Midland Democrats For Ike To Open Basin Headquarters

Midland Texas Democrats for Eisenhower will open headquarters Monday in the Midland Tower.

The office, located on the ground floor of the building, will serve as headquarters for a 17-county Permian Basin Empire district as well as for the Midland County organization. Mrs. Elizabeth Summers will be in charge of the office, the telephone number of which is 4-4212.

Door-To-Door Campaign

Avery said Saturday he plans to call a meeting early this week of delegates who attended the Amarillo convention and all Democrats who will work for Dwight Eisenhower, to perfect a working organization in Midland County.

"We plan a door-to-door campaign and a face-to-face contact with every voter in the county," Avery stated.

A woman co-chairman of the county committee will be selected, leaders said.

Sealy, who is a vice chairman with Nan Proctor of Victoria of the State Demos for Eisenhower, was one of the leading advocates of the "Support Eisenhower" resolution adopted at the Democratic convention in Amarillo. Chiles also is a member of the steering committee of the state organization.

Leaders of the Midland organization pointed out Saturday that Midland assumed an even more important role of state leadership in the Eisenhower movement with the recent appointment of Mrs. Hal C. Peck as co-chairman, with Mrs. Frank O'Brien of Amarillo, of the Texas Womanpower for Eisenhower organization.

Several counties over the area already have held organization meetings and elected chairmen. Bill Lee of Monahans is the Ward County chairman, and Gene Haley of Kermit heads the Winkler County chapter. Other chairmen are: Maurice Bullock, Pecos County; Brooks Harman and Buck Mann Ector County; Charles W. Roberts, Andrews County; Bob Bickley, Reeves County; Dr. B. Knox, Gaines County; C. W. Brown and L. E. Windham, Upton County.

A. P. Brown of Odessa is working with the Midland committee in organizing other Permian Basin Empire counties. J. N. McKean of Midland, far West Texas field director for the Fort Worth Texas Democrats for Eisenhower headquarters, also is assisting in the program in this area.

Allied Troops Regain Crest Of Scarred 'Big Nori' Hill

SEOUL —(AP)— Allied ground troops fought back to the crest of battle-scarred "Big Nori" hill on the Korean western front Saturday, regaining a coveted position Greek troops yielded under Chinese counterattacks and accidental bombing by U. S. jets last Sunday.

The U. S. Eighth Army announced the height, eight miles northwest of Yonchon, was occupied by an Allied patrol temporarily Friday, but abandoned. It was reoccupied for a third time Saturday after a bitter fight with small but die-hard Red defenders.

An Army spokesman said the United Nations infantrymen still were on the hill late Saturday.

In the air, U. S. Sabres tangled with 35 MIG's over Northwest Korea while slower fighter-bombers blasted a Communist military school, attacked a coal mine and front line positions.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force reported two Communist MIG jets were shot down and five more damaged in four separate duels with the deadly Sabres.

This brought the Fifth Air Force combat score for the first four days of October to six Red jets destroyed and 12 damaged. Two Allied planes, a Sabre and an Australian Meteor, were lost in combat in the week ended October 3, but four other UN planes were downed behind Red lines due to other causes.

GOP 'MURDERERS' ROW'—

Stevenson Slaps At Ike, McCarthy

ST. PAUL, MINN. — (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson Saturday night denounced Senator Joseph R. McCarthy as a "champion of trial by ordeal and slander" and called the Wisconsin Republican a member of a GOP "murderers' row" in Congress.

And Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, said Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's endorsement of McCarthy for reelection "can leave no doubt in anyone's mind that the general is hopelessly the captive of the Old Guard" of the Republican Party.

In an address to a Democratic rally, the Illinois governor said Eisenhower, his GOP rival for the presidency, has "pheapened the time-honored custom of endorsements."

Then, in an obvious allusion to McCarthy's appearance with Eisenhower on the general's campaign train in Wisconsin Friday, Stevenson declared:

"He (Eisenhower) has disappointed even myself—though none of us was prepared for Friday's melancholy spectacle."

'Too' Candidate

The governor said the Republican Party has a clear record of 20 years of obstruction on programs to help the farmer. He declared in scoffing tones that the party now has "a 'me-too' candidate running on a 'yes-but' platform, advised by a 'has-been' staff" on farm policy.

His own party, Stevenson said, has given the farmer a better income, a better way of life.

The Illinois governor made these remarks at Fort Dodge, Iowa, to one of his more enthusiastic audiences.

Later on, in a speech at Minneapolis, Stevenson sang praises for what he said the Democratic Party has done for all the people through two decades, and ripped into the GOP as coining "slippery slogans of opposition" without offering any creative ideas.

The Democratic nominee said that while Republican leaders demand a new morality in government, they themselves "smear the innocent, prejudge the accused, twist the truth and make cynicism the first rule of politics."

ARMY 'CLAMS UP' ON DETAILS—

General's Daughter Accused In Husband's Fatal Stabbing

TOKYO —(AP)— Col. Aubrey D. Smith, a handsome, 45-year-old Texan, died Saturday of a knife wound which Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters said allegedly was inflicted by his attractive wife, Dorothy.

Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Gen. Walter Krueger, retired World War II commander of the U. S. Sixth Army in the Pacific campaign.

She was held for observation in the isolation ward of an Army hospital in Tokyo while the Far East Command conducted an official investigation.

Smith, decorated repeatedly for valor in World War II and the Korean War, was chief of the big plans and operations division of the Far East Command's logistics section.

He was considered an officer with brilliant prospects for advancement and his sensational death shocked high Army circles in Tokyo.

The personable, blue-eyed colonel from San Antonio was stabbed fatally about midnight at his home in Washington Heights, a residential area for U. S. officers. He died six hours later at the Tokyo Army Hospital.

The Army clammed up tightly on details, but it was reliably reported that Smith was knifed on the right side while he was in bed.

A maid was at the Smith home at the time. She said she was asleep and knew nothing about it.

A daughter, 14, and son, 16, were at a neighbor's house. Plans were being made Sunday to return them to the United States.

Pressed for details, the PIO office said: "An investigation is being made by the military authorities. Any action resulting from the investigation, such as a possible trial, will be conducted by the military. This is provided for in the Articles of War and the administrative agreement with Japan."

The office also said, "It is considered inappropriate to discuss any details of the case until the investigation has been completed."

One officer said the Army was maintaining secrecy "to avoid influencing the investigation."

A veteran of 26 years Army service, Smith came to the Far East Command in August, 1950.

Pickett Declines Role In Stevenson, Sparkman Ticket

Mayor Perry Pickett said Saturday he had turned down an appointment to the steering committee to push the Stevenson-Sparkman Democratic ticket in the 16th Congressional District.

Pickett said he had wired Rep. Sam Rayburn, chairman of the state organization, rejecting the appointment.

The mayor said he explained that, as mayor of Midland, he felt that he should not become involved at this time in any controversy over the presidential election.

Salvo Of 'Blanks' Can't Disturb Ike

FARGO, N. D.—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared Saturday night the Democrats are "completely starved" for a valid campaign issue, and said they are attempting to use fear to win votes.

"They are whining and whimpering up and down the country trying to scare people—and they don't scare me," the GOP presidential candidate said.

Eisenhower, campaigning through Minnesota and South and North Dakota, tore into the Democrats in his Fargo speech and struck sharply at both President Truman and Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

More than 5,000 persons, the general's biggest audience of the day, jammed into the field house at North Dakota State College.

Eisenhower referred to his "other campaign of salvo after salvo" and drew a laugh from the crowd. He said, "I have been shot at by real artillery and I am far too old to be greatly disturbed by noisy but harmless blanks."

Obviously referring to Stevenson, he said, "now we are getting an educated accent on the same old Democratic talk."

One of the "blanks," Eisenhower said, was Truman's statement that there would never be another reclamation program if the general were elected.

He said the basic reclamation legislation was written by Republicans. "Under it, the West has been developed. Reclamation works came before there ever was a Fair Deal or a New Deal. We will go right on with that program after the Fair Deal's worn-out lease has been terminated."

Two Dead, Five Hurt In Highway Collision West Of Big Spring

The dead were identified as William Shows, about 20, of Waynesboro, Miss., and Mrs. Lee Jones of Midland, a negro.

J. B. Davis, a soldier stationed at Fort Bliss, was one of the injured. He was in the car with Shows. The other injured were Lee Jones, Walter Jones, 45, his wife, 33, and Mrs. Thelma Montgomery, all identified at hospitals as from Midland.

Both cars were demolished and traffic was blocked.

Midland's 1952 Red Feather Drive Swings Into High Gear This Week

Midland's 1952 Community Chest finance campaign swings into high gear this week in an all-out effort to meet its quota of $68,250 to finance the 1953 operation of eight youth and welfare organizations of the community.

The Employe Division, headed by John Perkins, will be in the limelight this week as its 300 volunteer workers launch a program designed to reach all employes in the city's business establishments.

"It is the employe group of contributors which must take the lead in putting the Red Feather drive over the top this year," Joe T. Dickerson, general campaign chairman, declared Saturday.

"The Community Chest is calling upon every salaried employe in Midland to give at least one day's pay to the 1952 fund," he said. "It is the only way we can reach our quota in this eight-in-one campaign.

"Contributors this year may sign pledge cards, making their contributions over a period of 12 months, instead of all in one payment as has been the custom in the past.

Employe Breakfast Set

"We are more interested in pledges than in cash," the chairman stated. "The main thing is for everyone to give—and give enough—to Midland's Community Chest."

The "kick-off" breakfast for the Employe Division workers is scheduled for 7:30 a.m. Tuesday in the high school cafeteria, Chairman Perkins announced. He said all business firm solicitation chairmen and volunteer solicitors are invited and urged to attend the session. Mechanics of the campaign will be explained and campaign materials and pledge cards distributed.

The Employe Division "kick-off" is the third in a series of steps leading up to the climax of the community-wide solicitation. The Advance Gifts and Special Gifts Divisions already are engaged in their respective campaigns, and the General Division will launch its work program October 14. By that time more than 1,000 volunteer workers will be engaged in the finance effort.

Pickett Declines Role In Stevenson, Sparkman Ticket

Mayor Perry Pickett said Saturday he had turned down an appointment to the steering committee to push the Stevenson-Sparkman Democratic ticket in the 16th Congressional District.

Pickett said he had wired Rep. Sam Rayburn, chairman of the state organization, rejecting the appointment.

The mayor said he explained that, as mayor of Midland, he felt that he should not become involved at this time in any controversy over the presidential election.

Salvo Of 'Blanks' Can't Disturb Ike

FARGO, N. D.—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared Saturday night the Democrats are "completely starved" for a valid campaign issue, and said they are attempting to use fear to win votes.

"They are whining and whimpering up and down the country trying to scare people—and they don't scare me," the GOP presidential candidate said.

Eisenhower, campaigning through Minnesota and South and North Dakota, tore into the Democrats in his Fargo speech and struck sharply at both President Truman and Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

More than 5,000 persons, the general's biggest audience of the day, jammed into the field house at North Dakota State College.

Eisenhower referred to his "other campaign of salvo after salvo" and drew a laugh from the crowd. He said, "I have been shot at by real artillery and I am far too old to be greatly disturbed by noisy but harmless blanks."

Obviously referring to Stevenson, he said, "now we are getting an educated accent on the same old Democratic talk."

One of the "blanks," Eisenhower said, was Truman's statement that there would never be another reclamation program if the general were elected.

He said the basic reclamation legislation was written by Republicans. "Under it, the West has been developed. Reclamation works came before there ever was a Fair Deal or a New Deal. We will go right on with that program after the Fair Deal's worn-out lease has been terminated."

Two Dead, Five Hurt In Highway Collision West Of Big Spring

BIG SPRING —(AP)— Two persons were killed and five were injured in an apparent head-on collision about 10 miles west of here Saturday night.

The dead were identified as William Shows, about 20, of Waynesboro, Miss., and Mrs. Lee Jones of Midland, a negro.

J. B. Davis, a soldier stationed at Fort Bliss, was one of the injured. He was in the car with Shows. The other injured were Lee Jones, Walter Jones, 45, his wife, 33, and Mrs. Thelma Montgomery, all identified at hospitals as from Midland.

Both cars were demolished and traffic was blocked.

Says General Joins In 'Wave Of GOP Filth'

Switching his "I like Ike, too" approach to one of "I used to trust Ike," Truman charged that the Republican presidential nominee:

1—Has joined in spreading a Republican "wave of filth" about foreign policy that "brings us closer to a world war."

2—Took part, as a general, in making Korean, German and other military decisions which Eisenhower now is denouncing as blunders and bungles.

3—Has "betrayed himself" by a total surrender to GOP "mossbacks" with no more sympathy and understanding for the average American than so many prehistoric dinosaurs.

The President took occasion too, in a pair of speeches winding up the first half of his coast-to-coast whistle stop tour, to give the back of his hand to Eisenhower's running mate Senator Richard M. Nixon.

The blast against the GOP vice presidential candidate was delivered at a 1,000 plate Democratic luncheon rally in San Francisco.

New Peak Of Acidity

Then, in an address across the bay at Oakland, the President brought his "stop Ike" crusade to a new peak of acidity.

He said Eisenhower has enlisted in a campaign to make Americans believe black is white—that "our policy of resistance to communism has been one of betrayal" and that the Korean conflict is a useless war.

"This wave of filth," the President said, "has had one purpose—and only one. That is to win this election for the Republicans."

Then he poured it on Eisenhower personally. He said the GOP presidential nominee has abused the trust of the American people.

He said Eisenhower is "a sad and pathetic spectacle," uttering words that are "a danger to our national security."

Tearing Down Confidence

Truman said he didn't enjoy criticizing Eisenhower:

"He was my friend, a man I trusted completely."

But, he declared, the general is spreading "a false version of history," leaving out his own responsibility for making that history, and:

"When he turns around and slanders our national effort as a procession of blunders and failures, then I am going to call him on it.

"It was an injury to our national security to tear down the confidence of people in those policies of national defense which we have all

Midland's 1952 Red Feather Drive Swings Into High Gear This Week

Midland's 1952 Community Chest finance campaign swings into high gear this week in an all-out effort to meet its quota of $68,250 to finance the 1953 operation of eight youth and welfare organizations of the community.

The Employe Division, headed by John Perkins, will be in the limelight this week as its 300 volunteer workers launch a program designed to reach all employes in the city's business establishments.

"It is the employe group of contributors which must take the lead in putting the Red Feather drive over the top this year," Joe T. Dickerson, general campaign chairman, declared Saturday.

"The Community Chest is calling upon every salaried employe in Midland to give at least one day's pay to the 1952 fund," he said. "It is the only way we can reach our quota in this eight-in-one campaign.

"Contributors this year may sign pledge cards, making their contributions over a period of 12 months, instead of all in one payment as has been the custom in the past.

Employe Breakfast Set

"We are more interested in pledges than in cash," the chairman stated. "The main thing is for everyone to give—and give enough—to Midland's Community Chest."

The "kick-off" breakfast for the Employe Division workers is scheduled for 7:30 a.m. Tuesday in the high school cafeteria, Chairman Perkins announced. He said all business firm solicitation chairmen and volunteer solicitors are invited and urged to attend the session. Mechanics of the campaign will be explained and campaign materials and pledge cards distributed.

The Employe Division "kick-off" is the third in a series of steps leading up to the climax of the community-wide solicitation. The Advance Gifts and Special Gifts Divisions already are engaged in their respective campaigns, and the General Division will launch its work program October 14. By that time more than 1,000 volunteer workers will be engaged in the finance effort.

More than $15,000 in cash and

Joanne Dru Has Futile Fight—Censors Win; Jeans Are Tight

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

Exclusively Yours: The shrimp boats are a-comin' in U-I's "Thunder Bay," but there was no dancin' when the censors took a look at the blue jeans Joanne Dru wanted to wear for her sexy role of a Creole girl on a shrimp boat in the film.

I've worn tighter ones before," replied Joanne. "In 'Return of the Texan.' Really, they looked like ballet tights."

The censors thought it over. "You were a lady in that film," they said. "This is a sexier role. We have to be subtle about it."

The explanation, of course, for a cryptic memo to the U-I wardrobe department: "Please let out the seats in all of Joanne Dru's blue jeans."

Rita Checks Out Of Aly's Mansion, Takes Hotel Suite

PARIS—(AP)—Rita and Aly have split up again.

The Hollywood actress, Rita Hayworth, left the home of her husband, Prince Aly Khan, where she had been staying more than a week and moved into a plush Paris hotel.

The reason for the newest break-up—which happened two days ago—was a mystery. Rita issued a statement through her lawyer, but it gave no clear reason why she moved out.

When she came to Paris two weeks ago, she went straight to the Neuilly home of her husband, against whom she has filed divorce proceedings. They were seen together often afterward in restaurants and night clubs and allowed themselves to be photographed together.

Aly Khan, son and religious heir to the wealthy Aga Khan, leader of many millions of Moslems, minimized the idea of divorce in talks with reporters last Saturday and Rita said then she did not intend immediately to press through the divorce papers on file in Reno.

Farm Cash Income Drops Behind 1951 Mark, Bureau Says

AUSTIN—(AP)—Texas' cumulative farm cash income for 1952 is falling behind that of 1951. The total stood at $882,729,000 at the end of August, 15 per cent below the figure a year earlier, the University of Texas Business Research Bureau said Saturday.

Some commodities showed gains. Wheat was up 171 per cent, accounting for the greatest gain in dollars. Wheat brought in 34 million dollars more than January to August than in the corresponding 1951 period.

Fruits and vegetables were up 25 per cent; rice, 19; poultry, 12; mohair, 10; and milk products, eight, the increase for this last item amounting to more than 11 million dollars.

Dollar-declines were recorded by cotton, down 48 per cent; cattle, 20; peanuts, 58, wool 43, sheep and lambs, 36, and cottonseed, 34. The decline in cotton and cattle alone amounted to 150 million dollars.

Red Congress Meets, Turns Economic War Against U. S.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Moscow officially launches Sunday a program which apparently aims at dovetailing the activities of all the world's Communists for a long hit-and-run economic and political war against the United States.

The Kremlin's gauleiters from Soviet satellite countries and from other foreign Communist parties are on hand to get their orders as the first all-union Communist party Congress in 13 years is convened.

From the 16 republics of the USSR, more than 2,000 Communist delegates, big shots and small fry, are ready to rubber stamp decisions already reached in the Kremlin. But is is the fact the Congress is called in the first place—not the actions of any Communist delegates—which is important.

Stalin's Pattern

Stalin, as the symbol of Communist law, has laid down the pattern in a newly published 25,000 - word message on economics. It tells six million Communists how to rule the USSR's more than 200 million people. It lays down the program for world communism to be coordinated under Kremlin high command.

Stalin, perennial riddle, has become more of a puzzle than ever. His economic message gives an impression of a Stalin revising himself, arguing with himself, twisting and torturing the party line to fit new concepts—perhaps concepts of a clique already in effect ruling Soviet Russia. At times the document seems almost apologetic about the Soviet economic system which Stalin installed and developed. It reads as if someone else might have written it for him to sign.

But in sum, the message does lay down a new law—a law under the signature of Stalin. Whether Stalin rules absolutely or not, that signature is the most convenient device for affixing the stamp of authority.

World-Wide Scope

The decisions the Kremlin has taken—we may never hear of many of them—concern not only the future of every Soviet worker and farmer, but make law for all Communist parties abroad.

Here is how the picture of Soviet plans seems to shape up:

Abroad — General directives are being issued concerning the course of the peace and economic offensives. Specific instructions are given on how and when, and in what circumstances, Communists shall go into action and how they shall conduct activities both before and after proletarian revolutions.

At home — the program is laid down for full - speed production centering on heavy industry. Once again, consumer goods are shoved aside, despite the clear indication that there must be a grumbling, insistent demand from below. The party is warned to exercise utmost supervision over all phases of economic life. The party itself is under strict order to hew to the line. Independent thinking within party ranks is not going to be tolerated.

Chief Warns Half Of Fires In U. S. Originate In Homes

"More than half of all fires in the United States start in homes," warned Chief Melvin Little of the Midland Fire Department Saturday.

The Midland fire fighter was starting his campaign of making Midlanders fire conscious for Fire Prevention Week, starting Sunday. He reminded home owners that 90 per cent of home fires are preventable.

There were four injuries and two deaths in Midland for the first nine months of 1951 as compared to six injuries for the same period in 1952.

Buildings involved in fires for the period in 1951 carried insurance of $346,570, on which losses of $29,010.26 were paid. In 1952, insurance amounting to $1,832,900 was in force, with paid losses of $133,392.19.

The Midland Fire Marshal's office made 936 inspections in the 1951 period, as compared to 1,252 for 1952.

Thirty-two of the city's 178 fires were caused by cigarettes, 26 by electricity, 24 by heaters and stoves, 21 by rubbish, 12 by inflammable fuels, nine by misuse of matches and nine by miscellaneous causes. Causes of 45 were unknown.

Expose Puts Crimp In San Antonio's Baby Black Market

SAN ANTONIO —(AP)— Baby black marketeers in San Antonio seemed eager to be rid of their "merchandise" Saturday as several babies were turned over to license adoption agencies with the complaint, "Here. You take 'em."

The surrendering of babies came after an expose by the San Antonio Express and Evening News. Reporters Mary Rice Brogan and Howard Hunt posed as a man and wife eager to adopt a baby and made arrangements to "buy" one for $435, $85 of which was to go to a "special" attorney for fixing up papers.

Calvin Dodds, executive secretary of the Children's Service Bureau, said his office had received a flood of calls.

Dodds said a black market in babies was operating on a large scale and might be working on a state-wide basis.

The physicians described the physical condition of the Republican and Democratic presidential nominees in replying to a series of questions about their medical records. The questions were submitted by the magazine This Week and NEA Service.

Texas Voters Will Mark Six-Column Ballot In November

AUSTIN —(AP)— The ballot Texas voters will mark November 4 will be an eight-column affair with six candidates for President.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur is the presidential candidate of both the Christian Nationalist Party and the Constitution Party.

There will be the usual Democratic and Republican columns, headed by Adlai Stevenson and Dwight Eisenhower. The Prohibition Party candidate for President is Stuart Hamblen and the Progressive Party's choice is Vincent Hallinan.

One column, for Independents, will be blank. So will the column for write-ins.

All candidates for state-wide office, except John White, will appear both as Democratic and Republican candidates.

Texas will elect 22 congressmen, including one at-large. There is only one contested congressional race, between Jack Brooks, Democrat, and Randolph Reed, Republican, in District 2 (Sabine area).

Two constitutional amendments will be voted on.

One would authorize the Legislature to provide for workmen's compensation insurance for employees of towns.

The other would provide for establishment of a state medical education fund from which grants, loans or scholarships may be made.

Gilmer Puzzled By Rayburn 'Threat' To Texas Oil Men

AUSTIN—(AP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn "appeared to be threatening Texas oil men" in a Dallas speech Thursday, Chairman Claud Gilmer of Texas Democrats for Eisenhower said Saturday.

If Rayburn did not mean his statement as a threat to oil men to fall into line behind Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee for President, Gilmer said, "perhaps he will clarify it to say what he did mean."

Gilmer's statement added:

"He gave the Democratic Administration credit for protecting the 27 1/2 per cent 'depletion allowance' which means a great deal to the oil industry. I am not criticizing that, but I am wondering about Mr. Rayburn's further remarks, which were quoted in the press as follows:

" 'Another vote on that has never been gotten onto the floor of the House—yet. But I do believe in reciprocity. I do like honor. I do like sincerity. That's what I practice, and people who deal with me had better practice the same thing.'

Club Over Heads

"I am puzzled by what Mr. Rayburn means by 'dealing' with him. We all know that he has been very influential in protecting this section of the income tax law, but I always thought he was doing it because he believed it was right. I can hardly believe that he considers it merely a political club to be held over the heads of his fellow Texans who happen to have some oil properties.

"Most of us don't own any oil wells, but we are all interested in good government and a free ballot. It is very hard for me to believe that Mr. Rayburn is willing to resort to intimidation in trying to bolster up Trumanism in Texas.

"However, since he had already threatened Texas congressmen with the loss of their committee appointments if they didn't 'get right,' it may be that this latest statement is in the same pattern. I cannot help wondering who will be next."

Wheeler Condition Remains 'Serious' After Tank Blast

Troy Wheeler, 23, who was injured in an oil tank explosion about 1 p.m. Wednesday on a Phillips Petroleum Company lease in the Tex-Harvey field, remained in a serious condition Saturday at Midland Memorial Hospital.

Attaches said he was suffering from a spine injury and numerous lacerations.

Funeral services were held Saturday from the Welch Funeral Home at Longview for Clint Ansel Redd, 48, who was killed in the explosion.

Redd was employed by Sorrel's Welding Works of Midland, while Wheeler is employed by the B&B Construction Company of Odessa.

Phillips Petroleum Company officials said the two men were contract employes installing a new 750-barrel tank on one of their leases. A welding torch being used to connect pipes to the tank was believed to have ignited accumulated gas.

Redd, who resided in the Park Acres Addition had been a resident of Midland three months. Survivors include the widow; six daughters and a son.

'INVESTMENTS' IN ELECTION OUTCOME—

Demos Reveal Plan To Ask Thousands Of $5 Donations

WASHINGTON—(AP)—An army of Democratic volunteer solicitors will set out next week to try to get $5 contributions for the 1952 campaign from several hundred thousand contributors.

Beardsley Ruml, the New York idea man who thought up the scheme, says there's never been anything exactly like it before. He is confident it's going to be successful enough to revolutionize financing of political campaigns in the future.

The drive starts Wednesday and runs for eight days through October 15.

The Democratic National Finance Committee, which Ruml heads, is distributing 800,000 red-white-and-blue booklets to the solicitors.

Thanks, From Adlai

Each booklet contains five certificates and each solicitor is being asked to get five contributions. The contributor gets the certificate with a thank-you message from Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson printed on it.

Ruml, economist, consultant and corporation director, is an author of the plan to convert federal income taxes to the pay-as-you-earn basis adopted several years ago. Democrats are hailing his campaign financing scheme as the "second Ruml plan."

Ruml held a news conference this week to tell details of the new plan.

He said he would have liked to set a goal of a million contributions but did not think it feasible this year because his committee was set up too late to get the big organizing job done completely.

To Harvest Votes

He said he was sure the nationwide result would not be that good. But he added that if the money did pour in beyond expectations, then the national committee would draw on it only until it had reached the three million dollar level, and then prorate the excess to the states.

Ruml said the solicitors were being told not to use "the slightest pressure" and not to argue with anyone.

Ruml said he was sure the plan had some "political overtones" by way of harvesting votes. Each solicitor, he pointed out, might say something like this to a contributor:

"You've got five dollars invested in the campaign now. Why don't you see that five people vote, one for each dollar."

The finance chairman said, however, that he knew all of the contributors would not vote Democratic.

For instance, he said, four books of certificates were sold out a few days ago in El Morocco, plush New York night club.

"I'm not kidding myself," he said, "that the people who go to El Morocco by and large are going to vote Democratic. They bought the books for the novelty."

Shipwreck Kelly Held On Ground By Heart Seizure

ORANGE —(AP)— The Lions Club said Saturday that Shipwreck Kelly, 73, professional flagpole sitter, can't go back on the job here because it's too dangerous for him.

A heart seizure brought Kelly down from his 65-foot perch at the Lions Club charity carnival about midnight Friday night.

He was treated and wanted to go back Saturday. Lions President Bert Hauver said no. "This is going to ruin my reputation," Kelly said.

Two States Seek Con Man In Robbery Of Cuban Fair

FORT WORTH —(AP)— A tall, scar-faced Oklahoma ex-convict was named Saturday as the gunman who robbed two exiled Cubans of $248,000 reportedly intended to finance a Cuban counter-revolution.

Authorities indicated the Cubans may have been victims of a confidence game—lured to Texas on the pretex they would be able to purchase here the guns needed for the revolt.

A two-state alarm was sounded for Orval Chambless, 35, identified by the Cubans as the masked gunman who, at the point of a tommy gun, took $248,000 from them in their bank hotel cottage early Friday. Robbery charges were filed against Chambless.

Southg along with Chambless was an accomplice known only as "Johnny." Already in custody was Sam Cesap, 40, a Fort Worth used car salesman held on federal charges of unlawfully transferring the stolen money from Fort Worth to Oklahoma.

only as "Johnny.' Already in custody was Sam Cesap, 40, a Fort Worth used car salesman held on federal charges of unlawfully transferring the stolen money from Fort Worth to Oklahema.

Detective A. C. Howerton said Manuel F. Madareaga, 38, and his partner, Candide de la Torre, 49, were "lured to Texas from Mexico, where they had gone into exile from Cuba after Fulgencio Batista overthrew former Cuban President Carlos Prio Socarras last March.

Madareaga and de la Torre, though admitting they are exiles and oppose Batista, claim the gunman got only $8,000 intended for purchase of a car, and that the money was not a political fund. Howerton said the authorities gathered this account:

The two men were living in Mexico City and while there ran into the Fort Worth car salesman who had been tipped that they were interested in purchasing guns.

Guns In Texas

The Texan contacted them with a story about availability of guns in Texas and offered to meet them here.

De la Torre flew to New York, where he presumably obtained $240,000 from agents of former Cuban President Carlos Prio Socarras. The money was to be used to buy guns to stage a counter-revolution against Batista.

The two men then met with Madareaga and a third member of the Cuban party, Jose Duarte, 33-year-old Cuban munitions expert.

Contact Gun Runner

The Fort Worth man then left with Duarte. They went to Dallas and Gainesville on pretense of meeting a contact who was a gun runner.

