Relay For Life 2020 going virtual Saturday, 8 p.m. for annual event

By AMANDA DUFORAT

Managing Editor

Let's ... get ... ready ... to RELAY ... virtually!

The coronavirus pandemic has taken a toll on events across the country, but through a little bit of creativity, some annual events are still taking place and raising awareness, including the annual Relay For Life event.

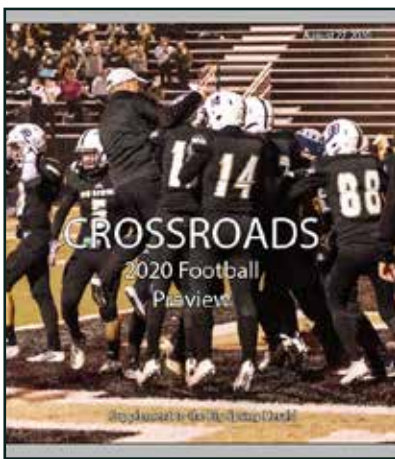

This past year, virtual reality, zoom meetings, and other new forms of technology have been gaining traction battles against the pandemic. Over the past few weeks, schools have opened back up and a sense of normalcy is on the horizon. The Relay For Life of Howard and Glasscock Counties committee has been hard at work, since the beginning of the year thinking of a way to host one of the biggest events in the community, while keeping the key population safe.

"We want to make sure that awareness stays top of mind when it

City of Big Spring offers new payment kiosk 24/7

Herald Staff Report

The City of Big Spring sent out a press release Tuesday afternoon, announcing a new way to pay utility bill payments. In addition to the notices sent out to the community, the new kiosk was discussed at the City Council Meeting on Tuesday evening by City Manager Todd Darden.

"Beginning in August 2020, the City of Big Spring will offer our residents the ability to pay bills in person using a new self-service kiosk for utility bill and Municipal Court payments. The kiosk is located at the Water Billing Office located at 305 South Johnson Street," the media release stated.

According to the press release and information provided at the City Council meeting, the intent of the kiosk is to increase payment choice while reducing risks for City employees and residents.

"Before COVID-19 stay-at-home measures, many of our residents paid water bills in person via cashier each month. By making in-person payments contact less, the City is providing a safe and affordable alternative for residents, particularly those who pay bills in person using cash," the release stated.

Big Spring residents will be able to use the kiosk 24/7 and pay their bills using cash, card, or check without any added service fees.

The new kiosk will enable customers to look up their account information and make payments toward their City water bill or Municipal Court fees using cash, check, or credit and debit cards. Customers will have the option to print their receipt, or have it sent via e-mail or SMS text. All kiosk functionality will be available in English and Spanish.

The City of Big Spring has opened a new payment kiosk for those paying utility bills or Municipal Court payments. The kiosk is located at 305 S. Johnson Street and can be used 24/7, as it is located outside on the northside of the building. For more information, call the Water Office at 432-264-2540.

H-E-B Woman of Distinction Award presented to local employee Kenda Jones for 2020

By AMANDA DUFORAT

Managing Editor

Recognizing those who make an impact in their communities is important. H-E-B understands the importance of those recognitions and celebrates those throughout the company who continuously invest into the places they live. This year, a local Big Spring employee - Kenda Jones - was recognized with the Women of Distinction award.

Women of Distinction is an award that is given to one woman throughout the H-E-B family in each of the store locations. The award began as a way to honor the company's founder Florence Butt. "It was important to her to make sure people in her community were taken care of and helped in their time of need," Kenda Jones, H-E-B recipient of the Women of Distinction Award for 2020, said.

This award is chosen by peers in the store who nominate someone who demonstrates that same quality in their own communities.

"It is an honor to be nominated and to be chosen," Jones said.

Jones has been with H-E-B for 24 years and considers herself fortunate to be able to volunteer and help in so many different ways throughout the community.

"I would tell others that it's important to give back to a community that gives so much to us," she said. "I would encourage them to help those in need as much as possible and to help by using the many resources we have available to us."

She continued, "Our community is a great place to live and it's a beautiful thing to be a part of something bigger than myself."

As the store's administrative assistant, Jones finds motivation through focusing on the progress that is being made inside the store and throughout the community. Whether her day includes offer support to the partners inside the store or taking part in an opportunity to serve the community, the positive is what she strives to the keep at the forefront.

"I'm able to stay motivated in my job, by seeing the results of what I'm doing. Helping the Partners in comes to our survivors," Beverly Grant, Co-chair for Glasscock and Howard County Relay For Life, said. "By taking our event virtual we are keeping the awareness up, but we are also giving an opportunity for all those who want to take part, without having to put themselves at risk by being in a large crowd."

A virtual Relay event is set for this Saturday, Aug. 29 at 6 p.m.

While there may not be a first lap to walk, the sentiment is still there and together - virtually - that first lap will be walked as a trip down memory lane is taken. Relay committee members have been requesting survivors to submit photos that were compiled into a video that will mark the beginning of Relay, just as the Survivor Lap traditionally does. Cancer survivors were encouraged to hold up a sign in the submitted photos and celebrate their journey. "This year especially since our world has been shut down, we haven't had a lot of exposure (for Relay) and we need to do what we can, in our community, to keep Relay going," Grant said.

For the past several years, according to Grant, the local Relay has been one of the most successful in the area and she hopes to continue that tradition this year. Teams who have already registered are encouraged to contact Grant or Julie Alvarez and let them know how fundraising is going.

"There is still time for teams to register. The goal was to have all teams registered by August 1, but we want to hear from all teams and have as many that want to participate," Grant said.

During the virtual event, pictures from previous events will be featured as a way to look back on the progression that has been made over the years, but also to serve as a connection between the years of history that exist in Howard and Glasscock counties when it comes to the support that has been shown to the event. The Luminaria ceremony will still take place this year and those who have lost the fight against cancer will be remembered in a video. Those wanting to honor a loved one can send photos and names to Grant or Alvarez.

"We want our cancer survivors to know we still care and we are bringing Relay home with another successful event," she said.

The week leading up to Relay will include a Spirit Week and an online auction. Donations are still being accepted. Photos, donations and team registration information can be sent to bgrant@homehospicewtx.com. All monies need to be turned in, from the teams, to the Home Hospice office. For more information, contact Beverly Grant at 432-270-8762 or 432-264-7599.

my store not only with things they need for work, but to help them by using those resources," Jones said. "I love seeing people happy and ready to help when they are able. I am beyond humbled and honored to receive this award."

While the Women of Distinction award was one that took Jones by surprise, it offered a well-deserved moment of recognition. Jones is active in numerous activities with the H-E-B company, but also takes every opportunity she can to get involved in community organizations and volunteer efforts, including United Way and with her church. Every opportunity is a door to learn something new, according to Jones.

"This has been a year for all of us, and one of the biggest lessons I've taken from all of this is the importance of being a little kinder, and a little more understanding. It's important that we all show a little more patience and empathy towards others," she said.

As far as why she continues to strive to make an impact in her work day and for her community, she encourages those in the community to think outside the box, and help in situations that aren't what we are used to.

Areas of extremely dry vegetation expanding statewide

Potential for wildfire activity near populated areas increasing

By LEIGHTON CHACHERE

Dry air will persist over the state through the weekend, contributing to increased rates of drying in vegetation. Wildfire activity and fuel dryness is continuing to expand north and east into higher population centers.

Fire environment—weather, fuels and current conditions

Critically dry wildland vegetation currently observed across the landscape is very receptive to any source of ignition. This causes wildfires to burn more intensely, making them much more resistant to control. With activity and critically dry fuels expanding closer to highly populated areas, there is also an elevated risk of human-caused wildfires.

There is also a risk of dry lightning over areas of the Hill Country on Aug. 22 and 23. With critically dry vegetation, the potential for wildfire ignitions will increase.

