Bill Ups Funds For Poverty War

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a bill providing sharply increased funds for the second year of what President Johnson calls his "war on poverty."

After four days of debate, the Senate cleared the $1.65-billion measure Thursday night on a 61-29 vote. Republicans put up a fiercer fight against it than they had this year against any other legislation bearing Johnson's Great Society label.

The measure was sent to conference with the House which passed a bigger authorization — $1.9 billion — by a 245-158 vote July 22.

Sponsors of the legislation said they anticipate no problem in reaching an agreement somewhere between the two figures.

Once a final decision on the authorization is reached, Congress will have to provide cash for the second year of the program in a separate money bill which may not exceed the authorized figure. In 1964, Congress voted $793 million for the initial year.

Democrats conceded that there had been some mistakes in the program in its tryout period. But they insisted it already is improving opportunities for a significant number of 35-million underprivileged Americans.

However, Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen declared in winding up the debate that the program was "the acme of waste, extravagance and disorganization."

Twenty Republicans joined nine Democrats to vote against passage. Fifty-two Democrats and nine Republicans supported the bill.

Despite their efforts, the Republicans failed in four days of debate to cut back or make any important changes in the bill.

ONE INJURED—Mrs. Bertha Mae Cotton, 2512 Twenty-seventh Street, received back injuries after being thrown from her car following a mishap at 10 p.m. Thursday at Twenty-eighth Street and Avenue U. A passerby, Dave Harlin, Sr., had actually lifted the car off of Mrs. Cotton when help arrived to pull her from beneath the car. Driver of the other car, a 1956 Thunderbird, was Otha Sharp Boyd, 3750 Avenue V. She was not injured. The injured woman was taken to Cogdell Hospital by Bell-Seale Ambulance where she was admitted for examination and treatment.

Guard Alerted As Riot Rumors Persist

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The 107th Iowa State Fair opened today with a Boy Scout bugle call, three planned aerial bombs, and armed National Guardsmen called out by the governor to assure a peaceful exposition.

Gov. Harold Hughes said he ordered guardsmen to the fairgrounds here because of "persistent rumors" that "everything from civil demonstrations to riots" might occur during the 10-day fair. No incidents have taken place.

The governor, after a conference Thursday night with law enforcement officers and state officials, told a news conference the rumors had it that "a small group of people" would create "some civil strife" at the fair. He refused to identify the people.

About 50 guardsmen were seen entering the fairgrounds in National Guard vehicles this morning.

Hughes did not hold his usual press conference today.

He declined "for security reasons" to give the number of Guardsmen or other forces to be used.

Iowa has not experienced civil rights demonstrations such as have occurred in other states, but an estimated 500 youths rioted last July 4th at the Arnolds Park resort when taverns closed.

Hughes gave few details on why he called out the National Guard. He told newsmen that racial matters entered into the rumors. He said some undesirable persons from Omaha, Neb., and Chicago were seen in the area. Responsible civil rights organizations are in no way involved, he said.

He directed Junior Miller, state adjutant general, to order into active service such elements of the Iowa National Guard "as are necessary to enforce the laws of the State of Iowa and as are necessary to protect life and property therein, and to prevent breaches of peace or the imminent danger thereof."

Immediately after the conference, law enforcement officials visited the fairgrounds, conferred there, and then moved to nearby Camp Dodge where the National Guard is headquartered.

The fairgrounds covers an area of about eight square blocks on the East Side. It has a maze of streets winding among the various buildings. Many of the buildings are of wood.

Prison Strike Breaks Up

ANGOLA, La. (AP) — An overnight sit-down strike by some 500 convicts at the Louisiana State Penitentiary appeared to be breaking up today.

More than half of the convicts, who struck Thursday in protest of convict guards, left the exercise yard where they spent the night. Others were following.

"It looks like it's broken up," said Associate Warden J.D. Middlebrook.

Wingate White, director of the State Board of Institutions, said the 500 strikers who spent the night in an exercise yard were told earlier today they would be allowed out of the yard only if they agreed to return to their cells.

BROWNWOOD (AP) — Two of three prisoners who escaped jail in Lampasas Thursday have been captured.

