The first public meetings to discuss the feasibility of extending Interstate Highway 27 to the south went pretty well as expected Monday night. The series was launched at Lubbock, which already has I-27 sacked up for its own use, and that city's representatives at the meeting wasted no time in declaring their preference for U. S. 87 as the route south out of Lubbock. This was true not only of city and chamber of commerce interests, but also Texas Tech University.

Although the Lubbock stand was not surprising to local interests, who have long felt that citizens there regarded the Cap Rock as the end of civilzation in this direction, some of their leadship had indicated earlier that they would be mostly neutral as to the route the super highway should take, so long as it is extended.

Down here, we are not so concerned over what they name it as we are in seeing that a new road is actually built. Regardless of what happens to I-27 (and action must be taken in Washington before it is extended anywhere) people along the U. S. 84 route leading from the Panhandle and Plains region to the State Capital and the state's biggest seaports are interested primarily in the "Port-to Plains" concept. And if Washington does decide to extend I-27, that would be a logical designation for it,. But the I-27 label is secondary to the Port-to-Plains project, although they could wind up being identical.

We were collared by Doug Flynn and Bill J. Hood prior to Tuesday night's school board meeting and both indicated interest in the Year-round DST Club. But both still mouthed a few reservations. Flynn said he was willing to go either way (for DST or plain ST) just so long as they leave it be the year round. This wishy-washy attitude may not qualify him for membership. The club is for Daylight Saving Time advocates 12 months out of the year.

Hood said he might be willing to sign up, provided he could dictate some of the by-laws of the organization. The club has no intentions of getting itself bogged down in the type of red tape that could result from such an endeavor. In fact, there are no by-laws. The way the organization looks at it, you are either for it, aganist it, or don't give a hoot, and the club is only for those who are for it.

A note from the Texas Christian University Sports News Service advises that Jewell Wallace, former standout Horned Frog athlete, has been named TCU's new golf coach. If we're not mistaken, Wallace was Kyle Rote's high school coach at San Antonio and also had a state championship football team at San Angelo in the days of yore.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, March 14, the 73rd day of 1974. There are 292 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1794, Eli Whitney received a patent on his cotton gin, a revolutionary invention for the American South.

On this date: In 1558, Ferdinand I assumed the title of Holy Roman Emperor without being crowned by the Pope.

In 1643, the Rhode Island colonies of Newport and Portsmouth were united.

In 1743, the first town meeting in America was held, in Faneuil Hall in Boston.

In 1879, physicist Albert Einstein was born in Ulm, Germany.

In 1938, Adolf Hitler made a triumphant entry into Vienna after the Nazi take over of Austria.

In 1945, the U.S. flag was formally raised on the island of Iwo Jima after a hard-won Pacific war victory over the Japanese.

Ten years ago, King Hussein of Jordan arrived in Washington for talks with President Lyndon B. Johnson, with Arab-Israeli differences the main topic.

Five years ago, Israeli planes hit a suspected Arab guerrilla stronghold in Jordan.

One year ago, the United States lifted an embargo on arms shipments to Pakistan and India.

CHIPPING AWAY AT 72—Jim Green, 72, dons artificial legs every morning and heads for work. His daily work consists of chipping old mortar from used bricks. Once he arrives on the job, he removes his artificial limbs and replaces them with sections of old rubber tires. He says it's easier to get around. Green is paid $14 per thousand and says he can chip "bout 19 t' 20 hunert bricks a day." Green says he has no use for "those lazy youngsters who live off welfare." Jim lost both legs in an auto accident after moving to Dallas in 1935. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Resignation Of Shultz Is Accepted

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon accepted with "a sense of personal regret" today the resignation of Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, effective in early May.

Announcing the impending departure of the last member of Nixon's original cabinet to still hold federal office, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the President feels Shultz "has served with great distinction," starting as secretary of labor in 1969.

Noting that Shultz has talked several times of a desire to return to private life, Warren said the 53-year-old economist would continue to "assume special assignments" after leaving the Treasury post he has held since June 12, 1972.

Warren described Shultz as "a pillar of this administration and this government" and said Nixon has asked him to express "our enormous respect, affection and appreciation for Secretary Shultz."

Asked if Deputy Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, who also serves as the federal energy chief, would be in line to succeed Shultz, Warren said, "I won't go down a check list of names." He added that Simon obviously is well regarded in administration circles.

Besides serving as Treasury chief, Shultz held the dual appointment of assistant to the President for economic affairs — a position he will also leave.

Shultz, 53, has become one of the two most powerful men in the Nixon administration, along with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Shultz' resignation is understood to reflect his weariness after five pressure-packed years in the administration rather than any disagreement with the Nixon administration or its policies.

Shultz was the first economist ever to serve as Treasury secretary. He has indicated he would like to return to university life after leaving the administration.

He was at the University of Chicago as dean of the business school when named to serve as Secretary of Labor in Nixon's first cabinet in 1969.

He became the first director of the new Office of Management and Budget in July 1970 and served there until June 1972 when Nixon named him Secretary of the Treasury to succeed John B. Connally.

Shultz also occupies a major role as an assistant to the President, charged with coordinating both domestic and international economic policy, and is chairman of the Council on Economic Policy.

In addition, Shultz is chairman of the East-West Trade Policy Committee whose role is to develop increased trade between the United States and the Soviet Union

In meeting his many responsibilities, his international travel has been second only to that of Kissinger among top members of the administration.

Shultz is scheduled to travel to Santiago, Chile next month for a meeting of the Inter-American Development bank and to Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, for a meeting of the Asian Development Bank.

Flash Flood Warning Out Near Border

By The Associated Press

Flash flood warnings went out early today for residents of Maverick County on the Mexican border as thunderstorms grew intense around Eagle Pass on the Rio Grande.

Scattered showers and somewhat milder thunderstorms along the same stream from near Laredo upstream into the Big Bend country of far West Texas, near Sweetwater in West Central Texas, around Fredericksburg in South Central Texas and on the Middle Texas Coast from Palacios into the Gulf of Mexico.

ARAB MINISTERS STILL SILENT

Ford Reports Oil Embargo Is Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford said today he understands the Arab oil embargo against the United States has been lifted, but other high U.S. officials said they had received no such assurance.

"It's my understanding that the oil embargo has been lifted," Ford said in a televised interview.

But other ranking officials, who declined to be identified, cautioned that they had no official word on whether or when the embargo might be lifted—or whether oil exporting countries would meet in Vienna, Austria, or in Tripoli, Libya, on Sunday.

Official announcement of the decision reached at a meeting of oil ministers in a Tripoli hotel Wednesday was postponed, possibly until a further meeting in Vienna on Sunday, the sources said. They explained Libya remained opposed to ending the ban and refused to permit the announcement on its territory.

Tripoli radio, in the first account of the meeting, reported that Syria had opposed lifting the embargo against the United States and said governments which proposed this were treacherous.

The broadcast made no mention of a final decision. It said that Algeria, which had been reluctant about cancelling the embargo, supported a proposal to lift it for a two-month trial period.

According to Arab sources, the embargo against the Netherlands would not be lifted.

A brief communique said the ministers adjourned "to consult their governments." A Libyan source said they would meet again Sunday in Vienna during a price-fixing session of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and may announce the Tripoli decision then.

Several participants in the meeting said a "positive decision" on the embargo was taken, but they declined to give details.

In Washington, a spokesman for the Nixon Administration indicated it would release reserve oil supplies to give the American economy a boost as soon as Arab oil starts heading for the United States again. But one high official of the Federal Energy Office said a key question was whether the Arabs would resume production at the pre-October level or maintain the cuts of 25 per cent or more they ordered to put pressure on countries not affected by the embargo.

Embargo Lifting Is No Cure-All

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The anticipated end of the five-month-old Arab oil embargo should relieve U.S. fuel shortages, but it probably won't bring back business-as-usual.

Arab spokesmen have already issued reminders that the embargo can be used again if things don't go well in the Middle East, and U.S. energy officials don't want the United States to be caught with an even greater dependence on Arab oil if that should happen.

Those two factors alone add up to the need, already expressed by U.S. energy officials, to keep saving fuel after the embargo ends.

Just how much the nation may have to save depends on factors not yet revealed by the Arabs after their meeting Wednesday in Tripoli.

A high Libyan official told a newsman the Arab nations decided to lift the embargo.

But he did not say when; or whether Arab production would return to pre-embargo levels; or whether it would be increased to meet rising U.S. demand; or whether Arab oil prices, tripled since September, may be reduced.

Counting tanker travel time, processing time and distribution time, it may take six to eight weeks for Arab oil to begin reaching the U.S. marketplace once the embargo ends.

U.S. officials estimate it could take up to three months for oil imports to return to pre-embargo levels.

But U.S. petroleum demand has been rising steadily each year; domestic production has stagnated, and officials say new demands can only be met by increased imports for the next few years, mainly from the Middle East.

If the Arabs decide not to increase production, the United States may have to conserve oil with increasing stringency until new U.S. energy resources can be developed.

On the other hand, if the Arabs make available unlimited oil imports, U.S. officials may still press fuel conservation to keep those imports down.

When the embargo struck last October, the United States depended on the Arabs for about 12 per cent of its petroleum, and the pinch hurt. It would hurt a lot more if a new embargo came after U.S. imports of Arab oil were allowed to reach 20 or 30 per cent.

That is why energy chief William E. Simon says his toughest job will be to carry through on present policies for fuel conservation and energy development after the embargo and, with it, the immediate emergency ends.

An end to the embargo would bring no relief at all to the problem of paying for foreign oil at the new, high prices. In fact, unless the prices were reduced, the increase of imports would only make the balance of payments problem worse.

So the lifting of the Arab embargo, when it comes, may turn out to be no complete cure for U.S. energy ailments, but only a shot of fast, temporary relief.

Kirk Quits Race; For Bullock

AUSTIN (AP) — Buddy Kirk of Houston withdrew as a candidate for state comptroller today and said he would support Bob Bullock in the Democratic primary.

Kirk's withdrawal leaves Bullock, former secretary of state, and Hugh Edburg, the choice of Comptroller Robert Calvert, as candidates in that race.

Kirk, 47, had resigned as a district supervisor in the comptroller's office to run, alleging that Calvert had refused to allow him to pursue certain delinquent tax accounts.

Kirk said he talked to Bullock Saturday "about inequities in the comptroller's office, and his thinking is the same as mine—he would do away with inequities. He will do the job I would have done."

He said he would return the contributions to his campaign.

In a news conference announcing his withdrawal, Kirk released copies of a Houston Post story which said the comptroller's office attempted to transfer him from Houston after he had tried to collect taxes on yachts bought by wealthy Texans in Florida, then delivered to Texas.

It was then, Jan. 2, 1973, Kirk said, that he resigned from the comptroller's office. He said he was now selling real estate and had not talked to Bullock about a possible job, should Bullock be elected.

Kirk also mentioned Edburg's statement Wednesday that, "generally speaking, the office of state comptroller has been run efficiently in the past."

IN BREAK-IN CASE

4 Plead Innocent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four men pleaded innocent today to a charge stemming from the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Counsel for one of the defendants told newsmen upon entering the courthouse that he expects to call President Nixon as a defense witness.

Entering innocent pleas were G. Gordon Liddy, Bernard L. Barker, Eugenio R. Martinez and Felipe De Diego.

They were charged with violating the civil rights of Dr. Lewis Fielding.

Former presidential aides Charles W. Colson and John D. Ehrlichman pleaded innocent to the same charge when arraigned last Saturday. The six men were indicted by a federal grand jury on March 7.

The conspiracy charge carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Liddy, Martinez and Barker were defendants in the original Watergate break-in trial.

