This collection of paintings is valued at $1,100 and includes the works of the master artists from the 14th century until the present time.

Some of the masters whose paintings that are in the display are, Giotto, Cimabue, Michelangelo, Titian, Fra Angelico, Tintoretto, Goya, Casati, Cezanne, and Van Gogh. This display is being presented to give the people of this community a better appreciation of the works of the best painters.

Only in recent years have the color reproductions been greatly increased and improved and has been made possible to see and purchase them at so low a cost.

The exhibition will be open to the public from 8 to 3:30 daily except on Saturday and Sunday. These reproductions may be purchased at a reasonable price.

Noted Speaker In Local College

Rabbi A. L. Krohn, professor in the University of New Mexico spoke in the college assembly Tuesday morning to both the students and faculty. He spoke on the economic condition and the education process at the present time and in the future.

Rabbi Krohn in one of the most intelligent speakers that has appeared before the student body this year and he held his audience spell-bound during his talk. He told of a new type of schools and education that would be brought out in the future.

He told the students that living was an art and that they should rise from the urge of life to the art of life if they hoped to accomplish something in life.

Rabbi Krohn spoke several times while in the city and spent Wednesday at the Junior College lecturing to classes and meeting the students.

The college quartette, composed of Ralph Black, John Bruce, Jack Carr, and L. W. McGuffin closed the program with a negro dialect song.

Automobile License Show Big Increase

The car license sales show a great increase on the preceding year, according to figures given by the local license bureau.

Up to Feb. 1, 1934, 1180 passenger car licenses were sold. Up to Feb. 1, 1935, 1435 passenger car licenses were sold. Up to the same date in 1934 there were 248 truck licenses sold. Up to the same date in 1935, 346 truck licenses were sold.

The cash received for 1934 was $12,268.54. For 1935, $12,764.02.

Dr. W. M. Gersbacher and H. H. Green were dinner guests Sunday of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Carr.

WHAT OUR REPS. ARE DOING

It will be of interest to the News readers to learn what the representatives from this district are doing in Santa Fe.

The Homestead Exemption Bill was drawn by Senator T. E. Mears of Portales. This bill will meet the approval of all home owners.

Senate Bill No. 1, reenacts the gross income law, commonly known as the school or sales tax. It is complete in covering everything in providing revenue for the schools of the state. This is practically the same as the present emergency school tax law, which expires this year, and hence the necessity of reenactment.

In regard to this The News feels that everyone should back this law, as it provides revenue, of which the schools were deprived by the constitutional amendment of the 20 mill levy. With a clear ruling on this bill, all opposition should be overcome. Perhaps The News has been a little raw in its criticism of the rulings on this law, but it wishes it understood that it is not against this law, but the inconvenience of contradictory rulings in its enforcement.

In the lottery bill last week, Representative Kennedy came out for this law. (The News feels that this was unwise, as lotteries of every class are barred from the U. S. mail, and that a lottery law is no more justifiable than the enactment of a law legalizing the gambling tables.)

Senator Mears and Representative Kennedy have undoubtedly striven to bring about the enactment of laws that are of benefit to the people of New Mexico, even though they sometimes disagree as to what is the best.

The News has on file a copy of all bills introduced and would be glad to review them all, but it would take a volume of many pages to give them all.

City Planning Board Held Meet Monday

The City Planning Board met Monday evening at the City hall. Work on the city park is being pushed. It is hoped to soon have men on the job putting out trees and grass.

The public will be asked to donate trees and shrubs. If you have any number of trees or shrubs which you will donate or this purpose, please Mrs. J. G. Greenes at 127 or 83 or Mrs. Yacy Armstrong.

Federal Farm Loan Members In Meet

On Thursday afternoon of last week a group of members, chairmen and appraisers of there of the Federal Farm Loan associations of Roosevelt county met in the district court room for the purpose of discussing land valuation for federal farm loans.

The opinion of many was that the present valuations are too low and that Roosevelt county farmers are being discriminated against. All chairmen who were not present were notified and requested to call a meeting of the directors of their locals, and select one for a general committee to meet at some later date and take action as to how valuations of lands in this county were to be determined.

The Portales Chamber of Commerce has signified its willingness to get behind any program that the farmers committee decide upon and give every aid possible to bring about fairer valuations.

President's Ball Great Success

The President's birthday ball held in Portales on Jan. 30, was a decided success.

Those attending were orderly and seemed to enjoy the evening to the fullest extent.

Receipts from this ball netted the committee $75 and over. Thirty per cent of the proceeds go for research work in the prevention of infant paralysis, and 70 per cent remains here to take care of cases coming under this head.

Reports from over the nation is that this was successful everywhere and that the receipts totaled about $100,000.00.

Last week J. T. Keeler attended a Bottlers Works convention in Amarillo, Texas.

Portales General Hospital Is Now Near Completion

On last Sunday afternoon The News editor had the pleasure of inspecting the Portales General hospital, which is now being builded and equipped by Dr. E. T. Hensley.

This hospital is one of the best equipped and arranged hospital in the state, and when completed will have about 30 rooms in all.

The architecture lends very pleasing appearance. The front entrance is reached by broad steps, finished with terrazzo or Italian marble. The floor of the halls and reception room and operating room is finished with this material.

The wards are of hardwood flooring, covered with linoleum rugs, over hardwood floors.

The basement will contain the laundry, kitchen, nurses quarters and several wards.

The main floor contains two examining rooms, the superintendent's receiving room, the maternity ward, the operating room and a number of rooms for patients.

On this floor is a small kitchen where special food may be prepared for patients.

The operating room is fully equipped with the latest model operating table, instrument cabinets, and every convenience for the care of any case that may come there for treatment.

On the side is the ambulance entrance, with broad steps and wide doors, which makes it convenient to bring in the stretcher.

While Dr. Hensley is building this hospital at his own expense he says that it is open to any reputable physician or surgeon, and that their patients will have the same care and consideration as his own patients.

The hospital is heated with two gas floor furnaces, and each room is equipped with a gas wall heater, a linen closet, a toilet and lavatory and hot and cold water.

Convenient bath rooms are well located on both floors.

Glass doors to the operating room may permit persons to see an operation without interfering in any way. A glass door to the nursery also will permit one to see the babies without subjecting the little ones to accidental infection.