Brownwood police found Ray Kelly, 20, of San Saba and Jack Jones, 22, of Midland hiding in a box car filled with cross ties on a Santa Fe freight train here.

Still at large was William Whittington, 34, of Cameron.

Sniper Fire Hampers Mop-up At Van Tuong

By RONALD J. DEATON

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines drove Viet Cong foe from bunkers and foxholes in what both sides called the biggest American battle of the Vietnamese war.

A U.S. military spokesman said Communist guerrillas opened up on the Marines with sporadic small arms fire as the Americans continued mop-up operations on the peninsula 12 miles south of Chu Lai.

The area was the stronghold of the 1st Viet Cong regiment, one of the toughest," the spokesman said.

The spokesman said 563 Viet Cong bodies had been counted. The Marines estimated that more than 600 of the enemy were killed and more than 1,000 wounded in the battle that began with an amphibious and helicopter assault Wednesday.

The spokesman said 52 guerrillas were captured and 64 suspects were held.

One Marine intelligence officer estimated that 1,200 Viet Cong had been in the combat zone and another 800 in the general area.

Casualties among the several thousand Americans involved were light, Marine officials said. But a U.S. military spokesman in Saigon said the Americans had suffered their heaviest losses of any single engagement of the war. Security rules forbid disclosure of U.S. casualties in specific battles.

"The Viet Cong who survived pushed out to sea or infiltrated around and through positions in the rear," said Marine Maj. E. W. Snyder of Oceanside, Calif.

Meanwhile, Henry Cabot Lodge arrived in Saigon to start his second tour of duty as U.S. ambassador. He told newsmen the United States "is both united and persistent in confirming its belief that the current aggression against Viet Nam must and will be warded off."

"The fight which our military men — Vietnamese, American and allied alike — are making to this end gives us all the opportunity to help bring about a true revolution which will make possible a new and better life for the Vietnamese people," the ambassador said.

Lodge first served as ambassador to South Viet Nam for nine months in 1963-64. He was succeeded in June 1964 by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who resigned last month and left Viet Nam July 30.

Two terrorists on a motorbike threw a grenade and fired one shot today at a police station in Cholon, Saigon's Chinese section. Three police officers and a passerby were wounded. The terrorists escaped.

The Viet Cong hit the town of Dak To, in the central highlands, with mortar fire Thursday night. A U.S. military spokesman said no casualties were reported. Dak To is 17 miles from Dak Sut, where the Viet Cong the night before overran the town, the district headquarters and a nearby special forces camp.

Guerrillas also fired on the villages of Tam Da, Trung Lui and Phuoc Lai, just east of Saigon, during the night.

Greece Gets New Premier And Cabinet

By CHRIS ELIOU

ATHENS (AP) — Premier Elias Tsirimokos and his Cabinet were sworn in today in a new attempt to end Greece's gravy political crisis.

Ten of the 14 members of the new Cabinet had bolted from former Premier George Papandreou's Center Union party earlier today. But Tsirimokos, a former left-wing Socialist, was believed to be still slightly short of a majority in Parliament.

The Cabinet was not complete. Reliable sources said the 58-year-old premier would complete it if he receives a vote of confidence from the 300-member Parliament next week. He was expected to go before Parliament Monday or Tuesday.

The swearing-in ceremony before King Constantine had been postponed twice in the last 24 hours. The delay, coming after a renewal Thursday night of rioting in Athens, heightened tension in the crisis-ridden NATO nation.

Several thousand of Papandreou's youthful supporters battled police during a demonstration against Tsirimokos and the king. It was the first major outbreak of violence since July 21.

Papandreou, whom the 25-year-old king fired July 15 in a dispute over control of the armed forces, said he would begin a tour of the provinces Saturday to enlighten the people on the "attempts of the royal palace to set up a moribund government against the people's will."

Gemini Said Ready, Able

By JOHN BARBOUR

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Flight officials swept away today most of the troubles that stymied Thursday's attempt to send two Americans on man's longest space voyage. They now hope to blast off Saturday.

Engineers and scientists, working much of the night, dealt with three electrical problems that combined with a thunderstorm to first delay and then to halt Thursday's countdown 10 minutes before launch time.

