MR. AND MRS. J. C. WHITELEY OBSERVE 60TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY FRIDAY

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Whiteley

Last Friday, May 26, marked the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Whiteley here in Eldorado.

Although various members of their family were dropping in throughout the day, there was no special observance of the event such as was held ten years ago on their 50th.

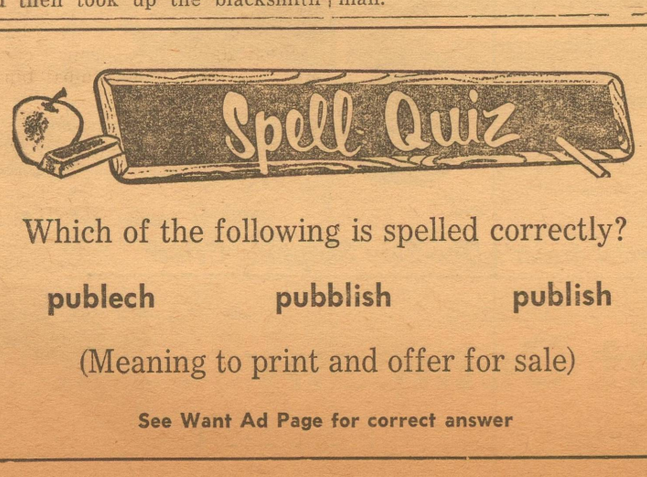

About one year ago Mrs. Whiteley fell on a wet linoleum floor and broke her hip, and has been a partial invalid since that time. For a person 77 years of age she has made an amazing recovery, and now gets around the house with the aid of an aluminum "walker."

On May 26, 1901, John Whiteley and Ida Clevenger were married in Mason county. They engaged in farming for the first five years and then took up the blacksmith trade. They moved to Eldorado in May, 1940, and Mr. Whiteley has been engaged in the blacksmith trade here ever since. Now 83 years of age, he still puts in a regular day at his shop.

The couple have four daughters and one son: Mrs. Laman Hazelwood, Mrs. Vernon Hazelwood and Mrs. Vernon Carroll of Eldorado; Mrs. Tom Carroll of Ozona; and Jack Whiteley of Voca.

The couple have lived all of life in Texas except for nine years spent in Oklahoma and Arkansas.

They own a small but comfortable home near the airport, and John owns all of his shop equipment. They have no need of a car as the girls bring them to and from town. Like the Village Blacksmith in Lonfellow's immortal poem, "He looks the whole world in the face, and owes not any man."

Tower Wins U.S. Senate; Carries County & State

JOHN G. TOWER

In last Saturday's run-off election for U. S. Senate, John G. Tower unseated interim appointee Wm. A. Blakley, to become the first Republican Senator from the State of Texas since Reconstruction Days following the Civil War.

Tower carried Schleicher county by a vote of 248 to 216. His victory in the state has been acclaimed by Republicans and liberal Democrats alike as a further manifestation of a growing 2-party system.

The earliest election returns Saturday gave Tower a slight edge; then an hour or two later Blakley built an impresssive edge of 20,000 votes, but by 9:30 p.m. this had evaporated and Tower gained an 8,000-vote lead which he kept through the remainder of Saturday night and all day Sunday as final returns trickled in.

Work is progressing on Bennie Harkey's new Humble service station at the intersection of the Sonora and Big Lake highways. The tanks have been buried and most of the foundation has been laid. The concrete decks will be run soon and the tile walls should be going up by next week. C. L. Martin, Sr., is in charge of the work.

Work of converting the Rock Courts building into the new Catholic church is continuing. The open south side has been closed in with cement tile walls and casement windows, two doors, and glass blocks in place. At the front, the large open doorway has been made smaller with a steel door frame in place and glass blocks on either side. Installation of glass in the windows is being done and interior work should start soon.

Mrs. Housewife: Have you ever tried to introduce your family to a tender leg-o-lamb for their dinner meal?

In a county like ours where sheep and lambs are raised by the thousands, it seems that the favorite meat dish has always been beef, while our lambs go out to distant markets to be consumed elsewhere.

The Sheep and Goat Raisers Association has been trying to reverse this trend, and have been co-operating with Hartgraves Livestock and Feeding Company in Eldorado in an attempt to promote the use of lamb here in its home country.

A recipe folder entitled, "Good Eating with Lamb" contains five special recipes on how to prepare various lamb dishes. These folders have been provided by Hartgraves and are available at your local grocer's.

