GUN FOUND

Teenager Held In Shootings At Tavern

The .32 calibre German-made revolver, which allegedly was used to kill two young Latin-Americans in a north side tavern Saturday night, was turned over to Sheriff A. N. Standard this morning. He said it may be the weapon with which 17-year-old Jose Hernandez Jimenez, of Coahoma, shot Octaviano T. Ramirez, 33, and Roy Rodriguez, 22, Lamesa, to death in Ernest's Lounge at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Surrendered Himself

Standard said that Jimenez, who surrendered himself to city police at 2 a.m. Sunday after being sought by officers since the time of the slaying, is now in Howard County jail. He was transferred from the city jail late Sunday afternoon. He has been charged in two complaints of murder with malice.

Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, set bond for the Coahoman at $30,000. Standard said the man had made no attempt to post bond Sunday or Monday morning. No explanation for the shooting has been revealed.

Monday morning Ike Isaacs, identified as operator of Ernest's Lounge where the slayings occurred, was notified his place was being closed down.

Jay Banks, police chief, dispatched a letter to Isaacs in which he said that the place is being closed "in the interest of public safety." The chief told Isaacs the order would be maintained until a thorough investigation into the dual shooting has been finished and until a complete review of the records of any "violent incidents" which may have occurred in the establishment has been made.

Gunman Entered

Ramirez was the bartender in the lounge. He was standing back of the bar, witnesses said, when a gunman entered through the front door. Rodriguez was standing near a cigarette vending machine at a doorway which leads into the dancing area of the lounge.

Officers said that it appears Rodriguez was the first man shot. He stumbled into and half way across the ballroom, apparently trying to get to the restroom area for safety. He fell mortally wounded, dying at Hall - Bennett Memorial Hospital within minutes.

Rodriguez, officers said, was shot twice. Two spent slugs were removed from his body Saturday night. Both were in the chest.

Ramirez was shot one time in the right upper chest, the bullet plowing downward and lodging in his spine. He was apparently killed instantly. This bullet was also recovered.

Officers said that Ramirez had a pistol in his hip pocket, but it had not been drawn and slipped from a pocket to the floor, when the body was moved after the shooting.

Four Other Shots

The gunman fired at least four additional shots. He then walked out of the room by the same door he had entered and disappeared into the night.

Standard said that he has turned the pistol over to city police. Ballistic tests will be made to determine if the weapon is the same one used in the deaths of Ramirez and Rodriguez.

The lounge was thronged with customers, officers said. Several were lined up along the bar behind which Ramirez was blasted down.

Fire Claims Three

HOUSTON (AP) — Fire swept a rooming house above a cafe near downtown Houston early today, killing three persons.

Killed were Carl Dickerson, 65; Helen Hankins, 60; and Claude Dickerson, 80. All were Negroes. Cause of the fire was not determined at once. Firemen required an hour to extinguish the blaze.

Gives Wallace Plane

DALLAS (AP) — The head of a Dallas flying service confirmed during the weekend that a 70-passenger DC-6 airliner has been loaned free to former Alabama Gov. George Wallace.

Henry Seale, president of Dallas Aero Service, said he let Wallace use the airliner "out of friendship."

Seale said the plane is not suitable for a trip to Vietnam that Wallace is planning, but the company has acquired a DC-7 which has a longer range. He has offered Wallace the use of this plane for that trip.

Storm Locks Traffic In Huge Jams

By The Associated Press
A great ice storm swept Texas today, shutting schools, jamming traffic, causing absences or delays in arriving at work and reaching south into the semi-tropical Rio Grande Valley.

Houston shut its freeways, traffic blocked a key Fort Worth freeway, icing closed portions of San Antonio's expressway system and Dallas suffered monumental traffic jams because of stalled cars.

FROZE TO DEATH

At least one person froze to death during the weekend. A driver of a wrecker died in Dallas of a heart attack while working at an accident today.

Dallas residents jammed stores along their routes trying to find shelter and to telephone their offices and homes. "There just ain't any way," mumbled once ice-bound motorist trying to move.

Schools closed in many places from Central West Texas, into North Central Texas and as far south as the Austin area.

ORDERED OFF

Houston police ordered all traffic off freeways leading downtown and erected barricades. Motorists sought to remove the roadblocks and police were sent to protect the barriers.

The Houston morning rush hour, usually ended by 9 a.m., continued well after 10:30 a.m. Police reported more than 100 collisions.

Normally warm Corpus Christi reported 28 degrees shortly after (See MAMMOTH, P. 6-A, Col. 2)

Slippery Streets, 14 Degrees Here

Biting cold, accompanied by sleet and freezing rain, and providing the lowest temperature reading of the current winter as well as the highest barometric reading in the history of the town, brought activities in Big Spring to a near-halt Sunday and Monday.

DIPS TO 14

The low temperature of the season was scored early Sunday morning when it was officially 14 degrees. The low Monday morning was 18. The barometer at the U.S. Experiment Station climbed to an unequalled high of 28.20 inches (unconverted) which was higher than any reading for 1967 and, according to Grady Randall, weather observer at the station, probably the highest ever reached here. Normal high is 27.75 inches.

The cold brought sheets of slippery ice to cover roads and sidewalks, making driving hazardous and walking risky. As a result, schools in the area were generally closed. All Big Spring schools presented shut doors. Schools at Forsan were closed, but Coahoma schools were open.

Because of hazardous road conditions, the regular monthly workers conference of the Big Spring Baptist Association at the Courtney Baptist Church, west of Stanton, has been cancelled. The next monthly meeting will be held in February at Salem Baptist Church.

GRAVEL

State and county highway workers, joined by city street workers, used many truck loads of sand and gravel to minimize the slippery nature of hills and intersections.

Warning to all drivers to stay off the roads, if possible, was sounded by state and city officers.

The cold was still in control at mid-morning Monday and the forecast said it would continue along the same pattern through Tuesday noon. Tuesday afternoon, there should be a mild warming trend. Sleet and freezing rain are slated to continue through tonight and Tuesday morning.

Despite the slick streets and roads, accidents were not numerous, police reported. The highway patrol said that traffic was moving on the highways, but drivers were showing caution.

Some difficulty was encountered Monday morning by drivers who had parked diagonally downtown and sought to get back into the traffic lanes.

Train Wreck Injures 50

BOSTON (AP) — At least 50 persons were injured today in the rear-end collision of two commuter-packed rapid transit trains near Logan International Airport.

The trains were heading for Boston from East Boston and eastern suburbs with a total of some 1,500 passengers aboard.

The Metropolitan District Commission said at least 50 persons were injured. Reports from the scene said trains were operating at rush-hour intervals about one minute apart at the time of the mishap.

MIKE KASPERAK

MRS. VIRGINIA WHITE

DR. NORMAN SHUMWAY

First U. S. Transplant Patient Resting Well

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Steelworker Mike Kasperak catnapped during the night, doctors said, and was in satisfactory condition today, living with the heart of Virginia White, housewife and mother, in his breast.

LIP-READ

Although unable to talk because of a tube through his throat to help him breathe, Kasperak could understand questions and comments, and nurses could lip-read his responses.

Kasperak, 54, of nearby East Palo Alto, was dying of heart disease Saturday night when

Dr. Norman E. Shumway's surgical team at Stanford University School of Medicine cut out his heart and implanted Mrs. White's. The 43-year-old Santa Clara woman had died two hours earlier after a stroke.

Shumway said his patient knew he had a donated heart beating in his chest. It was one-third the size of the enlarged one that had been discarded, but it was performing well, Shumway said.

Blood pressure, pulse and body temperature were in a reasonable range, Dr. Donald C. Harrison, a cardiologist, told a news conference at Stanford Medical Center Sunday afternoon. Harrison said the heart output—a amount of blood pumped—was 5.3 liters per minute, "almost normal for a man of Kasperak's size" when measured about 12 hours after the 4½-hour operation. The patient weighs 144 pounds. Mrs. White's weight was 120.

"His cardiogram looked quite good," Dr. Harrison said.

Dr. Shumway said Kasperak was expected to stay in the hospital many months for observation.

FIRST BASE

"This kind of followup is essential to the well being of the recipient," Dr. Shumway said. "We've reached first base perhaps, but the work is only beginning."

He stressed, "There is no way at this time to term the episode a success." But his and Harrison's elation were evident.

"The critical period lasts as long as the patient lives," Dr. Shumway said, explaining that the body could reject a foreign organ months or even years after it entered the body.

ROCKY WOULD ATTRACT MORE DEMOS?

Percy Says Nixon Is Pros Pick

By The Associated Press
 Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., says Richard M. Nixon is probably the favorite presidential prospect of Republican professionals but New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller would attract more of the independent and Democratic votes needed for a White House drive.
 Percy said Sunday, Republican officials have known and worked with Nixon and "for better or for worse, he has been a solid Republican."

BEST CHANCE
 But, Percy added, the GOP presidential nominee won't be able to win the White House with Republican votes.
 "I think it is the general consensus now, even among many professional Republicans, that Mr. Rockefeller, if he could hold together the Republican party, would probably have the best chance to attract independents and Democrats," Percy said. "He has the greatest appeal to them today but that is not what might happen in August at the convention."
EXCUSE
 As for himself, Percy said again he doesn't plan to be a candidate other than as a favorite son from Illinois.
 Percy appeared on NBC's "Meet the Press."
 Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., like Percy an opponent of the administration's Vietnam war policy, said some antiwar senators aren't endorsing his announced presidential candidacy because they expect him to lose.
 McCarthy plans to enter several Democratic primaries against President Johnson but there have been indications he is unhappy because Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., hasn't expressed support for him.

