Nobel Prizes Are Given To Americans

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The 1968 Nobel prizes in chemistry and physics went to two Americans today, the chemistry prize to Lars Onsager of Yale University and the physics award to Luis W. Alvarez of the University of California at Berkeley.

It was a clean sweep of the Nobel scientific awards for the United States. Three American professors who deciphered the genetic code shared the prize for medicine and physiology announced earlier.

PEACE PRIZE

The 1968 peace prize has been awarded to Prof. Rene Cassin, an 81-year-old Frenchman, while a Japanese novelist, Yasunari Kawabata, 69, was the winner of the prize for literature.

The awards are worth $70,000 each this year, a record.

Onsager, 64, won his prize for the discovery of the Onsager reciprocal relations, "which are fundamental for the thermodynamics of irreversible processes," the award committee said. A native of Norway, he came to the United States in 1928 and was naturalized in 1945.

ELEMENTARY PARTICLE

Alvarez, 57, was honored for his "decisive contributions to elementary particle physics." The award committee cited in particular his discovery of "a large number of resonance states, made possible through his development of the technique of using hydrogen bubble chamber and data analysis."

From 1940 through 1943, Alvarez worked in radar research and development at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston. He then spent two years at the nuclear research center at Los Alamos, N.M.

When Nobel laureate Ernest O. Lawrence, the inventor of the big cyclotrons, died in 1959, Alvarez succeeded him as director of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory. He had been deputy director since 1954.

BREAKTHROUGH

Alvarez made an important breakthrough in elementary physics in 1960 when he discovered a hitherto unknown resonance particle, a discovery that shattered the previous picture of how matter was built. This discovery came about through the use by Berkeley scientists of a gigantic particle accelerator in a new experimental technique.

Breakthrough May Be Near In Talks

PARIS (AP) —Envoys of the United States and North Vietnam sparred inconclusively over a basis for Vietnam peacemaking today amid persistent reports that a U.S. bombing halt may be near.

The American delegation blacked out all comment both on the substance of the exchanges at the 28th session of the peace talks and on unconfirmed reports of an imminent breakthrough.

'SETTLED'

An official of one allied country with troops in South Vietnam, who declined to be identified, told a newsman in reference to a bomb halt: "Everything is settled."

But he declined to elaborate.

In Bangkok, Thailand Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman told newsmen on his return from the United States that the United States and North Vietnam had entered the "final stages" of bargaining on a halt to the air attacks on the North. He predicted results in the "not too distant future."

In the conference, U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Ambassador Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam met for 90 minutes, the shortest session since the talks began May 13. Harriman said each side read condensed but definite and clear statements. He declined to elaborate.

An advance party of South Vietnamese officials flew into Paris to reinforce the observer mission representing the Saigon government on the sidelines of the talks. One purpose is to set up direct radio links between the mission and Saigon in the expectation that the peace conference will shortly be broadened.

Harriman's deputy, Cyrus R. Vance, stayed away from today's meeting.

"He had work to do," William J. Jorden, U.S. delegation spokesman, told a news conference. He gave no further details.

Qualified sources reported Vance stayed at the U.S. Embassy through most of Tuesday night. They also said American delegates in recent days evidently have had several contacts with North Vietnamese officials outside the conference framework. The Americans were said to have moved around Paris in rented automobiles and to have kept appointments in a variety of undisclosed places.

Jorden declined all comment on this. This policy of secrecy has been followed equally by the North Vietnamese delegation.

The reports of early American action to end the bombing coincided with the unannounced visit of the U.S. commander in South Vietnam, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, to the White House for exchanges with President Johnson.

After the talks, Thuy charged to newsmen that U.S. proposals for halting their air attacks "are meant for the presidential election campaign" and he again called for unconditional halt in the raids.

ONLY THOUGHT

But before he went into the session, Harriman told newsmen that "as far as I am concerned, the election is not entering into the discussions here in any shape, form or manner. We have been dealing with the problems of peace for the American people and that's the only thought we have."

Harriman during the meeting repeated the U.S. offer to quit South Vietnam as North Vietnamese forces pull out and to aid the economic development of North Vietnam after a peace agreement. Thuy called this "the policy of the carrot and the stick" and rejected it.

Harriman told newsmen he had asked the Hanoi delegates for "a reduction of hostilities and a move toward a settlement of the problem of peace."

GEN. ABRAMS

Rumors Spurred By Secret Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Urgent, secret talks between President Johnson and his military commander in South Vietnam indicated today that Johnson may once more be close to final decision on ending the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam in a move to advance peace negotiations.

DENIED

North Vietnam has denied for several days through Hanoi radio broadcasts and newspaper articles that it had made or would make any kind of deal with the United States to meet U.S. "conditions" for ending the bombing.

U.S. officials insisted that this did not necessarily mean, however, the negotiatoins between Washington and Hanoi for an agreement on de-escalating the war had collapsed.

The White House disclosed Tuesday night that Gen. Creighton W. Abrams Jr., had returned hastily to Washington to give President Johnson a full report Tuesday on the military situation. Abrams attended a top level policy review session with Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford and others before setting out again for Saigon.

It was understood today that one of the major issues taken up in the meetings with Abrams was the extent of the withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces from South Vietnam as well as the threat of new action on the North Vietnam side, where the North Vietnam and Viet Cong troops have gone, and what the meaning of their disengagement may be.

Considerations of this kind would be involved in Johnson's assessment of whatever cautious, perhaps indirect, word he may have obtained from the North Vietnam side that the lull has a political significance.

In this connection there have been reports that North Vietnamese representatives in Paris told U.S. negotiators early in the current series of peace probes that if Johnson de-escalated the war on the U.S. side he would not be walking into a trap.

Responsible U.S. officials have been unwilling either to confirm or deny this report but it has been understood to be substantially correct, and to fall short of the minimum assurances that the President has been seeking to justify—from his point of view—a decision to end the bombing.

Administration officials have constantly denied speculation that the bombing policy decision was in any way related to the U.S. presidential election campaign.

ELECTION

Diplomatic authorities believe, however, that next Tuesday's election could have an important bearing on the exchanges between Washington and Hanoi, for example, in constituting a deadline against which the North Vietnamese themselves might measure their own negotiating strategy.

White House press secretary George Christian said Abrams' appearance in Washington does not mean there has been a breakthrough toward peace.

Expects Rioting On Election Day

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan Secretary of States James M. Hare said today he anticipates "disruptive incidents" that may include bombings and Molotov cocktails at some Michigan polling places on Election Day.

"Potentially explosive areas," Hare told a news conference, "include some voting places around our major colleges and universities which have chapters of Students for a Democratic Society, (SDS)"

Confusion Predicted In Texas Balloting

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Texans voting Nov. 5 will be balloting in different ways in different parts of the state and differently from the way they last voted for a president.

And some campaign workers are predicting widespread confusion with a good possibility of court contests to follow the election.

Two hundred and thirty-four Texas counties will use the bath towel-size paper ballot.

Twenty counties will use some sort of mechanical or electronic voting machine, some of them in conjunction with paper ballots.

MECHANICAL

Nineteen counties or parts of them will use the old stand-up mechanical voting machine were you flip a series of tabs, then pull a big lever to register your vote. These counties include Bell, Bexar, Brazoria, Cameron, Dallas, Ector, El Paso, Galveston, Gregg, Harris, Hidalgo, Jefferson Midland, Nueces, Potter, Randall, Rusk, Smith and Tarrant. Some of these counties also will use paper ballots in some precincts.

According to records in the secretary of state's office, only three counties will be trying out the new electronic punch card type voting machines. These are parts of Bee and Randall counties and 112 precincts of Dallas.

Other counties will be watching these electronic tryouts closely because the five companies making machines approved by the secretary of state have made extensive and expensive efforts to get their machines in use.

Fortmer Secretary of State John Hill said in approving the machines that none of them was perfect.

One particular need, Hill said, was a system whereby a voter's decision would be recorded directly in a computer. Presently, four of the machines call for voters to punch their decision on a card, then an election official takes the cards to a central computer where they are recorded.

The fifth brand lets voters use a special ink in marking a regular paper ballot then these ballots are taken to a central station to be counted electronically.

Hill also warned that the success of any mechanical or electronic system depends on education of voters and the training of election officials to use the equipment.

The education of voters and training of election officials also is needed this year in use of the old paper ballots.

NEW LINE

Fort the first time there will be a new line across the top of the ballot with the party names of Democratic, Republican, and American party, with a small box beside each.

If a person wants to vote for the presidential and vice presidential candidates and all state and local candidates of a certain party, all he has to do is place an "X' in the appropriate box.

That's simple, but after that it gets complicated.

For one thing, voters will find that the American party lists no state or local candidates following its national nominees. It does not have any.

If a voter tries to vote for George Wallace and for Democratic state and local candidates, it can be done provided he does not mark both the American party and Democratic straight party boxes. Such a marking would cancel the voters choice for president.

WRONG NAME

Another ballot confusion also involves the American party. The ballot lists Marvin Griffin as the vice presidential candidate when the party choice really is Gen. Curtis LeMay.

Griffin was put on the Taxas ballot as a standin candidate in order to meet an election law deadline. However, if Griffin's name is scratched and LeMay's written in it will void the vote for Wallace, because the presidential and vice presidential candidates run as a team representing Texas' 25 electors, not as indiyiduals.

A vote for Griffin is actually a vote for LeMay.

Hubert Reports 'New Level Of Activity' Over Vietnam

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says there is a "new level of diplomatic activity" taking place over the Vietnam war—and "the next move is up to Hanoi."

The Democratic presidential candidate's cautiously-worded remarks came as Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam, flew to Washington Tuesday for a secret meeting with President Johnson and his top advisers.

But if Humphrey knew more than his questioners about the meeting, or the latest possible moves toward peace, he did not let on. Asked in a Philadelphia television interview whether a peace move might take place before Tuesday's election, he replied: "I just don't know, and I'm not really in a position to tell you if I knew."

"I think there has been something going on," Humphrey said as he wound up a long day of campaigning across vote-rich Pennsylvania.

"There's been a new level of diplomatic activity. As I sense it, I think it is up to Hanoi," he said.

FLURRY

If the current flurry is not successful, Humphrey vowed again in Philadelphia that if elected, "I will make peace in Vietnam."

Galt Had Plastic Surgery Prior To King Killing

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — An attorney says a man who gave his name as Eric Galt underwent minor plastic surgery before the assassination last April of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The lawyer, Bennet Olan, declined Tuesday to give details of the surgery performed by Dr. Russel C. Hadley except to say it was of the type which would not greatly change his appearance.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has reported Eric Galt was an alias used by James Earl Ray, now facing trial in Memphis, Tenn., on a charge of murdering King.

Olan said he thought the operation was performed three or four weeks before the assassination on April 4. "It may have been on the 4th or the 11th of March, I forget which," he said.

The surgeon referred all questions to Olan. The lawyer said it's believed Galt sought out Dr. Hadley through the Los Angeles County Medical Association.

Olan said the case didn't stand out in Hadley's mind, but he added: "As soon as we discovered who the patient had been, the case was reported to the FBI."

The attorney said that as far as he knew, Hadley has not been subpoenaed to testify in the Ray trial.

United Fund Takes Giant Step Forward

The United Fund took a giant step forward today, with a $13,142.64 contribution from Cosden Chemical Company and its employes, to move the campaign total to $85,570.70.

The 1968 objective is now 78 per cent complete and more large companies are due to report soon, said Mrs. Alyce Butler, executive secretary

IN SIGHT

Clyde McMahon Jr., United Fund Drive chairman, said today that the goal could be in sight with more contributions from the employe and big gifts division.

"The big gifts and employe divisions could help pass the goal," he said. "Of course, all the workers must complete their cards and return them to the United Fund office."

Don Womack, head of the employe division, has reached 71 per cent of his division goal, which is the largest objective of all divisions. Big gifts, headed by Jimmy Taylor, is 75 per cent complete. Special gifts, led by Charles Beil, is 49 per cent complete.

TWO PASS GOAL

Two divisions have surpassed their goals and are not complete. The women's division, headed by Mrs. Ralph Caton and Mrs. Bob Galbraith, has 104 per cent of its goal with more gifts coming in, and Alton Marwitz, chairman of area gifts, has marked 105 per cent of that division's objective, and collections are not complete.

Quake Shakes Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — A 20-second earthquake which shook stock from store shelves and sent people running into the streets jarred the Fairbanks area Tuesday.

There were no reports of injury or major damage although the jolt knocked the needle off the University of Alaska seismograph five miles west of Fairbanks, and readings on instruments elsewhere ranged in intensity from 6.5 to 7 on the Richter scale.

Wallace Forced To Shorten Talk

DETROIT (AP) — Scuffling and heckling forced George C. Wallace to cut short a speech Tuesday night in which he told a capacity crowd at Cobo Arena, "If we're slipping, we're slipping right into the White House."

OFFICER HURT

As the crowd left the 11,200-capacity arena, which had been filled, police and several hundred anti-Wallace demonstrators engaged in a melee in which one policeman received an eye injury reported to have been caused by a spray. He was admitted to Detroit General Hospital.

At the rally, the crowd cheered Wallace's words, often standing on their seats. His hecklers were equally persistent.

They hooted and jeered and chanted obscene phrases beginning even before he appeared and while the audience was singing "God Bless America." They continued without letup.

The candidate came prepared to deliver a speech on the nation's economy but gave it up and made his law and order speech, cutting it by about 15 minutes when violence erupted in the audience.

The free-for-all was touched off when a man snatched from another man's head a plastic hat with a Wallace sticker on it, tore it up and threw the pieces in his face.

Wallace backers responded by hurling their chairs into the anti-Wallace crowd and the hecklers hurled them back. Police rushed into the stands and dragged off about 20 persons.

Earlier, before Wallace arrived, a ruckus erupted when a Wallace supporter grabbed an anti-Wallace placard from someone's hands, held it above his head and ripped it in pieces.

Then another person sprayed a choking chemical at the hecklers and the fight was on. Police restored order and hauled two of the protesters out.

TAUNTS

The candidate, speaking above the uproar through a powerful amplifier, taunted the hecklers throughout his speech.

