Vanderbilt Dies In Auto Mishap

Son Of Famous New York Family Is Crash Victim

(By The Associated Press)

RIDGELAND, S. C., Nov. 15. — William K. Vanderbilt, jr., 26, son of a famous New York family, was killed here today as his automobile, speeding from Miami to New York, struck a fruit truck parked beside the highway.

Erskine Gwynne, relative and companion of Vanderbilt on the trip, suffered minor injuries and J. W. Guppy, Vanderbilt's chauffeur, was taken to a Savannah, Ga., hospital in a serious condition. Vanderbilt, officers said, was driving at the time.

Returns To U. S.

Gwynne, who had made his home in Paris for some years, returned to this country recently as a representative of a French wine merchant. Guppy is a native of England.

Young Vanderbilt, who landed only a week ago at Miami from his father's yacht, was en route to New York to see his mother. He was thrown clear of the car at the impact, and received injuries which caused death a few minutes later at a Ridgeland doctor's office. His body was taken to Savannah to be prepared for its trip northward.

Young Vanderbilt's father, who donated the Vanderbilt cup, famous in automobile racing circles of some years ago, is director of the New York Central railroad. His mother is Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt, from whom his father was divorced in Paris in 1927. Young Vanderbilt lived principally with his mother in New York. His father has remarried.

Old Bus Not Worth Much If It's Birth Was Around 1927

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15. (AP)—The old bus may purr like a kitten; the fenders may be dented only slightly; the paint may be intact, and it may be the pride of the family, but if it is a 1927 model or older and its manufacture has been discontinued—the family pride and joy is just "junk" to automobile dealers.

This is not the verdict of one dealer but of 75 from all over the state who gathered here today to fix uniform prices for used cars as to make and model. The figures will be compiled into a book to be used by dealers in new and used automobiles in all but 11 counties of Texas and in all but one county of Oklahoma.

Mexican Gets Swift Penalty

Jose Garcia Given Two Years In Garza County; Will Be Brought To Lubbock Where He Also Faces Charges

(Special to The Avalanche)

POST, Nov. 15.—The law dealt swiftly this week with Joe Garcia, a Mexican.

Arrested, indicted, convicted of burglary, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, all since Sunday night, when the crime was committed, Garcia will be carried to Lubbock county to face other burglary charges.

Confesses Burglaries

Garcia has confessed 10 residence burglaries in Slaton, Constable Ragan Reed and Justice of the Peace E. H. Ward of Slaton said today. Parts of loot from some of the houses were recovered.

Surprised in the George McPherson residence Sunday night, Garcia escaped only to be captured here Monday by Sheriff W. F. Cato. The Mexican pleaded guilty, waived trial by a jury, and was tried before Special Judge J. E. Garland of 106th

Lamesa Pastor Preaches At Baptist Missionary Session

JACKSONVILLE, Tex., Nov. 15.(AP) Union with the Baptist general convention is the question uppermost in the minds of delegates attending the convention here of the Baptist Missionary association. The question of union has been set apart as a business matter to come before tomorrow's session.

The annual sermon was preached this morning by Rev. J. W. Cundill of Lamesa, preceding the sermon was the annual election of officers. B. L. Albritton of Jacksonville was re-elected president; R. F. Thompson of Richardson, first vice-president; A. O. Hinkle of Lockhart, second vice-president, and L. B. Jenkins of Mesquite and C. B. Stanley of Tyler, recording secretaries.

Many Charges Lodged Against Overton Workers; Connally Says Committee Is Hoping To Right Charges

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15—Charges of sluggings, jailings and crooked counting of ballots were laid before the special senate committee investigating Senator John H. Overton's election today by a string of witnesses produced by Francis Williams, a New Orleans political leader.

The committee settled down to taking testimony after a stormy opening precipitated by a statement of Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex), chairman who arrived from Texas and took charge of the investigation on the third day. The Texas senator sought to explain that he had not deliberately remained away from the hearing as charged by the committee's investigator, John G Holland, and that he was not afraid to conduct the inquiry.

Denunciation Shouted

"About my being afraid," said the chairman, "the only persons afraid of this investigation are you cowards in Louisiana."

He got no further as the spectators arose with a roar and shouted denial and denuciation at the chairman. One spectator dared the senator outside and men and women voiced their resentment at his remark. Senator M. M. Logan (D-Ky) who had conducted the hearing on Monday and Tuesday amid equal disorder finally calmed the spectators and Senator Connally explained he was not referring to all of the people of Louisiana but to those who would run around and whisper and were afraid to come before the committee to testify.

Stories Are Heard

Then the witnesses started a march to the stand and before the day ended the committee had heard stories of intimidations at the polls, beatings, jailings, disappearance of

Conrad H. Mann Is Freed As Roosevelt Issues A Pardon

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (AP)—Conrad H. Mann was released from the federal detention house at 7:30 p. m., EST tonight, two hours after President Roosevelt had pardoned him on lottery charges.

Mann, crying a little, hurriedly left the building on the lower west side of Manhattan and jumped into a taxicab, saying he would return to Kansas City at once by plane.

He had been in the detention building, a warehouse like structure, four hours in all. Mann's release came on orders of the detention house superintendent after he had signed a formal acceptance of his pardon, promising to pay a $10,000 fine before Dec. 30.

The bottle crossed the Mediterranean in seven weeks, landing seven miles from Alexandria.

The money went to the monastery and the bottle to a local museum.

Morgenthau To Take Woodin's Treasury Post

Roosevelt Declines Offer Of Resignation And Secretary Is Given Leave Of Absence To Regain Health

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. — To administer the nation's finances through the vital period that lies just ahead, President Roosevelt has chosen his neighbor, close friend and trusted personal advisor, Henry Morgenthau, jr.

On Friday morning Morgenthau will become the actual, if not titular head of the treasury department, while Secretary Woodin, whose resignation the chief executive declined to accept, takes a leave of absence and goes west in search of rest and health.

Dean Acheson Resigns

To make room for Morgenthau, Dean Acheson, youthful undersecretary of the treasury, submitted his resignation, and Mr. Roosevelt accepted it with a word of regret and appreciation for his service.

The president announced these changes today to a group of correspondents assembled before his paper laden desk. In a tone of deep feeling, Mr. Roosevelt read in their entirety letters exchanged between himself and Woodin.

"You know that every policy of yours has had and still has my devoted support" the cabinet officer wrote in part, "and I have never doubted you are the one man that can lead this country out of its difficulty."

Snow Blocks Highways Over A Part Of Ohio; Chicago Has Low Of 10 Degrees; 5 Below In Minnesota Town

(By The Associated Press)

SEVEN deaths and storms on the Great Lakes and the Atlantic were reported last night as falling temperatures brought new cold records for many sections of the nation and snow blanketed most of the east.

Far out over the Atlantic the British freighter Saxilby was in distress, her crew of 27 men taking to lifeboats, in a storm 300 miles off the Irish coast. The liner Berengaria and dozens of other ships steamed to the rescue.

Guardsmen Are Safe

Two coast guardsmen, unheard from since Sunday when they left Ontonagon, Mich., in a 35-foot picket boat for Bayfield, Wis., on Lake Superior, and believed lost, were reported safe by coastguards at Madeline Island not far from their destination. Their craft, its hull punctured, was towed to the island by a lightship.

Many Great Lakes ships remained at hastily taken anchorage, delaying their trips for better weather. The Norwegian steamer Flaks went aground near South Haven, Mich., and the steamer D. E. Callander still was aground near Long Point, Ont.

Four Deaths Reported

Four deaths were reported in western Pennsylvania after one of the heaviest November snowfalls in history. The fall reached a total of 41 inches at Kane, Pa., including eight inches last night. A forest worker was missing near Ludlow, Pa. Pittsburgh had a temperature of 15 above, the lowest for Nov. 15 in 50 years.

There was heavy snow in the Adirondacks of New York. New York City's minimum of 23 above was the

Plans For The Distribution Of Texas Beef Are Outlined

AUSTIN, Nov. 15. (AP)—C. Z. Crain, commodity distributor for the Texas relief commission, conferred today with representatives of the extension division of the Agricultural and Mechanical college and the United States bureau of animal industry about plans for distributing $500,000 worth of beef to the needy.

The relief commission has employed eight buyers to purchase the cattle and will install canning plants at from 12 to 16 points in the state, the sites to be chosen at once. A superintendent will be placed in charge of each plant and the cattle will be bought in the area adjacent to each plant. The meat will be given federal inspection through the bureau of animal industry. County agents also will assist in locating prime beef.

Drastic Measures To Be Asked For Control Here Of Heavy Motor Traffic

Local Civic Club Adopts Resolution For Safety Measures In School Sections

APPALLED by 8-year-old Robert Eugene Adams' tragic death under a truck, American Business club board of governors will ask City commission to institute "drastic measures" controlling "the motor traffic on our city streets."

Specifically citing the Adams' fatality, the governors in a resolution yesterday urged "that some special measures be taken in the neighborhood of our public schools."

The resolution, to be presented by the club as a whole and by "the members of the club as individual citizens" of Lubbock, will be offered to the commission Thursday, Nov. 23, customary meeting date.

That the action was not a "criticism nor condemnation of the citizens of Lubbock, nor any individual, nor of the enforcement officers" was pointed out. "Future welfare and safety of the public" motivated the resolution.

The club's move came after the Avalanche-Journal newspapers editorially had urged the city to employ "enough traffic officers to enforce regulations" and "to patrol school buildings when and where necessary." County Attorney Vaughn E.

Daughter Of Martyred Mayor Denies Kidnap Threats Have Been Made Against Her Baby

Mrs. Helen Cermak Kenlay In Statement Says Rumor Must Be Joke Or Someone Trying To Get Publicity

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 15. — Mrs. Helen Cermak Kenlay, daughter of the late Mayor Anton Cermak, today denied that kidnap threats had been made against her four-year-old daughter, Mary Alice, and said she regarded such stories as "attempts of someone to gain publicity."

Mrs. Kenlay made her statement after being advised that an information had been filed in the criminal court at Miami, Fla., charging Gale Swolley of Peoria, Ill., with an attempt to kill William W. Woods, Florida Democratic leader, in connection with a reputed plot to kidnap the child.

No Threats Received

"I have never received any kidnap threats against my daughter," Mrs. Kenlay said in an authorized statement. "I have not paid out any money in any extortion plot. I don't know how to explain the stories unless it is a joke or someone trying to get publicity."

Mrs. Kenlay said that Woods was a "friend of the family" whom she met when she was at the bedside of her father, a victim of an assassin's bullet in Florida last February.

"I most certain have not paid out $8,000 to anyone involved in any extortion case," she said, "and if Mr. Woods did, he failed to advise me of the matter."

Payment Reported

Woods in dispatches from Florida was quoted as saying he paid out $8,000 to extortionists who made threats against the Kenlay child.

Civil Works Head States That Haste Is Necessary If Work Is To Be Given 4,000,000 Men In Near Future

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—A demand that politics be laid aside and speed be applied to administering relief under the civil works division was voiced before five hundred state and city officials today by President Roosevelt.

Speaking to the crowd that had assembled in the White House, the chief executive said reports had come to him that politics had crept into the administration of relief.

Seek No Advantage

"I simply want to tell you that your national government is not trying to gain political advantage one way or another out of the needs of human beings for relief," he said.

"I expect the same spirit from every governor and I expect the same spirit from every mayor and from every relief administrator.

"I want it understood that no person connected with the administration of this $400,000,000 will in any instance ask whether a person needing work is a Republican, a Democrat, a Socialist or anything else.

Want Honest Efforts

"Our effort is to put 4,000,000 men back to work in the winter months so that we can honestly say as a nation that this winter will not be like last winter or the winter before."

The president was referring to the civil works plan that already had been outlined to the state and city officials by Harry L. Hopkins, the civil works administrator, and Secretary Ickes, public works administrator. Both Hopkins and Ickes were applauded as they told of the plan they said was designed to hold back poverty and destitution until the $3,300,000,000 public works program could get fully under way.

Rules Explained

The officials listened to Hopkins for an hour as he read and then explained the rules under which the plan would operate. At noon regional representatives of the relief

Case Of Hobgood Rests With Jury

Case of Leslie Hobgood, on trial for robbery by assault, went to a 72nd district court jury at 10:30 o'clock last night, following a night session in which attorneys' arguments were given.

Hobgood was charged after V. S. Harrington of Idalou and Mrs. Harrington, who at the time was Mrs. Willie Macha, were held up and robbed at the southwest edge of Lubbock Jan. 29. The defendant offered an alibi. Mr. and Mrs. Harrington identified Hobgood as one of two hijackers. Defense attorneys were Ratliff and Stewart and Walter F. Schenck. Prosecutors were District Attorney Daniel A. Blair and Burton S. Burks, assistant.

Trial of William E. Doupe for armed robbery is scheduled to begin before Judge Homer L. Pharr today, Burks said. Doupe, arrested at International Falls, Minn., is charged with robberies in which Paul Mitchell was the gunman. Mitchell is under death sentence for the hold-up slaying of Robert Tharp, grocery store assistant manager, Oct. 15, 1932.

Theory Of Moon Being Charged With Radium Offered By Ohio Astronomer

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A new theory that the moon is charged with radium was announced tonight by Dr. Harlan T. Stetson, astronomer of Ohio Wesleyan university, to an amateur astronomers meeting.

Traveling with the speed of light, these invisible lunar radium rays seem to penetrate deeply into the earth's atmosphere, sufficiently to disturb radio reception in home sets.

The evidence for their existence is found in thousands of radio tests made recently between Chicago and Delaware, Ohio, and in some volcanic deposits just uncovered at Naples, Italy.

At Naples, said Dr. Stetson, the geophysical laboratory reports discovering that a layer of volcanic earth about 20 feet under the laboratory radiates rays more strongly than pitchblend. The latter mineral is the chief source from which radium is extracted.

