Midland man indicted for manslaughter

Paulk among 19 people indicted in this week's session of the Howard County Grand Jury

By STEVE REAGAN
 Staff Writer

A man whose reckless driving allegedly caused the death of two people in 2013 was among 19 people indicted during this week's session of the Howard County Grand Jury. Victor Edward Paulk, 60, of Midland, faces two counts of manslaughter for his alleged role in the Sept. 13, 2013 deaths of two Dallas-area residents on Interstate 20 west of Big Spring.

Manslaughter is a second-degree felony punishable by a prison term of between 2 and 20 years in prison and a possible fine of up to $10,000. Howard County Assistant District Attorney Lindsay Phillips said Paulk is alleged to have been driving recklessly along the interstate when his pickup crossed the median and collided with a vehicle driven by Cordell Hale and David Allardcyce. Hale and Allardcyce were both killed instantly in the crash, while Paulk suffered several severe injuries which required prolonged hospitalization. District Attorney Hardy L. Wilkerson said he expects evidence to surface indicating Paulk was operating his pickup under the influence of a controlled substance. Others indicted during this week's session of the grand jury include:

- Adrian Aguilar, 22, 2505

Carol, graffiti (state jail felony).
 • Salvador Aguilar, 46, 1505 Vines, driving while intoxicated with child passenger (state jail felony).
 • Shannon Boudreaux, 44, 1217 Lindberg, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle (state jail felony).
 • Andy Lee Cuellar, 30, Midland, possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver (first degree felony).

- Robert Diaz Jr., 31, 3718 Hatch, aggravated assault with a deadly weapon (second degree felony).
- Sonya Lanette Hall, 38, 2616 Dow, theft under $1,500 with two prior convictions state jail felony).
- Cassie Lynn Harris, 52, Midland, driving while intoxicated/third or more offense (third degree felony).

The Heritage Museum will host both a breakfast with Santa and Mrs. Claus and later a parade watch for the Big Spring Herald Christmas Parade on Saturday Dec. 5. "This year we are basing our event around the Big Spring Herald's Christmas Parade — A Charlie Brown Christmas," said Tammy Schrencengost, Heritage Museum curator and director. "We will have lots of little things to go along with the them but we have very little room left." Bring cameras for photo opportunities with Mr. and Mrs. Claus as well as Frosty. Some activities include cookie decorating, face painting, and craft projects.

Freeze warning

First hard freeze expected Sunday

A hard freeze is expected to makes its way to the Crossroads area by Sunday morning, according to a forecast by the National Weather Service. "A strong cold front has arrived and will bring intense gap winds to Guadalupe pass through the afternoon today (Saturday). The same front is also bringing very windy conditions to most of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico this morning (Saturday)," according to the National Weather Service website. "Secure objects which may be blown around by the winds. With temperatures expected to fall well bellow freezing Sunday morning most of and possibly the entire area, this will be the first hard and killing freeze of the season, the National Weather Service said.

Deadline is Monday for Operation Christmas Child

The deadline to drop off shoe boxes full of gifts for Operation Christmas Child is just a few days away. Operation Christmas Child is a project of Samaritan's Purse, an international Christian relief and evangelism organization headed by Franklin Graham. The idea is for volunteers to pack a shoe-box with items from toothbrushes to small stuffed animals to be delivered to more than 124 million children worldwide for Christmas. During the past week, Allan Furniture, the area's drop off site for Operation Christmas Child, has been officially accepting the donations which have been pouring in, according to Allan Johnson, who coordinates the program in this area. Boxes must be dropped off by at least 5 p.m. Monday, Johnson said, to make the trip to join the national collection site where the donations will be sent all over the world in time for Christmas. Boxes can be dropped off at Allan's Furniture, 202 Scurry Street, Big Spring, during the hours 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., Sunday and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday.

Missing woman found

Overton

A missing Howard County woman was found Friday afternoon, according to a press release from the Big Spring Police Department. "Detectives with BSPD located Rebekah Overton, BSPD Sgt. Tony Everett stated in the release. She was located in another city and detectives spoke with her face to face. She was well and chose to be away from Big Spring. The family has been notified that Overton is alive and well. The Police Department would like to thank everyone who gave information in this case. Overton was reported missing early morning Tuesday. Overton, who goes by Beka Coutes, was last seen in Big Spring on Tuesday and her vehicle was found in the parking lot of a local hospital with her ID and phone in it, according to the Howard County Crime Stoppers Facebook page.

Tannehill led Dolphins face Cowboys in Romo's return Sunday

By TAYLOR ELLIS

Sports Editor

Some in Howard County who typically root for the Cowboys may find themselves torn this Sunday. Former Big Spring Steer and current Miami Dolphins quarterback Ryan Tannehill will face off against the Dallas Cowboys this Sunday at noon at Sun Life Stadium.

Tannehill is one of the latest star power to come out of Big Spring and has shown staying power in the NFL. He recently signed a four year $77 million contract extension this past May. Luckily for Tannehill, he won't feel bad in anyway about playing Dallas.

"We just watched professional games," Tim Tannehill, Ryan's father, said. "He wasn't a die hard Cowboys fan. He never really had a particular team he rooted for."

Now in his fourth year in the league, Tannehill is averaging 272.4 yards per game on 37.1 attempts. He has 15 touchdowns and nine interceptions en route to a 4-5 record. However, it is his speed that Miami coaches want to see Tannehill utilize more when he faces Dallas this Sunday.

Miami Dolphins quarterback Ryan Tannehill (17) looks to pass during the first half of an NFL football game against the Houston Texans, Sunday, Oct. 25, 2015 in Miami Gardens, Fla. The Dolphins defeated the Texans 44-26. Tannehill set an NFL record by completing a series of passes over two games.

Tannehill has ran just 17 times for 44 yards, averaging a career-worst 2.6 yards per game. The former Texas

A&M wide receiver has never rushed for less than 211 yards since joining the NFL.

Tannehill played basketball and ran track at Big Spring High School, but hasn't shown off those wheels yet this season. He's been out-rushed by Jay Cutler, Andy Dalton, Matt Cassel, and Eli Manning, none of which ran 40-yard dashes faster than 4.75 during the combine. Tannehill ran a 4.65 40-yard dash.

The Dolphins have not used the read option as much as last year, which Tannehill was successful operating. First they need to block for Tannehill, who's 27 sacks ranks fifth-most in the league. That number could steadily increase against a Dallas defense that has Sean Lee returning from injury after his second concussion in six weeks, and feared pass-rusher Greg Hardy.

Tannehill's counterpart will be veteran Tony Romo, who is looking to make an improbable seven-game run to turn his team from a dumpster fire into playoff hopefuls.

With Romo, the Cowboys are undefeated this season. Without Romo, who missed the past seven games with a broken collarbone, they are winless.

Romo is coming off a career season in which he led the league in passing rating with 113.2. He also ranks fifth among active quarterbacks in fourth-quarter comebacks (25).

The Dolphins started the season with a 1-3 record and promptly fired embattled head coach Joe Philbin, replacing him with tight ends coach and former Dallas Cowboy Dan Campbell. Since then the Dolphins have won three of their last five games, including a 20-19 come from behind victory against Philadelphia on the road.

Miami is one of six teams within one game of the final AFC wild card spot, and they are looking to fix some recent offensive struggles. The Dolphins have given up a safety in three consecutive games. They'll look to end that trend while growing their winning streak Sunday.

Garden City rolls past Hermleigh 94-44

By TAYLOR ELLIS

Sports Editor

Garden City cruised past Hermleigh 94-44 Friday night, advancing to the next round of the UIL playoffs.

With 13 less plays, the Bearkats have five more yards per play than their opponents. Garden City quarterback Colton Jost completed 5-of-9 passing attempts for 178 yards and four touchdowns. Riley Eggemeyer added another passing touchdown on his only attempt of the evening.

Eggemeyer was a workhorse on the ground, accumulating 211 yards on just 13 carries for four rushing touchdowns. He also had two touchdown catches for a total of 76 yards.

His teammate Isaiah Enriquez added 121 yards and two scores on his fifteen rushing attempts, on the way to Garden City's 354 yards rushing, out-gaining Hermleigh by 294 on the ground.

Along with dominating the game, Garden City also played a clean game with only two penalties for 20 yards, as opposed to Hermleigh who was flagged nine times for 105 yards.

The Bearkat's offense was only put into third down four times all game, converting 50 percent of those attempts.

The defense was stout, holding Hermleigh to 20 yards per play and just a 36.4 percent third down conversion rate.

