THE UNDER-21 VOTE — Mrs. Cathy Gaines, 20, of 808½ Johnson, is one of the persons under 21 who will be allowed to vote in 1971, if the Supreme Court approves the measure granting the 18-year-old vote. Mrs. Gaines is shown filling out registration form.

NEW DEAL

Younger Set Registering For Vote Right

Something new has been added to voter registration this year. Applications for registration are being accepted from persons between the ages of 18 and 21. Today is the second day of voter registration, and four persons under 21 have applied, according to Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector.

Registration began Thursday and ends Jan. 31, 1971. Congressional action has made the 18-year-old a franchised citizen, pending approval by the Supreme Court. If the Court approves the action, 18 to 21-year-olds will vote the first time in 1971.

"They won't hear from us until January. We are accepting applications for voter registration from those under 21 now. If the Court approves, then we will mail them their registration in January. If the Court decides the issue by Jan. 1, those under 21 will have plenty of time to register before registration ends on the 31st," said Mrs. LeFevre.

Eighty persons 21 and over have been registered in the first two days, according to Mrs. Lefevre. Mrs. Lefevre added that all those who received registration forms with their tax bills can fill them out, sign them and mail the forms to her office. Those who did not receive a registration form in the mail can call the tax office and a form will be sent.

Midlanders Ask Funds For Spur

AUSTIN (AP) — A delegation of four from Midland asked the Highway Commission today to spend state money to open up a business district to traffic.

The four sought a one-mile highway spur from U.S. 80 along Midkiff Road to Interstate 20. Costs estimates ranged from $120,000 to $255,000, depending on the work done.

The traffic count on the present roadway was 4,300 vehicles a day at the end of 1969, and the project for 1985 is 18,400, although Public Works Director Fred Baker said the last figure was probably too high.

He said the Holiday Hill Road, when completed, probably will siphon off some of the traffic.

In fact, the group asked that the commission hold off any possible work order on the new proposal until the Holliday Hill project is completed, "or both major entrances to Midland would be shut down."

PLANE CRASH KILLS SON OF BIG SPRINGER

Word has been received in Big Spring of the death of Lt. Col. Richard Wheeler Thursday in a plane crash in New Mexico.

Col. Wheeler was the son of Mrs. Rowena S. Wheeler, 604 Scurry, an employe of Webb AFB, and he had frequently visited in Big Spring. He was scheduled to reitre from the Army at the end of this month. He was stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla., at the time of his death.

Survivors include his wife and one daughter, of the home in Lawton, Okla.; one son, a lieutenant in the Army; his mother; and one sister, Lawton.

SHOOTING AT JACKSON STATE 'UNJUSTIFIED'

Panel Cites 'Pattern Of Deceit' By Police

WASHINGTON (AP) — White policemen who fired a killing barrage of bullets into a crowd of chanting Jackson State College students were confident they would not be punished, the President's Commission on Campus Unrest has concluded.

The panel found the deaths of two students and the wounding of 12 others May 14 were rooted in an "unreasonable unjustified overreaction" by police.

The report, released Thursday, drew only limited early response in Mississippi. Gov. John Bell Williams and Jackson Mayor Russell Davis said they wanted to read it before commenting.

NO CHARGE

Atty. Gen. A. F. Summer said, "My statement when they came here was that it had all the appearance of being a kangaroo court.

"Nothing has happened to change my mind," he said.

Warner Buxton, president of the Student Government Association at the nearly all-black school, praised the report, but expressed little hope it would bring changes to law enforcement in Mississippi.

Concerning police attitudes toward the demonstrators, the report said:

"A significant cause of the deaths and injuries at Jackson State College is the confidence of white officers that if they fire weapons during a black campus disturbance, they will face neither stern departmental discipline nor criminal prosecution or conviction."

Despite conflicting claims of sniper fire from a dormitory, the commission said, "Even if we were to assume two shots were fired from a window in the west wing of Alexander Hall, the 28-second fusillade in response was clearly unwarranted."

SELF-DEFENSE

Police claimed they were shooting in self-defense. Some later denied firing at all.

City police who denied a role in the shootings "established a pattern of deceit," the commission said, noting FBI tests showing their weapons had been fired.

Evidence gathered during the commission's visit to Jackson also showed police fired blindly into the crowd of between 75 and 200 persons, the commission said. Police who admitted shooting at all told the commission they either fired into the air or toward windows in the dormitory where they said the snipers were spotted.

HATRED

Racial tension and hatred on both sides played a major role in the tragedy, it said.

"Of the 65 law officers in front of the dormitory, two were black — they did not shoot," the report said. "Racial animosity on the part of white police officers was a substantial contributing factor in the deaths and injuries."

Big Welcome For Nixon In Madrid

MADRID (AP) — Spaniards gave President Nixon an enthusiastic welcome today as he arrived in Franco's Spain after making the first visit by a U.S. president to Communist Yugoslavia.

Spanish radio sources estimated the size of the crowd along the motorcade route from the airport into and through the city to number about a million.

CROWDS CHEER

A hundred mounted horsemen screened Nixon from the crowds during the first part of the drive but a motorcycle escort replaced them about halfway and the crowd's response doubled.

Spanish national radio described the reception as "the most enthusiastic."

Spain's leader, Gen. Francisco Franco, arrived at Madrid's Barajas Airport minutes before Nixon's plane landed. Wearing the uniform of a general in the Spanish army, Franco waited at the bottom of the ladder as the President and Mrs. Nixon got off the plane.

The two chiefs of state shook hands warmly. Franco's wife, Dona Carmen Polo, gave Nixon's wife, Pat, a bouquet of flowers decorated with the Spanish flag.

SECOND TIME

It was the second time Nixon and Franco had met. They first met in Barcelona in 1963 when the U.S. chief executive visited Spain as a private citizen.

In Belgrade three hours earlier, President Tito, Mrs. Tito and top Yugoslavian officials had accompanied the Nixons and their party to the airport and had waved goodbye as the presidential jet, Air Force One, took off into an overcast sky.

The President's airliner touched down in Madrid shortly after noon.

Nixon told Franco he was "greatly honored to be the first President to visit Spain" since President Dwight D. Eisenhower's stop here in 1959.

West Texas Gains 8,816 Residents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard White, D-Tex., says the 16th District in West Texas will get an added 8,816 residents on the Census Bureau count.

White complained after the first count excluded some in Ft. Bliss.

White said the bureau told him the population count would be 429,050 and that of El Paso County 355,919.

White said the additions would put Texas' unofficial population at 10,997,937.

TOO POPULAR — This night time exposure shows what is described as the "Crookedest Street in the World," the 1000 block of Lombard Street in San Francisco. In one recent week there were five accidents, two buildings damaged and a 50-year-old hedge uprooted. The residents are asking that a mid-block flower bed be constructed so the street would no longer be a through one. The postcard appearance of the street would be preserved and those living on the street would still have easy access from either end.

Truce Teams Persuade Units To Stop Shooting

By The Associated Press

Jordan's new government said Thursday it would recognize only one Palestinian guerrilla organization, Al Fatah, headed by Yasir Arafat. Arab truce teams persuaded guerrillas and army troops to stop shooting at each other in Palestinian strongholds in northern Jordan.

Maj. Adnan Abu Odeh, Jordan's information minister, said the move to recognize only Al Fatah was not a measure against the Palestinians. "We are against chaos and disorder," he said. "I tell you, the struggle in Jordan has been between the government and the Marxists."

$14,000 REWARD

Odeh suggested that members of other guerrilla groups join Al Fatah. The Jordanian government has offered a $14,000 reward for the capture of Dr. George Habash, head of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, a pro-Peking guerrilla group responsible for the recent spate of airline hijackings to the Middle East.

In Beirut, Lebanon, an Al Fatah spokesman said Amman government forces and guerrillas were persuaded to lay down their weapons at Ramtha, a Jordanian border town on the Damascus-Amman highway, the commandos' principal supply route from Syria.

The guerrilla spokesman said Ramtha and nearby Irbid, Jordan's second largest city, were quiet after reports of shelling by Jordanian troops earlier in the day.

Jordan's King Hussein said the truce that ended his country's civil war was largely the work of Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser who died Monday of a heart attack.

A correspondent for the Parisian newspaper Figaro, Jean-Francois Chauvel, wrote that Hussein said Nasser "threw all his weight into the balance" in negotiations for the cease-fire and "it was thanks to him" that it succeeded.

Manson, Three Women Banished After Taunts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Manson and his three women co-defendants have been banished from the courtroom for taunting the judge in the Sharon Tate murder trial.

The trial was ordered reconvened today with the four listening to proceedings over a loudspeaker in an adjoining room.

Their outburst came late in an already lively court session Thursday in which the chief prosecutor, Vincent T. Bugliosi, was found in contempt of court for shouting at Manson's attorney. He was fined $50.

'OLD GRAY MARE'

Suddenly, Manson shifted in his seat at the counsel table and broke into a chorus of "The Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used To Be."

The hippie-type clan leader then told Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older: "Judge, you're a woman," and repeated it several times.

Ordered to be silent, Manson replied, "You've ordered me to stop living." He recited several old complaints—not enough pencils in jail, missing mail, not enough time with his attorney. The judge then ordered him out of court.

Attorneys had a conference with the judge in his chambers and Manson was readmitted.

'JUDGE IS JOKE'

Facing spectators and newsmen, Manson loudly proclaimed, "I'd like everyone to know I am not represented in this trial. I do not have any attorney. I am not allowed to speak for myself."

At that, the three long-haired brunettes beside him began a sing-song chanting: "The judge is a woman, the judge is a woman . . . The judge is a joke."

Older ordered all defendants removed. The three girls laughed and shouted taunts as they were led out. One cried: "Your wife's in the front row telling you what to do."

Attorneys said later Manson was upset because during a recess the judge ruled that all visitors except his attorney would be barred from conferring with him in a detention area near the courtroom. The attorneys said the judge acted because of prosecution complaints that Manson slipped a note to a reporter, commenting on the contempt action against Bugliosi.

UNDERCOVER AGENT GUNS MAN

Scuffle In Hippie Haven

DALLAS (AP) — An Amarillo policeman, working as an undercover narcotics agent for the University Park police, shot and wounded a man in Lee Park early today during a scuffle in the drug-infested hippie haven.

Dallas police early today had been unable to locate the wounded man, however.

University Park is a city surrounded by Dallas. Lee Park is within the City of Dallas.

The agent, identified by Amarillo officials as Dave Vanover, 23, said he shot the man after the man attacked him with a wine bottle during a scuffle about 3 a.m.

Vanover, bearded and wearing mod clothes, said he was in the park checking on drug traffic involving Southern Methodist University when he saw three men beating another.

"I broke up the fight and was then jumped on by three other men," Vanover said. "I ran but one of the men knocked me down with a wine bottle."

The officer said he drew his pistol and shot the man in the stomach as he was falling to the ground.

"I shot him; there's no question about it," Vanover declared.

The shooting incident forced Vanover to reveal his identity and also reveal evidence of what he called "very, very heavy" drug traffic in the park.

"The narcotics traffic at that park is unbelievable," the young officer said. "They are passing drugs out there within 30 feet of police officers."

DOPE 'BARGAINS'

Vanover, whose disguise included an earring, said also conversations among the park's users is heavily laced with comments of "kill the pigs."

The officer, who has worked undercover for University Park about three weeks, said he had watched kids as young as 9 openly puffing on marijuana cigarettes.

"People pass through the crowds brazenly hawking their wares—grass, acid and what have you—without anybody laying a hand on them," Vanover said.

While his major assignment was surveillance and intelligence gathering, he did make two purchases of drugs in the park he said. One buy included capsules of an unnamed drug, he said.

"Police can file charges in four or five cases if they want to," Vanover said.

He said 50 milligram codeine capsules sell for 50 cents each in the park. LSD goes for $3 a hit. A lid of marijuana—enough for as many as 40 cigarettes—brings about $15, he said.

National Jobless Rate Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment climbed sharply in September to 5.5 per cent of the nation's work force and millions of employed workers brought home smaller paychecks because of shorter working hours, the Labor Department reported today.

The national jobless rate, up from 5.1 per cent in August, was the highest in nearly seven years, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

AVERAGE PAY

The number of unemployed rose some 75,000 to 4.3 million, but the bureau said on a seasonal basis the increase amounted to 375,000 because unemployment normally drops substantially in September.

Total employment in September was 78.2 million, down from August but figured as about unchanged on a seasonal basis.

The report said that the average pay of some 45 million rank and file workers rose three cents an hour to $3.28.

But because of a drop in the work week, average weekly pay declined 84 cents to $121.36, the bureau said.

However, manufacturing paychecks of some 20 million workers rose $2.04 weekly to a record $136.17, the report said.

It added that total manufacturing jobs were unchanged after five straight monthly drops.

The report said most of the rise in unemployment was among young people aged 16 to 24 and that the big jump may have resulted because of an early survey week. Many young people in that week may not have stopped actively seeking jobs to return to school, the bureau said.

The unemployment total included 1,562,000 men, 1,598,000 women and 1,131,000 teenagers.

The jobless rate for men aged 20 to 24 shot up from 8.5 to 11 per cent, highest in nine years.

Unemployment rates increased for both white and Negro workers, up from 4.8 to 5.1 per cent for whites and from 8.4 to 9 per cent for Negroes, the report said.

The jobless rate for men rose from 3.7 to 4 per cent. The rate for women went up from 4.8 to 5.1 per cent and the rate for teenagers increased from 15.9 to 16.8 per cent.

Military Aid Bill On Way To President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, despite claims it paid an "excessive price" for a small limitation of the Safeguard ABM system, has completed action on the $19.9 billion military procurement bill.

The measure, which sets spending and policy authority for a host of Pentagon programs in this fiscal year, now goes to President Nixon for his signature.

The excessive price claims came Thursday during discussion of compromises by a House-Senate conference in the final version of the measure.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield accused members of the House Armed Services Committee of exacting an "inordinate price" for deleting President Nixon's request that Safeguard be expanded to a Chinese-oriented, area defense.

Mansfield said the price included a $700 million increase in the Senate-passed total and the inclusion of several "pet projects" of Rep. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., in the bill.

Rivers was chairman of the House committee.

Big Spring men's clothiers are not suggesting anything so drastic with your summer straw as a bonfire, but they submit that the bite of autumn in the air means you need something more substantial and stylish for the old knob.

So, this brings us to the subject of Felt Hat Day, proclaimed only by the elements and common sense — and several merchants who have gone overboard with stocks of hats calculated to give you that confident, sharp look. FROM INDIVIDUAL RESIDENTIAL GARBAGE CONTAINERS . . .

. . . TO LARGER NEIGHBORHOOD GARBAGE CONTAINERS

Centralized Containers: One Solution?

It would be a rare morning when a person couldn't look out of his car window, or down an alley, or over a vacant lot and not see something that could be done to make the city appear cleaner and more attractive.

There are as many ideas on how to attack the situation as there are ideas about what needs to be done. Sometimes these seem to contradict as in the case of one Chamber of Commerce (Pride People) committee pressing for cleaner alleys and another (the Economy in Government task force) on record against immediate efforts to try large, central garbage containers with present revenues.

The draft of the City of Big Spring budget included $11,000 for purchase of centralized containers for a sectional trial run because of a general feeling that residential alleys constitute one of the sorest civic spots. But with a prospective deficit in the budget, the economy task force urged commissioners to include the expenditure only if it is possible within the framework of a balanced budget.

Similarly, those who suggest a massive cleanup campaign are confronted by those who say a one-shot effort is short-lived, and inadequate.

ANTI-LITTER PROJECT

Jeff Talmadge, regional president of the Permian Basin Key Clubs, met recently to discuss an anti-litter project with the Chamber of Commerce Pride People task force. City Commissioner Eddie Acri tossed out the idea of an alley clean-up program in a commission meeting recently. Neither asked, "Is this a problem?" The question was what can be done about it.

Sgt. Robert Butler, the new chairman of the Pride People, thinks that the most important thing to remember is that "clean city" campaigns are not new. "We have had various one-shot campaigns in the past that have done some good, but they lacked continuity. What we need is a cohesive, continuing program."

Talmadge suggests education as one possible approach to improvement. Recalling the Earth Day discussions about environment pollution, he feels that people can be made aware that they are responsible for the problem. "They just don't think when they drop something on the ground," he says. "If they realize what they are doing, they will stop."

PRIDE PEOPLE

Butler has called another meeting of the Pride People for Oct. 8 to discuss more freely the problems and solutions.

"We want to identify the source of the problem, and we may find several factors contributing to the situation.

"Looking at the alley situation we may find that people are using cans without lids, or ignoring the requirement for racks. The wind or the problem of dogs overturning cans may be a big part of it," he explains. Do we have good ordinances, or need new ones? What can be done through education?

"Above all, we want to find ways to make it as easy as possible for people to make the city cleaner," Butler said.

The city has helped in the past through programs backed up by legislation such as the junk car removal program and the hazardous-building-removal campaign. Also the city took on downtown beautification projects, including demolition of the old Crawford Hotel, and then added downtown tree planting.

