Bad Rap For Bats?

Far from the frightening tales of vampire lore, Texas' bat population, over 100 million strong, is a valuable animal resource. One bat may eat up to 3,000 insects, including crop pests and mosquitoes, each night. Some of the winged mammals also pollinate or disperse seeds for numerous plants.

On This Date

On this date in 1919 Congress passed the Volstead Act over a President Woodrow Wilson's veto. The act provided enforcement of the 18th amendment to the Constitution which prohibited the "manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes." In 1933 the entire thing was repealed by the 21st amendment. In 1962 the Cuban Missile Crisis effectively ended when Soviet leader Nikita Khrushchev announced his government's intent to dismantle and remove all offensive Soviet weapons from Cuba. In 1965 the Gateway Arch at St. Louis, Missouri was completed.

Birthdays of note include: 1467 author and scholar Desiderius Erasmus; 1896 composer Howard Hanson; 1907 Academy Award-winning costume designer Edith Head; 1914 polio vaccine creator Dr. Jonas Salk; 1930 news correspondent Bruce Morton; 1937 country musician Charlie Daniels; 1939 actress Jane Alexander; 1949 Olympic Gold Medalist Bruce Jenner; 1967 actress Julia Roberts.

STATE-BOUND BAND!

Mighty Eagle Marching Band ties for 1st Place in Area Contest

Months of practice paid off Saturday as the Mighty Eagle Band tied for 1st Place in the Area "B" Marching Band Contest at the Birdville I.S.D. Stadium in North Richland Hills. The victory secured a berth of the band in the State Marching Band Contest, which will be held Monday, November 1st in Memorial Stadium in Mesquite.

The day was a long one for the band members who left Eldorado at 4:30 a.m., bound for the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex. Fifteen bands competed ahead of the Eagle Band, which took the field at 2:45 p.m.

After turning in a near flawless performance, band members retreated to the grandstands to watch as four other bands took their turns. Then, at approximately 4:30 p.m., came the announcement. Eldorado, Holliday, Anson and Jim Ned were certified to advance to the State Contest. The band from Reagan County High School was named as an alternate.

The Eagle Band's program consisted of three selections: 1) "Dance of the Tumblers" by Rimsky-Korsakov; 2) "Russian Christmas Music" by Alford Reed; and 3) "Pictures at an Exhibition" by Moussorgsky. The three Russian songs offered the fans and the judges a change of pace from the more standard marching band fare. And, the band's precise marching and complicated patterns proved to be a hit, as well.

In all, the Eagle Band consisted of 17 Flutes, 16 Clarinets, 1 Alto Sax, 8 French Horns, 20 Trumpets, 5 Baritones, 12 Trombones, 7 Tubas, 10 Percussion, 2 Drum Majors and 10 Flags.

In his critique of the show, judge Richard Herrera praised the Eagle Band's flag work and attention to detail. Meanwhile, judge Leland Sharrock noted the band's brass and woodwinds, saying, "Great! I loved it!"

Judge Harry Blake commented, "Bravo! Nice controlled sound!" Dr. Daryl Trent stated, "Excellent drill design" and "Excellent guard work. I enjoyed your performance!"

Judge Dennis Hopkins summed up the judges sentiments in his critique, "This band was really prepared for today. Wow! What a band!"

The next and final step for the Mighty Eagle Marching Band takes place Monday in Memorial Stadium in Mesquite. There, the band will face 14 other bands from across the state. The Eagle Band will be the first band to march and is slated to take the field at 12:00 noon. Seven bands will advance to the finals which are planned for 7:00 p.m. that evening.

Everyone is encouraged to make the trip to Mesquite to support the band. However, those who are unable to do so may see the band perform here on Friday night during halftime of the Eagles game

Pep Rally planned for EHS Band

A Pep Rally to cheer on the Mighty Eagle Marching Band is planned for Sunday afternoon at 3:00 at the EHS Band Hall. The rally will follow an afternoon practice session and will allow all local band boosters to turn out and express their support for the band which will be competing the following day at the U.I.L. State Marching Contest in Mesquite. Everyone is encouraged to attend and support the Mighty Eagle Marching Band!