The Bearkats also forced three turnover, including interceptions by Tanner Davis and Enriquez. The Bearkats also forced and recovered a football.

They will face the Crowell Wildcats in the next round of the playoffs. Crowell defeated Sterling City Friday night 62-14, and Ira the week before 74-28.

BEHIND EVERY PROJECT IS A True Value

Bells will be ringing, Red Kettle campaign's beginning

There are many things we can expect the week of Thanksgiving and the weeks that follow. Christmas decorations have already been set out in stores, it is a little more acceptable to hear the Christmas music playing everywhere, and Black Friday means great savings for some while others cower in their houses.

These are all familiar sights and sounds that most people expect once the holidays arrive.

The Salvation Army Red Kettle Campaign is always very present and hard to miss as shoppers bustle about trying to find just the right gifts for their loved ones.

Most people know that that the red kettle collects change to go towards helping kids or the needy and most people will check their pockets for change or small bills to donate and feel better about their holidays.

We recognize them, but how many know the history behind it?

A Salvation Army Captain in San Francisco resolved, in Dec. of 1891, to provide a free Christmas dinner to the area's poor. But how would he pay for the food? As he went about his daily tasks, the question stayed in his mind. Suddenly, his thoughts went back to his days as a sailor in Liverpool, England. On the Stage Landing he saw a large pot, called "Simpson's pot" into which charitable donations were thrown in by passers-by.

On the next morning, he secured permission from the authorities to place a similar pot at the Oakland ferry landing, at the foot of Market St. No time was lost in securing the pot and placing it in a conspicuous position, so that it could be seen by all those going to and from the ferry boats. In addition, a brass urn was placed on a stand in the waiting room for the same purpose. Thus, Capt. Joseph McFee launched a tradition that has spread not only throughout the United States, but throughout the world.

By Christmas, 1895, the kettle was used in 30 Salvation Army locations in various sections of the West Coast area. The Sacramento Bee of that year carried a description of the Army's Christmas activities and mentioned the contributions to street corner kettles. Shortly afterward, two young Salvation Army officers who had been instrumental in the original use of the kettle, William A. McIntyre and N.J. Lewis, were transferred to the East. They took with them the idea of the Christmas kettle. In 1897, McIntyre prepared his Christmas plans for Boston around the kettle, but his fellow officers refused to cooperate for fear of "making spectacles of themselves." So McIntyre, his wife and sister set up three kettles at the Washington St. thoroughfare in the heart of the city. That year the kettle effort in Boston and other locations nationwide resulted in 150,000 Christmas dinners for the needy.

In 1898, the New York World hailed the Fitzpatrick to face former team when Jets visit Texans

HOUSTON (AP) — The New York Jets will start Ryan Fitzpatrick on Sunday against the Houston Texans after he had thumb surgery last week.

Houston's quarterback situation is far less clear. Brian Hoyer has a concussion and hasn't practiced all week.

"I'd say it's in the questionable category and yes, I would say he would have to practice in order to play," coach Bill O'Brien said. "At least once, you know what I mean?"

If he can't go T.J. Yates will get his first start since he was a rookie on Jan. 15, 2012, when the Texans lost 20-13 to the Ravens in the playoffs. The Texans picked up Brandon Weeden off waivers on Wednesday to back up Yates if Hoyer can't play.

For Fitzpatrick, it's a chance to face a former team that traded him away after last season. He started 12 games for Houston in 2014.

"The fact that they didn't necessarily want me at the end of the year plays into it a little bit for me, just from the personal standpoint," Fitzpatrick said. "But it's not a big thing, other than we're out there trying to win a game, get back on track. So the personal stuff has to be set aside and I've got to try to win a football game."

The surgery was to repair a torn ligament on the left thumb of the right-handed quarterback. He played two games with the injury before having surgery last Friday. Fitzpatrick said there are factors other than tolerating the pain that he's dealing with in the wake of the surgery.

"If it was that easy, then for sure there wouldn't an issue," he said. "There's just an issue with — fresh off a surgery, just making sure everything stays clean, the incision and all that. There's a couple different factors that are playing into it."

The Jets are coming off a loss to the Bills and Houston has won two straight, capped by Monday night's victory over previously undefeated Cincinnati.

Yates took over after Hoyer was injured in that one and accounted for the only touchdown of the night with a TD pass to DeAndre Hopkins. He knows if he plays this week it will be a bit easier because he's getting more time with the first team in practice.

"Some of those plays I ran in the game were the first time I've ever run them, period, practice or game," he said.

"So you feel more comfortable going in, getting more reps during the week."

Some things to know about the Jets-Texans game.

RUNNING WOES: The Texans are averaging 87.2 yards rushing this season, which ranks 28th in the league. The challenge to improve the running game will be even more difficult when they face a defense that ranks first in the NFL against the run, allowing 88.1 yards a game. Houston has started Alfred Blue in the two games since Arian Foster was lost for the season, but has managed just 61 yards rushing combined in those games. The Texans will also use Chris Polk and Jonathan Grimes to try to jumpstart the running game.

DYNAMIC DUO: Jets wide receivers Eric Decker and Brandon Marshall have touchdown catches in the same game five times this season. Decker has a team-leading seven, while Marshall has six. Both players are in the top five among NFL wide receivers in touchdowns since 2010, with Marshall (46) in third place and Decker (45) tied with Green Bay's Jordy Nelson for fourth.

HOPKINS' HEALTH: Hopkins has missed practice this week with a knee injury, but said Thursday that he's fine and will play on Sunday. Hopkins is third in the NFL with 927 yards receiving and his seven touchdown receptions are tied for fourth in the league. "DeAndre's played a lot of football for us, so I think he'll remember the plays and I think he'll be ready to go," O'Brien said.

BANGED-UP: The Jets were unsure whether they'd have defensive lineman Sheldon

Richardson (hamstring) on Sunday. Coach Todd Bowles said Richardson would be a game-time decision. Antonio Cromartie (bruised thigh) missed the Jets' last game against Buffalo after being hurt early against Jacksonville, but is expected to play Sunday. Safety Calvin Pryor is expected to play after missing three games, and backup running back Bilal Powell could return after sitting for four games — both because of high ankle sprains.

Lady Buffs beat Klondike, boys unable to do the same

By TAYLOR ELLIS

Sports Editor

Head coach Lindsey Schmidt and her Lady Buffs defeated Klondike Friday night in girl's basketball 50-39 on the road.

"It was a tough battle for the entire game. It was the first game of the season I felt like we battled for four entire quarters," Schmidt said.

Kaylee Kemper led all scorers with 18 points. Chasidy Grantham and Kendall Phillips each poured 10 in.

The scoring edge went back and forth, until Forsan dominated the third quarter 11-5. They closed out the final frame with a 22-15 advantage to beat a talented Klondike Lady Cougar team.

"It was a tough battle for the entire game. We kept our turnovers to a minimum and stayed focus offensively and defensively. I'm proud of these girls and how well they are playing as a team," Schmidt said.

The Lady Buffs will play at Grady on Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

The Junior Varsity squad also won Friday night, beating Lamesa 48-19.

The boy's did not have the same luck against Klondike, losing 66-58 Friday night. Ian Park's 15 points led the team, as nine different Buffaloes scored.

Forsan out-scored the Cougars 30-23

after the first half. Klondike dominated the final frame, out-scoring the Buffaloes 27-14 to take the home victory.

Forsan's inability to make free throws certainly hurt them, as they went 4-for-13 from the charity stripe. Klondike was 12-for-19.

Josh Evans was the second leading scorer with 10 points. Jesse Cervantes and Ben Mikeska each added seven points. Walker Park and Tearell McVae had six points apiece.

While Forsan spread the wealth on offense, just a small group of Cougars did the damage against them. Three Cougars scored in double digits.

Mcllroy closes to within 1 shot of lead in Dubai

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates (AP) — Rory Mcllroy shot the best round of the day to move within one shot of leader Andy Sullivan after the third round of the World Tour Championship on Saturday, which also puts him closer to the Race to Dubai title.

Mcllroy shot a 7-under 65 at Jumeirah Golf Estates to make up three shots on Sullivan (68) and go four strokes clear of Danny Willett, his closest challenger for the season-long Race to Dubai crown. Willett looked set to be even further back but made two birdies and an eagle on his last five holes for a 67. Sullivan made two birdies on his last four to maintain the lead with a 16-under total of 200.

Wanderers beat Phoenix in A-League match to move into 3rd

SYDNEY (AP) — Striker Mark Bridge's 85th-minute goal gave Western Sydney a 2-1 win over the Wellington Phoenix, the Wanderers' fourth A-League victory in a row.

