Snyder Man Dies As Car Turns Over

R. E. Alexander, 25, of Snyder, became Howard County's fifth traffic fatality of the year — and the second in less than a week — Saturday night.

Alexander was killed, apparently instantly, when the car in which he was riding failed to negotiate a curve and overturned near the junction of the Garden City Road with Highway 87.

Driver of the 1952 Oldsmobile, Ira Allen Hill, also of Snyder, was not injured. Alexander was thrown from the car. A doctor pronounced him dead on arrival at a hospital.

The doctor said the wreck victim's skull was fractured and that he received brain concussion.

Deputy Sheriff C. H. Fergus and Highway Patrol officers who investigated said that Hill's car failed to make a curve on Ranch Road 33 as the two men traveled toward Big Spring. The curve is near the intersection of the ranch road and Highway 87, about five miles south of Big Spring.

Hill said he and Alexander were en route from Big Lake to their homes in Snyder. He said he had known Alexander only for about 10 days, since they had started working together at Big Lake for the Pioneer Drilling Company.

The body was taken to Nalley Funeral Home where efforts were being made Saturday night to contact survivors. Hill said Alexander's father resides in Munday and that his wife resides in Marlow, Okla.

Alexander also carried addresses in Seminole and Big Lake.

The accident occurred about 8 p.m. Saturday. It was the week's second fatal mishap.

Deputy Sheriff A. B. Bruce of Monahans died Wednesday of injuries received Tuesday morning when his car and a truck were in collision near Big Spring's west limits on Highway 80.

Martin Report Is Due Thursday

STANTON, (SC) — It was learned from reliable sources here Saturday afternoon that the Martin County grand jury will be called to convene in District Court Thursday at which time the three auditors making an inspection of the county's financial affairs will return their report to the court.

It is understood that the report will not be made public but will be referred, by District Judge Charlie Sullivan, to the grand jury for their consideration. The three auditors, R. P. Simpson, V. E. Bearden and Jess Miles were appointed by Judge Sullivan, on the recommendation of the grand jury after it had been convened on June 7 and had heard witnesses for two days in the investigation Judge Sullivan had directed should be made of the county's financial affairs.

It has been indicated here that the committee is ready to report at this time but that it has been advised by Judge Sullivan Thursday is the earliest day he can be in Stanton to receive their report since he opens a new term of court at Big Spring Monday morning.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

There were oil flurries which added some interest, especially in northeast Howard, at the end of the week. While the reef in the new Sara-Mag fell off rather sharply, a north offset was flowing oil and one a mile and a half southeast promised to make a well although it tapped the water table. Still another well in that area missed the Canyon reef but found gas, oil and water in a lower, possibly the Strawn or Caddo—zone. A wildcat north of Knott had oil, gas and water in the reef. Southwest Borden added a new spraberry well.

The Farm Home Administration said that suggestions advanced by farmers and some businessmen and bankers in this area for longer periods of repayment on emergency loans were impractical. It's also impractical for farmers and ranchers to pay back these loans when they don't have or can't get the money.

Farmers were having their bitter and sweet mixed during the past week. Calmer weather reduced the threat of being blown out and hot weather made cotton grow as if by magic. However, grasshoppers were still appearing in formidable numbers and occasioned the first round of what may be a series of costly poisonings this summer.

Box seats for the annual rodeo are being offered to former holders —but if they don't exercise options soon, they'll be up for general offer. Meanwhile, Malcolm Patterson has been named chairman of the committee to organize the parade for the Aug. 4-7 event.

Representatives from several agencies took a good look at the flood problem here Wednesday and reached several conclusions: One was that it is a big and costly job to undertake control; another is that the city should explore possible federal aid; still another was that the city and county could team

Polio Parents Club Will Be Organized Here This Evening

A "Polio Parents Club" will be formed by northside fathers and mothers of polio victims at a meeting at 6 p.m. today in the GI Forum, 410 North Bell.

Assisting with formation of the club will be Mrs. W. O. Underwood, chairman of the Howard County Polio Chapter; Jewel Barton, nurse for the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit; and Ynez Yanez, who has made arrangements for the meeting.

Chief aims of the organization will be a better understanding of the need for physiotherapy treatment of polio victims, the encouraging of parents to have crippled children on hand for weekly clinics in Midland, and arrangements for providing transportation to Midland.

The clinics are held each Wednesday and are free to crippled children.

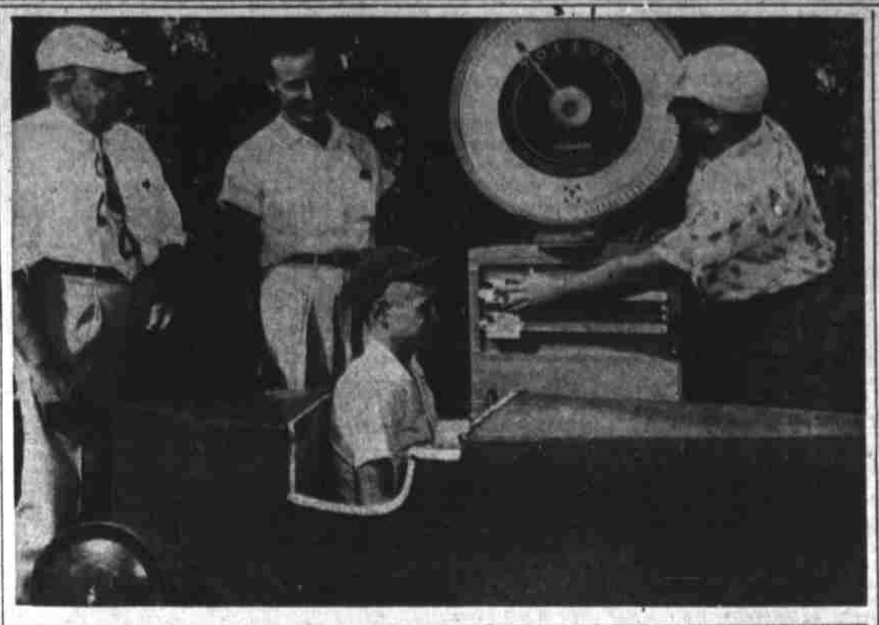

Miss Barton said parents of at least six youngsters left crippled by polio are expected for the organizational meeting. She said there probably are others and all are invited.

Nixon Asks Unity In Republican Ranks

MILWAUKEE, June 26 (AP)—Vice President Nixon told Republicans tonight they must unite among themselves if they want to win this year's congressional elections and stay in power.

The alternative would be "something far more radical," the victory of a Democratic party controlled by "left wingers," Nixon said in a speech prepared for a fund-raising dinner of Wisconsin state Republicans.

"If the Republican party is to continue to be a great party, its members must be united on fundamental principles which transcend the differences we have."

The Weigh-In And Test Run

Entrants in Big Spring's Soap Box Derby took their racers to City Park Saturday to be weighed and checked and for trial runs on the track on which they'll compete for the city championship July 5. August Luedecke and his racer are being weighed in (top) by C. Pat Brogan, Toledo scales distributor of Abilene; Morris Lee, another Abilene scales man; and Lion Robert Hall of Big Spring. In the lower picture, another Derby entrant is poised on the starting ramp for his test run. Lion Pete Cook operates the ramp as Fred Stitzell assists another racer on to the starting platform. The Independence Holiday races are being sponsored by the Lions Club, Tidwell Chevrolet Company and The Herald. Winner will go to Akron, O., for the National Soap Box Derby. (See story on page 2.)

Churchill Tells Luncheon West Needs Its Power

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill told congressional leaders today the United States and Britain, as military partners, must remain strong and vigilant in order to permit "peaceful coexistence" with Russia.

The 79-year-old British leader spoke briefly to 22 Senate and House leaders who joined him as guests at a White House luncheon President Eisenhower gave in his honor.

Meanwhile Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, with an assist from Australia's visiting foreign minister, were reported pressing Churchill to agree to quick action by free nations to save Red-threatened Southeast Asia.

Persons who attended the White House luncheon reported Churchill indirectly noted the split in Asiatic policy which threatens the traditionally close ties between Britain and the United States.

However, he took the view that differing views between friends can be considered calmly in order to devise a joint approach.

"It is better to talk jaw to jaw then to have war," Churchill was quoted as saying. Churchill scheduled a private meeting this afternoon with Dulles, who has been a frequent critic of British Far East policy. But this meeting was later postponed until tomorrow in order to give the aging Prime Minister a chance to nap this afternoon before resuming talks with Eisenhower.

In addressing the congressmen, Churchill made clear he fully supports Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden whose recent speech containing barbed criticism of U.S. foreign policy aroused bitter comments from top State Department officials.

Churchill was quoted as saying he liked the way Eden mentioned "peaceful coexistence" with Russia as the ultimate goal of British policy. Churchill said he thought it was well put.

Eisenhower and Dulles, during today's talks, personally urged Churchill and Eden to join Britain's military might to a free world coalition of nations in Southeast Asia as soon as possible.

Eisenhower and Dulles were reported to have stressed this view in separate meetings at the White House and State Department as their confidential talks with Churchill and Eden entered their second day.

In discussing the Southeast Asia crisis, including the fate of Red-threatened Indochina, the four men were seeking to mend British-American ties of cooperation, badly frayed in recent months.

These other key developments, meanwhile, made it clear a climax was rapidly approaching in the free world's much-discussed efforts either to end the Indochina war on honorable terms or create a "united front" of anti-Communist nations to block new Red aggression:

1. Australia's Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey arrived to talk with top British and American leaders and promptly announced that his government "is definitely for a mutual defensive arrangement in Southeast Asia. I hope the discussions will start on it soon."

2. Informed officials said Premier Mendes-France, the new French leader, had secretly notified Churchill and Eisenhower he was encouraged about the prospects for an armistice with the Communists to end the 7-year-old Indochina struggle. Numerous details remain to be worked out but Mendes-France was reported optimistic about an agreement involving a temporary military partition

Over A Thousand Attend Tarzan Association Meet

TARZAN — More than 1,000 persons attended the annual barbecue and membership meeting of the Tarzan Marketing Association here Saturday night at which Leslie Hull and J. B. Shockley were re-elected directors to succeed themselves, and at which Clyde Thomas of Big Spring, attorney for the Association, was guest speaker.

The barbecue supper, including cakes and pies, was prepared by association members and their wives and served at the TMA headquarters.

The TMA, which was formed in 1949, serves farmers in the seven West Texas counties of Midland, Howard, Martin, Andrews, Gaines, Dawson and Borden.

During the year just closed, according to a financial report made by Raymond Pribyla, secretary-treasurer, the association processed and provided 1,617 Mexican Nationals for farm labor in the area. Pribyla said that in an average year when there is adequate moisture for the production of dryland crops that the association would normally assist farmers in procuring from 3,000 to 5,000 workers. He said that with good rainfall this year it is anticipated that as many as 6,000 of these workers may be handled.

Pribyla's report also revealed that during the year the association sold the members 90,000 pounds of cotton seed; 240,000 pounds of grain seed; 232 tons of dry fertilizer with another 150 tons to be delivered in the next two weeks; 60,000 pounds of anhydrous ammonia; insecticides to the value of $21,822.22; and tires in the amount of $5,000. He said the association is now promoting the planting of from 1,500 to 2,000 acres of blackeyed peas.

Total assets of the organization are listed at $27,652.00 and liabilities, principally outstanding accounts for fertilizer purchased, are listed at $4,536.80, giving the organization a net worth of $23,115.96.

The assets, Pribyla said, include $14,000 in buildings and equipment, in tires and fertilizers on hand, and in such other items as cotton sacks, pads, beds for workers, grain seed, cotton seed and other related items.

Lois Madison, president, presided at the business session after being introduced by W. N. Orson, manager of the association.

Musical entertainment was provided by a guitar-fiddle trio composed of Troy Pierce, Alvin Boren and Tom Castle.

Other officers of the TMA are N. E. Glendening, vice president, and Minter McReynolds and Jim Franklin, directors.

Ten Nations Ask Guatemala Meet

Battle Reported At Guatemalan Railroad Center

By SAM SUMMERLIN

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 26 (AP)—The anti-Communist "Liberation army" announced tonight that its forces are battling with 1,500 "well-equipped" Guatemalan regulars attempting to defend Zacapa, rail center 25 miles north of the Honduran border.

A communique also declared an anti-Communist uprising had broken out in Puerto Barrios, chief Guatemalan port on the Caribbean, and, "There is fighting in the streets and plazas."

It said the fuel tanks which remained after the port's main oil tanks had been destroyed by rebel air raids several days ago, were blown up.

The communique said 500 or more anti-Communists yesterday staged another uprising in the town of Jalapa and were attacking military installations.

The communique, the seventh issued by the rebels since Col. Carlos Castillo Armas pulled the trigger for the revolution nine days ago, followed a call by the insurgents for the 6,000-man Guatemalan army to revolt.

The rebels' secret "Liberation radio" told army leaders to jail leftist President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman and his regime and set up a military government to consult with the insurgents. The broadcast proposed that a joint cease-fire then be arranged to end the bloodshed.

The Guatemalan Communists, not the army, were proclaimed the enemy of the invading forces.

The communique tonight said several Guatemalan air force pilots had deserted. It named two majors and a lieutenant who had taken refuge in El Salvador's Embassy in Guatemala City.

The rebels said they had "annihilated Communist hordes" in conquering Chiquimula, 20 miles inside Guatemala, yesterday, but gave no definite figures.

The battle with 1,500 regulars was said to be in progress between Chiquimula and Zacapa.

Women ran into the streets of Chiquimula to receive the rebel victors, the communique said, and "kissed the guns of the invaders."

The latest government announcements, meanwhile, continued to claim a smashing defeat of the invaders all along the line. It said invaders were being chased into the mountains after a victory at Puerto Barrios.

Guatemalan Regime Admits Casualties

GUATEMALA, June 26 (AP)—The Guatemalan government, under attack for more than a week by invading insurgents, stopped making broad claims of victory today.

Instead it told of heavy casualties on both sides, and admitted that the situation was "more fluid" than earlier in the week.

That it was true there had been many casualties was indicated by the fact labor union members were furnishing blood for transfusions to the wounded here.

BRIDE GETS WAY DESPITE SHERIFF

SAN ANTONIO, June 26 (AP)—A sheriff said "no" but a bride said "yes" today.

Grady North, county jail prisoner, was refused permission to marry his sweetheart, Patricia Marie Lane, by Sheriff Owen Kilday.

But North's attorney got a court order, and North was rushed out in the company of Kilday's own men for a blood test and marriage license. Judge Raymond Gerhardt agreed to perform the ceremony.

Deputies and newspaper photographers watched as vows were exchanged in the judge's chambers.

North's honeymoon will be a solo trip to the state penitentiary to serve a three-year burglary sentence.

Fire Destroys Packing Plant

Fire destroyed the Bugg Meat Company's processing plant on the Andrews Highway at the northwestern edge of Big Spring Saturday night.

Loss was estimated at more than $30,000 by Leonard Bugg, operator of the business.

Bugg said stocks valued at $10,000 to $12,000 were destroyed. The building was valued at "at least $20,000."

Cause of the fire was not known. Bugg and Fire Chief H. V. Crocker said residents of the area told of hearing an explosion just before the fire was discovered about 8:30 p.m. The packing plant operator said, however, that he knew of nothing in the building that could have exploded.

The fire spread throughout the building. Equipment from both city fire stations answered the alarm and hose was laid from the intersection of the Andrews and Lamesa highways about 1,800 feet from the building.

Firemen had the blaze under control by 10 p.m., but the fire still smoldered in the cork-filled walls of the refrigerated portion of the building.

Request Parley On Communist Menace There

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Ten of the 21 American republics tonight called for an emergency meeting of foreign ministers July 7, probably in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, to work out means of dealing with the Communist menace in Guatemala.

The call for the conference, expected to be approved quickly by the Council of the Organization of American States at a session tentatively planned for 3 p.m. Monday, came as the war situation in Guatemala took a more serious turn.

The bombings of Guatemala by rebel forces became more intensive. The boasts of Guatemala's pro-Communist government that it would wipe out the invaders went unrealized.

The United States was among countries asking for the meeting which is something the government of President Jacobo Arbenz of Guatemala has fought at every turn. Arbenz' diplomats had maneuvered—up to now unsuccessfully —for a hearing before the Security Council of the United Nations on its charges of foreign aggression. There it asked for and got the support of Soviet Russia.

Announcement that the United States and nine other American nations had asked for the emergency conference came just after the Inter-American Peace Committee, an OAS agency, kept open the door to Guatemala to let the committee send an investigating team into the war area to report on the situation.

Alfredo Chocano, Guatemala's charge d'affaires in the United States, said tonight "I don't know yet" if there would be any change in Guatemala's position regarding such an inquiry. Some belief was expressed among diplomats that Guatemala would accept the committee's new invitation to investigate the aggression charges. Nobody said why they thought so.

Guatemala's position about such a conference is well known. It is dead set against it, charging that any action taken by such a meeting would in effect constitute intervention in the internal affairs of another state.

Last Rites For Sgt. Moody Will Be Conducted Monday

The long road back home had ended Saturday night for Sgt. Charles Vernon Moody, and Monday at 2 p.m. his remains will be laid to final rest.

Services for the Big Spring youth, who gave his life on a Korean battlefield on Jan. 1, 1951, will be held at the Nalley Chapel with Dr. Jordan Grooms, First Methodist pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the family plot at Trinity Memorial Park. Military rites will be observed at the graveside with Webb AFB personnel conducting and serving as pallbearers.

For three years his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Moody, 1514 Tucson, knew only that he was missing. They had hoped against hope that he was a prisoner and still alive. Anxiously they listened as first lists of prisoners were released by the Chinese Reds, and then as names were announced during the repatriation period.

Once their hopes were raised when the Defense Department said that latest information indicated Sgt. Moody had been included in the list of some 900 American servicemen who were unaccounted for. On March 2, 1954, however, they were notified that information indicated that Sgt. Moody had died on the day he was wounded. They made a trip to North Carolina to talk with an officer in his company. Information gained from him helped reconcile them to the final notice on June 7 that his remains had been definitely identified and would be returned home.

Sgt. Moody was born in Big Spring and spent most of his life here. In the mid-40s the family lived for a brief time near San Antonio and he attended school there, and later at Amarillo when Mr. and Mrs. Moody resided there for a short time. He completed his high school work at Amarillo and entered the Army there in 1949. The following July he went overseas and was in the thick of the Korean fight from the start. Once before, on Aug. 31, he was reported missing, but by the time his mother received word, he was back with his unit and had written her.

Besides his parents, he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Vessel; one brother, Alfred (Sonny) Moody, Dimmitt; two nephews and a niece; several aunts and uncles.

'NEVER SAID WOULD COMPLY'

Shivers Declares Stand Clear On Race Segregation Decision

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, June 26 (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers says he has made his opposition to the U. S. Supreme Court's decision erasing the color line in public schools "perfectly clear."

He told reporters at a news conference today he would not say what he might or might not do if the court ruling is made final and specific as to Texas. Some other Southern governors have said flatly they wouldn't comply.

Shivers also said he had not heard what two of his opponents, Ralph Yarborough or J. J. Holmes, think about the school segregation question, but that he felt he had made himself clear in his speech at Lufkin.

At Lufkin, this in full is what the governor said:

"There is another problem that is uppermost in the minds of all Texans, white and black. That is the decision of the United States Supreme Court that our segregated public schools are unconstitutional.

"All of you know my views on states' rights. I don't want our our public schools run from Washington. I don't even want them run from Austin. I want local people to run local schools.

"All of my instincts, my political philosophy, my experience and my common sense revolt against this Supreme Court decision. It is an unwarranted invasion of the constitutional rights of the states, and one that could be disastrous to the children and the teachers of both races.

"My administration has already told the local school districts that, as far as the State of Texas is concerned, there are no changes to be made in the way we are conducting our schools.

"We have given notice that Texas will be heard before the Supreme Court in opposition to any course that takes away from local school districts their right to work out their own affairs in their own way.

"I think the people of Texas know that, while I have always been positive in my views, I have never resorted to demagoguery. I have never tried to inflame the passions of the people for political gain. I am not going to do that now.

"But I do say, flatly and positively, that as far as I am concerned, as your governor, we are going to keep running the public schools of Texas as they are today.

"Let me be equally positive about another thing: we don't need the help of any night-raiders or 'Moon-lighters' or cross-burners roving around with bed-sheets over their heads, attempting to hide their faces from God and man while they take the law into their own hands. Texas saw an era of that at one time, and as long as Allan Shivers is governor we are not going to have another.

"With vigorous and fearless leadership from the governor and the other duly constituted officials of this state, we will meet and solve these problems in a calm, legal and orderly fashion."

Some reporters told the governor they had gotten the impression from earlier statements that he planned to fight a delaying action, but that Texas would ultimately comply with whatever the court ruled.

Shivers said that he had never said Texas would comply, and that he had nothing to add to the Lufkin remarks.

Packard Men Meet

Meeting with James J. Nance (right) president of Packard Motor Car Company, H. M. Rowe of Rowe Motor Co., Big Spring, was in Dallas recently to discuss the "turn-around year" in marketing conditions in the automobile industry. Nance had visited Texas for the opening of the new Packard distributor, Bankston-Hall Motors. At the meeting, plans were formulated to bring the new Packard program of service here. Outstanding dealerships will be used to test these programs before inauguration elsewhere in the nation.

Entrants Get Race Fever As Soap Box Derby Nears

One could get an idea Saturday of the excitement that prevails around the pits before the Memorial Day race in Indianapolis.

For out at the City Park were machines and drivers by the dozens. In this case the drivers are boys between the ages of 11 and 15, the machines are coasters of their own making. But the thrill of anticipation was there.

It was the first gathering for entrants in the great Soap Box Derby, which will be run off in Big Spring as an Independence Holiday feature on July 5.

The boys brought their racers to have them weighed on the big Toledo scales; to have them checked over to see if construction meets Derby specifications; to make some trial runs on the 600-yard course that slopes down the park road just west of the swimming pool.

Cars were in various stages of completion. Some lads had their machines finished and fully painted; others have some work to do, but they are determined to be ready by race time on the 5th. There were varying designs, all demonstrating a lad's skill with tools in building a racer that will really whiz.

Boys got experience starting off a big platform ramp that stands about four feet high. It has an automatic trigger that will release two competing cars simultaneously. The lads had a try at following the marked-course, and in steering safely as well as speedily.

Come race day, the lads will compete two at a time, with the loser of each heat being eliminated. There are no official times kept on the races.

First heats will be run off on the morning of the 5th, starting at 10 o'clock. The grand finals, in which heat winners will be bracketed for further elimination runs, will start at 2:30 in the afternoon.

Members of the Lions Club, one of the sponsors of the Soap Box Derby along with The Herald and Tidwell Chevrolet, are in El Paso today to witness the running of the boys' event there. They hoped to get some "pointers" in staging the races, to help make the July 5th event here run more smoothly. Making the trip were Roxie Dobbins, Lions president; Loyd Wooten, Pete Cook, Jack Cook and Avery Falkner.

Members of the Lions Club, a sponsor of the Derby along with The Herald and Tidwell Chevrolet, were checking over race details and conditions of the course Saturday. They are arranging for safety fences to keep spectators off the track. The National Guard will be on duty July 5th to help in this job.

Some rough spots in the street will be smoothed out before the race, and the whole course swept smooth. Lions President Roxie Dobbins said "We got a good trial, and everything will be in readiness for the Derby on the 5th."

The winner in the event gets the chance of a lifetime. That will be a free trip to Akron, Ohio, in August, when he competes with other city champions from over the nation in the All American Soap Box Derby, staged by Chevrolet. The winner there hauls down a $5,000 scholarship in addition to other prizes, and there are lesser scholarships for other boys placing high in the race.

Heat winners here will receive merchandise awards, and there are other prizes such as a bicycle, a camera, a gun and a watch. Also there are special awards for the best constructed car, the most attractive car and the bset upholstered car.

Heavy Water Tests

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, June 26 (AP) — Israel is setting up tests at the Weizmann Institute of Science to determine the commercial possibilities of evaporation for the production of heavy water. Fractional electrolysis and distillation are among the standard processes. The gimmick in making heavy water, useful in various atomic processes, is to get hydrogen molecules of abnormal weight.

West Texas Camp Meeting Planned

MARFA, Tex., June 26 (AP)—One of the few old-time camp meetings still left in Texas will be held at Skillman Grove near Fort Davis, in the Davis Mountains of West Texas Aug. 17-24.

Christians(Presbyterians, Methodists and Baptists will join in the sessions.

This year will be the 65th annual gathering of the Bloys Camp Meeting Assn. An old-fashioned arbor will be erected for the meetings of the teen-agers.

Ministers, representing their denominations, will be Dr. L. D. Anderson of the First Christian Church of Fort Worth; Dr. S. L. Joekel of the Austin Theological Seminary, Prsebyterian; Dr. J. Chess Lovern of Laurel Heights Methodist Church in San Antonio; and the Rev. Ramsay Pollard of Knoxville, Tenn., Baptist.

Pig Crop Is Up From Last Year

AUSTIN, June 26 (AP)—Some improvement in the pork chop and sausage situation is in prospect for Texans, the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicated today.

The 1954 spring pig crop was estimated today at 757,000 head, or about a third higher than last year's record low.

It was still 40 per cent under the 1943-52 average.

Farmers have indicated to the USDA that they plan a further expansion of the pig crop in the fall season.

TB Sufferers Need Assistance

Housekeeping equipment is being sought for a Howard County couple discharged during the past week from tuberculosis sanitoriums, representatives of the Howard County Tuberculosis Association said Saturday.

The man had been in a veterans hospital for treatment of tuberculosis for the past 15 months. Although he is a veteran of World War II, the disease has no service connection and he receives no compensation.

His wife has been in the Carlsbad Tuberculosis Sanitorium, near San Angelo, for the past 27 months. She is unable to accept employment and the husband can work only four hours per day, TB Association officials said.

The couple is without housekeeping equipment of any kind, with the exception of a refrigerator which already has been given. The family is in particular need of linens and dishes, as well as larger items of furniture.

Anyone with unused equipment which might be donated to the family is urged to call Jewel Barton at the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit, Phone 4-4261, or to bring the articles to the health unit offices in the Read Hotel Building.

CARACUS, Venezuela, June 26 (AP) — Russian sharpshooters are among the gunners due to do their stuff at the 36th World Marksmanship Tournament here Nov. 14-27. Moscow has cabled acceptance of an invitation to participate, the organizing committee announced.

Four Admit Cross-Burnings In Sabine 'Moonlighter' Case

By WHITEY SAWYER

ORANGE, Tex., June 26 (AP)—Police disclosed today three young men and a girl had admitted burning crosses and tossing anti-Negro notes into yards here as a prank for publicity.

Officers questioned them, bawled them out and turned them loose. They said there was no law under which the group could be prosecuted.

The three men are 22, 19 and 18 years old. Their pretty companion is 18. Their names were not disclosed because no charge was filed against them.

They called themselves the "Moonlighters" and in one of their unsigned notes had claimed a membership of 400 throughout the Gulf Coast area. But they admitted they were the only members of the "Moonlighters."

