

On The BEAM

By J. W. King, Sr.

It is sometimes discouraging to farmers who have a good crop up and growing for rains to continue coming at such regular intervals it is almost impossible to get in the field and plow out the weeds. Weeds grow faster than cotton and soon have the crop in such condition the plow cannot get all the weeds which causes a big hoe bill.

The editor and his wife last weekend went down to Bertram, Texas, to meet with other members of the graduating class of 1916 of Bertram High School. Mrs. King did not graduate there but the editor did. It was nice to associate again with those "kids" we had not seen in 45 years.

That is a pretty country down there when it rains, and it has rained plenty this year. It does not look like it did when we lived there though. Things have changed around until we hardly knew our way around. The town of Bertram is growing population wise but like most small towns business is suffering from lack of patronage.

The newspaper, The Bertram Enterprise, on which we cut our teeth as a printer 45 years ago is not being published anymore. Lack of patronage from local merchants put it out of business a few months ago. There are some good stores in Bertram but they didn't advertise when they had the opportunity.

We saw and renewed our friendship with members of the class, enjoyed a party and spent the night in the home of our Sunday School teacher when we were a lad, and attended services at the church where we joined the church.

After church we enjoyed lunch and an hour of visiting with two other members of the class and four friends at the Tower Lodge in Burnet.

The class voted to meet again next year and we hope we can be there and that other members of the class who were not present this time can be there.

CEMETERY FUND

Contributions to the Lions Cemetery Fund last week included C. R. Green, $5.00.

Other contributions are badly needed at this time to get the weeds cleaned off the cemetery.

PRIZES OFFERED IN CHILD PHOTOGRAPH CONTEST

The time is almost here for the opening of The Mitchell County News' Big Child Photograph Contest and we're urging all of our readers to have their children ready for the big day.

Winston B. Lucas of Irving, Texas, will be in Loraine on Thursday, August 3, 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. at The Mitchell County News office for the purpose of taking pictures in this vicinity. In addition to having their pictures printed in this newspaper, the children will be competing for $200.00 in prizes, which are being offered for the three best photographs made during the day. The photographs will be made absolutely free of charge, and there is no charge for their publication in The Mitchell County News. Proofs will be shown and from these you may select the picture of your child which you would like to appear in this newspaper. If you wish extra photographs they may be purchased, but no purchase is necessary in order to compete for the prizes. It is entirely up to you, whether you buy pictures or not.

There is no age limit on the contest, and every child's photograph in this section is wanted so that they may all appear in The Mitchell County News. However, it is necessary that all pictures must be of uniform size, so they must be made by Winston B. Lucas on Thursday, Aug. 3.

Don't wait until little Mary gets married or baby brother is elected to some political office to see their pictures in the paper—make plans now to have these photographs made on Thursday, August 3. Tell your friends and neighbors—the more, the merrier.

Fun and Christian Fellowship was the highlight for the Youth For Christ, Friday afternoon when a group of approximately forty met at the church and boarded a bus for a trip that a group had so well earned. Coach Dodds drove the bus for the group. When all were seated decisions were made by the majority vote concerning the activities. Prayer was offered for fun, sportsmanship, the vesper service and a safe journey.

At the close of the day and in the stillness that marks the close of the day the group sat upon the grass near a large bonfire. The theme of the vesper service was "What Are We Like." The presence of the "Creator" was found in this place of beauty with its surroundings. Presenting the program, hymns, and prayer were Gary Parnell, Peggy Phillips, Sherry Graham and Carol Little. Joretta Hall served as accompanist with the accordion. Coach Dodds offered the benediction. The group enjoyed a sing-song before their departure for home. Veterans News

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. Is VA issuing any new insurance? I have a $5000 policy I took out after service in Korea and am wondering if I can increase it.

A. If you were in service on or after April 25, 1951, and the VA finds you have a service connected disability, you may, within one year from the time VA rates your disability service-connected, apply for an increase in your insurance up to $10,000, or a new policy if you were never issued one. Otherwise, no new GI life insurance can be issued by VA.

Q. Please explain the provisions of the new pension law as they affect my eligibility to receive pension. I am the widow of a veteran of the Korean War. A Formerly, as the widow of a Korea veteran, you had to show that your husband had a service-connected disability at time of death. You don't have to do that now. You need only show he had the required length of service, a discharge other than dishonorable, and that your income is within stated legal limits.

Q. When does the Korean GI training program come to an end?

A. January 31, 1965. Meanwhile, Korean veterans have three years from the date of their discharge to begin GI training, and eight years from time of discharge to complete training. But no training may be taken after the January, 1965, cut-off date.

Q. When I took out my GI insurance I named as beneficiary a relative who has since died. I want to put down my wife's name now, since I recently married. What procedures do I have to follow?

A. Changing your beneficiary is extremely simple. Just go to any VA Office get a change-of-beneficiary form, fill it out and send it in. VA will do the rest for you.