The moon's surface, Dr. Stet-

Weeping Mother Is Hitch Hiking To Capital To See Governor About Son

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15.—One of the hitch hikers on the Austin highway tomorrow will be Mrs. Ola Rishel, 51, who is going to see the governor in behalf of her boy.

Mrs. Rishel, whose clothes are dusty from travel and whose eyes are red from crying, walked into the district attorney's office here this afternoon. She asked for District Attorney Jesse Martin, and was told he was out of the city.

Her eyes filled, and she managed to say, "I've hitch hiked all the way from Texarkana to see him. I haven't got any money, and my boy is in the penitentiary. I want to help him get a pardon, for his sentence is ten years. Ten years is an awfully long time."

Her boy, charged here as Pinkie Riskel, pleaded guilty in criminal district court last February to charges of robbery, theft and burglary, and was given ten years in each case, the terms to run concurrently.

There is a probability that you will be wanting to know something about the County Children's council some time within the next few months, since aims of the organization are to have a health unit in this county or to have a health nurse. When either one of these is being established, you will want to know what is expected of you as a citizen in the way of support and what you may expect in the way of benefits.

There is going to be a dinner meeting this evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Hilton hotel and the talks made there will answer many of the questions you will have to ask.

The council is not for the city of Lubbock alone. It is county-wide and those preparing tonight's program are anxious to have representatives here from clubs and communities over the county.

Reservations are being received by Mrs. N. L. Peters, Mrs. Homer Pharr and Mrs. Leroy T. Patton through noon today. If you can attend, the plates will be fifty cents, call one of them and make your reservation. You may not be concerned about the council now but you are going to want to know what it is and what it is to do before long. If you live in a rural community, have some one out there attend, or come yourself. This dinner meeting is for anyone who wants to attend.

THEY WILL BE MISSED

THREE Methodist ministers' wives who are moving away from Lubbock this week, are going to be mised. Theres will be others to take their places and, since it is a part of the life of a Methodist minister to move, they are supposed to go without regrets, yet their loss will be felt.

These three are Mrs. C. A. Bickley, Mrs. O. W. Carter and Mrs. J. W. Watson. In First and Asbury Methodist churches, as well in club and other activities of the city, they have had definite places to fill. As in any small church, Mrs. Carter, as the pastor's wife, has been kept busy in missionary, Sunday school and other activities. Mrs. Bickley, as the presiding elder's wife, has had a place in both churches. This last year, too, she has served as president of the church Women's Federation. She and Mrs. Watson have been teachers of a class in the First church.

These three women have many friends who regret to see them go. But, more than that, they have been useful members of the community.

OUR FALL WEATHER

BY the time this appears in print, the weather may be cold and melancholy, but while it is being written we are having another of these glorious autumn days. Surely there is no place in the world that can beat this country for fall weather. It is calm and bathed in the most brilliant sunshine of all of the year. And, in case you lie abed until late, these mornings are perfect for walking. They are cool enough for a light wrap and not too warm for exercise.

This is the time of year to get out and enjoy what nature gives so generously to this country—sunshine and clear air—for next spring when the weather is at its worst you will be wont to forget the things we are having now.

What makes it all better is that even in our coldest months, January and February, there will be days of sunshine so warm that we will feel that spring has come long before it is due. Many cities boast of their winter sunshine. This place might well send out word also and it would be appropriate to tell the world about the quality as well as the quantity of brightness that we have all the winter through.

It is no wonder that we have a reputation for prosperity in hard times as well as good. One would have to be the worst pessimist in the world to feel other than hopeful in sunshine such as we are having now.

Do this for Your Child in

TWO WEEKS

How to rid any boy or girl of sluggishness or constipation and build a big appetite.

The trouble with children who will not eat is usually stasis. The symptoms are a tongue that's always coated, bad breath, poor color, dull eyes that are often a bilious yellow. No appetite, no ambition—even for play. Hard to get to sleep, hard to wake in the morning.

There's an absolute remedy for this condition. It gives listless youngsters the appetite and energies of a young animal! They eat! They gain! They keep well!

It's not the stomach, but the bowel condition that keeps children from eating. But the trouble is in the lower bowel—the colon. California syrup of figs is the only "medicine" that is needed to stimulate the colon muscles. The very next day, your child is eating better and feeling better. Keep on with the syrup of figs a few days and you will see amazing improvement in appetite, color, weight and spirits.

Any drug store has the real California syrup of figs, all bottled, with directions. Nature never made a nicer acting or nicer tasting laxative. (It is purely vegetable.) Remember California syrup of figs when sickness, a cold or any upset has clogged a child's bowels.

WARNING: Even when it's something to give children, some stores will try to substitute. So be sure the bottle says CALIFORNIA Syrup of Figs.

DOT'S DIPLOMACY

SOLVES THE FAMILY ARGUMENT ABOUT COFFEE—AND SAVES MONEY, TOO!

IT'S SO MUCH RICHER
—You Can Use Just ¼ Less!

Now—coffee that makes ordinary coffee seem "flat" and "thin" by contrast. A coffee that differs notably in flavor, body and richness—not merely in advertising claims. Because it comes from a different growing country.

This super-coffee is grown largely in tiny mountain-top plantations along the west coast of Central America—a region that's famed as the world's "coffee paradise." Where an odd type of volcanic soil, high altitude and steaming tropical rains combine to give coffee an indescribable richness and winy tang. And produce a flavor that experts concede is not duplicated anywhere else in the world.

This is the coffee that gives such a distinctive flavor to Folger's—the coffee that appeals so especially to men. Brought to you with all its mountain-freshness faithfully preserved in the latest type of key-opening vacuum tins. Your first taste will be a revelation.

In addition, Folger's is particularly economical to serve. For, because of greater body and richness, you can use just ¼ less. So it's a money-saver, too.

Try a tin of Folger's today. Once you taste it, you'll never want to go back to ordinary, "thin" coffees again. Especially when you realize that ordinary coffees actually cost more in the end! 171R

Trial Of Veteran Officer At Post Continued For Term

POST, Nov. 15. (Special)—Judge Gordon McGuire of 106th district court today continued trial of Tom A. Gardner, 62, veteran peace officer, for the term. Gardner has been indicted for driving an automobile while intoxicated.

A physician's certificate was presented to show that Gardner was ill and confined to a bed in the home of a brother-in-law, A. A. Huff, living east of Tahoka in Lynn county, District Attorney G. H. Nelson said.

Here's Beauty Who May Lure Gary

Heart whole and fancy free days are over for Gary Cooper, if the little bird of Hollywood whispers the truth. Sandra Shaw, statuesque beauty, shown here in a striking portrait, has made the film idol forget his bachelor vows, according to friends of the pair, and word of their betrothal is expected soon. Miss Shaw is an actress, niece of Cedric Gibbons, director-husband of Dolores Del Rio.

Hugh Johnson Back At Desk

NRA Chief Has Determination To Obtain Better Compliance With Agreements; Hearings Will Be Held

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—Hugh S. Johnson came back from his midwestern swing today voicing a determination to obtain better compliance with the Blue Eagle agreements and codes and announced tonight that, beginning December 12, NRA would conduct public hearings on charges of profiteering.

Johnson told newspapermen he had found compliance conditions "bad" and that steps would have to be taken at once to correct the situation. He took that report to President Roosevelt, when at the luncheon table, he described in detail his findings on a ten day speaking trip that took him from Chicago and Minneapolis as far south as Fort Worth.

Fact Finding Inquiry

The profiteering investigation, at which anybody's complaint that is backed up by suitable evidence will be received, was announced as "purely a fact finding inquiry at which all interested parties will be given ample opportunity for the preparation and presentation of any facts bearing on the subject."

At the hearings individual consumers have a chance to lodge complaints against retailers, and any of the latter who have grievances against manufacturers likewise will be allowed to do so.

Simultaneously, NRA moved today into the differences between labor and employer groups over the construction code, announcing that a public hearing would be held Monday over revised copies of the master code for the industry and supplementary compact. Officials said that in the revision many of organized labor's objectors would be met and others would be left for action after public discussion.

Other Developments

Other NRA developments of the day:

Approval by President Roosevelt of seven codes, including one for the air transport industry.

Virtual decision at NRA that the code for newspapers would contain a clause to protect the press against any infringement of its constitutional right to freedom of expression.

Further postponement of final decision as to how the government would deal with Henry Ford in the light of rulings by J. R. McCarl, comptroller general, that wherever the Ford company is low bidder for government contracts it should be given the business despite Ford's failure to sign the automobile code.

The expression "stone-broke" originated from the old custom of breaking a craftsman's stone bench when he failed to pay his debts.

Special Ranger Facing Charges

HOUSTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—Jo Ed Winfree, jr., 20, special Texas ranger and son of Attorney Jo Ed Winfree, colonel on Governor Miriam Ferguson's staff, was indicted here today on a charge of assault to murder City Detective O. C. Rice on October 16.

Young Winfree's bond was set at $500.

Winfree, a law student, figured in a gun battle with officers during an intermission in a boxing match. Rice was wounded in the fleshy part of his chest. Winfree was shot in the leg.

The difficulty arose over the arrest of Joe Muhl, referee in wrestling and boxing matches, on misdemeanor charge.

Winfree protested Muhl's arrest on the ground that he had already arranged for Muhl's bond and there was no need to take him to the police station.

Rice and Winfree quarreled. Rice said he drew his pistol and fired when he thought Winfree was going to shoot him.

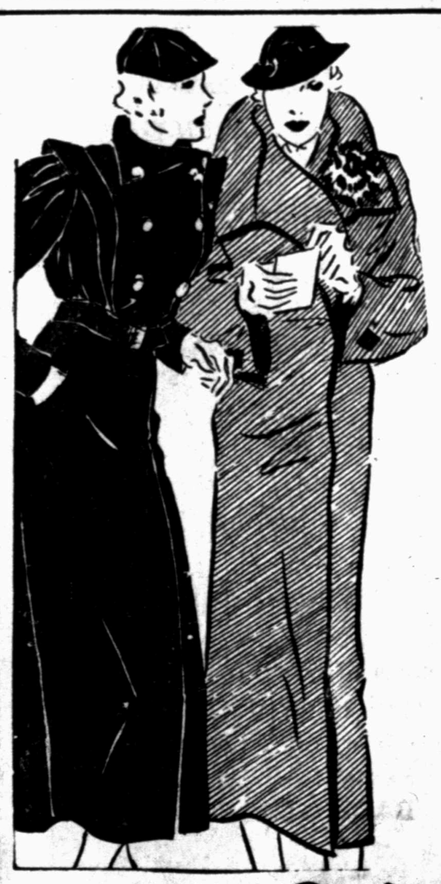

Rice fired one bullet after he was wounded, the slug missing Winfree. Winfree was shot by City Detective J. D. Broussard, who opened fire when Rice was wounded. Both have recovered.

Don't let jangled nerves rob you of poise

Foot tapping... table drumming ... just can't sit still... Immediately you brand such a person as lacking in poise... "jittery." Foot tapping is a definite sign of jangled nerves... nerves out of tune.

Watch your nerves. Get your full amount of sleep every night. Eat regularly and sensibly. Find time for recreation. And smoke Camels—for Camel's costlier tobaccos never get on your nerves.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand of cigarettes!

How are YOUR nerves?
TEST No. 9

Hold a needle with a large eye between thumb and index finger of left hand—upright position. Take a piece of strong cotton thread, roll it until it is firmly pointed. Hold the thread and needle twelve inches from your body... Pass the thread through the eye without touching the needle with the fingers of the right hand. The average score is hitting the eye on the third try.

Frank White (Camel smoker), famous pilot, member of Adventurers Club, threaded his needle the first time.

NEWS BRIEFS

Lee Holcutt, arrested a mile north of Canyon schoolhouse by the sheriff's department Monday for theft of $8, a pair of gloves and a pair of trousers, pleaded guilty of theft before Justice of the Peace Connell, who assessed him a fine and costs totaling $18.15 Tuesday afternoon.

S. A. Debman, acting emergency agricultural assistant in Dawson county during the recent cotton plowup campaign, has been moved to Midland according to word received here. Debman, a Dawson county resident since 1908, is a graduate of Texas A. and M. in the class of 1926 and has been county agent in Stonewall and Hockley counties. He also was secretary-manager of the Arkansas Farm Bureau federation.

A general precautionary warning to motorists, who were reminded especially that right turns from a red-light zone must not be made until a complete stop has been made besides the curb, was issued yesterday by the police department through George Eubank, assistant chief of police.

Charles Fuller, under a two-to-six-year sentence for murder at McCamey May 4, 1929, was arrested at Lorenzo by Constable John Cook recently. Fuller was returned to Tom Green county jail yesterday by Hawley Allen, chief deputy sheriff of Tom Green county. After the court of criminal appeals several months ago affirmed Fuller's sentence, the defendant forfeited $5,000 appeal bond.

Rix Funeral home yesterday afternoon sent the body of James (Shorty) Barron, 41, a member of a radio musical troupe who died here Sunday, to Henderson, Ky. Arrangements to send the body to Henderson, Barron's home, were made after several fellow members of the Arizona Wranglers, billed to appear at the Palace theater today, arrived here. His mother, two brothers, and a 14-year-old son survive Barron.

Announced as an interview between James M. Gordon and Dr. Bradford Knapp, a faked radio broadcast was presented at Rotary club luncheon yesterday at Lubbock hotel. Dr. A. M. Skeffington of Chicago, a speaker on the program, declared we are in a new social world, a new social order, and said effective absorbing vision was the greatest need today.

A revised 1934 cotton plan probably will be ordered by C. A. Cobb, cotton administrator, early in December, County Agent O. G. Tumlinson said yesterday after returning from College station.

Fire department members went to the 1300-block of Main street at 5:33 p. m. Wednesday when an automobile was reported on fire. Damage was slight, it was said.

About 250 men have been recommended to highway contractors in Lubbock county for use on state jobs, according to W. E. Inmon, county relief administrator. The contract on highway 24 from Idalou east to the county line is expected to be completed within a few days. The men then working will be released for other jobs.