FEATURE TWO COLLEGE GAMES HERE ON MONDAY, THURSDAY

News From the Capital

(The news matter under this heading is sent each week by Representative Floyd T. Kennedy and the News claims no responsibility for them, nor are they necessarily the views of the News.—News Editor.)

Last week was a very busy one with the legislature. Final date for introduction of bills was set for Feb. 6, while the date of adjournment was set for Feb. 20.

The committee on privileges and elections finished the Moro county contest which resulted in unseating one Republican and replacing him with a Democrat and retaining one Republican.

The special committee investigating the San Miguel election is marking time, awaiting further advice from Washington. It is likely that this committee will never complete the job.

Relief matters took up a good part of the time during the week.

The fact that Colorado, Kansas, and other states were cut off of Federal relief rolls due to slowness in raising their share of relief money as requested spurred the legislature on. Funds were provided by the passage of Senate Bill No. 47, introduced by Senator T. E. Mears.

A corporation franchise tax and by diverting some two hundred thousand dollars of liquor tax money to relief. This money will go to assist the federal government in caring for the old and disabled who are not fit for work. This takes the place of funds requested by Kennedy for old age pensions.

Perhaps the most stirring event of the week was the consideration of House Bill No. 42. A 2 percent privilege tax on public utilities, introduced by Floyd Kennedy.

The debate on this measure drew the largest gallery of the session, it even looked like Room 400 at the LaFonda (headquarters of the special interest lobby) might have been deserted, as Bureau, Reed, Spuchly and others were seen among the crowd. The bill lost by only a small vote, even though the administration forces as well as the combined lobby were actively opposing it.

No school measures have reached either house but will be many this week as the fifth is the deadline.

Portales Rotary Receives Charter on February 14th

The next meeting of the Portales Rotary will be held on Feb. 14 at 6:30 o'clock, when the charter will be presented by Past International President Clinton A. Anderson of Albuquerque.

Colonel Pearson, district governor, will be present and the Roosevelt Rotary as sponsor of this club will have charge of the program.

A number of visiting Rotarians from Baton, Clayton, Roswell, Albuquerque, Lubbock, Amarillo, and other points are expected to be present.

The luncheon was held on Tuesday of this week in honor of Rabbi Krohn of Albuquerque, who addressed the club on International Relations.

McCall's Grocery Buys New Quarters

J. N. McCall has purchased the building on South Main street now occupied by the M. V. South grocery, and will move into this new location about March 1.

M. V. South has not decided as to his new location as yet.

The Plains Cooperative Creamery will occupy the building now occupied by the Parha Grocery in the near future. Joe Parha says he has not yet decided where his new location will be.

Game With Teachers Scheduled Here Cancelled

Two college games will be played in the Portales high school gymnasium next week. The New Mexico Military Institute Broncos will play the Greyhounds on Monday night. The Canyon Freshmen will play the local hoopers on Thursday.

The Broncos will come to Portales with revenge in their eyes after a defeat a short time ago by the Greyhounds by a close score of 46 to 33. The Greyhounds edged out in the closing minutes of play to win. J. B. Maxwell, a former Portales high school athlete, is guard on the Broncos five.

The West Texas State Teachers college fish will come to Portales confident of a victory for they have an exceptionally good team this season and defeated the Junior college team by a big margin in a game played at Canyon a few weeks ago.

The Broncos seem to have a reversal in form since they played the locals and held the A. & M. Varsity to lose by 3 and 6 points in a series of games played last week.

Due to conflicting schedules the two games announced with the State Teachers college Mustangs which were to have been played last night and tonight have been cancelled and will probably not be played this season.

Housing Situation Serious

The housing program in Portales is becoming more serious each day. During the past week The News has had applications for a number of apartments, or houses.

So far The News has been able to learn that there are no rooms, apartments or houses available in Portales. An apartment house of four or six apartments could readily be rented on years' contracts at once.

Those who are able to build say that there is no profit in rent property, and those who would build cannot finance satisfactorily.

Under the federal housing program, it looks as if some means to meet the pressing need of houses in Portales could be met. Several weeks ago Heck Harris, who is with this department in Santa Fe, was in Portales and urged that such a program be started in Portales.

Portales is suffering from a shortage of houses. Portales carpenters are suffering for want of work. The lumber and allied building trades are suffering for want of business, that such a program would supply.

The banks of the nation are filled with idle money, which could be put to constructive use. Capitalists are letting their money lay idle in the vaults while the nation is trying to pull out of the economic depression.

As long as wealth makes no effort to co-operate with the government to restore prosperity, just so long will the relief lines continue to grow.

Crime Doesn't Pay

That crime doesn't pay is brought more forceful to the front each day.

Take Al Capone, the king of gangsters. He is caught in the claws of the law, and will spend the greater part of his life behind prison bars. His immense wealth cuts no ice with Uncle Sam.

On down through the history of arch criminals, many who have bit the dust at the hands of the law enforcement bodies of Uncle Sam, their ill-gotten gains will do them no good.

Last week two minor criminals, who had hopes to reach the pinnacle of fame obtained by Pretty Boy Floyd and Dillinger were outwitted by officers of the small cities of Eastern New Mexico. They have admitted that crime doesn't pay.

When the press and movies cease giving these criminals a glamorous life, they will be easier to control.

In Washington, D. C., the crime detection bureau has a complete record of every criminal of importance in the nation, and by turning to their files, are able to name the possible criminals whenever a crime is committed.

Each criminal has a peculiarity, which identifies his connection with a crime, and it is only a matter of time until he is brought before the bars of justice, or falls before the fire of enforcement officers.

The petty criminals who fool themselves that they are too smart for the law is only riding for a fall. For as soon as his operations become of sufficient importance for Uncle Sam's boys to step in, he will be classified as Public Enemy No. 1, and either captured or shot in his tracks.

Crime does not pay. And the sooner the younger generation realizes this and shuns all criminal associates, the better it will be for them and the nation at large.

Recognition of Service

Freezing weather the first days of this week and the promise of more to come, according to dispatches today by the Associated Press, brought sharply to attention a service given by the home town merchant and by no other.