Some facts about lamb as listed in the folder are:

1. Lamb fits the menu in any season and for any meal.

2. Lamb is easily and completely digested.

3. Lamb is tender; practically every cut may be roasted, broiled, or pan-broiled.

4. Lamb should always be cooked at low temperature, regardless of cooking method used. Use 300 degrees for roasting.

The folder doesn't point it out, but it is well worth mentioning, that lamb chops are a lot less fattening than pork chops. So if you are counting your calories and watching your weight, it would pay you to fit lamb into your menu.

Nyquist ReAppointed To Local Methodist Church

C. M. NYQUST

With close of the annual sessions of the Southwest Texas Methodist Conference last Friday in San Antonio, Rev. C. M. Nyquist's appointment to serve the Eldorado church for the 1961-62 year was among those announced.

Rev. Nyquist came to Eldorado last September from Donna, in the South Texas valley, succeeding Russell Heaner who moved at that time to McCamey. Rev. Heaner has been re-appointed to the McCamey church.

Doyle Morton, former pastor here, was re-appointed to the Sonora church and Roy Shilling, Sr., will again serve the church at Del Rio. He is also a former local pastor.

Other appointments of interest to local people included: El Campo, Fred J. Brucks; First Methodist church at McAllen, Grady Peters; San Benito, Carl Israel; Mertzon-Barnhart, Austin Masterson; Laurel Heights Methodist church in San Antonio, Ennis B. Hill; and executive secretary of the conference council, Horace M. King.

Work Under Way On New Highway Route

Workmen have been busy in western Eldorado this week clearing the new route for the Mertzon highway, which is to intersect the Sonora highway a block south of its present Callender street entry. It will come in on Murchison between the Hank's Gulf and Boothe Texaco stations. Structures on Murchison include the clinic building, the new Church of Christ, and Archie Wright's residence.

The Congregational Methodist church building was in the path of the new route and has been moved from lots 4B and 4C of Block R, to lots 3B and 3C in that same block.

Ditching machines have been busy in front of the Kenneth Cheek house digging trenches for relocating the water main that goes to Sunset Acres. A new 6-inch water main is to be laid to the McWhorter-Scott corner farther west, where a fire hydrant will be installed.

A new sewer line is also to be laid across the new highway route.

In addition to the moving of the Congregational Methodist church, the old Turnbow house and its outbuildings have been bought by the county and are to be removed.

Adult Sewing Course Being Arranged Today

The first meeting of the adult sewing class will be held today (Thursday) in the clothing room of the homemaking department at the Eldorado high school starting at 2:30 p.m.

Today's meeting is for the purpose of organizing the group into advanced or beginning classes and laying out the program of work. A considerable number of women have already enrolled in the class. Last-minute entrants may join by attending the meeting today.

LIONS PROMOTE VACCINATION OF PETS FOR RABIES

Favila Graduates From San Angelo School

RAY FAVILA

Ray Favila, a former Junior in the local high school, was given the chance of graduating from the San Angelo Central High School this week.

He started to school at the Central High in January, where he took six subjects this last semester and also took English IV by correspondence.

Ray started school when he was nine years old at the Sonora Elementary school where he attended for one year. Up to the first semester of his Junior year he was a student here in Eldorado. The last semester he was a member of the largest Senior class ever to graduate from a San Angelo school.

Commencement was held May 30 at 8:00 p.m. in the Bobcat stadium.

Austin.—Final week of the Legislature's 57th regular session was like most—with minor bills tumbling out in an avalanche and major bills tied up in conference committee.

Under now-or-never pressure, lawmakers searched desperately for compromises, but found their differences deep and hard to bridge.

Small loan regulation—stickiest of many sticky problems—bogged down in the Senate State Affairs Committee. It was an issue on which feelings seemed to run stronger and divisions deeper as time went on.

But many other bills "made it", or appeared to have, by receiving final passage in both houses as the session drew to a close. Among them were bills that would:

Outlaw selling liquor by the drink under the "front" of a private club and provide for licensing and regulation of bona fide private clubs by the State Liquor Control Board.

Pay members of the State Board of Insurance annual salaries, not to exceed $20,000, instead of the present $50 for each working day. Salaries were pegged at $16,000 in the appropriations bill.

Regualte importation of milk from other states. Result here did not make milk producers happy. It would allow milk to be imported into Texas if an inspector from the producing state certified its purity. Texas producers sought a bill requiring certification by a Texas inspector.

Make an emergency allocation of $650,000 to the Department of Corrections, hard hit financially by overflow prison populations and crop failures on prison farms.

Back Pay Pondered

Members of the Legislature are constitutionally entitled to receive $400 a month salaries dating back to November 25, 1960, according to an attorney general's opinion.