Town Hall Meeting slated by Hospital District

A Town Hall Meeting to discuss the future of Schleicher County Medical Center is planned for Wednesday, November 3rd at 6:00 p.m. in the Schleicher County Memorial Building. Hospital Administrator Ann Fagan-Cook reports that the hospital district is seeking "Critical Access" designation for the facility and that the Town Hall Meeting is intended to give the public an opportunity to ask questions about the move.

Fagan-Cook explained that the "Critical Access" designation would allow the hospital to receive higher reimbursements from Medicare while providing the same level of care. She noted that hospital stays would be limited to 96-hours if the new program is implemented. However, the district is also studying a "Swing Bed" program which would help serve patients whose hospital stays exceeded 96-hours.

Fagan-Cook noted that Andy Freeman from Shawnee, Oklahoma, an expert in the area of "Critical Access" hospitals will be on hand for the meeting to answer any questions.

"We have a very good hospital here and the board is looking for ways to make it better," Fagan-Cook stated.

Refreshments will be served and everyone is invited to attend to learn about and discuss these possible changes at the hospital.

Attorney General sues Publishers Clearing House

AUSTIN—Texas Attorney General John Cornyn on Oct. 18 filed a lawsuit against Publishers Clearing House for violations of the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices Act.

The sweepstakes company made a variety of misleading representations through mail order solicitations designed to deprive money primarily from elderly recipients, the state's lawsuit alleges. "Elder Texans need and deserve protection from those who would try to take advantage of them."

"By taking legal action, I hope to bring to an end the clearly illegal practices Publishers Clearing House has engaged in," Cornyn said.

State Capital Highlights

Compiled by Ed Sterling

- According to the lawsuit:
- Publishers Clearing House developed a cycle of illegal acts designed to reinforce one another.
 - Victims, who disproportionately are seniors, are lured into believing they will win if they respond to the solicitation in a timely manner.
 - The company implies that placing an order for advertised items may enhance their chances of winning.

Those who place orders receive a barrage of solicitations claiming the victim is closer and closer to winning and that additional orders will help cement their multi-millionaire status.

By concentrating on those customers who have spent from $500 to $20,000 or more each year in hopes of winning, Publishers Clearing House has taken millions of dollars from Texas consumers, the lawsuit alleges.

The lawsuit asks a state district court in Travis County for a permanent injunction requiring the company to discontinue certain marketing practices in Texas and for civil penalties to be paid to the state of up to $10,000 per violation. Under the terms of the injunction, Publishers Clearing House also would be required to provide restitution to consumers identified as victims.

Other states have filed similar lawsuits against Publishers Clearing House. Those include Missouri, Michigan, Wisconsin, Florida, Arizona, Connecticut, Indiana and Washington.

Voter Registration Rises

Voter registration totals increased slightly between January 1999 and this month, according to updated information from county election officials.

A count of registered voters taken in anticipation of the Nov. 2 constitutional amendment election reflects a Texas voter registration count of 11,405,562. That figure represents 80 percent of the voting age population in Texas.

Voter registration in January 1999 was 10,987,639 or 77 percent of the voting age population in Texas.

Codeine Scammers Beware

Officials at the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse recently have alerted doctors and

A hectic, but otherwise enjoyable weekend

Kathy and I made a mad dash to the metroplex last Saturday to watch the Mighty Eagle Marching Band compete in the area marching contest. We arrived in Birdville I.S.D.'s new stadium just in time to see the Anson Tiger Band. I mention this only because I myself am an Anson-ex.

Two or three other schools performed before the Mighty Eagle Marching Band took the field. With over 100 members, the Eagle Band dwarfed the others we had seen. And, it was clearly the best band I saw all day.