Henry Rothblatt, counsel for De Diego, a Miami realtor, told newsmen he intends to subpoena "every relevant witness."

Asked if that included the President, Rothblatt replied, "I think he'll be a very relevant witness."

36 Perish In Plane Crash

BISHOP, Calif. (AP) — A twin-engine chartered airplane carrying a television film crew smashed into a mountainside in the rugged eastern Sierra, killing all 36 persons aboard, officials said today.

A helicopter pilot who spotted the burning wreckage in mountainous terrain six miles east of here and landed at the scene said the Sierra Pacific Airlines Convair 440 had disintegrated.

"They were all dead," said Mike Antoniou. "All that we saw was a lot of burning. There was no apparent response to yells.

"It was a very black night. The plane was disintegrated. The biggest part I saw was the tail section. The bodies were burned very badly."

The propeller-driven plane was chartered by Los Angeles-based Wolper Productions for filming the television series, "Primal Man."

The flight was bound for Burbank, about 200 miles south of the crash scene, when it smashed into a ridge in darkness shortly after taking off from the Bishop airport Wednesday night, officials said.

About 10 Inyo County deputies and reserve officers hiked two miles over rugged terrain to reach the crash site early today, a spokesman said. No efforts to remove the bodies were planned until after daylight, when an FBI team was expected to arrive to make positive identifications on the bodies.

A spokesman said the film crew had been in the area since Monday.

Stan Margulies, vice president of Wolper Productions, said the firm had chartered the plane to transport 31 persons from the cast and crew of "Primal Man" back home Wednesday night.

Mike Gray, a Wolper spokesman, said the passengers included writer-director Dennis Azzarella, actors, stuntmen and technicians.

One of the dead actors was identified as Janos Prohaska, 51, who has played animals in a variety of roles on television and in movies. His roles included the cookie-mooching bear on the Andy Williams TV show. His son also died in the crash.

Gray said the crew had traveled to the Mammoth Mountain resort area near Bishop because a snow setting was needed to film a Siberian tiger hunt by actors made up to portray Neanderthal men.

The sequence was to be included in the third segment of the four-part series on early man's struggle for survival, Gray said. The sequence was to have been shown May 2.

A tiger had been rented for the filming, but Margulies said the animal was to be returned to Los Angeles by truck.

The plane hit at the 7,000-foot level of the White Mountains, which range up to 8,800 feet high, according to reports from Inyo National Forest officials, the Inyo County sheriff.

'Mr. Your Job' should learn power of praise

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: After living with "Mr. Your Job" for 20 years, I have had it.

I used to love to cook but it's no fun anymore, because no matter how hard I try, my husband never says it was good. If I ask him if he enjoyed the meal, he says: "Yes, but why should I say anything? That's your job."

I made draperies and curtains for the whole house, and even slip-covered the furniture myself, and he never said one word. When I asked him if he thought the house looked nice, he said: "Sure, but that's your job."

Funny how if he washes the car or mows the lawn and I don't rave about what a wonderful job he's done, he pouts for a week.

Please print this, Abby. Maybe "Mr. Your Job" will see it, and take the hint. "MRS. YOUR JOB"

DEAR "MRS. YOUR JOB": Too bad "Mr. Your Job" hasn't learned the power of praise. Most people need only to know they're appreciated to keep them whistling while they work.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle a family disagreement? We've decided to abide by your decision.

We have two children, ages 10 and 12. I require them to write thank-you notes for all the gifts they receive for Christmas, their birthdays, or for any other occasion.

My husband says they are too young to be required to write such notes. What do you think? OHIO MOM

DEAR MOM: A big fat vote for you! As soon as children can print they should be taught to write thank-you notes for gifts. The habits they form when they are very young [and this is a good one] will carry over into their adult lives. This goes for boys as well as girls. For some strange reason boys are more inclined to neglect this important courtesy. Stick to your guns, Mom.

DEAR ABBY: I like the way you tell people who have to live with something they can't change to accept it. [In my son's case, it was being the shortest one in his class, and it really helped him.]

Along that line, I am reminded of this story: A friend of mine lost a thumb and his forefinger in an accident—a very awkward handicap for a man who is in business and has to shake hands several times a day. My friend adjusted to this defect beautifully. I once asked him how he did it. He replied, "Everybody has a defect. It just happens that mine shows." BOSTON READER

DEAR READER: Beautiful!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BROWNIE": I think you should take all those letters and file them under "Y" for "yesterday." And if you find yourself reading them [which you admit depresses you immensely], throw out the file! He is gone, and it is over.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

AMPI Sends In Report To Panel

By JOHN LUMPKIN
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Associated Milk Producers Inc. has sent to the Senate Watergate Committee and other bodies probing political funds a special report on a private probe of AMPI activities.

The board of directors of the AMPI, meeting here Wednesday approved submission of the 157-page "Wright report" to the Watergate Committee staff, the Watergate special prosectuion force, the Internal Revenue Service and a federal district court in Kansas City, Mo.

AMPI officials said Wednesday night copies of the document should be in the hands of all the investigative bodies today.

John Butterbrodt, AMPI president from Burnett, Wis., said the report was the result of a commission AMPI gave the Little Rock law firm of Wright, Lindsey and Jennings on last Sept. 1.

The commission, Butterbrodt said, asked the law firm to independently investigate:

—Political contributions by or on behalf of AMPI and its immediate predecessors;

—Improper diversion of corporate funds in areas other than political;

—Breaches of fiduciary obligations on the part of past and present officers and employes of AMPI and its immediate predecessors.

The AMPI president Wednesday told the board, "The AMPI board wants remedy under the law of any possible wrong doing by AMPI or any AMPI people, past or present."

Already, through one of its attorneys, AMPI has admitted an illegal contribution of $100,000 to the Committee to Re-elect the President. And the Internal Revenue Service as well as Watergate prosecutors have the milk producers association under investigation.

In a recent development in the milk fund controversy, a former AMPI employe said arrangements were made and then canceled in 1972 to contribute $300,000 to the Committee to Re-elect the President so that the Justice Department would let an antitrust suit against AMPI "die a natural death."

Even Trees Get Funeral

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Even the trees have it good in this winter resort town frequented by wealthy socialites.

An ordinance approved by the city council requires that the owners of some 200 trees and city has adjudged to be outstanding specimens or of historic significance obtain city approval before cutting one down.

The new ordinance also requires that owners notify the city when one of the trees dies naturally.

"Does this mean I have to announce to you that my tree is dead?" one incredulous woman asked at a council meeting Tuesday when the ordinance was passed. "I think that is the required funeral ceremony," responded councilman Benjamin Oehlert, a former U.S. ambassador to Pakistan.

City attorney Elwyn Middleton said Wednesday that the trees on the protective list were selected in a survey by a University of Florida forestry expert.

"We have a beautiful town and we want to keep it that way," Middleton said.

Among the species under protection are banyans—a many-trunked, umbrella-like tree—rubber trees and Royal Palms.

"Most of the people were flattered and happy that they made the list," Middleton said. "Only three people showed up to complain at the public hearing."

The ordinance carries a maximum penalty of a $500 fine and 60 days in jail.

Cancer Drive Reports Due

A report of the captains of the Cancer Crusade, business division, will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the community room of West Texas State Bank.

Mrs. Delbert Downing, chairman of the business division, has asked each captian to bring a report from each worker on the amount of money received, and a report on the unworked prospect cards.

The captains are Ray Lunsford, Mrs. Kathey Key, Glen Polk, Mrs. Trudy Wood, Clay Mullins, Roy Kidd and Delbert Downing.

Statistics furnished by the National Cancer Institute show that one in every four Americans will have cancer in some form in a lifetime, it was noted. Cancer will strike in two of every three families.

"The only hope that we know of at this time to reduce the heartbreaking statistics is research," said Mrs. Downing. "And 36 per cent of the money raised in the Crusade goes for research."

Jury Finds Scott Guilty

A Scurry County jury returned a verdict of guilty yesterday afternoon in the trial of J. N. Scott and assessed his punishment at five years in prison and a $2,500 fine.

Trial began in 132nd District Court last Monday. Scott was charged with fraudulent sale of securities. The jury deliberated two hours and 20 minutes and brought in its verdict about 3:25 p.m. yesterday.

The case was prosecuted by District Attorney Pete Greene. Dan Cotton was attorney for the defense. Presiding judge was Wayland Holt.

Burglars Take Rings From House

Burglars took several rings valued at $1,345 from the Bob O'Day residence, 4502 El Paso, yesterday, according to a City Police report.

Police also are investigating the theft of a gum ball machine from City Laundry, 2703 Avenue Q, Tuesday night. The machine is owned by Consolidated Seal Service of Amarillo.

Scouts Set Exposition

A Boy Scout Exposition will be held from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday in the Towle Park barn. Over 100 boys from eight packs and troops from Snyder, Fluvanna and Colorado City will hold the exposition.

They will set up displays of Cub Scout activities and of Boy Scout skills. Tickets can be purchased from a Boy Scout or Cub Scout or they can be secured at the door Saturday.

Groups participating are Pack 2 from Colorado City, Pack 36 from East Elementary, Pack 37 from the First Christian Church, Pack 61 from North and Northeast Elementaries, and 258 from Central Elementary, Troop 20 from Colorado City, Troop 27 from the First Methodist Church, Troop 32 of Fluvanna, Troop 36 from Central Elementary and Troop 273 from Our Lady Guadalupe Church.

Car, Motorcycle Are In Mishap

Ralph Chester Hoyle, Jr., 15, 125 Browning, sustained minor injuries in a car-motorcycle collision at Thirtieth Street and Beaumont at 5:59 p.m. Wednesday.

City Police said he was not injured seriously enough to reguire hospitalization. Officers said he was driving a Honda motorcycle that was struck by a 1969 Model Dodge driven by Vicki Davis, 2203 Avenue Z.

ITT To Sell Avis Interest

NEW YORK (AP) — International Telephone & Telegraph Co. said Tuesday an agreement had been reached in principle under which it will divest itself of its interest in Avis Inc., now an ITT subsidiary.

Under the agreement, Avis, a car rental agency, would be merged with a subsidiary of American Express Co.

The proposed $150 million transaction would implement a 1971 Justice Department decree ordering ITT to divest itself of its 52 per cent interest in Avis, along with other subsidiaries.

Under terms of the proposal, ITT and the public shareholders of Avis would receive $25 for each share of Avis common stock, an ITT spokesman said. At present, public shareholders own 2.9 million shares of Avis stock, and ITT owns 3.1 million shares.

Free Market Is Urged For Oil

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — One of the nation's top oil executives blamed "governmental tampering" today for the nation's energy shortage and said a free market system is the only solution to the nationwide crisis.

"The existence of a supply problem today is no reason to dismantle the free market, free enterprise system that can help us find the answer tomorrow," said John McKinley, president of Texaco, Inc.

His statement was before the Texas Railroad Commission which was meeting here to set the state's April oil production allowable.

The announcement of the allowable was delayed several hours because this meeting marked the annual visit of the oil executives to a commission meeting and those were numerous speeches.

"If the United States oil industry is to meet the great challenge of developing adequate supplies of domestic petroleum, it is vital that our government promptly take constructive actions that will permit the industry to press forward in its efforts to solve our common problems," McKinley said.

"Setting aside the immediate war-induced embargo and the problem it has caused, the primary reason we face a shortage in the U.S. is because of governmental tampering with a complex market over a period of years.

"The only system known to work effectively in our complex society is the free market system. The industry has the individual skills, the organization, and determination to supply the American public with more energy than any other nation—and at attractive prices," McKinley said.