"You came for trouble and you got it," he said during one melee, and during another he interrupted his speech to say to his supporters: "If you want to stop all this nonsense, you vote for me Nov. 5 and I'll stop it."

As the crowd left the 11,200-capacity arena, which had been filled, police and several hundred anti-Wallace demonstrators engaged in a melee in which one policeman received an eye injury reported to have been caused by a spray. He was admitted to Detroit General Hospital.

At the rally, the crowd cheered Wallace's words, often standing on their seats. His hecklers were equally persistent.

They hooted and jeered and chanted obscene phrases beginning even before he appeared and while the audience was singing "God Bless America." They continued without letup.

The candidate came prepared to deliver a speech on the nation's economy but gave it up and made his law and order speech, cutting it by about 15 minutes when violence erupted in the audience.

The free-for-all was touched off when a man snatched from another man's head a plastic hat with a Wallace sticker on it, tore it up and threw the pieces in his face.

Wallace backers responded by hurling their chairs into the anti-Wallace crowd and the hecklers hurled them back. Police rushed into the stands and dragged off about 20 persons.

Earlier, before Wallace arrived, a ruckus erupted when a Wallace supporter grabbed an anti-Wallace placard from someone's hands, held it above his head and ripped it in pieces.

Then another person sprayed a choking chemical at the hecklers and the fight was on. Police restored order and hauled two of the protesters out.

TAUNTS

The candidate, speaking above the uproar through a powerful amplifier, taunted the hecklers throughout his speech.

"You came for trouble and you got it," he said during one melee, and during another he interrupted his speech to say to his supporters: "If you want to stop all this nonsense, you vote for me Nov. 5 and I'll stop it."

Hubert Reports 'New Level Of Activity' Over Vietnam

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says there is a "new level of diplomatic activity" taking place over the Vietnam war—and "the next move is up to Hanoi."

The Democratic presidential candidate's cautiously-worded remarks came as Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam, flew to Washington Tuesday for a secret meeting with President Johnson and his top advisers.

But if Humphrey knew more than his questioners about the meeting, or the latest possible moves toward peace, he did not let on. Asked in a Philadelphia television interview whether a peace move might take place before Tuesday's election, he replied: "I just don't know, and I'm not really in a position to tell you if I knew."

"I think there has been something going on," Humphrey said as he wound up a long day of campaigning across vote-rich Pennsylvania.

"There's been a new level of diplomatic activity. As I sense it, I think it is up to Hanoi," he said.

FLURRY

If the current flurry is not successful, Humphrey vowed again in Philadelphia that if elected, "I will make peace in Vietnam."

Galt Had Plastic Surgery Prior To King Killing

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — An attorney says a man who gave his name as Eric Galt underwent minor plastic surgery before the assassination last April of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The lawyer, Bennet Olan, declined Tuesday to give details of the surgery performed by Dr. Russel C. Hadley except to say it was of the type which would not greatly change his appearance.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has reported Eric Galt was an alias used by James Earl Ray, now facing trial in Memphis, Tenn., on a charge of murdering King.

Olan said he thought the operation was performed three or four weeks before the assassination on April 4. "It may have been on the 4th or the 11th of March, I forget which," he said.

The surgeon referred all questions to Olan. The lawyer said it's believed Galt sought out Dr. Hadley through the Los Angeles County Medical Association.

Olan said the case didn't stand out in Hadley's mind, but he added: "As soon as we discovered who the patient had been, the case was reported to the FBI."

The attorney said that as far as he knew, Hadley has not been subpoenaed to testify in the Ray trial.

A LOVELIER YOU

Insure Compliments By Deep Cleansing

By MARY SUE MILLER

In the name of skin care, many a skin is frightfully abused. We girls hopscotch from panacea to panacea, not knowing which one is really suitable and not using any product long enough to evaluate results of application. And that's not all.

The young, in particular, fail to keep their skins pristine clean. Deep cleanliness, of course, is the first requisite of a lovely complexion. When cleansing does take place, methods are apt to be either slapdash or harsh. The face gets a perfunctory splash or a rough scouring. Either way, more harm than good is done.

Not at all blameless, the mature contingent errs in making hit-or-miss applications of treatment products. A night-care cream, for instance, is used tonight and then left on the shelf for a week. Small wonder its efficiency is rated poor. Only consistent application can pay off.

Almost all of us are guilty of overlooking the importance of diet to beautiful skin. We go for pizzas, French fries, chocolate candy and soda pop when the skin thirsts for fruit juice, raw carrots, green vegetables, whole or skim milk and water (lots of water).

Where your skin's concerned, you have to know what's good for it and then deliver. Wishing just won't make it so.

Rites Held In Midland Home

STANTON (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Graves are at home in Stanton following their marriage Friday in the home of T. J. Chapman at Midland. The officiating minister was Dr. Dallas D. Denison.

The bride is the former Theresa Marie Tucker and was given in marriage by B. R. Miller, house father of High Sky Girl's Ranch in Midland. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Verbin L. Graves of Stanton.

The double ring ceremony was held before tall candelabra flanked by baskets of roses, and nuptial selections were played during the ritual.

The bride was attired in a street-length dress of white crepe fashioned with fitted waistline and full skirt. The long, tapered sleeves were edged in lace, and the lace was repeated at the neckline. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a pillbox, and her bouquet of white carnations was carried atop a white Bible.

The maid of honor was Miss Jan Chapman who was attired in a cerise crepe dress with long sleeves and pleated front. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

Soviet Space Ship Lands

MOSCOW (AP) — Cosmonaut Georgy Beregovoy and the Soviet space ship Soyuz 3 returned to earth today after nearly four days in orbit during which they set no records and apparently scored no breakthroughs for the Soviet space program.

Tass said the spaceship made a soft landing where it was supposed to in the Soviet Union but did not give the exact location.

Beregovoy "feels well," said the Soviet news agency, and was met by "friends and correspondents in the area where he landed."

NO RECORDS

"Cosmonaut Georgy Beregovoy successfully completed the program of scientific and technical research," Tass said.

The 47-year-old cosmonaut's flight was the first manned flight in 18 months for the Soviet Union, but it set no records and no technical breakthrough was announced.

Beregovoy was launched into space last Saturday morning and began a tandem flight around the earth in the wake of the unmanned spacecraft Soyuz 2, which had been launched the day before.

Before Soyuz 2 was brought down for a soft landing on Monday, Beregovoy made two approaches to the unmanned craft, but if he tried to link up, this was not announced.

A Soviet scientist writing in Pravda Monday said the purpose of Beregovoy's flight was to develop docking systems essential to the Soviet program of eventually constructing huge orbiting platforms from which rockets would be launched to the moon and planets.

DOCKING

Soviet space scientists have twice joined and separated unmanned spaceships in orbit but have never linked up a manned craft with another spaceship manned or unmanned. There had been speculation that the Russians would send up another cosmonaut to link up with Beregovoy, but this did not materialize.

The United States accomplished the first docking between manned and unmanned spaceships on March 16, 1966, and has repeated the feat several times. But the Americans also have not joined two manned spaceships.

Beregovoy's flight lasted one hour and nine minutes less than four days. He was launched at 11:34 a.m. Saturday, Moscow time, and Tass said he came down "in the pre-set area of the Soviet Union" at 10:25 a.m. today.

A parachute was used in the landing, Moscow Radio said, and just before the touch-down, engines were use to further soften the landing.

The last Soviet manned flight in April 1967 ended in a crash when the parachute ropes tangled. Cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov was killed. Soviet space officials have said since that the technical problems which caused Komarov's crash have been solved.

But This Time? 'No Comment'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — There are only two votes in the 36th Precinct of Louisville's second Ward and Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Finzer will cast them.

Finzer is a Republican, his wife a Democrat.

But that does not indicate how the vote in the 36th of the Second will go. Usually, say the Finzers, they cancel out each other's vote. But this time?

"No comment," says Mrs. Finzer.

"I just haven't made up my mind," says Finzer.

Nixon Victory Is Eggers' Hope

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The big question in Texas' governor's race is whether Richard M. Nixon's coattails are wide enough to help a Republican defeat the heavily favored candidate of a divided Democratic party.

A landslide Nixon victory in Texas apparently is Republican Paul Eggers' best hope of beating the Democratic nominee, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, and becoming the State's first GOP chief executive since 1869.

But even that might not be enough since those Democrats who desert Hubert H. Humphrey to vote for Nixon or third-party candidate George C. Wallace are expected to switch back to Smith in this traditionally Democratic state.

Supported by most prominent Texas Republicans, including U.S. Sen. John G. Tower, Eggers, 49, won easily over two other lawyers last spring in the GOP primary.

"Paul is a much better personal campaigner than I am," says Tower, the first Republican ever elected to the Senate from Texas.

Smith, 56, a Lubbock businessman who has spent the last 18 years in the legislature as a House member, senator and lieutenant governor, emerged from a field of 10 candidates. He finally defeated Don Yarborough, a liberal lawyer from Houston, in a runoff.

Since then a group of liberal Democrats have formed a committee to defeat Smith.

"I'm not going to compromise my position, but certainly we'll take advantage of the liberals and labor people saying a two-party system is going to be our salvation," says Eggers.

Opening lead: Deuce of ♠

East's two spade overcall deprived South of the bidding space required to probe for the most desirable contract. A rebid of three hearts, for example, would not be forcing, and North could hardly be expected to carry on with his actual holding. South chose finally to resolve all doubts by jumping directly to four hearts, in the hope that North would produce something of value.

Altho a club opening would have proven more fortuitous, West can hardly be faulted for leading the deuce of spades—the suit in which his partner had overcalled. East put up the queen and South won the trick with the ace.

Declarer led a club to dummy's queen in an attempt to take a heart finesse; however, East administered a rude jolt when he ruffed with the deuce of hearts. A spade return put West in to give East another club ruff, and East completed the damage by cashing the ace of diamonds to set the contract.

South was admittedly unlucky to run into the extremely adverse club division, but it was a somewhat risky proposition to open that suit up so early in the play when one of the opponents was apt to be short. Another and safer means of gaining access to dummy is via a spade ruff.

Observe the effect obtained by South if he permits East to hold the first trick with the queen of spades. The West hand becomes permanently retired from the play and East is unable to inflict any damage thru his own efforts. Suppose, for example, that he returns a spade, South plays the ace and then trumps his last spade with the eight of hearts. The heart finesse is taken and declarer overtakes the nine of hearts with the ten and cashes the ace.

The defense is restricted to three tricks on the deal—one spade, one heart, and one diamond.

A Devotional For The Day

Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword? . . . Nay in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us. (Romans 8:35-37)

PRAYER: Dear God, we are grateful for Thy loving compassion that reaches to the weakest and lowest. We thank Thee for Thy promise to never leave or forsake us Give us courage and grace to be true disciples always. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Mexico's Fine Job

The Olympic games just concluded in Mexico must surely go down as one of the most successful in contributing toward a feeling of international brotherhood and good will. There were the inevitable little frictions which result from a feeling of pitting one nation against another, but by and large, these were submerged in the spirit of competition between individuals whatever their background. Out of this came many examples of superb sportsmanship and of human respect and concern.

To Mexico goes the accolades of the world community for its staging of the Olympics. The student upheavals prior to the games subsided and Mexico proved to be the perfect host. The facilities which Mexico provided would do credit to any nation on earth, and the support the Mexican people gave the games was far more than could have been expected. As a sister republic, the United States of America takes pride in the accomplishment of Mexico as host for the Olympiad.

Economics And Inflation

One thing no presidential candidate can convincingly promise is to guide the national economy to full-employment prosperity without inflation. For the simple truth is no one knows how to achieve that.

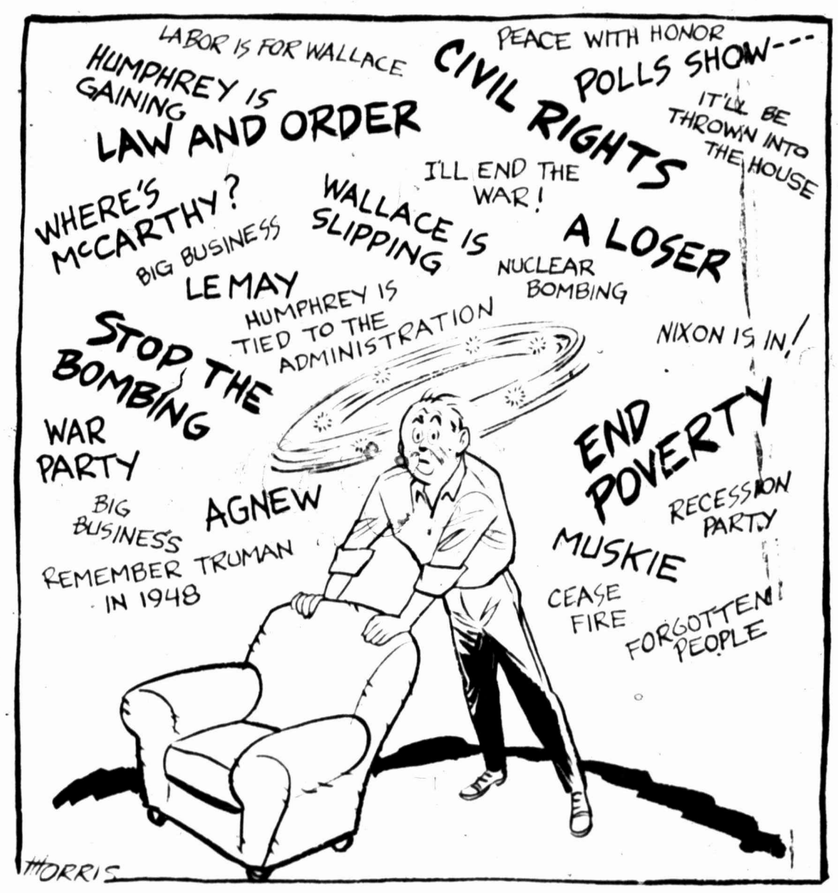

The English economist John Maynard Keynes, regarded variously as economic saint or satan, opened the way for industrialized nations to control their economic destinies. And economists have now refined his views to where even slow and sloppy application of monetary and fiscal policies can prevent runaway inflation or depressions, even under wartime pressures.

