Chamber of Commerce Launches Tourist of the Week Program

The Tourist of the Week hospitality program for winter visitors has been started again by the Chamber of Commerce.

This event in the past few years has developed into one of the best promotional activities sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, demonstrating that it makes a lot of winter visitors happy, brings tourists into local stores and other places of business, and provides the means of producing nationwide publicity.

Here's the way the program works: (1) Winter visitors are encouraged to register at the Chamber of Commerce where their names are written on entry blanks and placed in a box; (2) the lucky Tourist of the Week is selected by a drawing from the box;

(3) The winner is notified and is given a number of gift certificate prizes contributed by members of the Chamber of Commerce. (4) A photo is taken of the winner and the picture and a news article is published in the Rockport Pilot and also sent to the hometown newspaper of the winner.

Throughout the past few years, the Rockport area has received publicity in many northern states as a result of the Tourist of the Week program.

To make certain that the program again will be a success in 1973, the Chamber of Commerce needs donations from its members for gift certificates as prizes. Please call Mrs. Loyce Landrum at the C of C (729-6445).

War Veterans Get $265,771 In 1972

War veterans in Aransas County received $265,771 in monetary benefits in 1972.

This was reported Monday at a meeting of Aransas County Commissioners Court. The amount was contained in the following letter received by Jimmy Hunt, Aransas County Service Officer, from Charles L. Morris, executive director of the Veterans Affairs Commission, Austin:

"We would like to recognize the service you render as Veterans County Service Officer, and to take this opportunity to commend you for your untiring efforts and assistance in helping the veterans of all wars and their survivors, in the handling of their claims for VA benefits.

"We are familiar with the veterans assistance program in your county, and are in a position to realize the contribution your office makes in behalf of Aransas County veterans. Our records indicate that during the past year, you were instrumental in the recovery of monetary benefits amounting to $265,771.00. These benefit payments are made direct to veterans or their survivors in your county, and make it possible for them to have a more satisfactory life, correlated with a lesser financial burden on your community and the State, as a whole.

"Your efforts are appreciated, and we extend our best wishes for another year of accomplishment in assisting veterans and their dependents."

The Commissioners Court unanimously agreed to amend the budget for 1973 and adopt the following pay scale:

Fire Truck Still Has Problems

As readers of the Pilot know, the Rockport Volunteer Fire Department has encountered a lot of trouble with the new $26,000 fire truck which the city pruchased.

A recent article, for example, reported that the most serious problem a few weeks ago was that the wheels kept working loose, making the fire truck unsafe to use.

At the City Council meeting Monday night, City Secretary Herman Johnson said he recently called the president of the fire truck company and told him of the problems.

The president said he would see to it that the fire truck is fixed and put in satisfactory condition. So today, the fire truck is to be taken to Bob Turner Ford repair shop in Corpus Christi for additional work.

Meanwhile, the city is holding back all payments on the truck until it is repaired and made safe to use. It was stated at the Council meeting that the fire truck presently will travel up to 55 miles per hour with no problems, but at higher speeds the truck vibrates.

Communications 'Smorgasborg'

The accompanying photo of a drama sketch was but one means of communicating the faith as demonstrated at the "Communications Smorgasborg" in the First Presbyterian Church Fellowship Hall last Sunday morning. Those attending found themselves caught up in a festival atmosphere discovering that learning can be fun.

The communication Smorgasborg will be continued each Sunday in January at 9:45 a.m. and is the beginning of the new educational approaches designed by a special, local Task Force for Rockport Presbyterians. Each Sunday different means of communicating the faith will be presented for all ages.

The design is to acknowledge continuing development, enhance individual interests, stress content of Christian faith, and blend the understanding of faith and church responsibility in society. Where this will lead, no one has ventured to predict. But from initial responses by planners and participants, Sunday School isn't quite the same, and that's all for the better.

H. E. Butt, chairman of the board of H. E. Butt Grocery Company, has offered to contribute $10,000 to help build a swimming pool at the new 25-acre Memorial Park here.

Mr. Butt's letter, containing the offer, stated "if it can be worked out with the City of Rockport and possibly with Federal help or with a Savings and Loan Company, the H.E. Butt Grocery Company would be glad to contribute $10,000 to help on a swimming pool, as we have done in several towns."

Mrs. Stubbs informed the City Council Monday of Mr. Butt's generous offer. Mayor Walter S. Falk, Jr., and Aldermen Charlie Garrett, N. F. Jackson, Joe "Pepe" Zambrano and Murray McMillan expressed appreciation for Mr. Butt's interest and offer of financial assistance.

Then the Council authorized Mrs. Stubbs and other members of the Parks and Recreation Board to contact various area cities, such as Portland and Robstown, and get information on the costs of their swimming pools, sizes and other information and then report back to the City Council.

