Fight at police station

Baby involved; officer hurt

A domestic disturbance turned into a fight with a police officer in the lobby of Colorado City Police building Sunday evening.

The police department received a call from a local woman stating that she had been struck and knocked down twice by a man at her residence. She then went to the police station to file a complaint.

A short time later, about 7 p.m. a man, identified as Samuel Willis, 25, B/M, carrying a 10-month-old baby, entered the police station lobby. Chief Bobby Sparks reported that the man was shouting and very angry. Sgt. Tim Atkins, on duty at the time, advised the man that he was under arrested and asked him to hand over the small child. Sparks said the officer was hit in the face and a fight followed. Atkins was said to have taken quite a beating while trying to subdue Willis and keep from hurting the child. Atkins was knocked into a wall, breaking through the paneling and sheetrock, an adding machine was damaged as well as several other items in the lobby as result of the scuffle. Reserve officer Jack Green arrived at the scene and helped subdue Willis and rescue the baby.

Board will study school roof bids

A committee was appointed to study bids and bidders for the high school roof during a meeting of the Colorado City school board Tuesday night.

Three bidders were on hand to submit their proposals and bids were opened from five other bidders during the special meeting.

Board president Dwayne Harris appointed board members Billy Bruce Bridgford and Ronnie Aston along with Dr. Jim Ramsey, superintendent, and Don Nimmo, assistant superintendent, to study the bids, check references and make on-site inspections of jobs completed by the bidders. The committee is expected to have a recommendation for the board at a July 7 meeting.

Board members were told that the present roof of the main building on the high school school campus, a urethane-type roof put on when the school was built, is leaking in places. There are blisters on parts of the roof and there is a problem with water standing on part of the roof.

Most of the bids submitted Tuesday night were a recoating process with some of the bids containing estimates for repairing various parts of the roof.

Contributions to Vietnam Memorial asked

County Judge Bill Carter announced that residents of Mitchell County are being asked to join in a statewide effort to honor all Texas veterans who served their country in Vietnam combat.

All but $700,000 of the $2.5 million goal has been raised to construct and provide perpetual maintenance of a memorial honoring all Texas Veterans.

The memorial will be located on the grounds of the State Fair of Texas in Dallas. It will encompass an area of approximately 12,000 square feet and will be surrounded by approximately 2 acres of landscaped area. It will be constructed of natural Texas granite from the quarries of central Texas.

Judge Carter pointed out that six young men from Mitchell County lost their lives in Vietnam combat.

Those include: Robert W. Cooper, Robert O. Davis, Richard Kayser, Manuel G. Martinez, Ralph M. Smith, and Glenn Standefer. Another, Gerald H. Martin, lost his life in an auto accident while serving during the period.

Barber grandson scores wins

Matt Barber, 18-year-old son of Tom and Jan Barber of Westminster, Col. and grandson of Dell Barber of Colorado City and Mary Barber of Big Spring, won his division in the Colorado State Golden Gloves Boxing Championships held earlier this year in Denver.

During the same week, Barber won the Skyline League diving championship and scored superior marks in drumming at the Colorado State Jazz Festival.

Barber boxed in the 165-pound novice division to win honors in the boxing competition.

He was only one of three drummers to receive superior marks at the 80-school State Jazz Festival.

His rigorous training schedule started at school with weight training and two band classes. After school, his practice continued with 3- to 4- mile runs, followed by a one-and-a-half hour boxing workout. Diving practice following until 8 p.m., leaving the rest of the evening to maintain school grades.

Barber is in boot camp this summer for the Army National Guard and will be a sergeant when he returns. This fall he will attend Denver University where he has a music scholarship.

He is a member of Suburban Boxing Club of Westminster. One of the coaches is Barber's dad, Tom, a six-time Golden Gloves champion himself who also was a middleweight silver medalist at the Western Regional Olympic Trials in 1976. The elder Barber, a social worker with Adams County School District 50, also was a gold medalist at the Rocky Mountain Olympic Trails.

Tom and Jan have four other children, Pete, 17, Gina, 6, Jake, 3, and Jared, 4 months.

GAINING PAIN

A large segment of the American public has taken up exercise in an effort to realize healthier lives. Many exercise in an expectation of pain in order to achieve strength and slimness. However, these same health enthusiasts do not match movements with counterbalancing exercises to prevent muscle fatigue. For instance, most people consider sit-ups to be the best cure for a sagging abdomen. What they fail to realize is that this exercise can also pull the upper spine out of alignment to cause neck and back pain. If such pain develops as a result of exercise, allow the doctor of chiropractic to suggest counterbalancing exercises to stretch contracted muscles. The exerciser should also take the time to learn of other muscle pairings in an effort to work each in a balanced manner.