 McCarthy said he doesn't expect antiwar senators up for reelection this year to get involved in choosing between him and Johnson. But he added that "so far as senators who have supported the position I take and who are not running, there is a little bit more of a burden upon them to take a stand."
 Kennedy is not up for reelection this year. He has opposed Johnson's war policy but also has said he will support the President for another term.
 McCarthy was on ABC's "Issues and Answers."
 The Gallup Poll reported that if McCarthy ran as an independent peace candidate in a four-way presidential race, he would get about 12 per cent of the vote. The poll matched McCarthy against Johnson, Nixon and former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who may run as a states rights third-party candidate.

False Alarm

Firemen were dispatched to the state Game and Fish Commission pond at Little Rock, Ark., Sunday when it was reported that some ducks were stuck to the frozen surface. The firemen discovered that some of the ducks were floundering because of ice on their tail feathers but that they weren't stuck to the ice. Below zero temperatures were reported.

HOTEL BURNS

Elderly Get Out Safely

PHILADELPHIA (A) — A fierce fire destroyed a hotel housing 325 elderly men and women today, and sparks from the inferno jumped to a hotel across the street and some nearby dwellings.
 Police said all of the residents were believed to have been evacuated safely, although there were some minor injuries. Five hundred firemen brought the companion fires under control quickly, but were hampered by 10-degree temperature in battling the nine alarm blaze at the 248-room, seven-story Normandie Retirement Club, where the fire broke out at 7 a.m.
 Some policemen struggled through thick, black smoke to upper floors to lead many residents to safety.
 At one point a helicopter used in traffic control landed on the roof of the Normandie in an effort to help in the evacuation. The helicopter pilot said the craft was not needed but he helped alert occupants on upper floors.
 Nathaniel Quate, the 77-year-old night clerk, said two policemen dashed into the hotel at 6:50 a.m. and told him smoke was coming from a second-floor window. Firemen said the fire swept up an old stairwell.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠10 7 5 ♣Q10 8 ♦10 7 3 2 ♣8 5
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 ♦ Dble. Pass 1 ♣
 Pass 3 ♥ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—Four hearts. True, you haven't very much, but partner's bidding has indicated that he probably can take close to nine tricks in his own hand. The queen of hearts is a sure winner, and the doubleton club should produce a trick for him.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠9 3 2 ♣A 8 ♣Q 6 ♣AKJ 10 8 5
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
 2 ♥ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—There is, of course, no doubt that you must insist upon reaching a game contract, but care should be exercised to reach the right one. While the ace and another trump are considered normal support for a rebid suit, we are not inclined to jump with only two trumps, for partner may have to stretch a point to rebid his suit. Our preferred call is a jump to four clubs. This jump by responder is forcing in our system. If partner has a heavy good heart suit, he should proceed to four hearts. If not, he should go to five clubs, for which there should be a reasonable play.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠J 8 5 ♣6 4 ♣AJ 8 3 ♣KJ 5 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1 ♣ Dble. ?
 What action do you take?
 A.—This is an average hand in high cards (10 points). With mild trump support for partner, the hand justifies a redouble, and that is our choice.

Q. 4—East-West vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠KQ 7 3 ♣AJ 10 5 ♣8 3 ♣KJ 6
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 ♦ Dble. Pass ?
 What do you bid?
 A.—With this magnificent holding you should insist upon a game contract. Rather than jump the bidding in a four card major suit, we would prefer a false cue bid of two diamonds, forcing to game and asking partner to seelect the suit. Proceed to game in either spades or hearts, whichever he selects.

Q. 5—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠6 ♣Q 4 ♣AKJ 8 4 ♣A10 8 6 3
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South
 What do you bid?
 A.—Pass. It would be delightful to be able to double the three diamond bid for penalties. Unfortunately, however, we cannot blow both hot and cold for we find the double of three, especially in a minor, very useful as a take-out signal. It is better to pass and play for a profit. If you double, partner likely will bid spades.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠6 ♣AK10 8 5 3 ♣KJ10 8 4 6
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♥ Pass 1 ♣ Pass
 3 ♥ Pass 3 ♣ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—Four diamonds. This will mark you as holding six hearts and four diamonds, and should permit partner to make the decision in an enlightened manner.

Q. 7—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠7 ♣KJ 4 ♣A10 9 7 6 4 2 ♣QJ
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♦ Pass
 3 NT Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—The proper approach to the current problem is this: "What would be my response if partner had opened with a bid of two no trumps? I think under those conditions you would be willing to bid a slam in diamonds. Your partner's jump rebid to three no trump describes a hand of about the high card content of an opening two no trump bid, so that a six diamond bid is our choice.

Q. 8—Neither side is vulnerable, your partner has opened with one spade, and you hold:
 ♠A 9 8 7 4 2 ♥J 10 6 4 ♣AJ ♣6
 What is your response?
 A.—Three spades, forcing to game. Despite the possession of six trumps, a leap to four spades would be improper. Such a bid denotes a highly unbalanced hand with great trump support, but it must not contain as many as 10 high card points. This hand is the equivalent of an opening bid, and the jump bid showing strength is clearly indicated.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reader Disagrees Over Value Of Horse Racing

To the Editor:
 The Friday (Jan. 5) edition of the Herald carried quite an interesting argument on the sports page for the establishing of horse racing in Texas. Having spent some time in the beautiful horse country of Kentucky, I can appreciate a love for the sport. It is a thrilling thing to watch magnificent animals race toward a goal in their effort to excel over one another. But I wonder what percentage of the horse racing public goes to the track to enjoy the pure contest and sport of the event? Any thinking person knows that the issue is not horse racing; the issue is legalized gambling. The column mentioned above stated that the anti-horse racing element are just opposing something they "think is sinful" without knowing the facts and do not really know why they are opposing it. Regrettably, it is true that many people, on both sides, do not know the truth. But to state that horse racing is the "cleanest, most thoroughly policed sport in existence," that it remains "untainted," and that there is nothing suspect about the business; is to come near the height of naive oversimplifications.

Sen. John L. McClellan's committee investigations have revealed the dependence of the criminal underworld upon gambling as a primary source of income. As attorney general, Sen. Robert Kennedy also sought to enlighten us of the role gambling plays in the support of underworld activities. People who place an "innocent" two dollar bet on a race are blissfully unaware that they are sponsoring the narcotics traffic, prostitution, bootlegging, gang murders, labor union racketeering, and corruption of law enforcement. The relationship between legalized gambling and crime is obvious to anyone who is willing to dig for the facts. Not only churchmen, but business people and economists cooperated in defeating the proposals for horse racing in Texas. Local business is hurt because during racing season absenteeism from jobs increase, bad checks are more prevalent, and time payments fall off. Gambling undermines rather than strengthens the economy. Social problems, too, multiply when legalized gambling is allowed. Cases have been cited in Montana, Idaho, and Massachusetts which prove this. More recently, California and Minnesota have found it necessary to suppress gambling for the sake of a healthy social environment. Unfortunately, once allowed in, it is difficult to get rid of. Centers of gambling activity inevitably attract the undesirable, lawless, and criminal elements. The best example of this is seen in Nevada. Records show that Reno, Nev., has the highest crime rate of any comparable city in the United States. It has four times as many policemen as the average city the same size and twice the number of suicides. Welfare services have had to be greatly increased. A tax on gambling may cover a part of these costs, but ultimately society has to assume responsibility for the losses.

A prevalent argument says the best way to deal with gambling is to legalize it. This is not true. The American Bar Association's Commission on Organized Crime Control, after careful study, reported that "professional gambling should not, under any circumstances or in any degree, be licensed or legalized." Former governor Collins of Florida adds: "I have heard all the arguments in favor of licensed, legalized, supervised gambling. To me they are a sham and a delusion."
 Yes, legalized gambling on horse races makes its contribution to our society, but this contribution is not welcomed by those who would uphold the dignity of man and the worth of the individual.
 Sincerely,
 DICK SNYDER

Routine Meet Set By City

Largely routine matters await city commission consideration at the first meeting of the new year Tuesday in city hall at 7 p.m.

The Yellow Cab Co. is asking the city to allow a rate increase, going up 10 cents on all fares in excess of the minimum, which would affect 70 per cent of the firm's business, according to George Russell. He proposes to reduce from one mile to two-thirds of a mile the distance allowed for the 45 cents minimum fare.

A resolution terminating a water lease with the Big Spring Country Club in Section 17 will be considered, as will a maintenance agreement with the Texas Highway Department for highways that pass through the city limits.

Recommendations from the parks and recreation board will be studied, and successive readings will be given the annexation ordinance for a tract west of Goliad, and three on-premises consumption permits for Fina's Place, Broadway Tavern and Pat's Bar and Grill. A zoning change request will get second reading for Jeff Brown and Daryle Hohertz.

Postponed

The Howard County Democratic Club meeting, slated tonight at the Howard County courthouse, has been postponed, according to John Ferguson. He said it would be held at a later date.

SERIES NO. 20

Some people can't ever really get well but in this case this former nurse can be kept walking and able to get around. There is a curvature of the spine which the X-rays show to be in an "S" shape but unfortunately several places the curve is almost a sharp angle instead of a gentle gradual curve.

She is grateful that she can be kept from being bedridden or in a fearsome and burdensome brace. She can do her housework and is surprisingly active and it is a pleasure to hear her talk of all she does. In her case, regular visits keep the condition from progressing and she thinks the drive of some 50 miles each way is well worth it as without chiropractic aid, and assistance she knows what the future would bring her. Patients Still Call On Unmasked 'Doc'

GROVETON, Tex. (AP) — The wife of the man who served this East Texas community as a doctor before being unmasked as a fraud says he still gets calls from sick people.

"There are many sick people here," says Mrs. Sharon Brant, 22. "Some are people in their 90s. They are abandoned without a doctor."