The freeze this week was the first of the season for Carlsbad. It was the first occasion when really heavy clothing was wanted by most of us here in town. But we wanted warm clothes Monday and Tuesday, and we probably will want them more if the cold weather continues as the news dispatches say it will.

When we wanted warm clothes, we found them ready and waiting for us, at reasonable prices, on the shelves of Carlsbad's stores. There had been, as we say, not much demand for blankets and heavy coats and other accessories that go with cold weather. But the merchants had stocked these things. They carried them through the unusually warm weather of November and December so that when we demanded service we could get it.

The service offered by those home merchants is, we believe, a strong argument for trading at home and an equally strong argument against trading away from home.

Supposing when cold weather struck Sunday night and we awoke Monday morning, we would have had to go 180 miles southwest to get a pair of wool socks, a coat and a load of coal. We wouldn't have liked it a bit.

Too many of us expect and even demand the service we get from the local business houses when the cold hit us Monday morning without giving them any good reason for wanting to serve us.

Frankly, we would be inclined to say, "Sorry, we can't serve you," if we were a merchant and if a chronic out-of-town shopper came to us in an emergency.

There is a great hullabaloo these days to pay honest debts, to recognize service in one line or another and to take cognizance of moral obligations. We believe this campaign could be carried successfully to recognition of the service every home merchant gives, and this recognition can best be given by trading at home in non-emergency buying as well as in emergency buying.—Carlsbad Current-Argus.

Texas Harrassing Trucks

Over in Texas, officers are holding up New Mexico trucks for want of Texas license. The Texas license are not on sale yet, and they are trying to make truckers buy 1934 license plates.

This occurred in Slaton, Texas, Friday of last week.

If Texas is going to require New Mexico trucks to buy Texas license, they should have the license for sale, and not hold up trucks and fine the driver just for a little coffee money. In fact all license plates should be good anywhere in the United States.

The News has been a strong believer in state rights, but these rights have become so abused that it would be logical for the federal government to step in and issue federal car license exclusively, and they return to the state the license fees for cars registered from that state.

State line wars have seriously handicapped the various states and so far as motor transportation is concerned, abolished.

It is unjust for any state to fail to recognize car license plates from another state.

SOCIAL ANNEX

By THE BOSS

Under the relief work set-up there is a grievance committee, and the following gives some idea of the grievances turned in:

Here is a collection of excerpts you may enjoy, which we swiped:

From office to office, through the busy corridors of the FERA building in Washington, has been passing a document that receives immediate attention, with no delay of red tape whatever. It seems that a young woman employed in opening and sorting thousands of letters pouring in from relief applicants was sufficiently interested to make a collection of some oddities she found.

These she insisted were actual sentences, copied from incoming letters. They prove nothing, unless it is the mastery of language among folks in a land of universal education. Still, all the folks in the government relief administration seem to enjoy them and maybe you would too. Here is the collection:

I cannot get sick pay. I have six children, can you tell me why this is?

This is my 8th child, what are you going to do about it?

Mrs. Brown has had no clothing for a year and has been regularly visited by the clergy.

I have been cohabiting with several officers at headquarters but without results.

I am forwarding my marriage certificate and my two children, one of which is a mistake as you can see.

I am glad to say that my husband, who was reported missing is now deceased.

I am writing to say that my baby was born two years old. When do I get my money?

Unless I get my husband's money soon, I will be forced to lead an immoral life.

I am sending my marriage certificate and six children. I've had seven, one died which was baptised on a half a sheet of paper by Rev. Thomas.

Please find out for certain if my husband is dead. The man I am now living with won't eat or do anything until he knows for certain.

My husband has been put in charge of a spittoon so now I get money.

I was very annoyed to find that you have branded my oldest boy as illiterate. This is a dirty lie as I married his father a week before he was born.

In answer to your letter, I have given birth to a boy weighing ten pounds. I hope this is satisfactory.

You have changed my little boy to a girl. Will this make any difference?

Please send my money at once as I need it badly. I have fallen into error with my landlady.

In accordance with your instructions I have given birth to twins, in the enclosed envelope.

I want my money as quick as you can send it. I have been in bed with a doctor for two weeks and he doesn't seem to be doing me much good. I things don't improve I will have to send for another doctor.

The News understands that Dr. Townsend, sponsor of the $300.00 per month pension bill, has received 10,000,000 signatures to the petition to congress. The News also understands that each signer paid 25 cents for the privilege, which would amount to $2,500,000. The doctor is not so dumb after all, and will have little use for the $200 per month pension.

What has become of the Clovis peanut butter factory. Said factory was to have been located just one block off the Portales square.

It is rumored that drilling will soon resume at the "Gloria Oil Well," just 30 miles southwest of Portales.

The Earth, the official publication of the Santa Fe railway, says that "Clovis is building a park" at the GOC camp in Roosevelt county.

Mack is claiming everything for Clovis within a hundred mile radius of Clovis.

Luck to you Mack, if you can get away with it.

"Don't Quote Me"

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Step right up, folks, and get your new baby bonds, hot off the treasury griddle and going today at any U. S. postoffice at the special price of $19.50 for a full $25 value.

That's how a sideshow Barker might ballyhoo the treasury's latest financial move. It decidedly is not the sort of announcement that Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., is making but the two amount to about the same thing.

If congress agrees, as is expected the treasury will get authority to issue small bonds to be sold to housewives, clerks, grocery store keepers—and anyone else with just a little money and a desire to put it in a safe place.

Every month the bonds will be put on sale at postoffices throughout the land. They will carry a face value of $25, $50, $100 and other convenient sums up to $10,000 (which is not so convenient for most folks).

But the bonds actually will be sold for $19.50, $39, $79 and similar bargain counter amounts. When they come due in 10 or 20 years the holder will cash them in at par and pocket the difference. The bonds won't draw interest but the curd prices will have the same effect.

Josh Lee, Democrat of Oklahoma who rose from schoolboy champion orator to congressman by virtue of his story-telling ability, is starting out in the same entertaining mood in congress.

A first term member, he has had no time in trying out his talents on the house. Here is his latest:

A congressional candidate was haranguing a crossroads audience.

"Why," said the candidate, "there isn't a man here who can name a combination of letters that doesn't stand for some form of relief under the New Deal."