In today's health conscious and exercise oriented society, chiropractic application can offer more than ever before. Such activity puts tremendous strain on various parts of the spine. Utilizing effective chiropractic techniques, existing as well as potential problem areas can be addressed and a more comfortable lifestyle enjoyed.

At WHITMIRE CHIROPRACTIC CENTER, 2112 Hickory St., Colorado City, Texas, Dr. Hondo Whitmire is happy to answer your questions, discuss your needs and show you how chiropractic can serve your healthstyle and lifestyle. To better achieve your goals of tomorrow, come to WHITMIRE CHIROPRACTIC CENTER today and see how many of your aches and pains and concerns can be eliminated.

CITY MANAGER

It is the intent of the City, through these articles, to make Colorado City a cleaner, more beautiful place to live. Other similar articles will follow in the coming weeks. We ask that each citizen take an active part.

COLORADO CITY CODE, Chapter 10, "Garbage and Other Refuse", Sec. 10-10 states: Each owner of any lot or lots within the City of Colorado City shall keep the same free from weeds, rubbish, brush, and other unobjectionable, unsightly, and unsanitary matter of whatever nature; and if any such owner shall violate this provision, it shall be the duty of the City Manager to issue notice or cause notice to be issued to such owner, which notice shall briefly set forth the particular or particulars in which this provision has been violated and advise the owner that unless such violation is corrected within ten days from date of service of such notice that the Department of Sanitation of the City of Colorado City will cause the necessary work to be done to comply with the provisions of this article, the cost of which will be charged to such owner and a lien fixed against such lots or lots as provided by Article 4436 as amended of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas.

The notice may be served by delivery of a true copy of such notice to such owner by any police officer of the City of Colorado City, or by mailing by registered mail to such owner, with return receipt requested, a true copy of such notice, if the address of such owner is known, or, if such address is unknown, then by publishing such notice in a newspaper of general circulation within the City of Colorado City twice within ten consecutive days from the date of issuance of such notice.

If within ten (10) consecutive days from the date of service of such notice, the owner has not corrected such violation by complying with the provisions of this article, such owner shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by fine. In addition to such fine, the City of Colorado City, by and through its Department of Sanitation, may cause such lot or lots to be cleared of any weeks, rubbish, brush or other objectionable, unsightly or unsanitary matter of whatever nature which may have been specified in the notice provided for in this section; and the City may pay therefore and charge the expenses incurred in so doing or having such work done to the owner of such lot or lots. The Director of Finance of the City shall thereupon assess all such expense so incurred on the real estate, lot or lots upon which such expense shall have been incurred. A statement by the Mayor or City Health of the City of colorado City of such expenses may then be filed with the County Clerk of Mitchell County, texas, and upon the filing of such statement with the County Clerk, the City shall thereupon have a privileged lien upon such real estate, lot or lots, second only to tax liens and liens for street improvements, to secure the expenditure so made, and then per cent (10%) interest on the amount from the date of such payment.

Catastrophic health care

By Congressman Martin Frost

The Congress has approved landmark legislation to protect older persons from catastrophic hospital, doctor and prescription drug expenses. The catastropic care bill represents the biggest expansion of the medicare program since it was enacted in 1965.

The bill caps the amount of out-of-pocket expenses which Medicare beneficiaries must pay for approved hospital and physician services, improves coverage of home health services and hospice care, establishes a respite benefit for voluntary care-givers, and ends the requirement that a couple "spend down" into poverty before one can qualify for Medicaid assistance to pay nursing home costs.

It does not provide broad new benefits for long-term care at home or in a nursing home. Most of the new provisions will take effect in 1989, but some will not be fully implemented until 1993.

Here are some of the main provisions of the bill:

Hospital Coverage: The current 90-day limit of Medicare hospital coverage is eliminated, allowing payment for the entire hospital stay. The current deductible applied for each "spell of illness" would be replaced by a single, annual deductible initially set at $564, and indexed thereafter. Out-of-pocket costs are further reduced by ending hospital coinsurance requirements.

Hospice Care: The bill provides unlimited hospice care for terminally-ill beneficiaries.

Skilled Nursing Care: Coverage of care in skilled nursing homes would be extended to 150 days per year, with only a small coinsurance payment for the first eight days.

