant, followed by a trip to New York for, among other things, a Broadway play. She leaves on her trip today and returns 4 days later.

"I was so surprised to have won that," she recalls, "but then they called me for the award for most sales by a crew. I was in shock. I had my shoes off under the table, relaxing, and they had to wait for me to get them back on. I was really embarrassed."

Mrs. Jones heads a crew of 50-55 people in Big Spring and the surrounding area. The Crew Sales Award covers crews in the Western United States, Alaska, Hawaii, and most of Canada.

"For Big Spring to have won out of all that is quite an honor," she says.

Mrs. Jones and her husband have two married sons in Odessa, four grandchildren, and one three-week-old great-grandchild.

Despite her recent and forthcoming travels, Mrs. Jones says she will always look forward to getting back to Big Spring. "It's nice to visit other places," she says, "but we just love it here and never want to leave for good." Mr. Jones is retired and makes frames for some of the Tri-Chem creations produced by Mrs. Jones and her husband.

About her trip to New York, Mrs. Jones says: "I think the Broadway play will be wonderful, but the most beneficial part will be the tour of the Tri-Chem factory. Being able to see how they make the product will really give me some interesting things to tell my classes and customers."

Community development projects drawing fire

States News Service

WASHINGTON — A group of 75 community-based organizations has concluded that a $4 billion per year housing and community development project has many shortcomings.

A study released by the Working Group for Community Development Reform in Washington says that many cities and counties participating in the federal Community Development Block Grant program haven't planned effective, workable programs.

The 75 organizations, ranging from the League of Women Voters of the National Urban League, included the Church and Society Department of the Diocese of Brownsville, Tex.

The group, which is the social arm of the local Diocese, has worked in cooperation with agencies in the Rio Grande Valley, particularly for Chicano activities.

The study, while not singling out particular local programs in each state, points out that administrative costs often are high and that the results of the effort often unclear.

The block grant provides money to local governments as part of an over-all federal effort to decentralize large expenditures.

Usually there is only one string attached to the money — that it be used for projects in local communities to benefit low and moderate income people. The money can be used for many things such as revitalizing housing or repairing entire areas of the town.

But, according to the study by the organizations, little money is ever put into severely blighted neighborhoods and that some communities even have used the money as a substitute for local taxes.

"The needs of minorities have been neglected in many places," the study asserts. "Little attention has been given to whether minorities and the poor are getting jobs created by community development projects."

How do you handle abusive calls? Hang up

Some of the grubbier members of society are those who get their kicks by originating obscene telephone calls.

Dr. Stephen Golder, clinical psychologist who did his research at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Dallas, has studied abusive phone calls from the standpoint of a professional and, ironically, that of a victim — himself.

According to Dr. Golder, while many abusive callers fit the category of the lonely, socially maladjusted persons seeking outlets for pent-up feelings who plans no subsequent violence, other callers are dangerous.

IN STUDYING POLICE records in one large southern city, Dr. Golder discovered that a sixth of the callers apprehended had previously been convicted of sex crimes or other offenses. Often the victim felt that she — and sometimes he, since members of both sexes make abusive calls — knew the caller.

"I used to be his girl friend. Now he's out of prison, he's going to get me," said one victim. Another told police, "I know who it is. He raped my friend."

Former spouses make a majority of the calls, those involved in some kind of triangle with the victim or simply casual acquaintances. Not unusual are calls which follow an act of violence, according to a phone company employee who works with abuse complaints and often testifies in court cases. It may be that the victim of the abusive call has been robbed or raped by the caller a short time before. Abusive phone calls vary widely.

Some remain silent, after making sure the person at the other end is still on the line. Others breathe heavily. Some joke about their depravity. Some are prank calls. By far the most serious are those who threaten or harass. All are considered Class B misdemeanors under Texas law, punishable by a fine up to $1,000 and from one to six months in jail.

According to the Texas penal code, a person commits such an offense if "he intentionally communicates by telephone in vulgar, profane, obscene, indecent or threatening language and by his action intentionally, knowingly or recklessly alarms the recipient; or if the caller places one or more telephone calls anonymously — and by this action recklessly annoys or alarms the recipient or intends to do so."

DR. GOLDER SAYS the best way to handle abusive calls is to hang up. By hanging up, he points out, the recipient gives the caller no satisfaction.

People who listen to abusive calls should be made aware, the psychologist explains, that they may be unconsciously participating. Comments like "Oh, how awful! You must be sick!" actually encourage rather than discourage the caller.

Dr. Golder strongly urges that victims call the police hurriedly if a threat is involved. If the caller describes things like the color of the victim's car or her nightgown, then the recipient has reason for great concern and definitely should summon help.

Changing life style

Around the rim

Walt Finley

A woman in the express line of a Big Spring grocery store was trying to be nonchalant about having 13 items in her cart — four over the limit.

Just then, her small daughter looked up, read the sign above the counter and, to the delight of the people waiting in the line, asked loudly:

"Mommy, do you have 9 items or less?"

It finally happened. My income is overcome.

DURING A HEATED ARGUMENT Friday night the crusty Scurry Street Republican shouted:

You don't have to fool all the people all the time. During elections is sufficient.

Herald word chaser, Lupe Hernandez, who celebrates her birthday Monday, provides a definition of a changing life style:

Your rent is raised without notice.

DAVID AND JULIE Eisenhower are expecting their second child in October, a family spokesman confirmed.

I'll bet up until now nobody suspected a thing.

The first time pill-pusher Mike Daniels' neighbor saw his wife wearing her new wig, he said:

"Jesse James never had a price like that on his head."

I THINK IT WAS MY favorite broadcaster, Jim Baum, who overheard:

"The truth shall make you free." "Yeah. Free of a job, my wife and all my friends."

That Herald man good with the figures, Gene Kimble, who celebrates his birthday Thursday, said:

"I have lived long enough to learn that anytime you see a 'help wanted' ad that stresses 'great hunting and fishing,' the job doesn't pay anything. 'And anytime you see a real estate ad that starts 'Lovely big pecan tree,' you know the house is a dog."

MY BASHFUL AUNT, Marie Chastain, is convinced a woman should have hindsight before she wears jeans.

(Have you noticed the getups some women wear to the grocery stores? It's enough to cause a man to wreck his cart.)

THE HERALD'S CLASSIFIED lefty, J. O. Sheid Jr., said the sight of a woman chasing a man used to cause raised eyebrows. Now, no one pays any attention. It is called "jogging."

My fishin' uncle, Russ Harris, thinks we should tell the developing countries, "Lower your oil prices, treat the United States fairly, or we'll stand up and let Russia have you."

That might not work, Uncle Russ. I'm afraid the Soviets would gobble them up as appetizers and then go after the main course.

MY PRICELESS COUSIN, Price Everett, Bridgeport, wrote:

The French are bragging about making a king-sized weiner two miles long. That's nothing! We can brag of possessing a number of politicians who can stretch the truth a darn sight farther than that.

I'm not sure I get the connection, Price, unless you mean truth is stranger than frankfurters.

Evans, Novak

SEOUL, South Korea — President Chun Doo Hwan, South Korea's new strongman trying to show the West a less repressive face, did not rule out to us the possibility he might commute a death sentence against dissident Kim Dae Jung amidst indications that government lawyers are about to study his options.

In his first interview since moving two weeks earlier from behind-the-throne power to the presidential throne itself, Chun stressed that Kim is not a political prisoner but is on trial for his life on strictly criminal charges. But while asserting "this is a matter for the courts and not the responsibility of the president to mete out justice," Chun did not close the door to clemency.

That typified the restrained tone by the 49-year-old career army officer who seized power last December during the turbulence following President Park Chung Hee's assassination. In a 90-minute interview at the Blue House, Chun welcomed President Carter's call for "complete democracy" here, proposed a quick end to martial law and predicted a more democratic South Korea than Park's 18-year regime.

BUT CHUN also emphasized the danger of North Korean aggression, making this peninsula a potential world flashpoint and keeping 39,000 U.S. troops here. If last May's riots in the town of Kwangju, he said, "had been allowed to spread to two other cities," North Korean ruler Kim Il Sung would have sent down 100,000 infiltrators. "That is why social unrest, disorder and riots cannot be tolerated," Chun added.

On balance, Chun hardly seemed the barracks room primitive portrayed in the international press. While chain-smoking throughout the interview, he was relaxed and self-assured. His sophistication belied the fact that scarcely two years ago he was an unknown infantry division commander.

The contrast between the smiling, athletic-looking Chun and the austere, frail Park is more than physical. While Park told us in the same room five years ago that communist North Korea's military menace precluded relaxation of security here, Chun held out considerably more hope even though his regime so far is measurably harsher than Park's final years. Chun called the U.S. his country's "great benefactor" and studiously avoided provocative language about the U.S. often used by Park.

That was true of his cautious language in responding to Western criticism of the trial of former presidential candidate Kim Dae Jung, today the most serious dispute between Washington and Seoul. "I am a little concerned about the tendency in the United States and Japan to link that case to me," he said.

But Chun did not lash out at U.S. interference. He simply said he had not yet considered a presidential pardon, while not commenting on the prospect. We received the impression that his lawyers will soon research the presidential powers for clemency, though commutation of a death sentence is opposed by Chun's key advisers.

AS FOR CARTER'S recent call for "complete democracy" in South Korea, Chun told us: "I think it is very good that he should say that. I certainly do not resent it at all. Democracy has to be complete. Incomplete democracy is undesirable under any circumstances."

THE L. A. TIMES SYNDICATE

Pitching toe strain

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I did a lot of pitching this summer, and have ended up with a very painful right foot. It has been a while since I pitched last, but my big toe on the right foot still hurts. What was I doing wrong? — B.J.

