The Scurry County delegation that went to Washington, D.C., today to plug for decontrol of crude oil prices figure that the pricing system now in effect deprives Scurry County royalty owners of something like $36 million per year. This is the difference between the prices of "new oil" and "old oil." Since most of the production in Scurry County is "old oil," it goes at the lowest price, about half of that permitted for oil produced from new wells.

The higher prices apparently have stimulated exploration as intended, but there is no reason to suspect that more interest in drilling would not have developed if all of the oil had increased in price by the same amount.

Anyway, the situation is to be brought to the attention of the Federal Energy Administration. Local royalty owners said they had been advised that one reason that nothing had been done so far to equalize the oil prices was that no complaints had been lodged. This will be remedied tomorrow when the Scurry County group makes its presentation.

The two major press wire services are at odds over the status of the University of Oklahoma football team.

The Associated Press last week had Oklahoma ranked No. 1 in the nation and this week listed the Sooners as No. 3 after they had some problems defeating unranked Baylor.

United Press International has Oklahoma nowhere at all. So far as UPI is concerned, the OU football team doesn't exist because the National Collegiate Athletic Association has it on probation and it is not eligible for any post-season activity and is not permitted to televise any of its games.

The AP, which takes ballots from sportswriters and sportscasters, reasons that since the NCAA does allow the Oklahoma team to play, it should be ranked. UPI takes a poll of coaches, and earlier this year the Football Coaches Association adopted a resolution excluding Oklahoma from the balloting. We note, however, that none of the 11 coaches whose teams are playing the Sooners this fall went so far as to drop them from their schedule. It takes more than probation to rub out those dollar marks.

There is space for 36 commercial booths at the Scurry County Fair and through Tuesday 30 of them had been rented. So, if you want one, the time is growing short as well as the supply of booths. The rentals are being handled through the Snyder Chamber of Commerce office. A booth may be rented for $25.

Commercial booths are an important part of the fair, not only for their part in financing the annual exposition but for their exhibit value as well. In other words, they contribute much toward "making" a good fair.WACIL McNAIR.

Ford Pledges More Food To Hungry Nations

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Ford, pledging increased food shipments abroad, told the United Nations General Assembly today that "a global strategy for food and energy is urgently required."

In the text for his first appearance before the world organization, Ford said the alternative to cooperation is confrontation.

"Let us not delude ourselves," he said. "Failure to cooperate on oil, food and inflation could spell disaster for every nation represented in this room. The United Nations must not and need not allow this to occur. A global strategy for food and energy is urgently required."

Discussing what the United States is willing to do to help hungry nations, Ford said food aid abroad would be increased this year by an unspecified amount and the United States is "prepared to join in a worldwide effort to negotiate, establish and maintain an international system of food reserves."

The President said the United States would "set forth our comprehensive proposals" to meet present and future world needs at the November World Food Conference in Rome.

The President set forth four principles which he said should guide a global approach to food and energy problems:

"—First, all nations must substantially increase production. Just to maintain the present standards of living the world must almost double its output of food and energy ..."

"—Second, all nations must seek to achieve a level of prices which not only provides an incentive to producers but which consumers can afford ... By confronting consumers with production restrictions, artificial pricing and the prospect of ultimate bankruptcy, producers will eventually become the victims of their own actions.

"—Third, all nations must avoid the abuse of man's fundamental needs for the sake of narrow national or bloc advantage. The attempt by any country to use one commodity for political purposes will inevitably tempt other countries to use their commodities for their own purposes.

"—Fourth, the nations of the world must assure that the poorest among us are not overwhelmed by rising prices of the imports necessary for their survival. The traditional aid donors and the increasingly wealthy oil producers must join in this effort."

Slow Rains Endure For Fourth Day

Slow, soaking rains prevailed over the Snyder and Scurry County area for the fourth day in a row. And again forecasters indicated that more could be expected.

Reports early today indicated that most of the area had received an inch and a half or more.

The official gauge in Snyder had logged .28 inch more this morning, making a total of 1.63 since Sunday, and light showers continued through the morning.

The rains fell too slowly to contribute any appreciable runnoff for Lake J.B. Thomas. However, about 2.50 inches had fallen over the four-day period at the lake. Bull Creek was flowing a small stream, but not enough to affect the lake's elevation up to noon today.

The heavier rains today were reported in Southwest Texas, with flash flood watches out in some areas.

Rivers, creeks, gullies and washes brimmed over their banks throughout southwestern areas, the floodwaters ripping down brush and scrub trees as it roared out of swollen waterways.

Travelers were cautioned to watch low water crossings and draws where flash flood waters endangered motor vehicles.

Hurd Sentence Is Affirmed

A life sentence for James Robert Hurd, assessed by a jury in 132nd District Court here on June 29, 1973, has been affirmed by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Hurd was convicted on a charge of murder in the death on March 10, 1973, of Elizabeth Goodlett, 16, at a farm house south of Snyder. An autopsy revealed that she had died of stab wounds to the chest and neck.

A jury composed of nine men and three women returned a guilty verdict on June 28 in a four-day trial and then returned the next day to set the penalty at life imprisonment.

Japs Surrender To Guerrillas

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Three Japanese terrorists who occupied the French Embassy in The Hague landed in Damascus today and surrendered to Palestinian guerrillas, an airport spokesman announced.

The Three Japanese Red Army rebels came out of the French Boeing 707 jet along with a comrade whose freedom from a French jail they obtained with a four-day siege at the French Embassy.

They were whisked from the airport to an undisclosed place in Damascus by representatives of the Palestine Liberation Organization—PLO, the spokesman said. The PLO is the chief guerrilla group.

Newsmen could not see the terrorists come out of the aircraft. But French Embassy Secretary Maurice Curage told reporters: "It is all over. They have surrendered themselves to the PLO."

The terrorists flew from Amsterdam after releasing their nine remaining hostages. A volunteer crew of two Dutchmen and a Briton flew the Boeing 727.

The Japanese Red Army is a small guerrilla outfit based in Europe. Its members massacred 26 people in a raid at Tel Aviv airport in 1972.

In The Hague, the French ambassador, Jaques Senard, said he and 10 other hostages "lived at gunpoint" during their four days of captivity.

Fifi Approaches Florida Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Gale force winds and heavy rains pounded Honduras today as Hurricane Fifi with wind gusts up to 125 miles an hour approached the country's northern coast.

Forecasters at the National Hurricane Center in Miami predicted that "the eye of the hurricane will skirt the north coast of Honduras and the most severe conditions will remain offshore."

But Neil Frank, director of the hurricane center, said Fifi would produce a serious threat of flash flooding in Honduras and Nicaragua.