Home Health Care: Medicare home health services would be increased to 38 days a year. A limited respite care benefit is created for persons giving voluntary care at home to Medicare beneficiaries. For the first time, home intravenous drug services would be covered.

Prescription Drugs: When fully implemented in 1993, the new outpatient prescription drug benefit would provide Medicare payment for 80% of prescription drug costs above an estimated $710.

Physician Care: The bill caps at $1,370 in 1990 the out-of-pocket physician expenses for which a beneficiary is responsible. When this limit is reached, medicare would pay for 100% of further approved charges.

Financing: The bill is self-financing, with the new benefits paid for by Medicare beneficiaries themselves through an increased monthly premium plus an income tax surcharge. The financing was structured so as to avoid adding to the budget deficit and to the tax burden on current workers. The income tax surcharge, by which those who can better afford it will pay more of the program costs, makes the financing more progressive.

Little or no supplemental premium would be paid by persons with income below $10,000, and for persons receiving only Social Security income, no additional costs would be added to their Medicare costs.

Like Boston, New Jersey had a "tea party" during the mounting friction between the colonies and Great Britain. At Greenwich, near Delaware Bay, men in Indian costumes burned a shipload of tea from England in 1774.

FBI investigating veteran land loans

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN–The FBI is looking into about 19,000 loans made by the Veterans Land Board as part of an investigation of Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro and the General Land Office, an FBI special agent in Austin confirmed last week.

A federal grand jury subpoena for General Land Office records involving veterans land tracts was served about two weeks ago, the agent said. He refused to discuss specifics of the investigation except to say it involved possible violations of the Hobbs Act, a federal law that covers racketeering and robbery, but a section which sometimes is applied to elected officials.

The agent also would not comment on whether contributions to Mauro's campaign were being checked out, but he mentioned the Hobbs Act could cover an exchange of campaign contributions for other considerations. Several veteran land program developers have contributed to Mauro's campaign.

Under the program, Mauro's office lends up to $20,000 to veterans for the purchase of tracts of five acres or more.

Meanwhile, political potshots and maneuvering filled the Capitol hallways last week as the two major political parties jockeyed for the pole position to win the November election.

Bush Courts James Baker

Perhaps the most dramatic news was the word that Vice President George Bush wants fellow Texan, Treasury Secretary James Baker, to resign and take charge of his presidential campaign.

The move signaled to those critical of Bush's Texas ties that he is serious about keeping a strong state connection.

Bush also told Texas Republicans he opposes any amendment to make English the official language, but Bush's warning was nullified by a vote putting the amendment in the state party platform.

Bush told reporters his son married a Mexican national who only recently obtained U.S. citizenship.

Adding to the confusion, the Republicans also resolved to work harder to attract Hispanics to the GOP, but most conceded the language amendment will drive them away.

Chairman Cox Resigns

Texas Parks and Wildlife Chairman Edwin L. Cox Jr. of Athens has resigned after agreeing to plead guilty to a federal bank fraud charge in Dallas.

The charge included $80 million in loans, plus interest, that Cox repaid to Dallas' InterFirst Bank last October. Cox had received the loan while a director of the bank.

Cox had earned a reputation as a hard-working and effective proponent of protecting Texas' natural resources. There seems to be no connection between the fraud charge against Cox, who grew up next door to Gov. Bill Clements, and his service on the commission.

Hardesty Fired Again

Despite protests from students, faculty and civic leaders, regents fired Southwest Texas State University President Bob Hardesty for the second time, citing his spending and administrative habits.

His firing last month was reversed in court because regents hadn't properly listed the action on the agenda.

Friends defended Hardesty as the political target of Clements and other Republicans.

Hardesty wrote speeches for and was an appointee of former Gov. Mark White, Clements' old nemesis.

In Austin, state Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos said he may hold up new Clements appointees until he can link the governor to the firing.

Other Highlights

- A grand jury subpoenaed bank records of Amarillo state Rep. Chip Staniswallis in its probe of allegations he extracted kickbacks from his former employees' salaries.
- A long-time veteran of the Department of Public Safety, Col. Leo Gossett, will resign as chief in July and be replaced by his assistant, Lt. Col. Joe Milner.
- Railroad Commissioner John Sharp, who calls natural gas our "golden goose," will meet next month with Massachusetts Congressman Joe Kennedy and others to map plans for a Texas-to-New England new pipeline strategy.
- Meanwhile, Commissioner Kent Hance told Houston oilmen he will travel to every future OPEC meeting as Texas' voice.
- Shrugging off reports that Texas was "out" as the site for the supercollider, Gov. Clements and several state officials said we're still on the list.
- The director of the Republican Party of Texas, John Weaver, left that post to manage the Bush campaign in Texas.
- Gov. Clements told reporters he wants Bush to select former United Nations ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick as his running mate.