Federico Piovaccari gave the Wanderers the lead in the ninth minute before Manny Muscat equalized nine minutes later for the Phoenix.

Also on Saturday, Sydney FC was in fourth place after a scoreless draw with Perth.

First-place Brisbane has 14 points, one ahead of the Melbourne Victory and the Wanderers.

In earlier weekend matches, Brisbane and Melbourne City played to a 1-1 draw and the Victory beat Central Coast 2-1.

Adelaide is home to Newcastle on Sunday to conclude the seventh round.

Guangzhou wins Asian Champions League title

GUANGZHOU, China (AP) — Brazilian striker Elkeson secured the Asian Champions League title for Guangzhou Evergrande on Saturday, scoring the only goal of the game as Luiz Felipe Scolari's team beat Al Ahli of the United Arab Emirates 1-0.

Elkeson hadn't found the net in the ACL since April but was lethal in the 54th minute of the second leg of the ACL final, spinning Salmin Khamis sharply and keeping his composure to slot home.

Khamis made the visitors' task even harder in the 66th, receiving a straight red for stamping on Zou Zheng.

First-time finalist Al Ahli still only needed to score once to snatch the trophy on away goals after a scoreless first leg in Dubai, and Lima had its best chance in the 78th. But the former Benfica man was denied by a last-ditch challenge from Kim Young-gwon, giving Guangzhou its second Asian title in three years.

UEFA bans Dinamo Zagreb's Ademi for 4 years for doping

NYON, Switzerland (AP) — UEFA says it banned Dinamo

Zagreb midfielder Arijan Ademi for four years after he tested positive for doping at a Champions League match.

Ademi tested positive for a substance that has not been identified after playing in Dinamo's 2-1 win against Arsenal on Sept. 16.

It will not affect the result as UEFA rules allow it to stand if only one player in a team is caught doping.

The 24-year-old Ademi has denied deliberately doping and claimed he took a dietary supplement that was contaminated.

Dinamo said in a statement late Friday that it would appeal.

Ademi was a Croatia international but played only friendly matches before being left out of the 2014 World Cup squad. He then switched eligibility to Macedonia.

CELEBRATION

Proudly serving Texas for 110 Years

We've come a long way from our humble beginning back in 1905. In fact, we owe our success to the Partners and Customers who are at the very heart of H-E-B. Thanks to you, we have over 370 stores in Texas and Mexico, employing more than 86,000 Partners in Texas and 9,000 Partners in Mexico. And because of you, we're able to give back to the communities we proudly serve by supporting education, honoring our military, fighting hunger and more. Thank you for making us who we are today. It has been an amazing journey and we look forward to the next 110 years.

Filling trustee postion to slated for HC meeting

BY LYNDEL MOODY

Staff Writer

Filling a member vacancy will be on tap when the Howard College board of trustees meet Monday afternoon.

Trustees are expected to enter into closed session when they meet at 11 a.m. to discuss options on filling the vacancy left by the death of long-time trustee, Dr. Charles Warren.

Warren, who died earlier this month, had served on the board for 52 years after being appointed in 1963. He holds the record for the longest tenure among community college board members.

"The board will go into executive session to discuss the vacancy and consider options," said Howard College President Dr. Cheryl T. Sparks.

Sparks added the college will hold an election on the position in May 2016.

In other business, trustees are turning their attention to another election which is set for Jan. 19, 2016.

Sparks

In August, college trustees approved a 7 cent increase in the tax rate from the previous year which was 2 cents above the roll back rate. In October, a group of citizens successfully held a petition drive to force the trustees to put the matter in front of the voters.

If the new tax rate does not pass muster in the January election, Howard College will stand to lose $630,000 in new tax revenue. College trustees and official have cited severe cuts in funding from the state over the last several years and loss in tuition and fee revenue made the increase necessary.

Sparks said the college plans to hold several informational meetings about the issue over the coming months. Those meeting dates are: Nov. 30, 6:30 p.m., Coahoma High School auditorium; Dec. 1, 6:30 p.m., St. Thomas Hall; Dec. 2, 12:30 p.m., Hall Center for the Arts on the college campus; Dec. 10, 6:30 p.m. Forsan High School auditorium; Dec. 14, 6:30 p.m., Hall Center for the Arts; Jan. 5, 12:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m., Hall Center for the Arts.

Trustees meet in the Tumbleweed Room located on the Howard College campus, 1001 Birdwell Lane.

Also on Monday's agenda:

- Update on 70th Anniversary Celebration.
- Howard College Appraisal District Board Election.
- Updates on the baseball program and the construction projects.
- Review of the Howard College impact study.
- Personnel and and financial matters.

County Commissioners to dicuss vanishing town's fate

The town of Morita has been a growing concern for several years. Soon, it may disappear from the map altogether.

When Howard County commissioners meet at 5:30 p.m. Monday, they will hold a public hearing on whether to cancel the map or plat on the largely vacant town of Morita.

Morita, located about eight miles west of Big Spring, was originally mapped out in 1907, but has been largely unpopulated for the past several years.

Also Monday, County Road and Bridge Administrator Brian Klinksiek is expected to present plans to sealcoat county roads in 2016.

In other business, commissioners will consider:

- A delinquent tax report from Drew Mouton.
- Possible action regarding adoption of regulations concerning December fireworks season.
- County nominees for the county appraisal district board of directors.
- Sealcoating bids.
- An upcoming seismic project in Howard County.
- Invoices, purchase requests and budget amendments.
- Personnel matters.
- A closed session regarding litigation.

FREEZE

"A hard freeze warning means widespread temperatures at or below 28 degrees are expected with sub-freezing temperatures expected for several hours," the National Weather Service cautions. "To prevent freezing and possible bursting of outdoor water pipes, they should be wrapped, drained, or allowed to drip slowly. These conditions will also kill crops and other sensitive vegetation."

Big Spring, Stanton, Garden City, Colorado City, Midland, Odessa, Snyder and Lamesa are all included as areas expected to be impacted by a hard freeze, according to the National Weather Service.

Area residents woke up to a windy, chilly Saturday morning with temperatures in the 30s.

Dottie Britton introduced the speaker, former Marine Gene Wilson President of the Vietnam Memorial Committee from 2000 to present date. Mr. Wilson spoke on the History and struggle of building the local Vietnam Memorial as well as the peace and healing it brings to all veterans.

Regent McCright called the meeting to order and led the chapter in its ritual.

Jan Lentz read the President General's message.

Sue Ann Damron passed the "Pennies in a Can" as she presented the Indian Minute Report.

Kim Wright read the minutes from the Oct. meeting noting the following corrections: Caroline Lavinia Scott Harrison was the first NSDAR President General. The Thanksgiving place mat decorating was a volunteer effort to celebrate America in honor of the NSDAR 125 anniversary.

Regent Hollis McCright gave the Treasure report in the absence of Neva Green, treasurer.

Regent Hollis McCright and Jan Lentz gave the Conservation Minute, a method of water conservation by the collecting the water condensation from the air conditioner.

Clara Lewis gave the National report on the 5 items collected at the Vietnam Memorial Wall. Items may be viewed at www.vvmf.org/items.

New business discussed: the Christmas party will be Dec. 12 at 2 p.m. at the Heritage Museum. Members are reminded to bring a gift for the Chinese gift exchange.

Regent Hollis McCright made the motion that she, Hollis McCright, Anne Witherspoon and Sue Ann Damron be our delegates to the State Conference. Charlene Ragan second the motion, motion passed.

Jessica Williams was voted the chapter's outstanding junior for 2015.

Regent Hollis McCright announced that Shannon Hull of Chadds Ford, Pa. is our newest member of the Captain Elisha Mack Chapter of NSDAR.

Sue Ann Damron took up donations for the annual Christmas gifts to the VA community Living Center and the domiciliary. Mrs. Damron will be contacting all members who were not present to add to the donations.

Winner of the stylish red, white and blue Patriotic tote door prize was Lori Pavlovsky.

Sue Ann Damron and Charlene Ragan are decorating the DAR Christmas tree for the Heritage Museum Christmas tree forest, in a theme commemorating the 250 anniversary of the stamp act.

Next meeting will be Dec. 12, 2 p.m. at the Heritage Museum.

DAILY PRAYER

May we remain diligent about reading Your word, Lord, for our life.

Noisy TV commercials

I thought it might be just on my TV, but everywhere I go I see it: the explosion of commercials featuring people yelling at the top of their lungs. Do they think the audience is deaf? And when you mix yelling with the increasing WPS (words per second) the spot, in my humble opinion, loses its effectiveness.