At 9 a.m. today, the center of the hurricane was located at latitude 16.3 north, longitude 83.2 west or about 50 miles northeast of the Honduran coast. Fifi, with highest sustained winds of 100 m.p.h, was moving toward westward at about 10 m.p.h.

Briscoe Forces Take Top Honors At Demo Meet

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe's followers took all the top prizes in Tuesday's state Democratic convention but had to share some consolation honors with a growing liberal Democratic faction.

The 15½-hour political marathon finally ended at 2:25 a.m. today in a typical Democratic convention ending—with a yelling mob of delegates claiming they were robbed by a fast gavel.

In between the hours of fussing, fighting and just plain boredom, the Democrats managed to accomplish three main objectives:

—Elect new party leaders for the next two years, up to the 1976 presidential elections.

—Select a Texas delegation for a December session in Kansas City of the National Democratic convention to consider important changes in national party rules.

—Write a platform for the party, particularly for the governor's general election campaign.

Briscoe's blessings included the re-election of State Democratic Chairman Calvin Guest, the governor's handpicked candidate; selection of Briscoe to lead the delegation to Kansas City and approval of most of the platform written by Briscoe.

Advances made by the liberal Democrats, led mostly by national committeewoman Billie Carr of Houston, included important and sizeable representation on both the new state Democratic executive committee and the Kansas City delegation; some changes in the platform and the fact that a non-establishment candidate made a good race against the established state chairman.

Houston Controller Leonel Castillo, who began his race only a month ago, failed 3,125 to 2,183 in his challenge of Guest.

The only other roll call vote was an unsuccessful attempt 3,065 to 1,498, of the liberal Democrats to win adoption of a minority report that would have replaced 29 men delegates in Jefferson County with 29 women. The women claimed sex discrimination in delegate selection.

Sixteen other challenges, mostly by liberals and by George Wallace supporters, fell on voice votes.

However, the convention body accepted a committee recommendation that the liberals' challenge in Senatorial Dist. 8—embracing part of Dallas County and Ellis, Navarro and Limestone Counties—be allowed. The vote switched six delegates in the delegation.

By voice vote the convention refused a liberal Democrat move to determine political preferences of the 5,447 delegates in a poll to be used in selecting the Kansas City delegates.

The new 62-member State Democratic Executive Committee includes 29 new members. Among those not re-elected were committee members Pat Pangburn, Dallas liberal, and M.E. Bradford, a Wallacite who led the Senatorial Dist. 8 challenge.

The Kansas City delegation contains a number of liberals, including Mrs. Carr, Frances Farenthold, National Committeeman Joe Bernal, and Sen. Oscar Mauzy. Former Sen. Ralph Yarborough is an alternate.

Other state officials on the Kansas City delegation are Atty. Gen. John Hill, Agriculture Commissioner John White and several state senators and representatives. Briscoe, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen and the 20 Texas Democratic congressmen are automatically delegation members.

One Winner In Weekly Grid Contest

There was an undisputed winner of first place, but a logjam developed for second place in last week's Snyder Daily News football contest.

Mrs. Dean Staton, Route 1, Box 200, Snyder, took the first prize of $12.50, missing only three selections.

She was just a step ahead of 15 others who finished in a tie for second place with four misses each.

Mrs. Staton stumbled on the Arkansas upset of Southern California, Mississippi's victory over Missouri and San Angelo Lake View's triumph over Burleson High School.

Since more than two tied for second place, the second prize money will be carried over until next week, according to contest rules. Those who tied for second included Doug Phipps, Erwin Pavlik, Stan Pavlik, Nell Kidd, Marie Calvert, Linda Pickering, Kathye G. Parker, Debra Biddle, Mike Boles, Virginia Buerger, Tommy Buerger, Naida White, John Loyola, Tommy Konvicka and Ronny Hester.

Another contest begins today, and the list of games may be found in sponsors' advertisements on the football contest page of this issue of The Snyder Daily News.

State Republicans Buck Leaders, Accuse Ford

HOUSTON (AP) — Rank and file Republicans at their state convention broke away from their leaders Tuesday to accuse President Ford of compromising the principles of the party.

The delegates adopted a minority report out of the platform and resolutions committee to make known their "very deep concern over the direction of the new administration and apparent compromises of basic conservative principles."

The vote marked a defeat for Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., who had worked during pre-convention activities to keep the focus of the party on state activities on the grounds there were no statewide national races this year.

Delegates to the convention—led by ones from Houston—came loaded with gripes about President Ford's appointment of Nelson Rockefeller as vice president designate and amnesty for Vietnam War resisters.

Both Tower and Jim Granberry of Lubbock, the party's gubernatorial candidate, pleaded with delegates to keep the platform free of national issues. Tower said at one point any anti-Ford moves would be embarrasing to him. However after the convention, he said the vote was not embarrassing.

A temporary platform and resolutions committee appointed by party officials who are allied with Tower had written a state-oriented platform.

A permanent committee elected by delegates Tuesday also voted down the national issues but a minority report submitted by State Sen. Ray Barnhart of Pasadena, Tex., was passed on what Tower, who chaired the convention, said sounded to him like a 3-2 voice vote.

The resolution, which Barnhart said was not a criticism but a "warm, sincere message" to Ford said, "The voters of Texas clearly demonstrated in the presidential election of 1972 that they regarded the radical-liberal policies of the National Democrat Party a threat...

"The compromising atmosphere of Washington is undermining the conservative mandate so loudly proclaimed by Texans and all Americans in the election of 1972..."

The convention told Ford they objected to legislation "which reflects goals of the radical-liberal establishment rather than those advanced by conservative spokesmen, amnesty and the appointment to high public office of individuals whose personal philosophy has previously been rejected by Republicans across the nation...."

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Unconfirmed reports today said deposed Emperor Haile Selassie is in weak condition from a hunger strike and has been admitted to a military hospital. He is 82.

Spokesmen of the ruling military council denied the reports.

Brazilian AF Plane Explodes

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — A Brazilian air force plane exploded and crashed near the border with Paraguay today, killing two generals and 20 other officers aboard, the Jornal do Brasil news agency said.

Look At X-Ray Technicians

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: I want to be an X-ray technician, but I can't seem to find any college courses under this heading. The closest I have been able to come is [illegible] the right subject to major in for the kind of work I want to do? -- K.E., Kent, Wash.

Try radiologic technology. Radiologic technologist is another name for X-ray technician or X-ray technologist. About 1,200 programs in X-ray technology (radiologic technology) offered in hospitals, medical schools affiliated with hospitals, colleges, and community colleges, are approved by the American Medical Association. Programs usually take 24 months to complete. A few schools offer 3- or 4-year programs, and some 30 schools award a bachelor's degree in radiologic technology. For more information, write to the American Society of Radiologic Technologists, 645 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Dear Joyce: I am interested in marine biology, and would appreciate any advice or information on colleges which have a curriculum in marine biology. My future goals include graduate work in marine biology, and I am considering a job with marine fisheries or the U.S. government, but I am not sure of the possibility of this career. I am now a senior in high school. -- D.M.K., San Diego, Calif.