Freddie Brant, 43, a former convict, operated a clinic in Groveton for nearly a year under the name of Dr. Reid L. Brown before his true identity was learned last month.

The real Dr. Reid Brown practices in Chattanooga, Tenn. Brant had worked for him as a laboratory technician after his release from a Louisiana prison for bank robbery.

Groveton. He is charged with forgery and perjury in Kaufman County in connection with his activities at the state hospital. The grand jury in Trinity County (Groveton) has not indicted him. Meanwhile, the clinic, with its medical equipment and supplies, remain idle.

"There's an opportunity here for a doctor," says Mrs. Brant, who met her husband while she worked as a receptionist at a motel in Sherman in 1965. They were married in Oklahoma in June of that year.

She says her husband saw "about 49 or 50 patients a day" while practicing medicine.

Kremlin Tries To Help Unsnag Cuban Economy

HAVANA (AP) — The Soviet Union sent a team of economic experts to Havana last November at Fidel Castro's request to help straighten out Cuba's economy, informed European Communists in Havana report.

The sources said the Russian team's unannounced visit was to learn Cuban economic plans for the next three years. They added that the Cuban-Soviet trade agreement for this year, which is part of the three-year plan, has not yet been signed, but this is expected later this month.

GAS MISUSED
The Russian economic mission was a result of talks between the Cuban prime minister and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin last June, it was said.

The same sources also reported that the Russians feel Castro's order last Tuesday to ration gasoline for private cars was unnecessary and that the Cubans have misused Soviet-supplied petroleum.

The Soviets reportedly feel that the savings from the gas ration will not be sufficient to offset adverse publicity.

MORE CRUDE OIL
The sources reported, however, that the Soviets expect to send Cuba 155,000 additional metric tons of crude oil this year, an increase of about 4 per cent.

Castro reportedly suggested that the Russian economic team come to Cuba earlier, but Kosygin replied it would be difficult before the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution on Nov. 7.

Kosygin said Cuba's three-year plan has been worked on by both Castro and Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos but gave no details.

Russia is believed supplying the Castro government with about $400 million worth of non-military aid annually.

Montague Couples Didn't Get Stuck In Mud This Time

MONTAGUE, Tex. (AP) — Two Montague couples who were married in a double ceremony here 45 years ago have celebrated their anniversary this time with a mass at St. William's Catholic Church, and with less transportation trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Carminati and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Penoglos got stuck in the mud as they were all driving to the church together on rural roads 45 years ago. But help came and the weddings took place as scheduled.

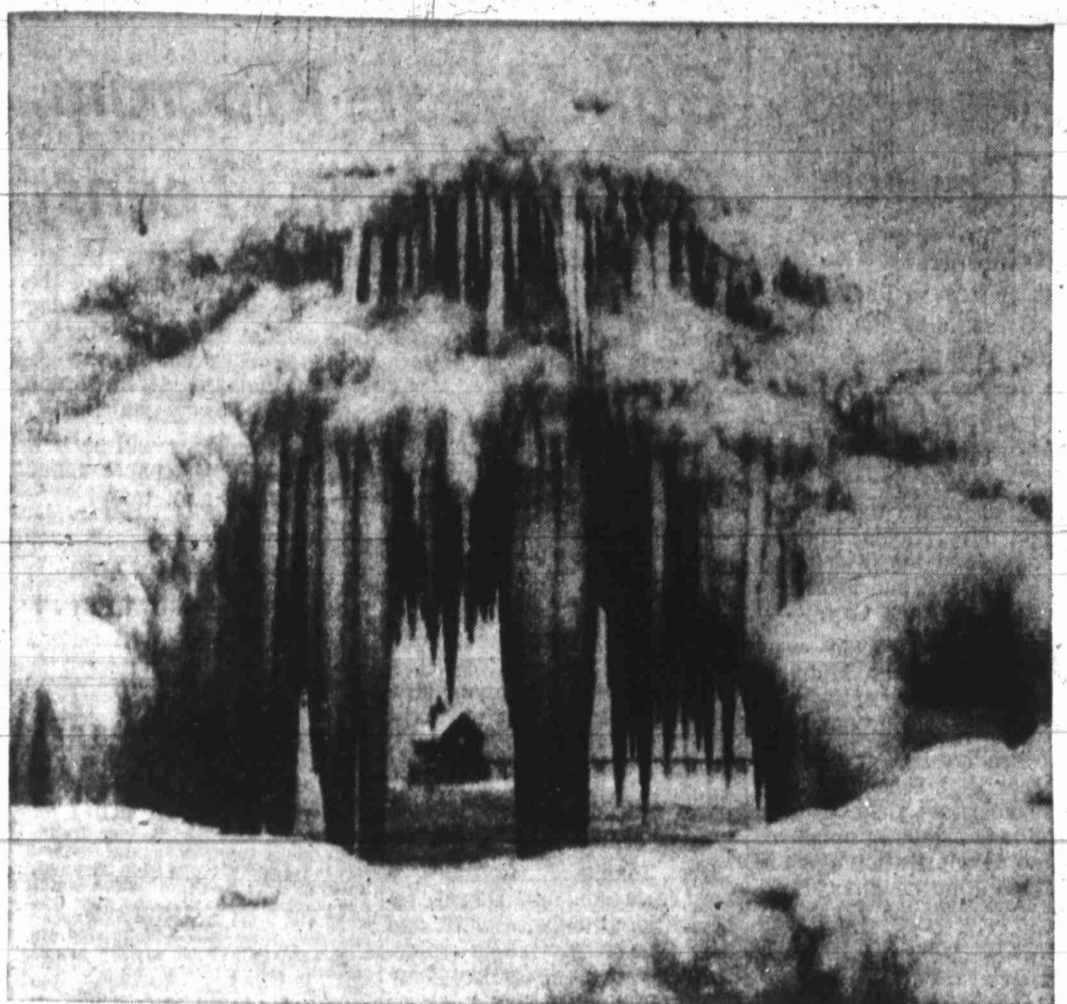

There was no money for honeymoon trips at that time. The Carminatis took a trip 25 years later, and visited 28 states and Canada.

The Penoglos say they plan to celebrate in five years—on their golden wedding anniversary.

Cops Still Probing Motives In Girl's Shootings Of Nuns

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A young girl who told police she purchased a rifle from a downtown gun store Thursday remained in city jail today, charged in the sniper wounding of two Roman Catholic nuns.

One of the victims, Sister Ricarda, 24, said from her hospital bed Sunday: "It just seems like a dream I should wake up from any moment."

'I'M HIT'
"All of a sudden I felt a stinging sensation. I know I yelled 'I'm hit' and that the firemen pulled me back. Bullets were still coming."

Police said they are still probing for motives in the shootings of Sister Ricarda and Sister Leonard, 33, who were hit by rifle fire Saturday as they stepped outside their Dominican convent to mail a letter.

Officers arrested without struggle a former mental patient, Janet-Marie Lazarus, 20. Detective Charles Phillips said the girl admitted buying the .22-caliber rifle "to go hunting."

The dark-haired girl was charged with two counts of assault with a deadly weapon and remains in jail in lieu of $20,000 bond.

Detectives said the girl gave no reason for the sniping, which came from her barricaded attic apartment less than 100 yards across an alley from the convent. The girl had been a patient at the Columbus State Hospital from 1964 to last summer, when she was released on a "trial visit" basis. She had been working here since.

Police said she fired 10 shots at the nuns and rescuers who went to the aid of the sisters.

Sister Mary Leonard was hit twice in the neck and was in "poor but holding" condition Sunday. Sister Ricarda suffered a left shoulder wound and was reported in good condition.

FOWLER OPENS DOOR Administration Might Seek Lower Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler has opened the door a crack—just a little crack—to the possibility the administration will seek a tax hike lower than the 10 per cent it unsuccessfully sought in the last session of Congress.

6 PER CENT
"I am aware of some discussion of whether or not 8 per cent would be adequate or 6 per cent would be adequate," Fowler said Sunday. He added he would reserve judgement until the House Ways and Means Committee resumes hearings Jan. 22 on President Johnson's tax plans.

In the first session of the 90th Congress, Johnson's 10 per cent surcharge bill died in the committee. Fowler said his "current inclination" is that the 10 per cent originally requested "is good insurance to have."

Fowler has said a tax hike would improve the nation's financial standing and help reduce the $3.5 billion balance-of-payments deficit.

DOLLAR DRAIN
He said the Vietnam war is responsible for about $1.5 billion of the deficit but rejected a suggestion that the dollar drain would force the United States to curtail military commitments overseas.

But Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., called Sunday for the withdrawal of four of the six divisions of U.S. troops in Europe in order to reduce overseas spending and thus, he said, strengthen the dollar.

The United States is spending $1.5 billion to $2 billion a year to maintain forces in Western Europe, said Proxmire, chairman of the Joint Economic Committee.

Fowler appeared on CBS' "Face the Nation" and Proxmire spoke on Metromedia's "Opinion: Washington."

STRONG SUPPORT
Nicholas Katzenbach, under-secretary of state, returned home Sunday from Europe and reported widespread support in European capitals for the U.S. campaign to stem the dollar drain.

He told newsmen that every capital he visited—in Britain, France, West Germany, Switzerland, Belgium and Italy—"approved the principles but some expressed concern about specific provisions."

"Yet there was universal approval that President Johnson is taking such strong measures," Katzenbach said.