But the semi-science of economics has yet to make one vital breakthrough, and that is to find out how to prevent inflation from taking hold when rising production and demand approach full employment. When full employment is neared, inflation accelerates to a degree where the economic growth rate must be checked — with a corresponding job loss in an expanding population — before it causes such serious maladjustments as to plunge the economy into recession, with an even greater job loss.

Experience so far suggests that the most tolerable balance is about four per cent unemployment (or more than three million jobless), with about a three per cent aggregate annual price rise. With unemployment now down to 3.6 per cent, the inflation rate is between 4 and 5 per cent.

If the federal tax hike and spending cuts check inflation, they will also increase unemployment. And that is not a pleasant prospect, with welfare rolls already heavily loaded and high racial tensions certain to be aggravated because Negro unemployment is still double the white unemployment rate.

There now appears to be no sensible national policy but to seek a tolerable balance between creeping inflation and bearable unemployment. Meanwhile the search must be intensified for a workable way to prevent full-employment inflation.

He Makes It Seem Easy

Next Tuesday evening when you sit with your radio or television listening and looking at election returns, you will be witnessing the fruits of long experience and preparation.

IN TEXAS, you will have the Texas Election Bureau to thank. This is a loose federation set up originally and financed by the newspapers of Texas, and which now supplies its services to the electronic media. There was a time when you just didn't get returns unless you were a member of the bureau, but gradually, summary reports were fed to the wire services.

There likely is not an election organization in the United States which has functioned so long and so effectively as has the Texas Election Bureau. A lot of credit for that goes to R. L. (Bob) Johnson, Dallas, who has directed this periodical headache for the past generation. A delightful and mild-mannered man, Bob Johnson is cautious and efficient, and he has known a legion of his county correspondents personally for years.

FEW IF ANY in Texas are as conversant with county election machinery and with potential turnout of voters. For instance, he is predicting that around 2,750,000 Texans will turn out next Tuesday. This is about three-fourths of the total eligible list, and his prediction stems from spot checks over Texas. There will be, he predicts, a sizable bloc of voters who just won't bother to vote. Then there always is a certain number who for one reason or another can't get to the polls.

HE HAS BEEN around so long that in an extremely tight race for a top state office or in a presidential campaign that he can pretty well pin down the final outcome within a few hours after substantial returns begin coming in. He knows voting habits and trends of certain counties and areas so that no matter what an early figure may say, he has an uncanny knowledge of how things will level off in the stretches. For years he has been doing in his head, out of a vast background of experience and knowledge, what the computers now do mathematically.

WHEN ELECTION night rolls around, the bureau offices will have 30 telephone trunk lines for receiving returns. All over the state, members or correspondents in the 254 counties will send in returns as rapidly as they can be tabulated. These are combined into state totals about every 15 minutes and reports are issued every half hour or certainly at every hour. Occasionally there may be a transposition of figures or an error, but usually this is caught in the next cycle so that the unofficial bureau totals invariably parallel the final official figures closely. As soon as a county is complete, correspondents mail in totals, so that this once more may be used as a cross-check for accuracy.

THIS YEAR a new element is being injected into the Texas tabulation picture. National Election Service, which is made up of state bureaus and news services and networks, is hiring Jaycees to man voting boxes and call in returns immediately after tabulation at those points. After a couple of hours, NES will be falling back on Texas Election Bureau for the results. This new wrinkle may expedite some early selective returns, but most seasoned observers will be watching Texas Election Bureau to be sure. That is a tribute to Bob Johnson.

Nixon's Bid For The Negro Vote

WASHINGTON — Probably you never heard of J. Robert Smith, but he's a vital cog as the Nixon machine roars up the homestretch. If Smith functions well, Richard Nixon will go to the White House with a claim on being the people's President. If Smith does what he's on the staff to do, we may look for a truce in what people are calling the Second Civil War.

SMITH IN private life is a court-covering reporter for the Pasedena (Calif.) Independent Star-News. He was in the Ambassador Hotel at Los Angeles when Bob Kennedy was shot. He got the beat on this story, became widely read, and he followed the murder yarn up through the preliminary hearings. He then took temporary duty on the Nixon staff with a special assignment. Smith is a Negro.

What does this election hold for Negroes? The blank space beyond this interrogation mark is Smith's territory. Until deep into October there has been no fill-in. One survey after another shows that the 11 million eligible Negro voters are the Lost Tribes.

A HARRIS POLL finds a large number feel that they have no part in presidential politics this year, although 83 per cent will vote Democratic if they do so. But Humphrey is a has-been to most Negroes. Wallace is a de facto racist. Nixon is a cipher.

Two widely used Nixon "participation" gimmicks have verified the black man's blackout, especially as it relates to the Republican who seems destined to become President. One gimmick is the Listening Post where persons everywhere, including the ghettos, are invited to talk their thoughts onto a tape recorder for the attention of Nixon. The other is the Speak To program where groups of over 100 gather and pass along their suggestions and grievances via tape recorder to the Nixon-Agnew team.

I QUESTIONED the highest available evaluator of these sound-off devices and he reported the results among Negroes in this order: (a) No ability to articulate what was thought of the campaign issues. (b) Expressions of despair that the Negro found "nothing" for himself in the campaign. (c) "Rejection of the election as a means of social change."

But the mockery of these reactions is that Nixon does have much to offer the Negro. And this is where J. Robert Smith comes in. He has been, and is now, assigned to "peak" Negro awareness of Nixon in the remaining days of the campaign.

SMITH IS constantly meeting with reporters and editors of Negro newspapers, and with community leaders, in the half-dozen States where the black urban vote is pivotal. It's already assumed that Nixon will win the election, and this is part of the argument to persuade sizable Negro areas to ride with a winner and to put their mark on the incoming administration. The other salient points are these:

1 — Although muted in Nixon's early campaign, his idea of "black capitalism," Negro-owned businesses in the slums, is revolutionary economics. Nixon made two lengthy broadcasts on the subject before the Convention, and he has many times reaffirmed his position in question-and-answer sessions.

2. — AGAIN, with Humphrey seemingly down and out, Smith and other exhorters are privately warning Negroes that a throwaway-vote for HHH can be more helpful to Wallace than hurtful to Nixon.

If Nixon is elected with a preponderance of lily-white ballots, the Second Civil War will rage on. If he can show votes in the blacktowns of Harlem, Watts, Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis and Philadelphia, we could have an era, not of good feeling, but of participation.

Activity In Stocks Overwhelming

NEW YORK (AP) — If "heavy-handed bureaucratic regulatory schemes" have been hurting the securities industry, as Richard M. Nixon indicated in a letter to brokers, it is difficult to prove by the popular statistics.

New York Stock Exchange volume in September averaged 13.4 million shares, which is reliably estimated to mean about $9 million a day in commissions. Keep that up and the total comes to around $1.87 billion a year.

SINCE APRIL 1, the old record of 16.4 million shares, made on Black Tuesday, the day of the big crash on Oct. 29, 1929, has been exceeded 17 times. In a few months, this 39-year record has become small stuff.

Activity in stocks has simply been overwhelming. As most brokers will tell you, it's well worth having a piece of today's voluminous action, despite the nuisance of processing all the paper that goes with the sale.

Statistics don't necessarily prove a case, admittedly, and some persons in and out of Wall Street argue that regulation not only is making life a bit difficult in the securities business but that somehow it may be undermining confidence as well. Nixon's thesis is not without supporters.

THE STATISTICS, however, attest to considerable good fortune in the industry, and Hubert H. Humphrey's men capitalized on it this week by calling attention to the soaring price of stock exchange seats.

A seat on an exchange is really a right to stand on the floor and conduct business in stocks and bonds. And the price of a seat indicates the fervor of those seeking a piece of the action. It's a supply-demand relationship.

"Just the other day," said Humphrey in a policy statement, "one was sold for $470,000." That's quite a jump, as the Humphrey people pointed out, from a low of $135,000 in 1960 and $220,000 as recently as last year.

Well, as Humphrey said, that $470,000 price was the other day. Almost as the statement was being issued two more seats were sold on Oct. 28 for $490,000 each. Obviously there is a tremendous and growing demand for seats.

MORE PROOF of this soon came. Immediately after the $490,000 sale a broker placed on the books of the New York Stock Exchange an offer to sell at $500,000. Even before the exchange opened at 10 a.m. the next day it was snapped up.

This was a record price, topping the previous high of $495,000 made Oct. 31, 1929. And more records likely will follow, even though some Wall Streeters, either through envy or awe, refuse to admit it. They may have to.

It is difficult, however, to relate this surge in volume to either party's stand on regulation. Republicans state that regulation has lowered confidence. Democrats assert it has encouraged it. The answer is more complex.

Whatever the reasons for the heavy demand for securities, some analysts have suggested that the market in recent weeks has risen in expectation of a Nixon victory and dropped on indications of Humphrey's growing strength.

This analysis could very well represent the bias of professionals. Ordinary stockholders, of which there are more than 80 million, may be betting on the future when they invest. But they do not necessarily give tips on their presidential preferences.

Unspunky Spouse And The Dentist

By JOY STILLEY
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — When the calendar and a series of gentle little reminder cards indicated that it was long past the time for a confrontation between my husband and the family dentist, it fell to me to arrange the meeting faced with equal dread by both parties involved.

With the appointment made, I had only to persuade, threaten, cajole, command, beguile, urge and insist that my unspunky spouse appear as per my promise.

ALL WENT well in this initial get-together, with the two men clapping each other on the back in comradely greeting and exchanging jokes and other pleasantries. They remained on a friendly basis throughout the encounter because the dentist on this occasion merely took X-rays. The actual work would follow later—as much later as my husband could manage.

I bowed out of the picture and left them to arrange their future rendezvous. My reluctant relative decided to make the next appointment for a Thursday, planning to come home from work early.

THAT DAY arrived but the patient didn't. His secetary had telephoned to report that he was in conference and couldn't make it. Another date was set for the following Thursday.

This time I called, conveying the news that he had left the night before on a sudden trip to Washington. At this point I learned that a tooth extraction was in the offing and the hurry-up journey took on added significance. I ruthlessly and optimistically rescheduled the work for the following Thursday.

On this day I rushed home, ready to offer hot tea and warm sympathy to a convalescent, only to find that an important meeting had come up and he'd canceled again. Despairing of making it on a working day, he agreed to give up his Satruday in an easy chair watching football in favor of a session in the dental chair.

HHH And Nixon Set Forth Their Views

NEW YORK (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon both say that if elected president they will follow a policy of making the fullest feasible disclosure to the government information to the American public.

Humphrey, conceding "a communication gap does indeed exist between government and the citizens it serves," declares he would take this attitude: "Either there is valid reason for withholding — and the government has the burden of proving this — or the information will be made available."

NIXON SAYS, "I believe a president must, wherever he possibly can, make the decision for more knowledge rather than less. I do not believe in a 'right to lie.'"

Humphrey and Nixon set forth their views in letters replying to questions by Sam Ragan of the Raleigh, N.C., News & Observer and Raleigh Times, and chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, and to Hu Blonk of the Wenatchee, Wash., Daily World, chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

Both editors had asked the national candidates how they would implement the 1967 Federal Freedom of Information Act dealing with the availability of government information.

HUMPHREY SAID in his letter to Blonk he had been "deeply troubled," by reports of the treatment of newsmen at the August Democratic convention in Chicago and asserted, "Such restrictions, harassment or violence which the press encountered cannot be tolerated or condemned too strongly."

"If I am permitted to serve as president," Humphrey added, "I will do everything required to enable the press — and the public — to obtain the full details of what their government is doing.

"First on my agenda will be to implement Section 16 of Executive Order 10501, which requires the president to 'designate a member of his staff who shall receive, consider, and take action upon, suggestions, complaints from nongovernmental sources relating to the operation of this order.'

"I firmly believe that an open presidency requires a grievance mechanism at the highest levels, so that the press and the public can vent their frustrations and obtain the information they require."

THE NEW LAW exempts from disclosure matters which the government believes should be kept secret "in the interest of the national defense or foreign policy."

Ragan asked each candidate if, as president, he would limit the claim of "executive privilege" to the president or extend it to other executive branch officials.

Humphrey said he could not commit himself in advance but added: "Obviously, such a privilege should not be used by an administration to get itself out of a tight political spot. It should not be used to safeguard the president or the administration from criticism for a possible mistake.

"THIS PRIVILEGE can be used only sparingly and in cases where sensitive situations are involved," Humphrey said.

Nixon said, "Executive privilege must be very narrowly construed. It should be asserted only in rare circumstances and then only by the president or by a responsible top echelon subordinate acting under guidelines clearly set out by the president. I believe the executive branch must at all times extend itself in making information available to Congress. I would expect to provide its members and committees with full information concerning administration decisions and the reasons underlying such decisions — recognizing, of course, the necessary distinction between executive decisions and the decision-making process which precedes them."

What do you think about flying saucers? There is a lot of evidence that they exist. Wouldn't the acceptance of their existence, in your case, make the Bible and its miracles more believable?

O.Y.

The government has spent considerable time and money studying the subject of UFO's, unidentified flying objects, and the findings do not lend much support to the theory that flying saucers exist. I am not adverse to the idea that these objects from outer space may exist, but there is no use to be credulous and accept the existence of such objects without proof. I know that our eyes play tricks on us and that "seeing isn't always believing."

You ask if my acceptance of their existence wouldn't make the Bible more believable. I have no difficulty believing the Bible, for I accept it as the Word of God, and if flying saucers buzzed around my house every day I could believe the Bible no stronger. I believe the miracles of the Scripture, not because they are credible or have been proved, but because they are contained in the Word of God. I have implicit faith in the Author.

The Bible tells us that some day Christ will return to earth as Prince of peace, King of kings, and Lord of lords. This is the UFO I am looking for, and the one we should all be prepared for.

Blood Does Not Control Skin Color

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Your column on blood transfusions from black or white people is aggravating me, so would you answer my question?