But whether to accept this money is a question of another sort.

November 25 was the effective date of a constitutional amendment authorizing $4,800 a year salaries for legislators. Amendment was not put into effect until the Legislature met January 10 and voted a salary appropriation.

House had its payroll start January 1; Senate's started January 10. Two House members have since refunded to the state $116 each, an amount covering the period from January 1-10 when the Legislature wasn't in session.

Most members have indicated, ruling or no ruling, they have no intention of trying to get back pay dating back to November 25—when some weren't even in office.

UH Bill Finally Passed

Mammoth University of Houston will become the 20th member of the state-supported college system in September, 1963, if Governor Daniel signs the bill passed by both houses.

Bill was fought hard by those who felt the state already has more state colleges than it can take care of. It was filibustered for a month in the Senate and had to pass the House twice. It made it through the last round in the House with a bit of help from Speaker James Turman—who held up announcing the vote until enough members had changed their minds to put the bill thru.

Safety Bills Passed

In the waning days of the Legislature, Governor Daniel made a strong plea for highway safety legislation.

Reduction of traffic deaths has been a cause for which the governor has worked unstintingly during all his years as chief executive.

Texas, he reminded the Legislature, has lost 4,707 lives to traffic accidents in the past two years. Had all these deaths occurred in a single disaster, said the governor, the Legislature would be swift to take emergency action.

Daniel asked for passage of bills to revise the drivers' license law, provide for driver education, allow chemical tests to determine drunkeness, set up a system of traffic courts and increase number and salaries of state highway patrolmen.

Welfare Bills Passed

Two bills to give extra help to persons on the state welfare rolls have received final passage from both House and Senate.

One, already signed by the governor, would increase by $1,800,000 a year the amount that may be paid out by the state to the aged and blind. This puts the annual spending up to the $47 million ceiling.

Another provides for medical care up to $12 a month for those on old age assistance. Payment would be made directly to the "vendors"—i. e., doctors, hospitals, nursing homes.

Senate backed off from a proposed constitutional amendment that would have completely removed the $47 million a year ceiling on state welfare payments. It amended it to provide for a $5 sure, if approved by the Hous will have to be voted on by the people.

Anti-Obscenity Bill Scuttled

Objections of theater operators allegedly cauesd a House-passed bill aimed at obscene literature to be sidetracked in Senate committee.

Rep. Tom James of Dallas, sponsor, protested, declaring the bill wouldn't "touch" commercial movie houses. He said it was aimed at distributors of filthy books, magazines, pictures and records.

Vet Land Decision Due

Also up to the people in 1962 elections will be a decision on whether to let the state sell off—to non-veterans if necessary—land forfeited under the veterans land program.

It is in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment which passed finally in both houses.

In some cases the state has had to re-possess land because of failure of the vet buyers to keep up payments. Much of the repossessed land was involved in the "block deals" that caused the "land scandals." Sponsors of the proposal say it will make it easier for the state to "move" this land and get its money back.

"De Novo" Okayed

People will be called on to vote in November, 1962, on a proposed constitutional amendment that would guarantee "trial de novo" on appeals from administrative board decisions.

Many will not understand it, but those affected feel strongly about the issue.

Trial de novo means trial anew. This means that anyone dissatisfied with a decision of a state board—such as the State Water Board, Insurance Board or Railroad Commission—could appeal to the court's deciding how it should be settteld.

Present practice has been to have judicial review of administrative decisions under the "substantial evidence" rule. In effect, the court looks the matter over to see if the board had "substantial evidence" for ruling as it did.

New Adjutant General

Brig. Gen. James E. Taylor, former state Senator and House member, has been appointed state adjutant general to succeed Major Gen. K. L. Berry.

Taylor's appointment by Governor Daniel was followed by swift Senate confirmation. This was done in a wind-up session in which the Senate approved all the governor's pending appointments.

Taylor is formerly of Kerens where he was a newspaper publisher. He served with the 36th Division during World War II.

General Berry, who will retire as a lieutenant general on July 1, had served as adjutant general 14 years.

Graveyard.