"The potential for increased wildfire activity through the weekend is very high in the Hill Country and along the I-35 corridor from Waco to New Braunfels," said Brad Smith, Texas A&M Forest Service Predictive Services department head.

For current conditions and wildfire outlook, check out the Texas Fire Potential Outlook.

Fire activity—National Preparedness Level 5, Texas Level 3

Due to significant fire activity occurring in multiple geographical areas across the country and the heavy commitment of shared resources to large fires nationally, the National Multi Agency Coordinating Group has raised the National Preparedness Level to Level 5.

Preparedness Levels are dictated by fuel and weather conditions, fire activity and fire suppression resource availability throughout the country. Level 5 is the highest level of wildland fire activity and indicates heavy resource commitment to fires nationally. The state of Texas is currently at a Level 3, with increased resource commitment and wildfire activity statewide.

According to Les Rogers, Texas A&M Forest Service fire operations chief, state wildland firefighters have been extremely busy responding to the increase in wildfire activity across the state. Numerous out-of-state resources are currently in Texas, working together with state personnel to contain wildfires burning statewide.

"Texas A&M Forest Service remains dedicated to protecting Texas' citizens and natural resources from wildfire, even as national activity increases," said Rogers. "It is crucial that all residents take care to prevent wildfires and to take measures around their home to reduce wildfire risk."

Over the past seven days, state and local resources have responded to 150 fires that have burned 69,897 acres. This includes many large, multi-day fires including the still-burning McMean Fire in Sutton County at 3,921 acres and 60% contained, the Lockhart Mountain Fire in Llano County at 422 acres and 90% contained and the Poverty Canyon Fire in Coke County at 300 acres and 80% contained. Activity increased across the state with multiple fires in the west, northwest, north and central portions of the state.

Many of the recent wildfire starts have been attributed to human activities—such as equipment use and debris burning—and are preventable. So far in 2020, at least 1,850 wildfires that have burned 69,897 acres were human caused. This includes at least 80 fires that have burned 2,395 acres over the past week.

Aviation resources continue to assist ground crews with water and retardant drops to slow forward progression of fires and douse hotspots across fire areas. Fire suppression aircraft have logged approximately 290 hours of flight time over the past week.

Efforts involved dropping 191,580 gallons of water and 107,228 gallons of retardant on multiple fires including the McMean Fire in Sutton County; the Lockhart Mountain Fire in Llano County; the Poverty Canyon Fire in Coke County; the Turkey Creek Fire in Palo Pinto, which covered 247 acres and is now 100% contained; the Glover 2 Fire in Archer County, which covered 300 acres and is now 100% contained, and the 8-Mile Fire in Terrell County, which covered 625 acres and is now 100% contained.

Aviation resources staged in state include two Type 1 helicopters, two Type 3 helicopters, 13 single engine air tankers and two air attack platforms.

Since Jan. 1, state and local resources have responded to 3,692 fires that have burned a total of 184,774 acres. Aviation resources have flown 1,800 hours, dropping 1,816,409 gallons of water and retardant on Texas wildfires so far this year.

If a wildfire is spotted, contact local authorities immediately.

A quick response can help save lives and property.

For frequent wildfire and incident updates, follow the Texas A&M Forest Service incident information Twitter account.

Prevention and Mitigation

Many areas of the state are experiencing triple-digit temperatures and critically dry vegetation, increasing wildfire potential. These critically dry fuels are highly susceptible to ignition from any spark. Texans should be mindful of any outdoor activity that may cause a spark.

Always check with local officials for outdoor burning restrictions in your area. Obey local burn bans or other restrictions. Do not conduct any outdoor burning in hot, dry or windy conditions.

Vehicles may cause wildfires. Secure trailer safety chains to ensure they do not cause a spark and ignite a roadside fire.

Avoid parking or idling in tall, dry grass. Catalytic converters underneath the vehicle can become hot enough to ignite grass under the vehicle.

Many outdoor activities may produce sparks and ignite nearby vegetation including welding, grinding, mowing or shredding. If possible, postpone these activities until fuel dryness conditions improve. If not possible, take extra precautions by having a water source or fire extinguisher nearby.

Successfully preparing for a wildfire requires everyone to take personal responsibility for protecting themselves, their families and their properties.

"It is the responsibility of each individual resident to prepare their home for wildfires," said Kari Hines, Texas A&M Forest Service Firewise coordinator. "Just this week, there were dozens of examples of homes that survived wildfires unaided or allowed firefighters to operate safely to protect them. And this was due to the landscaping and building choices made long before the fire ever started."

Texas A&M Forest Service encourages Texans to take the following steps around their homes today to reduce the risk of wildfire:

Create defensible space around your home that allows for low intensity, slow-burning conditions in the event of a wildfire.

Within the first 30 feet of your home, use non-flammable landscaping materials. Within the first five feet, water plants, trees and mulch regularly. Consider xeriscaping if you are affected by water restrictions.

A healthy, well-maintained landscape is important to the survival of homes during a wildfire. Make sure your plants are carefully spaced, low-growing and free of resins, oils and waxes that burn easily.

Remove dead vegetation from under the deck of your home and within 10 feet of the house.

Prune your trees 6 to 10 feet up from the ground.

"Even simple things such as moving flammable material away from wooden structures such as decks and steps, pruning shrubs in front of windows and under mature trees and cleaning out gutters can be done with a limited amount of time if a fire is in the area," said Hines.

Taking simple steps to help maintain your property could save it during a wildfire. For more information on how to create defensible space around your home, visit Protect Your Homes.

Residents should pay attention to county burn bans and avoid all outdoor burning until conditions improve. Burn ban information can be found by contacting local fire departments or by visiting Texas Burn Bans.

Heeding warnings, Gulf Coast residents flee coming hurricane LaFITTE, Louisiana (AP) — Thousands of Gulf Coast residents fled inland from an approaching storm deemed "un survivable" by forecasters, heeding warnings from leaders in two states, but leaving some without help as available space in hotels and shelters filled quickly.

Evacuees arrived as far as Ennis, Texas, a city south of Dallas that's roughly 200 miles (320 kilometers) from the coast, as the approaching Hurricane Laura grew in power hours before its expected landfall. The local emergency management coordinator in Ennis said he hadn't yet received hotel vouchers he expected from the state to distribute to families.

"We were expecting to have it, but things happened so fast and so quickly that we weren't able to get ahead of the curve," said the coordinator, Chad Wester.

In the south Louisiana community of Delcambre, a steady stream of customers stopped by Shawn's Cajun Meats and Grocery to pick up last-minute supplies ahead of Laura.

"Getting some snacks. Definitely getting some beer. I'm pretty sure that's the highest-selling product around here," said Austin Domingues, 26.

Domingues said he and his family had been prepping for the last three days for Laura. At his father's nearby sugar cane farm, "we've been moving equipment on the highest ground we have."

While Domingues said his wife likely would evacuate to Lafayette, further north and east of Delcambre, he and other members of his family planned to stay put. He said he expected to stay at his father's farm, where the house is 14 feet (4 meters) off the ground.

"I don't know if it's too smart, but we're going to stay just in case we need to help people out," he said.

But Lexie Creighton, who was rounding up shopping carts outside the grocery store, said she planned to head to Lafayette after ending her shift, rather than ride out Laura. Her home took on water during Hurricane Rita, which ravaged the Gulf Coast just days after Hurricane Katrina in 2005.

"Getting out of the surge, you know?" she said. "The water's going to come up. It's better safe than sorry."

In Lake Charles, Louisiana, the National Guard was picking up residents in school buses and taking them to a local coliseum. Many of those evacuated were families with small children. The National Weather Service evacuated its office in Lake Charles, transferring its forecasting duties to the service's office in Brownsville, Texas.