"Johnny" stayed with Madareaga and De la Torre. During his visit the subject of money came up and the stranger took $240,000 out of Madareaga's black traveling bag, spread it on the bed and carefully counted it.

He then suggested to Madareaga they play cards. De la Torre went to bed.

The card game continued until about 3:30 a.m. Friday when "Johnny" told Madareaga he heard a noise outside the room.

Face Is Covered

"Johnny" opened the door leading to De la Torre's adjoining apartment. He was confronted by a bandit wearing a handkerchief over the lower part of his face. "Johnny" then produced a revolver and helped the intruder bind and gag the two Cubans.

They fled with the $240,000 plus $8,000 of Madareaga's own money.

About 15 minutes later the car salesman and Duarte returned to the cottage. But meanwhile, De la Torre managed to wiggle to the telephone and mutter to the operator something about "banditos." This led to a police call to the apartment where they found the men gagged and bound.

The car salesman appeared startled when he returned to the cabin and found officers. He immediately was taken into custody and held incommunicado in a nearby cottage to sidestep efforts to free him on a habeas corpus writ.

Red Feather—

pledges have been reported to date by the Advance Gifts and Special Gifts Divisions.

Everybody Helps

Meanwhile, scores of other individuals, firms and organizations were joining hands in promoting the 1952 Community Chest campaign. Representatives of all agencies participating in the Chest are engaged or will be engaged in campaign activities.

Girl Scouts this weekend are preparing workers' kits, and Boy Scouts are distributing campaign placards and literature.

Leaders stressed the fact that the 1952 Chest quota is the largest in Midland's history and that every man, woman and child must work and give if the quota is to be reached.

They pointed out also that if the goal is not subscribed the operations of the participating agencies necessarily will have to be curtailed.

"That is why it is so important that everyone give generously to the Community Chest," they said. "Give at least a day's pay—it's the American way."

Red Feather Demonstration

The campaign leaders also lauded the Red Feather demonstration presented by the Midland High School Band and Half-Timers during the half-time intermission at the Midland-Ysleta football game Friday night. They praised the participants and the sponsors for their assistance and cooperation as well as for their colorful Red Feather performance.

Agencies participating in the Community Chest along with their approval budgets, are: Boy Scouts $19,125.67; Girl Scouts, $14,080; Youth Center $10,730; Latin American Youth Center $5,605; Goodfellows $850; Colored Day Nursery $2,527.90; Salvation Army $3,000, and USO $2,500.

Truman—

worked so long, and so successfully to put into effect.

"But that is what the Republican candidate is doing.

"Now I am not going to let him get away with this. He played a great part in our foreign policy. As a general, during and after the war, he was involved in a great many of the decisions that have gone into our present programs for peace."

Truman went on:

"He (Eisenhower) owes his popularity to the high positions he has held, and the good work he has done in them. I do not wish to detract from his achievements. But when he turns around and slanders our national effort as a procession of blunders and failures, then I am going to call him on it."

Truman cited a recent speech in which Eisenhower, talking about the Berlin blockade and the Korean War, deplored what he called "the incompetence of political leaders . . . which made the military action necessary."

In Berlin, Korea

Eisenhower, the President said, "was personally involved in our decisions about Berlin and Korea—he knows what happened in those cases and so do I."

The President said Eisenhower:

1. Joined in recommending that United States troops be pulled out of Korea—a step the Republicans have assailed as leading to the Communist invasion of Korea.

2. Was responsible for the fact that the United States, after the surrender of Germany, did not get from the Russians " a clear right-of-way" to Berlin. The lack of this access, Truman said, led to the crisis over the Berlin blockade.

Truman said Eisenhower, as Army chief of staff, joined in the 1947 recommendation of the joint chiefs that "we had little strategic interest in maintaining our troops there (in Korea), and that we could well use those troops elsewhere."

Truman said he personally agreed with that decision at the time but:

"It is wrong for the Republican candidate to attack that decision now, without telling the people that he was at least partly responsible for it."

In the case of Berlin, the President said, Eisenhower was even more deeply involved.

Should Share Blame

Truman said that in 1945 he himself proposed to Prime Minister Stalin that the United States have free access to Berlin at the same time American troops were withdrawn from the Soviet zone of Germany. The arrangements, he went on, were to be worked out by the military leaders in the field.

Truman said Eisenhower, then commanding general in Europe, had instructions that American troops would not be withdrawn from the Soviet zone unless the United States had unrestricted access to Berlin.

Truman said Eisenhower "should I think, step up and share some of the blame" since the responsibility for arranging free access to Berlin rested squarely on him. Moreover, the President said, Eisenhower has worked "an injury" to our national security" by giving the impression that he himself could solve the Korean and other military problems almost overnight.

FBI Files On Kansas City Fraud Reveals 'Nothing New'

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The chairman of a House subcommittee investigating the Justice Department said Saturday that an examination of FBI files in the Kansas City vote fraud case has revealed "no new or startling evidence."

Representative Chelf (D-Ky) made the statement, he said, in fairness to Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark, who was attorney general at the time the fraud case broke.

Chelf said a member of the subcommittee had released a news story last month which might have led the public to believe that "startling new evidence might be produced seriously reflecting upon the character and integrity of Justice Clark."

The Kansas City case figured in the news last September 19. Representative Bakewell (R-Mo), a subcommittee member, announced then that some records in the case were taken temporarily from FBI files on Clark's orders. The same day Chelf and another committeeman, Representative Keating (R-NY), said Attorney General McGranery had authorized them to take a look at the files.

Chelf's Opinion

Chelf said he remains of the opinion that Clark as attorney general "used exceedingly improper judgement: (A) in ordering only a preliminary investigating and (B) in limiting the scope of that investigation when, in my opinion, a full scale investigation was warranted by the then existing facts."

The vote fraud incident goes back to the 1946 Democratic primary election in which Enos Axtell, backed by President Truman, defeated Rep. Roger C. Slaughter for renomination. Later the Kansas City Star published a series of articles charging irregularities and on May 27, 1947, thieves blasted open a Court House safe and escaped with disputed ballots and other evidence.

He had been living with his son, the Rev. Harry Smith, a pastor of the Pentacostal Holiness Church. The old man attracted attention in a restaurant near his trailer court home because of his tailored Western clothes. He wore a ten-gallon hat and carried a cane.

The cashier of the restaurant watched Smith cross the street safely, but he apparently forgot something and tried to return.

Sparkman Publicizes Income Of $89,497 In Eight Years

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator John J. Sparkman Saturday made public income tax figures placing his gross income for the last eight years at $89,497.71.

The Democratic vice presidential candidate went over his tax returns with newsmen at the Capitol. He read off figures from state and federal income tax returns for his six years 1944 through 1951.

All but around $4,660 of the $89,497 "gross" was accounted for by Sparkman's salary as a member of Congress. Other than salary, he reported rental income from a farm and a house in Alabama and dividends from mutual funds in which he has invested.

He has listed income of $900 last year from lecture fees. He said he thought this included $200 for a magazine article.

Sparkman's congressional salary for the eight-year period would add up to a total of $92,500—$10,000 a year for three years and $12,500 a year for the past five years. In reporting his gross income, however, he listed his salary after deductions for office expense.

Sparkman declined to make public the tax returns of his wife, who works in his office as a receptionist. He said that it is a "matter of principle," that she handles her own finances, and that he saw no need to "drag" her affairs into the matter.

In answer to a question, he said "I'll tell you positively that I've never transferred anything to my wife's name."

Interest In Station

Capitol attaches said Mrs. Sparkman's salary as receptionist probably was around $6,500 a year. In addition she has an interest in a radio station at Albertville, Ala. The Montgomery Advertiser has said her dividends from this investment last year was reported to be $6,501.

Sparkman disclosed his returns in answer to a challenge from Senator Richard Nixon of California, the Republican vice presidential nominee.

It all started with the furore kicked up when Nixon acknowledged that friends of his in California had contributed $18,235 to help him defray his expenses as a senator.

Nixon made a nation-wide broadcast to explain the controversial fund. He declared Sparkman and Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, should report publicly on their finances unless they had something to hide.

Grand Prairie Drys Win By 428 Ballots

GRAND PRAIRIE —(AP)— Prohibitionists dried up Grand Prairie by a 428-vote margin Saturday.

Duncanville and Cedar Hill, already dry after city elections, helped vote beer and hard liquor out of Grand Prairie in a local option election for all of Dallas County's Precinct 6.

The six boxes showed 1,986 votes for the drys and 1,558 for the wets. More than 70 Grand Prairie taverns will have to close.

Berra's Big Blunder Helps Dodgers To Victory, 5-3

NEW YORK —(AP)— Yogi Berra pulled a horrendous blunder by letting two Brooklyn runs stream home on a passed ball while the dazed catcher stood by in the ninth inning Friday. As a result the Dodgers took the World Series lead, two games to one, with a 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees on Preacher Roe's gritty six-hit pitching.

Berra's glaring error, boosting a 3-3 Dodger lead to 5-2 at the time, became an agonizing nightmare when Johnny Mize delivered a pinch-hit homer in the bottom of the ninth that would have tied the score.

There were men on second and third, as the result of a double steal following back-to-back singles by Pewee Reese and Jackie Robinson, when relief pitcher Tom Gorman threw an inside 2-2 pitch to Andy Pafko.

Berra whirled around and then stopped as the ball rolled to the screen. Reese already was winging across the plate. When the dazed Yogi failed to rush after the ball, Robinson also steamed home.

Incident Recalled

It recalled the incident of the 1941 Brooklyn-Yankee series when Mickey Owen missed a third strike on Tommy Henrich with two out in the ninth, opening the gates for a four-run rally and a Yankee victory.

If Mize had not chosen the last of the ninth for his first World Series home run, Berra's misplay would not have been such a factor, but the Mize blow meant the two runs in the top of the ninth were the decisive ones.

Yogi, who nicked Roe for three hits including an eighth-inning home run, also dropped a high foul pop by Duke Snider in the eighth when Brooklyn scored its third run.

The Preacher Man from Arkansas, was a magnificent figure on the chill afternoon. Time and again he skirted disaster with the skill of a human fly scaling a skyscraper—and just as dangerously.

But he stuck in there gamely, pitching with his head as much as his arm. Only in the eighth and ninth when Berra and Mize slammed those home runs did the old Yank power erupt against the time he diverted the Yank punch into fizzling ground balls.

Yankees Burned

While Roe fiddled and the Yanks burned, Brooklyn ripped into its favorite meat — a lefthander, Eddie Lopat, who brought a shiny 3-0 World Series record into the game, was knocked loose in the ninth just before the passed ball incident. He gave up 10 of the 11 Brooklyn hits, all singles except one.

Gorman, a bespectacled rookie from Kansas City, came in with men on first and second and only one out. The Brooks pulled a double steal on him while he pitched to Roy Campanella, setting the stage for the passed ball, that first was scored a wild pitch.

It turned out the pitch hit the forefinger of Yogi's left hand. Yogi catches with the forefinger outside the mitt—a freak habit. The finger was swollen and bled at the finger nail.

Brownfield Upsets Monahans

BROWNFIELD — An underdog Brownfield eleven upset the Monahans Lobos, 19-6, before 4,000 howling fans here Friday night.

It was the first defeat of the season for the Lobos.

Monahans garnered its only tally in the opening minutes of the game. After a drive to the Cubs' 12, Arlen Nelms, Lobo back, passed to Captain Dave Hughes, who took it across the double stripes. Kenneth Reamey had his kick for point blocked.

Early in the second quarter, speedy Jerry Brown, Cub back, passed from the Lobo 10 to Jerry Anderson for a TD. Anderson ran the ball over for the point, placing Brownfield in the lead, 7 to 6.

The Lobo offense failed to click, and the Cubs drove to the Lobo 29 with Brown passing to Jackie Stockton, who stepped into pay dirt. Anderson failed to convert.

In the first minute of the third quarter, fumbling hit the Lobos and Ray Yeates, Lobo back, lost the ball on his 9. Jack Swan took the ball across the double stripes. Anderson again failed to convert, making the score 19-6 in the Cubs favor.

The fourth quarter saw the Lobos come to life and play in Brownfield territory during the entire period.

The Lobos got to the 1-yard marker at one time, only to see their offensive game stopped by a nine-man Cub line. Later in the fourth, the Lobos went to the Cubs 14 to again lose the ball on downs. The Cubs took over on the 14-yard marker and punted to their own 41.

The Lobos took over and drove to the 20, only to have Nelms' intended pass to Bill Buggs intercepted by Cub Norman Jones on the Cubs 17. Brown carried the ball to Brownfield's 30 when Monahans Harry Warner recovered a Cub fumble. The Lobos then drove to the Brownfield 13 and with 19 seconds left in the game, lost the ball on downs.

It was the Flyers' second win against one loss, and the Eagles' first loss against two wins. Dayton got the deciding touchdown in the third period on an end around play by Dick Bertrand for 19 yards, capping a 77-yard march.

IN TURBULENT SCHOOLBOY GRIND—

Ray Takes In Port Arthur; Lubbock Continues To Roll

By BRUCE HENDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

They can talk about the turbulent Southwest Conference all they wish but when it comes to plain competitive head-knocking this Texas schoolboy football can hold its own with any league.

Take Ray of Corpus Christi and Port Arthur for instance.

Both unbeaten and untied AAAA giants, they squared away Friday night in what was billed as the top powerhouse game in the state. And they gave the spectators a show. Port Arthur got off to an early lead but Ray bounced back to a 19-6 victory and loomed even larger as a possible championship contender.

Meanwhile defending AAAA champion Lubbock was showing it still had plenty of strength. Lubbock whipped North Side of Fort Worth 27-13.

Defending champion Breckenridge, fighting hard to retain its crown, rose up and knocked big AAAA Abilene from the unbeaten-untied ranks in what could be termed the upset of the night.

Temple Still Rolls

But at the same time Temple, a favorite in AAA that's been stomping the daylights out of AAAA squads, continued that habit by rolling over San Jacinto of Houston 41-7. And another AAA contender, Brownwood, beat AAAA Austin 13-7.

Tyler fell from the undefeated-untied ranks at the hands of Texarkana 20-14 in another spotlighted contest.

In Class AA feature tilts matching unbeaten-untied teams Stamford drubbed Ballinger 42-13 and Huntsville overpowered Silsbee, 32-7. Silsbee previously had been unscored on.

Another contest involving an AA team saw Kermit topple El Paso High from the unbeaten-untied ranks with a lopsided 33-0 victory.

Tyler Goes Down

In Class A previously undefeated-untied Hull Daisetta battled undefeated but tied Dayton to a 7-7 tie. Giddings, defending A champion who hasn't been beaten this season, downed AA Tyler 13-0. Wink, another A powerhouse, beat Crane 27-6 in a conference game.

In other outstanding games, AAAA Amarillo whipped AAA Plainview 44-6, Odessa beat Paschal of Fort Worth 42-7 in a game matching AAAA teams and undefeated North Dallas of Class AAAA kept its record intact by polishing off Greenville of AAA 28-6. Big, undefeated Wichita Falls of AAAA turned away AAA Sherman 31-0 while AAA Lufkin beat Orange of AAAA 19-7.

Down in the valley full-running AAA McAllen, undefeated and unscored on, blasted Pharr-San Juan Alamo 41-0 in a conference game.

Lamar Longhorns Continue To Win

The Lamar Longhorns continued their winning ways Friday afternoon, dropping Terminal, 23-12. It was the second loss of the season for Terminal.

End Fred Hallman accounted for three Lamar TD's, made on sweeps around the outside. A pass from Quarterback Lannie Smith to Larry Stanley was good for the other Longhorn tally.

Seminole Scalps Levelland, 44-13

SEMINOLE—Jackie Sparks paced the Seminole Indians to a 44 to 13 rout of the Levelland Lobos here Friday night.

Sparks peeled off touchdown runs of 5, 70, 29 and 75 yards. Although Sparks was the offensive star of the contest, Paul Sublett provided the longest run, a 94-yard effort in the second quarter.

The Lobos pushed over two scores in the third quarter. George Branch of Levelland scored from the 4-yard line, and Kenley Fortner tossed to Leroy Bishop for the last visitor score.

Young Amateur Cup Team Named

DALLAS —(AP)— The youngest amateur team in the history of the Texas Cup matches—it averages 23 years—was announced Saturday. But while it's youthful it has more ability than any cup team ever selected before, veteran golfers say.

The squad of 16 will meet the Texas professionals here Oct. 18 and 19. It will be the nineteenth time for the amateurs and pros to clash.

The pros will be determined in the Texas PGA tournament next week in Galveston.

Selected on the amateur team were:

Billy Erfurth, Wesley Ellis, Joe Conrad and Stan Mosel of San Antonio; Don Addington, Don January, L. M. Crannel Jr. and Buster Reed of Dallas; Ernie Vossler and Richard Patton of Fort Worth; Billy Maxwell, Odessa; Everett Vinsant, Wichita Falls; Edwins Hopkins and Lee Pinkston, Abilene; Raleight Selby, New London, and Bob Moncrief, Houston.

The professionals will take their 12 low men in the Texas PGA tournament and have the privilege of inviting four to round out a squad of 16. This means the pros can have such players as Jack Burke, Henry Ranson, Ben Hogan and Jimmie Demaret if those men can come here to play. Byron Nelson already has been named on the pro squad.

The amateur represent most any variety of titles. Maxwell was national champion in 1951; Crannell was trans-Mississippi champion the same year; Erfurth is Texas amateur champion with Moncrief runner-up, and the entire North Texas State College team that won the national collgiate championship is in the squad. They are Maxwell, Conras, Mosel, January and Reed.

Boros Cinches Year's Golf Money Title With $37,032

CHICAGO—(AP)—With only one official event remaining, the Miami Open, on the PGA 1952 tournament tour, Julius Boros has cinched the year's money-winning title with $37,032.97.

Cary Middlecoff is assured the runner-up spot with $30,844.98 but third place is up for grabs between Sam Snead and Jack Burke, Jr., of Houston. Snead, with $19,908.33, leads Burke by a little more than $900.

The Miami Open finish also will decide the Vardon Trophy winner. Ted Kroll and Burke are only a fraction of a stroke in averages apart.

Meanwhile, four top U. S. pros —Jimmy Demaret, Lloyd Mangrum, Ed Oliver and Jim Turnesa—will leave San Francisco October 16 for renewal of Lakes Cup matches with Australia. The 32-day Australian schedule includes tournaments in Sydney, October 22-25; Adelaide, October 27-28; Melbourne, November 12-15 and Brisbane, November 17-18.

Texas Aggies Lose By 10-7 To Wildcats

COLLEGE STATION —(AP)— A last minute Texas A&M rally fell six yards short Saturday night after Kentucky's Wildcats had used a third quarter scoring splurge to win, 10-7.

Kentucky used its backfield twins, Harry and Larry Jones, and a 26-yard field goal from Bob Bassitt to win. The Wildcats were scoreless in all but that 10-point third quarter, but that was enough to win. The Kentucky forwards turned back several Aggie scoring chances.

The Cadets rolled to the Kentucky 17-yard line as the first quarter ended on a 12-yard pass from Ray Graves to Jerry Crossman. That drive bogged down on the one-yard line.

After a Kentucky drive failed to make headway, Joe Boring took Steve Meilinger's punt on the Aggie 25 and scooted to the Aggie 35.

Then, riding on stellar Ray Graves' strong passing arm, the Aggies roared 65 yards in 12 plays for the tally.

The Aggies couldn't go as the third period started and Frank Fuller took Roy Dollar's punt on the Aggie 27. Three ground plays failed to gain but a yard there for the Wildcats and Bob Bassitt dropped back to kick the field goal to make it Kentucky 3, Texas A&M 7.

Kentucky scored again late in the period, driving 72 yards in nine plays. After an 18-yard pass, H. Jones to Meilinger, Gruner and Bell passed for 11 and 18 yards. Charlie Bell carried 18 to the Aggie 14. Felch made four and then H. Jones went for the final touchdown of the night.

Score by periods:

Kentucky	0	0	10	0	—10

Kentucky scoring: Touchdown, H. Jones. Field goal, Bob Bassitt. Conversion, H. Jones.

Texas A&M scoring: Touchdown, Jerry Crossman. Conversion, Darrow Hooper.

Sanderson Edges By Rankin, 7 To 6

SANDERSON—In a close battle, Sanderson High School edged Rankin High School, 7-6, Friday night for a District 6-B victory.

Sanderson's touchdown came in the second period with Ramon Zapeda taking a lateral from Juan Olivares and going 30 yards to the Rankin 20. Olivares then added five more and Rankin drew a 15-yard penalty to the one, from where Zapeda went over. David Mitchell converted.

In the fourth period, Jay Yocham of Rankin scampered for 50 yards before he was stopped. He then passed to Laftin to the eight, from where Goodwin plunged over for the lone Rankin score. The pass for extra point was incomplete.

Wisconsin Dumps Favored Illinois

NEW YORK —(AP)— Wisconsin took a long stride toward the Rose Bowl by humbling favored Illinois Saturday, 20-6, but it was Notre Dame which struck the most staggering blow of the second big week of college football.

The Fighting Irish, tied 7-7 by Pennsylvania a week ago, bounced back with vengeance to upset Texas' speedy Longhorns, fifth ranked in the Associated Press poll, 14-3.

Michigan State, rated the nation's No. 1 team, barely escaped defeat, winning 17-14 over Oregon State in the final two seconds on a field goal by Eugene Lekenta.

Except for the defeat of Texas and Illinois, the latter No. 2 nationally, and the terrific scare handed Michigan State, the top 10 of college football came off the various gridirons without mishap. Maryland, California, Southern California, Kansas and Duke also prevailed in a day of few form reversals.

Maryland's Terrapins, unbeaten last year and winners over Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl, protected their No. 3 rating with an easy 28-0 triumph over Clemson in the so-called "Suspension Bowl." Both teams were ousted from the Southern Conference for a year for playing in New Year's Day games against orders.

California, No. 4, whipped Minnesota, 49-13. Southern Cal, No. 7, turned back an improving Army 11 at Los Angeles, 22-0. Kansas No. 9, moved into a commanding position in the Big Seven Conference by toppling Colorado, 21-12, on Charlie Hoag's three touchdowns. Duke, No. 10, held mighty Tennessee to two first downs in stopping the Volunteers, 7-0.

Wisconsin carried a No. 8 national ranking into the game at Madison, Wis., against Illinois' defending Big Ten champions. Rookie quarterback Jim Haluska passed to one touchdown and directed his mates to two others in a slashing attack before a crowd of 52,071.

North Elementary's Football Team Wins

Irish Steam Scorches Texas

AUSTIN —(AP)— Notre Dame shrugged off the Texas heat Saturday and turned on its own steam to scorch favored Texas, 14-3.

Johnny Lattner brought the Irish to life in the third quarter with a pass reception from Joe Heap good for 30 yards and the first close view Notre Dame had of the Texas goal line. The ball was on the one.

Lattner plunged over right guard to shoot Notre Dame ahead, 6-3. The high hopes of Texas—ranked No. 5 in the Associated Press poll—were shattered.

The clincher, a three-yard plunge by Heap following a Texas fumble of a punt, was almost anticlimactic. Texas looked and was beaten throughout almost the entire last half.

Field Goal Made

The Longhorns got their three points in the second quarter on a field goal after moving down to the Irish 3. The Notre Dame defense was so tough that Texas seemed happy to get a field goal instead of trying for the goalline. Notre Dame, great on the defensive from the start to finish, showed no offense until the second half.

Coach Frank Leahy, who had promised not to use the 90-degree heat as an alibi if he lost, must have warmed his boys up with his halftime advice.

The Irish came charging onto the field, took the kickoff to open the third quarter, and wheeled 84 yards to the winning touchdown. Ralph Guglielmi, starting quarterback for the Irish for the first time, mixed the running of Heap, Lattner, and Fullback Neil Worden to get to the Texas 31. Then he pitched out to Heap, who dropped back and fired to Lattner.

Lattner was knocked off the field as he hit the red flag at the corner so it seemed only natural for Guglielmi to let him carry the ball over the goal on the next play.

Notre Dame continued to maul the Texas offense the rest of the way, and the Texas edge in first downs, 14 to 12, was only a reflection of a lot of wasted effort by the Longhorns in the first two quarters.

The Irish barged from their 16 to the Texas 27 in the final period, were thrown back to the 31 and punted. Texas Safety Bob Raley caught it, dropped it, and Notre Dame's Dan Shannon flopped on the ball at the Texas 3.

Heap drove over on the next play. From then on, lots of the 66,600 fans started flocking out of the stadium.

Texas	0	3	0	0	— 3

Trojans Beat Army, 22-0, With Dept

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— A spirited but outmanned Army team held Southern California to a two-point halftime margin Saturday but surrendered before a crushing ground attack and miscues in the final stages to give the Trojans a 22-0 victory.

A blocked kick that bounded out of the end zone gave USC an automatic safety, and an Army fumble on its own seven donated the Trojans a touchdown — more than enough for the once mighty warhorse to subdue the stubborn mule from West Point.

Marching to their third win of the new season and No. 2 in a row over Army, the heavily-gunned Trojans managed to travel 45 yards in 11 plays for their second touchdown. The final score came through the air. The last two tallies came in the fourth quarter.

Scoring hero was tailback Jimmy Sears. He passed for two touchdowns. A 1-yard throw to left end Ron Miller, a seven-yarder to Aramis Dandoy—and sliced two yards on a rushing play for the other counter.

South Elementary Beats West, 12-0

The South Elementary Wildcats clawed their way to victory Friday over the West Elementary squad by a 12-0 margin at the South Field.

It was a hard fought game for the complete period. South took an early lead in the first quarter when Boyce scampered around left end for eight yards and paydirt.

The other score in the game came when South's quarterback, Henry Hardaway, shook off one-half of the West team and crossed the double stripe 65 yards away.

The second half was scoreless. It was runs by Bobby Dickie and Jimmy Poteet that kept the South lads upset.

South was pushed deep into her own end of the field by the excellent punting of Jimmy Poteet.

South completed one pass for 15 yards and had one intercepted. West completed none out of two attempts.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. —(AP)— The Rochester Red Wings of the International League won the Little World Series Saturday night by beating Kansas City of the American Association for the third straight time, 6-4.

Jackets Ramble By SMU, 20 To 7

DALLAS —(AP)— Those twin running terrors of the South—Leon Hardeman and Bill Teas—shattered SMU's ramparts for a 20-7 Georgia Tech victory Saturday night.

They slashed and tore the Methodist line for more than 100 yards each in carrying the Yellow Jackets—unbeaten now in 17 straight games—to a decisive triumph ts 41,000 watched.

The Jackets leaped to a 20-0 lead in the first half and slowed down in the second half as the SMU sophomores, spearheaded by Roy Pace, a lean 170-pounder with rubber in his legs, swept yards to a touchdown and threatened again. But the Jackets still had sting left—they twice pushed into Methodist territory in the final period, being stalled once by a pass interception and the other time by a fumble.

Tech rolled 71 yards for its first touchdown late in the opening period with Hardeman, Texas and Larry Ruffin alternating at powdering the SMU line. Interference was called on Bill Brigman's pass on the SMU 19 and Hardeman swept right end twice to get the touchdown.

An intercepted pass set up the second Tech touchdown. Charlie Brannon gathered in a throw by SMU's Jerry Norton on the Tech 48. Ruffin, Hardeman and Texas pushed down to the Methodist 28 as the first period ended. Teas took a pitchout and ran around right end for the touchdown.

Midway of the second period Glenn Turner tried a field goal from the SMU 23 but it was wide. SMU took over and drove down to the Tech 15 before losing the ball. From there the Yellow Jackets smashed and snorted to another touchdown. From the Methodist seven Teas whipped wide around left end and cut back for the score.

Jiminez carried the brunt of the Shorthorn attack and turned in some outstanding play despite a fumble which robbed him of an early touchdown.

Bulldogs Explode Again To Rout Ysleta Team, 53-0

Threat Fails To Develop Even For Jones' B Ranks

The sensational Bulldogs of Midland High School exploded again Friday night.

They went boom-boom-boom-boom in the first quarter and then coasted on in to a 53-0 victory over the visiting Indians of Ysleta High School.

The Bulldogs kept most of their attack under wraps the last three quarters as Coach Tugboat Jones even began shoving B-stringers into the lineup and it made little difference.

But they couldn't stop the irrepressible little Jesse Hatfield, the crazy-legged Bulldog halfback who carried the ball only three times all night, scored two touchdowns and boosted his season average to 15.6 yards on every one of the 28 times he hit the line.

The little Hatfield, who can't push the needle on the weighing scales much past the 140-pound mark, set off the explosions Friday night just as he had the week before in the 61-19 victory over Fort Worth's Polytechnic High School.

On the second play of the game, he scooted around right end, twisted his way through the secondary with the help of impressive Bulldog blocking and raced to the goal line 27 yards away.

Kimsey Scores

Two minutes later, he followed the same route to pick up 46 yards more and set up the ball on the six-yard line, from where Roy Kimsey raced around his left end to score.

Dick Spencer crashed through right tackle to score one of them from 10 yards out and a minute later, after Kimsey had intercepted one of Henry Dutchover's passes, Hatfield slipped through right tackle and whirled 83 yards downfield for the fourth touchdown.

From then on it was just a matter of time and a question of how high the score would go.

And the Midland coach wasn't too anxious to run up a big score.

Not once did Kimsey, the district leading passer, attempt an aerial and not once did big Robert Keisling stretch out his arms to gather in one through the air. And after that first quarter, the game was turned pretty much over to the second and third string lads.

On the second play of the second quarter, Russell Rutledge climaxed a 68-yard drive by cutting back through right tackle and racing 17 yards to score.