Correction

TO THE EDITOR:

On the 15th of May, 1988, a man named James Clifton Edwards was arrested for DWI in Mitchell County. His name was mistakenly printed as James Edward Clifton in the arrest file of your newspaper.

This misprint has caused considerable confusion among those who know me. I am a deputy in this county and cannot afford this mistake to go on uncorrected. I was not, nor have I every been arrested for anything. In the interest of accuracy would you please print a proper explanation in The Record. Thank you in advance.

Control parasites in horses

The single most important item in a preventative medicine program for horses is internal parasite control.

By establishing a good parasite control program in conjunction with your veterinarian, including deworming and pasture management, damage from parasite infections in horses can be minimized, said Mike Mauldin, Mitchell County extension agent.

A parasite control program should focus on eliminating parasites already existing in the horse and controlling the environment through effective management so that the horse will be reinfected with fewer parasites, said Mauldin.

A veterinarian can set up a deworming program tailored to the needs of any horse. Such factors as the environment, health of the horse and parasites naturally found in your area must be considered in devising a treatment that will insure that the medication is continually effective. Also, a veterinarian can advise on how medication should be administered and on the correct dosage.

An effective deworming program will call for treatments at two-to-four month intervals because of continuous reinfection pressure. Programs should be designed to have major effectiveness against large and small strongyles, pinworms, roundworms and bots, said Mauldin.

Local's quadriplegic grandson taking college computer classes

Blake Howell, 20, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Howell of Colorado City, is helped out of bed and positioned in his chair in front of his computer each morning by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Howell of Houston.

There he taps out a message to his professor at Houston Community College.

Blake, a quadriplegic, is one of numerous students taking advantage of classes taken off-campus by students who, for whatever reason cannot attend on-campus classes.

Before his accident three years ago, Howell, then 17, was a disinterested student at The University of Texas at Austin. Diagnosed as a child as being hyperactive, Howell had a limited attention span for the core requirements of a freshman and rarely read a book.

"I showed up for the exams," he said.

Howell broke his neck after diving from a 30-foot bridge into six feet of water at Lyndon B. Johnson Lake near Austin. Since the accident Howell has become what he calls "hyperactive of the mind." Where his body leaves off, he stays active with learning."He was a world-class video player as a kid," said his mother, Jean. "So this is a natural progression. We never thought he'd ever pickup up a book, but now he crams his head with whatever he can because he is limited in fun activity."

Howell would eventually like to go back to UT and get a law degree.

Howell's experience was recounted in a story by Jennifer Liebrum in the June 6 issue of Houston Chronicle telling of the growing popularity of phone modem classes at Houston Community College.

HCC has developed a series of courses that can be accessed by personal computer. Course offerings already include computer language courses, philosophy, college algebra, accounting, macro- and microeconomics. In the future, writing and history courses may also be created.

Such classes are designed to suit any lifestyle—from working mothers to the physically handicapped.

During the week, the phone modem student has advantages that an on-campus student does not—advantages that include 24-hour access to the lab and course material via the computer and 24-hour electronic-mail correspondence with the instructor, seven days a week. A student never has to get behind. You never miss a lecture. You never have to try to get somebody's notes.

The advantages include unlimited contact with the instructor and only three required on-campus appearances—a three-hour orientation, a midterm and a final exam to earn the college credit.

QUADRIPLEGIC TAKES COMPUTER COURSES—Blake Howell, 20, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Howell of C-City uses a mouth stick to tap out work on his college classes on his home computer.

SAN ANGELO - A Rural Community and Business Development Conference sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the U.S. Small Business Administration has been set for June 30 in Angelo State State University's Houston Harte Ballroom here. Registration is set to run from 8-8:30 a.m.

The day's activities will be broken into panel and roundtable-type discussions featuring a host of informative speakers. Featured speakers will include representatives from governmental and state agencies as well as individuals from the agricultural sector and private industry.

Kicking off the day's activities at 9 a.m. is a panel dealing with the economic forecast. The speakers will delve into what the economic future will hold for the family-sized producer over the next two to 10 years. At the completion of the first panel, a round-table discussion on agricultural business practices will try to give producers some insight on what they may do to gain economic control of their livestock and farming enterprises. Topics to be covered will include production, expenses, equipment replacement, marketing and capital return on investments.