ALLEY CLEANING

The city periodically "blades" alleys, levelling the center roadway and taking trash, junk, and rubble out at the same time. Less frequently, work crews go down the alleys and clean them up.

"We are not capable, in manpower or money, of doing this more often," comments Larry Crow, city manager. "The biggest problem is not the city's lack of capability but the homeowners who put out improper garbage cans, cans without lids, or improperly place the garbage in the can."

Crow stresses the partnership arrangement between the city and the people who live there to keep the alley clean.

"The looks of an alley depend on the people who live there," Crow adds. "I would like to tell each person, 'Get out and look down your alley. See what the situation is.' "

City officials are considering containerized residential garbage pickup equipment for inclusion in the coming year's budget for a beginning.

Would containerization improve the alleys? "I believe so," Crow says. "From what I have seen in other cities, it helps."

Residential containers are smaller than the commercial-sized containers downtown and at shopping centers and apartment buildings. One container may serve as many as six families, eliminating the usual array of garbage cans.

People have been finding out that there is no such thing as an "unbreakable" garbage can, one that cannot be dented or destroyed in a short period of time. Maintenance of the central garbage containers would be the problem of the city, and dogs would not be able to tip them over and spill the contents.

Even if attempted, containerization may not reach many areas of the city for a while. Kentwood and one or two areas would likely be the only places to try the new system during the first year. A different type of garbage truck with a side lifting device is needed, and the city does not have the capital to replace the old fleet and buy containers all at one time.

TASK FORCE

The Chamber task force on economy has no quarrel with the container idea, but it suggests that until money is available, the city continue to use the present system.

Since containers cannot solve the alley problem overnight (if used at all), people wanting a nicer city will have to plan other procedures. Alleys are not the only problem area that has been discussed. Aluminum soft drink cans line the sidewalks between schools and nearby stores. Drive-in hamburger stands seem to attract paper cups and waste paper. Streets and highways are littered with bottles and beer cans.

The city-county health unit acts to enforce the laws that are already in existence, such as the ordinance against letting trash accumulate anywhere within 300 feet of a street. The health officers, Buck Kinsey and Harold Knapp, serve about 300 notices of violations monthly, beginning with a warning to clean up the area.

"The best way to improve the alleys would be to get people to use garbage can racks," Kimsey suggests, "to keep dogs and children from turning them over."

On his inspections, Knapp noticed a distinct difference between alley-collection areas and street-collection areas. "Kentwood is the worst area in town as far as alleys are concerned, and part of the problem is the privacy afforded by fences," he says. "Some people drop their garbage over the fence without being able to see whether it lands in the can or not."

LACK COORDINATION

On clean-up projects, Knapp remembers that in the past they lacked coordination and coöperation with the health unit and the sanitation department.

"It takes at least a month of preparation to get organized for one, and we found out about the last one by reading about it in the paper. People have to decide to do something about it, and they have to work together."

"I have seen where the Jaycees or other groups will come in with trucks and rakes and clean up a whole city, an area at a time," said Kinsey "and they tell you which area they will be concentrating on each day. This is one way people can work together. Clean-ups can be contagious. If one person is seen cleaning up his part of the alley, the guy next door may decide to clean his. Of course, it can work the other way. If one man lets his trash blow all over the alley, the neighbors won't see any point in making their part look better."

When discussing the problem, city commissioners agreed that people are more likely to keep something clean if it is clean to begin with. The theory that if a city crew cleans up an alley or a civic group cleans up near a burger stand, the people will keep it clean. Hopefully.

Trash Totals 1,890 Tons In August

In August, a rather typical month as garbage collection goes, the city sanitation department collected 1,890 tons of trash, carried it to the sanitary landfill, and covered it up.

The 18 men under superintendent Grady Grantham in the department include the truck drivers, the can lifters or loaders, the men who help clean alleys and pick up leaves and tree prunings, and the men who operate the landfill loader that smooths out each layer of refuse and covers it with a layer of soil.

This year the operation was budgeted at $185,000. In the daytime, three collection crews followed the regular garbage can routes, with usually a driver and two loaders to each crew. At night a driver, using one of the two trucks with side lift mechanisms, emptied commercial containers, driving up beside a container, attaching the hooks to the container, and letting the hydraulic lifter dump the container.

Equipment used in the department includes the five garbage trucks, two with lifters and three without, the landfill loader, the motor grader used to blade alleys, a pickup for special jobs, and a flatbed for clean-up details in the alleys.

Shipment is expected soon on the new sanitation truck, with lift mechanism, authorized recently by the city commission. The city commissioners are working into the proposed budget the cost of going to a residential container system and phasing out the old garbage can routes, and the new truck is the first step in that direction.

INMATES HOLD PRESS CONFERENCE — A delegation of inmates at the Queens House of Detention in New York hold television press conference Thursday night, protesting conditions in the century-old prison where 300 rioting prisoners took hostages at noon and claimed control of the institution. The six-member delegation, which met with Correction Commissioner George McGrath, second from left, other officials, and reporters, listed 25 grievances and said they would hold five hostages until the city improved conditions.

Social Security Package Includes 10 Per Cent Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats on the Senate Finance Committee have fashioned an attractive election-year package for the 26 million Americans now receiving Social Security payments.

But to the dismay of some senators, particularly those running for re-election this year, it now appears the Senate will not vote on the package until after the Nov. 3 elections.

The committee, voting almost entirely on party lines with Republicans in opposition, approved Thursday a 10 per cent across-the-board increase in Social Security benefits next January instead of the 5 per cent voted by the House.

$100 MINIMUM

And, for the approximately 40 per cent of retired individuals who get less than $100 a month in Social Security, the panel set that amount as the minimum payment.

The House version, supported by the White House, would boost the present $64 minimum payment by 5 per cent to $67.20.

The Senate panel, which called another closed session today, has a lot more work to be done on the Social Security bill before it is ready for Senate debate.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., told reporters he is hopeful his committee can complete work on the measure by Oct. 9 — a week before adjournment is expected.

However, the bill will raise so many complex issues that it is expected to take several days after that for the panel to write its report.

WELFARE REFORM

This led Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., and other members to say they do not see how it will be possible to debate the bill until after the elections.

This is especially true, they said, because it now appears the bill will be the vehicle for action on Nixon's welfare reform proposal — the family assistance plan.

The House passed Social Security and welfare reform as separate bills.

But Long and other Finance members said whatever the committee does on welfare will be in the form of an amendment to the Social Security measure.

The increases in Social Security payments voted by the Senate panel would increase costs and benefits by $3.7 billion over the House version.

The panel cut back on some other liberalizing provisions in the House measure to save about $1 billion, leaving $2.7 billion still to finance.

18-Year-Olds Like Muskie

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, would have a narrow edge over Richard M. Nixon in a 1972 presidential race if the voting age is lowered to 18, pollster Louis Harris says.

A special sampling of the 18-20 group was made during a regular Harris survey of 2,014 households between Sept. 7 and 14, the New York Post reported Thursday.

Harris said that among the potential young voters Muskie led Nixon by 43 per cent to 31, former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey led him by 42 to 35, and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York led him by 41 to 33, with George C. Wallace drawing 8 to 9 per cent and the rest undecided.

Lumping the young vote with that of their elders, Harris said, Muskie led Nixon 43 per cent to 42. Humphrey trailed Nixon 38 to 47, Lindsay was behind 37 to 46, and Wallace received 10 per cent.

Historical Marker Planned At Site Of Restored Ranches

The dedication of an official Texas Historical Marker at the site of the Ranch Headquarters at the Texas Tech University Museum, will highlight the first annual meeting of the Ranch Headquarters Association Saturday.

The marker, commemorating the Free Range Era of Ranching, will be presented by Charles R. Woodburn, president of the Texas State Historical Survey committee, and accepted by Frank Junell, chairman of the Board of Regents of Tech.

Robert Green, Albany, will give the dedicatory address, "The Free Range Era of Ranching, 1878-1885."

Others participating in the dedication ceremony will be Frank H. Chappell, Jr., vice president of the board of overseers of the Ranch Headquarters Association, who will give the invocation; D. Burns, chairman of the board, who will make introductions.

Charles E. Maedgen, Jr., will be master of ceremonies for the event, to begin at 11 a.m. at the site.

The Ranch Headquarters project taking shape at the site of the new museum on Fourth and Indiana will be viewed for the first time by those attending the first annual meeting of the Association.

Three of the projected 20 buidings in the outdoor museum of ranching history will be in place.

On the site will be the carriage house from the U Lazy S Ranch, with John Lott on hand to interpret it. A blacksmith will be working at his craft in the shop from the Renderbrook Spade Ranch. A box and strip cabin from the Long S Ranch will also be in place.

Not yet restored are the milk and meat house from the historic JA Ranch near Clarendon and the Capote Ranch log cabin, built in the 1830's, representing the earliest Texas cattle-raising era, which has been moved from its original site 18 miles west of Gonzales, Tex.

Also on the site of the Ranch Headquarters will be two historic windmills. A large Eclipse windmill, on a wooden tower, patented in 1871, has been expertly restored as has a walpole windmill from Ulysses, Kan.

A chuck wagon from the Mallet Ranch will be on display, courtesy of Miss Christine DeVitt.

Mrs. Woodrow Tyson and her son, Ronnie, both in appropriate costume, will be riding in their buggy.

There will be a typical chuck wagon camp and other items of historical interest on display.

Action exhibits will include Bert Switzer, Lubbock, whose father was widely recognized as one of the finest saddle makers in the country, demonstrating the art as he carries on the family tradition.

Other plans include a demonstration of the braiding of ropes by Austin Doolittle, and a craftsman at work making leather stock whips.

Jim Leddy, a bootmaker of Albany, Tex., will be working on a pair of fine boots.

Chairman of the committee which is planning the exhibits is Arch Lamb, assisted by Mrs. John Lott, James Baker, Alton Brazell, George Sell and Jerry Rogers. The association is seeking charter membership at $5 per person or $12.50 per family. Deadline is Oct. 3. Anyone may join by sending name, address and membership fee to The Ranch Headquarters Association, Box 4609, Lubbock, Tex., 79409.

Midland Youths Seek Scholarships

DETROIT, Mich. — A team of three young Midland men have their eyes on nearly $7,000 in college scholarships waiting at the Detroit finish line of the Exploring Grand National Safe-Driving Road Rally, Oct. 7-10.

Member of the road rally team are: Richard Posey, 18 of 2501 Camarie; Mark Langston, 17, of 4406 Dengar, and Charles Underriner, 15 of 2506 Camarie.

They are representing Explorer Post 158 sponsored by St. Paul's United Methodist Church. Langston and Underriner are attending Lee High, and Posey is a freshmen at the University of Texas, Austin. Texas is also represented at the rally by Explorer teams from Austin and Lubbock.

Selective Service Says 26 Top Age For Drafting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System has told local draft boards that age 26 marks the border of a sanctuary they may not invade, even in hot pursuit.

At 26, explained draft Director Curtis W. Tarr, a man is too old for combat duty and drafting him might only jeopardize his fellow soldiers.

Tarr explained his views in an interview after draft spokesmen conceded new regulations might allow "dozens even hundreds" of men to escape the draft by using procedural delays until their 26th birthday.

The regulations, announced Wednesday, were in an executive order signed by President Nixon last Saturday upon the recommendation, spokesmen said, of Tarr.

"The change is affecting a very insignificant number," said a draft spokesman.

But he added, "we fully expect there will be dozens, even hundreds who do it."

The escape route of delay, however, would not be easy, he warned.

"Few will pay the price," he said, for it would take a heavy toll in skill, money, and years of uncertainty.

Those who do, however, must be replaced by other men in meeting the Pentagon's draft calls.

"Instead of these men, the system would take a couple of hundred younger, better qualified men," said the official spokesmen.

Tarr acknowledged this involved a question of fairness.

"You have to balance the safety factor for equity against the safety factor for the people who have to work with them once they get into the service," said Tarr.

He said Congress, in Selective Service legislation, had picked 19 to 26 as the desireable age limit for military induction, with the exception of doctors, whose training takes longer.

"We decided," Tarr continued, "that if 26 is a reasonable limit, then let's not go all out and get the man after he's past 26 . . . you have to think about the combat situation and who will be best qualified. In practical terms, it's the only fair thing."

Men who reached age 26 without being drafted have for years been moved far down the priority list, to be drafted only in dire emergencies or certain special circumstances; the new policy does not change that.

But before last Saturday, regulations allowed boards to draft men after 26 if they had passed that borderline while involved in administrative process delays within the Selective Service System.

Saturday's executive order eliminated that hot-pursuit clause. Now a man may be drafted after 26 only if the notice of induction itself was issued before his 26th birthday.

A spokesman said that during the first eight months of this year 467 men over 26 were drafted; it was not known how many had been issued notices before or after they reached that age.

The change in regulations involves "such an insignificant group of people, we didn't consider it a major policy decision" the spokesman said.

Bishop Medeiros Says Farewells In Valley

SAN JUAN, Tex. (AP)—Bishop Humberto Medeiros Thursday urged Lower Rio Grande Valley Roman Catholics to pray for him as he leaves the Valley to become archbishop of Boston.

Medeiros, named last month to replace Richard Cardinal Cushing who resigned because of ill health, celebrated mass before a reception for the laity of the four-county Brownsville diocese.

PAY BATTLE

An estimated 2,000 persons turned out in the Shrine of the Virgin of San Juan Catholic Church to hear the bishop give a final sermon and celebrate mass.

A reception was held in the Pilgrim House cafeteria following mass. Representatives of each Valley parish attended and marched into the church with the bishop and a contingent of fully uniformed fourth-degree Knights of Columbus.

For the bishop it was a return to the church where he drew the ire of Valley vegetable and melon growers in 1966 when he announced he was backing striking farm workers' demands for a $1.25 an hour minimum wage. The bishop spoke then just before a group of workers left on a long, hot march to Austin to dramatize their demands.

Antonio Orendain, a top aide to form labor union leader Cesar Chavez, attended the bishop's farewell mass as did some of the union's Valley organizers.

"I go to greater, heavier responsibilities . . . not to find an easier life, but to take over a heavier cross," the bishop said. He spoke in both Spanish and English.

DEEP JOY

"I am afraid . . . we are all afraid of the cross, but I feel an inner and deep joy."

"I must confess that the greatest source of happiness has been your example of simple, sincere faith," he told the cross-section of Valley Catholics. Bishop Medeiros has served for four years and three months as bishop of the predominantly Mexican-American diocese.

"Pray for me . . . if any man ever stood before you in need of prayer, you are looking at him right now," he said.

Bishop Medeiros is scheduled to leave Brownsville at 7 a.m. Tuesday for Boston. He is to be installed as archbishop Wednesday.

POLLUTION DETECTIVE — Technicians check prototype buoy packed with instruments that monitor changes in water and air temperature, salt and oxygen content, effect of waste discharges and other conditions that affect the environment. Lockheed-California Co. scientists, who developed the buoy now being tested in San Diego bay, propose a network of such unmanned devices on coastal and inland waterways.

Investigation Into Death Is Continuing

Lubbock authorities are continuing their investigation into the shoot-out death of Big Spring businessman George A. McGann.

An inquest into the Tuesday slaying of McGann and a Lufkin man, J. M. Meshell, originally scheduled for this afternoon has been rescheduled for early next week to allow officers more time in their investigation. No definite date has been announced by Justice of the Peace F. H. Bolen.

In Big Spring, funeral services for McGann were scheduled for this morning at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home chapel with burial in Trinity Memorial Park.

VA Service Can Help Cancel Loan

Nurses who obtained government loans while in nursing school may earn credit toward the cancellation of their loans by professional service in a Veterans Administration hospital.

Jack D. Powell, director of the local VA Hospital, Friday said that information on the loan cancellation and the necessary forms may be obtained from the school of nursing where the loan was obtained.

Preacher Says Nixon Afraid Of Communists

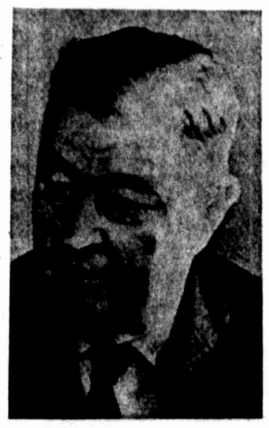
WASHINGTON (AP) — Charging the Nixon administration is afraid of Communists, leaders of this weekend's "March for Victory" say they hope one million Americans will turn out with "flags and Bibles" to demonstrate for a military triumph in South Vietnam.

Washington police prepared for one-fourth that number. There were few, if any, early signs of a confrontation between prowar and antiwar factions.

DRAWING CARD

The Rev. Carl McIntire, whose International Council of Christian Churches is organizing the rally, charges that President Nixon's "Vietnamization" of the war is deserting both the Vietnamese people and American soldiers and prisoners of war.

His erstwhile top drawing card, South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, had planned to come to the United States to address the rally but bowed out last weekend at the urging of government leaders here and in his own country.