Spivey Crashes

A few minutes later, Darrell Spivey crashed across from the six-yard line after Rutledge had set it up with a 19-yard pass to Paul Davis.

With Larry Friday coming in to kick successfully four extra points out of six attempts, Midland led, 40-0, at halftime.

Coach Jones reached further in his bag of material in the last half but the Bulldogs still couldn't be stopped.

Within the first two minutes of the third quarter, Jay Schlichting broke through to recover a fumble on the Ysleta 21 by Rodney Bunsen, who was back to kick.

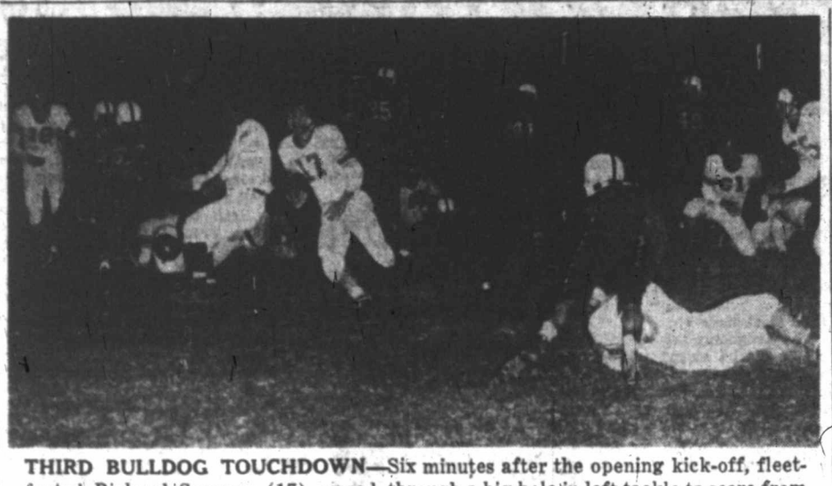

William Brooks, who connected for five out of eight passing attempts in the last half, picked up four yards through the middle and Dale Jobe raced 17 yards around left end to score.

The final counter came in the last period when Clinton Nobles crashed across from the 10-yard line after an Ysleta fumble had been recovered on the 20 by Clinton Hamlin.

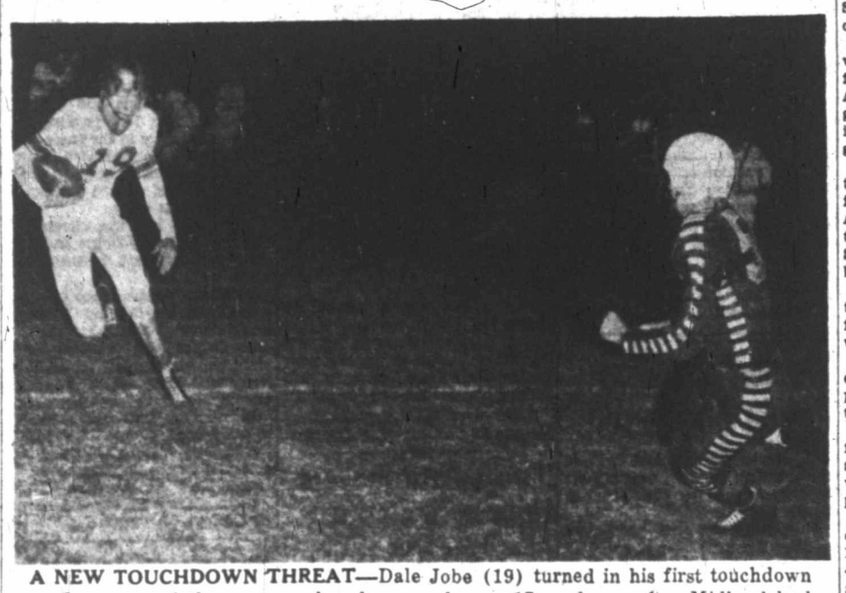

The Ysleta threat, built around Dutchover, never developed and the Indians never were closer than 25 yards to the Midland goal.

A NEW TOUCHDOWN THREAT—Dale Jobe (19) turned in his first touchdown performance of the season when he scored on a 17-yard run after Midland had recovered an Ysleta fumble in the third quarter. Jobe is shown dodging Salvador Arzola, Ysleta back, right, as he headed for the goal line.

Sweetwater Grinds Under Angelo, 44-6

SWEETWATER — A clockwork passing assault and a rock-bound defense combined here Friday night as the Sweetwater Mustangs ground the helpless San Angelo Bobcats into the turf, 44-6.

Midway in the initial period, Coach Pat Gerald's Mustangs started from the midfield stripe and moved to the San Angelo four. On the third try from there, James Butler cracked through the middle for the score. Don Reagan converted to make it 7-0. In the same quarter, a bad pass from center on the San Angelo five escaped the Bobcats to odd it up 9-0.

Early in the second stanza, Sweetwater rolled down the field again from the center stripe in seven plays. A Butler pass to Angel Olvera was good to the three, and Olvera ran it over from there. Extra point was good.

The Bobcats grabbed their first tally of the season on a long pass from Bobby Joe Walker on the San Angelo 40 to Lord, who shook loose to cover 30 yards and score. Mickey Sallee's conversion effort was blocked.

Just before half-time, a Sweetwater Feagan-to-Olvera pass connected for 40 yards and a TD. Reagan converted to make it 23-6 at the half.

In the third quarter, Feagan passed to Byrd for a long gain. Olvera pushed it over from the 10 for a tally. Reagan converted.

Another Sweetwater touchdown followed in the fourth period when a 27 yard pass play by Mark Bishop was good. Reagan added the extra point.

The final score of the slaughter came on another pass play from Reagan to Bishop from the Mustang 45. Reagan made his fifth conversion attempt to end the scoring spree of Sweetwater.

Lord, a substitute end filling in for the injured Harold Wills, was outsanding for the Bobcats. His 60-yard pass play was the solitary highlight of the game for the unfortunate San Angelo eleven.

Sweetwater completed 13 of 22 passes for 249 yards, and piled up 113 yards on the ground.

Fancy Broncs Paste Paschal

ODESSA — The Odessa Broncs submerged a fighting Fort Worth Paschal eleven here Friday night in a touchdown rampage that ended 42-7.

The fancy Broncs scored in every period. Tommy Harris and Dale Sherrod paced the speedy Odessa aggregation. Harris personally accounted for three TDs from inside the 10-yard line. Sherrod returned an intercepted Fort Worth pass 32 yards to the scrimmage line, and shook loose for 35 yards in the third period to make the tally.

Kenneth Wineburg heaved one 15 yards to Swain Adams for the second period Odessa score. Robert Baker enjoyed a perfect night, making good on six tries for the point after.

Paschal racked up their consolation TD on a 38-yard pass from Albert Paschal to Robert Crow. Don Burns made the extra point.

Iraan Braves Defeat Owls In Wild Tilt

IRAAN—The Iraan Braves axed the Reagan County Owls here Friday night 32-20 in a hotly contested tilt that resembled a prize fight more than once.

Two players were ejected from the game for unsportsmanlike conduct—one each from Iraan and Big Lake. Larry Smith, Owl guard, suffered a broken leg in the third quarter after a pile-up.

Iraan scored first in the initial period on a 45-yard pass play from Donnie Belcher to Bobby Locker. Bill Madden converted.

In the same stanza, Iraan halfback Gary Monroe intercepted a Big Lake pass and raced 45 yards for a tally. The extra point try failed.

Iraan scored again in the same quarter on a 55-yard touchdown toss from Belcher to Monroe. Again the conversion effort failed.

Sconiers Scores

Another Brace TD was made by Neil Sconiers, who went through the middle of the line from the 10 to tally, making it 26-0 at the half.

The final Iraan marker was pushed over in the third quarter when Locker went over from eight yards out. The extra point was no good.

The Big Lake Owls came out of their daze in the third period and blasted over three touchdowns, two based on Iraan fumbles. Eddie Compton carried the pigskin for both TDs, and Jackie Holmes made the two extra points.

The fourth quarter was a deadlocked affair, with no scoring, marked by a succession of personal fouls.

Hixson Leads Kermit Win

EL PASO—Don Hixson turned in an impressive performance here Friday night to pace the Kermit Yellow Jackets to a 33-0 victory over El Paso High School.

Carrying the ball only seven times, Hixson racked up 196 yards and two touchdowns.

John Bayless of Kermit pounced on an El Paso fumble in the end zone for the first touchdown in the initial quarter. The conversion attempt was good.

The second Yellow Jacket touchdown came with Bob Yost dashing 21-yards around end. The try for placement was wide. Another El Paso fumble, minutes later, resulted in Don Hamblin racing for the third score. The try for extra point was again wide. Still in the same period, Hixson galloped 68 yards off tackle for the fourth Yellow Jacket score and Barnett converted. Immediately after the half, Hixson racked up another Jacket TD. The final touchdown came in the closing minutes on a pass from James Schlosser to Tom McKelvey for 15 yards.

Wink Sinks Crane In Deft 27-6 Win

WINK—In the first District 5-A game for each team, the Wink Wildcats downed the Crane Golden Cranes, 27 to 6.

A three touchdown advantage was accumulated by the winners in the first half. Villarreal tallied the first two Wink touchdowns, and Vinson added another score in the second quarter. Dale Dodd did the converting.

Crane Juniors Play In Big Lake Next

Crane opened its season last week with a victory over Big Lake.

Scheduled games include: October 9, Big Lake, there; October 16, McCamey, here; October 13, Fort Stockton, there; and October 30, Grandfalls, there.

Stantonites Turn Back Crosbyton

STANTON — In a game played on a wet field—but with no rain—the Stanton Buffaloes took Crosbyton 13 to 7 in a football game Friday night.

Both teams did a bit of sliding around on the freshly-watered field in a close affair that was decided in the last quarter with Scooter Polk going over for a TD from about four yards out.

The initial Buffalo score came in the first quarter with Polk scooting across the goal line. The Stanton eleven failed to make the extra point.

Crosbyton came back in the third to hit paydirt when Julian Ogle took a short flat pass from J. V. Harkins. Fred Edwards, 297-pound tackle, took the ball across for the extra point.

Baylor Smashes Cougars

WACO —(AP)— L. G. Dupre, a driving, crashing sophomore, and two of the Jones boys—Allen and Glenn—pooled their talents today to bring Baylor a smashing 31-7 victory over Washington State.

Allen Jones scored the first Baylor touchdown. Glenn intercepted a pass to set up the second and Dupre rammed across the Cougar goal line three times as the Bears won their second straight game.

Washington State fought back heftily for a half and the score was 12-7 at intermission. A combination of Baylor aggressiveness and a blistering Texas sun sapped the Cougars and they were only hanging on at the finish.

Cougars Threaten

The Cougars made the first threat rambling to the Baylor 13 early in the first period only to lose the ball on a fumble. Baylor got to the Washington State 14 before bogging down. The next time Baylor got the ball it rolled to a touchdown.

It was a 76-yard surge with Allen Jones the keyman, but with a 23-yard dash by Dupre setting the ball deep in Cougar territory.

Baylor scored again with alarming suddenness. Glenn Jones intercepted a pass from Bob Burkhart and scatted to the Washington State 45. Dupre picked up four and Allen Jones sped to the Washington State two. Don Carpenter plowed across.

A fumble set up the Washington State touchdown late in the second period. Baylor had been set back to its five yard line by a holding penalty. Allen Jones crashed into the line but dropped the ball and Gregg Ribary, Cougar wingman, fell on it. Big Jim Head laced left tackle for the touchdown.

Dupre Drives Over

But the second half belonged to the irrepressible Dupre. Midway of th third period Duke Washington, Washington State's Negro fullback who was the hardest runner for the Cougars Saturday, fumbled on the Baylor 34 and Johnny Davis recovered. Jerry Coody ran to the Washington State 36. Cotton Davidson screen-passed to Dupre on the Baylor 35 and he ran to the Washington State 14. Allen Jones ground out three yards then Dupre drove over for the score.

The next Baylor touchdown came on a 48 yard drive, with Dupre going across from the 11.

The final Bear touchdown was set up by a pass interception. Wayne Culvahouse gathered in a Burkhart throw and ran to the Cougar 34. A clipping penalty set Baylor back but interferences was called on a pass on the Washington State five. Dupre swept over left guard for the score.

Ole Miss Punches Auburn Crew, 20-7

MEMPHIS — (AP) — Mississippi coupled the running of three swift backs with little Jimmy Lear's tossing to beat scrappy Auburn, 20-7, Saturday in the Southeastern Conference's only game.

Ole Miss scored first on a break with the game barely three minutes old, saw Auburn tie it up early in the second period, and then came back with a 70-yard sustained march to score and go out in front to stay. The Rebels punched over the game-clinching TD in the midle of the final quarter.

Odessa Passes Top Cowden Squad, 35-14

ODESSA — Odessa Junior High's passing game was too much for Midland's Cowden gridders, who fell before the barrage, 35-14 Saturday. The Odessans did the bulk of their scoring in a loose second quarter.

In the second half, however, the Midlanders followed the script closely and prevented the home team from making a single first down.

It was Larry Sapp who scored both Midland touchdowns to climax long drives downfield. The two added points came on a safety at the opposite end of the field.

Steady line work by Alberto Hernandez, Clyde Allison and Tommy Robison helped to hold the Odessans in check, and Bill Harris turned in a good tour of duty in the backfield for Midland.

Powerful Badgers Crush Illi, 20-6

MADISON, WIS. —(AP)— Wisconsin's Rose Bowl - minded Badgers struck with terrific power, generated by an atomic backfield, to crush 20-6, favored Illinois, defending Big Ten champion and No. 2 team in the nation.

Rookie Quarterback Jim Haluska passed to one touchdown and directed slashing Fullback Alan Ameche and fleet Halfback Harland Carl to two others in a complete humiliation of the Illini before a record 52,071 crowd.

Managers Selected For Golden Cranes

CRANE—Coach Dan Andereg has named two managers for the Golden Cranes.

49ers Favored To Take Texans

DALLAS —(AP)— The San Francisco 49'ers baptize Dallas' Texans into the National Conference of the National Football League here Sunday and the immersion is expected to be quite complete.

The Texans, making their start in their own division of the professional circuit, meet the very team that's favored to win it.

Dallas played its first game last Sunday, clashing with the New York Giants of the American Conference, also a favored team. The Giants won 24-6. This game counted in the championship race although it was against a team of another division.

The last time San Francisco failed to win a game was in New York last year and the New York Yanks, predecessors of the Texans, held the 49'ers to a 10-10 tie to knock them out of a tie for the conference title.

The 49'ers will present one of the finest one-two punches at quarterback in the league with the left-handed magician, Frankie Albert, splitting time with Y. A. Tuttle. Joe Perry, 210-pound speedster, is regarded as one of the best fullbacks in the league. He teams with J. R. Boone and Hugh McElhenny to present one of the finest sets of running backs in the pro circuit.

The Texans showed a top offense in their game with the Giants but couldn't take care of the passing of Charley Conerly and the running of Eddie Price. They'll be facing more such throwing in the game with the 49'ers.

Coach Jim Phelan of the Texans has juggled his lineups aimed at coping with the all-around offensive power of the 49'ers, with Sherwin Gandee, rookie picked up from Detroit, and Hamp Tanner, huge tackle acquired from the 49'ers, due to be in the defensive array.

Dan Edwards, offensive wingman, is out of action with a knee injury and for the second straight week the Texans won't have the services of Don Colo, ace defensive tackle.

Mize's Homer, Reynolds Pitching Bring Yanks Series-Even Victory

Allie Reynolds

NEW YORK —(AP)— Once again big John Mize came back to haunt the National League with a crushing home run Saturday as Allie Reynolds rammed a four-hit shutout down Brooklyn throats to square the World Series with a 2-0 New York Yankee victory in the fourth game.

Mize, nearing his 40th birthday in the gloaming of a glamorous career, jerked the 71,787 Yankee Stadium mob to its feet with a towering blast into the lower right field seats in the fourth inning.

Bouncing back from his opening day loss to rookie Joe Black, Reynolds fired his singing fast ball and dancing curves past the bewildered Dodgers to claim 10 strikeout victims, only three short of Howard Ehmke's great record in 1929.

Fifth Series Win

With this tremendous pitching job, Roynolds earned his fifth World Series triumph, more than any active major leaguer. All Dodger hits were singles and never did more than one come in the same inning.

Cutting through the heart of the Brooklyn batting order with the skill and cunning of a proven ace, the 34-year-old Reynolds fanned Jackie Robinson three times and Roy Campanella and Andy Pafko twice each.

Reynolds added Billy Cox, pinch-hitter Rocky Nelson and Black, his pitching rival, to the strikeout list.

From the very first inning when he pulled himself out of trouble by blazing a called third strike past Robinson and whiffing Campanella, Reynolds was superb. In fact he started the game by whiffing Cox but Pee Wee Reese's single and Billy Martin's wild throw put him in a jam. He didn't need any help to get out.

Great as was Reynolds' stronghearted pitching job, that man Mize captured the hearts of the crowd this crisp, sunshiny afternoon.

Manager Casey Stengel dragged Mize off the bench to deliver a pinch homer Friday in a lost cause. So Saturday he benched Joe Collins, who had gone hitless in 11 attempts and started the hulking tobacco-chawin' vet.

He Strokes One

With Reynolds and Black knotted in another terrific struggle, Mize came up to bat as lead-off man in the fourth. With the count one ball and two strikes, he stroked one some 10 or 15 rows back in the lower right stands.

Mize, the leading active major leaguer in home runs with 355 in regular season play, bounced a double into the right field seats for his 1,999th hit. That includes his series, All-Star game and regular season base hits since he first hit the majors in 1936.

When the big fellow from Demorest, Ga., finally retired for a pinch runner in the eighth, a mighty cheer rattled windows in passing elevated trains.

It mattered little that the Yanks blasted home an "extra" run in the eighth on Mickey Mantel's 450-foot triple off relief man Johnny Rutherford and Reese's wild peg on a relay throw.

Mize did it and Reynolds locked the door. That was the story of this fourth game. With the series even at 2-2, the clubs now will return to Ebbets Field Monday for a sixth game following tomorrow's Yankee Stadium finale. If they need a seventh, it also will be played in Brooklyn. Tomorrow's game will start at 2:05 p.m. EST.

Blackwell Called

After Reynolds' fine victory with only two days of rest, Stengel named Ewell Blackwell, the ex-Cincinnati whip, to do the honors Sunday. Blackwell was 1-0 with the Yanks, working only 16 innings after he was waived out of the National League August 28.

Black, also trying to come back with only two days rest after his brilliant opening win, was not as sharp as he was Wednesday. Still he allowed only three hits—a homer and two doubles—in his seven inning say. He walked five and had men on base in every inning except the seventh.

A sensational one-handed stab of Yogi Berra's long drive by Duke Snider near the auxiliary scoreboard in right field saved Black from further trouble in the fourth. Berra, still smarting from Friday's two-run passed ball "boner," was the next batter after Mize hit his homer. He actually hit the ball farther than big Jawn but the 400-foot poke was caught by the agile Snider.

Reese, on a hitting rampage in this series, plunked a single to left center with one out in the first inning, after Reynolds had fanned Cox.

Martin Stumbles

On Snider's sharp double play rap toward second, Billy Martin appeared to catch his spikes in the dirt. He stumbled, grabbed the ball and tried an underhand peg to Phil Rizzuto. The throw sailed over little Phil's head into short left for an error that put men on first and third with only one out.

Then Reynolds really poured it on. Mixing his streaking fast ball with a swerving curve, the Chief caught Robinson watching a third strike. Campanella went down with a mighty swing to snuff out this early threat.

Yankee Edge Not Conceded By Brooklyn

NEW YORK —(AP)— The Dodgers were fairly well subdued after looking at Allie Reynolds' fast ball for nine innings Saturday. But they refused to a man to concede that the Yankees now hold the upper hand in the World Series.

"It just means we're now starting all over," Manager Charlie Dressen commented. "And I don't think we'll see any more Yankee pitching like we saw today.

"If it goes seven games, they'll see Joe Black again. He wasn't at all tired when I took him out. In fact, he didn't want to go out."

The Brooklyn pilot was agreeably surprised when word filtered in from the Yankee dressing room that Casey Stengel had decided to pitch Ewell Blackwell in Sunday's fifth game instead of Vic Raschi.

"I remember well the last time we saw him," Charlie grinned. "He started that game in which we scored 15 runs in the first inning against Cincinnati. He wasn't around very long. We were thinking of buying him at the time, but we changed our minds in a hurry after seeing him in that one."

Alpine Beats Badger Team

ALPINE—The Alpine Bucks buried the McCamey Badgers in a touchdown flurry here Friday night that ended 32-13. The tilt was the district opener for both 8-A teams.

Alpine scored first on a TD march based on a recovered Badger fumble. Starting from the McCamey 45, the Bucks forced their way to the Badger goal line and pushed over from the middle. The conversion failed.

Another Buck rally started shortly after from the McCamey 45 again. A 30-yard pass from Duane Smith to Richardson was good for the marker.

Alpine tallied again on a spectacular play. The Badgers had pushed to the Buck 19, when Robinson rushed up to grab a McCamey pass and race 80 yards for a TD. The score at that point was 18-0.

McCamey then racked up their first tally. Charles Dixon blasted through left tackle for 27 yards and a TD. Jack Bryant converted.

Alpine started the second half with a 61-yard drive, capped by a Robinson plunge from the McCamey five. Robinson also made the point after.

The final Buck TD came on a 62-yard sally. Richardson made the final effort for the score, and Robinson kicked the extra point.

In the last quarter, McCamey picked up their final marker, starting from their own 20. Dixon went over from the one.

Approximately 20 persons are entered in the competition which will run two or three weeks.

TCU Froggies Shove Aside Stubborn Arkansas, 13 To 7

FORT WORTH —(AP)— TCU started up that rough and always unpredictable road toward another Southwest Conference football championship Saturday night by shoving aside a stubborn Arkansas crew, 13-7.

Winless and scoreless in two previous games, the TCU machine sputtered to life for this one. For a while—especially in the first half during the magic passing of Ray McKown—the Frogs moved jet engine style.

In the first half alone, McKown had 171 yards on nine of his 15 passes plus a net 56 yards running. A second half feature was his beautiful 43-yard hurl to Bod Blair, although it didn't lead to pay dirt.

Frogs Drive

All scoring came in the first two quarters, with the Frogs driving 84 yards on six plays after getting the opening kickoff.

The Fayetteville quarterback, Lamar McHan, engaged in a passing duel with McKown — but his short, successful tosses weren't so spectacular.

Arkansas had a passing gain of 92 yards to 266 for TCU.

The 22,000 fans were on their feet most of the time during the first half as the teams knocked each other about.

It was McKown they cheered, and the way he chalked 266 yards in 14 out of 24 passes and 70 net yards on 37 running plays.

Hogs Hold Edge

Arkansas had the edge rushing—but a slight edge, 111 to 147. Arkansas exhibited power in its only touchdown. Following TCU's opening march into the pay zone, Arkansas rammed back 64 yards on eight plays, featuring a 22-yard run by Back Buddy Sutton. Jack Troxwell scored.

TCU's second touchdown was made by McKown in the second period.

TCU	7 6 0 0—13

TCU scoring: Blair, McKown. Conversion, Crouch.

Bowie Sets Back San Jacinto, 20-7

Bowie of Odessa invaded Memorial Stadium Saturday to hand Midland's San Jacinto squad a 20-7 defeat, its second of the season.

Fullback Frank Midkiff scored the lone Midland tally on a long jaunt from his own 40-yard line, breaking through a good opening provided by his linemen. Larry Copper passed to Dewey Wilton to convert the fourth-quarter tally.

Aggresive work of Phillip Hubbard and "Peanut" Hammock helped to hold the Odessans' lead to 7-0 at halftime, but the young Bronchos scored twice in the third quarter.

OKLAHOMANS BURIED

Heavier Odessans Drop Cowden Team

The seventh grade football team of Cowden Junior High School was walloped 28 to 0 by Crockett of Odessa Saturday morning in Midland.

The Odessans had too much weight and speed for the locals, marching to a touchdown in the opening minutes of the game.

Cowden manuvered down to Crockett's 5 in the second quarter with an aerial attack by Gary Samford to Garland Smith. Lupe Hernandez was the ground plunger for Cowden.

Cowden and San Jacinto Junior High School will battle at 10 a.m. next Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

MINNESOTA BEATEN

MINNEAPOLIS —(AP)— Halfback Don Johnson, who scored four touchdowns, headed a host of brilliant ball carriers as California outclassed Minnesota Saturday 49 to 13. Johnson launched his great performance by taking the ball on the Bears' first offensive play and dashing 84 yards for a touchdown.

LSU Sweeps Rice, 27-7

HOUSTON —(AP)— Down-trodden LSU stole Rice's rock 'em sock 'em thunder Saturday night and added its own special brand of lightning to rack up a one-sided, 27-7 victory.

Some 45,040 sat almost in awe as the Tigers won their first game this season with a defense that was almost as good as its offense in setting up touchdowns.

Not until LSU had scored once in each of the four periods did Rice really threaten, rolling 70 yards in the waning minutes to notch its only tally.

The pin-point passing of Norman Stevens moved LSU into scoring position for its first touchdown and Willard Rachal cracked over from the one. That was the only true offense LSU mounted until Sal Nicolo twisted and squirmed 94 yards for a touchdown in the third period, but in between the Tigers bolstered their lead. A blocked punt set up this second period tally, just like another blocked kick did their final one.

Al Dogget bulled three yards for the second score and Jerry Marchand went five for the final one.

Midwestern Falls To ACC Gridders

STAMFORD —(AP)— Abilene Christian's Jimmy Hurt sparked and carried 14 times for a total of 127 yards Saturday night to lead his team to a 21-0 win over Midwestern University of Wichita Falls.

Midwestern managed to hold ACC even in the first half but the Wildcats cut loose with one score in the third quarter and two in the final period.

NEBRASKA TRIUMPHS

LINCOLN, NEB. —(AP)— A brilliant first quarter touchdown march engineered by Quarterback Johnny Bordogna and a third quarter 42-yard touchdown run by Fullback George Cifra paved the way Saturday for Nebraska's 16 to 0 Big Seven victory over Iowa State.

Stengel Changes Strategy, Blackwell To Hurl Sunday

NEW YORK —(AP)— Manager Casey Stengel, jubilant over the way his Yankees snapped back to even the World Series Saturday, switched his strategy and decided to send Ewell Blackwell, former National League pitching ace, to the mound Sunday.

Before the 2-0 victory over the Dodgers, he said it would be Vic Raschi, winner of the second game.

"Now, I have Raschi for the next day," said Stengel. "He will be better with more rest."

The two big Yankee heroes, John Mize and Allie Reynolds, took their congratulations modestly in the Yankee dressing room. Stengel was warm in praise of both.

"Wasn't Allie wonderful," Stengel beamed. "And Mize. The big boy is tough."

If the series goes to seven games, can Reynolds pitch again?

"I'm not talking about seven games," said Stengel.

Sam Houston Grid Aggregation Wins

Sam Houston Elementary School blanked Crockett Elementary School, 8-0, in a football game Friday afternoon, while in a girls' kick ball game, Crockett walloped Sam Houston, 36-7.

The football game was a nip-and-tuck affair until the closing minutes, when Sam Houston got a safety and ran the kick back all the way for a touchdown.

Ruff Ahders was responsible for Sam Houston's safety. Kenny Ballard ran the kick back 35 yards for the touchdown.

Sul Ross Wins At Homecoming

ALPINE —(AP)— It was a storybook homecoming for Sul Ross State ex-students Saturday night as they saw their team overpower Sam Houston State, 33-25, in a see-saw game witnessed by an estimated 6,000 spectators.

The lead changed hands three times in the first quarter alone in the Lone Star Conference contest.

PASSES TRIP IOWA

Here's How Yankees Evened World Series—Play By Play

FIRST INNING

DODGERS: Cox struck out. Reese looped a single to left center. Martin stumbled fielding Snider's slow roller. The second baseman attempted a throw to Rizzuto in an attempt to force Reese at second but the ball sailed over the shortstop's head into left field, Reese racing to third as Snider reached first base on the error. Robinson was caught looking at a fast third strike. Campanella went down swinging. No runs, one hit, one error, two left.

SECOND INNING

DODGERS: Pafko struck out swinging at a fast-breaking strikeout and fourth of the game. Hodges grounded sharply to Razzuto, to become the first batter to retire without striking out. Mize moved to his right for Furillo's chopper and threw overhanded to Reynolds, who covered first, for the out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

YANKEES: Berra received an ovation, mingled with scattered boos, as he stepped into the batter's box. He wore a bandage on the index finger of his left hand. Berra struck out. Woodling sliced a double past Pafko's reaching glove, the ball bouncing off the left field railing. Bauer busted his bat fouling off a pitch. Cox ran into the hole for Bauer's bounder, feinted Woodling back to second, and flipped to Hodges. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

THIRD INNING

DODGERS: Black struck out. Cox flied to Mantle who made a fine running catch for the 375-foot drive. Reese lined a scorching single off the glove of the leaping Rizzuto, the ball bouncing into left field where it was retrieved by Woodling. Reese was cut down stealing, Berra making a fine throw to Rizzuto. Reese put up a mild squawk to Umpire Passarella. No. runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

FOURTH INNING

DODGERS: Mize picked up Snider's roller two feet off first base and made the unassisted putout. Rizzuto threw out Robinson. Campanella struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

YANKEES: Mize hammered a long home run into the right field stands. It was Mize's second home run in two days and put the Yankees in front, 1-0. Snider raced out in front of the auxiliary scoreboard near the right field bullpen for Berra's 400-foot drive, made a standing leap and came down with the ball in his gloved hand for a sensational catch. Woodling fouled to Cox. Pafko came in fast for Bauer's looping fly in short left. One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

FIFTH INNING

DODGERS: Pafko slashed a ground single past McDougald into left field. Hodges walked on four pitches for the first base on balls given up by Reynolds. Furillo sacrificed the runners along, Mize fielding his bunt inside the first base line and throwing to Martin, who covered first, for the putout. The Dodgers attempted a squeeze play, but Black missed the low pitch and Pafko was hung up between third and home. Berra tagged Pafko in the ensuing rundown as Hodges took third. Black walked on a full count. It was the first base on balls issued to Black all season. Cox fouled to Berra. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

SIXTH INNING

DODGERS: Reese flied to Bauer in short right. Mantle almost lost Snider's curving fly in center in the sun but finally caught it. Robinson was called out on strikes for the second time. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

YANKEES: Mize, given an ovation as he came to bat, looked at two called strikes and a ball, then rifled the next pitch on one bounce into the lower right field stands for an automatic double. Berra went out on a high fly to Snider. Woodling was given an intentional base on balls. Cox fielded Bauer's roller inside the third base line and stepped on the bag forcing Mize. Martin popped to Campanella. No runs one hit, no errors, two left.

