The Woman's Day

By Alene Sumner

There's another thing that I wish the movies would do for me. This other thing is something in addition to keeping their heroes from jumping from the top of towers no less than 200 feet high and landing safe and sound on both feet. I wish they would have sons and daughters stop kissing their mothers the way they do. Now I'm not brazenly advocating that mothers be kissed at all. I only ask that they be kissed in a more convincing manner. I have never in all these many years when I have let few movies escape me, seen any son or daughter on the screen kiss his or her mother as mothers are kissed.

SONS, NOT LOVERS!

Mothers are kissed by their sons exactly as the hero kisses his lady love. He crushes mother to his manly bosom, kisses her brow, her throat, her cheeks, her lips, her hand, repeats the performance a dozen times, looks ecstatically moonish, and, in short, makes a fool of himself. Not even a son with an Oedipus complex would kiss his mother as they do on the screen. The relationship between parents and children gets necessarily rather humorous. The affection is there. But it is not shown. A son's or daughter's kiss to mother is a casual, infrequent, almost-surely thing—saturated with the fear of showing underrland and like. Try it right sometime. Mr. Movie Director.

THIS SEX APPEAL

S. A. is so in the limelight today that sometimes one wonders that the world commercial, ever eager to pick up its penny where it may, does not cash in on it more. For instance, there is one of those typical "be-pan" restaurants in our town, the sort of place that serves corned beef and cabbage, three-inch steaks, pie, knuckles and cups of coffee as big as eggs. This restaurant has an orchestra composed of male ladies who might have stepped from a prize ring. Despite its food and copious food, the restaurant is never filled. Competition too keen. One wonders what would happen if they would exchange that orchestra of hetties for a string trio of maidens. By the same token, the hetties would do wonders for a tea dance place whether the maids repair to dance the light fantastic.

A GIRL'S REVOLT

She is favorably with Thomas Hinder, a copy of the same name. Stay-at-home girls, bound to their parents, will feel their own revolt expressed through Mary. Mary is getting breakfast.

WOMAN'S LIFE

"And while she hurried about, and was aware of the clutter of her bare-headed handling of all these articles she remembered that an hour hence she would be washing up the great number of them and putting them back in their places. O—that washing up, that eternal getting out and putting away! Repetition, endless repetition: The woman's part! And she seemed to feel in the cure of her consciousness the passionate impulse to escape from it. Yes, from the drudgery of trifles that seemed to her to be the whole end and tragedy of a woman's life."

Tragedy In The Kitchen

MOST CULINARY MISTAKES ARE EASILY RECTIFIED—AND HERE'S HOW

Very often the bride in the kitchen decides that sauce pans and spiders and oven are leached. Everything burns for her. "Things" never burned in her mother's kitchen.

She must remember that her mother burned through years of experience, exactly the amount of water needed to cook potatoes just right. She must learn that time flies "when her back is turned" and keep close watch of the minutes until her experience has taught her to gauge time.

"Unburning" Em

But when the potatoes do both dry and disintegrate, put the pan at once into a larger pan of cold water and then shake the potatoes out in a clean pan or bowl for mashing or creaming. If the scorching has not been great, no one will ever know it happened. If, however, there is a hard dark brown crust turned on one side of the potato—carefully cut away the burned part and after mashing and seasoning as usual, add grated cheese and one well-beaten egg. Pile in a baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes.

Don't Scrape

Any vegetable that has been started to burn can be placed in the pan of cold water and shaken, not scraped, from the burned pan into a fresh one for reheating and seasoning.

One precaution to keep in mind when cooking potatoes that have been cut in halves leaving a smooth flat surface, is to be sure that the rounded side of the vegetable rests against the sauce pan.

Acquire the habit of shaking any pan of vegetables cooking on the stove.

Use extreme care in salting delicately flavored vegetables like asparagus and peas; asparagus especially requires very little salt.

If the soup has been salted too generously, add from half a cup to a whole cup of sliced raw potatoes. Let stand ten or fifteen minutes, remove and serve. The potatoes will absorb the excess salt.

If the cake burns on the bottom, the burned part will usually "peel" off while the cake is warm or it can be grated off after the cake cools. The next time you bake, put the oven up one or two notches in the grate or put a shallow pan of water directly under the cake. This will temper the heat at the bottom of the oven.

If the mayonnaise separates, take another egg yolk and slowly beat in the curdled dressing, then continue until all the oil and lemon juice is used.

Curdled Custard

If a starchy sauce curdles heat it hard with a wheel egg beater. This same egg beater will often beat the lumps out of a white sauce that

New Rail Merger Plan Prepared

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—A revised plan for the southwest railroad merger will be submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission, which last week rejected the original Lorce proposal. It was announced today at the offices of Leonard F. Lorce, chairman of the Kansas City Southern, which was to be the nucleus of the consolidation. It was stated that there is every reason to believe that a plan can be evolved that will be satisfactory to the commission, and that no time will be lost in working up such a plan.

Mr. Lorce, who returned to New York today, discussed the proposed merger plan with S. W. Moore, general counsel for the Kansas City Southern, and with bankers interested in the project.

The three roads involved in the original Lorce plan were the Kansas City Southern, St. Louis-Southwestern and the Missouri-Kansas-Texas.

I Thought of Suicide

Spur, Texas, May, 1927.

Dr. Leach,
Care Davis Drug Company,
Sweetwater, Texas.

Dear Doctor:

Since October, 1923, I have suffered the agonies of death from a complication of stomach troubles. I spent two years and all the money we possessed trying to find relief at Mineral Wells, Austin and several doctor's clinics, without success.

During that period I lost exactly 39 pounds, dropping from 131 to a mere 92 pounds, and looked precisely like I felt—decidedly rotten and very miserable. I developed a cloudy, muddy complexion and this, coupled with the fact that we were forced to take our children out of school on account of expense, caused me to entertain the sickening thought of—

Then a local druggist—bless his very cool—told me of your wonderful Laxatone. I took two bottles and, Doctor, my complexion cleared, my stomach began to behave, my appetite returned and for the first time in over three years I can retain my food. I just know I am going to get entirely well, thanks to your great medical discovery. God bless you, too.

MRS. ROXANA GOOCH.