My opinion on this matter was confirmed by the judges, too. They picked Eldorado's band as one of four to advance pharmacists about scams to obtain codeine cough syrup to get high.

Users with insurance or Medicaid have learned which symptoms to describe to get a prescription for cough syrup.

Information on this illegal practice was cited in a study by Dr. William N. Elwood, adjunct professor at the University of Texas School of Public Health in Houston.

More Firms Cleaning Up

The Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission last week saluted the 200 firms that are members of "Clean Industries 2000" for progress in reducing pollution across the state.

Members agree to reduce hazardous waste generation and/or releases and transfers of toxic pollutants and contaminants to the Texas environment by at least 50 percent by the year 2000.

Some new Clean Industries 2000 members include Exxon Co., USA Baytown Refinery; Mobil Chemical Co., Houston Olefins Plant; Alcatel, Plano; General Motors, Arlington; Motorola, Fort Worth; and TXU Electric plants in Fort Worth, Dallas, Monahans, Mesquite, Waco, Savoy and Coppell.

Other Highlights

• Texas Comptroller Carole Keeton Rylander last week ordered the agency's general counsel, Steve Koebele, to resign after he admitted to secretly recording meetings and telephone calls. All four of the tapes have been destroyed according to a spokesman for Rylander.

• The Tigua tribe has filed papers in U.S. District Court in El Paso seeking the dismissal of a lawsuit brought by the state of Texas to close the 6-year-old Speaking Rock casino on their reservation. The Tiguas are claiming sovereign immunity.

to the State Marching Contest next week in Mesquite.

Danny and Paula Boyer met us at the stadium. Danny is an EHS alumnus and Paula is from Barnhart. Although they have lived in Irving for many years now, they have managed to keep up with the goings out west by subscribing to the Eldorado Success and the Big Lake Wildcat.

I first met Danny a couple of years ago. He is in the electronics and communications business in Irving where he has clients ranging from the FAA (Federal Aviation Administration) to the Dallas County Sheriff's Department.

After the band contest, Kathy and I followed Danny and Paula to the Fort Worth Stockyards where we had dinner in the Cattlemen's Restaurant. Except for a 45-minute wait for a table, the meal was excellent. In fact, my steak was the best I've had in many, many years.

Later, we walked through the Stockyards area. I hadn't seen it in quite some time and was surprised to see all the shops, clubs and restaurants which had built up in the area.

Of course, only a block away sits Billy Bob's Texas, the world's largest honky tonk. We didn't venture over there, though, opting instead for a ride on a train.

No kidding, a passenger train makes regular stops in the Stockyards. It was quite by accident that the train was pulling into the station just as we walked by. So, we climbed aboard and went for a ride.

In fact, the Boyers and the Mankins were the only passengers aboard as the train. As it rocked along toward downtown Fort Worth, the brakeman/conductor stopped by our car to visit.

He told us the train is pulled on weekdays by a steam locomotive. However, our Saturday night ride was powered by a diesel locomotive the railroad had leased from the Texas State Railroad in Palestine. The locomotive had previously seen duty around San Angelo on the Orient Line and still bore the name of the Orient on its sides.

It was nice to get away, if only for a day but, as I've said in this column before, there's no place like home. Danny and Paula seem to have adapted to the traffic and the faster pace of the city better than I ever could. Life here in Eldorado is plenty fast for me.

ROLLING ALONG

WITH TUMBLEWEED SMITH

The Rose Capital of the Nation

Right after Labor Day every year, all the flowers in Tyler's fourteen acre rose garden are snipped off. Within six weeks, a whole new crop of blooms appear and the garden is ablaze with color. The garden, created in 1952, is at its peak the third weekend in October when Tyler has a rose festival. It's one of the biggest events in the southern United States.

About one third of all the roses in the country are grown in Smith county. About half are processed there. A Tyler grower may have crops in California or Arizona, but he'll ship them back to Tyler, bare root, put them in a pot or bag and sell them with a Tyler label.