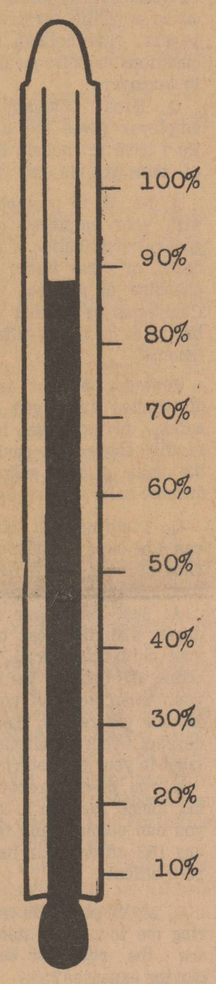

In addition, City Secretary Herman Johnson and Mayor Falk will contact the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) at San Antonio to find out if there is any possibility of getting a matching grant to help provide the necessary funds to build an adequate swimming pool at the park.

Mrs. Stubbs also was asked to investigate the possibility of financial assistance from Mr. Butt for tennis courts at the park if the cost of a swimming pool was beyond the reach of the city.

As a contribution to a cleaner city, 11 Rockport business firms have given the city 11 modern steel curb-side trash containers. They are located throughout the downtown area and will be serviced by the city sanitary department on a regular schedule.

Purchased from the American City Service Co., of Brownsville, the containers will be cleaned and waxed every six months for the next two years by the company. In several Texas cities similar trash containers have been in service for more than five years, according to company representatives.

In accepting the trash containers for the city, Mayor Walter S. Falk, Jr., said: "The entire community is indebted to these public spirited business men. With the cooperation of the public in using the containers, Rockport will become a cleaner, more attractive city".

Driver Education Courses Planned

Driver education courses will be offered in the Rockport-Fulton High School this summer starting approximately June 4. The tentative plan is to complete the classroom phase by June 29 and some of the driving phase will be completed for some students by July 1. The plan now is to complete the remainder of the student driving phase during the month of July.

The Rockport - Fulton High School has obtained the two Aetna Drivotrainer trailers for the month of June to be used in this driver training program.

One phase of the program employes a fleet of computerized simulator cars which students "drive" to filmed traffice situations. The other phase uses an audio-visual system which presents a series of programmed situations and questions on film and instantly records both individual and class responses.

The cars are those of the AETNA Drivotrainer system, furnished through Region II Education Service Center of Corpus Christi, which provides facilities for training 16 students at a time, compared to the three or four students an instructor can handle in a dual-control car.

The Rockport-Fulton installation consists of 16 stationary cars which students "drive" to meet changing road and traffic conditions seen in the wide screen color film shown at the front of the classroom. The simulated car is equipped with all the controls used in standard automobiles. The controls function exactly as they do in real cars.

Under the hood is an electronic "engine" with integrated circuits connected to a digital computer that tells the student immediately what action he should be taking if he varies from good driving procedures. The computer also scores the student's performance for the instructor.

At Rockport - Fulton High School, students will get 12 hours of behind-the-wheel instruction with the Drivotrainer system while on-the-road time in dual-control cars will be

Aliens Must Report Addresses

Immigration officials are well pleased with the response of aliens in this area to address report requirements.

Mr. Hoyt H. Harris of the Immigration and Naturalization Service stated that although the program has been underway only ten days, the number reporting thus far is well ahead of the number reporting during the same period last year.

Aliens have until the end of January to submit their address reports to the Government. Forms for this purpose may be obtained at any Post Office or any office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

All aliens, with few exceptions, are required to report. Those excused from this requirement include diplomats and persons accredited to certain international organizations.

Aliens who are minors must also report, but the parent or legal guardian should submit the report for an alien child under fourteen years of age.

Nuckles Talks To Rotarians

In recognition of the advent of the new year, L.D. Nuckles, of the Texas Parks and Wildlife department, described development of the calendar used today by most of the world at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club Januaary 3 at Corky's Restaurant.

He did point out that early Jews, Moslems and ancient Greeks had different ideas about a calendar, and considered the vernal equinox in the spring when day and night are of equal length, the beginning of their new year. Our calendar started out with lunar months fitting into a solar year. However, this proved impractical because there is no actual relationship between the two, Nuckles said.

He related that the Romans originally had 10 months in their calendar, some of them with names that we continue to use. They found that 10 lunar months would not work, so January and February were added in an attempt to make the year come out even as to total days. Some of these months had 29 days and some 31, he said.

After numerous changes and experiments, our present calendar with a leap year every four years was devised in an effort to assure that every year included the same number of days. Even so, there is a gain of several minutes and seconds each year with the calendar we now use, according to Nuckles.

Column On Federal Taxes to Be Published

Beginning today, The Pilot will publish on a weekly basis a column of questions and answers on Federal taxes.