Hate to be a wet blanket but the field's overcrowded. Before pursuing a career as a biological oceanographer (marine biologist), I urge you to send $3 to the American Society For Oceanography, 1730 M St. NW, Suite 412, Washington, D.C. 20036, for a copy of "ASO Information Kit." This kit contains very detailed information about oceanography careers. It also explains the job situation, which is not promising for most who want to become oceanographers. Still, SOME people find jobs even in crowded fields, so if you are flat-out determined to try, you can select a college from the list included in the kit.

Dear Joyce: Could you please give me some information concerning occupational therapy as a career or an address to write to? Also, is there really a big demand for occupational therapists? What about in smaller towns? -- D.K., Alexandria, La.

Occupational therapists plan and direct educational, vocational, and recreational activities designed to help mentally and physically disabled patients become self-sufficient. Job opportunities are expected to be favorable during the next decade, roughly in balance with OT's seeking employment. This is a small profession (7,500) with about 1,100 job openings annually. More than 75 percent of OT's work in hospitals, so opportunities will be more limited in smaller towns than in larger cities with a greater number of health facilities. For more information, write to the American Occupational Therapy Association, 6000 Executive Blvd., Rockville, Md. 20852.

Amnesty Office Set Up

DALLAS (AP) U. S. Atty. Frank McCown announced Tuesday he is setting up procedures for handling amnesty requests from men who evaded the draft during the Vietnam War.

"We have not received any applications and I anticipate we will have only a limited number in the Dallas-Fort Worth area," McCown, said. "Only about 30 of 40 men would be eligible throughout our district."

The 100-country district extends from the Dallas-Fort Worth area to the Texas Panhandle and South Plains.

President Garald Ford said Monday that the draft evaders could avoid prosecution by reporting to a U.S. attorney before Jan. 31, taking a loyalty oath and agreeing to work for up to two years in a job considered in the national interest.

McCown said he will assign one or two assistants to process applications.

Drug Is Effective On Colds

CHICAGO (AP) — University of Illinois researchers say an experimental drug significantly increases the body's defenses against the common cold and may be the answer to control of the ailment.

The drug, propanediamine, stimulates an increase in the body's natural production of interferon, a chemical that defends the body against viral and some other infections.

Because interferon is effective against all viruses, it has been considered promising in the control of respiratory infections, such as the cold.

Colds are caused by so many types of viruses that a vaccine against all of them is thought impractical.

The scientists at the university's medical school in Chicago said they used 39 young volunteers to study the effects of propanediamine.

Writing in the New England Journal of Medicine, the scientists said the results of their study make them optimistic that ultimately effective drugs can be developed for the common cold and other viral respiratory infections.

An editorial in the journal points out that the limitation on use of the drug is that it must be administered throughout the period in which a person might catch a cold.

And it notes that the production of interferon decreases with repeated stimulation.

Registration At WTC Continues

Enrollment for the fall semester at Western Texas College will continue through Thursday, Dr. Duane Hood, Dean of Student Services and Registrar, said.

Students may enroll from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. or from 6-7 p.m. at the office of the registrar in the Administration Building.

He received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 30-day jail term, probated for six months. He was arrested Sept. 13 by Highway Patrolmen.

BRISCOE

little discussion and no debate, left out a pet proposal of Briscoe's—a state wiretap law to fight organized crime. The convention also added a new provision to Briscoe's recommendation that a new constitutional convention be held, this time with citizen members only and no legislators.

Another amendment makes the platform call for no smoking in some public places, for comprehensive family planning to minimize the plight of unwanted children, no new state taxes, creation of a state public utilities agency, a limit on political spending and legislation to remove habitual traffic offenders from the highways.

The convention resolutions committee approved only one resolution—directing the party to hold future conventions in cities with adequate hotel space. Some delegates at Tuesday's conventions were housed in San Antonio, New Braunfels, Salando and Burnet because of Austin's shortage of hotel rooms.

However, the resolution died without floor action due to the abrupt adjournment.

Immediately after a voice vote had been taken on approval of the at-large delegates for the Kansas City convention, there was a motion to adjourn. Guest quickly rapped his gavel and said it was all over.

Smoot Rites Set Tuesday

Mrs. Smoot died at 8:25 a.m. Tuesday in Baptist Memorial Hospital in San Angelo.

The Rev. J. R. Reedy will officiate at the funeral service and burial will be in the Gail Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mrs. Smoot was a native of Brazos County and had lived in San Angelo the past 5½ years. She was married on Dec. 29, 1920, at Sweetwater to Eugene Smoot, who survives. She was a member of the Christian Church.

Other survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Robbie Hunter of El Paso and Mrs. Nellie Pridemore of Ozona; two brothers, Earl Clary of Coleman and Martin D. Clary of Hico.

Enrollment In PE Is Slated

Students who would like to take physical education courses at Western Texas College during the fall semester are asked to enroll by Thursday, Dr. Sid Simpson, Athletic Director, said.

Students may enroll for PE 218-3 or 111-211-13 and have the full use of the facilities of the Health-Physical Education building Monday through Thursday nights from 6:30-9 and from 3-5 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Facilities in the building include the swimming pool, two new sauna baths, handball courts, a weight room which can accommodate 20 people at one time, and a gymnastics room. There are four tennis courts outside the building.

Students who take the courses for college credit must put in at least 40 clock hours. Students may also take the courses as non-credit students and still have full use of the facilities.

Students who are enrolled only for one of the PE courses will pay fees totaling $41. Students who add a PE course will pay $10 in addition to other fees.

SHS Student In Who's Who

Kellye Crenshaw, Snyder High School Senior, has been notified that she is to be featured in the eighth annual edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1973-74."

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crenshaw, 2342 Sunset, she is active in Future Homemakers of America, the National Honor Society, the A Cappella Choir, Student Council, is a member of the varsity volleball team, was in the top 10 of her junior class and is now serving as secretary of the SHS Student Council.

In addition to having her biography published in the book, Miss Crenshaw will compete for one of 10 scholarships, awards of $500 to $1,000 funded by the publishers and will be invited to participate in the firm's annual "Survey of High Achievers."

Less than three percent of the junior and senior class students nation-wide are accorded this recognition.

LETTER TO EDITOR

To The Daily News:

To those who read my letter last week—I want to say the title of the horrible book I was referring to was "George Orwell 1984" instead of as printed before "Or Well 1894." Times have changed these 90 years.

Engineering Class Open

Pre-engineering students or draftsmen who would like to earn academic credit in an evening class at Western Texas College may still enroll in Engineering 141, Dr. Frances Clegg, professor of science, said.