In the final days of the session, these bills were among those apparently too bogged down to get final passage:

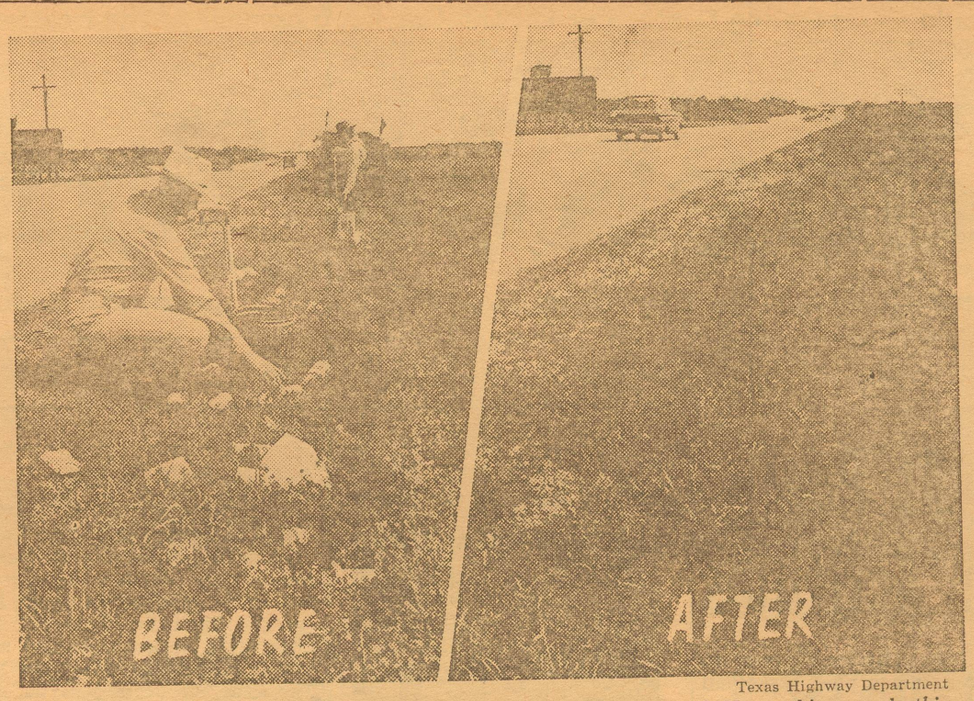

1. A new graduated tax on natural gas by Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston. House killed the bill which aimed at putting a progressively higher tax on those holding long-term contracts for gas at low prices.

2. A bill setting limitations and regulatons on annexation by cities by Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo. Senate apparently gave the bill a death sentence by refusing to take it up.

3. "Little Hoover Commission" bill, which would have set up a commission to study ways to economize in government, introduced by Sen. Bill Patman of Ganado. Senate refused to take it up, also.

4. Allowing 10-to-2 jury verdicts in civil cases, by Sen. Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin. Senate refused to take up.

5. Provision of more pay for a longer period for unemployed workers, by Rep. Tony Korioth. Bill was passed on second reading, then it was found the increases would cost employers a much-higher-than-planned $17 million a year. Last-minute compromises were sought.

Texas Highway Department

Litter tossed on Texas highways and roadsides has to be hand-picked. No machine can do this chore. Last year the clean-up and mowing bill for 57,500 maintained miles of Texas highways totaled more than $7,000,000.

FORT STOCKTON DAMAGED BY STORM LAST WEEK

Tornados, howling wind, furious hail and heavy rain took turns whipping Fort Stockton and vicinity Tuesday afternoon.

Preliminary, sketchy damage estimates placed loss near $250,000 although no fully accurate figures were possible Wednesday morning.

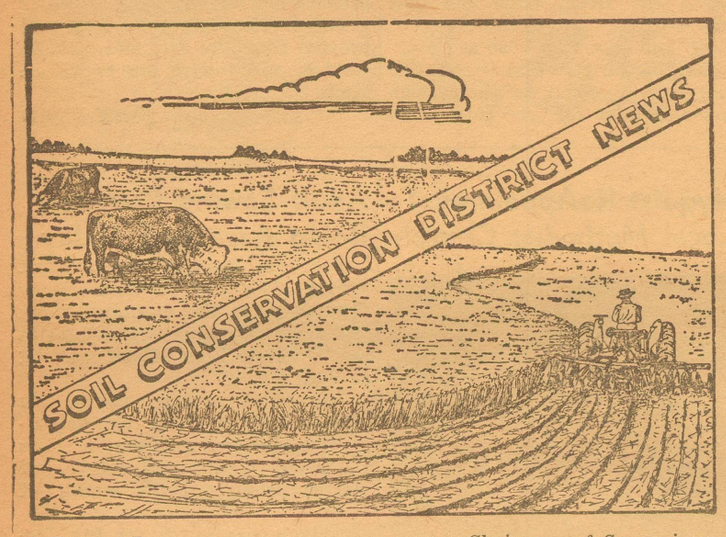

Roaring out of the west about 5 p. m., the storm continued thru 6:30 and left a trail of smashed windows, battered autos, fires, highway accidents, mudbound motorists and general debris.