A grizzled old farmer interrupted.

"I can name one," he said. "G. O. P."

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson is quite a story teller, too, in the opinion of Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace.

Commenting on one of Johnson's articles which declared that Dr. Mordcaid Ezekiel Wallace's economic advisor, had worked a plan to rent all surplus farm acreage at $3 an acre, Wallace said:

"Johnson tells a splendid story."

But, he said, "It is somewhat more imaginative than accurate."

The day of the rugged individualist is returning, if nowhere else, in the national parks.

Recent years, it develops, have brought to denizens of the parks paternalism, "coddling" and all the other features which anti-new dealers charge result from too much governmental activity.

Unlike some departments, however, the national park service not only is the first to admit the situation but has actually brought it to light. They report that the husky brown bears, the fierce grizzlies, the fleet deer and the mighty elk of the parks have got soft.

It started when heavy snows, drought and other vagaries of nature put the wild life food supply. To keep the animals from starvation the park service provided food at lenient terms. But for no longer, the service announced. It's back to rugged individualism.

"The victims of man's misguided philanthropy will be re-educated to self-dependence," says the park service bulletin.

If anyone wants to know today whether Secretary of the Interior, FWA Administrator, Oil Administrator, etc., Harold L. Ickes has resigned he may inquire in vain at Ickes press offices.

Ickes' resignation has been denied for the last time, his aides announced.

"We are putting into effect a standing formal denial from today on," said the press department. "We have denied his resignation from two to 20 times daily for the last six months. We're getting tired. There will be no more denials."

"BABY BONDS" TO BE ISSUED BY FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (UP)—Almost on the eve of the expected supreme court decision on gold—involving millions in its own pre-valuation bonds—the treasury today set for March 1 the opening of a new financing move by means of a "baby bond" issue.

President Roosevelt was chosen to give impetus to the drive through the purchase of bond "A-I."

Getting set for this innovation in post-war financing, departmental officials today also continued their study of means of averting what government counsel has told the supreme court would be an economic crisis if the court should hold against the government in the gold cases.

The "baby bonds" will be issued in denominations running from $25 to $10,000 and, under present plan, they will be sold principally through postoffices. The sale of postal savings bonds will be discontinued on July 1.

The interest rate is still to be determined.

Here's Something NEW in LAMPS ... the NEW I. E. S. STUDY LAMP

Has an outside shade for beauty... an inner lining that gives twice the useful light of ordinary shades... and an opal reflector that softens and diffuses the light for real eye comfort.

"Why is this lamp so different you ask?" It is different because it was created for the sole purpose of checking the alarming increase in defective eyesight shown by these figures:

35% of the children in grade schools are handicapped by impaired eyesight.
44% of the graduates leave our colleges with damaged eyes.
75% of all people over 50 suffer from defects of vision.

Much of this trouble has been caused by reading and studying under the wrong kind and amount of light.

So that everyone—the child in the grade school—the student at college—the man or woman who reads or studies at home might have the benefit of scientifically correct light, the Illuminating Engineering Society worked out the specifications for the New Study and Reading Lamp.

It is not offered as a substitute for the services of an eyesight specialist, but it is recommended to everyone who wants eye protection.

I.E.S. Study Lamps are made in table and floor models, in many styles, finishes and decorative effects—and are as outstanding in beauty as they are in protecting eyesight.

New Mexico Utilities Co.

STUDY LAMP FEATURES

Outside Shade Reflector—reflects twice as much useful light as an ordinary lamp shade.

Inside Reflector Diffuser—eliminates reflected and direct glare and softens shadows.

Height—Purposefully made high to spread light over entire working area. Also adds to beauty.

WHY YOU SHOULD NOT READ OR WORK BESIDE A LOW LAMP

1. Low lamp doesn't spread light out far enough to reach your eye-comfort.
2. Customary dark shades waste much of the light you need for eye-comfort.

Low lamps are satisfactory for decoration but should never be used for even ordinary visual tasks.

News Editor Visits Transient Camp

Sunday afternoon the News editor visited the transient camp at the old air port west of Clovis.

There are 250 inmates at the camp at this time. The camp is sanitary, and has its own sewer system. Large dormitories provide for quarters for the inmates. A basketball and softball court, in the building provides recreation.

There is also a large reading room and library for those who desire to use same.

The camp has its own dairy herd and beef herd, and every effort is being made to make the camp as near self-sustaining as possible. The inmates are from every walk of life, one university of Illinois graduate is there.

While there are a number of derelicts, there are many who are fine looking, but victims of economic conditions.

PUBLIC FORUM

ABOUT STOCK LOSSES

Editor, Portales Valley News, Portales, New Mexico.

May I make a few suggestions to those who have lost work stock on the various relief projects thru the columns of your paper?

I am just in receipt of a letter from Congressman Dempsey asking me to write him more particularly in regard to the loss we farmers have sustained. I believe it would be well for each farmer who has suffered loss to write our Congressman both United States Senators in regard to the matter. That will give our national lawmakers a better notion of the seriousness of our loss.

Emphasize the fact that the loss has invariably been greater than the relief; and that, unless these losses are taken care of, we are going to be greatly handicapped in making a crop—even with an abundance of rain!

I am convinced that our local leaders have done all they can to get compensation for these losses, as also has Mr. McAbee; but it occurred to me that our national leaders might influence Mr. Jones to ask the National Court of Claims to allow a total claim for the whole nation (which would, doubtless, be several millions) and then Congress make an appropriation, as is their custom in such matters.

Or, if Congress sees fit, they could recognize the loss and make a lump sum appropriation to cover same.

The claims on file in Mr. Oldham's office will probably total $1500, and I am told that Mr. McAbee asked the relief bureau in Washington for $1400 to cover such losses in the state.

Write your Congressman, J. J. Dempsey, and both senators, Carl A. Hatch and Bronson M. Cutting in Washington, if you want recompense for your losses.

A bank properly serving a community is, strictly speaking, a co-partnership composed of borrowers, depositors and stockholders.

Borrowers are those who merit consideration because of an established credit standing in the community. FORD GAVE YOU THE V-8 TRUCK ENGINE ... THEN THE FULL FLOATING REAR AXLE

Now Forward Load Distribution

Obtained by mounting front springs ahead of axle and moving V-8 engine forward. This places more load ahead of rear axle, more weight on front end.