Also offered for evening students is Engineering 231, open to students who have had Calculus III.

Engineering 141 is titled Engineering Graphics and is being taught by Dave Griffith, petroleum engineer for Texaco. No pre-requisites are included. Class meet from 6:30-9:30 on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Topics included in the course are engineering lettering, pictorial drawing and sketching, working drawings, use of instruments, and graphical presentation of data.

Engineering 231 is taught by Dr. Albert C. Giere. It includes foundation of mechanics, vectors, tensors, resultants of coplaner force systems, statics including concept of free-body diagrams, friction forces and virtual work. The class is scheduled on Monday night but could be re-scheduled to meet the needs of the students.

Registration for the fall semester at WTC will close on Thursday.

Fluvanna Girl Attends School Of Nursing

GALVESTON—Robertanne Turner, daughter of Paul Turner of Fluvanna, is among 70 new Level I nursing students at The University of Texas School of Nursing at Galveston who are starting the upper division work of their bachelor of science degrees.

The university nursing major begins the Galveston curriculum in the junior year after completion of 60 hours of basic liberal arts courses. The junior and senior year nursing curriculum is divided into four levels to provide continuity, sequence and integration in both classroom and practical experiences.

Over a hundred students previously enrolled will return this week to resume classes, making a total enrollment of 197 students.

All of the traditional areas of nursing, including psychiatric, maternal-child, medical surgical, community health and others are integrated each semester for four semesters or levels, with increasing depth and complexity of classroom learning and clinical experience.

Level one focuses on the bio-psycho-social-linguistic behaviors of man as indicators of his level of wellness. Level two features the nursing process as utilized in the care of selected individuals and families experiencing minor disruptions in their health status.

Implementation of the nursing process in relation to selected individuals, families, and groups experiencing health alterations resulting in major problems for that individual, family or group is the focus of level three. The final level involves inter-disciplinary approaches to care and on leadership and innovative functions of the nurse.

How To Harvest Gourds

COLLEGE STATION—Colorful gourds add an imaginative touch to fall decorating—but they must be carefully harvested and cured to prevent decay and discoloration, one landscape horticulturist noted.

He's Everett Janne, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"They should be picked when fully mature, but before frost, to reduce danger of spoiling during the curing process. The stem will shrivel and turn brown as they ripen."

The specialist suggested cutting the fruit from the vine with pruningshears to retain a short portion of the stem.

Bruising and scratching the gourds during harvesting causes rot and unsightly spots.

To prepare the gourds for curing, wipe each fruit with a cloth dampened in rubbing alcohol. This removes dirt and decay organisms. If the gourds are extremely dirty, you can wash them in warm water with a mild soap or detergent. Use a household disinfectatnt in the rinse water. Then dry each fruit with a soft cloth.

"Place the clean gourds on a shallow slatted tray or open shelf in a well-ventilated porch, garage or shed, taking care that the fruit do not touch each other. Turn them daily and discard any that shrivel or develop soft spots.

"After the first week of curing, the skin will become hard and tough. The gourds can then be stored in shallow wood or cardboard trays in a well-ventilated room or attic for a minimum of three weeks to complete the curing process," Mr. Janne said.

The specialist advised continuing to inspect them every few days to remove any fruit which shrivel or show signs of decay. Do not store in a damp basement or in tight, unventilated containers, he cautioned.

"You can look for the colors of properly-cured gourds to last three to four months. They will retain their color an additional month or two if you apply a protective coat of white shellac, floor wax or furniture wax to the dry, completely cured fruit," he noted.

When purchasing polyester thread, choose a shade darker than the fabric since thread sews in a shade lighter, suggests Mrs. Vivian Simmons, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Doctor's bedside manner includes slamming doors and snarling

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: I took my little girl to the doctor for her annual checkup. We were called into the examination room, and as soon as she saw the doctor coming toward her in his white coat, she began to cry. When he touched her, she started to squirm on the table and cry even harder because she was frightened.

The doctor very gruffly said, "Who needs this," and stomped out of the room.

A few minutes later, he came back and in a very nasty tone, said to me, "Take her home, and don't bring her back unless she is really sick!"

I thought doctors were supposed to be patient. What can I do about him? A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Most doctors try their best to calm and reassure frightened children. Perhaps your doctor was having a bad day, but if that's his usual manner, he is guilty of unprofessional conduct and deserved a reprimand from his county medical society. Mail this column to him. I think it will help him.

DEAR ABBY: I am 19, going to college and work part-time in a department store. There is a guy who works here who is very good-looking. He's 31 and married. He has made advances to me in the stockroom in the back of the store. I really am attracted to him, but the fact that he is married stops me from going out with him. (He's asked me.)

Please advise me. I'm weakening. KNOWS THE SCORE

DEAR KNOWS: Tell good-looking to get lost. So far, the score is no hits, no runs, no errors. And if you're smart, you'll keep it that way.

DEAR ABBY: I have had a reasonably happy marriage to a man who has come up from the ranks to become an executive with a large company. Now, after 36 years, he told me recently that I have never learned how to be an executive's wife.

He is nearly 60 and has been an executive with this company for over 20 years.

My creed has always been to be myself, and as long as I acted like a lady, which I am, I thought that should be sufficient. According to my husband, it was not enough. Where have I failed? WORSE HALF

DEAR HALF: In addition to being a lady, have you always reciprocated social invitations promptly? Have you graciously initiated a social contact at your husband's suggestion? After having been entertained, do you promptly send a written note of thanks? Do you refrain from gossiping about people whether they're associated with your husband in business or not? If you have had time to devote to your church and/or community activities, have you done so?

If you can answer yes to all these questions, you qualify as an asset to your husband, whether he's an executive or not.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. K. IN OKLAHOMA CITY: I do not recommend washing out the mouths of youngsters as a punishment for "talking dirty." Some youngsters grow to like soap.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Loans Are Discouraged On Insurance Policies

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Financial advisers often discourage insurance policy owners from borrowing the cash value of their insurance, claiming that loan oft—in a parody of Shakespeare—lose both itself and policy.

Since there is no rule that says the money must be paid back in a specified time, they argue, the borrower sometimes permits loan and interest to erode and even destroy the policy's value.

Nevertheless, policyholders today owe more than $21 billion to insurers for loans taken out with their policies as collateral. The figure compares with $7.14 billion in pre-inflationary 1964.

The lesson appears to be this: more and more families are using credit to finance a life style made more expensive by inflation. To some extent, this marks a break with the past.

Bankers, insurers and other lenders have long noted the tendency of families to reduce their credit when recession threatens. They turn conservative, learning to cut waste and frills. It is a self-protective act.

The present combination of recession and inflation seems to thwart that tendency, forcing families to borrow in spite of their feelings that a conservative posture is safest. It may be that they have no choice.