Jennifer Bennett is director of Tyler's Rose Museum. She says Tyler's claim of being the rose capital just sort of happened. "People started calling it that long before the rose was made our national flower by President Reagan. In the thirties, people had a little money and were turning from the fields to more business and industry and were decorating their yards. Roses were a favorite, so rose growing was born."

The Rose Festival is filled with pageantry. It includes a queen's coronation and a rose parade. "Our parade has over a hundred units," says Jennifer. "Some are composed of 200 or 300 band members. We have thirteen official floats that carry the Queen's court. This year we're going to have paratroopers jumping into our stadium as part of the ceremonies."

This is the 66th year for Tyler's Rose Festival. The theme is "A Fanfare and Farewell to the Twentieth Century." Significant events, inventions, personalities and places during the last ten decades will be highlighted.

The Rose Museum shows the development of Tyler's rose industry. One large area is devoted to a display of gowns and capes worn by previous Rose Queens. Some of them date back to 1935 and weigh up to sixty pounds. "They're all made in Texas," says Jennifer. "We're very proud of that. They're heavily beaded with sequins, stones, appliques, you name it. We change the display every year to include different gowns."

East Texas has been known for the fine quality of its agriculture since before the Civil War. A combination of sandy soil, year round rainfall and moderate climate make Tyler the ideal site for growing a wide variety of fruits, vegetables and flowering plants. The real turning point for the rose industry was a blight that destroyed most of the county's peach crop. Following the devastation of the peach industry, many of the experienced nurserymen in the area turned their skill to growing roses. By the mid-thirties, millions of rose bushes were being produced in fields around Tyler.

Smith county rapidly gained national prominence for its rose production. The Texas Rose Research Foundation tests new strains of roses for vigor, flower characteristics and disease resistance. Its insistence on producing beautiful, long lasting roses has attracted rosarians from all over the world to Tyler.

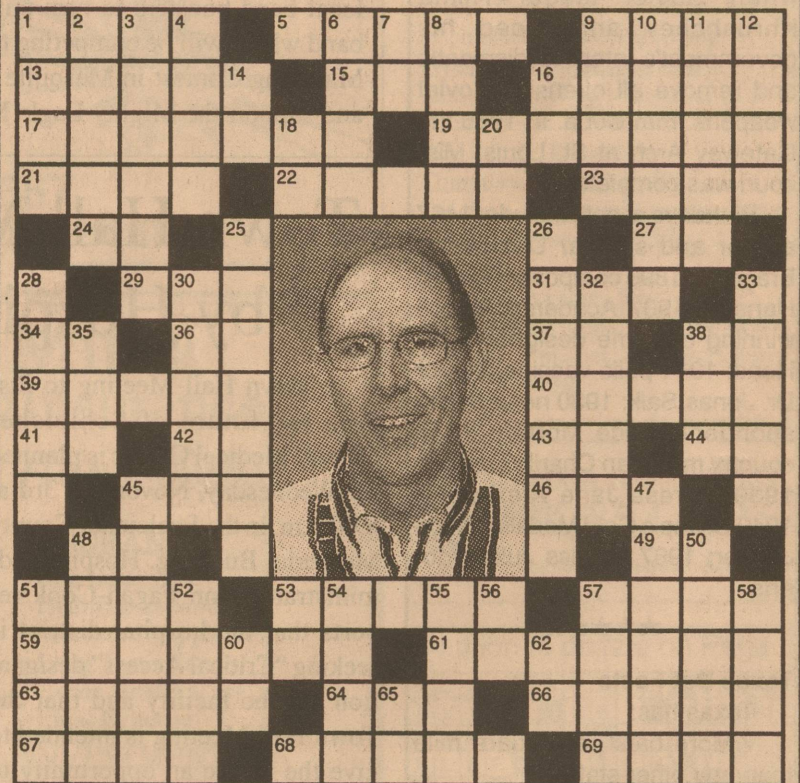

The first Tyler Rose Festival in 1933 was planned to be a showcase for the city's successful rose industry. A popular feature of the first festival was a tour of the rose fields in and around Tyler during October's harvest time.