My guess is that you are a right-handed pitcher and that you weren't using proper shoes. The injury is common, especially among beginners, I'm told. The whole body is involved in pitching properly, from the finger tip to the toe on the pitching side. The big toe acts as a fulcrum for the push-off. The more zip to the pitch, the more strain on the toe. The result is a bending upward of the toe, the greatest strain occurring at the base of the joint.

The immediate treatment should have been rest and icing of the joint, along with leg elevation. You're past that stage by now and past the immediate stage of injury. You should still rest the foot and use warm soaks until the inflammation subsides.

You need shoes with rigid soles, preferably made of stout leather. Next season try a foam rubber pad at the base of your toe to take some of the stress off the joint. If the pain persists, you can assume you have more than a simple strain and you should have it examined.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have never met a tennis player who didn't at one time or another develop elbow pain. My contention is that the improper backstroke contributes to most of it. Do you agree? — B.B.

I agree. Not all tennis players necessarily develop elbow pain. But, of course, a great many of them do. In a study of 2,633 tennis players, more than 40 percent reported having such pain. The most painful symptoms came with the backstroke.

One explanation of this is that the weakest muscles of limbs are not the ones that flex (bend) but the ones that extend (straighten). The backstroke calls for the ultimate extension of these relatively weak muscles, and so it is no surprise to learn that they are the ones most acutely affected.

The only preventative, I suppose, is a careful development of the extensor muscles, a gradual program emphasizing careful overloading sessions alternating with periods of rest. By overloading I mean exercise to actually overuse the muscles just this side of producing painful symptoms, then resting them for a day before repeating. Most injuries result not from overuse of muscles per se, but overuse to an unwise degree, without allowing for the rest required between sessions. The same study showed that incidence of tennis pain increased with increasing years and with frequency of play.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My coach is big on breathing at the right times. I can never remember when I'm supposed to breathe in or out. It just makes it harder for me to think about what I want to do. Is breathing really such a big deal? — H.K.

I wish you had specified the kind of activity you are engaged in. If you are talking about exerting sudden super effort, breathing patterns are more important, more so than in playing basketball, for example. It is best to breathe out prior to the instant of greatest exertion. An example of this would be when lifting a heavy weight. The effects of breathing out are to keep the airways open and reduce the pressure within the chest and abdomen.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is there any truth to the statement that lifting weights will make a person muscle-bound? F.H.

Not if you train correctly. That means including some stretching exercises along with the lifting. It's never good to concentrate totally on one muscle group, such as the biceps on the front of the arm, while neglecting the muscles on the backs of the arms, the triceps. These muscles oppose each other, and if you keep them in balance, so to speak, you won't become muscle-bound.

You can lose weight if you really want to! The booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have arthritis and use aspirin to relieve the pain. I don't need too much. My question is, am I lessening the absorption of the aspirin by taking them with a sip of milk? — Mrs. T.P.

No. Dear Dr. Donohue: How does the heart of a fetus first begin to pump? I've thought about this often, and would guess it begins as a result of chemicals produced by the body. Whose body — the mother's, the infant's — and at what stage? — Just Curious.

Those structures that are destined to become the heart begin to beat at about the third or fourth week. I don't think there has been a substance identified as one that initiates the beating. The tissue responsible — the pacemaker — reaches a stage of development to begin working by the fourth week. It has always been thought of as a developmental thing and not a matter of chemicals. You've got a good theory, though.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am 10 years old and we are studying about dinosaurs in school. Where did they come from? Were they created before Adam and Eve? — H.M.

Dear H.M.: The Bible does not mention dinosaurs; I believe this is because God's purpose in the Bible is to point us to himself and how he has met our spiritual needs in Christ. But that does not mean it is inaccurate or out of harmony with scientific facts.

In the first chapter of Genesis the Bible outlines in brief form God's creation of the world. After creating the universe, the land and sea, the plants, and the sun and moon, God then created living creatures. "So God created the great creatures of the sea and every living and moving thing with which the water teems, according to their kinds, and every winged bird according to its kind" (Genesis 1:21). Note that this tells us God created every living thing — and that would include animals which are now extinct, such as dinosaurs. And note also that Adam and Eve were created after this.

It is interesting to think about dinosaurs and other kinds of life. But remember that God created everything, without exception. Have you ever thought how great and all-powerful God must be to do that? That is why the Bible tells us, "For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities — his eternal power and divine nature — have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made" (Romans 1:20).

There is, however, an even greater — more staggering — truth. God not only created you, but he also loves you and wants you to know him personally. That is why Jesus Christ came into the world — to make it possible for you to know God and be his child. It is fun to find out about new things, such as dinosaurs. But the greatest adventure in life is to invite Jesus Christ to come into your heart by faith, and follow him all your life. I hope you will turn to him and let him make you a child of God.

Big Spring Herald

Mailbag

Dear Editor:

I started roller skating at the age of 2 and was performing professionally solo at the age of 4 and continued until I reached the age of 22 at which time I married. My exhibitions took me all over Texas. Grant you those were a few years ago, but my father owned a rink and I want you to know I do know something about the sport. I still roller skate. I have always skated in skating skirts or skating outfits.

I recently visited a local rink for skating and noticed a new manager. I arrived in a golf skirt and my daughter had on shorts. A golf skirt is neither shorts nor a short skirt but is designed for playing golf and is ideal for roller skating. I also play tennis and swim. I recently tried ice skating. I do not wear long pants for any of these sports. When I participate in sports I need to be free to move and long pants bind me and they are extremely hot. I participate very actively so I get hot.

My daughter and I were not allowed to skate because of what we were wearing. It is hard to believe — but believe it you should — the local rink apparently is designed to be a babysitter only — not for roller skating but a place for parents to bring their children in long pants and drop them off to keep them while they do something else. It is not for roller skating as the sport is supposed to be for women and girls would be allowed to wear a skating apparel so they could skate. Have you ever seen Sonja Henie, Dorothy Hamill or Peggy Fleming skate in levis? They are artists — so am I at skating. Women who can roller skate should roller skate in a skating skirt — why else do they make them? You can go to any rink other than this one and buy a skating skirt for roller skating, and see girls and ladies skating in them.

The owner of this rink used to operate the rink, and at that time I wore golf skirts to skate in. He knows that I go to roller skate the best that I can and I dress accordingly. However, I believe he is unaware of this manager's policy. I feel she has grossly misinterpreted his guidelines. I'm sure he was trying to eliminate the teenage girls from dressing skimpy but not to prevent them from wearing the appropriate costume for roller skating — a skating dress or skirt.

Can you see the golf course turning women away because they are wearing a golf skirt — the tennis courts because women have on a tennis skirt?

It is a shame that Big Spring is so limited in places to go and things to do but these are the very things that take away just one more place for healthy entertainment. If you will pick up any magazine on the stands today, you will see that roller skating has come alive again, and women are skating in shorts with knee pads and elbow pads, etc. Visit the sporting good stores and see what the wearing apparel is for roller skating. It is not long pants or levis for women. It is ridiculous that one has to go out of town to be with the times — and the times arrive here about 10 years too late.

Goliad

Teams are victorious

By DANA HILTBURNER
Monday afternoon the volleyball girls had a successful win over Andrews. They started off the season with the White team scores as 15-3, 15-6. The Black team did as well with the scoreboard reading 15-7, 15-11.

Ms. Newsom and Ms. Jones were very satisfied with the girls. The volleyball girls would like to say "thanks" to the very encouraging pep-squad and cheerleaders. They did an excellent job.

The two football teams at Goliad played each other Thursday afternoon at Blankenship Field. The Black team defeated the White team by a score of 40-0.

The newly formed pep squad of 75 girls has selected their new name. Students were asked to submit a new name for the girls. Their new name is "Goliad's Golden Girls" and was submitted by three sixth graders — Gene Barber, Jay Turner and Janice Salazar.

The Golden Girls are being sponsored by Mrs. Maples, Miss Holland, Miss Newsom, Miss Roberts, and Ms. Jones. The girls are proud to have eight new pep squad leaders. They are: Chandra Wrightsill, Lisa Arispe, Dana Haney, Margie Shaw, Monika Miranda, Lori Gilbert, Sherry Keller, and Christian Rojas.

The sixth graders are very happy to be at Goliad this year and here is what some of the sixth graders especially like about Goliad. Here is what Kasey Dycote had to say: "I like changing classes instead of staying in one class all day."

Terrie Garcia said: "I like the variety of foods at Goliad's snack bar, and the delicious meals in the cafeteria."

Dwight Turner had these comments: "I like the very nicely furnished gym at Goliad."

The students in the computer room have a lot going this year. Mrs. Drake, their new teacher, is having contests which started this week. Monthly prizes will be given away for most improvement. Mrs. Drake said the competition is rough because all students have improved so much.

The office has a very responsible staff at Goliad this year. The office workers go around to each period and pick up the absentee cards. They also run errands for the secretary in the office and they do other errands and jobs. The office workers for first period are: Diane Crocker, Debra Depotto, Michael Willbanks and Chandra Wrightsill.

For second period they are Dana Anderson and Chon Garcia. For third period, there are Margo Wrightsill and Jami Norwood. For fourth period there are three young people doing the job: Susan DeGroot, Shelia Schmidt, and also Mark Slate.

For fifth period there are also three: Randy Ramirez, Gaylee Osborne and B.Z. Lewis. For sixth period they are Denisa Brown, Veronica Parks and Josette Mata. And last but not least here are the seventh period workers: Driana Gonzales and Robert Chase.

The Megaphone reporters would like to thank all of the teachers for their contributions to the Megaphone.