The borrowing syndrome is showing up in other areas also. Total consumer credit—not including borrowings on insurance—exceeds $180 billion now, and appears to be climbing after a brief early summer pause.

Installment credit, the kind that is repaid in regular weekly or monthly payments, makes up the bulk of consumer credit, totaling close to $152 billion on Aug. 1. It rose by $1.5 billion in July alone.

A big reason for the continued increase, it appears, is the rising price of automobiles. When car prices rise, the amount owed rises also. Strapped for funds, car buyers choose more credit rather than bigger down payments.

While these trends develop, lenders are studying an even more worrisome set of figures that indicates the burden is becoming excessive for some borrowers. Repayments, they feel, are slower than they should be.

Junior Editors' Quiz on THE QUEEN OF SHEBA

QUESTION: Who was the Queen of Sheba?

ANSWER: The head of Sheba or Saba, the Biblical name of a kingdom of southern Arabia near the site of the present Yemen. It was a Semetic State known for its cultural advancement and as a region of great wealth. Solomon, the king of Israel in the tenth century B.C., was a great political leader in the Ancient World. He made alliances and built up a prosperous trade with the countries of the Eastern World. According to the Scriptures, the Queen of Sheba visited Solomon's Court in Jerusalem. She gave him gifts of rare spices, precious stones and gold worth about 3½ million dollars. There are many stories about this visit.

About the time of this visit, Sheba colonized Ethiopia. Later, around 525 A.D., Sheba was conquered by Ethiopia. The royal house of Ethiopia claims descent from Solomon and the Queen of Sheba.

Coffee Men Face Problems

By WILLIAM R. LONG
Associated Press Writer

LONDRINA, Brazil (AP) — When North Americans and Europeans pay more for the coffee they drink, Julio Suzuki gets a welcome lift.

Suzuki, whose immigrant father cultivated silkworms in Brazil, makes his modest living growing coffee beans.

He has problems with leaf blight, rising fertilizer costs and aging coffee bushes. What trickles down from higher international coffee prices gives Suzuki, 32, more money to pay his bills.

"The price of coffee has increased, but the expenses have too," Suzuki told a visitor to his farmhouse near Londrina, in the heart of Brazilian coffee country.

The fertilizer Suzuki buys comes from petroleum, and the price he pays has multiplied along with world oil prices. The antifungus spray he uses to fight coffee "rust" blight is made of copper, another increasingly expensive primary product.

Brazil leads the world in coffee exports, and that primary product is the South American country's No. 1 revenue earner.

Brazil's No. 1 coffee buyer is the United States, which took nearly nine million of the 19½ million sacks exported in 1973. Each sack contains 132 pounds of green coffee beans.

Suzuki is one of more than 250,000 Brazilian farmers whose 2.7 billion coffee bushes produce the beans.

Like Suzuki, many of the people who farm the rich, red lands of Sao Paulo and Parana states in southern Brazil are of Japanese origin. He said his father, who came to Brazil in 1933, was a silkworm supplier in Sao Paulo state.

Suzuki bought his coffee farm here in Parana state in 1952 and built a two-story wooden house on it. Since then he has acquired more land, and now he has a total of 28,000 coffee bushes on 104 acres.

The farmer lives with his wife, two children and widowed mother in their four-bedroom home, which needs a new coat of blue paint. Their possessions include a television set, a telephone, a Volkswagen car and a Chevrolet pickup.

Suzuki said he has two regular employes who help with fertilizing, spraying and other chores. The two workers make the equivalent of about 27 cents an hour, he said.

At harvest time, starting in May and lasting three or four months, Suzuki hires additional temporary workers.

He is planning on a 1974 harvest of 1,200 sacks of coffee, or 158,400 pounds. He hopes to make a profit of about 35 per cent on the sale price, deducting costs of labor and materials.

Although international coffee prices have been well over 70 cents a pound this year, Suzuki is sure to receive considerably less than that. The international price is what exporters get, but Suzuki must sell his crop to processors who mill the shells off the beans.

The processors often sell to middlemen who sell to exporters. The exporters sell the green beans to coffee companies that roast, grind and package the product.

Suzuki said that last year he made no profit on his coffee because his production was cut by the "rust" blight and by the after-effects of a 1972 frost that caused heavy damage to Parana coffee bushes.

After intensive and expensive treatment for the blight, Suzuki's trees will produce at about 60 per cent of full capacity this year, he predicted.

Chavez Begins European Tour

LONDON (AP) — Cesar Chavez has begun a European tour to win support for his farm workers union.

Chavez, president of the United Farm Workers of America, arrived Monday for three days of meetings with British union leaders.

Chavez wants to thank Europeans for supporting boycotts of California grapes and lettuce and to build more support for his campaign to better migrant working conditions, a spokesman said.

The spokesman said British stevedores already have refused to handle California grape shipments.

The Tower of London — target of a terrorist bomb and notorious for its bloody dungeons, torture chambers and axman's block — is today the home of some 150 guards, pensioners and their families.

Too Tall Jones Was Awesome

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
'ap sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Ed (Too Tall) Jones isn't a starter yet which might come as a distinct shock to the Atlanta Falcons, but the gap between him and lame duck veteran Pat Toomay is about as wide as a Dallas Cowboy decal.

And Coach Tom Landry of the National Football League team indicated Tuesday that Jones, the No. 1 draft pick from Tennessee State gets better every week.

The 6-foot-9 Jones was awesome in his pass rush against Atlanta quarterbacks Bob Lee and Pat Sullivan in a 24-0 rout Sunday. He was credited with two sacks, collected half a kill on another, and batted down several passes with his long arms. Only Lee and Sullivan know how many more passes the presence of Jones made sail off mark.

"Jones is physically a tremendous athlete and he has the mental temperament and the toughness to become quite a success," said Landry. "Fundamentally he progresses every day, particularly against the run."

Toomey, who has signed with the World Football League, started against Atlanta but Landry quickly rushed Jones into the fray on obvious passing downs.

Landry said he hasn't started Jones because the rookie is still learning the complicated Dallas 4-3 defense and therefore isn't overall against the run and pass as Toomey.

"As soon as he comes up to Toomay's level overall then Ed will start," Landry said. "He must be skilled in ourscheme of defense to stop the run as well as provide a pass rush."

Landry has said any rookie or other player reaching the level of a veteran bound for the WFL will get the green light because the Cowboys, while trying to make the NFL playoffs for a record ninth consecutive year, must also build for the future.

Landry looks to the day in the future when the enemy will have to double team Jones.

"They won't do it until Ed proves himself," Landry smiled. "After all, it's hard to single out a rookie."

Of course, Atlanta won't look at him as a mere beginner the next time the Falcons play against Jones.