SEVENTH INNING

DODGERS: Campanella walked on four pitches. Pafko struck out, missing a sharp-breaking curve ball for Reynolds' eighth strike-out. Hodges rapped into a double play, Rizzuto to Martin to Mize. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

YANKEES: Reynolds went down swinging. Black scooped up McDougald's tap in front of the plate and threw him out. Reese threw out Rizzuto. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

EIGHTH INNING

DODGERS: Furillo lined a single off Rizutto's glove. George Shuba, a left-hander, batting for Black, flied to Mantle in straightaway center on a 3-2 pitch. Second Baseman Martin decoyed Furillo into thinking it was a ground ball by setting himself into position and Furillo was almost on second base before he realized the ball was hit up in the air. He retraced his steps and barely got back to first in time. Rocky Nelson, a left-handed hitter, batted for Cox and went down swinging for Reynolds' ninth strikeout. Reese chased Woodling back to the barrier in deep left for his long high drive. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

YANKEES: Johnny Rutherford, a little right-hander, went in to pitch for the Dodgers. Bobby Morgan replaced Cox at third base for Brooklyn. Mantle clouted a tremendous triple to the center field wall, the ball bouncing off the 461-foot sign. When Reese took Snider's relay and threw into the stands trying to head Mantle off at third, the Yankee outfielder scored on the throwing error to increase the Yankee lead to 2-0. Mize walked on a full count. Joe Collins went in to run for Mize. Furillo caught Berra's low liner. Morgan grabbed Woodling's slow hopper on the grass and threw him out. Bauer was called out on strikes. One run, one hit, one error, one left.

NINTH INNING

DODGERS: Collins took over first base for the Yankees. Snider went out on a high fly to Mantle. Robinson was called out on strikes for the third straight time, Campanela went out on a high bounder to McDougald inside the third base line. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Now Is The Time To Have Us Install A WHITE CEDAR FENCE

This popular home fence design is seen most everywhere, but rarely does it achieve the matchless beauty and sturdy construction of the fence we install. Pickets used in the fence shown are made from cedar taken from the body of the tree only, rather than the tops of trees which are knotty, rough and poorly shaped. All posts are treated to prevent rotting. Every fence is installed by skilled men who are thoroughly trained and who have proper equipment to do the job right. You may purchase this beautiful white cedar fence on the FHA Title I Loan Plan . . . absolutely no down payment and as long as 36 months to pay for it. We invite your inquiries and will be happy to give you a free estimate on your particular fencing needs.

You do not have to have an appointment with us, to find out where our listings are. Just phone. The best buys, right now, are GI equities, for you get a 4 per cent loan and do not have to be a GI. You see what you are buying and know exactly what the cost is, and how much the payments are. Homes cost more, now, to build than one or two years ago. You get copper plumbing, extras, built up yards and most of them are on the pavement. Also close to schools.

KEY, WILSON & MAXSON'S REAL ESTATE

REPORTING THE TOP NEWS IN REAL ESTATE

As I was saying before space rudely cut me off . . . doesn't make much difference now. It SOLD.

THE GREATEST REWARD GIVEN to yourself and your family is a friendly home with friendly neighbors. Removed from the tumult and the scream of the city, this home invites the friendly phrase: "I'm going home." And this home means three spacious bedrooms, large and relaxing living room, separate dining room, family kitchen and a bath which is as large as most bedrooms. Two elongated porches, huge 2-car attached garage. Ever see pecan floors? This one has them, together with central heating and air-conditioning. 128x171, completely fenced in lawn—with tile brick. Eager water well to feed the hungry landscaping. It is a source of pleasure to escort you through this home. Please, by appointment only.

STOP BEATING YOUR WIFE. After all, maybe she hasn't heard of KEY, WILSON & MAXSON. Besides, she might not like it. But here's a home that can't be beat. Located in the N-W section, it's got the 3 bedrooms that you've been beef'n about, 1½ baths, 32 feet of den-kitchen combination, and attached garage. Distributed heating, central air-conditioning, some carpeting. Rustic kitchen cabinets and hardware, and the den portion is paneled and has a picture window. Large corner lot with paved street. It's only a year old, and priced at $17,500.

I'M NOT PARTICULARLY ELOQUENT when it comes to ad writing, so I call this home the SMORGASBORD house—because it has a little bit of everything good in it. Neatly constructed of JOHNS-MANSVILLE asbestos (lowers the insurance rate), it has two nice-sized bedrooms, lovely large living room, charming bath. The kitchen is wainscoated in pearl MASONITE, and is about 18 feet in length. Beautiful oak floors, mahogany doors, and natural-finish woodwork throughout. It ain't even had one birthday yet. Even the price is a little bit: $6,550. Can be handled for $1,750 down.

IS YOUR HOME A MODEL "T"? Houses, unlike wine, do not improve with age. Let's swap yours in on one which has nothing old about it except the builder's long experience. Constructed of rustic Grandbury stone (imported from that foreign town called Ft. Worth), it has 3 lovely bedrooms, large living room and dining room arrangement, delightfully designed tile bath, and attached garage. The kitchen is a dream in Technicolor, with tile wainscoating, natural-finish cabinets, pantry, rustic hardware, and is off-set by a breakfast area. Large trellised rear patio overlooking deep lot. It's on Michigan. $17,500.

DID YOU LOSE BY BETTING on the World Series? Well, here's where you can save enough to lose for the next 50 years. Located on a lot big enough for a baseball diamond (or putting green), this exquisitely attractive pink brick home has two huge bedrooms (one is 15 feet and the other is 15x17), a 13x25 delightful living room with simulated fireplace, full dining room, and a DREAM kitchen (with picture window in the breakfast area). Pastel-colored bath fixtures, diversified heating, washer connection, and Vent-A-Hood. Copious water well, fenced yard, crescent driveway to front door. The luxurious carpeting humbly bends to your every step. You will feel proud of this purchase at $17,500.

POT POURRI. (1) 2 bedroom Haydite brick in Town North. Only $1,966 down on a full price of $8,730.

(2) Magnificent 3 bedroom and 2 tile bath priced at $28,500 and can be purchased for $7,500 and assume 4½% loan.

(3) Lovely 3-bedroom on E. Estes with beautiful lawns and 50 trees, priced at exceedingly low $10,900.

(4) Attractive 2-bedroom asbestos home with rental unit in rear yard which rents out for $50 per month, priced bargain-basement at $10,500.

(5) A 2-bedroom beauty on Oak with Youngstown features, attached garage, all in excellent condition, priced at $10,500. Many others for your BEST deal. It takes but one phone call to locate the best in Midland.

"KNOCK ON ANY DOOR" is not the title of a real estate handbook. Try knocking for a while. See if you can equal, much less beat, this offering. Located in exclusive URBANDALE, and constructed of white chipped brick, this home has a facade of pecky cypress. Three large bedrooms, 2 beautifully large ceramic tile baths, gigantic living and dining room affair, and 2-car pine paneled garage with storage room. 22 feet of magnificence in the kitchen. Tile features, birch cabinets, washer connection, Nu-Tone fan. Beautifully lawned front and rear yard which are rimmed by a high tile fence. And, naturally, central heating and air-conditioning, luxurious carpeting. FULL DOWN PAYMENT IS ONLY $7,500, including closing costs. Assume the 4½% loan.

DID'YA HEAR ABOUT the homeless, Harvard professor who was fired because he was cross-eyed? Had no control over his pupils. Morals: be a home-owner. From the ridiculous . . .

. . . TO THE SUBLIME. This one is on Storey, but it is not a fiction. With 3 attractive-sized bedrooms, 2 tile baths, attached carport and storage. Lovely large living, full dining room, and a floor plan which will meet your most discriminating desires. The kitchen is breath-taking in beauty and convenience, with a nice breakfast area. It's cream velour brick, with a high tile fence around the rear lawn, and BBQ pit. On large lot, and the street is paved. Owner being transferred. $21,500.

DRAW A RED CIRCLE around October 7. Now promise yourself that on that date, you will call the office of KEY, WILSON & MAXSON, and ask to be shown some of our more attractive real estate deals. If you have time before this date, ask to see the interior of 302 East Estes. Re-decorated 3 days ago just for you. It has a 20-foot living room, 2 nice bedrooms; one bath. Austin Stone decorates the entrance hall and the guest closet. Rear utility porch with washer connection. Beautiful lawn, and the street is paved. $9,800.

STYMIED FOR SPACIOUSNESS? Please read this carefully—then reread it. Located relatively close in, on Kentucky, this home has 2 bedrooms and den, 1½ baths. One of the bedrooms is 13x20. The den is paneled and is 15 feet in length. The separate dining room is about 10x15, and the living room is approximately 20 feet of comfort. If you were to count it up, it would amount to about 1,300 square feet. But there is more: carpeting in the living and dining and one bedroom. Single detached garage. Lawn and fenced yard. All this at a staggeringly low price of ONLY $11,850. Now read it again.

THERE'S PROBABLY OIL under this home, but as the city regulations won't permit drilling within its limits, let's talk about the house. Located in TOWN NORTH, it is a year old, and constructed of light buff brick. Three nice-sized bedrooms, spacious living room, attractive kitchen with off-setting dining area combination, attached carport. Panel-ray heating, ducted for air-conditioning, permanent water softener, washer and electric stove connection. The street is paved. $12,750.

JUST SUBURBAN ENOUGH to give the energetic use of a lot of playground without owning it. Located off the Andrews Highway, this 6-month-old home is constructed of light brick. Two large bedsooms, den-utility room combination, with brick break, huge living room, entrance hall and guest closet, and attached garage. The cheery kitchen is a focal point of spaciousness. In excellent condition thruout. Enthusiastic water well. Washer connection. Large lot. Can be handled for about $4,000. Priced at $16,500.

HARD WATER IS HARD...

ON YOUR SOAP
Hard water uses from 2 to 3 times as much soap and produces less lather.

ON YOUR CLOTHES
Clothes laundered in hard water look grey and dingy. They wear out up to 33% faster because hard water curd weakens the delicate fibres of the fabric.

ON YOUR PLUMBING
Hard water forms scale and clogs pipes. Scale in heater coils and pipes steals heat, resulting in up to 31% higher water heating bills.

ON YOUR PURSE
Hard water is expensive on your purse. Hard-earned dollars go gurgling down the drain every month. According to recognized authorities, hard water actually costs the average family over $100 per year.

Texaco's NW Andrews Wildcat Swabs Oil In Commercial Quantities

The Texas Company has some sort of a producer from the Devonian at its No. 1-AB State, Northeast Andrews County wildcat, 15 miles northeast of the town of Andrews.

In the latest period of testing the wildcat swabbed 30 hours and recovered 249 barrels of fluid. That [illegible] was 75 per cent, or 186.75 barrels of new oil, and 25 per cent, or 62.25 barrels of basic sediment and water.

From Perforated Zone

Source of the water has not been officially reported. The production is coming from perforated zone at 12,592-6[illegible] feet.

That interval had been treated with 500 gallons of acid. Testing to clean out and completed is continuing. The fluid was standing 5,000 feet below the surface at last report.

Location is 660 feet from west and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 22, block 5, University survey.

In "Hot" Area

The new producer is three miles due west of the same concern's No. 1-Z State, recently completed Devonian discovery and it is six miles north of the Magutex (Ellenburger) field.

This wildcat drilled to the Ellenburger and found water in that horizon. It then plugged back and set casing to test and try to complete from the Devonian.

W-C Runnels Gets Two Prospectors

Locations have been staked for two new wildcats in the West-Central Runnels County area adjacent to a recently completed discovery from the Goens lime.

That discovery was Mar-Tex Realization Company of Dallas and W. Edward Lee of San Angelo No. 1 E. F. Bryan, which was completed for a daily initial production of 346.24 barrels of 46.5-gravity oil, flowing from pay in the Goens formation.

On Stubblefield Land

Mar-Tex and Lee No. 1 J. Stubblefield will be one of the two new wildcats in the Bryan region. It will be one and three miles south and slightly west of the discovery.

The drillsite is 467 feet from north and 2,130 feet from east lines of sec[illegible] 10, W. G. Saxton survey No. [illegible] A-849.

It is one mile east of Norton. The prospector is slated to drill to 5,200 feet to explore into the Ellenburger. Drilling with rotary tools is to start in the near future.

King To Drill

J. W. King of Ballinger and others No. 1 Mrs. Nora McCaughan is to be the other West-Central Runnels County wildcat.

It will be two and one-half miles northeast of Norton and 5,252 feet from the most southerly south line and 467 feet from the east line of the William H. Smith survey No. 599.

It is slated to drill to 5,000 feet, using rotary tools, unless it develops commercial production at a lesser depth. Work will be started immediately.

Cosden Starts Operation Of Big Spring BTX Plant

BIG SPRING—(AP)—Cosden Petroleum Corporation has ventured deeper into the pero-chemical waters with the beginning of production of benzene, toluene and xylene here.

The company's $3,500,000 BTX plant, which also operates as an adjunct to its refinery east of Big Spring, went on stream this week. Delivery will be made on initial orders of the products in advance of the scheduled date October 15.

Cosden is producing the chemicals, much in demand as war chemicals and solvents, from aromatics which formerly remained in but added nothing to the fuel value of raw gasoline.

First Of Its Type

The plant, which is the first of its type in the nation to go into production, is in reality a three in-one operation, R. L. Tollett, Cosden president, explained. The initial phase provides feed stock by splitting the raw gasoline and then putting the top end of the cut through a "platformer" to provide an aromic concentrate.

When the feed preparation is blocked out, the low end of the cut goes to the platformer, which derives its name from use of a platinum oxide catalyst which costs nine dollars a pound.

Instead of a low grade product impractical for fuel, the issue is a high octane (93 or better) gasoline which is returned to the refinery for blending in motor fuels.

Absorbs Concentrates

The remaining part of the operation, and the one which gives the plant its BTX name, utilizes a solvent and extraction process. Diethylene glycol absorbs the aromatic concentrates in a "stripper" column.

The aromatics then are extracted from the solvent and, by fractionation, are split into benzene, toluene and xylene. These products are in great demand both as basic chemical building blocks or as solvents.

Tollett saw in the BTX plant, which combines the udex and platforming processes, an opportunity to venture further in the chemical field. For a number of years Cosden has been selling some industrial acids and chemicals recovered in the process of deodorizing gasoline from West Texas crudes.

Expanded Markets

"We were interested in the chemical business in a mild way," he said. "Without actually going into the chemical business, this operation does provide us the prospect of expanded markets for our products. Not only will we be able to sell benzene, toluene and xylene, but we also will be adding value to our regular products through upgrading of fuels."

The BTX plant was described as a sort of hybrid operation in relation to refining and chemical production. Essentially, the processes are those of an oil refinery and thus the problem of personnel is reduced to a minimum.

Udex designed the plant so that all pumps, exchangers and other items subject to more than ordinary maintenance are on a driveway. Too, heaters and exchangers are so arranged as to reduce the amount of special alloy pipe to a bare minimum.

Daily put through is 3,200 barrels of raw gasoline. Some 850 barrels of the chemicals, or approximately a carload, will be produced.

Another 1,250 barrels will be returned to the refinery as extra high octane gasoline and the remainder, except for normal loss and that lost in a dehydrgenation process, will go back to the refinery as gasoline without aromatis which didn't make it any better fuel in the first place.

COUNTY CLERK DIES ON FISHING OUTING

BRADY—(AP)—Richard Burk, McCulloch County Clerk, was drowned in Buchanan Lake near Burnet Friday night.

He was on a fishing trip with two friends.

Stanotex Gets Oil Well In Upton Area

Standard Oil Company of Texas has completed its No. 12-119 McElroy as a producer on the east side of the Wilshire (Ellenburger) field in Central-West Upton County.

The new oil well reported a 24-hour potential of 1,350.4 barrels of 54.3 gravity oil, flowing through a three-quarter inch tubing choke.

From Open Hole

The production was from open hole in the Ellenburger. The 7-inch casing is cemented at 12,288 feet. Top of the pay is at 12,268 feet. Total depth is at 12,408 feet.

Four Ventures In WT Counties Dry, Abandoned

In Central Andrews County, Patrick A. Doheny of Los Angeles has quit his No. 1 N. N. Perkins and others at total depth of 9,435 feet. Location was 660 feet from south and west lines of section 7, block A-43, psl survey and one-half mile east of the shallow Fuhrman-Mascho field.

DST Was Taken

Scurlock Oil Company has abandoned No. 1 W. R. Powell, wildcat in Central Mitchell County, at total depth of 7,660 feet.

A drillstem test was taken from 7,509 to 7,555 feet with tool open one hour. Recovery was 10 feet of slightly gas cut mud.

It was 1,980 feet from east and 660 feet from north lines of section 83, block 27, T&P survey and seven miles southwest of Colorado City.

The Wilshire Oil Company, Inc., and British-American Oil Producing Company have plugged their No. 24-128 Spires, Southwest Nolan County wildcat, at 7,325 feet. No shows of commercial production were found in any zone drilled.

West Of Maryneal

Location was 660 feet from south and east lines of southwest quarter of section 182, block 1-A, H&TC

Top Scientist And Inventor To Speak At Mid-Co Meeting

One of America's top scientists and inventive geniuses, Dr. Charles F. Kettering, vice president of General Motors Corporation, will address members of the Texas petroleum industry in Fort Worth, October 14.

Known to his fellow laboratory workers as "Boss Ket," the scientist will speak at the opening morning business session of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association's thirty-third Annual Meeting, October 14-15, in the Texas Hotel, Charles E. Simons, association executive vice president, said.

His speech will be titled "Fuel and Engine Relationships."

Inventor of the electrical starting, lighting, and ignition systems of the modern automobile, Dr. Kettering at 76 is the recipient of 174 patents on automotive and related inventions. In 1948 he received the American Petroleum Institute's highest honor, the API Gold Medal Award for distinguished achievement.

Two-Cycle Diesel

Dr. Kettering developed the two-cycle Diesel engine, used in the railway and industrial fields. His most recent work has been on high compression automobile engines.

As a scientist, Dr. Kettering has been interested in agricultural problems, actively supporting soil conservation and research. As a humanitarian, he founded the Charles F. Kettering Foundation in 1929, which has carried on research in photosynthesis, cancer, and veneral disease treatment.

Dr. Charles F. Kettering

Cash Register

Immediately following graduation from Ohio State University in 1904, Dr. Kettering became a designer and inventor for the National Cash Register Company. To him goes the credit for the electric cash register, the telephonic credit system, and numerous improvements in accounting and calculating machinery.

Following his invention of the Delco-Light farm electrification system, he established a private research laboratory which in 1925 became the Research Laboratories Division of General Motors Corporation in Detroit. Under Dr. Kettering, this organization was responsible for several contributions to the automobile, including tetraethyl lead, lacquer body finishes, crankcase ventilation, and others.

He is still active in General Motors' Research Division.

12 Britons, Scots Study Oil Industry Methods In Midland

A friendly invasion of 12 British nationals came to Midland last Wednesday. The group was Anglo-Iranian Oil Company supervisors, here for intensive training under the guidance of the University of Texas Petroleum Extension Service. They will attend three schools, two in the West Texas area and the third at Kilgore.

The Britishers are divided evenly, six Englishmen and six Scotchmen. According to Bill Irvine, spokesman for the delegations, this factor causes some lively discussion on the current drive by Scotland for home rule in domestic matters. All of the men have been in Iran, and they said conditions there may allow their eventual return.

Questioned about the Iranian situation, the Britons agreed that the conflict over oil between the Teheran government and the British Empire largely was instigated by Persian army and government officials. As one of them said, "If it were left to the workman in Iran, we would still be there."

They reported no difficulty in the British evacuation of the Middle Eastern nation. The Iranian troops protected British nationals, and the 12 men had no trouble through riots or other disturbances.

Untidy Mountains

The Britishers characterized Iran as a hot country in Summer, with temperatures up to 120 degrees, but they said the Winters are pleasant. They reported it was a difficult country to operate in, since its mountainous terrain made road building a tedious task. As one man said, "Iran is a mass of untidy mountains."

The men showed a lively interest in the American political scene. They wanted to know whether or not Eisenhower was expected to carry Texas in the coming national election. As to British politics, there were both Laborites and Conservatives in the group, and a variety of shades of political beliefs were present.

They came here from Oklahoma City. For eight of the supervisors, this was their first visit to the United States. The training courses are being conducted under the sponsorship of the AAODC, the American Association of Oil Well Drilling Contractors. Purpose of the schools is to teach techniques in handling various types of muds.

They Like Texas

The Britishers liked Texas, and they were interested in knowing the relative importance of the oil industry in this state. They were puzzled on one point—why Americans seemed to know instinctively that they were foreigners before they had even heard them talk.

After their training here, six will stay in West Texas for three months, and six will travel to the Texas Gulf Coast for assignments. After that, the territories will be reversed to allow the Gulf Coast supervisors to come to West Texas for another three month period, while the West Texas group go out to the Gulf Coast area.

The school schedule is as follows:

October 6-10, rotary drilling fluids course at Midland; Phil Blackburn instructing.

October 20-24, treating oil field emulsions and handling and running casing at Kilgore with Jack Mosley and Dick Dailey as the teachers.

More than 6,500 men have attended the mud school courses conducted by the University of Texas in 19 oil producing states plus the Canadian province of Alberta, since they started in 1946.

Well Completions Slip To Low Mark Compared To 1951

AUSTIN —(AP)— Texas oil well completions, which have been declining gradually after hitting a peak early this year, now total less for 1952 than the comparable period of 1951.

This week marked the first time that the year's total was lower than on the same date in 1951.

Drillers brought in 159 oil wells.

There were 23 gas well completions, and this field of activity also registered a smaller yearly figure than in 1951, 656 to 666.

Operators reported 121 dry holes.

Plugging included 121 dry wells, two gassers and 50 oil wells.

The total average calendar day crude oil allowable today was 3,281,893 barrels, up 5,642 from a week ago.

New Approach To Foreign Oil Problems Needed, According To Speaker At AIME Meeting

Foreign oil operations in the post-war period have become so complex and so subject to conflicting political and economic pressures that a new and constructive approach to problems of foreign oil is "absolutely essential" if the free world is to safeguard its position.

This is the view of Walter J. Levy, New York economic advisor and petroleum consultant to both private industry and the United States government.

Levy addressed his remarks on the free world's oil supplies to some 1,200 petroleum engineers and petroleum geologists at the recent annual Petroleum Branch, American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, Fall meeting in Houston.

"Foreign oil has gained an ever greater importance in the oil supply of the United States and other nations of the free world," Levy said. "Since 1948, net imports of oil into the United States have risen greatly, and U. S. proven crude reserves, at 27,500,000,000 barrels, now amount to only 29 per cent of the free world's total."

Of Tremendous Importance

The fact that the United States and Great Britain are the producers of almost all the foreign oil of the free world is thus of tremendous importance, he added.

During the war, Levy served as chief of the petroleum section of the Office of Strategic Services and was a member of the Enemy Oil Committee under the joint chiefs of staff. He was a member of the U. S. State Department negotiating group for the trade discussions with Sweden in 1945 and in the same year was a member of the U. S. world programming group on petroleum with responsibility for foreign civilian petroleum requirements.

From 1946 to 1948, Levy acted as

Drilling Activity In PB Continues To Grow

Another slight increase in rotary drilling activity was recorded September 25 by the semi-monthly Reed Roller Bit Company survey of drilling in the Permian Basin of West Texas and New Mexico.

The two-week period from September 10 showed an increase of two from 494 in the area covered by the survey.

One year ago there were 678 rigs operating in the same area.

Lea County, N. M., continued to lead all other counties with a total of 116 rigs going. The same county had 109 on the previous count.

Following Lea County was Reagan and Upton, with 39 and 38 respectively.

Midland County showed a loss from 22 on September 10 to 15 September 25.

Andrews County was about normal, though a two-rig loss was recorded in that area bringing the total down to 30.

WASHINGTON OIL—

Drive For Decontrol Of Prices Heads For PAD

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The drive for decontrol of prices of crude petroleum, now before two government agencies, is headed for the Petroleum Administration for Defense for the decisive opinion.

That became clear with reports that Russell B. Brown, counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, appears certain that only if PAD goes to bat can price controls be thrown off soon.

Thus, the association is believed ready to insist, either by letter to the petroleum agency or other means, that the PAD give its views officially and, probably, publicly.

On the other hand, the petroleum agency wants no part of the problem. In fact, there is evidence that it pleaded with the Office of Price Stabilization some time back, to be left out of any decisions on crude oil price adjustment.

Beyond that, there is the matter of personal relations. Thus, J. Ed Warren, deputy head of the PAD, and the agency's top administrator, is a former president of the IPAA. Like others in the agency, Warren also is himself a producer of crude oil.

A hands-off-prices statement was issued recently by Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman, who also is petroleum administrator. The statement did point out, however, two ways the agency could be brought to consider oil prices.

Effect On Supply

One way, said the secretary, is if the OPS asks an opinion. The other is if the price situation is having "a direct, immediate and far-reaching effect on supply."

A tipoff that the IPAA tends to use one or both of these cracks in the door came as the association opened a new drive last week for decontrol, following blunt refusal of the OPS to give relief.

Brown wrote Tighe E. Woods asking restudy, and pointed out that the turndown came without a check with PAD, "the agency primarily having the primary government responsibility as to petroleum supplies under the defense program."

In a second letter, that may turn into a move to by-pass the OPS, Brown asked the help of Henry H. Fowler, head of the Office of Defense Mobilization, and second only to President Truman on price, wage and other defense matters.

Brown pointed out that the "normal incentives" have been denied oil producers, at a time when they are given others in and out of oil, that steel and labor costs have gone up, and that, due to the steel strike, oil well drilling is behind the targets.

Decontrol Necessary

He asserted that decontrol of petroleum prices is necessary to obtain the maximum development of production of oil in the United States to meet defense requirements. At the same time, he said, there is "no danger of run-away or unreasonably price increases."

Brown also suggested a meeting with Fowler about crude prices. The gussing is that Fowler will agree.

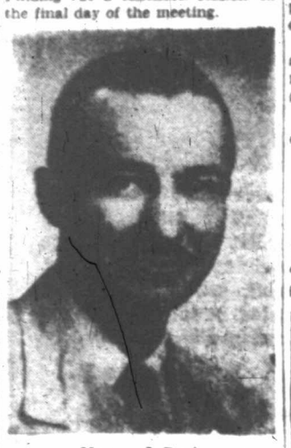

Exactly how the IPAA may go after PAD's views is yet to be seen. It could ask them in an open letter to Secretary Chapman or to Warren. It could insist that OPS and ODM ask the petroleum agency before coming to a decision.

The entry of PAD into crude price issue would insure sympathetic treatment of the views of crude petroleum porducers. However, the conclusions the PAD might reach cannot be foretold at this time.

AAPG President Is Slated To Address Independent Meeting

OKLAHOMA CITY — Morgan J. Davis, president of American Association of Petroleum Geologists, will be among principal speakers at the annual meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of America here October 23-26.

He will discuss "Progress In Oil Finding" at a luncheon session on the final day of the meeting.

Morgan J. Davis

A native Texan, Davis is vice president and director in charge of exploration of Humble Oil and Refining Company at Houston. He joined Humble as field geologist in 1934.

He received his first training in geology at Texas Christian University, later transferring to the University of Texas. In 1947, he was selected to attend Harvard University graduate school of business administration successfully completing the advanced management program.

A member of AAPG for 26 years, Davis has served on the education committee and as a director of the association's research fund. He is a member of the Geological Society of America, American Geophysical Union, American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, and American Geographical Society.

Industry Squeezes More Oil From Old Wells; Output Soars

WASHINGTON —(AP)— More and more oil is being squeesed from old wells, adding appreciably to the nation's petroleum production.

This kind of production is known in the industry as secondary recovery. These operations, improved and expanded in recent years, include such methods as water or gas repressuring after a well quits pumping oil.

Government and industry research engineers are experimenting for even better methods of secondary recovery. They would like to get practically every drop of oil any well has to offer.

In addition, they are seking lower cost methods of recovering remaining oil from subterranean formations.

Half-Million Daily

Oil men estimated at a Congressional hearing in 1951 that about a half-million barrels of oil daily, then was coming from this type of production. They said this output could be increased considerably.

Industry sources estimate that seven to 10 million barrels of oil remain underground in depleted and semi-depleted fields.

The Bureau of Mines says secondary recovery was originated in the Appalachian areas in the 1920's and later spread westward.

These methods have been accepted in some fields in Oklahoma, Texas and Louisian, and interest is being shown in them in California and Arkansas, according to industry representatives here.