Eagles fall to Ozona 26-0

By David E. Hill
Success Sports Writer

Eldorado traveled to Ozona last Friday night with the opportunity to remain tied for first place in the District 2-2A race. It was a long night for the Eagles team and supporters who made the trip over to Crockett County. Coach Fryar said, "We could have done everything better against the Lions." The Eagles had a rough time with pass blocking and pass defense.

The bright spot for the Eagles was the defensive unit in the first quarter. Ozona had been known for their tough option running offense and the Eagles shut them down the entire opening stanza. Rocky Robles, Ben Edmiston, and Cory Lloyd led the defensive effort.

In the second quarter, the Lions went to the passing game and quickly jumped to a 13 to 0 lead at the half. Ozona would score touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters for the win.

Offensively the Eagles could not get untracked most of the night. The run worked early for the Eagles, however, quarterback Joey Bullard never had much time to get a passing attack underway. In fact, he was trapped for a loss seven times during the ball game. Eldorado managed only 164 yards total offense for the night.

The Eagles will face the Forsan Buffaloes tomorrow night at Eagle Stadium. Kick off is scheduled for 8 PM.

Coach Fryar's spoke of the upcoming game, "We have got to win this week if we want a chance for the playoffs." A win means Eldorado reaches the post season, a loss, could mean next week is the last weekend for football. Make sure to be there and support the Eagles in the contest. Wear your green and BE LOUD!

Eagles JV loses to Ozona 25-14

Eldorado played the Ozona Lions on their home field October 23rd. Fumbles and interceptions led to 19 Ozona points early in the game and created a deficit from which the Eagle JV could not overcome.

Ozona intercepted 4 passes and recovered 2 fumbles to take an early 19-0 lead. They went on to win the game 25-19. Eldorado mounted a spirited effort but came up short. Ramon Barajas scored on a 32 yard touchdown pass from Johnny Herrera. Herrera ran another touchdown in from 1 yard out. Quisto Gonzales kicked both PATs.

Highlights for the Eagles during the game included: Ramon Barajas with 3 pass receptions; Benji Gonzales with a fumble recovery, a 20 yard pass reception, and several long runs; David Elias with good defense in the second half and 1 quarterback sack; Mike Ramirez with good defense and 2 nice pass receptions for 37 yards; Quisto Gonzales with some nice runs and a quarterback sack; and Juan Diego Guzman, Wesley Jones, and Luis Enriquez with some good defense and quarterback sacks.

After the game Coach Alan Gillespie stated, "It was a courageous effort with limited personnel. We had lots of key players out with injuries and illness right up to just before the game."

"We still had a great opportunity to win if not for all the turnovers," Gillespie noted. "We played pretty good defense most of the game but key breakdowns cost us two long touchdowns."

The Eagles JV will travel to Forsan on Saturday, October 30 in a rare afternoon game at 1:00 p.m.

CT-scan imaging coming to local hospital

Schleicher County Medical Center will be getting a new piece of equipment, a CT-scan imager. The equipment will be coming to Eldorado from the hospital in Burnet where it has been in service there. When Burnet decided to upgrade to a larger unit, the existing scanner became available.

When SCMC's administrator Ann Fagan-Cook explained to the hospital's board of trustees Monday night that the equipment was available, they wasted no time in voting to acquire it.