O. B. Bennett, about 45, of 317 Avenue G, charged with taking his children from a house quarantined for diptheria so they could pick cotton, was freed in bail of $200 yesterday. S. C. Rawlings, a special officer, signed the complaint against Bennett, who was arrested Tuesday night. Dr. J. W. Rollo, City health officer, had placed the Avenue G address under quarantine, which had not expired.

Charged with aggravated assault as a result of stabbing another woman Monday afternoon, Roma Stevens, 19, was held in county jail last night in lieu of $500 bond set by County Judge E. L. Pitts. The woman pleaded not guilty. The wounded woman was Vera McCullough, 26, stabbed in the right shoulder in the Cova hotel, 1105 1-2 Avenue G, about 4:45 p. m. Monday. She was released from Lubbock sanitarium yesterday morning.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, addressed a meeting of the Co-Operative Cotton ginners in session at Quanah yesterday afternoon.

J. D. Hanley, assistant retail operating manager of Montgomery Ward & Co., of Chicago, is in Lubbock in connection with removal of the store from 1109 Thirteenth street to a new building at Broadway and Texas avenue. Present plans call for opening of the store Dec. 2.

Roy B. Davis, manager of Plains Cooperative, Inc., of Plainview, was in Lubbock yesterday en route to Lovington, N. M., to assist in handling some dressed turkeys for a pool he is handling in Hale county.

Mrs. E. Y. Lee, pioneer resident, is critically ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Howard, 1711 Avenue Q. Her sister, Mrs. Henry Gholson, of Clovis, N. M., and her children are at Mrs. Lee's bedside.

Mose Jackson, a negro, was badly shaken up but not injured when an automobile he was driving yesterday morning ran into the porch of a residence at 2001 Sixteenth street. Jackson blamed a flat tire for the accident.

Three Chicago Men Positively Identified As Kidnapers Of William Hamm; Also Named In Factor Case

ST. PAUL, Nov. 15 (AP)—Walter C. Bowick, a printer, positively identified three Chicago men charged with the kidnaping of William Hamm, jr., St. Paul brewer, today as John Factor, kidnap victim in Chicago last July, attended the trial of Roger Touhy and three associates on a charge of having kidnaped Hamm, jr., for $100,000.

The four men on trial are under indictment in Chicago for the Factor kidnaping. They are Roger Touhy, Willie Sharkey, Eddie McFadden and Gustav Schafer.

W. W. Dunn, sales manager of the Theo. Homm Brewing company, of which Hamm is president, testified about the ransom notes he received from the kidnapers. One demanded $100,000.

Another threatened death to both Dunn and Hamm unless payment were made immediately and warned the ransom would be increased to $150,000 if the demands were not immediately met, he said.

Factor listened attentively as Dunn told how, unarmed and alone, he went out on a highway at night and delivered the $100,000 for Hamm's release.

Bowick pointed out Willie Sharkey as the driver of the car in which Hamm was taken to a hideout where he was held almost four days.

Then he pointed out Gustav "Gloomy Gus" Schaefer and Eddie "Father" McFadden, as men in the automobile.

Negro Being Held In Slaying Case

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 15 (AP)—Alexander Boss, negro, who is said to be wanted in connection with the slaying of a young woman at Van Horn, Texas, November 8, was taken into custody here by police today, and is being held in jail, awaiting advices from Texas authorities.

Boss, who is said to have been born and reared in Rapides Parish, has been living in Los Angeles, Calif., for several years. According to the authorities, he is known to have left Los Angeles November 3.

Boss was taken into custody on a request contained in a telegram received by Chief of Police Clint O'Malley from Sheriff Charles P. Cox, of El Paso, Texas.

Taxes On Liquor Expected To Reach 700 Millions Each Year, After Repeal

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, (AP) — When national prohibition is repealed this year, government officials will have the benefit of preliminary arrangements for the collection of liquor revenues which they hope would reach the grand total of $700,000,000 yearly.

Chairman Pat Harrison of the senate finance committee, assuming repeal, expects the government to derive annually $200,000,000 from beer taxes and $500,000,000 from levies on whisky and other liquors, a total sum which, if realized, would be expected to assure elimination of certain special taxes levied at the last session of congress.

Tax Relief Possible

In the National Industrial Recovery act it is provided specifically that if repeal of the eighteenth amendment is proclaimed before December 31 there will be relief in 1934 from certain taxes designed to help finance the public works program.

These taxes, calculated to provide some $227,000,000, include the increased levy of one-half cent per gallon on gasoline, the 5 per cent tax on stock dividends, the one-tenth of 1 per cent tax on the capital stock of corporation, and 5 per cent tax on corporation profits in excess of 12 1-2 per cent of the capital stock value.

Congress, with the expert counsel of treasury tax authorities, would fix the levies on newly legalized liquors with a view to obtaining the largest possible returns. With the states as well as the federal government taxing liquor, the treasury in recommending schedules would consider the danger of fixing levies so high as to tend to reduce by encouraging the illicit distilling and selling of whisky.

The present tax on medicinal whisky is $1.10 a gallon, while there is a levy of $6.40 a gallon on whisky "diverted for beverage use." The latter is in the nature of a penalty tax on liquor sold in violation of national prohibition and, according to some legal experts, would cease to be effective after repeal.

But in order to assure the expected revenue of $500,000,000 from hard liquors and wine, it has been figured that either consumption would have to be in excess of pre-Volstead demand or the tax about as high as the current penalty levy.

In 1919 when 83,681,000 gallons of whisky, rum, gin, brandy and alcohol were withdrawn from warehouses, the revenue from distilled spirits totaled $353,737,000. For five months of that fiscal year the tax was $6.40 a gallon and for seven months it was $3.20 a gallon.

In 1917 when withdrawals reached the pre-prohibition peak of 164,291,000 gallons, the liquor taxes, including wines and cordials, but not beer, amounted to only $192,111,000. The whisky tax in that year was $1.10 a gallon, the same as the present rate on medicinal liquor.

Consumption Increase Foreseen

In the 23-year period from 1894 to October, 1917, the rate stood at $1.10 with the trend of both revenues and consumption quite steadily upward. Wartime need for funds brought about a boost in the rate to $3.20 a gallon, which was increased to $6.40 midway in the fiscal year 1919 when the revenues from distilled spirits reached the high mark of $353,737,000. Consumption, however, was only a little more than one-half that of 1917.

Some experts in the bureau of industrial alcohol and others here familiar with the liquor situation believe that consumption of hard liquors after national prohibition will exceed that of 1919 owing to the increase in population and the fact that only 15 states were wet in the year immediately prior to adoption of the Eighteenth amendment.

As the movement to repeal the eighteenth amendment gained momentum by the addition of state after state, possibilities of new revenue were considered by government officials. One estimate placed the possible return at $700,000,000 annually.

WARRANTS CALLED

AUSTIN, Nov. 15 (AP) — Charley Lockhart, state treasurer, today issued a call for general revenue warrants aggregating $523,595. He announced the treasury could pay all such warrants up to and including number 182,914, provided they were issued prior to September 1.

He reported the deficit in the general revenue fund at $8,553,468.

Nominate Two For Club Post

Dallas And Brownsville Women Are Nominated For Office Of President; Election Set For Thursday

AUSTIN, Nov. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Frank B. Slater of Dallas and Mrs. Volney Taylor of Brownsville today were nominated to succeed Mrs. J. W. Fincher of Houston as president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

The new president, who will serve three years, will be elected tomorrow and installed Friday at the close of the federation's 36th annual convention.

Contention was raised that Mrs. Slater had violated one of the rules relative to the time for announcement for office. The rule stated that candidates may not announce for office earlier than 90 days after the close of the state convention under penalty of becoming ineligible.

The Dallas delegation was preparing to wage a vigorous floor fight to show that Mrs. Slater had not violated the rule, but later the rule was revoked by common agreement and with the consent of Mrs. Slater.

Mrs. Frank Friend of San Angelo was nominated for first vice president; Mrs. Carrie Reeves of Brownwood for second vice president and Miss Elizabeth Phillips of Tyler for recording secretary.

State Senator Gus Russek Under $4,000 Bond In Case

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 15 (AP) — State Senator Gus Russek of Schulenburg, a patient here in a local infirmary, today was under $4,000 bond on a federal complaint which charges him with misapplication of funds of the First National bank of Schulenburg while he was vice president.

Russek made bond after United States Commissioner Lockhart went to the state official's bedside to receive his waiver of a preliminary hearing on the charge filed at Houston recently.

Two Near Death After Shooting

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 15 (AP)—Victims of a double shooting, Bert Chase, Chicago bond salesman, and William J. (Buck) Buchanan, San Antonio automobile salesman, today were near death here as detectives sought a man whom they described as a witness of the shooting in the parlor of Mrs. E. J. Jarris.

Police said the shooting late yesterday was witnessed by Walter (Skinny) Baker and another man.

Buchanan also is known as Jimmy Carter, and Chase as Bert Carson, according to police. Chase received a bullet wound in the stomach and one in the right forearm. Buchanan was shot three times in the right side with an automatic pistol. Both were given blood transfusions.

Wives of both men were at their bedsides.

U. S. Type 13 grows in South Carolina.

U. S. Type 14 is produced mostly in southern Georgia — a few million pounds in northern Florida and Alabama.

U. S. Type 31 includes what is called White Burley tobacco. It was first produced by George Webb in 1864. It is light in color and body, and is milder than the Burley used for pipes.

U. S. Type 32, Maryland tobacco, is noted for its "burn". In this respect Maryland excels most other tobaccos.

These are the kinds of home-grown tobaccos used for making Chesterfield Cigarettes.

Then Chesterfield adds aromatic Turkish tobacco to give just the right seasoning or spice.

Chesterfield ages these tobaccos for 30 months —2½ years — to make sure that they are milder and taste better.

Moran Survives Another Mantell Attack; Gridders Prepare For Games

Dutch Claims Opening Fall; Loses Last 2

Red Heinz Comes Home To Win Over Tremaine; Swindell Is Winner Over Brown; Mantell Rises To Heights, Tumbles

Another chapter in the heroic wrestling exploits of Dutch Mantell, the veteran "Duke of Luxembourg," was written last night, but with another man playing the hero role.

Sailor Moran, never beaten in the State of Texas, although he has tackled the best welterweights who have entered the commonwealth, for the third time defeated the 54-year-old trick-master. Mantell, who "would give half my life to whip that varmint tonight," rose to the heights of the kind of wrestling that has made him famous on continents, then fell in defeat with his belly down, his brawny shoulders never touching the mat.

Dutch Feels "Right"

Dutch won the first fall of the scheduled three-fall main event on Promoter Sled Allen's regular Wednesday night show, after 27 minutes of rough and rugged wrestling pinning the former champion of the U. S. navy with a double toe-hold and a hammer-lock. He was pleased with himself. Se seemed right, and ready. In the dressing room between falls, he told friends he thought he would win, because "I feel good tonight; just leave it to me."

They came back, and crashed head-on. They wrangled around the mat, furiously, swiftly. They kicked and punched and fought, exchanged toe-holds and splits.

It ws the "Japanese crab," that whipped Mantell, a hold from which few wrestlers emerge. It is the play when your opponent grabs both your feet, twists you on your stomach and parks himself on the back of your thighs, meanwhile pulling upward and backward upon your heels. The veteran Mantell, "man of a thousand faces" who used all of them in that punishing hold, patted the mat after 22 minutes of scrapping in the second fall, and after one minute had elapsed in the third and decisive fall.

Sailor Gets Busy

Moran, angered and charged with the fury which Mantell's punishing tactics had incited, lost no time when he came into the ring for the third time. They charged like mad bulls, clinched and rolled, and in the roll Moran got the feel and the position. It was all over.

One of the largest crowds of the season crammed the Auditorium to see the performances. All three fights were good, packed with action.

Heinz Comes Home

Tommy "Sunshine" Heinz, flaxen-haired Teuton who now makes his home in Lubbock, came back last night to throw Andy Tremain, the "Tucson Thunderbolt," in an exciting 37-minute semi-final. It was billed as a one-fall, finish fight. Tremaine, the finely fashioned physical specimen from Arizona, employed his great power to stay with the more experienced wrestler, late of San Diego.

They exchanged all kinds of holds, Heinz letting Tremaine set the example, then duplicating in a more finishing style. They grappled hard and fast. They wrestled close and furiously. Heinz having the upper hand because of his greater knowledge. In a fan-exciting finish, they went to the mat, Heinz on the bottom. He twisted out, got a "figure 4" toe-hold and won the fall after 37 minutes of highly interesting grappling.

Swindell Gives Lesson

Introduced as the claimant to the lightweight championship of the world, Claud Swindell of Lincoln, Nebraska, turned in a snappy exhibition of masterful wrestling with Lobo Brown, scraniping youth from Cal Farley's Amarillo stables. Swindell, 46 years old, former wrestling coach at the University of Nebraska, showed wonderful agility and skill at the professional game. Brown's greater muscular strength giving him courage and ability to stay without a fall for the 15-minute preliminary.

Quick as a cat, jumping in and grabbing scientific holds that a man his own weight and strength could hardly have broken, Swindell put on some of the neatest wrestling seen here. The former university coach gave away about 15 pounds to Brown, but in the long run more than likely would have won a fall.

To add excitement and merriment to the proceedings, Brown mixed it with Referee Bo Sexton on one occasion whn Sexton forced him from the ropes. They exchanged a couple of blows, and Brown wisely went back to work on his scheduled opponent.

Matty Bell Denies Report Of Resigning At Aggieland

HOUSTON, Nov. 15 (AP) — Matty Bell, head football coach at Texas A. and M. said today there was no truth in the report that he had turned in his resignation to the Aggie athletic council.

Dean F. C. Bolton of Texas A. and M. stated the athletic council had no announcement to make in regard to the coaching situation at the present.

HOLY CROSS WORKS FAKE FROM SHIFT

BY ART KRENZ
NEA Service Sports Writer

Harvard's football team recently spent a busy afternoon trying to diagnose this play of Holy Cross.