LABOR CONVENTION RAPS "DAMNABLE" METHODS OF OPEN SHOP

(By The Associated Press) WICHITA FALLS, May 23—The spectre of a growing open shop movement, paraded again and again by speakers as endangering all that organized labor holds most dear, threatened to disturb the equanimity so marked at the opening of the thirtieth annual convention of the Texas State Labor Federation today.

is in no hurry to get me for I want to see a little of the world while I am over here, the fish genius of the air said this evening. "I haven't accepted any offers that have come to me from America and I am not going to consider any until I get home. We don't make the flight with that in mind. We didn't come over with any million dollars."

King Sends Greetings Among the messages was one from the King of England, delivered to Captain Lindbergh by the British ambassador.

There were little dark rings of fatigue beginning to show beneath Lindbergh's eyes tonight, but he seemed two delegations of news men. The first group, Swedish reporters, escorted by the secretary of their legation called on a young flier, whose father was in their country. They wanted to know if Lindbergh would visit Sweden. He told them he had yet made up his mind.

Other Reporters Come After the Swedish reporters had been offered from almost as many as had flocked into the embassy, Lindbergh, tired as he was, contented to talk with them a while and do you think of Paris, now that you have been around a bit?"

Fin. I can't say too much for it. But I haven't seen Paris at all. I should like to walk through it if possible."

Alone? some one asked. But his questioners thought would be a more hazardous adventure in crossing the Atlantic.

Several silly questions were asked of which he replied "oh, it's one of those things you can't answer," and then he was asked how it felt to be kissed on both cheeks, President Doumergue having given him this customary French accolade in presenting him with the legion of honor.

"That's another one," said Lindbergh. He light-heartedly parried casual questions that touched on sundry subjects, but when anything was asked about his plans or his flight or something germane to aviation, his smile would pass, his slim body would bend over a little nearer to the man who happened to be addressing him and a stream of words would flow from him in precise sentences, finely phrased.

Don't Weary of Talking He seemed never to weary of talking about his earth induction compass, to which he attributed the fact that all the way through darkness and storms over land and over sea his plane stayed steadily on its course and on the time schedule he had planned before leaving New York.

"We would not probably have got far off the line with just an ordinary compass," he said, "but with the earth inductor compass you don't get such wide variations off the true north in different points of the globe. It is more accurate and less faltering. The fact that he came on to the Irish just three miles away from where I had expected to was merely a coincidence. On the other hand, if we had been 100 miles away it would not have been a coincidence. There would not have been any danger of missing land even with an ordinary compass, because your maximum variation of error would not amount to more than 700 miles."

General Pershing was one of the few Americans who succeeded in getting past the Congrege on guard at the gate of the embassy today. Paul Choudet, French minister in the United States, was another of those who saw Lindbergh. It was his second visit, the flier being still asleep when he called yesterday.

HARRY SNODGRASS, "KING OF THE IVORIES," WILL PLAY FOR LUBBOCK PEOPLE TODAY

HARRY M. SNODGRASS

"An Evening at W. O. S." is the program which will be given at the Palace theatre this afternoon and tonight. It features Harry M. Snodgrass, "King of the Ivories," formerly star performer for Radio Station WOS, Jefferson City, Mo., while serving a term for robbery in the Missouri State penitentiary. With Snodgrass is his old announcer, J. M. Witten, who was instrumental in securing a pardon for Snodgrass, and he, too, will take part in the act. Prior to his pardon Snodgrass was probably the most popular artist on the air.

undertook something far greater than the flight from New York to Paris. His little speech, just three sentences, was made when the Aero club gave him its great gold medal and announced that Madame De La Meurthe, widow of the former president of the club, had sent a check for 150,000 francs, (about $30,000) to the club with instructions that a cup be presented to him. Mme. De La Meurthe also sent a check for 100,000 francs each for Captain Nungesser's mother and Captain Coll's family.

The burst of applause which followed upon these announcements and the words of praise that were heaped unhesitatingly on the young American were reflected in his deep school boy blushes. The American flier does not know French, but he is smart enough to know when people are talking about him regardless of the language.

Lindbergh Eulogized The medal presentation ceremony, at which Minister of War Painleve and others adjudged Captain Lindbergh in the highest terms, was slightly delayed because Mr. T. Herrick had to go to the balcony to satisfy the great crowd that had gathered in the street.

When the medal was presented to the shy young American, he finally got into action. "Friends," he said, "I am not going to try to make a speech. I am just going to try to tell you how impossible it is for me to express my feelings. The only thing I can say is how deeply all the United States felt the loss of your two great aviators who undertook something far greater than the flight from New York to Paris."

The crowd of notables that picked up the Aero club's saloon cheered Captain Lindbergh's modest effort of three sentences and when the

OIL PRODUCTION AGREEMENT FAILS

VOLUNTARY RESTRICTION IS MEETING INCREASING OBSTACLES

WASHINGTON, May 23—The movement to restrict voluntarily the production of crude oil is finding increasing obstacles.

A meeting of oil men and government officials here today, called in the hope of formulating a definite restriction plan, produced no apparent result except to disclose that the oil producers are themselves divided on the subject while the government is reserving judgment. Another meeting is to convene in New York Wednesday.

Already three large producers, including the Gulf Oil company, a Mellon corporation, have washed their hands of the project for a restrictive agreement. Whether any effective agreement can be made without them is a question about which leaders of the industry are not over optimistic. Doubt over the outlook was expressed in a preliminary report sent to today's conference by Ray M. Collins, of Tulsa, recently chosen as an umpire to work out a program for curtailment of a flow of oil in southwestern fields which is looked upon by the industry as amounting to serious over production.

To what extent the withdrawal of the Gulf company may reflect the personal opinions of Secretary Mellon remains undisclosed. Secretary Work, who is head of the government's oil conservation board, told the conference today that federal officials were anxious to see stabilization in the oil industry, but he added that what ever was done must of course be done properly under the law. The legal aspect of restrictive proposals are understood storm had died down, he had another sentence: "we still hope that Nungesser and Coll will be found in some deserted post in Canada."