Newer Methods Tried

One of the new methods under study involves use of detergents designed to release adhesive forces which cause some oil to cling to sands. Heated water also is being tried. And one company is reported to have tried dry ice but to have made no report on the experiment.

Since the 1920's, engineers have improved recovery by studying the formations in various fields to determine the most effective way of getting more oil from each.

The Bureau of Mines has experiments under way at its Franklin, Pa., station to determine if heated water would have an effect on the wax content of oil and permit added production.

At the bureau's Bartlesville, Okla., station, studies are being made of forces that hold unrecovered oil in place underground.

In some fields, gas is put back into the sand as oil is taken out in order to keep the wells in primary operation for a longer period.

Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, has reported to members of the organization that dismissal of its oil price decontrol petition by Price Stabilization Director Tighe Woods was without adequate consideration.

The association has asked reconsideration.

Brown said that since taking office September 1 Woods has spent much of his time touring the nation "in support of the price control program."

"We cannot help but feel that because of Mr. Woods' activities outside of his office he has not familiarized himself with the material in our brief," Brown wrote. "His action in dismissing our petition therefore would indicate it resulted from uninformed judgment."

G-MEN OF OIL INDUSTRY—

Glamor Goes Out Of Scout Job; Education Counts Now

By FRANK CORTESE

HOUSTON —(AP)— The modern day oil scouting profession has gone to college.

Gone is the old-time oil scout who used to be "a fast dealer with a pint of whiskey on his hip, a map under his arm and a talking interest in three wells."

In his stead stands a combination diplomat, businessman and psychologist—the college graduate who has taken over in a game that has lost its glamorous flavor and settled down to more or less a routine.

It used to be that oil scouts had to ride horseback to that "tight" well, steal core samples, electric logs, or even resort to bribery to get needed information. "It used to be a pretty rugged life," says Bill Brown, a former oil scout for Shell Oil Company and now a landman for Shell.

Today, the scout's main source of information is the "scout check," where once a day, the scouts for the various oil companies get together and exchange information on various counties in their division.

They spend two days in the field digging for information, then go to scout check, and the final day of the week the spend in the office spotting new wells and writing up information on both wells and leases. That goes on week after week.

But while the oil scout's job has lost its glamor, the scout still is "the eyes and ears of the oil industry."

Like any good detective he tracks down all clues, rumors, new wells. He's the guy that has to know everything about the oil game outside of marketing and refining—quite a guy this super-snooper sleuth of oil leases, land developments and well information.

There aren't any soft touches in this league. The oil scout, on occasion, really scratches for information about wildcats, lease buying and buyers, finding out about core samples and 1,001 items that his company wants to know about.

They have to keep track of where the opposition has geophysical crews, the name of the crew chief and how long they have been in the area being prospected.

On real "tight" wells they have to find out when the wells have started, where pipe is set, if and when cored, get the core record, reports of drillstem tests, electrical logs, sidewall cores and how they are running in relation with other wells.

Today's scout is a talented man. He either is a combination oil scout-geologist or oil scout-lawyer. Clyde Hambline, 28-year-old Houstonian is a scout-geologist for Union Producing Company and works at both jobs.

Of some 50 oil scouts working out of Houston, it's hard to find one who does not have a college degree.

J. H. (Jim) Montgomery
. . . Now With Sharples

Head man at the weekly oil scout check in Houston is "Bull Scout" Bob (Tex) Furse, a former Yale football luminary. Another scout, and now a landman for Sun Oil Company, is Bobby Wilson, all-American at Southern Methodist University College trained or otherwise, the oil scout still has to combat some pretty rugged Texas terrain in order to get to some well locations. Often they have to walk long distances to get to some wildcat well location. Knee-deep mud on temporary roads is their biggest headache.

Besides being "all eyes and ears," the most important attributes an oil scout can possess are persistency, patience, friendliness and above all the ability to get along with people—that's the secret weapon of the G-man of the oil industry.

Montgomery Is To Be Sharples' Division Geologist For Basin

J. H. (Jim) Montgomery is to join the Midland office of Sharples Oil Corporation on October 20 and will be division geologist for that concern in the Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico.

He resigned a position on the geological staff of Magnolia Petroleum Company's district office in this city to accept the new connection.

He has been employed by Magnolia the past three years. During recent months he has been handling special projects.

Previously he had worked as a development and production geologist for the company in West Texas.

Montgomery took his bachelor's degree in geology from Louisiana State University and he took his master's degree in the same subject from the University of Texas.

Big Cash Awards Offered Students For Essays On Oil

Three college scholarships totaling $1,000 will be awarded this Fall to high school students writing the best essays on the general theme "What the Oil Industry Means to Me." The contest will be sponsored by the Permian Basin Oil Show, scheduled for October 16-19 at Odessa.

Oil Industry Information Committee chairmen from 24 West Texas counties have adopted the essay contest as part of their contribution to the 1952 Oil Progress Week, October 12-18, according to Joe T. Dickerson, of Midland.

Will Spur Interest

The writing competition is expected to spur student interest in Youth Education Day, the opening day of the Oil Show, October 16.

Schools are being urged to provide buses to the show for children on that day, arriving in time to see the opening parade at 10 a.m.

Members of junior and senior classes of all high schools in the Permian Basin area of West Texas and New Mexico will be eligible to compete in the essay contest, and students will not be required to attend the Oil Show in Odessa in order to enter, Dickerson explained.

Variation Allowed

"What the Oil Industry Means to Me" will be the general essay subject, although students desiring to do so may substitute a variation, "What the Oil Industry Means to ....."(my town, county, Texas, the Permian Basin, etc.)

First, second and third prizes of $500, $300 and $200, respectively, will be awarded to the authors of the three best essays. Don Payte, chairman of the Oil Show parade committee, has donated the first prize. The Oil Show also has underwritten $500.

Detai. Of Rules

Aditional rules include:

1. Essays shall be no more than 1,000 words in length and shall be typed or hand-written neatly.

2. Any high school in the Permian Basin may submit three of its best essays. If the school has more than 300 students in the junior and senior classes combined, it may submit one additional essay for each 100 students or fraction thereof above 300. A school with 450 students in the junior and senior calsses, for example, may submit five essays for consideration.

3. Entries must be postmarked no later than midnight Nov. 21, 1952. They should be mailed to the Oil Industry Information Committee, P. O. Box 4232, Odessa.

4. Upon receipt of the papers, the OIIC chairman will remove the fly leaf from each essay and number the fly leaf, containing the contestant's name, and the paper itself with a corresponding serial number. The chairman will then file the fly sheets in numerical order and forward the essays, which will bear no identification except the serial numbers, to the judges.

5. Winners will be announced upon final decision by the judges.

No Strings Attached

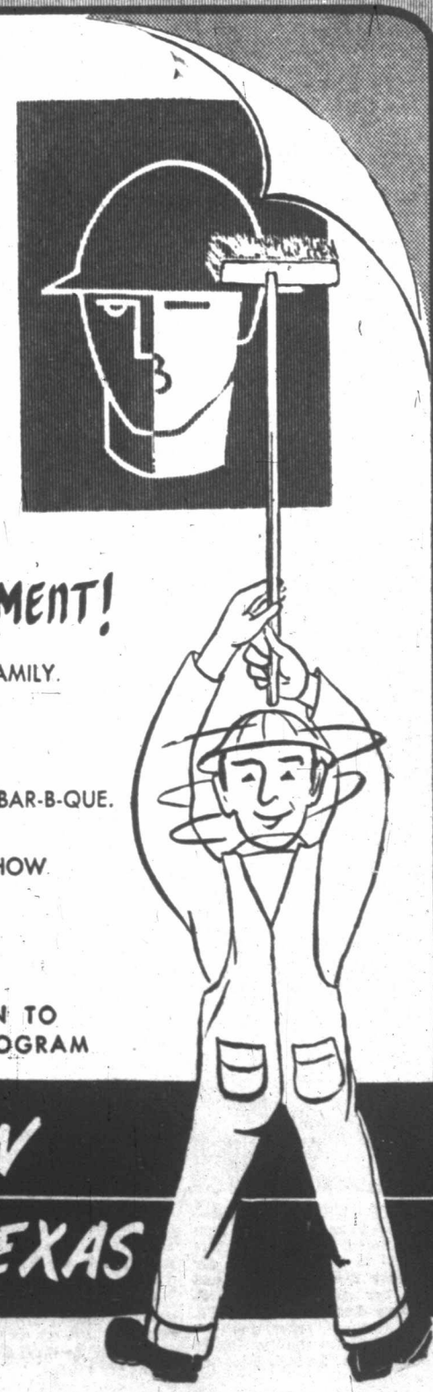

6. No strings will be attached to the prize money except that each amount will be awarded in a lump sum to the winning student upon proof that he or she has enrolled in an accredited two- or four-year college of his own choice.

Oil, Gas Expert Holds Key Post In European Programs

By GRACE HALSELL
Special Reporter-Telegram Writer

PARIS—A former Texas oil and gas consultant, Fred L. Anderson, today holds a key position here in America's effort to promote three major European achievements—to make Europe strong economically, militarily, and to speed her on toward political unification.

A former consultant on oil and gas matters in Texas and the Southwest, Anderson now holds the title of deputy United States special representative in Europe with the rank of ambassador.

The special representative is the permanent United States member of the North Atlantic Council and also directs all U. S. aid to Europe, economic and military, under the Mutual Security Agency.

Ambassador Andersdn's job is a delicate combination of the political, the economic and the military.

As a former major general and heavy bombing expert, Ambassador Anderson can evaluate and appreciate the military position and requirements of Europe. As a businessman, he can understand its economic position. Added to these is a political sense or what the military call "leadership."

Fred L. Anderson

Above all, Anderson has an overriding belief, which he communicates to others, that the program of strength we are striving for in Europe is absolutely necessary—and absolutely possible.

The former Texas resident is a big man physically, with a quiet gentleness of manner and a voice so low his friends occasionally have to strain to catch his words.

Persuasive Logic

He has greatly persuasive logic, and the ability to convince others that the "common sense plan" is the right plan. His ideas and strong beliefs in a unified Europe are contagious.

"I doubt if most of America realizes," he said, "how far along the road to unification Europe has come in the last year or two. The Schuman Plan for pooling Europe's steel and coal resources, the European Defense Community which is forming a united European army, navy and air force, the European Assembly which we hope will be a forerunner of a central governing body—all of these things have happened in a matter of months."

Anderson retired from the Air Force in 1947—but his next goal for retirement is probably after Europe is unified.

"No one man will bring about a unified Europe," he said, "just as no one man can stop it. It is a matter of political and economic revolution, a force of progress. Having Europe cut up into a dozen little states is attempting to continue living an out-moded way of life. The thinking men of Europe realize this fully. The great strides that have been made toward a European federation are ample proof of it."

Overseas Shopping Plan

OSP, sometimes known as the "Overseas Shopping Plan," is the device whereby the American government purchases part of our NATO military commitments in Europe. These are "end items," that is, finished military equipment, to be used by NATO forces.

(There are 12 countries in NATO, aside from the United States and Canada, six additional countries in the Organization for European Economic Cooperation, Yugoslavia and Spain—or a total of 20 countries—with which the office of the United States special representative deals on one basis or another.)

If the items of the Off Shore Procurement program involve a great deal of hand labor, they usually can be bought more cheaply in Europe, Anderson said.

They usually are items the country concerned produces in surplus. But, above all, he pointed out, the program broadens the base of armament production, making more items available in more places, and reduces Europe's general dependence on American production.

As an example, he said that during the last war Germany systematically and thoroughly destroyed the European ammunition industry. Until recently, America has been the only supplier of almost all forms of ammunition. If war should come in Europe—or just for normal supplies for the NATO countries here—the cost of transporting ammunition across the ocean is enormous and the risks and delays are great.

"Close To The User"

Through OSP, the industry is being restored to Europe, placing the supply close to the user.

"The situation in the aircraft industry here is another example," said Ambassador Anderson.

The United States is supplying the great majority of war planes used by the NATO forces on the continent. There is little actual military aircraft production in Europe, except in England.

"In three or four years the planes we are contributing are going to be worn out. Meantime, without production orders, the now-available aircraft plants in Europe will have been abandoned or will have converted to other manufacturing.

That means the U. S. either would have to continue giving planes to Europe (Europe not having the dollars to buy them), or that Europe would go unarmed.

"So, under OSP, we have allocated $225,000,000 to purchase European planes designed and produced in Europe. Actually the entire program calls for building $400,000,000 worth of fighter aircraft, with the U. S. supplying 60 per cent of the money—the $225,000,000—and the countries doing the manufacturing furnishing the remaining 40 per cent."

Anderson Looks Ahead

In that way, Ambassador Anderson said, "we can look to the day when Europe will be supplying its own planes, as well as other military material, entirely without American aid."

Anderson added that "Just incidentally, a fighter plane is one of the Off Shore Procurement items which can be bought over here more cheaply than a comparable plane can be purchased today in the United States."

A graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, Anderson made his home in Dallas with Mrs. Anderson and their daughter, Mary Winn, and son, Travis.

He formerly was consultant on oil and gas matters in the Southwest for Hornblower & Weeks of New York.

Ambassador Anderson was 47 Saturday, October 4, a day he celebrated with "work as usual" scehdule toward the three major achievements for Europe.

survey and nine miles west of Maryneal.

In southwest Runnels County, Eagle Prduction Company has plugged and abandoned its No. 1 Curtis Poyner on plugged back total depth of 4,237 feet. It was drilled to 5,216 feet before plugging back.

Top of the Strawn was at 4,200 feet and the Ellenburger was entered at 4,990 feet. Elevation was 1,762 feet.

It was 680 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of section 338, Aurbauck survey and eight miles east of Bronte.

Two Spraberry Testers Staked In East Upton

Locations for two new Spraberry sand developments have been staked in East Upton County. One of the projects will be in the Benedum area and the other is to be in the Pembroo North area.

Sharp Drilling Company of Midland No. 2-12 Union-Atlantic is to be the Benedum (Spraberry) exploration. It is to be nine miles northeast of Rankin and 1,949 feet from the north and 660 feet from the east lines of section 12, block 38, Universiyt survey.

Drilling to 8,000 feet is to start at once. Rotary equipment will be used.

The Blackwood & Nichols Company of Midland No. 3-B Malone will be the Pembrook North (Spraberry) development.

It is located 724 feet from north and 662.3 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 44, block 35, T-5-S, T&P survey.

Rotary tools will be used to dig to 6,600 feet or a test of the Spraberry. Operations are to begin at once.

Kewanee Wildcat In SE Coke Finds McCutchen Water

Kewanee Oil Company No. 1 H. G. Wendland, Southeast Coke County wildcat, six miles south of Bronc encountered water in the McCutchen (Sisco) sand after having found a thin oil pay section above the water table in that horizon.

A one-hour drillstem test was taken at 3,711-25 feet. Recovery was 3,425 feet of salt water. There were no shows of oil or gas.

Has Oil And Water

The wildcat had previously flowed 19 barrels of fluid in one hour on a drillstem test of the section at 3,700-10 feet. That fluid was 60 percent salt water and 40 per cent oil.

Kewanee No. 1 Wendland is now making more hole. It started out to dig to 6,400 feet to explore the Ellenburger.

Location is 467 feet from north and east lines of the west 1,329.66 acres in section 23, Casimera Rubio survey.

Phillips Completes Dual Producer In SW Ector Sector

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1-B Millard, project one location west of a recently completed five-eighths mile northwest extension to the Penwell (Ellenburger) field of Southwest Ector County, has been dually completed as a discovery from the Waddell and as a field producer from the Ellenburger.

The Waddell section was potential for 452.36 barrels of 42.4-gravity oil through a one-half-inch tubing choke and from pay at 8,600-8,677 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 492-1.

The producer is 660 feet from north and 665 feet from east lines of section 24, block B-15, psl survey.

The Atlantic Refining Company No. 3-24 Schrock is to be a new exploration for production in Spraberry sand in the Southwest Glasscock County sector of the Driver field.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 24, block 37, T-4-S, T&P survey. It is 25 miles southeast of the city of Midland.

Drilling to 8,100 feet of a test of the Spraberry at a lesser depth is to start at once. Rotary tools will be used.

Delta Gulf Finals Another Producer In C-N Schleicher

Delta Gulf Drilling Company No. 2-D Thomson has been completed as a short extender at the south end of the Hulldale (Strawn) field of Central-North Schleicher County.

It was finaled for a daily flowing potential of 372 barrels of 39.9-gravity oil through a one-quarter-inch tubing choke and from perforations at 5,725 to 5,740 feet.

Pay was treated with 500 gallons of acid.

Gas-oil ratio was 659-1 and tubing pressure was 100 pounds.

New Approach To Oil Problems—

special assistant in the Office of Intelligence Research of the Department of State. During this period he also was a member of the U. S. delegation to the Austrian Peace Treaty Commission and was petroleum advisor to the U. S. delegation to the Council of Foreign Ministers meeting in London in 1947.

After a brief period with Socony-Vacuum Oil Company as economic advisor, he was recalled to Washing by Paul Hoffman to become the first chief of the petroleum branch of the Economic Cooperation Administration.

In talking to the nation's outstanding petroleum engineers at Houston, Levy explained that during the last few years, the development of foreign oil resources has been increasingly affected by a series of new political and economic forces.

"There is the decline of British power which had effectively maintained order in the Middle East and which had directly supported British companies in their bargaining with the oil-producing companies," he said.

The American government has been "reluctant" to assert its power in a similar manner, and the Middle East countries are keenly aware of this fact, he pointed out.

"As a corollary to this development, there is a growing desire of various oil-producing countries to subject their oil resources to their own oil policies implemented by direct national control," Levy said.

"Finally, the operations of the oil companies, which in many Middle East countries are the only large-scale modern enterprises and the primary sources of revenue, are often unavoidably the cause for new social tensions and serious economic problems."

Variety Of Pressures

In addition, the American or British companies developing foreign oil resources are beset by a variety of pressures from the producing fields in the Middle East to the markets in Western Europe or the United States," he added.

"Interested in the highest possible income, the producing country desires maximum production and price," Levy, explained. "It would furthermore prefer to have its oil refined locally, to receive as much of its income as possible in hard currency and to exercise some control over the destination of its exports."

Such policies easily may conflict with the needs of other producing countries, he added. They also may conflict with the desires of the importing countries who want to obtain oil at the cheapest price possible, to import it as crude rather than a finished product, and to remit payment in soft rather than hard currency.

More Complications

"The operating company is subject to additional pressures by the transit countries through which the Middle East pipe lines pass," Levy said.

These countries would ask for a maximum income from the pipe line operations, for coverage of their oil needs on favorable terms and for some measures of control over the destination of exports," he added.

"The United States or Great Britain, as the parent country of the company, would in its turn insist that the company's operations be in accord with U. S. or British laws and policies and that the oil be available for the free world's supply program," Levy stated. "Finally, the company must try to maintain an over-all operation that is commercially justified."

Adjustment Needed

The economic advisor said that in order to continue the effective development of foreign oil resources for the nations of the free world, it "is essential to try to reconcile all interests concerned."

"Requests and policies of each party must be limited to what is possible and feasible in the circumstances, taking into account the vital interests of the world that are at issue," Levy pointed out.

He went on to explain that any other policy by the different parties could only jeopardize their entire position in foreign oil.

"There are hopeful signs that recent actions of the U. S. Interstate Oil Compact might perhaps, as a first step, point the way to a future Pan American approach to the problems of Western Hemisphere oil," Levy said.

"Such an approach based on voluntary cooperation within appropriate fields may well become one of the most important foundations for the solidarity of the Western Hemisphere."

Similarly, he added, in the Eastern Hemisphere such developments as the Schuman plan give hope that it also may be possible to solve the problems of Eastern Hemisphere oil equitably and peacefully.

"Once Eastern and Western Hemisphere nations alike clearly understand and appreciate their own as well as each other's oil problems, international oil rather than causing frictions should contribute to world understanding, Levy said.

HUGHES HOSPITALIZED

John W. Hughes, 1209 West Washington Street, is a surgical patient at Western Clinic-Hospital.

Drilling Weight And Cost Increase Since First Well

The tools used in 1859 by Colonel Drake to drill 69 feet for the first oil producer cost a mere $76, weighed 100 pounds and were powered by a six-house power engine and stationary tubular boiler.

Production then was 10 barrels a day. To meet the present 6,500,000 barrels a day production drilling tools and equipment cost hundreds of thousands of dollars and millions in research and experimental costs.

To determine what equipment and methods had brought the rapid progress of recent years, the Petroleum Engineer, surveyed petroleum industry leaders. Their answers are analyzed in the October Drilling and Producing Progress issue.

What methods and equipment now in the field contribute most in the field of progress? Fifty oil companies point to such wide and diversified topics as: pressure maintenance, artificial lift, retrievable packers, high gel cements, formation fracturing, dual completions, drilling fluids, electric and automatic rigs, drilling barges, diamond drills, permanent completions, jet bits, plastic tubular goods, drillstem tests and others.

One company states, "the greatest engineering accomplishment the oil industry is the successful application of pressure maintenance in reservoirs so that an increased and more efficient oil recovery is possible."

There is no part of the petroleum industry that cannot record progress and next year both methods and machines will be even better. Indeed, another large company says, "there are designs now of the drafting boards and applications of equipment not normally associated with the oil industry which potentially could obsolete the equipment and methods now being used.

Plummer, Wildlife Photographer, Burns To Death In Crash

ELGIN—(AP)—Edwin Eugene Plummer, 22, wildlife photographer for the Game and Fish Commission, burned to death near here Saturday when his car overturned and burst into flames.

Plummer was returning to Austin from a field assignment, said Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the commission.

Capt. E. K. Browning of the State Highway Patrol said investigating officers had not been able to determine what caused the accident. It happened on a straight stretch of road on Highway 290 between Elgin and McDade about 8:25 a.m. The car apparently left the road and caught fire after hitting an embankment.

Plummer was trapped in the car.

Plummer was a specialist in wildlife motion picture and still photography. Many Texans had seen his work in the magazine, "Texas Game and Fish," and in movies which are shown over the state by the game commission.

Plummer is survived by his widow, of Austin.

Four Die As Bus, Steel Truck Crash

SOMERSET, PA.—(AP)—Four Greyhound bus passengers died and 13 other persons were injured Saturday in Western Pennsylvania's third disastrous bus crash in 18 days.

The bus, non-stop from New York to Chicago, collided with a steel-laden tractor-trailer about 500 feet from the Laurel Hill Service Station on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, eight miles west of Somerset.

Both machines were going west. They were hurled from the highway but did not upset.

One side of the bus was ripped out. A rear left tandem wheel was knocked off the truck.

Binion Arraigned On Evasion Charge, Makes $5,000 Bond

LAS VEGAS, NEV.—(AP)—Nevada Gambler Benny Binion was free on $5,000 bail Saturday after an income tax evasion indictment was returned against him Saturday in Dallas.

Federal Judge William H. Atwell in Dallas had requested that bond be set at $10,000.

But Binion appeared before U. S. Commissioner A. G. Blad in Las Vegas, was arraigned and then released on $5,000 bail.

"No federal judge in Dallas is going to tell me what to do or how to act," Blad said. "Binion is not going to run away. He has lived here for the past several years, has his family here and operates a business here."

Blad made the indictment returnable to Federal Judge Roger Foley's court in Carson City, Nev. Judge Foley will set a date for a hearing for entering plea.

Binion is wanted in Texas on a state gambling charge. Officers said that should the gambler be returned to Texas the federal charges would have priority.

Woman's Vote Usually Turns Out To Be Just Like Hubby's

NEW YORK—(AP)—Never trust a woman around election time.

In spite of all the big talk about "the woman's vote" come election day Mama goes to the polls and casts her ballot the way Papa does.

This sad but true little secret has been uncovered in a social science study conducted by a group of experts led by Dr. Paul Lazarsfeld of Columbia University's Bureau of Applied Social Research. Since 1940 they have been working on a massive project designed to discover the processes leading a voter to choose a candidate.

The study is far from complete, but pure science is on the trail of some tradition - shattering stuff which some day might alter campaigning methods.

The Glamor Touch

Take this business about the woman's vote, the corraling of which is the nervous concern of separate woman-run departments in both major parties. There is a widely held belief in political circles that arguments satisfactory to the male voter simply don't go down with women. The woman's vote requires something different, something special, preferably something with glamor.

Much of this, the studies and poll-taking indicates, is nonsense. As a matter of cold, statistical fact, when a lady enters a voting booth the odds are that she's in there voting the same ticket as her husband. If she hasn't a husband, it's probably the ticket of her father. Or her brother. In social science words, this almost perfect family agreement is called "male dominance in political situations."

An early study showed that only one pair of husbands and wives in 22 disagreed on a candidate, and, in cases of parents and children, only one in 12. Later studies confirmed the sampling.

One of the Columbia bureau team, William McPhee, said all studies "seem to bear out this harmony of voting." Early in the campaign period there emerges something like a shadow of a woman's vote. Pollsters find women seem to have a preference for one candidate. But this disappears as election day nears and the women go to the polls and vote the way their men tell them to, said McPhee.

In one bureau study, all the men in one group were asked whether they had talked politics with anyone recently.

Four said they had talked politics with their wives; all the others mentioned political discussions with neighbors, friends, fellow employes and others. But 45 wives said they'd talked the election over with their husbands.

Lazarsfeld's staff felt this definitely indicated that men don't feel they are discussing politics with their wives. They feel they are telling them.

McPhee said this situation was also found in the 1948 study.

"Men think they are talking politics when they do it outside the family," he said. "While women say proudly they have discussions with their husbands. A typical way of putting it—for the wives—is to say 'Dick and I talked it over, and we decided. . . .' "

Ward Democrats Set Up Ike Headquarters

MONAHANS—Plans are being made for a Ward County organization of Democrats for Eisenhower.

Nine elected delegates to the recent Amarillo State Convention met and made plans for selection of policy committeemen and organization of volunteer workers in Monahans, Bartow, Grandfalls and Pyote.

Conrad Dunagan, temporary chairman, defined the temper of the Ward County meeting, stating that "the Democrats of this county sent us to Amarillo to represent you, and while at the convention we found the sentiment to be 90 per cent pro-Eisenhower. We have returned home to carry out the mandate given us by the Democrats of Texas."

Hirohito Won't Trust Cook But U.S. Chocolate's Okay

TOKYO—(AP)—Emperor Hirohito still has a court taster to protect him from poisoned food—and to check on the imperial diet.

This was revealed by the palace cook, Tokuoz Akiyama, in an article in the Japanese magazine Maru.

The 63-year-old Akiyama, who served his apprenticeship in hotels in Berlin and Paris before entering the emperor's kitchen 38 years ago, put several facts about his boss on public view.

Hirohito doesn't drink or smoke; he likes plain food; he can't abide anything hot and he goes for American chocolate bars in a big way.

The cook said he had a tough time satisfying his master's liking for chocolate bars during the early days of the Allied occupation, when that delicacy was non-existent on the legal Japanese market.

Akiyama said he managed to "obtain" American bars—which was construed as a misty way of saying the cook either wangled them from the American Army or bought them on Tokyo's black market like everybody else.

Akiyama explained why the Emperor is a teetotaler. One time as a young prince, Hirohito had to drink some sake (Japanese rice wine) at a Shinto ceremony. It made him sick.

But, the cook said, the Emperor likes to see his guests unbend and is quite jolly in urging them to have one more drink. Empress Nagako likes one or two of the Japanese thimble-size cups of hot sake on retiring.

Emperor Hirohito has a Western-style breakfast at 8 a.m., a fixed routine of oatmeal, toast, tea and fruits in season. Lunch is also Western with a main dish of beef, chicken or some other meat. But supper, at 6 p.m., is strictly Japanese, featuring fish and vegetables.

Unlike most Japanese, who kneel on cushions and eat from low tables, the emperor, his wife and children sit on chairs at a dinner table.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

BY NORTH CALLAHAN

NEW YORK — A psychiatrist here told me that we still have Scrooges. He said a successful but selfish businessman came to him the other day suffering from an ailment which he could not understand. The psychiatrist talked to him for a while, then told him to go to the nearest railroad station and look for someone to help. Reluctantly and petulantly, the man went. There he found an old lady weeping quietly in the corner of the waiting room. The man edged over, asked her what was the matter. She said she had come to visit her daughter but had lost her address and now didn't have enough money even to go to a hotel. The man found the daughter's address in a phone book, got a taxi for the old lady and put her in it—handing her a bunch of roses as he did so. She smiled at him through tears of thankfulness. Rushing to the phone, he called the psychiatrist. "Doc," he cried, "I really feel like a different man! I've found the medicine I need."

An idea struck him, hard enough to propel him to the nearest dealer. There he procured an exact model of the car the little lady requested, presented it to her in grand-network manner—and she was pleased.

"People of the West and South look upon New Yorkers as pushing, unrefined and in general somewhat crude. With all the opulence and splendor of the city, there is little good breeding to be found. At entertainments, no conversation is agreeable. There is no modesty, no attention to one another. They talk very loud, very fast and altogether." Is this criticism of 1952? No, 1752 and it was John Adams writing about the Gotham of 200 years ago. However, one must admit if he now observes this big burg closely, that there remains an element of appropriateness in the remarks to the situation.

'BILL MAULDIN IN KOREA'—

Joe Tells Willie This War Has Atmosphere Of Its Own

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—The war in Korea has become a political issue here at home.

But it is still a life-and-death matter to the American soldiers over there fighting in what some feel is a forgotten laboratory of battle. The politics of it all interests them less than the grim statistics of survival.

What it is like—their day-to-day existence on a so-called "static front" in the bare-boned terrible hills?