REV. CARL McINTIRE

An afternoon appearance by McIntire and a delegation of fundamentalist ministers at the Pentagon was the opening scheduled event for the weekend. A memorial service will be held on the Capitol steps tonight to honor Americans killed in the Southeast Asia war.

HOT TIME

The march itself begins at noon Saturday, from the east end of the Mall along Pennsylvania Avenue to the Washington Monument for a rally.

At a pre-march dinner in suburban Maryland Thursday night, McIntire told a cheering crowd of 350 persons, "There'll be a hot time in the old town Saturday. We ought to have a million people in this city on Saturday."

Alternatively quoting from the Bible and newspaper clippings, he blamed Nixon and members of Congress for discouraging Ky's visit.

Explosion Rips School, Hurts Four

SHARPLES, W. Va. (AP) — An explosion ripped through a restroom at Sharples High School today, injuring four young boys — one critically — State Police said.

Police identified the injured as Barney Joe Foley, 17, Jerry Cook, Danny Williams and Jerry Bostram, all 18. Officials at Boone Memorial Hospital in Madison said Foley was in critical condition. They said Foley and Cook had been transfered to a Charleston hospital.

Police said the explosion at the school some 18 niles north of Logan in Logan County occurred about 9 a.m. during a class change. They said the blast knocked one of the students out of the restroom into a hallway and destroyed a set of books he was carrying.

Police have sealed off the restroom, but have not determined what caused the blast. They said the school was heated with electricity, and said no gas was present at the school.

The youths were taken immediately to the Madison hospital, and treated there for burns.

Lucky Number Could Be 196 In 1970 Draft

Mrs. Roselle A. Coates, executive secretary of local draft board No. 71, Friday said that random selection number 185 is the highest lottery selection number yet reached in 1970.

She said, however, that it might be necessary to go to sequence number 195 as previously announced by Dr. Curtis W. Tarr, national selective service director, in order to satisfy the remaining 1970 draft calls.

Mrs. Coates said that all registrants of the local board who hold the highest reached number, or numbers below the highest reached number, and have not been issued induction orders, will be considered carryover into the extended priority group if they are classified 1-A on Dec. 31. Such young men will have their liability extended for 90 days.

Registrants who held numbers above the highest reached number of the local board and are classified 1-A on Dec. 31, will be placed in a lower draft priority group on Jan. 1, she said.

Thursday Shower Dampens County

Rain, sunshine, rain, sunshine, — Out of Thursday's checkerboard weather, Big Spring received .30 inch of rainfall. This reading includes the .17 inch that was reported before noon Thursday.

Texas Electric Service Company measured .45 inch of rain at the switching station outside of Big Spring. Knott received .2 inch and Elbow received sunshine after noon Thursday.

Coahoma received a trace of moisture in the morning mizzle. The sun managed to peer through the clouds Thursday afternoon and beat the rain to the draw this morning, but there is a 20 per cent chance of rain for this afternoon through Saturday.

Sniper Slaying Doctor Assessed Life Penalty

HOUSTON (AP)—Dr. Archie Burkhalter was found guilty of being an accomplice to the sniper slaying of his physician partner and assessed a life penalty Thursday.

The eight-man, four-woman jury deliberated more than 10 hours Wednesday before reaching a guilty verdict. It then heard 29 character witnesses testify as to the Pasadena physician's good character and reputation.

It retired late Thursday to deliberate one hour on his sentence. The state had sought the death penalty.

The character witnesses which defense attorney Warren Burnett brought forth included doctors, nurses, school teachers and administrators, house wives, a corporation court judge, two Houston policemen and three ministers.

Burkhalter, 43, was charged in the death of Dr. Robert Pendleton, his partner in the Red Bluff General Hospital in Pasadena.

Pendleton was killed in the hospital parking lot Dec. 9, 1966, by two rifle shots fired by a sniper.

During the Thursday testimony, Burnett urged special prosecutor Jimmy James to tell the jurors the future of the state's star witness, Del Monte Whitehurst, who James had said will be set free once the trial is over.

Cabot Picnic Set Saturday

Several officials from the Pampa headquarters will join with Cabot employes and their families here Saturday for the Dixon plant annual barbecue.

Approximately 300 Cabot men and families, plus retired personnel and their families, are expected to participate in festivities beginning at 1 p.m. in the City Park.

Besides the barbecue, there will be Shetland pony rides for the kiddies, soft drinks and balloons; also recreational activities for adults. Individual service award presentations are scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

Among those here to join plant manager Ed Holland and his staff in feting the Cabot family will be O. M. Prigmore, manager of the Cabot Carbon plants in the United States; D. W. Bond Jr., director of industrial relations; Bert Arney, personnel director; C. T. Whatley, employment and offices service manager; Dave Redus, safety director; R. Geisler, safety engineer; John P. Wright, training supervisor; and Roy Smith, pilot.

Service awards will be presented to 25 employes, six of them with 25 years of tenure with the company.

UF Total Still Rising

Employes of Dewey Ray Chrysler Plymouth turned in their United Fund contributions pushing this morning's campaign total to $5,646. With gifts from 100 per cent of the employes the contribution more than doubled their contribution 1 st year.

Other contributions received Thursday through the "big gifts" division and the women's division of the campaign figured in the new total.

The fund drive team at the Veterans Administration Hospital are working under Charles Smith of the personnel division to get 100 per cent participation this year from the 277 employes.

Charges Filed

Burglary charges have been filed in the court of Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter against Benito B. Diaz, Adolf Salazar Jr., and Joe Olivio Jr. in connection with the burglary of the Broadway Tavern, 1231 W. 3rd, early Thursday morning.

Woman Charged

Charges of carrying a prohibited weapon have been filed in County Court against Mrs. Doris Louise Moten in connection with a shooting incident at the North 66 Truck Stop Tuesday night. Police said Junior Moten, the woman's husband, apparently was shot at.

Mary Gregory, Sister Here

Curtiss Mary Gregory, 65, sister of Mrs. C. O. Nalley, Big Spring, died Wednesday morning in a Ballinger hospital following a long illness.

Funeral was at 4 p.m. Thursday in the First Baptist Church of Ballinger with the Rev. Ferris Akins, pastor, officiating. Burial was in the Talpa Cemetery under direction of Allen Davis Funeral Home.

Miss Gregory was born Jan. 8, 1905, in Talpa, and she had lived in Ballinger since 1942. She retired in May after teaching in Ballinger elementary schools 27 years.

She earned her B.A. and M.A. degrees in education from Sul Ross and was a member of Delta Kappa Gamma and the First Baptist Church of Ballinger.

Survivors include one brother, Jeff M. Gregory, Abilene; three sisters, Mrs. George Bevill, Brownwood, Mrs. Coy Estes, Ballinger, and Mrs. Nalley; two nieces and two nephews.

Mrs. R. F. Mote, Saturday Rites

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Services for Mrs. Robert F. (Gladys) Mote, 64, of Loraine will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church in Loraine, with the Rev. Clarence Minton, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Loraine Cemetery under the direction of Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

Mrs. Mote died Thursday afternoon in a Colorado City hospital following an apparent heart attack.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. S. M. Wilkinson, Colorado City; one son, Byron Mote, Fort Worth; one brother, Moody Richardson, Loraine; seven sisters, Mrs. F. P. Brame, Mrs. E. O. Walker, Mrs. C. A. Anderson and Mrs. A. E. Preston, all of Loraine, Mrs. Cora Howell, Colorado City and Mrs. Birdie Moore and Mrs. Maud Mearse, both of Andrews; and two granddaughters.

Henry A. Mayer, Daughter Here

Services for Henry A. Mayer, 86, who died Sept. 25 in California, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the River-Welch Funeral Home Chapel, with the Rev. Leo Gee, pastor of the First United Methodist Church officiating. Burial will be in the Mount Olive Cemetery, under direction of the River-Welch Funeral Home.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Pipes, Big Spring, and two other daughters; five sons; 23 grandchildren; 28 great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren.

Grandsons and nephews will be pallbearers.

Former Resident

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Funeral for Mrs. Bertie Rogers, former Mitchell County resident, was to be at 10 a.m. today in Durant, Okla., with burial at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Colorado City Cemetery under direction of Kiker and Son Funeral Home. Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. George Lock Jr., San Diego, Calif., Mrs. Doyle Rowle, Hot Springs, Ark., and Mrs. George Brown Jr., Durant.

INTERNATIONAL DONNYBROOK FLARES

Who Discovered What?

WASHINGTON (AP) — An international donnybrook flared today between Soviet and American scientists over the honor of claiming the discovery of a will-o-the-wisp chemical element which could lead to practical benefits for man.

A Soviet nuclear scientist insisted that Russian researchers —not American ones—were the first to discover the heavyweight radioactive chemical element—No. 105 in the periodic table.

'HALF-LIFE'

Researcher Georgii N. Flerov accused the Atomic Energy Commission of ignoring a Soviet technical document which he said buttresses his country's claim.

But the captain of the U.S. team which also claims initial discovery of the element quickly indicated the Americans were sticking to their guns.

The newfound element—named "chahnium" — by the Americans—is artificially made by bombarding another element with nuclear rays. It's a veritable will-o-the-wisp, with a radioactive "half-life" of only 1.6 seconds.

U.S. scientists contend the discovery might help toward artificially creating—or even ultimately finding on earth—a long-predicted exotic form of lead which might have practical uses.

The still-undiscovered element is No. 114, tentatively dubbed "eka-lead," and is the target of worldwide research.

VERY FUZZY

Last April 27, a team at University of California at Berkeley, headed by Dr. Albert Ghiorso, announced discovery of element No. 105 to a meeting of the American Physical Society. And the AEC put out an announcement of its own the next day.

Flerov, in a letter published today in the journal Science, said Soviet scientists had synthesized element No. 105 early this year and had published an account of it in February—two months prior to the report of the American discovery.

He added:

"Neither the statement of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission . . . of 28 April, 1970 . . . nor the (Ghiorso statement) referred to our work which was done in Dubna and published two months earlier."

FIND ATOMS

In its April 28 announcement the AEC said:

"Soviet scientists, in the last two years, have reported the observation of what they believe to be a few atoms of element 105.

"Ghiorso and his associates attempted to confirm the Soviet findings by more sophisticated methods without success and they conclude that the Soviet data are in error."

Flerov, in his letter, said "we are fully confident of the authenticity of our data and we can rely on scientific arguments to prove that we discovered the new element."

The AEC did not comment immediately on Flerov's letter, but Dr. Ghiorso, in a telephone interview from Berkeley, said that "even if the work reported by the Soviet scientists in February, 1970, turns out to be right, I'd still argue that we have prior right to claim of discovery, because our work is very definitive . . . theirs is not."

Denies Foundation Financed Gambling

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—The chairman of the Moody Foundation's board of trustees has denied accusations by a New York lawyer that the foundation indirectly financed Las Vegas gambling interests.

Paul R. Haas said Thursday the offer of Lawrence N. Hurwita of New York to buy hotels owned by the Moody Foundation was not considered "a firm unconditional" offer, and was therefore rejected.

Haas issued the statement after New York attorney Roy Cohn testified before the House committee on charitable trusts in Austin Wednesday.

Cohn said the Moody trustees rejected a $2.7 million offer by Hurwitz in favor of an "insider" offer from Carey Mayfield, president of the Moody National Bank of Galveston, for only $1.6 million.

Haas said Hurwitz's offer "was subject to negotiation of loan arrangements of the hotel companies in such a manner that in the opinion of counsel to the trustees the offer was not a firm, unconditional offer" and that Mayfield's was.

Haas' statement also said:

"Furthermore, the trustees felt that all of us were aware of Mayfield's capabilities and felt that he would spend full time operating the hotels since he agreed to resign from his positions as president of Moody National Bank and as director of American National Insurance Co.

"Other factual criticism is directed to two former officers of American National Insurance Co., William Vogler and Rollins Furbush. I would only point out that they have not been employed by American National for some time."

Cohn had said that American National is controlled by the Moody Foundation and by the Libbie Shearn Moody Trust.

Puny Front Drags Near Panhandle

By The Associated Press

A cool front so feeble it was scarcely noticeable crept southward through the Texas Panhandle today.

With the air behind it nearly as warm as what lay ahead, little or no effect on the state's weather pattern was expected.

Official observers said a second frontal system, still in Central Montana this morning, should arrive by Saturday and probably would drop temperatures six to eight degrees lower than the readings early today.

Near daylight the puny front to Amarillo, with the temperature there 52 degrees. Dalhart to the north registered 49 at the same time.

Readings were mostly in the 60s over the rest of the state, staying as high as 70 at Corpus Christi and 71 at Galveston.

A little rain pattered down between midnight and dawn near Texarkana in the northeast corner of Texas and over an area between Killeen and Junction near the state's midsection.

There were a few showers Thursday afternoon in the Big Bend country of far West Texas, where Alpine measured .32 inch and Marfa .32.

Widely Copied Antibusing Law Is Unconstitutional

BUFFALO (AP) — A panel of three federal judges says New York State's widely copied antibusing law is unconstitutional.

The law prohibits involuntary busing of pupils to achieve racial balance. It applies only to appointed school boards, of which the state has only about a dozen.

"The statute ... operates to disadvantage a minority, a racial minority, in the political process," the judges said Thursday. They held it thus violates the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment.

A spokesman for the state attorney general's office said she assumed the state would appeal to the Supreme Court, possible in cases decided by a three-judge federal panel.

ALL WHITE

The New York law was used as a model for antibusing statutes in several Southern states seeking to slow desegregation, including Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama.

The suit was brought by six parents of Buffalo school children. Among them was Donald Lee, president of the state National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Three of the parents are white, three black.

One of the parents, Erwin Johnson, said he joined the suit because he felt "a totally white school creates a false environment" for the children.

"If a child's neighborhood includes only whites, he is not prepared for the larger world," Johnson said.

CITES IMBALANCE

Johnson, father of four school-aged children, is an anthropology professor at the State University at Buffalo.

The judges said busing was needed to combat school imbalance because voluntary plans "have not had a significant impact on the problems of racial segregation in the Buffalo schools."

The judges said 22 of the city's schools had more than 90 per cent black pupils.

The antibusing law did not affect districts with elected school boards. Several such districts have begun desegregation plans involving involuntary busing.

Flow Cuts Ordered In 282 Oil Fields

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The railroad commission has suddenly reduced the oil allowable in 282 fields after warning oilmen for two months that it was concerned that higher production was wasting casinghead gas.

Texas has some 8,400 oil fields.

The statewide October oil allowable of 87 per cent is 7.1 per cent higher than last month and 33.3 per cent higher than October, 1969.

VALUABLE STUFF

A commission spokesman said a recent study by the staff revealed that some plants are not "equipped to take gas on an 87 per cent allowable. "The gas," he said, "is a natural commodity too precious to waste."

Casinghead gas is a natural byproduct of oil production.

The commission, which regulates oil and gas production in Texas, cautioned lease and plant operators Sept. 16 to observe restrictions against flaring, or burning casinghead gas.

Its special order issued Thursday said "if, by operation of the specific field market demand factors. . .more gas will be produced in any such field than can be handled by the facilities available, the plant operator and each lease operator shall cooperate and shall make production adjustments to bring the production of gas and the capacity of facilities into balance."

"No gas shall be flared by an operator at the well or by the plant operator," the order emphasized in capital letters.

The reduced oil allowable ranged from 83 per cent in numerous fields in the Houston, Lubbock and Wichita Falls districts to 27 per cent of potential for the Seminole, West field in the Lubbock district.

ABILENE DISTRICT

The allowable was reduced to 79.9 per cent in 131 fields in the Corpus Christi district, to 75, 82 or 83 per cent in 77 fields in the Houston district and to 83 or 79.9 in 37 fields in the Lubbock district. Salt Creek was cut to 65 per cent in that district and Seminole, West was the other field ordered to cut back oil production in the Lubbock district.

Seventeen fields in the Wichita Falls district were reduced to 83 per cent, and 16 fields in the Abilene district were reduced to 65 per cent of potential production.

The Hawkins field in the Kilgore No. 6 district was cut back to 79.9 per cent and the Big Yates field in the Midland district was cut to 60 per cent.

The special order stated that any wells in the 282 fields which are not connected to a gas gathering system may produce oil in October at the new rate even if gas is flared but will be ordered to stop production in the future "until such flared gas is diverted to legal uses. . ."

Dowdy Undergoes Back Operation

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Rep. John Dowdy, D-Tex., who was scheduled to go on trial Oct. 8 on a federal bribery charge, is expected to remain hospitalized two weeks following back surgery Thursday.

The trial, in a Baltimore, Md., federal court, was postponed indefinitely. Prosecutor Stephen H. Sachs, said he does not expect to go to trial with the case before December.

A spokesman for St. Elizabeth Hospital said Dowdy was conscious Thursday night and resting in the recovery room after the operation, called a "decompressive laminectorym."

Doctors described the operation as the removal of a nerve root, which is sensitive to pain, from a spur which had formed on a damaged spinal disc.

Dowdy entered the hospital at Jasper two days before Sept. 24, the date of his original trial. An aide for the congressman said Dowdy stepped from a curb and aggravated the back condition that had existed since he was struck by a truck at the age of 15.

