Wheat Allotment Will Be Three Times Larger in 74

Texas wheat producers' allotments for 1974 will be about three times the size of their 1973 allotments, according to Bob Weatherly, Executive Director, Collingsworth County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Mr. Weatherly said 1974 allotments will be based on the national allotment of 55.0 million acres, announced August 16 by Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz, and that individual allotment notices were mailed to farmers on 8-27-73.

The allotment represents the number of harvested acres of wheat, based on the estimated average yield, which would result in production equal to estimated domestic and export disappearance in the 1974-75 marketing year. The allotment does not restrict the amount of wheat that can be planted.

Secretary Butz announced the 1974 wheat program shortly after the four-year Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 was signed into law. The Secretary said the program is designed to encourage all-out production.

Mr. Weatherly listed the following 1974 wheat program details:

New to the wheat program is the target price feature. If the average market price for wheat is at or above the $2.05 per bushel target price, the producer will receive no payment. If the price average is below the target, the producer will receive the difference between the target price and the average price received by all farmers during the period from July through November 1974.

There will be no preliminary payment. Any payment due will be paid after December 1, 1974. If the five-month average price falls below the $2.05 target, a producer would be paid on an amount of bushels determined by multiplying the farm allotment times the projected yield established for the farm by the county ASC committee.

As announced earlier, there will be no set-aside requirement for 1974 and there will be no conserving base requirements for the four-year life of the 1973 Act.

And, for 1974, producers may substitute any annual non-conserving crop or a cropland conserving crop used for haying or grazing in order to preserve their wheat allotments and to make them eligible for any payments under the target

Wellington Lions will sponsor the race, Dan Langford, chairman, has announced.

It will be held Saturday, Sept. 8, at 1:00 p.m. on the south side of the court house. The procedure will be as in the past, and anyone wanting to participate can buy a terrapin for $5.00 and have it entered in his name.

The terrapins will be divided into various heats, and the winners of all of these will race in the finals.

"If you want to take part, you can get a terrapin from a Lion," Langford said.

Members of the club are spending this week terrapin hunting, and they are accepting donations in the form of shellbacks from their friends.

FEATURED FIDDLER
The featured player at the Fiddlers Contest on Saturday, Sept. 8 will be Karen Smith, Southern Methodist University student. Trained in classical violin, she has added fiddle music to her interests and now participates in contests over the state.

Big Parade Will Start County Fair Sept. 7

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Henard are the new Fair Parade co-chairmen, and this week they announced plans for that colorful event that opens all Collingsworth County Fairs.

The parade will roll onto the square Friday, September 7, at 11:00 a.m. sharp, the Henards said. Entries must be registered at the Chamber of Commerce office by 10:00 a.m.

Their first move was to appeal for floats and other parade entries.

"We would like to have all business houses, adult organizations, youth organizations, motorcycle clubs, bicycles, horses and riders to be part of this parade," said Mrs. Henard. All of these groups will be judged.

At the same time, they urged advertising entries, such as cars, tractors and equipment, and similar entries which are not traditionally judged.

Invitations have gone out to a number of neighboring towns to send floats.

Leading the parade will be That Skyrocket Band, under the direction of Keith Wood. The color guard will be Sheriff John Rainey and Jim Henard.

Trophies and ribbons will be awarded in these divisions: commercial floats, adult organization, youth organization, motorcycles, bicycles, and horses and riders.

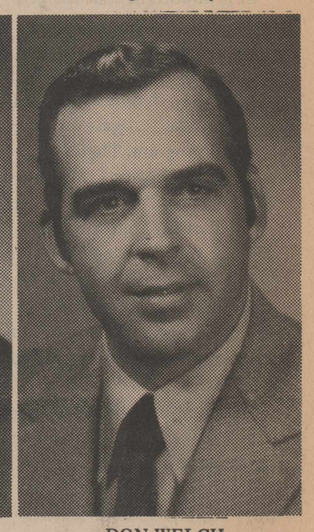

Mrs. Henard emphasized that entries must be registered and receive a number at the C-C office before 10:00 a.m. Only those entries bearing numbers in the parade will be judged.

The parade will be slow-paced so that it can be enjoyed by the hundreds of viewers.

When the parade is over, those having floats are asked to park them on the square, alongside the court house curb, in order that they may be enjoyed through the day.

Champion Tourney Qualifying Slated

The City Championship Golf Tournament will start this week end, with qualifying rounds to be Saturday through Monday, September 1, 2 and on Labor Day, Sept. 3.

The Green Acres Golf Club is sponsoring the tournament, Henry Sullivan announced. Other members of the tournament committee with him are Mack Saied, Jimmy Cochran and Cal Hurst.

There will be flights for both men and women, and the entry fee is $2.00 each.

Trophies will be awarded to first and second place winners.

All rules are posted at the club house, Mr. Sullivan said, and any resident of Collingsworth County, or any former resident is eligible to compete.

Postmaster L.B. Bratten is the defending champion.

"He now has an arm injury and is playing with one hand, but he is pretty tough competition," Sullivan declared.

John D. McDowell Named Wellington State Director

John D. McDowell, rancher in the north part of Collingsworth County, was elected to he board of directors of the Wellington State Bank in a recent meeting of that body, Chairman James Sullivan announced.

Mr. McDowell is the third generation of his family to serve on the bank's board of directors, and he succeeds his father, the

Old Settlers Meet In Reunion Sept. 7

Old Settlers were reminded this week to make their plans to attend the annual reunion to be held Friday, August 7, as a part of the Collingsworth County Fair.

Changes in the procedure were announced by Mrs. R.H. Isbell, secretary.

Registration will be open all morning after 8:30 at the Collingsworth County Library, and we urge those attending to come early and register. This is air conditioned and a comfortable place to visit, Mrs. Isbell said, adding that they will have a good view of the parade from the library windows.

Latecomers will register at the barbecue, as they have in the past.

Those who wish to eat barbecue, to be served at the American Legion Hall, can do so, but they will buy their own tickets.

Those who do not wish to eat can come to the American Legion Hall about 1:00 p.m. and stay to visit. This, too, will be a comfortable place for what may be a hot afternoon, Mrs. Isbell emphasized.

There will be a short business session during which the oldest person attending, the one traveling farthest, and possibly others will be announced. There will be an election of officers. Serving currently are Riley Dunson, president, and Mrs. Isbell, secretary.

Moseley New Savings Bond Chairman Here

Billy Frank Moseley, Executive Vice President, of the City State Bank in Wellington has accepted the appointment by the U.S. Department of the Treasury as volunteer chairman of the Collingsworth County Savings Bond Committee.

Mr. Moseley succeeds Mr. J.T. Forbis, who resigned in March of this year, after having served on the Savings Bond Committee since 1944.

In announcing Mr. Moseley's appointment, Mr. Rex Brack, Chairman of the Texas Savings Bonds Committee remarked that "his wide business experience and active participation in community affairs will be most valuable in his volunteer service as Collingsworth County Chairman, especially in these times when the United States Savings Bonds program takes on increasing importance in helping to keep our Nation economically strong and secure."

As Collingsworth County Chairman, Mr. Moseley will work with other community leaders in a year-round program to encourage the increased purchase of Savings Bonds at banks on the payroll savings plan.