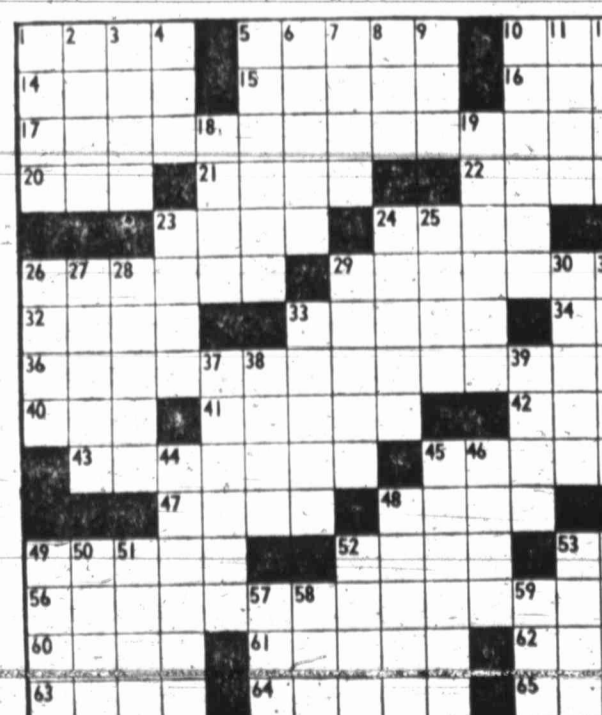

He also reported the nations he visited expressed strong support for Johnson's 10 per cent tax surcharge proposal as the quickest way to block inflation.

Mammoth Traffic Jams down with ice on bridges. Traffic jams and accidents occurred in many places. Four police cruisers were hit while standing as their operators checked accidents.

Sixteen trucks and automobiles piled up in a spectacular accident on an icy bridge near Conroe, injuring at least seven persons. The smashup occurred on the San Jacinto River bridge on Interstate 45. One truck driver was pinned in his cab 45 minutes and taken to a hospital for surgery.

Fort Worth reported 22 breaks in water mains. In Dallas, firemen and others received hundreds of calls Sunday because of broken water pipes after the temperature dropped to 13 degrees, a record for the date.

A 23-car pileup occurred on a Dallas freeway and police reported more than 200 accidents by 10 a.m.

No part of the state escaped freezing temperatures overnight. Texarkana's 16 degrees was the low. The highest minimums were 32s at Brownsville and Galveston.

More rain and more freezing was in store for the state during the night.

The Abilene Weather Bureau reported most traffic at a standstill around the West Texas city. Power and telephone lines were beginning to bear the breaking point under accumulations of snow, ice and freezing rain.

Hazardous driving warnings were issued for all of North Texas and along the Coastal Plains into Southeast Texas. Freezing rain, sleet and snow was reported in South Texas before dawn.

One big cell of bad weather—some snow, sleet and freezing rain—was centered around the Abilene area. Another blotch of bad conditions laced the largely unpopulated country between Amarillo and Lubbock with freezing drizzle.

El Paso roads remained largely impassable due to a thick coating of ice. There was two inches of snow on the ground in El Paso and to five inches in the mountain regions near the West Texas metropolises.

Amarillo's area roads were slick with a coating of ice and a new mass of rain and freezing drizzle was on the way well before dawn.

Dalhart had freezing drizzle in the early morning hours and a big area of snow was pushing toward the northern Panhandle city.

Some sleet fell in the Waco area near Texas geographical center. Hazardous driving warnings were out.

Livestock huddled together with their heads away from the freezing rain.

Temperatures would stay cold for most of the state through Tuesday, the Weather Bureau said, when a new warming trend would set in.

Howard County commissioners today will probably inspect possible sites in the area north and east of the city where a county fire truck could be quartered.

A group of residents from the area, representing an organization which has been working to get a truck located in their community, appeared before the county commissioners today with a request that delivery of the truck be expedited.

Bill Tune, in whose commissioner's district the area is located, told the group that the truck has been acquired and is at the county barn. He said that a mass of extra work has kept the mechanics from putting the truck in repair. However, he said the truck will be ready soon.

Spokesmen for the group told the commissioners they were anxious to start work on a building which they want to house the truck and also to serve as a community meeting place. They have a lot facing on FM 700 which they prefer as the location for the fire hall and the meeting room, they told the court.

Tune said that there had been some objection to the site and that he wanted the court to go with him and see it and possibly other locations. He told the group he would try to have a report for it within a day or two.

Charles and Mildred Read have been charged in Justice of Peace Jess Slaughter's court with burglary and bond was set at $2,500 each. They were charged in the Nov. 1 burglary of the residence of Jack Roberts, 1110 Pennsylvania. Both were released on bond Sunday evening.

Approximately $1,100 worth of items were taken from the Roberts' residence in the Nov. 1 burglary. The stolen articles included guns, luggage, camera, silverware and clothing. Part of the stolen items have been recovered according to Capt. Stanley Bogard, police detective.

Jay Naman, Waco, president of Texas Farmers Union, will address a meeting of the Martin County Farmers Union at Cap Rock Electric Auditorium at Stanton from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m. Wednesday.

He will discuss the numerous farm bills pending in Congress.

John Sherin of Greenwich, N.Y., said he thought the ice on Hedges Lake near this northeastern New York village was thick enough for a landing.

Sherin brought down his single-engine, ski-equipped plane onto the ice, then climbed out and walked toward shore. He and his passenger looked back to see the plane sink slowly to its wing-motors.

The accident happened Saturday and efforts to extricate the craft were unsuccessful because sub-zero temperatures froze the water around the plane.

The salary of Mrs. Neida Jones, the secretary to Wayne Burns, district attorney, was increased to total $3,600 a year in accordance with a special act of the legislature and the recommendation of Burns. She is paid by Howard, Martin and Glasscock counties.

Haupt's heart was grafted into Blaiberg last Tuesday by Dr. Christian Barnard, who also performed the landmark heart transplant operation last month on Louis Washkansky. Washkansky died of pneumonia 18 days after the operation.

Surveyor is expected to be some 51,000 miles from the moon when the course alteration is made at 10:30 p.m., PST. The landing is planned for Tuesday night.

Controllers radiated an initial direction change Sunday afternoon and said the operation went well.

The course adjustments were necessary because the booster rocket that powered the 2,288-pound vehicle failed Sunday.

The early Sunday aimed it at the crater Hipparchus, 1,000 miles north of Tycho.

Wreck Kills Railroader

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — An off-duty railroader was killed and his wife and three children were injured early today when a freight train jumped the tracks west of here and sent an empty boxcar careening into their home, setting it afire.

Clark County sheriff's deputies said the woman and children were trapped briefly in the burning house but were rescued by firemen arriving at the scene. They were brought to a hospital here.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately. However, New York Central Railroad officials said the boxcar contained nothing explosive or inflammable.

The victim was identified as Jason Williams, an employe of the Erie Railroad.

Bad Driver Weather Ups Violent Deaths

By The Associated Press

Bad driving weather boosted the Texas weekend violent death toll to tragic proportions Sunday. At least 26 persons died violently over the weekend, with traffic accidents claiming 16 lives.

An Associated Press survey of violence in the state began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday night.

The toll included: Graciella Molina, 5, of El Paso, was killed Sunday night in an automobile accident on Interstate 10 in the city.

THREE-CAR CRASH
Two men were killed Sunday near Vidor when an automobile rammed into the rear of a tractor-trailer truck on IH 10 near Vidor in Southeast Texas. The dead were William Dizier Beck, 21, Columbus, Ga., and John L. Print, 30, of Gutheir, Miss.

Charles C. Lacaze Jr., 12, of Vidor was killed Friday night when his motorcycle collided with an auto on a rainslick road at the edge of Vidor.

Mrs. R. Lee Fields of Pine-land and Mrs. Lucy Mitchell, 36, of Hemphill were killed Saturday night in a three-car crash near Hemphill. Authorities said one car stopped to help a stalled vehicle and a third car slammed into them.

SHOT TO DEATH
Royce Delwin Hayes, 22, of Levelland and Odessa Ivy, 58, were killed Sunday when two cars collided on US 385 12 miles north of Littlefield. Two other persons were injured in the crash.

Nolen Lee Prayter, 44, a Lubbock service station manager, was shot to death Sunday. Police said he was struck by two blasts from a 12-gauge shotgun. There were no charges filed immediately.

DEADLY SMASHUP
Three persons were killed and two injured Friday night in the head-on collision of two cars on US 81 about five miles north of Saginaw. The dead were Cara Ward, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Allen Ward of North Richland Hills; Jimmy Davis Jr., 11, and Ira Weeks, 65, a retired bank porter of Fort Worth. The Davis child was Weeks' grandson. Parents of the Ward child were critically injured.

Wincey Tomme of Houston was killed Friday night in a three-car accident. The smashup occurred on rainslick US 59 four miles south of Wharton in South Texas.

KERRICK, Tex. (AP) — Traffic was back to normal today on the Santa Fe line in the Texas Panhandle after 17 cars of a freight train were derailed.

The railroad said the derailment occurred when a rail broke after about half of the 72-car train had passed over it. There were no injuries.

The train was on its way from La Junta, Colo., to Amarillo, Tex.

DALLAS (AP) — A teenaged girl with a 9-month-old baby with her was among 13 young persons arrested in a police raid on a North Dallas hippie pad Sunday.

Officers said they seized a quantity of hallucinatory drugs and enough marijuana to make 140 cigarettes. They said the raid climaxed a month-long investigation.

Those arrested ranged in age from 17 to 21. One 17-year-old girl said she was a senior at Thomas Jefferson High School.

Anti-American Group Jailed

DA NANG, Vietnam, (AP) — Vietnamese police arrested about 100 refugees today, saying they were taking part in an anti-American talk campaign in a produce market in downtown Da Nang.