With the filing period for 1973 income taxes extending between January 1 and April 16, 1973, this is an appropriate time to begin a special column that answers questions that taxpayers may have about their tax returns.

The column, provided by the Internal Revenue district office in Austin, will answer questions most frequently asked by taxpayers about their filing requirements. Readers of The Pilot should find it a source of enlightenment, and possibly save a phone call, a visit or a letter to the local Internal Revenue office.

Internal Revenue officials say informed taxpayers, aware of their rights as well as their responsibilities, give the American tax system its strength and its effectiveness. In addition, taxpayers who are informed are less likely to underpay or overpay taxes required by law.

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. Each Christmas my employer gives me a turkey. Do I have to include the value of this gift in my income?

A. No. If, to promote goodwill, your employer makes a general distribution of turkeys, hams, or other items of merchandise of nominal value at Christmas or another holiday, the value of those gifts is not income.

However, if your employer distributes cash, gift certificates, or similar items of readily convertible cash value, the value of such gifts is additional salary or wages.

Q. I moved last May. How can I be sure the Internal Revenue Service will send my tax forms to my new address?

A. Just leave your new address with the post office in your old neighborhood. The post office will forward the forms to you. When you get your 1972 income tax return, be sure to correct your address on the label in your tax return packet.

If you do not receive your tax forms package in the mail, you can obtain blank forms at any IRS office, most banks and post offices.

Q. My employer is transferring me to another state. What are the rules for deducting moving expenses?

A. In general, your moving expenses are deductible if you satisfy certain distance and time requirements. The distance between your new place of work and your old residence must be at least 50 miles farther than the distance from your old residence to your old place of work. Secondly, during the 12-month period immediately after your arrival in the general area of your new place of work, you must have worked full-time for at least 39 weeks. If you are self-employed, a different time requirement applies.

For more details, contact your Internal Revenue office and ask for a free copy of IRS Publication 521, "Tax Information on Moving Expenses."

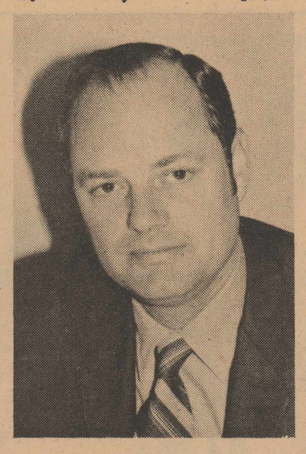

Q. Both my wife and I are having dental work done and I'm going to have a big medical expense deduction this year. Is there any way to get some kind of benefit for this now to help me pay some of the bills?

A. Yes. You may be able to have your employer reduce your income tax withholding based on the larger itemized deductions you expect. Instructions for making this change are given on Form W-4. Ask your employer or your local IRS office for a copy.

Life Insurance Co. Promotes Caldwell

Robert L. Caldwell of Dallas was promoted January 1 to vice president and agency director by Southwestern Life Insurance Company. He had been vice president - manpower development.

Caldwell is the son of Joe W. Caldwell, Jr. of Rockport.

Under the new agency director's supervision, the Southwestern Life Agency Department is being restructured along functional rather than geographic management lines. This means that local sales offices will be grouped for supervisory purposes according to type of office and need rather than geographic location, as in the past.

Caldwell began his Southwestern Life career in 1940 as an agent at Austin. He transferred to management two years later and has served the company at Richmond, Va., and Atlanta, Ga., as well as at Dallas.

Formerly employed as auditor by the State of Texas, Caldwell possesses a degree in business administration from the University of Texas. He and his family live now at 7735 Tanglecrest Dr. in Dallas.

Fulton Lions Hold Dinner Meeting

Members of the Fulton Lions Club assembled for their first dinner-meeting of 1973 in the Lions Club Building in Fulton on Monday night of this week and were given an accounting of the local charitable works of the club during 1972 by David Ogle, Secretary-Treasurer.

At the meeting, presided over by President Dan Shelton, following a buffet dinner prepared especially for the Lions by Jewel Moody, the fourteen members assembled heard Mr. Ogle extract a wide variety of local charitable works from the minutes of the meetings of 1972.

After pointing out that these were over and above the portion of each Lion's dues which goes to the crippled children's hospitals and other charitable works of Lions International, the Secretary-Treasurer began with January 3 of 1972 at which time new glasses were purchased for a needy child under the sponsorship of Lion Wilbur Underwood, who also was honored later at the meeting with a 25-year pin.

The minutes of the meeting of July 17 revealed that $25.00 was voted from the treasury for the Henry Solar Fund, which had been established by the Lions of Portland for the family of Henry Solar, a Portland Lion who was without insurance when he was killed in an automobile accident.