Most of the visible damage was centered in the northwest section of Fort Stockton and in farming areas to the west of the city. — Fort Stockton Pioneer.

BRONTE RECEIVES FEDERAL GRANT ON SEWER

The City of Bronte received a check this week for $11,700 from the federal government to be applied on the cost of the city's new sewer system. This amount represents 90 per cent of the federal grant received on the project.

The balance, which is about $1400 will be paid after all bills of the project have been paid and the books have been audited. The Bronte Enterprise.

The prospects for a good crop has changed considerably with the good rains received from the last of April through the 23rd of this month. Most of the farmers in the west part of the Eldorado-Divide SCD have good planting moisture. Some of the east part of the district has received very little rain to date.

Ello Wilde received 3 inches April 29 and 2 inches May 6th. Both rains fell hard and fast. All the water was held on the land by contour rows and level closed end terraces. Wilde states, "For the first time since I began working this place in 1947 I did not worry about my terraces breaking. This was due to the fact that I had the remaining terraces needed above the old terraces, constructed in January of this year." Eliminating the possibility of the old terraces breaking following each big rain was one of the reasons more terraces were needed. The main purpose was to hold the water on the land where it falls, in the area above the new terraces, for soil and moisture conservation.

The construction of approximately 3/4 mile of level closed end diversion terraces were also completed in January. The water from the rangeland above the Level Diversion Terrace usually ran into the cultivated field and broke the terraces. The water held above the field terraces would then drain to a lake in the field and was lost from the area where it was needed. Following the good rain last month and this month, Wilde did not have any broken terraces.

Other soil, water and plant conservation practices included in Wilde's well rounded conservation plan are: crop residue use, conservation cropping system, and cover cropping on cropland. Practices planned on his rangeland include brush control, deferred grazing, proper use and range seeding. Each practice planned is designed to do its part to treat the land in accordance with its needs for protection and improvement.

Tacks In The Tummy? Patience Is The Word

Austin——When little Johnny swallows a tack and cheerfully burps, "All gone," the thing for Mother to remember is this: Don't urge your doctor to operate if he thinks it unnecessary.

According to the late Dr. Edward Johnson of Austin, hardware of this kind that gets to the stomach usually will pass without harm.

Dr. Johnson had good reasons for his "wait and see" policy toward small patients who accidentally ate sharp things. He spent some years at the Terrell State Hospital, where as director of the x-ray department he made fluoroscopic studies of patients who had swallowed an array of more than 100 straight pins, several safety pins, and even a large nail. No treatment was given, but the patients' stools were strained. Nurses recovered as many as 90 pins from one patient in one 24 hour period. No bleeding or pain occurred.

For years, Dr. Johnson kept these x-rays to show to frightened mothers whose children had swallowed pennies, buttons, tacks, and pins. One woman, whose son had swallowed a chicken wire staple, reported recovery of the object about three days later. The child showed no signs of discomfort.

"The esophagus undoubtedly is the most dangerous area," wrote Dr. Johnson. "Fortunately, if an object lodges there, symptoms will indicate danger, and removal by instruments usually make surgery unnecessary."

Guests in the W. H. Graves home Friday were Marie's mother, Mrs. Floyd Harrison of Uvalde. her sister, Mrs. Bob Youngblood of Port Lavaca, and another sister, Mrs. Bill Titt and her son Bobby from Del Rio.

Billy Van Dusen, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Van Dusen, has arrived home from Sul Ross at Alpine to spend the summer.

How 45,000 companies help their employees buy security

The average American company is pretty busy tending to its own business. Yet many companies have sandwiched in a valuable service for their employees—the Payroll Savings Plan for U.S. Savings Bonds.

Through this plan, your payroll clerk sets aside a certain amount each payday for Bonds, buys them, and arranges to get them to you. It's completely automatic, and the easiest way in the world to save.

Save as much or as little as you wish

Employees can sign up to save as little as $1.25 a week. The average among the more than 8 million folks on the Plan is $20 a month.

All in all, 45,000 companies help their employees save about $2 billion in Savings Bonds a year—a lot of future homes, vacations, college degrees, and nest eggs for retirement.

The security built into Savings Bonds

U.S. Savings Bonds are guaranteed by the Government to grow. $18.75 becomes $25 in 7 years, 9 months. In 10 more years, it becomes $36.25. Your Bonds can be cashed in anytime, with interest. And if they're lost or destroyed, the Treasury Department replaces them free.

Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in Peace. What better way to help your government help you enjoy the things you're saving for.

Hats off to American Industry!

"American Industry has given the Savings Bond Program its greatest success," says William H. Neal, National Director of the Treasury's Savings Bonds Program.

"45,000 American companies have sold many billions of dollars in Savings Bonds—at no cost to the taxpayer," says Mr. Neal. "By operating the Payroll Savings Plan, these companies, big and small, are helping to keep our country strong. At the same time, they're helping more than 8 million people save automatically for the things they want. America owes a vote of thanks to these companies for their outstanding contribution to the 20-year success story of the U.S. Savings Bonds Program."

174 Persons In County Receive S. S. Payments

In the first week of January, 174 persons in Schleicher county received $8,383 in old-age, survivors, or disability insurance payments under the Social Security Act, according to F. B. Ellington, San Angelo district manager for the Social Security Administration.

In the 13-county district serviced by the San Angelo office, 8985 beneficiaries received $537,703 in that first week of January this year, as compared to 8983 persons who received $469,413 in January of 1960. Ellington stated that was an increase of about 14%.

For the entire State of Texas, old-age, survivors, and disability insurance payments are being paid to about 600,000 persons at the rate of $34 million per month. Benefits totaling approximately $400 million were paid in Texas during 1960.

Nationally, the number of men, women, and children who receive monthly payments from this program passed the 15 million mark a few weeks ago. The average payments made in January 1961 were $74 for retirement or disability, $124 for a retired couple where both received payment, and $58 for an aged widow.

Ellington suggested that all persons who have reached retirement age (62 for women, 65 for men) write him for the free booklet, "21 Questions and Answers on Retirement Benefits" which may result in many persons realizing they are due payments now instead of later, as a result of 1960 changes in the law. What prompted the Freedom Riders mission into the South? Many speculations are heard. One theory which has substantial backing is that it was Communist-inspired, timed to coincide with the Kennedy-Krushchev meeting in Vienna which will take place soon. If so, the Reds would hope that Kennedy's prestige would be downgraded because of world news coverage of the Alabama riots, and that this would give the Russian a psychological advantage. The Commies are not in the habit of overlooking any bets.

Another theory is that the NAACP, through its Congress of Racial Equality, which sponsored the trips, felt that by provoking a riot in the South it would assist in raising more funds and enlisting more members.

In any event, the bus trips, which were widely publicized as a challenge to Southern laws and customs, have aroused much interest in the need for enactment of laws to better cope with those who conspire together for the purpose of causing criminal acts, including riots. Bills have now been introduced to make it a Federal offense for one or more persons to travel across state lines with their mission designed or reasonably calculated to cause riots or the violation of existing laws.

This proposal is sure to run into stubborn opposition from NAACP and also from certain radical labor leaders who don't want interference in the movement of pickets or goon squads across state lines, even though such movement might be designed or reasonably calculated to provoke breaches of the peace or other criminal acts.

It is felt by many that the riots, which were most deplorable, were actually in accordance with the hopes and expectations of the so-called Freedom Riders. It is believed that if nothing had happened (which would have been the most effective way for the Southerners to have handled the problem) the trips would have fallen flat.

Quite a hassle has developed over the proposed ransom of the 1200 Cuban prisoners. Castro's boastful offer to release the invading captives upon delivery of 500 tractors, was accepted by Americans headed by Mrs. Roosevelt, Walter Reuther, and Dr. Milton Eisenhower. They started a fund-raising drive. President Kennedy surprisingly announced that donations to the fund would be treated as charity payments and exempt from income taxes.

Many Congressmen promptly challenged the legality of the President's views. After all, if a tractor (or the value of it) cannot be given to a Texas farmer, sans income tax, why should it be legal to donate that same tractor to Fidel Castro and the donation be exempted from taxes?

Mrs. Bob Mara was hostess to her Night Bridge Club at her home on Monday, May 29. Hot fudge sundaes were served to three tables of players. Mrs. W. D. Hubble won high score, low was won by Mrs. John Murr, and Mrs. Earl Yates was bingo winner. Mrs. R. L. Ballew was a guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ratliff and children, John, Joe, and Dan of Monahans spent the night Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ratliff. Glenn is the son of J. L. Ratilff.