Grid Time Is Changed

The time of the Travis 9th grade-Brownwood football game this week has been changed.

Originally scheduled for Thursday, it will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday at Abilene Wylie. The only Thursday game involving a local team finds Lamar 8th grade hosting Sweetwater on the Travis field at 5:30 p.m.

Friday night, the varsity Tigers host an old nemesis, Big Spring, at 8 o'clock in Tiger Stadium.

Saturday, the junior varsity hosts San Angelo at 1:30 p.m., and the sophomores visit Midland Lee at 2 p.m.

Elsewhere in District 3-AAA, Coronado tangles with Estacado in Lubbock Thursday night while Stamford visits Sweetwater, Pecos is at Lamesa, Dunbar is at Ft. Stockton and Lake View journeys to Odessa Ector Friday night.

On the area scene, Gail will be at Snyder, Hobbs visits Lueders and Ira hosts Paint Creek in Friday night affrays while Hermleigh entertains Water Valley Saturday night in a Homecoming contest.

Texans Are Moving To Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Mayor Calvin Allen announced today that the World Football League is moving the Houston Texans to Shreveport.

"It's our team," Allen said. "The league owns the team, and is offering us an option to buy it. They like this area."

The new Shreveport team plays a nationally-televised game with league-leading Birmingham Thursday night in Alabama.

The next game will be played at State Fair Stadium in Shreveport next Wednesday, Allen said, against the runnerup Memphis Southmen.

By that time, Mayor Allen expects the team to have a new name. He said Shreveport residents will be invited to submit name-the-team contest entries.

The team itself will arrive here around Saturday, Allen said.

Akins May Not Play

By The Associated Press

Mike Presley will start at quarterback for Texas Saturday night against Wyoming and Marty Akins may not even play.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal said Tuesday that Presley, who guided the team to a 42-19 victory over Boston College after Akins was injured, was being "rewarded" for his play.

"Marty played well until he got hurt ... it was a medical recommendation to hold Akins out this week unless an emergency occurs," Royal said.

Akins suffered a concussin early in the second quarter against Boston College and was hospitalized for observation Sunday. Team physicians said Akins had been cleared to play. Akins alternated with Presley in a non-contact drill Tuesday.

All-American fullback Roosevelt Leaks showed improvement following his return to duty last week after a spring knee operation.

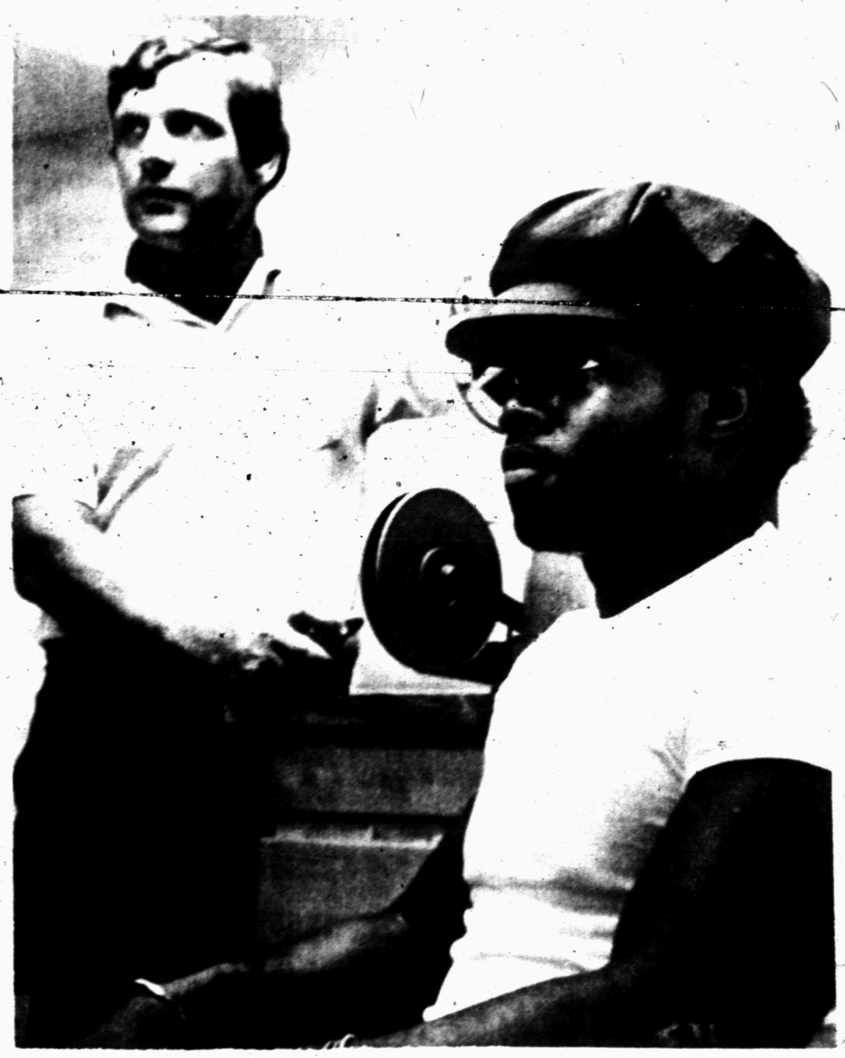

Royal said Leaks "runs a little better every day."

Leaks did not play against Boston College and has worked some at right halfback in practice.

Royal also moved reserve quarterback Adrian Ford to defense where he played linebacker two years ago. Walter Rowan was brought up as a third team quarterback.

Texas A&M Coach Emory Bellard said Tuesday that sixth-ranked Louisiana State is probably "the best LSU team since I've been going down there. This may be as good a team as LSU has had."

The Aggies meet LSU Saturday night in Baton Rouge, La., in one of the highlight games on the Southwest Conference schedule.

A picture of Southern California tailback Anthony Davis has been on Winston's wall since he arrived here for fall football practice.

Winston got his man last week when the Razorbacks put the quietus on Davis and USC in a 22-7 upset.

The Arkansas linebacker was credited with 12 unassisted tackles and helped on eight others. For his performance, Winston was named The Associated Press' Defensive Player of the Week.

"Underneath his picture, it said, 'Anthony Davis runs over Arkansas defense.' I had my own little quotes under the bottom ... like 'not this time,"' Winston said.

This week, he said, a picture of Oklahoma State University back George Palmer will be on his wall.

"When we finish the season, I'm going to have the outstanding running backs we play against up on my wall," he added.

Winston was asked about tackling Davis, who netted only 74 yards on 20 attempts.

"I saw him coming, and I just went to him. I think it was a great honor just to hit somebody like Anthony Davis. It just felt great when I hit him."

Arkansas defensive Coach Frank Falks has said Winston has an "evil streak" in him on the football field.

Winston said he just likes contact.