SAN MARCOS — Four Howard County residents were among the 3,906 students whose spring semester, 1980, grades earned them places on Southwest Texas State University's Dean's List.

To make the regular Dean's List, a student must be enrolled for a minimum of 12 semester hours of coursework, excluding physical education activities, and achieve at least an overall "B" average.

Making the Superior Honors List requires grades of "A" in at least 12 of the required 15 semester hours of coursework, excluding physical education activities, and no lower than a "B" in the other three-hour course. This translates into a 3.8 grade-point average or better on a 4.0 scale.

Undergraduate courses only are considered in tabulation the list. Incomplete, or "I" grades earned during the spring semester disqualify students from the Dean's List.

Those from Howard County include: Rebecca L. Brooks, 3910 Hamilton; Debra Hayworth, 1733 Yale; Cal D. Lowry, Rt. 2 Box 24-A, and Eddie O. Vela, 1201 S. Monticello, all of Big Spring.

Membership Luncheon scheduled for Thursday

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce will hold a Membership Luncheon open to the community on Thursday, Sept. 25, according to LeRoy Tillery, Executive Vice-President of the Chamber. The luncheon will be held at noon in the East Room of the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

"We're hoping for a fun time in which people in the community can get to know the Chamber and understand some of the things we are trying to do," said Tillery. "There will be games and then some presentations about some of the Chamber programs."

Tillery said that the agenda will include presentations on the Arts and Crafts Festival, Community Concerts, and the United Way. Members also will register for $250 drawing to be held Thursday.

"We're hoping that the luncheon will increase people's interest in the Chamber, and give them an idea on how they can get involved," said Tillery.

The luncheon is being sponsored by the Highland Shopping Center, and is hosted by the Kiwanis Club. Travis Floyd and Dave Wrinkle will act as Emcees.

Reservations for the luncheon need to be made before 5 p.m. Tuesday by calling the Chamber office. The cost for the event is $3.75 per person.

We urge the community to support the rally which is being held at the Dora Roberts Community Center Thursday at 7 p.m.

Choate to chair Howard County Texans for Reagan-Bush drive

Wade Choate, former mayor of Big Spring and treasurer-general manager of Citizens Federal Credit Union, recently agreed to chair the Texans for Reagan and Bush campaign in Howard County.

In accepting the position, Choate was agreeing to an earlier request from Texas Governor Bill Clements and state Deputy Chairman of the Texans for Reagan-Bush ticket Earnest Angelo Jr., that he accept this important task.

In a letter from Clements and Angelo, they explained to Choate that it would be a tough campaign in Texas. "No Democrat has ever been elected President while losing Texas," the two said. "Carter knows this and will pull out all the stops to win our state." They went on to say that they were "absolutely committed to making certain he fails and that effective leadership is restored in the White House."

In accepting the Ronald Reagan and George Bush campaign chairmanship in Howard County, Choate said "I have been a lifelong Democrat and ran on the Democratic ticket in Howard County for many years," he said. "However, I feel the good of the country comes before party affiliation and I felt I could not support President Carter due to the Administration's position on our economy, foreign policy, and unemployment."

Talking about the Administration's policies, Choate said that he was "especially concerned about matters that were so vital to the lifeblood of our community." He cited the effects the windfall profit tax was having on the local oil and gas industry, and the burden the importing of livestock was putting on local cattlemen.

He also went on to say that he felt that the price of livestock was not keeping pace with the rate of inflation and felt the Administration was greatly responsible for the current situation. "I encourage my fellow Democrats and Independents, who feel the same way I do, to join the Reagan-Bush campaign," Choate said. "I feel their thoughts are more in line with the thoughts of people in Howard County and would provide us with the effective and intelligent leadership that we need in Washington," he concluded.

'Russia Through Scandinavia' films to be shown here Monday

Herschel Fisher, a respected architect and lecturer, will present a three screen film program, "Russia Through Scandinavia", Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Flame Room in the Pioneer Gas Co.

Fisher, who has traveled under the State Department's "People to People" program, has extensive knowledge of architecture in Russia and Scandinavian countries. From this knowledge and these travels, he has been able to compile a thirty minute audio-visual program capturing the culture and the spirit of the people.

Fisher has used four projectors, a tape recorder, a dissolve unit and three wide-angle panorama screens to create 2,000 slides, of which some 800 have been chosen for presentation.

Currently he is Board Chairman of Fisher and Spillman Architects Inc. and has received many awards for excellence in Architecture. The film presentation will feature a close look at the people and culture of Moscow, Leningrad, Helsinki, Copenhagen, and Stockholm.

Microfilm viewer printer available for use at library

By ANDREA COHEN
A microfilm viewer printer has been purchased recently for the Howard County Library.

The machine, which cost approximately $4,000, was purchased by the Friends of the Library.

The machine will print copies of anything that is viewed on microfilm.

"It will be valuable to people who are looking into genealogy and to go through old newspaper clips from the Big Spring Herald and it will also be good for students to use," says Judith Gray, county librarian.

The library has genealogy records from the census on film along with Big Spring Herald's dating back to 1922.

Copies from the printer, purchased at the end of July, will be 25 cents and can be printed in three different sizes. There is no charge for viewing.

"If it starts becoming used heavily, we'll set up appointments," says Gray. "Right now, there's no appointment necessary."

Grain, soybean program comments are requested

WASHINGTON — Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Jim Williams today asked the public to comment by Oct. 27 on proposals for the 1981 feed grain and soybean programs.

By Nov. 15, a decision must be made on whether to offer a set-aside program or to permit farmers to be eligible for program benefits — including the reserve program — without setting aside acreage, Williams said.

In particular, Williams said, USDA is seeking comments on reserve release and call prices which are based on production costs and adjusted either by increasing the national average loan price or increasing the gap between loan and reserve prices.

Under new authorities granted under the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1980, the current cost of production estimates may be considered in determining 1981 target prices. In the past, changes in target prices were based upon a formula considering only prior year's costs, Williams said.

Because of these new authorities, Williams said, USDA is asking for comments on how 1981 target prices should be adjusted from 1980 levels and whether producers should be required to comply with established farm normal crop acreages to be eligible for full program benefits.

Williams said USDA also is asking whether barley and oats should be included in the 1981 feed grain program, and appropriate loan and purchase prices for corn, sorghum, barley, oats and rye.

In addition, public comment is requested on whether there should be a land diversion program, and if so, the size of the diversion and level of payment. Comments are also requested on limitations on planted acreage, Williams said.

If a set-aside program is implemented, USDA has discretionary authority to adjust the target price to compensate producers for participating in such a program, Williams said. Comments are requested on whether this authority should be used and the magnitude on any adjustment.

"Because of the relationship between soybeans and feed grains, we are also seeking public comments on appropriate loan price and purchase price levels for 1981 crop soybeans. Other determinations affecting soybeans include commodity eligibility, storage requirements and premiums and discounts," Williams said.

Related to these program decisions are determinations on the amount of the national program acreage and recommended reductions from 1980 harvested acreage for full target price protection.

Williams said while USDA is required by law to announce set-aside, national program acreage and recommended reductions in plantings decisions by Nov. 15, the department may announce program decisions before that time.

Before reaching any decisions, all recommendations and views will be considered along with the best data available on world and U.S. crop conditions, production and consumption prospects, he said.

Written comments will be received until Oct. 27 by the Director, Production Adjustment Division, ASOS, USDA, room 3630-S, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C., 20013.

Public input on cotton plans asked

WASHINGTON — The public has until Oct. 28 to comment on provisions of the 1981 upland cotton and extra long staple cotton programs, Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, said.

These provisions include the loan level and payment rate for extra long staple cotton; the loan rate for upland cotton; whether a seed cotton loan program should be offered and, if so, what the loan level should be; and the specifications for bale packaging materials.

Comments may be sent to the director, production adjustment division, room 3630 South building, USDA ASOS, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C., 20013. They will be available for public inspection in room 3623 of USDA's South building during regular business hours.

The proposal is scheduled to appear in the Aug. 29 Federal Register.

Red Raiders use "High" for win over Lobos

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP)—Texas Tech converted two sack passes into scores and rode Wes Hightower's three touchdowns to a 28-17 nonconference football victory over New Mexico Saturday night.

Stung by a quick Lobo touchdown, the highly-favored Southwest Conference club seized on New Mexico mistakes and used a feisty defense to hoist its record to 2-1.

The Lobos, of the Western Athletic Conference, dropped to 1-2.

Hightower hammered across twice from two yards out, once from the 20 and Anthony Hutchinson plunged a yard for another TD to nail down the triumph before a shirt-sleeve crowd of 38,873.

New Mexico quarterback

Brad Wright pierced the Raider defense with several clutch passes and ran for both Lobo touchdowns, from the 1 and then the 2.

The Raider victory overshadowed a superb rushing show by New Mexico's Michael Johnson, whose 68-yard sprint to the Tech one staked the Lobos to a 7-0 lead.

Using Hutchinson and Hightower like twin sledge hammers, quarterback Ron Reeves drove Tech 80 yards to tie the count.

Timely interceptions by linebacker Jeff McCowan in the second period and tackle Dane Kerns in the fourth quarter set up two touchdowns and Hightower scooped 20 yards for the clincher with 2:11 remaining.

Nittany Lions growl at Aggies

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP)—Quarterback Jeff Hostetler directed Penn State to a pair of second quarter touchdowns after blocked punts and the 12th ranked Nittany Lions overpowered Texas A&M 25-9 Saturday night.

Booker Moore's two-yard plunge climaxed an 80-yard drive that got Penn State off to a lead on the first series of the game, and the Lions exploded for 18 points in the second quarter, with Mike Mead scoring from two yards out and Hostetler from five yards away. Herb Menhardt's 35-yard field goal and a safety, after linebacker Walker Lee Ashley blocked a kick out of the end zone, helped turn a 7-3 Penn State lead into a 25-3 runaway by halftime.