The trans-Atlantic flier stood immediately under a portrait of Wilbur Wright and a photograph of the famous French war ace, Captain George Guynemer. As quickly as his face had flushed during the Encomium directed at him, his deepest flush was when the president of the Aero club presented the gold medal saying: "Lindbergh you set back the limits of the impos-

After the Swedish reporters had been offered from almost as many as had flocked into the embassy, Lindbergh, tired as he was, contented to talk with them a while and do you think of Paris, now that you have been around a bit?"

VISITS BIG BEND Clark University Registrar Gathers Plant Species

ALPINE, May 23—Dr. C. E. Welville, Professor of Mathematics and Registrar of Clark University, Worcester, Mass., and his family are spending several weeks in the Alpine country this summer. Prof. Welville is in the Big Bend gathering specimens of the Texas minerals and plants to take back to his university for analysis and study. He was an appreciated visitor at the Chamber of Commerce, and was presented with a collection of mineral ore samples and photographs of the resources of the Big Bend section, by the Chamber of Commerce. He stated that the photographs would be displayed in the Clark university and the mineral collection would be added to their permanent collection, thus exploiting the Big Bend resources as far away as Massachusetts. Among the states which have requested mineral samples from Brewster county are: Louisiana, New York, New Mexico, California, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Arizona and the foreign countries of Mexico and Canada. The world is gradually getting to know that Texas, and especially Brewster county has valuable mineral resources—although practically undeveloped.

Stimson Reports In Nicaragua Row

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—A report on his mission to effect peace in war-torn Nicaragua was given to President Coolidge today by Henry L. Stimson, the executive's personal envoy.

Verbally he recounted to the president the terms of the truce between the conservative and liberal armies and their agreement to accept American supervision of the 1928 elections when a successor to President Diaz will be named. Mr. Stimson said he might make a written report to the president later.

After conferring with Secretary Kellogg and Assistant Secretary Olds, of the state department, Mr. Stimson issued a statement in which he described the offer of the United States to supervise the elections as "an opportunity to perform a great conservative service to the whole of Central America."

"I feel sure," he said, "that it will be regarded by our people as a sacred trust."

OUR CONFESSION—God is our God, forever and ever, he will be our guide even until death.—Psalm 48:14. PRAYER—O God, Merciful and Mighty, Thou art God alone and we trust in thee.

AGAIN AMERICA WINS

Again has an American achieved an epochal feat in aviation—the greatly perilous course between the European and North American continents, in a non-stop flight.

All the world applauds the courage and skill of Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh—a graduate of the Advanced Flying School at Kelly Field—who at night made his way across the North Atlantic, between Newfoundland and Ireland. That part of the great flight was accomplished despite the fog at intervals along the course.

Venturing alone, this master of the air fulfilled—in less than 34 hours—what seemed almost a pledge, which he had uttered at Roosevelt field:

"I'll be in Paris tomorrow—and it would appear, too, that through awaiting him at the Le Bourget field had been quite as confident of his success on the 3,600-mile "hop." Yesterday afternoon it was particularly gratifying to receive the report that an American community, reinforced by people from all the neighboring country-side, scarcely could have given Lindbergh a heartier, more cheering welcome than the multiplied thousands of French folk accorded him. And he richly deserves the highest honors which governments and aeronautical organizations can bestow for achievements in flying.

Lindbergh's triumph doubtless will spur many nations' aviators to undertake long non-stop flights. He has gained a world record for non-stop distance, as well as the Raymond Orteig prize ($25,000); and doubtless he values the distinction achieved for his country and himself far more than the monetary award.

The ship which Lindbergh guided to France is equipped with a 200-horsepower Wright Whirlwind motor. He gave it a thorough test on a non-stop flight from San Diego to St. Louis, and then hopped to New York.

This pilot belongs to the 110th Observation Squadron, Missouri National Guard. He took the first midnight flight over the St. Louis-Chicago airway—278 miles long—leaving Maywood Field near Chicago) at 10:35 o'clock, when the thermometer at the starting point marked 19 degrees below zero. Considering the cold, his time was excellent; he landed at St. Louis in 2 hours and 15 minutes. During his flying career Lindbergh has taken four emergency jumps. He is a member of that famed organization, the Caterpillar Club, that began with Lieut. Harold R. Harris' forced leap in 1922. None has qualified more times than Capt. Lindbergh, whose first drop was taken at Kelly Field.

France—mourning the loss of Captains Nungesser and Coli—may be gratified that Lindbergh's ship bears a name which recalls stirring pages in its history. This heroic officer could not have taken a more appropriate name for his Ryan monoplane than "Spirit of St. Louis." It brings back the memory of a great king whose life was adventurous, and also another Louis' attempt to extend France's sway over most of this continent. The founding of St. Louis—where Capt. Lindbergh lives—was the last outstanding achievement of the French under the Bourbon lilies.

PREVENTING CRIME

We have numerous laws seeking to punish criminals, but we do not have any that have for their foundation the prevention of crime. Correcting the cause of crime is a subject that has recently been discussed by Charles H. Tuttle, United States Attorney in New York who is considered good authority on civil and social problems. He says that future efforts to solve the crime problems will give increasing scope to the science of medicine as a preventive measure.

The criminal law is not itself a solution of the criminal problem. It is such a necessary and instinctive measure of protection and retaliation as against the criminal. Our present procedure is to indict, try and sentence the criminal for an act which does not necessarily indicate the type of individual involved or the physical or psychological causes which resulted in the act.

In other words, the present criminal law is calculated to treat results rather than causes, and to seek success through the inspiration of fear rather than through correction of the causes themselves. The situation is analogous to that which existed in medicine when confined to the curing of existing diseases, and when it had not accumulated the knowledge and viewpoint necessary to understand the prevention of the causes of disease.

Already we have progressed to the point where a careful physical and medical examination is made of every inmate admitted to our State prisons, and whenever an inmate is found suffering from any physical disability or mental conditions which may be corrected by medical science, the necessary remedy is promptly applied.

But better than physical and mental clinics in our prisons would be mental and physical clinics conducted by medical scientists among the children of our community. Parents as a class have not the technical knowledge necessary to appraise medically or scientifically the life and tendencies of their children; and too often there is a lack of parental authority and of the discipline and moral training which have been deemed the bulwark of the American home. The tendency of the average parent is to entrust to our schools too much of the education of children and the study of their tendencies. If, in addition to the medical supervision now given in our public schools in matter of physical health, there was medical supervision in matters of mental and moral growth, causes ultimately leading to delinquency or anti-social conduct would be removed before they became too deeply rooted in character.