Leaders in both Texas and Louisiana urged residents to flee in the final hours before landfall made it too dangerous to travel.

Schedule finalized to honor 1956 Big Spring Steers at season opener Friday

The 1956 Steers' football team, the first to play at Memorial Stadium, will be honored before this Friday's game.

By SHAWN MORAN
Herald Sports Writer

Big Spring ISD plans to honor the members of the 1956 football team, band, and cheerleading squad before their opening game of the season this Friday, Aug. 28, at Memorial Stadium. That bunch was the first-ever team to play in Memorial Stadium and are all an important part of the history of Big Spring.

It has now been announced that all former players, band members, and cheerleaders should arrive at Big Spring High School for a tour of the school at 8:15 on the morning of August 28.

There will also be a pep rally on the morning of the game at Blankenship Field that all of those lifelong Stankenship Field to attend. That pep rally will begin at 10:30 and will include those 1956 Steers taking the field in front of the student body.

Later in the day Friday, Principal Mike Ritchey is asking everyone to arrive at the South Entrance of Memorial Stadium at 6:30 p.m. All the members of that team from over 60 years ago will then enter the game together.

All of those former Big Spring players, cheerleaders, and band members will be honored on the field before watching their Steers go to battle on the gridiron in the season-opening game against the Vernon Lions.

Despite slow start, Schlapper takes lead At B.A.S.S. Nation Regional on Minnesota's Lake Vermilion

Special to the Herald

TOWER, Minn. — A picky approach and a healthy dose of determination rewarded Pat Schlapper of Eleva, Wis., with a five-bass limit that weighed 19 pounds, 4 ounces and gave him the Day 1 lead at the TNT Fireworks B.A.S.S. Nation Northern Regional on Minnesota's Lake Vermilion.

Prior to the event, Schlapper spent 12 days scouting his tournament waters. That effort, he said, enabled him to establish a good, better, best ranking of various bottom habitat.

"I graphed a high percentage of the lake and found some areas that I thought were good," Schlapper said. "In practice, I caught them on boulders, I caught them on chunk rock; I tried to really figure out multiple different things in case anything changed."

"Sometimes, it's an isolated patch of rock, sometimes, it's a boulder, sometimes it's a certain section of a long reef or point. What I've found on this lake is that everything looks good and it takes a lot of time to find the areas where I feel like they live. Everything looks really good, but not everything is good."

Focusing on the lake's east side, Schlapper had waypoints in 3 to 25 feet of water. He started on a deeper spot he thought would offer quick results, but the fish were not cooperative.

"I had several different patterns going, and I had to use all of them today," Schlapper said. "I started deep in an area that I thought was going to be good and actually had a really bad morning."

"About 11 o'clock, I got into one of my other areas that I knew was good. I caught my biggest one — a 4-7 — and then caught a 3 1/2-pounder and another one close to 3 and then I just started rotating through similar spots. About 12:45, I stopped fishing hard, so I could save some stuff."

Schlapper trusted his day to slower dragging presentations. He mixed it up with drop shots, tubes and a finesse jig with a craw trailer. The latter produced his biggest fish.

"It seems like all they eat up here is crawfish," Schlapper said of his bait choices. "Every one you catch spits up a bunch of crawfish."

Schlapper thanked his co-angler, Minnesota's Adam Edwards, for the encouragement that helped him through the day's challenging periods.

Last week to sign up for YMCA Flag Football

By SHAWN MORAN
Herald Sports Writer

The Big Spring YMCA is currently taking sign-up applications for the 2020 YMCA Youth Flag Football League that is set to begin in September.

The four divisions are split by ages (3-4; 5-7; 8-10; 11-13) and are co-ed. Both girls and boys are welcome and encouraged to participate in a fun league that is sure to keep the youngsters active.

Sign-up's began on Aug. 1 and will extend through Sep. 1 for the league. The price for members is $63, while the price for non-members is $73.

"Don't let money stop your child from participating in youth sports. We have scholarships available," Dathan Jones said in a press release.

All scholarships must be filled out and turned into the YMCA before registration so that the necessary discount can be applied to the registration form.

Flag football has skyrocketed in popularity over the past 10 years with more and more parents opting to put their children into the non-contact side of the sport before introducing them to the game of tackle football. More children between the ages of 6-12 now play flag football instead of the more physical tackle football. This has helped limit the amount of injuries that occur to young athletes throughout the sport. Flag Football is a great way for the youth to get active, be apart of a team, and possibly fall in love with the sport.

"We feel like it is an introduction to football," Big Spring CEO Dathan Jones said. "Especially if the parent's feel like they're not ready for tackle or contact sports yet. A lot of parent have told me that they want their kid to get an exposure to what football is before they go to tackle. We decided at the YMCA that flag football was the way for us to go."

Parents of Big Spring, head down to the Big Spring YMCA sometime over the next few weeks, or head to the website: <https://ymcabigspring.sportngin.com> to sign-up your child for a fall full of fun and flag football.

UTPB Athletics COVID-19 update

Special to the Herald

The UT Permian Basin Athletics Department has continued to work diligently to minimize the risk of exposure for student-athletes to COVID-19. Per NCAA guidelines, all student-athletes were tested upon returning to campus last week. Out of 463 tests, only 10 student-athletes and 2 staff members have tested positive for COVID-19. These individuals immediately began a 14-day period of isolation. Furthermore, the student-athletes will not be allowed to return to contact with others until approval from the team physician.

Per CDC guidelines, the UTPB Case Management Team has reached out to those who may have come into close contact with the student-athletes and/or staff. All individuals potentially exposed are now in quarantine. At this time approximately 80 individuals are in quarantine. The University has taken a proactive approach to help contain the spread of the virus.

This positivity rate is well below the national average of six percent and significantly below the 18 percent positivity rate in the state of Texas.

"Student-athlete welfare is and always will be our number one priority," said Director of Athletics Scott Farmer. "Our athletic training staff has done a remarkable job in creating and implementing protocols to reduce the risk of exposure to COVID-19."

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the GRENADIER ENERGY PARTNERS II,LLC, [RRC Operator No.332472] has made application for a spacing exception permit under the provisions of Railroad Commission Statewide Rule 37 (16 Tex. Admin. Code section 3.37). Applicant seeks exception to the lease line distance requirement because the Applicant is less than the required Rule 37 lease line distance to an unleased or non-pooled interest within the subject unit for the AMENDED NEW DRILL permit in Sec. 21, Bk. 27, H&TC RR CO Survey, A-26, SPRABERRY (TREND AREA) and SPRABERRY (TREND AREA) R 40 EXC Fields, HOWARD County, being 13.29 miles NW direction from COAHOMA, Texas.

PURSUANT TO THE TERMS of Railroad Commission rules and regulations, this application may be granted WITHOUT A HEARING if no protest to the application is received within the deadline. An affected person is entitled to protest this application. Affected persons include owners of record and the operator or lessees of record of adjacent tracts and tracts nearer to the proposed well than the minimum lease line spacing distance. If you have questions which are specific to the Application or the information set forth in this Notice, please contact the Commission's Drilling Permit Unit at (512)463-6751. If a hearing is called, the applicant has the burden to prove the need for an exception. A Protestant should be prepared to establish standing as an affected person, and to appear at the hearing either in person or by qualified representative and protest the application with cross-examination or presentation of a direct case. The rules of evidence are applicable in the hearing. If you have any questions regarding the hearing procedure, please contact the Commission's Docket Services Department at (512)463-6848.