When I taught advertising, I urged my students to talk into the microphone like they were talking to their boyfriend or girlfriend during a romantic time together — in other words, a low voice with feeling. I suggested the two-and-a-half WPS (words per second) speed. That would produce some 75 words in a 30-second commercial. Plenty. Some half-minute commercials have more than 120 words.

Ads for automobiles are first rate. They are well written and well produced.

The audience immediately gets emotionally involved and wants to watch the commercial to its conclusion. The music matches the words and pictures. Most of the award-winning ads have less than 90 words. They do not sound like an announcer at a horse race.

Some ads for car dealers, on the other hand, are mindless, senseless pieces of video trash that feature people pointing at vehicles and yelling about them. Come on. They're not trying to sell you a $12 shirt, they're talking about spending $50,000 with them. It's an insult.

Thank goodness for a mute button.

The rude behavior of TV pitchmen is not limited to car dealers. Furniture dealers fall into the guilty category, too. And I've even seen people trying to sell eyeglass by yelling. Leave the screaming for sporting events.

Why don't these guys just tell about the features of their products? You don't hear much about them. All we hear about are the low, low prices.

Spots on local TV seem to advertise price over quality. And again, we're going to spend a bundle of cash. We want to know more about the products than just the price. We want them to have the things we're looking for in a car or piece of furniture or eyeglasses.

Some lawyers on television scream, too. They talk at their highest volume about how much money they get for their clients who have wrecks. Do those spots make some people want to be in a wreck so they can get a ton of money? Makes you wonder. Lawyers, save your vocal chords for the courtroom.

Advertising is one of the things that make America great. It is the grease that keeps the economic machinery perking along. Advertisers and producers, stop abusing the privilege of selling things in such a cheap and vulgar way. Don't mess up the medium any more than it's already messed up.

No wonder so many people record their favorite programs so they can play them back and zoom through the offensive commercials.

The sad thing about all this: Those ads must be working because they're on the air all the time.

The Sound of Music on steroids

Americans searching for “musical mountains” — and clean programming in range of “hound’s tooth” hygiene — agree on one destination: Branson, Missouri — if they’re well-traveled at all.

For more than a half century, the Ozarks have been enlivened by hundreds of musical groups migrating to Branson. Most bands are full-blown — with fiddles, of course, and their massive impact on the mountains nearby might overwhelm mere hills. At the very least, Branson is the Sound of Music on steroids.

With more than a hundred venues now seating from a few dozen to a few thousand, Branson offers world-class family entertainment devoid of “blue” humor. Deer and antelope on Texas prairies have heard more discouraging words than visitors hear in Branson. Repeat visitors — and most of them are — know it’s safe to bring children and grandchildren along. What happens in Branson is likely to be repeated again and again back home, and that’s OK.

Like hunters pursuing anything that will run from ‘em and fishermen contending that good days for fishing are any when they’ve got lines in the water, visitors are attracted to Branson throughout the year.

Personally, I’d suggest the period between Halloween and Christmas to be paramount.

Rolling into Branson about this time — and most visitors arrive in cars and buses — “oohing” and “ahhing” at beautiful fall foliage is common.

We found it that way during the long weekend prior to Veterans’ Day. Branson already had begun its transformation to Christmas, and veterans were there by the thousands. We saw numerous “gimme” caps atop veterans of all ages from throughout the country. One vet, wearing a cap with a Spanish-American war patch, said it was a “hand-me-down.” At every show — and we saw seven during our sixty-hour visit — veterans were warmly recognized, awash in prolonged, well-deserved ovations.

Deer and antelope on Texas prairies have heard more discouraging words than visitors hear in Branson.

Much was “retro,” and that’s good. At the Andy Williams’ Moon River Theater, the annual Christmas Spectacular included performances by two Osmond Brothers and the Lennon Sisters, all dazzlers in holiday wear.

“SIX” features half-a-dozen brothers with enough musical “savvy” to sound orchestral. And, their finale features their widower dad at the piano and several of the six guys’ children in a chorus line. (The group has four siblings. They, too, are male, but perhaps non-musical?)

The Sons of the Pioneers, organized in 1934, initially included a singer named Leonard Slye. (Later, he was better known as Roy Rogers, “king of the cowboys” in movies.) Continuously performing for 81 years, the group has had fewer than four dozen “regulars” across the years. “Little brother” Tommy Nallie was long kidded by older brother Luther, who retired a few months back after 45 years with the group. Luther joked that he’d changed Tommy’s diapers many times during his infancy. Now, it’s Tommy’s turn. He says, “Now I change Luther’s.”

We enjoy repeated visits to Pierce Arrow, A Tribute to John Denver and the inimitable violinist, Shoji Tabuchi.

Tabuchi, the “showman’s showman,” is now a grandfather, but still up for two shows most days. Recalling his move eastward long ago from California, the colorful entertainer — who speaks Japanese far more fluently than English — admits he was initially buffaloeed by expressions unique to our part of the world.

“I had breakfast in Chickasha, Okla.,” he said. “I headed for the door, hearing the cashier say, ‘Y’all come back.’ So I did.”

At the Welk Theater, The Million-Dollar Quartet is featured. The Tony Award-winning play is more than refreshing. It centers on a certain night in 1956 when Sam Phillips of Sun Records secretly recorded a jam session featuring Elvis Presley, Johnny Cash, Carl Perkins and Jerry Lee Lewis. (It also is playing in Las Vegas and Chicago at much higher prices, of course. And, it’s hard to imagine any performance that would top Branson’s.)

“Lewis,” who plays the piano brilliantly — even with his feet — never tires of athletic moves. He brings to mind the old line Bob Murphey used to describe Elvis’ “movements.” He joked, “When our hound dogs wiggled around like that, we gave ‘em worm medicine.”

There’s a bunch more in Branson and the Ozarks — all very much alive — with venues priced to attract families. Oh, you can pay much more at other destinations. But, why?

Williams, Nowitzki lead Mavericks past Jazz 102-93, extend win streak to six games

DALLAS (AP) — Deron Williams' homecoming, taking place three seasons after many Dallas Mavericks fans hoped, keeps getting better.

"It's all going in the right direction for sure," Dallas coach Rick Carlisle said. "He is doing the work, and the dividends are showing."

Williams recorded season highs with 23 points, eight assists and six rebounds in 37 minutes, and tied a season with three steals as the Mavericks beat the Utah Jazz 102-93 on Friday night for their sixth straight victory.

Dirk Nowitzki scored 19 points and Zaza Pachulia had his seventh double-double of the season as Dallas held on after its 20-point, second-half lead was trimmed to five in the closing minutes. The Mavericks led 92-87 when Williams hit his fourth 3-pointer of the game. He then grabbed a defensive rebound and assisted on a jumper by Nowitzki.

"We lost the first quarter, but we kept playing and battling," said Williams, 31, who played his first 5 1/2 NBA seasons with the Jazz. "Our execution was great, especially down the stretch."

Williams rejected a free-agent offer from the Mavericks in July 2012 to stay with the Brooklyn Nets. He signed with Dallas last summer after two injury-plagued seasons and was hampered during training camp and the pre-season by multiple nagging injuries.

"I'm sure playing against your old team, there's some motivation on some level," Jazz coach Quin Snyder said.

Nowitzki said Williams shows veteran savvy.

"He's been around, and he really just takes what the defense gives him and plays an all-around game," Nowitzki said.

Nowitzki was 8 of 12 from the field and made all three of his 3-point attempts.

Gordon Hayward scored 22 points, Derrick Favors 18, and Alec Burks added 15 off the bench for Utah.

The Mavericks used a 23-5 run in the second period to turn a seven-point deficit into a 46-35 lead with 2:33 to play before halftime. Dallas led 56-43 at halftime and extended its lead early in the third quarter by hitting eight of its first nine shots, moving ahead by 20 points four minutes into the period.

Pachulia had 15 points and 12 rebounds. Dallas is 6-1 in games in which he has collected a double-double.

"You work hard, you get rewarded," Pachulia said. "Bottom line."

CRITICAL CALL

With Dallas' lead cut to 86-79 with six minutes left, Favors was called for goaltending by referee Scott Foster on layup by J.J. Barea. Replays appeared to show Favors made contact with the ball before it struck the backboard.

"The referees called the call, and it is what it is," Favors said. Snyder said he didn't ask about the decision afterward because nothing could be done.

TIP OF THE HAT

The Mavericks recognized Donald Carter, who owned the team from its founding in 1980 to 1996. When Carter owned the team, he typically sat at courtside wearing a cowboy hat and boots.