Mr. Moseley is well known in civic affiars, being active in volunteer work. At present, he is Chamber of Commerce Director and Past President of the

Growing Up at Hay Camp Told To County Historical Groups

The life of a boy growing up in the headquarters of the Mill Iron Ranch had richness and color, and Bob Birchfield, an Amarillo school principal, came back Sunday, August 19, to stand in the living room of the ranch house and for an hour to bring to life those years.

It is now the club house of Hay Camp Country Club, and his audience was made up of members of the Collingsworth County Historical Commission and Collingsworth County Museum Board, with a few guests.

The house itself was built by the Mill Iron owner, the late Col. W.E. Hughes in 1906, and the next year, J.H. Birchfield, foreman of 52 sections, brought his wife and older children there to live.

"I was born in that room," said Bob Birchfield, indicating one just off what is now the club dining room. "I lived here so long, and roamed over so many acres!" he reminisced.

He digressed briefly to explain the Hay Camp name. Boundaries meant little in the 1880s, and a man named Haynie who was ranching farther east, also grazed his cattle here and maintained a camp. He branded them Hay, and the place became known as Hay Camp.

Bob Birchfield spoke with warmth of the Mill Iron owners, Col. Hughes, his granddaught-

Winners Named in Biggest Golf Event

A team captained by John Coffee came in with a score of 60 on 18 holes of play to win the first Lions Club Florida Scramble, President Jack Neeley announced.

Other members of the team, which played Saturday, August 25, were Tom Anderson, The Rev. Jim Boswell and Dan Langford.

At the end of play Sunday evening, August 26, there was a four-way tie for second place, all teams scoring 61. After a three-hole playoff, here were the results:

Second place team: Bob McAlister, captain, Jack Sanford, Dennis Lacy and Mrs. John Holton; third place: Jimmy Black, captain, Col. A.D. Hollis, Benny Stallings and Mrs. Kenneth Patterson; fourth place: Robert Hicks, captain, and Danny West, Gary White and Mrs. Jimmy Cochran; and fifth place: Weldon Cleveland, captain; and Wayne Martin, Chester White and Mrs. Tom Anderson.

Mr. Neeley praised the players and all others who helped to make this the biggest golf tournament ever held in Wellington. There were an even 100 participants.

"We would also like to say that if there is a desire for the Lions Club to hold another tournament next year, that we will probably make this an annual event," declared the Lions president.

- Family counseling for families of alcoholics.
- Medicine in alcoholism.
- Services available in the Panhandle area.

It is important that the general public understand the alcoholic's problem, Mr. Ready emphasized. "We have found the first step in combating this problem is to instigate an educational program. Therefore, we propose this for Collingsworth County."

Each of the four meetings will feature several speakers, each with a broad background of work with alcohol abuse and alcoholism, and with an understanding of those caught up in it.

Among these specialists who will conduct the Wellington meetings are:

- The executive director of the Amarillo Council on Alcoholism.
- An educational specialist from the Texas Commission on Alcoholism.
- The doctor and head nurse from the Amarillo Treatment Program.
- The director of the treatment program.
- A member of Alcoholics Anonymous from Amarillo or Hollis.

late D'Arcy McDowell.

Besides his ranching interests in the county, the new director has even closer personal ties, for from his earliest childhood, he spent much time visiting his grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. D.D. McDowell.

Although D.D. McDowell was not one of the original stockholders of the Wellington State Bank, he did acquire stock about 1909, and later became a director and president, the office he held at the time of his death.

His son, D'Arcy McDowell, succeeded him on the board of directors.

John McDowell lives with his family on the ranch he operates. He has a commercial cattle operation, along with wheat and grain sorghum farming.

He is a director of the Farmers and Merchants Bank in Shamrock, a member of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, and past master of the Masonic Lodge 929 in Shamrock.

A graduate of Shamrock High School, he entered the ranching business with his father upon returning home after service in the Army.

Mr. McDowell is married to the former Joy Williams, daughter of Mrs. Milt Williams of Shamrock and the late Mr. Williams. They have three sons, John Jr., 17; Pat, 13; and Mark, 11.

The students design for an unmanned, instrumented Venutian lander was chosen by judges in the competition as the best of 25 designs submitted by students from throughout the country.

The spacecraft design was the result of a term project assigned the students by Stan Lowy, associate professor of Aerospace Engineering and project advisor. The team members completed the project for Aerospace Engineering 401, Aerospace Vehicle Design.

The 172- page report submitted by the students represents a preliminary study of an unmanned research mission to Venus, including a mission event time line, launch vehicle characteristics, control and propulsion systems, structural a nalysis, vehicle configuration, and a program plan and cost schedule.

The students' mission plan calls for lift-off of the Venus vehicle Nov. 10, 1981, covering some 60 million kilometers before setting down on the planet's surface.

The design was judged by representatives of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics and Bendix, cosponsors of the contest, and aerospace engineers from the industry.

The projects submitted for the contest were judged on the basis of technical competence, organization and presentation, originality, and practical application and feasability, according to Lowy.

The design team submitted progress reports to Lowy throughout the semester for counseling and advice. The Venus lander was the best of three designs submitted by the class, Lowy noted.

Copies of the report have been sent to several representatives of the aerospace industry and to NASA personnel. While the study is only preliminary in nature, Lowy feels the study has a sound basis for further investigation in the space program.

Mrs. Jenkins Gets New Certification

AMARILLO, -- Mary Jane Jenkins, a Wellington teacher, received kindergarten certification this summer after completing the Early Childhood Education program at West Texas State University in Canyon

Demand for certified kindergarten teachers in Texas has risen sharply since Gov. Dolph Briscoe signed a bill, originating in the 63rd Legislature, creating free kindergarten for 5 year-olds.

This act will come in to effect Sept. 1 of this year.

West Texas State University, in anticipation of the demand for teachers, created a program in which a teacher could gain a kindergarten endorsement in one summer's study.

Dr. Dan White, chairman of the WTSU elementary education department said, "about 142 students enrolled for the kindergarten courses this summer, doubling what we had anticipated."

The early education courses are described by White as studies of "physical, psychological, sociological and emotional behavior domain of human growth and development with special emphasis on the young child."

One of the features of the summer early education classes this year was that a kindergarten was being conducted right on the WTSU campus.

"This direct teaching through observation is really beneficial to the student as it does not divide the theory from the practical application," White says.

Loans will be available to producers on their 1974 crop wheat at a national average of $1.37 per bushel, an increase of 12 cents over 1973 crop loans.

The requirement that processors purchase certificates valued at 75 cents per bushel on each bushel of wheat processed for human consumption was eliminated by the 1973 Act.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cudd were here for several days before returning to Corpus Christi.

MRS. DANNY WAYNE VAUGHAN

Miss Nall, Danny Wayne Vaughan Wed in Formal Ceremony Saturday

Miss Crabileigh Nall and Danny Wayne Vaughan, of College Station, both students at A&M University, exchanged wedding vows in First United Methodist Church Saturday, August 25, at seven in the evening. The Reverend James Boswell performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Nall, 1606 Graham Street, while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Troy Wayne Vaughan, 100 North Braidfoot, Silverton.