TRUCKING entered a new era of economy when Ford engineers gave you the V-8 truck engine, the full-floating rear axle and the other truck-built features that are today saving money for thousands of Ford V-8 users.

For 1935, Ford engineers have added improvements that enable you to make new demands on your truck—that will further reduce your operating and maintenance cost.

Perhaps your tire wear is okay. Perhaps your brakes are giving efficient, long service. Maybe you have no complaint about the way your truck is standing up or handling. Even so... the new Ford Forward Load Distribution will improve on all these. In addition, you can now use full-width semi-trailers—and make acute angle turns.

No other truck in America, regardless of price, offers the combination of features brought to you by the 1935 Ford V-8. Don't fail to test these trucks on your own job, with your own drivers... 131½ and 157-inch wheelbases.

Corn-Hog Plan
In Growers Hand

The new corn-hog program, like the old, will be largely in the hands of local farmers. Community committees and a county production control association will be organized again to lead the program in New Mexico.

Throughout the country the community committee and county association set-up has proved so successful, it is said, that it is being continued in all AAA production control programs without material change.

Each community committee will be reorganized at a general meeting as soon as practically all applications for the 1935 corn-hog contracts have been received for the community. Producers who sign applications for a contract are entitled to one vote each.

After the several community committees have been organized, the committee chairmen will meet to establish the county association set-up for 1935.

The state and county agricultural extension services and the state corn-hog committee again will assist with the program in the educational meetings and the work leading up to the signing of applications for contracts. These groups also function continuously in an advisory capacity.

A state board of review will supervise the adjustments of corn and hog data and, in addition, will check contracts applications and make a preliminary audit of contracts. This board is appointed by the corn-hog section of the AAA.

Rural Teachers to Have Something New

The rural school teachers' meeting, according to Superintendent Woodburn and Rural Supervisor Miss Thelma McCully, promises to be something different. Instead of lectures, more or less dry, and theories more or less impracticable, there will be actual demonstrations of the work using the children of the Rogers school.

After the demonstrations, a round table discussion will bring out the good points, as well as a discussion on how to better those probably not so good.

Rogers community is a most progressive one, and the people are taking a great deal of interest in the coming meeting.

Horace Mathews and James Smith were visitors in Clovis Sunday afternoon and evening. They are both freshmen at the local Junior college.

James Compton and Mrs. Compton's father, B. T. Johnson of Canyon were week end guests in the J. C. Compton home.

Seeks Aid When $50 Wife Didn't Appear

ALAMOSA, Colo., Jan. 30. (UP)—Challe Chan, a Hindu of East-dale, charged in justice of peace court here that he paid $50 for a wife but didn't get the wife.

He pleaded for justice before Manuel Aragon, local jurist.

The defendant in the action, Arturo Gomez, was bound over to the district court for trial.

Chan, through interpreters, asserted he had paid Gomez $50 with which to buy his prospective bride, Gomez's half sister, a trousseau and to make other arrangements for the ceremony. He paid the $50, he said, and then Gomez skipped out.

YANK YANK EXPLAINS SOME THINGS

WHEN Yank Yank the Nuthatch asked Peter Rabbit if there was anything else he wanted to know, Peter was quite ready for him. "Yes," he retorted promptly, "I want to know how it is that you can walk head first down the trunk of a tree without losing your balance and tumbling off."

Yank Yank chuckled happily. "I discovered a long time ago," he replied, "that the people who get on best in this world are those who make the most of what they have."

"I Should Say Not," exclaimed Yank Yank.

and waste no time wishing they had what other people have. I suppose you have noticed that all the Woodpecker family have stiff tail feathers and use them to brace themselves when they are climbing a tree. They have become so dependent upon them that they don't dare move about on the trunk of a tree without using them. If they want to come down a tree they have to back down.

"Now, Old Mother Nature didn't give me a stiff tail but she gave me a very good pair of feet with three toes in front and one behind and when I was a very little fellow I learned to make the most of those feet. Each toe has a sharp claw. When I go up a tree the three front claws on each foot hook into the bark. When I come down a tree I simply twist one foot around so that the three front claws of this foot keep me from falling. It is just as easy for me to go down a tree as to go up, and I can go right around the trunk quite as easily and comfortably." Sitting action to the word, Yank Yank ran around the trunk of the apple tree just above Peter's head. When he reappeared Peter had another question ready.

"Do you live altogether on insects and worms and grubs and their eggs?" he asked.

"I should say not," exclaimed Yank Yank. "I like acorns and beech nuts and certain kinds of seeds."

"I don't see how such a little fellow as you can eat such hard things as acorns and beech nuts," protested Peter a little doubtfully.

Yank Yank laughed right out. "Sometimes when I see you over in the Green Forest I'll show you," said he. "When I find a fat beech nut I take it to a little crack in a tree which will just hold it. Then with this stout bill of mine I crack the shell. It really is quite easy when you know how. Cracking a nut open that way is sometimes called hatching, and that is how I came by the name of nuthatch."

Question Box

By ED WYNN
The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Can you tell me the origin of the custom of hanging paintings on walls?

Yours truly,
ART STUDENT.

Answer: In 612 B. C. there ruled in Egypt a very vain king. He heard of an artist who could paint his picture on canvas. The king, wishing to leave behind him his likeness, ordered the artist to paint his picture. When it was completed the king did not like the painting. He sent his soldiers out to catch the artist, but they couldn't find him, so the king hung the painting.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I have my laundry work done at a Chinese laundry. I went there yesterday and was talking to one of the laundry men about his native country. He told me of the earthquakes and floods they have there. He said that after the last earthquake in China the city of Hong-Kong looked just like "h-l-l." Do you believe that?

Yours truly,
N. QUISITIVE.

Answer: Well, some Chinamen have been in a lot of places.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I have a very dear friend who has been acting strangely ever since his wife ran away with an engineer of a railroad train. Now, every time he hears a train whistle he gets nervous and runs away and hides himself. What do you think is wrong with him?

Sincerely,
G. WHITE.