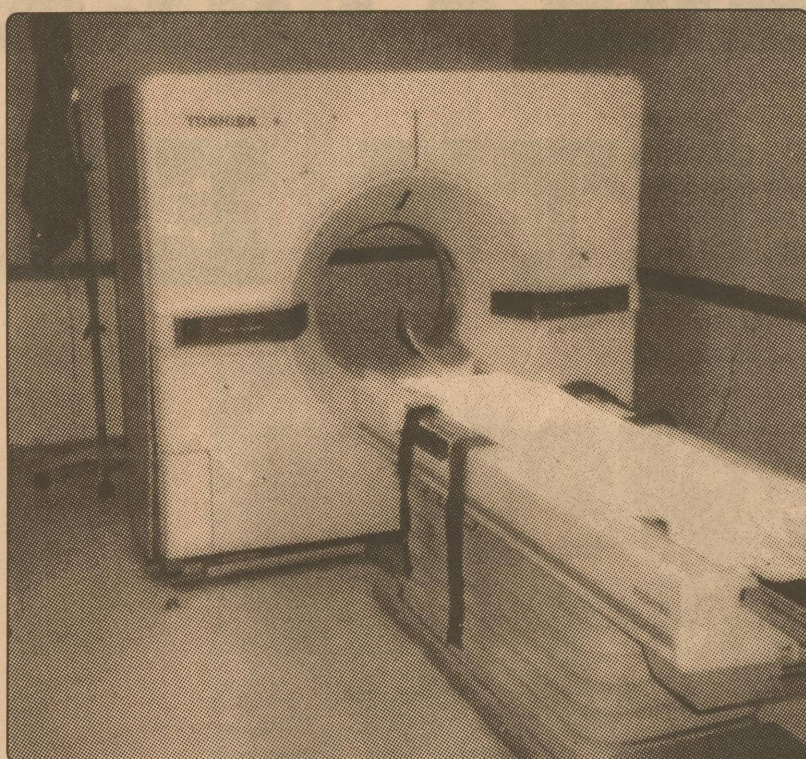

Actually, the hospital district will only rent the machine. That is, a fee will be paid each time the scanner is used. However, that fee will be well below the amount SCMC will be able to bill for the service, Fagan-Cook explained.

The equipment will come to SCMC complete in a portable building. It is unknown at this time exactly when the scanner will be placed into service, since asbestos abatement work continues at the hospital.

That work was also discussed at Monday night's board meeting with trustees voting unanimously to approve payment to architect Paul Rhinelander, who has been overseeing the project. They also approved paying King Consulting for air monitoring and other on-site consulting. A bill for $28,500 from LVI Environmental Services, the company actually performing the asbestos removal, was also approved for payment, but only after architect Rhinelander inspects the company's work. It was explained that phase I of the project should be wrapping up this week.

Trustees Ricky Fuessel, Delia Pina, Judy Christian, Randy Mankin, Brian Edmiston and Lanis Mikeska were on hand for the meeting. Trustee Tom Enochs was absent.

In other business the board met behind closed doors in executive session to discuss personnel matters and real property. Upon emerging into open session the board met with several Certified Nurses Aides (CNAs), from the nursing home staff, who complained of being underpaid. They also told the board that absenteeism is placing a heavy burden on those who show up to work their shifts.

The employees stated that other facilities in neighboring towns are paying higher wages than are being paid at the local facility. Individual board members then asked questions of the group before discussion eventually moved to other items on the agenda.

Among those items was a review of the district's financial records and a proposed policy relating to the reporting of accidents caused by medical devices. Administrator Fagan-Cook pointed out that the policy is required by regulators and it was adopted after review by several of the board members.

In other business the board okayed moving the payday for district employees from Tuesday to Wednesday. However, the trustees asked assistant administrator Beverly Minor to notify all hospital staff of the change well in advance.

Before adjourning the trustees approved the payment of $1,000 to Inca Fire Alarms for the relocation of the nurses station call system in the hospital during phase II of the asbestos abatement project. It was explained that the money will also cover reinstalling the system in its proper location once the project is completed.

Schleicher County Commissioners Court holds regular meeting

The Schleicher County Commissioners Court met Monday, October 25th with Commissioners Johnny Mayo, Bill Clark, Steve Minor, Ross Whitten and County Judge Johnny Griffin in attendance. The meeting began with the men approving the minutes of the previous meeting. Next, the commissioners learned from County Clerk Peggy Williams that the State had approved an increase in certain fees relating to the Probate Court. Williams also requested permission to attend a conference in Austin concerning vital statistics. The commissioners agreed to the request.