Coach Ed Anderson new mentor at this institute has his boys use this attack against a 7-2-2 defense. He says "The play requires timing, and the quarterback has to call it at the right time when the strong side tackle shifts wide."

Here's how it works. After the backfield shifts, in this case to the right, the ball is passed, from center, to the No. 1 back, who fakes to No. 2 as he cuts in front of him. This faking for the ball pulls the defensive left guard in. The play then goes inside of the strong side tackle with No. 3 back leading the ball carrier, No. 1 back, through the hole. No. 2, after faking the play to the left of the line, keeps the defense from smearing the play from behind. No. 4 blocks the defensive left end.

Two Indoor Games On Card Tonight

The week's indoor baseball schedule is resumed tonight with a double attraction at the Auditorium. The first game is scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock.

The J. & J. Sporting Goods company Sports meet Hule-Ribble in the opening game. The tailor shop-flower shop combination team will attempt to make the Sports' lead position a trifle unsteady. In the second game, the Federal Employes meet the Peoples Ice company.

White Sox May Operate Ft. Worth Cats In 1934 Season

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15. (AP)—The Fort Worth Star Telegram says the Chicago White Sox may operate the Fort Worth Cats in 1934.

"It has been reported for some time that the Sox are interested in locating here and the announcement from Galveston that the Cats would be in the Texas league in 1934, adds further credence," the paper says.

"It is expected that representatives of the Sox who are now in Galveston will come here immediately following the national meeting of the minor league and a definite announcement probably will be forthcoming the latter part of the week."

Runyan, Macfarlane And Joe Turnesa Tie In Mid-South Go

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 15. (AP)—Paul Runyan and Willie MacFarlane, who teamed to take first money in the pro best ball event, shared top place in the individual play with Joe Turnesa as the mid-South open golf championship wound up today in a triple tie for the second successive year.

The three pros, all from the metropolitan New York district, tied at 143 for the 36 holes and split the prize money for first, second and third places, taking $250 each.

Johnny Revolta, Minominee, Mich., sensation of last year's winter tournament play, took fourth place, worth $100, with 145.

Bramham Raps "Shoestringer" And Play-Off

President Of Organized Base-Ball Strikes At Ill Of The Game; Art Shires And Others Accused Players Present

(By The Associated Press)

GALVESTON, Nov. 15. — Minor league baseball magnates today heard William G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, assail the Shaughnessy pennant playoff plan and "shoestring operators," discussed important player trades and then waited for a report from an executive committee.

As soon as Bramham completed his report and J. H. Farrell, treasurer, and L. H. Addington, press bureau chief, told of their work, the executive committee retired behind closed doors to consider an appeal from Art Shires, Jim Lindsey, Gordon Slade and Charles Wilson, formerly members of the Columbus club of the American association, who were banned from the circuit last summer because of purported salary violations.

Cards In Trade

The St. Louis Cardinals and the Philadelphia National league club were involved in the principal trade announced during the day.

Branch Rickey, vice-president of the Cards, revealed that he had traded Jimmy Wilson, veteran catcher, to the Phillies for Virgil Davis, ace backstop, and Ed Delker, infielder. No announcement of a cash consideration was made.

While managers, players and owners milled about the convention headquarters in a hotel, the Western league representatives made plans to meet before tomorrow to determine the makeup of next year's membership and the annual conflab of the International league, scheduled for today, was postponed until tomorrow.

The Texas league met yesterday and the American association last week.

Shires On Hand

Shires and Lindsey came here personally to argue their cases. They had been accused of making false reports concerning their salaries and were released from the Columbus team. They were signed later by Rochester.

The executive committee, composed of Warren C. Giles of Rochester, J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas league, and Dale Gear, president of the Western league, also had before it cases against Harold Meyer, vice-president of the Wilkes-Barre club of New York-Pennsylvania league, accused of a salary violation, and against members of the Pine Bluff team of the Dixie league who disbanded when, they asserted, they were not paid for their services.

Bramham lashed out against violation of rules of the National association and took a mild slap at chain store operators in the minors.

Raps "Chain Store"

"The ideal assistance to be rendered to the minors by the majors—or smaller classifications by larger classifications — is for a stipulated sum to be paid in cash with the right of selection by the aiding club of a player or players from the roster of the club aided."

He said that more than 100 transfers of contracts of players from one club to another had been made without execution of option or assignment papers.

"Rules prohibiting such practices are in existence and severe penalties, which include free agency, are provided for violations," he said. "The rules will be enforced and penalties inflicted. We must comply and rigidly enforce the rules we adopt or amend or repeal such as we propose in the future."

The president asserted that "shoestring operators" constituted the "greatest hazard confronting the game" because they had no funds with which to operate.

"They play on civic pride of communities to raise funds through civic operations for training expenses," he said.

He asserted that such operators frequently stalled off players and creditors and fattened their own coffers, winding up with abandoning the franchise.

Of the Shaughnessy playoff plan, Bramham said: "It is not a test of real merit. I express grave doubt and personally a conviction that the so-called Shaughnessy plan is not a good thing for the game. I am convinced that the general good of the game will suffer greatly by adoption of the plan. It is commercializing the sport to a degree that must inevitably meet with popular disfavor."

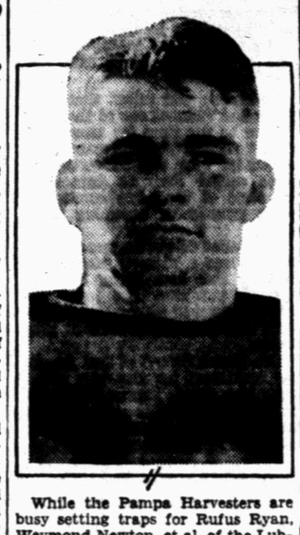

Frogs Polish Attack Aimed At Longhorns On Saturday

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15. (AP)—The T. C. U. Horned Frogs continued to polish their offense and also stressed their defense in today's workout.

The Frogs tried their defense against Texas formations and plays after working on their own offensive.

The Frogs will leave here early Friday morning for Austin and will work out on the field there in afternoon in preparation for Saturday's game with the University of Texas.

Hard To Hold

While the Pampa Harvesters are busy setting traps for Rufus Ryan, Weymond Newton, et al, of the Lubbock backfield, they might do well to consider some of the Westerner linemen. One of the hardest working men in the forward wall is James Hodges, who is due to start at right guard against the Harvesters Saturday. Hodges, pictured above, is looking better day by day as the club gets ready for the most important games of the season.

Trades Sweep Over Meeting

Buying And Trading Of Players Feature Opening Day Of Organized Baseball Meet At Galveston

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

GALVESTON, Nov. 15. — Trade winds swept from the gulf today set the keynote of the opening session of the thirty-second annual convention of the National Association of Professional baseball players. From the time President William G. Bramham of Durham, N. C., concluded reading his annual report until time for delegates to be honor guests at a local night club, trading of players, major and minor, occupied the attention of delegates.

Baltimore of the International league, Birmingham and Atlanta of the Southern, Dallas, Houston and Galveston of the Texas, Portland of the Pacific coast, the St. Louis Cardinals of the National, and Philadelphia of the National league were some of the clubs which broke loose today with various trades and purchases.

Trade Jimmy Wilson

Branch Rickey, vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals, started the trade wheel turning when he announced the trading of Catcher Jimmy Wilson to the Philadelphia Phillies for Catcher Virgil Davis and Infielder Edward Delker.

Rickey refused to say whether there was any money consideration but appeared to be elated over the deal. The Cardinals, through Manager Frankie Frisch, experienced some trouble with Wilson last season and he was sent home a week before conclusion of the season.

The Phillies made an attempt to bolster their outfield by giving some money and three "yet to be named" players to Portland for Henry Prince Oana, Hawaiian, who led the Pacific Coast league last season in total base hits and runs batted in. The Galveston Buccaneers of the Texas league got five for one when Keith Molesworth, shortstop, was traded to Baltimore for John Clabaugh, outfielder; Claude Linton, catcher; Harry Gumbert, pitcher; Glenn Leibhardt and Harold King, shortstops. Molesworth is now playing football with the Chicago Bears.

Sturdy To Baltimore

Guy Sturdy, first baseman and manager for Little Rock last season, was traded to Baltimore for Guy Cantrell, right hand pitcher.

The Dallas Steers got two for one in a no money deal when they traded Third Baseman Ernie Holman to Houston for Third Baseman Eddie Hock and Catcher Hal Funk. Bob Tarleton, vice-president of the Steers, is dickering for a first baseman to replace Zeke Bondura who has been sold to the Chicago White Sox.

Spencer Abbott, new manager of the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern association, announced the buying of Art Jacobs, southpaw pitcher who won 17 and lost 7 last year for Portland. Abbott managed Portland last season.

Giants Sell James

Abbott also announced the purchasing of Bernie James, second baseman, from the New York Giants. James was relief infielder last year for the world champions. He formerly played with the Boston Braves and later with the Dallas Steers of the Texas league. Abbott declined to announce the purchase price.

Baltimore traded Outfielder Buzz Arlett and Pitcher John Prudhomme to Birmingham for Woodley Abernathy, outfielder, and Catcher Bill Atwood.

Officials of the Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Seals conducted negotiations for the transfer of Augie Galan, hard hitting Frisco second baseman, to the Cubs, but the deal had not been closed at a late hour tonight.

Westerners In Cheerful Mind Over Prospect

Hope For Upset Sends Lubbock High Gridders Hustling In Workout; School Spirit Is Spreading Over Town

A confident squad of Westerners under the watchful eyes of Coaches Chapman and Huffman, are going on a straight diet of hard work and long practice sessions this week against their district classic Saturday with Pampa High school.

With student enthusiasm aflare over the game, a bonfire is due, barring another accident, to blaze Friday night and Lubbock fandom is invited. No special train has been chartered from Pampa but 500 ducats have been reserved for fans who plan to motor to Lubbock, and student, band and pep squad tickets will probably bring the Pampa ticket sale up to the 1,000 mark.

The powerful Reapers have already galloped to the favorite's post after razzle-dazzling the Golden Sandstorm last week, but the Westerner following, seeing their team rounding into shape, have high hopes of a surprise upset Saturday.

To Shoot The Works

"We will have to get double-tough if we take the Harvesters, playing like they did last week," said Coach Chapman. The Lubbock mentor also inferred that he plans to shoot the works, holding nothing back in spite of Amarillo scouts.

The Lubbock line may present a changed front this week. Injuries may keep several of the regulars out of the battle, and at any rate, is bound to handicap them. Wimberly, giant tackle, who performed so well against Plainview, is hobbling on an exceedingly sore leg. The fact that he is going about his regular duties in the practice sessions in a manner that suggests that he does not intend to smooth a bench Saturday was cheering to rail-birds. But in event he is not in shape, either Prather, Speer, or Robert Dowell will get the nod.

Dowell, reformed center, who has been out thus far with a leg broken during the summer, is showing some vicious tackling on the practice lot, and if his game leg does not slow him up too much will see a lot of service. The block-shouldered lad weighs 190 pounds.

Newton Is Ready

Weymond Newton, one of Chapman's trump cards in the secondary, will probably go into the game with nose-guard protecting his face. He suffered abuse at the hands of Plainview's Bulldogs coming out of a tangle of tacklers with a broken nose. In yesterday's workout he was intermittently gripping his bugle as though it pained him exceedingly but, otherwise, the injury seemed to have no effect on his game.

Yesterday's drill consisted for the most part of assignment work, with two teams running signals. A portion of the time was however given to a dummy scrimmage, the regulars committing to memory their assignments on various plays against Pampa. Chapman also had a group of the boys at one end of the lot kicking field goals—three points may make a lot of difference next Saturday.

Mustang Regular Guards May Be Lost For Rest Of Season

DALLAS, Nov. 15. (AP)—The Southern Methodist Mustangs likely will be without the services of both regular guards Saturday when they invade Shreveport for a non-conference battle with the Centenary college gentlemen.

Both Billy Stamps and J. C. (Ironman) Wetsel, regular starters, are suffering from injured knees. Wetsel was hurt in the Texas Aggie game Saturday. Stamps, already suffering from a knee injury, was sent into the Farmer fray and was hurt again.

Another injury cropped up on the squad today, Buster Raborn, husky reserve center, appearing at practice on crutches. The former El Dorado, Ark., all-state star, suffered an injury to his right foot Tuesday night. An x-ray today showed a broken bone. Club physicians said he would be incapacitated for at least two weeks.

BUSY AT MATADOR

MATADOR, (Special) — Highway improvement on No. 28 west of here will start before November 10 and Homer Sheats, county relief chairman, has asked for enrollment of 20 men to take care of labor needs on the work. There will be two 3-day shifts of 36 men each, worked. Only 55 had applied at the last report.

Matadors Will Miss 'Em Friday

Victims of injuries and influenza, two of Texas Tech's most important gridsters will be out of the lineup tomorrow afternoon when the Matadors meet Baylor university's Bears at Tech field. Leonard "Bear" Curfman was removed to a hospital yesterday for treatment after bowing to influenza's attack. Coaches and physicians see no hope for the big, plunging fullback's presence in the lineup. Raymond "Whacker" Barton, hand-playing center, has not been able to work out since the contest with Simmons last week in which he played a great game and sustained a leg injury. His injury may keep him out for the balance of the season.

Hill Country Gets Ready For Rush As Turkey And Deer Hunt Season Opens

Everybody Profits During Hunting Season Here

(NOTE: This is the first of two stories on hunting in Texas. The second will follow soon.

LLANO, Texas, Nov. 15. (AP)—Hundreds of Texas sportsmen will begin their annual invasion of the hill country woods when the deer and wild turkey season opens November 17.

S. S. Smith, local game warden, reports that most of the leases have been taken up in Llano county.

Some land owners make as much from their deer leases as from any of their other sources of income.

Hunters Must Prepare

Hunting is an industry from which every type of business derives some profit. Each hunter must have camping supplies, hunting equipment, gasoline, and the like. Hunters coming from a distance wait until they reach Llano, Mason, Fredericksburg, or Kerrville to buy their food and other supplies.