In September the Fulton Lions voted to send $50.00 to the Lighthouse For the Blind in Corpus Christi and on December 4 another $25.00 was taken from the treasure for the Lions "Care" Program in this district.

The local charitable projects of 1972 were climaxed by an overwhelming response to a request for canned foods and money, with which to buy more food, clothing and toys for needy families in the Rockport-Fulton area at Christmas time.

What started with $15.00 donated by the Fulton Lions by the Eastern Star for the Christmas project was increased by $50.00 voted from the Lions treasury and swelled by another $25.00 contributed by the Fulton Lions Auxiliary, during which time Lions and members of the auxiliary kept adding to the pile of canned goods in the Lions Building.

On the Wednesday before Christmas five members of the auxiliary sallied forth with the $90.00 cash and later returned to the Lions Building with food, clothing, toys and Christmas novelties estimated to have a retail value of approximately $300.00 due to the generosity of Bill's Dollar Store, Winn's Variety Store and Super-D Supermarket in permitting them the pay less than cost for their selections.

What started out with a Christmas basket project for two needy families ended up with more than 400 pounds of food, clothing and toys being transported in a pickup truck in huge cartons to five needy families.

The meeting was concluded with a request from President Shelton that each Lion report any case of genuine need with which he is familiar so that the Fulton Lions Club can be even more responsive to the needs of the community in 1973.

Pirates Beat Sinton 76-60

By BOB CRAWFORD

Steve Mayes gathered in 34 rebounds and scored 22 points to lead Rockport-Fulton to their first district win as the Pirates beat Sinton 76-60 last Friday night in Rockport.

Mayes combined with Donnie Setterbo to score 45 points between them. Joe Lee Green pitched in 17 points for his season's high so far, and John Vick added 11 points to the total. The other starter Jim McBride, filling in for Mike McCaskey who has missed the last few games because of illness, was the play-maker and controlled the Pirate offense.

The Pirates will go into this week's action with a 12-2 record, the two losses going to Refugio. The Pirates will have played Gregory - Portland by press time, but the big battle will be Friday night in Pirate Gym as the Pirates host Aransas Pass.

Over the Christmas holidays the Pirates were 4-1, losing to Refugio, but a week earlier they won their own Toast of the Coast Tournament, with Steve Mayes and John Vick making the All - Tournament team.

Driver Education—

reduced from six to three hours.

Sixteen films and accompaning teacher's guides have been prepared for use with the Drivotrainer system by driver education specialists. The films contain a carefully programmed series of situations selected and filmed to develop judgment and build proper student driving attitude.

Advanced films prepare the student for handling emergency crises and for driving in bad weather. The movies provide opportunities to experience these extreme and dangerous situations in complete safety.

EATNA'S Drivocater system, the new multi-media teaching aid, will be used in the classroom phase of driver education. The advanced method, which coordinates 16 mm movies magnetic sound tape and 35 mm film strips, will assist an instructor in teaching up to 32 Rockport-Fulton High students at once.

The Drivocator system will encourage active class participations by requiring Rockport-Fulton High students to respond to programmed filmed questions and situations. Immediate and cumulative records of individual student and class responses are automatically recorded on instant-reading meters in a central console, giving the instructor a continuing progress report.

The curriculum consists of 18 filmed lessons covering automobile operation from the physics and mechanics of driving to coping with highway emergencies.

Enrollment for the driver education classes will be taken during the month of February. State Law and Texas Education Agency Laws specify that a student must be fifteen (15) years old or older on the date the class starts to be eligible to take a driver training class.

A charge will be made for the driving phase of the program.

Dog's Cooling System

A dog cannot perspire as human beings do. When he becomes warm in summer, he sticks out his tongue and pants, cooling off the inside of his body with the extra air he breathes in this way.

Moon's Night and Day

The moon has a night and day. It rotates on its axis in 29.53 earth days and this is the length of its day, so it has about 15 earth-days of light and 15 earth-days of darkness alternately at any one place on its surface.

Texas Coastal Bend: People And Places

This is the sixth installment of our serialization of an outstanding regional history, TEXAS COASTAL BEND: PEOPLE AND PLACES by Alpha Kennedy Wood, now being reprinted in the Rockport Pilot with permission of The Naylor Company, publishers of this book and many other Southwestern titles. Hardcover, $7.95.

While Maj. John H. Wood was always interested in making land acquisitions along the coastal area, his land and ranching acquisitions until 1849 were largely confined to other areas, because Smith's litigation with Powers had unsettled all of the land titles in the coastal area. Smith and Wood had become friends, and this relationship was later to ripen into various partnerships in various successive land promotions, particularly in the development of St. Mary's and later the city of Rockport. While Wood's partnership with Smith in the development of St. Mary's and Black Point is somewhat vague, it is known that Wood definitely contributed financially to the platting and later development of this area.