The 58-year-old Dowdy is charged in connection with an alleged $25,000 bribe to halt federal investigation of a now defunct home repair firm.

Two days before the trial—after several unsuccessful attempts to delay the trial or have the indictment quashed—Dowdy entered the hospital at Jasper.

Opening lead: Queen of ♠

Failure by East to take charge at the outset proved fatal to the defensive cause in today's hand where South was the declarer at a five diamond contract.

West opened the queen of spades, the three was played from dummy and East signaled encouragement by following with the eight. West continued with the jack of spades which was ruffed by the declarer.

South led the queen of diamonds, however when West followed with the five, the finesse was refused and the ace was played from dummy. The king of spades was returned and South ruffed away East's ace.

The jack of diamonds dislodged East's king and drew the outstanding trump. East returned a club, the ace was played from dummy followed by the queen. Declarer overtook with the king and cashed his remaining club honors, discarding two hearts from dummy. The ace of hearts provided a parking place for North's remaining side card and the latter's trumps took the balance of the tricks. Declarer lost in all, one spade and one diamond.

East was guilty of negligence in failing to take the proper measures to assure the defeat of the contract. He is looking at nine hearts between his hand and the dummy, and it is a cinch that South has the remaining four cards in the suit by virtue of his opening bid. Since West is therefore marked with a void in hearts, and East can expect to take book for his side with the ace of spades and the king of diamonds, he should grab the lead without delay to make certain of giving partner a heart ruff.

While it is true that overtaking West's queen of spades with the ace may cost a trick if South started with two spades, that is a small price to pay for the assurance of defeating the game contract.

Rodeo As Dangerous As Playing Football

DENVER, COLO. — Football has no monopoly on injuries. Consider professional rodeo competition.

Six top contestants, according to the Rodeo Cowboy's Association have been sidelined, including the association's leading money winner the past five years, Larry Mahan of Brooks, Ore.

Mahan, 26, who earned $57,726 in 1969, suffered two cracked vertebrae at Albuquerque, N.M., last week when a horse pinned him in the arena chute. He is expected to be out of action several weeks.

Doug Brown, 24, Silverton, Ore., reigning world bull riding champion who pocketed $40,964 last year, received three breaks in an upper arm when he "hung up" in a stirrup at Abilene, Tex., last week. He may not return to competition this year, the association said.

Dickey Cox, 31, of Walnut Springs, Tex., and Enoch Walker of Cottonwood, Ariz., both received broken ribs and punctured lungs in recent rodeo mishaps. Cox was stepped on by a bull at Memphis, Tenn., Saturday and Walker was stepped on by a saddle bronc at Los Banos, Calif.

Clyde Vamvoras, 28, Burkburnett, Tex., the bareback bronc riding champion in 1967 and '68, and leading in the race for the 1970 crown until this week, received a shoulder injury in an Illinois rodeo three weeks ago. He may be out for the season.

Out with a broken wrist is Jimmy Dix, 28, of Australia.

NEW WORSHIP SERVICE TO START

The First United Methodist Church of Big Spring will begin an 8:30 A.M. Worship Service Sunday, October 4, 1970. This will be a family service planned to minister to every member of the family. Many contemporary forms will be used along with some experimental efforts. A great Youth Choir is being organized to lead the music.
There seems to be a need in our community for an early worship service to serve some who find it necessary to work on Sunday and cannot attend a later service.
Everyone is invited and will find a welcome.

Wheels in Motion

When the gears of a machine mesh together in motion, things begin to happen. Wheels turn, and power is transmitted to every part of the mechanism.

Prayer is something like that. Individual prayer is a vital and sacred thing. Each of us has moments when we—and we alone—must turn to God.

And collective prayer—mass prayer—can be a tremendous force for good too. It is as if thousands of "spiritual gears" suddenly were meshed together into a unit directed by a single purpose.

On Worldwide Communion Sunday, remember the power of collective prayer. Join with your neighbors throughout the globe by attending church and praying both for peace and for each other.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ANNIVERSARY COFFEE — A coffee commemorating the 25th anniversary of the Veterans Administration Chaplain Service was held Monday at the VA Hospital. Patients and employes attended the coffee which was served by VA chaplain service volunteers. From left to right are Dr. Fred Patterson Jr., Mrs. Caleb Hildebrand, Sister Amabilis, Mrs. David Northcutt, the Rev. A. C. Hicks, VA chaplain; and Joe W. Peay, VA patient.

Silver Anniversary Feted By VA Chaplain Service

The 25th Anniversary of the chaplain service in Veterans Administration Hospitals was celebrated with a coffee Tuesday morning at the local hospital. The coffee honored all employes and volunteers who are associated with the chaplain service or who have served with the service in the past.

The wives of the part-time chaplains at the hospital and some of the nuns from immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church served as hostesses for the coffee. Mrs. Caleb Hildebrand was chairman of the decorations and refreshment committee.

The Rev. A. C. Hicks is the full-time VA chaplain. He is assisted by part-time chaplains The Rev. Caleb Hildebrand, Wesley United Methodist Church; the Rev. David Northcutt, First Presbyterian Church of Coahoma; Father Bill Meagher, Immaculate Heart of Mary Cathloic Church; and a Rabbi from Lubbock.

The Chaplain service was established Aug. 1, 1945, and the placement of chaplains in the various hospitals authorized Nov. 28 of the same year. Religious organizations representing the predominant faith and denominational groups petitioned the Administration of Veterans Affairs to establish the chaplaincy on a national basis.

In his announcement of the addition of the service, the director said, "It is felt that the chaplaincy service of the Veterans Administration should be strengthened and established on a basis that will assure beneficiaries the best possible spiritual guidance, counseling, and religious services."

Chaplain Morris A. Sandhaus served as director of the federal chaplain service at the VA Central Office from 1945 until his death in 1969. He was the first chaplain of the Jewish faith to be named to such a post.

At the present time, there are 300 full-time chaplains and 500 part-time chaplains in 166 VA hospitals and homes. These chaplains represent the major faith groups — Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and Eastern Orthodox. Each chaplain is assigned to serve the spiritual needs of the sick veterans.

Concert To Mark Appreciation Day

College Baptist Church will have its own Sunday double header when Dr. Byron Orand begins his ninth year as pastor, and Fritz Smith, noted evangelistic singer, presents a concert.

Dr. Orand will speak at the 11 a.m. worship on "Leadership and Followship." At the 7 p.m. service, Smith, who was formerly minister of music at the First Baptist Church in San Antonio, will be accompanied by Mrs. L. B. Thomas and by Mrs. Don Richardson. Smith has directed music in revival meetings across the United States.

In honor of the occasion, the membership has declared Sunday Pastor Appreciation Day with goals of 508 in Sunday School and 208 in Training Union. There will be a fellowship gathering after the Sunday evening service to honor the Rev. and Mrs. Orand.

Dr. Orand is a graduate of Baylor, Southwestern Baptist Seminary and last year received his doctorate from Luther Rice Seminary at Jacksonville, Fla. He came here from Malakoff First Baptist after a pastorate at Latexo after finishing the seminary. During his tenure here the church has completed two major building campaigns (a new sanctuary and new activities building) at a cost of $320,000. There have been 1,700 additions, of which 504 were by baptism. Average attendance has more than doubled in Sunday School to 363 and Training Union to 160, and the budget has vitually quadrupled.

Dr. Orand and his wife, the former Carol Garner of Houston whom he married in 1956, reside at 700 Birdwell with their chil-

Church Of Christ To Hold Meetings

"He doesn't really offer a cure-all for disease, just an alternative to facing the hard and sometimes damaging facts of life alone. We want to give the people of Big Spring a chance to discover for themselves what He has to offer them."

The purpose of a meeting Oct. 11-17 at the Carl Street Church of Christ will be to introduce people to the doctor — Jesus Christ, said Ron Sellers, minister.

Ron Hull, minister of the Trent Church of Christ, will lead the meeting, delivering lessons at 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Oct. 11 and 7:30 p.m. Oct. 12-17 at the church at 2301 Carl.

State Hospital Offers Course To Preachers

Pastors in the area are still being invited to avail themselves of the pastors training clinic at Big Spring State Hospital starting Oct. 15.

The course, offered in previous years, is designed to aid ministers in a greater recognition and understanding of emotional and mental distress; how to deal with these problems; how the hospital may sometimes fit into the solution of a problem.

The clinic involves each Thursday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Nov. 19. Ministers will be given ward assignments, take part in group therapy, examine personality theories, and otherwise learn from actual experience how to help people who may have or be developing a mental problem.

"Ministers are usually the first person to whom an individual turns when they have serious problems," said Chaplain Lee Butler. "Those who have taken this course in the past have told us that it was a tremendously practical and useful tool for them in their ministries."

Bishop Blesses National Shrine

CREDITON, England (AP) — A national shrine to St. Boniface, apostle of Germany, has been blessed by Bishop Cyril Restieaux of Plymouth at this Devon town where he was born.

The Bishop also celebrated the first mass in a new 22,000 pounds ($52,800) church. Foundation stone for the church was sent by Bishop Bolte from Fulda, where the saint is buried. He was martyred at the age of 75.

Church Revives Ancient Festival

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church will hold a "Feast Of Booths" Sunday from 5-7 p.m. Sunday's feast is patterned after the Old Testament festivals that were held to celebrate the harvests and thank God for his blessings.

According to the Rev. Dan Sebesta, the festivals started in the time of Moses. The people would come from the towns and villages to gather in the fields. During the harvest, they would live in little booths they erected in the fields, thus the origin of the "Feast of Booths."

Sunday, the congregation of St. Paul's will re-create the spirit of the ancient festival as they gather at the church for fellowship, games and dinner and conclude the evening with worship.

1973 To Be Year Of Evangelism

NEW YORK (AP) — Representatives of more than 70 Protestant denominations are working on plans to make 1973 a continent-wide "Year of Evangelism."

"The conviction is growing that the time is ripe for a forceful, clear-sounding emphasis throughout the continent on the right meaning of the gospel in a concerted effort," says the Rev. Reynold Johnson, head of the evangelism commission of the Lutheran Church in America. He says it could stir "the thinking of the nation, to the glory of God."

Coming, Going

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Most people who either quit a Southern Baptist church to join another denomination, or who leave another denomination to become a Southern Baptist, do so for reasons of marriage, convenience or other circumstances not directly related to beliefs, according to results of a survey of 1,905 persons who have taken such steps.

Church Of God Ends Revival

The First Church of God, 2009 Main St., has been in revival services this week with Dr. Donald Smith serving as the evangelist. The services will conclude with the Sunday morning service.

Tonight has been designated as "Youth Night" and will begin at 7:00 p.m. and the youth will attend the football game following the service, after which they will return to the church fellowship hall for a "Pizza Party."

Saturday night will be "Children's Night" and there will be an ice cream social for all the children following the service.

Dr. Donald Smith is a graduate of Illinois State University and holds the Doctor of Education degree. He has served the church as a pastor, evangelist, and at one time served as the state coordinator for the state of Illinois. He is presently serving as vice-president in charge of academic affairs of Gulf Coast Bible College, Houston, Tex.

The public is urged to attend the closing services of the revival and hear this outstanding minister of the Gospel.

DROP OUTS?
WHAT IS YOUR EXCUSE?

WHEN PEOPLE DROP OUT OF PARTICIPATION IN SPIRITUAL ACTIVITIES THERE MAY BE ONE OF SEVERAL REASONS FOR IT
1. It could be hostility toward God.
2. It could be they have become angry with their teacher or brethern.
3. It could be their lives are frustrated because they do not live the way they know they should.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Be watchful, stand firm in your faith, be courageous, be strong. Let all that you be done in love. (I Corinthians 16:13-14, RSV)

PRAYER: Here we are, Lord, wanting to be Your people in the world, yet often feeling uncertain of our next venture in faith. Guide us, we pray, by means of the Holy Spirit and rouse us to action. For the sake of Christ whose name is synonymous with courage. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Clearer Issue

Seems like many things that come up for action by local governmental agencies lately have a way of getting bogged down in legalities, technicalities or questions of procedure.

First it was the city's ordinance revamping the retirement system to provide city participation on a 2-1 instead of a 1-1 ratio. Then it was the petition and public hearing for a rural fire protection district.

Representatives of Coahoma (and later Forsan) understandably wanted to be excluded from the district boundaries. This, would, they contended, amount to a bit of double-taxation since they were obliged to maintain their own fire-fighting equipment, same as Big Spring.

After the hearing the commissioners court decided that the point was well taken and excluded the corporate limits of Coahoma and Forsan from the proposed district. The territorial and value factors are not of great consequence, and on the other hand chances of approval have been greatly enhanced. Proponents ought to be pleased with the general turn of events, now that the issue can be settled on its merits by the voters rather than having it clouded with territorial disputes.

Bit Indiscreet

Every now and again someone in high places shows limited grasp of the principle that a public official should, like Caesar's wife, be above suspicion. Chairman Helen Delich Bentley of the Federal Maritime Commission has just become another case in point.

Mrs. Bentley acknowledges having talked with numerous officials of shipping firms, all subject to regulation by the commission, in support of C. Stanley Blair's candidacy for governor of Maryland. She purports to see nothing wrong in this. This makes her appear either naive or cynical.

The Maritime Commission chairman's comments, when asked about the matter by the press, are of interest. "I didn't pressure anybody," she said. "I merely notified them (officials of maritime firms) that the vice president was personally interested in the election of C. Stanley Blair. If that's being indiscreet, then I guess I'm guilty of indiscretion." She also said that she "asked them to help in any way they could."

We submit that this is indeed, at very least, indiscreet.

FBI Study Could Be Enlightening

WASHINGTON — Contrary to some published reports, the Federal Bureau of Investigation will not — under legislation now before congress — station agents on the campuses of the universities and colleges of the country. The agents will make investigations only when there are bombings or terrorist incidents, and their inquiries will be confined to those colleges which are the recipients of federal aid.

THE FBI doesn't have enough agents to maintain a police force on the nations campuses, nor does it desire to do so. It has its hands full merely conducting investigations in cases that develop as a result of the acts of terror which not only baffle local police but appear to have been originated by persons who are not connected with the colleges.

The extent of the terrorism generated by influences outside the campus has never been revealed. But J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, in his open letter to college students, written recently for United Press International, said:

"THERE IS REAL ground for concern about the extremism which led to violence, lawlessness, and disrespect for the rights of others on many college campuses during the past year.

"The extremists are a small minority of students and faculty members who have lost faith in America. They redicule the flag, poke fun at American institutions, seek to destroy our society. They are not interested in genuine reform. They take advantage of the tensions, strife, and often legitimate frustrations of students to promote campus chaos. They have no rational, intelligent plan of the future either for the university or the nation.

"THE EXTREMISTS are of wide variety: Adherents of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) including the Weatherman; members of the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA), the Trotskyist Youth Group) the Communist Party's Young workers Liberation League (YWLL). Or they may be associated with the Student Mobilization Committee to end the war in Vietnam (SMC), a Trotskyist dominated anti-war group.

"Many are not associated with any national group. The key point is not so much the identification of extremists but learning to recognize and understand the mentality of extremism which believes in violence and destruction."

A FAVORITE DEVICE of the extremists is to denounce the FBI and try to prejudice the students against the Federal government itself. Mr. Hoover says in his letter:

"They'll encourage you to disrespect the law and hate the law enforcement officer. Most college students have good friends who are police officers. You know that when extremists call the police 'pigs' they are wrong. The officer protects your rights, lives, and property. He is your friend and he needs your support."

President Nixon was so impressed with the letter than Mr. Hoover wrote for the UPI that he ordered a copy sent to 900 college presidents, to be distributed to students wherever possible.

It has been apparent for a long time that outside elements have often been responsible for the destruction of property belonging to the federal government, such as federal research centers and the premises of the Reserve Officers Training Corps.

RADICAL STUDENTS have had enough influence on various campuses to persuade the governing bodies to detach the colleges from any connection with federal research work and particularly with the ROTC.

By bringing the FBI into the investigative side of the problem, it is believed that conspiracies will be more promptly disclosed and participants subjected to punishment.

Billy Graham

My husband is an emotionally disturbed man. Yet, he is intellectually very bright and does well professionally. I have gradually lost any deep affection for him, and have seriously considered separation. He needs me, yet I feel guilty in staying with him, since love has fled. Either choice: divorce, or remaining with him seems wrong. S. P. V.

I receive hundreds and thousands of letters like yours from people who are disillusioned with their marriage. I sometimes wonder if many people are happily married, yet, I know there are many.

I do know this: a good marriage is not the product of two perfect people. It is two sincere people trying prayerfully to build a marriage and a home with the materials they have, imperfect though they be.

Very seldom does one find a perfect marriage. There are always some disillusionments and disappointments. It is rare for the man of a girl's dreams to turn out to be an exact replica of the one she envionsed in her dreams. There are always some discrepancies in the fantasy. But the wise woman takes what God has given her, buttresses it with prayer and patience, and tries to improve her condition — rather than to let it deteriorate.