Dr. Thayer, superintendent of the New York State Institution for Mental Defectives, has said that research into the lives of 90 per cent of our criminals reveal that the first anti-social act discoverable is that of truancy. It behoves us, therefore, to apply our remedial and preventive measure to the individual's life.

The earliest opportunity society has to form and develop character and personality is in the public schools, and such clinics in our public schools would be of untold service with the problem cases—with those cases of intellectual deficiency, of neurotic conditions and of instability of character which may, in the end, flow into anti-social conduct. These cases need guidance and instruction as to their development and direction.

Intelligent work of this sort would in time show its results in fewer criminals and fewer paupers. If medical science, with the co-operation of government would undertake this task it would make an unequalled contribution to the solution of one of the chief problems and dangers in American life.

In the United States, a democratic country, where all are born free and where special privileges are accorded none, and equal rights to all, there is entirely too much kowtowing to royalty and potentates. Let it be known that some foreign ruler, resplendent in uniform and gold braid, is to visit our land and the country goes wild in its effort to do honor. Even the character of our entertainment shows this same spirit. No ceremonial is now considered complete unless there be a king and queen, with a magnificent coterie of attendants in royal robes. Our country's success is founded on its democratic ideas and we make a serious mistake when we school our children to have exalted ideas of imperialism.

Roger Babson, well known throughout the United States for his advice along financial lines, occasionally sidesteps and discourses on other subjects. He shows himself to be a pretty shrewd observer. For instance, he says that no public utility should employ red-headed chaps. Not literally red-headed, of course, but men who have quick tempers that get away from them easily. He explains that the public utility is peculiarly dependent upon public good will for success, and should have in its organization only such persons as are pleasant to meet, kindly disposed and patiently inclined. And then he might have added that what applies to a utility is no less applicable to all other businesses, for all are in very great measure dependent upon the public, and if they would increase their income and profit should look well to the agreeableness of employees, regardless of the color of the hair.

Schools and colleges will soon dismiss for the summer and this will turn those hundreds of restless boys, eager and anxious to engage in some sort of business by which they can make a few dollars and employ to a useful purpose the surplus energy which they have been storing up during the winter months. Undoubtedly there will be more boys than there are jobs. The Rotary Club, which has been acting as a kind of godfather to boys in general, could do a splendid work by establishing right away an employment agency for boys, this service of course to be free to both boys and employers. It would prove a blessing to the boys and redound to the honor and credit of the Rotarians, if this could be done.

SO THINK WE

The Berger Herald is having a time upholding the name of that city. He consoles himself by saying that Berger is no worse than any other town the size of that city.

Ben Smith of the Hutchinson County Herald, who for many years puffed and sported around about the wonders of the South Plains and then when circumstances seemed to whisper that he move on from Lockney, dropped down into the breaks around Snyder where a little bird whispered to him that the Technological College would be located without fear or favor, and then later felt called by God to move to Shanton to purify the situation down there politically and civically, only to find that this mixture had everything but dough. He is now on the North Plains, the region that he had abused for many years before, grinding out this would-be weighty stuff in an effort to make his employers believe he is the "hot-dog" of the Panhandle.

The prisoners over in Sing Sing, which included in its guest list Mrs. Snyder and Mr. Gray, recently started on a hunger strike because the cooks would not cook for them. They want everything to be thoroughly cooked. Nothing like getting used to it.

Ben Smith of the Hutchinson County Herald, seems to have nothing on his mind but cotton. He does not seem to know that in addition to the cotton raised in this country this is one of the greatest dairy countries and poultry raising sections and hog growing countries that the sun ever shined on. It never has failed to rain enough to make bumper feed crops, and when the farmers learn to market the feed in the chickens and the dairy products and pig skins, cotton will not be king down this way. There is one thing peculiar about the people in the oil fields, however, and that is that with all the money people in that country are making they continue to ride their friends and creditors in the South Plains. We have a number of people who live in that wonderful oil field of which Smith and Caufield brag so much, who are either very neglectful of their accounts or else have not gotten enough of the lubrication to loosen up their slot machine, so that they can pay off.

We think that Barnum was right, Sherman did not miss the truth, and Dorothy Scarborough might not have been far wrong.

We think that it can truthfully be said that Lindbergh is the "whole cheese" over in France. We think there may be a great many people make the trip from New York to Paris without stopping, but none of them can be first now, just the same as there will be many more commencements in the Texas Tech. The one next month will be the first one.

We think few people do want the signs say, if they did they would do some mighty rash things. For instance one slow sign on the corner of the school grounds in one city we passed through recently said "Go Slow, Speed Limit 100 Miles Per Hour, School." People who deface signs of that sort should be punished, by having to replace it with a new one of the proper kind.

We think the rumor that a golf player was hit by lightning might possibly be untrue, since we learned that the information came from Miles "The Hour, School." People who deface signs of that sort should be punished, by having to replace it with a new one of the proper kind.

We think it takes a lot of money to keep a court house lawn in good condition but there is one thing about it, and that is being the sign of a city except when you allow the tramps and the hoboes and the politicians of the precinct to take charge of same and trample the grass beneath their feet.

We think this is mighty poor weather for hot air men to demonstrate, but anyhow a demonstration of hot air men held in Egypt Texas a few weeks ago, and it was reported as being a very great success.

We are very glad indeed that all signs fall in West Texas. Smith down at Lamesa has another spell of pessimism, and said that a sure sign of hard times is when so many people get married, and there have been more married this year than ever before in one year. Now we do not believe in signs, and we do not believe that this is going to be a year of hard times. The percentage of marriages is nationwide, and the same conditions do not prevail throughout the United States, and then again, there are just naturally more people to get married. There are more young people to marry, and there are more husbands and wives being divorced, and of course most of them get that document in order to remarry, and there there are more husbands being killed, and who calls for another wedding, so it may not be the condition of the times at all.

Some men seem to think it better to have weeds in garden than nothing at all. That is one way to look at it, but not the correct way.

We think the house of representatives is possibly entitled to a new carpet. Since the one they have on the floor has been there since 1873. The new covering will cost $6,000.