Detective Charles Tyson said the 22-year-old was the leader of the group. Tyson arrested him shortly after a burning cross was discovered in nearby Beaumont early yesterday, and the youth told the story of the Moonlighters.

Tyson said the youth had been under suspicion since the "Moonlighters" began their activities June 7.

The girl said she kept a scrapbook of newspaper stories about the "Moonlighters" and the group threw most of their notes into the yard of Mrs. Mary Alice Lakey, a reporter for the Orange Daily Leader, to make sure they got publicity.

Police asked the group if they hadn't thought some innocent persons might have been killed because of their activities. One of the four replied: "We thought some Negroes might get killed, but we never realized that some white people might die too."

On one occasion, after a cross was burned in a Negro residential section just outside Orange, armed Negroes patrolled the streets until sheriff's deputies sent them home and told them to put away their weapons.

The same night, a crude javelin bearing a note, a roll of film and a "Moonlighters" membership card was hurled into Mrs. Lakey's yard. When developed, the film showed three live hooded figures and five hooded dummies around a burning cross.

CHILD'S FACE BITTEN BY DOG

Debra Barr, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barr of Vincent, received "severe facial lacerations" from a dog bite Friday night.

The child was bitten while attending a barbecue at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dupree of Vincent. She is hospitalized at Cowper. Attendants report that she is "doing well."

Urge Liquor Ban

DENVER, June 26 (AP) — Seventeen state executives of interchurch temperance organizations meeting in Denver announced today they had sent a letter to Air Secretary Harold E. Talbott urging that the Air Force ban sales of alcoholic beverages at its new academy to be built near Colorado Springs.

Mexican Town Is Scene Of Fights Over Latin War

TAPACHULA, Mexico, June 26 (AP)—Part of the "Battle of Guatemala" is being fought on Mexican soil here.

The battles are fist fights that occur frequently between anti-Communist and government-supporting Guatemalans who have fled to this frontier town from their revolt-torn country.

Several score Guatemalan and U.S. citizens have come to Tapachula from Guatemala, indicating the tempo of the civil war has been stepped up.

One man from the United States who arrived by train from Guatemala City said the rebels dropped an empty bomb near the capital yesterday with a note attached saying, "We can hit you any time we please." The dud was found at a Standard Oil refinery.

The man said a government transport plane carrying ammunition went over to the rebels and that one government pilot deserted in a training plane. He said the pilot took off from the capital airport and followed a rebel plane back to its base.

The rebels are sending single transport planes, armed with .50-caliber machine guns, on raids over the capital, he said.

The United States produced 663,000 dwelling units in 1946 and 1,067,000 in 1953.

Two Houses Raided, Two Cars Stripped

Burglars took money from a piggy bank at one house and stole an iron at another here Friday night, and police were told that hub caps and a bumper guard were stolen at the ball park.

Raymond Vasquez, 1001 NW 3rd, told officers that someone broke into his house and took about 85 cents from a piggy bank. Entry was made through a window, near which police said there was some blood.

Marie Harper, rear apartment at 206 Dixie, reported that entry was made to her house and that an iron was taken. The report was made Saturday.

The bumper guard belonged to Aaron Goolsby, 507 NW 11th. He said that both the guard and his license plate were missing after Friday night's ball game.

Mrs. Carol Ramsey, 205 Jefferson, said that her car which was parked in the lot near the ball park was stripped of hub caps. Police said witnesses saw four boys near the car.

MYRL STEIN

Stein Appointed KTXC Manager

Appointment of Myrl Stein, formerly of Marshall, as manager for Radio Station KTXC has been announced by V. T. Anderson and E. W. Anderson, station owners.

Mr. and Mrs. Stein moved to Big Spring from Marshall during the past week. They reside at 432 Hillside.

Joining the KTXC staff with Stein is John Strength Jr., who also comes here from Marshall. He will be advertising manager in charge of sales.

Stein was manager of Station KMHT of Marshall for the past seven years. He was associated with a San Angelo radio station before going to Marshall. He came to Texas from Michigan.

UNFAIR TRADE

TULSA, Okla., June 26 (AP)—Considerate thieves? Mrs. Edna Swaim wonders.

Each wheel had been refitted with a well worn tire.

Administration Supporters Rally For Farm Peg Battle

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Administration forces rallied today for a party-splitting battle in the House next week in a showdown effort to save the Eisenhower farm program.

Republican leaders were prepared for a fight with farm-state members of their own party for the President's politically explosive program of variable farm price supports, designed to cut down the multibillion dollar surpluses now glutting government warehouses.

House Speaker Martin of Massachusetts predicted an administration victory when the time comes for a roll call vote next Friday, with enough Republicans and Northern big city Democrats joining together to defeat the high-support sections of the bill approved by the House Agriculture Committee yesterday.

This one-package measure, backed by the farm state members, would extend for another year the existing rigid high price supports on basic crops—and hike even higher present government aids to the surplus-ridden dairy industry.

Republican expectation of support from Northern Democrats was challenged by Democratic House Leader Rayburn.

"I think 90 per cent of parity supports will be sustained in the House by a big majority," Rayburn said.

"I feel confident at least 75 per cent of the Democrats in the House will vote for it."

The House bill calls for another year of farm price supports at 90 per cent of parity—parity being a "fair" price determined by law in relation to the cost of things farmers must buy.

Rayburn's forecast of 75 per cent Democratic backing of high price supports was lower than some other Democratic estimates. One Democratic floor leader estimated 90 per cent of the Democrats would vote for 90 per cent of parity and against the Eisenhower program.

In the face of these predictions, it appeared that the final House outcome might be decided by those northern Democrats from city districts where housewives view farm problems in the light of grocery store prices.

President Eisenhower has called for repeal of the present system of rigid high supports on basic crops, and replacing it with a flexible system providing government supports at between 75 and 90 per cent of parity.

Flexible supports would tend to move up in time of low farm output to encourage production and down in time of overproduction.

Unless Congress extends the present rigid supports at 90 per cent of parity, the flexible provisions of a law passed in 1949 will automatically take effect at the end of this year.

Both of the big labor unions, the AFL and CIO, are backing the program of continued high supports.

AFL Postal Clerks Elect Houstonian

DALLAS, June 26 (AP)—Howard Deberry of Houston was elected president of the Texas Federation of Post Office Clerks, AFL, at its closing session here today.

Mrs. Louie E. Barron of Tyler was elected president of the women's auxiliary.

Two Drivers Get First Aid After Friday Accident

Drivers of two automobiles received first aid treatment at Malone and Hogan clinic late Friday night as a result of an automobile collision at 9th and Johnson.

They were Harry George Wright, 1200 Johnson, and Robert Patterson, 804 West 17th. Both men were released from the hospital after treatment.

The accident occurred about 11:23 p.m. Friday, and officers said vehicles involved were damaged considerably. Apparently Wright and Patterson were not seriously injured.

Two other minor collisions were reported to police Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. Officers said there were no indications of injuries being sustained by those involved.

Harrabell Anglin, 308 NW 3rd, and Charles Edgar Patterson, Lubbock, were operators of vehicles which were in an accident in the 1500 block of Gregg about 1 p.m. Friday.

At 9:55 a.m. Saturday a collision was reported in the 600 block of East 2nd. Drivers involved were Charlie Richard Kaiser, 609 Goliad, and Mrs. J. B. Hollis, 108 Air Base Road.

Senate Opens Tax Debate On Monday

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The Senate will open debate Monday on one of the top items of President Eisenhower's program—the omnibus tax revision bill—with Republicans confident they can defeat all Democratic moves to tack on an income tax cut.

Sens. Williams (R-Del) and Carlson (R-Kans), members of the Finance Committee which handled the bill, said they believed the administration would defeat the Democratic amendments.

Sen. George (D-Ga), senior Democrat on the committee and principal sponsor of the amendments, refused to write off his chances. But he conceded that members of his party were not unanimous in their views on the best course to follow in offering proposals for a general tax reduction for individuals.

"We'll have to wait and see how it develops," George said. "I think if all of those who want some changes in the bill could get together on one amendment, it could pass."

George said he thought there would be some Republican support for an income tax cut. However, GOP strategists were conceding only the loss of Sen. Langer (R-ND), who has announced in favor of such an amendment.

Two Held In Rural Thefts

The burglary of three Howard County farm homes was solved Saturday with the arrest of two men—one in Lamesa and the other in Lovington, N. M., according to Sheriff Jess Slaughter.

Slaughter said the two men will be charged here with burglarizing the homes of Howard Newton and Bill Newton of Fairview, and Boyd McMillan, of near Ackerly. The charges probably will be filed Monday.

Some of the articles taken from the Howard Newton home several weeks ago were recovered, according to Slaughter. A set of binoculars, an electric razor, a watch and some jewelry were found in Lovington.

Newton, Deputy Sheriff Floyd Moore and Juvenile Officer A. E. Long went to Lovington Saturday and Newton identified the items as having been taken from his home near Fairview.

One of the men to be charged is being held in a jail at Lovington, Slaughter said. The other is in Howard County jail, where he was brought from Lamesa Saturday.

The sheriff said the two men are implicated in several burglaries which occurred in Dawson County. Local authorities decided to investigate the pair after learning of their connection with the other, similar, cases.

Driver, Passengers All Receive Tickets

All six occupants of a speeding automobile were charged by Highway Patrol officers Saturday as a result of a Friday night chase which led from Big Spring to a point near Snyder.

The charges were filed in the court of Justice of the Peace A. M. Sullivan of Big Spring. Officers said the driver was charged with speeding and driving across the road's center stripe. Five passengers in the car were charged with "aiding and abetting" the driver's violations.

The chase started in Big Spring and Highway Patrolmen overhauled the fleeing car about three miles from Snyder.

CHURCHILL

of Viet Nam, and a possible deal guaranteeing independence for neighboring Cambodia.

3. President Rene Coty of France sent Eisenhower a letter expressing readiness to begin "conversations of a confidential and intimate character" with American officials about Southeast Asia and the stalled plans for creating a six-nation European defense army.

In advance of today's Indochina talks, Churchill and Eden were reported anxious to delay any pledge to join in "united action" in Asia until France has more thoroughly exhausted any chance that the Indochina war can be halted by a compromise.

Eisenhower was reported opposed to further delay on the grounds that it might be too late already to save any substantial part of Indochina. He was said to feel the future of neighboring Thailand and Burma was not in jeopardy.

Churchill discussed Britain's "go slow" policy with Eisenhower in the White House study for more than an hour before joining Eden, Dulles and 22 congressional leaders and Cabinet officers at a luncheon.

Sons Of Official At McMurry Reject Church

ABILENE, Tex., June 26 (AP)—Two Methodist ministers, sons of the president of McMurry College here, said today they have quit the Methodist church.

They said they object to a number of developments in the church, including "the Sunday School literature's whole - hearted acceptance of the United Nations as an ultimate instrument of peace, while it denies the Prince of Peace."

The ministers are the Rev. John Bunyan Cook, pastor of the Urban Park Methodist Church in Dallas for eight years, and the Rev. Charles J. Cook, 29, pastor of Abilene's Crescent Heights Methodist Church for a year.

A joint statement issued by the two said they plan to set up an independent church organization.

Their father, Dr. Harold G. Cook, a minister himself as well as president of McMurry, said his two sons had similar but independent religious experiences several months ago that led to their break with the church. McMurry is a Methodist senior college.

The brothers listed their grievances in a statement which included the following:

"We no longer feel that the pronouncements of the Council of Bishops represents the church." In substance, the brothers said they believed the council speaks on subjects about which it is not qualified to speak. The statement cited the council's "support of President Eisenhower's proposal to pool fissionable material with an enemy."

"We cannot accept the trend of Sunday School literature which assumes the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God without regeneration.

"We can no longer accept the half-congregational, half-episcopal form of church government that now exists.

"We cannot accept the trend toward a super-Protestant church through the National Council of Churches."

Barbers Differ Over Governor

AUSTIN, June 26 (AP)—A past president and two present officers of the Texas State Assn. of Journeymen Barbers and Proprietors today differed on Gov. Allan Shivers.

In Austin, G. O. Eddleman, the past president, said that recent accusations that Shivers is conducting an anti-labor war are unwarranted and statements that Shivers is "obnoxious to labor" are uncalled for and unjust.

In Fort Worth, C. E. Langston, secretary of the association, issued a statement signed by him and C. O. Colwell, Longview, president of the group, saying "We do not in any way agree with Gus Eddleman."

HAS REMOTE PART

Malenkov Third Man In Churchill-Ike Conference

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP) — Family troubles of the kind Sir Winston Churchill says he is talking over with President Eisenhower most often develop because of disagreement about some third person. There is a third man who is playing a vital though remote part in the secret talks now under way here.

He is Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov, the man who since the death of Joseph Stalin 15 months ago has been director, so far as any one man can be, of the Communist bloc.

Other figures of world stature are a source of interest or concern to British and American leaders. These include Mao Tze-tung, the boss of Red China, and Pierre Mendes-France, new Premier of France and key man in what happens to the Indochina war and the rearmament of West Germany.

But Malenkov is the major figure in the background of the Washington conference because of his enormous power and the fact that the United States and Britain fundamentally disagree over the present state and the future development of their relations with the Communist world.

This difficulty is not simply a question of what Eisenhower personally or Churchill privately may think. They are, to a greater degree than may be realized, captives of the respective political sentiments of the American and British peoples as expressed in Congress and Parliament.

Many diplomats of both nations agree that the split over Russia is a major one and regardless of appearances of harmony which may come out of the White House in tomorrow night's Eisenhower-Churchill communique this disagreement will not be materially changed.

For according to the analysis of these observers, the British and, in fact, general European, approach to today's great troubles is that they are a series of incidents upsetting the general conditions of peace and are therefore subject to solution by normal diplomatic negotiation.

By contrast, the dominant American view, both popular and official is that the free nations are in fact engaged in a kind of world-wide war with the Red nations and that Korean, Indochina, German and other problems involving East-West clashes are but successive outcroppings of the great underlying conflict.

Seven Arrested In Raid On Virginia Abortion Hospital

PARIS, Va., June 26 (AP)—A preliminary hearing today was set for Monday for seven persons arrested late last night in a raid on what police said was a plush "abortion mill" operating near this small community in the heart of northern Virginia's region of showplace estates.

Dr. G. Thomas Strother, 54, of Brunswick, Md., charged with five counts of performing an abortion—a violation of Virginia law—indicated he would waive the hearing, police said. Officers said Dr. Strother was performing an operation when they swarmed into a farmhouse near here.

The setup in the eight-room frame structure was described by State Police Capt. G. M. Williams and Fauquier County Sheriff Sam S. Hall Jr. as "no kitchen table type of thing."

Besides the woman undergoing the operation, police found eight other patients or patients-to-be in the farmhouse just off state Rt. 17. Medical examinations today disclosed five of the woman had undergone operations.

AP Reporter Finds Atmosphere Today Reminiscent Of Munich

EDITOR'S NOTE: William L. Ryan has just returned from an around the world trip. He talked with scores of persons in a position to know the trends in Asia, Africa, Europe—and at the Geneva conference. Home again, he checked his findings with informed officials in Washington. Here is Ryan's frank appraisal.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The specter of world crisis haunts Washington today.

There is heavy gloom among those who came back empty-handed from the Geneva conference. There is a general recognition it might have been far better if the conference had never been held.

The atmosphere seems reminiscent of Munich, 1938. Then Adolf Hitler announced Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland would be his last territorial claim. In the hope of "peace in our time," the Western European Allies appeased him. Britain guaranteed Poland's frontiers. But Hitler moved into Poland in 1939. The world realized he had no intention of halting his expansion. World War II exploded.

Viet Nam could be today's Sudetenland. Laos, Cambodia or almost any place in Southeast Asia could be tomorrow's Poland, the point where the free world might decide to halt totalitarian expansion.

This crisis of American world leadership had its beginnings four years ago this week, when the United States, backed by the United Nations, drew a line in Korea and announced to Moscow: Beyond this line you will not go.

The free world could halt an open, naked act of aggression. But there was a different sort of aggression taking place elsewhere in Asia—an aggression by internal subversion, by the capture of an internal nationalism, by a long, nagging war of attrition in Indochina.

Here is how the crisis came about:

A year ago the Soviet Union was off balance. Stalin had just died. A struggle for power raged in the Kremlin. It was a time for a confident diplomatic assault upon the Soviet Union, in an attempt to make Moscow back up. The West, with U.S. leadership, undertook to do that.

Time after time, the United States demanded the Soviet Union agree to a conference to settle the problems of divided Austria and Germany. Moscow, in no mood for a conference, time after time parried the bid until world sentiment was beginning to turn sharply against the Kremlin.

Then, last November, Moscow did a sudden turnabout and agreed to meet the Western foreign ministers in Berlin. That meeting came off in January. For the West it was a propaganda victory, since the Soviet Union was obliged to forestall all hope of agreement. But the victory was all too temporary. The wily Vyacheslav M. Molotov proposed a meeting in Geneva which would include Communist China, contending that the dangerous problems of the world were indivisible.

The United States—prodded by anxious Britain and probably against its better judgment — accepted the bid. The propaganda tide began to turn at that point. Probably the United States accepted the Geneva meeting in the hope it would save a French government disposed to lead France into the European Defense Community. But it soon became obvious the United States obliged to change positions with the Russians. This time it was the United States which could not afford to agree to anything.

Though the reasons for the U.S. stand were fairly obvious, they had an immediate bad effect on Asian opinion. With the aid of a barrage of Moscow propaganda, the United States was pictured as the nation which favored continuation of the dangerous war in Indochina.

Asians told me, almost unanimously, that they looked on the Indochina war primarily as a war of liberation against French colonialism, even though many readily admitted the Communists had seized the movement.

American talk about "massive retaliation" frightened Asians, brought accusations Washington thought it could heilbomb an idea out of existence.

Britain was acutely conscious of such Asian feelings, particularly with regard to India and Burma, where the British, with a big investment, retained a great reservoir of goodwill. Britain seemed hopefully seeking a solution in Indochina which would permit marking time. Thus Britain seemed disposed to agree to partition, which the Americans opposed. Britain would go along with measures to neutralize Laos and Cambodia, but the Americans would not. Britain could hope for a nonaggression pact including the Communist nations, to end the threat of war. The United States, holding that Communist agreements historically were worthless, was of no mind to extend that much recognition to Red China.

Losing friends steadily in Asia, the United States then lost face at Geneva. Far from being saved, the French government was tumbled by Molotov. Far from consolidating the Western Alliance, Geneva was gnawing at its roots.

Some in Washington speak of hope that the Asian situation will improve, that something will be saved in Indochina, despite the indications any agreement France can make will be bad. The hope is based on the supposition that Geneva exposed Red expansion aims to the world. But the Asians respect strength, too.

Badly-Burned Angelo Boy Wins Heart Of Galveston

GALVESTON, June 26 (AP) — A small West Texas boy, who had a mirror put in his oxygen tent so he could watch the shrimp boats go by in the bay outside his window, has won the heart of Galvestonians.

None has ever seen him, for William David Dougan, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Wayne Dougan of San Angelo, is on the "extremely critical list" of hospital patients.

The Galvestonians learned about Billie through stories in their newspapers.

He was burned when he came in contact with a 7,200-volt live wire on June 8 and was flown to Galveston last week by an Air Force plane.

When he came only his face, and that all brown from burns, was visible in the bandages that covered his body.

Billie needed help.

First there were 22 pints of blood needed to keep Billie alive. People of Galveston donated it.

And then his parents needed help. For more than a week they had taken turns by the bedside of their child around the clock, for they had no money for constant nursing care.

Mrs. Joe Bertza, former San Angelo resident who now lives here, launched a Billie Dougan fund campaign, to raise money so that a nurse could be on duty with Billie eight hours a day while the parents got rest.

The first day $60.26 came in, and the money still is coming.

Skin grafting on the boy was to begin last Thursday, but he wasn't quite in condition yet.

But when the time comes—three persons already have volunteered to give some of their skin for Billie.

Chicago Freak Wave Drowns 3

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—A huge freak tidal wave reared up in Lake Michigan today and rolled swiftly over Chicago's piers and beaches. It swept more than a score of terrified fishermen into the churning waters, drowning at least three.

The freak wave, called a seiche, was estimated variously at from five to 20 feet high when it hit the dozens of beaches and harbors in the 25-mile stretch from Chicago's South side to suburban Wilmette to the north.

The wave, which followed a line squall, rolled in at 9:45 a.m.—more than an hour before the beaches normally start filling up with thousands of children and adult bathers. Most of the persons along the shore were fishermen, seated on piers or jetties that jut out into the lake.

"The wave came up all of a sudden, like a swell," said Jack Cina, who works in a hat shop at Chicago's North Side Montrose Harbor. Nearly a score of fishermen on jetties were washed off.

Fishermen at North Ave. pier saw the wall of water coming and started to run. Those closest to shore made it. The wave brushed off the others like a giant arm.

Three Highway Mishaps Reported

Three highway mishaps occurred near Big Spring Friday and Saturday, but apparently no one was injured.

Highway Patrol officers said Emmie Nealey, Lubbock, was driver of a car which overturned on Highway 87 about two miles north of Big Spring Friday afternoon. The vehicle apparently went out of control when its wheels struck the shoulder of the roadway.

Cars driven by Bobby Dale Leonard, 1704 Scurry, and Gordon L. Bernier, Webb Air Force Base, were in collision at the intersection of Farm Road 700 and the base access road, also Friday afternoon, the officers said. The back of Leonard's car was badly damaged, according to the report.

A mishap was reported on the State Park Road, southwest of Big Spring, Saturday afternoon, but the car involved had been moved when officers arrived. No report was made.

AIR ACADEMY, DEPOSITION

Yarborough And Shivers Again Swap Charges From Distance

By The Associated Press

Ralph Yarborough and Gov. Allan Shivers swapped campaign accusations at long distance again Saturday.

Yarborough chose a new subject—blaming "the leaders of the state" for loss of the Air Force Academy to Colorado but claiming that as governor he still might be able to get it for Texas.

Shivers talked some more about a deposition he made two years ago in a land fraud suit to which he was not a party. The governor said he had opposed sending the deposition to a bank in Waco in an effort to prove that Yarborough's backers wanted the deposition only for political purposes.

The governor repeated his statements of the last two days since a federal judge ordered the deposition unsealed in Brownsville. He said the opening of the deposition there did not bother him and that there was nothing wrong in the $425,000 profit the document showed he made on sale of an option contract in 1946.

Yarborough spoke to the State Veterans of Foreign Wars convention in Fort Worth. Shivers talked to reporters at a press conference he called in Austin.

Besides talking about the deposition, the governor said he has made it "perfectly clear" that he opposed the U.S. Supreme Court's decision outlawing segregation in schools. Shivers said he hasn't heard what Yarborough and J.J. Holmes of Austin, another opponent, think about the segregation issue.

Yarborough didn't mention Shivers by name in blaming state "leaders" for loss of the Air Academy. He said the reason Texas didn't get it was "no influence in Washington."

In an interview before his talk, Yarborough said "it still may not be too late to get the academy for Texas."

If the Congress goes Democratic in November, he said, a Democratic governor in Texas could help change the decision to put the school in Colorado. Yarborough contends Shivers isn't a Democrat because he supported President Eisenhower when he was elected in 1952.

Yarborough told the VFW there is a "dangerous infiltration" of Communists into Texas. He quoted a news story saying the U.S. Immigration Service estimates 100 Communists cross into Texas daily from Mexico.

Shivers had told the same convention Friday that his administration was putting the heat on Communists in Texas by outlawing party membership.

At his press conference, the governor said he thinks most people know that "in addition to trying to do a good job of running the government, I've been trying to do a good job of running rather extensive farm holdings."

He said the option sale disclosed in the deposition was one of several land transactions he made in 1946 to pay inheritance taxes following the death of his father-in-law.

Now, he said, Yarborough "starts hollering it's a scandal to make a profit."

Shivers said that pointed up one of the basic issues in the race for governor: "free enterprise versus socialism."

He doesn't consider Yarborough a socialist, Shivers said, but believes some of his opponent's advisers "don't believe in the type of government we have."

Shivers repeated that he didn't mind having the deposition opened in court but didn't want it sent to Waco for "Pat Beard's use for political purposes." He said Beard, Yarborough's campaign manager, had tried to get a bank to ask for the deposition but the bank refused because it thought politics was involved.

Shivers said another deposition, made by a banker named Nance, told how Beard "tried to hide behind the bank." He said he assumed the deposition was in custody of the federal district clerk at Brownsville, along with other papers in the case.

The depositions in the case were left sealed because the land suit was settled out of court. Shivers' deposition was ordered opened at the request of Charles Landergott of Waco, plaintiff in the suit.

European Army Plan Likely On Verge Of Death

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS, June 26 (AP)—The European army and dreams of step-by-step integration of Western Europe appeared nearer death today than at any time since the last war.

But the necessity which inspired the European army—the rearmament of West Germany—may be nearer to realization.

A number of question marks still surround the whole bundle of related questions. Developments within the next month could bring new and radical changes in position. But as of today, this was the situation:

1. Pierre Mendes-France, the new French premier, says some changes will have to be made in the European Defense Community treaty as it now stands. He says France cannot be committed on so grave a problem by a slight majority of the Parliament. It is generally agreed acceptance or rejection of the treaty by France would be by a relatively small Assembly majority.

2. The nations which already have ratified EDC—Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg and West Germany—are opposed to treaty changes. They reason the whole idea was suggested by France; the treaty was worked out by laborious negotiations during which many concessions were made to France; if France now is unwilling to accept the present treaty they have no basis for confidence at some later date France would accept a modified treaty.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer calls the idea of an alternative unbearable because new discussions would take too much time.

3. France has asked for postponement of a six-power EDC meeting scheduled for next week in Brussels. An invitation was extended to Paul-Henri Spaak, the Belgian foreign minister and ardent advocate of EDC, to talk over outstanding problems with Mendes-France in Paris on Wednesday. Spaak accepted.

Mendes-France announced he plans to send one or two of his close collaborators to Germany to see Adenauer. They will take up EDC and the Saar.

The fate of the European army is linked closely to the outcome of talks for the end of the Indochina war. Mendes-France has promised to resign if he has not achieved an end to the fighting by July 20.

If Mendes-France should go, the succeeding government might be more friendly to EDC. But Russia and her partners hold the key to the future in Indochina. The Communists can make important concessions to get a peace in Indochina, and keep Mendes-France in office. The main objective of Communist policy in Western Europe is to defeat the European army.

Murder Charges Filed In Death At Hallettsville

HALLETTSVILLE, Tex., June 26 (AP)—Edna police early today overtook and arrested a man wanted in the slaying of District Clerk Joe C. Goode of Hallettsville last night.

Sheriff Theo Long of Hallettsville said that a murder charge had been filed in Lavaca County against the man he identified as J. F. Milam of Moore.

Long declined to say where Milam was being held, saying that feeling was running high in Hallettsville over the shooting.

Goode was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Clark, just south of here, when a shot was fired through a dining room window of the house. It hit him near the heart. As he fell dying, he gasped, "He's already shot me."

Milam is a son-in-law of the Clarks. He has been a patient in a Galveston hospital until recently.

DO IT YOURSELF — Tackle Box Is Large, Has The Right Design

By BILL BAKER

In summer the sportsman's mind turns to thoughts of fishing.