"I'm not really like that," he said. "I just change on the football field for some reason. I'm not the type that goes around picking fights."

Arkansas defensive Coach Jimmy Johnson said he doesn't think he has ever seen anyone come on to the field "In such a bad-type mood.

"Dennis is probably the greatest I've ever seen anywhere at making a tackle full speed in the open field," Johnson added. "This type of hit picks up the crowd and the players and it has to discourage the ball carrier and the opposing team. It makes that runner a little bit fidgety about running in an open field because he never knows when Winston's coming."

Of his explosive style, Winston said, "I was just trying to put them out of their misery. I guess I do play reckless every now and then."

He wasn't content with his performance against USC, he said, and "I won't be satisfied until the coaches say I played 100 per cent."

Winston stands 6 feet 2½, weighs 220 and can run.

"I sometimes kid my defensive coaches about moving him to fullback," said Coach Frank Broyles. "They say, 'I quit. I resign."'

George Clark of Winnetka, Ill., will again captain Army's hockey team. He scored 47 goals and had 31 assists as last season's Cadet hockey captain.

Kelly Joins Chicago Fire

By HOWARD SINER
AP Sports Writer

The World Football League, offering spots to veterans recently dropped by the National Football League, returns to action tonight with a cast of familiar players in different uniforms.

"I don't look at playing in the World Football League as a comedown," said Leroy Kelly, the fourth-leading ground gainer in NFL history, after being signed Tuesday by the Chicago Fire.

"What brings me to Chicago? Money, dough," said Kelly. "The Mean Green, my man, is where it is all at."

A Fire spokesman said Kelly, cut last week by the NFL Oakland Raiders after a long career with the Cleveland Browns, had an outside shot at starting against the visiting Memphis Southmen.

In other WFL games tonight, New York is at the Hawaiians, Detroit at Southern California, Philadelphia at Florida and Portland at Jacksonville. Houston at Birmingham is Thursday's national TV game.

"We have to keep our chins up and keep fighting, and this will be a real tough one," said Fire coach Jim Spavital about Memphis.

The Fire, 7-4, has dropped two games in a row on last-minute defeats. The Southmen, 9-2, have seven consecutive victories.

Against New York, 7-4, the Hawaiians, 3-8, plan to start quarterback Ed Hargett, who began the season with the NFL Houston Oilers. He threw two scoring pases last week for the Hawaiians.

Injuries Strike Tiger Grid Squad

Coach Maurice (Mo) Hodges had some bad news to give Tiger fans at the regular weekly meeting of the Booster Club, held last night at West Elementary cafeteria.

He said David Mayes, starting defensive end and offensive halfback, sustained a hairline fracture of the shoulder in the game with Midland Lee and will be out a couple of weeks. Last Sunday, Hodges said, Greg Gafford, backup quarterback, fractured his ankle while playing at home and could be out for the entire season. Scott Walton, senior varsity tackle, has been out with mononucleosis. Richard Huddleston, starting tackle, still is out with a hairline fracture of the ankle, but could be back next week.

Hodges said Midland Lee has a fine football team and that the contest with them was exciting. He pointed out fumbles hurt the Tigers, but he was pleased with the way the team moved the ball. He said the team actually showed better offense in the contest with the Rebels than against Monahans the previous week. Hodges said Charles Hammond, a 190-pound junior tackle, has been moved up from the junior varsity. He will probably start at offensive strong tackle against Big Spring, this week's opponent.

Hodges said the Tigers had one of their best workouts of the year yesterday despite the injuries.

Milton Ham, president of the Booster Club, praised the Tigers for a "real good effort," and he urged local fans oto support the team. He asked mothers of football players who want to help decorate the Homecoming float to contact Mrs. Roy Carter.

Coach Winfred Shipp gave the scouting report on Big Spring. He said they employ a Slot I attack and a "52 defense." He said they run the option real well, and that quarterback Mark Moore and tailback Danny Ferrell are both good runners. The Steers have eight returning on defense. They stunt some on defense and are "a little bigger" that the Tigers. They don't pass as much this year as they did last season.

Films of the clash with Midland Lee revealed an outstanding effort by the Tigers. Coach Jim Barlett monitored the film.

Tiger Gridiron Statistics Told

There were some interesting football statistics released by Snyder High School today covering the Snyder Tigers' first two football games of the season.

Tailback Welton Cobb is the leading rusher with 283 net yards on 29 carries for a highly respectable 9.8 yard average. He also has scored three touchdowns. Cobb also is leading in tandem offense with 283 yards rushing and 22 yards receiving for a 9.8 yard average.

Fullback Rickey Howell has gained 79 yards on 22 carries for a 3.6 yard average. He has scored one touchdown. Halfback David Mayes has gained 47 yards on 12 runs for a 3.9 yard average, and quarterback Win Bunch has netted 74 yards on 13 plays for a 5.7 yard average. Tim Flynn has gained nine yards on three carries, and Danny Brumley has two yards on one run.

Bunch is the leading passer with three completions out of nine attempts for a total of 50 yards. Two of his tosses were intercepted. Welton Cobb has thrown one time for 11 yards and one touchdown.

Welton Cobb also has caught two passes for 22 yards, Chester Cobb has one reception for 11 yards and a touchdown. Roy Lee Carter has caught one pass for 28 yards.

Robert Ramirez has returned one kickoff for 10 yards, and Chester Cobb has returned one kickoff for eight yards. In punt returns, Dennis Young has returned two for 11 yards, and Welton Cobb has returned one for 14 paces.

Bernie Weems has punted seven times for a 38.3 yard average. Ricky Beard has successfully coverted three out of three extra point attempts.

Welton Cobb is leading in tackles with 45, and Roy Lee Carter is runnerup with 37. Five lads have 15 tackles each—David Mayes, Jackie Simpson, Vernon Marlar, Tim Sonnier and Bernie Weems. Dennis Young has 12 tackles.

Danny Brumley is leading in fumble recoveries with two while Weems and Sonnier each have recovered one. Weems has intercepted one pass.

TAKES OWN LIFE

Pain Unbearable For Vietnam Hero

By DAN MCDONALD
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Harris "Butch" Haynie lived with constant pain for seven years. Last week, he decided he had enough.

His calm suicide at age 30 brought an end to a life once marked for success, but which ended in misery so intense it is hard for a healthy person to comprehend.

In Vietnam on Sept. 6, 1967, Haynie was working desperately to rescue a pilot from a burning helicopter when the craft exploded.

Ten months later after treatment in six hospitals, he found himself back home with a hero's war decorations—including the Distinguished Service Cross, the Silver Star, the Soldiers Medal, and three Purple Hearts.

He also brought back with him a shattered body and throbbing pain that could not be relieved.