IF YOU WISH TO REQUEST A HEARING ON THIS APPLICATION, AN INTENT TO APPEAR IN PROTEST MUST BE RECEIVED IN THE RAILROAD COMMISSION'S AUSTIN OFFICE AT THE ADDRESS, FAX NUMBER, OR E-MAIL ADDRESS SET OUT ABOVE BY Sep 9, 2020 at 5:00 p.m. IF NO PROTEST IS RECEIVED WITHIN SUCH TIME, YOU WILL LOSE YOUR RIGHT TO PROTEST AND THE REQUESTED PERMIT MAY BE GRANTED ADMINISTRATIVELY.

ance file, if any exists, is available for public review in the Midland regional office of the TCEQ.

The executive director has determined the application is administratively complete and will conduct a technical review of the application.

PUBLIC COMMENT/PUBLIC MEETING You may submit public comments, or request a public meeting or a contested case hearing to the Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below. The TCEQ will consider all public comments in developing a final decision on the application. After the deadline for public comments, the executive director will prepare a response to all public comments.

The purpose of a public meeting is to provide the opportunity to submit comments or ask questions about the application. A public meeting about the application will be held if the executive director determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the application, if requested by an interested person, or if requested by a local legislator. A public meeting is not a contested case hearing.

After technical review of the application is complete, the executive director may prepare a draft permit and will issue a preliminary decision on the application. Notice of Application and Preliminary Decision for an Air Quality Permit will then be published and mailed to those who made comments, submitted hearing requests or are on the mailing list for this application. That notice will contain the final deadline for submitting public comments.

OPPORTUNITY FOR A CONTESTED CASE HEARING You may request a contested case hearing. A contested case hearing is a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in state district court. A contested case hearing will only be granted based on disputed issues of fact that are relevant and material to the Commission's decision. Further, the Commission will only grant a hearing on those issues submitted during the public comment period and not withdrawn. The deadline to submit a request for a contested case hearing is 30 days after newspaper notice is published. If a request is timely filed, the deadline for requesting a contested case hearing will be extended to 30 days after the mailing of the response to comments.

A person who may be affected by emissions of air contaminants from the facility is entitled to request a hearing. If requesting a contested case hearing, you must submit the following: (1) your name (or for a group or association, an official representative), mailing address, and daytime phone number; (2) applicant's name and permit number; (3) the statement "[I/we] request a contested case hearing"; (4) a specific description of how you would be adversely affected by the application and air emissions from the facility in a way not common to the general public; (5) the location and distance of your property relative to the facility; (6) a description of how you use the property which may be impacted by the facility; and (7) a list of all disputed issues of fact that you submit during the comment period. If the request is made by a group or an association, one or more members who have standing to request a hearing must be identified by name and physical address. The interests the group or association seeks to protect must also be identified. You may also submit your proposed adjustments to the application/permit which would satisfy your concerns.

If a hearing request is timely filed, following the close of all applicable comment and request periods, the Executive Director will forward the application and any requests for contested case hearing to the Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting. The Commission may only grant a request for a contested case hearing on issues the requestor submitted in their timely comments that were not subsequently withdrawn. If a hearing is granted, the subject of a hearing will be limited to disputed issues of fact or mixed questions of fact and law relating to relevant and material air quality concerns submitted during the comment period. Issues such as property values, noise, traffic safety, and zoning are outside of the Commission's jurisdiction to address in this proceeding.

MAILING LIST In addition to submitting public comments, you may ask to be placed on a mailing list to receive future public notices for this specific application by sending a written request to the Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below.

AGENCY CONTACTS AND INFORMATION Public comments and requests must be submitted either electronically at www14.tceq.texas.gov/epic/eComment/, or in writing to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality, Office of the Chief Clerk, MC-105, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087. Please be aware that any contact information you provide, including your name, phone number, email address and physical address will become part of the agency's public record. For more information about this permit application or the permitting process, please call the Public Education Program toll free at 1-800-687-4040. Si desea información en Español, puede llamar al 1-800-687-4040.

Further information may also be obtained from Victory Rock Texas, LLC, 215 Rocky Coast Drive, Austin, Texas 78738-1778 or by calling Mr. Jay Lindholm, Sage ATC Environmental Consultants, LLC, at (512) 258-8500.

Hard Truths on the Hard Drive

Dear Annie: I've been with "Robby" for three years. I just moved in with him a few weeks ago, and I've been discovering some unpleasant surprises while using his computer. First, I found some racy photos saved on his hard drive. Then, I saw in his browser history that he'd been on dating sites and saw that he'd been emailing with people from dating websites, too. I asked him about it. He denies having done any of that and says he doesn't know how that stuff got on his computer and email. But the proof is right there. I don't know what to do. I don't trust him, but I love him so much. Please help me. -- So Confused and Hurt

Opening lead — ten of clubs.
It is said that a squeeze is a difficult play to execute. There is some measure of truth to this, but usually, when there's a squeeze in the offing, all declarer has to do is to cash his tricks in the right order and let nature do the rest.
Consider this deal where West leads the ten of clubs, which holds, and continues the suit. East collecting two more clubs. East then shifts to the king of diamonds, taken by the ace, and South now has the classic position for a squeeze: all the remaining tricks but one, two-way communication with the dummy and the very likely possibility that East will have to guard two suits (hearts and diamonds).

To capitalize on this state of affairs, South cashes five rounds of trump to bring about this position:

North
♥ A K 10
♦ 10

West
Immaterial

East
♥ Q J 4
♦ Q

South
♠ 7
♦ J 6

When declarer now leads his last trump, discarding a diamond from dummy, East is squeezed. Whatever he discards, South makes the rest of the tricks. Note that declarer does nothing fancy — all he does is play all of his trumps.

But note also that East can foil the squeeze by returning the queen of hearts rather than the king of diamonds at trick four. This severs declarer's link with dummy, and he must go down one.

When there is no transportation from one hand to the other, there can be no squeeze.

Tomorrow: Test your defensive play.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Venus Trine Neptune: Essential Sight

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Nice isn't always good, and not nice isn't always bad. There are many reasons people have for doing what they do and for being in the mood they are in. Stay aware of the bigger picture.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Doing only what you like provides you with but a bland palate of satisfactions. Incorporate what you dislike, and you're onto something. But it really starts to get interesting when you dive into what you despise.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). A sense of vulnerability is in there somewhere, but if you're not paying attention, then you'll miss it and the gift it wraps around -- namely, the ability to connect deeply to the humanity in others who know the feeling.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). As for those things you do but cannot link to any tangible gain, in those actions are clues, strands of spiritual DNA, truths. Examine those actions through a microscope and find miniature maps of your heart.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). If something is important, then it's worth fighting for. Fighting for unimportant things doesn't really happen. If there's a fight over something that seems trivial, it's only because that's not what the fight is really about.

VI-RGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22).

You'll spend so much of your time in the service of others that when you come back to home base, you may feel like you need to reacquaint yourself with who you are and what you want.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). When your group faces a problem, you face it, too. Even if just one other person has a problem, you'll be willing to take it on personally because you believe, at a very core level, in justice for all.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Part of you has been making plans without the other part. Get all sides together for a sit-down talk aimed at naming a few common goals. You're as powerful as you are unified.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). People will get emotionally invested in things you might not have expected them to involve themselves with. Step back and ask, "What's at stake?"

BY HOLIDAY MATHIS

What's really going on here?"

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Not everything you've believed has come through or come true but don't let that stop you. Put your faith in a loved one, in yourself or in the wonders of life in general. You'll have reasons to believe anew.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). The atoms that make up our cells are mostly space, so we are mostly space, and the other matter is mostly space, too. Echo the theme. Purge the unnecessary. Spaciousness brings fulfillment.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). When you can't be knowledgeable (no one can know all things, and if they could, they'd be insufferable) then be versatile. The ability to adapt and respond is more important than the ability to know and stand correct.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Aug. 27). You'll be focused but not serious. You'll attract people who want to get things accomplished and laugh at the same time. The next 10 weeks see you wheeling and dealing yourself into a prime position. You'll notice who wants your happiness more than you want it yourself. That's a love you can count on and build a life around. Scorpio and Leo adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 8, 40, 18, 2 and 39.