Texas A&M quarterback Mike Mosley went 58 yards in the first quarter, setting up David Hardy's 21-yard field goal. The Aggies didn't score again until backup quarterback David Beal hit Mike Whitwell with a 32-yard touchdown pass with 3:08 to play.

Ninth inning double gives Astros triumph

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pinch batter Jeff Leonard's clutch hitting with one out in the ninth inning Saturday snapped a 2-2 tie and gave the Houston Astros a 3-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Luis Fajardo led off the ninth with an infield single and was replaced by pinch runner Scott Louden. Rafael Landestoy sacrificed and Leonard delivered his game-winning blow off reliever Gary Lavelle, 6-7.

Reliever Dave Smith, 7-5, got the victory with Joe Sambito picking up his 17th save.

Houston opened the scoring in the fifth. Dennis Walling doubled, went to third on Alan Ashby's single and scored on Craig Reynolds' single.

Whitson was lifted after Cesar Cedeno singled in the sixth and Walling walked.

In the eighth, Terry Publ singled, advanced to second on an infield out and scored on a single by Cedeno, knotting the score. It was the first run scored by the Astros in 16 innings this season off Lavelle.

As Big Spring runners fare well

San Angelo wins cross-country

SAN ANGELO — The San Angelo Central Bobcats won the San Angelo Invitational Cross-Country Meet here Saturday morning with a strong showing, with the Big Spring Steers displaying marked improvement in the season opening run.

All eight District 5-AAAAA teams were represented, with Central and Odessa running away from the rest of the field. Big Spring finished fourth, which is the top cross-country finish by the Steers in two years when all eight 5-AAAAA teams were competing.

Lee's Brian Scholer won the individual competition in a time of 15:08. Big Spring had a well balanced finish by their performers.

Although not up to his usual time, Big Spring's Karl Wolfe finished 19th, David Garza 24th, Javier Calderon 29th, Curtis Harrison 30th, and Tim McNamara 34th.

"Our times weren't that impressive, but our performance was excellent," said Big Spring Coach Randy Britton. "I was very thrilled with the attitude of our team. They ran very hard."

"Right now," he continued, "I'm not stressing times, but improvement. We just want to be ready when the district meet comes."

The Big Spring junior varsity, comprised mainly of freshmen and sophomores, also had a good day, finishing fourth in their competition. The event, which was held at the Santa Fe Park, attracted all eight District 5-AAAAA schools, as well as some other schools from the area and around the area and state.

5-A-A-A-A Roundup

Cooper nips Eastern Hills

FORT WORTH — The Abilene Cooper Cougars broke open a 14-14 tie with an Oscar Riggins run midway in the third period in taking a 21-14 win over Fort Worth Eastern Hills here Friday.

For Cooper, the defending District 5-A-A-A-A champion, it was their third consecutive win in non-district play. They begin league play in two weeks when they host San Angelo.

Leonard Hunter of Eastern Hills kept his team in the game, rushing for 152 yards and both touchdowns. Riggins and Lanny Dycus scored the other Cooper touchdowns.

Cooper had 21 first downs to 14 for Eastern Hills, but the hosts had total yardage advantage.

Feldt paces Midland win

MIDLAND — Midland High quarterback Michael Feldt took over for the injured Jerry Zachery here Friday night in an impressive display of a one-man offense, leading the Bulldogs to a 33-21 win over previously unbeaten and highly touted Lubbock Montery.

Feldt, a starter since his sophomore year, rushed for 178 yards on 16 carries, and completed seven of 12 passes for another 140 yards. He also played well from his free safety position.

Midland scored first on an 11-yard run by Scott Yochum, but Monterey rallied for a 14-7 halftime lead. But Feldt and the Bulldogs scored on their first two possessions of the second half, with both touchdowns coming on passes from Feldt, a 6-1, 205 pound senior.

Feldt then gave the Midland crew a 27-14 lead when he broke free on an option play and ran 65 yards to score early in the final quarter.

Montery rallied to within six at 27-21, but Feldt directed Midland on a final 82 yard scoring drive, finalizing it with a one-yard run.

Both teams now have a 2-1 records. It was the Bulldogs' first game totally without the services of potential All-State tailback Jerry Zachery, who was lost for the year in last week's game.

Temple rally too much

ABILENE — The Abilene Eagles had their upset hopes of defending state champion and top ranked Temple go down the drain in the fourth quarter here Friday night, as the Wildcats scored 27 points in the final 12 minutes to escape with a 34-21 win.

After a scoreless first quarter, Abilene's Loyal Proffitt ran 20 yards to score and Anthony Munoz returned an errant Temple pass 70 yards to give the Eagles a 14-0 halftime lead.

Temple narrowed the score to 14-7 early in the third quarter, only to see Abilene score again when Proffitt passed 17 yards to David Coffey for a touchdown. Coffey was the starting quarterback for Big Spring last year.

But Temple came back like the state champions they are in the final quarter, with Bret Stafford connecting with Mike Jackson on a 95-yard pass play, and minutes later Craig Lowe returned a punt 44 yards to score.

Temple added two more touchdowns to ice the game, giving them a 2-1 record. Abilene fell to 2-1 with the loss.

Temple's score in the third quarter ended the string of scoreless quarters at 10 by the stout Abilene defense.

Permian stifles Wyatt.

ODESSA — The Odessa Permian Panthers, who some people wrote off in the pre-season as not being as good as they usually are, climaxed a perfect non-district slate by taking their third consecutive shutout win, this time in a 16-0 triumph over Fort Worth Wyatt.

Both of Permian's touchdowns in the contest came off the arm of signal caller Jerry Hix.

The first was in the opening stanza, an 11-yard pass to Dale Carr, while the second was a 19-yard pass to Carr in the third stanza.

Permian's final points of the game came in the fourth stanza when Roy Dunn booted a 25-yard field goal.

Permian limited Wyatt to six first downs and 164 yards total offense, while picking up 19 first downs and 277 total yards.

Permian will take next week off, then host Midland in two weeks in the 5-A-A-A-A-A opener for both schools.

Lee scores 16-12 win

PLAINVIEW — The Midland Lee Rebels scored 16 first half points, then hung despite a Plainview rally to claim a 16-12 win here Friday night.

Lee used a poor Plainview kicking game for their first nine points. The first touchdown for the Rebels came when Calvin Riggs blocked a Plainview punt, with Rebel Terry Thompson recovering the pigskin in the game on the Golden Crane 31-yard line.

The Plainview center then snapped the ball over his punter's head on the next possession for a safety.

Lee's final touchdown came when Riggs ran in from the 13.

Plainview then rallied for their two touchdowns, but it was not enough.

Neither team had more than 200 yards total offense, as the defenses were in control through most of the game.

Lee is now 2-1 and heads into 5-A-A-A-A-A action against Odessa in two weeks, while Plainview falls to 1-2.

Brownwood routs Bobcats

SAN ANGELO — The Brownwood Lions totally dominated the San Angelo Bobcats here Friday night, emerging with a lopsided 37-6 win.

The Lions, a long-time Class AAAA powerhouse, jumped out to a 17-0 halftime lead, and then led the game by scoring 20 points in the fourth quarter.

Brownwood used four touchdown passes in the contest, with three of them coming off the arm of quarterback Tim Oehrlein. All four of the TD passes were to different receivers.

The Lions amassed 19 first downs and 362 yards total offense, with 162 of those steps coming through the air.

San Angelo managed but six first downs and 53 yards total offense.

Bronchos stop Hobbs, 25-7

HOBBS, N.M. — The Odessa Bronchos awoke from a 7-7 halftime tie and blitzed their way to a 25-7 win over the Hobbs Eagles in a contest played here Friday night.

OHS, now 3-0 with the win, opened the scoring when Ismael Tavaras intercepted a pass and returned it 65 yards to paydirt.

But Hobbs back Brad Ray tied the game in the opening period when he ran in from the five.

The game remained that way until 3:50 to go in the third quarter, as Broncho QB Johnny Subia raced in from the 23 to give OHS the lead for good.

Odessa then iced the game in the fourth quarter when Dwayne Conklin ran in from the 14 and Greg Adams scored from 54 yards out.

Odessa rolled up 313 yards offense in the game, and all of it was on the ground.

The Bronchos are now 3-0 for the year, while Hobbs is 2-1.

Ruining Big Spring attempt at perfect non-district record

Levelland upsets Steers, 15-8

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

LEVELLAND — The Levelland Lobos came into their contest with Big Spring as heavy underdogs, but refused to believe, rallying for a final touchdown with just over six minutes remaining to celebrate their Homecoming festivities with a 15-8 win.

The triumph was the first for the inspired Lobos in three tries, while it was the initial defeat for the Big Spring crew after opening the season with a pair of wins.

Levelland, although not scoring, made their presence felt early in the game, as they did not allow Big Spring a first down in the opening stanza. But the Lobos could not take advantage of their defense, as a very poor kicking game kept them from gaining any added field position.

The Steers finally did make a first down three plays into the second period on an 11-yard run by Bobby Earl Williams.

Two plays later, Steer halfback Richard Evans picked up 18 yards and a first down at the Levelland 24. The Steers moved to the 15, but on fourth down and one to go, a pack of Lobos broke through the Big Spring line and dropped Williams for a three-yard loss.

On the Bovines next possessions, the scrappy Levelland defense recovered a fumble on the Big Spring 33, putting themselves in four-down territory immediately.

They moved for a first down and as far as the 15, but the Steers and an illegal procedure penalty pushed them back to the 23. At this point, kicker Bruce Rhyne's 40-yard field goal attempt was long enough, but wide to the left, leaving the contest scoreless.