We think the fellow that won the duck-calling contest in Illinois recently could truthfully be called a "quack."

OUT OUR WAY

HEROES ARE MADE—NOT BORN.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that a wet platform is desired by the political parties. If they build it anywhere around the Mississippi it will lead sure be a wet one, but if built out in the great southwest it may be dry, and it is a pinch that if Dan Moody stands on it, it will necessarily have to be very dry.

It is reported that one man who was offered a get rich quick opportunity the second time he was told he was too smart to be fooled twice the same way, he possibly overlooked the fact that there are many different ways.

It is reported that people might do well to put into practice the laws we already have, rather than to pass a lot of new ones.

It is reported that a man in Lubbock has decided to learn one Texas law a day. If he does not live to be a very old man he will never learn all of them.

It is reported that there was a man on the streets a few days ago, discussing the weather and expressing fears that it would never rain. Never fear old boy. The rain will come. It always has.

It is reported that Temple has to get up a list of subscribers and purchase so much business in order to interest a natural gas company to come into that city. In Lubbock the companies are falling over each other to get franchise. There is a reason.

It is reported that the fellow that although the sermon is the one that knows the most about it when he starts home.

That some women dress to please men, some dress to annoy other women, and some dress conservatively.

It is reported that some people who appear on the program for a five minute talk, get so enthused that they speak for thirty minutes. If they could only know how the other fellow feels about it they would make it snappy, and not use more than the allotted time.

It is reported that a Sweetwater baby five years old had a tooth pulled and so makes another record.

It is reported that Sweetwater is getting ready for the meeting of the West Texas Press association which is to meet there on the fourth of June.

It is reported that many a bride who was given away at the altar, found out later that she had been sold, and that possibly accounts for so many divorce suits.

It is reported that a large number of the property owners of Nineteenth street have refused to sign up for paving. It is unfortunate that this, we believe the city commission should know how many will sign before the streets are designated, as it makes a very bad showing for so many places to be broken in the paving.

PUBLIC OPINION

DEADLY WEAPONS

It has long been a popular belief that the gun toter was a menace. Laws have been on the statute books for many years providing penalties for the person who carried concealed weapons, and efforts are still being made to stop that dangerous practice. New York, for instance, in the new law, establishes new and heavy penalties for persons who, while committing any crime, are found to be armed, and special provision is made making it impossible for persons convicted to be put upon probation or receive a

NOT FOR PROFIT

BY DON E. MOWRY Secretary of the American Community Advertising Association

There are all kinds of ways to advertise a city. But once in a while it is a good thing for civic leaders to tell the country about their city's history in a non-advertising way. When a city has a noble old tradition, it is a good thing to tell it alive, even though it doesn't affect the cash registers. More than 100 copies were distributed broadcast to libraries, clubs, colleges, municipal officers and so on throughout the United States and Canada. It was probably the first time in the history of civic enterprises that such a booklet had been produced without one line of suggestion of advertising direct or indirect. The booklet wasn't issued to get more industries or to attract visitors. It was simply a movement to the past, and the men who got it together felt repaid for their trouble by the beauty of the product. This was a new stunt for a city to undertake. Don't you think it was rather a good one? Nearly every city has an interesting history if it could only be gotten together and given to the people in proper form. Even our own city—Lubbock has a very interesting history, and there is much that the people do not know about Lubbock that should be given them, not from the standpoint of diverting revenues from it, but from a civic standpoint. Items of interest about the town—always well received by the old as well as the new citizenship. When a town has beautiful streams of water running clear by and beautiful parks and fine yards and nice homes, it is worth while, and something that every civic organization should be proud, but many towns have such, and the general public never knows about it. A light under a bushel so to speak.

ANDREWS COUNTY BECOMES CENTER OF SPECULATION

As the tide of speculating runs northward and westward, Andrews county is coming into the limelight and is becoming a center of speculation.

The big gas showing in the Meador well is creating much interest, and as usual those who speculate are looking there for investments. Andrews, one of the best and biggest counties in West Texas, has been shut off from intense development on account of lack of railroad and highway facilities, but it now looks as if many investors will turn that way.

As the big clock on the wall ticks the minutes off, and the minutes make hours, and hours, and hours days and days months and months years, the conditions change. New territory embraced in the great oil fields of west extending from the Pecos river on the south to the Red river on the north, along the western border of Texas, is now thought only a quarter of a century ago, to be good for nothing, but the roving cattle but now comes the development period, and the seekers for oil and the sand fill that were for so many years in search of money not come from the eastern newspapers, and so on could realize a penny from the oil coming to the center of attraction, and who knows that it will be the richest spot in the southwest.

REMEMBER THE UNFORTUNATES

This country is by a pretty good proverb called nowadays, as things like hunger and want come very close to most of us. It is just as well that we who are so fortunate do not forget the hunger and want to do all that we can to help them.

AVOIDING DISEASE

Dry Climate May Bring Relief to Sufferer from Asthma BY DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine. "Asthma with relatively low humidity are believed to give relief to patients with asthma. Apparently this is due to the beneficial effects of the dry air, which extracts moisture from the tubes leading to the lungs. In other diseases, particularly those of the heart and kidneys, in which there is an accumulation of water in the lungs, a dry climate may be especially serviceable. Investigators in the department of medicine of Western Reserve university in Cleveland determined to make a special study of this factor in relation to the diseases mentioned. In this experiment persons were asked to breathe through a jar of calcium chloride, which has the power of extracting

A PLACE FOR THE BOYS

What can a boy do, and where can he stay, If he is always told to get out of the way? He can not all here and he must not stand there. The cushions that cover that fine rocking chair Were put there, of course, to be seen and admired; A boy has no business to ever be tired. The beautiful roses and flowers that bloom On the floor of the darkened and delicate room, Are made not to walk on—at least not by boys; The house is no place, anyway, for their noise. Yet boys must walk somewhere, and what if their feet Bent out of our houses, sent into the street, Should step around the corner and pause at the door? Where other boys' feet have paused often before? Should pass through the gateway of glittering light, Where jakes that are merry and songs that are bright, Ring out a warm welcome with flattering voice.