Mrs. John Luedecke was installing officer. She installed: Mrs. J. E. Hill, regent; Mrs. L. M. Hoover, first vice regent; Mrs. Clyde Keeney, 2nd vice regent; Mrs. Charles Wimer, chaplain; Mrs. E. C. Hill, secretary; Mrs. W. F. Meador, Sr., treasurer; Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, registrar; Mrs. Luke Thompson, Sr., historian; Mrs. V. G. Tisdale, librarian; and Mrs. W. O. Home Demonstration Agent's Column
By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

As Monday is the traditional wash day, June is going to be wash month for Home Demonstration club members, guests, and anyone else who is interested. The washing of clothes is the one thing that everybody does or has done for them. Once washing was a weekly affair but for today's homemaker it has become an almost daily affair. A long time ago washing was a matter of a wash pot ,a rub board and a bar of soap. Sometimes home made soap, at that. Push buttons and chemistry have changed everything. To point up the angle of chemistry, let me ask you a few questions about the washing of clothes today.

1. Do you know the hardness of water in your town or your home water supply? (Come to the laundry clinic on either afternoon of June 13, 14, and 15 at the Memorial Building, and find out.)
2. What is the difference in a high sudsing and a low sudsing detergent?
3. Which cleans the best?
4. What is a water conditioner nad is it the same as a water softener?
5. What is a suds lock in a washing machine?
6. Can an electric blanket be safely washed in a washing machine?
7. What is the difference between soap and a detergent?
8. What is meant by stripping as related to washing machine problems?
9. How can you work out a "recipe" for the most effective method of doing your family laundry?
10. What is the most common and most harmful practice carried on by the average home maker as she does the famliy laundering?

* * *

These 10 are only samples of the questions which will be answered at the laundry clinic. This is a county-wide program and to use an over used phrase, "the general public" is invited. Local dealers are going to exhibit washers and dryers, samples of water will be tested for hardness, and laundry ais and products will be demonstrated.

Make your plans to come—let's take the blues out of Monday by watching the demonstrations on "This Is The Way We Wash Our Clothes, Wash Our Clothes, So Early In The Morning."

Some time ago Mrs. Ernest Nimitz served one of the most delightful congealed salads that I ever ate. She gave me the recipe which she said her sister had served in California and she also gave me permission to share it with you.

California Salad

Dissolve 1 pkg. lemon jello in 3/4 c. hot water, which may be part pineapple juice. Add enough water to make 3/4 cup. Add ½ cup commercially made mayonnaise to cooled jello mixture and whip. Chill until nearly set and whip again. Add 1 cup each: finely chopped fresh spinach, celery, and green pepper. Add ½ pint small curd cottage cheese and small can crushed pineapple, well drained. Mix and chill. Does very well if molded in greased paper cup cake liners. Use liners in muffin pans as if they were to be filled with cake batter, but fill with the salad mixture instead. Unmold on salad platse for serving.

Red sweet pepper may be used instead of the green sweet pepper.

Lightning Rods Can Save You Money

College Station.——A metal covered building without adequate grounding is not protected against lightning. W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer, says that proper grounding of such buildings, especially metal roofed structures, will prevent many fires.

Lightning protection is very inexpensive and easy to provide, Allen continues. All buildings with metal roofs or sides can be protected by grounding the roof at all four corners. This can be done by flattening the end of a piece of ½ or 3/4 inch galvanized iron or steel pipe and bending it so that it may be attached by bolts to the drip edge of the roof. For support, galvanized steel screw hooks should be placed on the side of the building and bent shut over the pipe.

After the pipe has been firmly attached to the roof, it may then be attached by galvanized wire rope clamps to a ½ or 3/4 inch pipe driven eight to ten feet into the ground. This ground pipe should be placed as close as possible to the building's foundation, Allen explains.

These lightning rods may not be as fancy as in grandfather's day, but they serve the same purpose of property protection and fire prevention. Their installation could save you a great deal of money by preventing lightning damage, Allen concludes.

The ELDORADO SUCCESS

By Dayton Kelley

The centennial of the Civil War has reminded many people of stories connected with the War that they heard from their parents or grandparents and hardly a week passes that we don't hear some pretty good ones.

But one of the best we've heard in months has just been spoiled because one small detail wasn't what it appeared to be.

Recently while sitting in the office of our old friend A. L. Bone of Belton, the former Missourian who is now associational missionary for the local Baptists brought out a book that immediately started both of us off in pursuit of what we just knew was a story to top all Civil War stories.

The book had been sent to the Rev. Bone by his mother who lived in Bismark, Missouri, and had been in her possession for more than half a century.

Entitled "The Personal Memoirs of U. S. Grant" and published in 1885 in New York, the book was the first volume of a two volume set. But what really excited us was an inscription on one of the front pages and the signature of General Grant. The inscription was dated May 23, 1885.