You have given up, and have yielded to defeat and despair. If you could read some of the mail I receive, you would be encouraged. I believe you have something to build upon, with the help of God. But, you've got to believe it too — for it to work!

Computer Education

CHICAGO (AP) — Computerized educational control in planning school programs will enable administrators to make decisions based on information from many sources, an educator here says.

Dr. Benjamin C. Willis, former Chicago superintendent of schools, said a new low-cost computer system, "The Educator," is specially designed for educational institutions. The system, produced by Compumatics Educational Services, Inc., computes the file of information for the logistical operation of school facilities, fiscal planning and cost projections and designs courses.

"Those of us in the education business have to face up to the fact that we are very late in recognizing that the computer will and is affecting the operation of schools and school systems," Willis said.

Diseases Sap Strength Of Boom

NEW YORK (AP) — During the boom years of the mid-1960s it became popular to brag about the taming of the business cycle, that process of expansion and contraction that seems as inherent to economies as breathing to humans.

They were heady days, despite the war, when dreams became realities in a flash. Nothing was impossible, it seemed. Not only was man planning to send his species to outer space, he was elevating millions of people into a stratosphere of material wealth and comfort.

It was an exciting, euphoric world, if only in an economic sense, and it is easy to understand why some people thought that business was headed up, up and away—that advance need not be followed by decline, as theretofore believed.

Now we know differently, of course. Expansions seem to generate their own diseases, somewhat like high living is said to produce high blood pressure or laziness or weak discipline.

In the economic realm, it appears, a period of economic comfort causes corporations to overspend, permit waste, lose their competitive edge, and even allow quality to deteriorate.

It causes individuals, it appears, to want more for less. Studies have shown that the hunger for material possessions is insatiable, but there is much evidence that the willingness to work for them does not rise apace.

The result of economic diseases is to sap the strength of a boom through lowered productivity, just as a human diseases drain energy from the body. A fever of inflation rages and the patient is ordered to rest.

Americans during the past year have learned the need for resting the economy. Inflation soared to 6 per cent, forcing the government to impose restraints on borrowing and spending in order to slow the machinery—in order to reduce demand to a level that could be met.

This process of attuning demand to ability was painful. Unemployment rose to more than 5 per cent. Millions of individuals were forced to live in inadequate housing because money was tight. Corporate profits fell.

The business cycle, in other words, is alive and with us and probably always will be. It has been flattened considerably since the 1930s, and economists foresee more success with taming it in the immediate future. But complete control is equivalent to eliminating waves from the ocean.

A look into the immediate future demonstrates the complexity of steering a trillion dollar economy, a total that will be achieved by the United States in 1971.

First, there is the automotive strike. Should General Motors remain idle into November, it not only will depress the 1970 economy but will cause a ripple in the 1971 economy because of a surge of pent up buying pressure.

Another factor that must be dealt with is the rate of savings. Personal savings rose to more than 7 per cent of takehome pay this year as consumers, frightened by fears of recession, began banking rather than spending.

Now that they are being assured the worst of the downturn is over, they are expected to return to the market not only with desire but with the means to express that desire. Economic balance demands that this pressure be measured in advance, which is as difficult as reading the human mind.

The problem with the economy is that it just cannot be stopped for alterations. If only it could be halted momentarily and then restarted with everything in order!

Instead, adjustments must be made while the machinery is in full motion, and that's sort of like treating a heart patient while he jogs down the road.

Yes, the business cycle is alive and not well.

Nervous Sexhaustion?

NEW YORK (AP) — A man used to be known by the friends or enemies he made. In this fretful world today he is more likely to be known by his worries.

Selecting the right worries, of course, is no laughing matter. The task is a worry in itself. One way to go about it is to make a list of worries, weed out those you don't think bring out the best in you, and then start brooding as hard as you can about the remaining ones.

For example, here are a few worries we are discarding for this season, and if any of them appeal to you, well—you're welcome to exercise your darkest anxiety upon them:

The Hawaiian Islands are reported drifting toward Japan at a rate of from four to six inches a year. How soon will this precipitate a new crisis in the Far East?

What are Harold Stassen's campaign plans for 1972? Will he seek to displace Spiro T. Agnew on the Republican ticket?

How about the Democrats? Are they planning a surprise ticket teaming Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York and Gregory Peck of Hollywood?

What will Mr. Onassis give Mrs. Onassis for Christmas? A new diamond-studded, pushbutton, all-electric cook stove? A platinum washboard? One or two of the Greek islands?

Is it possible to control air pollution in an election year? Which should be first forced to wear mufflers—automobiles or politicians?

If the professors can't teach the students anything, and the students can't teach the professors anything, just why do we still need colleges?

Is the Volga boatman breathless as a result of tugging the boat too hard—or simply from tugging at a vodka bottle too often?

Will the big American health problem of the 1970's be nervous sexhaustion?

How about the dope menace? Isn't it getting to be a drug on the market?

If the road to hell is paved with good intentions, what is the road to peace being paved with?

Since women are determined to have rights equal to those of men, will we now have to put ladies' washrooms in all the nation's alimony jails?

When will it all end?

Smoking Not The Sole Cause Of Emphysema

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will you say something about emphysema? Is there a cure, and what can be done for relief?

I don't smoke and I thought that was the cause of emphysema — smoking, I mean. I am 74 and my doctor says it is natural for old folks, but he didn't give me any medication. I cough a great deal, but it seems to be all in my throat. — Mrs. L.B.

No, smoking isn't the only cause of emphysema by any means, although it is one of the commonest contributors to that trouble, and anyone with emphysema who smokes is making his trouble worse.

I don't know as we can say that emphysema is "natural" in older folks, but it can develop from any of a number of causes. Infections of the lungs, various irritants of the lungs, and the processes of aging in some, all can play a part. Emphysema used to be regarded as a disease of people in such professions as glass-blowing, but I suspect that more than that was involved.

Anyway, emphysema is a matter of the small air cells of the lungs breaking down. Originally, the lungs are a spongy mass, with countless tiny pockets, much like a fine sponge. When you exhale, a lot of air (and carbon dioxide) is expelled. Then fresh air is drawn into the many little air pockets.

Emphysema involves a breaking down of these small air pockets, into a smaller number of larger pockets. There is less surface to absorb oxygen. There is less ability to expel air and dioxide. More "stale air" simply stays in the lungs.

Bronchitis, in varying degrees, is a frequent companion of emphysema. That, or asthma, or a cold, or anything that interferes with free breathing, makes the trouble worse.

There isn't any cure for emphysema. The lung tissues have been altered. If there is a great deal of phlegm in the throat (or bronchial tubes), your doctor can give medication that will loosen the phlegm, but there's nothing he can do to cure the basic trouble.

Learning to breathe more deeply and efficiently will help. In some cases, positive pressure machines or the use of oxygen periodically may be required.

But with or without these aids, it is only good sense to be as careful as possible to avoid flu, colds, or other respiratory ailments. You can't avoid them all, but in the "cold season," be wary of crowds and try to stay away from people who have colds.

Finally, flu shots can't prevent all flu, and certainly can't guard against colds, but a flu shot each autumn, and an extra one if flu epidemics threaten, can be avery valuable precaution.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

As a matter of fact, most of that gob of smog that hovered over Big Spring recently came to us from New England, due to an inverted something or other, the Weather Bureau said.

What makes those Yankees think we need any help fouling up our atmosphere?

It would serve them right if we sent them one of our dust storms.

Report Crucial Test—Which Way?

WASHINGTON — As the advance political barrage began, designed to shoot down the report of the Commission on Campus Unrest before it was released and even before it had been written, the chairman, William W. Scranton, was asked a pertinent question: Why did the President give you this thankless task?

"I THINK it was because he knew," Scranton replied, "that I want no public office, whether elective or appointive."

In short, he was expendable. What will count in the end is the stand of the No. 1 reader or a report sparing neither high nor low. Just before the report was released and shortly before President Nixon took off for Europe, Scranton and the President had a solemn confrontation.

The chairman of the commission urged Mr. Nixon to read the report without the prejudice of those White House advisers already engaged in blunting, if not nullifying, its findings. The President replied that he would take it with him and read every word. He promised that when he returned he would call Scranton in and discuss his own part in carrying out the recommendations of the report.

THIS WILL be the test. For the report concludes in almost so may words that the President's failure to supply moral leadership has contributed immeasurably to widening the breach between the "youth culture," as the report puts it, and the established order. The test will not be an easy one, since a lot of Republicans, led by Vice-President Spiro Agnew, are running against the young, the long hairs, those who opt out with eccentric dress and manner.

The report can be in the direction of irreparable division, as the report warns, with a deepening hatred and bitterness unlike that which preceded the Civil War. The small minority of extremists shouting obscenities on the fringe of Agnew's meetings are contributing their generous share of divisiveness.

OR THE NATION with leadership from the President can move to bind up the wounds of the past — the wounds of Kent State and Jackson State College — restore unity to the campuses. This course would mean foregoing the exploitation of hatred and division for votes in a critical congressional campaign.

Scranton traces the origins of that attack to the presence on the Commission's staff of John Van de Kamp. Van de Kamp, formerly with the office of the United States District Attorney in Los Angeles, was an administrator with no responsibility for the content of the report.

BUT HE WAS the Democratic opponent of Barry Goldwater Jr. in the race for the House seat in April, 1969, in Orange county where the militant right, with a large infusion of Birchites, insured Goldwater's election. No matter how restricted his function, Van de Kamp's appointment, Scranton came to believe, was a red flag to the Goldwater faction of the party.

This in a curious way repeats recent history and points up once again the still-unresolved struggle for the soul of the Republican party. In 1964 Scranton challenged Barry Goldwater for the Presidential nomination in San Francisco. His challenge was belated, uncertain, and he never had a prayer in that convention so dominated by the righteous and indignant right.

Ray Of Hope In Viet Negotiations

WASHINGTON — It is not quite time to break out the champagne, but U.S. Ambassador David Bruce will report to President Nixon in Ireland Sunday that he has been encouraged by his private talks with North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy on a possible settlement of the Vietnam War.

THE REPORT by Bruce and his chief deputy, Philip Habib, will be clothed in cautious language, designed to suggest to the President that it would be worthwhile to continue the secret conversations with Thuy. The result could be an authorization from Nixon to offer counter-proposals flavored with a pinch of compromise to the Communist side.

Diplomatic sources here say Thuy has taken on unwonted moderate tone in his discussions with Bruce. He has not backed down on the Reds' long-standing position that the present Saigon government of President Thieu and Vice President Ky be ousted, but neither has he refused to listen to Bruce's defense of the U.S. stand against "imposing" any government on the people of Vietnam.

AMONG THE ..more optimistic diplomats at the state department the suggestion has been voiced that Thuy could be persuaded to compromise on this issue. For example, it has been pointed out that Bruce — while rejecting Thuy's demand that the Thieu-Ky regime be deposed — has made it clear that the United States will not permit political groups on either side to sabotage a bonafide peace formula.

Thieu and Ky naturally would oppose such a compromise. But their position is not quite as strong as it was a year ago, and it could be weakened during the next 12 months. Both must run for re-election next September.

OFFICIALLY, the U.S. will be "neutral," but it could encourage the opposition if Thieu and Ky are unreasonable.

In this situation, even the optimists admit that weeks and more probably months of negotiation still lie ahead. The Communists always move slowly, if for no other reason that to annoy the other side.

IF PRESIDENT NIXON does alter his position, he almost certainly would do so before the Nov. 3 Congressional elections, and perhaps fortify it with more troop withdrawals. This would simply be good politics.

Meanwhile, there is the possibility that Hanoi this time is really interested in getting the talks off the ground. Thuy and Co., under pressure from the Soviet Union — acting, of course, to challenge Red Chinese influence — may have decided that a peace settlement is inevitable. If so, Hanoi would want credit for what Thuy has called its "important new peace initiative."

CLASSIC DESIGN — The dramatic aerodynamic styling of Buick's Riviera sport coupe for 1971 is illustrated in this view of its tapered rear design with its unique window treatment. It goes on display Saturday at Jack Lewis Motor Co.

Sleek, Classic Riviera Goes On Display At Jack Lewis

The Riviera, along with Buick's other 1971 models, will go on display here at the Jack Lewis Motor Company, 403 Scurry, Saturday.

The sleek, classic lines are being hailed as a triumph in automotive styling. This, according to Lee N. Mays, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors, will assure the Riviera of continuing an established reputation as the leader in the personal luxury car field.

The distinctive design of the Riviera is highlighted by the tapered rear end styling with an expansive rear window that is tailored to the roofline. The fleet, open look has been achieved by cantilever roof styling, an increased slant of the windshield, and the unique design of the long, sloping rear window.

A distinctive accent line, a Riviera characteristic, runs the full length of the car, ending in a graceful arc up over the rear fender. The over-all increase in length makes possible a larger body with roomier interior dimensions and 35 per cent more trunk space.

The interior has a padded instrument panel of twin cockpit design with all instruments set in an arc directly in front of the driver for improved vision and convenience. All instruments can be removed from the front for easier servicing.

Buick is introducing with the 1971 Riviera a revolutionary electronic control device called Max Trac, which reduces wheel spin during acceleration on slippery surfaces. It will be offered as an option on the Riviera and later on all regular sized Buicks. This device helps prevent rear wheel spin during acceleration.

Bumpers are more rugged with heavier mountings.

The Riviera is powered by Buick's 455 cubic inch V-8 engine which has been engineered for operational efficiency with lower exhaust emissions, on low lead gasolines, or any regular leaded grade with a research octane number of 91 or more.

Standard equipment on the Riviera includes power steering, power brakes with front discs, automatic transmission, etc., and there are various optional items such as a four-speaker stereo sound system.

The classic styling carries over into all of the Buick line, plus the high performance of the Buick motor. The new centurion series is dramatically styled, and there are numerous innovations such as a special tailgate on the Estate wagon, and a pressurized ventilating system on all regular size models. In addition to the Centurion series, there are the Electra 225s and the LeSabre, plus Skylark and GS models.

Mays says that "very line, every surface on all of our regular size cars is new, yet the over-all styling theme retains many of the characteristics that are identified with the Buick product."

Police End Hide-And-Seek

A trio of burglars was found hiding inside the Broadway Tavern, 1231 W. 3rd, Thursday by police patrolman Gerald Harrison.

Harrison saw the door of the building open and found the three men inside, one hiding in the back room, one under a table, and one hiding behind a curtain on a closet shelf. The beer cooler had been opened and cold beer had been transferred to a beer case.

The three were arrested and burglary charges are pending.

HCJC Student Press President

The 18th Texas Junior College Press Association Conference at Texas A&M University Oct. 12-13 will feature "Newsweek" official Charles W. Roberts.

Roberts, chief White House correspondent during 15 of his 19 years with "Newsweek," will be the keynote speaker of the two-day conference.

TJCPA president Charles Kimble, student at Howard County Junior College in Big Spring, will preside over business sessions.

It is expected to attract 200 junior college journalists and faculty members from 30 institutions, according to Dr. David R. Bowers, TJCPA director.

Student newspaper, yearbook and magazine staffs will meet in the workshop sessions with editors and writers of several state newspapers and faculty personnel of A&M, Sam Houston State, TCU, University of Texas at Austin and Baylor.

Junior college faculty members will have special separate sessions for discussion of recruiting and model course outlines.

Also highlighting the conference will be an awards luncheon, at which year book and magazine winners will be announced and previously-disclosed newspaper winners will receive awards.

Roberts, now a contributing editor of "Newsweek," served

Latins Hold Winning Hand?

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Mexican-Americans and their votes have the upper hand in Texas politics, Byron Fullerton, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, said today.

Fullerton told a breakfast press conference that Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes had "the upper hand" in 1966 when Barnes, along with then Gov. John Connally and Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, met the Valley farm workers march near New Braunfels to discuss a state minimum wage.

"Now in 1970, the Mexican-Americans have the upper hand," Fullerton said. "They can make their stand, and, with their votes in November, slam the door of public office in Ben Barnes' face as a declaration that this minority joins with the great majority of Texans in demanding a new type of state government and an end to political domination which compels us to accept pre-selected state officials to perpetuate the power of a few."

1971. Buick introduces a new set of values.

Value, not gimmicks or ornamentation, sells cars.

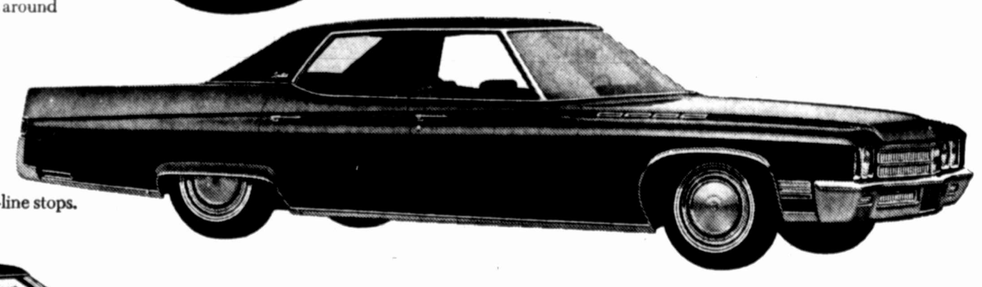
More people have been coming to Buick each year for just that reason. Buick concentrates on value.