The couple was married before an arched candleabra holding white cathedral candles and entwined with lemon leaves. An extension of candles and greenery was banked with large urns of white gladolia and greenery. The church aisle was decorated with white ribbons and lemon leaves.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Dan Henard, Jr.

Mr. Nall escorted his daughter to the altar.

The bride wore a formal gown of candlelight silk chiffon over faille. The sleeveless bodice was designed with a deep V neckline in front and back, with double wing collars, and accented at the empire waist with a candlelight satin belt. Her headpiece was in "riding hat" design of candlelight net, covered with tulle which cascaded into the illusion veil. Matching velvet ribbon provided the accent for the hat. Her bouquet was of yellow rosebuds, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Attending the bride was Miss Linda Williams of Hereford. She wore a formal dress of navy and white polka dot jersey, designed in sleeveless fashion with a large white collar, to which back ties were attached. She carried a nosegay of yellow and white daisies.

Ron Vaughan of Lubbock was the best man, and ushers were Wade Brannon of Silverton, Ken Wischkaemper of Huntsville, Andy Henard and Sandy Matthews of Mason

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Nall entertained with a reception in the church fellowship hall. The bride's table was covered with white net over satin, with accents of navy blue at the corners. The bride's bouquet was the centerpiece. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Guests were served by Miss Billie Hamilton of Dallas, Miss Cathy Singley and Miss Carey Lewis.

They were registered before the ceremony at a table covered with white on white. A bud vase of yellow roses and a white basket filled with yellow rice bags graced the table, presided over by Miss Singley.

The bride is a graduate of Wellington High School, where she received many honors, and she is presently a sophomore at Texas A&M University.

A graduate of Silverton High School, the bridegroom is a third year student at Texas A&M School of Veterinary Medicine. He is a member of Phi Zeta, national veterinary honor society.

After a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colorado, the couple will live in Bryan.

Out of town guests were from Dallas, Quanah, Breckenridge, Mason, Lubbock, Silverton, Kent, Shamrock, Amarillo, Hereford, Childress, Quitaque, Turkey, Flomot and Eureka, California.

Fix-It Tip

The power mower, especially the rotary type, can injure and maim and special precautions must be taken. Familiarize yourself with the controls and what they can do. Be certain you can stop the mower instantly.

Stand clear when you start the machine. Hands and feet should never be under the mower or near the discharge chute. Fill the gas tank before you start the mower. Do not fill while the engine is running or while it is hot.

Clear the lawn of stones, sticks and other foreign objects before cutting the grass. Such objects can be hurled with tremendous force. They also will damage the blades.

Home Sewing One of Ten Fastest Growing Industries in Country

COLLEGE STATION -- Home sewing is one of the ten fastest growing industries in the United States, according to Mrs. Becky Culp.

"Because of this, the number of fabric outlets has quintupled since 1967," the clothing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, noted.

"Reported sales for sewing machines, patterns, notions and fabrics totaled over $3 billion in 1972.

"Currently there are over 45 million homesewers--and predictions indicate that by 1977, this figure will increase by 25 to 30 per cent."

Popularity of sewing stems from several factors -- two of which are leasure time utilized for creative purposes and the resulting satisfaction gained by a sense of accomplishment, the specialist continued.

"Other important factors include high ready-to-wear prices, lack of selection and poor workmanship.

"Ease of sewing today's fabrics, abundance of available time savers and sophisticated promotional programs also have greatly boosted sewing popularity," Mrs. Culp said.

Another influence comes from menswear.

"From neckites to designer suits, menswear fabrics, patterns and notions are in demand."

Men sew too, the specialist added.

"Home economics programs have offered all-male sewing courses for several years -- and surveys reveal that many new students take sewing more seriously than women.

"However, their interests are more highly associated along career aspirations -- as tailors or retailers -- than women students"

The average home seamstress doesn't sew for necessity -- but to stretch family income. For example, with today's rapid increases for food and housing, home sewing serves to release additional dollars in these areas as well as others held in special values by the family.

With today's wide variety, homesewers easily remain in vogue with the assistance of fashionable pattern designs and fabrics.

"As a result, home sewing has reached a level of maturity and sophistication that can challenge and motivate every consumer -- no matter where his or her interests and needs may lie," the specialist concluded.

There Are Keys to "Good Life" in Later Years, Senior Citizens Told

The "good life" in later years reflects good mental health -- as it does at any age, according to one authority, who explained that some researchers believe senility can be sidestepped.

Mrs. Vivian Blair, family life education-aging specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, described good mental health as "the basis for satisfying interactions with others."

"Personal attitude is a key factor in good mental health.

"To be optimistic and active in one's approach to life often will provide a better frame of reference by which senior citizens can make more satisfying decisions.

"Decision making is an important factor. Much personal satisfaction comes from decisive action -- after careful consideration of alternatives.

"It's alright to evaluate past decisions as a basis for making wise choices in the future --- but to worry over mistakes is to induce mental anguish or suffering," she cautioned.

"Interpersonal relations with satisfying qualities are good medicine for senior citizens -- as for all people -- and promote mental health.
that follows, stimulates cyclic interaction, building friendship and promoting health."

"Emotionally healthy people have an attitude of love for humanity. Where love for people exists, satisfying relationships are the natural consequence — out of which deep friendship emerges.

"With sincere appreciation of others, we find ourselves doing little services for our friends -- and their recognition of this, with the warmth of relations with a kind word for the hungry ear, and who can forbear harshness in the face of frustrations shows good emotional balance," she said.

"Those people who live unassuming lives, are at peace with themselves and mankind -- and have found significant meanings in life -- have mastered rare spiritual qualities that provide depths of soul. These qualities will supply strengths for facing life's realities.

"The senior citizen who is fair, sincere and true to himself and others will be practicing those qualities fundamental to mental health and will find he has many wonderful friends," she added.

Mrs. Blair turned to the spiritual and emotional needs of the individual, noting they cannot be separated from good mental health.

"The senior citizen who receives joy out of living, has gentleness in human relations,

New Product Goes "Nuts"

COLLEGE STATION -- A new imitation nut product on the market is a blend of wheat germ, milk protein and vegetable oil similar in texture and flavor to pecans and black walnuts.

It's selling at about half the price of natural nutmeats, according to Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

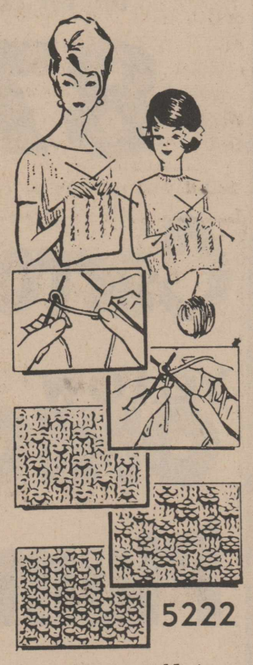

"Test markets indicate consumer acceptance of this new product not only because of lower price, but also because supply will be available upon demand, unrestricted by growing conditions," she added.