Is there no difference between racial blood? It seems to me there would have to be a difference other than skin color between the races. To my way of thinking, the blood could possibly be the cause of the skin color. If a white boy or girl were to be given a transfusion of colored blood, would there be a possibility of their having a colored baby later on? Think of the many homes that would be broken.

I am a segregationist but am not prejudiced to extremes. I just don't believe in any race mixing. Just how can you avoid this kind of transfusion? There is so much said about "rights," but where did the "rights" of people that want to stay white go?

I realize this is a racial question and as such you may not want to answer; therefore I am enclosing an envelope so, if you prefer, you can send the answer direct. — J.M.

I'm not a sociologist, and I'm not going to get into any arguments with you over segregation, because, although you are not "prejudiced to extremes," I'm sure I couldn't change your mind anyway.

Is there no difference between racial blood? It seems to me there would have to be a difference other than skin color between the races. To my way of thinking, the blood could possibly be the cause of the skin color. If a white boy or girl were to be given a transfusion of colored blood, would there be a possibility of their having a colored baby later on? Think of the many homes that would be broken.

All I will discuss are the medical and physiological questions.

Give any pathologist two samples of blood, one from a healthy white person, one from a healthy person of any other color, and there is no way he can tell which is which.

Of course, there are differences between races. There are differences between blond Scandinavians and brunets from Sicily, too; between natives of Hawaii and Eskimos and Arabs and you name it.

But all need food and water and air to breathe. All have the same organs, and with only the rarest of exceptions have the same diseases — except that some have greater resistance to some ailments than others do. They have identical blood types.

You are building totally imaginary and baseless nightmares for yourself over the idea of blood transfusions having any effect whatsoever on the heredity of a baby. Blood does not control it. It is controlled entirely by the chromosome patterns of the parents — transmitted by the sperm and ova.

You speak of the "right" of white people to stay white — and by inference the right of a person of any race to remain the same. That isn't a "right." It is a fact, a necessity. You cannot change your heredity. That is determined at the moment one single cell from the father combines with one single cell from the mother. The combination establishes the heredity — and hence the characteristics — of the child.

It is up to you to decide what arguments you want to have on other pages of this newspaper. But in this column I must insist that you stick to the facts, which are that blood has nothing to do with skin color or heredity, and there is no known medical reason for distinguishing the skin color of a blood donor. The important questions are whether it came from a healthy individual and whether it matches the blood type of the person receiving the blood.

Who Supports Czechoslovakia?

WASHINGTON — A puzzling indifference prevails in the United States today among so-called "intellectual" groups toward the plight of peoples who are either under the despotic control of other governments or threatened with invasion unless they do the bidding of a foreign regime.

LOUD CRIES have been heard in America for free speech and freedom of dissent and against any interference with "demonstrations" in behalf of such principles. But the tragedy of the invasion of Czechoslovakia — perhaps the most flagrant defiance of international morality in many years — has awakened no massive manifestations of disapproval.

The Soviet government, meanwhile, has arrogantly broadened its political doctrine and has indicated that Communism must be accepted by the countries in Eastern Europe along the lines dictated by Moscow, or the Soviet army will enforce obedience.

THE OFFICIAL newspaper organs in Moscow have blatantly declared, moreover, that the "doctrine" of Communism supersedes all else and gives the Soviet government the right to intervene in any communist country which is threatened by external or internal forces deemed to be "reactionary."

In the face of such ominous circumstances, what is the United States doing? There are no expressions of disapproval by most of the so-called "liberal" organizations which are waging a campaign against America's role in the Vietnam war. They are insisting — almost in the language of the Communists — that it is "imperialism."

THE UNITED STATES on the other hand, by its military operations in aid of the South Vietnamese government, is defending the right of self-determination by the peoples of Southeast Asia Treaty.

IT IS SURPRISING, therefore, to find the administration here making only perfunctory statements against the Russian invasion in Eastern Europe. A few members of Congress have spoken out. Among these is Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, Republican, who warned against making any "detente" with the Soviet government. He said the present U.S. policy of "bridge building" with the communist world by removing trade restrictions and by establishing "cultural exchanges" is unwarranted.

SOME OF THE activists inside our own country who defend the Soviet attitude claim there is an inconsistency in the American position because the United States has intervened in Latin-American countries — for instance, in the Dominican Republic. But ever since the Monroe Doctrine was proclaimed in 1823, the warning has been given that this country would resist attempts by any European government to establish thereafter a military base in this hemisphere. Unfortunately, the world has in recent years witnessed the failure of the Washington government to protect the Cuban people against a take-over by the Soviets. There is uncertainty even today as to what weapons are concealed on the island which could be used against cities in the United States.

Cosden Gives To United Fund

Cosden Chemical Company and its employes this morning contributed $13,142.64 to the 1968 United Fund Drive in Big Spring. At the presentation were, left to right, Don Womack, United Fund employe division chairman; Ken W. Perry, vice president and company drive chairman; Paul D. Meek, company president; Clyde McMahon Jr., United Fund Drive chairman; and Joe A. Moss, company drive committee member.

Cosden Family Gives Big Boost To United Fund Drive

Cosden Oil and Chemical Company and its employes gave the United Fund Drive a much needed boost today with a combined contribution of $13,142.64.

Ken W. Perry, chairman of the employe committee of the firms United Fund Drive, said the effort came from Cosden, members of Local 826 IUOE, American Petrofina Company of Texas, and Cosden Country Club.

The total employe contribution was $8,666.64, or $9.75 per capita. Cosden's and American Petrofina's company donation was $4,476. This year's employe gift was more than $1,500 over the 1967 donation.

There are still a few cards which have not been returned due to illness, absences from the city, and other reasons. These remaining cards will be turned in as they are received, Perry said.

"Employes who are members of Local 826 IUOE played an important factor in the United Fund Drive," Perry said. "Some 503 cards have been received from these members, which greatly added to the contribution for the total company."

Groups participating 100 per cent in the company drive were the downtown office, American Petrofina Company of Texas and Cosden Country Club, and in the refinery units 100 per cent participation came from the salvage department, machinists, tank car loading, warehouse, chemical specialties and rexformer. Other operating units are close to 100 per cent and may reach their goals before Nov. 8, closing date for the 1968 drive.

Perry said that he and other members of the committee, Joe A. Moss and Jack Y. Smith, are "pleased with the participation which the employes have shown.

"Certainly, this is an indication of the interest shown in being a part of this community," he said.

Heart, Two Kidneys, Eye Transplants Told

TORONTO (AP) — The heart, two kidneys and one eye of a 20-year-old construction worker were transplated Tuesday in operations at two Toronto hospitals.

The other eye of George Lawrence Slinn of Severn Bridge, Ont., who died Tuesday of injuries recived in a car accident, will be transplanted Wednesday.

Dr. Donald Wilson of Toconto Western Hospital said Henry Taylor, a 45-year-old Toronto mechanic, was in good condition after the transplant.

One of Slinn's kidneys was transplanted to Mrs. Ronald Peters, 30, of Holland Landing, Ont. Donald Ransberry, 21, of Orono, Ont., received the other kidney.

Tuesday afternoon, doctors transplanted one of Slinn's corneas to a male patient. A female patient was to receive Slinn's other cornea. Neither recipient was identified.

The heart transplant was the world's 71st and Canada's 9th. Seven of the Canadian patients and 32 others are still living.

Candidate Drops Name Contest

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A state legislative candidate Tuesday said he is dropping his fight to have his opponent's name removed from the general election ballot.

Republican Rex J. Foster, a candidate in District 88, had claimed that his opponent, incumbent Democrat Ernest (Red) Andrews, lived outside the Oklahoma City district.

After a district court judge said last week that the decision was up to the state Election Board, Foster announced that he would appeal the district court's decision to the state Supreme Court.

Slovaks Shouting 'Russians Go Home'

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Slovaks in Bratislava emulated Prague's Czechs Tuesday night and roamed their city's streets shouting "Russians go home" and "Brezhnev boo boo boo."

The anti-Soviet demonstrations erupted after 10,000 cheering, chanting Slovaks broke through police lines in a wild greeting for the nation's liberal Communist leaders, visiting the capital of Slovakia for the local celebration of Czechoslovakia's 50th anniversary.

A similar demonstration in Prague Monday night against the Soviet occupation brought a warning from Deputy Inferior Minister Jan Mayer that the police were determined to "maintain public order."

SLOGANS WAVE

But police and militiamen failed to stop the marching Slovaks shouting anti-Soviet slogans.

Led by a man carrying a sign with the French word "Liberte," the column moved through Bratislava, singing the national anthem and lighting candles as memorials at half a dozen places where Slovaks were killed during the Soviet invasion last August.

Earlier, tens of thousands of Slovaks wildly applauded the arrival of President Ludvik Svoboda and Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek, the latter a Slovak. The crowd mobbed the railroad station as their eight-car train pulled in, forcing an honor guard and a band to retreat without playing a note.

Lined 40 or 50 deep on each side of the street, Slovaks chanted "Long live Dubcek" and "Long live Svoboda" as a motorcade took the leaders to the Slovak National Council building. Dubcek and Svoboda waved briefly from a balcony when youths climbed trees around the building and yelled for them to appear.

FEAR

Today Svoboda signs new charters that create autonomous Czech and Slovak states, joined in a federation.

Up to now, Russian troops camped in the countryside have not attempted to quell the anti-Soviet demonstrations accompanying the anniversary celebration.

But Czechoslovak leaders were plainly apprehensive.

The disturbances could give the Kremlin an excuse to say Dubcek and Svoboda were not in control of their people and were violating their agreement to "normalize" the situation in Czechoslovakia.

Today Svoboda, Premier Oldrich Cernik and National Assembly President Josef Smrkovsky signed new charters creating autonomous Czech and Slovak states joined in a federation. The law goes into effect Jan. 1.

Svoboda said it will insure "the full rights of both Czech and Slovak nations and the fulfillment of national needs."

"We are crowning the efforts of many generations of the Slovak people and, in unity with the Czechs, bringing to a conclusion the long quest for equality," he said.

Agnew Cites Surest Way To Elect Hubert

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, campaigning through the South, reiterated his argument that a vote for third-party candidate George C. Wallace was a vote for Hubert H. Humphrey.

The Republican candidate told rallies in Charleston, S.C., and Staunton, Va., Tuesday that "the surest way to elect Hubert Humphrey president of these United States is to vote for George Wallace."

OVATION

Agnew spoke to an overflow crowd of some 3,000 persons at the Robert E. Lee High School gymnasium in Staunton Tuesday night before flying here for an afternoon rally today.

He is slated to attend another rally in New York City tonight. Agnew's major thesis is that if Wallace gets enough electoral votes, it will throw the election into the House of Representatives, which has a majority of Democrats who would give Humphrey the presidency, even if he came in third in the popular vote.

The rally in Staunton was one of the most boisterous of Agnew's campaign. The Maryland governor received nearly a five-minute ovation before he could begin his speech.

Shortly after the rally a network correspondent who has been traveling with Agnew was arrested during a shoving match with a local police officer dressed in civilian clothes.

The correspondent, Donald North, 30, of the American Broadcasting Co., was charged with assault on a police officer and disorderly conduct and held in the Staunton jail.

LOYALTY

The incident delayed Agnew's scheduled takeoff for more than an hour, as some newsmen traveling with the governor refused to board the aircraft until the disposition of North's case had been clarified and stories filed.

Witnesses said North was grabbed by a man in civilian clothes when he and his camera crew took a wrong turn coming out of the Lee school gymnasium where Agnew spoke.

Police said they arrested North after he kicked the official who tried to block his way.

Another television crew said they were shoved and threatened with Mace after they started to film the incident.

North was taken before a justice of the peace and then jailed for several hours before being released on bond. A preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 13.

Many Alamo City Citizens 'Hungry'

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — As many as 114,000 of San Antonio's 869,000 citizens are faced daily with inadequate diets, a survey by graduate students of Our Lady of the Lake College indicated Tuesday.

The estimate was based on personal interviews that showed 67 per cent of 967 adults and 66 per cent of 567 children who live in low income areas here are not receiving adequate nourishment.

This means only about one third of some 93,000 persons in the city's low income areas have adequate diets, reported the director of the survey, Dr. F. J. Peirce.

Projecting his group's findings further, Peirce said an "educated estimate" is that 103,550 to 114,450 persons throughout San Antonio are on inadequate diets.

Peirce placed the blame on sub-employment in San Antonio, a high rate of unemployment in the low income areas, and a "less than adequate income security program" in San Antonio.

Peirce said the answer to the problem of diet here basically is creation of more jobs for the poverty stricken. Job training programs are not enough, he said, adding that he felt such programs are adding a "slightly more skilled group of unemployed persons" to an area in which not enough jobs are available.

The survey was the largest sampling to date on the subject of diet among the city's poor, college officials said.

Peirce is an associate professor at the college. He initiated the study as a master's research project for 18 second-year students who were assisted in their interviews by interpreters from among undergraduate students and by several San Antonio neighborhood youth organization volunteers.

The survey, taken in late May and early June, revealed that, "based on the very minimum nutritional standards," only four per cent of the adults and two per cent of the children were found to be receiving an adequate diet.

Peirce said his group specifically avoided the term "hunger" in their interviews. But on the basis of his study, Peirce told a news conference, "There are a large number of people in San Antonio who do not get enough to eat."

On children's diets, Peirce said his group discovered that only 10 per cent of the children in the survey received an adequate diet of milk, and two per cent received adequate servings of fruits and vegetables.

Of the 567 children on whom information was obtained, 410 were under age 10.

Merger Creates Two Divisions

TULSA (AP) — Two major divisions have been created as a result of last Friday's merger of the Sun Oil Co. and the Sunray DX Oil Co.

'69 Camaro SS Sport Coupe, plus RS equipment

GM

Ask the kid who owns one.

Some people have a hard time communicating with youth.

Not us.

We just bring on the 1969 Camaro, then tell it like it is.

It is: Restyled inside and out with a new grille, new bumpers, new parking lights, new instrument panel, new steering wheel, new striping, and new colors including Hugger Orange, which is wild.