THE ALL ELECTRIC HEAT PUMP

DOES BOTH JOBS AUTOMATICALLY . . .
WITH ONE SETTING OF THE THERMOSTATIC CONTROLS

Year-round indoor climate control is completely automatic with the All-Electric Heat Pump. The same central system unit that cools your home in summer also heats it in winter, using only air and electricity. In hot weather, the Heat Pump extracts heat from indoor air and pumps it outside. In cold weather, the Heat Pump automatically reverses itself. It extracts heat from outdoor air (even when it's below freezing) and pumps it into your home. And during changeable weather, the Heat Pump switches automatically from cooling to heating or back again, as needed, to maintain the temperature you like best. You just set the thermostatic controls once and enjoy perfect comfort the year round. See your air conditioning contractor soon . . . or call Texas Electric Service Company for complete information.

By Vern Sanford
Texas is a great state for hunters seeking lesser sculp and for fishermen angling for channel bass, spotted weakfish and cobia.

If you're an outdoorsman and these names don't ring a familiar bell don't be alarmed. They are not new species introduced to the state. They are species that have been here for a long, long time. You know them well—but by other names.

Actually you know them by their sectional names rather than their common proper names.

The lesser sculp is the blue-bill; the channel bass is the red-fish; the spotted weakfish is the speckled trout; and the cobia is the ling.

For many, many years there has been considerable confusion over the common names of fish birds and animals. With Texas population growing, that confusion has spread into the Lone Star State because many of the folks now residing here came from other sections of the nation.

All fish, birds and animals have scientific names. But few people can pronounce these Latin names, much less remember them.

Scientific names are chosen according to the international rules of scientific nomenclature and a scientific name can be applied to only one fish, bird or animal.

In a scientific name, the first name is the genus and the second name is the species. At times there will be a third name which indicates a sub-species.

We won't go into the scientific names applied to our wildlife, but let's consider the proper common names—applied to some of our birds and fish.

Let's first consider some of the freshwater fish common to the state. Listed below are the proper common names of fish, followed by the sectional names or nicknames:

LARGEMOUTH BASS — Black bass, bigmouth, bronze-back, southern trout, green trout and linesides.

WHITE BASS — Sand bass, silver bass, striped bass, striper, sandy and barfish.

BlueGill — Blue bream, blue-mouth, sunfish, bream, copperhead bream and daddies.

WHITE CRAPPIE — This fish has more sectional names than any other fish. Just a few include: bride perch, bachelor, campbellite, papermouth, saca-lait, lampighter, chinquapin perch and goggle eye.

Saltwater fish common to Texas have their share of nicknames. Here are a few:

CHANNEL BASS — Redfish, red drum, bronzeback and spot-tail.

SPOTTED WEAKFISH — Speckled trout, speck, spotted queteague, saltwater trout and yellowmouth trout.

COBIA — Ling, lemonfish, sergeant fish, lingcod and buoy-tender.

Now let's try the same thing with some of the waterfowl that winter in our state:

CANADA GOOSE — Honker, Canadian honker, ringneck goose, whitecheek, northern goose and winter goose.

SNOW GOOSE — White brant, wavy and galup goose. It should be pointed out here that the true brant doesn't come to Texas. It is found strictly on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and then in very limited areas. Any true brant that comes into Texas is a non-conformist.

PINTAIL — Sprig, spike duck, spike-tail duck, gooseneck duck and whistling duck.

MALLARD — Greenhead, northern mallard, winter mallard and puddler.

LESSER SCAUP — Bluebill, raft duck, blackie and black-heads.

RUDDY DUCK — This duck has 23 nicknames. Just a few include: masked duck, robber duck, faintail duck, blackcap, blackjack, ruddy and spiketail.

It sounds odd that the ruddy duck should be called "faintail" and "spiketail". But here's why. When the duck is flying, the tail does look like a spike. At rest on the water the duck spreads its tail like a fan.

Some time ago the Outdoor Writers Association of America compiled a list of American sports fish, using one name only to designate each species.

Although O W A A released the list several years ago, most writers continue to use the most common name used in their respective areas.

So it looks like we'll have to live in a world where many names will be applied to the same fish, bird or animal—regardless of how confusing it might be.

Just because a fellow calls a fish by a name other than the one you apply to it, don't take the guy for a foreigner or a

WANT TO KILL THE GROUP?

"How to Kill an Organization" is the title of an article distributed to 180 members of the Denver chapter of National Office Management Assn. Prepared by their parent organization, it reads as follows:

"Don't come to meetings.
"If you do come, come late.
"If the weather doesn't suit you, don't come.

"If you do attend a meeting, find fault with the work of the officers and other members.

"Never accept an office or committee appointment, as it is easier to criticize than do things.

"Nevertheless, get sore if you are not appointed on some committee, but if you are, do not attend meetings.

"If asked by the chairman to give your opinions regarding some important matter, tell him you have nothing to say. After the meeting, tell everyone how things ought to be done.

"Do nothing more than is absolutely necessary, but when other members roll up their sleeves and willingly and unselfishly use their ability to help matters along, howl that the association is run by a clique.

"Don't bother about new members; let the secretary do it.

"If asked to sit at the speakers' table, refuse.

"If you are not asked, resign from the association.