They interrogated and found unharmed the taped memory of a spacecraft computer. A lightning-generated power surge had forced it to cut off Thursday, the last trouble before the flight was postponed.

A programmer had been replaced in the telemetry system, and it was undergoing checks as the flight officials moved into an abbreviated countdown integrating the rocket and the spacecraft.

A cable fire caused by an industrial accident would not hinder Saturday's planned flight and was under repair.

All other aspects of the flight plans were satisfactory, space agency officials reported.

The weather was generally moderate for the launch time. There are afternoon thundershowers predicted for the launch area, well after the 9 a.m. (EST) flight time.

It was stormy weather Thursday that forced the scrub of the Gemini 5 mission and sent the two waiting astronauts back to the suiting up trailer to strip away their silver flight suits. Both were smiling, but disappointed.

They turned today to the preflight routine they had stepped through so hopefully only two days ago — mission review meetings, more flight rehearsal and early to bed tonight.

After postponement Thursday of their eight-day, Gemini 5 space stint, astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. got a short recess.

"We gave them the afternoon off and I don't know what they're doing," said astronaut coordinator Donald K. Slayton.

The astronauts were "fairly disappointed," he said, but they didn't "get clanked up about it or anything like that."

Indeed, after more than two hours of futile waiting in the cramped cabin, both emerged smiling and sharing the kind jokes of technicians and space flight comrades.

During the long wait, pilot Conrad — with an eye on the storm — asked for permission to turn on nonexistent windshield wipers.

Tourists Find Curiosity Is Expensive

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Two young tourists from State College, Pa., who breached security at Cape Kennedy and sneaked dangerously close to a Titan 2 rocket were fined $100 each today and placed on probation for six months.

"Man, we never knew we would be in this much trouble," said Gary Ralph Young, 22, after he and Theodore Lee Ballenger, 17, were sentenced by U.S. Commissioner Tom Henderson on charges of trespassing on government property.

"We went out there because we were curious. We had no idea we were risking our lives. The security police had better tighten up."

At one point, Young told newsmen after the hearing, he approached to within 200 feet of the giant rocket and stood there about 15 minutes. The cape area is cleared to a distance of 7,000 feet for launches.

Both youths were critical of security measures at the cape.

Judge Says Pigs Belong At Home!

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Virginia Musgrove was tired of finding her neighbor's hogs, "little ones and big ones," in her backyard.

So she hauled her neighbor, farmer Charles Guilford, 71, into court earlier this year.

Guilford, appealing two subsequent convictions of trespassing by his animals, told a circuit court Thursday:

"Animals are dumb. You should fine the animals for trespassing, your honor, not me."

Judge Calvin Van Dyck sustained the convictions, but reduced the fines of $550 to $200 and suspended payment on the condition that Guilford keep his pigs on his own property in the future.

US Birth Rate Continues Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The birth rate continued to decline during June, with an estimated 310,000 babies being born as compared with 331,000 in June 1964, the Public Health Service reported today.

Construction Bill Passes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today passed a $1,759,504,000 appropriations bill containing funds for military construction projects in the United States and overseas.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., floor manager for the bill, said it contained no money for construction in southeast Asia where the Vietnamese war is raging.

The bill was sent to the House which included $1,755,495,000 in its version of the legislation.

Stennis noted that the Senate measure was $289 million under the budget estimates submitted by President Johnson.

AT NEGRO COLLEGE

Instructors Defy Order To Evict

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Thirteen white summer instructors remained in their campus apartments today after defying an eviction order from the president of Bishop College, a predominantly Negro institution.

In dismissing the 13 from the faculty, Dr. Milton K. Curry Jr. told them to vacate their apartments by 6 p.m. and to be off the campus by 7:30 p.m. Thursday. He said he fired them for "stirring up the students."

The instructors appeared in front of the modernistic two-story apartment building as both deadlines rolled past. Then Walter Johnson, the college business manager, said the instructors would be allowed to remain in the apartments until Saturday, when their contracts would have expired.

The instructors are graduate students, aged 22 to 30, from Northern and Eastern colleges who are teaching 10-week remedial English and math courses to high school graduates planning to enter Bishop.

The dismissals came after the instructors staged a campus demonstration against what some of the teachers termed suppression of a school newspaper by the administration, intimidation of students and excessive bookstore charges.