ASTROLOGICAL QUESTIONS: "My birth date is Dec. 18, 1952, and I recently began dating a man whose birth date is Nov. 27, 1955. This is the first time I've ever dated another Sagittarian. We hit it off like a house on fire when we first met, and we never run out of things to talk about. What is the likelihood that two ambitious, high-energy and fun-loving Sagittarians can have a successful relationship?"

You'll never be bored. You have similar interests and fantastic communication. There's mutual admiration here and healthy respect. He expands your world and supports your life goals; your influence on him runs deep, even life-changing. Long-term commitment can be an issue for Sagittarius, and you're the stabilizing force for him. How you cross that bridge, lovingly or with resistance, sets a precedent for your future. This relationship is satisfying on so many levels and you'll want to work for it.

lems and needs him. Yet, she manages to work a full-time, 40-hour-a-week job.

I feel as if I'm always competing with his mother. Just one small example: Let's say he has a stain on his shirt. I'll say something like, "Shout works well for that." He'll say, "Well, my mom said Spray 'n Wash works better, so I'll just get that."

I feel like we will never be able to come together as one family, with my kids and his kids, because he won't leave his mom's. He doesn't come over to my place too often because he's busy helping her. It's not like I live hours away from him. It's only a 30-minute drive.

Several times now, I've asked him about moving in with me, and all he says is "I'm not movina right now."

What should I do: Stick it out or leave him and his mama? -- Girlfriend to a Momma's Boy

Dear Girlfriend: It's noble of your boyfriend to care so much for his mother. It's understandable of you to be frustrated that he's less available to you. Neither of you is wrong. But you might be wrong for each other. He's made it abundantly clear that caring for his mom is at the top of his list of priorities. Even if you were somehow able to talk him out of that, he'd resent you for it. So, if the situation isn't working for you as it is now, it might never work for you.

Dear Annie: I am writing in response to "Deeply Depressed," the person who cries about sad things that happen to others. I want to say that she is likely an empath. I strongly suggest she look up resources out there for helping empaths. Judith Orloff's books are an excellent resource, and Orloff runs a Facebook group for empaths. If "Depressed" goes online and gets plugged into these resources, she will connect with others who have very similar reactions to the sadness of others. It will be a relief for her. -- Lea R.

Dear Lea: Thank you for sharing these resources. I've heard good things about Judith Orloff's books, especially "The Empath's Survival Guide."

Send your questions for Annie Lane to dearannie@creators.com.

Today in History

Today is Thursday, Aug. 27, the 240th day of 2020. There are 126 days left in the year. Today's Highlight in History: On August 27, 2008, Barack Obama was nominated for president by the Democratic National Convention in Denver.

On this date:

In 1776, the Battle of Long Island began during the Revolutionary War as British troops attacked American forces who ended up being forced to retreat two days later.

In 1858, the second debate between senatorial candidates Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas took place in Freeport, Ill.

In 1908, Lyndon Baines Johnson, the 36th president of the United States, was born near Stonewall, Texas.

In 1949, a violent white mob prevented an outdoor concert headlined by Paul Robeson from taking place near Peekskill, New York. (The concert was held eight days later.)

In 1963, author, journalist and civil rights activist W.E.B. Du Bois died in Accra, Ghana, at age 95.

In 1964, President Lyndon Baines Johnson accepted his party's nomination for a term in his own right, telling the Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City, New Jersey, "Let us join together in giving every American the fullest life which he can hope for."

In 1979, British war hero Lord Louis Mountbatten and three other people, including his 14-year-old grandson Nicholas, were killed off the coast of Ireland in a boat explosion claimed by the Irish Republican Army.

In 1989, the first U.S. commercial satellite rocket was launched from Cape Canaveral, Florida — a Delta booster carrying a British communications satellite, the Marcopolo 1.

In 1998, two suspects in the bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Kenya were brought to the United States to face charges. (Mohamed Rashed Daoud al-'Owhali (moh-HAH'-mehd rah-SHEED' dah-ood ahl-oh-WAHL'-oeh) and Mohammed Sadiq Odeh (sah-DEEK' oh-DAY') were convicted in 2001 of conspiring to carry out the bombing; both were sentenced to life in prison.)

In 2005, coastal residents jammed freeways and gas stations as they rushed to get out of the way of Hurricane Katrina, which was headed to ward New Orleans. In 2006, a Comair CRJ-100 crashed after trying to take off from the wrong runway in Lexington, Ky., killing 49 people and leaving the co-pilot the sole survivor.

In 2009, mourners filed past the closed casket of the late Sen. Edward Kennedy at the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library and Museum in Boston. Jaycee Lee Dugard, kidnapped when she was 11, was reunited with her mother 18 years after her abduction in South Lake Tahoe, California.

Ten years ago: Aijalon Gomes (EYE'-jah-lahn gohms), an American who'd been held for seven months in North Korea for trespassing, stepped off a plane in his hometown of Boston accompanied by former President Jimmy Carter, who had flown to Pyongyang to negotiate his freedom. Cuba issued a pair of surprising free market decrees, allowing foreign investors to lease government land for at least 99 years and loosening state controls on commerce to let citizens grow and sell their own fruits and vegetables.

Five years ago: Visiting residents on tidy porch stoops and sampling food at a corner restaurant, President Barack Obama held out the people of New Orleans as an extraordinary example of renewal and resilience 10 years after the devastation of Hurricane Katrina. Ex-NBA star Darryl Dawkins, 58, whose board-shattering dunks earned him the moniker "Chocolate Thunder" and helped pave the way for breakaway rims, died in Allentown, Pennsylvania.

One year ago: Sixteen women who said they had been sexually abused by Jeffrey Epstein poured out their anger in court, as a judge gave them a chance to testify even though Epstein had died behind bars; the hearing was held on a normally routine request to throw out the indictment because of the defendant's death. Rapper Meek Mill pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor gun charge in a deal resolving a 2007 arrest that had kept the rapper on probation or in prison for most of his adult life. In her debut at the U.S. Open, 15-year-old Coco Gauff trailed by a set and a break before recovering to beat Anastasia Potapova of Russia.

Big Spring had now scored on their first three drives of the two-quarter scrimmage and things seemed to be clicking on both sides of the ball.

"I hope it gives us a lot of confidence but I hope we don't get overconfident," McWilliams said.

The Steers did not stop there. After stopping Levelland on four downs, Big Spring's offense took the field once again. Baeza finished off his night with a strike across the middle of the defense to #22 as he rolled out to the right looking for an open man. That was his fourth total touchdown of the night and made way for Cobos to come in and get some valuable playing time along with some other second string players.

Big Spring finished the night 4-of-5 on offense and the only time they were stopped was in the red zone on fourth down. The last two drives from Levelland both ended with touchdowns on a 15-yard pass through the middle of the defense and a 1-yard rush with less than one minute remaining in the scrimmage against mostly second-string players for Big Spring.

"We just need to get the 2's, who are one play away, to know that if they get in the ballgame they've got to know what to do as well."

Overall, the Big Spring Steers put in a great performance for their first time returning to the field against a new team since last November. There were several playmakers who made their mark in this game and the Steer coaching staff will be looking to utilize those players' skills all-season long.

In their first game action at Memorial Stadium this season, the Steers gave the fan base and town a lot to look forward to this season. The defensive line is consistently disrupting things in the backfield, Baeza is playing with a ton of confidence, and the playmakers are making plays.

The wait is over. High school football is back.

Big Spring starts 2020 season with dominating scrimmage win

By SHAWN MORAN

Herald Sports Writer

Following two outstanding touchdown passes from junior quarterback Gabriel Baeza, two more rushing scores by the signal-caller, and a stout defense that barely let the Levelland Lobos for most of the scrimmage, the Big Spring Steers prevailed over the Lobos 28-14.