JACK DEMPSEY
It's a tough racket, this coming back after you've been beaten out of the championship, but Jack Dempsey thinks he can do it and is out to prove it by getting back in the ring. Dempsey's manager, who is looking out for his best interests, has arranged for Dempsey to fight the ex-champ against one of the best of today, the Dempsey of today. His work-out has shown every appearance of his old-time form. His first fight is scheduled for late this summer against Pauline Lucadum.

U. S. HOSPITAL AT AMARILLO SOUGHT

LEGION OFFICIALS THANK CITIZENS FOR HELP IN CONVENTION HERE

The Fifth Division of the American Legion, Texas Department, will seek to have established at Amarillo a regional office and general hospital of the United States Veterans Bureau, fully empowered to carry on rehabilitation work among disabled veterans of the World War...

In view of the success of the convention here, as attested to by unanimous action of delegates from all over this part of the state, local Legion officials in charge of arrangements Monday issued a statement of thanks to all citizens of this city in co-operating with the various committees, saying that a better spirit could not have existed.

This was especially true of the representatives of the reception committee and decorations, and Allen Bros. Post officials have issued sincere thanks for this.

The convention was said by state officials and others who have attended similar meetings that the two-day meeting was one of the best ever held in the state.

Novelist Is Held In Friend's Death

WILLIAMANTH, Conn., May 23 (AP)—Leonard Cline, novelist, journalist and playwright, today was held for superior court, charged with the murder of his friend and house guest, Wilfred Pryor Irwin of New York, arrested before Grand Juror Carlton P. King at Mansfield, Cline pleaded not guilty in a firm voice. He was bound over without bond, and returned to the Tolland county jail.

The state called several witnesses, among them Sergeant Russell F. Harman of the state police, who told of a conversation he had with Cline on May 1. At the time Cline had had Irwin arrested for drunkenness and disorder. Harman quoted Cline as saying: "I had a gun loaded to shoot him then, but I couldn't do it. I lost my nerve."

Irwin who had been Cline's guest for several weeks was shot at Cline's home in Mansfield. He died about 20 hours later in St. Joseph's hospital here of a gun shot wound. Cline gave a pint of his blood in an effort to save Irwin's life and his arraignment had been held up pending his recovery from the transfusion operation.

Cable Is Entangled
The crash came as the ship was preparing to leave the hangar. She was moving away from the building itself across a long dock in front of the entrance when the crash came. A cable, dragging the rear of the ship caught in a submerged trackway used in towing such craft in and out of the hangar and jerked the tail of the ship downwards and to the rear. Before the ship's two powerful motors could be shut off the fouled cable jerked loose, tearing a great section from the rear of the envelope and stripping off the rollers.

The ship was about 50 feet in the air at the time, and crashed with sufficient force to break the gondola, but the seven members of the crew were uninjured and managed to fight their way clear of the clouds of silk which descended upon them as the gondola opened.

The two motors and the ships instruments were salvaged and the silted bag was being packed to night for shipment to Scott Field where it may be possible to salvage some of it.

PLANE WRECKED IN ARMY HANGAR

DRAGGING CABLE HANGS IN TRACKWAY TEARING OUT SHIP'S REAR END

SAN ANTONIO, May 23—The Army ship TC-10-243 tore herself in two today and crashed to the ground a mass of wreckage as she was attempting to take the air for a flight to her home hangar, Scott Field at Belleville, Ill., after successfully participating in last week's army maneuvers here. No one was injured but little of the ship could be salvaged. Only the fact that she was filled with helium and could not explode saved her crew of seven men from death.

The crash came as the ship was preparing to leave the hangar. She was moving away from the building itself across a long dock in front of the entrance when the crash came. A cable, dragging the rear of the ship caught in a submerged trackway used in towing such craft in and out of the hangar and jerked the tail of the ship downwards and to the rear. NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—The New York Trust company calculates that life insurance in force in the United States at the close of 1926 represented 133 percent of the total wages and salaries for the year. "On a per capita basis, the eighty billion dollars worth of insurance in force represented $678 for every man, woman and child in the country," the report says.

RAILROAD GIVEN Route Permit

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—In view of flood conditions in the lower Mississippi valley, the Interstate Commerce Commission today gave the Texas and New Orleans railroad permission to route freight from New Orleans by water to Houston, Galveston and other Texas points. The railroad will be allowed to disregard shippers' instructions for land conveyance of the freight and to turn over such shipments as it receives to boats for ocean movement until such time as its tracks are again available for use.

The commission's order specifically gave the railroad permission to put the water route into service as an alternative to the usual over-land shipment. By order issued several weeks ago when the flood on the Mississippi became serious, all railroads concerned or affected, were authorized by the commission to disregard the usual routing for inland freight and to move shipments at will around the flooded area. The order today in the case of the Texas and New Orleans allows that road to take railroad rails for the same purpose.

DAUGHTERS OF MIDAS

THIS HAS HAPPENED T. Q. CURTIS takes BILLY WELLS, NYDA LOMAX and WINNIE SHELTON, employees on his department store, into a home for a year as his wards, because he wants to help them in their ambitions each has expressed.

Billy, who wants to become a concert violinist, is the only one sincerely ambitious. The other two lie to enjoy the old man's generosity. The girls accidentally learn that he intends adopting one of them when the year is up. A battle ensues for his affections. Billy, unwillingly drawn into the game, and this, together with her fatuation for DAL ROMAINO, nephew of MRS. MEADOWS, causes her to lose interest in her violin.

Clay asks her to keep their engagement a secret. Much to her hurt surprise, she learns he is also playing Winnie Shelton. One day RALPH TRUMAN takes Billy rough his father's automobile. There Billy sees again LAY CURTIS, son of her benefactor. Billy first meets Clay when he disinherits himself and comes to live with the Wells family in the poor section of the town working in the factory by day and playing music at night. Clay's malive face is drawn in nervous agony as he works before an oily, noisy machine. Billy speaks to him, pointing out the rhythmic cadence in the notes of the machinery. The idea for Clay's symphony, "The Song of Toil," is born.

During the factory tour, Ralph tells Billy against Dal Romaino, who is so hurt he leaves Ralph, finding Clay in the crowd of departing workmen, rides to town the bus with him. He proposes Billy, but she refuses, saying she could not now marry a laborer. Billy believes her proposition into sudden wealth has led her and leaves her in distress. Billy goes home to find a note from Dal Romaino.

W GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVIII That ever it was that Ralph wanted to say to Billy that it was not to be said, for gills nearly her overtaxed body and chapped nerves gave way. While T. Q. Curtis and Nyda Lomax looked on in amazement, she began to sob and cry simultaneously, while disheveled fingers tore at short hair. T. Q. stooped and picked up in his arms and carried her to her room. Nyda followed, and led Viola to get the hysterical into bed. When the doctor came gave her a strong sedative, rest, and out in the hall, conference with T. Q. pronounced verdict. Absolute rest, a lot of nourishing food—fifteen pounds overweight and her blood even—twenty points below normal and less work for the next six days. She's been overdoing again, needs building up. Nothing organically wrong, except a weak heart. There's a slight fever, but nothing to be alarmed at. Hundreds of people have more trouble than that child has ever suspected it. Keep her in for several days—no excitement. When T. Q. tiptoed elusively into room the next morning, he told her he had written a note to her from violin lessons for a day. "I've not going to take any more with you, young lady!"

ing into a decline. Want to run away with me, Billy?" Billy drew a sharp breath of incredulous relief. "Do you mean it, Constance? Would you—have me?" "I'd adore it," Constance laughed. "I've just been talking with Mr. Curtis, and he thinks my plan is perfect. Have you ever been to Crescent Lake?" she named a famous summer resort in the northern part of the state.

"Only for a week-end once, with mother." "The season hasn't opened yet, so it will be quite, but the big hotels open the first of April—that's Thursday. People will be coming up for golf and fishing but it will be quiet—spot too quiet, so that we will be bored with each other, but the best of quiet you need. Dancing when you feel like it, or nothing to do but lounge around if you feel lazy. Would you really like it?" "I'd love it," Billy said simply, turning her head away so that her friend would not be embarrassed by her tears.

"I'll attend to everything. You don't have to worry about clothes. I'm sure you have more than enough. Be sure to take that lovely bronze sash dress you wore to my bridge luncheon last week. You bought it at Romaine's shop, didn't you? I've picked it up some quite decent things there."

"Romaine's shop?" Billy repeated her heart beginning to pound heavily again. "That was a slip of the tongue," Constance smiled. "I meant Madame Dubois'—of course, of course, everyone knows that Dal has an interest in the place, sends customers to her—in fact, was responsible for her locating here. Why, dear, what's the matter?"

"Nothing," Billy shook her head, but she closed her eyes to hide the sick despair in them. Three hundred and ten dollars! And Dal had led her on—to make a profit out of her. "Why, Billy, darling, I had no idea you didn't know," Constance knelt by the bed and took Billy's hand, "I'll fix it up." T. Q. promised his drawn brows hiding the sadness and pain in his eyes. So this was what Clay's foolish idealism had done—driven a fine girl like Billy into nervous prostration.

The next morning—Sunday—Constance Bradley sent up her card and was admitted by a heavy-eyed pal little Billy. "Hello, darling. I'm shocked to see you looking so ill. Ralph told us that you weren't quite well. Constance's soft, well-bred voice held just the right note of sympathy and friendliness. Of all the girls Billy had met in her new life, she liked Constance Bradley best. The fine dignity and reserved sweetness of the tall, thin, aristocratic girl appealed to her own little girlish heart enormously. "I'm playing sick," Billy grinned up at her friend with a flash of her old impudence. "I've been dying for an excuse to take a real rest myself." Constance smiled that cool, wise smile of hers. "Let's play sick together. I'm always so pale and thin that Dad is in constant terror of my go-

Auto Club Plans Aid To Tourists

With a motto of "aid to the tourist" a courtesy campaign is now being planned by local service dealers through the South Plains Automobile association, with the object of making preparations to furnish all autolata with road information and of being able to make "sales talk" concerning the merits of the city of Lubbock.

Service stations and dealers will be requested to call the Automobile association headquarters in the chamber of commerce office once a week for general information concerning road conditions, and to direct the tourists to the office for detailed directions, or road maps.

From fifty to sixty cars per day are now passing through Lubbock monthly enroute west to mountain resorts and the coast recreation grounds while numbers of local people are asking information in preparation for making trips this summer, according to Mrs. Jewell Hall, secretary of the three "A" club here.

Floods, which have cut off all roads in the Mississippi (region south of St. Louis, have been responsible for a shifting of transcontinental traffic northward and will reduce the total amount of tourist trade here this summer.

FILM STAR SPENDS SUMMER NEAR ALPINE

ALPINE, May 23.—Noah Beery, Mrs. Beery and Noah, Jr., will spend their summer vacation at Valle la Glenaga ranch, according to a message received this morning by Pete Crawford, the manager of this Alpine ranch resort. The famous movie star has made reservations for himself and family, stating that they expected to arrive here July 15th. The Valle la Glenaga ranch will be formally opened July first, and a number of prominent people and celebrities have already made reservations at this popular resort, but have requested that no publicity be given as they desire to enjoy a vacation out of the lime light, if possible.

INTEREST HIGH IN NEW HIGHWAY

MANY NAMES SUBMITTED AND SELECTION TO BE MADE AT SESSION JUNE 7

LAMESA, May 23.—According to the planning committee of highway 33 association, newly formed organization which has selected for a name offering $25 for the name selected, much interest has been shown in the new route. Names have been submitted from cities in New Mexico to the eastern border of Texas. The committee is to select the appropriate name June 7, at which time the officials of the new association meet. Names are being sent to Knowl Pittard, Anson, Texas; E. P. Moore, Snyder, Texas; and Wm. A. Wilson, secretary at Lamesa, Texas.

This new route is to traverse the territory west of Fort Worth and Dallas in a direct line to the west state line, passing Weatherford, Miners Wells, Breckenridge, Alameda, Anson, Ruby, Gail, Lamesa, Memphis, to the state line in Texas. In New Mexico the route is to lead straight to the Carlsbad Cavern and thence to El Paso.