Bill Mauldin gives one of the clearest pictures yet in "Bill Mauldin in Korea," a series of all-too-brief-vignettes of what is coming to be known as "World War Two-and-a-Half."

Mauldin writes through the eyes of Joe, the younger of his famous doughboy team of the last war. Joe graduates from high school after five years under the GI bill and immediately gets a job as a war correspondent. He tells about what he found in Korea in letters home to his old buddy, Willie.

Chow Is Better

"It's worse now because a man goes on a dirty patrol and never knows if they're going to sign a truce five minutes after he starts out, so he's maybe wasting his time," Joe writes.

Somewhat to his surprise, he finds the chow is better in this war—two hot meals a day even in the front lines—and morale is higher in the infantry than in the rear areas because the rotation system will enable the forward fighter to go home in nine months instead of 18.

There is very little griping, and a sergeant explains it to Joe this way:

"No matter what kind of a job you are doing in these mountains, you can find somebody a lot worse off."

Joe also is startled when a group of Navy pilots return to their carrier "to see the sun bouncing off so many bald heads."

Good Natured About It

"A pretty big chunk of this war is being fought by guys who carry pockets full of pictures of their wives and kids while they bounce on the deck in an airplane shot full of holes.

"I don't think very many of them like it, but they seem pretty good natured about it . . . most of them say pretty much the same thing—that they'd rather fight a war here than wait till it's in their own back yard."

Mauldin's book is a fine eyewitness primer for the home folks in 170 pages. I only wish that his own eloquent summary of his Korean impressions could be read in every pulpit and legislature in America as a tribute to the frustrated soldiers who fought and still fight there. This is it:

"The combat man in Korea fights under the dreariest conditions and against the worst kind of odds. He looks forward to few of the little compensations American soldiers could expect in previous wars. He fights a battle in which his best friends get killed and if an account of the action appears at all in his home town paper, it appears on page 17 under a Lux ad

No Victory Parade

"There won't be a victory parade for his return because he'll come home quietly and alone, on rotation, and there's no victory in the old-fashioned sense, anyway, because this isn't that kind of war. It's a slow, grinding, lonely bitched-up war, but he goes on fighting in it, not happy, but in good spirit, not in a frenzy of hatred against an enemy which is as pitiful as it is vicious, but efficiently and with purpose.

"In the minds of many people the phrase 'professional soldier' has a stigma very much like 'professional politician.' It implies cynical and mercenary motives. Yet soldiering is as necessary and legitimate a profession, in a world which still makes war, as are politics in a world which still needs laws.

"I think that, due to Korea, we have a professional army for what may be the first time in our history, and maybe we'll have reason to be grateful for it in the years ahead."

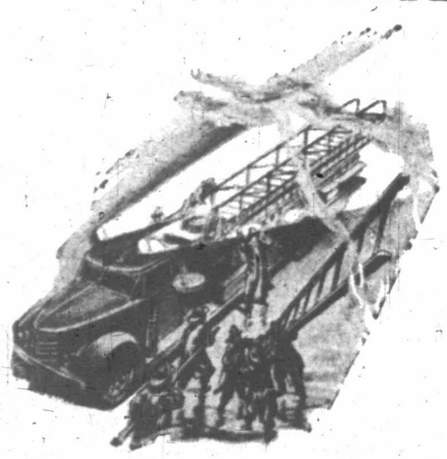

FIRE

The terror of this mother and child will no doubt be short-lived, for the fire department has come in time. But what of the "second error" that follows, when they realize that they cannot cope with the additional losses that the fire has brought them. Their home ruined, their possessions destroyed . . . their security threatened. Remember, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. As arrows are in the hand of a mighty man; so are children of the youth.—Psalms 127:4.

We're Outnumbered!

We might as well face it now, men. We've fought a good fight but it's been apparent to many of us for some time that our fight was a losing one. Thing to do now is to face up to the facts and admit it, while there's still a chance of arranging a peace on some kind of honorable terms.

The cold facts, right out of the Census Bureau, are these, simply these: we're outnumbered. Have been since 1950. And we're getting more outnumbered all the time.

Beginning two years ago, the Census Bureau reports, American women for the first time outnumbered the men. At that time their forces numbered 1,430,000 more than ours.

For one thing the women have been slipping in recruits from other places. How they managed to swipe an idea like that from us, is a mystery. Because for years and years we were the ones who were slipping in most of the recruits.

But along about 1930 there was a big SNAFU somewhere along the line and the women began getting the edge on us. By 1936 there were only two-thirds as many male immigrants coming into the country as there were female.

If that was all, it wouldn't be so bad. But it's not all. The fact is a lot of our guys went over the hill. Deserted. They just threw down their stuff and ran like dogs, and somebody ought to have to answer for that.

During the 1930's, when the going was tough, about twice as many men were going out of the country as women. Then somebody apparently got on the ball, and cut down on some of our AWOL's.

But even as late as 1950 a lot of our guys still were taking off. In the five years ending then, 13,000 more men than women left the country.

But the women sure have been missing one good bet all along. And it's sort of hard to figure. Here they are, the ones who have the children, so you'd think naturally they'd have more girls than boys. But it's just the other way around. Regular as rain, every year for a long time, there have been 1,055 boy babies born for every 1,000 girl babies. There must be some kind of a trick there somewhere. That's just not like a woman.

On the other hand, men don't seem to be able to stand up under the strain of the battle as well as women. Instead of putting their minds on the fight all the time, they worry a lot about business and get heart trouble. They also get too fat, but on the rations you get these days it's pretty hard to see how.

Anyway women seem to live longer, and so it looks like when you take all these things into consideration the best thing for us to do is just give up now. No use trying to be a bunch of heroes. What does it get you, anyhow?

A promoter says young people are keenly interested in wrestling on TV. One way to learn some new holds.

'What A President You'd Make!'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: American doctor in Ecuador may be on road to cancer cure; Dr. Ferguson uses Jabaro Indian solution to shrink diseased tissues; No change foreseen in Korean stalemate.

WASHINGTON — For several years an American doctor has been living in Ecuador experimenting with a fantastic, secret solution which may prove the answer to cancer.

The doctor is Wilburn Ferguson, and the solution he is working on is that used by the Jibaro Indians in the jungles of Ecuador to shrink human heads.

Dr. Ferguson emphasizes that he has not found a cure for cancer, that he has only found a "promising treatment." Nevertheless his clinical records have shown some miraculous recoveries. Not only does the solution appear successful on rats and mice, but a few test patients have had cancerous tumors totally destroyed and have regained their health.

Dr. Ferguson's interest in the herb formula of the Jibaro Indians resulted from the fact that nothing known to modern science will shrink cartilaginous tissue. Thus, an ear can be burned to ashes, but it does not shrink.

However, the Jibaro Indians have been able to shrink human heads—the skull, ears, jaw and various cartilaginous tissue. He also observed that the head-shrinking process appeared to destroy ulcerated or diseased tissue-cells, while leaving healthy cell-matter intact.

Mixing The Herbs

The Jibaros use more than 30 herbs in making their head-shrinking mixture. Dr. Ferguson, however, has been able to eliminate all but six herbs as superfluous. What he now uses is a solution of the herb concentrate in glucose and alcohol which is administered intravenously and also injected directly into the tumor. There also is an ointment for direct application in case of external or vaginal-tract cancers.

Dr. Ferguson unquestionably could have made a fortune with his new cancer formula, instead of which he is dead broke. He emphasizes that he isn't sure of all the effects of his remedy and that he wants to conduct further experiments.

However, he has remained in Ecuador partly because patients in that country are much more willing to volunteer for experimentation. Prior to this, furthermore, he was afraid of premature publicity.

Last year, however, Ferguson took some of his secretion to Los Angeles, and tried it out in the Los Angeles County Hospital. Its top pathologists, after testing it with the greatest skepticism, invited Ferguson to join their staff.

Dr. Ferguson and his wife, who is a registered nurse, work at night grinding herbs and preparing their solutions for the next day's work. After that Ferguson must be his own pathologist, examining and making notes on microscopic slides which his wife prepares.

He still thinks that another year is necessary to be sure of the results, but those who have seen his patients get up and walk after a few weeks' treatment are convinced that perhaps the long-awaited cure for cancer may be here.

Korean Strategy

Although the American public is much more absorbed in politics than in Korea, some highly important developments, hitherto confidential, have been taking place in the Far East. Now that the Russo-Chinese conference has terminated in Moscow, they can be told.

In the first place, it is not because of any secret weapon that U. S. planes have bagged a record of 61 Russain MIG's in the last month. Although papers have hinted at a secret weapon, real fact is that we have shot down a record number of Russian planes, due solely to a greater opportunity to shoot at them.

What happened was that before the Moscow conference, U. S. military strategists concluded the Chinese were anxious to get out of the Korean war and that the Russians were anxious to keep them in. We figured that this showdown would be threshed out in Moscow. More than anything else, the Chinese want to build up a modern army. Yet they have been losing more equipment than they are making; so their goal of a modern army is fading.

However, the Kremlin, in the opinion of U. S. strategists, has been anxious to have the Korean war drag on, first, because it makes the American public apathetic toward defending any other area threatened with a Red attack; second, because it drains American resources; third, because it ties down American military strength in a remote corner of the globe without costing Moscow much.

Because of the known desire of the Chinese to back out of the Korean war, the joint chiefs of staff decided to increase the tempo of the war during the Moscow talks. For a time, the joint chiefs even considered a ground offensive, but decided against it because of probable loss of life. Instead, Air Force strength was increased and an air offensive was stepped up together with orders to increase United Nations field-artillery fire 10 times.

The Communists retaliated in turn by putting an extra number of MIG's in the air and that was the reason for our record score.

The Chinese also have struck back at us on the ground. Their attacks seem to be deliberate attempts to kill Americans rather than gain ground or capture strategic hills, apparently because the Chinese realize our regard for human life. While their losses have been four to one, that doesn't seem to bother the Chinese high command.

Chinese suicide battalions have been sent to knock us off strategic hills, but they have made no attempt to reinforce those battalions and hold the hills. Instead, more Chinese forces are sent in an effort to kill more UN troops.

As of now, the Communists have slightly more than a million men in Korea, more than at any other time during the war. Despite this, there are no signs of an all-out offensive.

All this is why U. S. strategists can foresee nothing more than continued stalemate.

Note—General Eisenhower, an infantryman and a great believer in the use of ground troops, knows this point better perhaps than anyone. Nevertheless, he has continued to ring the changes on the Korean war for all it's worth politically.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

If you sometimes lose a game contract that you should have made, don't weep too many bitter tears about it. The greatest experts in the world sometimes do the same thing, if that's any consolation. Today's hand, for example, was misplayed at both tables in the finals of the national team championships a few weeks ago.

In both rooms South played the hand at four hearts against the opening lead of a low spade. Both declarers won the first trick with the ace of spades and promptly drew three rounds of trumps. The third round of trumps was a mistake, but not necessarily fatal.

In both rooms South then continued by finessing a diamond to East's queen. In one room East boldly returned a low spade, and South made the fatal error of ruffing. When he led another diamond, West put up the ace and led another spade to force out declarer's last trump.

Unfortunately, the diamonds were now blocked. South could lead to dummy's king of diamonds, and could get back to his hand with the ace of clubs to lead another diamond to West's jack, but then South could never get in again to cash the last diamond. Down one.

This declared should have discarded (instead of ruffing) when East led a low spade. Since East had led away from the king of spades, the rest would have been easy. But even if West had turned up with the king of spades, the contract would have depended only on a successful guess in diamonds later on. In short, South would have had two chances for his contract.

In the other room, East was not bold enough to return a spade when he got in with the queen of diamonds. He returned a club, which declarer should have won in the dummy. Instead, South made the mistake of winning in his own hand with the ace. He led a diamond, and West put up the ace.

Opportunity was knocking once more at the door, for South could stil make his contract by dropping dummy's king of diamonds on this trick. But declarer had a blind spot and played dummy's low diamond. Now a spade return obliged declarer to ruff, and South found that the blocked diamonds were a fatal handicap. Down one also.

The curious thing is that the contract cannot be missed if South only draws two rounds of trumps at the beginning of the hand. He then leads a diamond to dummy's king, not caring who has the ace. The defenders can take two or three diamond tricks, depending on their luck, but no more.

Labor 'Situation' Isn't So Bad, Is Ching's Parting Appraisal

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Cyrus S. Ching is retiring as head of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. Since he has the patience of Job and the wisdom of Solomon in dealing with labor relations, it seemed like a good idea to go around to get his last words on the subject. Strangely enough, he wasn't at all pessimistic.

He began by saying that there really wasn't any "labor situation," the way most people thought of it. Take this beautiful Autumn day. There wasn't a major strike or disturbance on the books. There were a lot of little ones, but they always were around.

Two hundred and fifty thousand labor contracts are signed in the United States every year, Ching observed. Almost all are signed without a line, about them ever getting in the newspapers.

But every once in a while along comes a big one like the steel strike. Then people begin to talk about this labor "situation" and to think that things are terrible.

All labor disturbances, Ching believes, are part of the American tradition of freedom. He doesn't like the term "free enterprise system," and so avoids it.

Although freedom is the important thing in life, it necessarily is inefficient at times. The United States government, because it is built on this principle of freedom, probably is the most inefficient in the world, he declares.

Freedom Made Country Grow

Ching goes on to explain his philosophy by saying that it is this very freedom that has been responsible for the growth and the development of this country.

If matters were so arranged that there were no labor disturbances, if all strikes were suppressed, then he would want to start taking the system apart to see what was the matter with it.

Having spent more than 30 years in labor relations—most of it on management's side as an executive of the U. S. Rubber Company—Ching thinks things are a lot better than they used to be. He remembers the dark days of 1934 to 1937, when almost anybody could start a labor union.

A lot of people became union officials then who would make old Sam Gompers, father of the American union labor movement, turn over in his grave. And the people in management who had to deal with labor relations, knew no more about it than the union bosses.

Today Ching believes there is more maturity on both sides. But neither labor union officials nor management know how to use mediation, says Ching. They regard it as government interference, which he says it is not. It merely is government effort to help the two parties settle their own disputes.

Labor and management representatives think that mediators have to be on their side all the time to be any good. And that he considers wrong.

Doesn't Know All Answers

There are a number of labor problems that Ching says he does not know the solution to, in spite of all his experience in this field. One of these problems involves the big industrial unions—steel, coal, rubber workers, auto workers and the like.

By their size, these unions have the power of industry-wide bargaining on their side, although there is no similar power in industry-wide bargaining on the part of management. This situation, says Ching, tends to squeeze out the little fellow in labor and the little fellow in business. This condition is not healthful, but what to do about it, Ching says he does not know.

He thinks the General Motor cost-of-living escalator clause and its annual productivity increase were excellent—for General Motors. But they are not applicable to all industries, and they are not the perfect solution to all labor problems.

It is time to take a good look at all our labor laws, Ching declares. He does not think the Taft-Hartley law is as bad as labor thinks it is, nor as good as management thinks it is. But a new approach—looking at all labor questions as problems in human relations—might do some good.

After all, says Ching, labor relations are a good bit like marital relations. We don't know all the answers there, either.

THAT was a new slant on McDonald, I thought, and her reaction disturbed me. Clyde had not won his reputation for a way with blondes by a series of rebuffs. I was sure of that. On one point Ginny was certainly correct: he was a good talker.

"Ginny, it's an act," I said. "He's trying to soften you up and get that story from you. Please don't answer any questions he asks you. Will you promise me that?"

She stepped back and gave me a level look. "Why should I make you any promises, Roy?"

"I can give you lots of reasons," I said. "Just give me a chance, Ginny. Look here, I'm going to have a busy day, but after the Governor's speech tonight, I'll be free. May I see you tonight?"

She hesitated, and before she could answer, Dr. Arnold came down the stairs, saying loudly, "Ladies, I'm afraid you'll all have to go. Mrs. Warburton is critically ill."

The sound of women's voices in the living room ceased abruptly and there was a movement toward the door.

"You haven't answered, me, Ginny."

"Roy, I don't see how I can see you tonight," she said, with a little shrug. "Mr. McDonald is our house guest, and I have an obligation. Don't you see?"

I put my hands on both her shoulders and pulled her toward me.

"Ginny," I said, "you're going dancing with me tonight."

She did not draw back, and when my arms went around her, she did not resist. She stood motionless, in frigid silence, and I dropped my arms. Then she looked up at me and smiled.

"I tell you what, Roy," she said. "I can get another girl and we can all go to the Casino. How's that?"

"Fine," I said. "But who gets the other girl?"

"What difference does that make? We'll all be together."

I looked into her eyes and shrugged. "I'll get the other girl," I said. "For Clyde. She's right here in the house, and he knows her pretty well already."

Her eyebrows drew together. "Who's that?"

"Her name is Lucy Strawn," I said. "She's the Governor's secretary, and Clyde has been giving her a good deal of his time lately. Yes, I'll bring Lucy."

I CLOSED the door behind her, and turning, found John Mills and Dr. Arnold talking at the foot of the stairs. I approached them and said, "John, it's noon. I'd better do something about the Governor."

I put on my hat and coat and went out to the car. I drove on out of the driveway and turned toward town. Two blocks farther on I cut off toward the highway. There was practically no rain now, and the wind had dropped low in Beaufort's scale. I made good time, and turned off the highway at the tourist camp at a quarter past one. I drove through puddles to cabin nine, jumped out, and hurried to the door.

In daylight the cabin was even more desolate than it had seemed by night. The three beds were rumpled and the walls looked drab and streaky. But my stare was not that of a man appalled by terrible decor; my stare was that of a man appalled by the absence of Governor Warburton. I looked in the shower. I looked in the garage. I called his name softly, and received no response.

I ran back to the car, and saw the old man of the night before watching me from a cabin two doors along. He called, "Looking for your friend?"

"Yes."

"He took out a little while ago," the old man said. "Said he was going to town."

I sucked in my breath and said, "Was he alone?"

"Alone? Yeah, he was alone."

I GOT in the car and drove toward town. At the first filling station I turned in and used the telephone. John Mills answered and I cried, "John, the Governor's not here!"

"I know," he said. "You'll find him at the Elite Pool Parlor, Roy, down on Columbia Street."

"A pool parlor," I said.

"He telephoned just after you left, Roy," John explained.

"But a pool parlor!" I said. "Is this a rib?"

"Ever try to lose yourself, Roy?" John asked. "The movies weren't open yet, and he was walking past the pool parlor and he figured nobody would look for the candidate for Vice President in a pool hall, so in he went. They think he's a drummer, he said."

"He will be a drummer if this ever gets out," I said, and went back to the car.

He was actually playing pool with the table attendant. Completely relaxed, he looked no more like a man who had gone a night without sleep than he did his party's nominee for the Vice Presidency. His coat was off and his shirt sleeves were rolled up, and a cigar was clamped in the corner of his mouth as he made his shot.

The six ball dropped in the corner pocket and the Governor grinned, glanced at me, and chalked his cue. He was about to shoot again when I said sharply, "Listen here, we've got to be moving."

"Oh, yes," the Governor said, "that Birmingham speech."

A few miles outside town I turned off on a side road and parked near a highway bridge. The Governor outlined his thoughts to me and I made notes, and had roughed out some of them on my typewriter, sitting on the back seat with the machine balanced on my knees, when the Governor pointed out at a quarter to four that it was time we started for Hydetown.

Midland Travelers Find Spain Highlight Of Visit In Europe

By JOHN BOWERS

Many Midlanders who have visited Europe may have missed one of the most fascinating countries on that continent. Mrs. George A. Kroenlein, 710 West Louisiana Street, returned in late August from a jaunt to Europe, and Spain received her vote as the most interesting nation of that region.

Mrs. Kroenlein was accompanied on the journey by her two teenage daughters, Virginia and Sylvia. They traveled on the liner Nieuw Amsterdam both ways, leaving June 3 and returning on August 22.

In Spain, Mrs. Kroenlein was fortunate in seeing one of the outstanding bull fights of the year in Madrid. She and her two daughters occupied a box directly beneath that of Dictator Franco. Litri and Adonzo were the featured performers in the event, and six bulls were killed. Mrs. Kroenlein says that the bull fights were not nearly so bloody as she expected, and she characterized them as "artistic." She was surprised at the speed with which the stands were by the Spaniards, except in a disthe time at 15 minutes.

Barcelona Highlight

Barcelona was a highlight of the trip. It is by the Mediterranean, and the three travelers could see the cottages in the mountains bordering the sea. Mrs. Kroenlein reports the Spanish seemed settled, and she says that politics were not discussed sider a six-story building a skycreet manner.

There seemed to be little poverty in Spain, she adds, but old-fashioned methods are prevalent in agriculture. Sickles are used for harvesting, and in outlying regions laundry is done by hand.

In Italy, the traveler saw Genoa. It had been bombed badly, with very little evidence of reconstruction. She was not impressed by Rome, dismissing it as just "another city." In Florence, which also was damaged by the war, the Italians conscraper, the Midlander commented. They stopped work on another sixstory structure because someone complained that it was blocking the view.

Mrs. Kroenlein believes the Italians do not want modern improvements. She saw one slogan, not by Communists, that read, "We may not be able to save you from destruction, but we can save your from reconstruction." The resort centers at Naples, Capri, and Sorento also were visited.

Venice 'Resort Town'

Venice was just another resort town to Mrs. Kroenlein, but she says Milan is a modern city, about the size of St. Louis, and it reminded her of that American community.

Mrs. Kroenlein was not pleased by the French attitude toward tourists. She feels that they are over-charging Americans, and unlike many other travelers, she did not care for Paris. In France, the travelers also saw the seaport of Le Havre, and the famous resort at Nice.

Switzerland was found to be a mountainous country. Lucerne was a typical tourist attraction, but Zurich was a modern city.

In Germany, the traveler had the feeling that the German businessmen were against the American occupation forces. She made the traditional Rhine steamer trip, seeing many of the old castles along the banks of the river. Sylvia, one of her daughters, saw a German pen pal she had corresponded with from the states. He was in Heidelberg.

Interest In Election

In Brussels, Belgium, the people manifested an intense interest in the outcome of the American presidential election. Cities in The Netherlands, The Hague and Amsterdam, did not seem to show the effects of the war, Mrs Kroelein said. Copenhagen, Denmark, appeared to her to be one of the most socialistic European centers.

In the northern countries, Stockholm, Sweden, and Oslo, Norway, were features of the tour. Many American exchange students were present in those nations for study in the Scandinavian schools.

A jaunt to Scotland and the cities of Glasgow and Edinburg was a return to English-speaking territory. A tour of the Trossac, which is the Scottish countryside, followed.

While in Scotland, the party saw the famed High Road and Low Road of that ancient country.

Shakespeare's birthplace at Stratford-on-Avon was visited. A college professor served as a guide there. Oxford University was an interesting sidelight, and the Midlander says it is an up-to-date school.

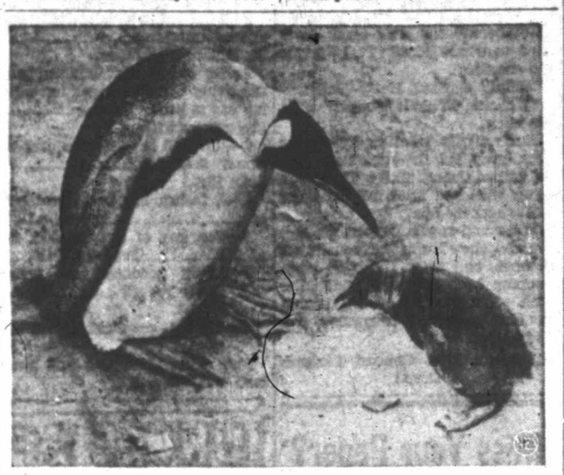

In England, the travelers saw Warwick Castle which is filled with fine paintings by the great masters of the past. It still has a drawbridge and moat, with the great iron gate before its formidable walls.

London, with all its places of historical note, was an important part of the trip.

Returning to the United States, the Midland woman and her two daughters sailed from Southhampton, England.

Mrs. Kroenlein particularly was pleased by the large numbers of American students that she saw abroad. Under an exchange plan, many of them are receiving the benefits of a first-hand knowledge of the European problems and progress.

She feels that the exchange program of students between Europe and the United States may be of real benefit in efforts to bring peace to the world. In her opinion, Americans and Europeans must learn to understand and sympathize with conditions in their respective countries, and the students have a potent chance to help in the goal of world peace.

Prefab Steel Bunkers Draw Cheers From GI's In Korea

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA — (AP) —The defenders of Old Baldy are singing the praises of a new, light, all-metal prefabricated bunker.

This bunker, born of grim necessity, is a great improvement over the "Abe Lincoln" prefabricated bunkers of logs which made their appearance on the front only a short time ago.

Troops of the 38th Regiment, U. S. Second Division, vow they can put together the metal bunkers and make a protective roof in less than 30 minutes. Time is a matter of life and death when troops storm up a hill and need quick cover from thunderous Communist shelling.

Engineers of the Second Division This allows a sharp peep-up in constructed with barbed wire pickets and welded into four sections. Each section weighs about 75 pounds.

One man can carry a section. This allows a sharp seep-up in construction over the "Abe Lincoln" log bunkers. It generally takes two men to carry each log, and 30 to 40 logs are used for one bunker, the Second Division said.

The metal bunker has openings for firing on all four sides. When complete, it is five feet square and three and a half feet high.

Not Much Room

"There isn't much room on the inside, but for a fighting bunker they are number one," commeted an Old Baldy veteran, Pfc. Orval Dietz of Saulte Ste. Marie, Mich.

The Second Division said 20 pounds of explosives were set off on the roof of a metal bunker without demolishing it. In tests, mortars exploded three to five feet from the bunkers without causing any visible damage.

The new metal structures were used by the division for the first time in the furious Old Baldy fighting on Korea's Western Front. They made a big hit with the soldiers.

"We were able to get these new bunkers up to our positions much quicker, and this very definitely saved us many casualties," remarked First Lt. Lucas Floyd of Somerset, Ky., pioneer and ammunition platoon leader. "It's right after you take a hill that you need overhead cover the most."

70 Members Sign Four-County REA Petition In Pecos

PECOS—About 70 charter members have made application here for affiliation with a four-county REA program known as the Big Bend Electric Co-op.

Farmers and ranchers have filed for electrical power for about 175 Reeves county irrigation wells and farm homes, County Agent Jimmy Taylor announced.

The Co-op includes Reeves, Hudspeth, Presidio and Culberson and will be managed by W. C. Cooper, veteran REA organizer of Alamogorda, N. M., who thinks the loan will be approved in Washington by January 1.

Although a definite source of electrical power has not been selected, it is expected that the REA power will be flowing to the farms and ranches by the middle of next pumping season.

Minimum annual charge for a 100 horsepower motor is $600. According to Taylor, cost is based on cost to the Co-op for its power, number of users and volume, and total cost of the installations.

Members of REA are required to pay a $5 installation fee. Also, they must furnish their own switchboxes and their motors, while REA agrees to supply the transformers.

DOG HANGINGS

Less than a century ago, it was the custom in Great Britain and other parts of Europe to put dogs to death by hanging. From this almost universal practice came the much-used expression, "die like a dog," we hear so often today.

Daddy Ringtail What Is What

Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, had made friends with a real, genuine, sure enough boppum stick. The stick knew how to talk, too, although it looked like a broomstick.

This amazing Mr. Stick wanted to go home and live with Mugwump, but Mugwump said "Oh no!" A boppum stick is a dangerous thing to have around. Mugwump was thinking. Someone might pick the stick up and bop him with it.

"Uh-oh!" said Mugwump then of a sudden. "Shoo! Scat away, please, Mr. Stick."

Mugwump said these words because there came Huffy Tuffy, the monkey boy. He is the huffiest — and the tuffiest—somebody in the whole forest. He likes to fight.

"Mr. Stick," said Mugwump in a whisper. "Stand yourself up against the tree and be very quiet. Maybe Huffy Tuffy won't even see you. If he does, he may try to bop me with you."

The stick laughed. "If Huffy Tuffy does try to bop you," said the stick, "I'll show him what is what, I will."

Mugwump wondered just what is what, but before he could ask — there stood Huffy Tuffy in front of him.

"Hey dere! You! Mugwump! I likes to fight, and I wants to fight with you." Huffy Tuffy, you see, had never learned how to talk very well. He had never been to school. He had always been too busy with his fighting.

"Yoo-hoo!" said a voice nearby. "No need to fight with Mugwump. Use the boppum stick that leans against the tree. Bop little Mugwump with it."

"Ssshh!" Mugwump. "Mr. Stick, please be quiet."

Too late. Huffy Tuffy had heard the stick's words. He picked it up to kerboop little Mugwump Monkey, but when he raised his arm to do it—"Whack!" the stick came down hard to whack Huffy Tuffy across the shoulders.

"Help!" shouted Huffy Tuffy.

"Whack! Whack! Whack!" went the stick.

Huffy Tuffy tried to throw the stick away, but the stick would not be turned loose. Huffy Tuffy ran away with the stick in his hand still whacking him.

Mugwump saw it happen. He saw the stick show Huffy Tuffy just what is what, and when the stick came hopping back—sure it could live with Mugwump. Of course, wouldn't you say? Mugwump did, and Happy day!

Reeves County Farm Yields Two Bales Of Cotton Per Acre

PECOS—A lot of farmers in other regions of Texas may wince when they hear this story.

While other areas are staggering from one of the worst drouths in history, there's a farm 20 miles south of Pecos that is yielding about two bales of cotton per acre on the first picking.

Operated by N. E. Mayo and D. B. Price, it is located in the heart of a thriving cotton area, fed by rich soil and watered from an apparently abundant source of underground water.