The demonstrators were not carrying placards, but were conducting a "conversation campaign," talking to other people about anti-American sentiments, said A. Wilson Edwards of Louisville, Ky., public safety adviser to the Da Nang police department.

"These people are demonstrating against the American presence in South Vietnam," Edwards said. "They are demonstrating against bombing by American planes both in North and South Vietnam."

The armed police, wearing camouflage uniforms, carried truncheons but officials insisted there was no roughness. "We are using tact and diplomacy. We don't want to turn them against the government," Edwards said.

South Africa's Heart Swap Specialists Work As A Team

By DAVID J. PAINE
Associated Press Writer

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—South Africa's announcement Dec. 3 that its doctors had performed history's first human heart transplant surprised millions around the world.

How, it was asked, could such a small country have beaten such medically advanced nations as the United States in carrying out this feat?

DEDICATION

The answer lies largely in the years of research by specialists working as a team, the dedication and skill of the individual specialists and the high standard of all sections of the team.

All the doctors acknowledge that in other parts of the world there are specialists at least as proficient as they are. But they doubt that any other hospital has put together a team with the same excellence as theirs.

"One must say that our surgeons, anaesthetists, physicians, theater nurses, ward nurses and the others who make up the team are all first class," said Dr. Marthinus C. Botha, one of the key figures in the Dec. 3 transplant on Louis Washkansky and the Jan. 2 transplant on Philip Blaiberg.

BRILLIANT LEADER

"Of course, there may be as good, conceivably even better, in other parts of the world. But in Cape Town, every member of the team is of world class," he said.

Even Dr. Christian N. Barnard, the brilliant heart surgeon who leads the team, says he is not the only one who could do the job.

"There are other surgeons in my team who could perform the operation," he said.

He is not competent to do the operation alone, he said, and relies heavily on the other specialist members of the group for advice.

The team has spent many years working together on heart research and later on open heart operations, which now are almost an everyday affair at Groote Schuur Hospital.

WITHOUT FEAR

Both Barnard and his younger brother Marius, also a surgeon, have studied heart operations and research in the United States and the team members have visited many countries, including the Soviet Union, to keep abreast of developments.

Botha, a pathologist who heads the blood grouping laboratory at the nearby University of Cape Town Medical School believes "without fear of contradiction that our blood transfusion services and societies are without parallel in the world."

The contribution of blood donors over the last 10 years was a major factor in the high standard of open heart surgery in Cape Town—about 1,000 operations and not a single patient lost, he said.

It was decided from the outset of the open heart surgery, Botha said, that fresh blood in heart-lung machines would have a great advantage over stored or banked blood suitable for ordinary transfusions.

Local donors are prepared to give blood on holidays and weekends, often considered inconvenient times in other countries, he said.

"Comparison of our post operative results, particularly in cases requiring many hours on heart lung machines, have been better than those obtained in every other major center overseas where they have to work with blood which has been stored for several days due to organizational difficulties," he said.

Not only the surgeons, but other members of the team, are so dedicated that after their normal work they put in long hours without pay to study heart problems, experiments and reports from abroad.

All consider it far more than just another job. When the first heart transplant on Washkansky began in the early hours of a Sunday morning, several of those watching in the operating theater left not actually taking part in the operation but hurried from a party so they could be on hand.

Under their theater gowns, some wore frilly bathing costumes of the 1920's—they had not taken time to change after leaving the costume party.

The Cape Town evening newspaper, Cape Argus said: "It is obvious that members of the team, with all the publicity they have had, could command large fees in private practice. . . what keeps them at work on salaries at Groote Schuur is devotion to their calling."

Barnard has avoided questions on how much he and other doctors on the transplant team are paid. But a local magazine reported that he earns "barely 400 rands — $700 — a month after deductions" and that the amount includes "special allowances on grounds of merit."

Deadly Winter Weather Sweeps Into Deep South

By The Associated Press

Severe winter weather continued to grip much of the nation today as a new storm moved into the Deep South.

Many deaths were attributed to the weather.

Snow squalls pelted the eastern shores of the Great Lakes and left inches more of snow at Syracuse, N.Y., where there already was 12 inches on the ground.

Gale warnings were posted from Rhode Island to Maine as the remnants of a savage snowstorm moved out of New England. The East was digging out of up to 10 inches of fresh snow which fell Sunday.

COLD ALERTS

Cold weather warnings were in effect for parts of the middle and northern Atlantic coastal states where subzero readings were common.

A storm gathered momentum in the Southwest today and the Weather Bureau issued heavy snow and hazardous driving warnings for parts of Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

Freezing rain and sleet spread over sections of western and northern Texas and southwestern New Mexico today.

Warnings of blowing and drifting snow were issued for Montana east of the Continental Divide as a new storm moved into the northern plains.

And bitter cold weather swept into the Deep South. Lows of near zero were reported over portions of Tennessee and North Carolina. Temperatures dipped into the upper 20s in northern Florida. Snow flurries fell in the mountains of eastern Tennessee and North Carolina Sunday.

The Weather Bureau said hard freezes were expected from Mississippi to southern Texas.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 72 at Key West, Fla., to 30 below zero at International Falls, Minn.

Preston Smith 'Weathered Out'

Bad weather prevented Preston Smith from making a scheduled appearance in Big Spring this morning.

The lieutenant governor had planned to confer with friends concerning his candidacy for governor, and a session had been scheduled for 8 a.m.

Smith had several other engagements during the day. He was in Midland and planned to fly here for a brief stop, but ice conditions at the airport were such that his plane was advised not to land. He planned to fill engagements in Midland and Odessa.

Flames Damage Giant Sawmill

DIBOLL, Tex. (AP)— Fire officials sought the cause today of a blaze that caused extensive damage to the Temple Industries sawmill, one of the largest in Texas.

The flames were spread by high winds, and firemen were hampered by the 23-degree weather. There were no injuries.

Fire units from Diboll; Lufkin, Livingston, Groveton, Corrigan and Trinity fought the blaze. Plant employees also were called in to help fight the fire.

'VERY GOOD BOYS'

'Cheerleader' Praises Team

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)— Dr. Owen Wangenstein, who trained them, says Dr. Norman E. Shumway and Dr. Christian Barnard, the heart transplant surgeons, had "tremendous ability and a lot of originality."

Dr. Wangenstein, 70, who headed the department of surgery at the University of Minnesota for 37 1/2 years, said, however, that his role in their development was that of a "sideline cheerleader."

FREEDOM

He said he worked to create an atmosphere where the students could develop freely.

"A lot of people came here because we were interested in research," said Wangenstein, now professor emeritus. "We weren't stereotyped. We had, really, no restrictive rules, so they could go far afield in their work."

Shumway headed the surgical team at Stanford University which Saturday transplanted the heart of a 43-year-old housewife into the chest of Mike Kasperak, 54, and is credited with developing the technique now used in heart transplants.

VERY ARDENT

Barnard headed the team in Cape Town, South Africa, that made the world's first and third human heart transplants.

Shumway did his internship at Minnesota in 1949-50, and then undertook his advanced surgical training and earned a Ph.D. degree. He left Minnesota in 1955 months later he reported that he to go to the Stanford University medical school, where he now heads the division of cardiovascular surgery.

Barnard received heart surgery training at Minnesota from 1946 until 1953.

"Very good boys" is the way Wangenstein remembered by many times with dogs, with the retired professor recalled months. Last November he announced Sunday that Shumway was a "very knowledgeable fellow, clear-headed and very ardent."

DR. WANGENSTEIN

He said Shumway worked with great intensity. Wangenstein said Shumway did much work with animals to perfect the technique he used Saturday.

DOG OPERATION

Many surgeons trained at Minnesota have learned, while studying under Wangenstein, the value of working with dogs.

Shumway in 1959 reported a new surgical technique to correct transposition of the great vessels of the heart. Eight months later he reported that he and a colleague Dr. Richard Lower, had performed a heart transplant on a dog, which lived eight days.

Since then, Shumway had been working to perfect the technique. His surgical team has practiced heart transplants on some of the animals living in the laboratory.

Last November he announced "we think the way is very clear for the trial of human heart transplantation."

Dear Abby

Expensive Christmas

DEAR ABBY: It's Christmas morning in our household and my husband and I have had a falling out. Before Christmas we agreed not to spend more than $15 on each other because we are on a budget. And that's all we could afford.

Well, I ended up spending $21 on him because I honestly couldn't find anything I thought he'd like for less. But he bought me a $40 purse which I needed like I need another head.

When I saw it, I was furious and took it back. He was very hurt and called me cruel and ungrateful. Do you think I was, Abby? I feel so bad about the whole thing.

CHRISTMAS RUINED: Since your husband had already bought the gift, you should have accepted it graciously and kept quiet. Then at a later date you could have reopened the issue about setting a limit on Christmas gifts and sticking with it. I think you owe your husband an apology.

DEAR ABBY: I know that I am jealous to a fault, but how would YOU like it if just as you were leaving a party an intoxicated woman grabbed your husband and gave him a long, hard kiss on the lips? My husband made no effort to free himself; he just stood there like a dummy while everyone laughed. This took place New Year's Eve, but that's no excuse.

I got mad and ran out to the car without my husband. He followed shortly, full of lame excuses. The next day I got several telephone calls about it. Everyone criticized ME for being a "poor sport." Nobody said a word about the woman who grabbed my husband and put on an exhibition with him. Was I wrong to be provoked?

STILL PROVOKED: DEAR STILL: Look at it this way. Your husband was victimized by a gal who was full of the spirit of the occasion, and vice versa. I don't blame you for being provoked, but occasionally we all have to ignore things that provoke us.

DEAR ABBY: George and I sent out 203 Christmas cards early in December. We used five-cent stamps on all the sealed envelopes as we had written personal notes on the cards inside. The cards with no writing on them were mailed in unsealed envelopes with four-cent stamps. Okay?