We of course asked about the second volume and the more we listened to the Rev. Bone's story, the more convinced we were that the autograph of one of the most famous generals of the Civil War.

The pieces of the story all fitted together perfectly and each new bit of information seemed to provide a clue to the story behind the book and how it probably came into possession of Bone's family.

The story, in essence, goes like this:

A. L. Bone grew up in the area around Bismarck, Missouri, just 14 miles from the place where General Grant made his headquarters while commanding for the Union the district of Southeast Missouri. This was Grant's first important command and as a boy Bone had often seen the old building at Ironton used by the general as headquarters.

He had also heard many stories of the skirmishes which took place in the area around Ironton and Pilot Knob and had been told that his grandfather, a member of the Confederate army who was home on leave when one of these skirmishes took place, watched from a nearby hilltop.

All of these clues led us to believe that perhaps some member of Bone's family had befriended General Grant during the time he was in Missouri and that the General had later remembered that kindness and autographed a copy of his memoirs especially for that friend.

Or perhaps that's the way we wanted the story to end and were letting our imagination work overtime to make it turn out that way.

At any rate, we learned later that all the copies of that particular edition of General Grant's book were "autographed." The signature is actually PRINTED on the page, but whoever printed it did an excellent job for it looks real enough to be an actual signature penned in black ink.

At least it fooled us and there went the perfect ending to what might have been a top-notch Civil War story.

* * *

One thing we did accomplish while digging out the above story was learning that the Rev. Bone is one of Texas' most ardent gun fanciers, particularly those of Civil War vintage. Anybody with an old gun or sword to sell could find no easier target than A. L. Bone.

Editorial Comments From Our Neighbors

Vienna Waltz?

With the White House and the State Department maintaining, at this writing, a formal silence on the subject of a Kennedy-Krushchev meeting, the American people are advised via Moscow and Vienna that the President will arrive in the Austrian capital on June 3, depart on the 4th and that there will be a meeting or meetings between the world's top adversaries on one or both of these days.

Unofficially, the home team reveals that President Kennedy does not expect to do any negotiating or achieve any firm agreements with the Butcher of Budapest——which should provide at least a measure of comfort to his fellow citizens. But, perhaps FDR anticipated no firm agreements at Yalta, nor Harry Truman at Potsdam.

Rather, it seems, the President feels that personal contact and exchange of views at this time might help to accomplish something later on. Mr. Kennedy's message to Mr. Khrushchev, according to official circles, is that while he hopes for more cordial relations between the Communists and the Free World, the U.S. will act to protect such areas as Southeast Asia from Red aggression.

It seems to us that something of the sort has been said from time to time before—also that Krush might be more impressed if we were to do something about protecting ourselves from the Communist conquest of our nearest seaward neighbor and our nationals from the Kremlin puppet who has offered to exchange 1,000 of them at the rate of two U. S. citizens for one U. S. bulldozer.

The last Democratic President to meet with a Soviet chief of state reported: "I like good old Joe," and that he was a man he "could do business with." It is our earnest prayer that President Kennedy will prove to be more discriminating. —Ozona Stockman.

Shall We Turn Back The Clock?

The Teamsters Union has been conducting an aggressive campaign to halt "piggybacking"—the transportation of truck-trailers on railroad flat cars. In particular, it is trying to end the movement of new automobiles by piggybacking.

In the course of this campaign, many charges have been made. One is that the Interstate Commerce Commission is staffed with men who are strongly biased in favor of the railroads. This is a strange piece of "news" indeed. As of the beginning of this year, only two of the 10 commissioners serving had worked for railroads—and these for only brief periods many years ago. The present commissioners include a former member of Congress, and a former lieutenant governor and judge. Others served as assistant attorneys general in states. All but one have legal backgrounds.

In moving new automobiles by piggyback, the railroads offer rates about 50% lower than those of trucking companies. The union material infers that piggyback movements are being subsidized by other freight. Actually, piggybacking is a profitable operation, and the lower railroad rates result from impressive advances in technology—dieselization, centralized traffic control, automatic freight-yards, new loading and unloading methods. Specially designed trilevel railroad cars are now in use that can carry 15 large-sized cars or 18 compacts.

Why has piggybacking become so popular? The answer is simple—because it offers better transportation at lower cost, something that directly and indirectly benefits us all. It is an example of how railroads, given the opportunity, can make use of their inherent advantages. It is a major step forward in the arts of transportation. The railroads are simply meeting competition with competition. —McCamey News.