Relaxing beside a stream or waiting for a nibble while lounging in a boat does a lot to prepare a person for the rigors of life that will face him after his holiday is over.

I have an item for you that will make your fishing trips even more enjoyable—it's a compact fishing box that will warm the heart of any sportsman.

My fishing pals have always complained that most tackle boxes are too skimpy. And they don't like it when a metal box rusts.

I combined all of the good points a fishing box should have, eliminated all of the bad features, and INSERT . . . . . put the results in Bill Baker's extra simple pattern number 106.

Let me tell you more about the fishing box that you'll be building for yourself one of these weekends:

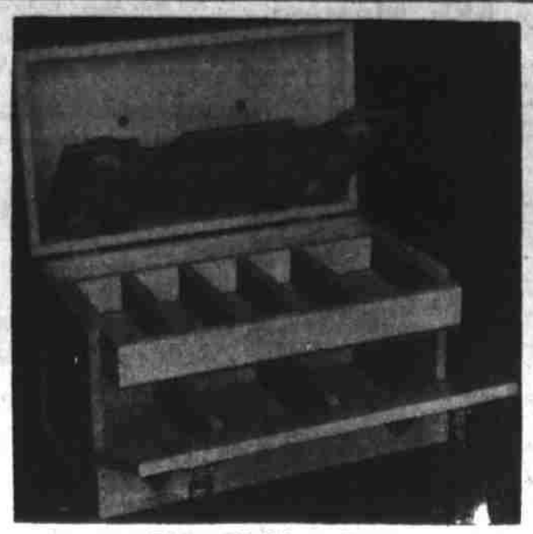

First of all, it's very spacious—16 inches long and 10 inches high.

Lots of storage space is available, just where you want it. The bottom part of the box has three compartments, each one measuring 5 by 8 by 5. This gives you more than enough space to carry all of your reels and line. And if you take your mother-in-law on the trip with you, there is even enough room for her equipment.

Five separate compartments, in a removable tray, give additional storage space for leaders, weights, floats and extra equipment.

A drop-leaf section displays 12 easy-to-reach corks which will hold all of your hooks. You'll never puncture a finger while reaching into some hidden corner.

And the best part of all is the fact that this fishing box can be an easy do-it-yourself woodworking project. It is easy enough for even the novice craftsman.

Fine Fishing Box

This compact box, one of Bill Baker's do-it-yourself designs, can be made at home with little effort. The box is spacious, won't rust. You carry it suitcase-style.

When you receive your pattern you'll discover that individual pattern pieces, made of heavy-duty paper, are included. All you'll have to do is trace, cut and assemble. The exact-size pattern pieces give you a perfect fit for the finished product.

Easy-to-understand directions, a tions for finishing are also included.

The small amount of wood needed, and the few items of inexpensive hardware, combined with the short time it will take you to build this fishing box, makes it one of the biggest bargains of the year.

To get your fishing box pattern all you have to do is send your name and address (clearly printed), together with one dollar ($1) in check, cash or money order, to Bill Baker, Big Spring Herald, P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, California. Remember to ask for pattern number 106.

Other Bill Baker patterns available: No. 118, Couch-End Table, $1; No. 116, Contour Chaise, $1; No. 112, Barbecue Bar Cart, $1.

McCarthy Hearing Impact Is Uncertain

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The political impact of the McCarthy-Army hearings is as much a question mark as the outcome of the inquiry itself.

On the basis of an Associated Press survey of newspaper editorials and interviews with political leaders across the nation these generalities — there are numerous exceptions—become apparent:

Democrats contend they have been helped by the televised airing of the GOP family feud that pitted Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and his aides against Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens and his lieutenants.

Republicans contend the hearings had little or no political effect, or that any damage to the GOP is only momentary.

Newspapers that analyze the effect on the two parties figure the Democrats got the better of things. But, like some of the politicians, many of them are more concerned with other effects, such as those on the country as a whole.

When it comes down to individuals and groups of them, there is a measure of support for all sorts of contradictory ideas about what the hearings have meant politically.

McCarthy's home state of Wisconsin provides a fairly typical reaction to how the Senator himself has fared. Henry Ringling, GOP national committeeman, says he believes McCarthy is "more popular than ever as a result of the hearings . . especially in Wisconsin with the rank and file." The state Republican chairman, Robert Pierce, has the "opinion that the hearing had little effect on the political popularity of Sen. McCarthy."

But the Democrats up that way see things a bit differently. In the judgment of Carl Thompson, Democratic committeeman for Wisconsin, "Sen. McCarthy was hurt immeasurably by the hearings. The American people had a ringside seat to see how a bully and demagogue operates."

Here and there, among both Democrats and Republicans, there was a measure of agreement that Sen. Symington (D-Mo), a member of the committee that conducted the hearing, undermined any chances he might have for the Democratic presidential nomination. Some editorial writers took a similar view.

Poll Finds Public Favors Stevens

NEW YORK (AP)—The Gallup Poll says the American public believes by a small margin that Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens came out "on top" over Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) in the Washington hearings.

The poll, known formally as the American Institute of Public Opinion, said it asked this question, among others, from Maine to California:

"Now, regardless of whose side you, yourself, agree with, who do you feel has come out on top in this case—McCarthy's side or Stevens' side?"

The replies: Stevens' 28 per cent, McCarthy's 24, Neither 18, Undecided 30.

Another question indicated that the proportion of those who agreed with Steven's side was larger than that which thought he came out on top.

This question was: "Now that the hearings are over, whose side are you more inclined to agree with—Sen. McCarthy's or Secretary Stevens?"

The result: Stevens' 40 per cent, McCarthy's 25, Neutral 8, Undecided 27.

Another question was asked: "The President says he has the right to refuse to turn over to committees of Congress certain confidential information from the files of his branch of the government. Do you agree or disagree with the President's position?"

The replies: Agree, 66 per cent; Disagree, 25; No opinion, 9.

RFC Handled Billions During 22 Years Of Making Loans

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—One day in 1934 radio comics Amos 'N Andy got a check for $2.00 from the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

Strictly a gag between Jesse Jones, Texas millionaire who for 12 years was chairman of RFC, and the radio team, the RFC's check was never cashed and the loan was repaid with a check that was never cashed.

Nevertheless, the transaction went on RFC's books, according to corporation officials, who say it was the smallest one they can think of in the 22-year, billions spangled history of the biggest lending institution the world ever saw.

Its biggest private loan, according to the RFC, was 111 million dollars to the Kaiser Steel Co., in the early 1940s, to develop the Fontana Steel Mills in California. But RFC also loaned 208 million dollars for the building of an aqueduct to carry water from the Colorado river to Los Angeles. And it made a loan of 390 million dollars to Britain during World War II to help her buy supplies in this country.

Altogether, RFC says it has loaned or spent about 48¾ billion dollars of the taxpayers' money.

This week, on June 30, it loses its status as an independent agency and by congressional edict becomes a unit of the Treasury, where its only task will be to liquidate its assets and get out of business as fast as it can.

The RFC moves out after a long congressional investigation that left behind an odor of favoritism and politics in its later days—although no visible money loss to the taxpayer.

If there is an adult American whose life has not been touched or influenced by the RFC, it would be hard to prove it.

Such a citizen must never have ridden on any of the scores of railroads RFC saved or helped. He must never have worked for or dealt with any of the thousands of banks RFC rescued. He must never have worked in any of the 65,000 firms RFC kept afloat, made possible, or helped to grow, nor used the products or services of those firms.

His home or business must not be among the many thousands RFC helped to repair after floods, tornadoes or other disasters. He must never have drawn water from any of the hundreds of municipal waterworks RFC helped finance, or used a playground, or city transportation system or any of dozens of other types of municipal projects whose securities RFC backed or financed.

His home must not be one of the millions for which RFC, or agencies spawned by it, provided or guaranteed the mortgage money. He must be the rare farmer who has never borrowed money from the government on his crops.

And finally, in World War II, RFC was the wheelhorse in organizing, financing and even operating quickly needed war industries, in stockpiling strategic materials, and in snatching from the enemy's hands strategic goods produced abroad.

RFC came into being Jan. 22, 1932, when President Herbert Hoover signed the Reconstruction Finance Corp. bill just passed by Congress.

Congress ordered the Treasury to hand over 500 million dollars to the new organization as capital, and gave RFC authority to borrow 1½ billion more from the Treasury.

Jesse Jones wrote a book in 1951 about his long stewardship of the big agency, and called it "Fifty Billion Dollars." RFC officials here say the title represented cumulative RFC borrowing from the Treasury through 1945.

Jesse Jones gives this picture of the depression scene upon which RFC entered:

Five thousand banks had failed, 7,000 others were in trouble; a third of the nation's railway mileage was in financial distress; heavy industrial production had shrunk to nearly nothing; consumer consumption was about as low as it could get if the nation was to keep body and soul together; corn was at 12 cents a bushel, wheat at 40 cents and cotton as low as five cents; about 12 million job seekers were unemployed; farmers armed to halt forced sales of their farms and armies of veterans seeking a bonus were forming to march on Washington.

The RFC had an ancestor, the World War I War Finance Corp. Eugene Meyer, now publisher of the Washington Post and Times Herald, and in 1931 governor of the Federal Reserve System, had been a director, during World War I and, in the postwar years, managing director, of WFC. Its job was to finance war industries and commerce, and in the postwar era it helped re-establish international trade with dollar loans and fought the collapse of farm prices at home.

In an interview for this article, Meyer told how, alarmed by Britain's fall from the gold standard Sept. 21, 1931 together with the deepening depression here, he suggested to Hoover a special session of Congress to revive the War Finance Corp. Later, he suggested calling the new lending agency the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

President Hoover rejected the idea of a special session, and Congress quickly passed the RFC law when it met in January.

Medals Ordered For Swimming Program

Medals, trophies, and ribbons have been ordered for the summer recreation program swimming meet on July 24.

Medals will be awarded senior boys and girls, and ribbons will be given junior boys. Trophies will be presented to high point boy and girl, according to B. B. Lees, recreational director.

Boys will compete in diving, back stroke, breast stroke, and free style. Girls will compete in free style and back stroke.

Students from all classes will elect an aqua queen to reign over the day's activities.

A walking race will be held for non-swimmers.

$2,500 Bond Set

Bond of $2,500 was set in Justice Court Friday for Jessie Lee Polk. Polk waived examining trial after being charged with possessing marijuana. He was arrested Thursday night by city police.

KNOW YOUR COURTS

Why so many appeals and reversals?

We wouldn't pick out for an umpire for a baseball game someone who doesn't know the rules. In fact, we want an umpire who knows all of the rules and all of the details of the game. In fact, we want an umpire that knows them so well that he doesn't hesitate over his rulings.

Likewise, we should have the very best attorney at the Bar, a lawyer that has gone through, time and time again, by experience, all of the phases in the trial courts, a successful attorney who knows the rules of admissibility of evidence so well that he can rule accurately enough so that he will not have so many reversals.

Approximately one-half of the cases reversed and sent back to the trial courts grow out of errors in the Court's charge. Every case tried before a jury must of necessity have a different kind of charge . . . one that is applied to the issues of fact involved.

A lawyer can't get this down well without years of successful practice not only in the trial court but also in the appellate courts. In other words, an attorney who has not been successful in his own private practice becomes a handicap, as a district judge, in the successful trial of cases in his court.

Understand there is nothing in my articles that is intended to reflect on the honor of my opponent. We are each running our own race with due respect for each other.

Both of us have filed our campaign expense accounts with the Secretary of State as the law requires, and I have filed duplicate original copies with the local county clerk so as to make it easy for inspection here at home.

An Easy Steal

Keys left dangling in the ignition switch, like the ones above, invite thieves to make off with the auto, authorities warn. Four of the 14 cars stolen here this year had keys in their locks.

Keys In Auto Invite Thieves

By JIM CLARK

Man's ingenious development of automotive transportation has turned the horse thief into a car thief, making horse thievery passe.

As the Duryea Brothers' invention of the horseless carriage revolutionized ways of living, created countless new jobs, business and industries, and a new pattern of home life as well, it also revolutionized stealing methods of transportation.

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover reports that 90 per cent of cars stolen were left with keys in ignitions or switches unlocked. The owner could do little to stop horse thievery, but today's automobile owner can at least make it difficult for his car to be stolen—he can lock ignitions, remove keys, and lock doors.

Of the 14 vehicles stolen in Big Spring since Jan. 1, four had been parked with keys in the ignition lock. But all cars have been recovered, city police report.

However, removing keys will not stop a confirmed car thief, E. W. York, city police chief, believes. "If he needs a car badly enough he's going to get it anyway. Leaving keys in the ignition only makes it easier for the thief."

He advised that owners should always lock their cars when not away," and those who steal to sell the automobile.

Adult carelessness concerning automobiles make it easy for children to get into trouble.

"If keys weren't left in cars, I don't think children would take a lot of trouble to steal cars. Besides, most of them don't know how to wire ignitions," York said.

Stockholders Of Country Club Set Called Meet Today

Stockholders of the Big Spring Country Club have been summoned to an important meeting at 5 p.m. today.

Charter amendments have been approved by the secretary of state and have been returned. Among other things, stockholders will be asked by adopt by-laws for the corporation. They also will make plans for various activities and improvements.

One of the facilities provided under the reorganization plan is a swimming pool, 30x60 feet, which is nearing completion at the clubhouse. Others are contemplated.

The Country Club recently was reorganized with issuance of 150 shares of $300 par value stock. Prevous membership holders were given cetificates.

Most of the new issue has been subscribed.

Entertainment Set At VA Hospital

The Midland American Legion post and the Lubbock chapter of the Disabled American Veterans will sponsor entertainment periods at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital during the coming week.

Three movies also are scheduled for the patients, it was announced by Carlton Carr, director of special services.

The Lubbock DAV will sponsor entertainment and serve refreshments at 7 p.m. Tuesday. The Midland American Legion will present a Thursday evening program. "City of Bad Men" is the Monday movie, "Band Wagon" will show Wednesday, and "Scared Stiff" is the Friday selection.

In use, "Then two charges can be filed against the thief," he said, "one for theft and one for breaking in."

He pointed out that there are three types of car thief—those who steal for transportation, those who steal for "making a quick get-

CRMWD Projects Making Progress On Three Fronts

Three construction projects of the Colorado River Municipal Water District are making satisfactory progress, E. V. Spence, general manager, said Saturday.

Work is underway at Lake J. B. Thomas on the Big Spring-Odessa pump station. At this stage, foundations are being installed and the work is "coming out of the ground." Materials are on the ground for the plant, and the pumps are in a warehouse in Big Spring.

Foundations and flooring are being poured on the booster station on the main supply line at Morgan Creek. A half million gallon storage tank there, to handle the surge and make for more efficient pumping, has been completed. Materials for this job, along with the booster pumps, are on hand. In both instances, said Spence, the time element now is one of construction.

Similarly, base work is being done on the terminal storage at Odessa. The basin floor and sides are being shaped and rolled in preparation for conditioning. The asphalt membrane to be used in lining the huge storage will start arriving in Odessa on July 1 and installation will start soon thereafter. This project will require 45 days to complete after arrival of the first material, said the manager.

Taylor, Robinson Appeals Dismissed

The Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin has dismissed the appeals of Thomas Taylor and Donald Robinson of their convictions here on robbery charges.

Dismissal was at the request of the appellants. Taylor and Robinson each received 15-year penitentiary sentences following their conviction on charges of robbing the Reed Oil Company service station on East Highway 80. Taylor was one of the five prisoners who escaped from the Howard County jail last March. He also escaped from Patrolman Walter Graves of Stanton following his arrest on the robbery charges.

HCJC Instructor In Summer School

DENTON — Harold Vall, business education instructor at Howard County Junior College, is a member of the graduate workshop in the teaching of shorthand and typing at North Texas State College this summer.

He is a graduate student working toward the master's degree in business education. Thirty business teachers from throughout the state are enrolled in the workshop, which has had a number of nationally prominent business leaders as guest lecturers.

The latest survey shows there are eight irrigation wells in Borden County with 300 acres under irrigation. These wells are on six farms. Five of them are pumped with butane and three with electricity. All lift water less than 125 feet and all pump less than 700 gallons a minute.

In Dawson County there are 190 wells, irrigating 25,000 acres on 125 farms. One hundred of them are operated with butane, 25 with gasoline, 25 with electricity and 40 with natural gas. Twenty of them lift water less than 125 feet and 170 lift water more than 125 feet. One hundred and 70 of them have a capacity of less than 700 gallons a minute, while 20 have a higher water output.

Martin County has 230 wells, irrigating 22,000 acres on 90 farms. Of these 75 are operated on butane, 140 on electricity and 15 on natural gas. One hundred and 15 of them lift water less than 125 feet and the other 115 lift from a greater depth than 125 feet. One hundred and 30 of them pump less than 700 gallons and 100 pump more than that amount per minute.

Mitchell County has 80 wells irrigating 4,000 acres on 48 farms. Thirty-five of them are powered with butane, 10 with gasoline and 35 with electricity. Seventy-nine of them lift water less than 125 feet, one is a deeper well. Seventy-seven of them pump less than 700 gallons and three pump more than 700 gallons.

In Scurry County there are 11 wells irrigating 300 acres on seven farms. Three are operated by butane and 11 by electricity. All lift water more than 125 feet and all pump less than 700 gallons a minute.

All of Borden County's 300 irrigated acres are planted to cotton.

In Dawson County there is 24,000 acres of cotton; 500 acres of grain sorghum; 100 acres of alfalfa; 200 acres of Sudan and 200 acres of wheat under irrigation.

In Martin County, under irrigation, there is 15,000 acres of cotton; 7,000 acres of grain sorghums; 200 acres of Alfalfa and 200 acres of irrigated pasture.

Irrigated crops in Mitchell County include 3,000 acres of cotton; 500 acres of alfalfa; 250 acres of pasture; 150 acres of wheat and 100 acres of oats.

Scurry County irrigated crops include 275 acres of cotton and 25 acres of grain sorghums.

Three trial plantings of Nomad Alfalfa will be made in this area in September. Each planting will be five acres. Seed for the experimental plantings is being furnished by the Burlingham Seed Farm at Frost Grove, Ore.

One of these plantings, on dryland, will be made in Mitchell County; another either irrigated or dryland will be made in Midland County, and the third, under irrigation, will be made at Plains on the farm of Rusty McGinty, former world's champion bulldogger, and now chairman of the board of supervisors in that Soil Conservation District.

The only other known planting of Nomad Alfalfa is on the Big Spring Experiment Station Farm. It was planted on a rain in September 1952 and survived the 1953 drought on six inches of rain. It is but a small patch.

Nomad Alfalfa, say the developers, cannot be killed by grazing, because it crowns and spreads from underground rhizomes; it will survive long drought periods and requires a minimum of six years in which to reach full root development and growth. It is to be seeded at the rate of from one to two pounds to the acre.

It is straight grazing and not a hay crop because it is a creeping plant.

Locations for the Mitchell and Midland county plantings have not yet been selected.

R. W. (Buck) Kelton, foreman on the McElroy Ranch near Crane for the past 25 years, has been made ranch manager, succeeding H. L. Atkins Jr., of Odessa, who resigned to enter private business.

The announcement was made in Fort Worth by Edward J. Brook, president of the McElroy Ranch organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelton live at the ranch headquarters near Crane. He is recognized as one of the most outstanding and capable cowmen in the Southwest. The Keltons are the parents of Elmer Kelton, agricultural editor of the San Angelo Standard-Times.

The McElroy Ranch, like all others, has been hard hit by the drought, but they have held on to their foundation herds and rebuilding is under way.

After 101 years the name of "Country Gentleman" will be changed to "Better Farming" later this year, it has been announced by the Curtis Publishing Company.

This magazine has borne the name of "Country Gentleman" for more than 100 years and is the oldest agricultural periodical of its type in North America.

Editor Robert H. Reed says the new name is being adopted because it is "more indicative" of the magazine's contents.

Observers report that some knee-high feed northeast of Colorado City is dying because of the high, hot winds and the lack of moisture . . . that some farmers in the Seminole area have had to plant cotton seven, and maybe eight times, because of having it blown out. They say so much of the organic matter has been lost from the deep sand from blowing in the past that there is nothing left to hold the soil together in the cotton fields . . . that in the Seminole area there is apparently no difference, under present blowing, in the land that has been deep plowed and the land that has not been deep plowed, and that deep plowing has been nothing more than a churning up of the deep sand . . . that lots of the land in the Andrews area has been blown out and that in spite of 16 inches of rain since April 15, in some areas, the farmers do not yet have crops up to a stand . . . that from 75,000 to 80,000 acres of cotton and feed has been blown out in the Seminole area . . . that blowing has been very bad around Morton with a loss of from 15,000 to 20,000 acres of cotton blown out, and that the prospects of many farmers in that section are not good . . . that at least 50,000 acres has been blown out in the Brownfield area . . . that west of Lamesa the blowing has been bad with about 10,000 acres of cotton lost and the blowing continuing . . . that around Seagraves winds of no higher velocity than 15 miles per hour are moving the sand, and that deep plowed land around there blows out in about 15 days.

Soil surveys reveal there is much land around Weatherford and Stephenville, in a 30-inch rain belt, that has been severely depleted by peanut production, a crop that is regarded as one of the very hardest on land.

Farmers in counties to the northwest of Howard County admit they know that peanuts aren't a good crop for their soil, and that growing peanuts in the area is a bad conservation practice, particularly in 1954, but they say they must either grow peanuts or lose their acreage allotments.

These farmers admit that the present acreage allotment law is not a good soil conservation practice. They say it forces them into bad farming practices. These admissions were made at the recent soil conservation conference of farmers at Amarillo.

Luther Lee of the Sand Community in Dawson County is looking into the possibility of transporting stock water through pipes for some distance on his ranch.

He and his neighbor, J. M. Caldwell, have been faced with the same problem on portions of their rangeland. They have not been successful in finding water on certain parts of their ranches, and as a result these parts are undergrazed while other parts have been overgrazed. Lee is now thinking about running a pipeline from one of his best windmills to the dry part of the ranch.

He has had SCS technicians go over the place with the idea of possibly building a tank, but the experts found the proposed site didn't have enough drainage area and besides, they told him, the area was too sandy to hold water.

Last fall Noel Cooper of Dawson County drilled in 20 acres of wheat to serve as a nurse crop for alfalfa. Last week he set in to combine this wheat-nurse crop and got a yield of from 15 to 20 bushels. Under the wheat he found a good stand of alfalfa which he will now start watering.

Also in Dawson County, Bill Anderson reports his Blue Panic Grass is doing fine and that some of it is almost ready to head out.

Gus White's Blue Panic is several inches high now and has begun to joint.

Blue Panic on the Frank Hogue place is several inches high and the stand is just about the most perfect any West Texan ever saw.

Now is the time for all good farmers to plant guar to build up their land . . . Now is the time for all good farmers to plant guar to build up their land . . . Now is the time . . .

And, now is the time, say the farmers and conservationists, to plant guar in strips with feed and cotton.

A. M. Slackstock of the Evalena Community has a 50-acre block of guar and feed up to as good a stand as anybody has seen anywhere this year, at least.

Roy Bearden has a good stand of guar and feed on his place at the "Y" of the Stanton-Lamesa Highway and the Big Spring-Andrews Highway.

Raymond Orson has 160 acres of guar and feed on his farm two miles east and half a mile north of Harmony.

Dan Corley has a 20-acre patch of straight guar on his place four miles south of Lamesa.

• • •

Jess Jenkins of the Lamesa unit of the SCS says some farmers in Dawson County appear to prefer beans or peas to guar for legume strip cropping. He says that either beans or peas with cotton or feed draws the same ASC payment as guar with feed or cotton.

Along this line, Walter Koemel, who lives a mile north of McCarty has an 80-acre patch of blackeyed peas that is up to an excellent stand and doing fine.

The Great Rift Valley, an unexplained gash in the earth's surface, extends from Lake Victoria in Uganda, through Ethiopia to the Dead Sea and can be traced still farther north.

Minister Speaks At ABC Meeting

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church, spoke to members of the American Business Club Friday noon on the subject "Your Biggest Job."

That job is being a father or dad, Dr. O'Brien said. He advised fathers not to give their children too much too soon and urged them to live the example they expect their children to follow.

J. B. Apple, president-elect, introduced Dr. O'Brien.

C. Y. Clinkscales, the program chairman, assigned the programs for the next six meetings and the rodeo flag chairman, Eugene Thomas, handed out assignments on selling rodeo decorations.

First vice president Tom South presided in the absence of Club President George Zachariah. Zachariah, R. H. Weaver and V. A. Whittington were in Muskegon, Mich., attending the national American Business Club convention.

COLORADO CITY — Walter H. Rogers, manager of the Western Auto Store at Colorado City, was installed as president of the Lion's Club at a Friday night banquet at Civic House.

Schley Riley of Big Spring, international counselor and past district president, installed Rogers. Dr. Oscar H. Majors was outgoing president.

Other new officers are George Witten, first vice president; M. N. Caddell, second vice president; Eldon Mahon, third vice president; Ira Uttz, secretary and treasurer; Jeff Taylor, Lion tamer; Bill Oyler, assistant Lion tamer; Frank Massad, tail twister; and Morris Sanders, assistant tail twister.

Directors are C. T. Hubbard, Ross Daniels, Gilbert Leach, and Hollis Webb. Miss Lena Lindsey is club sweetheart.

Kenn Eastin, Colorado City magician, was featured on the program planned by Johnny Moore.

Guinea Shangri-La

CANBERRA, Australia, June 26 (AP) — The 4,000 natives of a hitherto unexplored Shangri-la in a mountain bowl of northwest New Guinea, first sighted in an aerial survey June 12, are to be introduced to civilization gradually. Australian authorities propose to send a patrol, limited to government officers skilled in dealing with primitive peoples, into the bowl in December. A shortage of officers prevents an earlier start. The patrol will set up a contact station and survey the possibility of building an air strip.

U.S. Watches Central America For Smuggled Soviet Bombers

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The United States is maintaining an extensive and continual air-sea reconnaissance along the Pacific and Caribbean zones of Central America to watch for any attempts to smuggle in Soviet made big bombers.

The range of present-day Russian bombers, such as the TU4, makes such a clandestine operation entirely feasible, military men say in discussing the new menace.

With the atomic weapons now available, only a few long-range bombers operating from hidden bases in the jungles or deserts south of the border could prove a grave danger for this country, which has its air warning and defense system aimed toward the polar region routes from Eurasia.

The heaviest emphasis in radar warning, both ground and airborne has been on the northern, northwest and northeast approaches to the United States, but recently there have been official indications that more attention will be given to building up a radar warning fence toward the south.

Guatemala, of course, is the source of immediate concern because of the pro-Communist government there which Guatemalan insurgents are now attempting to unseat by force of arms.

In its present form, the air force of the current Guatemalan government poses no serious threat. At one time or another in recent years, Guatemala may have accumulated a few obsolete F47 and F51 fighters and perhaps a dozen B26 bombers, together with some medium and small transports. How many of the combat planes are usable now is questionable.

The serious danger in the eyes of American strategists, is that Russia, seeking to augment a Western Hemisphere foothold for communism, may try to make valuable contributions to Red air power in this hemisphere. Aside from the possibility of sudden, direct bombing strikes at U.S. cities is the chance of blows at the Panama Canal, Pacific lifeline for the U.S. fleet.