Current team owner Mark Cuban called "The Hat" the most important person in franchise history.

"Without him, we're not here," Cuban said.

When Dallas won the NBA championship in 2011, Cuban insisted that Carter accept the trophy first.

"It was one of the best feelings ever," Cuban said.

TIP-INS

Jazz: Utah is 4-5 on the road, having played only three home games. It will play 10 of its next 14 games in Salt Lake City. . The Jazz have lost on their last 10 visits to American Airlines Center.

Mavericks: Dallas' last six-game winning came from late December to early January last season. ... Carlisle said he hopes center JaVale McGee, who hasn't played this season while recovering from a left tibial stress fracture, will play before the end of December.

Frances Garcia named State National Bank top employee

Special to the Herald

Frances Garcia has been named the State National Bank Employee of the Year for 2015.

Garcia has worked in the New Accounts Department for 15 years, helping customers with IRAs, CDs, and opening different bank accounts.

“Whatever the customer wants, I’m there for them,” Garcia said. “Without our customers, we wouldn’t have a job, so I like to treat them the way I like to be treated.”

Prior to her current position, Garcia worked as a teller.

Garcia has been an employee at the bank for 20 years.

“This is not just a job,” Garcia said. “I’m a member of a team that’s like a family. My co-workers are very good at what they do and that brings out the best in everybody here because we all want to do our jobs in a professional manner.”

About her recognition

as employee of the year, Garcia said it is a humbling experience.

“It’s such an honor because my fellow employees nominated me,” said Garcia.

Among the comments from other employees are these: “She’s the nicest person I know. Customers love her.” “Wonderful at training someone.” “Thoughtful and considerate, with a sense of humor that is contagious.” “Immeasurable patience.” “Able to handle difficult situations with professionalism.”

Garcia was born in Big Spring and has been here all her life. Garica has one son, a daughter, and six grandchildren. She and her husband, Daniel, will soon celebrate 44 years of marriage.

Are you ready for Black Friday?

The biggest shopping weekend of the year is a week away, and retailers are promising Thanksgiving weekend specials and promotions. Thanksgiving weekend shopping starts on Thursday and ends with online deals on Cyber Monday.

Like last year, more and more retailers are opening their doors to Black Friday shoppers on Thanksgiving Day. According to the National Retail Federation, Black Friday is consistently the most shopped day of the year, with Small Business Saturday close behind. In 2014, 87 million consumers shopped in stores and online on Black Friday, and 33 percent of holiday shoppers said they shopped on Small Business Saturday. Also last year, an estimated 127 million consumers shopped on Cyber Monday.

As retailers gear up for this huge weekend, shoppers are also prepping by making lists and checking them twice. However, before you jump on those advertisements, you may want to double check the fine print.

Better Business Bureau serving Central, Coastal, Southwest Texas and the Permian Basin recommends keeping these advertising sales terms in mind when shopping the Thanksgiving weekend sales:

- All advertisements: Don’t be misled by tricky wording! Read the fine print on all advertised sales to make sure you are truly saving money, and bring the ad with you. Watch for discrepancies in advertised prices and the prices on the shelf. Verify the real price before checking out.

- Sales: The word “sale” should be used only when there is a significant reduction from the advertiser’s usual price. The sale must be for a limited time.

- Lowest price: Prices fluctuate rapidly, sellers have a difficult time comparing their lowest price with all competitors. If advertisers claim this, they should have evidence to verify their claim.

- Asterisks: If a deal has asterisks and disclosures, they should be as large as possible, as clear as possible and close to the original claim, not several clicks away on a website.

Your BBB also recommends following these tips for a safe and successful shopping weekend:

- Shop with Trust. BBB recommends researching businesses before you shop, especially with online stores. Go to bbb.org/central-texas to find a trustworthy business and read its BBB Business Review. BBB Business Reviews include how long a business has been operation, how it handles complaints, customer reviews and its BBB rating.

- Plan ahead. Take time to print out or clip ads for items you are interested in buying to help outline your shopping day in advance.

- Create a budget. Know who or what you are buying gifts for and how much you are willing to spend. As you buy gifts, keep track of the cost and avoid impulse purchases to prevent over-spending.

- Ask about return policies. Many stores have a 30-day return policy, but it is important to read the terms and conditions associated with each purchase. And remember that the refund policy usually applies to the day you purchase the item not when you give the item as a gift.

- Think twice about signing up for a store credit card. Some retailers will offer additional savings to entice consumers to sign up for their credit card. However, these cards often times carry high interest rates or annual fees. If you do not plan on shopping at a particular retailer very often, the credit card might not be financially beneficial for you.

For more consumer information, BBB Business reviews or to file a complaint, visit your local Better Business Bureau online at bbb.org/central-texas.

DPS urges Texans to drive responsibly, sober during Thanksgiving holiday

Heavier traffic is expected to great holiday travelers this Thanksgiving and the Department of Public Safety (DPS) is requesting the public to think responsibly before getting behind the wheel.

“As Texans travel to be with family and friends this Thanksgiving season, we urge all drivers to use extra caution on roadways and always drive sober,” said DPS Director Steven McCraw. “The increased traffic and potential for inclement weather and impaired driving can make holiday travel especially challenging, and DPS troopers will be working nonstop to keep the roads safe for everyone.”

DPS troopers will be patrolling Texas roadways throughout the holiday weekend looking for drunk drivers, speeders, seat belt violators and other drivers who are endangering themselves and others.

During the Thanksgiving weekend in 2014, DPS troopers arrested 242 individuals for driving while intoxicated, issued 5,223 speeding citations, 682 citations for no insurance and 599 seat belt/child safety seat citations. DPS patrols also resulted in 135 fugitive arrests and 97 felony arrests during the same time period.

DPS offers the following tips for safe travel during the Thanksgiving holiday:

- Don't drink and drive. Designate a driver or take a cab.
- Slow down — especially in bad weather, construction areas and heavy traffic.
- Eliminate distractions, including the use of mobile devices.

- Buckle up everyone in the vehicle – it's the law.
- Slow down or move over for police, fire, EMS and Texas Department of Transportation vehicles and tow trucks that are stopped on the side of the road with emergency lights activated — it's the law.
- Don't drive fatigued – get plenty of rest before trips or take breaks as needed.
- Drive defensively, as holiday travel may present additional challenges.
- Make sure your vehicle is properly maintained before your trip begins.

Support during a difficult time

Our heartfelt gratitude and appreciation goes out to everyone involved in getting us through such a very hard and emotional time. The police, sheriff, and city employees that Julie worked with went above and beyond anything we could have ever imagined.

The love, respect, and all the work and love that went into her service was so overwhelming to everyone that was there. All the city employees lined up on the way to the graveside were so unexpected. We had so much pride for all of you.

The service was so beautiful. We appreciate all her friends and family coming to show their love for Julie. Thanks for all the hugs and kindness you show to all of us. There are no words for us to express our feelings and appreciation to all of you.

Retailers lift stocks toward best week of year

NEW YORK (AP) — Big gains by retailers are lifting stocks in afternoon trading Friday as the market heads for its best week in more than a year. Nike soared after announcing a stock split, a dividend increase and a stock buyback program.

KEEPING SCORE: The Dow Jones industrial average rose 104 points, or 0.6 percent, to 17,837 as of 1:15 p.m. Eastern time. The Standard & Poor's 500 index gained 10 points, or 0.5 percent, to 2,091. The Nasdaq composite climbed 32 points, or 0.6 percent, to 5,105.

SHOP TIL YOU DROP: Discount retailer Ross Stores gained $4.07, or 8.8 percent, to $50.27 after reporting results that were better than analysts were expecting. Gap advanced $1.66, or 6.6 percent, to $26.75 after its own quarterly report, and Urban Outfitters rose $1.06, or 4.8 percent, to $23.35.

RETAIL RELIEF: Retail stocks were pummeled this month after weak reports from Macy's and Nordstrom caused investors to worry that the holiday shopping season would be a bust.

"That spooked everybody that had some kind of apparel offering," said Ken Perkins, president of the research firm Retail Metrics.

On behalf of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center Board of Directors, please join us in congratulating Michelle Grove on her well-deserved promotion to Interim Executive Director. Michelle assumed leadership of the Center on November 16, 2015 after devoting 17 years in multiple capacities at DRRC; her most recent role being Director of Finance and Compliance. Michelle is a Magna Cum Laude graduate of Texas A&M University - Commerce with a degree in Business Administration. She is the wife of Richard Grove, mother/stepmother of 4, and grandmother of 3.