Answer: It is only natural that he should run away. An engineer stole his wife and ran away on a train with her and now when he hears a whistle he hides. Very simple. He's afraid the engineer is bringing his wife back.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Can you tell me what is meant when people say a certain married couple are "unspeakably happy"?

Yours,
O. HIGH.

Answer: When a married couple are referred to as being "unspeakably happy" it means that they are deaf and dumb.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I have been ill for several months and my physician wants to send me to the milk cure in Afghanistan. Please tell me, "Is the milk good there?"

Sincerely,
HOPE SOE.

Answer: Is the milk good in Afghanistan? Why, CREAM isn't it.

U. S. TO BUY 7 MILLION ACRES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The purchase and withdrawal from cultivation of 7,000,000 acres of unprofitable farm land by July 1 Monday was set as a goal by Administration officials who are attempting to find a place for stranded populations—rural and urban.

The Relief Administration and the AAA have allotments totaling $73,000,000 to purchase, submarginal land and they have been quietly purchasing land for some time.

Approximately 45,000 people will be directly affected under the purchase program now under way, according to the best official estimates. They are being moved to better farming areas if they are willing to attempt a fresh start.

Much of the land which the government plans to purchase is in Middle West drought areas.

Officials said the Federal program would give impetus to similar movements by the states. New York, Pennsylvania, and Oklahoma are planning extensive programs of land retirement, they said.

Westbrook indicated that rural rehabilitation and subsistence homestead projects likely would have a prominent part in the Administration's four billion dollar work program.

Mrs. R. R. Start and Mrs. S. A. Foreman of Wichita, Kansas, were visiting in the home of their sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Brown Friday. They were on their way from California where they had been to visit their mother, who has been quite ill.

Junior Whitworth, Francis Shaw, and Paul Wurster were guests of Mrs. Lillie Campbell and sons, John and Leland at a waffle supper Sunday night.

Mrs. Nora Moore of Tucumcari came in Sunday for a visit with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Cissell.

HERE & THERE

By United Press

Albuquerque, N. M.—A decrease in ducks in the vicinity of Roswell and Carlsbad was noted lately by C. R. Gilham, U. S. Biological survey game management agent. Only about 25,000 were counted which is about one-tenth the number of ducks which inhabited the region this season ten years ago. Forty per cent of the ducks counted, Gilham said, were mallards, 30 per cent pin-tails, 20 per cent bald-pates and 10 per cent green-winged teals, ruddys, bufflehead and scaup.

Albuquerque, N. M.—Albuquerque's Little Theatre property man is worried. He cannot locate a big teddy bear or a love seat for use in a forthcoming production. It is explained that the teddy bear does not sit in the love seat; he is put to bed in the course of the play.

Gallup, N. M.—An old revolver with an unfired shell in the cylinder was found in an old adobe wall near Grant. Not the most expert of New Mexico's hunters nor the most learned New Mexican student of antiquated weapons has been able to classify it. The cylinder held six cartridges and on each receptacle in the cylinder there was an individual plunger. It is believed that it might have belonged to one of New Mexico's early caballeros.

Albuquerque, N. M.—A pleading telegram from "an old friend" of the defendant, failed to prevent Police Judge J. L. Oober from sending Rudolph Koehne to jail here for drunkenness when he couldn't pay a $15 fine. The telegram told the judge that the mother of Koehne was dependent upon the support of her only son. The flippant tone of the telegram, which referred to "the local battle" and the fact that Koehne admitted he was a "floater" on his way to Denver, decided the judge not to grant clemency.

Hensley Speaks To Senior Class

"Respect and honor your profession" were words from E. T. Hensley, Jr., in a talk to the senior class recently. "Law as a profession" was Mr. Hensley's subject. A high school graduate of New Mexico must have at least two years in college and belong to the American Bar association before he can become a lawyer. He explained this profession as being expensive as well as a battle for what is right.

According to Mr. Hensley's words, in the cave-man day rights were settled with club fights. Later, a code of laws set up, and these have led to our present day laws. After studying these things, one cannot help but admire the law as a profession.

Canned Products Win In Contests

A state-wide contest of canned products, sponsored by the Kerr Jar company of Sand Springs, Okla., was recently held at State College.

Contests had been held previously in various counties and the exhibit winning first place in each county was sent to State College to compete in the state contest. Each exhibit consisted of six jars of fruit, two of vegetables and two of meats. At the county contests, first, second and third places were awarded and the winners each received one dozen jars from the Kerr company.

The exhibits sent to State College from the counties were judged by the representative of the Kerr company, Mr. Ward Hart. Placings were awarded as follows: First, Mrs. Russell Aldham, Albuquerque. Mrs. Aldham is a member of the Atrisco Homemakers club. Second, Alma Owen of Cimarron, Colfax county. There was no third place awarded.

At the canning contest held by the Hazel-Atlas Glass company, during the Thirtieth National Boys and Girls club Congress at Chicago, November 30 to December 2, 1934, Betty Hughes, a 4-H club member of Miami, Colfax county, won second placing in the individual exhibits on canned pork.

Miss Helen Mauldin and Miss Helen McConnell of Clovis were guests of the C. E. meeting in Portales Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Smith of Amarillo were guests of Mrs. Smith's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. King over the week end.

LINCOLN CANE PRESENTED TO H. GASPAR

GALLUP, N. M., Jan. 30. (UP)—The famous Lincoln cane was presented to Henry Gaspar in the recent inauguration ceremonies at which he was installed as the first elected governor of the Zuni Indian nation. For 300 years the Zunis were ruled by a chief appointed by six caciques, priests born to their office.

The Zuni, living in the largest pueblo in America, overwhelmingly approved the Wheeler-Howard act providing for Indian self-rule by chiefs or governors chosen by popular election from the tribe.

The first election provided another triumph for the New Deal. Gaspar was an ardent Progressive and supporter of President Roosevelt. His opponent, Justace, was a conservative.

After the six caciques had presented the governor with the cane, which was given to a Zuni chief as an emblem of authority by President Lincoln in Civil War days, a buffalo feast was held.