From the Mexican border southward, the possibilities of "staging" aircraft from Russia forward to destinations deep down in Central America or even beyond are good. The governments of Latin-American countries might never discover their territory was being used. In Mexico there are vast stretches of flat, dry desert land on which even hefty medium bombers like the TU4 could land and take off. These remote and virtually uninhabited regions are patrolled lightly or not at all.

The Soviet's TU4 has a range in excess of 3,200 miles, perhaps as much as 5,000. Taking off from bases in the Kamchatka peninsula, easternmost of the Soviet Eurasian empire, TU4 could cut diagonally southeastward, standing out to sea as they passed the Pacific coast of the United States to avoid radar detection, and head for hideaway landing spots in Latin America.

Eleanor Holm Plans For New Wedding

LOS ANGELES, June 26 (AP) — Eleanor Holm, the former American swim queen, has disclosed that she is planning to marry again.

In an interview published in the Los Angeles Mirror today she said her intended husband is Tommy Whelen, 47, who describes himself as a professional soccer player.

Four months ago the brunette swimmer obtained a Las Vegas, Nev., divorce after a lengthy battle with millionaire showman Billy Rose.

50 Take Part In Saturday Games

Approximately 50 youngsters attended the first of the weekly play day programs Saturday at Westside Park.

Play days are being sponsored by the citywide recreation program and will be held throughout the summer beginning at 9 a.m. each Saturday. The program will be held at Junior High School next week.

Included on yesterday's program was a movie, baseball, horseshoes, washers, volleyball, basketball, three-legged races, and tug of war.

First-place winners in the three-legged race were Jerry White and Derrell Froman. Robert Epperson and Jackie Thomas placed second, and J. C. Weatherford and Richard Hood placed third.

Baseball game winners were Leroy Lynn, pitcher; Hood, first base; Pewee Telache, second base; Thomas, short stop; Weatherford, third base; Epperson, left field; Jim Evans, centerfield; and David Haley, right field.

Second-place baseball winners were White, pitcher; Eugene Hall, first base; Terry McDaniel, second base, Froman, shortstop; Don White, third base; Bobby Evans, left field; and Rommy White, right field.

Jimmy Dorton and Rommy White tied in the horseshoe competition and Dorton and Donnie McCleery tied in the washer division.

Truman Reported Getting Along Okay

KANSAS CITY, June 26 (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman was reported today by his physician to be "getting along all right."

"His temperature isn't quite down to normal yet," Dr. Wallace Graham told newsmen after visiting his patient, "but it's nothing to worry about."

The 70-year-old former President underwent an emergency operation for removal of his gall bladder and appendix last Sunday morning.

Dr. Graham said Truman had had "a little congestion" in his lower right lung, but added it has cleared up.

Research Hospital officials said later today Truman would be moved from his present room to a corner room which would be cooler.

Earlier Truman had declined offers to move him to a cooler side of the hospital, saying there were other patients worse off than he was. He also has declined offers to have an air-conditioning unit installed in the room.

Know Your Present District Court

My opponent is a candidate for a third term. On a few occasions he has stated that he is running for his third term. Note the word "his." This next term belongs to the people at large and may be given to any candidate. There is no obligation to give this next term to the one in office—being in office doesn't give any moral or legal right to a third term.

The Court's time is taken up mostly in the trial of civil cases before a jury. It frequently takes a week to try one civil case before a jury. Two jury civil cases in one week is fairly good.

The first jury case tried in the new court house in Howard County consumed approximately 3 weeks. Most criminal cases tried to a jury consume one day. Some of them, especially, a murder case now and then, will run perhaps a week. Default cases, such as divorces and criminal cases tried on a plea of guilty without jury, generally take up approximately 30 minutes or an hour. So, in checking over whether a docket is dragging we would first look to the number of civil cases tried to a jury.

Comparative Figures

During the year 1949, the present District Court tried only 12 civil suits to jury whereas a large number of civil suits were ready for trial and were carried over.

In the year 1950 in this district, the Court tried 15 civil suits to jury whereas there was a large number of civil suits on file ready for trial and carried over.

During the years 1951, 1952, the present District Court tried to the jury 61 civil cases.

Now please note as a comparative basis of the work being done in the district west of us consisting of only two counties, the judge tried 165 cases to the jury.

In other words, the judge west of us did twice the amount of work, during those two years, as our present judge. The judge west of us tried 104 civil cases to the jury more than our present Court.

Back in 1949 when the present judge tried only 12 civil suits to jury, there remained at the end of the year 26 civil suits on the jury docket that had been there for more than two years without a trial.

At the end of the same year, 1949, there was carried over 59 civil suits ready to try before jury that had been on the docket for more than one year.

During the two terms the present judge is now finishing up, a number of District Judges had been switched over into our district to help out with the docket—Judge Mays of San Angelo, Judge Floyd Jones of Breckenridge, Judge O. L. Parrish of Ballinger and Judge Garland Casebier of Ft. Stockton. Two of these, I believe, came over the second time to help out with our docket.

At no time, however, were there any extra judges shifted over to the judicial district just west of us. In that district in two years he tried 165 jury civil cases, whereas our Court disposed of only 61.

Now it might be thought that the whole of the docket should be examined into.

Next week we will take up the matter of the number of cases disposed of, tried, defaulted, or plainly dismissed. It will show that the judge west of us has been doing nearly 3 times as much as our present court has been performing during the past two terms.

The data above set out is taken from the "Judicial Statistics" of the State of Texas prepared and printed by the "Texas Civil Judicial Council," a government agency.

My opponent says he is running on his record and therefore necessarily he asked for his record to be placed before the people. The average voter doesn't have the facilities nor the time to search out the records for the two terms now being finished.

Please understand that there is nothing herein to reflect on the character or the honor of my opponent.

Robbins Wins At Houston

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, June 26 (AP) — Just about everything went wrong for Hillman Robbins on the first six holes today before the Southern intercollegiate champion from Memphis State settled down to defeat Cecil Calhoun of Louisiana State for the national collegiate golf championship.

The 22-year-old junior from Memphis began blasting par to gain the 4 and 3 victory in 33 holes after having been four down after only five holes.

Robbins added a stroke to par on each of the first six holes. After that he was even par or better on all but one of the remaining 27 holes. He caught the 19-year-old sophomore from Columbus, Ga., on the 16th green, went ahead on the 17th and grabbed a 4-up lead on the 25th.

For the 33 holes, Robbins was one over par for the 6,840-yard par-72 Brae Burn Country Club course. Calhoun was five over.

Both players appeared very tired at the end of their tenth round of golf in seven days, all of it in 90-degree or better heat.

Robbins and Calhoun advanced to the finals after attracting little attention in qualifying play. Robbins, who failed to qualify in the 1953 tournament, qualified with a 5-over par 151, the cut-off point, earlier in the week. Calhoun qualified at 146.

The 135-pound Robbins outdrove his 190-pound opponent most of the day but three-putted four of the first greens. His drive on the third hole struck a tree and his second shot on the sixth went into a bayou.

Robbins had a 2-under par 34 on the back nine this morning, and began the final 18 holes with a 1-up advantage.

LITTLE LEAGUE ALL-STAR GAME IS SCHEDULED FRIDAY NIGHT

A Little League All-Star game, pitting the best players in the American and National circuits here, will be played the evening of Friday, July 2, it has been announced.

The Yankees, Flicks, VFW and Gold Sox make up the National League. The Yanks are leading the race at the present time but the Gold Sox are still in contention.

Making up the American League, are the American Legion, Engineers, Oilers and Eagles.

The Legion is the league pace setter and has already clinched first half honors.

Regular first half play is due to grind to a halt in the American League on Monday and in the National League the following night. New schedules are being drawn up.

Managers of the teams will be announced at a later date.

Giants Cling To Top Rung As Antonelli Wins, 6-4

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP) — The New York Giants clung to first place in the National League race by turning back the Chicago Cubs, 6-4, today for Johnny Antonelli's 10th victory, with the help of a bases-loaded homer by Wes Westrum in the fourth inning. Marv Grissom struck out Ralph Kiner with the bases loaded in the last of the ninth to save the decision for Antonelli.

Manager Leo Durocher called on Hoyt Wilhelm when Antonelli weakened in the eighth and then waved in Marv Grissom to bail out Wilhelm in the ninth after the first two Cubs reached base.

Walker Cooper opened the ninth by beating out a bunt and pinch hitter Hoot Rice walked. Grissom came in and retired pinch hitter Frank Baumholtz and Gene Baker. After walking Ransom Jackson to load the bases, Grissom fanned Kiner for the final out.

Willie Mays' spectacular home run hitting spree — six in the last five previous games — finally was stopped one game short of the record. The Giants' center fielder had one hit, a double, in four trips.

The Cubs came back strong, trying to avoid their ninth straight defeat. Hank Sauer's 23rd home run with two men on in the eighth cut the Giants' lead to two runs and their last-ditch rally in the ninth kept the pressure on the Giants until Kiner went down swinging.

Tennessee Upsets Field Maintenance

Tennessee Milk upset Field Maintenance, 6-5; and Cook Appliance Company won over Motor Vehicle, 13-4, in YMCA City Softball League play here Saturday night.

Field Maintenance rallied for all its runs in the last inning and had the tying run on third base when the game ended.

Baker was the winning hurler, Carter the loser.

Cotton Mize hurled Cook to victory.

In Friday night action, Cook Appliance won over Service Center, 13-5, with Mize in the box. Piggly-Wiggly received a forfeit from Cosden in what was to have been the other game.

Yankees Outhit Indians, 11-9; Narrow Lead

CLEVELAND, June 26 (AP)—The New York Yankees—outhomered but not outhit—won a slugging match from the Cleveland Indians 11-9 tonight to move within two games of the league-leading Tribe and within one game of second-place Chicago.

The Indians had four home runs—two by Bob Avila, one by Jim Hegan and another by Al Smith. Two Yankees hit for the circuit—Gil McDougald and Mickey Mantle, for whom it was the 13th. Of the six homers, only Smith's came with anyone on base. His was good for three runs.

Rainey, Greer Pace Circuit

Mike Rainey, Big Spring hurler, leads the Longhorn League in three phases of pitching.

In games through last Tuesday, Rainey had won the most games, 11; had hurled the most complete games, 11; and pitched the most innings, 121.

Julio Ramos, former Big Springer now with Midland, has struck out the most batters, 114.

In batting, Stubby Greer of Roswell continues to set the pace with a .396 mark. Joe Bauman, Greer's team mate, is tops in runs scored with 87, total bases with 189, home runs with 29, bases on balls with 69 and runs batted in with 106.

Duane White, Roswell, has the most hits, 95. Ike Jackson, Carlsbad, has the most two-base hits, 22; while Raul Dieppa, Carlsbad, has stolen the most bases, 18.

In team batting, Artesia leads with a .315 mark. Big Spring ranks fifth with .289.

Midland Tribe Evens Bronc Series By Winning, 4-1, Behind Pickens

Midland won its first game of the year in Steer Park Saturday night, when Frank Pickens shaded Bert Baez in a mound duel to pace the Indians to a 4-1 victory over the Broncs.

The only run the Steeds got off the Negro hurler from Louisiana was unearned. It came in the second when Bob Doe and Johnny O'Neil singled and Doe went all the way around when the second safety got through center fielder Tom Barton.

Midland tallied in the fourth on a hit by Bud Hull, a walk to Pat Waters and Joe Riney's one-baser.

The Warriors added two more in the sixth on safeties by Scooter Hughes, Hull, a sacrifice by Waters, Hughes' steal on home and a hit by Riney down the first base line that got away from Tony Martinez.

The visitors counted again in the ninth on Chuck Terrasi's leadoff double and a single by Hughes.

Big Spring was presented with scoring opportunities in the fourth and seventh innings but the Bronc hitters failed in the clutch.

The Midland win enabled the Indians to split the two-game set.

The Broncs will be idle today. They were booked to play in San Angelo but the Colts elected to play no more Sunday games. Instead, the teams will meet twice Monday evening.

RAMBLINGS — Bert Baez, on the hill for Big Spring, absorbed his third loss . . . He has ten wins . . . Pickens' won-lost record is 11-2 . . . Baez worked two strikes across on Jerry Keith in the first inning but Keith hopped on the next delivery for a single . . . The attendance was 731, which brought the two nights' total to 1434 . . . Martinez's ground ball in the fourth inning was fielded by Terrasi but no one covered first base . . . Waters walked on four straight pitches in the fourth while Rudy Briner was given an intentional pass in the sixth . . . Both games of the series were played in less than two hours . . . Pickens struck out eight, all of whom took swinging third strikes . . . Only Bronc to hit safely more than once was Catcher Huck Doe, with a double and a single to his credit . . .

A strong wind coming in from left center field reduced the possibility of any home run being hit . . . A rain cloud probably scared several customers away, too.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

What ever happened to the Longhorn League operators' resolution to get their feet on the ground and give those with a small stake a chance to keep their heads above water? . . . The top teams are killing off the second division teams so fast, they may get to feast on their remains as early as July 15 . . . Ailing Trabert Wins Over Sweden's Ace

By STERLING SLAPPEY

WIMBLEDON, England, June 26 (AP) — His hand blistered and bleeding, Tony Trabert hit back twice from what looked like certain defeat today to master Sweden's Sven Davidson in a hair-raising five setter that will rank with Wimbledon's center court tennis masterpieces.

The scores were 3-6, 12-10, 6-0, 7-9, 6-3.

They were all but counting ten over the freckled Cincinnation as he reeled around in the second and fifth sets of a two hour and 15 minutes fourth round scrap. But the 23-year-old No. 1 seeded American never came close to panic and he won because he kept his head.

Six water blisters and one blood blister potted his racquet palm while Davidson, a tall brunette swede, suffered a cramp in his right leg as the 68th Wimbledon Championships got back to steady business after a day of rain.

Thus Trabert led an almost solid advance of top-seeded favorites into the quarter-final round of men's singles.

Two other Americans — defending champion Vic Seixas and Budge Patty — moved forward along with the entire four-man Australian Davis Cup team of Lewis Hoad, Ken Rosewall, Mervyn Rose and Rex Hartwig and the self-exiled Czech, Jaroslav Drobny.

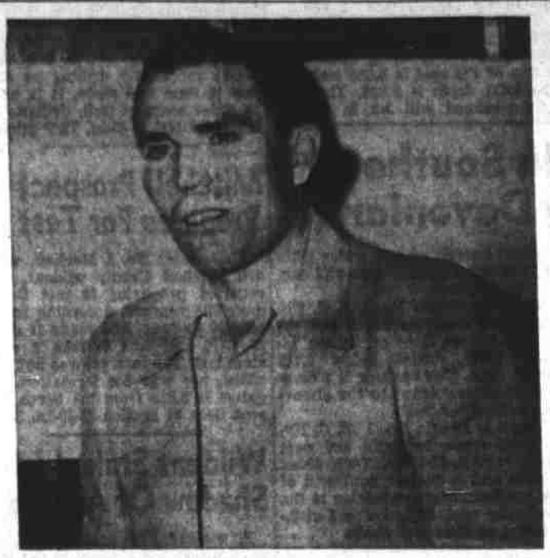

Drobny, seeded 11th, was the only surprise. He came through the bracket reserved for America's Art Larsen, seeded sixth, beaten by Philippe Washer of Belgium. Drobny took care of Washer today, 8-6, 10-8, 6-3.

The champ, Seixas of Philadelphia, took the decision from young Jackie Brichant of Belgium, 6-8, 7-5, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2.

Patty, seeded seventh, trounced Britain's last hope, Michael Davies 7-5, 6-1, 7-5, but Gil Shea of Los Angeles bowed out before Hartwig, 6-4, 1-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Hoad, favored to meet Trabert in the finals, lived up to his No.2 seeding by knocking off the 40-year old Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables Fla., 4-6, 6-0, 7-5, 6-3. Third-seeded Rosewall toppled a fellow countryman Yocclashley Cooper, 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 10-8. Rose ousted Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, a finalist last year, 4-6 6-3, 9-7, 6-4.

In the limited action of the women's division, Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, advanced easily. Miss Brough, a three-time Wimbledon champion, trounced Mrs. Vera Thomas of Britain, 6-2, 6-2, while Miss Fry won over Mrs. Dorothy Levine of Chicago, 6-4, 6-4.

BOB (PEPPER) MARTIN
His Motto: Look On Bright Side

IT TAKES MONEY

When one operates a professional baseball club, one deals in figures —and not only the batting, fielding and pitching averages.

If Pepper Martin, owner-manager of the Big Spring Broncs, never realized that before, he does now.

The figures he's concerned about now deal with the assets and debits of the Broncs, the total draw, salaries, and etc.

Since he opened spring training here in April, Martin has had 34 players under contract, for which he has spent a total of $1,450.

Of those he now has, only two (Medsell LaGrone and Pete Simone) are on option. Contracts of the remainder belong to him.

His total expenses since he set up for business have come to $25,230. The figure might pale in comparison to the expenses of some of the other teams in the circuit, because Pepper has sometimes cut corners where there were none, but to him it's big money.

He's on his own in this venture. Whether he sinks or swims financially depends wholely on the business at the gate.

In the team's first 32 home games (through Friday night), the team has played to 16,810 paying customers.

The average has been about 445 adults, 44 servicemen and students and 36 children per game.

His auto operating expenses through June 1 came to $230.88 (he pays the bill once a month).

His telephone bill alone has totaled $326.58. To date, he's spent an additional $2,160.54 on meal and board money for the players on the road.

Baseballs have cost him $1,016, bats $360.53 (he tries to look the other way and think about something else when one is broken). Uniforms set him back $600.

His spring training expenses $1,536.90.

Martin figures he needs a paid gate of about 600 a night to keep his head above water. The optimist — and one has to be eternally hopeful if he stays in the business end of the game — Martin is expecting warm nights and better baseball to bouy the gate.

He's a hardened pro and tries to take everything in stride, even the weather, which hasn't been the most cooperative thing this year. He gives it the old college try every game, though. It would be against his nature not to.

Does he like to win? Well, he dies a thousand deaths when his clubs drops a decision and tries to analyze the game and brings his own mistakes into focus. He's his own chief critic.

Defeat stings, but he's developed a pretty good armor against it.

Brooks Outlast St. Louis Cards In 11 Rounds

BROOKLYN, June 26 (AP)—Jackie Robinson's 11th-inning single gave the Brooklyn Dodgers an uphill 7-6 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals today after Duke Snider tied the score with a two-run homer in the ninth. As a result of the win, the Dodgers remained one game behind the league-leading New York Giants.

Bengals Host Panther Nine

The Big Spring Tigers return to action this afternoon at Steer Park, at which time they host the Big Spring Panthers in a double header. The first game will start at 2 p.m.

Manager Ynez Yanez will probably start Horace Yanez in the box in the first game.

He plans to use Oakie Hagood, HCJC pitcher, in the afterpiece.

The Tigers have won 11 games in 15 starts this season and are ready to take on all comers.

Manager Yanez said they would prefer to play on Sundays but could book mid-week contests, if circumstances were right.

Forsan Will Play Ackerly Sept. 10

FORSAN, June 26 (SC) — Coach Frank Honeycutt has booked Ackerly as an opening game opponent for the 1954 Forsan High School football team.

The two teams will clash in Forsan the night of Sept. 10.

Honeycutt said he was also dickering for a game with Weinert and needed another engagement to fill out the Buff's schedule.

The Bisons open their conference schedule Oct. 1 in Water Valley.

Honeycutt will have a dozen letermen with whom to work.

The coach is now completing six weeks of schooling at North Texas State College in Denton, working toward his master's degree. He expects to get it in the summer of 1955.

Forsan will start working out Aug. 28.

FISHERMEN EXPERIENCE GOOD LUCK AT WHITNEY

By JOHN BUSER

"Doc" Wilkinson and his wife returned recently from five days at Lake Whitney where he fished from the camp his brother-in-law, Claude Wilkins, operates. Wilkins, who used to live here, operated a camp at Lake Brownwood for about five years before opening his Lake Whitney camp about a year ago.

About 125 to 135 pounds of fish were caught by the Wilkinsons and Wilkinses during their outings on the lake. Crappie in particular were plentiful, running good eating size, about three-quarters to one and a half pounds. The group got from 45 to 60 crappie every time they were fishing for them, Wilkinson reports. Minnows were used as bait.

The Wilkinses got a lot of bream, running about a pound, on worms, Wilkinson added. He himself got about eight channel cat, two to three and a half pounds, using a throw line.

The Wilkins camp is about a half mile west from the dam.

Wilkinson said the fish were biting the best as they were winding up their stay. The wind had been up part of the time.

Last year was the first year this new Central Texas lake, on the Brazos River near Hillsboro, was opened to fishermen. Wilkinson said the fish this year were of larger size than those caught last year.

• • •

We understand that some nice catches of other than catfish have been made on the Concho in the vicinity of Water Valley and of Sterling City. Otherwise it seems catfish catches continue good in the area but muddy water is still a problem in attempting to catch other fish.

Amor Ten-Game Winner In TL

By The Associated Press

Prospects appear bright for at least three 20-game pitching winners and a dozen .300 hitters in the Texas League this season. That would be well above the average.

John Andre, the Shreveport pitcher who tops the circuit in victories, is within eight of the magic circle with the season only one-half over. Andre has won 12 while losing five. Vicente Amor of Oklahoma City and Karl Spooner of Fort Worth have won 10 games apiece. Spooner also is the strike-out leader. He has whiffed 140.

(Amor is a former Big Spring pitcher. He won six games and lost five for the Broncs in 1950.)

The pitcher with the best percentage is Willard Schmidt of Houston, who has a 9-1 record.

Les Fleming, who transferred from Beaumont to Dallas in midweek, leads the largest collection of .300 hitters in years. Twenty players are clouting above that figure and Fleming leads with .375 on 99 hits in 264 times at bat.

Ed Mickelson of Shreveport, one of four with 100 or more hits, is second in batting with .354. Mickelson has 101 hits. Howie Phillips of Houston leads the league with 105. Frank Kellert of San Antonio and Ev Joyner of Shreveport each has an even 100.

Charley Oertel of San Antonio leads the run-makers with 61. Eddie Kazak of Beaumont tops in doubles with 26, Joe Durham of San Antonio in triples with seven and Jim (Buzz) Clarkson, who went to Dallas from Beaumont in the same deal that transferred Fleming to Dallas, leads in homers, with 20, and runs batted in, with 77.

Jim Neufeldt of Oklahoma City is the stolen base king with 18.

Ships Get Lanier

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., June 26 (AP)—Max Lanier, the former major league pitcher, has purchased his release from the St. Petersburg Saints of the Florida International League and signed with the Beaumont Exporters of the Texas League.

July Fourth Tournament Entries Can Qualify

A field of 40 is due to compete in the annual Fourth of July Golf Tournament at the Big Spring Country Club, match play of which will be conducted Saturday, Sunday and Monday, July 3-4-5.

The entries, as in the past, will be limited to members of the club.

In the past, match play has been conducted over two days but Pro C. A. DeWees is expanding the meet in order that any entry will not have to play more than one match a day.

Each flight will consist of eight players.

Players can start qualifying today. Entries must post qualifying scores by Friday, DeWees stated.

Jake Morgan is the defending champion, having defeated J. R. Farmer in last year's finals, 2 and 1. Jerry Scott won the meet two years ago.

Morgan will be a strong favorite to win the title again but Farmer, Champ Rainwater, Tommy Hutto and others may give him a battle for the honors.

The course was only recently reopened. The greens suffered serious damage during the recent hail storm. However, DeWees and his help have worked long hours to get the layout in shape.

The fairways, which benefitted from recent rains, are in excellent condition.

Broncs Fight Back To Lick Midland

In a game in which practically all the drama was crowded into the ninth inning, the Big Spring Broncs came from behind to defeat the Midland Indians, 7-6, here Friday night.

Big Spring apparently had the contest won, 5-2, two outs deep in the top half of the frame but the red-hot Warriors raked Aramis Arencibia's offerings for four hits, including home runs by Bud Hull and Tom Barton, to take a one-run advantage.

It was Harold Hacker's job to hold it and he didn't do it. Pete Simone worked him for a walk to open Big Spring's half of the frame.

Manager Rudy Briner of Midland dispatched Frank Pickens to the bull-pen to warm up but never did call him in. Bert Baez went in to run for Simone. Tony Martinez laid down a sacrifice bunt and Hacker threw the ball away in right field, permitting Baez to score all the way from first and Martinez to go to third.

The infield and outfield pulled in tight for a possible play at the plate and Floyd Martin, Big Spring's batting hero of the night, promptly hit a single over Joe Riney's head in left to bring in Martinez and end the game.

Arencibia went all the way on the mound for Big Spring to gain credit for his seventh win. He has lost five. Hacker was seeking his eighth win but had to settle for his eighth loss.

Floyd Martin hit his tenth home run of the year in the fifth and drove in four tallies, in all, to bring his two night's total to ten.

Hull's ninth inning homer was his second of the game and his 23rd of the year. Scooter Hughes clubbed his third of the year for Midland in the seventh. Barton's ninth inning safety, which came with Riney aboard, was his fifth of the campaign.

Riney had brought in Pat Waters with a single after Waters had tripled.

DIAMOND DUST — The win was the fifth straight for Big Spring over Midland in the local park this season and its 21st at home in all, against 11 reversals . . . Floyd Martin misjudged Bud Hull's fly ball in the first but saddled up just in time to make connections . . . Insertion of Gil Silva in the Big Spring lineup in the ninth was for defensive reasons . . . Jim Zapp had two strikes on him in the first, then walked on four straight pitches . . . Double plays, one of which he started, pulled Arencibia out of jams in the seventh and eighth innings . . . Arencibia had such pin-point control he did not walk a man . . . Midland set some sort of record for the park by leaving only one runner stranded . . . That was Joe Riney, who singled with one down in the fifth and never advanced beyond first base . . . Arencibia retired the first 13 men to face him in order.

Jolly Kay Will Run At Ruidoso

RUIDOSO, N. M., June 26 (SC)—Jolly Kay, belonging to Bud Tucker of Big Spring, is entered in the eighth race of Sunday's racing program here.

She will be competing against seven other horses and will carry 115 pounds. Her rider will be E. Garza.

Today's card will offer a wide variety of both thorobred and quarter horse events with the final two races of the day both thorobred races.

The tenth race will mark the first appearance this year of Brigand, one of the top sprint horses in the country.

Brigand, whose track record was broken last week by Maroon, with match strides with five other horses at 400 yards.

The ninth race has been designated the Fox Cave and boasts a top field of six thorobreds.

Ruidoso's leading rider, H. Bradford, will be up on Bomette, one of the favorites.

Under New Mexico's rules of racing, five per cent of the pari-mutuel handle is added to each purse.

In all, 12 races are carded today.

Majors Leading Money Winner At Speedway

Clyde Majors, driving Car 66, emerged as the leading driver in the stock-car races held at the Big Spring Speedway Friday night, fighting off challenges of Raymond and Shorty Hamby to emerge in front.

The largest crowd of the season, estimated at 400 by track officials, saw the action. It was the first night racing held here this year and a success from every standpoint.