Next, the court voted unanimously to renew a contract with Kerr County covering mental commitment hearings. Judge Griffin noted that Kerr County has handled the few such hearings Schleicher County has needed in the past. With no change in the contract or the fee schedule, the men agreed to the renewal.

Judge Griffin then explained to the commissioners that problems had been discovered with the jail's fire alarm system. He told the men that Sheriff David Doran, who was in Alpine attending a school, had reported the problem to him and that the company which had originally installed the alarm system 20-years ago was no longer in business. Griffin recommended hiring Balco Sound, Inc. of Lubbock to install a new fire alarm system. He noted repairs on the old equipment would cost $1,900 and would not include a warranty. A new system will cost $3,100 and will be covered with a 1-year warranty. After some discussion, the commissioners voted unanimously to hire Balco Sound to install a new alarm system.

Next the court cast its ballots in the election of board members to the Schleicher County Appraisal District's board of directors. The men voted unanimously to split the district's votes, with 830 going to Phil McCormick and 829 going to Ross Whitten.

Fire Chief Jerry Jones then met with the commissioners and explained that grant funds were available through the RC&D Committee. He asked the county to sponsor the Fire Department's grant request for $6,000 with which to buy new hand-held radios. The commissioners voted unanimously in favor of Jones' request.

Before adjourning the court decided to sell some of the county's older equipment. They called for bids for a 1975 1-ton International cab & Chassis, a 1974 Chevrolet 1/2 ton pickup and a 1958 Nabors 30 ft. tandem axle float. Sealed bids are to be opened at 10:00 a.m. on at the court's November 8th meeting.

Beta Sigma Phi sorority holds meeting

by Barbara Jackson

Eight members and one pledge of Beta Sigma Phi met for a combination social and business meeting Monday October 25, 1999. Xi Xi Chi Chapter welcomes pledge Shannon Miller into their ranks.

Dorothy Dacy opened the business meeting and reported that the community had gotten into the spirit of the season and there will be eleven booths to entertain the local youth on Saturday October 30, at the Memorial Building. The sorority is excited that there will also be food booths and drinks for the families to enjoy as they join in the fun with their children.

The theme for the Social was the 50's and members came dressed in that era. Mary Leigh Dunagan wore a poodle skirt and served coke floats as refreshments. Co-hostess Dorothy Dacy provided a 50's decorated cake from a table decorated with 45 and 78 RPM records.

After refreshments were enjoyed Mary Leigh gave the program on "Phobias". Most everyone decided that they had some kind of a phobia they dealt with.

Mary Jenkins won the "Sunshine gift".

County Extension Agent

There will be a Toxic Plant Workshop on November 12, 1999 at the Sutton County 4-H Civic Center in Sonora.

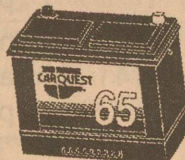

Participants in this workshop will be able to identify potentially toxic plants, understand more about the toxicology of poisonous plants, be better able to identify plants problems in livestock, and be able to develop management strategies for minimizing livestock losses.

The program will begin with registration at 8:30 a.m. and conclude around 3:30 p.m. There is no charge for this workshop but a catered lunch will be provided. Therefore a RSVP would greatly be appreciated.

There will be a 5 CEUs available for those individuals with a pesticide applicators license. For more information or a complete agenda, call the Extension office at 915-853-2132.

SAFETY TIPS

Go trick-or-treating with a grown-up

Visit only people that you know.

Make sure your costume lets you see and hear perfectly. You need to be able to watch and listen for cars.

Make sure your costume fits. It's easy to trip on costumes that are too long or shoes that are too big.

Wear brightly-colored clothing. Put "glow-in-the-dark" patches or strips on your costume so drivers can see you.

Carry a flashlight.

Don't eat treats until you show them to your parents or a trusted adult.