How did it finally feel to get back on the field and hit somebody with a different jersey on?

“Fantastic,” Big Spring Head Football Coach Cannon McWilliams said. “We’ve been banging on each other for three weeks and it’s exciting to play somebody else and I bet they felt the same way.”

The Varsity portion of the scrimmage started off with each team running 20 offensive plays with the first string players and 15 offensive plays with the second string guys. During this time, newcomer middle linebacker Braxton Pearson racked up three tackles the Lobos’ first time with the ball. The Steers were also able to collect a sack courtesy of the front seven and were consistently finding themselves making tackles behind the line of scrimmage.

Big Spring did allow two long scoring plays to Levelland during the controlled portion of the scrimmage but the Steers answered back with a few big plays of their own. A strong tackle by Java Ford near the sideline caused a big reaction from the sideline and both teams seemed to be jawing at one another as the competitive juices flowed.

On offense, the big play for the Steers during the controlled portion was an accurate, deep pass down the sideline from backup quarterback Eli Cobos to speedy wideout Maverick Yanez.

Next up was both teams playing through one half in a regular season game environment. Levelland had the ball first and on a pass to the outside, Ford made his second big play of the day by grabbing an interception and giving his team the ball near Lobo territory. The Steer offense responded with a beautiful, high-arcing Baeza pass down the seam to the athletic Kaegen Mitchell who extended his arms for the catch and waltzed into the end zone for an easy Big Spring score.

“That play sparked us,” McWilliams said. “It sparked us in the first half and that was our first big touchdown. After that, as far as with our 1’s, we just started rolling. Those guys have a connection and they’ve played together for a long time. Once that spark happened, then everything else started to flow.”

The next defensive drive by Big Spring was defined by the play of the strong senior interior defensive lineman Elijah Darrow. The big man was consistently finding himself in the Levelland backfield wreaking havoc on the Lobo offense and collecting multiple tackles for loss. Pearson joined Darrow in the backfield for a tackle for a loss of his own and the Steers defense quickly put the ball back into Baeza’s hands.

What the second year starting quarterback did next might have been more impressive than the deep ball he connected on the first drive. From right around the 25-yard line in Levelland territory, Baeza took hit an outside gap on a designed running play and scampered all the way into the end zone untouched. Through the first two offensive drives, Baeza and the coaching staff showed the Big Spring fans the dual threat ability that will be leading the Steers this fall.

Darrow continued his dominating performance the next time that Levelland’s offense took the field following the Baeza touchdown run. He proved himself to be a terror for the Lobo offense and the red and white team could not seem to get anything going.

On the other hand, everything Big Spring was trying seemed to be working.

The next Steer offensive drive was highlighted by a terrific snag across the middle of the defense by Vincent Ortiz. The drive was capped off by another Baeza rushing touchdown as he plunged in from the 1-yard line for a classic quarterback sneak.

Following last month's UIL decision to move forward with fall sports, there have been a few adjustments that have had to be made to the Big Spring Steers Football schedule. Every team throughout the state was forced to drop the first scrimmage on their schedule which made Aug. 20 the first time fans could see the Varsity team take the field.

There have also been some other adjustments to the schedule. The Steers were originally scheduled to take a four-and-a-half hour drive north to Pampa later in the season. Now, Pampa will be coming to Big Spring on Oct. 9 for the Homecoming Game. The Steers will play their first two regular season games at home before going on the road for three straight weeks. Overall, they will play five home games and four away games.

The Steers will now have their Bye Week during both the second week of the regular season and also during Week 8. This means that the Steers only have nine Varsity games on the schedule for the 2020 regular season. That is one less game than the norm but Coach Cannon McWilliams and the rest of the Steers' coaching staff will still have the team ready to compete for the district title.

Big Spring's 9th Grade Team and the Junior Varsity will play their games on the same day and at the same location with the JV games directly following the 9th Grade game. They have their Bye in Week One and play a couple different opponents than the Varsity.

The Big Spring Steers' 2020 Junior High football schedule was released and there are nine competitive games to look forward to this fall for them as well.

There will be both a seventh and eighth grade 'A' team and 'B' team but all four squads will play on the same day. For home games the four teams will split and share Blankenship Field and Memorial Stadium.

All games will be played on Thursday night's and the season opens with some home match-up's against Monahans. There will be no bye week for any of the Big Spring teams and the last game of the regular season will also be played at home, this time against Lake View.

In the middle of the season, all four teams will play Midland Christian in back-to-back weeks. The first week the teams face-off, the games will be played in Midland and the following week all of the games will be held in Big Spring.

Junior Varsity/9th Grade and Junior High schedules will be on the pages to follow. Each Steers' team is looking for an improved 2020 and the chance to take their game up a notch.

How the Steers navigated the Year of COVID-19

By SHAWN MORAN
Herald Sportswriter

Things were different this spring with no sports, no students in school and the coronavirus pandemic preventing things from getting fully back to normal.

Teams were unable to practice together and individual student-athletes were stuck doing their workouts at home. Because of this, Big Spring football Head Coach Cannon McWilliams was posting daily workouts online for all of his athletes to see.

McWilliams came up with the idea after seeing some of the things fellow coaches around Texas were doing to keep their team involved and active.

“We didn’t really have a plan for (coronavirus) and it just kind of hit,” McWilliams said. “We just had to roll with the situation and, really, you just steal ideas from different coaches when you see them doing the same thing. I try to post my workouts on as many outlets as I can. The biggest thing is staying active and a lot of it has to do with bodyweight. Really the key is learning from other coaches and stealing ideas from other coaches.”

In addition to those big changes, Coach Shelby Lefever also spruced up the Forsan weight room with some brand new wall logos.

After finishing off the season with a 3-7 record last year, Phillips and the rest of his coaching staff decided that they would make some serious upgrades to the program over the offseason.

Forsan student-athletes have been working hard this summer whenever they are permitted to workout with their teams and coaches. They have shown consistent drive and dedication to their respective team and the school as a whole.

Phillips is not sure just how much these changes will help athletics during the 2020-21 school year, but he is thrilled with the reaction he has gotten from the athletes.

Forsan to debut new look uniforms/helmet on Roger Hudgins Field

By SHAWN MORAN
Herald Sports Writer

Like many schools around the country, Forsan High School has decided to update their football uniforms and helmets for the 2020 season.

"We have had the same helmet design for about 10 years now and thought it was time for a change," Forsan athletic director Jason Phillips said.

The new uniforms and helmets will also coincide with the first year that the Buffs will play on the new-and-improved Roger Hudgins Field.

FORSAN

Matthies added, “I think we have a lot more energy than we have had the last couple of years. I think we know what we’re capable of doing this year, and we’re ready to show people what we can do.”

After finishing the 2019 season with only three wins, Forsan coach Jason Phillips is confident his group will continue to progress and add more victories to the win column in this upcoming season. The Buffaloes have not had a winning season since 2016 but the feeling around and from inside the team is that the three-year streak of finishing sub-.500 will end this season.

Forsan had been working hard over the summer for everyone to be in shape by the time the season strolled around. While surely not everyone kept the greatest workout routine or diet, there was no sense of sluggishness from the Buffs at a recent workout under the blazing West Texas summer sun.

“The energy is unbelievable,” Phillips said. “We have a good group of experienced guys coming back and 20-something guys who already have Varsity experience. Their expectations of themselves are high and it’s carrying over into practice.”

The Forsan Varsity football team is made up of 27 players who mostly all play both sides of the ball. There are playmakers all over the offense such as Hernandez, Matthies, wide receiver Cayden Morgan, running back Chris Mendez, and the two-headed quarterback monster of Major Stockton and Sawyer Stallings.