By this route tourist can choose the sights of the famous Carlsbad Cavern or can pass by Lovington, New Mexico, into the mountain scenery of New Mexico which is now the playground of the nation. With the splendid road connections furnished this route by north and south roads especially federal highways No. 39 and 9 at Anson and Lamesa, respectively, and the fact that this route traverses the center of the state east and west, it is to become the most popular caravan route for Texas tourists.

It is pointed out that tourists passing through Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Wichita Falls, will travel a nearer route by some 50 miles to the cavern by this route than any other.

As soon as state designation can be secured from Lamesa to the state line, bonds will be voted for road surfacing the route.

After the services at the high school the Legionnaires will retire to the Lamesa cemetery where the graves of all service men will be decorated with flowers.

The memorial service plans were held at a meeting of members of the Legion held Monday night. Plans were also laid for a picnic for the picnic for the American Legion is to be staged sometime in the near future. Details are now being worked out by Mrs. Phillip Yonge.

Vets Get Big Kick From Windows Here Many Amusing Incidents Are Recalled

Before a window filled with the grim reminiscences of war, ex-service men who were in Lubbock for the Legion convention Sunday, paused to look on with an odd light in their eyes, and occasionally to drop brief snatches of overcast episodes.

One man dressed in the garb of a farmer, and with a livid scar running down his neck, remarked in glancing at the machine gun that one had taken the pack off his back once.

"I wouldn't have cared but I was thirsty, and they shot a hole in my canteen," he said.

Gets Big Kick A veteran named Martin, from down in the Rio Grande Valley, looked at a pile of potatoes and and it crashed on the floor. "A carving knife was lying on the table and Sam shot me," he said. "I would serve for my country."

"Whooee, I'm a wild Indian boy, Yow-ee-ee!" he screamed in a manner which makes shivers run up and down your spine. A group of waiters had come running at the crash of broken crockery, but when Sam let out that commination Charles, football yelp and Indian war whoop they turned and fled with Sam in pursuit.

Captain Appears "Just then Captain 'A-c' Mitchell stepped into the place, to see what the row was about I guess.

"Attention," I bawled and pointed by shin at a spot on the ceiling. Captain Mitchell appeared delighted and twisted the end of his lithe moustache.

"What the h— He says, 'A real wild Indian.' And he grinned some more.

"Next day I saw Sam in camp, facing a pile of potatoes that contained two truck loads. I know because I hauled those potatoes myself, carrying them two blocks in a wheelbarrow from the depot. He didn't look so wild by daylight."

MEMORIAL DAY 1861 1927 --mark every grave

IT IS a mark of respect that is assuredly due one who has left this world. It is a duty that unless performed by the living, cannot ease their conscience, for in these modern times to leave a grave unmarked shows a neglect of a sacred duty.

SEE THE MONUMENT BEFORE YOU BUY You wouldn't think of buying a suit of clothes without seeing the kind of material you were going to get would you? Then why buy a monument that is sold to you with no guarantee that is tangible—where you do not know anything positive about the firm from which you are buying it?

Memorial Day is the time designated for the decoration of graves, and on that day, how well you have performed your duty to the dead, is exhibited to the world at large.

JONES ADDRESSES GRADS AT LAMESA

CHARACTER IS UPPERMOST CONSIDERATION TELLS CLASS OF SIXTY

LAMESA, May 21.—Congressman Marvin Jones of Amarillo delivered the commencement address here Friday night to the largest graduating class in the history of the Lamesa high school. He spoke to a crowded house and to a class of sixty graduates. He pointed out to the graduates that character should be uppermost and that the real making of real men and women is to be primary object of education. He told the graduates that they should prepare themselves for a vocation.

Superintendent V. Z. Rogers presented each graduate with a diploma on behalf of the school board. Judge Carl Roundtree presented Awards and scholarships. The musical features of the program were presented by Miss Evelyn Jackson in a violin solo and a class farewell chorus by the class. The valedictory address was given by Miss Enid Averett honor student of the year.

This went into history according to school officials one of the most successful school years for Lamesa. It was successful from the standpoint of attendance, scholarship, standardization, fellowship, athletics and participation in the many interscholastic league features. It is predicted that school will open next September not only with the majority of the old teaching staff present but with a decided increase in attendance.

Pecos Survey To Start This Week

ALPINE, May 21.—The region west of the Pecos River, including about 20,000 square miles will be included in the gigantic soil survey of the Trans-Pecos country which will be started this week.

Alpine is the city selected as headquarters for the survey party from the United States Bureau of Soils and the Texas Agricultural Experiment station. Seven of the crew have arrived in Alpine and are located in their office furnished by Brewster county Chamber of Commerce.

The office furniture has been installed free of charge by Mr. E. S. The survey will be a reconnaissance and not at present a detailed survey. It will be done on a scale of one inch equals six miles, and all soils will be classified and shown on maps in colors. These maps with reports will be published and issued free to the public. The range botanist of the Experiment station will work with the party, to study the natural vegetation, in order to combine soil and vegetation studies in relation to the ranching industry. Tri County Agent, Richard S. Miller will also work in co-operation with the Federal and state representatives.

The personnel of the party follows: W. T. Carter, general superintendent; M. W. Bock and M. H. Smith, of the United States Department of Agriculture; H. W. Hawker, T. G. Heitah, and E. H. Tomplin, of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station; and Mr. V. L. Curry, Range Botanist of A. and M. of Texas. The work will start in the vicinity of Alpine, and continue throughout the Trans-Pecos territory. Mr. Carter stated this morning. The entire party will be guests of the Brewster county Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the meeting next Monday, and will meet the delegations expected to be present from the surrounding towns, in the section where the survey will be made.

Scout Officials Plan Encampment

With financing of the Plains scout council practically assured, and most of the ten thousand dollar budget subscribed, A. H. Watts, scout executive, is turning his attention to plans for the summer encampment to be held August 1 to 10 at Post.

Mr. Watts has just returned from a survey trip over the council made last week to Spur, Slaton, Post and other cities.

A letter was posted last week announcing the encampment and registrations are coming in daily from scouts who wish to attend it was stated. Provided there are sufficient registrations, a second and perhaps a third encampment will be held, for the ones who are unable to attend the first. Swimming, athletics and general scoutcraft is to be taught by competent instructors during the encampment, and most of the boys are planning to raise their ranking and list of merit badges at that time. Many are now studying in advance, to prepare for these tests.