Winter to Direct Development at WT

AMARILLO, -- Appointment of Keith L. Winter, 38, of (3811 Ozark Trail) Amarillo as director of development at West Texas State University was announced Wednesday (Aug. 22) by President Lloyd I. Watkins.

The newly created position was authorized by the university Board of Regents Aug. 11.

Until his recent resignation, Winter was executive director of the Amarillo Board of City Development for three years. He had resigned to become managing director of the Kansas Center for Regional Progress.

Dr. Watkins said one of Winter's major responsibilities will be to develop a program for raising private funds for the university. He will report directly to the office of the president, Dr. Watkins added.

Winter will also coordinate the work in student recruitment and public information and serve as chief administrative liaison with the West Texas Ex-Student Association, the president said.

"We are very fortunate to be able to attract Keith Winter to our staff," Dr. Watkins said. "His familiarity with the Panhandle region of Texas and the high esteem in which he is held make him the ideal person for the key position which he has accepted.

"Keith was leaving this region for an excellent position in another state. I am happy we were able to convince him to remain here."

State Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo, a classmate of Winter's at Amarillo High School, said, "I am very pleased that our area, and particularly West Texas State University, will have the services of Keith Winter.

"He has done so much to unify the area, and WTSU is the university for this area. It is great when an individual and an institution have so much in common."

Sherman is a member of the powerful Senate Finance Committee and chairman of the Natural Resources Committee.

Robert R. Sanders, vice-chairman of the Amarillo Board of City Development, said, "We knew that Keith's decision to leave the board was irrevocable. We are just pleased to see he is remaining in the Panhandle and will be in a position to apply his experience and talents to such a worthwhile purpose.

"The Board of City Development has great admiration for his creative abilities, his character and judgment. We will do all we can to assist him in his new position."

A native of Wellington, Winter was graduated by Baylor University in 1957 with a degree in geology. He also is a graduate of the Academy of Organizational Management at Michigan State University, the Industrial Development Institute at the University of Oklahoma and the Advanced Organizational Management at the University of Houston.

Winter entered chamber of commerce work in 1960 as manager of the Hamilton, Tex., chamber. Two years later he became executive vice president of the Angleton Chamber of Commerce and in 1966 was named to a similar position with the Lawrence, Kan., chamber.

During his three years with the Board of City Development, 64 new economic enterprises were located in Amarillo. In the first five months of 1973, the board announced more than $220 million in construction and over 3,700 direct jobs.

Winter is certified by the American Industrial Development Council as an industrial developer and is one of only 74 Fellow Members of the council, having been elected this year.

He is a director of the Amarillo Growth Association, Mid-Continent Foundation, Amarillo Aquatic Club and the Baylor Ex-Student Association.

KEITH L. WINTER

He is a member of the American Chamber of Commerce Executives and the Texas Industrial Development Council.

Winter is a deacon of the First Baptist Church of Amarillo. He is married to the former Bettye Hancock and they have two sons, Kent, 11, and Jeffery, 8.

Certificates for Reading Go to Nineteen Youths

Nineteen boys and girls received Texas Reading Club Certificates at the annual reading party in Collingsworth County Library Wednesday, August 15.

Mrs. R.H. Isbell, librarian, was hostess.

Mrs. V.H. Breedlove and Mrs. Bill Hall entertained the youngsters by reading stories to them.

The summer reading club is sponsored jointly by the Texas State Library and the county library, and at the end of the summer, all boys and girls who have read a minimum of 12 books receive certificates.

Those receiving certificates at the party were Jay Warrick, Jim Warrick and Marty Warrick, Michael Breedlove, Tami Boswell, Darren Hall, Greg Adams, Beth Green, Deeda Seal, Lisa Powell, Billy Dixon, Margie Dixon, Stevie Oren, Bennie Howard, David Lynn Tate, Stanley Tate, Pam Turner, Patricia Turner, and Valerie Van Pelt. Robin Amonett was a visitor.

A number of others began the reading program but failed to reach the 12 required books, Mrs. Isbell said.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Scott and Lisa of Morton visited his mother, Mrs. Ray Scott of Wellington recently. They were en route home from a visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gray of Grandview, Missouri. They also visited one of Mrs. Winfred Scott's sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Storie of Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Audie Miller had as guest her granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul McNeal and family of Calif.

Applications for UT Housing Due

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) -- Applications are still being accepted for on-campus housing for the 1973-74 long session at The University of Texas at Austin.

Miss Nevada Blackburn, director of administrative operations in the Division of Housing and Food Service, said rooms are available in both air conditioned and non-air conditioned men's and women's residence halls.

Eleven University-owned residence halls, housing more than 5,500 students, "Offer a wide range of living options, including traditional housing for women only or for men only, as well as coeducational units housing men and women in separate private sections of the same floor or on alternate floors," Miss Blackburn said.

A popular feature of the University housing is living group units organized around a common theme or interest. For example, the first two floors of Jester East form a graduate unit, which is especially suited to the needs and interests of graduate students.

Residence halls range in price from $938 to $1,314 for room and board for the long session. Services include 20 meals per week, a telephone in each room, bed linens furnished and laundered, and weekly maid service.

Some of the men's residence halls provide a room-only option at a cost of $314 to $472 for the long session.

Single-room occupancy at adjusted rates also is available where space allows.

Applications for housing are handled separately from admissions applications and may be submitted before a student is accepted to the University, Miss Blackburn said.

For further information on University housing, write the Division of Housing and Food Service, Box 7666, University Station, Austin, Texas 78712, or call 512-471-3136.

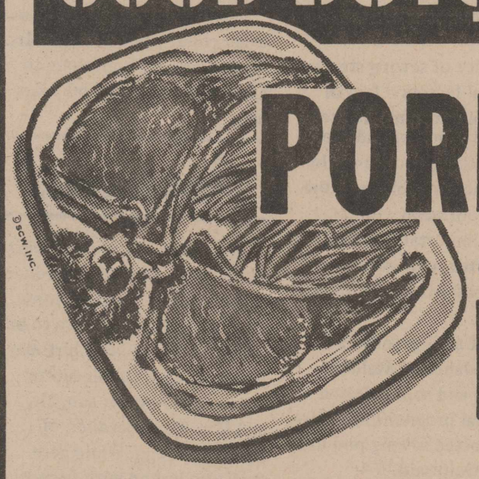

Mrs. C.G. Little Sr. had as her guest her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Paschall of Carrollton, and her son, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Little, Debbie, Larry, and Jerry from Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. J.F. Isaacs returned recently from a two month visit with their son, Mr. and Mrs. Hanes Isaacs, Byron, Suzanne, and Tamara, in Sun Valley, Calif. While there they did some sight seeing.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Massey, who have been living at Antlers, Oklahoma, are returning to Wellington to make their home. They are the parents of Mrs. Lloyd Branch.

Consider Cool Season Grasses, SCS Urges

Many farmers and ranchers are looking for ways to increase forage production through fall, winter, and spring without seeding every year. Some landowners are establishing cool season pastures such as tall fescue to meet this need, according to James Herring, Soil Conservationist, SCS, Wellington.

Mr. Harold Scott found that tall fescue under irrigation will provide abundant forage during these periods. He seeded about 20 acres of tall fescue in September 1972 and after establishment used it in rotation with native grass and forage sorghums. At present he is deferring the tall fescue from grazing. He will begin grazing in September after fertilizer is applied and irrigated.