And this year, Buick introduces a new set of values. Features that will help make your new Buick perform better, last longer and get you more of a return on your investment at trade-in time.

Only a Buick dealer can offer you our new set of values. So, test your values against our new ones. Then ask yourself this simple question. Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

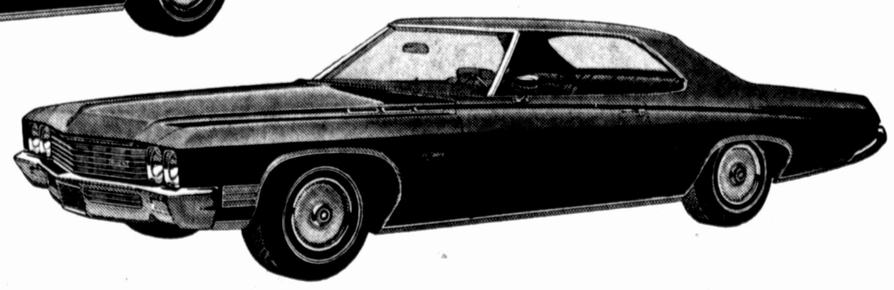
Something to believe in.

1971 Buick Riviera. A totally new design concept. And that's not all. Riviera offers MaxTrac, an exclusive power control system you can order with its own on-board computer. It helps get you securely over slick surfaces by reducing rear-wheel slipping. The new body features side-guard beams for protection, a bigger trunk, and a driver cockpit with a control center designed around the driver for new ease and convenience.



1971 Buick Electra 225. A new interpretation of quiet elegance. We've improved our Electra everywhere you look. There's more room in every direction, interiors that can be appreciated as much for their durability as for their beauty and comfort, even a new balanced braking system. A unique valve proportions braking force front to rear to help give you quick, smooth straight-line stops.

1971 Buick Centurion. This is our newest Buick, a city car with sleekness and grace as well as muscle. It features more nimble variable-ratio power steering, power front disc brakes, Full-Flo ventilation, and a vinyl roof on the Centurion Formal Coupe as standard equipment.



1971 Buick LeSabre. An incredible new offering of Buick value. The LeSabre, like the Riviera, Electra and Centurion, features AccuDrive, a new version of the directional stability system we pioneered. It will help give you smooth handling.

1971 Buick Skylark Custom. This is the car that has set the pace for value in its price class. Rocker panels that wash and dry themselves, big-Buick room and comfort inside, a cooling system that should never overheat, inner fenders that protect the outer fenders, and a modest price have put our Buick Skylark traditionally among the resale leaders in its class.

An Important Improvement. Every new Buick engine is now designed to run smoothly and efficiently, and with lower exhaust emissions, on no-lead and low-lead gasolines. And every Buick V-8 engine will have exclusive nickel-plated exhaust valves for smoother operation and longer valve life, and a new time-modulated choke to help give quicker warm-up and a more consistent fuel mixture.

Dear Heloise:

I have a hint for you that I have been wanting to tell you for a long time. I call it my fingernail saver.

I think almost anyone would appreciate this hint.

I keep a set of graduated metal measuring spoons on my laundry detergent shelf.

Just use the spoon where it says, "Press Here To Open," and save that precious thumbnail!

Dear Heloise:

When defrosting my upright freezer, my portable dishwasher comes in mighty handy.

I defrost once a year and you know how much frost collects and how much time it takes for it to melt.

So what to do with all that wonderful frozen food while defrosting! Instead of cluttering table, sink and whatever else would hold these safely for at least one hour, I thought why not put them in the dishwasher.

I rolled the washer to the freezer and stacked away. Put small articles on the top rack. Then when the freezer was ready, just rolled dishwasher back to freezer and placed foods back in the freezer in an orderly fashion.

Dear Heloise:

Recently I bought two pairs of lovely colored sheets.

Matching pillowcases were almost as much as the price of one sheet.

I wanted more than one pair but I didn't want to spend that much money. So I bought one extra twin-sized sheet and made it into three pairs of lovely, perfectly matching pillowcases — and all for just a little more than one pair would cost.

It takes twin-sized sheets for narrow pillows and full-sized sheets for wider pillows.

Dear Heloise:

If you are going to be away from home for a few days be sure to check your disposal before leaving.

Make sure that it is completely empty and as an extra precautionary measure put a little dishwasher detergent and very hot water in and run a minute or so.

This will eliminate coming home to a smelly sink.

Christmas Gift Ideas Shared By Speaker

New ways of wrapping Christmas gifts, such as spray painting brown paper for wrappings, were described by Mrs. R. P. Morton at the Elbow Home Demonstration Club meeting Thursday. Mrs. LeRoy Dolan, Old San Angelo Hwy., was the hostess.

Mrs. Morton showed ways to re-do old bows and create new and unusual gift wrappings. Members discussed the choosing of gifts to suit the recipient's personality and colors to go with his decor.

Christmas gifts will be brought to the next meeting for giving to Big Spring State Hospital patients. Mrs. Lewis Soles presided, and the HD exhibit to be at the First United Methodist Church was discussed. Mrs. Ray Anderson was elected as the new club secretary. Guests were Mrs. W. T. Stewart and Mrs. J. B. Wilson. The next meeting will be Oct. 15 in the home of Mrs. Anderson, Old San Angelo Hwy.

A LOVELIER YOU

Fluid Fashions Need Natural Underpinning

By MARY SUE MILLER

Fashions are softer, less constructed. Generally speaking, feminine figures are better constructed, less weighty. Just so, there is an awareness of a moving body beneath a fluid sheath of clothing. Natural and free!

As should be, lingerie designers offer underpinnings with natural body molding, minimum construction and maximum shaping to fashions. A sampling of possibilites follows:

— Bareling bras, little next-to-nothings, for wear with plunging necklines; minus seam or dart, molded tricot support bras that underline knits and clinging crepes sans ripple.

— Catering to the form devine in pants and gauchos, a spandex bikini or hip-rider; for more control at waist or hip under pants and skirts, long panty girdles with "stocking locking" bands or body shapers with strategic panels of sheerest powernet.

— Flounced bra-slips and half-slips to support long, full skirts; slim, slit syles for slit skirts. And easy walking.

— Devoted to the "instant" dress set, all-in-one body suits; outerwear - innerwear body clothes (usually shirt and brief); one-piece shirtinis.

All such coordination makes for great looks. The ultimate comes from harmonizing lingerie and costume colors. Underscore a rust outfit with pastel red, or with violet, try amethyst. For extra dash, wear blackground prints under black. And you'll feel as great as you look!

It contains easy ways to reduce weight and proportions; to overcome grooming problems, such as fuzz, freckles and blemishes; to move with grace and poise. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Activity Reports Are Presented By Episcopalians

The Women of St. Mary's Episcopal Church held a noon luncheon meeting in the parish hall Monday with Mrs. Dan Shockey presiding and Mrs. Pete Rhymes presenting the devotion, "Blessed Are The Frustrated."

Mrs. Ralph Caton reported on the operation of the Bargain Box, the women's fund-raising project, and a report on the 12th annual conference held at Holy Trinity Church in Midland was given by Mrs. Milton Talbot.

Mrs. John Hodges and Mrs. Richard Atkins will serve on a "listening team" for Church Women United, which is seeking ideas for activities at Westside Community Center.

The group made plans to sell salad cookbooks compiled by St. John's Episcopal Women of the Church in Montgomery, Ala., as an extra money-raising project.

Initial plans were made for the Region Four meeting which is slated at St. Mary's Church Nov. 10, and it was announced that the United Thank Offering will be Oct. 25. Members were invited to attend the church women's conference in Amarillo Oct. 30-Nov. 1.

The next local meeting will be Nov. 23 with Mrs. Harvey Herd, Diocesan president, as guest speaker.

European Tour Related To Club

Mrs. Clyde Cantrell described a European trip with her daughter at the meeting of Texas Delta Chapter, Phi Sigma Alpha, Thursday. Mrs. Adren Westbrook, 402 Hillside, was the hostess. Mrs. Cantrell spent a month, beginning in August, traveling through Holland, France, Spain and Switzerland.

Mrs. Arthur Wadle presided as a salad supper was planned for later in the month. Mrs. John L. Sullivan, 1005 E. 21st, will be hostess for the Nov. 5 meeting when a study of public relations will begin.

Auxiliary Plans Party Tonight

A party was planned for this evening by the American Legion Auxiliary during Thursday's meeting at the Legion Hall. Mrs. William Gonzales and Mrs. Billie Kirkpatrick will be in charge of the dinner party tonight at the hall.

Mrs. Ernest Grubaugh and Mrs. Maurine Terrell leave this afternoon for Lubbock to attend the auxiliary "grassroots workshop" on membership. The 19th District convention Oct. 24-25 in Muleshoe was discussed, and those planning to attend were asked to bring musical instruments for donation to the mentally retarded. Plans also were discussed for the annual poppy sale Nov. 7.

Mrs. Betty Daratt was a guest, and Mrs. J. C. Thames won the attendance prize. The next meeting will be Oct. 15.

League Day Scheduled For Oct. 25

Ladies Home League members met at the Salvation Army Citadel Tuesday to plan Home League Day Oct. 25, and a Halloween carnival. The Ladies League will conduct services at the Citadel Oct. 25, and Mrs. (Maj.) William Southwood of the Salvation Army in Dallas will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Southwood will be accompanied by her husband, Brig. Southwood, who will conduct an inspection.

The Halloween carnival will feature games, dunking for apples, a spook house and refreshments for Salvation Army members. During the meeting the women worked on Christmas candleholders under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Saint.

The league served a family night supper Wednesday for 50 members. The invocation was worded by Lt. Joseph Saint, who also showed the film, "Jimmy Blue Eyes." The league will continue working on candleholders next Tuesday.

Noble Grand Club Donates To Lodge

Mrs. Mary E. Brown, 1606 Wood, was hostess for the Monday meeting of the Past Noble Grand Club of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284. Mrs. Logan Grider presided, and members contributed $50 to the lodge for purchase of jewel regalia. A covered-dish supper was served and games of "42" and canasta played. The next meeting will be Oct. 26 in the home of Mrs. Gene Crenshaw, 603 McEwen.

See Flower Arranging At Mary Jane Club

Demonstrating correct flower arranging at the Mary Jane Club meeting Thursday was Mrs. Bill Fishback. Mrs. Harold Fraser, Coahoma, was the hostess. Mrs. Fishback showed several different styles, shapes and sizes of flower arrangements.

Mrs. Ralph Williams presided at the business session and announced that the club would donate Christmas gifts to Big Spring State Hospital patients. Members also contributed $5 to the hospital Christmas fund. The hostess served refreshments.

The next meeting will be at Singer Sewing Center Oct. 23 for sewing hints followed by luncheon at Furr's Cafeteria.

Longhorns, Abilene Clash Here At 8:00

RECORDS:

B SPRING (W	L	2)	ABILENE (W	L	2)
0	Monterey	21	23	H. Trinity	12
19	Bel Air	20	16	Cleburne	21
46	Snyder	7	20	Brownwood	22
65	Totals	48	59	Totals	55

The Big Spring Steers will find out whether they're comers or goners in the District 5-AAAA championship race in an 8 o'clock game here tonight with the Abilene Eagles.

The Longhorns probably couldn't have picked a tougher opponent with which to open the season.

Abilene is as touchy as a bear with a sore tooth after having been humbled twice in three non-conference outings. Not until the last half of last week's game with Brownwood did the Eagles begin to look like a ball club.

They lost that one, 22-20, but not before they had scored three times in the final two periods and given highly rated Brownwood the scare of its life.

Big Spring will also carry a 1-2 record onto the field. After losing to Lubbock Monterey and Ysleta Bel Air in their first two out, the Steers straightened up to cuff Snyder around the field, winning, 46-7.

Both teams have injury problems. The Steers have lost their two starting tackles, James Pearce and Dale Crenshaw, at least for this game.

Abilene insists it has at least four players who are doubtful starters.

The Eagles have two outstanding quarterbacks in Greg Stirman, a 200-pound senior who throws the ball well; and junior Jim Reese, who moved the club well on the ground.

Cobb is the finest ball carrier in the Abilene backfield but Mike Brooks can also lug the mail.

Abilene was picked to make a run at the title before the season got under way and may yet do it. Everyone concedes that the Eagles have just been a little slow to get started.

Big Spring looked like championship material against Snyder last week. In scoring seven touchdowns, the Steers had four long runs for TD and took to the air for two others.

Roddy Caffey, Dick Stanley and Joe Chavez lend quarterbacks Mike Adams and Dave Duncan a lot of help in the secondary.

If coach Clovis Hale alternates his quarterbacks like he has in the past, he'll use Adams in the first and third periods and Duncan in the second and fourth.

Favorite receivers on the Big Spring teams have been John Weeks and Tommy Fletcher.

Abilene hasn't beaten Big Spring since 1966.

Probable starters:

BIG SPRING

E—John Weeks 150 and David Englert 185; T—Pink Dickens 220 and Steve Rich 200; G—James Miller 185 and Howard Stewart 180; C—Tony Stewart 170; QB—Mike Adams 170 or Dave Duncan 170; RB—Roddy Caffey 155; FB—Joe Chavez 175; FI—Tommy Fletcher 155 or Harry Crosby 165.

ABILENE

E—Wayne Peel 178 and Jeff Keeper 178; T—Chris England 205 and Victor Callison 214; G—Larry Smith 180 and Clifton Dubose 165; C—Jim Dodson 185; QB—Greg Stirman 200 or Jim Reese 150; HB—Mike Brooks 161 and Terry Jones 185; FB—Dan Cobb 197 or Rich McCoy 195.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Only after tonight can you start comparing District 5-AAAA teams.

Each of the coaches has conducted his shakedown cruise in his own way. It's obvious that, at the moment, Permian is in a class by itself. In other years, Permian has jelled slowly and grown into a real block bully in November.

Coach Gene Mayfield, however, got his team ready earlier than usual this year. Perhaps he realized that the Panthers' reputation would beat a lot of teams later on, anyway, so — why not peak earlier?

There's really no way to tell what San Angelo has, even after that solid win over Temple last week. The two teams played in the rain and a soggy field can be a great equalizer.

Abilene High, Big Spring's opponent tonight, hasn't performed up to expectations but coach Jerry Thormahlen has been beset with injury problems. Too, it just takes time for a team to adjust to a new coach. The Eagles could still make waves.

The second half comeback the Eagles staged against Brownwood last week was very impressive. The Eagles didn't win but they came close.

Abilene once held the granddaddy of all whammies over Big Spring but the Eagles haven't beaten Big Spring since 1966. It appears the Steers may have buried that jinx for once and for all.

Big Spring's 46-7 victory over Snyder last week was most deceptive. Local coaches weren't too pleased with the manner in which their hands performed on defense. The Steers gave up too many yards to the Tigers, especially through the air. Big Spring tried a zone alignment in passing situations and Tiger receivers were getting open much too often.

* * * *

Big Spring can't afford to look down the road to its Oct. 9 opponent, Midland High, with Abilene coming in to set up shop. But comparisons are inevitable.

The two teams have played a common opponent in Lubbock Monterey. Monterey turned Big Spring every way but loose in achieving a 21-0 victory, then had to come from two touchdowns back to nip Midland.

Still, there is cause for hope in the Big Spring camp. For one thing, the Big Spring team that is playing now and the team which started the season are two entirely different teams. The Steers are much surer of themselves, have improved in every phase of play.

Mike Adams was a shaken young man when he found out only a few days before the opener that he was going to have to shoulder the job of quarterbacking the Steers against Monterey. Three games can make a world of difference in a boy. Adams is now teaming with Dave Duncan to give the Steers tremendous poise at that position.

Midland made just eight first downs against Monterey. The Steers clicked off 10. The Bulldogs rushed the ball for 157 yards against Plainview, picked up an extra 54 in the air for a total of 211.

The Steers, with most of its talent new to their positions, gained 172 paces against the bigger, more seasoned Monterey line.

One has to give the Longhorns a shot not only at victory tonight but against Midland, as well. And two wins in two 5-AAAA outs could do wonders for a club that was relegated to the cellar in some conference pre-season polls.

* * * *

Lamesa could be the team of destiny in 3-AAA this year. The Golden Tornadoes haven't given up a point in three games now. They deserve to be in the state's Top Ten and maybe right around the top.

* * * *

There's something tragically wrong with a civil rights movement when a fellow like coach Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse is ripped up by people like actor Jimmy Brown and his crowd. Brown feels no debt of gratitude to anyone.

By no stretch of the imagination could Schwartzwalder be identified as a white racist. He treated black and white players the same — rough and gruff on the field and acted the complete gentleman away from it.

He had blacks and whites rooming together in dormitories and during road games and that isn't done too often.