Price and Mayo had 66 workers in the field when a newsman visited the farm last week. They had just completed their fifty-eighth bale from a 45-acre patch, and still they weren't through. Price estimated they would gather close to 85 bales from that small block.

The two farmers have a total of 700 acres, and parts of it are yielding even more than two bales per acre. They anticipate a total yield after the second picking to run over three bales per acre, possibly close to four bales an acre in some spots.

Seminole To Be Busy City During Gaines County Fair

Johnny Sartin of Seagraves is president of the group. Other officers are: Scott Doss, first vice-president; R. W. Pittman, second vice-president; and Mrs. Reeves Cothes, secretary; the latter three being from Seminole.

Rodeo performances, sponsored by the Seminole Sheriff's Posse, are scheduled for 3:30 p.m. October 10 and 3 and 8 p.m. October 11. A. C. Ward, Seminole rancher, is producing the rodeo and furnishing the stock.

A parade at 1:30 p.m. October 10 will open the fair and also mark the beginning of the Seminole High school homecoming celebration.

The homecoming queen, Joan Webb, Seminole High school junior, will be crowned at 10:30 a.m. Friday, and will be presented at half-time during the night football game between Seminole and Brownfield.

L. H. McElroy is general superintendent of the fair.

A caravan of fair boosters will visit Denver City, Lovington, Tatum, Plains, Morton, Levelland, Brownfield, Tahoka, O'Donnell and Lamesa Monday; and Andrews, Midland, Odessa, Monahans, Kermit, Jal, Eunice and Hobbs, N. M. Tuesday.

Arkansas Lad Wins Cotton Picking Title

Ray Clifford Peterson, a lean, heavily-tanned Blytheville youth Friday picked 95 pounds of cotton in one hour and 40 minutes to nose out 112 other entries in the 13th annual National Cotton Picking Contest.

Peterson, who has been picking cotton since he was seven years old, won $1,000 cash.

Mrs. Eugene Shinault, also of Blytheville, copped the woman's crown and $250 for the fourth time in the last six years. She picked 79 pounds.

The most thrilling show staged in the entire Southwest will open just outside the walls of Texas' State Penitentiary at Huntsville Sunday. And, when the gates of the rodeo chutes in Prison Stadium arena swing open at 2 p.m., Texas' Annual Prison Rodeo will be on for the 21st year. Four big Sunday afternoon performances are scheduled October 5, 12, 19 and 26.

Convict cowboys, allegedly the most reckless in the nation, had a taste of what is in store for them at a try-out session in the big prison arena last Sunday. Their conclusion is that "Somebody has done souped-up that bucking stock." Very little doubt remains in their minds that they will mount some of the buckiest critters ever seen in anybody's rodeo arena. And they probably are right, for the broncos and bulls, used only once a year in the four-Sunday series of shows, don't get used to contact with man enough to tame down like ordinary rodeo stock.

Premiums for the 1953 San Antonio Livestock Show will total more than $43,000, excluding the horse show, according to Mark L. Browne, livestock chairman of the show.

Browne said officials of the show are offering a $2,500 increase in premiums in five different departments of the February 20-March 1 exposition.

According to Browne, premiums have been increased in the Holstein division of the dairy show, the negro boys pig show, the boys livestock show, sheep and Angora goat show, and the Brangus show.

He stated that Brangus premiums had been raised by $720 by adding two classes for Summer bull and heifer calves in the half breed, quarter breed, and registered Brangus divisions.

"Cotton is by far the leading single source of cash income to farmers of Texas," the National Cotton and Cottonseed Advisory Committee, meeting at Texas A&M College recently, was told.

"Normally it accounts for about 40 per cent of the nation's acreage and one-third of the production," Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton work specialist of the Texas A&M College System, pointed out to the advisory committee and top-flight cotton men attending the meeting.

"Currently at Texas A&M College and its 33 substations and field laboratories," Elliott said, "there are about 35 research projects under way dealing with cotton.

"The findings of these studies are of prime importance in carrying out the seven-step cotton and balanced farming program in Texas. Briefly the seven steps are: Fit cotton into balanced farming program; take care of your soil; act together on the best variety; make your labor count; control the insects and diseases; pick and gin for higher grade and sell for grade, staple and variety value."

The fabulous King Ranch—big-glamour, and some of the King size exhibition of some of the livestock for which it is famous at the 1952 State Fair of Texas, which opened Saturday.

The picturesque saddles and saddle blankets, made right on the ranch and bearing the famous "Running W" brand, also are on display. The exhibit, designed by Winniford Morton is in brown and white, the King Ranch colors.

The Santa Gertrudis are not competing for premiums at the fair. It is such a new breed there aren't even any classifications for it in livestock competition.

The fair has a big quarter horse show, but the horses in the King Ranch exhibit aren't competing in that either. However, a number of horses bred by the King Ranch will perform.

The King Ranch, whose spread of some 900,000 acres extends into eight South Texas counties and comfortably could encompass the state of Rhode Island, originated the Santa Gertrudis breed in 20 years of careful cross-mating of the hump-backed Brahman and the Shorthorn.

Named after the creek that runs by the ranch's hacienda headquarters, it is the first new breed to developed in the United States and has been described as one of the most spectacular contributions to the livestock industry in modern times.

The distinctive characteristics of the breed make it especially well adapted to Texas and the Southern states. About 65,000 of the animals roam the King Ranch acres today. They are being shipped all over the world.

No estimate of the value of honey bees in Texas today is possible, but it runs into many millions of dollars annually, more than 50 beekeepers were told at Texas A&M College last week.

Beekeepers from 11 states were in College Station to attend a two-day annual meeting of the Texas Beekeepers Association.

It was reported that annual incomes from domestic bees in the state range from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 from sales of honey, wax and queens alone. To farmers of the state the bees are worth from 15 to 20 times that amount annually for pollenization purposes.

At present there are about 317,000 colonies of bees in the state, each valued at about $10.

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Most classes of catle and calves were sharply lower at Fort Worth during the week. Choice fed steers and yearlings were steady, and other slaughter steers and yearlings were weak to $1 lower and some spots $2 and more off on the plain and common grassers. Calves were mostly $1 to $2 lower. Butcher hogs closed Thursday at 25 cents lower prices than a week ago, and sows were ready. Sheep and lambs closed Thursday at steady to strong prices compared with a week earlier. No hogs or sheep were being accepted at Fort Worth over the weekend as a case of suspected vesicular exanthema in hogs was being tested by state and federal agents.

Comparative prices: slaughter steers and yearlings $10-$34; slaughter calves $10-$27; stocker calves $27 down; stocker yearlings $23.50 down; stoker heifers $21.50 down; stocker cows $13-$20;

Closing hog top $20.25-$20.50; sows $14-$17; slaughter lambs $8.00-$23; feeder lambs $17 down; slaughter yearlings $8-$16; stocker yearlings $12 down; slaughter ewes $5-$7; solid mouthed ewes $7-$8.50; aged wethers $7-$10; two-year-old wethers $12.50 down; old bucks $6.

Valley View Sets Vote For Tuesday On Soil Supervisor

Music by the Midland FFA string band and a motion picture, "Neighbors of the Land," will feature a program at the Valley View community center Tuesday evening when the annual election of a supervisor of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District will be held.

Tuesday is the date set by state law for the election of a supervisor for Zone 4 of every district in Texas. The new supervisor will serve a term of five years. An election is held in a different one of the five zones each year. Warren Skaggs of Midland is the incumbent for Zone 4.

Any one who owns land south of U. S. Highway 80 and the Garden City Highway in Midland County, and lives in Midland, Martin, Howard, or Glasscock County, is eligible to vote in the election.

Program for the meeting Tuesday night is sponsored by the Midland County Agricultural Mobilization Committee. Representatives of the county Extension Service, Production and Marketing Administration, and Soil Conservation Service will be present.

D. M. McDonald will act as temporary chairman of the election meeting.

Home Fire Drills May Save Your Life, Protect Property

By LEONARD RUPPERT
NEA Staff Correspondent

If your home catches on fire, the odds are you'll be so confused that you'll do almost everything you shouldn't. That's why you should plan your steps well in advance—preferably now.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, in connection with Fire Prevention Week, October 5-11, points out that fire is one of the major menaces facing the American home owner. Last year, fire damaged or destroyed some 300,000 dwellings, yet many persons still haven't the faintest idea of what to do when it strikes.

Family fire plan, worked out ahead of time, can save lives in case of blaze. Learn how to turn in an alarm, above, and how to get the family out of the house fast, below.

Doing the wrong thing—delay in notifying the fire department, trying to put out the blaze yourself, looking for valuables to save—may result in death or serious injury.

Don't, for example, make the same near-fatal error that was committed by an East Coast housewife. Instead of directing her six-year-old son to snap the handle at the corner alarm box, she sent him several blocks away to the firehouse.

The obedient youngster followed orders and then sauntered back with the information that "the fire engines weren't home."

Fortunately for the mother, a taxi driver turned in the alarm and no one was injured. But the results might just as easily have been tragic.

Fire last year took 11,000 lives. Had the families involved taken the time to plan their means of escape in advance, authorities agree that the total of deaths might easily have been halved.

A "family plan" for coping with a fire in the home takes little time to discuss, but may well pay life-saving dividends.

First on the family check-list, say the Fire Underwriters, should be learning how to turn in an alarm. Children—and adults, too—should be taught where the nearest fire alarm box is, and how to use it.

An alternative means of reporting a fire is the telephone. The number of the fire department should be written down and kept near the phone. But if it isn't call the operator and say: "I want to report a fire." Then wait to be connected and distinctly give the correct address of the fire.

Once the alarm has been turned in, get everyone out of the house. But be careful doing it.

Should you wake at night and smell smoke, for instance, don't rush to open your bedroom door. Feel it first to see if it's hot. If it is, don't open it, for behind that door can lurk lethal gases, heat and smoke that can swiftly overcome you.

If the door isn't hot and you can leave the room, close the door behind you to impede the spread of the fire.

Think, Stay Calm

Persons trapped on upper floors should try to remain calm and wait for help to arrive. If they can't wait, the best thing to do is to throw a matrress out of the window to break their fall, then lower themselves on a "rope" of bed sheets.

The quickest way to escape from any room in the house should be discussed by the entire family. Then, if an emergency does arrive, panic will be lessened and everyone will know where to go.

Whatever you do, adds the NBFU as a final warning, once you and the members of your family are safely out of the building, don't return.

You may not be as lucky as the women reported by Boston police to have successfully escaped from a burning three-story building only to dash back in and return with—of all things—a completely filled-out and ready-to-mail income tax form.

Ventilate New Homes During 'Drying Out' Period

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

Adequate ventilation is a means of minimizing condensation, which may be especially damaging in new homes, for in them vapor condensation reaches its maximum.

When homes are built, tons of water go into materials such as concrete, cement, plaster, wallpaper paste, tile work and even some kinds of paint. This water comes out of the house by evaporation, which consequently develops air of a higher moisture content than normal.

The home owner must see to it that ventilation is provided to bring the drying-out process to its conclusion as steadily as possible, by venting off moisture-laden air.

Do not try to accelerate this process unduly by creating extremely high heating temperatures in Winter, for it will only tend to create an uneven drying which will exaggerate the effects of normal shrinkage, warns the National Association of Home Builders.

Tight-Fitting Door

In the case of a tight-fitting door, be patient—don't be too quick to plane the edge. Wait for warmer weather, when the door has dried down to normal.

The average door is properly manufactured, mortised and tenoned. Twisting or warping are beyond control and can happen to any door. Cracks appearing at door-casing joints, and elsewhere, can be filled readily, and when the home is redecorated the owner will have little difficulty in covering them so that they are no longer noticeable.

Outside doors are more subject to severe conditions. The reason: heat inside and cold outside. They have a tendency to twist or pull toward the heat, with the lock holding. No matter what manufacturer makes the door, the same problems appear—they are obviously beyond the builder's control.

Even a gradual drying-out process may produce warped woodwork, but with proper precautions such effects can be sharply reduced.

Even though windows are weatherstripped, cold panes can set up a current of cool air which will move through the room. Often this cool air current may feel as if it is coming from outside and causes the occupants to believe there is leakage around the windows.

Air In Motion

Actually, it is caused by the chilling of the air against the window, which then sets the air in motion.

Condensation is caused by warm, moist air coming in contact with cold surfaces. Such surfaces are windows, cellar walls and exposed pipes. Warm, moist, inside air meets them and, as if by magic, there is water—damaging water.

If your house has louvres do not obstruct these openings. The purpose of louvres is to ventilate your house. Keep them clear at all times and you'll come close to banishing a widely known headache.

Home Fire Costs Inflated; Safety Measures Urged

Home fires are costlier than ever, because inflation has come close to doubling all property replacement values.

In a warning to home owners and builders in connection with National Fire Prevention Week, the Tile Council of America cites facts which show that repairs of burned-out homes have risen 122 per cent of 1950 building costs and 240 per cent of building costs 25 years ago.

Urging more extensive use of fireproof materials in both new and remodeled houses, the warning emphasizes the fact that fire insurance is written on replacement value minus depreciation, not on market value. Steadily increasing construction costs have brought about the present inflation in replacement bills.

Fire Prevention Tips

Here are some tips from the council to aid builders in lowering property losses due to fire:

1. Kitchens especially are vulnerable to fire because of cooking operations. Clay tile splashbacks behind the range are recommended.

2. Select the heating system carefully and be sure it is properly installed and insulated. If the home is being modernized, the remodeling plans should include complete renovation and repair, or replacement if necessary, of the existing system.

3. Grease and oil allowed to remain on garage floors are highly dangerous. Experts recommend surfacing the garage floor, as well as the wainscoats, with an easily cleaned material which also is fireproof.

Plan, Not Number Of Rooms Gives House 'Livability'

The Tile Council of America, in a study of current housing trends, notes that houses are becoming smaller, but that there is "larger living in fewer rooms." The typical American home, 10 years ago, averaged 1,180 square feet. Today it measures approximately 980 square feet. The secret of more living in small floor plans is the "open layout" which merges rooms and eliminates partitions.

Analysis of new designs for the smaller home with greater livability also discloses the following trends:

1. Combining dining room, study and halls with other rooms by means of a continuous floor of durable and easily cleaned material like clay tile, which also is an excellent conductor of radiant heating. In this plan, every inch of floor space can work 24 hours a day because there are no partitions to break up the space into seldom-used rooms.

Cleverly Located

2. Houses are being located cleverly on land sites, with hedges, trees and fences assuring privacy. The family can use all the outdoor space for living, as well as the indoors. Terraces and patios rate high in this scheme.

3. Increasing use of easily washed materials everywhere in the house, especially the kitchen and bathroom. This makes the home childproof and guestproof and encourages informality and relaxation, as well as sparing the homemaker drudgery.

4. Wall areas are being utilized lavishly for storage. Designers who specialize in this phase of interiors are doing attarctive tricks with walls to disguise their utilitarian function as closets. The old-fashioned walk-in closet is beginning to disappear from modern architecture.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q. We are planning to build soon and want to specify unfinished strip oak floors for most of our rooms. As I understand it, there are various grades available. Can you tell me what they are and what are the differences among them?

A. You can get unfinished strip oak flooring in three grades of quarter-sawed stock and four of plain-sawed. Quarter-sawed comes a little higher in price because it costs more to saw and more waste is involved. The logs are cut at certain angles which bring out prominently the beautiful wood rays which characterize oak. The figures in plain-sawed oak, of course, are very appealing too.

Quarter-sawed grades, from highest to lowest, are Clear, Sap Clear and Select. Plain-sawed stock is graded: Clear, Select, No. 1 Common and No. 2 Common. All the grades are more than adequate in durability, strength and general serviceability. The chief difference is in appearance, since the principal factors considered in grading are such natural irregularities as knots, pin worm holes and mineral streaks. These variations in the more economical grades often seem to lend added interest to a floor.

A—No. The lacquer will act as a varnish remover and the finish of the wood will be smeared. Before lacquer is used, the old finish must be taken off completely.

Q. What width boards should be used in constructing a subfloor upon which oak flooring will be laid?

A. According to the National Oak Flooring Manufacturers' Association, four-inch or six-inch boards are best. Very often when 10- or 12-inch widths are used, for example, they prove quite unsatisfactory. The expansion and contraction of these wider boards are out of proportion to that of the narrow oak flooring nailed over it. Frequently this results in squeaks, buckling and cracks between the joints in the finish flooring. All these dangers are minimized when four-inch or six-inch subflooring is employed.

A—That is the popularly accepted story. However, blame should not fall on the cow but on the person who left the lamp where the cow could kick it.

Q—Who sponsors Fire Prevention Week?

A—Fire Prevention Week, October 5-11, is sponsored by the National Fire Protection Association, a non-profit, technical and educational organization.

Q—What is the purpose of a "fire-stop" in a wall?

The Number One American Habit

The thud of the paper on the front porch, tossed there by the bright-eyed lad, starts people reaching for the facts of life . . . all over town. Ever think of it that way? It's the great American habit, this eager reaching for the truth, this wanting to know what's going on . . . everywhere and without the slightest delay at all.

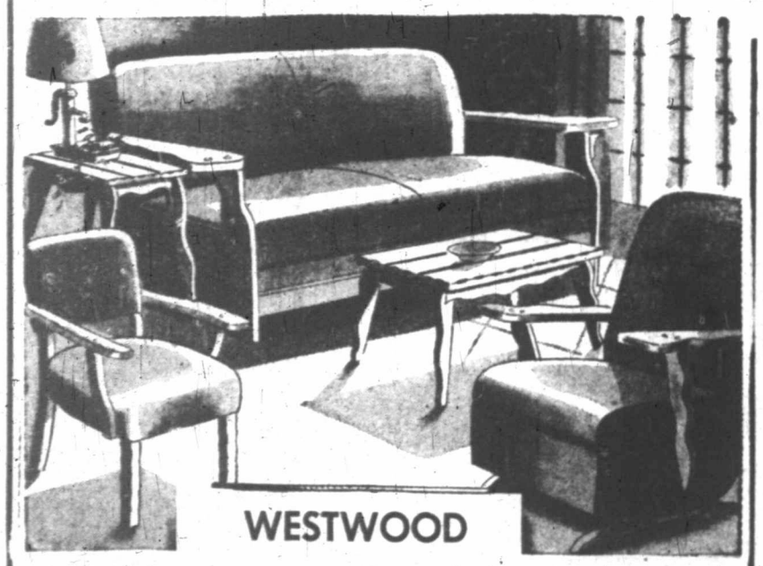

It's a good habit, too, for here is the foundation of the freedoms we cherish so deeply. In knowing what's going on lies our capacity for the making of choices, the very essence of our individual liberty.

It is at this point that our favorite newspaper becomes so important to our way of life. For in its pages are presented the kaleidoscopic changes occuring constantly . . . the truth of what's going on in the world . . . the facts from which we, as individuals, determine for ourselves how we will vote, whom we will patronize, what we will think, and what we will do.

The demonstration teams will take up the following four problems: The local unit's program of work for the year and provisions for a participating membership; the organization of the unit and study groups; the unit's work for legislation on child welfare, and the unit's methods of ethical money-raising and spending.

Others Listed

Haskew and Ralph Duke, also of the university; C. E. Sanderson of Austin, expediter; Mrs. H. G. Stinnett of Plainview, state president of the Texas Congress; Mrs. C. R. Larimer of Houston and Mrs. Leon Price of Dallas, state vice presidents, and Mrs. Warren Freund and Mrs. F. C. McConnell of Austin and Mrs. C. E. Burnett of Harlingen, state chairmen.

One of the convention highlights will be a panel composed of foreign airmen stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base. Their topic will be "What American Citizenship Means to Me."

County Campaign Demos Of Reeves For Ike's Election

PECOS—A nucleus of two dozen has formed the Reeves County Democrats for Eisenhower whose adopted by-laws commit them to "work for the election of Dwight D. Eisenhower as the President of the United States."

Named chairman of the supporters was Bob Bickley, assistant district manager for Western Cottonoil. Mrs. Bruce Hay was elected secretary-treasurer, and completing the executive committee are W. E. Moore, Balmorhea farmer; Frank Slack, Western Cottonoil employee; and John Gallagher, crop insurance man and former FBI agent.

As Bickley took over the meeting this week, he told the group that "we're all here for one purpose . . . it's just a question of what we can do to carry Reeves county for Eisenhower."

Regarding the relatively small number of charter members, Bickley pointed out that many are busy with cotton harvests, and that "a lot who feel like we do are not coming out in the open to make themselves known."

Presiding at the session before Bickley was elected was Henry Allen, who was a Reeves county delegate to the state Democratic meet at Amarillo. Allen explained that the group is not trying to convert the voter who is definitely for the Democrats' Stevenson.

"Our job," he asserted, "is to get the man who is wavering. We feel that will be enough to carry Reeves county."

DOROTHY BIDDLE

the principles of design, controls and use in the home. She also will give a demonstration, using everyday materials to fashion arrangements.

Her second program will be on "Holiday Decorations." In this she plans to discuss doorway decorations, wreaths and mantel arrangements and to give several demonstrations on how to make such decorations.

Mrs. Biddle was the first editor of Arts and Decorations and formerly served as editor of both Home Arts and Garden Digest. With her daughter, Dorothea Blom, she has authored a number of magazine and newspaper articles as well as the following books: "Flower Arrangement for Everyone," "Flower Arrangement Made Easy," "Creative Flower Arrangement," "The Book of Table Setting," "Garden Gossip" and "How To Arrange Flowers."

Texture Tops Fashion News

NEW YORK — Texture, that all-important word in fabric, means that surface interest has become foremost in fashion. It also means that a basically simple design can gain new interest, since texture, in itself, is sufficiently eye-stopping.

This is demonstrated over and over again in simple, classic lines coupled with texture. But texture has other fashion uses. It lends, for instance, the look of one fabric to another. When a wrinkle-resistant finish is added, a new and practical fashion is born.

Linen-textured rayon (left) makes a dress that's just right for the cooler days of Summer. It has a soft, smooth weave that's been made wrinkle - resistant. Angora trimming outlines the deep, wide U neck. Over this simple sheath goes a cape-sleeved, tassel-trimmed jacket that's not shown here.

Textured treebark taffeta (right) makes a simple acetate dress with wide, square-cut neckline and crisp white cuffs. It's the thousands of tiny, irregular pleats that lend this fabric body and give it surface interest.

DON'T STARVE TO TAKE OFF FAT

Here is an inexpensive home recipe to take off ungainly weight and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Just get from any druggist, four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour into pint bottle and add grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonsful twice a day. Wonderful results may be obtained quickly. Now you may slim down your figure and lose pounds of ugly fat without back-breaking exercise or starvation diet. It's easy to make and easy to take. Contains nothing harmful. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky weight and help regain slender, more graceful curves, return the empty bottle for your money back.

LOST 20 POUNDS

"I have lost 20 pounds taking Barcentrate," writes Lucele Campbell, Route 1, Grandview, Texas. "I feel so much better and am losing weight right along. No more bloating and puffed up feeling, since taking Barcentrate."

And Vira Belcher, Route 3, Box 167, Bowie, Texas, writes to say:

"I am well pleased with Barcentrate. It not only took off 18 pounds around my hips and abdomen, but it has made me feel so much better."

Third Nurse Added To Midland School Health Department

A third nurse has been added to the staff who administer the Midland school health program in order to serve the 7,700 school population.

Hearing tests will be given to new students and to those tested last year who indicated hearing losses, but all students except first graders will have the Snellen eye tests.

Dental examinations and tuberculin tests also are a part of the program. The latter is administered under the auspices of the Midland County Tuberculosis Association annually to first, fifth, eighth and twelfth grades and to new pupils who desire to avail themselves of the tests. Parents must give written consent for the tuberculin test.

In addition to the testing program, the school nurses administer first aid, keep cumulative health records, and help the classroom teacher relate the health teaching program to the needs of the children. They do not diagnose or treat illness.

The nurses and their offices are: Mrs. Billie J. Rogers, Sam Houston; Mrs. Marjorie Penn, South Elementary; and Mrs. Marie Hobitsek, Crockett.

Facts Mothers Should Tell Soon-To-Be-Wed Daughters

These things your daughter should know before she marries:

That even the best, most considerate husbands have some blind spots when it comes to understanding women, just as even the best wives cannot always understand a man's point of view.

That even those marriages that last a lifetime and are considered by both outsiders and marriage partners as being happy and successful, have had their periods of rough sailing. The difference between such marriages and those that fail is, that in successful marriages, one or both partners have enough courage to weather the storms.

That the kind of help a man needs from his wife in the first five years of marriage may not be at all what he needs later on. As the man changes, and as their circumstances change, the wife must find new ways of being a helpmate. So being a good wife is never a static thing.

That it is never at any time safe for a woman to think that a man owes her anything. All that she can count on absolutely is what he wants to give her—and so she must continue through the years to earn—his love, his respect, his companionship, his support.

That it is more important than her marriage that she be a happy woman rather than a smart or selfish or a hard-working woman, or even a beautiful woman.

That the most beautiful music in any home is the sound of shared laughter. And it means as much to children as to their parents.

That the greatest mistake the modern wife makes about marriage is in being too serious about its problems. After all, men and women marry because they think living together will be fun.

And as long as it is fun, they have a happy marriage.

MUSIC CLUB TO OPEN SEASON

The Midland Music Club will open its 1952-53 season Tuesday with a social meeting in the home of Mrs. W. W. West, 711 West Storey Street. Special guests will be prospective members and the husbands and wives of members.

On this occasion we are proud of our association with a profesion that is dedicated to community service. The pharmacists must be dependable, accurate and swift in the compounding of your physician's prescription.

The MATURE PARENT

Consistent Discipline Vital To Children's Moral Power

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Fred's father was a rich business man. He was proud he had come up the "hard way" and attributed his success to his impoverished and anxious childhood.

The fact that he could provide his boy with expensive toys and other advantages worried him. He felt that they were bound to undermine Fred's ambition and turn him into a mollycoddle.

This feeling made him treat Fred inconsistently. When it dominated him, he suddenly would decide that the boy was a sissy and begin to jeer at him. Later, when Fred was older, his father abruptly would decide that his allowance was extravagant—and demand an immediate itemized account of all Fred's expenditures.

Always, after he had reduced his child to helpless anger, Fred's father would be overcome by conscience as suddenly as he had been overcome by jealousy. He would start praising him, telling Fred that he had only had his welfare in mind, that he had every confidence in his manliness—and propose a swimming pool for the garden or an increase in Fred's allowance.

Fred's ambition indeed was undermined—but not by custommade bicycles. It was undermined by life with a father who was as incapable of consistent kindness as he was of consistent harshness.

Fred, today, is an alcoholic.

When we are unjust to a child, we arouse anger in him. When we suddenly explain the injustice we have done as love and kindness, we place him in a most difficult position. He has to reverse his judgment on injustice, choke back his anger and say to himself, "How wrong I was. My parent is a noble soul."

If he has to say this to himself as often as Fred had to, he comes to distrust his intuition for all injustice and loses any respect for his own ability to distinguish between aggressiveness and friendliness.

Findings of a recent study by the University of Chicago show that consistent discipline is essential to children's moral power. In an article in "Understanding the Child," published by the National Association of Mental Health, Dr. Robert J. Havighurst writes, "The Child who has received consistent discipline, whether severe or light, is likely to have a good character."

He has it because he has not been required to adjust to life with emotional chameleons who ask him to change his judgments so often that he ends up by not having any.

We cannot replace a loss of self-trust in a child by a swimming pool or an increased allowance. Such a point of view implies great love and dependency on money. Unless we recognize this, our attempts to undermine his feeling that injustice has been done can become the root of evil for everyone concerned.

Revival Slated At Bellview Baptist Church

Rev. Richard Philpott of Odessa will give the sermons and Rev. Carlos Gruber of Plainview will direct the music for revival services opening Sunday in the Bellview Baptist Church.

The revival will continue through October 19, with services at 7:45 p.m. daily, it was announced by the pastor, Rev. Jim Goins. The church is located at 1710 North Big Spring Street.

Rev. Carlos Gruber

Mr. Philpott, pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Odessa, is earning recognition as a denominational leader in this section of West Texas. He was graduated from Baylor University, Waco, and the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth.

Mr. Gruber, who will be making his second appearance at the Bellview Baptist Church, is a native Latvian. Well-versed in the dangers of Communism, Mr. Gruber lived in a Russian-dominated zone as a boy. He also has lived in Brazil and was graduated from the University of Sao Paola. He also was graduated from the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Mr. Gruber will have several speaking engagements while in Midland to assist with the revival.

Teacher Describes His Bicycle Tour Through Europe

CRANE—"Threat of Communism in many parts of Europe has been overcome by the American dollar," says Bill Holm, Crane elementary science teacher, who made a bicycle trip this Summer through many European countries.

Holm pointed out that Communist propaganda is spread generally by small groups at night, which makes it appear that Communism is predominant in Europe.

The Crane teacher was one of a group of 29 who left New York June 6 aboard the ship Neptunia.

He said that most of the European people were very courteous to the Americans' faces, but resentful behind their backs. He said that an American dollar goes a long way in Europe.

"A person can live on $2 a day very comfortably. Most of the citizens' money goes for taxes. The best way to travel is by bicycle or hitchhike. There are many bicycles used because they can be operated cheaply, and the towns are so close together. A person can ride 150 miles a day on a bicycle easily. There are very few cars in Europe, but the ones that are there are very good cars, especially roadsters," he said.

Holm said the European school systems are "fairly good." He pointed out that only the best and wealthy students are able to continue their college education.

"A high school education is equal to four years of our high school plus two years of college work," he said.

Citizens Bank, Trust Firm Organized For Midland Area

A third bank for Midland became a definite possibility this weekend following a meeting of stockholders in the Midland County Court House.