After Big Spring could not move on their opening possession of the second half, Levelland took over but was immediately stopped. At this point, Levelland punter Todd Hester, who had his difficulties in the first half, boomed a 50-yarder, with the pigskin rolling dead on the Steer three-yard line.

The Steers moved to the 12, but were stopped, and Chuck

Gibbs managed a 15-yard punt to the 27, setting up the hometown Lobos in excellent field position.

With the aid of a spearing call against Big Spring, Levelland moved to the nine. Fullback Don Collins was then stopped for no gain, and an illegal procedure penalty moved Levelland back to the 14.

But the Lobos, who had not passed through the entire evening, surprised the Bovines, as quarterback Tom Anderson hooked up with wide receiver Dwayne Moore in the right flat on a 14-yard scoring play. Rhyne then booted the PAT to give the Lobos a 7-0 lead with 4:41 left in the third stanza.

The touchdown completion was to be the only one the Lobos even attempted in the game, as they stuck to the ground otherwise.

The Steers seemed to suddenly awake from their sleep following the Levelland touchdown, as quarterback Tracy Spence and wide receiver Reggie Anding hooked up on a 23-yard pass on the first play following the kickoff. But Big Spring stalled shortly after, punting to the Levelland 22.

But Scott Barnes and the rest of the Big Spring defenders pushed the Lobos back to the 15, with Rhyne's 43-yard punt, plus a 15-yard penalty for clipping against the Steers setting Big Spring up back at their own 30 with 1:40 to go in the third stanza.

Evans, who led all runners in the game with 102 yards, gained 13 yards on first down, and the Steers were in motion. Three plays later, Evans ran for 13 yards to the Lobo 26, and Spence ran the option to the right, bear perfectly for 20 yards and a first and goal on just one play later.

Spence snuck in over the middle of the line on the following play, moving the Bovines within one point. On the two-point conversion try, Evans took an option pitch right from Spence and barreled into the end zone to give Big Spring an 8-7 lead with just 45 seconds gone in the final quarter.

Levelland would not fold, however, as Anderson directed the Lobos on what proved to be a victory march of 70 yards in a time consuming drive lasting over five minutes and 15 plays.

Most of the yardage, as was the case in the entire evening, came on traps up the middle and on sweeps around the end off the trap action.

But Anderson proved to have the biggest "trap" of the drive, as he faked inside on a fourth and four situation on the Big Spring 23 and galloped around left end unmolested for 18 yards to the five, where he was finally driven out of bounds.

Levelland moved to the one, where Collins apparently scored, but a five-yard penalty for motion moved the Lobos back to the six. But the determined hosts were undaunted, as tailback Willie Jones broke around right end and dove into the end zone for a six-yard touchdown run. Collins then burst up the middle for the two-point conversion, leaving the Levelland team with a 15-8 advantage with 6:19 remaining.

The Steers had two more possessions, but on each occasion, they were driven back after making first downs. After both first downs, 15-yard penalties proved to be too much for the Big Spring team to overcome.

Big Spring's passing game was once again unable to keep the Levelland team honest. In fact, it seemed only fitting that on the final Big Spring play offensively, Spence, under the heavy pressure that he faced when trying to pass all night, threw desperately into the arms of offensive guard Lupo Ontiveros for a 10-yard loss.

The loss puts an end to the Steers dream of entering 5-A-A-A-A-A play with a perfect 3-0 slate, but one consolation is that they will have two weeks to regroup for their district opener at home against Abilene.

Sweetwater pulls upset

SWEETWATER — The Sweetwater Mustangs pulled a stunning 18-7 upset of the Snyder Tigers here Friday night, the first time Sweetwater has accomplished the feat in seven years.

The Mustangs scored twice in the first quarter to stake themselves to an early 12-0 lead.

Snyder took advantage of a Sweetwater fumble in the third stanza, scoring and narrowing the lead to 12-7.

But Sweetwater halfback Danny Williams scored with just under 11 minutes remaining in the contest to all but ice the game away for the Mustangs.

Sweetwater limited the Snyder offense to only five first downs and 49 yards total offense in the game.

The Mustangs, who are now 2-1, suffered their only loss to Big Spring. Snyder is now 0-3.

Sweetwater 12 0 0 6-18
Snyder 0 0 7 0-7

Only a 15-8 upset win over Big Spring here Friday night, but definitely made it count, as the picture above displays. In photo at left, Levelland receiver Dwayne Moore (83) attempts to gain control at the three-yard line of the lone Lobo pass from quarterback Tom Anderson.

With Big Spring's Bobby Earl Williams (85) in pursuit, in the second photo, Moore has control as he turns upfield and heads for paydirt. The third quarter score gave Levelland a 6-0 lead. In the background of the picture are Steers George Bancroft (46) and Reggie Anding (85).

Buff defense simply too much

Stanton blanks McCamey

STANTON — The Stanton Buffalo defense simply overpowered the Crane Golden Cranes here Friday night, limiting them to only one first down and a negative 13 yards total offense in a 24-0 win.

The triumph was the third of the year for the Buffs, who have yet to lose. Crane, meanwhile, drops to 0-3 with the setback.

Stanton's defense set the tempo quickly, as they recovered a Crane fumble on the first offensive play of the game on the Golden Crane 31-yard line.

The Stanton offense then moved in for the score, with fullback Arthur Ruiz getting honors on a one-yard plunge. Craig Eiland toed the PAT for a 7-0 Buff lead.

The Buffs drove for an apparent touchdown in the second stanza when quarterback Curtis Williams hit fullback Jim Smith on a 24-yard scoring toss, but a clipping penalty nullified the score.

Williams set up the second

Buff touchdown, returning a Crane punt to the 15-yard line. He then ran over from the one for the score, with a mishandled snap leaving the game at 13-0.

Smith, this time from a defensive end position, scored for Stanton when he tackled Crane quarterback Johnny Sanchez in the end zone for a safety and a 15-0 Stanton lead with just four seconds left in the third stanza.

Stanton then nailed the nail in the coffin in the fourth stanza, as they took the ball and marched 82 yards to paydirt, knocking valued time off the clock. Tailback Kevin Newman, who had 104 yards rushing on 25 carries in the contest, bolted over from the four. Eiland booted the PAT with 3:23 remaining.

Smith finalized the scoring in the contest, as he once again tackled Sanchez in the end zone for a safety with less than two minutes remaining.

Crane's offensive thrust was so stifled in the contest that the only first down they managed was on a penalty against Stanton.

Four members of Stanton's defensive front drew extra praise from the coaching staff for their effort in the win. That consists of defensive tackles Tommy Ramos and Danny Hernandez, and ends Lee Byrd and Smith.

Crane lost four fumbles in the contest, with Stanton players recovering including Ramos, George Lewis, Williams and Hernandez. Williams also had a pass interception.

The scrappy Stanton team will return for action next week, at which time they play host to Big Lake in a Homecoming affair.

Robert Lee stops Forsan

By DWIGHT HEINS
FORSAN — The Robert Lee Steers used a weak Forsan punting game in the first stanza for two quick touchdowns and then held on for a 20-6 win here Friday night.

A short Forsan punt gave the Robert Lee team excellent field position in its first possession at the Buffaloes 25-yard line. The visitors scored quickly, as six plays later, kicker Jamie Sawyer attempted a field goal. A bad snap nixed the try, but Sawyer escaped some Buffalo defenders in the backfield and marched 18 yards to paydirt. Sawyer's successful extra point attempt gave Robert Lee a 7-0 lead.

The Forsan team then had another short punt on their next possession, allowing the Steers to take over on the Buffalo 40-yard line. Joel Perciful raced around right end from the 22 to score, giving the Robert Lee team a 13-0 lead. The PAT failed, and the score stood until halftime.

The Buffaloes put themselves in fine field position midway in the third stanza when Kelly Long recovered a fumbled punt on the Robert Lee 25-yard line.

Lewis Booker then put the Forsan team on the scoreboard moments later when he ran around left end from the two with 2:42 left in the third stanza. Robert Lee blocked the PAT attempt.

But Robert Lee increased their lead back to two touchdowns early in the fourth quarter when Armando Sanchez busted over from the two. The touchdown was set up on a 37-yard pass completion from Quint Anthony to Steven Ray. Sawyer added the PAT.

But Forsan would not die, as the Buffs blocked a Robert Lee punt to give the home team a glimpse at an upset. But Robert Lee's Sanchez stopped the ensuing Forsan drive by intercepting an Ernie Strickland pass in his own territory to seal the victory.

The loss drops the Forsan team to 1-2 for the year, while Robert Lee is now 2-1. Forsan Coach Ron Taylor was disappointed in the play of his team in the loss, stating: "We didn't play near to what we're capable of playing. But just because we played so badly, I still haven't given up hope that we can have some success this year."

The Buffs will get that chance next week when they play host to Sterling City.

The value speaks for itself in a voice that says Howard Miller.

The solid oak case is over 6 1/2' tall and carved in the elaborate country French manner. And every hour, it plays your choice of three English cathedral chimes - Westminster, Whittington or Winchester. A Currier & Ives period reproduction enhances the moon phase dial, with its raised Arabic numerals and contrasting hour ring of silver. And all the while, the great brass lyre pendulum gleams dramatically as it swings behind beveled glass. Value in any language. Ask for Cabernet.

ARTIST AT WORK — Successful hairdresser and owner of La Contesa Beauty Salon, Gary Don Carey, meticulously styles the hair of his employee, Delores Cornish. Carey says Mrs.

Cornish's hair is fashioned in a very practical version of the Flair, the strongest statement in hair this fall.