The second panel will look into economic development in the community. Such questions as what will the role of rural communities and community supported businesses should be in relation to agriculture will be discussed. Cash flow will be the topic discussed by the second roundtable. More specifically, the roundtable will deal with the strategy used for strengthening the cash flow cycle and profit structure in the rural environment.

Following a catered dutch-treat lunch, the afternoon session will begin with reports from the morning's final roundtable followed by the third and final panel discussion. The panel will have as its subject Revenue Development Strategy and will feature ways to increase revenues within both present and new capital investments.

The day's activities will conclude with a report from the third roundtable and an overall summary of the panels. Adjournment is set for 3:20 p.m.

Loraine News

Loraine Personals

...by Lois Phillips

I need to say thank you to Ray for getting my two special news items in Sunday's paper. I appreciate it.

* * *

Last Sunday was Father's Day and I read several tributes to fathers in several papers, but the one to Howard Hardcastle was one of the best I have ever read.

It was also a tribute to a son, Larry, for taking the time to reflect on his growing up years and seeing his Dad in the way his article described him. I sometimes think one of our problems is that we don't take time for the good things to see the good traits in people. If we did, we, like Larry, would have more good memories of the people who make our lives worthwhile.

* * *

Jane Sandlin and her son Steve visited Jane's mother recently and attended the homecoming at the Loraine Church of Christ. Mary Coffee is the mother and grandmother of the Sandlin's.

* * *

Spending the Father's Day weekend with her parents, Grady and Elnora Mitchell were their daughter and son-in-law, Judy and Ray Mocha of Floydada. The Herman Mitchells were guests on Sunday for lunch.

* * *

Tommie J., Vickie, Cayce, Cody and Kyle Blair of Abilene spent the weekend with his parents, T. J. and Ruth Blair, going home on Monday. Cole McMillan also spent time with them to play with his cousins. Tonya McMillan visited this group on Sunday afternoon.

* * *

Jay and Charlotte Lee spent the weekend with his parents and picked up their two boys who had spent ten days with their grandparents, George and Estelle Lee.

George Jr., Faye and Clayton were dinner guests on Sunday with them.

* * *

Effie Wheeler and Jimmie Jacks entertained with a salad supper recently. Those enjoying the party were Virgil and Rossie Richburg of Sweetwater, Ruth and Homer Richburg and Lester and Lela Richburg of Loraine.

* * *

Several youths from the First Baptist Church plan to leave Thursday of this week for Dallas, where they and their sponsors will attend the Youth Evangelism Conference. We will give you a report on this at another time.

* * *

Lester and Lela Richburg were in Hart last Tuesday attending to business and visiting his daughter, the David Smiths.

* * *

I need to apologize to Dodie Davis for misspelling her name. Sorry Dodie.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Judge Richburg of Deming, New Mexico spent last Saturday night with his sister, Effie Wheeler and his niece Jimmie Jacks.

* * *

Effie Wheeler fell last Saturday at her home and broke her left arm. We are very sorry about this. Effie is a super nice lady. We all hope she will recover from this real soon. She is doing nicely.

* * *

Iva Armstrong is much better from her last set-back. She had a knee replaced back in October or November. She's walking again real well. We just kinda have setbacks now and then. Iva is another nice lady.

* * *

Talked to Iris Preston last Sunday. She had a great trip but she is glad to be home. She has written a report on her trip and I know you will enjoy it.

* * *

I talked to my friend Ashley the other day. She still won't reveal her secret but she was very willing to reveal her brother's friend name. I won't tell who that is.

* * *

I hear Bryan Butler got in trouble for running a horse race with his cousin. It seems they ran in the middle of the sheep that had already been rounded up and scattered them to the four winds. You might ask Bryan when he gets home if his granddad was pleased with the race.

* * *

We have been attending the Teenage ball games at A. W. Phillips field this month because our grandson plays over there. We have enjoyed it and met a lot of nice people. We are believers in watching the kids and grandkids do whatever they are doing. They will be grown and gone all too soon.

Bennett hosts homemakers

The North Loraine Homemakers met in the Loraine Lion's Building at 2 p.m. on June 15 for a regular meeting. Mrs. Lola Fay Bennett was hostess at this meeting.

Mrs. Nina Meadows, club president, introduced Mrs. Gene Rowe who brought the program on "Accessories on a Shoe String." She was also able to make up a beautiful wardrobe of more than 20 outfits from a basic suit and interchanging accessories.