Major Wood was descended from a noble and wealthy family in New York and Boston. Ancestor Pieter Van Stoutenburgh was the first treasurer of the Dutch Amsterdam Colony, and his grandfather, Jacobus Van Stoutenburgh, founded Hyde Park, New York. Another grandfather, Maj. Richard De Cantillion, was prominent in the American Revolution. Immediately after the Texas Revolution, through family backing and land scrip gained through service in the Texas army, Wood began to acquire ranches in what is now Lavaca, San Patricio, and Victoria counties. He located his first ranch near the present town of Edna, moving in 1840 to Victoria, where he became Texas' army quartermaster. He married Nancy Anna Clark, a niece of Francis Welder, there in 1842, and was living in San Patricio in 1843. In 1846, while briefly encamped with General Taylor on Live Oak Peninsula, he envisioned a town at that site. Here, Rockport was later platted by him and its other founders.

In 1847, Wood made a trip to New York to receive the first of a series of inheritances which were estimated to aggregate around $60,000, which he eventually converted into more land and cattle. He brought the first inheritance, consisting of gold, to Texas in wooden kegs. Major Wood's vast ranching interests were virtually all acquired before 1890, and for prices ranging from 10¢ to $10 per acre. Until 1849, Major Wood carefully avoided the litigation-riddled coastal area. However, on August 15, 1849, he bought out all of the holdings, land and cattle of Peter Doren near Black Point. Since Doren held under Powers, the major was required to make his peace with Joseph F. Smith, who gave him a quitclaim deed to 144 acres, including the Doren house and curtilage of 14 acres, which became the nucleus of Major Wood's famous "Bonnie View Ranch." Wood shortly razed the Doren place and replaced it with a long, rambling residence, built partly of lumber and partly of natural stone or shell-concrete. There was a garret under the roof, which was used as sleeping quarters. The place was surrounded by a palisade of oak logs, and made a good fort against the Indians. Within the enclosure were concrete barns and silos. This was the Wood ranch home until 1879, when these buildings were remodeled and enlarged and converted to the palatial mansion, now standing at Bayside.

The "Bonnie View Ranch," in Refugio County, is immortalized by Dr. J. Frank Dobie in his A Vaquero of the Brush Country. It was there his hero, John Young, won his spurs as a vaquero. This great ranch, which extended from Copano Bay eighteen miles to the site of the present town of Woodsboro, was founded in 1849 by Maj. John Howland Wood. He had earlier acquired a few head of cattle while he was the Texas army quartermaster at Victoria. The Clark brothers, Henry and William, were already in the cattle business at Black Point, and John had been an early partner of his kinsmen, the Welders. On September 25, 1849, Wood traded William Clark 1200 stock cattle, taking a fifteen-year-old Negro girl named Jane, in payment.

John H. Wood moved his herds to that part of Refugio County which is now San Patricio County. During the Mexican War he had profitable contracts to supply beef to Taylor's army at Corpus Christi. As a part of the trade, General Taylor agreed to furnish protection for Wood's herds against depredations of the Indians, and a garrison was kept at the town of San Patricio for that purpose.

In 1849 Wood decided to join his brothers-in-law at Black Point. He acquired the Peter Doren tract of 141 acres, where the town of Bayside now stands, and improved the Doren ranch house. This was the beginning of the "Bonnie View Ranch." He also bought Doren's brand and also some of the brands of his brothers-in-law. In August, 1849, he and his family moved to Black Point. The country was still infested by Indians, and the story and a half ranch house was surrounded by a high palisade fence.

Major Wood is still remembered as one of the most honorable, just, and charitable men who ever lived in this country. Mrs. Burmeister says of him that his right hand never knew what his left hand did. His land holdings, which expanded rapidly, were acquired without taint or suspicion of fraud, coercion, or unfair dealings. He was a close friend of the Welder family, with which his own eventually intermarried; and he had many business interests in common with them in the cattle business. At one time the two families owned a strip of territory extending from Copano Bay well into Bee and Goliad counties. One of the Wood ranch houses was located where the present settlement of Quincy, in Bee County, now is.

In 1875, Major Wood converted the original ranch house at Black Point and erected on the same ground the palatial two-story residence which is still standing. On the top of the lofty edifice, he had a flat deck, to which he could ascend, and through a telescope observe the activities of his ranch crews all over the "Bonnie View Ranch". The enlarged home was built of Florida pine, brought into St. Mary's by ocean-going schooners. Kohler & Heldenfels were the contractors; and Peter A. Johnson helped shingle the roof.

When St. Mary's began to decline, Major Wood became its last mainstay. He acquired the wharf and warehouse and the principal remaining store, which businesses his family conducted until the major died. The "Bonnie View Ranch" passed to his son, Tobias D. Wood, who proved himself a good businessman. He launched on his own in the cattle business, when only eighteen years old. Long before his father's death, he had acquired individually a ranch of 20,000 acres and 10,000 head of cattle.