Flair newest statement in hair

'Wear style you like best'

By ROBEL CROW
Family News Editor

Remember a few years back when every time you turned a corner, there was Farrah Fawcett, or at least her hair, bouncing wildly down the street.

Then came the Dorothy Hamill craze when women everywhere rushed to get their Farrah-like locks clipped off into Dorothy-type wedges.

And we mustn't forget the Barbara Streisand "A Star Is Born" phase when everyone appeared as though he had just stuck his finger in a light socket.

Hairstyles, just like clothing fashions, come and go with the seasons.

"And hairstyles this fall," said La Contesa Beauty Salon owner Gary Don Carey, "are almost kickbacks to the British Bob or Sassoon days with more emphasis on the front or bang area."

The Flair Cut is the newest, strongest fashion statement in hair this fall says Carey.

This geometric haircut features an uncomplicated shape that moves from daytime to evening with ease and charm. It's perfect for the kind of free swinging movement that accents the life of today's active women.

For day wear, these hair fashions are carefree and move with the pace of the careerist as well as the sports enthusiast.

For evening, they easily convert to portrayals of drama and intrigue with chignons, braids and ponytails entwined with jewels, flowers and feathers.

Flair Cuts may be symmetrical or asymmetrical, but all are created to balance and enhance the shape of Fall '80.

"For a long time," commented Carey, "hair height was focused on top of the head. Then it was changed to the crown, followed by the Dorothy Hamill look which emphasized side width.

"Even the Farrah Fawcett style focused attention on hair width," Carey explained.

Hairstyle designers are now trying to emphasize the small head look with primary focalpoint at the front or bang area. That's what the Flair is all about.

"The frizzy, wild, wash and wear look is more or less on its way out," said the salon owner who has been dressing hair since his completion of beauty school in 1962.

"However," he continued, "the all-over curly perm is still popular. It's just not as tight, full or curly as it previously was. It's more controlled."

"I think people are still going to wear it awhile because of its convenience — you just wash it, place it and blow dry it."

Also finally dying down after an extended wave of success is the cut-and-blow-dry look.

"We probably do about one-fourth as many as we used to," he figured.

However, still going full force are the popular permanent waves which manage to establish their place from one season to the next no matter which style is the number one rage.

"Permanent waves change the texture of hair," said Carey, "allowing it to do things it wouldn't normally."

A new color trend — tri color — will get its share of exposure at those Friday night football games this fall, focusing attention to places other than the playing field.

"Tri color is the big thing now," revealed Carey. "It's a type of dimensional color featuring light bangs, a darker top and an even darker back."

Frosting, or a form of frosting called highlighting, is still holding its respective place in the world of hair fashion this season.

"Highlighting," explained the hairdresser, "is more of a subdued look with a little less blonde."

As for the men, the blonde highlights are streaking their way onto the scene also.

"Men are really getting into the sun-streaked look," Carey pointed out.

This professional procedure involves the shampooing and drying of hair, followed by applying hair color and vitamin E to a comb and then coming it through the hair.

"This actually lifts those strands of hair two to three shades lighter," he revealed.

The effect is similar to that received from commercial lightening products, only with more controlled results.

Unlike hair trends of the past, this fall brings with its cool breeze an array of styles that are "in" whether hair is long, short or inbetween.

"Hairstyling is following the pattern of clothing fashions," compared Carey. "Everyone is wearing what he or she feels comfortable with."

"If a woman, no matter how old, feels prettier with long hair, then she should wear it long," he added.

Carey was quick to point out, however, that inner happiness reflects on a person's outward appearance.

"Hairdressers can't do everything. And if a person's unhappy, a change in hairstyle isn't going to make that much difference. A person's entire outlook on life has a lot to do with it," he explained.

A plus to any fashionable cut or style is clean, healthy, shiny hair. And because of the harsh West Texas elements like sun and wind, Carey recommends the application of a deep penetrating conditioner at least once a month.

He explained that the older a woman gets, the more time she needs to spend on herself to get the appearance she wants.

"You can't just shampoo, let go and expect to be beautiful," the hairstylist noted.

"But if it's worth having, it's worth spending a little bit of time on."

Stressing that no one should shampoo every single day, Carey pointed out that over shampooing only serves to make hair even more oily.

"Wash your hair one day and then just wet it and rinse it the next," he recommended.

Shampooing with a harsh product only causes oil glands on the head to overwork, resulting in oily hair.

If at all possible, Carey suggests that allowing hair to dry naturally in the air is the best way. However, if used properly, he claims that blow dryers, curling irons or electric rollers do no great harm.

Every five or six weeks, a woman should visit a hairdresser and discuss her hair.

"Find out what cuts, styles and conditioners best suit your needs," he stated.

Carey and his wife, Donna, are joint owners of La Contesa, located at 1506-A Marcy. They have two children, Bill, 7 and Kendra, 4.

Eleven employees round out the staff at the salon.

Believe me, no matter how good you are, you can't have a successful salon unless you have successful employees," said Carey, commending his workers.

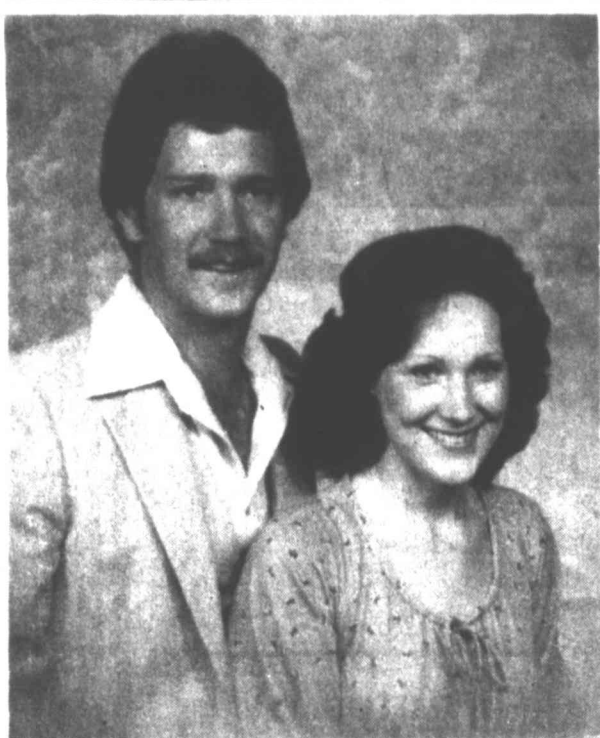

In summation, the successful stylist believes that no matter what the trend, it's how a person feels he or she looks the best that is important.

"If that's what you want, wear it and be happy," he concluded.

FINISHING TOUCHES — La Contesa Beauty Salon owner Gary Don Carey says that no matter what the trend, it's important that a woman wears the style she feels makes her look prettiest. Here he adds the finishing touches to employee Delores Cornish's tri-colored hair, the latest in color fashions this fall.

FALL CEREMONY — Mr. and Mrs. Ray T. Clark, Lubbock, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Diane Rainwater, to Ben Patrick Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Carroll, 1307 Baylor. The couple will be married Oct. 26 in the Bacon Heights Baptist Church, Lubbock.

Merit Scholarship semifinalist named

National Merit Scholarship Corporation of Evanston, Ill. is releasing the names of 15,000 Semifinalists in the competition for Merit Scholarships to be offered in 1981. The Semifinalists named in every state represent the top half of one percent of the state's high school senior class.

Over one million students enrolled in about 18,000 secondary schools nationwide entered the 1981 Merit Program by taking the PSAT-NMSQT in 1979, when most participants were juniors.

The Semifinalists represent the highest scorers in each state. In addition to being honored publicly, Semifinalists are identified to colleges and universities in the hope of increasing their educational opportunities.

Big Spring High School Semifinalists are Letitia D. Hernandez, Glen E. Sifton and Joseph F. Weesner.

Over 90 percent of these Semifinalists are expected to advance to Finalist standing by meeting further requirements — which include being fully endorsed and recommended for scholarships by their secondary school principals, submitting records that confirm high academic standing, and substantiating their high qualifying test scores with equivalent scores on another examination.

The highly able group of 14,000 Finalists will be notified next February that they are competing for about 4,500 Merit Scholarships to be awarded and announced next spring.

The names of Merit Scholarship winners will be released by NMSC next April in three separate news media announcements — one for each type of award. The 1981 competition marks the completion of twenty-six annual Merit Programs conducted by NMSC.

Couple wed Saturday

Wedding vows were solemnized Saturday evening in the College Baptist Church between Cynthia Doyle Upton and James Robert Andrews.

The Rev. Jim Turner, pastor, and the Rev. Hank Scott, pastor of the Bacon Heights Baptist Church, Lubbock, performed the 7 p.m. double-ring ceremony before an altar enhanced with traditional arrangements of mixed white flowers and wedding palms. Spiral and tree candelabrams as well as a unity candle flanked the sanctuary setting.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jane Upton, 2615 Cindy. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. James R. Andrews, Seagraves.

Wedding selections were performed by Tim Yates, pianist and vocalist; David Norville, organist; and Patti Swindell, vocalist.

Fresh greens and satin bows accented the aisle as the bride was given in marriage. She wore a white satin gown embellished with imported lace.

A scoop neckline trimmed with coordinating lace enhanced the bodice which featured long sleeves that closed with pearls at the wrists.

The A-line skirt fell gracefully from the empire waistline, sweeping to form a cathedral-length train. As a complement to her attire, she wore a chapel-length veil of peau de soie outlined with matching lace.

The gown and veil were created by the bride's sister, Raylene Wetzel.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, phalaenopsis orchid interspersed with English ivy.