His plea for government to keep its hands off the oil industry was echoed by several other industry leaders.

A Continental Oil Co. executive said it is not yet clear whether federal gasoline rationing can be avoided.

Phi Theta Kappa In Fund Campaign

Members of Phi Theta Kappa at Western Texas College have begun an intensive effort to raise funds to send delegates to the national convention in Kansas City, Mo., April 5-7.

The students would like to do odd jobs for Snyder residents from now until April 3. Arrangements for students to work may be made by contacting Jay Cromeens at 573-6496, Dan Rose at 573-6632, Carl Mahler at extension 253 at WTC, or Ed Barkowsky, faculty sponsor, at extension 236 at the college.

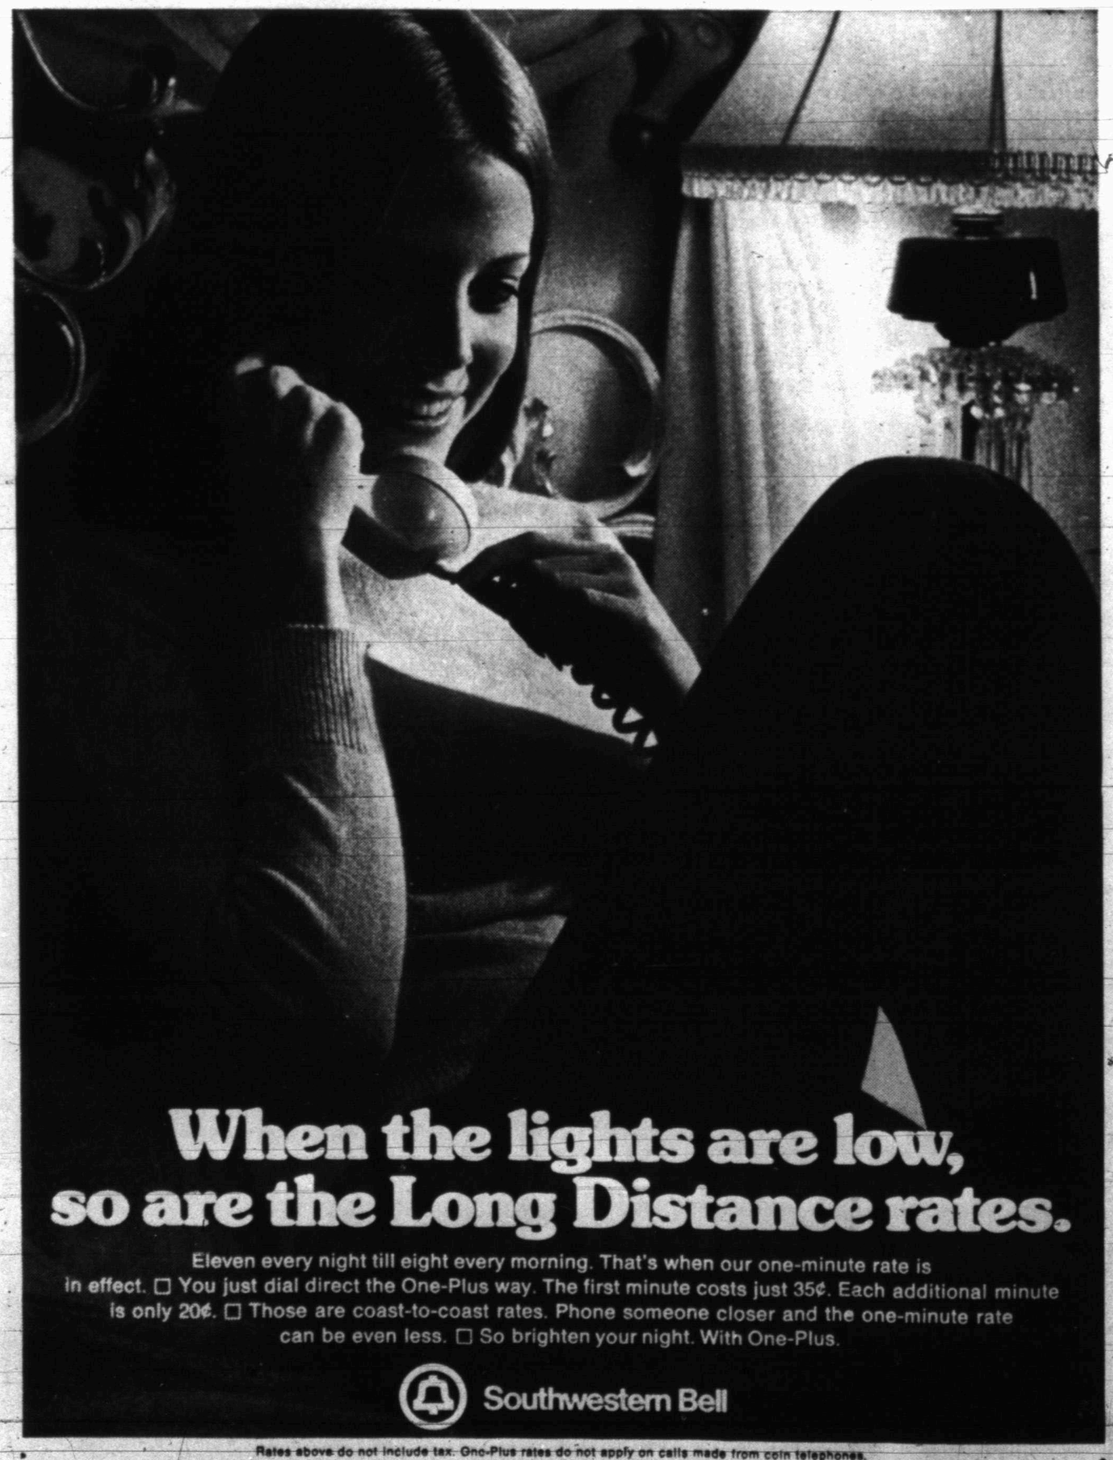

The students are planning a garage sale on March 23 and would like to contact people who have items to donate for the sale. Items for the sale may be left at 4508 El Paso or will be picked up if donors will contact Barkowsky or the students named above.

Applications For GRE Due Friday

Persons planning to take the Graduate Records Examination (GRE) at Western Texas College on April 27 must have their application forms and fees in the office of Dr. Mary Hood at WTC by March 15.

Only four persons have applied to take the examinations thus far, Dr. Hood said, and it will be necessary to have 15 applicants before the test can be given here. Anyone who plans to work on the master's degree must take the GRE.

CHICKEN OMELET—No one will guess how cleverly you've licked the leftover problem when you serve chicken or ham in this puffy, fluffy omelet creation. It won't take much longer to prepare than sandwiches but it will look and taste terrific. You can even serve it with pride to guests!

Omelets Lick Leftover Problem

It's nice to have chicken and ham leftovers, but why do they have to end being served in the most unimaginative ways?

With a little ingenuity they can come to the table in most impressive style. How about an omelet, for example? It won't take much longer to prepare than sandwiches or creaming for a la king, but it will look and taste terrific. You can even serve it with pride to guests!

The souffle-like appearance of this omelet is acheived very simply by beating the egg yolks and whites separately, then folding them into each other. Do not overbeat the whites or the omelet will be dry. For more than four people, it's smart to make two omelets rather than doubling the recipe.

As soon as the yolks and whites are folded, start cooking the omelet in a skillet that's heated hot enough so a drop of water dances in it. The omelet puffs to a golden brown on the surface of the range. Then place in a preheated oven to bake for 15 minutes. When the omelet's ready to fold, add more protein by spreading a cup flavor of the meat sauce while almonds add crunchiness.

CHICKEN OMELET

OMELET:
- 4 egg yolks
- Dash of white pepper
- 4 egg whites
- ¼ cup water
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
- 2 teaspoons butter

SAUCE:
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 tablespoon flour
- ½ teaspoon chicken stock base
- ¼ teaspoon celery salt
- 1 cup milk
- ¾ cup cubed cooked chicken or ham
- 1 cup seeded quartered red grapes for chicken; green for ham
- 1¼ cups (5 oz.) Shredded Swiss cheese
- ¼ cup toasted sliced almonds

To prepare Omelet: In a small mixing bowl beat egg yolks and pepper until thick and lemon-colored. In a small mixing bowl beat egg whites, water, salt and cream of tartar until stiff but not dry. Fold beaten yolks into whites. Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet with heatproof handle until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Turn egg mixture into skillet. Cook over low heat on top of the range until puffy and browned on bottom (about 5 minutes). Transfer to preheated 325 degree oven and bake 12-15 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. To prepare Sauce: In a 1-quart saucepan melt butter. Blend in flour, chicken stock base and celery salt. Cook over low heat until mixture is smooth. Remove from heat. Stir in milk. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 additional minute. Remove from heat and stir in chicken and grapes. (Yield: 2 cups.) Keep warm for serving. To serve: Remove omelet to heated platter. Score down the center with a sharp knife. Spread 1 cup of cheese and ½ cup of sauce over bottom half of omelet; fold omelet in half and top with remaining ¼ cup cheese. Spoon ½ cup sauce over omelet and pass remaining sauce with serving. Garnish with toasted almonds. Makes 4 servings.

Hints On Buying BodyShirts

COLLEGE STATION—Stylish, comfortable and easy-to-wear. That's how Marilyn Brown describes body suits.

The consumer education-clothing and textiles specialist, Texas Argicultural Extension Service, Texas A&M Universtiy System, pointed out that unlike blouses and shirts, "they have no shirttails that can bunch up or pull out to ruin an otherwise well-groomed appearance.

"Hosiery sections of department stores and specialty shops usually feature these 'one-piece blouses with panties,' although sometimes they're found in sportswear and lingerie departments.

"Bodywear departments—created by larger stores—display body suits along with coordinated or matching accessories. These departments also feature body stockings—which, unlike body suits, clothe a person from neck to toe," the specialist continued.

"Due to comfort and natural 'give' features, most body suits are knits. They range from sleek jersey to heavy sweater-knit types.

"A few body suits are constructed of woven fabrics. Crepe, for example, provides a dressy look. The woven blouse part of the suit may be sewn to knitted pants for comfort.

"Nylon, polyester and acrylic fibers make knits and woven easy-care."

When considering a body suit. try it on. "That's the only way to tell if it's comfortable," Miss Brown emphasized.

"Make sure the body suit fits. If too big, it will look bulky. One that's too small be uncomfortable—and if made of stretch fabric, look strained and thinner in spots."

Also check construction details.

"Select styles with an easy-to-snap crotch—they can be pulled over the head or stepped into.

"Snaps securely fastened to sturdy fabric—such as twill tape—won't twist around, becoming uncomfortable. Also, they're less likely to tear away from the suit.

"High-necked styles, on the other hand, are easier to get into and out of if they also have zipped or buttoned neck closings," she noted.

Also examine seams for undesirable bulkiness. Leg openings should be smoothly-finished and non-binding, she added.

Gucci Horse-Bit Fans Turn Out

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Well-heeled Gucci fans turned out for a spring-summer show of the latest horse-bit trimmed shoes, skirts, pants and dresses.

Gucci shoes and purses have long been a staple in the wardrobe of a certain kind of rich woman. She's the one with the good skin, simple hairdo, real gold pin and cable-knit sweater. She's usually one step behind the most current fashions, on purpose, and she goes for quality.

In the 1960s, particularly, the Gucci shoe became such a status symbol, it was almost a joke. People referred to the "Pucci-Gucci" crowd.

The look has been imitated, endlessly, in all price ranges, from the shoe with the gold horse-bit across the instep to the red and green striped detailing on luggage and purses.