Herring pointed out, tall fescue can be seeded from August 15 to March 15, however, fall planting is preferable to spring planting because there is less weed competition, but must be seeded early enough so the seedlings are well rooted before frost. Irrigation is usually necessary for germination. Tall fescue must be seeded into a well prepared seedbed which is firm and free of weeds. It is seeded at a rate of 10 pounds of pure live seed per acre. Tall fescue is a bunch grass which grows to a height of 3-4 feet and it is easy to establish. It produces blades about 12 inches long, has a heavy fibrous root system which penetrates soil well, and makes good use of soil moisture. A good characteristic of the grass seems to be it's drought tolerance, and ability to withstand the effects of trampling and compaction. Since the grass is a heavy user of water it should be limited to irrigated, sub irrigated, or overflow areas. Soil adaption seems to be best on heavy clay soils, but some landowners are trying it on sandy soils.

If you are interested in establishing and management of cool season pastures and need help in planning, contact the local Field Office of the Soil Conservation Service in Wellington.

GRASS FOR COOL WEATHER

Harold Scott and son, Lee, are in tall fescue irrigated cool season pasture in his farm 8 miles southwest of Wellington. The 20-acre pasture is being deferred during August while being irrigated and fertilized. He will begin grazing in September when fescue reached 8 inches high and graze no closer than 5 inches. Mr. Scott developed his grazing plan with assistance from Salt Fork Soil and Water Conservation District.

County Has Four Accidents During July

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated four accidents on rural highways in Collingsworth County during the month of July, according to Sergeant Jack Therwhanger, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no persons killed and three persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first six months of 1973 shows a total of 24 accidents resulting in no persons killed and 18 persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for July, 1973 shows a total of 658 accidents resulting in 21 persons killed and 366 persons injured as compared to July, 1972 with 713 accidents resulting in 34 persons killed and 388 injured. This was 55 less accidents, 13 less fatalities, and 22 less injured in 1973 at the same period of time.

The 21 traffic deaths for the month of July, 1973 occurred in the following counties: Lubbock, Sherman, Wilbarger, three each; Palo Pinto, Parmer, two each; Hockley, Jack, Lamb, Parker, Wise, Hutchinson, Potter, and Oldham, one each.

The accident report in other near-by counties for July included:

Childress: 5 accidents, no deaths, one injury.

Cottle: 5 accidents, no death one injury.

Donley: 6 accidents, no deatl 9 injuries.

Gray: 25 accidents, no deaths 9 injuries.

Hall: 8 accidents, no deaths, and two injuries.

Hemphill: 6 accidents, no deaths, 7 injuries.

Wheeler: 13 accidents, no deaths and 10 injuries.

Panhandle Wild Turkeys Boom

Wild turkeys in the Texas Panhandle are experiencing a population explosion.

Census counts indicate a population increase of 66 percent over that of last year. Last year's tally totaled 4,416 birds in the Panhandle region compared with 8,135 this year.

The largest gain in the number of birds was in Wheeler and Hemphill Counties with an overall increase of 78 percent.

Hunters harvested only slightly more than seven percent of the Panhandle's total turkey population last year.

Turkeys, biologists maintain, will withstand and remarkable amount of hunting pressure if management practices are carried out on a scientific basis.

DPS Steps Up Work Through Labor Day

AUSTIN -- Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today warned that 42 persons may lose their lives in Texas traffic during the long Labor Day weekend.

The holiday officially begins at 6 p.m. Friday, August 31 and runs through midnight Monday, September 3.

Speir said the DPS is making preparations to cope with increased holiday travel. "Every available Department of Public Safety patrolman will be on duty during this three day weekend, utilizing all resources we can put our hands on to prevent accidents," he added.

The DPS director noted that special attention will be paid to hazardous traffice violation normally associated with a high holiday death toll. Patrolmen will be especially watchful for such offenses as speeding, driving while drinking, improper passing and driving on the wrong side of the road.

In addition to stepped-up enforcement activities, the DPS will also work with local law enforcemtnt agencies and the news media of Texas to conduct an accident prevention program called "Operation Motorcide."

During "Operation Motorcide," tabulations and pertinent facts about all fatal holiday traffic crashes will be compiled three times daily and released to the news media. Notation will be made as to where and why accidents are happening.

Speir called the holiday program "a life and death struggle for the lives of our citizens," and he urged every motorist to cooperate in the effort.

U.T. Counseling Service Busy

AUSTIN, (Spl.) -- Probably the busiest telephone line at The University of Texas is 476-7073.

That's the number for UT's 24-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week Telephone Counseling and Referral Service, which receives more than 40,000 calls a year.

Counselors who staff the telephones in the service are trained to dispense help during an emotional crisis or to provide information about what's going on throughout the large campus.

TB Tests Due At Shamrock

Wellington area residents who failed to have tuberculin skin tests during the drive in this county last year, may have the test at Shamrock Monday, September 24, from 5:00 to 8:00 p.m. The tests will be given in the community action building.

Those receiving the TB skin test must return to the same location September 26, during the same hours, to have the nurse read their test.

The skin tests are not the same as x-rays. X-rays will show only damage that has already been done. Skin tests can show whether or not the person is carrying the germs that cause the damage, said Mrs. J.W. Rothwell, Jr., chairman, American Lung Association.

"There are 'pills to prevent TB'. They can be given to a person with a positive skin test so that his infection cannot make him sick, and cannot spread to others. And if a person actually is sick with his TB germs, the same pills will cure him.

"The tests do not hurt. They cost you nothing. They take only a very little time. Everyone in your family from age 3 months up to 102 years should take the test -- including grandparents. You never get too old to have TB," she continued.

Mrs. Chet Corn of Denver Colorado, visited with her mother and uncle, Mrs. Sam Gholson, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Curry. Also visiting was their aunt, Mrs. Clyde Miller of Canyon.

Visiting with Mrs. J.F. Michael were her sister Mrs. W.S. Martin from Idalou. Also visiting was a friend, Mrs. Lester Smith of Dallas. Mrs. Smith also visited with her sister-in-law, Mrs. John W. Powell.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. T.C. Clement Monday were Mr. and Mrs. George Tooley of Littlefield, Mrs. Alma Bourland, Olan Bourland, and Mrs. Pat Tooley of Vernon. Mrs. George Tooley and Mrs. Clement are sisters.

Dear Fellow Citizens:

Please take a few minutes to read this ad. It contains specific information on the proposed Municipal Sales Tax for Wellington.

Without the city sales tax, additional revenue from other sources must be raised to provide the essential city needs — both now and in the future. I hope you will agree with the Councilmen and me that Wellington must take this opportunity to broaden its sources of revenue which would be fair and more equitable to all the citizens of Wellington, by voting for a local sales tax on September 8.

The question Wellington faces is not whether to increase taxes to raise the necessary revenue, but HOW the taxes should be increased. The City has three alternatives — the penny City sales tax, an increase in the property tax and service charges.