In ten months in Vietnam, Butch flew over 250 combat missions as a medic with the First Air Calvary Division. He told his mother in letters the men called him "Doc."

As the months and years passed, his body deteriorated and the pain intensified. Pains in his face often kept him from eating. Brushing his teeth was agony. But he kept on working and hoping.

He never complained.

His mother, Mrs. Doris Haynie, finds it difficult to speak of the strange tragedy that overtook her once-healthy son. But she feels his story must be told.

"He had more courage than anyone in the world," she told a newsman.

"During the ten days after he told me he was going to kill himself, the only person who suffered more agony than me was Butch," she said.

"Butch didn't want to die," Mrs. Haynie said. "He just wanted to live a normal life without pain.

"He wasn't bitter about the war or the explosion. The only thing he ever said about the explosion was that if he had had 30 more seconds, he could have saved the pilot."

HARRIS 'BUTCH' HAYNIE

Before being drafted, Butch had dreamed of being a surgeon. The war left him with only two movable fingers on his left hand.

"He was a natural doctor," his mother recalled. "When he was in the first aid corps here before Vietnam, he delivered babies and even once helped out in an emergency operation at Parkland Hospital."

Butch returned to work for the same food manufacturing company where he had been employed before Vietnam. The owner told him he would always have a job. He did, for a few years.

"Between the pain and the hospital, Butch did the best he could," said Mrs. Haynie. "If he had not been so intelligent, he could not have lasted more than a week anywhere."

Butch had been accepted for membership in Mensa, the national organization whose member must have an IQ ranking in the top two per cent of the country. He did not become a member because he did not have the money to pay the initiation fee.

The helicopter explosion shattered Butch's glasses, imbedded particles in his eyes and damaged the nerves in his face. He had over 100 stitches in his face alone.

"The pain affected the trifacial nerves," said his mother. "He said it felt as if every tooth in his mouth was abscessed."

After leaving his first job, Butch worked as a systems analyst for a concrete company, then as an underwriter at an insurance company and finally as a programmer for a computer firm.

He attended night school at the University of Texas at Arlington. And he spent many days each year at Veteran's Administration hospitals.

"I feel very bitter about the VA," said Mrs. Haynie. "They wanted to put Butch in a psychiatric ward because they thought his pain was imaginary.

"I often felt he would have received more sympathy and better treatment if he had lost a leg or an arm. As it was, Butch was six feet tall and weighed 190 pounds and looked pretty healthy."

Two years ago Butch saw a doctor in Chicago who specialized in pain treatment. Through a combination of drugs and an electrical machine that was applied to the face, Butch had almost no pain for six months.

"During those six months he was like a different person," said his mother. "He even got engaged to a girl he had been dating on and off for five years."

The Chicago doctor wrote the VA that Butch should be classified 100 per cent disabled instead of 40 per cent. The VA said no.

Finally, even the medicine and the machine could not control the pain. The medicine began to cause Butch's shredded intestines to bleed.

"About three weeks ago, Butch had to go in the hospital to control the bleeding," Mrs. Haynie said. "When he returned to work, he was still weak, so weak that one day he slept through most of his shift."

The company fired Butch.

"He told me, 'Mom, even if I get a good job I can't hold on to it,'" said his mother. "He said he would either have to get rid of the pain or kill himself."

"I tried to encourage him by saying a drug would be discovered soon for his pain", Mrs. Haynie related in a sobbing voice. "I told him to please go into the VA hospital until the bad spell went away.

"He said he had rather be dead than go to a VA hospital again."

During the first week in September, Butch took his television set from his apartment and left it at his mother's house. He also left with his mother a sealed letter for his fiance.

That last week Butch told his mother he was losing the feeling in his right hand and arm. He had to stand in front of the mirror to force buttons through buttonholes.

"I talked to my son the day before he died," said Mrs. Haynie. "He said it would be the last time I would ever talk to him alive."

"There was nothing I could have done to have prevented what happened except have him picked up. All I did was pray and beg him to go to the hospital."

At five a.m. on September 9 Butch called the police and said he was going to kill himself. He gave his address and said the door would be unlocked.

Then he shot himself in the forehead with a pistol.

"When I saw the two policemen at my front door, I knew what it was about," said his mother.

"Actually Butch was a couple of days late. He had said he wanted to die on the anniversary of the helicopter explosion."

Motorists Can Forget 35c Gas

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — An Oklahoma oil executive says motorists can forget about 35-cent gasoline.

Jack Tarner, a Phillips Petroleum Co. vice president, told a panel of Federal Energy Administration officials Tuesday the general public is mistaken by thinking the self-sufficiency objectives of Project Independence will mean a return to lower prices.

He said higher costs are ahead and federal planners must convince the public this is true.

Tarner testified bluntly at the third of 10 regional hearings through which the FEA hopes to develop a definition of energy independence.

"This is a most important definition," he said. "Presently, the public generally considers that the government's program for energy independence will permit returning to the old ways of unlimited energy use by each citizen at low prices, prices in the order of 15 cents for gas at the wellhead and 35 cents for automobile gasoline at the station pump. There is no way this nation can return to that situation."

Tarner said energy independence can only mean the federal gorvernment will work with industry in an attempt to provide each citizen a necessary but reasonable amount of energy. The prices of such energy, he added, will be high enough to provide sufficient earnings for reinvestment in new facilities so that reasonable supplies can continue in future years.

He said such supplies can involve coal gasification and liquefaction and shale oil.

"All of these can only be provided at a higher cost," he said. "Government agencies need to make sure it is so understood by the citizen."

Tarner said the official notice for the regional hearings shows the FEA is fully aware of what has caused the energy problem.

"The U.S. demand for energy is increasing at a rate which cannot be met by continuing to rely on the historic sources of oil and gas supplies," he said.

J. E. Finley, Houston, Continental Oil Co. executive vice president, said a national energy policy must be developed to guide industry and government alike in the effort to move as rapidly as possible toward maximum energy independence.

"This effort toward self-sufficiency must provide for an orderly development of oil and natural gas, coal, oil shale, nuclear power, and all other forms of available energy," Finley said. "The mix between these alternatives must be a function of cost and resource availability."

Balance Of Payment In Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today that the country's balance of payments was in deficit by $2.7 billion in the second quarter of the year, due largely to a big outflow of dollars to pay for foreign oil and an increase in U.S. investments abroad.

The second quarter deficit compared with a surplus in the first three months of the year of $1.8 billion and was the biggest deficit since $2.9 billion in the third quarter of 1972.

The adverse shift in the balance of payments, which appeared to be much larger than expected, marks a resumption of the big flow of dollars out of the United States that was partially responsible for two devaluations of the dollar in 1971 and 1973.

The Commerce Department said the nation's trade balance with foreign countries was in deficit by $1.6 billion during the second quarter, compared with a near balance in the previous three months.