The shoes are built like bullets, and it's hard to imitate such resilience to wear and tear.

"We are the most copied people in the world," said Dr. Aldo Gucci, a senior member of the Italian-based firm, adding that his customers are not always happy to see those inexpensive imitations.

In fact, down the street from the St. Regis Hotel, where the show was held on Tuesday, Gucci-looking purses were selling for $6.99. Real Gucci purses run from $60 to $220. Women's shoes go from $39 to $59.

However, Dr. Gucci says the firm's business has increased 25 times over in the last five years. At this point, Gucci has 16 stores in various countries and 42 franchises in the United States and Europe.

Although other companies are constantly changing styles in a frenetic search for something new, Gucci has continued to carry the horse-bit shoe for the last 30 years, along with other up-dated styles.

The best looks in the show were the simplest, neat pants with knit tops and leather jackets. The worse were the ones with a few too many stripes, pockets or bits of gold.

Colors were soft salmon, lapis blue and gold. "Born free" animal prints of ostriches and zebras turned up on sweaters and blouses.

Women's leather costs run $595. A man's wool V-neck cardigan sweater is $145. An ivory linen shirt is $75.

At these prices, no wonder Gucci is a status symbol for some people.

Ryan O'Neal Is Divorced

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — The marriage of actor Ryan O'Neal and actress Leigh Taylor-Young, whose romance flowered when they were costars on television's "Peyton Place," has ended in divorce.

Miss Taylor-Young, 29, had sought the divorce granted Wednesday on grounds of irreconcilable differences with O'Neal, 32, star of "Love Story" and several other motion pictures.

Superior Court Judge Pearce Young temporarily granted a motion by Miss Taylor-Young's attorney that court files, including terms of the property settlement, be sealed. Young asked for documents supporting the request.

O'Neal and Miss Taylor-Young were married in Honolulu in February 1967. It was her first marriage and O'Neal's second.

Sunspots have been observed and described since the ancient Chinese thought they saw "flying birds" in the sun.

You don't have to be a friend of RICHARD NIXON's but it may help. BOB HOPE, 70, one of the wealthiest personalities in show business has just been granted a license to own and run radio station KRLA in Pasadena, California. A veteran Republican who contributed $50,000 to the Nixon campaign, Hope is the principal stockholder of Western Broadcasting Corp., which was granted the license by the Federal Communications Commission, dominated by Nixon appointees. Also in the deal with Hope are ART LINKLETTER, another veteran Nixon campaigner, and ED PAULEY, a Democrat who raised millions for Truman, but also contributed $35,000 to the Nixon campaign. KRLA is one of the most successful rock stations on the West Coast.

ALI McGRAW is not hustling back to films due to the fact that MCQUEEN, the king of the male chauvinists, likes his queen nearby so home she sits painting T-shirts for friends.

CAROL CHANNING's never at a loss for words. A friend recalls, "Carol once said, 'I'm speechless'—and the spent 15 minutes explaining why."

DICK CAVETT admits he know nothing about fixing a car: "If I get a flat tire I immediately put up a For Sale sign".

When "Jesus Christ Superstar" opened at the Rome Opera House several weeks ago, Roman Catholics offended by the film staged violent demonstrations against it. They denounced the film as "blasphemous," staged "a Mass of atonement" in a Rome church, later had a priest sprinkle holy water on the opera house "to cleanse it from the works of Satan." What the Catholic extremists who attacked the film do not know is that the POPE has seen a 25-minute excerpt of "Jesus Christ Superstar" containing its most important sequences. He not only approves of the film, he is enthusiastic about it.

Shapely BARBARA NICHOLS, who now admits to the age of 40, is playing a mother role in "The Photographer" in Hollywood. Barbara would be more popular than she is if it weren't for her dog. It bites people. Frequently. Funny, but it always bites other actresses.

ZERO MOSTEL pointed out that you can call Dial-a-Prayer, Dial-a-Wig, Dial-a-Steak: "You can get anyone on the phone but the long-distance operator."

A veteran producer about veteran lady ELIZABETH TAYLOR-HILTON WILDING TODD FISHER BURTON: "She hasn't got it anymore. She's just a 40-year old grandma and what's so exciting about that?" Continues producer MARTIN RACKIN: "Both she and Richard are overpriced and overexposed. They've lost their appeal. They were like two prostitutes who took everything that come along and now they're over the hill." He said it I didn't.

BETTE DAVIS is going to lift her voice in song—maybe—in a Broadway musical version of the ETHEL BARRYMORE hit, "The Corn Is Green," which now will be called "Miss Moffat." Bette's anxious to prove that in her 60s she can still belt out the vocals as she did with "They're Either Too Young or Too Old" in "Thank Your Lucky Stars." She also sang effectively in "Two's Company" and is due to sing in the film version of "Follies." Miss Davis played "The Corn is Green" on film. The locale was Wales; it'll be switched to southern U.S.A. in the musical.

ROBERT GOULET and CAROL LAWRENCE talked to CBS about a TV series-about a married couple in show business...

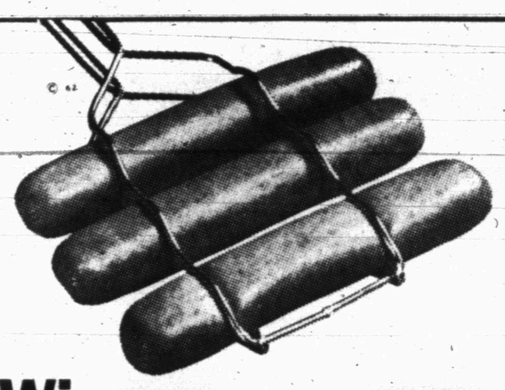

GEORGE HAMILTON got good news twice in one day. His wife Alana is expecting and he was cast—along with KIRK DOUGLAS in JACQUELINE SUSANN's "Once Is Not Enough."

JOEY BISHOP mentioned that DEAN MARTIN's a next-door neighbor: "Dean comes to my house everynight. He doesn't mean to ..."

Author HAROLD ROBBINS postponed his book on labor unions; he'll start work on one about the Mideast oil situation.

ELVIS PRESLEY turned down $½ million for two nights in Japan. He's going on a 23-day tour, mostly of the South.

RED SKELTON says that in Rome he saw tourists toss coins into the Trevi fountain: "I didn't have any coins, so I did the next best thing-I wrote a check and threw that in."

Cost Of Draft Is Under Attack

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Selective service costs the government money even when nobody is being selected to serve. And the new, $47 million budget for the standby draft system is under attack in the Senate.

Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., calls the draft agency "this bureaucratic dinosaur," and wants it shut down. That would cost money, too; an estimated $41.5 million in severance pay and other expenses.

In the age of the volunteer armed forces, no men have been drafted into military service in more than 14 months. None can be unless Congress changes the law, because induction authority expired last June 30.

While the draft is dormant, the agency is not. The law requires that Selective Service to continue to register young men.

The law also forbids the agency from spending any of its funds to induct anybody.

In other words, the money can be used to pay the staff, register young men and keep records — as long as none of that leads to military induction.

"This is strictly money for standby," an agency spokesman said. He said the agency would need more funds if it had to go back into the business of drafting men.

In the new budget year, about 1.9 million names are expected to be added to the list of potential draftees.

The agency is scaling down its operation, consolidating some local draft board locations and trimming its payroll by more than 1,200 jobs. Its staff is expected to average 2,869 over the next year.

Selective Service has spent or requested $53.7 million in appropriations for the year that ends June 30.

Director Byron V. Pepitone says the Selective Service pool is "a vital factor in assuring a strong America and the continuation of peace."

Meanwhile, Selective Service holds its major public event of the year Wednesday: the lottery to set draft priorities. It is based on the birth dates of men born in 1955.

Four area high school students are to select capsules of dates and numbers that will set the standby draft list.

The effect of this will be to tell young men turning 19 this year the order in which they will not be drafted.

Sergeant Raul Cadena has returned to Snyder after an absence of six years and will operate at the National Guard Armory as a recruiter for the U. S. Army. He is attached to the Sweetwater Recruiting Office.

Anyone interested in an Army career may contact Sgt. Cadena at the local National Guard Armory.

A native of Seguin, Sgt. Cadena attended Snyder High School in the 1950's and was drafted into the Army from here in 1961. He went through basic training at Ford Ord, Calif. He has 13 years service, including assignments at several different posts in the United States and overseas at Haunau and Karlshure, Germany and in Vietnam.

Sgt. Cadena was discharged in 1963, but he joined the Reserves and reentered the Army on active duty in 1964. He and his wife, Hortencia, are parents of four daughters: Christina 9, Maria 7, Denise 5, and Delores 2.

Sgt. Cadena and his family are making their home on Route 3. His father, Ramon Cadena, also lives on Route 3.

Probe Of Airlines To Go On

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Federal grand jury scrutiny of Braniff International Airways and Texas International Airlines may not have ended although a grand jury was discharged after returning no indictments.

"I expect the antitrust division to pursue the matter with another grand jury," said U.S. Atty. William Sessions.

A grand jury empaneled in September 1972 was discharged Wednesday by U. S. District Court Adrian Spears a day prior to its 18-month term's expiration. Spears also noted the investigation may not be complete.

The grand jury, assisted by federal antitrust prosecutors, heard testimony and called for documents which might show any actions Braniff and Texas International may have taken in connection with Southwest Airlines.

On file with the U.S. District Clerk here are documents entitled "Grand Jury Investigation of Braniff Airways, Inc., and Texas International Airlines, Inc." which seek testimony for airlines officials.

Operating only in Texas, Southwest has been competing with Braniff and Texas International on key routes between Dallas and Houston, Dallas and San Antonio and San Antonio and Houston.

Ten present or former officials of Texas International and Braniff have been granted immunity.

DISCUSS PROJECT—Included among those present for a luncheon program on the Interstate 27 extension project during a meeting of the Noon Kiwanis Club Wednesday at the American Restaurant were, from left to right, N.A. Billingsley, Bob Lindley, Gaylord Price and Mickey Nunley. Lindley, assistant District Engineer for the Texas Highway Department in Abilene, and Nunley were featured speakers. Billingsley is Resident Engineer and Price is Maintenance Supervisor for the Snyder office of the Highway Department.

Highway System Topic At Kiwanis Club Meet

Bob Lindley, assistant district engineer for the Texas Highway Department in Abilene, and Mickey Nunley, manager of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce were guests speakers at the regular luncheon meeting of the Noon Kiwanis Club, held Wednesday at the American Resturant.

Nunley said several routes have been proposed for the south extension of Interstate Highway 27 project. He said the one favored by Snyder residents is the one south from Lubbock through Snyder and thence to Abilene, Austin and Houston.

"This route would serve the most people and be a shorter route," Nunley delcared. He said Houston and Austin residents also favor this route.

Lindley said a lot of work and money go into highway improvement, and he called the state's Farm-to-Market road system the "biggest thing that ever hit rural Texas."

"We need public support," Lindley stated. He said the current "Active Planning" program of the Texas Highway Department emphasizes public participation.

Lindley pointed out 170 persons attended a meeting in Lubbock Tuesday night during which the Interstate 27 project was discussed, and he urged local residents to attend a similar meeting to be held at 7 p.m. Monday at the Scurry County Coliseum.

"Stand up and be counted," he urged his listeners.

Lindley said the highway department is doing a feasibility study on the propsed extension of Interstate 27 and that it will be presented to congress Jan. 1, 1975.

County Commissioners, County Judge Preston Wilson, Arel (Red) Faver, and N. A. Billingsley and Gaylord Price of the Snyder office of the Highway Department were presented for the meeting, and they were commended for their work and interest in the I-27 project. Faver and Billingsley are members of the Noon Kiwanis Club.