The accessories varied from blouses, jewelry, belts, pins, scarves, purses, shoes, etc. The outfits varied from the casual to evening wear. She stated a good wardrobe could be had with 30% of the cost invested in the basics and 70% given to the accessories. The program was well received.

In the business, a date was set for the club's summer picnic. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gage will host it July 15 at their home.

Refreshments were served to three guests, Mrs. Rowe, and two from the Bauman Club--Bertha Fay Snyder and Pauline Smiley. Ten members at the Loraine club present were Mmes. Lola Fay Bennett, Veida Gage, Bessie Ann Vaughn, Blondie Hamilton, Nina Meadows, Ruth Holman, Eva Wells, Darlene Hamrick, Margaret Brame and Effie Wheeler.

Mrs. Hall hosts European tour

Chrystene Hall sponsored and Mrs. Virgil Stone with two grandchildren Tracy Currie of Henderson and Stephen Rodgers of Mission, Mildred Free, Mrs. Travis Turner and daughter Robyn, Iris Preston with grandson Matt of Brownwood and Drue Pounds, on an 11 day European tour.

The trip was fast, cool, with unknown languages, and no familiar monies. A group from California, Nebraska, and Arizona made a total of 44 with us and made many foreign friends. The only word recognized in all languages was "Jesus" although not pronounced as Americans pronounce it.

Boarding our plane at Dallas, June 7, we met some of our group at St. Louis and Kennedy Airport in New York with a short trip across the Atlantic meeting the sun much too soon. We landed in Muinch, Germany, and had a guided tour of each city seeing the architecture, government buildings, museums, cathedrals, and riding in the subways.

In Munich we visited Ludwig castle, and Dachau where the Jews were burned, and the stadium for World Olympics in 1978 where the riot took place.

Then we went down the Autobahn highway in Austria staying at Innsbruck, noted the Alps where Prince Charles' friend died in the sky accident, the World Olympic skiing stadium and Oberammergau where the Passion Play is presented every 10 years. We witnessed a wedding on the square, and the bridesmaids were on horseback. The newly married couple was in a horse carriage with the flower girls. They are required to have two weddings--one by the church and one by the city government.

Enroute to Switzerland we passed through little Leichenstien over the Rhine R. Switzerland was peaceful--no warriors. We attended a Swiss dinner with live music, yodeling, and music from all countries even "All My Ex's Live in Texas," since so many foreigners were present.

In Paris, France, the group was warned of the danger; we were to go in groups of five and had to buy bottled water. The Eiffel Tower was visited several times including the Louver the Mona Lisa, Notre Dame, a perfume factory, Gucci factory and we rode the subway "Metropolex."

From Paris via Calais we drove through the part where so many WWI vets were killed. A ferry took us and cargo across the English channel. Arriving in England we saw the White Cliffs of Dover, Canterberry Cathedral, Thames R., Hyde Park, Margaret Thatcher's residence on Downing St., Big Ben, West Minister, London Bridge, Tower of London, changing of the guards at the Palace, and riding the "Tube."

After all our sightseeing, shopping and eating, we were ready for our eight hour flight home landing in St. Louis through customs then on to Dallas where our car was for all of us to head for Loraine and Colorado City.

Methodist women continue study

The Loraine United Methodist Women met at 9:30 a.m. on June 15 to continue their study "Journey to Wholeness." Mrs. Brenda Martin is giving the study.

She gave many shocking statistics regarding the health situation in North America and other lands. Environmental conditions and child survival rates were given.

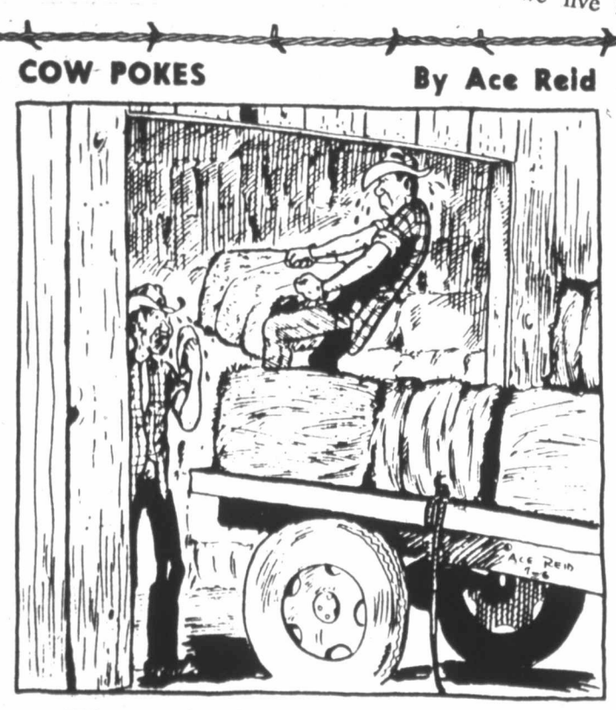

Being educated to a point where the child survival rate can be increased is where our participation can enter in. Lack of knowledge has been a draw back.