"It was simply a matter of who is running the college," Dr. Curry, a Negro, said. "The instructors were warned after an earlier demonstration. They seem to have the idea that they came down here for a social revolution."

"The protest came from the instructors and not the students themselves," Dr. Curry said. "This was shown when 159 students at the end of the course signed advance applications for admission to Bishop this September."

Hotly-Debated Farm Bill Heads For Hostile Senate

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a sweeping four-year farm bill after stormy debate. Now the measure heads for more conflict in the Senate.

Cost of the four years of government-authorized supports have been estimated at between $16 billion and $18 billion.

Key farm-state senators already have announced strong opposition to the omnibus bill that was approved, 221 to 172, by the House Thursday night after three days of argument.

The measure, one of the most comprehensive farm bills ever handled by Congress, deals with what one member described as "everything eatable, wearable and smokeable." Its production control and price-support sections include programs for wheat, feed grains, cotton, wool and dairying.

In addition to continuing existing programs on feed grains and a wide range of other crops, the bill would make major changes in cotton and wheat programs, set up a new dairy program, and authorize a long-range land-retirement program aimed at taking 40 million acres out of the production of crops now under government regulation.

The administration suffered one setback after another as the legislation went through the Agriculture Committee. Finally, it had to accept major changes in the wheat and cotton sections on the eve of the opening of House debate.

Backers say the various programs in the bill have the general aim of maintaining and increasing farm income and seeking to balance supply and demand.

The new dairy section would encourage a reduction in surplus milk by offering higher price supports to those maintaining current levels of production than to those who exceed their past levels.

The cotton provision returns to a one-price support approach intended to keep domestic cotton and textiles competitive with manmade fibers and foreign production. It would attack surplus production with a program similar to the existing acreage diversion programs for feed grains and wheat.

The House adopted an amendment to permit transfer of released cotton acreage across county lines within a state and allow unlimited planting only on farms which had an acreage allotment this year.

The heated debate that swirled around the cotton section reflected views that it would encourage the continued movement of cotton production from the smaller farms of the Southeast to the big operations in the Southwest.

ON DOMESTIC ISSUES

Nixon Predicts Demos Downfall

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon predicts that in 1968 President Johnson "is going to be defeated by what happens domestically and not what happens in Viet Nam."

The former vice president was one of the top GOP leaders at a Republican National Finance Committee rally on former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's farm here Thursday.

Nixon said in an interview he is confident Johnson can be beaten by a Republican three years from now.

"The very things Johnson is being praised so highly for now are going to become his failures in time," Nixon said. "These programs he is pushing hold out a lot of promises. But when they are not fulfilled — and a great many of them won't be — the reaction will set in."

He was asked specifically if Republicans were depending upon any disastrous develop-ments in Viet Nam to undermine Johnson's political base.

"Not at all," Nixon said. "He is going to be defeated by what happens domestically and not by what happens in Viet Nam."

Nixon joined Eisenhower in support of Johnson's course of restrained escalation of the Viet Nam conflict. But he said that he opposes any concessions to the Communists, in efforts to end the war, which would neutralize South Viet Nam's government, involve a coalition regime which might open the way to Communist control, or cause the loss to Saigon of "one foot of territory."

Nixon, the 1960 GOP presidential nominee, turned aside questions as to whether he is competing for the 1968 nomination to oppose Johnson's expected bid for re-election. But there was not much doubt in the minds of Republicans who watched his handshaking progress among their ranks that he is available.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was born and raised in a rather small town where everybody knows everybody else, and also their business. I was a pretty good student, and an outstanding athlete, so I was able to go to a very good university on a scholarship. I graduated in 1963. With quite a lot of fanfare I went to the "big city" to make my mark in the world. I had some big ideas and was offered some good job opportunities. To make a long story short, I tried it for two years and didn't do very well. I was offered a job back in my home town, and since nothing better was in sight, I took it. What do I say when people cut me down with digs like, "What happened? I thought you went to the big city to set the world on fire?"

DOWNHEARTED AT 24

DEAR DOWNHEARTED: Many a grim situation can be relieved by a sense of humor. Tell 'em you came back for more matches.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: What do you do about knobby knees?