Henry Hartman, president of the Sunrisers Kiwanis Club, also was a guest, and he reminded those present of the Fish Fry to held from 12 p.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday at the student union building at Western Texas College under the sponsorship of the Sunrisers Club.

Harry Dietz gave a report on the recent Pancake Supper held by the Noon Kiwanis Club and said the supper brought in "over $1,000." Proceeds from both the Pancake Supper and the Fish Fry will be used in Kiwanis Club community projects during the coming year.

Other guests were Glenn Davis and Tom Swift.

Dropped Coins All Returned

IRVING, Tex. (AP) — Hundreds of shiny 25-cent coins bounced, jingled and rolled about the feet of shoppers Wednesday near the cavernous entrance to the Irving Mall.

It turned out that a well-dressed man had spilled a $300 bag of quarters, and you could see dollar signs gleam in the eyes of a lunch hour crowd in this Dallas suburb.

"I had visions of a scene from a television game show where they drop all these coins and you get to keep all you can scramble for," shuddered the rightful owner, vending machine company president Ed Blankenbeckler.

Instead, one startled pedestrian after another knelt, gathered up coins and handed them back to him in $5 fistfuls.

Blankenbeckler was en route to his bank with the take from a pinball-and-pool family entertainment center. He got all the money back, down to the last two bits.

The costliest perfume manufactured is Adoration, by a company in Cadiz, Spain. In the United States, it sells at $185 a half ounce.

Residents Return Home After Flood

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Thousands of residents in northeastern Oklahoma began returning to flood-damaged homes today after three days of high water.

"People have got furniture stacked in front of their houses, ready to move in when the mud is gone," a Skiatook resident said.

A grim search was launched late Wednesday night for a man missing since the height of theflooding Monday evening. It was feared that J. G. Grey, 47, drowned when he drove his pickup truck into six to eight feet of water from swollen Bird Creek in the Owasso vicinity.

The flooding claimed the life earlier of Robert Steel, 54, of Claremore.

Three days of flooding along Bird Creek in northern Tulsa County and the Caney and Little Caney rivers near Bartlesville forced an estimed 4,000 persons from 1,400 homes, according to the Red Cross.

Initial estimates placed damage at $2.4 million, according to Ed Hardy, Gov. David Hall's news secretary.

Hall has asked the federal government to designate Tulsa, Osage, Washington and Kay Counties federal disaster areas. That would make residents eligible for low-interest loans to repair and rebuild homes. The declaration also would entitle them to receive unemployment compensation and food stamps.

Reports to the governor's office indicated about $300,000 damage to trailer homes in the four counties, $1.6 million to 803 homes, $200,000 to at least 50 businesses and $300,000 to Mohawk Park in Tulsa.

Panel Head Doubts Any Amnesty Bill To Pass

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of Congress' first inquiry on the subject says he doubts amnesty for Vietnam war deserters and draft evaders will be enacted this year.

"These three days of hearings have shown grave differences over the issue," Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., said in an interview. "I just don't think we're close to resolving it, that's all."

Kastenmeier said he does not think it is likely that his House Judiciary subcommittee will put out a bill this year and said there has been no movement in the Senate on the issue.

He denied public speculation that the politically volatile issue of amnesty will be put off because of November's congressional elections, saying amnesty can win a congressman votes as well as lose them for him.

Proposals were varied during the Kastenmeier subcommittee's three days of hearings.

The sharpest contrast came at Wednesday's final hearing with Reps. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y., and Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., proposing near total amnesty and the Pentagon urging none.

Identical bills by Abzug and Dellums would grant automatic unconditional blanket amnesty to deserters, draft resisters and nonviolent war protestors and set up an amnesty board to determine other war-related violations to get amnesty.

"These young men have already paid a huge price for this exercise of conscience," Ms. Abzug said, contending they suffered exile, underground existence and in some cases jail.

"They should not be penalized further for their refusal or inability to support an illegal and unconstitutional war and what many now view as the most immoral war in our history."

But Lt. Gen. Leo E. Benade, a deputy assistant secretary of defense, said the Pentagon opposes any form of amnesty as unfair to the men who served and as a dangerous precedent.

"The alternatives were clear at the time a choice was made and an individual should be required to face the consequences of the choice he made," Benade said.

In between the automatic blanket amnesty and no-amnesty measures are bills that would grant amnesty in return for two years' service either automatically or on a case-by-case basis.

Gunman Shot By Bartender

DALLAS (AP) — Police said a bartender killed Jessie Hernandez, 32, after Hernandez shot and wounded his former girl friend in a North Dallas bar about 2 a.m. today.

The wounded woman, Sharrie Hawkins, 21, was reported in critical condition.

Last Of Wealthy Oklahomans Dies

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The surviving member of the James A. Chapman family, Leta McFarlin Chapman, has died at the age of 84, but the many millions of dollars she and her husband donated will continue to benefit religious educational and health institutions in Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas.

Mrs. Chapman, a native of Texas, died Wednesday in a Tulsa hospital. She had been ill for two months.

Leta and James Chapman amassed a fortune said to have been Oklahomas largest, and they devoted much activities. There has been no firm estimate on what they donated before their deaths but they left perpetual trusts totaling $152.5 million.

Her husband remained active in the oil and cattle business until his death at 85 in September 1966. His ranch holdings with his father-in-law are among the largest in the Southwest and rank with those formerly owned by the E. C. Mullendores, and the massive King Ranch in Texas.

Mrs. Chapman's president of philanthropy was demonstrated in state court here in 1970. In a 10-minute hearing, she declined to accept half of her husband's estate to which she was entitled by law.

Her decision resulted in transferring the entire amount of the estate to the Chapman Charitable Trust. The estate then was valued at $120 million.

In one of her last major displays of philanthropy last year, she told Tulsa voters she would provide half of a new $7 million performing arts theater if they voted bonds for the balance. The issue was approved.

The family fortune got its start when Chapmann his father-in-law, R. M. McFarlin, and the late H. G. Barnard obtained oil leases in the Genn Pool in southern Tulsa County. It was the state's first major oil production area.

QUAPAW cotton
ANOTHER GREAT VARIETY FROM
ROGERS DELINTED COTTONSEED
Texas cotton growers from the Valley to the high plains are reporting favorably their results of planting the new QUAPAW Cotton from Rogers Delinted. Such comments as, "...the cotton strips and gins good and I am increasing my planting next year." QUAPAW cotton has a medium size storm resistant boll and good seedling vigor with medium size seed. QUAPAW responds well to single row, skip row or narrow row spacing. It harvests well with strippers or spindle pickers. QUAPAW gins good and cleans up good with extra high quality fiber.

REMEMBER HOW THINGS USED TO BE---

Little Growth In 1974 Seen In Bank Forecast

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Here is a concise summary of the United States economy that is being distributed this week by the Chase Manhattan Bank to its corporate customers and correspondent banks:

The general business slowdown is now an established fact. The odds currently favor a moderate decline in output rather than a severe drop.

Activity has tumbled in the two areas where extreme weakness was expected—autos and housing—and there are signs of hesitation in consumer spending for some other products.

But the outlook for capital spending is still good. Inventories are not yet out of hand, and monetary and fiscal policy are geared toward promoting expansion.

The slide should be limited. Expansionary public policies and strong capital spending by private business should limit the current slide to 1 per cent or 2 per cent, in real terms, from the late-1973 peak.

That decline likely will be spread over a period of two or three quarters of the year. By fall, business should begin to recover—slowly at first, but more rapidly by the second quarter of 1975.

The economy is vulnerable. "Unquestionably, the economy is in a highly vulnerable condition. In addition to energy problems and associated uncertainties about foreign trade, certain setbacks could develop."

The Chase economists listed these possible setbacks:

—Policy mistakes in Washington. If the federal Reserve's monetary policy became "dangerously restrictive," the recovery would be delayed. Such a policy is unlikely.

"Based on past performance, public policy will more likely err on the side of overstimulation rather than restraint. Under current circumstances, that would serve to perpetuate inflation and economic distortions."

—A severe letdown in consumer spending. This possibility could occur because of unemployment and inflation fears. So far, however, the public has continued to spend relatively freely for most goods and services.

But, "if consumers balk, as they did in 1969, the consequence would be a more severe recession, probably extending into 1975."

By past standards, inventories are still quite low. But in the fourth quarter of 1973 there was a large buildup, which is probably being repeated now.

"Continuation of the process could lead to a major correction in late 1974 and early 1975. This would mean a further drop in production and loss of employment.

—A decline in capital spending, rather than an anticipated increase. Capital spending plans, or spending by business for plant and equipment, appear to be solidly based.

"Nevertheless, plans could change if sales and profits decline by more than current projections."

IN SUMMARY: "Even if these pitfalls are avoided, there is likely to be little or no real growth in 1974, whether measured by the average for the year or from fourth quarter to fourth quarter."

Judge Refuses To Halt Election

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — U.S. Dist. Court Judge Thomas J. Clary denied a request seeking to halt the April 7 school board election in Hondo on grounds it is unconstitutional.

A class action suit filed by three Mexican-Americans last week claimed the "multi-member district system is unconstitutional."

Judge Clary refused to issue a temporary restraining order Wednesday.

The Mexican-American Legal Defense and Educational Fund's attorneys filed the suit asking the court to order a "constitutionally sufficient single-member district plan."

Merrick Goes For Gatsby

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — David Merrick, who seems to enjoy his reputation as the Abominable Showman of Broadway, has shifted his emphasis to films, but his style remains the same.

When "Sugar" left New York last June, it was the first time in 18½ years that David Merrick shows were missing from the Broadway theater. The reason for the lapse: Merrick was producing a $6.5 million film, "The Great Gatsby."

"I would still be represented on Broadway, except that 'Gatsby, was postponed for a year and a half," the producer remarked during a visit here. With some delight, he related his experience with the F. Scott Fitzgerald opus.

Paramount, which had made 1926 and 1947 versions of the tale, had allowed its ownership to lapse, and Merrick bought the film rights from Fitzgerald's daughter. But then Ali MacGraw, wife of Paramount filming chief Robert Evans, announced that she wanted to play the Fitzgerald heroine.

"The whole motive for doing the picture was Ali," said Merrick. "Bob Evans wanted it badly, and he said he was making me an offer I couldn't refuse. I hadn't seen 'The Godfather' yet, so I didn't know that was a threat."

Merrick refused to part with "Gatsby." But since he owned only the United States rights and Paramount owned foreign rights, he agreed to produce the film for the company, with Ali MacGraw and Robert Redford as stars.

"Then Ali went to Bob Evans and said she was leaving him for Steve McQueen," Merrick continued. "That removed the reason for making 'The Great Gatsby.'"

Charles Bludhorn, head of Paramount's parent company, Gulf & Western, resisted Merrick's efforts to get the project moving again, said the producer. "He was afraid of runaway expense, because he had been stung on 'Paint Your Wagon,' 'Catch 22,' and 'Darling Lili,'" Merrick explained.

He and director Jack Clayton assured Bludhorn that "Gatsby" could be filmed in 81 days at a cost of $6.5 million, including a half-million for the delay. It was shot in 74 days, with Mia Farrow replacing the former Mrs. Evans.

Never one to shrink from publicity, Merrick came West to extoll his second film (the first, "Child's Play" was a flop).

"If you don't like 'Gatsby,'" he says challengingly, "then your taste is terrible."

Merrick is preparing another film, "Promises, Promises," for 20th Century-Fox, a company with which he once had a running feud. Is he giving up the theater?

"Oh, no," the mustachioed producer replied. "Right now I'm working on a new musical, 'Mack and Mabel,' based on the lives of Mack Sennett and Mabel Normand.