Barbershops, hotels, and restaurants, garages, bakeries, hardware, grocery, dry goods and drug stores have their fingers in the pie. For weeks preceding the big rush to the woods, business men in the hill country towns make preparations for the deer season and the accompanying inpetus in trade.

"It's the only busy time we have during the year," a local filling station operator stated.

Big Rush At First

The biggest rush is during the first few days of the season, after which activities subside somewhat until during the Christmas holidays. Many hunters go out merely to get their buck, or their limit, and then retire for the remainder of the season. Others hunt at various intervals during the six weeks, particularly those living in proximity of the deer country.

Land is leased either by the acre, the price being fixed by law not to exceed 25 cents, or by the day at a rate of $4.00 per day. It is thought that more land in Llano county is leased by the season than by the day. The condition varies in the different counties of this section.

Land Owners Profit

According to statistics compiled by the state game, fish and oyster commission, 209,879 acres were leased in Llano county last season. Figured at a conservative price of 12 1-2 cents per acre, land owners receive $26,234.88.

In other hill country counties the acreage leased in 1932 was as follows: Mason, 173,796; Gillespie, 209,319; Kerr, 292,738, and Comal, 145,697.

The report showed that 3,726 deer were killed in the five counties in 1932; 2,777 in 1931, and 2,780 in 1930.

The credit for the largest number of bucks killed in an individual county went to Mason in 1932, with a total of 1,292. The report in one county was incomplete because of failure of some parties to report their kill.

Harvesters Feel That Westerners Are Frightened

(NOTE: The following story is taken from the Pampa Daily News, and is re-printed here to give local readers an idea of the goings on at Pampa as the Harvesters prepare for the game here Saturday against the Lubbock High school Westerners.)

PAMPA, Nov. 15. — A frightened Lubbock High school football team started a week of intensive training yesterday afternoon in preparation for the invasion of the Pampa Harvesters Saturday afternoon. The game will be played at Texas Tech field, starting at 2:30 o'clock. However, the Westerners believe the dope favors them, that they will be hardpressed but will win.

The Westerners became convinced Saturday that the Harvesters are actually tough. In fact, the Lubbock boys found it out Friday afternoon when they defeated Plainview by only one touchdown, the same margin by which the Harvesters won over the Bulldogs.

Coach Weldon Chapman has one of the stars of the district in Rufus Ryan, halfback. Ryan passes and punts but it is his ball toting that is dangerous. He has made several of the longest runs by any player in the district this season. When past the line of scrimmage, Ryan is a scoring threat. Ryan and Quarterback Hale are the only two Westerners who played against the Harvesters last year.

Coach Odus Mitchell decided on a light week for his charges. He will stage a scrimmage at Harvester park tomorrow afternoon but otherwise there was little activity ordered for the Harvesters following their terrific battle Saturday afternoon. The boys came through the game in good condition.

Harold Gregory, star halfback and punter who was unable to take part in the game Saturday afternoon, will be ready for the Lubbock encounter. His ankle is healing nicely. Carl Smith came out of the big game without hurting his arm and Ray Eldridge's knee is O. K. again. He wore a special brace in the game.

The team will leave for Lubbock Friday. The boys and coaches will make the trip by bus and automobile. About 1,000 students and Pampa fans are expected to go to Lubbock for the game. Plans for a special train, however, have been abandoned.

The newly-created Lake of the Ozarks will provide good fishing all winter, the Missouri game department announced, because of the comparatively uniform temperature of the water.

Tech Squad Is Put Through A Light Workout

Injured And Sore Matadors Are Given Chance To Rest Before Meeting Baylor Tomorrow On Texas Tech Field

If rabid railbirds could have invaded the secret practice grounds of the Texas Tech Matadors yesterday, they would have been more than somewhat surprised, particularly if they had stolen a peek inside the grounds on Monday and Tuesday.

Because ordinary routine practice for any kind of a game usually is much tougher than yesterday's workout, or any workout this week. And Tech meets Baylor of the Southwest conference here tomorrow! It was one of the lightest workouts of the season. Some of the lads didn't even get warm.

"Need A Rest"

"It is not because we are taking the game with Baylor lightly," explained Coaches Cawthon and Smith, "because the lord knows we want to win that game, and we all know that it's going to be a mighty tough scrimmage. But our boys right now need more rest than hard practice. They came out of the Simmons game very tired and somewhat beaten up, although we're not fussing about that. We like to see 'em come off the field that way. Then we know they've 'put out.' But we're easing up on 'em this week."

The five men who played the entire game against Simmons—Martin, Hitchcock, Captain Baker, Davis and McWilliams—did not even put on uniforms Monday and Tuesday. They were not injured beyond recognition, but they were plenty tired and sore. Whacker Barton who played a whale of a game, has not suited out all week, and probably will not suit out tomorrow. Injuries he sustained in the game proved sufficient to remove him from gridiron activity for at least a week, possibly more. In his absence, Laurence Priddy and Elmer Fortner are being groomed for the pivot position.

Curfman Is Out

Leonard "Bear" Curfman, plunging fullback, passer and punter, also will be out of it tomorrow, and Yancy Price, alternate fullback, will be used in that capacity. Curfman is convalescing in a hospital after an attack of influenza.

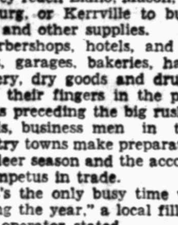

Signal practice, drill on the new "military" huddle and shift introduced last week, and light exercises comprised yesterday's workout.

Ticket sales are reported to be going fast, and only a few choice seats in the middle section remain unsold at the J. & J. Sporting goods store agency. The prices are $1.50 for grandstand reserved seats $1 for bleachers, these prices including tax.

The Golden Bears, who have gained prominence along the gridiron front by whipping the highly touted Texas Christian university Horned Frogs and the University of Texas Longhorns, will arrive in Lubbock Friday morning on a Santa Fe train. A reception, composed of students, townspeople and the Tech band, is planned. The train is scheduled to arrive here at 8:20 o'clock.

Dope is inclined to favor the Bears, and for the first time in a long time, the Matadors go into the game tomorrow as underdogs. Outweighed about 15 pounds to the man, the Matadors will depend upon strategy and possibly an overhead attack to score aginst Baylor. The Bruin line is reported to average 200 pounds.

Beaten, 14 to 2, last year, the Bears are back in Lubbock to avenge that defeat as well as to increase their prestige in the eyes of Southwest conference teams and fans. The victory over Texas put the Grizzlies back in the running for the title, they having won tow and lost two games.

Many Loans In Area Are Paid

Thirty-Five Per Cent Of The Crop Production Loans Made By Federal Government Paid By Texas Farmers

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15 (AP) — Thirty-five per cent of the loans made by the regional agricultural credit corporation in Texas have been repaid, A. E. Thomas, vice-president and general manager, announced today.

There have been 14,297 loans aggregating $16,774,229 disbursed and 5,291 of these loans amounting to $5,982,778 have been repaid. These figures are of October 31.

These records are for the Fort Worth office and the branches at San Angelo and Houston.

Figures for individual offices are as follows: Fort Worth 6,702 loans aggregating $4,201,727 made, with 2,051 loans totalling $1,245,530 paid; Houston, 6,012 loans aggregating $4,329,025 made, with 2,833 loans amounting to $2,227,684 paid; San Angelo, 1,583 loans aggregating $7,743,467 made with 407 loans totalling $2,509,564 paid.

Hearing Is Broken Up As Man Accused As Anarchist

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP) — A statement by Representative Focht (R., Pa.), that he regarded Clarence Hathaway, of New York, editor of the Daily Worker, as an anarchist, today broke up the public hearings of the house immigration committee into alleged nazi propaganda in this country.

The crowded committee room was in a momentary uproar after the Pennsylvanian's charge.

Hathaway, lone witness of the session, had just testified that he was a communist and opposed to present capitalistic form of government in the United States. Some of the people cheered Focht's assertion and others booed and hissed.

The special detail of police immediately restored order as Chairman Dickstein (D., N. Y.), pounded the gavel for silence.

Firemen Friends Of Young Accident Victim Carry His Body To A Grave

Firemen whom 8-year-old Robert Eugene Adams admired so much that he wavered between being a fireman, a detective, or a cartoonist yesterday afternoon carried his battered body to its last resting place in Littlefield cemetery.

Four of Robert's cronies at fire station No. 2, near his home, were pallbearers, and they wore, at the request of the boy's father, S. L. Adams, their dark blue uniforms.

Services Are Held

Last rites for the boy, who died under a truck here Tuesday on his way to Dupre school, where he was in the third grade, were read at 2 p. m. Wednesday at Broadway Church of Christ. Liff Sanders, a minister of that faith, officiated. Burial was at Littlefield, where the Adamses lived until coming here last year. Stahler Funeral home directed burial.

Capt. Guy Casey, who, with three other firemen, Mark Long, Floyd Martin, and Truett Cranford, was a pallbearer, talked yesterday of the little Adams boy, who called the firemen by their first names, drew pictures for them, and played with the captain's own 7-year-old twin sons.

At fire station No. 2, men in service there still had some of the boy's drawings, of Popeye, the funny, tough old man of the comic strip; of firemen wearing big helmets, of fire engines swerving around corners, of football players kicking balls, and of whatever else took young Robert's fancy. Robert was an excellent artist and careful of his speech, said Captain Casey.

And Captain Casey and the other firemen knew Robert well, for he often played at the station in the summer-time, and was nearly a member of the department.

"I never heard him say a bad word in all that time," Captain Casey reflected.

A wreath from fire station No. 2 was beside Robert's casket at the funeral home long before time for the services.

The Adamses live at 2123 Eighteenth street. About 12:30 p. m. Tuesday, the boy was returning to school. As he raced across a street, his legs could not carry him fast enough. A truck, swerving sharply, brakes crying, struck him. One of its rear dual wheels crushed his head and right arm.

Driver Is Released

Carl E. McCarty, 22, driver of the truck, whom witnesses agreed "did all he could" to avert the fatal accident, at Nineteenth street and Avenue U, was released to go to his home 2 1-2 miles north of Lubbock after making a signed statement to County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson.

According to the government of British India, 24,000 persons were killed by wild animals there in 1927; snakebite was responsible for the deaths of 19,069.

Ship Disabled In Bad Storm

Several Steaming To Rescue Little British Steamer As Crew Of 27 Men Take Off In Lifeboats

VALENTIA, Ireland, Nov. 15 (AP)—Ships steamed today from all directions to assist the little British freighter Saxilby, whose crew of 27 men had taken to lifeboats after waging a losing battle against a storm 300 miles off the Irish coast.

Leading the rescue efforts was the great liner Berengaria, regarded as one of the most important factors in the sea battle for life.

Hearing the distress call from the little cargo ship, she changed her course and rushed at a speed of 20 knots toward the last reported position of the Saxilby.

The Dutch steamer, Boschdyk, also in the vicinity, turned from her course to search for the disabled freighter and her crew.

The American steamer Westeldara, which had been hove to for safety in the storm 70 miles away, sent word she too had got under way and was struggling through the smashing seas at four knots in search for the Saxilby.

Nearer the Saxilby, but unable to aid, is another British freighter, the S. S. St. Quentin with her steering gear disabled. Her crew was working frantically to repair the damage but she asked some other ship to stand by until she could make repairs.

Some 498 aviators were killed in the American Expeditionary Forces in France; 234 of these were deaths by battle and 264 death by accident.

Boys And Girls Of This Age Need Very Much To Brush Up On Manners

NEW YORK, ov. 15. (AP)—The boys and girls of this day and age need—according to a survey announced today—to brush up on their manners.

The survey, made by Dr. Ruth Strang of Columbia university, Dr. Marion A. Brown of the University of California High school, and Dr. Dorothy C. Stratton of San Bernardino High school, questioned 4,114 boys and girls, and concluded from the answers received that too many of them are lacking in "the fundamental principles of courtesy and social usage."

The questions sought to determine such things as whether the boys and girls rest their elbows on the table, butter a whole slice of bread before eating it, talk about operations at the dinner table, and blow on their hot soup.

Expert Declares Modern Life Uses Eyes As They Were Never Intended

Dr. A. M. Skeffington of Chicago, who is conducting a three-day clinic for optometrists of West Texas and eastern New Mexico, yesterday declared that modern life uses eyes as they were never intended to be used. The resulting fatigue, he said, is the cause of all ocular discomfort.

"Man does not see with his eyes," Doctor Skeffington declared. "He sees with his conscious, thinking mind. Any interference in these higher nervous centers makes visual absorption impossible.

"The child in school who is in danger is not the child who does not see well. That can be easily detected. The unfortunate child is the one who sees well but is visually unadapted and whose whole problem is misunderstood."

To Address Clubs

The clinic is being conducted at Lubbock hotel. While here, Doctor Skeffington will address civic and college organizations.

Out-of-town optometrists attending are Dr. T. M. Montgomery of Amarillo, chairman of this district's optometric association, who directed clinic arrangements: Dr. Paul Owens, Pampa; Dr. R. J. Benson, Amarillo; Dr. F. M. Kester, Hereford; Dr. C. A. Staehlin, Clayton, N. M.; Dr. C. E. Worrell, Clovis; Dr. Wilbert Peterson, Plainview; Dr. Dick Wilson, Fort Worth; Dr. Bill Phillips, Fort Worth; Dr. Wade Hampton, El Paso; Dr. C. M. Clough, Plainview; Dr. Joe Herrington, Lamesa; Dr. L. N. Pittman, Amarillo, and Dr. H. G. Towle, Snyder.

Why Get Up Nights

Drink lots of water and milk. Not much tea or coffee. Eat plenty of fruit and non-starchy vegetables. Not much meat and starches. Use a bladder laxative to drive out the impurities and excess acids which cause the irritation that wakes you up. Take juniper oil, buchu leaves, etc., called BU-KETS (5 gr. tablets) the bladder laxative. 25c at all druggists. Works on bladder similar to castor oil on bowels. After four days if not satisfied, go back and get your money. If you are bothered, frequent desire, burning, getting up nights, you are bound to feel better after this cleansing. Sold by Bowen's Drug Store.