It is: Full of new features including bigger outlets for the Astro Ventilation, a 210-hp standard V8, and a lock for the steering column, ignition and transmission lever.

It is: Available with a little device that automatically washes your headlights when you hold the windshield washer button in.

It is: Still wider and weightier than the rival sportster we're too polite to name.

You should drive a 1969 Camaro at your Chevrolet dealer's the first chance you get.

Even if you're 42.

AMERICAN OFFICIALS IN VIETNAM INSIST:

No U.S. President Can Win War Quickly Or Neatly

SAIGON (AP) — If there is one agreement among American officials in Vietnam, it is that no U.S. president can quickly or neatly win the war or gain a palatable peace.

The hawks, made cautious by almost four years of war, make no predictions of victory dates. The doves, mindful of Korea's two-year armistice talks, foresee long and arduous negotiations at best.

NEW HOPE

Some see the possibility of a token American troop reduction —perhaps an initial 5,000 men— early next year. But no one will name a date when the army of South Vietnam might be able to stand alone.

Few officials give the impression that they hope for much from Paris in the immediate future. A bombing halt, in the opinion of many, might actually stiffen Hanoi's attitudes.

The U.S. commander in Vietnam, gruff-spoken Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, works on the assumption that the Communist command is now planning one more big offensive—in a few weeks or a few months.

"I just hope that Washington doesn't lose its nerve," said one civilian official who has worked in Vietnam for three years.

'WE MUST'

A ranking general added: "We came over here to do a job and we're spending a tremendous amount of our country's wealth. My biggest concern is whether we have the patience and the perseverance to get the job done. I believe we must."

A civilian official who has never reflected Washington's frequently rosy optimism points out that all the old problems—nepotism, corruption, inefficiency, bribery, desertions—are still here. At the same time, he feels that enemy strength is at low ebb and fewer than 15 per cent of the South Vietnamese now actively support the Viet Cong.

Adding up these pluses and minuses is the name of the game in Vietnam. Nowhere do they give a clear picture. But the most favorable balance sheet appears, right now, to be on the battlefield.

POWER PUNCH

From the jungled hills of the 17th parallel to the swamps of the Ca Mau Peninsula, allied armies are sweeping and patrolling as never before—and the enemy refuses battle. High-altitude B52 bombers rain more than three million pounds of bombs daily on enemy sanctuaries and staging routes. Jets, helicopters and artillery give allied forces a battlefield punch unmatched in history.

Since the first of this year U.S. figures claim that 166,200 enemy have died on the battlefield—against losses of 13,000 American dead and 13,600 South Vietnamese killed.

Most of the enemy losses came in three successively weaker offensives of February, May and August.

These losses account for the lull in the fighting, U.S. intelligence officers say. The enemy had to pull back and replenish and re-equip his forces. U.S. military say that the fact that this paralleled the Paris peace talks was coincidental.

REMAIN RED

"We haven't gotten one scrap of evidence that this was any de-escalation," an American spokesman said. "We do have plenty of intelligence that he wants to try again, but for the moment his intentions have outrun his capabilities."

The U.S. command is little swayed by reports that the enemy has pulled five divisions—and some say seven—out of Vietnam and into sanctuaries in Cambodia and Laos. These troops are within half a night's march of allied outposts and on the order-of-battle maps they remain red and ominous.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese believe that infiltration —running at 30,000 monthly in August and 20,000 since then— has largely made up the enemy's manpower losses earlier in the year.

Counting the local force guerrillas, it is believed the enemy can field perhaps 220,000 men. In the main force combat battalions, 75 per cent of these are North Vietnamese regulars.

'PAPER TIGER'

In addition the losses in enemy leadership have damaged him seriously. One defecting soldier recently reported his battalion had lost three commanders in 10 days.

All this leads the U.S. command to believe that enemy losses will be still more staggering if another offensive comes —even though it would doubtless achieve some successes.

The Americans also profess confidence that the South Vietnamese army will stand up well to any new offensive.

In the long run, everyone seems to agree, the strengthening of the army of the Republic of Vietnam—abbreviated to ARVN and pronounced Arven by the GI—is the most hopeful way to "de-Americanize" the war.

On paper, the buildup begun by President Nguyen Van Thieu's mobilization order is doing well. All the maneuver battalions of the regular army have new U.S. M16 rifles and these are now being given the militia forces.

The military, militia and police forces now number about 825,000 men and the goal is one million by the end of the year.

The desertion rate, however, remains a serious problem and the actual number of men under arms is questionable. Many a militia outpost is normally manned by men who show up only on payday. Some militia commanders flagrantly sell enrollments—the recipient pays for his military status, kicks back his pay and dodges the draft.

POLITICS

But ARVN ills go deeper than that and are rooted in politics. The military machine is still controlled by officers who fought for the French and 'outsiders' have a rough time.

Although the situation is improving, top appointments remain political.

Even though the ARVN has been taking more casualties than the U.S. forces for almost three months, the defense of Saigon, Da Nang and Hue—the nation's three biggest cities—remains largely in American hands.

"The day is not in sight when the ARVN could hold the 1st Corps Area—certainly not with the enemy in strength like he is now," reported a senior Marine staff officer. That area is along the demilitarized zone.

The remark is applicable also at other sore spots. ARVN needs more training, artillery and almost everything before it could stand alone against North Vietnamese regulars in their present strength.

However, ARVN, and particularly the militia forces, have shown increasing effectiveness in "the other war," the pacification of the countryside.

This is the war that has been largely directed by Robert Komer, the ex-CIA officer just appointed ambassador to Turkey.

There are 48,000 revolutionary development men in the villages in some 700 teams.

Last month enemy guerrillas killed 104 RD team members—double last year's rate—and the statistics indicate the guerrillas will continue to focus on them.

Komer's office claims 66.8 per cent of South Vietnam's population live in relatively secure areas—as opposed to 16.8 per cent in Viet Cong areas and 16.4 per cent in 'contested' areas.

Critics say these figures show only part of the picture.

DOWN DRAIN

"This isn't pacification, it's occupation," says one. "While the troops are there everything is fine. Pull the troops out and everything goes down the drain."

Since he shucked off his uniform and became an elected president more than a year ago, Nguyen Van Thieu has done little to inspire the war-weary populace. Months were taken up chopping down his former boss and rival, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

Last May, however, Thieu acquired more political stature when he named 65-year-old Tran Van Huong premier. Huong, a gray-haired curmudgeon with a peasant's rugged face, has an unusual reputation for honesty. He also is a Southerner and this is important in a nation unwillingly dominated by North-born military officers.

U. S. Planes Keep Up Their Bombing Raids

SAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers kept up their heavy raids across North Vietnam's southern panhandle today amid growing speculation that President Johnson's peace offensive is approaching some sort of climax.

Unconfirmed reports circulated that U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and President Nguyen Van Thieu were preparing a joint statement in which the South Vietnamese government would at least accept a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

SEE NO HALT

Despite the reports and speculation, senior U.S. officers said they had no indication that an immediate bombing halt might be in the works. One knowledgeable military source said:

"As far as we're concerned, we're planning air strikes way up ahead, but that doesn't say we can't cut out the bombing tomorrow. They were sure charging out today. It's business as usual."

While U.S. jets were striking North Vietnamese supply routes, Thieu told newsmen in Saigon that Hanoi so far has proved unbending in its response to President Johnson's new peace offensive. He said North Vietnam continues to demand an unconditional cessation of the bombing and at the same time fails to show good will or signs of any de-escalation of the war.

"No good will, no bombing halt," said Thieu.

North Vietnam's Communist party newspaper, Nhan Dan, implied the Johnson administration is encouraging reports of a breakthrough toward peace to help Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey win the presidency. Nhan Dan said the "U.S. propaganda campaign about a so-called 'breakthrough' in Paris will end in a flop."

U.S. pilots flew 134 missions against North Vietnam Tuesday, making their way through "steadily worsening weather" over the panhandle. But the number of missions was only five less than the total of 139 Monday, and that was the most in nearly a month.

OIL FLAMES

The pilots reported damaging or destroying 16 trucks and three bridges, but "much of the bomb damage assessment was hampered by morning ground fog and later cloud cover," the U.S. Command said. It added that 35 fires and 23 'secondary explosions were also reported indicating hits on fuel and ammunition stores.

Pilots from the carriers Intrepid and America reported leaving three oil storage areas in flames south of Vinh.

Nixon Says He Would Seek Negotiated Viet Settlement

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon faced a group of student protesters, praised them for their orderliness and said he would seek a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam war —with the Soviet Union sitting at the conference table.

Nixon altered his campaign style Tuesday night, prompted by nearly 1,000 Syracuse University students in the audience of the packed, 8,000-seat Onondaga County War Memorial Auditorium.

NEW STYLES

Nixon said the students "have properly presented their case as they should."

It was a new style protest in which the students got a permit to parade to the hall, announced in advance they would serenade the Republican presidential candidate, then sat in silence and listened to his speech.

Nixon, forewarned by a news release the students distributed at his hotel, faced the demonstrators after being introduced and announced, "The floor is yours."

Then the students sang, "The Sounds of Silence" by the singing-composing duo of Simon and Garfunkel. Nixon partisans booed.

The nominee, who had retired to his seat for the serenade by the self-styled Nixon Reception Committee, returned to the rostrum and said, "Let 'em go." They went on without interruption.

ISSUES

When Nixon reclaimed the floor, he applauded the singers as "a very unusual group" because of their announced willingness to let him have his say without the disruptive chants associated with youthful protesters. He termed it "the very proper role of dissent."

Nixon said he wanted to respond directly to questions posed by the students in the news release.

One of those questions dealt with Vietnam and Nixon, went beyond previous pronouncements to assert:

"The Soviet Union must be brought to that conference table. Other interested nations in Asia have to be brought here, because by broadening the number of nations and the issues, we will be able to have a negotiated settlement."

Plans Grand Jury Visit

Paul Alexander, city detective, said Tuesday afternoon he would ask to be taken before the Howard County Grand Jury to tell his version of the fatal shooting Oct. 18 of Robert Turner.

Alexander has been released from the hospital and will return to regular duties Thursday. He was slashed from back of the left ear for 10 inches across his throat. He also suffered a deep knife wound in the left arm.

He shot Turner to death after the man had allegedly slashed him with a butcher knife. The affray occurred in a residence to which Alexander had been called, as a policeman, to settle a domestic altercation.

No charges were filed in the shooting, and Alexander's appearance before the grand jury, if he is admitted to the grand jury room, is on his own volition.

He was at the courthouse Tuesday as a witness for the state in other complaints on which the grand jury is working.

The Grand jury is expected to wind up its work today.

The screwworm problem is still plaguing ranchers in West Texas and more cases are being found north of Howard County.

School Report Problems Cited

RANKIN — The report of the governor's committee on public school education was praised by George Baker, Fort Stockton, as a sincere study of Texas problems and a far-reaching program of improvement in many areas, but it could present serious problems for the sparsely settled counties and school districts of the vast 66th district, he pointed out. Baker is the Democratic nominee for the legislative post.

Before it is enacted into law there need to be safeguards for the isolated small communities of West Texas included in the program, and the best way that can be accomplished, Baker believes, is for concerned citizens to make known the full extent of their problems, he told the Rankin Lions Club.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

She Has Eyes For Him

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old male and unattached, also a steady worker and mind my own business. My best friend is married, has a wife and baby and they live with HER people.

They have no transportation, so I visit them quite often. While I am there, I am in the company of her parents. Now for my problem: My friend's mother-in-law wrote to me declaring her "love" for me. Abby I have never even looked sideways at this old lady and I don't know what gave her the idea that I could care for her. I hate to go to their house again, knowing how she feels about me. But if I stay away, my buddy will wonder why.

Should I tell him about this? Or is there a better way to handle it? INNOCENT VICTIM

DEAR VICTIM: Don't mention this to your buddy or his wife, and don't go to his house any more than is necessary. But when you do, be sure you continue to mind your own business and make sure you don't look at the old lady sideways or any other way. If she pitches you again, tell her (quietly) to confine her "love" to her own husband.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem you wouldn't believe. I am 16 years old, and for as long as I can remember I haven't done anything without cheating. I have also stolen all my life. I started when I was little, taking small things from my friends. I have even shoplifted and stolen money just to get away with something.

I've never been caught. I guess I'm just lucky, or maybe I'm good at it from so much experience. I am also a terrible liar. I lie just to get people to listen to me. I don't have any friends, but I'd like at least one good friend. I'm always trying to impress people, but I just end up making a fool of myself.

I'd like to be a good person but I don't have the willpower. I need some help before it's too late, if it's not too late already. So Dear Abby, what can you do for a 16-year-old failure? A FAILURE

DEAR FAILURE: No one who knows his faults as well as you know yours can be considered a "failure." Furthermore, you are realistic enough to blame nobody but yourself for your weaknesses, smart enough to know that you lie because you want to attract attention, and sufficiently honest to admit that you want friends. If there is a school counselor or psychologist, make tracks for that office. If not, tell your parents you'd like to see a professional about some "personal emotional" problems. If you get the help you need, I'll put my chips on you!

City Computer System Faster Despite Wrinkles

The city's general ledger is being converted from the old system to the new computer system that was installed in city hall in September, according to Charles Smith, finance director.

The city payroll has already been converted to the computer system, but troubles developed during the two times checks have been written, Smith said.

"We think that all of the problems have been worked out in the payroll accounts," Smith said. "Friday's checks should give us no trouble and we can continue with the switch over."

When the first checks were written for the last city pay period in September, trouble developed in giving the city employes overtime they had earned. During the second check run on the computer which covered the first pay period in October, the machine deducted too much withholding tax and again there was some trouble with the overtime, according to Smith.

"Even with our problems, we have cut the time we spend on making out payroll checks from 12 hours under the old system to about five under the new," he said.

Smith said he feels that at least an hour will be shaved off the payroll time when the bugs are worked out.

The general ledger, which is being converted now, includes the records for the city's income, expenditures, assets and liabilities, he said.

The system will help keep track of all the city's bank accounts, which include the working capital fund payroll, interest and sinking fund, social security account, cemetery permanent care fund, and bond funds, according to Smith.