CORRECTION
A mis-statement occurred in the Farm Information Service for Jan. 28 in the article on the "1935 Bankhead Allotment Made." The statement should have been that if the allotment to New Mexico is on the same proportionate basis in 1935 that it was in 1934, it would be 64,643 bales, 500 pounds net. The allotment in 1934 in 500 pound bales was 60,603 bales. The allotment for 1935, as above, would constitute an increased allotment to New Mexico of 3,171 bales. However, no definite nor final statement can be made as to the New Mexico 1935 allotment at this time because no official figures are as yet available from Washington.

Cutting Up The Pork Carcasses

Pork carcasses should be cut in the manner that will provide the family with the cuts of meat that can be used to best advantage says W. L. Black of the New Mexico State College.

Hams that are to be held through the summer should be cut reasonably long and the protecting covering of fat should not be trimmed off. Where a good quality of sliced bacon is desired the ribs should be removed and the pieces given a smooth trim. Whether used fresh, frozen, cured, or canned, loins should be cut rather short and most of the back fat removed from them. Loins carrying a smooth, even coloring of fat will cook more quickly and satisfactorily than those that have been trimmed so as to expose the lean. Most of the fat should be removed from loins that are to be boned and canned. If large quantities of lard are needed, all the cuts should be trimmed rather closely.

Center-splitting the hog carcasses—which is sawing down the center of the backbone—makes it possible to use the loin in any of several ways. Where the backbone is chopped out, the remainder of the loin muscles usually available only for sausage. If the backbone is a much-demanded delicacy it is often desirable to split one or two hogs that way but to center split the other carcasses so as to produce a maximum amount of curing meat.

All curing cuts should be smoothly trimmed as the ragged edges become overvalued in cure and provide pockets for the growth of mold.

This material is based on information from the New Mexico Agricultural Experiment station and the U. S. department of agriculture.

MODERNIZE NOW!

HANDY KITCHEN-DINING ROOM CUPBOARD

WHEN most of the housework devolves upon one person, it is desirable to have as many steps as possible between kitchen and dining room. Where three meals a day have to be served, this matter becomes very important.

Here is a handy cupboard that may be built in a corner of the dining room. At the back there are doors opening into the kitchen. Dishes may be passed through this opening from the kitchen and removed to the dining table.

After the meal, the clean china and glasses are placed in the cupboard from the kitchen side and when the table is to be set for the next meal they may be removed from the dining room side.

In the lower section there is shelf space in which linen may be stored, and if desired a silver drawer may be built into the top section. Cupboard doors enclose the shelf space.

This cupboard could be made in pine or any wood to match the woodwork of the dining room, but would probably look best constructed with simple Colonial moldings painted to match the woodwork of the room.

If you prefer, you could buy stock corner cabinets similar to the one shown, from almost any lumber yard, and install in the dining room, leaving the opening into the kitchen for its convenience.

Electric Conveniences
The electric wiring of your modernized home is most important to you. Consult your local electric light company and a good electrical contractor, and get your outlets arranged for convenience and comfort.

Conditions have changed greatly in the past ten years, and more electrical appliances are being used each year. You not only need electricity for general illumination, but you need plenty of outlets.

I am suggesting a checking list below for the outlets that you may need in your living room:

1. Ceiling outlet with switch.
2. Wall bracket with switch (optional).
3. Convenience outlets (or base plugs). Allow plenty of these—one for every fifty square feet of floor space is a good rule. Thus you eliminate use of long cords.
4. A separate vacuum cleaner outlet. Thus you will not have to disconnect a lamp to use the vacuum cleaner.
5. Outlet for a bridge lamp in your favorite bridge corner.
6. Outlets for table and reading lamps.
7. Outlet for piano lamp.
8. Check up on the switches to see if they are conveniently located.
9. If you need an electric heater, run a separate power line. (Consult your local electric light company).
10. Two radio outlets, so you can move the radio in re-arranging the room.

Greyhounds Win 2 Games Monday

What local fans and coaches, and even the Pups thought would be an easy game turned out to be the hard one after all for the evening, but the locals took the Eastern New Mexico Junior College Greyhounds when they played a doubleheader here with quintet from the Montezuma college at Las Vegas and a hard fighting five from the COC camp north of Portales Monday night.

The game with the Montezuma five was played first and supposedly the hard game of the eve and had a lead of 33 to 8 at the half and easily won the contest with a 50 to 20 victory.

Coffman, center for the locals was high point man with 13 markers. Coach Reed used every man suited out and even Jimmy Smith, athletic manager, was able to make a free goal.

Five men on the Pup squad started the COC frolic but Coach Reed was forced to send his first string in early in the game and they were unable to take the lead until the last few minutes of the contest. The score at the half was 20 to 10 with the COC camp holding the big end of the score.

And they held the lead until there was only four minutes to play when the Greyhounds got "hot" and scored four field goals in rapid succession to win by a score of 34 to 28.

Patterson, Greyhound forward, was one of the best players on the court, and was able to put his ball in scoring position many times during both games.

Coach Brown of the high school was referee for the first game and D. H. Smith the last game.

RAMS DEFEAT TUCUM. 20-17

The scores of the Rams' last two games would indicate they are learning to "use their heads". After their victory over Ft. Sumner, they went to Tucumcari last Friday night, where they defeated the Rattlers by a score of 20-17.

It was a thrilling game; neither of the teams gaining more than four points lead. At the beginning of the last minute, the score was 17-17. We don't know on whose five-yard line it was, but we're sure the Rams had the ball. The minute wore on, and Bill Briggs dropped in two free throws. Then Creighton tossed another. Score 20-17, favor of the Rams.

High point man for the Rams was Gerald Hefflin, who pitched in eight ringers. Nolte was high for the Rattlers with six points.

The game was clean and fast. The starting line-up:

Nature's Joke

If this fellow's mother could see her son she probably would stop hatching out chicks. He is called "Repeal" because he was so unexpected. The twenty-month-old Rhode Island Red rooster has horns like an old ram, a comb like a coral reef, clucks like a hen that has just laid an egg, and has no spurs. He-pal raised such an uproar in the barnyard near Los Angeles where he was hatched with his three-inch horns that he has been removed to a cage of his own.

School Election Next Tuesday

The following names were filed as candidates for directors of the Portales school board, the election of which will be held on Tuesday of next week.