Case Of C. C. Tunnell Goes To Dalhart Jury Wednesday

DALHART, Nov. 15. (AP)—The case of C. C. Tunnell, charged with the murder of M. A. Edgerly, went to the jury here about 6 o'clock this evening.

Only two witnesses took the stand this morning with arguments of counsel consuming the afternoon.

Edgerly was slain in the Tunnell farm home, eight miles west of here, on the morning of May 30, 1932, Tunnell charging Edgerly had had improper relations with Mrs. Tunnell.

TO RETURN HOME

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 15. (AP)—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, famed prima donna, who has been in a local hospital since Nov. 6, will not be operated on for appendicitis at the present time and probably will return to her Coronado home this week-end, it was learned today.

General Wolfe was only 32 years old at the capture of Quebec; Wellington was 46 at Waterloo and Blucher was 73 at Waterloo.

Just Blame The Weather!

BELIEVE it, or not, you citizens of Lubbock and the South Plains but it is neither heredity nor environment that makes criminals.

It's the weather!

This is the profound discovery made by science as represented in Dr. C. A. Mills, professor of experimental medicine at the University of Cincinnati.

It was not very long ago that Professor Mills proclaimed a theory that business depressions also were due to the weather. Maybe all our ills, including flat feet, eventually will be traced to that source.

How the weather makes criminals was explained by the professor as being in the creation of an oversupply of human energy. The latter results from sudden and rapid changes in the weather, he said. This surplus of energy must find some outlet. Crime supplies an inviting opening.

If his theory be correct, the crime problem has been reduced to a simple form, the answer to which lies in reforming the weather instead of the criminal.

Now let the federal government turn its attention to this task and promulgate a code for regulation of the weather. Incidentally, it might draft Professor Mills and place him in charge of this piece of NRA work!

BIG, BAD NURSERY RHYMES

Several times during its sixteen years in power in Russia the Soviet has been forced to execute embarrassing about-faces, and when Moscow solemnly prescribed all fairy tales and nursery rhymes exalting kings and queens, princes and princesses it was quickly predicted by the knowing that another about-face was in the offing. It has come.

It was natural for the communists leaders and propogandists to discover in these harmless fantasies a harsh menace and subtle monarchical propaganda. They could see Russian youth growing up with dreaming about royalty rather than hating it, so determined to stamp out this menace to sovietism.

While Moscow has been forced to make a concession, one suspects the announcement that "circulation of some of the classics of children's literature will be permitted" is with very extensive limitations. The child probably will look in vain in the new Russian editions of Mother Goose and Grimm's Fairy Tales for Old King Cole, the merry old soul, and his cronies; for the queen sitting in the kitchen eating bread and honey like a commoner; for the black-bird pie fit for a king and for the beautiful princess and the brave prince.

Russian childhood will have read to it the rhymes about the King of France who marched up a hill with 20,000 men and marched down again, about the king's horses and the king's men who couldn't put Humpty-Dumpty together again, about the King of Clubs who drubs his wife, and the wicked Baron Bluebird.

Sometimes one wonders if the Russian peasant doesn't still have a soft spot in his heart for the czar and the nobility, so fearful is Moscow of anything remotely suggesting the old order. People who hate their former rulers should be reminded of that hate as often as possible, it seems to the free-thinking American.

Sure, stocks are a bargain. But you'll have to sell them later to get the profit and then the government will take most of it.

Some people seem to think the world is a menace to civilization and should be destroyed at once.

Shaw says he is another Shakespeare, but somehow we can't think of Shakespeare as another Shaw.

One half the world doesn't know how the other half lives beyond its income.

No, smelling salts are not sailors with halitosis and B. O.

The week's best squelch! You're the wrong answer to every question.

Among the influences that would prevent overpopulation is justice.

SETTING SUNS

"Her sun is gone down while it was yet day." Jeremiah, 15:9.

That is the story of many of us. We place our faith, our love, our confidence in some one person or some one thing and before the darkness of the night has engulfed us our own sun has gone beyond the West. All that is left is the blackness. The night seems long and weary.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

BACK of President Roosevelt's creation of the Civil Works administration were two smart pieces of politics.

The first was plain. Public Works administration, under the relentless anti-pork barrel scrutiny of Harold Ickes, hadn't produced enough immediate jobs to keep the unemployed home fires burning this winter.

So it became necessary to make snowballing a pleasure the next three months and CWA (are there no end to these initials?) was the answer.

This introduced Harry Hopkins, aged 43, in still another role. In addition to being Federal Emergency Relief administration and all those other things he is now taking $400,000,000 of Public Works money into his own hands for the herculean task of putting 4,000,000 men into life-sustaining jobs by December 15.

That will make him the greatest single employer of labor in the world for the time being. Two million were scheduled back to work by yesterday. You have followed his daily progress in the news columns.

Don't underestimate Hopkins' ability to attain the December 15 high-water mark. He has delivered the goods in the past without blowing of bugles.

FIXTURES: The secondary strategy of the Administration reaches deep.

The money the government and the states, counties and municipalities will put up for this newest card from the New Deal is to keep several million men employed for three months at from $50 to $60 a month. By the time this emergency payroll fund runs out, Congress will have been well in session.

Can you imagine very many of your public servants on Capitol Hill voting against an appropriation to keep these men on the payrolls?

As for ultimate attainment of the 4,000,000 goal by December 15, there might possibly be just one small joker.

The Post Office department is getting ready for the annual Christmas rush. Many thousands find temporary employment during the holidays. It is suspected these men and women may be added into the total. Inquiry at the postoffice as to how many were so hired last year elicited the surprising answer it "has been agreed not to make the 1932 figures public, but this year's will be available later."

Half a million employed for the better part of a month at about 55 cents an hour would be a most conservative estimate.

STAMPS: Commissar Maxim Litvinoff was dining at the White House for the first time. The whole world awaited breathlessly the flash of American recognition of Russia.

Ranged down the table in the order named were President Roosevelt, Litvinoff, Secretary of Interior Ickes and M. Umansky, chief of the Soviet Press Bureau.

And while the wires palpitated for first word of the momentous decision, these four gentlemen animatedly discussed their stamp collections!

JOHNSON: Take this one from General Johnson's barber:

"Would you like an NRA haircut, General?"

"Certainly!"

"So I just trimmed it."

NOTES: In deliberately creating jobs not especially essential the Roosevelt administration is taking a page—not new—from the book of Herr Hitler—Instead of having signs, flags and lanterns to warn traffic that the street is being torn up the German chancellor puts a couple of his Nazis on the job—When numerous newspapers jumped the gun last Friday and headlined that day's conference between Mr. Roosevelt and Litvinoff as the "crucial" one they were sort of premature—They had forgotten there must have been some reason why we didn't recognize Russia for 16 years—One of these is a 100-page volume of Kerensky claims which has to be gone over individually by the repsective experts—Don't look for speed in reaching agreements nor important effect on our problems when agreements are reached.

NEW YORK

THE latest Cuban outburst harks back to the comic opera pattern but has dark implications for your Uncle Sam.

Advertising the revolt as designed to restore Cespedes to power was smart stage management. That wasn't the object at all. But Cubans have been freely informed that Cespedes is the choice of the United States. That makes a meaningless uprising look like a sinister Yankee plot and strengthens San Martin's hand while whetting anti-American sentiment.

The episode also enables San Martin to yell more lustily for recognition. We said we would recognize him if he could maintain order. He has suppressed a "revolution," hasn't he? What more do we want?

Don't be surprised if we are accused of "moral intervention" at the Pan-American conference because we have refused recognition to date. An effort will be made to build it into a topic for heated Latin oratory. The Mexicans can be counted on to help.

That angle may bring into the picture Dr. Mario Garcia Kohly—scholar, author, diplomat.

Exiled to Mexico when the war for Cuban Independence began, he was successful as lawyer, writer for leading Mexican newspapers, secretary of both Cuban revolutionary clubs in Mexico City. Afterwards he progressed brilliantly through Havana municipal and Cuban national affairs to become Ambassador to Spain. His books brought him high decorations from the French and Spanish Governments.

When the Cespedes smoke clears away Dr. Kohly—57, one daughter—is most likely to be disclosed as the one intellectual acceptable to all the chief Cuban factions.

LIQUIDATION: Banks with security affiliates to dissolve are being named by brokerage interests as the villains who have prevented any showing by the stock market of sustained pep.

Liquidation of affiliates has been handled very quietly and there has been no wholesale dumping. But naturally the banks have taken advantage of rises which served in a thin market to smack those rises on the head. Most of this liquidation has now been completed and traders are simmering with hope that the market will again begin to go places.

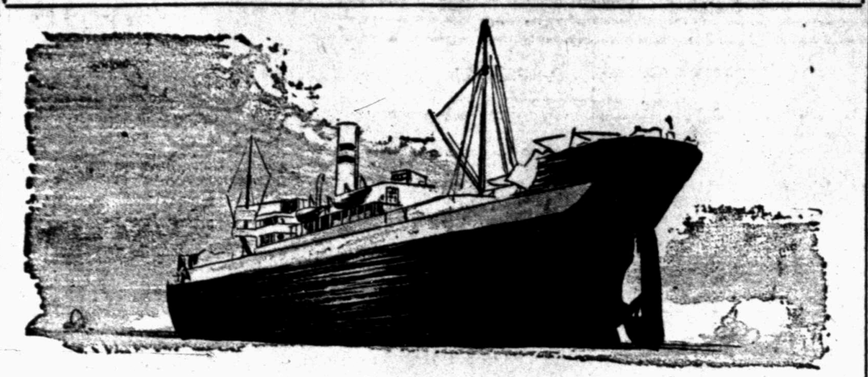

POOLS: Some of the pool boys are once more testing the speculative waters with a timid toe. Exchange members are laying off but the appetite for profit of outside traders is beginning to overcome their fear of what Washington will do to them.

SECURITIES: Sentiment is growing in investment banking circles that Professor Felix Frankfurter has Machiavelli skinned forty ways.

Until recently most of them thought that the severity of the Securities act (which he wrote) was simply due to misguided zeal. They felt their business was badly crippled but hoped for a break when that fact became sufficiently apparent.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JOAN WARING, pretty Memphis girl, and BOB WESTON, son of a millionaire, meet in Memphis and fall in love. They become estranged through the scheming of BARBARA COURTNEY, who is trying to win Bob for herself.

Joan goes to New York to search for Pat, her sister, who has run away after an unhappy love affair. Joan is hired as a masked singer at a night club. Believing Bob is lost to her, John becomes engaged to BARNEY BLAKE, owner of the night club.

Pat reappears and becomes Barney's secretary. It is not long before he realizes he loves Pat instead of Joan. Joan sings at a private fashionable entertainment and discovers she is in Bob's home. Bob recognizes her voice. Because of her agitation, Joan leaves before her final encore.

Bob follows in his car. He goes to the night club and asks Barney for Joan's address. Barney refuses to give it to him. Angered, Bob leaves. He returns to plead his cause again and learns Barney has gone home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXI

BOB opened the telephone directory and ran his eye through the list of Blakes. There it was—"Barney H. Blake." No, it was "Mrs. Barney H. Blake." Queer! From what Barbara had said he had supposed Blake was a bachelor.

Well, it was no matter. The address must be right because it was the only "Barney Blake" in the directory.

It was a rather grim-looking young man who piloted the gray roadster through traffic to the Park Avenue address. Bob was driving as rapidly as possible, at the same time remembering that untimely arguments with traffic officers would only retard his progress.

He was elated, almost gay when he halted before the apartment building. A few moments more and he would be on his way to Joan! A few moments more—!

In the lobby a sleepy clerk gave him the number. Bob decided he would not risk ringing and perhaps hearing a polite refusal. He caught the elevator to the fifth floor.

Joan heard the knock on the door. She had changed to a simple short-sleeved house frock. The costume she had worn on the stage—and during that hasty drive home—lay where she had dropped it on the bed. Her slippers were on the floor where she had kicked them. A forlorn Cinderella had returned from the ball.

Realizing sleep was impossible, Joan had decided to unpack a miscellaneous assortment of boxes that cluttered the room. After a while she gave up the task, letting her thoughts drift as they would. She sat at the window and looked out. She had been in Bob's home, a beautiful home mellowed by years, over which the gracious presence of his ancestors seemed to brood. She had climbed the stairs he must have mounted hundreds of times. She had seen him, too, been so near that she could note the changing expressions on his face. She had sung to him.

Wrapped in her thoughts, Joan scarcely heeded the knocking at the living room door until it became insistent. It was Barney probably. He had been worried by her nervousness, disturbed because she could give no explanation of her strange manner.

Joan rose and opened the door. For a moment there was silence. Joan saw a light leap into Bob's eyes and then die suddenly. He stared blankly at her.

"Come in, Bob." Such a trite way to greet him when there was such rapture in her heart.

He came into the room, shutting the door behind him.

"You found me," said Joan unsteadily.

"Yes," said Bob. His voice was hoarse. "I wish to God I hadn't!" He was still standing, staring at her with dark concentration. Joan thought he looked drunk. Yet she was sure he had not been drinking. He looked ill. Something was certainly wrong.

"What's the matter, Bob?" she asked gently.

He did not answer. He caught her by the wrists, held her away from him while he studied her face. Suddenly he laughed and pulled her into his arms.

Between fierce kisses on her lips Joan was whispering, "It's been so long. I couldn't bear it. Bob! Do you really love me?"

Without answering he flung her from him violently. "Now go back to him!" he said hoarsely.

He was gone then, running down the stairs. Joan stood where he had left her, amazed, bewildered.

What had Bob meant? He had discovered that she was the masked singer. Perhaps he had heard that Barney was in love with her. Maybe their marriage plans had leaked out.