Political action has become necessary to alleviate much suffering, but working for health and wholeness where we live is a responsibility we as Christians must be involved with.

On June 22 the final session will complete the study. It will deal with AIDS and the church as a healing community.

Those attending were Mmes. Cecil Martin, Syble Walker, Lola Fay Bennett, Ruth Richburg, Brenda Martin, Eldie Bryant, Lillie Faulkenberry, Effie Wheeler and Rev. David Stevens.

White Sox beat Colts; near title

The V.F.W. Post 9178 White Sox squeezed out a third consecutive one run victory at A.W. Phillips Field Monday night-winning 6-5 over the Colts.

The White Sox clinched a first place tie with the win and can secure yet another outright Junior Teenage League title by beating the Braves Saturday. The Braves were to have played the Colts Thursday and a Braves loss in that contest would also have given the Braves the title.

Monday's 6-5 win over the Colts followed an 8-7 win over the Colts and a 12-11 win over the Braves.

Monday's win improved the White Sox to 6-1 and three games ahead of the second place 3-4 Braves with three games to play.

The visiting White Sox took a 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning. First baseman Avan Ceballos led off with a ground out to Colts shortstop Jeff Potter.

Catcher Johnny Martinez and shortstop Jesse Gonzalez followed with singles and were batted in by Gabriel Salazar's double.

Salazar was the winning pitcher while Dustin Green and Doug Koch pitched for the Colts.

The homestanding Colts answered with four runs in the bottom of the inning. Colts second baseman James Turner led off with a base on balls and stole second and third base.

Joey Arispe singled to score Turner. A walk by Koch put runners at second and third. First baseman Danny Luera singled to Arispe and Koch.

Green singled to score Luera.

The White Sox went back up 5-4 with three in the third.

Salazar led off with a single and was followed by second baseman George Ramsey's double.

Both scored on a Mike Diaz double. Diaz scored on a single by left fielder Chris Sanchez.

The Colts tied it at 5-5 with D. Luera's score in the bottom of the third. Luera scored on an error after reaching base on balls.

The winning run was scored by Sox' Sanchez in the top of the fifth. Sanchez singled to reach base and scored on Mark Espinoza's single.

In Saturday's contest the White Sox had to three runs in their last at bat to finally subdue the Braves. The White Sox led 7-1 until the Braves scored four in the top of the third to cut the lead to 7-5.

Both teams scored two in the fourth for a 9-7 Sox lead.

The Colts used five walks to score four runs in the top of the sixth for an 11-9 lead. The Sox, however, got hits from Ceballos, Bobby Silva, Johnny Martinez and Gabriel Salazar to score three runs to win 12-11.

DAVID ALVIDREZ, catcher for the Lobos, makes a throw to first base during Mitchell County Church League softball action.

The church supper: a tradition thriving with updated fare

Midwestern cooking is a reflection of its people, independent and direct. Substance is more important than style, and this is perhaps no where more apparent than at a church supper.

Sometimes called a "pitch-in" supper, other times simply pot-luck, the church supper continues to be as much a part of the social fabric of rural and small-town life as it was at the turn of the century.

Sturdy casseroles form the mainstay of the menu. They're easy to transport and many can be made ahead.

While traditional dishes such as scalloped potatoes and ham haven't lost their appeal, Midwestern cooks - like cooks everywhere - have found it necessary to update favorite recipes to fit today's busy schedules and changed tastes.

The classic macaroni and cheese, for example, still makes frequent appearances at church suppers and potluck dinners of all kinds and for good reason. It's hearty, tasty and transportable. It's also apt to have a more contemporary appearance and flavor.

Macaroni and Three Cheeses is a snap to prepare with today's timesaving appliances. The microwave oven sautes the red bell pepper, cooks the white sauce to a creamy smoothness, melts the butter for the crumb topping and heats the assembled dish, all in minutes.