The Citizens Bank and Trust Company was selected as the name of the proposed new banking house, and 11 men were named to its board of directors.

R. B. Tanner was named president of the board and Yale E. Key secretary. Other directors are R. A. Berg, C. W. Chancellor, Sr., J. O. Gillham, Albert Kelley, Paul Osborne, Kelly Bell, John W. Starr, Harry Rhodes and Robert L. Wood.

A nominating committee including John Perkins, Bill Harkrider, and R. C. Maxson, presented a list of nominees to the stockholders.

The proposed bank has capital stock subscriptions of 400,000 divided into a $250,000 common stock issue, $100,000 surplus and $50,000 reserve fund.

Common Stock Par

Par for the common stock will be $20, and 12,50. shares will be issued when the state charter for the organization is granted.

Applications for a state charter and FDIC membership were signed by the stockholders.

Tanner served as temporary chairman and Key was temporary secretary before the permanent officers were elected.

Gillham, prominent Brownfield banker, addressed the meeting. He recommended that the new bank not request Federal Reserve Board membership at this time. He said the main objection to Federal Reserve membership is the requirement that 14 per cent of demand deposits and seven per cent of time deposits be kept in a frozen fund.

Building Projected

A move by Gillham that the bank be incorporated as a state bank and FDIC member, without Federal Reserve membership was approved by the stockholders.

The bank has a 60-day option, dating from September 5, to purchase a 100 by 140 foot lot for construction of the bank building. Proposed expenditure for the 55 by 104 foot structure is $80,000. It will be designed to permit addition of two more floors at a later date, if the demand justifies.

The building will have 5,720 square feet of floor space and parking space for 20 cars will be provided. It also will have a drive-in teller window where motorists can make deposits without entering the bank. Incorporated in the architecture of the new building will be the latest improvements in banking facilities.

First Baptist Class Installs Officers

The incoming officers of the Esther Class of the First Baptist Church were installed Tuesday in a candlelight ceremony in the home of Mrs. Bob Williams.

Mrs. Robert Donnell was in charge of the service. In keeping with the class colors of red and white, the dining table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of red verbenas and greenery.

Those installed were Mrs. W. G. Epley, teacher; Mrs. Clarence Givens, president; Mrs. Leslie Sherman, membership vice president; Mrs. Williams, stewardship vice president; Mrs. Harlin Thomas, fellowship vice president; Mrs. Jerry Miles, ministers vice president; Mrs. W. D. Smith, secretary; Mrs. Victor Horn, assistant teacher, and Mrs. Glenn Bennett, Mrs. Connally Frank and Mrs. Williams, group captains.

UNCLE EF

The boys are organizing a campaign drum and bugle corps here, but haven't decided to which political party they'll offer their services. Joe Parks predicts that the first party that promises something better in the way of prices than $9.00 for a smoked ham and three or four dollars for a steak will get not only the drum and bugle corps, but a whole band.

REPORTERS, EDITORS OF TOMORROW—

Colleges, Newspapers Unite For Training In Journalism

By BRUCE HENDERSON
Associated Press Staff

Like hospitals, Texas newspapers now have their interns, too.

They wield pencils instead of scalpels but these aspiring journalists take their on-the-job training as seriously as the budding physicians.

Twenty-six students from eight Texas colleges recently completed Summer-long stints on 20 newspapers over the state. Now they're back in classrooms, applying to academic study what they learned in police stations, cuspidor-dotted courtrooms and busy newspaper offices.

The Texas Daily Newspaper Association and the heads of the schools of journalism are cooperating in the program.

The original idea was to give youngsters practical experience and insure a supply of newspapermen and women better qualified to tell Mr. and Mrs. Texas Newspaper Reader what's going on in their town and state, says Ward C. Mayborn. Mayborn, publisher of the Sherman Daily Democrat and chairman of the TDNA Committee on Schools of Journalism, is affectionately known as the "father" of Texas' internship program because of his ceaseless efforts in its behalf.

Ad Students Included

Each year since the first internships in 1948 when 10 students forsook Summer vacations for a taste of real-life newspaper work, the program has grown. Advertising students, who work in newspaper advertising departments, have been added. There were six advertising interns this year.

Four top students who have completed their third college year are eligible. That's so during the senior year they can spread their experience among underclassmen and help professors improve teaching. Interns are paid enough for living expenses away from home.

The interns are put right to work.

Says Jack Krueger, city editor of the Dallas Morning News: "We don't want to be cold-blooded about it but we know these kids aren't going to learn anything unless they get in there and help put out the paper."

Simple Jobs First

Editorial students often start by handling such stories as obituaries and club meeting reports. Later they're given tougher assignments —perhaps interviewing a visiting celebrity or covering regular "beats."

Kenneth Smart, 19, Carrollton, interned this Summer on the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. He wrote Professor C. E. Shuford of North Texas State College:

"One thing which I have had impressed on me many times is that no story is trivial to the people it affects. The reporter who realizes this will give the tiniest personal the same painstaking care, relatively, as the lead story on page one."

The Sherman Democrat's 1952 intern was Marie Jackson, Waxahachie, a Texas State College for Women advertising student. Mayborn said, "She did an excellent job."

Mayborn said the program stemmed from the feeling by newspaper executives they were not getting the men and women they should from the schools—that two many students were entering such fields as radio, advertising agencies and public relations.

Old Ideas Reviewed

"Our objective has been and is to sell the newspaper as an opportunity to the students who are looking for a future," he explains.

But an important by-product of the program has been to dispel the tendency of many old-school editors to "look down their noses" at college journalism graduates. Many editors used to feel that real newspapermen came only from the "school of hard knocks'—starting out as a copy boy and working their way up.

But the world is becoming more complicated all the time and editors are realizing it is essential that newsmen have a broad background in many other fields, such as history, economics and science which can be attained in college.

Mayborn found it significant that this Summer every participating editor and advertising manager said he would give his intern a job upon graduation if one were available.

Editors send grade sheets on interns to professors. This helps the schools bolster weak spots in their teaching.

Mayborn knows of no other state with anything comparable to the Texas setup. Other schools participating this Summer were Texas A&M, Southern Methodist, Baylor, Hardin-Simmons, the University of Houston and University of Texas.

The youngsters may be "green" at first—but they learn the ways of the newspaper world quickly.

Recalled Mary Ann Jennings, NTSC student from Sweetwater who interned at the Waco News-Tribune and Times-Herald:

"Covering the police beat was great fun. I would check the uniformed police, then the plain-clothes detectives. Usually said 'Hello' to the chief of police and asked him what he knew. But he never knew anything that I hadn't gotten already."

BISHOP NAMED SPEAKER HERE

Bishop Charles C. Selecman of the First Methodist Church will be speaker for a Reformation Day Service to be held at 3 p.m. Sunday, October 26, at the Midland High School auditorium, the Rev. R. J. Snell, pastor of the Trinity Episcopal Church, announced Saturday.

A committee breakfast meeting will be held at 7 a.m. Monday at the First Methodist Church to plan the Reformation Day observance.

MAPLE FACTORY

A mature maple is equivalent to a starch factory covering half an acre. The surface of leaves of such a maple would cover that area, and the leaves manufacture starch.

Hot fat that splatters or spills over often causes serious burns. Never lift a kettle of hot fat. It is much wiser to wait until the fat cools. When placing anything to cook in hot fat, do it with care, and, if possible, with tongs.

Burton Keeps Cool On Duty With Icebreaker In Arctic

BILL BURTON, SN
. . . On the Northwind

With temperatures ranging from a cool 40 degrees during the day to 28 degrees at night, Seaman First Class W. H. (Bill) Burton did not have to worry much about the heat this Summer.

Bill Burton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Burton who live at Plymouth Camp in Midland. His father is chief clerk at the Plymouth Oil Company here.

The young Coast Guard seaman recently returned to Boston after a four-month tour of duty on the icebreaker USCG Northwind. He left the States on April 30 and returned on September 1 to Boston, so the Greenland temperatures he encountered were during the "warm" season in that frozen land.

The Northwind, which was flagship for Admiral Byrd expedition to the South Pole in 1947, was engaged in icebreaking duties off the coast of Greenland. Its work was conducted in connection with the building of the new air base at Thule, Greenland.

The task of the Coast Guard icebreaker was to escort Navy vessels through the ice floes at the Arctic air base. The ship is equipped with helicopter teams.

Estimated cost of the Arctic base had been placed at 263 million dollars, and the Defense Department describes it as one of our "largest and most important bases."

Bill graduated from Midland High School in 1949. He is at present attending Radar school at the Coast Guard Training Station, Groton, Conn.

R. H. Burton, Bill's father, reports that he is expected to be back in Midland at Christmas time on leave.

They didn't always know how to laugh!

But many children of our neighbors, right here in Midland, have little reason to laugh. There's nothing happy about a family crack-up, or haunting sickness, or having no home.

These children need you. Your money, through our Red Feather, can give them the love, the care, the guidance, the protection they want so badly. Will you help? Give enough to the Red Feather to feel good . . . and to help others feel good, too.

By NELL CURRAN and BETTY BOLTON

In case you were wondering what all the Odessa kids were doing here last Friday night for the Poly game, we found out it was because they had an open date and they wanted to see us play. They said part of the Odessa team came here and a few went to Lubbock to see Lubbock and Highland Park of Dallas play in one of the top games in the state. Lubbock won, 33-20. We'd like to extend the welcome mat to them anytime they'd like to come pay us a visit.

We're sure everyone that met any of the kids from Fort Worth thought that they were real fine people and were about the friendliest school that had ever been here.

Say, kids, the pep-rally down town was really swell last week and we all had a lot of school spirit. Let's see if we can give the Bulldogs 100 per cent backing this week.

We hope that you all have been going to the dances at the Youth Center after every home football game. If you haven't, you really have been missing something. They are lots of fun and everyone always has a good time.

Let's all really think seriously about being in Tri-Hi-Y or Hi-Y if they get them started here in MHS. We've heard of other organizations like these in other towns and they really do a lot of good.

Well, we've heard of school spirit but this takes the cake! Sally Hughston informed us the other day that since every one else has been putting rinses, sprays, peroxide etc. on his hair, she is going to put purple and gold stripes in her hair. Now she is wondering about where to get purple coloring to use.

Why doesn't someone go up and ask Jimmie Counts if he thinks jeeps will get stuck in the mud? He didn't think so, that is until his jeep got stuck last Tuesday night. We hear that everyone in the jeep had a nice walk back home.

We'd like to take this opportunity to correct a statement we made last week. Julie Owens is not moving to Dallas.

A large group of Texas Tech students came home last week. They were Jackie Brady, Jimmy McClatchy, Jimmy Adams, Jerry Landis, Larry Lynn, Larr Mayfield, Gary Throckmorton and Leo Hatfield. Also two TCU students, Nancy Steedman and Sara Hendricks. Glad to see all you freshmen.

I suppose everyone knows Midland is one out of 15 undefeated, untied teams in AAAA conference in Texas, as of our 61-19 victory over Polytechnic High of Fort Worth. Everyone should be very proud of the Bulldogs as this is a very special honor.

Memory Lane

One year ago Jack Pennington, present sports editor of the Bulldog, was drawing sports cartoons for the Midland Reporter-Telegram. They must have been good: he's still drawing them this year.

Models of mummies, sphinxes and pyramids were displayed in the showcase by the home economics department.

Several dramatics students made like fish, bulldogs, and firecrackers (Betcha they got a bang out of that) last year on a dramatics assembly program.

The cast for the Junior Play, "Ever Since Eve," was really working (maybe it was just an act).

Two years ago the Navy offered a Naval Reserve Officers Training Course to all boys who didn't want to join the Army (and who did?) Maybe the Navy's motto was "Join the Navy and see a world—of water.

Sonya Little, an ex-Midland High School student, was pictured in Life Magazine. She worked as a showgirl in "Yahoo Hadacol" (so help us that was the name of the show.) As six weeks tests drew near an air of impending disaster hung over MHS. Six-weeks' tests shouldn't bother students as much as final exams. The only trouble with final exams is that too often they really are final.

Lucky, a pugnacious bulldog, was adopted by the Bulldog football team as a mascot. Guess we really went to the dogs!

The big bonfire held before the Brownwood game was said to generate spirit but it generated a little heat too.

The new science department had its face lifted, and if somebody in the chemistry department happened to mix the wrong things, something else would get its face lifted too!

In a poll conducted by the journalism staff it was found that 82 per cent of the student body read the Bulldog. I guess that disproves the saying that "journalism is unreadable and literature is unread."

15 Girls Nominated For 1952-53 Honor As 'Catoico Queen'

Nominations for Catoico Queen were made in assembly Wednesday.

The nominations were opened by John Petty, student body president, who explained that the seven girls voted highest will be queen and attendants.

Voting will take place when the annuals are on sale, and the purchase of an annual entitles a person to vote.

The nominations were closed by a motion from the floor by John McGuigan and a voice vote to the affirmative.

Band Takes Over First Radio Show

"Midland Schools on the Air" started off with a roll-off from the drums and the MHS Bulldog Band's version of the school fight song, "On Ye Bulldogs." This was the first of a series of programs to be presented each Thursday afternoon at 1:30 p.m.

Football seemed to be in the air as the band played several snappy marches; "National Emblem," "Barnum and Bailey's Favorites" and "On the Square."

THE BULLDOG

BULLDOG EDITORIAL

Bangles, bangles, everywhere, and no one wants to buy. That's the case very often when the football tags are being sold. It shouldn't be that way. Maybe some people just don't realize how important the bangles are . . . to themselves.

Bangles do primarily two things: support the student organizations who sell them, and show school spirit.

Either of these facts should be enough to show the value of the tags. The student organizations help to improve the lot of the students. This certainly is important. But perhaps even more so is the fact that they show spirit. Some people seem to think that the enthusiasm of the students isn't as great this season as it has been in previous years. We'd like to show them this isn't true. Buying bangles is one way to do it.

The next time you are about to refuse a tag, remember how important it is, and change your mind. You'll be glad you did.

Those Football Yells Prove That Cheerleaders Practice

By ARDITH CAMPBELL

Any morning, Monday through Friday, you can find your MHS cheerleaders in the gym practicing from 8 a.m. until the 9:50 bell sounds to end the first period.

They also practice on an average of two nights a week during July and August.

The sextet is under the leadership of Sadie Nugent, head cheerleader. This is Sadie's second year as a cheerleader, and when she's not yelling she's pursuing her courses of typing 41, English 41, shorthand and office. She prefers blue and likes calorie-laden foods.

Other senior cheerleaders are Othanna Gadberry, Charles Worthen and Jim Ten Eyck.

Othanna came to MHS from Kermit last year where she held the honors of head cheerleader and Best-All-Round Girl. Her schedule this year includes shorthand, plane geometry, typing, English and drill. Her favorite colors are red and green—for automobiles, that is.

Charles says he especially likes cornets and blondes. He's interested in music and was a member of the Alan Harris jazz band last year. His subjects are PE, physics, algebra, English and bookkeeping. This is his first year at cheerleading.

Jim played football his first three years in high school. Therefore, this is his first year to be a cheerleader, too. He is taking physics, algebra, English and typing. He likes fried chicken, and he prefers the redder portion of the rainbow.

Tom's schedule includes typing, English, solid geometry, chemistry and American history. He was a member of the basketball team for two years. This is also his first year to be a cheerleader. Tom especially likes the color red and filet mignon (or any other food as long as it's expensive).

Fifi was an active member of the tennis team the last two years. Although this is her first year to be a yell leader in high school, she was one for three years in junior high. English, speech, typing, plane geometry and history make up her schedule, and she says her preferences include an unnamed football player, fried chicken, yellow and the number seven.

FFA, FHA Delegates Visit Texas State Fair In Dallas

Those boys you saw out of school Tuesday afternoon weren't playing hookie, they were the FFA boys going on a field trip to the Slim O'Neal farm. The farm is three and a half miles south of town.

The various Martin County agricultural agencies in cooperation with the Agriculture Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce sponsored a Winter cover crop seeding demonstration for the boys.

Many of the farmers and ranchers were there. Mr. Monroe, superintendent of the schools also attended. Various agricultural firms in town furnished the equipment and seeds for the demonstration.

Friday the FFA boys and girls left at 9 a.m. for the Dallas State Fair. Saturday was Rural Youth Day. The boys spent both nights at U. S. Naval Air Station at Grand Prairie. The girls stayed at the State Fair Ground Dormitory in Fort Worth.

Student Council Sets November 22 As Homecoming Day

November 22, the date of the Lubbock game, was selected as a suitable date for Homecoming at the September 23 meeting of the student council. Roberta Stewart and Ardith Campbell were appointed co-chairmen of the General Planning Committee.

The suggestion was made that this year's parade feature floats from each of the high school clubs.

It also was decided that the Football Queen would be given recognition during Homecoming activities. More definite plans will be announced at a later date.

A selection of Who's who in the different fields also was discussed. They will be chosen at the end of the year by a panel of faculty and students, and will be featured in the annual. There will be approximately 12 students chosen from the three classes, on a basis of athletic ability, scholarship, leadership, and citizenship. The motion carried unanimously.

The council also approved the motion to sell concessions at the "B" team home games. Anna Bess Doyle, Barbara McMillan, and Ardith Campbell were appointed to have charge of the general planning for this project.

Another topic for discussion was a booth for selling pencils, paper, etc . . . The idea for the booth was approved, but a location for it has not yet been decided.

Teen Review Show Gets Earlier Time

If you have a low tired feeling and are subject to having the "homework blues," we have a prescription for you. It's a rhythmic remedy of song on the Saturday Teen Review.

This program until now has been heard from 6:30 p.m. until 7:00 p.m. It is now heard at an earlier time. The exact time change will be announced over the radio.

A few of the people who have been guests on the Saturday Teen Review are Tommy Miller, who played a piano solo; John Petty, who gave a talk about the student council, Mary Jane and Margie Miller, who sang a couple of tunes, and Sally Breeze, who entertained with a vocal solo.

Who knows? Next Saturday's guest may be you!

Advisory Programs Look Into 'Manners'

The first of a series of programs was presented in each advisory room Thursday. The subject for the program was "Assembly Manners."

Different forms were used to present these, many using panel discussions, skits, and pantomimes.

Each class selects a program chairman who in turn appoints different students to take the program each week.

Many varied subjects will be discussed and analyzed, hoping to make a better and more interesting advisory period.

Volunteer Workers To Help Community Chest Fund In City

The Community Chest drive started Wednesday but the students will start helping October 14.

The students are all volunteer workers and are from senior high and the two junior highs. The Half Timers are to be the leaders and there will be 50 teams, each team consisting of four persons, including the captain. There will be 200 students helping.

There will be a "kickoff" breakfast in the High School Cafeteria October 14 at 7:30 a.m. for all of the workers. The drive for the students will begin after school Tuesday.

This drive is not primarily for the Youth Center but for the whole city drive. The Youth Center's division is from North Avenue A to West Wall and all northeast of there out to the Andrews Highway. Steve Thorson is student chairman and Myrt Baker, director of the Youth Center is section chairman. All students interested in helping are asked to contact Myrt Baker at the Midland Youth Center.

. . . Asa Peebles from Beaumont?

Asa, six foot five inch junior, has been out of the Navy for 10 days after a four year stretch! He was stationed all over the West Coast, and was in Korea before the war started.

. . . Jessie Pierce from Oklahoma City, Okla?

Jessie has lived in Midland for five weeks and is taking English, algebra, speech, PE and American history. She is five feet three inches tall with blond hair and green eyes. Jessie says that her favorite sport is swimming and when it comes to eating she prefers vanilla ice cream.

NOISY BUT NICE

Drama Students Give Proof Stagecraft Can Be Fun, Too

By ELAINE JOHNSON

"One, two, three—Bang! You have shot each other—this time you die!"

So went the assembly Wednesday when Miss Harris' third period dramatics class presented a program on traditional stage movements and technique. At this time the Pecos Petes had just had a brawl after a poker game where each in a true traditional style had shot the other quite "daid!"

This assembly was given to acquaint the students with some of the arts of acting and to show them that "dramatics" can be a lot of fun too.

First on the program foot actions and characteristics were demonstrated where imitations all the way from stepping into bubble gum to tight-rope walking were acted out on the stage.

Next a group of girls demonstrated how to sit correctly, to cross the legs, to pick up an object from the floor, to faint, to make a stage gesture, and to stand in a stage conversation.

Dan Ratcliff and Dwayne Chesnut also did some very convincing scenes on tripping on an object, getting hit on the head with a bat, and slipping on soap while in the bathtub. And as the script says, "No broken bones, I hope?"

Third on the program were some impersonations ranging from Steve Thorson as Hamlet to Joyce Newberry doing Bette Davis.

Next came a show window from Fifth Avenue where the students modeled many phases of imaginary sport, working, evening, and dining outfits.

"How Dumb" was given. The title was well picked since the characters interpreted their parts just exactly like the narrator read them. Heroine Henrietta, played by Elaine Johnson, sweeps into the room—with a broom!—and comes upon her maid, Helen Heidelberg, Steve Thorson, and Hero Harold, Dwayne Chesnut, rush to assault each other—with salt shakers!

All in all the program was very interesting and well rounded and apparently all the students enjoyed it immensely.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Joint chiefs differ on how to end Korean war; Defense goals will be reached by '54; Dewey stays in Ike's shadow.

WASHINGTON — The joint chiefs of staff have given careful consideration to some plan by which they could end the long-drawn-out Korean stalemate. They fear that if the war drags on for another Winter, the American public will become so apathetic that the Defense Department will be in an untenable position.

As a solution, Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, Air chief of staff, has been urging that American ground troops be pulled out of Korea altogether, and the ground war be turned over to American-trained South Koreans. The United Nations, he advises, could provide air support and supply equipment. Vandenberg argues this will leave the Chinese as the only foreigners in Korea and tend to unite the Koreans against the Chinese. Now, on the other hand, there is considerable Korean feeling against Americans.

Vandenberg also believes Korea might be protected through a public ultimatum by the United Nations that if Chinese aggression is renewed against South Korea, the Chinese mainland would be attacked by air and the Chinese coast would be blockaded by the Navy.

However, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs, does not agree with Vandenberg. Neither does Gen. Joe Collins, Army chief of staff, or to a lesser degree Adm. W. F. Fechteler. They argue that ground troops must remain in Korea until prisoners of war are exchanged.

Thousands of Americans in Communist POW camps, they say must not be deserted.

At present, the only obstacle remaining in the truce talks is the exchange of prisoners and the Chinese seem to have no intention of settling it. However, General Bradley argues that as long as the talks continue, there is hope, and he is adamant that American boys in prison camps must not be left there.

There has been some discussion inside the Defense Department over forcing the Communist hand by blockading the Chinese coast. The Navy is all set to carry out this assignment, but the trouble is with our United Nations Allies. They are dead set against it. Great Britain especially is adamant on the ground that a blockade might cause her to lose Hong Kong.

Capital News Capsules

Defense Speed-Up — Henry Fowler, chief of the whole mobilization program, soon will announce that America now has enough new factories and machine tools to permit a big speed-up in mobilization. Fowler will say that because of these new factories we can reach our defense goals by 1954—the year of greatest danger from the Russians.

Hitherto we weren't expecting to be ready until 1955—one year after the period of greatest danger.

But Fowler will say that if the Administration and the Congress are willing to give the green light and spend the money, the United States will be prepared to meet any Russian threat.

Dewey and Nixon — Although Governor Dewey carefully is staying in the background so Eisenhower won't be tagged a Dewey man, he keeps in close touch with the general by long-distance phone. Dewey was so worried over the Nixon furor that he asked friends across the country to wire their immediate reaction to Nixon's broadcast. (Dewey was among those who recommended Nixon for Veep).

Pravda's bitter attack on U. S. Ambassador George Kennan is the beginning of a campaign to force him out of Russia. The Kremlin knows that Kennan understands Russia all too well, and wants his brilliant reports to the State Department stopped at any cost . . . The Navy's television - guided robot planes are not the only guided missiles being tested in Korea. The Army also is experimenting with a top-secret guided missile under battle conditions, while the Air Force is training two guided-missile squadrons for Korea after the first of the year . . . The Russians have started building long-range bomber bases along the ice-bound Arctic shore of Northern Siberia. This is just a short hop across the North Pole from Canada, and within easy range of Seattle, Detroit and Chicago. The Russians also have started making daily weather flights across the North Pole . . . The government will pay out more than $20,000,000 in crop insurance to farmers who lost crops during the Summer drouth.

Nixon Plans Big Speech

Bob Morris, counsel for the McCarran Internal Security Committee, has been passing stuff to Senator Nixon on Owen Lattimore and the Institute of Pacific Relations. Nixon is planning a big speech on communism and the Truman Administration . . . Following the first deluge of mail on Nixon, the Republican National Committee is getting a lot of "morning-after" letters. Quite a few letter-writers were carried away by the first impact of the emotional broadcast. But now they want to know exactly where he got the $20,000 down-payment for his house . . . A survey of Nixon sentiment shows that the women are a lot stronger for him than the men . . . Truman really is sore at Ike. He has the father-toward-son complex of the man who educated his son in the best schools and then found him marrying the daughter of his worst enemy. Originally Truman thought that even if Ike ran as a Republican, foreign policy would not be an issue and the country would be on an even keel. Now he has changed his mind . . . Charley Taft, brother of the senator, made the mistake at the Delaware, Ohio, Fair the other day of telling 40,000 people that this was the first fair he ever had attended . . . Evie Robert, wife of the former Democratic National Committee treasurer, says: "I see that Mrs. Nixon has a Republican cloth coat, not a mink. My husband has never bought me a mink. Do you suppose he's a Republican at heart?"

Washington Figures Begin To Nurse Hopes About Their Employment Status Next Year

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

If Candidate Eisenhower is elected, there'll be, of course, a pretty thorough shake - up of top White House personnel. But if Candidate Stevenson wins, even though he's promised to "throw 'em out," most of President Truman's high-level officials seems to be nursing hopes of sticking around for another four years.

Either that, or with their days in high office numbered, they are just reluctant to face up to the necessity of job hunting after Jan. 20, 1953.

A survey of members of the President's Cabinet reveals that only two of them will state with certainty that they are calling it quits with the government when the President leaves. They are Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett and Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson flatly refuses to discuss the subject. A spokesman for Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder indicates that he will quit with his pal Harry Truman.

Tow'ever, the remaining five, either by personal statement or through authorized spokesmen, are being very coy about committing themselves one way or another. The hinting is that they'd like to stay. And the same goes for most of the other officials of less than cabinet rank.

Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman, the one man who stands the best chance of being kept on in case of a Stevenson victory, is the most forthright about his position. He states simply:

"If I said that I would accept the job again I'd just be accused of openly campaigning for it."

Spokesman points out unique claims which two members have for being continued in office. Both Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan and Postmaster General Jesse Donaldson have so-called Civil Service status, which is a kind of legal right to some Federal employment which they won by coming up through the ranks as career men. A Brannan aide says:

"Becoming a secretary of a department is the climax of a career government employe. The secretary enjoys his work very much and it is logical to assume that he would be willing to continue to serve if asked."

Stevenson and Chapman: He stands the best chance.

The job of postmaster general used to be the traditional spot for the most active politician in the cabinet. President Truman changed that by appointing Donaldson who worked up in the Post Office over 45 years. As a result, now, other postal officials claim that it would be an injustice if the next President replaced him or forced him to retire.

Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin and new Attorney General James P. McGranery are both being very adroit about not saying yes or no about their willingness to continue in office if asked.

Tobin's associates point out that the Secretary and Stevenson see eye-to-eye on labor problems. And they say that there is great need for continuity in the present program.

The case advanced for keeping McGranery is the ambitious clean-up which he has started and the fact that it will take at least 18 months to finish.

Among the high non - cabinet government officials, only Jess Larson, head of General Services Administration, has revealed any strong intention to leave Uncle Sam's payroll in January. He has said to friends several times that he wants to get out of the government.

A spokesman for the head of the Federal Security Agency indicates that the boss there, Oscar Ewing, might like to stay in the job. And officials at Veterans Administration claim that tradition would call for keeping Carl Gray in his post.

There's a more realistic attitude among members of the White House staff. Such key Truman men as John Steelman, Charles S. Murphy and Matt Connelly aren't committing themselves as to their future, either. But nobody is willing to claim that they should be kept around for the next regime.

The only thing that they do all agree on, however, is the fact that tradition calls for all presidential appointees to at least hand in a resignation to the new President.

If the falling ax does catch the necks of the entire Cabinet, the legal profession will be most affected. Tobin is a businessman, Lovett, banker, and Donaldson a Federal employe. The rest are lawyers.

DEER DENIED MATRICULATION

Midland High School had a new "student" Friday, but he couldn't be enrolled—much to the other students' sorrow.

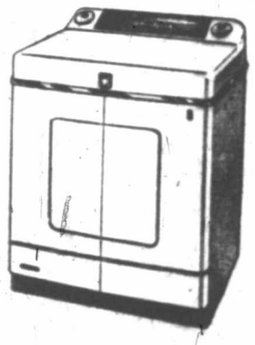

A fawn wandered into the high school auditorium. His appearance created such a stir among the students that Frank H. Rose, Midland Hmane Officer, was summoned to take the animal to the shelter.

Rose said he believed the 30-pound fawn must have jumped out a passing automobile—as its legs were skinned up—and wandered into the school auditorium.

Chevrolet's powerful brakes are the largest in the low-price field. This means easier, safer stops. Bonded brake linings—no rivets—last up to twice as long.

UNITIZED KNEE-ACTION
The only low-priced car to assemble and balance the front suspension system as a separate unit . . . one important reason why the ride is so outstanding.