Cathy Hicks, Midland, attended the bride as maid of honor. The bride's sister, Mrs. Marc Wetzel, Geneva, Ohio, was matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Mrs. Mike Carroll, Canyon.

Each wore a floor-length gown of mint green fashioned with a matching lace cape and carried a colonial bouquet of sonia roses, miniature carnations and daisies sprinkled with baby's breath.

James Andrews attended his son as best man. Groomsmen included Ron Gaines, Lubbock, and Walt Mercer, Fort Worth.

Guests were seated by John Burk, Woodward, Okla., and Pat Carroll, Okla.

Serving as flower girls were Shelley Wetzel and Sarah Wetzel, nieces of the bride.

Candles were lit by Denise Smith and Diane Rainwater.

Immediately following the exchange of rings, Mr. and Mrs. Andrews were feted with a reception in the church activity building.

White lace, floor-length cloth draped the bride's table which was enhanced with a candle arrangement of sonia roses, white carnations and daisies. Guests were served from a three-tiered wedding cake.

The groom's table was decorated with brown cloth overlaid with white lace. Silver candleholders featuring apricot-colored candles enhanced the setting as centerpiece.

Servers were Kathy Hester, Helen Hicks, Melanie Renfro, Deena Harrah and Mrs. Elaine Ebert.

Members of the houseparty included Mr. and Mrs. Bill Draper, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cain, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barbee, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hogue, Mr. and Mrs. Ora Bartlett, Mrs. Lorene Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fortson.

Out-of-town guests attended from Cleveland, Beaumont, Houston, Seagraves, Lubbock and Fort Worth, Tex.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; and Geneva, Ohio.

The bride is a 1975 graduate of Big Spring High School and a 1979 graduate of Texas Tech University. She is employed as an elementary teacher in Lubbock.

The groom graduated from Seagraves High School in 1976 and is currently a senior accounting student at Texas Tech. He is employed at the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to New Mexico, the newlyweds will be at home in Lubbock.

'A nursing home is not an institution'

The Altrusa Club of Big Spring held its monthly business meeting in the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn Sept. 11 at noon. Nineteen members and three guests were present.

Mrs. Doris Guy, president, opened the meeting with a silent prayer for ill and bereaved members. The guest speaker, Jack Abendschan, was introduced by Frances Hendrick.

Abendschan is a graduate of Colorado School of Mines, San Francisco Theological Seminary, Master of Divinity, University of Northern Colorado, Master Arts in Gerontology.

He spoke about nursing homes revealing that often a person is moved from the hospital into a nursing home too soon due to the fact his Medicare runs out.

He also made the point that a nursing home is not an institution in which someone must be committed. It is a home for those who should not be left entirely alone. The residents may come and go as they please.

Pat Highley announced that members who attended the continental breakfast in honor of the Literacy Day need to pay an additional dollar.

A report on members and friends who are ill and bereaved was given by Doris Guy and other members.

Guests present were Vera Gross and Audrey Wilson. The next meeting will be at noon Sept. 25 in the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: We recently got cable television, and our 12-year-old daughter has been watching R-rated movies even though we would prefer that she not do so.

She said there is nothing wrong with it because she knows what is going on in the world. We're afraid that she'll soon think that the behavior portrayed in these movies is the norm.

Are we square in believing that a 12-year-old really doesn't need to watch a constant stream of sex and violence?

What do you think? And what should we tell her? She is a very level-headed girl.

IN A BIND IN MINNEAPOLIS

DEAR IN: Responsible parents would not permit their children to eat garbage, so why tempt them with intellectual garbage by making it so handy and accessible? If you believe you are exposing your daughter to "a constant stream of sex and violence" with cable TV, you shouldn't have it in your home.

Do I think you're "square"? No. However, I do think you're unrealistic to have R-rated movies available on TV at home, while telling your 12-year-old you prefer she didn't watch them.

DEAR ABBY: The last three times we have been invited to a wedding, I have called the bride's mother and asked if her daughter was registered, or if she had some suggestions on what the bride could use.

All three times, the mother has hemmed and hawed, and ended up saying, "They have so many things already," or, "She's been on her own for some time and has everything she needs, so why don't you just give them the cash instead? I'm sure they can use it."

Abby, I have never given money for a wedding gift, and I don't intend to start now.

I plan to send a gift, and I don't care if it's the only gift they receive. Am I wrong?

DISGUSTED IN WISCONSIN

DEAR DISGUSTED: No. You asked the bride's mother for some "suggestions." She offered one. But you are not obligated to accept it.

DEAR ABBY: I am sending you a copy of a guide for self-help. I am not the author and I don't know who originated it, but I hope you will find it worth sharing with your readers. I think it's excellent.

JIM SCHMITT, SACRAMENTO

DEAR JIM: I agree. But it's much too long to be published in its entirety. I hope the author will come forth to accept the credit, and forgive me for editing the piece to suit my purpose.

Vows spoken in Midland

Susan Elaine Belden became the bride of Benny Ray Fishback in a candle-light ceremony performed Saturday afternoon at the Kelview Heights Baptist Church, Midland.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F.

Belden, Midland. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. William A. Fishback, Coahoma.

The couple stood before two spiral candelabras entwined with greenery as the Rev. Bill Skaggs, assistant pastor, officiated the 4 p.m. rite.

Wedding selections were performed by Vanessa Cooper, pianist; Nancy Wood, organist; and Melissa Cooper, vocalist.

The bride chose to wear a traditional gown of chiffon applied with pearl-studded lace motifs.

The bodice was designed with a Victorian neckline and empire waist from which fell a full skirt extending to chapel length.

As an accent to her ensemble, she carried a silk bouquet of roses and stephanotis touched with feathered mums.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was June Ocker, Midland. The bride's sister, Janet M. Belden, Houston, was maid of honor. Cheryl A. Belden, Midland, also sister of the bride, and Cissi Carr, Midland, were bridesmaids.

Hal Heathington, Midland, served as best man during the rite. Groomsmen included Bobby G. Fishback, Coahoma; and Bill Fishback, Irving, both brothers of the groom; and Bryan S. Cook, Midland.

Guests were seated by Patrick T. Belden, Midland, and Matthew N. Belden, College Station, brothers of the bride.

Leigh Anne and Libby Wallace were flower girls. Following the ceremony, the newlyweds were honored at a reception in the church fellowship hall.

The bride, an employee of the Midland County Sheriff's Department, is a 1978 graduate of Midland High.

The groom graduated from Coahoma High School in 1976 and is also employed by the Midland County Sheriff's Department.

Following a wedding trip to San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. Fishback will reside in Midland.

Tax tables

From JANET ROGERS, County Extension Agent

Retired women pay taxes on more of their income than men in many cases, because of a tax formula based on women's longer life expectancy, but that may change as the Internal Revenue Service studies the issue.

Treasury Department officials have suggested the IRS amend this regulation, so the IRS is holding hearings on the subject.

Currently, IRS regulations use a formula called the "exclusion ratio" to determine what portion of retirement annuities income is tax exempt.

This exclusion ratio is arrived at by dividing the amount of a person's investment in the retirement fund by the total return expected to be received for the rest of the person's life.

Traditional sex-segregated insurance tables provide the average life expectancy figure for the IRS to use in computing the tax exemption — and these tables show a longer life span for women than for men.

Traditionally a woman's life expectancy has been longer than a man's, so her exclusion ratio is smaller — and that means more of her income is taxed.

Suggested amendments would require tables that do not differentiate by sex.

Here's an example of the current system: A man and a woman each contribute an equal amount to an annuity fund — say $10,000 — with each to receive $1,000 each year after retirement.

The tables say the man is expected to live 12 years and the woman 15.

Based on the tables in use, the IRS would compute each person's exclusion ratio this way: AMOUNT INVESTED divided by the ANNUAL ALLOWANCE times LIFE EXPECTANCY.

So, for the man, it would be $10,000 divided by $1,000 times 12. This equals 12. That is his exclusion ratio — 5-6 of his annuity would be tax exempt.

For the woman, it would be $10,000 divided by $1,000 times 15. This equals 15.

So only 2-3 of the woman's annuity would be tax exempt.

In other words, the man will pay taxes on only one-sixth of his income, while the woman would pay taxes on one-third of hers.

Former resident named director

The board of directors of Family-Time Foundation has recently named Trailwood Village resident Kathy J. Viccinni to succeed Jane Brooks as its executive director.

The new executive director has a master of education degree in guidance and counseling. Her most recent position has been that of coordinator of family services for the Texas Treatment Center for Autism in Houston. She has also held positions with the YMCA, the Dallas and Big Spring school districts, and Big Spring State Hospital, where she was staff development coordinator and director of education.

The new director's

KATHY VICCINNI, husband, Louis, is a vice president with Schill Steel Company. The couple have one son, Shane.

Mrs. Viccinni succeeds Mrs. Brooks, a resident of Forest Cove, who was active in the formation of Family-Time and served as the local service organization's first executive director. Mrs. Brooks' whose resignation was announced earlier in the summer, expects to remain active in a volunteer capacity.

Mrs. Viccinni is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Johnson Jr., 706 Birdwell Lane.

Rail line is counting on $310 million loan

By STEVE SNIDER
States News Service
WASHINGTON — Some Texas utilities have been counting on Congress to force railroad competition in coal-hauling to the state, but one rail line is counting on a Department of Transportation ruling later this month to do the same thing.

The Chicago & North Western Transportation Co. is seeking a federal guarantee for a $310 million loan to give it access to the coal-rich Powder River Basin in Wyoming. Getting that money, says a C&NW spokesman, is the first step toward giving Texas utilities and other western users an alternative to coal-hauling on the Burlington Northern railroad.