Last fall, the Post Antelopes advanced all the way to the State Championship with two quarterbacks taking consistent snaps all-season long. Phillips believes that his team has the ability to do that with his two signal callers and he is trying to instill confidence in both to lead the team this season. Forsan practiced recently under a cloudless sky and with the stampede of a paver rolling around the outside track that surrounds Roger Hudgins Field. The hot sun nor the loud rumble could distract the Buffaloes from getting after it and working themselves into football shape.

“It’s been a special start so far, it really has been,” Phillips said. “Everybody is excited. Everybody is showing up early with a great attitude. It’s just been a great start to the year.”

The Buffs worked on swing passes, screens, and some other short yardage passing routes during practice before finishing up the day with some two-minute drill work.

Forsan players were in helmets, shoulder pads, and shorts for the workout and the amount of contact was limited. Phillips mostly wants his players to get reacclimated to practicing every day in their pads after months of just strength and conditioning workouts.

There opening scrimmage is now over and it is time to fully focus on the Howard County Bowl. The preparation has just begun over the past month and the Buffs will continue to bring that newfound energy and confidence out to Buffalo Stadium for practice each and every day.

“The first week of football always feels great,” Phillips said. “But this year, for some reason, feels even better.”

Forsan Buffaloes ready to take step forward behind senior leaders

By SHAWN MORAN
Herald Sports Writer

It has been a few weeks since the start of football practices have taken over the sports scene around Texas. The Forsan Buffaloes have been back on the field all week and are working hard to put their disappointing 2019 season in the rear-view.

Forsan will have a more experienced roster this season that is dominated by upperclassmen and players who already have a history of consistent playing time at the varsity level. There is plenty of excitement throughout the whole team about getting back to work and some of Forsan's top players see a noticeable difference between the way the team has been getting after it during these early season practices.

"We're hype," junior running back Nate Hernandez said. "We want it. We want it more than we did last year. We're tired of being on a losing streak and we're going to change that this year."

STEERS

This year has been unique for every coach around the state and every one of those coaches was trying to find ways for their teams to stay as in-shape as possible over the summer. When teams were allowed to assemble together and practice together late this summer, it was a vital goal for the coaching staff to get every player back into "football shape".

While McWilliams had posted his daily workouts on Twitter and other social media outlets for his players to follow, he also kept it real with himself and understood that not every player was doing the workouts or grinding as hard as they should have. All of those athletes who were not taking the workouts seriously had the most room to make up at practice.

"The biggest thing is getting back in shape," McWilliams said. "We post those workouts, but I know that some are doing them and some aren't. It's so much different when you have them all together and it's structured. Football shape is just a different type of being in-shape."

The Steers also had a Google Classroom set-up for every incoming player on the team that includes football-related assignments for the players to keep their brains fresh on the Steer playbook.

McWilliams also set up Google Classrooms for the different position groups so that each coach can have some hands-on teaching lessons with their players. It is a unique time and plenty of football coaches, including McWilliams, are becoming more technologically savvy because they are now having to temporarily switch up their coaching methods.

What does McWilliams find to be the biggest challenge he and his coaching staff have faced?

"Individually as coaches the biggest thing is trying to stay busy, stay active and stay finding things to do," he said. "To me, because it's what it's all about, is just being able to be face-to-face and being around the kids, helping them when they need it and making them better young men. With us being apart, you miss that when you're used to seeing them every day. Now having to be six feet apart and all of that makes it a real challenge."

McWilliams also wants all of his players to know how much he and his fellow coaches appreciate them. This year has caused him to realize how in the past, he may have taken the players for granted because of the structured schedule. After a spring and summer rarely-seeing his guys, McWilliams appreciation for his players and staff have grown.

Every team across Texas faced the same practice restrictions and therefore there will be no clear advantage for any school this fall on the gridiron. Because there are not many ways to make sure your team can come out ahead, McWilliams and the Steers will just be trying to ensure that they will not fall behind.

"I feel like if we weren't connecting with them through Google and through all of these social media outlets that we would be falling behind," McWilliams said. "I think by looking at it on paper and listening to the coaches, our players will be able to see what we're trying to implement before they actually walk-through it. They will have the framework already and then when we get them, they'll have an idea of what we're trying to teach them and we'll finally be able to do it."

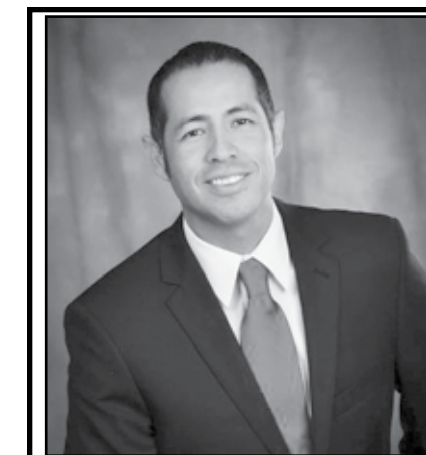

Not to be forgotten in these trying times are McWilliams' assistant coaches who grinded all summer in an attempt to teach the players as much as they can through virtual meetings. The entire coaching staff had consistent virtual meetings two times a week where they all talk about either the offense or the defense and any new schemes or plays that they want to add.

"I think we're making the best out of a bad situation and we're getting better and more knowledgeable as a coaching staff," McWilliams said. "I think this will be the most prepared coaching staff we've had since I've been here."

McWilliams and his staff are staying hard at work and are preparing for the regular season.

Get ready Steers' fans. In this strange year, it is almost time for football season in Big Spring.

Getting out and watching a competitive football game will be a nice welcome back to sports for the community after the event-less summer that seemed to never end.

"That game always has really good attendance fan-wise, but I think it'll be even more so this year," Phillips said. "I think people are ready to get back to normal and sports are such a big part of our culture. I think it'll be a great atmosphere as always, but I think it may be even a little more so this year."

Joslin added, "It's always really popular because of the County. But this year is going to be like my first year at Coahoma with the game being on Thursday night, so it's the only show in town going on. It's going to be an exciting night. It's fun because both teams want and expect to be in the playoffs and this game is a playoff-type atmosphere early in the year that gets those younger kids used to it really quick."

Both coaches are great friends and both agree that the biggest thing that comes out of the Howard County Bowl is the scholarships that are awarded. The companies that put on and sponsor the Bowl game have created dozens of scholarships that are handed out that night. Both programs are greatly appreciative of those scholarships and are happy that the game is able to continue each year through the support of the sponsors.

Now, let us take a look back at the previous six Howard County Bowl games:

- 2014: Coahoma defeats Forsan (6-2)
- 2015: Forsan defeats Coahoma (53-26)
- 2016: Forsan defeats Coahoma (42-19)
- 2017: Coahoma defeats Forsan (24-19)
- 2018: Coahoma defeats Forsan (24-14)
- 2019: Coahoma defeats Forsan (38-0)

The Howard County Bowl has now arrived and both teams have been hitting the gridiron hard at practice to prepare for their season opener.

For Forsan, they will be trying to end the current three-game Coahoma winning streak. On the other hand, the Bulldogs and Joslin will be attempting to keep his undefeated record against the Buffs going.

Let the best "rival" win.

Seventh annual Howard County Bowl set to kickoff season once again

By SHAWN MORAN

Herald Sports Writer

The Howard County Bowl is coming back to Big Spring tonight, Thursday, Aug. 27 at 7:30 p.m.

Chris Joslin's Coahoma Bulldogs and Jason Phillips' Forsan Buffaloes will face-off against each other at Memorial Stadium for the seventh consecutive year. The two schools have actually opened the season against each other for the last eight years with the games in 2012 and 2013 being held in Midland. The series is an even 4-4 split over that timespan, but Coahoma has hit a recent surge by winning the last three Howard County Bowl contests.