We just received a letter from George's aunt. She wrote, "George, what status does one have to be before he gets a Christmas card from you first class? Yours was the ONLY Christmas card I received with a four-cent stamp on the envelope. Your father used to say, 'If you can't do something right, forget it.'"

Abby, my husband and I are in the Army and every penny counts, so I was very hurt by this kind of reaction. Do you suppose others also thought that we were cheap? Or is George's aunt wrong?

HURT: DEAR HURT: George's aunt is more than "wrong." She's unkind and small. Forget her, and stamp out pettiness.

A Devotional For The Day

"You will make your prayer to him, and he will hear you." (Job 22:27, RSV)
PRAYER: O God, in our praying help us to think not only of self but of others. In mercy forgive us our sins. Bless us with willingness to walk with Thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

An Unresolved Problem

There can be no lasting peace settlement in the Middle East until the Arab refugee problem is agreeably resolved. And the latest Arab-Israeli exchange at the United Nations confirms that the issue is still in its 19-year-old stalemate.

The problem is now twofold. There are the 1.3 million Arab refugees from the 1948 Palestine war, now entering their second generation on international relief. And there are some 200,000 Arab refugees from last June's Israeli blitz.

Israel has offered to begin talks with its Arab neighbors on a five-year plan for rehabilitation of the refugees of both categories and to aid a combination of repatriation and resettlement. The immediate Arab response was that it has been for nearly two decades, that Israel must accept the full burden of repatriation and reparations.

Israel could not absorb 1 1/2 million Arabs, even if territory gained in the recent war were returned, and remain a Jewish state, nor can Israel finance Arab-demanded "total reparations." Arab refugees resettled elsewhere in the Middle East, even if the Arab nations would agree to, and cooperate with, such resettlement. Israel, in fact, claims that the Arab nations have blocked solution to the refugee problem so that they could use these homeless people as an excuse for attacking and destroying the Jewish state.

The United States has not been able so far to come up with anything better, in the U.N. discussion, than a reaffirmation of its commitment to "the principle of justice for the refugees." But the issue, of course, is what would be just — not only for the refugees but also for Israel and the Arab nations, which share responsibility for their plight.

Also perplexing is which must come first, the territorial settlement or the refugee solution, for they are seemingly indivisible bargaining points. As the U.N. is powerless to impose agreement on either, eventually both must be resolved by Arab-Israeli negotiation. But there is no immediate prospect that the U.N. can even get the two parties to the negotiating table.

It Works Two Ways

The native American male in Cleveland, Ohio, is becoming restless: He is no longer willing to accept meekly the continued discrimination against him by females.

Some male workers in the Fisher body plant of General Motors in Cleveland have petitioned the local office of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to end discrimination against them in the upholstery plant. There the women do the sewing and bench work while the men are relegated to the lesser paying jobs of shipping and stock-provision.

Browbeaten, downtrodden males have discovered that the equal employment law works both ways. The worm has turned. May his tribe increase.

We Have Few Friends In Vietnam

WASHINGTON — In the fanfare launching the program to check the dollar drain the cost of the Vietnam war was carefully kept off-stage. But like Banquo's ghost it will not down as a reason for the worsening position of the dollar.

The cost of the war, as narrowly interpreted in administration terms, may not be primarily responsible for the greatly increased outflow of dollars in the latter months of 1967. There are, however, a host of related costs contributing to the drain from one small area where now more than a half-million Americans are in uniform in a ground war.

A LARGE SHARE of foreign aid funds goes to Southeast Asia. The care of the more than 2,000,000 refugees from the fighting in Vietnam, inadequate though it is, constitutes an increasing levy. The effort to salvage the thousands of wounded civilians—again woefully inadequate—is part of the cost, some of it volunteered, some of it from government sources.

The State Department tries hard to make it appear that the United States is getting help from friendly allies. Thirty-one nations besides the United States are assisting Vietnam under the Free World Assistance Program, a department memorandum stated. Six other countries not considered part of that program and the United Nations also assist, according to the memorandum.

BUT IN RESPONSE to an inquiry

Billy Graham

The thing that troubles me is: what if Jesus isn't who he claims he is? What if he is an accumulation of traditions, Hebrew and Christian? What if he were just a good man in history? Then, all my allegiance, all my time served for Him would be wasted. J. H. Each of us must answer the questions: "What think ye of Christ?"

There is convincing proof that Jesus lived. Josephus, the Hebrew historian speaks graphically of him. We have the authentic ancient manuscripts which make up the canon of Scripture, which must be taken seriously, even by scrutinizing scholars. But these are extraneous evidences, and mean little to us without that essential element in Christianity, faith.

There is a "credibility gap" which can only be bridged by faith. The heart knows answers that the mind can never grasp. You take, in the matter of human affection there are "unknown" present in every romantic situation. Can a young man prove that the girl of his dreams will make a good wife and mother? No! His willingness to take her for better or for worse, is not based upon facts, but upon a feeling in the heart, in other words, upon faith. He takes her, and his faith becomes sight, and a happy marriage ensues.

Just so in our faith in Christ. The evidences are there, but they are not conclusive, in themselves. But, when we accept Him as Lord and Savior, no person has ever been disappointed. The Bible says, "The just shall live by faith."

THE SENATOR

also noted that American spending in Southeast Asia is enriching many Asian countries, and notably Japan. For the period reported on by the State Department, Japan provided a total of $2,250,000 in assistance to South Vietnam. Japanese exports to South Vietnam for the same months—most of them exports either purchased by the United States or by the South Vietnamese government with funds provided by Washington—amounted to $138,000,000, which compared with a total of $36,000,000 in 1965. Japanese exports directly related to the war for fiscal 1967 were estimated at between $1.4 billion and $1.7 billion.

ANOTHER CASE

in point is Formosa, the Republic of China. For the period June, 1964, through December, 1966, Chiang Kai-shek's China gave South Vietnam $775,900 in assistance. Formosa's exports to South Vietnam in 1966 were $80,000,000, compared to $50,000,000 in 1965. In addition, Fulbright noted that American soldiers on leave in Formosa for rest and recreation spend about a million dollars a month.

GREAT PRESSURES

have been put on friendly nations to slow down or stop their trade with North Vietnam. And in the past year this pressure has had a marked effect.

But the figures nevertheless point up America's lonely role in Asia. If, as the gloomier prophets are saying, this country faces a new isolationism out of a growing disillusion with the mounting cost of a war that seems to have no end, one of the causes may be found in the lonely burden the United States carries.