If you vote to adopt the 1% city sales tax this will mean approximately a $21,000 increase in the revenue after the 65 years and older exemptions are taken off of the tax roll and after the reduction in the tax rate. The Council proposes to lower the tax rate from $1.30 per hundred valuation to 1.05 per hundred valuation.

Hom much is the proposed sales tax?

A penny on a dollar's worth of certain purchases. It is a 1% limited sales and use tax on certain tangible property which is subject to the present State Sales & Use Tax. The same exemptions allowed by the State Sales Tax would also apply to the City Sales Tax. EXCLUDED from the tax are certain essential items such as groceries, drugs, automobiles and gasoline. All State and City sales taxes may be deducted on your Federal Income Tax return.

The great need for continued improvement in our City calls for additional revenue; City Services will deteriorate and the city will be unable to provide the services which its residents must have.

The penny sales tax is a fair tax. Everyone who benefits from City Services helps pay for them. The tax will be paid by visitors to Wellington as well as by citizens of Wellington. Property taxes are paid entirely by people who live within the City. This includes renters, of course, because the level of rents necessarily reflects property taxes.

From the viewpoint of the individual tax payer, a sales tax has many elements of equity as part of an overall federal, state and local tax structure. In the case of most individuals and families, it is as fair for persons of lower income as the property tax (since property taxes are paid by everyone, including both the renters and homeowners). A local penny tax, with the specified exemptions, provides that citizens pay in proportion to what they spend, and as they spend. Since groceries and medicine, as well as certain other staple items are excluded from the tax, the impact of the penny tax is greatly lessened on families of moderate income.

I hope that you will join the City Council and me on Saturday, September 8 and mark the box (X) for Wellington's City Sales Tax.

Thank you for your support.

One Week Left to Prepare Entries for County Fair

Within the next few days, all of the rich and varied products of the county will be gathered for exhibit in the Collingsworth County Fair.

There was never a better year for a fair. Not in many seasons have crops looked so fine. On farms without number, there are feeds and grasses whose quality is worthy of showing. Gardens are no less productive.

A fair is made by the people, and everyone of us has something to add to the success of the 1973 edition. And there is still time to take part - - time to make a float for the parade - - get together an agricultural or horticultural exhibit - - prepare some food entries - - do some last minute sewing - - select your loveliest flowers or that picture you painted this year - - or the craft that is your hobby.

There is time, but only if we act now, for in just one week, all these fine entries in the Collingsworth County Fair will be judged.

Other Editors Say . . .

Not an Indispensable Machine

A Californian seems to have hit upon a perfect solution both to the energy shortage and the nation's ecological problems: he has quit driving a car. News reports say he unbuckled his safety belt and climbed out of his car for the last time about a year ago, and now walks eight blocks to his job and rides a bicycle to buy the commodities he needs.

A Wichita Falls lawyer found the solution much earlier. C.C. McDonald enjoyed a distinguished legal career, including a campaign for governor of Texas, without having once in his lifetime been behind the wheel of a motor car.

So it can be done; even in this era of fast living.

We expect few Americans to emutate the Californian and Mr. McDonald, but if a sizable number did, it would be a sizable contribution to ecological ills and the energy shortage, not to mention the safety problem resulting from automobile driving.

The automobile actually isn't an indispensable machine. We just think it is.

The Buck$ Stop Here

State Capital NEWS

By Bill Boykin

AUSTIN, Tex. -- Dozens of logjammed major highway projects will move forward now that President Nixon has signed the three-year $20 billion federal highway act.

In addition to funds for mass transit, the act also provides $2 billion for safety projects.

State Highway Engineer Luther DeBerry said replacement of narrow bridges is high on priority list. Hazardous intersections and rail crossings will also be eliminated as facilities are designed with modern built-in safety features.

"This act does not solve all our money problems, but even though it is not everything we need here in Texas, it is a good act," said DeBerry.

Highway trust revenues will remain as they have been in the past during fiscal 1974. Up to $200 million in urban funds can be used either for roads or purchase of busses in fiscal 1975. By 1976, all or part of the urban funds may be used for highway buses or fixed rail transit with State Highway Department concurrences.

July highway bid lettings were cancelled due to shortage of federal funds. Although the federal act's passage will allow the state to proceed with vital projects, DeBerry warned a backlog will remain. Texas has been financing some work with leftover money from previous acts of Congress and with state funds. Texas is among states which sends the federal government more tax revenue from gasoline and vehicle accessory sales taxes than is returned.

Interstate highway construction is financed with 90 per cent highway trust fund money and other federal construction gets 70 per cent aid. The new act provides money for bicycle trails and metropolitan transportation studies. It also permits building the San Antonio North Expressway with state funds (if lawsuits don't stop it again).

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

Laws commanding people to buckle seat belts before taking an automobile ride are being urged, contemplated, and some places may already have them.

Which seems like a mighty fine thing, when it is considered that such laws would certainly save many people's lives.

And it naturally follows that additional lives could be saved with laws commanding us to take a laxative when such action is appropriate, and to turn off TV when about to be bored to death.

Wheat Growers Study Acreage Alternatives

COLLEGE STATION -- (Spl.) -- Wheat producers are weighing some unaccustomed alternatives as they make decisions about what level of wheat acreage to plant in 1974.

The present grain situation appears to be a "new ballgame" for wheat growers, who are being asked for production expansion by the consumer at home and abroad, and by provisions of the new Farm Bill with producer income protection in case of over-production and cost increases, says Dr. Roland D. Smith, grain marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Many farmers, he said, are viewing the situation with "cautious restraint" in an effort to prevent over-production and price declines.

"Wheat producers are skeptical that prices will remain at profitable levels through the harvest of 1974. These growers vividly remember the mid-1960's when they were asked for maximum production which ultimately led to several years of depressed prices.

"Some major reasons for apparent changes in the world wheat situation include the opening of markets in the USSR and China, the changing international money values favoring U.S. products, and the rapid economic growth allowing more of the world's people to upgrade their diets. These factors are causing strong consumer demand for wheat and other products abroad," Smith said.

A key variable in regard to foreign demand is world-wide weather conditions, which could improve to the extent that foreign trade of wheat might decline significantly, Smith added.

The new farm program, with the target price of $2.05 per bushel for wheat, should help remove some of the risk of price declines similar to those occuring in earlier decades, he emphasized.

Texas producers are currently planning for next year's crop. Some are considering shifting "set-aside" acreage back into production which may be relatively expensive. A thorough analysis of the alternatives is recommended by Smith before growers make their final crop plans.

College History Society Formed

No Hog Show at Fair This Year

There will be no swine show at this year's Collingsworth County Fair, Mrs. Margaret Vines, Chamber of Commerce secretary, has reminded.

The livestock division will be made up altogether of beef calves, and a large class of these are expected.

Interest in exhibiting swine has dropped in recent years, Mrs. Vines pointed out. Also, weather around Fair Time is almost always hot and is hard on the hogs being exhibited. With these things in mind, it was decided to drop the hog division.

Home Management

By Mrs. Arla Felts

Remember how pretty those of the early flowers were along some streets in Wellington last spring? Now is the time to begin planning for next year. Decide with determination that you shall do something about your yard this year.

Bulbs are a good choice for many people since they require a minimum amount of care and they replenish themselves year after year.