In 1906, T.D. Wood sold the "Bonnie View Ranch" to Johnson & Pugh for subdivision purposes. They, in turn, parceled out parts of it to other developers, including Brodbent & Howard and Burton & Danforth. The developers laid out the town of Woodsboro at the west end of the ranch, where it was traversed by the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexican Railroad, and subdivided the remainder into farm tracts, as we shall see in a later chapter. And this ended the "Bonnie View Ranch," famed in song and story.

Chill Factor Is Explained

On January 8, Action Line in the Corpus Christi Times published the following question, answer and chart regarding the chill factor.

Q. I read Action Line about the chill factor chart. I would like a copy. I'm from Indiana. My outdoor thermometer seems wrong. Mrs. M.G.M., Rockport.

A. We are sending a copy. If you're from Indiana, you find the drizzly, windy, dank 40-degree weather much more uncomfortable than the freezing but drier Hoosier weather.

The humidity converts the chill factor into a discomfort factor which may not be measurable but it certainly can be felt, particularly immediately following a sunny, 80-degree day.

Chances are good your thermometer is correct (in spite of the bad name mercury has acquired) even though your bones tell you it isn't so.

We have received so many requests from cooled readers that we are printing a copy of a chill factor chart prepared for the Navy.

Submarine to Visit Corpus Christi

Navy recruiting efforts in the Corpus Christi area will get a boost January 16 to January 18 with the visit of the USS Tirante (SS 420), an active U.S. Navy submarine homeported in Key West, Fla.

The USS Tirante is part of a Gulf Coast fleet specifically designated to conduct "Go Navy" recruiting cruises and open houses.

The purpose of the visit is to supplement recruiting information available from local Navy recruiters with first-hand visits and observations of operating ships of the Fleet. The USS Tirante will be open to the public, and additional opportunities will be arranged to host interested potential enlistees who may be considering service or careers with the Navy. The location of the submarine and visiting hours will be January 16 at Pier 14 from 1-5 p.m. and January 17 from 11-5 p.m.

During the visit young men and women are encouraged to come aboard the Tirante, talk with the officers and enlisted men and learn in person about the various opportunities and benefits the Navy offers and the type of life Navymen enjoy. Local Navy recruiters will be available to answer questions prospective recruits have concerning any aspect of the Navy, including surface and submarine forces, aviation, special Navy educational programs and requirements and opportunities for women in the Navy.

The Tirante boasts a long and colorful career as an active Naval vessel. Commissioned and launched in 1944, the Tirante began her first World War II war patrol in 1945. During this patrol, under the command of Lieutenant Commander George L. Street, Jr., she sunk five enemy cargo and transport ships with torpedoes and deck gunfire. While in the Yellow Sea, Tirante entered an anemy anchorage using captured charts and while surfaced, sunk a large Japanese ammunition ship. Immediately pursued by two Japanese frigates, the submarine turned on her pursuers and sank both with torpedo fire. For this action, LCDR Street was awarded the Medal of Honor, and the Tirante won the Presidential Unit Citation.

The wartime exploits of the Tirante were the subject of one of the "Silent Service" television series aired several years ago nationally.

Following her wartime service, Tirante was decommissioned, only to be recalled at the outbreak of the Korean War, when she was modernized and outfitted with vastly improved equipment to improve her capability.

Tirante has participated in numerous fleet exercises and has made several cruises to the Carribbean and the Mediterranean. She currently is commanded by Lieutenant Commander William T. Stutzer of Kansas City, Missouri, and is assigned to Submarine Division 121 and Submarine Squadron 12 in Key West, Florida.

Good Records Ease Tax Filing

Taxpayers who kept good financial records last year should have no trouble preparing their 1972 Federal income tax return, George Zerda, administrative officer of the Corpus Christi, Texas office of Internal Revenue Service, stressed today. Complete records are especially important, he said, to taxpayers who elect to itemize deductions in filing.

Accurate expense records, such as cancelled checks, receipts, records of contributions, are essential if a taxpayer's return is selected for audit. All records should be retained for as long as they may become material in the administration of any internal revenue law.

Another advantage, he declared, is that taxpayers with good records can complete and mail their Federal tax returns as soon as they receive their W-2 withholding tax certificates, thus eliminating last-minute searches for such papers as the April 16 filing deadline draws near.

He also suggested that, through 1973, records and receipts should be accumulated to ease the tax filing job for 1974. A final tip: A copy of the previous year's return is one of the best guides for preparing the current return.