"We will be competitive in every way with Burlington Northern," said the C&NW spokesman from the firm's Chicago headquarters. "We are going to try and beat their price and provide competition in the types of services we provide also."

A spokesman for BN, which opposes the loan guarantee to C&NW, disputes the claim of the rival company: "They said they would be competitive, but they won't say they can do it at a lower price. They can't make it pay at lower prices. We are going to demonstrate this in our filings with the Federal Railroad Commission."

The hopes of both sides in the dispute are tied up in a complicated and controversial merger proposal that would create a 22,800-mile rail system out of the Union Pacific, Western Pacific and Missouri Pacific railroads.

Chicago & North Western feels the merger, in combination with the loan money, gives it a valuable part of the coal-hauling market. The loan money — with repayment guaranteed by the federal government — would buy access to existing BN track into the coal deposits. The bulk of the money is for track upgrading and new construction to connect C&NW with the Union Pacific.

The coal would travel on Union Pacific lines to a point in Nebraska, where it would transfer to Missouri Pacific. A line that has a web of track throughout Texas.

But both the merger and the loan have their own web of politics to traverse in Washington.

Burlington Northern is against the federal loan guarantee, calling it "special interest legislation," and has publicly offered C&NW trackage rights on its own line to make the new connection with Union Pacific unnecessary.

Chicago & North Western, however, has a powerful ally in any battle with BN. The House version of the railroad deregulation bill allows the Department of Transportation to waive the standard "environmental, financial and public need" requirements for guaranteeing loans in the C&NW case.

Further, BN was portrayed as a villain in much of the deregulation debate for what Rep. Tom Loeffler, R-Hunt, calls the railroad's "bait and switch" tactics with the city of San Antonio. The city converted some 65 percent of its electricity generating from oil and gas to coal beginning in mid-1977. Burlington Northern's original quoted price for hauling coal from Wyoming was $7.90 per ton. The price now is approximately $20.50 per ton.

The Loeffler amendment to the deregulation bill, which has an uncertain future because the House and Senate must iron out separate versions of the bill, would hold payments by San Antonio to BN at current rates for the next seven years. After that, the rate could rise no more than four percent a year.

In addition to San Antonio, Wyoming coal hauled on Burlington Northern currently makes its way to utilities in or near Amarillo, Houston and Austin.

One utility that wouldn't immediately benefit from another coal hauler is Central Power and Light in Corpus Christi.

'Catch Me If You Can'
to open in Midland soon

"Catch Me If You Can," the comedy mystery which won a special award from the Mystery Writers of America Association, opens October 3 at Theatre Midland. The play is scheduled to run October 3, 4, 9, 10, 11, 12, 17, and 18. It is being directed by Midland Community Theatre Executive Director Don Bachmann.

The clever twist of the plot caused one New York critic to write, "If some fair-weather friend begins to tell you how 'Catch Me If You Can' turns out, punch him in the mouth. Nobody should be permitted to give away the ending." Probably someone did during the 103 performances on Broadway in 1965, but Midland audiences will hear the same plea.

The tricky situation involves a newlywed groom whose wife disappears from their honeymoon cottage in the Catskill Mountains of New York. A strange girl shows up and insists that she is the bride, while the groom insists that she most certainly is not. A hick detective comes into the case, trying to discover why, or if, the girl is lying and why there is a priest with her to support her story. A Jewish caterer adds humor and suspense to the already confusing affair. Appearing in the production are Jess Kozman, Debbie Fell, Len Caryl, Oza Whitten, Mary Anderson, Don Liscum, and Bill Schneider. The box office will open to MCT members on September 25 and to the public September 29. Reservations may be made by calling 682-4111 or writing Theatre Midland, 2000 W. Wadley, 79701.

Library reference service can help locate anything

By REBBECCA TAYLOR
Reference Librarian
Reference service, as a term, is sometimes not clear in the mind of a library patron. It does not mean just help with homework, although that is included. It is not only informational, although most of the transactions are of that type. Reference service at the Howard County Library means helping you find whatever you are looking for: information, directions, reader guidance, or just a few moments of conversation.

A very important thing for all patrons to know is that a library is staffed with ordinary people. Each member of the Howard County Library staff is also a member of a family, local organizations, and the community in general. We may even be your customers on occasion.

We are neither smarter nor more dense than you are. Whereas you may be a plumber or housewife with knowledge and experience in those areas, we specialize in finding out where answers are. I am not embarrassed to ask a plumber to fix a broken pipe; a plumber should not be embarrassed to ask me to find him information on new methods of fixing pipes. I am an expert in finding the information; he is an expert at using it. This is one example, but it applies to someone who knows nothing of a subject but wants to learn.

Each day the library staff answers dozens of questions giving various types of directions. A few examples are: where is the — post office; social security office; chamber of commerce; welfare office; a good place to eat; a place to spend the night, etc.?

"What's a good book to read?" is a question frequently asked by patrons. Naturally there has to be more to the conversation before a staff member can even begin to answer this question. Reader guidance includes finding out what types of books the reader has enjoyed in the past, favorite authors, topics and interests. The staff member must then be aware of many facts about the collection, such as: different authors who write in similar styles, different pen names for the same author, related topics to the one the patron asks about.

A frequent answer to a patron's need is a brief conversation. Sometimes information is exchanged when the staff member has some special knowledge of the subject. Often it is most helpful to just talk through a problem. Explaining to someone else often clarifies our own view of the situation. Sometimes members of the staff answer a need so often filled by waitresses, bartenders and ministers: just to listen. An elderly woman needs to tell someone that her husband of many years has died. A man learns that he has cancer and finds the librarian is not only a source of needed information, but also a 'safe' and confidential person to tell.

All of these sample situations have happened at the Howard County Library. None of them are "not library business." The library is here to answer many of your needs and though not all of the answers are in our books, finding a source to satisfy the questions is our business.

MRS. MICHAEL DON GRESSETT

Evening rite solemnized

The Midway Baptist Church was the setting of the Thursday evening wedding of Melanie Sue Walker and Michael Don Gressett.

The couple exchanged vows and rings before an archway entwined with greenery. Baskets of blue and white flowers enhanced the setting as the bride's cousin, Rev. Mac Robinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Beeville, officiated the rite.

A unity candle completed the altar scene.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerrold Walker, Rt. 1. Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Gressett, 1002 Baylor, are the groom's parents.

Ryan Walker, cousin of the bride, provided traditional organ music and accompanied Mrs. Ryan Walker, soloist.

The bride was accompanied down the aisle wearing an Alfred Angelo original formal-length gown of white organza featuring an empire bodice overlaid with Alencon lace. Scalloped matching lace circled the high neckline and formed cap sleeves. The A-line skirt was adorned with lace appliques. The chapel-length lace mantilla veil flowed from a band of white flowers and seed pearls. A cascading bouquet of white carnations, blue-tipped roses and baby's breath completed the bridal attire.

Mrs. Tom Tatum served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jeff Wilson and Brenda Scott. Shawn Davies was candlelighter.

Wayne Gressett served his brother as best man. Byron Gressett, brother of the groom, David Campbell and Mike Pruitt, served as groomsmen and ushers.

Brandi Gressett, Coahoma, niece of the groom, served as flower girl. Jay Gressett, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

A reception was held honoring Mr. and Mrs. Gressett immediately followed the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table, covered with a white lace cloth encircled by a white ruffled floor length lace skirt, featured a blue and white floral arrangement with blue candles. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped by bride and groom figurines and decorated with blue flowers. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Serving at the bride's table were Penni Anderson, Coahoma, and Mrs. Peggy Allen.

The groom's table was covered with a blue denim cloth and centered with a miniature tractor and bale of cotton. The chocolate cake was decorated with miniature farm animals. A silver coffee service was used. Serving was Mrs. Ansel Finley, sister of the groom.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Woner Robinson, Mrs. Stella Brooks, Mrs. Carol Walker, Mrs. Bill Stovall and Mrs. Lindell Newton, aunts of the bride. Mrs. Weldon Tibbs, Kaci Bunn, registered the guests.

The bride attended Big Spring schools and graduated from Coahoma High School in 1979. The groom is a Big Spring High School graduate who attended Howard College and is presently engaged in farming.

Following a wedding trip to an undisclosed location, the couple will make their home in Big Spring.

The bride was escorted down the aisle wearing a floor-length gown of dacron organza styled with an empire bodice and a modified Queen Anne sprinkled with seed pearls. It was outlined with crystal pleating and featured long, fitted lace sleeves. The full skirt flowed gracefully into a chapel-length train edged in peau d'ange lace with coordinating lace draping the front and back. The mantilla veil of bridal illusion edged in chantilly lace sprinkled with seed pearls fell to fingertip length, completing the bridal ensemble.

Requiem for Susan

By Robert Wallace, Jr., Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: Please thank all your dear readers for their letters, cards and prayers for our daughter, Susan. After much suffering, she quietly passed away on Monday morning, Aug. 11, 1980, at the tender age of 19.

Your kind readers helped us enjoy her beautiful personality for six months longer than was expected and the Temple family appreciated your readers more than words can express. The letters and cards to Susan numbered in the thousands.

Susan leaves her parents, three sisters and a brother many beautiful memories. All of us are assured that one day we will be reunited with Susan, never again to be separated.

Thank you, Dr. Wallace, and thanks again to your devoted readers. We love you all.

You've probably received many more wedding invitations than announcements in your life. Do you know why? Here at Accent Shoppe, we find many people don't understand the distinction.

To set the record straight, announcements are properly sent to tell of a wedding that has already taken place. Perhaps it was a small, quiet wedding that only family members attended. Perhaps the bride's parents felt an announcement would release you from the obligation of sending a wedding gift. At any rate, an announcement is cause for rejoicing: two people are already very happy together!