It is rumored that one or more names will be withdrawn from the ticket. Time for filing names of candidates expired Tuesday at 5 P. M. The following have been filed:

Geo. Johnston, J. G. Cox, Mrs. J. G. Owens, Mrs. C. J. Whitcomb, Chas. Starkey, C. M. Compton, Lewis A. Little.

Two are to be elected for a term of six years.

Locate Seed for Spring Planting

Farmers should begin to locate their spring planting seed as early as possible this year says G. R. Quisenberry of the New Mexico State College.

Some seeds are particularly scarce and unevenly distributed. Unless bought in the near future, considerable omission is certain to occur. The supply of certified seed is especially small with some crops.

There is a considerable amount of good seed left from previous years which is being offered for sale. Some of this old seed is germinating good and strong, while other samples are showing some weevil and are dangerous unless treated with carbon bisulphide or other approved methods. Some farmers with a surplus of planting seed are beginning to use a part of this seed for feed or selling it at prevailing high feed prices. This is particularly true of some of our best corn and grain sorghums.

The situation has improved some in the last few weeks, but by no means has it adjusted itself to where farmers can readily get stocks of all kinds of field seeds. A few farmers and merchants have bought supplies for their immediate needs and the state FEHA has located and bought, with the cooperation of the Extension Service more than 1,000 tons of good adapted planting seed of several crops. This seed has been tested and will be moved to and distributed in deficient areas.

The Extension Service and the State Seed Laboratory are equipped to examine and test samples of seed sent in, and report on the value of such seed for planting purposes. This service is free.

Further Meat Hike Expected

RECENT PRICE INCREASE TO CONTINUE, EXPERTS SAY AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Farm experts said today that Housewives, who are fretting over food costs would have a great deal more worrying to do about the price of meat but little more so far as winter vegetables were concerned.

The sudden upshot in prices during the last month sent retail steaks up more than 3 cents a lb., roasts from 3 to 13 cents a pound lamb from 3 to 6 cents, and pork 4 cents a pound. Sharp rises also were registered in vegetables.

Department of Agriculture experts said that so far as meats were concerned, there would be more price raises but that vegetables would soon turn downward.

Meat prices still are ascending, however, and market observers saw no change in trend for the immediate future. As for cattle, they felt it would be the middle of next August before there would be enough newly fattened stock on the market of lower cost.—adv.

Farmers Enabled To Borrow Cash

Through the facilities of the Production Credit Corporation of Wichita, Kansas, the Federal government has made it possible for farmers with good security to co-operate with one another and borrow money for production purposes at the rate of about 5 percent, says J. L. Paschal, of the New Mexico State College. Money may be borrowed to pay current operating expenses, to purchase feed, seed, fertilizer, gasoline, machinery and certain kinds of livestock.

Interest starts when the money is drawn and stops the day it is paid back. Loans are supposed to be repaid within a year but if the security is good it is possible to have the loan extended as much as two years more.

Farmers who expect to borrow money should make application at once. The secretary of the association serving your county will be glad to provide information and forms needed in applying for production credit.

New Mexico is served by five separate and distinct production credit associations. In addition to performing this service, the Albuquerque Production Credit association serves the following counties: San Juan, Rio Arriba, Taos, Santa Fe, Sandoval, Torrance, McKinley, Valencia, Bernalillo, Socorro and Catron. Farmers living in any of the above-mentioned counties should make their application through the secretary of the Albuquerque Production Credit association.

The Springer Production Credit association serves the following counties: Colfax, Union, Mora, Harding and San Miguel. The Clovis Production Credit association with headquarters at Clovis the following counties: Quay, De Baca, Guadalupe, Curry and Roosevelt. The Roswell Production Credit association with headquarters at Roswell serves the following counties: Lincoln, Chaves, Lea and Eddy.

The following counties are served by the Las Cruces Production Credit association with headquarters at Las Cruces: Hidalgo, Luna, Grant, Sierra, Dona Ana and Otero.

Mrs. Nelo Means of Clovis was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Luna Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moodyman and Mrs. Harry Owsen were pleasure visitors in Clovis Sunday afternoon.

RAMS TO PLAY ELIDA QUINTET

The Rams and several fans are looking forward to the two games to be played this week end. Friday night Elida will come to Portales with the one thought in mind, "Beat the Rams!" Elida was beaten by the Rams to the tune of 27-13 January 4, when Portales opened its schedule there. Although the Rams did beat them, Elida has a fair team and will give our boys a tough fight.

The following night, January 9, the Portales quintet will go to Clovis to down the Wildcats. Clovis' basketball team cannot compare with their football team of '34, but they won't be "pickins" by any means.

As yet, the Wildcats and Rams have not met on the painted court but from all accounts, when they do meet, it will be a corking good game.

Fans, let's get behind the Rams! Leading throughout the entire game, the Portales Rams took the Fort Sumner quintet to a 30-12 drubbing on Jan. 25. The Rams started out strong from the first loss.

They got the tip-off twice and made two goals before the Fort Sumner team got set for them. The visiting team was slightly outclassed and although they played a hard game, they never came near playing the quality of ball the Rams did.

Funds Necessary for Relief Work

The Work Relief program has developed the fact that the city will have to furnish money for materials and transportation of it to be spread on the streets. Under this arrangement it will be necessary for the property so improved to pay the cost. This may have to be done through a paving project just as in that of paving with concrete.

The cost will be very light if there is no crushing of the caliche possibly $7.50 per 50 foot lot and where the street is paved only 30 feet wide. If the street is wider the cost will be in proportion.

A bond issue for this purpose, to be paid out in five years with six per cent interest, would be very light per year to any property owner. Where the property owner pays it in cash the property would be relieved on any lien.

The federal government will not allow the use of funds to any extent for the purchase of materials. The city will have to make arrangements for the money to buy the materials and the necessary non-relief expenditures or loss the great benefit that the city can have in good streets by getting the labor furnished by the government.

It simply means that the property owners of Portales must take some interest in this matter and either endorse the idea of making a bond issue to cover the cost and five time to those owning property who find it inconvenient to pay in cash or lose the benefit the city so badly needs.

Buddy Black was able to attend school Monday after an absence of three weeks.

The Missionary Society of the Methodist church will meet today, Thursday, with Mrs. Lowry Johnson, instead of with Mrs. W. B. Smith.