Both teams have plenty of respect for each other and the game is described as a friendly crosstown rivalry. With many connections between the coaching staff, players and fans, the two teams have not built up much of a deep-rooted on-field disliking for each other over the years.

"Coach Joslin and I are really good friends and we've known each other for a long time," Forsan coach Jason Phillips said. "As far as coaches go do we want to beat those guys? Absolutely. But will we go play golf with them and go hunting with them? Absolutely. It's a friendly rivalry. Yes, we want to beat each other, but we want them to win the rest of their games after that one as well."

Coahoma coach Chris Joslin added, "I know the schools are supposed to be rivals but besides the people that I work with my best friends are those coaches over at Forsan. We don't really have a rivalry. We want to beat each other that night, but we also talk all the time and run stuff by each other. I've been apart of some rivalries with two schools who really did not like each other and that's not the case here."

Even though they are not bitter rivals, it cannot be denied that both sides want to open their season with a win. When the chinstraps are buckled and the shoulder pads are on, those friends from across town become enemies for the next three hours and each side will be trying to avoid opening their season with a loss.

Phillips feels like there are ways his team can break the Coahoma winning streak. Both teams will be going into the 2020 season with some turnover at critical positions and the loss of some big time senior playmakers.

"We just have to be as ready as possible," Phillips said. "Coach Joslin has done a great job with that program over the last couple years and luckily he graduated a few, but we graduated a few as well. It's one of those games that you prepare as much as you can but once that ball is tee'd up for that first kickoff I think you can throw a lot of the X's and O's out. It's just going to be whoever wants it more."

The last time the Buffs were able to defeat the Bulldogs was back in 2016 when running back Tearell McVay gashed the Coahoma defense for 174 yards and one touchdown on just 13 carries (13.4 yards per carry). Forsan won that game 42-19 but have been outscored by a total of 86-33 in the three games since.

Coahoma will have a considerable amount of turnover on the first string of their depth chart this year that includes a new starting quarterback after the graduation of Hardin-Simmons signee Zack Schneider. Joslin still believes his team will be well-prepared and ready to play until the final whistle during the season opener.

"(Forsan) is going to be really good this year," Joslin said. "But as far as our chances, the way our kids work and the way our kids listen, I like our chances every time we play in any ballgame."

Following months of mostly inactivity in the local sports world, the Howard County Bowl will be the biggest sporting event that has happened in Big Spring since March. The game is extremely popular throughout the community and brings a lot of money to the city but both coaches this year are expecting an even bigger turnout than usual. Most people have been cooped up in their homes for the past several months.

What to Watch for: 2020 Big Spring Steers

By SHAWN MORAN

Herald Sports Writer

There will be a lot to be look forward to when watch the mighty Big Spring Steers take the field on Friday night's this fall. Head Coach Cannon McWilliams believes that this is both the strongest coaching staff and group of players that he has had during his tenure at Big Spring.

The first Steer to jump off the page is junior quarterback Gabriel Baeza. After starting and gaining much valuable experience in the Steers' offensive system last year, Baeza will be stepping into his second year as starting quarterback and has shown tremendous strides in his game during both practice and the season-opening scrimmage against Levelland.

His starting center, Derek Howard, also started last year as a sophomore and that duo will once again be the anchors for the Big Spring offense. Howard is undersized for the center position but consistently beats his man and uses his brute strength to overpower opponents near the line of scrimmage.

Another junior who could have a big year in the Big Spring offense is starting wide receiver Kaegen Mitchell. The tall and speedy wideout showed off his wheels in the scrimmage against Levelland by zooming past the man defending him for a long-bomb touchdown that sparked momentum for the Steers last Friday night.

There is a newcomer that also made his mark on that season-opening scrimmage. His name is Braxton Pearson and while lining up at middle linebacker in Coach Brad Harman's defense, the cowboy-collared tackler found himself making several plays in the opponents' backfield throughout the night.

On defense, McWilliams is very satisfied with the way his front seven has come along. The Steers will look to apply pressure to the opposing quarterback this year and do their best to force them into bad decisions. Senior defensive end Caydon Rash will be a big part of that front seven's success coming off of the edge as will the big-bodied Elijah Darrow. Both of those players showed up in the backfield during the Levelland scrimmage and seemed to build confidence in themselves heading into the new season.

Returning starting running back Orlando Sanchez has the prototypical body build for a workhorse running back and the Steers will be sure to feed him the ball this season. The Steers seemed to be trying to make their attack as balanced as possible throughout the Levelland scrimmage and that could be a sign of things to come this fall.

The Steers have several great players who have already established themselves as playmakers and there will be more to add to this list as the season goes on.

Coahoma defense set to be led by strong pass rushing duo

By SHAWN MORAN

Herald Sports Writer

Colin Daniels and Patrick Gutierrez are heading into their second season as full-time starters on the Coahoma defense. The pair of pass rushers combined for 12.0 sacks in 2019 and are planning to spend even more time in the opponent's backfield this fall.

"I expect them to pick up right where they left off," Coahoma Head Football Coach Chris Joslin said.

The Daniels and Gutierrez duo lines up at the outside linebacker position on opposite ends of the defensive line and also splits snaps on offense at tight end. Joslin is looking for these two players to step up as leaders on the field for their senior seasons and both are up to the task.

While watching any given drill at a Coahoma practice, it does not take long to spot the two edge rushers flying around the backfield attempting to make a tackle. During end-of-practice conditioning, both of them are always near the front of the line showing off their speed and stamina.

"They have to be our leaders," Joslin said. "Last year, they got to go out and play and let the other guys do the talking but now it's their time to be the leaders. They're always going to go out and play hard but now they need to step into their roles as leaders of not just the defense, but the whole team."

Gutierrez had a breakout season during his first time on Varsity and finished second in total tackles (99) for the Bulldogs in 2019. Six of those tackles came behind the line of scrimmage and six more came courtesy of sacking the opposing quarterback.

The senior was happy with his performance last season but is looking to spend more time residing in the opposing backfield and to at least double his sack total from 2019.

"I want to set a high mark for myself and I'd say I want to get around 16 or 17 (sacks), maybe 20," Gutierrez said.

Daniels finished right behind Gutierrez on the tackling leaderboard last season (91) but was able to finish with one more tackle for loss (7). Daniels described his junior season as a "learning experience" and is looking forward to taking another step forward this fall.

Even though he plays outside, Daniels likes to model his style of play after NFL players such as the recently retired Luke Kuechly and All-Pro Bobby Wagner. The Coahoma standout is a student of the game and would like to spend more time studying film.

While they are undersized for edge rushers by definition, these two pass rushing prowlers have been hitting the weight room hard and are noticeably stronger on the field. Those weight training and agility drills should do nothing but help both of the defenders continue to improve and provide more versatility to the team.

“We play fast and we play strong,” Daniels said. “We’re just great competitors and constantly trying to fire up our defense. We compete with each other over tackles, and we know stats don’t really matter but I think that just helps us play to the best of our ability.”

Joslin is thrilled with the progress that both players have made throughout the offseason and is excited to see them take the field for some real action this season. Following breakout junior seasons from both players, their head coach is looking at them to lead the team both on and off of the field this season after a second round playoff exit in 2019.

Coahoma had a strong 2019 season but it did include a blowout, disappointing 42-0 loss to Abernathy. Gutierrez was able to pick up one sack in the game even though his team could not get much going. That loss has left a bad taste in his mouth and has made him look forward to getting after the Antelopes’ quarterback more than any other this season. The Bulldogs as a team will be looking for payback for that game and will try to find it by way of hitting the Antelopes’ quarterback time and time again.

On the other hand, who is Daniels looking forward to chasing around the backfield?

“Any quarterback on the other side of the ball.”

Just like that, Coahoma football fans could already hear the distant crunching of pads on the gridiron.