The radicals use sports as implements to further their aims because of the publicity value offered but they know sports has done more to advance the cause of the blacks than any other field.

* * * *

Bob Dillon of the Midland Reporter-Telegram, who has always taken dubious views of Big Spring's football efforts, remarked thusly in a column this week:

"Abilene has been hit by numerous injuries and the Eagles are lucky to be starting off with Big Spring."

Sophs Beaten By Angeloans

San Angelo's Sophs had things pretty much their own way in racing to a 24-0 victory over the Big Spring Sophs in Memorial Stadium here Thursday night.

Rodney Maylor crossed the goal line three times for the visitors. Two of those came in the opening round.

Time and again, San Angelo backs broke tackles to go for long gains down field.

San Angelo led at half time, 18-0. After Maylor had gone in twice, quarterback Steve Fowler kept the ball and raced in for a tally.

Maylor's touchdowns came on runs of eight, six and two yards.

The loss was the second in three starts for the Big Spring Sophs, who return to play in Coahoma a week from tomorrow.

HC's Scrimmage Is Moved Back

Howard County JC's basketball scrimmage with Ranger College, originally scheduled for Saturday in Abilene's Moody Coliseum, has been postponed until Saturday, Oct. 10, coach Harold Wilder of the Jayhawks has announced.

Wilder said Moody Coliseum had been selected as a site for the workout because he wanted them to accustom themselves to playing in a big gymnasium.

Mike Phipps May Start Saturday

By The Associated Press

This could be a memorable weekend for Mike Phipps in the National Football League.

The rookie Cleveland quarterback might start for the Browns against Pittsburgh in one of two Saturday night games that open the third week of the pro football season. Ten games are listed for Sunday and one for Monday night.

Sands Plays On Saturday

ACKERLY — Sands, winless after three starts but still full of fight, challenges Imperial at 8 o'clock Saturday night in its annual Homecoming game.

Coach James Blake has made several changes in his lineup because of injuries.

Marcy Robles and Tony Gillespie are out with physical miseries. Robles has a bad knee and Gillespie has an injured thigh muscle.

Blake has moved Ronnie Oaks from tackle to end, Gavino Rodriquez from guard to tackle and inserted Steve Herron into the lineup as a guard.

The Sands squad is now down to 18 players but Blake is hoping the situation will improve next week. The Mustangs lost their most recent start to Borden County, 22-6.

Imperial was yielding to Class A Sanderson by the same score last week.

Jacky Cupit Is Tourney Leader

BRIDGEPORT, Tex. (AP) — Jacky Cupit, the defending champion, held a one-stroke lead today going into the second round of the North Texas PGA tournament.

Cupit fired a four-under par 67 Thursday for his slim lead over brother Buster Cupit of Longview and Hal McCommas of Dallas.

Ozark Bullies Are Favored Over TCU

By The Associated Press

Eleven years ago Texas Christian hung a 12-7 albatross around the Arkansas Razorbacks and waltzed to the Southwest Conference football championship. TCU hasn't touched the Ozark bullies since.

The two teams meet for the 47th time Saturday night in Fort Worth and Arkansas is again the favorite. There are some who believe the Razorbacks will find it hard to take the Purple seriously, but TCU quarterback Steve Judy thinks otherwise.

"I have a lot of respect for Arkansas coach Frank Broyles and I think Arkansas will be just as fired up as we are," says Judy. "He can do a tremendous job of getting his team up for a game. I think he'll have them up this year, because we've been playing pretty well."

The Arkansas-TCU clash is the only SWC game on the menu that has Texas meeting California teams in three intersectional games.

SMU ON ROAD

UCLA meets defending national champion Texas in Austin, California is at Rice, California at Santa Barbara is at Texas Tech, SMU is at Northwestern, Texas A&M is at Michigan, and Baylor is at LSU in non-league affairs.

The Horned Frog-Razorback game is a traditional lever toward the SWC championship with the winner or co-champion coming out of the game eight times in the last 15 years. A crowd of 40,000 is expected in Amon Carter Stadium for the 7:30 p.m. kickoff. Arkansas has won two straight after an opening loss to Stanford while TCU is 1-1-1. Arkansas quarterback Bill Montgomery has hit 74 per cent of his passes and should hookup in an aerial duel with Judy. The Razorbacks lead the all-time series 24-20-2.

The No. 2 ranked Longhorns face a stiff test in unbeaten UCLA and Texas coach Darrell Royal says it's "ridiculous" that the Longhorns are three-touchdown favorites.

"It will be a good football game," he says, "a good test for us and a good test for them."

A crowd of about 62,000 is expected in Jones Stadium for the 4 p.m. CDT kickoff.

Royal says he is worried about UCLA quarterback Dennis Dummit.

"He's a fine passer . . . and he's throwing to somebody who can do something with it when he gets it . . . They have good athletes who can come through and pull out some big plays."

Texas will seek its 23rd consecutive victory which would break the all-time SWC mark it now shares with the Arkansas teams of 1963-65.

The young Texas Aggies continue their education against some of the nation's finest football machines with a 1:30 p.m. CDT meeting with the Michigan Wolverines in Ann Arbor before some 71,000 fans.

Anybody who asks you for money has a lot of nerve.

Ask the average man or woman to go out and ask a lot of strangers for money, and you know what answer you're likely to get. Being a volunteer fund-raiser is a tough job. It takes a lot of nerve to hold out your hand.

United Way volunteers do just that. They take the United Way story from person to person. They tell about the United Way agencies, about their youth and health and welfare programs. About the new programs they're taking on to meet the new problems that disturb our community. And they ask for needed money—more money than ever before.

This takes nerve, guts and dedication. If you have them, we want you to help.

If you don't do it, it won't get done.

Cardinals, Houston Given Nod In NFL

NEW YORK (AP) — This could be the week for upsets in the National Football League when the ranks of the unbeaten could be reduced to the Los Angeles Rams, Detroit Lions, Minnesota Vikings and possibly the San Francisco 49ers.

It's a long weekend with two Saturday night games, 10 Sunday afternoon and the usual Monday night television feature. The Hand picker escaped with 8-4-1 last week to make it 15-10-1 for the year but form still is unsettled in the new merged league.

Here's the way it looks from this foggy perch.

Saturday night

Cleveland 23, Pittsburgh 10—Browns' air attack has to be hurting without Bill Nelsen but they have the big horses to do the job on the ground in Leroy Kelly and Bo Scott. Terry Bradshaw coming off a mild concussion and two losing games.

Miami 24, Oakland 21—Raiders are favored despite two tough struggles with Dolphins last year. Bob Griese hit with the big third down plays against Houston. Oakland defense has sagged against running game and yielded four scores on passes. Raiders still haven't found selves.

Sunday

Los Angeles 20, San Diego 10—A little blood may flow in this one between Southern California rivals. Rams are hurting for running backs and start Willie Ellison and Pat Curran. Chargers should get lift with return of Gene Foster but Rams defense should keep things under control.

Minnesota 30, Green Bay 14—Packers haven't beaten Vikings since 1967 and this isn't the time. With Bart Starr hurting it will be up to Don Horn to face the Purple Gang. Lots of luck.

St. Louis 28, Dallas 27—Maybe it's a mirage caused by MacArthur Lane's 146 yards against Washington but we're picking an upset win for the Cards. The Cowboys may blow somebody off the field one of these Sundays when they put it all together. Still trouble in Cowboy country.

San Francisco 24, Atlanta 21—Scared of this one but going along with John Brodie on a hot streak. That Dutchman just may have found the combo in Atlanta, which finds itself in the unfamiliar role of favorite.

Kansas City 30, Denver 17—Chiefs looked like the Super Bowl champs with all-out effort against Colts. Although Broncos are 2-0 for the season they have beaten Kansas City only once in 20 league starts and that was way back in 1964, and are still juggling quarterbacks.

Baltimore 21, Boston 17—This could be the place for an upset victory by the Pats because the Colts took a beating from Chiefs and must go without John Unitas. Unless Colts are demoralized Earl Morrall should pull them.

New York Jets 27, Buffalo 7—Jets are getting sharper and Bills are dragging with battered defense and stalled offense. Maybe Dennis Shaw can light a fire but you have to go with Joe Namath, Matt Snell and Emerson Boozer.

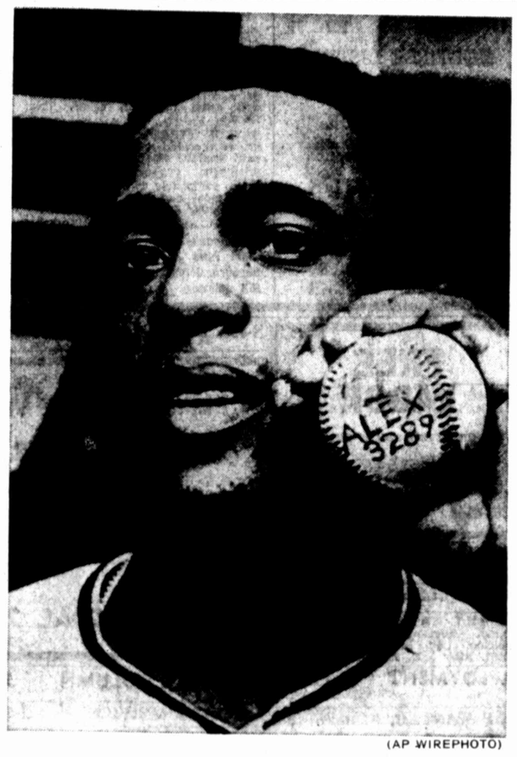
Houston 17, Cincinnati 14—Both won their openers and lost last week. Give the Oilers an edge on a solid quarterback and better defense against a team still looking for a successor to injured Greg Cook.

New York Giants 27, New Orleans 21—Some one of these days the giants are going to hold up in the second half. This should be the day. The Saints have scored only three points in two games while giving up 40. Time for a big day from Fran Tarkenton.

Washington 24, Philadelphia 14—Sonny Jurgensen had only one TD pass in two games and that's way below average. Bombs away with the young Philadelphia secondary as the target.

Monday night

Detroit 20, Chicago 7—Lions are loaded, especially for Bears, in battle of two unbeaten teams in Eastern Conference. Mel Farr ready to do battle with Gale Sayers before home fans in Tiger Stadium. If Cecil Turner runs one kickoff back for a TD this time he must be Superman.



(AP WIREPHOTO)

WINS BATTING TITLE BY .0003 — Outfielder Alex Johnson of the California Angels displays the batting average—.3289—that won him the American League championship by .0003 over Boston's Carl Yastrzemski. Johnson who begin last night's game needing two hits to exceed Yastrzemski's average, was removed from the game after strking his second single, against the White Sox in Anaheim.

Alex Johnson Trades Halo For A Crown

By The Associated Press

California's Alex Johnson has exchanged his sometimes-tilted halo for a crown—the American League batting championship.

The angriest Angel poked two early hits before sitting out the last eight innings of California's 5-4 season-closing victory over the Chicago White Sox Thursday night and nipped three-time titlist Carl Yastrzemski of Boston by a whisker in the league's closest batting race in 17 years.

Johnson, removed from the game after beating out an infield tap in the fifth inning for his second hit in three at-bats, finished his first AL season with a .3289 average. Yastrzemski went 1-for-4 in the Red Sox' final game Wednesday night for a .3286 windup.

Acquired from Cincinnati last winter in an inter-league deal, the reticent, 27-year-old outfielder feuded with sports writers and fought with teammates on the way to his dramatic conquest. But when he trotted off the field after his decision scratch single, the press box denizens joined an Anaheim crowd of 5,689 in a long, standing ovation.

SENS SHADED

In other regular season finales, Baltimore shaded Washington 3-2 for a club-record winning streak of 11 games; Minnesota blanked Kansas City 40; Detroit squeezed past Cleveland 1-0 and Oakland beat Milwaukee 5-4.

Johnson, batting leadoff for the Angels in his 11th-hour bid to overtake Yastrzemski, bounced out in the first inning, lined a single to right in the third and then outlegged a high bouncer to third in the fifth for his 203rd hit of the year. With the title secured, he was immediately replaced by pinch-runner Jay Johnstone.

"Somebody told me before the game that it would take three hits to win," the usually tight-lipped veteran said. "So I was caught by surprise when they put Jay in to run for me. But when I saw them come out of the dugout, I figured I must be on top."

Johnson, who failed to hit safely in only 34 of the 157 games in which he appeared, said the silver bat he'll receive, emblematic of the hitting crown, "will be an excellent addition to my trophy case. I think I'll put it on top of the case and let it do my talking."

BLOW LEAD

The Angels blew a 3-0 lead with two out in the ninth when Walt Williams slammed a three-run homer, then fell behind on Bill Melton's 33rd homer in the 13th before rallying for two runs in the bottom half to nail their fifth straight victory.

Ninth inning singles by Merv Rettenmund, Chico Salmon and Dave Johnson snapped a 2-2 tie at Baltimore, giving the Orioles their 108th victory of the season—and 40th by a one-run margin. It was the Senators' 14th consecutive setback.

Baltimore's Frank Robinson hit his 475th career homer, tying Stan Musial for 12th place on the all-time list. It was his 25th of the year.

Southpaw Jim Kaat hit a two-run homer and teamed with relievers Stan Williams and Ron Perranoski on a three-hitter for the Twins. Tony Oliva cracked a double and triple for Minnesota to finish third in the batting race at .325.

Detroit's John Hiller stymied the Indians on two hits and equaled the AL record with seven consecutive strikeouts. Ike Brown's first inning sacrifice fly delivered the game's lone run.

Reggie Jackson's two-run double in the ninth carried the A's past Milwaukee after teammate Bob Brooks clouted a two-run homer in the eighth.

TRY SMYER AT HOME TONIGHT — Coach Jack Woodley will be leaning heavily upon these defensive standouts when his Garden City Bearkats tangle with Smyer at home in an 8 o'clock game tonight. Homer Spears and Kervin Frysak are up front while Joe Garcia and Floyd Schwartz are the linebackers.

Cincy Given Edge In Buc Series

PITTSBURGH (AP)) — Cincinnati and Pittsburgh begin Saturday what Roberto Clemente refers to as the "Little World Series," the best-of-5 National League playoff games.

Oddsmakers give the Reds a slight edge.

Pittsburgh is host for the first two games.

Clemente, suffering from a back injury, didn't accompany the Pirates to St. Louis for the final three days of the season. But he is expected to be ready for Saturday.

Willie Stargell has been hobbling on a sore leg, but he's been doing that most of the season and should be rested enough to play.

Pitcher Bob Moose missed a turn at St. Louis due to a sore elbow. His status is uncertain.

In the opener the Pirates will go with Dock Ellis, 13-10, against the Reds' Gary Nolan, 18-7.

Luke Walker, 15-6, is expected to start Sunday in the second game against the Reds' Jim Merritt, their only 20-game winner.

Merritt had a special workout Wednesday and was pronounced fit. He had worked three innings last week after a three-week layoff due to an arm injury.

The Pirates will probably go with their usual lineup, spiced with a mixture of veterans and youth.

If Clemente plays, left-handed Al Oliver will be at first against Nolan, a right-hander; rookie Dave Cash is scheduled to start at second because of his recent hot bat, and Gene Alley will probably be at short. Richie Hebner, another lefty, will play third.

Stagell will be in left, Matty Alou in center and Clemente or Oliver in right.

If Oliver is in right, Bob Robertson will be at first.

It will be difficult to keep Robertson or Oliver out of the line-up since they are the leading RBI hitters for the Pirates behind Stargell.

Manny Sanguillen, batting .326, will catch.

Lee May will be at first for Cincinnati, Tommie Helms, at second and Dave Concepcion at short. Tony Perez is the third baseman.

In left field will be Bernie Carbo, a candidate for rookie-of-the-year honors; Bobby Tolan will be in center and Pete Rose in right.

Johnny Bench, who could be the league's most valuable player with his .294 average, 45 home runs and 147 RBIs, is the catcher.

Chicago Claims 2nd In NL Race

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Cubs are a little bit richer today thanks to Ferguson Jenkins and the Philadelphia Phillies got a lift from Oscar Gamble to escape the embarassment of the basement as the National League regular season came to a close.

Jenkins, the Cubs' hard-throwing right-hander, mowed down the New York Mets Thursday night on a two-hitter, nailing down second place in the East by a game over the defending world champions with a 4-1 victory.

The second place finish is worth approximately $1,300 per man while third is worth $400.

Jenkins, 22-6, a 20-game winner for four consecutive seasons, held the Mets hitless for six innings before Ken Singleton doubled opening the seventh. Singleton also doubled in the ninth.

The Cubs got a two-run single from Randy Hundley and Joe Pepitone's 26th homer, a two-run shot, in support of Jenkins, who struck out eight and walked two.

A crowd of 48,314 packed Shea Stadium, giving the Mets a home attendance mark of 2,697,479, the second best in major league history.

Gamble, the Phils' center fielder, ripped a two-out, run-scoring single in the 10th inning, giving Philadelphia a 2-1 victory over Montreal before 31,882 in the final game ever to be played at Connie Mack Stadium.