Their marriage plans! Still shaken by the memory of Bob's kisses only one thought remained clear to her. She could not marry Barney now that she knew Bob loved her. Bob had been swept by some terrible emotion. Jealousy or rage. Nevertheless he loved her.

That thought was singing through her agitation, a winged shaft of light through the dark unhappiness that had enveloped her for so long. She must tell Barney in the morning. No, she must tell him tonight. She had been planning to cheat Barney and herself. Now, whatever came—even if she never saw Bob again—she could not marry Barney.

She called the number and after a long moment heard his voice; "Yes, Joan, what is it? Are you ill?"

"Barney, something's happened. Can you come—?"

She heard the click of the telephone which meant she knew, that Barney would be on his way. Dear, dependable Barney! He was like the rock of Gibraltar, a bulwark

AUSTIN, Nov. 15 (AP) — Texas rail lines are not waiting for business to come to them. They are going after it in a big way.

The railroads figuratively have lifted themselves by their bootstraps from a long period of steadily declining net revenues, and are definitely on the upgrade. For the first eight months of 1933, they showed an increase in net operating revenues of approximately 85 per cent.

To the average citizen this figure looms large. But it isn't much in the light of the long uphill pull of the railroads back to normal. They had been on the down grade so long that they still have much ground to cover before they get anywhere near the earnings of this prosperous era.

The most recent effort of the rail lines to get back much of their traffic was a reduction in passenger rates.

The one-way coach fare was reduced from 3.6 cents per mile to two cents. One-way fares, good on all classes of equipment, was lowered from 3.6 to three cents per mile. The surcharge for sleeper and parlar cars—50 per cent of the regular pullman charge—was abolished.

Special round-trip and stop-over ticket arrangements were made in the hope of enticing week-enders and others from competing transportion agencies to the rails.

The cuts were made voluntarily and were approved by the Texas railroad commission.

Railroads also have advantage of two other avenues to improve their condition. One is increased advertising of their facilities. The second is reduction of operating costs under a law passed by the legislature giving the lines permission to reduce branch line service to traffic requirements.

Experiments also are being conducted by the roads in new transportation facilities with the double objective of reducing expenses and making travel faster and more comfortable.

Relief Plans Are Outlined

Roosevelt Declares Politics Will Play No Part In Work; Relief Of Human Beings Is Sole Aim Of Drive

administration, with which the civil works division is coupled, explained in more detail the plans for various states at luncheon conferences. Hopkins urged haste in getting under way the projects, all of which he said were to use a maximum of day labor. Ickes called the plan one that would tide the nation over the winter until the public works program, held up by necessary technical work, could get under way.

Hopkins, too, stressed that politics were to be banned.

"It is unthinkable," he said, after outlining the general policy "that anyone would think of using any of this money for political purposes or for private or personal gain.

Haste Is Necessary

"Haste is necessary if we are going to put 4,000,000 men to work immediately. The state civil works administrations will be federal agents. They will take the oath as federal officials. They will have full authority to approve projects.

"We intend to completely decentralize the civil works administration and put the responsibility entirely on the state civil works administration. Funds will be made available immediately and there will be a federal disbursing officer in each state."

Large building projects such as bridges and public structures will not be undertaken, Hopkins said. These require too much time to get under way and really come under the public works act, he added. The work would be largely confined to lesser city and state projects.

Local Help Asked

Cities and counties were called upon to put up some of the money to be spent. Where this is not possible, Hopkins said, the federal money should all be allotted for civil works projects and the city and county money used for direct relief, taking over as much as possible of the work of providing for the 1,-000,000 families that still will be on the relief rolls.

Minimum wages were set at 40 cents an hour for common labor and $1.00 for skilled labor in the southern zone which includes Louisiana, Arizona, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico.

Officials said that beginning tomorrow the first 2,000,000 men to go onto these projects would be transferred to the full 30 hour basis, the complete transfer to take place within the next three or four days. These are men now working a few hours a week to obtain money and food for their families.

Immediately afterward, the plans call for hiring 2,000,000 more men through the United States employment service. These would be men without jobs but not on relief rolls.

Hopkins urged that in considering projects attention be given to providing jobs for engineers, and other skilled workers and for women.

Traffic Control

Wilson, after investigating the Adams' death at Nineteenth street and Avenue U, declared that "whatever it takes to eliminate this hazard (in the vicinity of the schools) ought to be done irrespective of cost."

The American Business club resolution is presented in full:

"Now whereas the American Business club, as such club, and the members of the club as individual citizens of the city of Lubbock, desire that our city be a safe place as well as a happy and prosperous place to live, and rear our families.

'And whereas there have been numerous accidents, caused by motor vehicles, on the streets of Lubbock, resulting in injuries and death. And more particularly because such an accident on November 14, 1933, resulted in the death of Robert Adams, an 8-year-old school child, near the public school grounds.

"Now be it resolved that some drastic measures be instituted to control the motor traffic on our city streets, in order to promote and assure safer and more careful driving. Further that some special measures be taken in the neighborhood of our public schools, and where school children cross the streets in numbers, to regulate and assure careful and safe driving, as well as regulating and supervising the time and place such children should cross the streets.

"Be it further resolved that this resolution is not submitted in criticism nor condemnation of the citizens of Lubbock, nor any individual, nor of the enforcement officers. But respectfully submitted for your gracious consideration for the future welfare and safety of the public, and especially our children."

Razorbacks Look Promising In Scrimmage With Freshmen

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 15. (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks looked well in scrimmage today against the frosh, especially on the offense.

Harriss, diminutive quarterback, was running the team in the absence of Murphy, first string signal caller injured in last Saturday's encounter with Rice.

Another first team player on the injured list was Criswell, fullback, who has a bruised hip. Corotto, replacing Criswell, took over the team's punting, which Murphy usually handles.

The Razorbacks are getting set for their game in the immediate future with the University of Texas Longhorns, but are also making preparation for meeting Hendrix college Saturday.

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (AP)—Speculative markets again failed to be drawn higher by dollar weakness today. Some staples were fairly firm but wheat regred a couple of cents a bushel and cotton was a narrow mover. Stocks for the second day in a row closed mildly lower, while U. S. government bonds as well as other gilt-edgers suffered further losses. Silver gyrated wildly.

The U. S. F. C. left its gold purchasing price unchanged at $33.86 an ounce, thus permitting the inference that Washington had sought to brake the dollar's decline. However, foreign currencies rallied vigorously, which meant another set of new highs. On the French franc measuring stick, American money, at the franc's high, had a gold value of less than 60 cents. Sterling crossed $5.40, but still there were no indications that London was ready to intervene.

Traders showed a strong preference for the sidelines. Strength of foreign bonds plainly signalled the trend of the times and of capital, just as did softness of our own federal securities and other sections of the investment market. Those who had been waiting for Secretary Woodin's explanation of monetary policy learned that they were to be disappointed, inasmuch as it was said the treasury head was going on his leave of absence without making the expected statement. Nevertheless, it was again indicated at the capital that no change in monetary policy was contemplated.

Stocks shifted narrowly throughout the day, with the trend slightly favoring the offside. Few of the losses exceeded a point, though in this group were several prominent rails.

Metals sagged, but oils improved. Sales totaled 1,383,480 shares.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15. (AP) — Cotton fluctuated narrowly today and prices developed no special trend. An early advance met selling induced by weakness in other markets and prices eased 11 points but recovered 6 points at the end. The close was steady at net advances of 1 to 3 points. Trading was fairly active.

The opening was firmer and 6 to 8 points up owing to an advance in sterling to 4.38 1-2, Liverpool was a shade lower than due. Private cables stated that hedge selling in Liverpool was offset by buying by Bombay and the trade, but there was continental selling attributed to switching from American markets in consequence of high sterling exchange.

There was a moderate rally in the late trading in sympathy with a final improvement in stocks and December closed at 9.99 up 3 points net for the day and March closed at 10.23 up 1 point net.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow unchanged.

Port receipts 23,348, for week 185,411, for season 4,106,186, last season 3,888,477. Exports 36,376, for week 106,507, for season 2,844,190, last season 2,506,006. Port stock 4,023,738, last year 4,541,197. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 179,801, last year 151,048. Spot sales at southern markets 5,621, last year 35,257.

Livestock

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 15. (AP)—Cattle trading today was extremely slow with light steers and yearlings scaling around 900 lbs. and below being the only class to receive satisfactory auction at about steady prices.

Fed heifers, mixed yearlings and yearling steers ranged around 5.50@6.50; medium weight and heavy steers 4.00@5.00, strictly choice 1330 lbs. beeves in Chicago at 5.90.

Accumulated receipts for the week at ten markets numbered 189,700 against 164,317 last week and 149,610 a year ago.

A few choice hogs in Chicago sold up to 4.60, at other markets top prices ranged downward to 4.10.

Better grades wooled lambs brought 6.40 @6.85; a few choice lots 7.00@7.15 in Chicago; shorn lambs of better grades, 5.75 @6.00.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15. (AP)—Hogs 500 including 91 direct; top 4.40; truck hogs mostly 4.35@4.40; packing sows 3.25@3.50.

Cattle 1,200; calves 1,000; slaughter steers mostly 2.50@3.35; fed yearlings up to 5.00; good fat cows 2.50@2.75; mixed stock steer and heifer calves 3.25; slaughter calves 3.00@3.25.

Sheep 600; fresh shorn lambs 5.00@5.25; lower grade yearlings and 2-year-olds wethers 2.00, aged shorn wethers 1.25@1.50.

Advance estimates Nov. 16: cattle 1,800; hogs 600; sheep 1,200.

Grains

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15. (AP)—Fair demand continued Wednesday for the light offerings on the Fort Worth cash grain market.

Prices ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to destination: delivered Texas Gulf ports export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat No. 1 hard 57@58; No. 2 nominally 56@60; No. 3 nominally 55@59. Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally 1.00@1.03; No. 3 milo nominally 97@1.00; No. 1 kaffir nominally 85@87; No. 2 kaffir nominally 83@84.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: corn No. 2 mixed 61 1-2@62 1-2; No. 3 white 63@64; No. 3 yellow 62@63. Oats No. 2 red 45@46; No. 3 red 44@45.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 15. (AP)—Shaken by uncertain monetary prospects, grain values underwent decided tumbles today.

Lowest prices of the day in wheat were reached shortly before trading ended with general lack of confidence shown on the part of speculative buyers, and with the market largely ignoring the gyrations of British exchange rates. A late disconcerting factor was announcement that a cargo of spring wheat had been loaded at Duluth for shipment to Chicago and that durum wheat from Canada was being bought for import to Minneapolis.

Wheat closed nervous 1 7-8 to 2 3-8 cents under yesterday's finish, corn 1 3-8 to 1 3-4 down, oats 1 1-4 to 1 1-2 off, and provisions varying from 17 cents decline to 7 cents advance.

Wearing Stolen Hat

When arrested, Garcia was wearing a hat stolen from B. E. Clark at Slaton and a watch stolen from Rev. W. M. Turner, a Slaton minister, Reed and Ward said. He said he had sold an overcoat stolen at the Herman Surratt home to a Lubbock Mexican. The Lubbock county sheriff's department recovered the coat. He also told of hiding a $193 automatic shotgun in a partially burned residence at Slaton. The gun, owned by Jim Vaughn, already had been discovered by playing children.

Two other men, indicted today, were tried, District Attorney G. H. Nelson said. Jack Haven received a two-year sentence for burglary of the Santa Fe freight depot here, and Roy Duckworth received a five-year sentence, suspended, for liquor law violation.

The district attorney said he did not know, at the time of Garcia's trial, that the man was wanted in Lubbock county.

Our farm population, though less than 30 per cent of the total, includes more than 35 per cent of the child population.

Growing Favor For New Air Cooled Electrolux Gas Refrigerator Makes An Enlargement Of Plant Necessary

Enlargement of the plant where the new Air Cooled Electrolux gas the new Air Cooled Electrolux because of their growing popularity with the housewives of America was announced today by B. Sherrod of the Sherrod Bros. Hardware Company, Electrolux distributor for Lubbock and the South Plains.

The changes in the Electrolux plant at Evansville, Indiana, include the building of several new small structures and extensive alterations in plant equipment to meet the large output provided for in the company's 1934 expansion program which is under NRA rules, Mr. Sherrod explained.

Quoting from a statement sent out by Mr. F. E. Sellman, vice-president of Electrolux Refrigerator Sales, Inc., from the company's eastern headquarters, 51 East 42nd Street, New York City, Mr. Sherrod said:

"Plans for the extension and alterations in the company's plant are now under way and we will start to make the changes early in November, and we hope to complete them by the middle of December.

"Under the new arrangements, the company will probably employ more people in 1934 than in previous years.

"The plans do not provide for the construction of new large structures, but several small buildings will be added to the plan. In many of the departments where the Air Cooled gas refrigerators are manufactured, the changes will be extensive, however. The management has great confidence in its products and is going forward in investing considerable money in additional plant equipment.

"Departments that are not affected by alterations or extensions will begin operations early in November, following inventory taking, but in those departments where extensive changes are planned, actual productive operations will be delayed until reconstruction work is completed.—Adv.

Isador Kresel Is Convicted

Renowned Criminal Lawyer Is Pronounced Guilty In Collapse Of Bank; Is Third To Be Held Responsible

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (AP)—Isador J. Kresel, renowned criminal lawyer, was convicted today on charges growing out of the collapse of the break of the United States.

The diminutive Kresel, director and counsel to the bank, was the third man to be pronounced guilty of aiding in misapplication of funds. Bernard K. Marcus, former president, and Saul Singer, former vice president, are serving terms in Sing Sing prison.

Faces Long Term

The attorney was convicted by a supreme court jury of aiding and abetting in the misapplication of $2,009,518 of the funds of an affiliate of the institution.

Kresel, whose intimate knowledge of the law has whisked many a defendant from the shadows of the prison, faces a maximum term of seven years imprisonment—his brilliant and colorful career as a lawyer ended if his conviction is upheld by the appelate courts.