During the last year Smith has been consolidating many of the accounts and now the working capital account includes the old general fund, water and sewer account, garbage fund, cemetery fund, refunded insurance fund, subdivision escrow, plus the water and sewer construction fund.

Smith said he hopes to have the entire general ledger on the new system soon and have all of November to work out the bugs in the computer program, before starting with the water and sewer department billing.

Last payday, the city issued 435 checks to its employes. Each check required at least 21 entries to be made in updating the person's pay record and typing out the check. With the new system, all but a few of the entries are computed and made by the machine.

The general ledger has 2,000 pages that are being converted page for page for use in the computer system. While the billing for the water department will require the conversion of 9,000 accounts before that department will be able to use the computer.

Water and sewer billing will account for most of the machines in-service time, when the system is put to full use.

At present, 400 bills for water, sewer, and garbage services are being prepared daily by the water department, Smith said. He speculates that the same number of bills will be sent out in a shorter time and that other departments will have access to the computer in the afternoons.

The computer center is being housed in a room in the northeast corner of the ground floor of the city hall. After all of the systems are converted to the new system, the computer equipment will be moved from its present location to the water department in city hall.

Musicians Go On Walkout Against Major Networks

NEW YORK (AP) — Musicians struck the three major television networks today in a dispute over wages and job security but the walkout was not expected to have any immediate effect on most musical and variety shows.

The American Federation of Musicians, AFL-CIO, said pickets were set today for 13 television studios in New York and Los Angeles, where most of the shows are prepared, and in Miami Beach where the Jackie Gleason show originates.

Involved in the strike are 800 musicians who work for the National Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Co. The walkout began officially at 12:01 a.m.

NBC said the Johnny Carson Tonight show would go on as planned today as would all other scheduled programming. John Gilroy, acting producer for the Tonight show, said, "We'll do a show. We won't have any live music obviously."

A CBS spokesman said the only contemplated change in scheduling is the substitution of a rebroadcast of a previous Ed Sullivan show Sunday in place of a live program.

And ABC said it expected no interruptions in its programming including the Dick Cavett, Joey Bishop and pre-taped Lawrence Welk shows.

The musicians union, whose contract with the networks expired July 31, is seeking an immediate raise of $64 a week, plus a 10 per cent raise the second year of the contract and a 5 per cent raise the third year.

The union rejected a network offer of a $40 raise over a three-year contract. The musicians now earn a top minimum of $257.50 a week.

Herman Kenin, international president of the union, said pickets would be removed during the broadcast or taping of programs by political candidates.

Carthage Fire Damage Estimated At $100,000

CARTHAGE, Tex. (AP) — Fire that broke out when a butane truck blew a valve did an estimated $100,000 damage Tuesday, burning four buildings to the ground and damaging two others.

There were no reports of injury.

City Manager James Marshall made the damage estimate. He said the fire apparently started in a bakery when butane fumes reached the fires in the baking room.

Other witnesses said the fire began with an explosion that wounded like a sonic boom.

The truck driver, John Brooks of Shreveport, La., said he was en route to Texas City and had stopped at a traffic signal when he heard the valve blow off his truck.

Brooks attempted to replace the valve, saw his efforts were useless and then raced through the business district to warn people of the impending danger.

Marshall said the Carthage Volunteer Fire Department and firemen from Marshall and Teneha fought the ensuing blazes for more than 1½ hours before bringing it under control.

Wiped out were an auto supply store, a bakery, a small hotel and a service station.

Carthage is about 10 miles west of the Louisiana-Texas line and has a population of about 6,000.

GHASTLY, GORY CELEBRATION CHANGES

Ghosts, Goblins, Gallup Poll

DEAR BOSS:

You're probably right — Nixon, Humphrey and Wallace, along with their running mates, would do well to contact any journeymen witches they may know for special conferences Thursday night.

It's Halloween, you know, and the books, going back as far as you may choose, all relate that the date has some definite connection with finding out what's in store in the future.

Chances are, all of the gents named above would like to have some capable goblin come up with the real dope before Nov. 5 rolls around.

Oct. 31 is one date on our calendar which is pretty well observed everywhere, but about which few acceptable facts are available.

They say that way back in the dimmest of times, when Druids were the big shots in what is now the British Isles, there was a ghastly and gory celebration on the night of each Oct. 31. The priests would gather around the altars, have the victims hauled in and sort of put an end to their activities.

This was neatly accomplished by jamming pointed sprigs of mistletoe through their hearts. The victims didn't enjoy the party, probably, but the spectators and the priests had a ball.

The early Fathers of the church designated Nov. 1, as All-Saints or All Hallows Day. This was a convenient way to lump honors for all of the innumerable saints, who had no individual day.

Therefore, the night before All Saints or All Hallows was Halloween, Oct. 31, that is.

Somehow, the nasty old Druidish and pagan practices held over and the eve of All Saints Day became a sort of gala night for the goblins, the ghouls, the devils and their imps, along with the witches, wizards and all restless ghosts.

They took the date as a time to play the very dickens with ordinary people. They pulled all sorts of evil things — like pushing over outhouses, causing good milk cows to suddenly go dry, haystacks to burn unexplainedly, weird noises to scare the daylights out of folk trying to get some sleep, and fiendish screams to chill the blood of all hearers.

Later on when the crop of legitimate wizards, hobgoblins, witches and ghosts was short, their chores were taken over by the larger boys of each village.

From what I read and can learn, they made the real spooks look like amateurs.

Modern youngsters appear to have outgrown the somewhat sophomoric approach to this great night. About all of the Halloween spooks we'll see on the streets this Halloween will be the smaller varieties ranging from toddlers to young teens.

There being few licensed seers and seeresses practicing hereabout, the night will probably not be of any great importance in the revelation of the future.

Meantime, stock up on apples, candy and the like.

One of the customs is to have young spooks ring your door bell and in high piping treble demand:

"Trick or treat?"

It's easier to "treat" and get ready for the next onslaught, than it is to demand a "trick" and see the bewildered expressions on the faces of your young extortionists.

They just haven't bothered you see, to think up any tricks.

Your bemused and bewitched reporter, SAM BLACKBURN

Smith's Experience Attacked By Eggers

By The Associated Press

Gubernatorial candidates Paul Eggers and Preston Smith argued from halfway across Texas Tuesday whether experience in government is an asset in the office each hopes to win Nov. 5.

Sharing attention with their campaign utterances were a new trek across the state by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, the Democratic nominee for vice president; a one-stop visit by Curtis E. LeMay, who seeks the vice presidency as running mate of third party candidate George C. Wallace, and impending speeches by Richard M. Nixon and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey in the few days before Texans go to the polls.

PROGRESS

Eggers, running for governor on the Republican ticket, deprecated the years spent by Smith, his Democratic opponent, in the Legislature and more recently as lieutenant governor.

"In my travels and discussions throughout the state," Eggers said at San Antonio, "I hear a clear call for change, that based in part on doubts that Preston Smith's experience could help our state keep moving ahead . . .

"Progress isn't inevitable. It is brought about by people who can provide new leadership. My opponent does not fit this description, and his standstill approach gives voters little hope to cure the problems or to guide progress."

Lt. Gov. Smith told supporters in El Paso, "We have achieved greatness in Texas through experienced leaders dedicated to serving our state . . ."

Pursuing a favorite theme, Smith went on to say, "In this most important and demanding area in which we now live, we must make certain that responsible, experienced and progressive government continues in modern day Texas."

UNITY

The lieutenant governor moved on to stump the Austin and Fort Worth areas today.

Fellow Democrats from Texas took occasion to affirm party unity as they accompanied Sen. Muskie on stops in Amarillo, Lubbock, Abilene, Wichita Falls and Tyler.

Among those traveling with the vice presidential candidate were Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and former state Democratic chairman Will Davis as personal representative of Gov. John Connally—who has joined Yarborough in supporting the national ticket despite their long-time political enmity.

Muskie told his audiences that the poor engage in protest out of "genuine and legitimate grievances" in a spirit like that of his own immigrant father.

LeMay, addressing Houston's Junior Bar Association, predicted that "Communist-led" demonstrators may try to shoulder into polling places and disrupt the voting Nov. 5.

HHH AGAIN

Keeping Texas attention focused on the national campaign, Republican presidential nominee Nixon was due back in the state Friday to start two days of stumping through Fort Worth, Lubbock, San Antonio, Austin and El Paso.

Humphrey, the Democratic candidate vying with Nixon, was scheduled to follow up on a final visit bringing the vice president to speak Sunday in the Astrodome at Houston.

As national committee chairman of Democrats for Nixon, former Texas Gov. Allan Shivers planned a 30-minute television program to be carried by a dozen stations tonight. He said he would reply to questions telephoned by viewers.

Sen. Yarborough arranged to speak Thursday night at Edinburg in a rally sponsored by Arriba, Humphrey and Hidalgo County Citizens for Humphrey-Muskie organizations.

Proposition Six Draws Fresh Fire

AUSTIN (AP) — Nineteen legislators who once favored tax breaks as incentives to corporations to install pollution control equipment say they now are sorry they voted for a constitutional amendment allowing such rewards.

Rep. Rex Braun, Houston, distributed the statement. He is leading a fight against proposition six on the list of constitutional amendments up for voter decisions at Tuesday's general election.

The amendment allows the legislature to exempt air and water pollution control equipment from property taxes if installed to meet state air and water quality standards.

When they voted for the amendment, the lawmakers said, they were unaware of evidence from several states that "this approach does not result in any reduction in either air or water pollution, but it can cause a financial drain on state and local governments and a shifting of the ad valorem tax burden."

Signing the statement were Reps. Joe Ratcliff, Dallas; Temple Dickson, Sweetwater; Bob Armstrong, Austin; James Clark, Dallas; Jake Johnson, Nowlin, San Antonio; Joe Allen, Baytown; Tom Moore, Waco; Chris Semos, Dallas; Curtis Graves, Houston; Vernon Beckham, Denison; Neil Caldwell, Angleton; J. E. Johnson, Houston; Honore Ligarde, Laredo; Bob Vale, San Antonio; Ronald Bridges, Corpus Christi; Bob Thomas, Waco; Frank Lombardino, San Antonio, and Paul C. Moreno, El Paso.

Webb Calls For Project Bids

The Base Procurement Office at Webb AFB has announced the availability of a remodeling job of Building No. 486 at the base. The job is open to all interested contractors.

The work consists of replacing water lines, repainting interior, removing fiberboard ceiling in 19 bedrooms and providing a ½ inch gypsum board in the building. The estimated cost is less than $25,000.

Bids will be received until 10:30 a.m., Nov. 27. Bid sets must be received by Nov. 20.

Says Thailand Not Being Informed By Uncle Sam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thailand, which provides key bases for U.S. air attacks on North Vietnam, says the United States has failed to consult Thai leaders on a possible halt to the bombing.

Ambassador Bunchana Atthakor said in an interview, "I am sure our government has not been consulted at any level."

State Department officials said privately it would be astonishing if as close a Vietnam war ally as Thailand were not being kept fully informed by U.S. spokesmen in Bangkok and Washington.

However, Bunchana's comments here came after Thai Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn twice declared publicly that if the United States wanted a bombing halt it should first consult its allies. Kittikachorn said he had not been consulted.

The ambassador appeared deeply irked that Prime Minister John Gorton of Australia had declared his country was being closely consulted and that Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma of neutral Laos was quoted as saying that he had been informed by Ambassador William Sullivan that the United States was planning a bombing halt.

Thai Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman also was not being kept informed, the ambassador said.

Thailand is not opposed to peace negotiations in Paris Bunchana said, but it is opposed to any separate representation for the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong.

Muskie Draws Texas Crowds

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says the poor take to protest out of "genuine and legitimate grievances" in he same spirit as his own immigrant father, or the settlers who built America's West.

Sweeping through West Texas Tuesday with far larger crowds than greeted his campaign opening in San Antonio two months ago, the Democratic vice presidential nominee found himself accompanied by state Democratic leaders who proclaimed their unity at every stop.

NOT FREE

"The lions and the lambs are lying down together," said Rep. Jim Wright, D-Ttex.

Wright and Will Davis, personal emissary of Gov. John Connally, joined Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., for jet hops with Muskie that hit Amarillo, Lubbock, Abilene, Wichita Falls and Tyler. President Johnson sent a welcoming telegram.

"A man who's poor isn't free. A man who's ignorant isn't free. A man who can't send his children to a good school isn't free," Muskie told an estimated 2,000 persons at Abilene.

About 4,000 filed into the Lubbock municipal auditorium to hear the Maine senator, an "honorary Texan" by proclamation of Connally, who sent regrets that he could not attend.

Yarborough, longtime political foe of the governor, termed the crowd "out of this world for a vice presidential candidate."

"We are definitely ahead in Texas now," Yarborough said of his party's bid for the 25 Texas electoral votes, which went to the Democrats by a narrow margin in 1960.

TALKS GOOD GAME

Before 2,000 persons at Wichita Falls, Muskie said Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate, kept his promises "only when he wanted to win an election campaign."

"Here's a man who always has the knack of talking a good game," Muskie said of Nixon.

"Why now? He wasn't good enough in 1960 for the country. He wasn't good enough for the people in California in 1962. Well, why in 1968 should we regard him as good enough for the tough problems which face the country?" Muskie asked at Amarillo.

Today Muskie addresses a morning rally and then flies to Memphis, Tenn. He also will appear at Lexington, Ky., before flying to Cincinnati for an overnight stay.

New Bilingual Education Plan

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' first statewide plan for bilingual education was announced Tuesday by a special advisory committee, which also urged better school testing of Spanish-speaking children.

The 15-member committee endorsed a 26-page plan written by a Texas Education Agency task force.

Present methods for testing school children do not gauge the real ability and intelligence of Mexican - Americans because they are attuned to the abilities of children who speak English at home, the committee said.

"Because of these tests, Mexican-American children have been grouped with retarded children when they really didn't belong there," said Dr. Severo Gomez, head of the TEA's international and bilingual programs.

"Because these children have a deficiency in the English language, the tests are not truly indicative of their real ability."