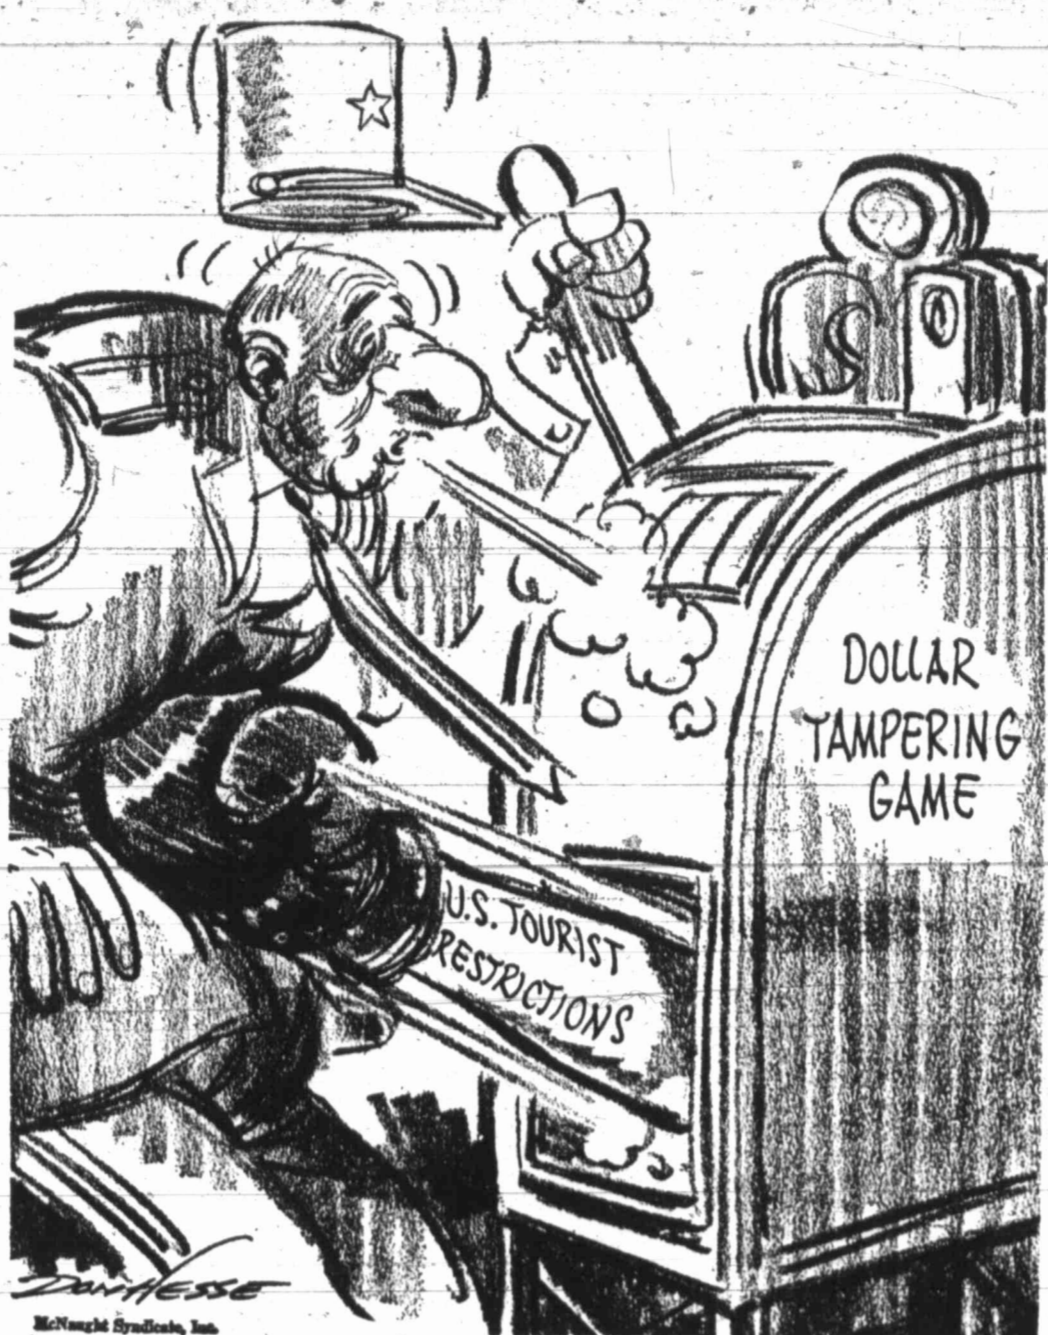

Underground Hotel Planned

SYDNEY (AP) — A 15-bedroom hotel, 28 feet underground, is planned for Coober Pedy, the scorched opal-mining center in Central Australia.

The hotel will have a reception desk, dining room and the rest, and will be air-conditioned. The walls are planned in their natural state — white and red sandstone.

Coober Pedy, with an average summer temperature between 95 and 100 degrees, is so hot that most of the people live underground. The Roman Catholic Church of St. Peter and St. Paul is built into a hillside.

'Soup Strainer' Days! Remember?

NEW YORK (AP) — Memories are the building blocks that make up the castle of the mind.

Each merry or momentous event of our lives adds another room to that edifice, a room to which we can always thereafter return and relive the past.

You've got a pretty rooky mental castle yourself if you can look back and remember when—

A PARENT felt reasonably proud if he was able to see that all of his children got a good solid high school education.

One of the arts every little girl tried to learn was how to use a fan gracefully.

Undertakers always wore black suits except when they left town on a vacation.

A child felt he was quite a linguist when he finally mastered the tongue-twisting mystery of speaking in pig Latin.

WHEN A wealthy man bought a new pair of shoes he often let a poor relative break them in for him.

The height of devilry for a group of small boys was to sneak into a department store and run down an ascending escalator until the management caught them and chased them back out to the sidewalk.

You were pretty grown up when the barber finally let you read the scandals in the pink-paged Post Gazette while he cut your hair.

A BOOB was anybody dumb enough to think he could get a bargain by buying a diamond ring at a street corner from a flashy-looking stranger.

You knew a girl was really stuck on you if she put two straws in her ice cream soda and invited you to share it with her.

The way most young ladies escaped a drab life on the farm was to go to the nearest town and get a job as a hired girl.

Romney Grabs Bigger Bat

WASHINGTON (AP) — "This is the end of the Grapefruit League. The real season is just starting."

Thus George Romney shrugged off the past months in the pre-season race for the Republican presidential pennant and reached for a heavier bat to try to knock Richard M. Nixon out of the park in New Hampshire.

The Grapefruit League, for non-sports fans, is the spring training competition between major league baseball teams before the official, money-on-the-line season opens.

IT CAN BE a fantasy time, however, when you find their fast ball again—for a couple of weeks. Batters who can't hit their hat wallop dents in the fences. Losers cavort like winners, and winners look like losers.

And George Romney, whose grapefruit season seemed a bit of a lemon, would not mind seeing Richard Nixon give a sure-arm performance in New Hampshire—and be forced to take an early shower.

The odds are thin indeed.

A ROMNEY AIDE acknowledges the Michigan governor has — in the past seven months of sometimes intense activity — fallen farther behind Nixon.

"There was a poll taken that showed Romney in a more unfavorable position than a poll taken in June," the aide said.

"But it was more a matter of a Nixon gain than a Romney drop."

Reportedly, the private poll shows Nixon approaching a 3 to 1 edge, making gains in the ranks of the undecided.

Romney acknowledges he is an underdog. But he contends the position has an advantage—that he isn't expected to win in New Hampshire so a loss won't be devastating and that the only direction he can go is up.

BUT THERE IS another direction: Down and out. Many feel that will be the only direction left to the put-faced Michigan governor if he is clobbered by Nixon in New Hampshire March 12.

To Your Good Health
All Right, Read This Every Day For Two Weeks

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor told me I have emphysema. I know that is not the right spelling but you will know what I mean.

I smoke, and my doctor said if I don't stop, I am in for real bad trouble. He asked me to write to you and read your answer every day for two weeks, and he thinks it will help me stop smoking. — R. O.

Your spelling is mildly skew-angular. It's spelled emphysema. But you got the sound right. You heard your doctor loud and clear. Why didn't you hear him as well when he said stop smoking?

Emphysema means that your lungs have lost their stretchiness. You can't breathe out stale air as completely as you should. Consequently you can't breathe as much fresh air in.

There is no cure for emphysema, any more than there is a cure for a rubber band that has lost its stretch.

But if you take care of either — your lungs, or an old rubber band — you can still get a lot of mileage.

But if you abuse either one — lungs or that old rubber band — the stretching point isn't far off. A doctor can help any emphysema patient to some extent. The one thing he can't do for you is stop smoking. Yet there is no single factor in treating emphysema which is more important than giving up smoking.

I know experts on this disease who refuse to have anything to do with a patient who won't give up smoking. Why waste time on a patient who won't help himself.

Emphysema (very often combined with bronchitis) is the most rapidly increasing cause of death now known. Patients gradually lose breathing capacity until, huffing and puffing, they don't have the energy to get around any more. Or, because their breathing apparatus has, become clogged and congested, they die of an attack of influenza or pneumonia which otherwise they would have thrown off.

I hope your doctor isn't depending too much on my ability to convince you; just looking at the facts squarely should do all the convincing you need. But try reading this every day as he suggests, and let me know if it helps you quit smoking.

You might also send for my booklet, "How To Control Emphysema." Send 25 cents in your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald.

The booklet points out, as I am doing here, that when you lack enough breathing capacity because of emphysema, it is foolhardy to waste any of the breath you have on smoke. And besides that, smoking irritates the membranes, makes both bronchitis and emphysema worse, increases the danger of infection which may merely disable you but also may kill you.

If those reasons, in plain words, won't make you stop smoking, what will?

Dear Dr. Molner: I have read about a drug that is supposed to govern the sex of a child, so that if you want a girl, you will have a girl, and if you want a boy, you will have a boy. Has this theory been proved? — B.H.

No, it has not been proved by my knowledge, and I see the probability of all sorts of new problems if any such drug ever does come along.

"Tips On How To Stop Smoking," by Dr. Molner, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Around The Rim
San Antonio Readies The HemisFair

One thing and another: Texas' most interesting city, San Antonio, is going to become more enchanting when the scheme for HemisFair becomes fact.

For one thing, the colorful San Antonio river is being extended three-quarters of a mile to accommodate dining barges and gondolas for the fair's crowds.

(The Indian name for that river, by the way, means, of all things, Drunken Old Man Going Home at Night.)

VISITORS, if they so desire, can arrive on the fair grounds via water taxi, now that the river bed has been changed to run through the complex.

Every world fair must have its theme building, of course, although few have been as successful and enduring as the Eiffel Tower in Paris. San Antonio will point with pride to the Tower of the Americas, a 622-foot concrete spire that tops the Washington Monument and Seattle's Space Needle.

THE REVOLVING restaurant that will sit at the tower's 55-foot level is being built on the ground around the base and will be lifted by jacks.

HemisFair promises to be comfortable and, for that reason, will be unique. It's within walking distance from the heart of town and just across the street from the new Hilton hotel, an engineering marvel in its own right.

HEMISFAIR is what is called a second category world exposition, ranking with Seattle's Century 21 but not with Montreal's Expo.

It has a Texas-sized theme, the Confluence of Civilizations in the Americas, but is otherwise appealingly modest in size and scope.

The grounds will cover 92 acres (Seattle's fair embraced 75) and a great deal of attention is being paid to trees, grass and places to sit.

TEXAS IS BIDDING for tourist trade, with Six Flags over Texas in operation and both the HemisFair and Houston's Astroworld shooting for 1968 opening dates.

DON'T WASTE your time telling your boy what he ought to be when he grows up: Half of the children now in the grades below the seventh will be employed in occupations which do not yet exist.

A STUDENT I know says his motto is: Laugh and the class laughs with you, but you stay after school alone. —TOMMY HART

A Strange Case Of Citizenship

WASHINGTON—The U.S. Court of Appeals has just invented convertible citizenship. The decision is subject to review by Chief Justice Warren et al, and it may be corrected by legislation when Congress returns. But as matters stand, citizenship by an American is something he can claim and disclaim at will—a protective covering he can raise or lower as suits the climate.

PROFESSOR Staughton Lynd, one of the New Leftists, applied for a passport, which the State Department denied him. Lynd said he might visit Hanoi, but that's against passport regulations at this time. Lynd said he'd be willing to leave the passport behind him at the frontiers of North Vietnam, but the Passport Division demanded a promise that he wouldn't go there with or without the passport. In court, all three judges in concert, the decision went to Lynd. He could go where he liked, provided he didn't take the passport into North Vietnam, North Korea, Red Cuba, Red China or Syria, countries that the State Department held to be off limits.