PIPEFITTER'S PARADISE—or maybe it's a nightmare—is the maze of utility lines in the underground control center of Region 22 of NORAD (North American Air Defense) at North Bay, Ontario. Hollowed out under 600 feet of rock, making weatherproofing unnecessary, the underground complex has all pipes exposed for easy maintenance.

The Kinsey Report

The other night my wife, my dad and I were seated comfortably in our recreation room watching television. Our Springer Spaniel, Shan, was sound asleep on the davenport.

The door to the living room was closed and, naturally during this cold weather, the sliding glass doors at the back of the house were closed.

All of a sudden Shan jumped up and ran to the door that opens to the living room. She stood there stiff as a statue and made a perfect point, with her tail sticking out straight and one foot properly posed.

We had heard absolutely nothing, but I hopped up and opened the door and Shan ran through the living room to the sliding glass doors leading to the back yard. There, she again made a beautiful point.

I opened the sliding door and Shan scooted out into the back yard. Then she scurried around and around. I watched for a while, saw nothing, and finally went back to the TV.

Time passed, and my wife decided to see what, if anything, the dog was doing.

A minute later my wife called out to me and asked me to hurry and see what the dog had found.

I dashed out and found that Shan had cornered a baby possum on our back porch. The little possum, its eyes almost as big as half dollars, was standing on its hind legs and huddled in a corner. The dog, acting real tough, obviously didn't know just what to do with this strange visitor.

So my wife picked up the dog, carried her into the house, while I got a broom and carefully shooed the possum from the porch and to safety.

Later we let the dog out and she spent about two hours looking for her quarry.

St. Peter's Church Rummage Sale

The Women of St. Peter's Episcopal Church will have a 3 hour rummage sale Saturday from 9 a.m. until noon.

New officers elected at the last meeting are Bessie Johnson, president; Russell Cabaniss, vice president; Gladys Gibson, secretary; and Laura Black, treasurer.

In 1973 the women will only meet once a month. That meeting will be the first Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. in the parish hall. The group voted to publish a church newsletter once a month.

A report was given on plans for bridge groups made up of Episcopal women. Those Episcopal women who are interested in playing once a month with a day group may call Russell Cabaniss 729-6143 or Bessie Johnson 729-5687. Those interested in a night group may call Nina Puster 729-7246 or Dorothea Montgomery 729-2164. If you are interested in a couples group let any of these above persons know of your interest.

MRS. RICE CO-AUTHORS SCIENTIFIC PAPER

Mrs. R. R. Rice is an example of a person who started a hobby and became so good at it that she is now considered an authority on the shells of the Gulf of Mexico.

About 10 years ago Mrs.. Rice began to collect shells in this area and, dissatisfied with what she knew, studied so hard under men like Dr. Clench at Harvard University and other noted concrologists, that her knowledge is now sought by others less expert than herself.

In the November 1962 issue of the "Publications of the Marine Institute of Marine Science" of the University of Texas, she is co-author of a scientific paper on the "Mollusks of the Alacran Reef, Campeche Bank, Mexico."

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

Q: What can the Internal Revenue Service do to a landlord found violating the rent control regulations?

A: Under Economic Stabilization regulations, the IRS may direct landlords charged with violating rent controls to make restitution to overcharged tenants, rollback rents to legal limits, pay a penalty, and sign a statement promising to take no retaliatory action against tenants.

Any further noncompliance may result in the initiation of a civil action or criminal prosecution against the landlord.

Q: Are barber shops exempt from price controls?

A: No. There is no general exemption from controls for barbers. However, if the firm has 60 or fewer employees and less than 50 percent of its employees are covered by a master contract or a jointly negotiated contract involving over 60 workers, it is exempt from controls.

For more details on this small business exemption, contact your Internal Revenue office and ask for a free copy of IRS Publication S-3037, "Exemption of Small Business."

Q: Are longevity increases subject to the Pay Board's 5.5 percent standard?

A: No. Longevity increases provided for in an employment contract or pay practice in existence on November 13, 1971 (or continued in a successor contract or pay practice) may continue to operate without being charged to the 5.5 percent standard so long as they remain unchanged.

These longevity increases must be solely related to the employee's length of service and must operate without significant affirmative exercise of employer discretion or subjective evaluation of the employee's work performance. The only conditions which can attach to the increase are satisfactory work performance and length of service.

Q: How are meal and mileage allowances treated under the Pay regulations?

A: In general, most firms reimburse employees for meals and mileage charges while on company business. They are allowable tax deductible expenses for the firm. Therefore, they are not considered either part of an employee's hourly pay rate or fringe benefits under normal circumstances.

Q: Can a company give its executives personal financial counseling or advisory services instead of a raise to get around the Pay regulations?

A: No. The value of these "job prerequisites" must be included in the 5.5 percent general wage and salary standard.