The state Board of Education will receive the committee's recommendation on testing which was made as an addition to the bilingual plan.

The plan was written to deal with the high rate at which Spanish-speaking pupils drop out of school—about 80 per cent of them leaving school before completing the 12th grade, according to the 1960 census.

With help from federal funds, the plan would enable pupils to learn their school subjects in Spanish while developing fluency in English. English-speaking pupils also would receive instruction in Spanish and both groups would learn about Hispanic culture in an effort to make Texas a bilingual state.

Gomez said the federal government has allocated about $7.5 million for bilingual programs, and "because Texas is a leader in such programs, we could get a substantial share of the funds when they are released—probably in January.

They Have Bulldogs Atop Heap

Houston, Texas Are Favored This Week

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It seems this fumbling pigskin prophet is the only guy on the offensive platoon who hasn't run to daylight yet. After last week's 40-18-1 mark the season record stands at 253-90-12—a backsliding .713 pace.

We're shaking up our game plan this time around and here are the picks:

Kansas over Colorado: The Jayhawks keep coming back with the same game plan every week . . . six or seven touchdowns and a cloud of prairie dust.

Houston over Georgia: The Bulldogs should take a big bite out of Houston's 38 points per-game average . . . but not enough to cage the Cougars.

Ohio State over Michigan State: The Spartans used up a season's quota of goal line stands upseting Notre Dame last week.

Penn State over Army: What's in a name? Ask the Cadets after they've tangled with State's Steve Smear for 60 minutes.

Tennessee over UCLA: Tennessee's magic carpet . . . the new synthetic turf at Neyland Stadium . . . has tripped up better teams than the Gary Beban-less Bruins.

Texas over Southern Methodist: Chuck Hixson, SMU's slinging sophomore, won't have enough rope to lasso the leggy Longhorns.

California over Washington: California's dreaming about Roses but its defense is wide awake. The Bears have given up just four TDs in six games.

Elsewhere:
East—Notre Dame over Navy at Philadelphia; Syracuse over Holy Cross; Harvard over Pennsylvania; Yale over Dartmouth; Princeton over Brown; Cornell over Columbia.
South—Alabama over Mississippi State; Auburn over Florida; Georgia Tech over Duke; West Virginia over Kentucky; Louisiana State over Mississippi; Vanderbilt over Tulane; North Carolina State over Clemson; Wake Forest over Maryland; Miami, Fla. over Pittsburgh; Florida State over Virginia Tech; Virginia over South Carolina.
Midwest—Purdue over Illinois; Michigan over Northwestern; Minnesota over Iowa; Indiana over Wisconsin; Oklahoma over Kansas State; Missouri over Oklahoma State; Nebraska over Iowa State; Bowling Green over Marshall; Dayton over Xavier; Ohio University over Western Michigan; Miami, Ohio over Toledo.
Southwest—Arkansas over Texas A&M; Texas Christian over Baylor; Texas Tech over Rice; North Texas State over Cincinnati; Memphis State over Tulsa.
Far West—Southern California over Oregon; Stanford over Oregon State; Arizona over Washington State; Air Force over North Carolina; Arizona State over New Mexico; Utah over Brigham Young; Wyoming over Colorado State; West Texas State over New Mexico State; Pacific over San Jose State.

Wainscott Is Again Named Top Lineman

By The Associated Press

Loyd Wainscott, Texas' 217-pound "big play" defensive tackle, was having his right ankle taped for a slight sprain when he got the word.

For the third time, he had been named The Associated Press Southwest Conference lineman-of-the-week.

"Somebody must have made a mistake," said the modest Wainscott as he draped his 6-foot-1-inch hulk on the training table.

Then the "needles" from the teammates began to come.

"What do you do, come up with the big play and that's it?" kidded one player.

BLOCKED PUNT

The play Wainscott made was a big one indeed. It helped turn Texas' game with Rice last Saturday into a 38-14 rout. Wainscott roared in to block a punt which Tom Campbell caught on the fly and ran for the tie-breaking touchdown.

This turned the floodgates loose as Longhorn back Chris Gilbert rolled for 213 yards to become the all-time leading ground-gainer in SWC history. The AP panel considered this certainly worthy of back-of-the-week honors.

Wainscott said he was also "pleased and happy" to learn that "Chris was the back of the week."

"I felt the defense did what we were supposed to do," said Wainscott. "We contained Robby Shelton and stopped the option and that's what we set out to do."

Wainscott, who also made 12 tackles, said Southern Methodist and national passing leader Chuck Hixson presented a severe test this Saturday.

"We have great respect for Hixson's passing and for the men he is throwing to," Wainscott said.

HE'S HAPPY

Gilbert said, "I'm real happy to be picked as the back of the week. It was a team effort and most of the credit goes to the line. I guess that's a cliche, but it's true. The line blocked better than at any other time I've been at Texas. They are improving week by week."

Asked what advice he would offer to potential star ball carriers, Gilbert said:

"Follow your blockers and never be afraid to cut up against the grain. As to developing quickness on when to cut, I don't know if that is something that can be taught."

Gilbert's mark of 2,729 yards beat the old record of 2,618 yards set by Jim Swink of Texas Christian.

He has improved quite a bit as a runner since the time he tried to swipe a pro football player's helmet as a kid.

"I took about five steps (with the helmet) and this big lineman was chasing me . . . I dropped the helmet and took off and never looked back."

Gilbert still runs the same way.

The only other back receiving mention in the poll was fullback Pinky Palmer of Baylor.

Don Meredith To Play Against New Orleans

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback Don Meredith of Dallas will be able to play for the Cowboys in a National Football League game against New Orleans Sunday even though he suffered a broken nose in Monday night's 28-17 loss to Green Bay.

Protective covering—either a mask or additional bars on the face mask—will be used to protect the tender beak. The experience isn't new for Meredith because he suffered a broken nose last season against Philadelphia.

Dallas also disclosed Tuesday that halfback Craig Baynham received a broken nose in the Packer fray. Some type of protective device will be built to allow Baynham to play against the Saints in New Orleans.

The list of broken bones from the Green Bay game doesn't stop there.

Backup linebacker Jackie Burkett suffered a broken left fibula above the left ankle. His leg will be in a cast four weeks.

Meredith was injured when Willie Davis grabbed the face mask in making a tackle. Meredith said the injury wasn't intentional.

FOR MIDLAND HIGH

Rankin, Zachary Running Threats

"Our boys never quit. If you take a few plays away, the game would have been a lot closer," coach Spike Dykes of the Big Spring Steers told members of the Quarterback Club Tuesday night, reflecting on last weekend's contest with San Angelo.

San Angelo won the game, 41-16.

"I don't want to take anything away from San Angelo. They hit hard and they have a fine ball club. We worked harder last week than we have all year trying to get ready for them.

"They threw the ball more than we thought they would. We had worked a long time to defend against their wide plays but we didn't expect them to throw as much as they did."

Dykes said that the Steers were more relaxed this week in practice, preparing for their Friday night contest with Midland High.

Midland, he said, will run much the same type offense as Abilene Cooper and boast two tremendous running backs in Clarence Rankin and Galberson Zachary.

Rankin plays the fullback position while Zachary was moved into the tailback spot against Ector last week and responded to the challenge by scoring five touchdowns.

Midland's record is deceptive, Dykes cautioned his listeners. The Bulldogs played Odessa Permian to a standstill for three periods before ultimately yielding.

The Bulldogs have experienced more success at running the ball than in passing, according to the Steer mentor, but can throw the football.

Polo Madrid and Marc Lyons alternate at the quarterback position and both are capable, according to the Big Spring coach.

"We're going to have to play at our very best to beat them," Dykes said, "but the boys have been giving us their very best all year. They're fine boys and you should be proud of them."

Dykes said that the Steers' injury problem hadn't improved very much. Kyle Rosene, Joe Chavez, Johnny Patton and Roy Lee Warren all have miseries of some kind.

"We're no worse off than most other teams at this time of year, however," the head coach stated.

Big Spring has only three games left this season, two of which will be on the road. The locals must win two of the three in order to finish with a .500 won-lost record.

Two Deadlocked For 3-AAAA Lead

Jerry Sherman of Cooper and Robert Hill of Abilene are in a tight race for scoring honors in District 3-AAAA, each with 48 points.

Steve Carnes of San Angelo, hamstrung by injuries the past two weeks, is third in the scramble with 39 points.

The scorers:

Local Men Claim Portales Awards

Two Big Spring men captured trophies in the International Car Show held in Portales, N. M., last weekend.

Autry Moore was awarded first place in the Altered Class and had what was judged to be the best upholstery of the entire show. He was displaying a '33 coupe.

Jim Wilsher was second in the Mild Custom class and displayed the best engine of all the cars entered.

Wilsher showed a 1934 Ford sedan.

Drag Strip Talk Slated Saturday

Withycombe Hall at Webb AFB will be the scene of a 1 p.m. meeting Saturday at which a proposed drag strip at Webb will be discussed.

Civilians will be welcome at the session.

Plans for the drag strip have been in the works for some time and most legal aspects have been ironed out.

Chuck Hixson Nears Mark

DALLAS (AP) — Texas halfback Chris Gilbert has vaulted to an all-time Southwest Conference rushing lead and 18th place among national all-time leading ball carriers. He has 2,729 yards to his credit.

Southern Methodist's Chuck Hixson has moved within 10 completions of equaling the League record of 174, and Hixson's favorite target, Jerry Levias, is within one touchdown pass of the SWC career record.

Bill Burnett of Arkansas, who rushed for 185 yards against North Texas, has taken over second place in rushing behind scoring lead with another sophomore, Texas' Steve Worster, at 48 points.

Jim Livingston of SMU is moving at a record pace on interceptions, having seven to his credit in six games. He heads up the Southern Methodist ball hawks, who have intercepted 15 passes.

Levias and Gilbert gained on Mike Richardson in rushing and receiving yardage, but the Mustang senior still holds a big lead.

SMU and Texas head for a big clash in Austin Saturday, standing one-two in total offense. The Mustangs have made a runaway of the overhead game and Texas the ground attack.

Forsan Wins 2nd In Row

FORSAN — A Sands rally in the final two minutes fell short as the Forsan girls toppled the Mustangs, 50-46, in a basketball game here Tuesday night.

Forsan boasted an 11-point edge with two minutes to play but Sands closed the gap in a hurry. Forsan's top guard Sharon Schattel, had fouled out with four minutes to play.

Forsan, now 2-0, returns to play a week from Thursday at which time it goes to Klondike.

Doris Franklin played her best game ever for Forsan, scoring 22 points. Paula Woods led Sands with 22.

In B team play, Sands won, 34-32. Cynthia Richter counted 26 for Sands and Janice Clanton 15 for Forsan in that one.

FORSAN (50) — Gloria Dodd 5-5-15; Doris Franklin 5-12-22; Connie Dunagan 1-0-2; Kay Waltraven 4-3-11. Totals 15-20-50.
SANDS (46) — Shara Dee Hambrick 3-9-15; Jan Nichols 0-3-3; Paula Woods 9-5-23; Sandra Nichols 0-2-2; Lupe Miranda 1-1-3. Totals 13-20-46.

Still in contention for the scoring championship is Lubbock Estacado's Kenneth Wallace, who has 62 points; and two of his teammates, James Mosley and Larry Miller, each of whom has 60 points.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Now that that pre-Halloween hobgoblin, San Angelo, has come and gone, the Big Spring football team can concentrate on the job of trying for at least a .500 finish in the 1968 football wars.

The Steers can do it by winning two of their three final assignments.

Their best shots will come at Midland High this weekend and against Abilene High Nov. 8 but don't sell them short against Permian.

Quite likely, they'll play a much better game against Permian than against San Angelo. There is something about a San Angelo uniform that mesmerizes local athletes.

No one likes to admit it but the mental block is usually there. The boys usually are fired so high for the Cats, they don't come down until the middle of the following week.

San Angelo doesn't have an outstanding ball club this year. Fact is, the talent all over the league isn't as good as it has been in the past. Still, you can't argue with success and the Bobcats have won all but one start. Dan LaGrasta has done a fine coaching job down there — selling the boys on themselves.

GARY BERRY

The Cats play as a unit, each boy complementing the other, and that will carry any team a long way.

Big Spring has the type of club that figures to give Permian more trouble, however. But that's way down the road. The task right now is Midland High and the locals must win that one to keep their hopes alive for a first division finish.

* * * *

East Texas State University staged its annual Homecoming game last Saturday against Howard Payne and one of those present for the contest was Gary Berry, now of Big Spring, who was a member of the 1957 club which was honored at the event.

The '57 Lion team finished with an 8-1 won-lost record and won the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., 10-9, against Mississippi Southern.

Coach J. V. (Siki) Sikes, who went to his reward in 1964, was in his fifth year as the East Texas coach that year.

In addition to Berry, the Lions boasted such players as Sam McCord, a transfer from Paris Junior College who at 24 was considered the 'old man' on the team, and All-American end Norman Roberts, who was named the Most Valuable Player in the Tangerine Bowl. Norman later refused to accept a pro contract.

* * * *

Against Hawley the other night, David Myers of Forsan tried a 50-yard field goal. It missed only because the ball struck the upright above the cross-bar and fell away.

Myers has fine kicking form and could win some close games with his foot for the Buffaloes this year.

Both Glenn Whittington and Marvin Wise turned around and drove home to the Dallas-Fort Worth area Friday night after watching the San Angelo-Big Spring game.

Whittington, president of the Ex-Lettermen's Association, had officiated at the pre-game Hall of Honor ceremonies. The two had arrived not long before the opening kickoff.

Whittington says he thinks the association is over its days of travail and the idea behind the club will really catch fire now. Nominations for next years' entries into the Steer shrine are already being accepted.

Sands is taking its lumps as a first-year 11-man football team but a strong nucleus returns next year.

Back will be junior Kelly Gaskins and Perry Gillespie, who play up front; QB Steve Herm, Eddie Newcomer, a wingback; defensive end Ronnie Oaks and back Johnny Peugh, all sophomores; and linebacker Randy Clemens, a freshman. All have clocked a lot of playing time.