Junior Editors' Quiz on PALEONTOLOGISTS

QUESTION: What is a paleontologist?

* * *

ANSWER A paleontologist is a scientist who makes a study of fossil organisms, such as fossilized plants and animals. Fossils are preserved as a result of certain conditions, such as burial deep in the earth, cold, chemical action and dryness. Fossil remains of plants and animals occur in layers of rocks. These organisms were here when the rocks were formed. Life on earth can be traced by the study of fossils. The paleontologist works with the geologist, a student of the changes of the earth and its structure as affected by floods, earthquakes, glaciers, volcanic eruptions etc. The paleontologist is assisted in his work by a knowledge of botany and zoology.

Paleontology was begun in the 19th century by DeBlainville and VonWaldheim in 1934. It is concerned with the most important problems of the origin and evolution of organisms during the ancient life of the earth. The paleontologist has given us a knowledge of life in prehistoric times. Fossil mammoths have been found in frozen ground in Siberia and Alaska.

Dayton Tests Bruins

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The heavyweights come out fighting tonight in Round Two of the NCAA basketball playoffs.

Sixteen of the nation's best college teams, including that old smoothie UCLA, will battle toe-to-toe in arenas across the country.

UCLA, nine-time winner of the national championship, is favored to score a knockout over Dayton's muscled independents in one of the Far West regional games.

In the other one at Tucson, Ariz., it's Western Athletic Conference winner New Mexico Univ. vs San Francisco, king of the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Kansas, the Big Eight champion, meets independent toughie Creighton, while Missouri Valley Conference champ Louisville takes on Oral Roberts, another another nonleague team with punch, in the Midwest in Tulsa, Okla.

In the Mideast at Tuscaloosa, Ala., independent Notre Dame faces Michigan, the Big Ten winner, and independent Marquette challenges Vanderbilt, winner of the Southeastern Conference.

The East regionals at Raleigh, N. C., matches independent Pitt against Southern Conference champion Furman and independent Providence with North Carolina State, the Atlantic Coast Conference champion.

While many of the other teams played first-round games last Saturday, UCLA and North Carolina State were busy settling their own conference races. The Pac-8 and ACC traditonally draw first-round byes in the playoffs.

Michigan and Indiana tied for the Big Ten title at the end of the regular season Saturday and the Wolverines won an NCCA berth by beating the Hoosiers in a playoff game Monday night.

Dayton will be an interesting test for UCLA, a team that obviously is not the superteam of past years. The third-ranked Bruins have been beaten three times this season, the first time that's happened in eight years.

The Flyers beat second-ranked Notre Dame by 15 points earlier this season. The Fighting Irish stopped UCLA's fabulous 88-game winning streak last January.

"We will have the same respect for Dayton that we had for Southern Cal," said UCLA Coach John Wooden, referring to the Bruins' 82-52 conference-clincher over the Trojans.

Dayton Coach Don Donoher goes into this sudden-death game with plans for the powerful Bruins.

"We'd like to have a say in the tempo of the game," said Donoher. "We don't want to go in with one extreme, like to hold the ball, but by the same token, we don't want to go like it's the 100 meters in the Olympics, either."

The second game of the Far West regional features a battle of teams with muscle and inside power.

"We hope we don't have to stand toe-to-toe with them," said New Mexico Coach Norm Ellenberger. "If it turns into a boxing match, we'll have to do some work on the weights right away."

San Francisco's Bob Gaillard: "We feel we play aggressive defense. But we're not as aggressive as New Mexico."

Kansas, whose Big Eight Conference also drew a first-round bye, takes on a tough Creighton bunch that beat highly-regarded Marquette, among others, during the regular season. Oral Roberts, a high-powered scoring machine, will be playing on its home court against Louisville.

Notre Dame is favored against Michigan, but Fighting Irish Coach Dick Phelps isn't impressed by the favorite's role.

"Just forget rankings and records," said Phelps. "Any of the 16 teams in the regionals can win it all. They all belong there."

Vanderbilt's Roy Skinner fears Marquette's killer instinct.

"They are very smart, patient and disciplined," he says. "If they get you down, they'll run you into the ground."

North Carolina State's Norm Sloan thinks his top-ranked team is at its height and should give Providence some trouble.

"We are at our greatest peak," said Sloan. "Our goal right now is to beat Providence and win the Eastern regional."

"We'll have to play near-perfect basketball to beat North Carolina State," countered Providence Coach Dave Gavitt.

Walton, Thompson Lead All-American Cage Team

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Walton and David Thompson, the premier players on two of America's premier teams, were named today to the Associated Press All-America basketball team for 1974.

Walton, UCLA's golden center, and the graceful Thompson from North Carolina State scored big in the voting by sports writers and broadcasters from around the country.

Joining Walton and Thompson on the AP's glamour team are UCLA's Keith Wilkes, John Shumate of Notre Dame and Providence's Marvin Barnes.

Walton, the most publicized collegian since the days of Lew Alcindor, made the star-studded team for the third straight year. Thompson, often termed the best forward in the country and a sure-fire professional star, was voted on the first team for the second straight season, his junior year.

Wilkes, one of the smartest and smoothest forwards in the country, was on The AP's Second Team last season. Barnes, the nation's leading rebounder with almost 19 a game this year, was an Honorable Mention last year. This is a first time for Shumate, the big wheel in Notre Dame's high-powered offense.

Walton and Thompson, darlings of the professional scouts, were also darlings of the voters. With Walton polling the most votes, the two front-court players scored by a wide margin over Shumate, the third best vote-getter. Wilkes outscored Barnes by an eyelash.

Walton, sometimes as mystifying as he is celebrated, was a tower of strength for the powerful Bruins this year.

Despite a gimpy knee, UCLA's most famous cripple helped the Bruins run their spectacular winning streak to 88 games halfway through the season. Even when losing to Notre Dame in the streakbreaker, he played with injury — and played well.

Thompson, the only non-senior on the first team, was played to a standstill by Wilkes earlier in the season when UCLA beat North Carolina State in their "game of the year." But the flashy forward came back from that performance with All-America class.

The high-leaping Thompson, easily the best player in the Atlantic Coast Conference, brought the 'Pack back from that disastrous showing against UCLA to the top of the college basketball world.

Wilkes, termed "Silk" for his poetic grace, breathed fresh life into UCLA after the Bruins' inexplicable, two-game losing streak at Oregon and Oregon State. Shumate, a muscular center with a great outside shot, led Notre Dame's resurgence this season. And Barnes, a workhorse under the basket, was the primary reason for Providence's berth in the NCAA playoffs.

The AP's Second Team consists of Maryland's John Lucas; Larry Fogle of Canisius; North Carolina's Bobby Jones; Len Elmore of Maryland, and Billy Knight of Pitt.

The third team: Dennis DuVal of Syracuse; Tom McMillen of Maryland; Hawaii's Tom7henderson; North Carolina State's Tom Burleson and Campy Russell of Michigan.

Some of the other players receiving honorable mention for the 1974 major college All-America basketball team today included Louis Dunbar, Houston; Larry Robinson, Texas, and Bruce King, Pan American.

Rigby Signs With Atoms

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Goalie Bob Rigby has signed to play a second season with the Philadelphia Atoms of the North American Soccer League, a team spokesman said Wednesday.

Rigby, 21, starred with the Atoms in the league's first season last year. He is a graduate of East Stroudbsurg State College.

Aaron Hits Homer Against Houston

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

Spring training appears to be progressing normally for Henry Aaron. He hit a home run in his second at-bat of the exhibition baseball season.

Aaron struck out in his only appearance against the New York Yankees Tuesday, but powered a James Rodney Richard pitch over the left field wall for two runs in the first inning of Atlanta's 9-8 victory over the Houston Astros Wednesday.

Just one regular-season homer short of the year's best publicized record, Aaron also had a single in two other trips to the plate Wednesday before leaving in the fifth inning. Officially, he still trails Babe Ruth's record of 714 home runs.

The Braves won the game in the ninth when Mike Lum walked with the bases loaded. Darrell Evans added a two-run home run and Ron Swoboda had a pair of hits and one run batted in.

Cliff Johnson stroked three hits and drove in two runs for Houston, while catcher John Edwards had two hits and two runs batted in.

In other exhibition games, the Cincinnati Reds topped the Chicago White Sox 3-1; the St. Louis Cardinals trimmed the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-4; the Montreal Expos tripped the New York Mets 4-3; the Detroit Tigers downed the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-2, and the Chicago Cubs clipped the San Francisco Giants 9-6.

Also, the San Diego Padres stopped the Milwaukee Brewers 7-4; the New York Yankees bombed the Baltimore Orioles 18-3 in eight innings; the Boston Red Sox dropped the Minnesota Twins 7-2; the Kansas City Royals pounded the Texas Rangers 12-1, and the California Angels defeated the Oakland A's 7-2.

Indications are that the hitters are still ahead of the pitchers, as home runs figured prominently in the outcome of four other games.

Ted Sizemore and Ken Reitz connected in the Cardinals' victory over Los Angeles, although Jim Wynn had given the Dodgers a 4-3 lead in the sixth inning.

Thurman Munson had four hits — including a home run — while Bill Sudakis drove in five runs for the Yankees.

John Mayberry contributed four RBI, on a home run and three singles, to the Kansas City triumph.

Orlando Cepeda and Carl Yastrzemski hit two-run homers to spark Boston's sixth win in seven exhibition games.

The Reds beat the White Sox on Merv Rettenmund's sacrifice fly, which scored Dan Driessen in the fourth inning.

Cubs' third baseman Bill Madlock raised his batting average for the spring to .612 with two singles, while Jerry Morales and Billy Williams socked three hits each.

A three-run, eighth-inning homer by San Diego catcher Bob Davis led the Padres past Milwaukee. Randy Elliot had three hits and Darrel Thomas homered for San Diego. John Briggs homered in the first inning for Milwaukee.

Sandy Alomar broke a 2-2 tie with a double and Rudy Meoli socked a bases-loaded, two-run single in the Angels' victory over Oakland.

The Expos held off the Mets after taking leads of 2-0 and 4-2.

The Tigers had 17 hits, with Gary Sutherland slashing three doubles and a single.

Tiger Nine In 3-Day Tourney

The Snyder Tigers were to meet Andrews' Mustangs at 1 p.m. today in the first round of the Monahans Baseball Tournament.

Other first round pairings pitted Pecos against the Midland Lee junior varsity at 3:30 p.m., Monahans against Ft. Stockton at 6 p.m., and Kermit against the Odessa Permian junior varsity at 8:15.

Winners will meet at 6 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. Friday while the losers were slated to meet at 1 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Friday. The battle for third place will be at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, the consolation tilt at 2 p.m. Saturday and the championship match at 7 p.m. Saturday.

The Tigers are 9-1 for the season.

Golf Team To Compete At Lubbock

Coach Mike Benway will take the Tiger golf team to Lubbock tomorrow for the second 4-AAA District match of the season.

The Snyder High School golf team has an 11-stroke lead over its nearest competitor, Lubbock Monterey, after winning the first tournament here last Friday. Coach Don Witherspoon is in Austin this weekend, so the team will be guided by Coach Benway.

Monterey will be the official host for the second tournament, although it will be held at the Meadowbrook course in Lubbock. Tee off is on tap for 2 p.m. Friday. There will be 18 holes of play.

Coach Benway said six lads will make the trip to Lubbock. Steve Talbot, Bryan Hargrove, Richard Turnbow, Jeff Richardson and Bernie Weems will represent Snyder High in the tourney while Don Stoker will be competing as individual.