Previous Executive Director, Penny Phillips, recently accepted a position with a local private firm and will continue to serve an integral part-time supportive role for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

To the Big Spring Community, please join us in congratulating both of these ladies. We look forward to the bright future of Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center and many continued years of providing the best rehabilitation services in Howard and surrounding counties.

DPS: Texans Can Help Fight Crime, Terrorism

Special to the Herald

AUSTIN — The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) is reminding Texans to remain vigilant with respect to potential crime and terrorist activity in their communities, and to report suspicious behaviors to the department’s iWATCH website at www.iwatchtx.org. The iWATCH program was created as a partnership between communities and law enforcement, and utilizes citizen-sourced tips related to criminal activity.

“In the wake of the terrible tragedies in Paris, we are reminding Texans of the important role they can play in helping law enforcement combat those intending to do harm to others,” said DPS Director Steven McCraw. “Texas faces the gamut of threats to public safety from organized crime to potential terroristic plots, and DPS works around-the-clock with our local, state and federal partners to keep our residents safe. Because truly effective crime fighting depends on a united effort between law enforcement and the public, we urge Texans to always be watchful, and report to iWATCH or their local authorities any illegal or suspicious activities they witness.”

In addition to the attacks in Paris, France, senseless attacks have also occurred closer to home in recent years, including tragic shootings at Fort Hood, and a shooting incident in May of this year in Garland, Texas. Concerned citizens can visit the website to fill out a report, which includes contact information and specifics about a particular incident. A report usually takes fewer than five minutes to complete, and once submitted, each report is reviewed by law enforcement analysts. The website also lists a phone number for possible anonymous reports.

Here are some examples of behaviors and activities to report:

- Strangers asking questions about building security features and procedures.
- Briefcase, suitcase, backpack or package is left behind.
- Cars or trucks are left in no-parking zones at important buildings.
- Chemical smells or fumes that are unusual for the location.
- People requesting sensitive information, such as blueprints, security plans or VIP travel schedules, without a need to know.
- Purchasing supplies that could be used to make bombs or weapons, or purchasing uniforms without having the proper credentials.
- Taking photographs or videos of security features, such as cameras or checkpoints.

DPS urges residents who see something unusual to simply speak up. Preparations for terrorist attacks may often be seen, but rarely reported. When in doubt, report the suspicious activity through iWATCH. For more information on the iWATCH program or to submit a report, visit www.iwatchtx.org. To make an anonymous report, individuals can contact DPS at 1-866-786-5972. (iWATCH is not designed to report emergencies. If a situation requires an emergency response, call 911.)

Reports to iWATCH can also be made through the DPS Mobile App currently available for iPhone users on the Apple App Store and for Android users on Google Play.

The iWATCH website is part of the DPS Intelligence and Counterterrorism Division (ICT), which serves as the central clearinghouse for the collection, management, analysis and dissemination of law enforcement and homeland security intelligence in Texas.

The intelligence strategy encompasses a variety of other programs, including the multi-agency Texas Joint Crime Information Center, which provides around-the-clock analytical assistance to more than 1,500 local law enforcement agencies; Counterterrorism Analysis Program; State Intelligence Assessment Program; Texas 10 Most Wanted Fugitive and Sex Offender programs; Operation Drawbridge border camera program; Missing and Exploited Children Unit; Interdiction for the Protection of Children Program; Gang Analysis Section; and Critical Infrastructure and Key Resource Tracking and Assessment Program. ICT also offers direct case support for Texas Rangers, and assistance in investigations involving cartel, gangs, human trafficking and sex offenders.

2 brothers from Odessa get prison in drugs, weapons case

MIDLAND (AP) — Two West Texas brothers have been sentenced to prison in a drugs and weapons case linked to a 2014 raid on their Odessa home.

Prosecutors say 40-year-old Pedro Madrid was sentenced Thursday to 38 years in federal prison. His brother, 38-year-old Elizar Madrid, received a 21-year term.

A jury in Midland in August convicted the brothers of conspiracy to possess with intent to distribute a controlled substance, possession of a firearm during and in relation to a drug trafficking crime and being a felon in possession of a firearm.

Officers last December raided the Madrid home and seized methamphetamine, heroin, cocaine and semi-automatic weapons. A February traffic stop turned up drugs and guns.

Pedro Madrid has a prior conviction for arson. Elizar Madrid was previously convicted of obstruction and retaliation.

2 dead, 10 hurt in crash east of El Paso involving band bus

EL PASO (AP) — Two drivers have been killed and 10 passengers hurt in a head-on crash in West Texas involving a bus carrying a rock band and a truck.

The Texas Department of Public Safety says the accident occurred on U.S. 62/180 east of El Paso around 9:15 a.m. MST Thursday.

Officials say the private bus, carrying members of Los Angeles-based rock band The Ghost Inside, was westbound when it struck the eastbound truck. Authorities are trying to determine what caused the wreck.

The bus driver, 31-year-old Gregory Hoke of Round Rock, and the semi-truck driver, 64-year-old Steven Cunningham of Las Cruces, New Mexico, were pronounced dead on the scene.

All 10 passengers on the band bus were injured and taken to various hospitals.

Texas officer, good Samaritans rescue driver in burning car

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — A Central Texas police officer and some good Samaritans have saved a driver from a burning car in a rescue captured on patrol car video.

College Station police on Thursday announced the driver was hospitalized with broken bones. Officer Patricia Marty was treated for smoke inhalation.

Police say a vehicle driven by 21-year-old Jose Izquierdo (ees-kee-AIR'-doh) went out of control last Saturday, hit a tree and caught fire. The video shows Marty driving up, running from her patrol car and trying to extract the driver.

Two Texas A&M University transportation services workers stopped to help. One worker had a sledgehammer and tried to break a back window amid the flames.

Another man happened by and with the officer and the others pulled Izquierdo through the driver's window.

Gunfire at Waco home leaves man dead, girl grazed by bullets

WACO (AP) — Police say gunfire at a Central Texas house has left a man dead and a girl hurt after she was grazed by bullets.

Waco police say the incident happened before dawn Friday.

Sgt. W. Patrick Swanton says officers arrived at the home to find one man suffering from gunshot wounds. He was transported to a Waco hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Swanton says a female child was grazed by bullets. Police didn't immediately release her age or provide details on her injuries.

Police did not say whether anyone was being sought in the attack. Names of the man and the girl weren't immediately released.

Further details weren't immediately available.

Dallas teacher suffers minor injuries after assault

DALLAS (AP) — A high school teacher has suffered minor injuries after being assaulted by a student in Dallas.

The Dallas Morning News reports that the incident happened Thursday at Skyline High School. The identities of the teacher and student involved in the incident haven't been released.

The district said in a news release that “violence is not tolerated” at school “and the student will face consequences in accordance” with the code of conduct.

The district declined the newspaper's attempt for further comment, citing privacy laws related to student discipline and employee matters.

Students tweeted about the incident Thursday afternoon.

In America’s Little Syria, a divide on accepting refugees

BY MICHAEL RUBINKAM
Associated Press
ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A few days ago, a pastor asked Syrian-born restaurant owner Marie Jarrah to donate food to a welcoming event for recently arrived Syrian refugees. Jarrah, who said she regularly helps people in need, declined.

Like many of Allentown’s establishment Syrians, she doesn’t think it’s a good idea to bring refugees to the city. She clung to that view even before last week’s terrorist attacks in Paris. “Problems are going to happen,” said Jarrah, co-owner of Damascus Restaurant in a heavily Syrian enclave.

As debate intensifies nationally over the federal government’s plan to accept an additional 10,000 refugees from war-ravaged Syria, a similar argument is taking place in Allentown — one with a sectarian twist.

Pennsylvania’s third-largest city is home to one of the nation’s largest populations of Syrians. They are mostly Christian and, in no small number, support Syrian President Bashar al-Assad — a dynamic that’s prompting some of them to oppose the resettlement of refugees, who are Muslim and say they fled violence perpetrated by the Assad regime.

Aziz Wehbey, an Allentown auto dealer and president of the American Amarian Syrian Charity Society, worries some Syrian refugees might have taken part in the fighting in Syria’s civil war and have “blood on their hands.”

“We need to know who we are welcoming in our society,” said Wehbey, who immigrated to the United States a quarter-century ago and became a citizen.

The Obama administration says refugees must undergo a rigorous screening process that can take years. Nevertheless, the U.S. House voted overwhelmingly Thursday to make it more difficult for Syrian and Iraqi refugees to come to America.