The smaller type bulbs should be planted in September. These include crocus, Galanthus (Snowdrops), Leucojum (Snowflakes), Chionodoxa (Glory-of-the-snow), Squills, Eranthis (Winter Aconites).

Daffodils and hyacinths are planted in October. Last are tulips. They are planted in November.

All bulbs require well-drained soil and a site where the sun will reach them. Tulips and hyacinths look best when planted in groups of about seven. With smaller bulbs you need at least a couple of dozen. They may be planted in rows or scattered through the grass or used as a border around trees or porches.

The bulbs generally multiply so that each year there are a few more plants. Eventually, they should be replaced with new bulbs.

Summer care of bulbs falls into two categories: (1) Care of naturalized bulbs, or ones which are to be left in their location over winter, and (2) Care of bulbs that are lifted and stored.

Narcissi, including daffodils and jonquils, and also snowflakes, and spider-lillies are well known examples of plants whose leaves gradually dry and die following the blooming period. These leaves are usually unsightly as they brown, and the tendency is to remove them as soon as possible. Hopefully you did not, since these leaves are used to manufacture the food on which the next seasons flowers are formed. Imperfectly developed and matured foliage this year means poor flowers or none at all next year. The leaves should be left until they are at least two-thirds brown.

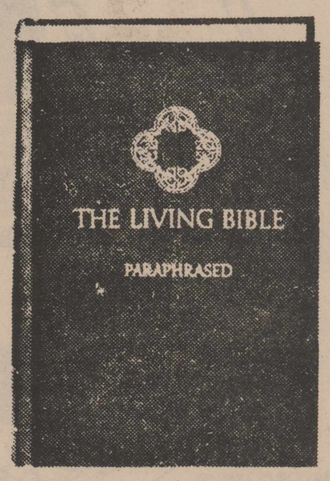

If the bulbs must be moved, wait until they have completely died. This is the most dormant time. The bulbs may be dried in the shade.

When it is time to plant bulbs, the beds should be spaded deeply. Some type of soil need peat added. Fertilizers for bulbs may be added to the soil below planting depth. Do not use fresh manure. A layer of sand should be added between the fertilizer and the bulbs. Fertilizer may also be mixed with the soil.

Planting depth depends on the variety of the bulb. For instance, iris (tubular) are planted two inch depth about 15-18 inches apart. Bulbous iris is planted 4-5 inches deep and about six inches apart. Tulips and gladiola are planted seven inches deep, tulips four inches apart, gladiolas 6-9 inches apart.

As a general rule for planting, cover tops of bulbs to a depth of about four times the size of the bulb. Most florist and garden centers offer advice in planting bulbs. Call or write the County Extension Office if further information is needed.

Wildlife Diseases Dangerous to Man

AUSTIN -- Of all the diseases which may be transmitted from wild animals to man, rabies is the most feared.

Texas State Department of Health Laboratories report that during the first four months of 1973 there have been 85 confirmed cases of animal rabies. Of that number, 61 involved wildlife -- 45 skunks, 11 foxes, one coyote, two raccons and two bats.

Texas had 343 cases of rabies last year – 281 in wildlife.

The state led the nation in 1971 with 323 rabies incidents. which was a far cry from the 658 cases reported in 1961.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reports that the chances of transmitting rabies to humans are slim. Most of the public will never come in contact with the disease unless their occupation involves handling sick animals.

The last documented death from natural exposure to rabies in Texas was in 1962. Last year one death was reported which was attributed to exposure to the rabies virus in a laboratory.

Rabies is caused by a virus which requires from one to six months to incubate within an animal.

The disease begins with a depression of the spirits and swelling of the lymphatics in the region of the wound. Choking and spasmodic breathing follows with increasing spasms of the respiratory muscles.

Fever, mental derangement, vomiting and secretion of saliva often accompany the disease. Death usually occurs within two to five days after the appearance of the first symptoms.

Positive diagnosis of rabies involves killing the suspected host to examine brain tissues.

Fortunately, however, man seems to be highly resistant to rabies and only 20 percent of those bitten by a known rabid animal will contract the disease.

Treatment for rabies in man is a painful series of shots in the fatty deposits of the stomach.

Why bother with such painful treatment if man has only one chance in five of contracting the disease?

Once the first symptoms appear, the only treatment for the disease is making the individual as comfortable as possible because death is almost inevitable once the disease reaches such an advanced stage.

The rabies cycle begins in Texas each spring when migrating bats return from Mexico to their homes. It has been estimated that five percent of all bats returning to Texas are infected with rabies.

Bats react slowly to the disease; therefore, the virus incubates longer and affects more bats within the same cave.

The disease begins to spread when infected bats fall to the floor of the cave and small mammals such as foxes and skunks enter the caves to feed on crippled adults and helpless young bats.

Traditionally, rabies builds to a peak in August and September and declines with the onset of cooler weather.

Rabies can be controlled in pets with vaccination but, as yet, there is no practical means of controlling the disease in wild animals.

Noise Affects Work Ability

AUSTIN, (Spl.) -- A University of Texas psychologist says unpredictable and uncontrollable noise can affect the way a person performs tasks.

Dr. David Glass, chairman of the UT Austin Psychology Department, reports that persons exposed to noise they had not expected and which they could not turn off were more easily frustrated and made more mistakes than persons who were not subjected to noise-induced stress.

Even though man may learn to keep functioning in the midst of noise, Dr. Glass believes noise takes its toll in the "undesirable aftereffects" of frustration and inefficiency.

Cotton Prices Due Highest Since 1951

COLLEGE STATION -- Favorable weather so far this season points to a successful Texas cotton crop that will pay farmers their highest cotton prices since 1951.

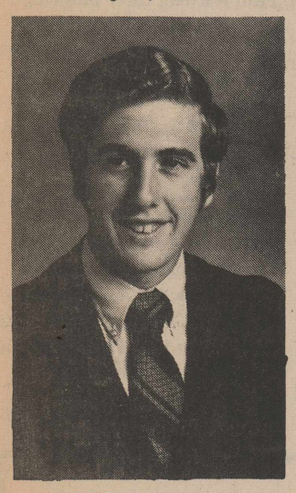

"Tight supplies and relatively strong demands, both domestic and export, indicate that the average 1973-74 cotton price to the farmer will be higher than in the past season even though mid-season demand will again be weak," says Charles Baker, marketing economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Early season cotton last year was heavily contracted to cover domestic mill needs for the last quarter of 1972. However, the anticipated large crop resulted in a weak mid-season market with prices unduly depressed. Domestic mills and foreign buyers sharpened demand in late 1972 and early 1973, resulting in depletion of uncommitted stocks, contracts for much of the 1973-74 crop and record prices," explains the Texas A&M University System specialist.

Texas, the nation's leading cotton producing state since 1880, produced 4.1 million bales in 1972 on 5,570 acres for a total $535 million. The 1973 Texas crop, planted on 5,700 acres, should produce three percent more than the 1972 total and have a value exceeding $700 million for the first time since 1962.