Raymond Hamby, driving Car 88, won the Trophy Dash, a four-lap event. Jimmy Doe, in Car 444, was the only other entry and he pushed Hamby all the way.

In the ten-lap Slow Car event, Majors finished out front.

In the Fast-Car heat, also ten laps, Doe was the winner in a photo finish with Majors, with Cotton Mize in contention most of the way.

In the seven-lap Australian Pursuit, Majors finished in front.

In the 20-lap feature, Majors crossed the finish line in front. Raymond Hamby was second. Five cars started, only five finished.

Charles Shawn of Midland was the only out-of-town entry on hand. He said Midland and Odessa drivers could be expected here next Friday night. They are working on their cars this week, he added.

Hasty Road Wins Arlington Race

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—Hasty Road stumbled out of the gate but to a one-length victory today in the $28,625 Warren Wright Memorial at Arlington Park.

His earnings of $17,100 upped his lifetime total to $411,432 and made him the leading money - winning three year old of 1954.

The Hasty House Farm colt, winner of the Preakness last May, burst from behind in the last quarter of a mile of the seven-furlong dash to beat Busher's Beam by a length. Hasseyampa was third.

Hasty Road, a 1-2 favorite, paid $3.20, $3 and $2.60. Busher's Beam, a 99-1 shot owned by Eugene Constain of Dallas, paid $44 to place and $14.60 to show.

Hasseyampa, owned by Walmac Farm of Chicago, returned $3.60.

SEVEN YEARS IN PRO CIRCUIT

Cliff Patton, One Of Pro Ball's Great Kickers, Signs To Coach

Clifton Patton, who has devoted much of his life to football, will turn to coaching for the first time this fall.

The one-time Big Spring High School line star becomes head coach at Clyde High School in September.

He's got a little matter of six weeks' schooling at ACC ahead of him in order to earn his degree but he'll take care of that starting July 15.

Patton, who is here helping his sister, Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, finish construction of her new house, gained his greatest renown in professional football as a goal kicking specialist while a member of the Philadelphia Eagles and the Chicago Cards.

The Grozas, the Waterfields and the Walkers not withstanding, Patton was recognized as the best goal booter of them all in his time.

He played seven years of pro ball, two of which were with world championship teams, and during that time he scored 480 points. Of that amount, only six were the result of a touchdown scored on a blocked punt against Green Bay in 1947, at which time he played across the line from Big Spring's Flowers, and two from a safety he made against the New York Gaints in 1949.

He was the League's third leading scorer in the National Football League with 84 points while with Philadelphia in 1948 and held a similar rating the following year with the same club, at which time he counted 89 points.

His pro football scoring record is amazing, considering the fact that he never played anything but tackle and guard.

Patton missed but three extra point attempts in his pro career, one against the Boston Yanks in 1947, the second against Washington in 1949 and one the following year against the same club.

He booted 128 consecutive points from Nov. 17, 1947, to Nov. 14, 1949, to post a record that may stand for some time to come.

In 1948, he kicked eight field goals in 12 tries and made good on nine of 14 field goal attempts in 1949.

Strangely enough, he did not kick PAT's for the Big Spring Steers when he played here in 1939 and 1940. Frank Barton, a member of the club and the man who is moving from the job of head coach to high school principal at Wink this year, did the booting for the Steers in those days.

Patton was a stickout tackle, however, good enough to gain an invitation to the 1941 Texas All-Star game in Houston. In that game, he was active in all but three plays.

Patton never got to prove himself in college ball. It was at TCU, however, that he mastered the art of goal kicking under the watchful eye of Dutch Meyer.

The war came along and Cliff got into uniform. After the war, Cliff had a pro contract dangled before his eyes and he took it. In addition to his schooling at TCU, he attended Hardin-Simmons for one spring term. Most of his college work has been at ACC.

In pro ball, Cliff's playing weight was about 245. That's only average size for a pro lineman. He was a 60-minute player in several games (up until 1952 he was the only pro gridder ever to play 60 minutes).

He considers himself lucky. The only injury Patton ever suffered in football was in high school here, during a game against Lubbock. He was back in action the next game, however.

At Philadelphia, Patton played under Greasy Neale, Curly Lambeau and Joe Kuharich were his coaches at Chicago.

CLIFF PATTON

In 1947, he and his Philadelphia mates lost to the Cards in the title game, 27-21. Cliff booted three extra points in that game. In '48, the Eagles gained revenge from the Red Birds by winning, 7-0. Patton kicked the PAT. In '49, the Eagles decisioned the Los Angeles Rams in the championship contest, 14-0. He kicked two points after TD's then.

All three title games were played under adverse weather conditions. The first was on an icy gridiron, when all players save Patton wore sneakers. He donned cleats. After the game, he examined his shoes and discovered not only the cleats but the metal spikes to which they were attached were worn away.

The second title test involving Philadelphia was played in a snow storm.

Came 1949, and Clifton was sure he was going to get a break in the weather because the game was in Los Angeles. It rained buckets that day, however.

What does a pro footballer think about when bad weather prevails? Clifton said he could see the dollar bills flying out his hotel window. The players, of course, cut in on the gate and naturally are hopeful for big crowds.

Cliff was also considered quite a pro baseball prospect at one time. He was taught to be a catcher by his father, Pat, himself a prominent sandlotter around here at one time.

During the war, Cliff played service baseball with Murray Dickson, Pete Reiser and others at Ft. Riley, Kan. He also played football for the Ft. Riley Army championship team in 1943.

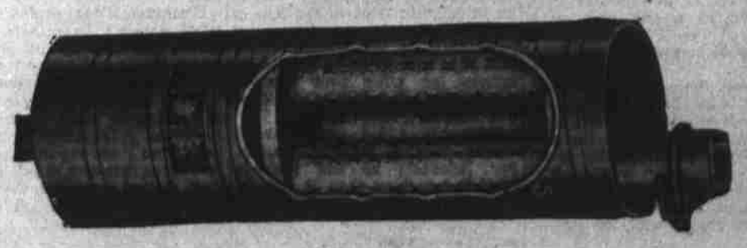

Later, he played pro ball under an assumed name for the Oakland entry in the Pacific Football League. He was stationed at Ft. Ord, Calif., at the time.

At Clyde, Patton will adopt the T, with an occasional shift to Single Wing and the Spread. He'll use innovations he picked up in pro ball but won't try to make his boys learn too much. He'll be pleased if they're well based in fundamentals.

Clyde, a Class A team which competes in a district with DeLoen, Eastland, Dublin, Santa Ana, Wiley of Abilene and Cross Palins, won eight of ten games last year but got beat out for district laurels by one point. He has his work cut out for him, however, since he has only two regulars back from 1953.

After leaving pro football, he sold sporting goods in San Angelo for a while and later scouted for teams in the Clyde area.

Sara-Mag Discovery Sprays Oil On Test

Skelly No. 1 Shaffer, north offset to the discovery well of the Sara-Mag field in northeastern Howard County, sprayed high gravity oil Saturday afternoon as the pipe was pulled and broken down following a successful drillstem test. Clifton Lawhorne, Herald oil editor, was on hand with a camera to catch a shot of the most beautiful sight in the world to an oil man. Operator is preparing to complete for a producer.

North Offset Flows Oil In Sara-Mag Area; Others Test

By CLIFTON LAWHORNE

Oil flow was gauged on three projects in the Sara-Mag field of Northeast Howard County Saturday.

Skelly Oil Company's No. 1 R. T. Shafer made 122 barrels of oil on a two hour drillstem test, P. R. Rutherford No. 1 Ed J. Carpenter flowed an unreported amount of oil and some water, and Russell Maguire No. 1 Barr flowed oil, gas and water.

The Skelly No. 1 Shafer is one location north of the discovery well, Maguire No. 1 Chandler. The operator stated that the test yielding oil was from 7,535 to 7,585. Pipe strands were being pulled Saturday afternoon and some oil was being recovered below the circulating sub.

Observers say that the No. 1 Shafer is about 25 feet low to the discovery well, though top of the reef has not officially been reported. Gravity of oil on drillstem test was was not reported, and pressures were not released.

The Skelly project is C SW SW, 12-25-H&TC survey, about one and a half miles west of Vincent. Operator says that casing will be run for completion immediately.

The Rutherford No. 1 Carpenter indicates as a one and a quarter mile southeast extension to the Sara-Mag field. Two drillstem tests have been taken in the reef, and each. The last had some water recovery.

The first test was from 7,588 to 7,596 feet, and the tool was open an hour. Gas surfaced in four minutes, and there was no estimate on volume. Recovery was 1,360 feet of oil and 40 feet of oil-cut mud.

The second drillstem test was taken Saturday morning between 7,596 feet and 7,609, total depth. Oil flowed through a quarter inch choke, the operator said. There was some water. Preparations are now being made to set casing and complete.

Top of the reef is 7,588 feet, and datum minus is 5,166. This puts the Rutherford project 39 feet low to the discovery well, which had a datum minus of 5,127 feet.

The drillstem test at Maguire No. 1 Barr was from 7,940 to 8,003 feet in an unidentified formation below the reef. Although this project is only a half mile southwest of the discovery well, it did not pick up the reef pay.

Amount of oil which flowed on the test has not been gauged, but observers said there was a tremendous blow. Gas surfaced in three minutes, and oil, gas and water followed in 15. Entire flow was for an hour.

Operator was running pipe Saturday afternoon to circulate mud at total depth of 8,003 feet. Some observers say that the oil recovered Saturday was in the Caddo lime, but the operator says the formation is as yet undetermined.

The No. 1 Barr is C NE SE, 14-25-H&TC survey, about three miles west of Vincent.

Nothing but salt water was recovered in the reef at the Russell Maguire No. 1-A Hodnett, extreme northwest outpost to the field production. Drilling depth Saturday, which resumed after tests, was 8,019 feet.

This offset wildcat has drillsite of C NW NW, 13-25-H&TC survey.

RUGGED BUT DELICATE

Seismic Instruments Vital In Search For Undiscovered Oil

TULSA, Okla., June 26 (AP)—One of the oil industry's most vital jobs is that of the seismic crews who sound the earth's rock strata for structures which might bear petroleum.

They work with precisely engineered, highly sensitive equipment which records the vibrations set off by dynamite-created "earthquakes."

Their instruments must be delicate enough to detect a sound as soft as a raindrop on the ground, rugged enough to withstand extremes in weather and topographic conditions.

These are the result of painstaking research by engineers and careful manufacture by skilled machinists and wiring men in such laboratories as Carter Oil Co. maintains here. In it custom-designed seismograph equipment is made for use all over the world solely by affiliates of the Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey).

Last year $750,000 was spent equipping or servicing 27 seismic crews for Imperial, Creole, International, Standard Vacuum and Carter.

A complete set of seismic equipment includes geophones, amplifiers, geophone and inter-connecting cables, cameras and communication instruments. The laboratory also makes accessories for cable-handler trucks, "shooting" trucks and special drills.

Nearly every piece must be custom-designed to meet the challenge of climate and topography where it is used.

In one section of the laboratory equipment is "tropicalized" to work in the tropics' intense heat and humidity. Other instruments are tested in a "cold chamber" to determine if they will operate properly in an Arctic winter's sub-zero temperatures.

Their toughest assignment, say Carter's engineers, was designing equipment for Indonesia. It had to be sufficiently stout to function in that hot climate, so delicate it could pick up the faintest vibration, light enough to be carried by natives for miles over narrow, treacherous catwalks fashioned of tree trunks.

Ordinarily a full seismic outfit weighs several hundred pounds. For Indonesia no one package could weigh more than 50 pounds.

Carter personnel familiar with that area's wild terrain say—jestingly—the ideal test of equipment there would be drop it 10 feet in the rain daily for 10 months. If it still worked, it would be delicate and rugged enough for the swamps and catwalks.

In Canada a crew moves its equipment to an exploration area by tractor sled over ground frozen 70 feet beneath the surface. The temperature is as low as 65 degrees below zero, cold enough to snap like dry macaroni the insulation on instruments' wiring. But it doesn't. Laboratory research has prevented that.

Carter-designed machinery takes some strange shapes to cope with the various conditions under which it will be used. There's the swamp vehicle, a metal canoe with stern wheeler drive to push it through Venezulea's swamps. The same drive can move it over dry land.

A muskeg vehicle, a barge-like boat with caterpillar treads, transports seismic crews over thousands of acres of muskeg country from Southern Canada to the Arctic Circle.

Communications equipment also is of great importance to the crews, particularly in Indonesia where jungle and water make personal contact almost impossible.

Radio-telephone is the only way of keeping in touch in that area. A Carter geophysicist recently back from there reported one field operations foreman hadn't seen his most distant dynamite shooter for six months—even though he was only three miles away.

Well Added At Fluvanna

Knickerbocker Oil Company of Midland No. 1 Jordan has been completed as a one mile south stepout of the Fluvanna North Strawn pool in northwestern Scurry County.

The well flowed for 24 hours through 16-64 choke, making 247 barrels of oil and no water. Tubing pressure was 316 and the gas-oil ratio was 350-1. Gravity of oil was 42.5. Operator was producing through perforations opposite the Strawn from 7,910-20, which had been treated with 500 gallons of acid.

Location is 2,322 from the south and 330 from the west lines of section 587-97, H&TC, about three miles north of the Fluvanna and half a mile east of the Borden County line.

Edgers In Oceanic Are Drilling Ahead

Warren No. 1 Dorothy Iden, 330 from the south and east lines of the west half of the northeast quarter section 26-30-3n, T&P, Oceanic west side test, had progressed to 1,374 in lime and anhydrite.

Another Oceanic venture, but this one on the east side, Cosden No. 3 Jackson, was down to 3,093. Location is 1,005 from the north and 1,455 from the west side of section 30-32-3n, T&P.

Wolfcamp Discovery Offset Progressing

Amerada No. 1 White, north offset to the Van Grisso No. 1 Carpenter, a recent Wolfcamp discovery, was drilling ahead Saturday. It was down to 1,200 in shale. Location of this offset which is nevertheless projected to the reef, is 660 from the south and 1,980 from the west lines of the north half of section 17-33, H&TC, about four miles west and slightly south of Vincent.

Sterling County Well Is Treated

Boykin Bros. and Bankston, et al No. 4 Bade, shallow venture in western Sterling County, sand-fraced and prepared to test at the end of the week.

The venture was bottomed at 1,318 and plugged back to 1,311. Operator treated the interval from 1,300-11 with 2,000 gallons. Location is 330 from the south and west lines of section 22-32, H&TC.

Cosden Opens Division For South Texas

Cosden Petroleum Corporation has opened a new division geological office in Corpus Christi and possibly a new South Texas pool in the same week.

M. M. Miller, vice president in charge of exploration, announced the opening of the division geological and land office at 837 Wilson Building, Corpus Christi.

Jay Endicott Jr., formerly with Sunray Oil as district geologist for seven years, has joined Cosden as geologist and manager of the Southwest Texas divison. He was in the general offices here Thursday and Friday to get acquainted and learn of the company's policies and procedures.

A native of Oklahoma, he was reared in Oklahoma and southern Kansas. After separation from service in World War II, he entered Oklahoma University and earned his degree in geology. Immediately thereafter he went to work with Sunray in Southwest Texas. Endicott is married and he and Mrs. Endicott have a son and a daughter.

The prospective discovery for this new division was the Coseden & Parker No. 1 McNeill in Live Oak County. This venture took a drillstem test from 4,535-40 in the Hockley sand and the showing was such that it likely will prove a producer and a discovery from this zone. However, operator will drill out two more sands before testing and trying to complete.

Natural Gas Program Set

Details of the program for the 1954 annual meeting of the Independent Natural Gas Association of America, to be held at the Roosevelt Hotel, New Orleans,La., Sept. 13 and 14, have been announced.

On Monday, Sept. 13, the subcommittees will meet.

On Tuesday, Sept. 14, the program for the general session will include Ralph E. Davis, consulting geologist, presenting "A Discussion on Natural Gas Reserves," S. L. Digby, member of the Federal Power Commission, will talk on "The Natural Gas Act," "Atomic Energy Developments and Electric Competition" will be discussed by a speaker to be announced, N. E. Tanner, president of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, Ltd., will address the meeting on "A Look at Canadian Natural Gas."

C. P. Rather, president of INGAA, will give his annual report to the membership. Another address of wide interest will be "How the FPC Interprets the Supreme Court Opinion in the Phillips Case," by Willard W. Gatchell, general counsel, Federal Power Commission, and Scott Hughes, chairman, INGAA Legal Committee.

Deep Exploration Spotted In Gaines

Union of California and Great Western and Murphey No. 1 J. E. Standley has been staked as a rank wildcat 1½ miles southeast of Seminole in Gaines County.

Location of this 9,800-foot exploration is 1,980 from the north and east lines of section 160-G, WTRR survey. It is on a 160-acre lease.

Test In Southwestern Borden Well To Continue This Week

Tests above the water table are being made this weekend at Pan American Production Company's No. 1-B Good, wildcat in Southwest Borden which had good oil shows in the Pennsylvanian along with salt water.

The drillstem test with oil shows was from 8,590 to 8,633 feet, and the tool was open an hour. Gas surfaced in 17 minutes.

Operator unloaded 69 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud with 74 strands left in the hole. Another 120 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud was unloaded with 66 strands in the hole.

Some 770 feet of oil and gas-cut mud were reversed out along with 5,000 feet of salt water. Recovery also included 450 feet of salt water below the circulating sub.

Pressures were from 1,230 to 2,977 pounds, and the 15-minute shut-in pressure was 3,475 pounds.

Top of the reef is 8,583 feet, and the total depth is 8,633. The tests this weekend will be in a zone from 8,600 to 8,610 feet, believed to be over the water table. This is 23 feet higher than the test which had salt water.

The No. 1-B Good is a wildcat about three miles northwest of Vealmoor. Drillsite is 774.4 from south and 660.5 from east lines, 2-32-3n, T&P survey.

Another South Borden wildcat — Kay Kimbell No. 1 H. D. Beal et al —was reportedly drilling at 4,738 feet in lime and shale. It is about 13 miles south of Gail, drillsite being C SE NE, 8-30-3n, T&P survey.

Two Ventures In Southeast Luther Nearing Devonian

Two tests were nearing the homestretch in the Luther Southeast pool, while another was testing at the end of the week.

One other was making hole.

Texas & Pacific Coal and Oil No. 1-B E. N. Phipps, 660 from the north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 10-32-2n, T&P, continued testing. Latest reports showed 46 barrels of water and 196 barrels of salt water within 24 hours. Operator was still continuing to swab.

Texas & Pacific No. 1 J. O. Haney, 1,818 from the north and 660 from the west lines of section 14-32-2n, T&P, drilled below 9,712 feet in lime. This venture is a diagonal southwest offset to the discovery well of the pool.

Texas & Pacific No. 1 M. C. Hyden, 660 from the south and west lines, section 47-32-3n, T&P, about a mile and a quarter southeast of the southernmost production in the Vealmoor pool, drilled ahead at 3,975 feet in lime and shale.

Show Directors Slate Meeting

ODESSA (Spl) — The board of directors of the 1954 Permian Basin Oil Show will meet here Monday night.

Bill Lane, independent oil operator of Midland, president of the 1954 show, has called the meeting to hear progress reports from various committeemen.

All officers, directors and members of the advisory board have been notified and are expected to attend.

The 1954 show, already biggest in history, will include more than 400 exhibits and will show to an expected attendance of 150,000 visitors. Grounds and secondary buildings of the new Ector County Coliseum and Fair Park area—located just inside north city limits—are being readied for the October show, even though completion of the Coliseum proper is not anticipated earlier than Nov. 15. The show will be held Oct. 14-17.

The Permian Basin Oil Show—originally called "The Little International Oil Show" was first held at Odessa in 1940.

C. M. Boles, Phillips Petroleum Company, and R. M. Johnson, Cosden Petroleum Corporation, both of Big Spring, are directors. R. L. Tollett, president of Cosden, is a member of the Advisory Board.

Drilling Operations Ease Off For Week

AUSTIN, June 26 (AP)—Texas drilling totalled 390 this week, a drop of 58 from last week, the Railroad Commission reported today.

Operators completed 233 oil wells, 19 gassers and abandoned 138 dry holes.

Oil well completions for the year totaled 5,810 compared with 4,957 a year ago. New gas wells were ahead of the year-ago total, 597 to 446.

Of the 233 oil wells, 19 were wildcat, as were 2 gas wells and 72 dry holes.

The average calendar day crude allowable as of today was 3,016,499 barrels, a gain of 13,023 barrels from last week.

Mitchell Prospect Prepares For Test

McDermott No. 1 Mackey, western Mitchell County wildcat, was reported preparing to test Saturday. The venture, according to unofficial sources, had made it down to 7,770 and was to take a drillstem test. The interval was not specified, nor was the formation. Location is 2,310 from the north and east lines of section 10-29-1n, T&P.

Wildcat Staked In Shadow Of Angelo

A wildcat has been staked almost within the shadow of the city of San Angelo.

It will be the R. F. Caraway of Dallas No. 1 S. G. Parsons, 660 from the north and west lines of section 76-11, SPRR. This puts it half a mile southeast of San Angelo. Project depth is 6,500.

$25,000 YEARLY INCOME POSSIBLE WITH ONLY $1,500 INVESTMENT

National company offers area distributorships for the most sensational, delicious, non-competitive food item on the market today. Records of great earnings in past. Distributorship similar to one available in this area was bought for $3,000, operated one year, bringing in a net of $18,000, and then sold for $35,000, and now averaging $28,000 a year for new owner.

No selling or experience necessary as company establishes accounts and handles sales promotions; however, applicants selected must show willingness to expand and must offer ability to operate under own supervision in regard to conscientiously servising accounts or supervising help to do so. Can handle in spare time to start.

Starting income up to $25,000 first year building up to $50,000 year within 3 years, dependent on number of accounts serviced.

Applicants must be available immediately. Minimum 4 to 6 hours weekly. Good character and good references, and record of good stability. After proven facts, selection made immediately. $1,500 investment required. Distributorships also available in surrounding area. Write fully if you qualify.

Give phone number.

Mitchell Guard Goes To Camp

COLORADO CITY — The National Guard unit of Colorado City, Battery C of the 648th Armored Field Artillery Battalion, was to leave today for two weeks of field training at Ft. Hood.

Sixty-six men from Colorado City, including three officers, will join other units of the 49th National Guard Division for the training.

According to local Guard officials, the first week will be given over to standard training, with the second week set aside for field problems. The weapon of Battery C is the 155 millimeter Howitzer.

Captain Truett Hamrick is commanding officer of the unit. Other officers are 1st Lts. Forrest Yancey and Ethridge Howarton.

Dennis Patterson is first sergeant; Earl Taylor and Ray Sweatt are master sergeants.

Sfc. Reese Gross is duty sergeant at the Colorado City Guard office.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Shivers Is Held Fickle To Party

To the Editor:

Many voters are wondering why the Democratic Party is now acceptable to Gov. Shivers; they remember that two years ago he was putting "principles before party," and most of them are willing for him to do the same now.

How can any Democrat be expected to elect a man in good faith — to be its State party leader—when the record proves that he is too wishy washy to decide which party he prefers? It looks like he prefers the Republican party when he goes to vote—but wants to don the mantle of the Democratic party when he asks for office himself. He wants to have his cake and eat it, too.

It is certainly permissible for any citizen to vote any ticket he chooses, but it is treason to the party, for a governor to accept the highest honor a party can reward him with — and then desert that party when his help is needed. Gov. Shivers will find that the voters of Texas are not as fickle as he is. They will demand integrity of their leader—his little game of "now I am and now I'm not" has run its course.

While the governor was pointing his finger at Washington in past years and crying about corruption in federal government, quite of pot of corruption was boiling up in his own back yard—in the form of the insurance scandals. Had he not been so critical of national government, and paid some attention to his own state problems, this situation would not have gotten out of hand.

The time is here for the good citizens of Texas to clean out that mess in Austin, by electing a Democrat who will return integrity to the office of governor, and clean up that mess which evidently Gov. Shivers takes to be non-existent.

My opinion is that the voters of Texas will return the state government to the people July 24th, and Mr. Shivers to Sharyland.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

During past eclipses, much has been learned about the corona of the sun, also about "prominences."

Several astronomers made drawings during a total eclipse which took place 112 years ago.

The sun gives light even when it is blocked during a total eclipse. The light of a large corona, or crown, is equal to the light from the full moon.

The corona is a circular mass of glowing gas. It is circular, but differs in width. Some parts of the ring of light are more than twice as thick as other parts.

The total eclipse 54 years ago was of the same type as the one this year. A photograph of that eclipse showed that the corona was 275 thousand miles thick in some parts but only 65 thousand miles thick elsewhere.

During the total eclipse in 1918, the corona was larger. At certain points it was more than 600 thousand miles thick.

In addition to the bright corona, faint streamers appear on some photographs. The streamers have been compared in appearance to "loose hair."

The prominences, or flames, are another important feature of a total eclipse. These leap out from the edges of the eclipsed sun, and they commonly have a red or pink color.

A flame may be only 100 miles thick and five thousand miles high. A large one, on the other hand, may be eight thousand miles thick and may rise 60,000 miles above the sun's surface.

Many of the sun's flames are explosive, and become truly gigantic. Eight years ago, a mighty flame rose slightly more than one million miles above the surface of the sun!

Ocean Of Seltzer Water May Cover Planet Venus

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—If and when any space navigators ever reach the planet Venus, they'd better be equipped with rowboats — because two Harvard astronomers this week offered a new theory that "an ocean of water completely covers the planet."

And, presumably, the spaceship itself would have to be equipped with parking pontoons—or at least an outboard motor.

But take heart, you would-be spacemen. The astronomers said it may be an ocean of "carbonated" water — not too bad for a sociable Scotch and soda as you pull on the oars.

"Because of the large amount of carbon dioxide in the Venusian atmosphere, the ocean would probably consist of seltzer water, although I daresay it would be rather flat," Dr. Donald Menzel smilingly told a reporter.

He and Dr. Fred Whipple presented a joint report on the subject to the annual meeting of the American Astronomical Society, convened at the University of Michigan.

Their concept differs sharply from a common one that Venus is an arid desert with little or no water, and where the temperature may be more than hot enough to boil water anyway.

The scientists offered a series of arguments against a common concept that the thick bank of clouds that entirely envelopes the planet consists of dust — not of water as do the earth's clouds. Bulwark of the older concept was that there is no evidence of water in the spectrum of Venus' light as studied on Earth.

But Menzel and Whipple said another astronomer has recently found that the atmosphere above the Venusian clouds is too cold to hold any appreciable water vapor and this fact, they added, may explain the failure to find water in the Venus spectrum — without ruling out the possibility of there being water in the clouds themselves.

Saying that this satisfies them that the Venusian clouds are waterlogged, the astronomers declared it must follow that the planet itself has a lot of water.

Dougherty Confident He'll Defeat Johnson

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
Associated Press Staff

Dudley Tariton Dougherty is an easy-smiling young millionaire new to professional politics who wants to displace Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson in the U.S. Senate.

He's supremely confident that he will do that very thing.

"There is quite an undercurrent in my favor now," he said Friday in an interview.