Without emotion Kresel heard the jury declare him guilty—a jury that had listened to former Governor Alfred E. Smith, Samuel Seabury and others testify to his good character. John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee in 1924, had headed his staff of defense counsel.

Allowed Liberty

Kresel, who in 1930 crusaded with Seabury against corruption in the magistrate's courts, was allowed his liberty on $100,000 bail, pending appeal.

Kresel contended he had not been informed about the transaction on which his indictment was based.

Kresel was acquitted 18 months ago on a charge of perjury.

automobile wreck. Only yesterday a bird flew through his windshield at Bunnell, Fla., and flying glass inflicted wounds which required medical attention.

Policeman Q. A. Nettles, who investigated today's wreck, said indications were Vanderbilt's machine was traveling in the neighborhood of 75 miles an hour when the crash occurred.

He said there was no indication that A. B. Stavley, New Jersey produce dealer and driver of the parked truck, contributed to the mishap. Stavley was uninjured and the truck only slightly damaged.

In addition to his parents, Vanderbilt is survived by two sisters—Mrs. Henry Dealfield Phelps, of Newport and New York, the former Mrs. Frederick C. Church, Jr., of Boston; and Mrs. Earl E. T. Smith of New York. Mrs. Phelps was formerly Muriel Vanderbilt and Mrs. Smith was Consuelo Vanderbilt.

Two Itinerants Are Sought After Derailment Of Train

BOONEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 15 (AP)—Two itinerants tonight were the objects of an intensive search by special agents of the Rock Island railroad and local officers, after the derailment of the crack Memphis-to-California passenger train near the station here early today.

Three persons were slightly injured in the mishap, which occurred when the train struck an open switch. The engine and three cars overturned.

The injured were Engineer W. E. McGolfin of Little Rock; Mrs. James Gwyn of Amarillo, Tex., and Bruin Goodwin, negro brakeman.

Senate Probe

a ballot box and other charges against the Overton workers at the polls in the city of New Orleans.

At the close of the day, Chairman Connally said the committee would be here for some time yet and hoped to get at the bottom of the charges, which were filed by Ex-Senator Edwin Broussard (D-La) against Senator Overton, also a Democrat, who was elected on the support of Senator Huey P. Long's machine.

Broussard Retires

Since the hearing opened here, Broussard has retired from the investigation with the explanation that he had lost confidence in the committee. The honest election league, which also filed charges, also retired with the same explanation and the committee's investigator John G. Holland made a similar statement with the additional charge that Chairman Connally was "yellow" and the committee sought to "cover up" the inquiry. Chairman Connally said Holland's case would be properly handled but the investigator further denounced the chairman today, shouting: "I will fight to maintain the integrity of these records. I will never withdraw from this case."

"Sit down over there," ordered the chairman. "You are nothing but an employe of this committee."

Aids In Questioning

As the witnesses were called Investigator Holland aided Senator Logan, who sat at counsel table and helped the senator draw testimony from the witnesses.

The first witness, George F. Hazelton, a Broussard poll watcher testified that the Overton commissioners let anybody vote who came along. He said Guy Fall, a painter, voted when he didn't live in the precinct.

Herbert Ricks, another Broussard watcher, said a policeman prevented his watching by forcing him to stand outside although he had proper credentials.

Blind Man Votes

Ramos Elliott, Broussard watcher, testified that a blind man came to vote and that he and an Overton watcher asked who he wanted to vote for and he said a straight Broussard ticket. Elliott said he marked the ticket and handed it to the blind man but the Overton worker snatched it out of the blind man's hand and ran. Later he said he made them count the ballot.

John W. Babin, Broussard watcher, said he was watching at the polls until he was slugged and knocked unconscious and then taken off to jail.

Anthony Chuder, another Broussard watcher, said the commissioners at his precinct signed the tally sheets without counting the ballots and left the precinct five minutes after the polls closed. Chuder said one of the commissioners took ballots to people's homes, had them marked and brought back.

Anthony Christina, who said he had been appointed a Broussard election commissioner, said he went to the precinct to serve but they sent him to jail instead.

The hearing will be resumed tomorrow.

immediately interpreted the developments as indicating a rift between the president and the secretary, an asserted sound money man, and as a sign that inflation lay ahead.

Those who clung to this view pointed to Morgenthau's close association with Professor George F. Warren, author of the present effort to force commodity prices upward by buying foreign and domestic gold, and a persistent advocate of the so-called commodity dollar, based upon a changeable gold content.

Late in the day, Morgenthau received newspapermen at his office in the farm credit administration. Smiling and much at ease, he parried questions on monetary policy except to declare himself unwaveringly in support of the president's gold program.

Distinct Progress Reported By FDR On Soviet Problem

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—Coincidently with the resumption of personal conferences today with Maxim Litvinoff, President Roosevelt reported distinct progress toward Russian recognition, but set no time for an announcement.

The chief executive indicated the parleys might extend beyond Friday. He added, however, that if the necessary documents had not been signed, sealed and delivered by the time he leaves for Warm Springs, Ga., it would not be a sign that the negotiations had broken down.

Uncle Tom And Little Eva

Mrs. Cordelia MacDonald, who as Cordelia Howard was the original Little Eva in the first dramatization of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in 1853 at Troy, N. Y., meets Otis Skinner, who played the title role in the Players' club presentation of the old piece in Boston. Mrs. MacDonald, billed as the "infant phenomenon," was four years old when she played the part in a company owned by her father, George C. Howard.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN, No. 22

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

After Tarzan and Sheeta had feasted to their hearts' content on the fresh buffalo meat, the two curled up together in a thicket, the man's curly head pillowed upon the tawny hide of the panther, and thus they slept until dawn. Upon returning to the apes' camp, Tarzan found that four of the beasts—those who had suffered most from fright during the voyage to the mainland—had deserted.

With Mugambi's help, Tarzan righted and launched the overturned dugout, and after an hour's search for the missing apes the boat put off without them. They paddled up the coast until they came to the mouth of a great river. Shortly after noon the party put in for shore to search for food. Then they continued on up the river, thus far without seeing either man or beast.

But from the dense screen of verdure lining the river's bank, a slender naked savage watched them for a moment. Then he melted away up-stream before any of those in the canoe discovered him. Like a deer he bounded along the trail, until, filled with the excitement of his news, he burst into a native village several miles about the point at which Tarzan and his pack had stopped to hunt.

"Another white man is coming," he cried to his chief, "in a great canoe with many warriors." In a moment the rumble of the war-drums rose, calling in the hunters from the forest and the tillers from the fields. Seven war-canoes were launched and manned by paint-daubed, befeathered warriors. Noiselessly they glided down the river to overwhelm this white savage by sheer force of numbers.

Forgotten Sweetheart

of strength. Like a hand always waiting to help her.

In the mirror above the console table she saw a shining-eyed creature. A flame had leaped up in her heart, transforming the passive sober-eyed girl of an hour before into a creature of glowing radiance.

Barney was at the door then. It seemed such a short time since her call that he must have dropped out of the sky. Barney, disheveled and bare-headed. "My God, Joan, what is it? Has anything happened to Pat?"

"Pat," Joan repeated, weakly "Why no, Barney—"

And then, as Barney sank weakly in a chair hiding his face with his hands, light flooded Joan's mind.

"Oh, Barney, dear! Why didn't you tell me?"

He looked up, smiling a little in embarrassment. There was relief in his eyes. "Lord, but you gave me a turn! I thought that Pat—"

"You and Pat in love—and not telling me!" Joan murmured. She sat down beside him. "Oh, Barney, what you must have been through! And Pat too!" Her words were broken off suddenly at the memory of Pat sobbing in the night. Pat's wan face as she went doggedly, bravely through trying days.

"Joan, what's happened?" Barney asked. "You mean you really don't mind about us?"

Joan told him then about Bob.

Barney groaned. "I get dumber every day!" he said. "Weston came to me for your address tonight and I wouldn't give it to him. You see, Joan I thought he was just a rich rounder looking for another thrill."

That explained it all. Bob for some reason must have interpreted Barney's refusal to mean that he was in love with her.

"I'll call him tomorrow and explain," Barney promised.

"No, he'll come back. He was just excited." Joan said. Loving each other as they did, what could possibly keep them apart? Now that she and Bob both knew what was in each other's heart.

"Are you sure?"

"Sure," Joan said and meaning it. She and Pat—" She went back to the subject engrossing him. "I can't see why you didn't tell me. Didn't you know you were cheating?" And then Joan had the grace to blush.

Barney said, "We were a pair of saps, I guess.

The door opened and Pat, enveloped in a bright lounging robe, stood regarding them. "What," she began, "could you all be talking about about at this hour?"

"About heaven," said Barney, tenderly opening his arms. Pat, without question and reading assurance in his happy eyes flew to him and was gathered into his arms.

"And angels," whispered Barney, his lips against Pat's bright hair.

Joan said, tears in her eyes, "Bless you my children!" She went on. "Barney, now that you've changed brides just before your wedding don't you think Pat should be getting her beauty sleep? In the five seconds while I turn my back you may tell her you love her."

"As if I didn't know," came Pat's happy voice, muffled against Barney's coat.

Joan went to her room and sat down by the window again. The lights which had seemed so cold and hard a short while ago now glowed warmly, twinkling gayly at her. The radiance in her heart was spreading, enveloping the world!

"Mrs. Robert Weston." She whispered the words to herself. It had been meant to be from the beginning. All the pain had been so useless. On a romantic impulse Joan went to her desk and wrote the name, then caught the little white square of paper against her heart.

Pat, coming into the room quietly, switched on the light. "Joan, I thought you would be in bed."

"I couldn't sleep," Joan said softly. "I'm too happy."

"And me!" said Pat, her face illumined. "Oh, Joan, I cant believe I'm the one getting married tomorrow!"

Joan was glad it was Pat who was to be married tomorrow—to Barney. She was sure the same time tomorrow would bring Bob back to her.

Beef Buying To Open Here

Tentative Selection Of This City As One Of 16 Or More In Texas Brings A Promise Of Cooperation

Tentative selection of Lubbock as one of 16 or more Texas cities to have beef buying, processing, and canning plants as a part of a federal program of surplus commodity distribution has brought from Lubbock Chamber of Commerce a promise of cooperation in every possible way.

Lawrence Westbrook, chairman of the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission, of Austin has informed A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, of Lubbock's selection.

Arrangements Made

Mr. Davis informed Mr. Westbrook that W. E. Inmon, local administrator of relief, had made arrangements with McDonald Packing company here for killing and dressing of the beeves.

Canning will be done in the building in which Mr. Inmon's office is situated at 1312 Avenue G, if it is satisfactory, or, if recommended, a building will be provided elsewhere, Mr. Davis said.

In selecting cities to have the plants, the prime factors were adequate labor, adequate processing facilities, and geographical location, both for buying and for distribution of the finished product, Mr. Westbrook said.

Details Not Settled

Whether Lubbock will provide building space, fuel, lights, and water without cost, as Mr. Westbrook said several Texas cities through chambers of commerce had signified willingness to do, will depend upon estimated cost and other circumstances, Mr. Davis said.

"We will assist to the extent of our ability," Mr. Davis replied, "and, of course, if we can, we will work out some way to handle."

Expenditure Authorized

Mr. Westbrook was authorized by Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, to pay the cost out of state funds with the understanding his organization would be reimbursed upon application of Governor Ferguson, with an audit showing expenditures.

It was specified that Texas cattle must be bought, at least 60 per cent must be cows, and no beef may be of a poorer grade than cutters.

San Antonio, Dallas, Waco, Houston, Beaumont, Austin, Tyler, El Paso, Wichita Falls, Brownsville, Texarkana, San Angelo, Amarillo, Paris, and Abilene were the other cities tentatively selected as beef buying centers.

The beef, all of which will be canned, will be handled exclusively by plants operating under government inspection, and the bureau of animal industry will supervise the program.

Only State Selected

"We want you to know that Texas is the only state accorded the privilege of buying beef locally," Mr. Westbrook wrote.

"It is our belief that we shall be able to buy, process, and can a much larger quantity of beef than could be purchased with the same amount of money in out-of-the-state markets and shipped to us for local distribution. In other words we believe we shall be able to help Texas stock raisers in our general program of relief and rehabilitation."

Some Immediate Objectives Are Set At Scout Meeting In Slaton Tuesday

Some immediate objectives were set at a meeting of the Slaton Boy Scout committee Tuesday night, said D. T. Jennings, area executive, of Lubbock, who attended. J. W. Hood, district chairman, presided.

L. B. Hagerman, district commissioner, said a new scoutmaster would be procured and troop 37, which had lapsed, would be registered this week.

Rev. W. M. Turner, pastor of the First Baptist church, which had agreed to sponsor a troop, said formation of the troop and choice of its leadership would begin immediately.

The Slaton committee's program also embraced organization of troops in smaller communities of Slaton's trade territory, and investigation of advisability of forming two new troops, in addition to that sponsored by the First Baptist church, in Slaton. Only one troop, No. 31, is active there now.

Growers Of Lubbock Plan To Ship Their Birds Through Plains Co-Op; Should Be In City By Friday

Turkey growers of Lubbock county who contemplate shipping dressed birds through the Plains Cooperative, Inc., at Plainview, should have their birds at the South Plains Fair grounds before 8 o'clock Friday morning, O. G. Tumlinson, county agent, said yesterday.

Fifteen or twenty farmers and turkey growers have indicated they planned to ship via the Plainview cooperative. The cooperative is shipping to the coast Saturday in a special refrigerator truck, Roy B. Davis, manager, yesterday advised Mr. Tumlinson. The latter, with R. N. McClain, assistant agent, notified interested farmers.

Mr. Tumlinson advised farmers who wanted to dress birds to pen them up 12 to 24 hours before bringing them here for killing. The killing and dressing will be done at the fair grounds.

E. M. Holmgreen, extension service poultry specialist, was advised of the killing. He had previously said he would be here or send Paul Cunyus, his assistant, if possible.

The Plainview organization is shipping butter regularly by truck to the west coast and some chickens and turkeys are also being carried in the machine.