During the 1972-73 season, domestic mill use of cotton dropped to 7.7 million bales, a 34-year low, while exports rose to a 10-year high of 4.8 million bales. The large 1972 crop of 13,702 bales enabled carry-over stocks on August 1 this year to rise to 4.5 million bales compared with the 20-year low of 3.3 million a year earlier, points out the economist.

Although domestic use of cotton is down due to imported cotton fabrics and increased use of synthetics and blends, cotton still remains "king" in Texas, contends Baker.

High Plains Research Sets Field Day

Activities in preparation for the 17th Annual Field Day at the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway are in high gear as the September 13 date approaches.

Field Day activities begin at 1:30 p.m. with field tours of research plots. Jim Valliant, research director, will conduct the only field stop planned for the hour-long tour. He will discuss methods of conservation to prolong the life of the High Plains soil and underground water supply.

High Plains Research Foundation is a leader in water conservation with probably the most extensive study on artificial water recharge of any agency in the nation.

The field tours will be made aboard two flat-bed semi-trailer trucks with Foundation staff members serving as tour guides on each truck. They will point out areas of interest and be available to answer questions concerning Foundation operations.

Jack Cloude, High Plains Research Foundation head of publications, said that all Field Day activities were being designed with the visitor's comfort in mind. "We are not prolonging the field tours to keep visitors from spending extensive time in the fields.

"We want our visitors to enjoy themselves and have plenty of time to tour all the facilities and exhibits that will be set up for Field Day.

"One of the things that will help the visitors will be the large tent area that is being set aside with plenty of good, cold water available there too," he added.

In addition to the field tours, Joe Wright, Foundation agronomist, will conduct brief programs on new crops and small grain crops, including triticale. In addition to the presentation, an exhibit booth with triticale food samples will be set up during Field Day.

Other exhibits will include the increasingly popular equipment area where the latest farm equipment will be on display.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Mack Saied Jr., were their daughters, Cindy and Mary, and their son, Bobby of Lubbock. Also visiting were some friends, Lee Williamson of Dallas, and Paul Frentz of Ft. Worth.

Also visiting recently were their sons, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Hite, Billy Jr., Stevie, and Kevin, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bruce Hite, all from Amarillo.

Thank You

We cannot see or know the meaning of why Larry's stay with us was brief. But we have lovely memories to cherish and comfort us in our sorrow.

In times of sorrow such as this, there is no way to adequately express the deep and heartfelt appreciation to all who were so kind and thoughtful during our recent bereavement, as well as to all who gave us strength and encouragement in these last two years.

It helps to know there are other hearts that understand and care. For every expression of sympathy, we are deeply grateful. The love of friends gives us comfort and for Larry's sake, we must fill each waking hour in useful ways.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—by Deskins Wells

FARMERS can plant three times as much wheat in 1974 as they did in 1973; but a good percentage of them have serious doubts about wisdom of doing it. There is a story on page one giving the details of the 1974 wheat program. This lists the target price of $2.05 a bushel as well as the formula by which the producer will be paid.

* * *

THESE producers know that opening grain markets to Russia and China have created an unprecedented demand for wheat and other grains. The lower valuation of the dollar in proportion to other currencies has added to the demand. But the farmers know that good weather and high yields in other parts of the world could change this situation drastically in one short year.

* * *

THE experienced farmer will think several times before he puts all the land he can into wheat. It is a double gamble. There is the chance of a lower price and the chance of a crop failure. Wheat may not be too important in our immediate vicinity. It is third here as a cash crop and in recent years has been as important as winter pasture as grain.

ALFRED ALLRED has come across one of these old columns in which I wrote:

"Somewhere along the line we must resolve an equation between preserving our ecology and our present standard of living. It should have been against the law to burn natural gas for the production of electricity years ago. It should be against the law now to use heavy oil for the production of electricity. Coal can be used and it can be cleaned up. It will cost extra money; but it should be done."

* * *

ALFRED, who is with the Texas Power & Light Company, has sent me a copy of a Dallas Morning News story on the use of lignite for electricity at a plant near Fairfield. A twin plant is located at Mt. Pleasant and a third is planned for Tatum. There is enough lignite in this East Texas vein to provide fuel for these three plants for 35 years or until some other source of power such as nuclear is available.

* * *

THE LIGNITE, which is 38 or more feet under the ground, is produced by strip mining which is the bane of the ecologists in the eastern states. It is different in Texas says this article. The power companies are committed to restoration of the mined land, filling, leveling, grass seeding, fertilizing, etc. They have a permanent research station that will work on restoration, wildlife and other environmentals.

THEY expect to make the mined land more beautiful and useful than it was before. On air pollution they are helped by the composition of the Texas fuel, which is much lower in sulphur content. Ordinary coal is 3 per cent sulphur and can run as high as 5 per cent. All of the Texas lignite will contain less than 1% sulphur and that near Fairfield is as low as .6 in sulphur content. Fly-ash that comes from the burning lignite will be 95% eliminated and the rest carried off by the tall smokestacks. Thanks, Alfred, for the clipping. That is refreshing news.

STATE SENATOR Jack Hightower was in Wellington last week visiting old friends and making new ones. He told The Leader that he was not as yet a candidate for the U.S. Representative from the 13th District of Texas. "I know that it has been reported in several papers that I am running," he said. "I am checking over the district now and there is a possibility that I will run for the seat but right now I am checking and nothing more." The personable state senator from Vernon has one of the better records of the members of the upper house in Austin.

ANOTHER former state senator, Marshall Formby of Plainview, was in Wellington this week making an official visit as district governor of Rotary. Formby is best remembered here as the former Chairman of the Texas Highway Commission. His wife is the former Sharleen Wells, who has been an outstanding factor in Marshall's many successful endeavors.

* * *

IN addition to being a statesman, radio owner, publisher and stockman, Marshall Formby also is the author of a most interesting book. The name of it is "These Are My People". It is published by The Naylor Company, San Antonio, Texas. There will be more about this book later.

Probation Officer At Court Workshop

Chief probation officer Bob Watson attended a court services workshop for adult and juvenile probation officers in Lubbock, Wednesday through Friday, August 22 to 24. It was put on by Sam Houston State University.

Those attending worked in small groups with juvenile judges and program speakers.

The role of the probation officer within the court system was studied. A keynote speaker was Judge Wendell Odom, chief of the Court of Criminal Appeals. Judge Mary Lou Robinson of Amarillo was participating in one of the workshop sessions when she received word of her appointment to the Court of Civil Appeals.

Of major interest to the probation officers were discussions of the new Juvenile Code, which becomes effective September 1.

"Treatment of juveniles before the court will be completely changed. It will be more of a formal type court than previously," said Mr. Watson.

Also, juvenile probation will be for a year at a time, subject to extension. All juvenile probation will end at age 18."

A new word in the vocabulary of those who are concerned with juvenile offenders is CHINS - - Children in Need of Supervision, the Multi-county Juvenile Probation officer said.

Under this program, the juvenile judge will have several choices besides sending a young offender to Gatesville.

Under the new Juvenile Code, Mr. Watson continued, the juvenile judge will have the power to commit a child to a mental institution if that becomes necessary.

The Lubbock juvenile judge and members of the probation department stated a "mock" juvenile hearing to bring out a number of provisions in the new code.