"I'm going to carry my part of the state—San Antonio south—by two or three to one because people there don't approve of the method my opponent took office. And that's the area that elected Lyndon last time."

"Why do you want to be U.S. Senator in place of Senator Johnson?", Dougherty was asked.

"This country has been good to me and my family," he answered promptly. "I feel that I owe all the service I can render. I think I can render the most service by defeating Lyndon Johnson and serving in the Senate."

He continued:

"I've done the Democrats of Texas a favor, a real service, by giving them a choice of candidates and allowing them to register approval or disapproval at the polls of his election in 1948."

Johnson defeated Former Gov. Coke Stevenson, now campaigning for Dougherty, by an 87-vote margin in 1948. Stevenson charged fraud but every contest he made against Johnson's seating was turned down. Johnson became senior U.S. Senator from Texas upon the retirement of Tom Connally in 1952 and was elected Minority Leader by Democratic colleagues.

"They were going to run him for vice president in 1956," Dougherty looked his questioners in the eye and continued:

"I was the one person in the state able to make a race against Johnson . . . who doesn't care what George Parr or Herman Brown think about it.

"I think Herman Brown has the first mortgage and George Parr the second mortgage on the soul of Lyndon Johnson. Brown is the money for Johnson; George is the votes."

Parr is the South Texas political boss, king-pin of the hot, dusty 79th Judicial District.

Brown is a member of the firm of Brown-Root Construction Co. of Houston.

Dougherty tells the story of Jim Wells County Box 13 in the 1948 senatorial election like this:

"Johnson lost to Stevenson by 112 votes in 1948 if you count 7,000 votes that were cast in Duval County. That was an 'adjusted' count, but it wasn't enough.

"When they were sure no more votes were out, they brought in enough from Box 13 to give Johnson victory by 87 votes."

"I said I was going to tell the voters about the sorry story of Box 13 and this is it."

Asked if he thought Johnson would make an active campaign or stay in Washington to attend to his Senate duties, Dougherty sniffed:

"Hell, he's campaigning plenty! "He's been down here five times. . . . He's been down here nearly every weekend.

"I'll bring them all down again, too. And he spends enough on postage at government expense to keep a post office—like they've been closing for 'economy' reasons—open for a year.

"I'm going to win!"

His friends stand around and nod agreement, like they believe him.

Dougherty is tall, slender, slightly gray and looks older than his 30 years. He served in the 53rd Legislature and during the recent special session as Representative from Bee, Karnes and Wilson counties.

He quit the University of Texas at 19 to join the Army as a private and came out 35 months later, still a private. Back of him, he says, was hair-raising combat experience from Omaha Beach to the Battle of the Ruhr.

He and his wife, married in 1950, live on a ranch near Normanna, Tex., 10 miles north of Beeville with their two children—Jimmie, 2½, and Patricia, 1.

Mrs. Dougherty is a petite, raven-haired former Bluebonnet Belle at the University of Texas, the former Patricia Calhoun of Goliad.

Since his father's death, Dougherty has managed a prosperous oil and ranching business in South Texas. He says frankly that he is wealthy.

$10,475 Asked In Compensation Suit

Porter E. Powell has filed suit against Standard Insurance Company in 118th District Court, asking judgment for $10,475.

Plaintiff asks $10,025 as compensation for injuries and $450 to defray medical expenses. He alleges he is due compensation for back injuries suffered Jan. 28 in a fall from a truck.

Powell's petition says that the fall occurred as Powell dodged equipment which came loose as work was being performed on a derrick substructure.

Candidate Requests Voters To Bring 'Rumors' To Him

Dale Lane, candidate for sheriff, asked voters of the Elbow community Friday night to come to him with "any rumors" which they might hear concerning his candidacy.

Approximately 25 office seekers were on hand for the political rally held at the Elbow school under sponsorship of the Elbow Home Demonstration Club. Lee Porter, chairman of political activities for Howard County candidates, conducted the rally.

Lane said that if he is elected sheriff there will be "no dictation" of policy from the "north side or the south side." He said there would be no blame placed on deputies for any errors made in the office.

The candidate stated also that he "wouldn't expect the county to pay his room and board" as sheriff. He said he is running on his "record and qualifications."

Cecil Nabors, candidate for county judge, told the Elbow voters that "being a lawyer is no qualification for being county judge."

Other candidates confined their remarks to expressions of pleasure at being present and to solicitations for votes.

This week's rally will be held Friday at the Knott School. Schedule for the remainder of the campaign calls for rallies at Forsan, July 9; Midway, July 14; Coahoma, July 16; and Big Spring, July 23.

Two Will Attend ATC Conference

Col. Fred M. Dean, commander of Webb Air Force Base, and R. W. Whipkey, publisher of The Herald, are leaving Monday for Scott Air Force Base, Ill., to attend a Commanders Conference conducted by the Air Training Command.

Civilians in various cities where Air Force Bases are located have been invited to accompany base commanders for a period of indoctrination and information on the over-all mission and results of the Air Force training program.

The conference coincides with special ceremonies marking the retirement from active duty of Lt. Gen. Robert W. Harper, commander of ATC, who is going into civilian life as of June 30. General Harper plans to engage in the practice of law at Harlingen.

General Harper was in Big Spring for the formal opening and dedication of Webb Air Force Base.

Italian Irrigation

ROME, June 26 (AP) — Premier Mario Sceiba's government plans to spend 56 million dollars over the next five years on an irrigation project to step up Italy's farm production. The aim is to complete a program started with U.S. European Recovery funds.

Engine Failure Forces Jet Down

Complete power failure occasioned a forced landing at Webb Air Force Base on Friday afternoon.

Lt. John W. Griffith was on a solo training flight when the T-33 jet trainer he was flying had complete engine failure. He also experienced hydraulic failure as he attempted to put the plane down on the runway. So he took to the turf beside the landing strip with wheels up. The plane experienced heavy damage but Lt. Griffith was unhurt.

Pfluger Reunion Set Near Austin

PFLUGERVILLE, Tex., June 26 (AP)—Descendants of Henry Pfluger—some 400 of them—will gather here July 4 for the nineteenth annual Pfluger reunion.

There are over 1,500 descendants of the German emigrant who came to Texas over 100 years ago and settled near this rural community located 10 miles north of Austin.

The Pfluger clan comes from all parts of the state for the reunion, some from out of state although the majority live within a radius of 100 miles of Pflugerville.

Serving as general chairman of the reunion this year is Kermit Westerholm, sports writer for the Austin American-Statesman. He married into the Pfluger clan.

The Governor Visits ----

As busy a schedule as was ever filled in Big Spring by a chief executive of the state was on the calendar this past week for Gov. Allan Shivers.

On a one-day visit, he addressed a graduating class at Webb Air Force Base, spoke before the Kiwanis Club, participated in a radio interview, was honor guest at a reception given in the home of Mrs. Norman Read for members of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, and was the principal speaker in the evening at the annual barbecue staged at the City Park by the Big Spring A&M Club.

In most of his appearances, the Governor was "non-political," bringing greetings in his capacity as Texas' executive leader. He shook hundreds of hands, exchanged hundreds of greetings, and by the conclusion of the night's program asserted that he had had a wonderful day of friendship in Big Spring.

The Governor Speaks

WITH THE AGGIES — A&M ex-students were hosts to Governor Shivers as they also played host to some 2,000 people at a barbecue Thursday evening. With the governor, left to right: Don Newsom, president of the A&M Club; Hayes Stripling Jr., secretary; Carlton Chapman and Grady Lane.

Lynn Mitchell Becomes Bride Of Richard Moore In Semi-Formal Rites

At a semi-formal, double ring ceremony Saturday evening, June 26 at 8 o'clock, in the First Christian Church, Bobbie Lynn Mitchell became the bride of Richard Sidney Moore of McCamey. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Mitchell, 1310 Wood, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Moore of McCamey.

The Rev. W. I. Lee of the Friendship Baptist Church of Odessa read the ceremony. The altar was decorated with a white wrought iron arch flanked with fern and candelabra. Floral arrangements of yellow gladioli in white wrought iron aisle markers adorned with yellow satin ribbon were also part of the decorations.

Betty Earley supplied the organ music, and Judge George of Irving was the vocalist. He sang Malotte's "Lord's Prayer" and "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white waltz length gown fashioned from imported French Chantilly lace. The fitted jacket with its pointed sleeves buttoned from a high collar. Graceful petals over satin and nylon tulle were formed by the lace in the skirt. Her finger tip veil of illusion fell from a lace half-hat which was illumined with sequins and tiny seed pearls. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible with garlands of white French carnations.

For something old, the bride wore a bracelet belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. R. M. Mitchell of Denton. Something borrowed was the traditional lucky penny which was minted in 1907 and belongs to Mrs. Bill Ward.

Maid of honor was Georgia McElroy of Alpine. She wore a green antique taffeta dress with a petal point neckline and flared skirt. She carried a bouquet of yellow flowers. The bridesmaids were June Cook, cousin of the bride, Marie Petty, and Della Goodwin of Sundown. Junior bridesmaid was Judy Mitchell, sister of the bride. They all wore pastel yellow antique taffeta dresses designed like the maid of honor's, and they carried bouquets of small green flowers.

Bill Hudson of Port Arthur was best man. Groomsmen were Mike Bayless, Irving; Maurice Mullins, Lubbock; Bob Watkins, Amarillo; and Gene Mitchell, brother of the bride. Sally Rowell of Iraan, niece of the groom, was flower girl. Candlelighters were Gene Mitchell and Maurice Mullins.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor. In the receiving line were Mrs. A. G. Mitchell, Mrs. A. M. Moore, the bride and bridegroom, the maid of honor, and the four bridesmaids.

The table was laid with a pastel yellow organdy table cloth on which was centered an arrangement of small yellow daisies. A miniature bride and groom topped the three tiered wedding cake, and lime punch was served from a crysta' bowl. Mrs. M. A. Cook, Mrs. Hugh Straughan, and Mrs. Judge George served. In charge of the register was Mrs. J. B. Rowell, sister of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore are on their wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado. For traveling, she wore a slate-grey shantung suit styled with a box jacket. She wore white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The couple will make their home in Lubbock where they will attend Texas Tech. The bride is a senior home economics major at that school. She is also a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority and the Junior Council. Her husband is a senior mechanical engineering major and a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity and the Veteran's Club. He is now employed by Dowell Chemical Co.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Moore and sons from Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cook, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. George and Becky of Irving, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Straughan of McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rowell of Iraan, Ann Hogg, Billie Jean Ward, and Margaret Ammer of Monahans, Lillie Tomlison of Van Horn, Cappy Brown of Rocksprings, Georgia Daniel of Toyah, Tim Russell of Port Arthur, Gus Ellis of Plains and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Smith of Dallas.

Center Of Interest

Frank Dunlap is always sure of the undivided attention of his whole family when he starts working on his fishing tackle. Doug, 5, Clark, 4, and Danny, 10, are apt pupils in this art of fishing, and Cynthia Sue, 15 months old, looks as if she might take a hand in the work if it were not for the fact that she is just too far away from it.

Cpl. Batson On Leave In Ackerly

ACKERLY — Cpl. Gale Batson has been assigned to Headquarters Company at Camp Hood. Cpl. Batson has been on 30-day leave since returning from Eniwetok Island. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Batson, and his wife is the former Doris Jo Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayless Brown left recently for Tyler to visit relatives.

Ed Hall took his father, Frank Hall, to San Angelo recently for a check-up at Shannon Hospital before going to Corpus Christi for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Hogg and Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Bristow are in Fort Worth attending the Butane Dealers State Convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brown and Judy K. left Friday to visit in Wichita Falls.

Cool Reception Given Dunlaps By Heater

Rember how hot it was a week ago yesterday? Just imagine how you would have felt to have arrived at your new home to find no hot water heater—and with four children—all wanting baths. Well, maybe, needing baths, then, if "wanting" isn't the right word.

That was the predicament of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunlap, who got just such a start, on their arrival from Abilene. He is with Mathis Studio, and she helps with the retouching of the pictures they make. Besides that, Mrs. Dunlap likes to paint and her favorite subjects are—you guessed it—their children!

Mr. Dunlap's main hobby is fishing, but like the postman, who always goes for a walk, he does quite a bit of photography as a hobby. He has gained 12 merit badges toward a master's degree in photography, which puts him well on his way, since 25 are needed for the degree.

Mrs. Dunlap likes to go fishing, but she says that she can only "baby-sit," since all the children are too small to trust around water. Cynthia Sue, 15 months old, and the only girl among three boys, has a good start to becoming a tomboy, according to her mother.

After just a week in their home, there is still quite a bit of straightening to do, grass to get started and curtains to hang. However, when they get a little more settled, Mrs. Dunlap hopes to join a bridge club as she lists playing bridge among her favorite pastimes.

Vacation Bible School Ends Friday

FORSAN—Graduation exercises for the Vacation Bible School were held here Friday evening. Mrs. H. N. Nixon, superintendent, gave certificates to 35 pupils after the program, which was given by various departments.

Visiting relatives here are Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Scudday of Rankin.

Beverly Jo Cissna of Odessa is spending a week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cardwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Long are in Mangum, Okla, visiting her relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Long of Fabens have returned to their home after a visit with his brother, C. B. Long, and Mrs. Long.

Church Women Make Plans For Recreation Center

The United Council of Church Women met in the home of Mrs. A. C. Bass Thursday for a luncheon. Mrs. Friend Talbott, vice president, presided over the business meeting.

Plans concerning the Westside Recreation Center were discussed. A redecorating program has been launched for the center, and the Women of the First Presbyterian Church made new curtains for the building. The Council has purchased a record player, records, a stand, and a piano for the center from the Sylvia Laymun Memorial Fund, and they are making plans to buy a drinking fountain from the fund next.

The children are also in need of comic books and more records at the center. If anyone can supply any of these articles, you are asked to contact Mrs. J. C. Graves. Any help in this matter will be greatly appreciated.

The Wesley Methodist Church has been in charge of the center for the month of June. Parties were given for the children and a choral club entertained. The First Methodist Church will have the overseeing of the center for July. Beginning the week of June 28, St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and the Jewish Sisterhood will be in charge of the center. The Episcopal Church and the Park Methodist Church will have the week beginning July 6; the First Presbyterian Church will have the week beginning July 12; the week starting July 19 will be under the leadership of the First Methodist Church; and the First Christian Church will be in charge the week beginning July 26.

The Council of Church Women is working with the YMCA for the recreation program.

TEL Class Meets In Littlejohn Home

Secret pal gifts were exchanged at a meeting of the TEL Sunday School Class of the Temple Baptist Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. H. J. Littlejohn.

The opening prayer was offered by Mrs. Ross Callihan and the devotion was given by Mrs. Dalton Johnston. The closing prayer was said by Mrs. W. E. Pate.

A short business meeting was held, and refreshments were served to 10 members.

Shower Given For Mrs. Robert Hill

An arrangement of pink and blue daisies surrounding a small bassinet decorated the tea table for the shower given Friday for Mrs. Robert C. Hill. Co-hostesses for the affair, which was held in the home of Mrs. Sidney Boyles, were Mrs. Bill Tune, Mrs. B. J. Cauble, Mrs. Joe Pendleton, Mrs. Joe Connally and Mrs. Ed Black.

Spring and summer flowers were used in the entertaining rooms, where about 35 guests called during the tea hour.

Pink, Blue Shower Honors Mrs. Martin

Minature pink diapers were used as favors at a pink and blue shower honoring Mrs. Harold Martin in the home of Mrs. Billy Plew, 1211 Runnels. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Willie Daniels, Mrs. Joe Connally, and Mrs. Nokie Bedell.

Punch and cake was served to the 16 ladies present. The serving table was laid with a pink cloth.

Les Hancox Honored At Turtle Club Party

The Turtle Club had a weiner roast and picnic at the City Park Thursday night. It was also a farewell party for Les Hancox, who is going back to his home at Hoboken, N. J. A white cake with "Turtle Club 53-54" written on it in chocolate was served.

Four guests, Charlie Pond, Gulen Land, Bill Palmer and Laurina Schiltz, were present. Eight other members attended. Following the picnic, the members and guests danced on the park pavilion.

DeMolays To Dance

Invitations have been issued to DeMolay members and prospective members to a formal dance to be given Monday at 8 p.m. at the Country Club. Music will be furnished by Joe Williamson and his Orchestra, and refreshments will be served by the DeMolay Mothers Club.

MRS. JOHN P. TUNNELL

John Tunnell Of Stanton Weds Penny Hill, Robstown

Penny Ernestine Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hill of Robstown, became the bride of Johnny Preston Tunnell in rites held at the First Methodist Church Wednesday, June 23, at seven o'clock in the evening.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tunnell of Stanton.

Rev. Raymond E. Wilson, pastor, officiated.

Baskets of pink gladioli were set in a background of fern trees at the altar. Wrought iron candelabra held pink nuptial tapers. The chancel rail was draped with greenery, flowers and ribbons.

Mrs. C. W. Homeyer was organist and accompanied Miss Jackie Sue Burroughs who sang "O, Promise Me" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Joan Stephen was maid of honor. She wore a gown of yellow nylon tulle and carried a bouquet of orchid asters.

Bridesmaids were Misses Tena Wood, Zula Marie Cates and Rhea Louise Gracey. They wore dresses of nylon tulle in rainbow colors. Their cascade bouquets were of pink asters with matching puffs and streamers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a traditional gown of blush pink imported chantilly lace over nylon tulle and bridal satin. The smoothly molded bodice of lace was fashioned with an off-shoulder neckline set on a yoke of sheer illusion with appliqued scallops of the lace. It was fastened in the back with tiny lace covered buttons. The long lace sleeves ending in petal points over her hands were finished with appliqued lace motifs and were also fastened with covered buttons.

The very full gathered skirt of lace joined the bodice in a V in front and back and was worn over hoops and crinolines. The scalloped lace fell over a hand rolled dust ruffle of tulle and extended into a full chapel train. Her Juliet cap of hand smocked blush illusion was caught with double pearls and outlined with pearl flowered beading which held her tiered veil of French silk illusion.

The bride wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

She carried a cascade bouquet of Frenched carnations, stephonotis, and lily-of-the-valley centered with a white orchid with matching puffs and streamers.

Vernon Cannon of Big Spring was best man. Groomsmen were Richard Chrisly, Frank E. Wren and V. F. Fogarty of Kingsville. Ushers were Tony Hill, brother of the bride, and L. R. Gift of Kingsville.

A reception was held at Riverside Country Club immediately following the ceremony. The pink wedding theme was repeated in the decorations at the reception. Guests were greeted at the door by the wedding party and the parents of the bride and groom.

The bride's table had a full pink skirt with white organdy cloth. Pink roses in an epergne formed the centerpiece. The wedding cake was three-tiered and topped with a miniature bride and groom. It was iced in pale pink and embossed with spun-sugar roses in a darker shade of pink, lily-of-the-valley and orchids.

Baskets of pink gladioli were used about the lounge. The bride's bouquet appointed the register table, where Miss Joan Paschal presided.

For traveling, the bride wore a costume suit of avocado green imported linen with beige accessories. Her corsage was of green orchids.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans and a tour of the Southern States, the couple will be at home in Stanton, Tex.

The bride is a graduate of Robstown High School. The groom is a graduate of Stanton High School and attended Texas Tech in Lubbock. He served four years in the U. S. Navy, spending two years in Hawaii. He is engaged in farming and ranching.

Summer Brightness May Harm Eyes

Summer is a time of accidents for your eyes, says the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

In the first place, sunlight and sea water may be harmful.

Too much time in the water may bring eye irritation, even if the water is clean. Excessive sunlight lowers the sensitivity of your eyes to dim or artificial light, cause of many a summer automobile accident.

Cinders may cause eye infections. If gently pulling the upper lid over the lower lid doesn't remove the cinder, see a physician as soon as possible.

Sunglasses are helpful, says the Society, but even wearing glasses you should never look directly at the sun. Although tinted glasses are good for the day, they are hazardous for night driving.

Informal Party At Country Club

About 30 women of the Country Club gathered in the shade of the trees Friday morning for an informal party at the club with the following hostesses: Mrs. J. E. Hogan, Mrs. Obie Bristow, Mrs. Carl Storm and Mrs. Charles Long.

Guests were served from a table spread with a brown linen cloth and decorated with scarlet gladiola in a bamboo birdcage Yellow birds were bright bits of color among the flowers. Soft drinks were served from a copper bucket filled with ice. Mrs. Earl Reynolds and Mrs. Bill French presided at the table.

Protect Glasses

To make sure junior doesn't break or lose his glasses, sew a loop of cloth or leather near the top of a standard openend eyewear case. This way it can be worn on the belt like a holster.

The chapter room and entertaining hall were decorated, in the theme of "Hitch Your Wagon to a Star." Refreshments of punch and cookies were served to approximately 240 guests from Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Lamesa, Coahoma, Sweetwater, San Angelo, Snyder, Ft. Worth, Colorado City, Stanton, Sterling City, Lubbock and Slaton.

Barbara Meador And James Tibbs Marry In Home Ceremony

In the home of her grandmother, Mrs. S. M. Barbee, Barbara Meador became the bride of James Tibbs Friday morning, June 25, at 7 o'clock. Cecil Nabors, uncle of the bride, read the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Meador, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tibbs.

A beige and green shantung dress was the wedding attire of the bride. With this she wore a white carnation corsage. Following their wedding trip to Carisbad, N. M., the couple will make their home at 510 Benton.

Mrs. Tibbs attended Big Spring High School where she was a member of the Tri-Hi-Y Club and the Rainbow Girls. Her husband is a 1954 graduate of the school and is now employed at Scurlock Oil Co.

Wedding Planned

Mrs. David L. Tallant of Abilene is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Melba Ruth, to L. E. "Doc" Malone, 1255½ Santos St., Abilene. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. L. G. Malone, 607 State St., Big Spring. They will be married July 24 in the chapel of the First Baptist Church. Dr. E. L. Skiles, pastor will read the double ring ceremony at 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Simmons received a call from their son, Melvin Eugene Simmons, who is in Norfolk, Va. He has recently returned from Cuba and will be home sometime in July.

MRS. LIZZIE CAMPBELL

Mrs. Campbell Plans 90th Birthday Party

There will be three generations with Mrs. Lizzie Campbell today to help her celebrate her 90th birthday. Mrs. W. M. Gage, Mrs. Campbell's daughter, will have a tea for a few friends too, in honor of her mother this afternoon from 3:30 to 5.

Mrs. Cleo Hahn, Mrs. R. L. Heith and Mrs. Clayton Bettle, daughters of Mrs. Gage, will assist with the tea. Another in the houseparty will be Mrs. Raymond Dunagan.

The table will be decorated with summer flowers and centered with the pink and white birthday cake, with candles on each side. Guests will be registered in a special book.

Mrs. Campbell was born in Tennessee but she moved to Texas "a long time ago." Until 10 years ago, she lived in Austin, where she was a leader in Eastern Star work. She has continued her work here after moving to 1200 Nolan, where she still keeps her home and does her own housework.

Charlene Boyd, Jerry Fullen Wed In Church Ceremony

Before an improvised altar of two candelabras, a basket of white gladioli, and two fern trees, Dr. R. Gage Lloyd read the ceremony which united Eva Charlene Boyd and Jerry Fullen in marriage Saturday evening, June 26, at 8:30 o'clock. The informal, double ring ceremony took place in the sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Boyd, 606 E. 15th, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A Fullen of Forsan.

A blue ballerina length nylon taffeta topped with nylon net was the bride's wedding dress. The dress was accented with a short sleeved nylon net bolero. For something old, she wore gold heart necklace belonging to her great grandmother. Her dress was new, she borrowed a rhinestone bracelet belonging to Jane Robinson, and she wore a blue garter. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations.

Frankie Geneva Boyd, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a pink linen dress and blue carnation corsage. Best man was James C. Cauble Jr., and Letitia Slemmons of Amherst was candlelighter. Selected piano numbers were furnished by Robert Gay.

MRS. JERRY FULLEN

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The refreshment table was decorated with an arrangement of white and blue Marconi daisies. Cake and punch was served.

Mrs. Fullen is a 1953 graduate of Big Spring High School, and this past year, she attended Texas Tech at Lubbock. Her husband was graduated from Forsan High School in 1953. He is employed by Phillips 66. The couple will make their home at 608 E. 15th.

Rehearsal Is Set For Beauty Contest

Applications for entries in the Miss Big Spring and Miss Howard County contests have been delivered to the judges for study before the final judging takes place on July 5. On July 2, there will be a dress rehearsal of contestants at 7 p.m. at the amphitheater, and escorts will be assigned to the girls.

On the final night, judging will be based on appearance and poise as well as talent and qualification. This contest is an annual affair, held on the evening of the Fourth of July fireworks display, and sponsored by the B&PW Club.

Mrs. Compton Ends Vacation Trip

Mrs. H. M. Compton and her grandson, Chip Compton, are to return home today at the end of a three-week vacation spent visiting friends and relatives in South and Central Texas.

Mrs. Compton visited in San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Houston, Galveston and returned to San Angelo Sunday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Alfred Bettley. In Houston, Mrs. Compton visited her sister, Mrs. A. M. Goodyear.

Eager Beaver Club

Plans were made for a chicken barbecue on Friday evening when the Eager Beaver Sewing Club met in the home of Mrs. R. P. Morton Friday. The party will be a family affair and members will meet at the City Park. Mrs. A. R. Jernigan will be hostess.

Rebekahs Have Supper

Twenty - seven members and their families attended the covered dish supper held Friday evening by the Rebekah Lodge in the IOOF Hall. After the dinner, cassets and "42" were the entertainment for the group.

New Serving Interest For Cream Meat

Having a roast for dinner tonight? If so, then you'll probably plan to have repeat performances in the next day or two. Creamed meats are always popular for leftovers, and they lead a varied life. One time they may be served over toast or hot split biscuits. On another occasion, they make the perfect filling for hollowed hard rolls.

Cream puffs are borrowed from the dessert course to fit into the main course—with creamed meat cubes. In place of the creamy dessert filling, luncheon meat or ham in sauce are the tasty filling. Cooked egg noodles are still another basis for creamed meat cubes. Top the noodles with the meat in sauce, then arrange hard-cooked egg slices over the meat for an attractive platter serving.

Gift Tea Given For Mrs. Ratliff

GARDEN CITY—Mrs. Durwood Ratliff, the former Frances White, was honored Thursday afternoon at a gift tea in the home of Mrs. Stephen Currie. Marceline Gill registered the guests. Mrs. Richard Johnson of Aspermont and Mrs. Clyde Reynolds served at the tea table, which was laid with a white cutwork Maderia cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink carnations. Appointments were of crystal and silver.

Others in the house party were Mrs. Lester Ratliff of Texon, Theora Calverley, and Kay Mitchell. Forty-five guests were present.

MARGY KEATON

DRESS PARADE

Included in the "party section" of Margy Keaton's college wardrobe for next fall is this full length formal of ice blue taffeta topped with ice blue net. The bodice is set with satin leaves with rhinestones. The leaves also form an arch down the side of the full gathered skirt. For accessories she chooses white plastic ear screws and bracelet set with rhinestones. Margy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Keaton, 416 Dallas, will attend Christian College, a junior college for young women, in Columbia, Missouri, next year.