Wildcats Win By 68-46 Tab

WESTBROOK — The Westbrook Wildcats ran their basketball record to 3-0 by defeating Eula, 68-46, here Tuesday night.

The Cats return to play in Flower Grove Thursday night.

Eula's girls won the preliminary contest, 52-40, in a game which saw Frances Roch count 27 points for Eula and Christene Reed 26 for Westbrook.

After three quarters, the Westbrook boys had a 60-26 lead and were never in trouble.

Bob Chambers counted 21 points for the Tabbies while Juan Reyes led Eula with 16.

Emile Griffith Is Upset Victim In Hayward Bout

WINNER STAGGERING AT FINAL BELL

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Stanley "Kitten" Hayward won an upset split 10-round decision over former middleweight champion Emile Griffith Tuesday night. Griffith and his manager, Gil Clancy, screamed they were robbed and would appeal the verdict to the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission.

Referee Zack Clayton and judge Lou Tress each scored the fight 47-46 for Hayward, of Philadelphia. Judge Jack Styles had it 47-44 for Griffith. The Associated Press had it 48-43 for Griffith, who twice has held the middleweight title and was welterweight champ.

The bone of contention was Clayton's scoring of the 10th round. He carded it 5-5 under the Pennsylvania scoring system of five points must for the winner of a round.

Griffith, however, appeared to win the final round handily. In fact, he had Hayward staggering as the bell ended the fiercely waged fight.

Hayward admitted he had conceded the last round to the bustling New Yorker.

"I was not fighting my usual fight in the 10th round," he said, "because my trainer told me I had won the first six rounds and all I had to do to win was finish."

Griffith's manager also disclosed he had told the commission Tuesday afternoon about receiving an anonymous telephone call warning him, "Hayward will get help from the officials. I made the commission aware of this and was assured it would use its best officials."

Griffith, who ended Gypsy Joe Harris's 24 fight unbeaten streak here last August, was building for a crack at Nino Benvenuti, who took away his middleweight title last March.

Griffith weighed 156 and Hayward, the sixth ranking welterweight, 155, for the bout before 4,375 fans at the Spectrum.

Best Lineman

Irby (Lucky) Augustine, 6-foot, 210 pound defensive end of the University of California, gave a strong Syracuse team so much trouble last Saturday he was named The Associated Press' college Lineman of the Week. California beat Syracuse 43 to 0 and prevented the Syracuse team from scoring a point for the first time in 33 games. Augustine made 10 solo tackles, recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass.

Bulls Cream Celtic Five Despite Rally

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics put on one of their patented rallies and impressed the Chicago Bulls—but they didn't beat them.

Boston, trailing 60-40 at halftime, exploded to outscore Chicago 36-11 in the third period. But the Bulls fought back and won 103-97 in the second half of a National Basketball Association doubleheader Tuesday night in New York.

The New York Knickerbockers beat San Francisco 110-97 in the second game of the doubleheader. Baltimore trounced Milwaukee 129-112 and Los Angeles edged Atlanta 125-124 in the only other NBA games.

In the American Basketball Association, the New York Nets walloped Denver 108-89, Minnesota topped Miami 116-108 and New Orleans downed Oakland 124-119.

Clem Haskins and Tom Boerwinkle, 7-foot rookie center from Tennessee, led Chicago back from apparent defeat.

Haskins scored four straight points to put the Bulls ahead 93-92. Then after Boston tied it, Chicago went ahead for good, 97-93, on two foul shots by Jerry Sloan and a follow up by Boerwinkle, who grabbed some key rebounds and made a crucial interception in the final minutes.

Flynn Robinson was high for Chicago with 22 points, and Sloan got 20. Boerwinkle added 19 and snared 19 rebounds. Bill Russell led Boston with 17 points and 24 rebounds.

A balanced attack, led by Cazzie Russell and Dick Barnett, and a tough defense paced New York over San Francisco. The Knicks scored the first five points and never trailed.

Russell finished with 24 points and Barnett with 20. Rudy LaRusso scored 23 and Nate Thurmond 21 for San Francisco.

Kevin Loughery collected 29 points, Earl Monroe 25 and Ray Scott 22 for Baltimore as the Bullets breezed past Milwaukee. Fred Hetzel and Jon McGlocklin each hit 21 for Milwaukee.

Elgin Baylor's jump shot in the last second gave Los Angeles its uphill squeaker over Atlanta. The Lakers led only briefly in the opening moments of the game, and trailed by 17 points in the first half.

Baylor topped Los Angeles with 28 points but it was rookie Bill Hewitt's five baskets in the final four minutes that kept the Lakers in contention.

Zelmo Beaty was high for the Hawks with 31 points while Walt Hazzard hit on nine of 14 shots and tallied 23 points.

UTEP Back Is Given Honor

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Brooks Dawson of Texas-El Paso, whose fourth-quarter performance last weekend earned him Associated Press College Football Back of the Week honors, says, "It was the first time all year I felt like I was playing up to my game."

The senior quarterback was on the bench for three quarters against Brigham Young last weekend. He came onto the field with his team 22 points behind and led the Miners to a 31-25 victory.

Dawson completed 17 of 24 passes for 304 yards and three touchdowns in his stranger-than-fiction performance.

He had been benched for subpar play, but junior quarterback Bob Stewart was continually getting thrown for losses before the senior went back into the game.

ALL ARE BARRED FROM POST-SEASON CONTESTS

Three Schools Placed On Probation

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Bonaventure, ranked third in the 1968 Associated Press basketball poll, LaSalle and Florida State have been placed on probation by the National Collegiate Athletic Association's policy council for rules infractions.

The probation bars them from postseason games—LaSalle for two years, Florida State and St. Bonaventure for one year.

The disciplinary action was announced Tuesday by Arthur J. Bergstrom, assistant executive director of the SCAA Council shortly after the council opened a three day meeting.

St. Bonaventure ran up a 23-game winning streak until beaten by North Carolina in the NCAA Eastern regional semifinals at Raleigh last spring.

LaSalle reached the NCAA championships at College Park, Md., before bowing to Columbia.

There was no immediate comment from coaches or officials of the schools involved.

However, Jim Harding, who was coach at LaSalle when some of the infractions occurred, admitted violation of rules in regard to scholarships. Harding now is with the Minnesota Pipers of the American Basketball Association.

Bergstrom said the LaSalle coaching staff was guilty of terminating an athletic scholarship for poor performance and threatening to repeat the action in other cases.

LaSalle's freshman coach also awarded token cash prizes to outstanding athletes, in contravention of NCAA rules, Bergstrom said, and it was found that several players holding down off-campus jobs were being paid for hours they did not work.

St. Bonaventure was penalized for giving a basketball prospect an expense-paid tour to the NCAA regional tourney at Raleigh, N.C., Bergstrom said. The school also housed and fed several of the prospect's friends during the tourney.

Florida State, highly ranked in the Southeast, was found guilty of organizing and conducting early practice sessions last spring for the benefit of prospective team members.

The school's coaches also conducted out of season practices which players, according to Bergstrom, considered mandatory. The coaches further broke NCAA rules by bringing two prospects to Panama City, Fla., on a sight-seeing tour at no cost to the athletes.

Bergstrom said at least one LaSalle athlete was told to withhold information from the NCAA.

In Minneapolis, Harding told The Associated Press: "I did remove the scholarship of a boy named Fern Scott when he quit the squad. I did tell the squad after a poor game they would either have to play ball or their scholarships would go.

"But when we did find out that NCAA rules prevented this we gave Scott his scholarship back and didn't remove any of the scholarships," he added.

LeMay Backs Arm Twisting

SHREVEPORT, LA. (AP) — Curtis E. LeMay, George C. Wallace's running mate, says North Vietnam won't negotiate a settlement of the Vietnamese war "until we twist their arms a little more."

Closing the port of Haiphong and renewing the bombing of North Vietnam are two steps that must be taken to convince Hanoi that the United States intends "to win the war no matter what it takes," the retired Air Force general said Tuesday night.

LeMay's remarks drew cheers and applause from 300 persons at a $25-a-plate dinner in Shreveport.

Wallace campaign leaders told the audience that prospects for an election day victory for the third-party ticket were growing brighter each day.

LeMay also drew enthusiastic response when he promised that if he and Wallace were elected the crew of the USS Pueblo would be recovered from North Korea.

"I promise you we will get those people back," he said to deafening applause at the Shreveport Convention Hall.

LeMay said the polls indicating a drop in support for Wallace are not in tune with what's actually happening in the campaign.

"All our indications are opposite to the poll," he said.

"Our mail is up, the crowds are up, enthusiasm is up, everything is up."

LeMay, who was met by only 20 or 30 at airports in Iowa, Nebraska and Texas in his current tour, was greeted by more than 100 at Shreveport but also ran into a demonstration that led to five arrests.

The police grabbed protest signs out of the hands of a group of demonstrators at the Shreveport airport and arrested five on charges of disturbing the peace.

LeMay was shaking hands with his supporters at the time of the incident and appeared to take no notice of it.

McCarthy Waving Banner Of Revolt

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Behind the "Vote Humphrey" sign he has hoisted belatedly, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy still waves the banner of revolt against the Democratic party.

In announcing his preference for Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey over Republican Richard M. Nixon, McCarthy made it clear he expects the "children's crusade" of the spring primary campaign to continue beyond Tuesday's presidential election.

TOO YOUNG

Many of those from colleges and high schools who did volunteer work for McCarthy in the primaries, still are too young to vote.

But the Minnesota senator obviously believes as time goes on they will continue to look at him as a leader who offers youth a voice in future national decisions.

With this in mind, McCarthy seems to have cleared the way for an effort at "reform of the political process within the Democratic party" by announcing that he will not be a candidate of that party for re-election to the Senate in 1970 or for its 1972 presidential nomination.

This has the double political benefit of presenting himself as something of a crusader to his followers and of muting criticism that he only wants to reform the nominating process in order to make it easier for him to grab off the prize four years from now.

He noted in the formal statement endorsing Humphrey that he had urged the young people and others who supported his unsuccessful bid for the presidential nomination this year "to test the established political processes of the Democratic party."

THREAT?

But he added that "I will not make that request of them again unless those processes have clearly been changed."

Was this a third party threat? McCarthy wouldn't say.

But his promise to work toward party reform and to "continue to discuss the substantive issues of American politics" seemed to imply that if he can't get satisfaction within the party he may apply elsewhere.

While he declined to comment on Humphrey's chances of election, McCarthy displayed minimal optimism on that score. He would say only he thinks the nominee's chances have improved.

The nature of McCarthy endorsement, given despite the Senator's analysis that Humphrey's position on major issues "falls far short of what I think it should be," made it of somewhat dubious value to the nominee.

Supports No. 9

Dear Sir:

I have noticed several editorials in our newspapers recently stressing the importance of certain amendments that will appear on the November ballot. As a friend to education and educators, I feel we as citizens should support Amendment Nine. Presently, the Texas Constitution limits the salary upon which teachers may earn retirement benefits. This ceiling is $8,400, and was set up in 1955, when the average teaching salary was $3,800. The slogan adopted for this amendment is "Help Texas Attract And Hold Better Teachers."

I believe we as citizens should give education in Texas a boost by removing this ceiling through approving Amendment Nine.

Hubert Accepts Land From Wealthy Patron?

CHICAGO (AP) — Courthouse records reveal that Hubert H Humphrey accepted from a wealthy patron of the Democratic party in Minneapolis six valuable lakeside lots on which he built his home in Minnesota, the Chicago Tribune said today.

The six lots along North Waverly Shore, some 35 miles west of Minneapolis, were acquired from Ray C. Ewald, managing director of Ewald Brothers Sanitary Dairy, when the vice president was a senator, the Tribune said in a copyright story by Walter Trohan of its Washington bureau.

'ANGEL'

The story described the company as a "financial angel of the Democratic party."

In Philadelphia, a Humphrey spokesman said he would have no comment on the story.

The Tribune story said that the transfer of the property in Wright County, Minn., was not recorded in the county courthouse there for almost two years. At the time the Ewald Dairy was involved in a civil antitrust action involving price fixing after having been fined in a criminal antitrust action.

The deed to the six lots was executed in Minneapolis on Sept. 27, 1956, by Ewald and his wife, Ethel, to Humphrey and his wife, Muriel. The deed was not filed in the Wright County courthouse at Buffalo, Minn., until June 24, 1958, nearly two years after Humphrey acquired title.

Although the deed states the consideration was "one dollar and other good and valuable considerations," the deed bears no federal revenue stamps, which indicates no cash changed hands.

DON'T KNOW

The courthouse records show that Humphrey as vice president three years ago put a $30,000 mortgage on the lots and the home he built at Waverly.

No comment was available today from Ewald, who is ill at his Minnesota home. He has suffered several strokes and has a serious heart ailment.

However, his brother, Dewey, said there was "no connection between this property and that lawsuit." He said Humphrey "never did have, never will have any connection," with the litigation.

Dewey heads the dairy.

He said he knew his brother, Ray, sold the property to Humphrey.

"I don't know what he paid for it," Dewey added. "It was none of my business and we never talked about it."

Mrs. Ray Ewald also denied that the land was given to Humphrey.

"It was paid for," she said. "It wasn't given to Hubert, I know that."

Ground Fog Cuts Down Visibility

By The Associated Press

Ground fog cut down visibility over parts of Southeast and South Central Texas and in some coastal areas before dawn today.

Except for patches of clouds in the central section of the state, skies were mostly clear and light south winds continued to keep the temperatures mild.

Except for a little cooling in the northwest corner of the Panhandle about Thursday afternoon, no changes appeared in prospect.

Extended forecasts, covering the period through next Monday, promised readings two to seven degrees above normal on average. A few light showers were expected in East and South Texas by the weekend.

Readings climbed to 90 degrees at San Angelo and 91 at Mineral Wells and Presidio as all parts of the state warmed Tuesday afternoon. Texarkana's 75 and Galveston's 77 were the only highs below the 80s.

Marks before dawn today ranged from 45 at Dalhart and El Paso up to 69 at Corpus Christi and 72 at Galveston.