The triumph lifted the Phils into fifth place, one-half game ahead of the Expos, who finished last.

Philadelphia moves into a new park next season. The 61-year-old stadium opened on April 12, 1909.

In other NL games, Cincinnati whipped Atlanta 4-1, Houston edged San Francisco 5-4, Pittsburgh drowned St. Louis 9-5 and Los Angeles beat San Diego 7-4.

Bobby Tolan knocked in one run with a double and Tommy Helms slammed a two-run double in the Reds triumph. Hank Aaron slugged his 38th homer for the Braves.

Houston won its seventh straight on Bob Watson's ninth inning, run-scoring single. The defeat pushed San Francisco into third place in the West behind runnerup Los Angeles.

Willie Crawford drilled a run-scoring single, triggering a three-run Los Angeles sixth inning as the Dodgers clinched second place in the West. Nate Colbert slammed a two-run homer, his 38th, for the Padres.

Richie Hebner and Jerry May each drove in four runs in the Pirates rout. Hebner clouted a single and double while May cracked a three-run homer and sacrifice fly.

Perry Faces O's In 1st Game Of Set

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Twins plotted simple strategy to challenge the favored Baltimore Orioles in the American League championship series that opens Saturday at Metropolitan Stadium.

Manager Bill Rigney practically concedes the Orioles will provide glittering pitching from left-handers Mike Cuellar, 24-8, and Dave McNally, 24-9, and right-hander Jim Palmer, 20-10.

"The secret of our winning is containing their hitters," said Rigney. "Our pitchers have got to hold them because we know they're going to throw good pitching. We have to match them."

Rigney sends his only ace, right-hander Jim Perry, 24-12, out to stop the major league's winningest team in the 4 p.m., EDT, opener against Cuellar.

Left-hander Tommy Hall, 11-6 with 184 strikeouts in 155 1-3 innings, opposes McNally at 4 p.m. Sunday. The best-of-5 series moves to Baltimore Monday with Palmer going against rookie Bert Blyleven, 10-9.

Frank Len, Baltimore scout who spent this week checking out the Twins, agreed with Rigney's theory and said that the Orioles probably would have to take the same attitude.

Rigney will go with Cesar Tovar in center, Leo Cardenas at shortstop, Harmon Killebrew at third, Tony Oliva in right, Rich Reese at first, Brant Alyea in left, George Mitterwald catching and Danny Thompson at second.

Baltimore, with the same lineup, swept the Twins in three straight games of the 1969 playoffs—4-3 in 11 innigs, 3-2 in 12 innings and 11-2.

But with Killebrew slamming six of his 41 home runs, the Twins took a 7-5 edge in the 1970 regular season.

With 1969 batting champion Rod Carew limited to pinch hitting because of knee surgery in June, the Twins have lost some of their hitting edge.

Frank Robinson was Baltimore's lone .300 hitter. Oliva and Tovar made it for the Twins. Killebrew and Powell were almost even in RBIs.

Baltimore's bullpen has more depth, led by Dick Hall's 10-5 record, but the Twins have effective stoppers in Stan Williams, 10-1, and Ron Perranoski, 34 saves.

Oddsmakers have made the Orioles 3-2 favorites to qualify for their fourth World Series in the last five years.

Coahoma Bullpups Defeat Runnels

Coahoma's eighth graders took a big step toward claiming the Howard County football championship of its class by humbling Big Spring Runnels, 14-12, here Thursday night.

Runnels entered the game unbeaten, untied and unscored on but the Bullpups carried the fight to the locals and nailed down the win by fighting off a Runnels surge at the very end of the contest.

When Dick Earhart took the opening kickoff and raced 80 yards to score for Big Spring, it took on the appearance of a rout.

Coahoma came back to get a touchdown late in the period, however, Putt Choate climaxing an 81-yard drive with a three yard run. Choate also ran the extra points to make it 8-6.

In the second, Big Spring scored again on the first play following the kickoff return when Albert Smith raced 55 yards to pay dirt.

That made it 12-8, Big Spring. A Big Spring boy accidentally touched a punt and Coahoma recovered on the Yearling 33 to set the stage for the Pups' winning drive. Coahoma scored in ten plays, QB Dan Meacham traveling the final three for the all-important tally.

Big Spring had a first and goal at the three late in the fourth but fumbled and the alert Coahoma team made the recovery.

In a game between the Coahoma seventh graders and Runnels eighth grade B team, Big Spring won, 42-6.

Doug Robison scored on runs of 10 and 70 yards for Big Spring in that one. Albert Alvarez ran for ten and a TD, Angelo Pineda had one for 17, Pete Lopez one for 15 while Lawrence Byrd took a pass from John Magers and galloped 45 for the Yearling tallies.

Alverze, Angel Pineda and Lopez added the extra points for Big Spring.

The Yearlings return to play here next Thursday at 5 o'clock against Snyder Travis.

SMU Frosh Dud In '70 Debut

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — The heralded debut of Southern Methodist frosh quarterback Casey Ortez was less than a smashing success Thursday night as Arkansas' Shoats intercepted three passes for a 30-13 Southwest Conference freshman football victory.

Ortez hit 19 of 37 passes for 287 yards, but no touchdowns.

No Races Carded This Weekend

Due to the death of a member of the sponsoring organization, no motorcycle races will be staged by Big Spring Raceways Inc., this weekend.

The events ordinarily are staged both Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

Coahoma Visits Hamlin Tonight

COAHOMA — Coahoma's Bulldogs figure to get back on the winning track and even their record at 2-2 in a practice game with Hamlin in Hamlin tonight.

Hamlin has lost to Winter, 21-0; Clyde, 32-13; and Childress, 20-0. Coahoma owns only a win over Colorado City but dropped a heartbreaker to Rotan last week, 21-20.

Hamlin boasts a couple of big running backs in Charles Sellers, 195; and Barry McDonald, who'll go 200.

Hamlin, which finished 7-3 last year, also boasts some outstanding linemen in tackles Greg Perrin and Steve Smith, end Leonard Johnson and center Darrell Craig.

The Pied Pipers are coached by Dean Smith.

Goliad Eighth Graders Hang On To Win, 7-6

SWEETWATER — Big Spring Goliad won its first game of the season by defeating Sweetwater's eighth graders, 7-6, here Thursday night.

James Coffey's kick following Big Spring's only touchdown early in the game proved to be the difference in the game.

QB Barry Canning scored the only touchdown on the third place of the game on a keeper, running 32 yards. Robert Rasmussen held on Coffey's PAT try.

Goliad had previously lost to Big Spring Runnels, Snyder Travis and Coahoma.

Sweetwater drove for its only touchdown late in the opening period but tried a run for the extra point and it didn't work.

The Colts were on Goliad's three near the end of the game. Canning broke up the rally in the last five seconds by intercepting a pass in the end zone.

Guard Darrell Miller looked good on defense for Goliad. Rasmussen was a standout at guard on offense while tailback Humberto Padilla also glistened on offense.

Goliad lost two fumbles, Sweetwater one. Canning punted five times for a 40-yard average. Sweetwater booted the ball four times for a 30-yard norm.

Big Spring was penalized five times for 64 yards, Sweetwater none. The Mavericks completed one of nine passes for 24 yards. That aerial went to Hayes Stripling.

Sweetwater made good eight times in 16 attempts for 82 paces. Rasmussen and Canning came up with interceptions for Big Spring.

The Colts rushed for 45 yards, Big Spring for 59. Padilla ran 22 yards from scrimmage on one play.

The Goliad team returns to competition at 5 p.m. next Thursday in Snyder against Lamar.

Things Are A-Changing, Including Phone Digits

Things change — and that includes numbers on the Coahoma telephone exchange.

Effective Sunday morning, the last four digits in the Coahoma series will change, Jack Cauble, head of the Coahoma Telephone Company, reminded today. Instead of the spread from 2000 to 5000, the numbers will be in the 4200-4699 package to make for more convenient service, such as retaining the same number even when locations are changed within the exchange territory. Coahoma retains the 394 prefix.

Sand Springs, however, will change its prefix from the present 391 to the new prefix of 393. The last four digits on Sand Springs numbers will remain the same, said Cauble.

The shift results from revamping and improvement of the exchange and transmission facilities, which also will furnish the platform for improved rural service.

Texas Just Pretty Wet In September

By The Associated Press

Tropical storm Felice, flooding the Texas coast, dominated Texas weather in September.

Galveston recorded 14.31 inches. Heavy rains also fell along the middle and upper reaches of the Rio Grande along with above-normal amounts along the boundary river's lower stretch.

Late in September, heavy rains of four to six inches fell in the Big Bend country and along the middle Rio Grande.

Rain for the month was well above normal except in Northwest Texas and in the El Paso area.

Temperatures were near normal.

Chemicals Can Speed Harvest

LUBBOCK — With the cotton crop on the South Plains moving rapidly toward maturity, producers will be looking to the use of harvest-air chemicals to prepare for the upcoming harvest. The application of these chemicals can be a profitable step in speeding up the harvest operation, points out Dr. Bob Metzer, area agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The main reason for using harvest-aid chemicals is to condition the cotton plant so that harvesting operations can be speeded up," explains Metzer. "Lint grade and weight is often lowered when cotton is exposed to prolonged periods of bad weather in the fall."

The agronomist points out that proper timing when applying harvest-aid chemicals is of utmost importance for satisfactory results. Desiccants such as paraquat and arsenic acid kill the cotton plant rapidly and should be used only on cotton with 80 per cent or more open bolls. On the other hand, defoliants which consist of chlorate and phosphate compounds such as DEF may be used earlier with about 65 per cent open bolls.

'Harvest-aid chemicals should be applied only to mature the cotton," emphasizes Metzer. "Application before a sufficient number of bolls are open will reduce both yield and quality of the cotton and will especially affect the micronaire."

"Harvest-aid chemicals don't always do a perfect job," contends Metzer. "Poor results are often the case on drouth-stressed cotton or on cotton with regrowth due to moisture after a prolonged dry period. When these plant conditions are coupled with cool, cloudy weather, then harvest-aid chemicals often give erratic or poor kill."

Further information is available from County Agent Paul Gross.

Migrant Children Topic Of Meeting

LAMESA — Lamesa teachers will be among more than 2,000 teachers from 96 Texas towns who will meet in McAllen Oct. 13-14 for the eighth annual migrant workshop sponsored by the Texas Education Agency.

The techers, all specialists in packing regular school programs into short-term capsules of learning, hope to develop classroon teaching methods keyed to the needs of some of the 55,000 migrant children attending school in Texas.

Klondike Exes

LAMESA (SC) — The Klondike School homecoming is scheduled for Saturday at the school. The junior class will sponsor a supper from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., and the homecoming queen will be crowned at halftime in the Klondike-Bula football game.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: We are in the process of raising four children, and have asked ourselves a thousand times, "Why are we doing it?" The only conclusion we can come to is that we didn't know any better than to have had them in the first place, and obviously we had rocks in our heads for ever thinking we wanted to be parents.

It's the most thankless job in the world. If every young couple would stop and ask themselves why they want children, and answer the question honestly, 9 out of 10 wouldn't have any.

After being a mother for more than 19 years, I honestly can't think of one good reason anyone would choose to be a mother.

MICHIGAN MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If the truth were known (and there is no way of getting an honest count), the number of children who were really "wanted" would probably be shockingly low. Many young couples want "a baby" without considering the headaches of rearing a child. You say "Parenthood is the most thankless job in the world," as though a child should "thank" his parents for having had him. Children do not ask to be born, and they don't owe anyone (mother included) "thanks."

Parents become parents (or should) because they want children, but they should first seriously consider the responsibilites that go with parenthood. In answer to your question: YOU are raising four children because you had them.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: This problem concerns my bachelor brother, age 24. He is in the Navy. Last year he lived with a married woman (I'll call her Mary) for a while. Mary was separated from her husband. Shortly thereafter, Mary wrote and told my brother she was pregnant, and was divorcing her husband. Mary then telephoned my parents to inform them of the situation. Naturally they were upset.

Mary had the baby and my brother went to visit her to see if the baby resembled him as he wasn't sure the baby was his.

He came home and said the baby looked like him but he didn't want to marry Mary. (He found out that she had had a child out of wedlock before her marriage and had given it away.)

My brother asked my parents if they would take Mary's newborn baby rather than have it given away to strangers. Thay flatly refused saying they wouldn't be around forever.

My question: What legal obligations does by brother have to Mary and her new baby — if any? Please don't mention real names or cities.

BROTHER'S keeper, 1970

DEAR KEEPER: Your brother needs a "keeper," but he needs a good lawyer even more. Even though the baby "looks" like him, it may not be his. And if Mary was still legally married at the time of the baby's birth, the baby is legally her husband's, not your brother's. A man who is in the mess your brother is in needs a good attorney to advise him of his "rights" as well as obligations. And if he ever gets out of this one he should never go ashore without the chaplain.

* * *

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

UT Splitting Hearing Opens

AUSTIN (AP) — The division of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Texas was to be considered at a public hearing today.

University regents have approved splitting the large college into at least three separate colleges, each headed by a dean.

But a hearing on the proposal was scheduled by the senior college committee of the Texas College Coordinating Board. All members of the board have been invited, and no final decision is expected until the full board meets Oct. 19.

Dr. John Silber, removed this summer as dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, made a futile plea to the regents at their August meeting to keep the college intact at least until the full faculty was back in September.

Diphtheria Epidemic Total Climbs To 113

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The diphtheria epidemic reached 113 Thursday, matching a mark set in 1933. Officials also reported the state's first malaria cases in 21 years are under treatment here.

Two boys and two girls, ranging in age from 3 to 17, were confirmed as diphtheria victims Thursday. There also were 35 unconfirmed cases of the throat infection.

The 113 mark tied one set here in 1933. A total of 15 persons died from diphtheria that year. Two children have died this year.

UNDER TREATMENT

Many patients have recovered in the current epidemic but others are still under treatment. The average hospital stay is two weeks.

Two children from nearby Borne, Tex., have become the first cases of locally originated malaria recorded in Texas since 1949, officials said Thursday.

The children's pediatrician said they were bitten by mosquitoes while camped on a ranch near Boerne, which is about 30 miles northwest of here.

MALARIA RARE

Health officers and doctors said malaria is very rare locally. The only cases in recent years, they said, were servicemen returning from duty in Southeast Asia where they contracted the ailment.

Dr. Leon Cander, chief of medicine and physiology at the University of Texas Medical School here, voiced concern that the malaria had originated in this area.

"We could get clobbered with this disease," he said. "This could be bad if a reserve of malaria is established here. It may very well be traced to returning veterans from Vietnam who contracted the malaria and spread it here."

Health officials said mosquitoes could have bitten malaria victims or carriers of it and then spread the disease by biting other people.

FIRST SINCE 1949

The source, they said, besides returning veterans of Southeast Asia, could be migrants from Mexico and Central America where malaria is more common.

The state health department in Austin told the San Antonio Express it had not been notified that the malaria cases had been confirmed. But Dr. M. S. Dickerson of the communicable disease control division there said it would make the first cases originated locally in Texas since 1949.

The two children, ages 9 and 11, were hospitalized here Monday and their doctor said they appeared to be improving.

Two other malaria cases were recorded here this year, but officials said both were servicemen who contracted the disease overseas.

Re-Using Water Conservation Key

Think how much farther water resources would stretch if polluted water could be reprocessed and reused.

About 25 local members of the Soil Conservation Society of America Thursday toured an Odessa chemical company to learn how the company is trying to conserve water resources by reclaiming polluted water for industrial use.

The El Paso Products Co. uses only a limited supply of well water — the rest of the water used in the chemical complex is reclaimed from sewage effluent.

Company personnel explained that most of the water the plant uses has already been used by farmers, rainfall for the crops; sportsmen, a recreational area in Lake J. B. Thomas; and Odessa housewives.

The polluted water is then treated by the city of Odessa and sold to the company as sewage effluent.

El Paso Products Co. uses a complicated and expensive process to make the effluent usable in chemical production. When the company has reclaimed as much of the water as possible, the water that remains is piped to drilling contractors who use it in oil well flooding; injected into a well 3,000 feet below sea level; or incinerated so there is no chance of pollution of clean water resources.

Donald W. Fryrear, president of the Permian Basin chapter of SCS and superintendent of the USDA experiment station here, said the chapter members represent agricultural and agricultural-related interests, and water pollution is a real problem.

Local chapter members were joined in Odessa by about 30 members of the High Plains SCS chapter. After conducting separate business meetings in the morning, they met in the afternoon for tours of the research laboratories and the plant.

Four Perish In Car Crash

RACHAL, Tex. (AP) — A fourth motorist died early today of injuries suffered as two cars collided .6 mile south of Rachal, deep in South Texas.

The latest victim was Maria Juarez, 20, of Robstown.

State patrolmen listed three others killed at the scene of the crash on US 281 as Alberto Garcia Jr., 27, of nearby Encino and Erasmo Zapata Juarez, 24, and Janie Vera, 21, both of Robstown.

Gregorio Vera, 24, of Robstown was injured. His condition was described as good.