• • •

At the Indoor Sports luncheon recently, Mrs. James Horton wore a pale green linen dress with tiny brown figures. The dress, fashioned with a cowl neckline and a bow at the back of the neck, had a gored skirt with pleats in front and back. Her bag and pumps were of brown kid.

Mrs. Joe Roberts attended the same luncheon in a navy sleeveless dress with a flared skirt. The collar and armholes were piped with narrow white braid. She wore a navy off-face sailor with tiny white flowers on the brim. Her ear screws were of navy plastic set with rhinestones, and her bag and pumps were blue.

A linen shirtdress of green and black check on white was worn by Mrs. John Davis to a WSCS luncheon. The dress was styled with white buttons on the sleeves and down the front. For her accessories she chose a black bag and pumps.

At the B&PW dinner and the ceremony installing her as president, Besie Love wore a cotton in charcoal gray, relieved with pale blue satin finish stripes. The skirt was pleated onto the fitted bodice, which was made with a low scooped neckline. Top of the scoop was filled in with material to match the stripe and the same was used to finish the short sleeves. Tiny rhinestone buttons on the sleeves and in the front matched her necklace and earrings.

At the same dinner, Mrs. Lina Flewellen wore a pastel pink sheath dress, with matching stole. The wide scalloped neckline was trimmed with white daisies,which were also on the ends of the stole. A pearl choker and earbobs, white bag and pumps completed her costume.

Acting as mistress of ceremonies for the B&PW dinner, Mrs. Hubert Johnson was wearing a white pique dress, with flared skirt. From a pocket, a cerise handkerchief added a bright touch of color. Her only jewelry was rhinestone earbobs. Her pumps were white.

Poison Ivy

Summertime is also poison ivy time for campers, picnickers and families working on home grounds.

Since these poisonous plants are found in practically all parts of the country, it's a good safety measure to know them on sight.

One thing to watch is the leaves —only one three-parted leaf leads off from each joint on the stem. They never appear in pairs along the stem. Plants on home grounds should be eradicated, either by chemical or mechanical means.

If you've stored homemade mayonnaise in too cold a place, and it curdles, you can recondition it. Just put an egg yolk in a bowl and beat it slightly; now add the curdled mayonnaise a little at a time, beating it in thoroughly as you do so.

Cool Ideas For June Desserts

June—the month of brides—the time for entertaining! If you're honoring a prospective bride, here are two dessert suggestions that are sure to win favor when it's refreshment time.

They're both desserts to put on your refreshment list when it's time to entertain, and incidentally ones to pass on to the bride-to-be for her own recipe collection.

A tasty peppermint frozen dessert in a sponge ring is made with vanillin flavored freezing mix. For economy, use evaporated milk.

Fruit flavored sherbet mix is a perfect partner with the first fresh fruits of the season—not only flavor-wise, but color-wise too.

And sherbets are so easy to make, you just add milk and water. Use any one of the three flavors—lemon, orange or imitation raspberry.

SHERBET FRUIT CUP

Select fresh fruit such as peaches, bananas, pineapple, strawberries or raspberries for fruit cup. Combine and chill thoroughly. Serve in your prettiest dessert dishes or sherbet glasses. Top with a generous spoonful of sherbet—made with either of the 3 flavors of sherbet mix. Crisp cookies are a nice accompaniment.

SHERBET

1 cup milk
1 cup water
1 package sherbet mix (lemon, orange or raspberry)

Measure milk and water into bowl. Add contents of package of sherbet mix. Beat with rotary beater until dissolved—about 2 minutes. Pour mixture into refrigerator tray and place in freezing compartment. When mixture is firmly frozen, remove from tray to bowl. Break up into small lumps with fork or potato masher. Beat with electric or hand beater until free from lumps but still a thick mush. Return to refrigerator tray and place in freezing compartment until fairly firm. If frozen too hard, place in refrigerator just below freezing compartment to soften. 4-5 servings.

Another fruit and sherbet combination we suggest for your summer entertaining is Sherbet Ambrosia. It combines orange sections, banana slices, orange sherbet and of course, coconut.

SHERBET AMBROSIA

1 package orange sherbet mix
1 cup milk
1 cup water
1 cup orange sections
1 cup sliced bananas
Shredded coconut

Measure milk and water into a bowl. Add contents of package of orange sherbet mix. Beat with rotary beater until dissolved—about 2 minutes. Pour mixture into refrigerator tray and place in freezing compartment. When mixture is firmly frozen, remove from tray to bowl. Break up into large lumps with fork. beat with rotary beater until free from lumps but still a thick mush. Return to refrigerator tray and place in freezing compartment until fairly firm. When ready to serve, divide orange sections and banana slices among 6 sherbet glasses. Top with scoop of sherbet and a few shreds of coconut.

Puzzled Over Gift For June Bride?

A gift for the bride? Bright, shiny cooking utensils are a practical and appreciated item for the brand new homemaker. Perhaps most important of all toward her meal success are meat cookery utensils. Here is the answer on what is needed for cooking meat properly.

First of all, meat cookery is divided into two basic methods, dry heat and moist heat. Under the dry heat method special equipment is needed for roasting and pan broiling. The modern way of roasting meat is uncovered on a rack in a shallow roasting pan, therefore, all she needs is a shallow roasting pan with a rack.

If her husband likes his roast beef cooked to the rare stage, there's nothing quite so sad as for the beef to come from the oven well done. The bride need not worry about this unfortunate occurrence when one of her gifts is a roast meat thermometer. She inserts it in the thickest section of the roast (not on bone, or in fat) before the meat goes in the oven.

For panbrolling as well as frying, a heavy frying-pan is needed. A heavy utensil is recommended because it assures even distribution of heat.

Go, Man, Go!

Tom Guin and Mary Lane Edwards "go wild" (in an orderly sort of way), as they do some of that bopping. The dance is another fad like the Charleston of yesteryear.

Hair Care Is Personal Project Now

The do-it-yourself craze has gone to most women's heads. A survey of more than 1,500 women concludes that 96 per cent of them regularly do their own hair grooming.

Hair care includes shampooing, conditioning, setting, massaging and use of tonics and home permanents. According to the survey, prepared by a beauty institute, many women feel personal hair conditioning is practical.

Sixty per cent of the women questioned live in urban areas, 40 per cent in rural sections. Income seemed to have little influence on the frequency of home care: 32 per cent of the women were over the $5,000 bracket, 31 per cent from $3,000 to $5,000, 37 per cent under $3,000.

Wide differences are shown in methods of using hair preparations successfully. Some women use them before or after shampoolngs, and some between washings.

Recommended by the institute is a pre-shampoo treatment with a pure petrolatum hair tonic and a hot oil method which calls for steaming the head with hot, wrung-out towels.

The national survey, which took six months to complete, reports many women make the mistake of dousing the head with oil. Tonics should be used sparingly, just enough to lubricate the dry ends and give the hair a gloss.

Customs in hair care vary with age, dwelling and geography, the survey shows. Home grooming is more popular with Westerners, Southerners, farm women and women over 30 years old.

City-dwellers, young women and Easterners tend more toward professional hair care.

The Bop, Latest Dance Rage, Is The Most To Say The Least

By LIBBY JONES

Something for cool cats only, a new dance craze has taken over Big Spring. It's a hot dance called the bop.

This new style of dancing is nothing like anything that has ever gone before it. Perhaps one way of summing it up would be to say, "You just pretend you don't have any bones and roll your feet in time with the rhythm." Or, as someone else said, "It's just a crazy, mixed up dance."

Rhythm is one of the most important factors in doing the bop, and then of course, the cat has to be really gone. Naturally this new type of dancing calls for a new type of records. They're loud racy and full of beat and rhythm. Some of the craziest ones are "Honey Hush" "Lawdy Miss Clawdy," "Good Lovin," and "One Mint Julep."

Another new dance that is becoming popular is the "Camel Walk." It is also a rather different style of dancing—sort of a bop with a hop.

If you ever feel like seeing a bopster in action, you might drop in at the County Club some Friday night. The teen age members and their guests, with their parents as sponsors, have been having dances there every Friday night for the past month. Many of the parents get a big kick out of coming out to the Club and watching the younger set go through their paces.

There are two kinds of bopping, just the plain ole' bop and then one that is called the dirty bop. The latter justly receives much criticism, but luckily, it hasn't hit Big Spring. The plain ole' bop—well, it's just another lively dance step.

Prevent Mildew

To prevent mildew, make sure your clothes and household goods are dry and clean and stored in a dry, clean place. Basements are generally considered bad places for summer storage. Useful in preventing mildew are automatic dehumidifying appliances, electric fans, chemicals that absorb moisture and electric bulbs kept burning in small clothes closets.

Canned Apple Garnish

When you use canned apple slices you'll find all the slices are the same size because after the fruit is peeled and cored, it is mechanically sliced. Heat the canned slices with a little butter or margarine on top of the range and serve with sausage, roast pork or ham.

A Bible Thought For Today—

God's angel is constantly going before us if we but knew it. The power of the universe is with us when we are on God's side. "Mine angel shall go before thee."—Exodus 23:20.

Flood Control Has Many Angles, But The Problem Can Be Solved

A good start was made toward coming to grips with the problem of flood control in Big Spring. The meeting of representatives of several agencies, together with businessmen, here Wednesday served at least two useful purposes. One was to bring the matter into fairly clear focus; the other was to fix the basis for starting action.

The review of a survey made nearly 15 years ago was helpful in pointing out that there are really two major parts to the situation—those of flash floods resulting from brief, intense but localized rains, and those of continuing floods resulting from abnormal runoff of 1,000 acres on the watershed to the west and northwest.

As for the flash flood problem, the city will have to invest considerable funds in storm sewers, perhaps more detention dams, in participation of diversions around the northern brow and possibly some diversion on the southern flank. Coupled with this is the pesky problem of outfall—or a place to put the water when it is diverted. This gets itself into an adequate—or more adequate—central drainage channel through and away from Big Spring.

The continuing floods, which occur in great severity about once every decade, can best be minimized by detentions above the city, according to engineers. Circumstance has given some insurance in the form of a natural dam on Sulphur Draw, which so far has shielded the city from run-off of some 500 square miles (although much is highly absorbent and filled with lagunas and sinks). Each hard rain brings in its quota of sediment and silt so that basins above this natural barrier are constantly raising their floor levels and constantly increasing the threat that a flood of 1923 calibre would overflow and break this natural dam. Were that time to come, all the flooding that we have experienced heretofore would be but as child's play. Engineers say the natural embankment might be raised quite cheaply. One could be raised across Elbow, below the confluence with Mustang, to trap flood waters from the west and southwest, from whence have come our heaviest inundations.

It was mentioned at the meeting that once an over-all plan were fixed, the matter of equities could be determined as a basis for participation and action. Certainly the city has a major equity in protection of health and property and in the safety of its inhabitants. The county has a share in that residents also are citizens and voters of the county; that the source of much water and the destination of it is in areas outside corporate limits. The Texas & Pacific Railway has an interest in that floods cause recurrent damage, inconvenience and sometimes stall operations. The highway department has a stake in making sure that structures can carry intended volumes of water; the federal government perhaps has some obligation under general flood control accorded citizens everywhere and through special agencies such as the Soil Conservation Sercice which could trap water and soil in the process of conservation. This should not be too formidable a matter to apportion.

This brings us to the final, and a highly important item—that of finances. Of course the matter of equities will help bring this down into perspective for particpants. Above that, the element of time can have a salubrious effect. Not everything has to be done in the next 20 minutes. A progressive solution could spread the cost over a number of years while at the same time according priority to the things which are most urgent.

Midst Nature's Mighty Battles, Tomato Grower Hasn't A Chance

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

I was poking around my tomato vines, looking for suckers, just like the experts said.

All of a sudden, I heard a "Hey, you klunk, watch out what you're doing." Sort of a shrill voice, but one with determination. I looked and looked, trying to find the source of the outburst. Couldn't find anything, decided my ears were playing tricks on me. I poked again.

Again, "I warned you once, matey. Let's not have trouble, shall we?"

This time, I spied him—or it—doing the talking. Resting rather cozily right in the branch of my best tomato vine was a big, fat, juicy green worm.

"Are you talking to me?" I asked rather coolly. "And if so, by what right? What are you doing on my tomato vine, anyway?"

"Your tomato vine?" he countered. "Who says it's your tomato vine? Somebody just gave you a slip and you put it in your yard. Does that make you emperor of all vegetation or something? Are you up on the Justinian code of proprietary domain? You ever heard of squatters rights?"

"I certainly propose to eat the yield of this vine," I replied haughtily.

"That's a naive remark if I ever heard one, Buster," he chuckled. "Did you ever try to grow tomatoes before?"

"Well, not exactly like this," I said. "But I have been holding high hopes."

"Your hopes are in for a dashing," said this green character. "In the first place, you have not de-suckered as you should have. In the second place, you have not watered properly. In the third place—

"Oh, skip the arithmetic," I said, beginning to lose my temper. "I am going to get my spray gun after you."

"Now, let's not be juvenile," he answered. "In the first—oh, excuse me—if you did that I would merely pull on my newest-design spray-proof jacket, which would let the dope run off me, mildly tickling me in the process. And even if my jacket leaked and I got woozy, who would kill these lesser bugs and insects? They are your enemies, chum, not me."

"Run that one through again for me," I said, in some bewilderment.

"I am a worm, Bud, what eats bugs, I lie here in the crotch of this tomato vine, waiting until the pesky insects fly this way. When they get close enough to my—er,—parlor, I invite them in. In time they serve as a tasty morsel to appease my own appetite.

"If they try to swarm me, I roll over on my back, open up the microscopic claws on my 900 feet, and engage these dastards in hand-to-hand—well, close-up—combat. This becomes one of Nature's mighty battles, one of the raw exhibitions of the fight for survival. So far"—and here he faked modesty to blow upon his fingernails and rub them briskly along his chest—"I have emerged victorious. That is why you observe this fine balance of Nature within the confines of your own premises.

"I say you had better leave me be, else these insects move tomato vine, house and all. Do you get it now, Son?"

"Oh, I know, now," I exclaimed with great glee. "You have been to see 'The Living Desert' and have got yourself worked up for a drama. You're not fooling me. I'm going after my spray gun."

I did, but when I returned, Mr. Green Worm was gone. So was the biggest branch on my tomato vine.

Matter Of Fact – Stewart Alsop

Another Munich In The Making With Indochina 'Settlement'?

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower and Sir Winston Churchill meet in circumstances recalling the eve of Munich.

The personalities are certainly different, but the essence of the situation is much the same. A loss of will among the free nations has opened the way to a smashing triumph for a totalitarian aggressor. And this triumph will lead on to other triumphs, unless a firm stand can be agreed upon.

The scene of the coming triumphs of the totalitarians is of course Indochina. The new French Premier, Pierre Mendes-France, has gone to Bern to negotiate with Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-lai, in the exact condition of a man starting a difficult bridge hand without a single trump to his name.

The military-political position in Indochina hase gravely deteriorated. The French Parliament has indicated that it wants the Indochinese war ended at all cost. The Eisenhower administration, after much bold talk, has decided against trying to save Indochina by American intervention, which the French government has not asked for in any case.

For all these reasons, Chou En-lai obviously has all the strong cards while Mendes-France has none. Despite this grim fact, the French government, the British Foreign Office, and even the American State Department are cherishing the happy thought that Chou En-lai will amiably refrain from taking all the tricks on the table.

The Communist mood is said to be "reasonable." It is hoped the Communists will approve some form of partition of Indochina which can be presented as an "honorable settlement." This hope seems to have been born of Foreign Minister Anthony Eden's talks at Geneva with Chou En-lai and Vyacheslav Molotov. The chances are at least even that these talks were another clever dodge, to encourage the free nations' loss of will.

Plainly, it is far more likely that Chou En-lai will demand and insist upon what will amount to complete French surrender. The surrender may well be dressed up a little, as the Munich settlement was dressed up. Maybe parts of Indochina will not pass immediately under Communist control. In the same fashion, part of Czechoslovakia briefly retained a ghostly independence after the Munich meeting. But in the long run it seems pretty sure that the practical result will be the same.

The consequences of a complete Communist triumph in Indochina have already been clearly forecast by the entire leadership of the Eisenhower administration. Until two or three weeks ago, they were all saying that the loss of all Asia would probably result from the kind of disaster that is now in store in Indochina. To be sure, the President, the Vice President and Secretary of State Dulles are hurriedly explaining that their own earlier forecasts were far too gloomy.

Yet the hard facts on which those forecasts were based have not changed a particle. Perhaps this Administration's leadership went collectively off its rocker, in the earlier period when they were trying to nerve themselves and the country to prevent disaster in Indochina. It is much more probable that they were talking sense, and that the danger to Asia is just as great as they formerly said.

If the fate of Asia is indeed at stake, then it is no exaggeration to say that a sort of super-Munich is currently being prepared. To make matters more unattractive, there is every sign of the same sort of back-biting and unrealism that were so prominent in the Munich period.

Secretary of State Dulles has in effect charged the British government with repudiating its agreements and with desiring from the start to surrender Indochina to the Communists. Foreign Secretary Eden has now replied in diplomatic but understandable terms, that the U. S. government was always bluffing about Indochina, and that Secretary Dulles' story about repudiated agreements is not true. By the same token, the American government is sternly blaming the French for not asking us to come to their rescue; and the French government is angrily replying that we were never really ready to come to their rescue anyway.

On top of all this, the State Department has now raised the politically popular banner of "anti-colonialism." The new line seems to be that we can maintain the health and vigor of the Western Alliance while publicly attending our chief allies for the colonial enterprises which they regard as their most vital interests.

Perhaps loud talk about anti-colonialism will help to glue together some sort of Asian system of mutual defense. But no one has explained how we are to avoid paying the price for this loud talk in other regions of the world outside Asia. The main price will be a heavy further strain on the Western Alliance. And the alliance of the West is already strained almost to the breaking point, and has indeed already ceased to function.

Such is the situation with which the President and Sir Winston have had to face.

Stairs To Trouble

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) —John J. Barry says he did not fall on the stairs. He complained in a $40,000 lawsuit that the stairs fell on him. They were retractable stairs leading to a bedroom that are raised and lowered by a rope and pulley.

Snap, Snap, Snap

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP)— Richard Stepputtis climbed a tree to take some pictures. Snap went the camera. Snap went a limb. Snap went his ankle.

Law Proves Puzzle

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Virginia General Assembly left a puzzle for state officials. It fixed the mileage reimbursement for state employes at seven cents per mile in a special act. But the appropriation act states it shall not exceed six. Furthermore the appropriation act repeals all acts in conflict with it. Officials wonder what was the legislative intent.

Business Outlook—J. A. Livingston

Comfortable Level Of Prosperity Ahead; That's The Finding Of U.S. Economists

Business isn't going to be wonderful. It isn't going to be bad. It's going to get better.

That sums up the responses of 52 highly-placed American economists to my semi-annual questionnaire on the economic outlook.

As far as they're concerned, the recent recession is ancient history. A slow upturn is under way. It will continue through the rest of this year and through 1955.

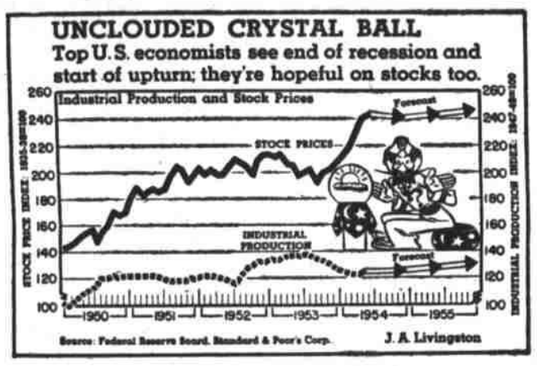

No records will be broken. No boom will bloom. We'll have a nice, comfortable level of prosperity—not as boomy as '53 but better than the early part of '54.

Ever since the end of 1952, economists have been in the groove. In December, 1952, they predicted an upturn into June, followed by a gradual decline. Perfect! Then, in June, 1953, they said the decline would gain momentum. Right again, though the drop was swifter than anticipated. Finally, in December, 1953, they began feeling for the end of the recession. So far, that's good, considering current indications of a leveling off.

The most striking feature of this mid-year forecast is its lack of a feature. Changes during the next 18 months won't raise blood pressure: Unemployment up seven per cent, or only 225,000; business spending down three per cent; production up four per cent. Even Wall Street is expected to be nonvolatile.

Stock prices are forecast down only two per cent by the end of this year. Then a slight increase is predicted for the end of 1955 (see chart). Such stability would be the milennium! Obviously, the economists are extending the present into the future.

This shows up in their attitude toward defense spending. It won't rise perceptibly, nor will it fall. It will be steady. This is in strange contrast to the recent thought wave that "Indochina would change things." Apparently, the economists are willing to take the administration at its word that we have to have a defense program we can live with for a long, long time.

They also expect business investment to slide off three per cent over the next 18 months and housing starts two per cent. So you might ask: Why, then, do they predict a rise of one per cent in industrial production by the end of year and four per cent by the end of 1955?

The answer is an inference: State and local government outlays on roads, streets, hospitals, parks and parkways, schools, and so on will go up.

The offset is so narrow, however, that total production of goods and services—gross national product—is stable for the next 12 months and then rises two per cent.

Unemployment also hardly changes. It will rise from 3,300,000 to 3,500,000 and then drop to 3,400,000. The guess is that business will absorb most of the newcomers from high school and college who join the labor force, but not all.

One government economist expressed doubts:

"If the economy is indeed in such close balance, some developments, or combination of developments, might well tip the scale in one direction or another. Maintenance of something like the present level of physical output for the next year or more would imply an increasing amount of slack in the economy. Industrial capacity is increasing, as are productivity and the labor force. Thus, with stable output there would be a noticeable rise in unemployment. Competition would exert downward pressure on prices."

In a like mood, the economist for a large bank writes: "The current signs of recovery may well turn out to be false. We do not seem to have worked out enough maladjustments to be laying the groundwork for a firm recovery as yet."

He would argue that the recent reduction in reserve requirements by the Federal Reserve Board corrobates his viewpoint. Why would the administration want to make easy money still easier except to reassure business that it, the government, is determined to keep business good?

Another bank economist took the Indochina approach: "I believe we are coming very close to war. A higher level of military expenditures is clearly inevitable. And some of my estimates are based upon the expectation that controls of one type or another will be established." A less radical expression of the same viewpoint came from an investment analyst: "I believe the economy is in better balance than generally credited. International factors might influence business. If so, I think the influence would be up rather than down."

As you might assume from the consensus on production and the stock market, the economists don't expect drastic changes in prices. Wholesale "quotes" will rise a bit—two per cent by the end of 1955. Farm prices will drop two per cent in the coming six months, then firm. The cost of living will drop three per cent in the next six months. After that breather for consumers, prices will go up in 1955.

Wage earners will fare well—in a down and up sort of way. Weekly income will slip from $71.13 to $70.67 by the end of the year, then increase to above $72 by the end of 1955. Department store sales, which reflect what workers and farmers do with their money, will follow a similar pattern — down slightly in the second half of 1954, followed by recovery in 1955.

And that's it: A pretty unclouded crystal ball.

Bible Words for Today

JOHN 15:11 — "These things have I spoken unto you that my joy might be in you, and that your joy might be full."

* * *

Christianity is a religion of life, love, hope, and also of happiness — deep, abiding happiness. Here Jesus summarizes all that He had spoken and the sum is fullness of joy.

Christianity is an overcoming religion — life overcomes death. It is a religion of love — love overcomes hate. It is a religion of hope — hope overcomes pessimism. Now life, love, and hope become a great reservoir from which Christian joy bubbles forth.

This joy is so practical. It overcomes the negative destructive forces like "nerves", "fears", and "the long face". Experience teaches that a long face shortens your list of friends. A Christian should be a veritable force of optimism. His smiling face should be a testimony that Christ lives in his heart.

Washington Calling—Marquis Childs

Many Major Differences Hurt American-British Relations

WASHINGTON — The visit of Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill and Foreign Minister Anthony Eden indicates a realization that major differences threaten the close relationship between Britain and the United States. Not alone the misunderstanding over the proposed Southeast Asia defense alliance but friction in a half-dozen critical areas has impaired the the working partnership essential to the policy of Western containment of Communist power.

British unhappiness over certain aspects of American policy has been widely advertised. Widespread in the Labor party and even among many Conservatives is a suspicion that America wanted to use the Southeast Asia alliance as a respectable cover for initiating a war against Communist China. Secretary of State Dulles' thesis of instant and massive retaliation has caused many Britishers to feel that their tight little island, used as an American base for atomic bombing of Russia, will be obliterated by Russian retaliation.

Less generally known is the acute unhappiness in Washington over many aspects of British policy.

Confronting the British Prime Minister and his Foreign Secretary, President Eisenhower and his Secretary of State planned to talk frankly about certain situations where in the American view British temporizing can hardly be tolerated longer. Further delay will almost certainly cause the kind of explosive reaction which in the Middle and Far East, and Africa, can mean the irretrievable loss of peoples and resources.

High on the American list is Egypt. For more than a year, at the insistence of the British, the United States has withheld economic aid from the Naguib-Nasser regime as London and Cairo have disputed the status of British technicians to be retailed in the Suez Canal Zone after British troops were evacuated.

Iran also has priority on the American list. There the properties and vast holdings of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company were nearly lost when fervid nationalism threatened violent revolution. Lengthy dickering has been going on over the joint Iranian-British exploitation of the fields. The British insist that the new company be incorporated in London while Premier Zahedi and his government hold out for Teheran.

In Saudi Arabia, too, a dispute over oil with the British is growing acute, although it has not yet got into the world press. In all this American policy-makers see an imminent peril to the flow of oil from the Middle East and that flow is vital to Western Europe for peace or war.

As they met in the White House, the troubled senior members of the Anglo-American partnership have taken up the European Defense Community Treaty. The British believe that EDC is dead. Although in Washington it is still considered a probability, other ways to bring Germany and German divisions into the Western community will be canvassed. Any alternative has, however, a pretty dismal look.

In many respects the meeting is long overdue. Many of the differences to be confronted have been dragging on for months, the delay being due in part to Churchill's slow recovery from his second stroke and his insistence on keeping the power of decision in his own hands. To call the meeting a showdown would be an exaggeration.

Secretary Dulles with his far-ranging knowledge recalls a series of lectures given by Joseph Stalin in the early 'twenties. In those lectures Stalin outlined the way in which the Communist conspiracy meant to under mine the so-called colonial powers in one area after another and thereby convert to Communist use peoples and resources that, in the Communist view, the West had been exploiting. This is no longer a distant threat but an imminent reality which can be ignored at the mortal peril of the West.

Confident Living—Norman Vincent Peale

Be Constructive And Useful, And You Have Found Happiness

Many years ago a young woman sat with a blind and deaf girl, using the manual alphabet to write the word "water" in the girl's hand. In an attempt to convey the meaning of the word she poured water from a pitcher on the girl's hand. Over and over again the process was repeated until suddenly a connection was made in that mind that had no eyes to see or ears to hear.

The girl was the now famous Helen Keller and the young woman was her equally famous teacher and companion, Anne Sullivan Macy. That incident of the water marked the beginning of Helen Keller's ability to communicate with the outside world. The thrilling story of her life has been told in a fascinating motion picture, "The Unconquered," now being shown for the benefit of organizations for the blind all over the world. I hope that we may all see this picture.