CONSIDER THE decision. It says, in effect, that an American traveler can at will divest himself of the protections and responsibilities of citizenship, and can don them again whenever he likes. He enters a forbidden land as a man without a country. He returns to friendly, neutral or home territory and resumes the privileges of the Constitution. His citizenship becomes a convenience, like a raincoat or sunshade, nothing more.

THIS CONVERTIBILITY is related to other entitlements which are being claimed in freedom's name. Civil rights leaders have declared an immunity from laws that inconvenience them. Draft dodgers and other objectors have taken the moral ground of refusing to fight in any way of which they disapprove. The Attorney General of the United States, along with several senators and congressmen, say that Selective Service can reclassify draft-age men for nearly every reason except obstruction of the draft. Each example is akin to the concept of convertible citizenship. Obey the law, observe the regulations of this free country, except when you don't want to do so.

CAN WE HAVE it both ways? The Constitution doesn't "give" us any rights, but it does give us protection of those rights that are held to be divinely bestowed and thus "self-evident," as the Declaration of Independence puts it. Obviously, U.S. citizenship is not something that is bestowed upon men by the Creator, else an awful lot of foreigners have been short-changed.

U.S. citizenship is acquired by birth or presented by U.S. courts under the naturalization statutes. There are conditions to citizenship, of which good behavior is one. A felon, although native-born, can lose it. An alien, if he can't pass legal requirements, is denied it. Citizenship belongs to the individual, but only conditionally. It isn't his to have and hold in defiance of his country.

THE FEDERAL government has over-reached itself so often that the average American may be inclined to sympathize with Lynd and to agree with the Court of Appeals for slapping down the State Department bureaucrats. But if Lynd can shed his citizenship for a trip to Hanoi, why can't the rioter and the draft-dodger claim the same dispensation? Tonight they will smash windows and rob stores, this year they'll sit out a war, then tomorrow or next year they'll resume civil obedience.

Lincoln liked to say that he could not find anything in the Constitution which authorized its own destruction. But it looks as if the Court of Appeals has found something that Lincoln overlooked. If there's such a doctrine as convertible citizenship, then we've come to a dead end—the individual has a new set of rights, but the government has lost its right to govern.

Hard-Earned Social Security

NEW YORK (AP) — Millions of Americans are trying to get along on a lot less money this week as they receive slowly from the shock of seeing their first pay check of 1968 — with a big chunk of cash deducted for Social Security.

This is a yearly surprise for many workers, although it shouldn't be. Social Security deductions have been with us for three decades now and will become even larger in the future. But some of us like to live a little unrealistically. We forget...

BACK IN the fall or winter, for example, the pay of many workers finally totaled more than $6,000 for the year. Thereafter they made no further Social Security payments for the rest of the year.

For many of these workers the paycheck they received last Friday was the first in several months on which deductions had been made. And during this interim they had adjusted to a higher standard of spending.

NO MORE educational shock could have befallen these workers, especially following the Christmas season of gifts, for it forced them to realize that Social Security is purchased with labor rather than bestowed from Washington or showered from the sky.

The payments for 24 million recipients of Social Security are the taxes of 78 million workers. As benefits increase this year, so also will the taxes with which to pay them. These benefits are purchased.

LAST YEAR Americans paid 4.4 per cent of their first $6,600 in pay for Social Security and Medicare, meaning the maximum payment was $290.40 each from employer and employer, or a total of $580.80.

In 1968 the tax still will be 4.4 per cent, but it will apply to $7,800 in pay, if that much is earned, meaning that the top deduction will be $343.20 each from employer and worker.

AS THE TAXES of workers go up this year, the benefits for widows, disabled and retired will rise also, by 13 per cent. A retiree receiving $124.40 a month now, for example, will receive $140.40 from March on.

To fund these increases, American workers are going to find themselves taxed more and more. Next year the deduction from both worker and employer will rise to $374.40 and by 1987 to $460.20.

SOCIAL SECURITY today is anything but a handout, at least in the vast majority of cases. It is well earned, dearly paid for and greatly deserved by most recipients.

Old And New

HONOLULU (AP) — The Honolulu City Council has decided that supermarkets are necessary, but agreed to let a small country store live at least a few more years as a "service to the community."

The councilmen recently approved commercial zoning for a 3.25 acre shopping center near the store at Laie, a community 34 miles north of Honolulu.

The developers of the shopping center, Zion Securities, which is owned by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, also owns the land on which the old plantation store sits. The group recently announced plans to level the store site to make way for residential development.

But the announcement quickly brought protests from Samoans living in the area. They said Charles K. Goo, who has been running the store there for the past 12 years, gives them credit and lends them money when they need it.

As one Samoan told the council, "A giant supermarket will not do that."

So the councilmen agreed to send Zion Securities a letter asking it to preserve the store "as a service to the community" and perhaps restore the building as a tourist attraction.

Three Soviet Writers, Woman Trial Protested

MOSCOW (AP) — The trial of three Soviet writers and a woman typist began today with Western newsmen barred from the courtroom along with about 50 relatives and friends of the defendants.

The relatives and friends stood for an hour in zero weather in the snow outside the bleak Moscow City courthouse for what they termed "a silent protest."

HARD LABOR.
 The chief defendants, Alexander Ginsburg, 31, and Yuri Galanskov, 28, are believed on trial for the publication outside Russia of "The White Book of the Sinyavsky-Daniel Affair."

The book, printed in the Soviet Union and smuggled to Western Europe, is a collection of trial documents and protests over the sentencing of satirists Andrei D. Sinyavsky and Yuli M. Daniel, convicted in 1966 for publishing anti-Soviet writings abroad. The two were sentenced to hard labor camps. Sinyavsky for seven years, Daniel for five.

PROPAGANDA

The other defendants, poet Alexei Dobrovolsky and Vera Lashkova, are reported charged in connection with the publication of the underground magazine Phoenix 66. Sources said Miss Lashkova's involvement was limited to typing for the others.

The four are charged under a law prohibiting anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda. The maximum penalty is seven years at hard labor.

The case has stirred up the Moscow literary community. It drew international attention recently when Pavel M. Litvinoff, grandson of the late Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff, appealed for an open trial. More than 100 other intellectuals also petitioned key organs of authority to make the trial public.

Big Industrial Advances Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Substantial business advances are forecast this year by nearly all of 86 major industries surveyed annually by the Commerce Department.

Nearly two-thirds of the industries—many of which suffered of five per cent or more, according to the department's report, "U.S. Industrial Outlook 1968," released Sunday.

Seven industries expect gains of more than 10 per cent: Automobiles expect 13 per cent, civilian aircraft 45 per cent, metals 15 per cent, photographic equipment 10 per cent, construction machinery, 13.7 per cent, and copper brass mill products, 15 per cent.

Only the railroad-car building industry expects a decline.

The transportation equipment industry as a whole, on the rebound from the long 1967 Fordon strike, expects a million more cars to be produced than last year's 7.4 million total.

The Commerce report indicated smaller segments of major industries also can expect substantial gains. The use of aluminum cans, for example, has risen 400 per cent in five years and is expected to double this year. At the same time, steel-can production has risen less than 10 per cent. The photocopying industry expects a 20 per cent increase in sales.

Stevenson's Horror Story Proved Bland, Bloody Bore

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP Television - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Louis Stevenson's familiar horror story, "The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," proved to be fairly bland and much, much too long as an ABC Sunday night special.

There was this doctor, a quiet fellow dedicated to his laboratory filled with foaming beakers and caged mice. In the course of his experiments, he drinks a chemical potion. Thus he becomes the first acid head on a bad trip.

FREAKS OUT

Dr. Jekyll, in contemporary jargon, freaks out and becomes Mr. Hyde. But the switching back and forth between the good doctor and the evil Hyde went on for 2 1/2 hours during which he killed so many people it became a crashing bore.

Jack Palance played the Jekyll-Hyde character with a satanic makeup in the latter role and a British accent in the former. The high point of his performance seemed to come when he twisted and contorted himself after drinking the potion that turned him into Hyde.

The story was set in Victorian London, and it was a very handsome production. But it was an oft-told tale that has been better told before.

HEART SPECIAL

NBC's Saturday special on Dr. Christiana Barnard and his historic heart surgery was timely and enlightening, in spite of the inability of the network to use much material relating to the recent heart transplant patient, Dr. Phillip Blalberg.

Two Changes In Zones Requested

Two zone change requests will be considered by the Big Spring Planning and Zoning Commission at its meeting Tuesday at 5:15 p.m.

Jeff Brown asks that several lots at Sixth and Main be changed from commercial zone to Central Area zoning.

launch a 90-minute variety program on weekday mornings. The program, which will start on March 4 at 10:30 a.m. EST, will star Dick Cavett, a comedy writer turned performer, one of the younger funnymen. It is hoped that Cavett and his understated humor will attract the young house-wife audience.

ABC is expected to drop at least one of the programs now occupying the time spot to be filled by "This Morning," and move at least one to an afternoon spot.

Recommended tonight: "Sharks," ABC, 7:30-8:30 EST. First of a series of underwater documentaries by explorer Jacques-Yves Cousteau.

Wallaces Plan Houston Trip

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. Lurleen Wallace plans to fly to Houston, Tex., today for radiation treatments for what she said last week may be her third bout with cancer. Her husband, George Wallace, plans to accompany her.

Ed Ewing, the governor's press secretary, said Sunday night travel plans had not been completed but that Mrs. Wallace and her party would fly by private plane.

The nation's only woman governor said Thursday she has a small, and possibly malignant, growth in her pelvic region. She said doctors told her she probably would undergo the radiation treatment for four or five weeks as an outpatient at the M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston.