Refugees say that they are aware of the opposition of some of Allentown’s Syrians to their presence, but that they have not witnessed overt hostility or discrimination. Three refugees spoke to The Associated Press on condition of anonymity because they worry the Assad government has informants in the city of about 120,000 — a widely held belief among Syrians here, both Christian and Muslim — and will retaliate against family back home.

The refugees said they’re here to make a new life for themselves, not to stir up trouble. They have formed their own miniature support network, with earlier arrivals helping new comers. Dozens have resettled in Allentown since March, with dozens more slated to come.

“I hope that one day I’m going to be a citizen of this great country,” said one man, a married father of four.

The Muslim Association of Lehigh Valley, a mosque and school outside Allentown, has been working with the refugees, integrating them socially, sorting through donations of clothes, appliances and school supplies, and enrolling them in English-language classes.

“There’s a lot of rhetoric, but we try not to even acknowledge the rhetoric, because right now there’s a crisis,” said Sherrine Eid, refugee coordinator at the Muslim Association. “We have much bigger fish to fry.”

The refugees are joining a Syrian community that dates to the late 1800s. Now numbering some 5,200 in the greater Lehigh Valley region, Syrian-Americans are deeply intertwined in Allentown’s business and political life. The retired police chief, of Syrian descent, was elected county sheriff this month.

Some Syrian Christians say they welcome the refugees.

“I don’t have a problem with anyone coming here. I came to America as an immigrant. That’s what I am,” said Osama Dayoub, 23, who was raised in Syria but moved to Allentown in 1999 and gained citizenship. “You’re going to make them feel uncomfortable? No. Let them live.”

An Orthodox church where many pro-Assad Syrians worship — and which recently sent a delegation to the Russian embassy in Washington to express gratitude for Russia’s backing of Assad and its airstrikes in Syria — is hosting a benefit next month for Syrian refugees locally and abroad.

Texas tells volunteer groups to stop resettling Syrians

BY WILL WEISSERT

Associated Press

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas has instructed volunteer organizations that settle international refugees statewide to immediately stop helping Syrians — even though it may not have the authority to do so.

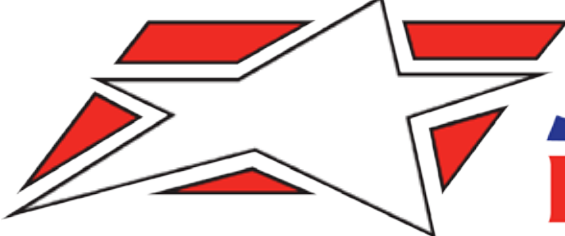

In letters released Friday, the Texas Health and Human Services Commission wrote to volunteer and community groups across the state. It ordered “any active plans to resettle Syrian refugees in Texas” to be discontinued immediately.

Republican Gov. Greg Abbott and more than half of his gubernatorial counterparts nationwide have said they would refuse Syrian refugees in their states, citing security concerns.

Authorities in Washington say resettlement programs are federally funded and involve volunteer and private organizations — meaning states can’t dictate policy.

Abbott, though, has pointed to specific language in federal law, arguing it gives states the authority to refuse Syrian refugees.

Flowers and candle tributes are placed at the Restaurant Le Carillon in Paris, Thursday, Nov. 19, 2015, after last Friday's attacks.

A week later, Parisians still in shock over scope of attack

BY JILL LAWLESS

Associated Press

PARIS (AP) — Cold rain extinguished the flickering candles and drenched the packets of flowers outside the Paris attacks sites Friday, but people came anyway — to pay tribute, to mourn, to reflect on their city's losses one week later.

With France under a state of emergency, most demonstrations and large gatherings have been banned in Paris since the Nov. 13 attacks that shattered a joyful night out. A gathering Friday at France's oldest mosque to show inter-community solidarity was canceled because of security fears.

But Parisians spontaneously came together outside the restaurants, cafes and concert hall hit in the attacks — as they have all week — to leave flowers, light candles or hold quiet vigils.

"I'm still reeling, because these are the neighborhoods where we young people go out a lot, places we know well," student Sophie Garcon said as she looked at tributes left outside the Le Carillon bar, where gunmen sprayed automatic weapons fire.

In all, 130 people died and more than 350 were injured when gunmen and suicide bombers attacked cafes and restaurants in Paris and the national soccer stadium. The attacks, claimed by the Islamic State group, were the deadliest violence in decades and have left the city profoundly shaken.

The army has deployed 6,500 soldiers to the Paris region to help protect streets, train stations and landmark tourist sites like the Eiffel Tower and the Louvre Museum.

"There's a feeling of insecurity, even though there are police everywhere," Garcon said. "In France, we have a tendency to think that we're not a country at war because there's not a war on our territory. But France is at war elsewhere in the world ... and now it's here, in the city of Paris."

Khaled and Abdallah Saadi, the brothers of two sisters killed at the Belle Equipe bar, were among the mourners paying their respects there Friday. Sisters Halima and Hodda Saadi were celebrating Halima's 36th birthday with friends and family when the gunmen struck, killing 11 people.

The city's mood was subdued Friday, the weather wet and grim. But French artists and cultural figures urged people to respond to the tragedy with an outpouring of "noise and light."

Dozens of artists, writers, musicians and other cultural figures, including singer Charles Aznavour, journalist Anne Sinclair and former French Culture Minister Jack Lang, urged people to turn on their lights, light candles and play music exactly at 9:20 p.m., the time the attacks began on Nov. 13.

In a letter published, they said the killers' attack on "culture and freedom" should unite people of all races, faiths and backgrounds. They hoped the gesture would show "that culture will continue to shine out and to burnish the light of hope and fraternity."

That hope is echoed in many of the hand-written signs and notes left outside the attack sites: defiant messages of love, vows that the slaughter will not turn Parisians toward hatred and suspicion.

At Le Carillon, a note posted on the wall by the bar's owners offered "profound condolences" to those who lost loved ones, thanked people for their support, and urged unity.

"Courage to you all. Let's stay united in sorrow, but also in hope for happier — and always fraternal — days," it said.

Associated Press writer Frank Jordans in Paris contributed to this report.

EU nations promise action to stanch inflow of extremists

BRUSSELS (AP) — European Union nations promised Friday to quickly tighten the bloc's vast external border to prevent more violent extremists from coming in, and French authorities reported that a third body had been found in a Paris apartment raided by police.

One week after the coordinated gun and bomb assault that killed 130 people in Paris, investigators said they had determined through fingerprint checks that two of the seven attackers who died in the blood shed had entered Europe through Greece on Oct. 3.

Previously they had said only one attacker had been registered in Greece, a main entry point for migrants seeking asylum in Europe. That man carried a passport naming him as Ahmad Al-Mohammad but it's unclear whether it was authentic.

Meanwhile, France's Senate voted to extend for three months a state of emergency, which expands police powers to carry out arrests and searches and allows authorities to forbid the movement of persons and vehicles at specific times and places. France's lower chamber has already approved the measure.

In Brussels, France and Belgium urged their European Union partners to tighten gun laws, toughen border security and choke off funds to extremist groups.

French Interior Minister Bernard Cazeneuve said "terrorists are crossing the borders of the European Union," underlining the urgent need for the 28-nation bloc to implement a long-delayed system for collecting and exchanging airline passenger information. He said that data is vital "for tracing the return of foreign fighters" from Syria and Iraq.

The EU exchanges such information with the U.S., Australia and Canada, but has proved incapable of agreeing on a system for sharing data between its members.

Sagittarius Sunshine

The sun transits out of the deep emotional watery straits of Scorpio and into the adventurous fiery realm of Sagittarius. The moon in Aries adds fuel to the fire. What is it that you want to do? Focus. It would be a shame to waste this intensely powerful energy. Hone in on one purpose. Singular goals have the best chance at success.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Waiting takes maturity. You are learning to be more patient this week. As more things in your life pay off over the long term, it will become easier and easier to trust life's process and timing.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). The dilemma will center around quantity. Having too much of something can be worse than having too little of it. You'll find the best

Dear Annie: My friend, "Andrea," is in her early 20s and concerned about her mother, "Joan." Joan has been diagnosed with schizophrenia and bipolar disorder, and she has abused prescription and other drugs for as long as Andrea can remember.

A few years ago, Joan was put on disability due to a work accident. She used to have a regular doctor, but since the accident, she's been jumping from doctor to doctor in order to get more medication. Meanwhile, she won't take the prescription for her bipolar disorder, since she doesn't think she needs it.

Lately, Joan has been stranger than usual, hearing voices and showing up at Andrea's house at all hours, peeking in the windows. She racks up debt that other family members pay off, and most infuriatingly, she is guilt-tripping Andrea's boyfriend into giving her the pain medication he was prescribed after his own surgery.