The local lads will leave for Lubbock this morning and get in a practice round this afternoon. The Tigers are defending district and regional champs.

CCA Tournament Slated Tonight

By PAUL LEBAR
AP Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Both cheered and chastised, the first Collegiate Commissioners Association basketball tourney gets under way tonight at the cavernous, 19,000-seat Arena with two games.

Whereas the coach of 10th-ranked Indiana called the post-season test "a waste of time," the director of Southern Cal's 15th-ranked Torces is an unabashed fan.

"The tournament is for runners-up," Indiana's 34-year-old Bobby Knight said after his Hoosiers fell to 12th-ranked Michigan in the Big Ten conference playoffs this week.

"We're not runners-up," the fiery Knight insisted. "We're co-champions of the Big Ten and deserving of something better."

Knight's tirade against his squad's appearance in the eight-team CCA could generate interest, however, within a field liberally sprinkled with strong quintets.

USC's Bob Boyd, whose Trojans were crushed last week by UCLA, labels the test "the start of a new season."

"We look forward to the tournament," says Boyd, whose team, 22-4, will take on Southern Methodist, 15-11, a title darkhorse, in the second game of tonight's first round.

In the opening contest, fast-moving Arizona State, 18-8, is rated "as good as we have been all year" by Coach Ned Wulk ahead of its game with underdog Toledo, 18-8.

"The difference in playing in the NCAA and playing in St. Louis is just a bounce of the ball," maintains Coach Joe Stowell, whose Bradley Braves, 19-7, will face Kansas State, 19-7, Friday night.

And the other Friday night game, of course, pits Indiana, 20-5, against Tennessee, which feels superior to its 17-8 record in the Southeast Conference.

"We felt we had one of our best ball clubs this year and came in third," commented Coach Ray Mears, whose Vols are led by 6-foot-5 frosh Ernie Grunfeld.

College Division Tourney Underway

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)— Morgan State, second-ranked in the small college poll, plays No. 15 New Orleans and No. 14 Southwest Missouri battles unranked Assumption tonight in the semifinals of the NCAA College Division basketball tournament.

Morgan topped Bloomsburg State 71-57 Wednesday while New Orleans defeated California-Riverside 83-78. Southwest shaded St. Joseph's of Indiana 80-78 and Assumption beat Norfolk State 89-79. The quarter-final losers were eliminated.

Leading scorer of the day was Wilbur Holland of New Orleans with 38 points. Sub Warren Booker, a freshman, contributed 12 crucial points, four of them in the final two minutes.

New Orleans, 21-7, hit 50 per cent of its floor shots to 47 per cent for Riverside, 21-8.

Guard Randy Magers connected with three free throws in the last 26 seconds to provide the victory for Southwest Missouri. He finished with 26 points, while St. Joseph's Jim Thordsen scored 28.

The Bears, 20-8, trailed the first 16 minutes of the game but went ahead just before the half, 35-33. The Pumas finish the season with a 20-10 record.

The tourney's tallest player, 7-foot Marvin Webster of Morgan State, pumped in 18 points, grabbed 19 rebounds and blocked eight shots. Morgan, 26-5, hit 43.9 per cent of its field goal attempts to 31.6 for Bloomsburg, 22-6. John Willis, 6-8 center, led the losers with 18 points also.

Assumption's 6-7 John Grochowalski turned in a 35-point, 23-rebound performance as the Greyhounds reached the College Division championships a fourth straight year.

The lead changed 12 times in the first half before the 21-6 Greyhounds edged in front 41-38 at intermission. Norfolk State, 21-10, was paced by Gene Cunningham, 6-6 sophomore, with 18 points.

Tonight's winners vie in the championship match Friday night. The losers will play a consolation game.

Death Penalty Bill Gets Big Majority In Senate

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a bill designed to overcome the 1972 Supreme Court decision against the death penalty.

The bill, passed Wednesday by a 54-33 vote, would restore under certain circumstances the death penalty for treason, espionage or murder.

No early action on the bill is expected in the House, partly because its Judiciary Committee is occupied with an inquiry into the possible impeachment of President Nixon.

The vote, after two days of Senate debate, revealed sharply conflicting views over the value of the death penalty as a deterrent to crime.

Some opponents also questioned the constitutionality of the bill and others denounced it as morally repugnant.

Among those who voted against it were Sens. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., both of whom have had immediate members of their family murdered.

Submitted to Congress by Nixon a year ago, the bill is designed to overcome the Supreme Court ruling that the death penalty, as applied under existing laws, was unconstitutional.

A score of states have since passed measures to restore the death penalty, many of them similar to the bill approved by the Senate.

Shortly before passage, the Senate tabled by a 68-21 vote an amendment by Kennedy to require the registration of all handguns and the licensing of their owners.

Also tabled 58 to 31, was another Kennedy amendment to ban the production and sale of "Saturday Night Specials" and other snub-nosed handguns.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., floor manager of the bill, said the injection of controversial gun-control measures was a tactic aimed at killing the legislation.

The bill would restore the death penalty for espionage, treason and certain other federal crimes, like kidnaping and airplane hijacking, resulting in death.

A death sentence would be mandatory if a jury or a judge, in a separate proceeding after a trial, found one or more aggravating factors and no mitigating factors.

But if any of the mitigating factors listed in the bill, like being under 18 years of age, were found, a death sentence would be barred.

Other mitigating factors include a defendant's having significantly impaired mental capacity, acting under unusual or substantial duress, being a relatively minor participant in the crime and not having been reasonably able to foresee that his conduct would cause a risk of death to another.

PUBLIC NOTICE

ELECTION ORDER AND NOTICE
THE STATE OF TEXAS
COUNTY OF Scurry

On this the 12th day of February, 1974, the Board of Trustees of Hermleigh Independent School District convened in session, open to the public, with the following members present, to-wit:
Jack Nachlinger, President Jimmy Roemisch, Terry Nachlinger, Jim Bridges, Doyle Wemken, Olan Culp, Jr. and the following absent: C. W. Feaster constituting a quorum and among other proceedings had by said Board of Trustees was the following:

WHEREAS, THE TERM OF OFFICE OF Doyle Wemken and Jimmy Roemisch members of the Board of Trustees of this School District will expire on the first Saturday in April, 1974, said first Saturday being April 6, 1974, and on said date a trustee election will be held in said School Diustrict.

WHEREAS, it is necessary for this Board to pass an order establishing the procedure for filing for and conducting said trustee election;

THEREFORE, BE IT ORDERED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF Hermleigh INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT:

1. That an election be held in said School District on April 6, 1974, for the purpose of electing to the Board of Trustees of said School Dsitrict two trustees

2. That all requests by candidates to have their names placed upon the ballot for the above mentioned election shall be in writing and signed by the candidate and filed with the secretary of the Board of Trustees at the superintendent's office not later than 30 days prior to the date of said election.

All candidates shall file with said application the loyalty affidavit required by Art. 6.02 of the Election Code.

The Secretary of this Board of Trustees shall post on the bulletin board in the building where the Board of Trustees meets the names of all candidates that have filed their applications in accordance with the terms and provisions of this Order, and said Secretary shall otherwise comply with the terms and provisions of Art. 13.32 of the Election Code.

3. That said election shall be held at the following places, and the following named persons are hereby appointed officers for said election:

(a) In election precincts numbered Hermleigh School District at High School Building, in Hermleigh, Texas, in said School District, with Foster Watson as Presiding Judge.

The polls at the above designated polling places shall on election day be open from 8:00 o'clock a.m. to 7:00 o'clock p.m.

4. Chryle Hackler is hereby appointed Clerk for absentee voting, and is hereby appointed Deputy Clerk for absentee voting. The absentee voting for the above designated election shall be held at Hermleigh High School Office within the boundaries of the above named School District and said place of absentee voting shall remain open for at least eight hours on each day for absentee voting which is not a Saturday, a Sunday, or an official State holiday, beginning on the 20 th day and continuing through the 4th day preceding the date of said election. Pryor Faces Tax Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian-actor Richard Pryor has been indicted on charges of failing to file income tax returns for the years 1967 through 1970, the U.S. attorney's office says.

Pryor, who costarred with Diana Ross in "Lady Sings the Blues," made gross income of $250,000 during the four years, assistant U.S. Atty. Stephen V. Wilson said Wednesday.

An attorney for Pryor, 34, had no immediate comment on the action by a federal grand jury, saying he had just received word of the indictment, which was filed Friday.

No immediate date was set for arraignment.

If convicted on all counts, Pryor could receive a maximum sentence of four years in prison and a fine of $40,000.

Pryor, who also played the lead role in the movie "Hit," has performed on several television shows and has appeared in nightclubs in Las Vegas, Hollywood and New York.

Work Of ThreeLubbock Artists Now At WTC

Three Lubbock artists whose works have been exhibited nationwide will have concurrent shows on the Western Texas College campus through March 29, Warren Cullar, assistant professor of art, has announced.

The artists are Wayne Greene, Lynwood Kreneck, and John Terence (Terry) Morrow, all faculty members at Texas Tech University.

The works of all three artists are in the Fine Arts Building and the public is invited to see the dislpays with no admission charge.

Morrow's exhibit is made up of eight pieces of work including intaglio, drawings, and lithographs, while Kreneck's exhibit includes eight silk screen prints. Greene has 20 pieces of sculpture in wood and stone and drawings on display.

"Each guest artist has taken an idea, feeling or emotion and has translated it through a visual medium," Mike Thornton, art instructor at WTC, said. "This show is a contemporary statement in art, and we feel fortunate to be able to arrange this quality show for out students and the community as well."

"Each guest artist has taken an idea, feeling or emotion and has translated it through a visual medium," Mike Thornton, art instructor at WTC, said. "This show is a contemporary statement in art, and we feel fortunate to be able to arrange this quality show for out students and the community as well."

Kreneck received the bachelor's degree in fine arts at the University of Texas in Austin in 1958. He returned to the University to complete work for the master's degree in fine arts in the field of printmaking in 1965. He joined the faculty of Tech that year and wrote the program for undergraduate majors in printing and has taught printmaking and drawing since that time.

Kreneck has exhibited his work in 47 national and international competitive shows, with 17 national prizes and honors to his credit. His works have been included in 11 state and regional shows with six prizes. His work is included in the permanent collections of 14 art museums and universities, among them the University of New Hampshire, the Fine Arts Gallery of San Diego, Calif., and the Wichita Art Association Galleries in Wichita, Kans. He has been asked to show his prints in six national invitational exhibitions.

Kreneck is a director at large of the Texas Watercolor Society and is a member of the Boston Printmakers and the Texas Printmakers. He is listed in Who's Who in American Art.

Morrow received the bachelor of fine arts degree from the University of Texas in 1962 and the master's degree from the University in 1967. He served as assistant professor at the University of Chattanooga from 1967-68 before joining the Tech faculty in 1968. He has been a member of the Tech graduate faculty since 1971.

Works by Morrow are included in the permanent collection of the University of Chattanooga and Texas Christian University. He is a charter member of Texas Printmakers' Society. Morrow's works have been included in 17 competitive exhibitions and 13 invitational exhibitions since 1966 and he has received four awards.

Greene received the bachelor of science degree from Central Michigan Uinversity in 1964 and the master of fine arts in sculpture from the University of Oregon in 1970. He is presently sculpture instructor at Tech. He has titled his exhibition "Intimidating Mutations."

Filmland Pays Cagney Tribute

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James Cagney came out of a 13-year retirement to accept the tributes of the film world as the man who "sang, danced and machine-gunned his way into our hearts."

Cagney, a movie tough guy and a self-described song-and-dance man for 40 years until his retirement in 1961, Wednesday night received the second Life Achievement Award of the American Film Institute from its director, George Stevens Jr.