Streamlined preparation isn't all Macaroni and Three Cheeses has going for it, however. The combination of Provolone, Cheddar and Blue cheeses adds a new, more robust flavor dimension. A curly pasta like rotini lends a new look, while a fresh tomato and bread crumb topper adds the extra eye appeal sure to make this contemporary classic a standout on any buffet table.

Macaroni and Three Cheeses

12 ounces macaroni OR curly pasta, uncooked
⅓ cup butter
½ cup chopped red AND/OR green pepper
⅓ cup all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon EACH: salt, pepper, nutmeg
2 cups milk
1 cup (4 ounces) EACH: shredded Provolone, Cheddar cheeses
½ to ¾ cup (2 to 3 ounces) Blue cheese, crumbled
2 small tomatoes, sliced
1 tablespoon butter
¼ cut seasoned dry bread crumbs

Cook macaroni on top of the stove according to the package directions; rinse and drain. Place ⅓ cup butter in 2½-quart round casserole. Microwave on high 1 minute. Add peppers and saute on high until tender-crisp, about 2 minutes. Stir in flour and seasonings until smooth. Microwave on high 45 to 60 seconds, or until mixture bubbles. Gradually stir in milk. Microwave on high 6 minutes, or until thickened and bubbly, stirring every 2 minutes. Stir in cheese until melted. Stir in cooked macaroni. Place tomatoes around outer edge of casserole. Microwave 1 tablespoon butter in 1-cup measuring cup on high 20 seconds. Stir in bread crumbs until well combined. Sprinkle bread crumbs over tomatoes and pasta. Microwave casserole on high 5 to 6 minutes, or until hot and bubbly, rotating dish after half the cooking time. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

AARP group meets

The Mitchell County American Association of Retired Persons No. 1461 met June 20 in the C.C. Thompson Room for its regular meeting and luncheon.

Mrs. Dona Reed, president, presided. Invocation was given by Arnel Smith.

Luncheon tables were decorated with lillies and greenery.

The pledge to the flag was led by Velma Moseley.

America was sung by the group. Pearl Wood played the piano.

The president appointed Ruby Cawthron as the new Legislative Committee chairman and appointed Juanita Coker as the Health Committee chairman.

Velma Moseley and Wilma Womack presided over the drawing of the Susan B. Anthony dollars given to AARP by Raymond and Virginia Fuller. The 10 lucky persons were Fannie Cooper, L.O. Schafer, Pearl Wood, Stanley Merket, Arnel Smith, Eleanor Jeffries, Lodena Blassingame, Garvice Craghead, Annie Dixon and Nelda Garrett.

Velma Moseley, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Bonnie Burton, coordinator of the Senior Class program at Mitchell County Hospital. She also announced that a screening class will be held at the hospital in July.

The president closed the meeting with these thoughts - "Some people, as they follow life's highways, are guided by a yellow streak"..."If you want your friends to see what the Lord can do for them, let them see in your life what He has done for you".

Other members present were Margaret Oyler, Velma Pond, Eddie Barclay, Geneva Killian, Eleanor Barber, Lona Pruitt, Jessie Mae Merket, Juanita Schafer, Bessie House and Clorine Wiman.

Give your house a bath for good maintenance

COLLEGE STATION - Your house may not need a paint job this summer, but it could probably use a bath.

Scrubbing down exterior walls once or twice a year improves their appearance and alerts homeowners to small problems that can be corrected before they become serious, according to housing specialist Dr. Peggy Owens.

"Start by giving siding and trim a good scrubbing with a light detergent solution and rinsing it away. As dirt washes away, look for mildew, popped nails and minor cracks that need caulking," she said.

The Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service specialist suggested that homeowners pay particular attention to areas under eaves, porches and other sheltered places.

"House paints are designed to chalk, or gradually wear away with exposure to rain. This self-cleaning action doesn't occur in protected zones, so you can help maintain an ever color on the house by washing these areas," said Owens.

"If you find dark, rash-like spots that won't wash off siding, suspect mildew," she said. "The fungus thrives in areas with high humidity and little sunlight.

The specialist said mildew can be removed by scrubbing with a trisodium phosphate solution or using a special mildew remover available at paint stores.

Owens said masonry walls sometimes suffer from another type of blemish called efflorescence. It shows up as a white, powdery residue that resists scrubbing.

You can scour efflorescence with a stiff brush using a mild solution (1 to 10) of muriatic acid and water. Clean small areas at a time and rinse well," said the housing specialist.