Andrea is an only child, and the rest of her extended family are either enablers or in denial. Andrea says she wants to get her mother into an inpatient facility where she'll be safe. But I'm sure Joan would not go willingly, so it scenario when you decide to stop wanting and start appreciating what you already have.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). One thing you will learn from history is that it cannot teach you how to deal with your next conundrum. You're in a cycle of new adventures and challenges. "Unprepared" will be the norm.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). You never set out to qualify people, and yet others will get the impression that they must prove themselves before you'll let them into your world. Maybe that's not such a bad thing.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). This is a time to be very discerning. Acting on one or two stellar opportunities will bring you more success than if you were to pursue every good lead.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). This is a good day to have an open mind and let go of things easily, because there won't be much worth fighting for, just experiences to be had. The end of the road is really just the beginning of the off-road experience.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). When you appreciate beauty, and the other person appreciates the same beauty, it's a love match. Get together. This is something that happens more rarely than you think.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Princesses need saving. Queens handle it. This dynamic will be a part of your day, and the best part is that you'll feel completely empowered to decide your role in it all.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You're very conscious these days. You look deeply into things. You listen past what's being said and learn more from the pauses than you do from the words that interrupt them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). This week brings a profound experience that could lead to two very different destinies, depending on your attitude. This will either help you grow

FORECAST FOR THE WEEK AHEAD: The new wave in education embraces the fact that people learn differently. Worldwide, teaching styles have been changing to include a variety of methods to bring students into knowledge. Some students need to hear the answers, others need to touch and experience them. Still others gain a better understanding with the information they read and see. If you don't know what your own particular method is, that will become clearer to you in the weeks to come. The Sagittarius solar journey will begin a time of expansion. The first way we expand is through ideas. Strong ideas will inspire movement. Movement changes life.

The full moon in Gemini, the sign of communication, happens on Wednesday. This pre-Thanksgiving aspect will make for some excellent problem-solving and teamwork right before the big turkey day. Also, Mercury in Sagittarius will square off with Neptune in Pisces to remind us that what people say isn't always, or even usually, what they mean. The better you get at listening between the words, the more friends you'll have.

CELEBRITY PROFILES: Scarlett Johansson will join friends Bill Murray and Lupita Nyong'o voicing the new Disney version of the Jungle Book. Sagittarian actors enjoy visiting different eras and worlds in their work -- a professional perk that suits their driving need to explore. Johansson also has strong Scorpio influences in her natal chart to turn up the sizzle in any role she takes on.

controlling sister. You suggested scanning the ones he wants into his sister's computer and emailing them to himself. I can see the sister sabotaging him.

He may instead want to purchase a small portable wand scanner where the scans are saved to an internal memory card. Then he won't have to rely on access to Sis' computer. He can download them to his home computer or onto a flash drive, and share prints or digital files with his siblings and children.

"Living" may have only one shot at this, so he might want to practice with the scanner beforehand to make sure the scans are crisp and

Dear Genie: You have even less faith in this sister than we do. But you may be right that a portable scanner is his best bet. Thanks for the suggestion.

Opening lead — queen of clubs.

Undoubtedly, your batting average as declarer would rise appreciably if you could see the defenders' hands instead of having to guess the location of the missing high cards and the distribution of the suits.

Sometimes, though, it isn't easy to find the winning line of play even with all 52 cards in view. Admittedly such hands are rare, but they are fascinating when they do arise. Here is such a case.

West leads the queen of clubs against your four-heart contract, and you win with the ace. Probably the instinctive play at trick two is to lead a low diamond and finesse dummy's nine after West follows low. This play does not succeed in the actual deal, because East wins with the ten and returns a trump. Eventually you lose three diamonds and a heart and go down one. Leading a diamond to the jack instead might backfire if it turned out that West had the ten.

Oddly enough, the best approach by far is to enter dummy with a spade at trick two and lead the nine of diamonds. If East follows low, so do you, and your troubles are over (even if West is able to win with the ten).

But if, as is likely in the actual case, East covers the nine with the ten, you play the queen. (It does East no good to rise with the king because the most you could then lose would be two diamonds and a heart.)

West takes the queen with the ace but is stymied. He cannot afford to lead a trump, so let's say he returns a club. You ruff and lead another diamond. East wins and returns a trump, but you don't jeopardize the contract by taking a finesse. Instead, you win with the ace and ruff your last diamond to assure making four.

In fact, this is the right line of play even if the East-West cards are not known, but it is hard in actual practice to resist leading diamonds initially from the South hand.

Tomorrow: Famous Hand.

Salvation Army kettles as “the newest and most novel device for collecting money.” The newspaper also observed, “There is a man in charge to see that contributions are not stolen.” In 1901, kettle contributions in New York City provided funds for the first mammoth sit-down dinner in Madison Square Garden, a custom that continued for many years. Today, donations to Salvation Army kettles at Christmas time support holiday meals for homeless and needy families, but also help the Salvation Army serve 30 million people through myriad of social services all year long.

Kettles can now be found and donate to in many foreign countries such as Korea, Japan, and Chile and in many European countries and Australia. Everywhere, public contributions to the kettles enable the Salvation Army to bring the spirit of Christmas to those who would otherwise be forgotten all year long – to the aged and lonely, the ill, the inmates of jails and other institutions, the poor and unfortunate. In the United States, kettles at Thanksgiving and Christmas, although changed since the first utilitarian cauldron set up in San Francisco, help make it possible for the Salvation Army to do the most good possible for 30 million people each year.

The Salvation Army of Big Spring is already busy this year getting ready for its community Thanksgiving meal and to kick off the 2015 red kettle campaign.

The Thanksgiving meal will be on Thanksgiving day from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at 811 W. 5th St.

This year, while following traditions, there have been a few additions to assist in getting the word out and promoting the red kettle Christmas campaign.

One of the biggest additions, due to a world of technology and social medias, is to donate and then share the reason for donating at #RedKettleReason. This will allow people to see what motivates the force behind the giving. Perhaps someone that hasn't given will see a reason that compels them to donate.

The Salvation Army relies on money raised in the Red Kettles – in coins, dollars and credit card gifts – to serve nearly 30 million people in more than 5,000 communities nationwide. From its humble beginnings by one man, it has spread over time to more than 25,000 volunteers every year ringing bells and collecting from the day after Thanksgiving to Christmas Eve.

There are many partners and supporters of the red kettles, to include the Dallas Cowboys, Wal-Mart/Sam's Club, Hanes and UPS. Retail partners that allow red kettles at their stores nationwide are CBL Properties, JCPenny, Hobby Lobby, Big Lots, Macy's/Bloomingdales, Wal-Mart/Sam's Club and Walgreens.

Some important dates to remember include Friday, from noon to 1 p.m. for the Kettle Kick-off at Wal-Mart; Dec. 12 from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. will be fill the truck at Wal-Mart; Dec. 19 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. is the toy distribution and on Dec. 23 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. is the Salvation Army Christmas meal at 811 W. 5th St.

For those wishing to donate by debit/credit card, visit www.onlineRedKettle.org.

For more information or to volunteer, contact the Salvation Army at 432-267-8239.

Contact staff writer Julie Bass at 432-263-7331 ext. 232 or by email at life@bigspringherald.com

Children's Miracle Theater

By LYNDEL MOODY

Staff Writer

Registration for the Children's Miracle Theater for the Arts (CMTA) spring class is now open.

The Children's Miracle Theater for the Arts' goal is to build children's character, confidence, creativity, and talents through faith based theater, arts, music, and performance education. “They build community through outreach, volunteers, and presentations,” said Sharon Rich, director. “All children are welcome.”

The cost for the 16-week program is $80 for the first child with a $5 discount for additional children. The program is open to children ages six through 12.

Classes will meet from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 12, 2016 through May 1, 2016, at New Hope Christian School, 118 Cedar Road. The spring program will culminate in the production of the Robert Lewis Steven's classic “Treasure Island,” on April 30 and May 1. Rich said some musical numbers will be included in the production.

For more information or to pre-register, contact Rich at 432-517-0723.

The spring session will begin with a ribbon cutting ceremony at 6:30 p.m. Jan. 11, 2016 to welcome the CMTA as new members of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce. The ceremony will be held at New Hope Christian School by “The Stage.”

The Children's Miracle Theater for the Arts is a non-profit agency founded to develop character in children through the arts, Rich said.

Donations to support the organization can be made through its Facebook page. Rich said 100 percent of the money is used directly for the CMTA