More than 1,000 people attended, including California Gov. Ronald Reagan, another former Warner Bros. contract player who co-starred with Cagney in the 1938 movie "Boy Meets Girl," and many top Hollywood personalities.

The ceremony took place at a dinner at the Century Plaza Hotel. The 90-minute tribute, hosted by Frank Sinatra, will be televised by CBS Monday night.

Cagney, 71, his red hair turned white and looking heavier than his old dancing weight, said: "I am very grateful for this award, but why don't we just say that for now I am merely the custodian for those wonderful guys and gals who worked with me."

As Cagney walked to the podium to accept his award, the orchestra played "Yankee Doodle Dandy" from his 1942 Academy-Award-winning film that won him an Oscar for best actor. The audience stood and clapped along to the music.

In a nostalgia-filled evening that included many clips from his most popular pictures, his friends and former co-stars recalled working with him.

Charlton Heston, chairman of the board of AFI, said Cagney was the "most American of actors, yet he communicated eloquently across the world."

John Wayne said: "You're a great actor, a great citizen and all of us — all of us — love you."

Mae Clarke, who got the grapefruit in the face in the 1931 movie, "Public Enemy," said: "Forty-three years ago, Jim pushed a grapefruit in my face. Since then, I've learned to live with it and love it ... we love you and a really nice guy comes in first."

Motel Assn. In Session

The Snyder Motel Association met Sunday at the Pal-O-Mar Motel, with the owners, Mr. and Mr. George Hammerdahl hosts.

Members expressed appreciation for the city's effort in painting the new motel sign on North College Avenue, welcoming motorists and advising them of motel locations. The sign was donated by the Chamber of Commerce.

Catherine Williams, chairman reported that she and Helen Feinsod had met with City Manager George Patterson to discuss ways the association may work with the city in bringing visitors to Snyder. Also discussed was an inquiry from the Ruidoso, N. M., Chamber of Commerce, concering the occupancy tax here. The tax is collected from Snyder motel guests and has been used to spur growth and create business. Plans are now being made to develop "welcome" signs on all major highway entrances to Snyder.

Represented at the meeting were the Beacon, Pal-O-Mar, Ponderosa, Purple Sage and TraveLodge motels, The April meeting will be held on April 21 at the Purple Sage Motel. The date is a week later than usual due to the Easter Holidays.

Texas Senators Vote Together

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, Democrat, and John Tower, Republican voted together twice Wednesday as the Senate held roll call votes on handguns and the death penalty.

Odessans To Present Play Here Tonight

Snyder residents will be afforded the opportunity to view the talents and efforts of a neighboring college tonight when Odessa College presents Edward Albee's "The American Dream" and "The Death of Bessie Smith."

The performance will begin at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theatre at WTC and there is no admission charge.

Many people will recognize Edward Albee as the playwright of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolfe" which starred Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton in the film version.

Tonight's program will begin a series of exchange programs with neighboring colleges in all areas of fine arts, Charles Holland, drama director at WTC, said. WTC's first offering in the exchange will be the presentation of "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown" at Odessa College on May 4.

Holland said he had assured Odessa College that Snyder gives enormous support to fine arts events, and urged that Snyder residents show their interest by attending the Odessa performance.

Theatregoers will also have the opportunity to view a three-man show of sculpture and prints from faculty members at Texas Tech University in the lobby of the Fine Arts Building.

2 Drivers Die In Truck Crash

VAN, Tex. (AP) — A collision of two heavily loaded truck-trailer rigs near here in East Texas killed two men today, officers said.

Van Zandt County sheriff's officers reported the crash occurred about 4:15 a.m. while both vehicles were traveling west on Interstate 20, and the wreckage blocked that lane of the highway for several hours.

One truck carried a load of junk cars which had been flattened for salvage and the other a shipment of building materials.

Amtrak Finally ToReach Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Long-awaited passenger train service into Dallas appeared stymied for awhile late Wednesday but Amtrak said it obtained a temporary restraining order in federal court that would allow the menaced Texarkana-Dallas-Fort Worth run to operate.

Dallas' first train in years was scheduled to arrive at old Union Station at 7:30 a.m., but it was expected to be delayed as much as two hours by celebrations along the route.

The dispute involves Missouri Pacific's demand for liability coverage different from that in effect between other railroads and Amtrak, the national passenger service.

The train, the Inter-American, began its service Wednesday between St. Louis, Mo. and Laredo with intermediate stops at 13 cities in Arkansas and Texas.

The MP threatened that when the train reached Texarkana, Ark., the Texas & Pacific would not operate the train further. MP owns most T&P stock.

Amtrak asked the U.S. District Court of Western Missouri in Kansas City "to preserve the status quo to prevent irreparable injury to Amtrak and the public until the controversy could be settled in arbitration. The court issued the orders and scheduled a hearing Friday.

The train is made up in St. Louis, goes through Texarkana to Marshall and Dallas and Fort Worth to San Antonio and on to Laredo where it makes connections with the Mexican National Railways for the journey to Mexico City.

Southbound trains reach Dallas three times a week—on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Northbound from Laredo, they leave on Sundays, Tuesdays and Fridays and reach Dallas about 12 hours later.

Coach fares from St. Louis to Dallas will be $30.50 and $20 from Dallas to Laredo. A roomette on the Dallas-Laredo run will be $30.50 and $55.25 on the St. Louis-Dallas route.

Last November, Congress approved legislation authorizing service over the new route. Since that time, preparations have been going on to ready the stations provide equipment and crews and set down schedules and fares.

On Feb. 20, Amtrak officially asked the Missouri Pacific to operate the new train under a contract agreement of April 1971 in accordance with the 1973 Amtrak Improvement Act.

Amtrak said its officials and those Missouri Pacific have agreed to numerous undertaking since then.

But on Tuesday, it said, the Missouri Pacific said it would not operate the service between Texarkana and Dallas-Fort Worth unless Amtrak agreed to its demands for liability coverage arrangements different from those inseffect with other participating railroads.

Amtrak said where similar problems have arisen with other railroads, the passenger service was placed into operation pending solution of the dispute.

Pipe Plan Ahead Of Schedule

DALLAS (AP) — Lone Star Steel Co. says its program to supply enough tubing for completion of a wildcat oil well a day to pipe-short drillers is ahead of schedule.

The company said drillers completed 66 producing wells in 60 days after it offered to supply wildcatters with no other source of pipe.

Lack of pipe has hampered recent efforts to increase oil production in the United States.

Besides pipe for the 66 wells completed, the firm's list showed pipe supplied for 71 dry holes and 139 wells not yet heard from.

Industry representatives consider recent success rates of wildcat wells exceptionally high, a spokesman for Lone Star said. Normally oilmen drill eight to 10 dry holes for each strike.

B.C. Robertson of Lone Star said the 276 allocations to wildcatters included both surface casing and full string to finish the well, adding that most of the 66 completions already have their full string set.

Lone Star's ability to allocate pipe for the 276 wells in the first quarter far exceeded earlier expectations, Walter T. Moreland, senior vice president, said.

The company estimated when the program was announced in January that it would be the second quarter before the goal of supplying a completed well a day could be reached.

Lone Star said allocations went to 12 states, with Texas topping the list followed by Kansas and Oklahoma.

Drillers with a state drilling permit who have no other source of supply are eligible for the pipe. The agreement requires drillers to notify Lone Star in the event of a dry hole so the pipe can be transferred to another well.

Deep Port By 1976 Predicted

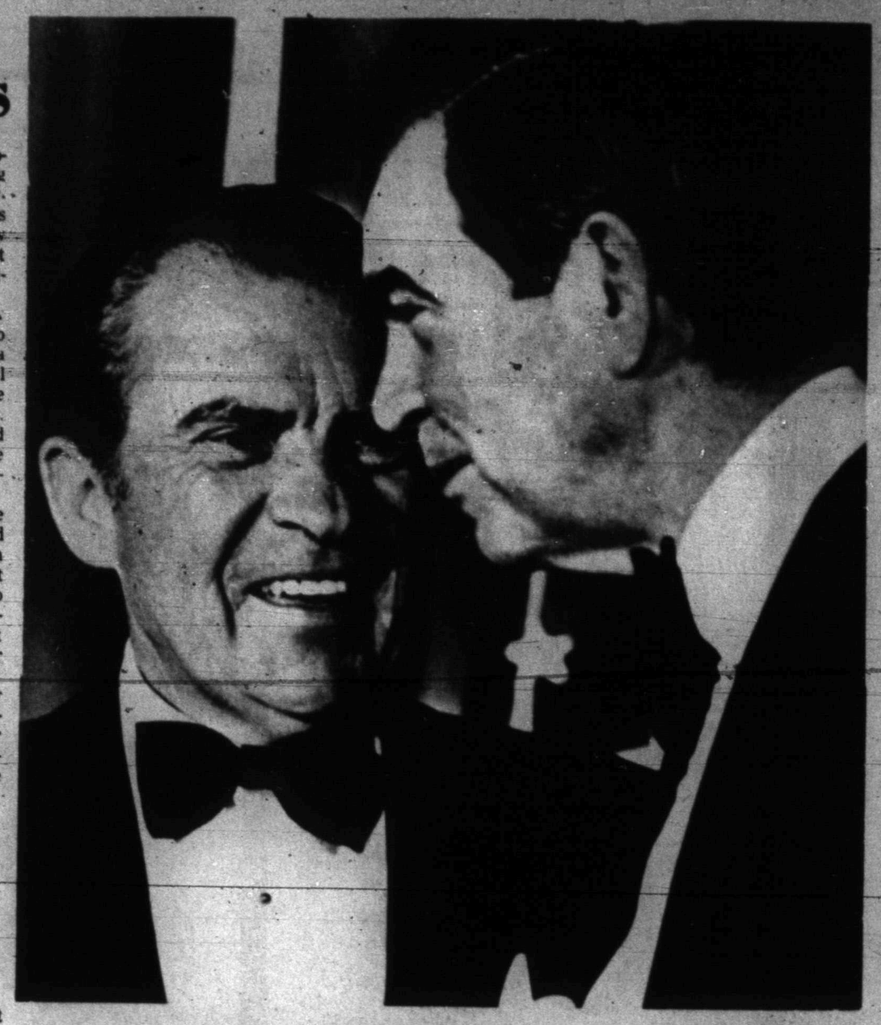

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — At least one deepwater port or oil terminal will be operating in the Gulf of Mexico by the middle of 1976, a Texas A&M research engineer predicts.

Dan Bragg said today construction will begin this year on terminals to serve Louisiana and Texas oil refineries. First shipments of foreign crude oil should begin arriving at one of the terminals before fall in 1976, he added.

The predictions were included in a presentation at the 14th annual Institute on Petroleum Exploration and Economics in Dallas. The event is sponsored by the Southwestern Legal Foundation.

Bragg is a petroleum engineer and research associate in Texas A&M's industrial economics research division.

He added that the current world tanker fleet contains as many as 800 vessels of more than 100,000 deadweight tons that require water depths of at least 50 feet.

One Primary System Urged

HOUSTON (AP) — Bob Bullock, Democratic candidate for state comptroller, said today that Texas should have a unitary primary system that would save at least $1.8 million a year.

"The continuation of conducting separate primaries for each political party at the taxpayers' expense is an unnecessary drain on the state treasury," Bullock told the Houston League of Women Voters.

Bullock said he was making the suggestion not only as a former secretary of state, who oversees state elections, but because the comptroller "is required to suggest plans for improving the management of the state's money."

Bullock also suggested a statewide centralized voter registration system as a way to save state tax money."