Eventually Anne Macy taught Helen Keller to read, and in later years Miss Keller wrote, "No barrier of the senses shuts me out from the sweet, gracious discourse of my book-friends. They talk to me without embarrassment or awkwardness." The greatest of all of Helen Keller's book-friends has been the Bible, which she reads every night in Braille before going to bed. Thanks to the discovery of how she could break through the barrier of the senses which disease destroyed in infancy, Helen Keller leads a happy and useful life against great odds. Her search for happiness was successful.

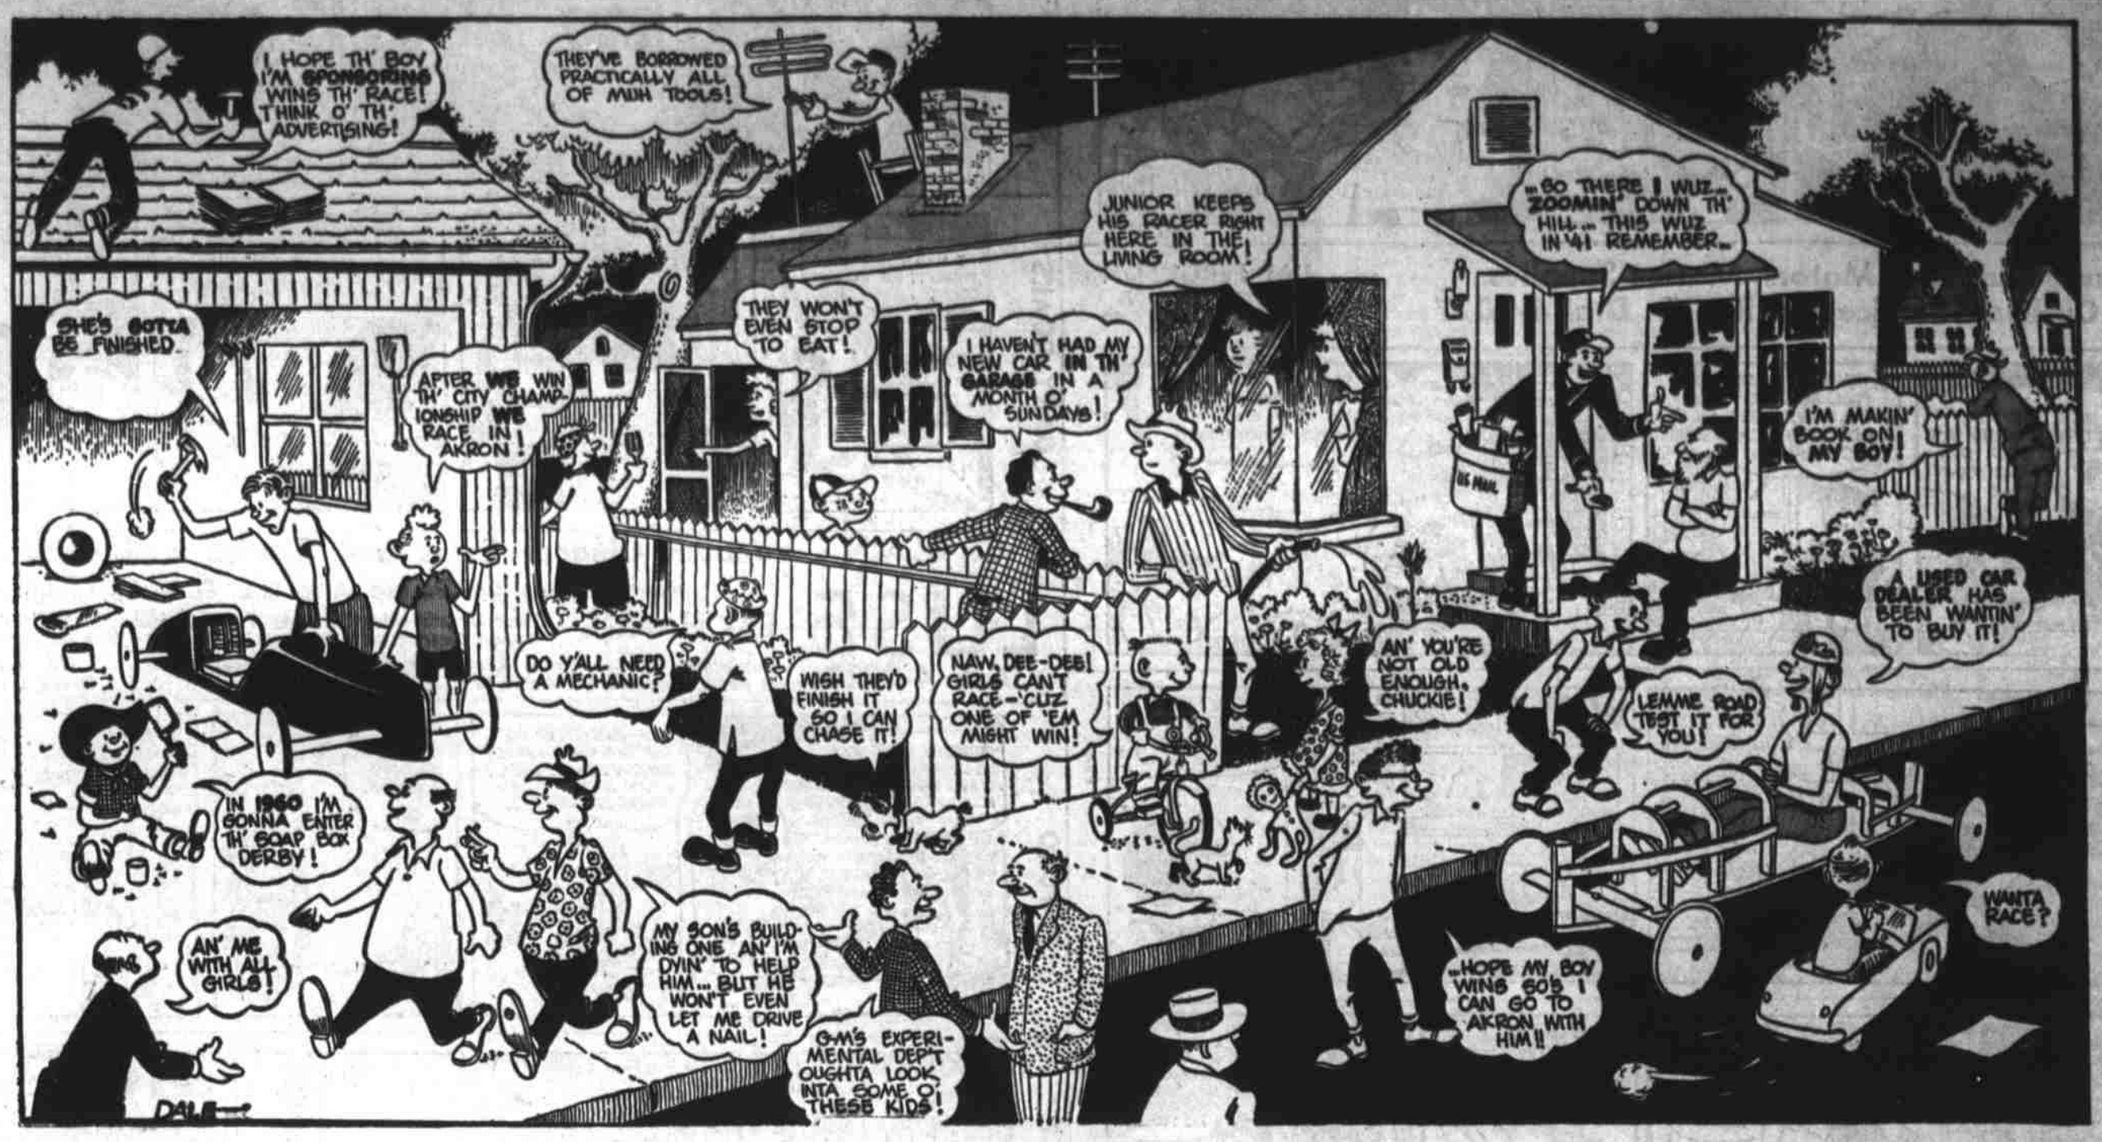

I would like to state what I am sure you will agree is a basic proposition about happiness. You cannot be happy unless you are useful, and in the highest sense you cannot be useful unless you are basically joyful. Joy unlocks your personality and sets it free, causing you to live in harmony with God and man. This liberation of the personality gives you the ability to do things that are constructive and worthwhile, and this, of course, makes you happy.

The monthly news letter of The Royal Bank of Canada, from which I have taken the title of this column, points out that this time of year sees the start of innumerable searches for happiness, for it is now that young men and women from our schools, colleges and universities set out eagerly to make their way in life, and the writer of that letter, defines the happiness they seek in lines that are worth quoting:

"Happiness arises largely from the mental qualities of contentment, confidence, serenity and active good will. It includes the pain of losing as well as the pleasure of finding. It thrives best in a crowded life. The men and women who are recorded in history and biography as most happy were people with always somewhat more to do than they could possibly do."

This is the secret of Helen Keller and people like her. It is a secret you can learn and use to guide you to your own happiness. The way to learn that secret is a simple one.

Get yourself filled with the spirit of God; which is of course the spirit of joy and usefulness. Be glad you can be useful to people and to the world. This will drive out all your gloom and sense of defeat. This will being to an end your feelings of frustration, and finally, this will help you to be truly successful in your search for happiness.

CinemaScope At The Jet

The Jet Drive-In inagurates its CinemaScope screen with a four-day showing of "The Robe," starting today. This picture, based on the long-time best selling novel by the late Lloyd C. Douglass, stars Richard Burton, Jean Simmons and Victor Mature. In the above scene Burton is shopping at the slave market in Rome.

Where Adventure Never Ends

Peter Pan is shown bravely fighting the dastardly Captain Hook in a scene from the Walt Disney film "Peter Pan," which shows Tuesday and Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre. The film is based on the famed play by James M. Barrie about Never-Never Land, the land of imagination where adventure never ends. The movie is in Technicolor.

'Them' Thriller Will Show At Ritz Theatre

Showing Thursday through Saturday at the Ritz Theatre is the science fiction thriller "Them!" Starring in this Warner Bros. shocker are James Whitmore, Edmund Gwenn, Joan Weldon and James Arness.

Mysterious killings in California's Mojave Desert result in a government investigation. A scientist, played by Gwenn, discovers gruesome monsters responsible for the devastation were the result of the lingering radiation of an atomic burst.

From that moment on, the measures taken to wipe out the horde of strange creatures, make up the main story of the film.

Whitmore plays the rugged State Police trooper who first discovers "Them." Miss Weldon plays Gwenn's most attractive assistant. Arness plays an FBI agent assigned to catch "Them."

Most of the picture was filmed on location in the hot desert or on the streets of Los Angeles.

The background music is in keeping with the spirit of the picture. Bronislau Kaper, this year's Academy Award winner, fashioned a score using unusual musical instruments and the newest electronic sound amplifying equipment.

'Stalag 17' To Show

"Stalag 17," a comedy about life in a World War II German prisoner of war camp, shows Saturday night at the Jet Drive-In.

Bill Holden stars in the film as a hard-bitten, every man for himself wheeler and dealer.

Hard To Explain

Carlos Thompson tries to explain his actions to Pier Angeli in this scene from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Flame and the Flesh," which shows today and Monday at the Ritz Theatre. What he's trying to explain is Lana Turner, who plays a lady tramp. The picture is in Technicolor.

Lana Turner Stars In 'Flame And Flesh'

Lana Turner's latest picture, "Flame and the Flesh," shows at the Ritz Theatre today and Monday. In it she appears as a girl who uses her beauty as commodity for which to get the material comforts of life. Madeline is a girl who has known many men and many cities.

In Naples the young musician, Ciccio (Bonar Colleano), succumbs to her charms and invites her to move into his lodgings. Also resident in Ciccio's apartment is his cafe singer friend, Nino (Carlos Thompson).

At first Nino is indifferent to Madeline's charms, although she makes no efforts to hide them. He is engaged to marry the shy and sheltered Lisa (played by Pier Angeli) but soon forgets his good intentions. Lisa advances the wedding date but it does no good, for on the eve of the ceremony Nino and Madeline run away.

They roam from town to town, unable to find work. Meanwhile the enraged Ciccio chases them.

The M-G-M picture is in Technicolor and was made on location in Italy. Naples, Positano and Amalfi are the sites of the film, the last two places being famed resort towns.

Joe Pasternak is the film's producer and Richard Brooks is the director. Helen Deutsch wrote the screenplay, taken from a novel by Auguste Bailly.

CinemaScopic 'Robe' Is Now At Jet Drive-In

The first West Texas drive-in to be equipped with a CinemaScope screen, Big Spring's Jet Drive-In on the San Angelo Highway, shows its first CinemaScope picture for four days starting today. The picture is "The Robe," based on the famed Lloyd C. Douglass novel about what happened to the soldier who won Christ's robe in the throw of dice on Golgotha Hill in the shadow of the Cross.

Richard Burton stars as that soldier, an officer in the Roman Army. Jean Simmons stars as the lovely Roman princess who is in love with Burton. Victor Mature stars as the Greek slave which Burton purchases in the Roman slave market to become his valet.

Background of the movie is the pomp and glory that was Imperial Rome. In the forefront is the new Christian religion spreading throughout the Empire but meeting savage persecution.

The picture is in Technicolor as well as CinemaScope. It was made by Twentieth Century-Fox, pioneers in CinemaScope, and has been a record money-maker as well as a success with the critics.

The Jet has a screen 80 feet wide now, replacing the former 56-foot screen. The new screen is curved as well, thus enabling it to show the wide-screen CinemaScope films.

'Thunder Bay' Now Showing At Terrace

Showing tonight and Monday at the Terrace Drive-In is "Thunder Bay" with James Stewart and Joanne Dru.

The film deals with the drilling of tidelands oil well off the coast of a Louisiana fishing village.

'Peter Pan' Made Into Film By Walt Disney Productions

"Peter Pan," the famed play by James M. Barrie which has delighted youngsters for fifty years, has been made into a Walt Disney feature movie.

And the picture will show at the Ritz Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

Peter is the bold, fearless, invincible and light-hearted young fellow in the whole world although no one ever sees him except in the bright light of their imagination.

Also featured are the three Darling children who fly with Peter to the famed Never-Never Land. Wendy, oldest of the three Darling youngsters, has been telling tales of Peter but Mr. Darling dismisses them as nonsense. When her papa tells her she must "grow up" and forget such fancies, she sends out one last appeal to the hero of her tales. And lo and behold, he appears.

Enabled to fly with pixie dust supplied by the little fairy, Tinker Bell, the Darlings soar away with Peter.

Others featured in the play are the terrible - tempered Captain Hook, the ticking Crocodile with his constant longing for another bite of the not-so-excellent pirate, the bumbling Smee; the roistering pirate crew and others including Indians and mermaids.

The film is in Technicolor; RKO Radio pictures distributes it.

'Long, Long Trailer' Stars Lucille Ball

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, America's favorite TV couple, return to the screen with the M-G-M comedy "The Long, Long Trailer." The two stars play newlyweds; they buy a trailer to take along on their honeymoon and find they have all kinds of trouble. The picture is in Ansco Color and features Marjorie Main in a supporting role. It shows Thursday and Friday at the Jet Drive-In.

'Lure Of Sila' Now At State

Silvano Mangamo and Vittorio Gassman star in a tale of primitive passion and a rural vendetta at the State Theatre today through Tuesday. The movie, made in Italy but with an American sound track, is called "Lure of the Sila."

The two stars are both fairly well known in America. Gassman is about as well known as any American star since he has starred in several American films. Miss Mangamo, through such pictures as "Anna" and "Bitter Rice," is also well known.

Miss Mangamo plays a lovely peasant girl who uses her charms to destroy the man she hates.

Amedeo Nazzari, a Clark Gable type, is the man she intends to doom. The reason is that she holds him responsible for her brother's death.

Gassman has the role of the unfortunate brother.

Rocket Ship Film Is Due

"Riders to the Stars," a film about three space scientists who attempt to capture a meteor and return it to earth, shows Wednesday and Thursday at the State Theatre.

Starring in this film, which is in color, are William Lundigan, Richard Carlson and Herbert Marshall. Dawn Addams and Martha Hyer have the chief feminine roles. Carlson also directed the film, which is an Ivan Tors production released through United Artists.

The three men are assigned by the Office of Scientific Investigation to try to capture a meteor and bring it back for inspection. The reason for the assignment is that the lab wants to learn what causes steel to disintegrate while rushing through outer space. This problem must be solved before space travel can become a reality. It also makes the flight to get the meteor most hazardous.

Cur Siodmak wrote the screenplay.

DRAMATIC DETAIL ADDS INTEREST

Varden Petite Designed For Smaller Women Of Fashion

Varden Petite is one of the houses in the fashion industry that has made it possible for women of smaller stature to know and experience the thrill of wearing clothes with important emphasis on styling. Not cut down, but carefully thought out to make the most of a petite woman's dimensions, this model, makes a point of using dramatic detail on an otherwise uncluttered dress. Designed to accent the bust and minimize the waist, it has a gored skirt (good hip camouflage, and interesting envelope-flapped sleeves.

This pattern, incidentally, is excellent for any short-waisted woman, regardless of height. Varden's original presentation was in a printed surah, but for wear right now it is lovely in chantung, linen, chambray or gingham. For fall taffeta or taffeta are suggested.

Size 12, bust 33, waist 26, hips 36; size 14, bust 35½, waist 27½, hips 37½; size 16, bust 38, waist 29, hips 39; size 18, bust 40, waist 31, hips 41; size 20, bust 42, waist 33, hips 43.

Size 12 requires 4¼ yards of 36-inch material for dress and ¾ yard of 35-inch material for interfacing. To order Pattern 1103, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., Box 535, Dept. B-5, G. P. O., New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Add 4 cents, for handling, if paid by check or money order. Airmail handling 25 cents extra.

Coffee Honoree

LAMESA — Mrs. George A. Cooper of San Antonio was honoree for a coffee Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. Bill David, 209 Highland Drive. Coffee and doughnuts were served.

Mrs. Cooper and her husband are visiting their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Caldwell, Park Terrace Addition.

HI--TALK

By PEGGY HOGAN

Tommie Jo Williamson has been elected as Sweetheart of the Leon Moffett Chapter of DeMolays. Her election was announced after a popular vote by the boy's organization. The local Sweetheart reached the finals in the District Conclave which was held at Midland last week. Congrats, Tommie!

The bride of Tiny Ellison, Jamie, was honored with a bridal shower at the home of Anna Belle Lane, Thursday. Hostesses of the come and go party were: Nelda Williams, Mrs. Jean Tonn, Anna Belle Lane and Carrie Lawson. A theme of yellow and pink adorned the table as about 40 guests attended the household shower.

Carolyne Whitefield entertained about 15 girls at a surprise birthday party given in the honor of Carolyn Miller, Thursday. Swimming followed the "eats" as the celebration of her sixteenth birthday was carried out.

A color scheme of green, yellow, and white was used at a bridal shower given for Barbara Meador, the future wife of James Tibbs. Joyce Horne, Maxine Rosson, Sandra Webb, Janelle Neel, Marilyn Morris, Sandra Flowers, LaRue Casey, and Julie Rainwater were hostesses at the party which was given at Janelle's home. Mrs. Meador, Mrs. Tibbs, and Barbara wore corsages to rhyme with the color theme as about 25 attended the affair on Monday night.

A picnic style luncheon was given by Frances Reagan, Sally Cowper, and LaVelle Wasson, Friday, honoring Sheila Sutphen. About 25 gals made magic as Cokes, sandwiches, (and all the trimmings) disappeared. Sheila was coursed afterward by the gang on all the "happenings" in Big Spring since she has been away.

After the mid-week church meeting on Wednesday night, the Deborah Sunday School class at the First Baptist Church held a slumber party at the home of Sharon McRee. Jamie Ellison was "it" in a game of treasure hunt, and as the last clue had indicated a shower—so it was. Lying in the bath tub was a shower of bridal gifts. Some of the girls attended the air review Saturday morning, as a conclusion to the party.

The spirit of those football games that we're counting on the Steers to win in the fall, has taken a strong hold on the cheerleaders already. This vital branch of victory, the cheerleaders, has already gotten 16 yells down pat. The seven girls practice about two hours twice a week led by head cheerleader, Nannette Farquhar. Uniforms have already been planned and ordered.

We also have a trio of energetic girls interested in another phase of football spirit. Anne Rowe, Shirley Ward, and Robby Flowers have been practicing twirling quite often lately, in order to get warmed up and in shape for tryouts. The girls have been concentrating on new twirls and street routines. Tryouts will be held in August at the band school.

There was another big gang at the teen-age dance this week. The kids seem to really be "eating it up" every Friday night. Tommy McAdams, Nannette Farquhar; Frank Long, China Carroll; Bobby Hayworth, Shirley Wheat; Libby Jones, John Lawerence; Tom Guin and Mary Lane Edwards were some of the crew out there at the Country Club.

Carey's Ranch Camp was the destination of Ginger Hatch as she left bright and early last Wednesday morning. The little redhead plans to be a junior counselor at the girls camp, which is located near Cloudcroft, N. M. So, a month of recreation looms ahead for Ginger.

Elaine Russell left last week for the "Golden State" — California. She plans to spend about two weeks soaking up the sunshine and seacoast atmosphere on the beach and sightseeing.

Texas Western at El Paso received a thorough going over by four Big Spring lads last week. Donald McCarty, Dal Ballew, Bennie Bennett, and Don Gregory spent four days in the West Texas city, looking over the campus of Texas Western and "throwing in" some sightseeing. Two interesting afternoons were spent in the quaint, "little town" of Juarez before the boys returned to Big Spring.

Two weeks were spent in Gorman, Texas, by Beverly Young lately. Visiting her grandmother, whom she had not seen for six years, took up most of Beverly's time, but swimming seemed to invade the visit also.

Nancy Smith spent three days last week with her mother and sister at Denton, Dallas and Fort Worth. Most of the time was spent shopping and taking it easy while Nancy's sister, Jody, attended classes at NTSC.

Frances Reagan spent three days fishing and swimming at Buchanan Dam last week. A family reunion was the prime purpose of the affair and the outing proved to be a fine time of sun and fun.

Prince Valiant IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR

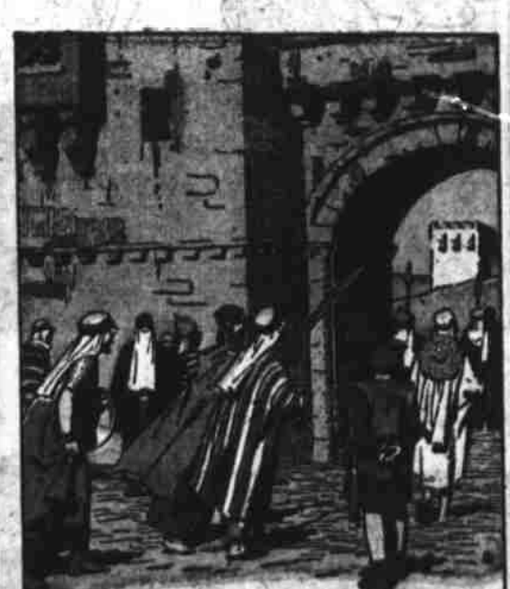

BY HAROLD R. FOSTER

Our Story: PRINCE VALIANT SENDS PIERRE OUT INTO THE STREETS OF JERUSALEM ON A MISSION OF GREAT IMPORTANCE WHILE HE AND SIR GAWAIN PREPARE TO FREE THE CAPTIVE SIR BASIL.

PIERRE GOES TO THE MARKET PLACE AND SHORTLY THEREAFTER A RUMOR SPREADS THAT THE MISSING BEN EL RASCH IS TO BE DELIVERED INTO THE HANDS OF HIS SYRIAN ENEMY AT THE TOWER OF DAVID.

SILENTLY THE DESERT MEN GATHER AND HASTEN TO THE MEETING PLACE.

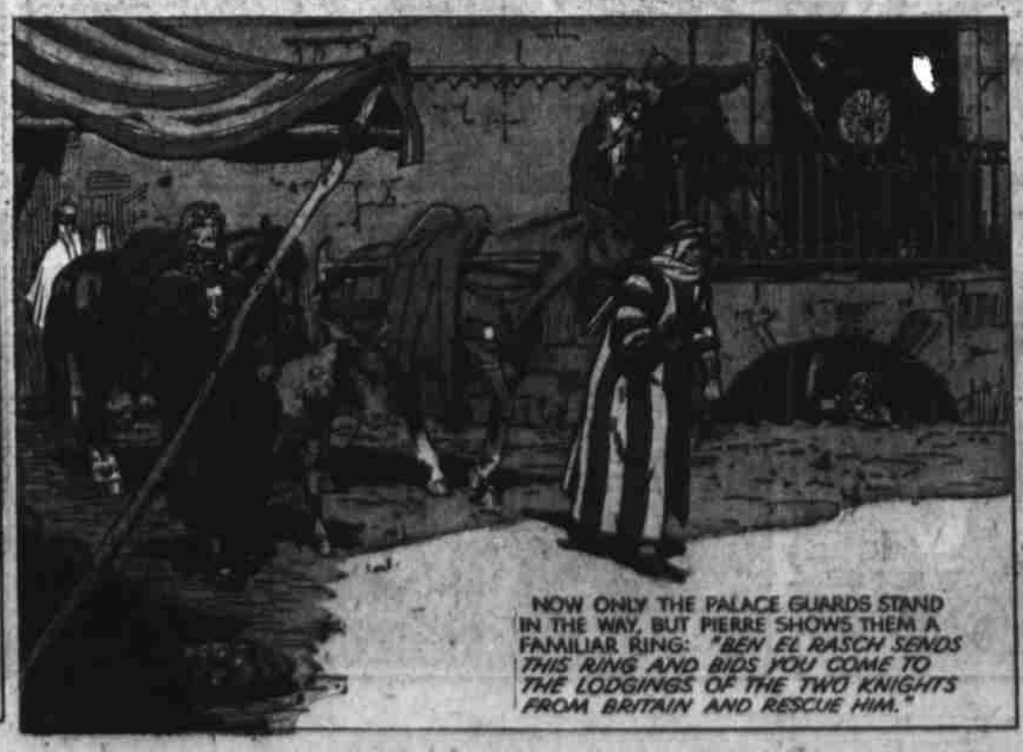

AND SURE ENOUGH THE SYRIAN AND HIS ARMED MEN ARE WAITING. THEN THE ROMAN GOVERNOR, EVER ALERT FOR TROUBLE, SENDS EVERY AVAILABLE GUARD TO QUELL ANY DISTURBANCE, AND CLOSES THE CITY'S GATES.

PIERRE RETURNS WITH THE NEWS THAT BOTH THE SYRIANS AND THE DESERT MEN ARE OUTSIDE THE WALLS AND THE GATES ON THAT SIDE OF THE CITY ARE CLOSED. TO HIS DISGUST PIERRE IS GIVEN A WOMAN'S CLOTHES TO WEAR.