New Booklet Aids Couples Seeking Genetic Counseling

By PEGGY TOLINS

John and Mary Robinson loved their first child who was physically damaged and mentally retarded due to a birth defect, but they yearned for a normal, healthy child. Did they dare risk another pregnancy that might have the same heartbreaking outcome?

In a new, compact booklet, "Genetic Counseling," published by The National Foundation-March of Dimes, you'll find the happy ending to this true dilemma. The concern is voiced many times daily in doctors' offices and clinics.

The Robinsons had their healthy baby, knowing in advance through genetic counseling that there was little risk of a tragic recurrence.

There has been increasing information about genetic counseling in newspapers and magazines in recent years, but until the appearance of the booklet there was no simple, comprehensive reference for parents to turn to when their family doctor suggested consultation with a genetic counselor.

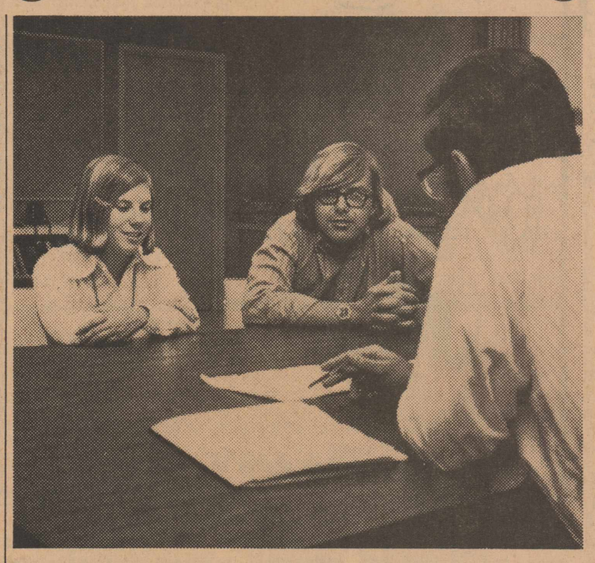

The booklet explains the basic principles of heredity and how counselors figure the odds on whether a genetic defect may be passed on to the next generation. It tells the difference between an inherited abnormality and one which may have been caused by damaging environmental agents while the fetus was developing in the womb.

The majority of birth defects are caused by the interaction of hereditary and environmental factors, and the counselor can help assess the part each may play in certain conditions.

Need for Counseling

Although the John and Mary Robinsons of the world are likely to seek help, as are couples with other family members who have had abnormalities believed to be hereditary, many other people would benefit by genetic counseling who don't know it exists or how it can help them.

When genetic studies are completed in a family, they are advised of the courses open to them, but not the one to take. The counselor will try to help them decide whether it would be best to have children, not to have them, or to adopt children, but the choice is theirs alone. It's easier to make a decision when all the pros and cons and their reasons are at hand.

There are accurate carrier detection tests for use in counseling individuals or couples at high risk for certain traits. Some may be simple blood tests such as the one for sickle cell trait. Some defects can be detected before birth by amniocentesis, a procedure for withdrawing amniotic fluid which surrounds the fetus in the uterus. Tests performed on this fluid or the cells it contains reveal if the fetus has or does not have the suspected disorder.

Every day the importance of genetic disorders is becoming more widely recognized by doctors, and they are referring more and more patients to counseling centers. Concerned individuals are also becoming aware of the need for genetic counseling when they wonder whether the condition of another family member is hereditary. Where to go?

Availability

Many medical and teaching hospitals throughout the country have either opened a genetics clinic within the past few years, or they've expanded existing services. Smaller communities, far from medical centers, have established periodic clinics which professional consultants from larger medical centers visit regularly. The March of Dimes supports many genetic units throughout the country.

Genetic counseling and the procedures it involves have saved would-be parents from torturous hours of trying to make a decision based on guesses, misinformation, or a toss of the coin. Now, as a further aid, the booklet "Genetic Counseling," is available through local March of Dimes chapters.

New Social Security Law Includes Special Minimum Benefit

About 150,000 retired workers and their families will get higher social security payments starting in 1973 under a special minimum benefit provision of the new social security law, according to H. M. Cleveland, social security district manager in Corpus Christi.

A person who worked more than 20 years in jobs covered by social security, but had relatively low annual earnings, may be helped by the new special minimum provision, he said.

The special minimum benefit ranges up to $170 a month for workers who retire at 65 with 30 or more years of coverage under social security. A couple can get up to $255. Benefits for those who apply before age 65 will be reduced. This new provision is effective January, 1973.

Retired people who will get a benefit increase under the new law don't have to apply for it. The increase will be paid starting with checks delivered in early April, Cleveland said.

Beneficiaries who are now receiving more than the special minimum will continue to get their regular checks. Additional benefits to be paid under the new provision will amount to about $18 million in 1973 and $20 million in 1974.