LOOKS AWFUL

DEAR LOOKS: As long as they get you where you're going — don't knock 'em.

DEAR ABBY: My parents were divorced when I was four. My mother never remarried, but my father did shortly afterwards. It was not a very friendly divorce, and I saw very little of my father after that. He has supported Mother and me all these years however, and he did see me through two years of college. (I quit.)

I am being married this winter, and am told that I must invite my father and his present wife to my wedding. It will be a small wedding, which Mother is paying for. I know if Dad and his wife attended my wedding it would spoil it for my mother. Can I invite my father and enclose a note asking him to leave his wife at home? Some say I should address the invitation to "MR. AND MRS. —" and she will have enough sense to stay away. But what if she doesn't?

BETWIXT

DEAR BETWIXT: Don't send ANYONE an invitation unless you want them to attend. They might surprise you.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago, while in a desperate state, I wrote asking you for the name of a home for unwed mothers near Louisville, Kentucky. You graciously answered my plea at once, giving me a choice of several homes, plus some valuable information about each.

We got in touch with the one we thought was best for us and arranged to take the girl there immediately.

I want you to know that you did not misguide us. The place is very pretty on the inside and out, and the woman in charge made us feel so comfortable from the moment we arrived. We can pay by the month and it isn't too much for such a nice home. I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart, Abby, for making this unfortunate situation a lot easier for us. May God richly bless you.

Cupid Quickly Comes To Life With Increase In Draft Calls

By JERRY BUCK

NEW YORK (AP) — Is there something about the thought of serving in Viet Nam that brings out the romance in draft-age youths?

Not the kind of romance that sends young men down to enlist — but the kind that sends them into the arms of their beloved and draft-free status. No married man living with his wife has been drafted since 1963.

An Associated Press survey shows marriages by young persons on the increase in many major cities since the American commitment in Viet Nam was stepped up last month.

Some of the people who man the marriage license bureaus say the Viet Nam crisis is the main factor behind the increased marriages.

"I think that influenced it," said R. K. Thomas, clerk of the Salt Lake County marriage bureau in Salt Lake City, Utah.

In New York City, men between 20 and 21 applying for marriage licenses were asked point-blank by the clerks if avoiding the draft had anything to do with their decisions to marry.

"None of your business," was a typical first reaction, said City Clerk Herman Katz. "Yes, but what of it?" was a typical following remark after the young man thought it over, Katz said.

He said his two-week survey led him to conclude, however, that Viet Nam and the draft were not the major cause of the increase in marriages.

Marriage license applications in Detroit jumped 36 per cent after the Michigan Selective Service Board announced married men would not be drafted.

Applications always go up during the heaviest draft calls, said Ralph Donahue of the Philadelphia marriage license bureau.

In Denver a clerk said, "We've heard we have been getting some draft dodgers, but I don't know about that. August always is a good month for marriage licenses in Denver and there has been no great increase over August last year."

Says Wolves Just Not Understood

By MIKE RECHT

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — For more than three years, the neighbors have been talking about George Wilson's boarders. Some have threatened to kill them.

Wilson says it's just a misunderstanding.

The boarders are his pet six, grey timber wolves.

"Wolves just have a bad reputation," Wilson says. "Many people think they're vicious, but it's not true. The animals only get angry when they see guns and ammunition, which they've learned to associate with death."

After one of the wolves bit a 9-year-old girl recently, the wound requiring several stitches, neighbors got 30 signatures on a petition demanding that Wilson get rid of the wolves. The board of trustees of suburban Calverton Park, where Wilson lives, ordered him to dispose of his pets.

"At first, I considered having the animals destroyed," Wilson said, "but interested persons advised me against it because of the wolves' great value as research tools to behavioral scientists studying the relationship between animals and humans."

The board granted him until Monday to find another suitable owner. He has visited several zoos to determine where his wolves would have the best home.

Wilson says the biting incident was the first involving his wolves, and the same could have occurred with a dog.

He keeps the wolves in a one-half acre yard with a nine-foot fence around it.

Wilson said a naturalist gave him his first wolf and he got others from veterinarians. Wilson, a custom furniture maker, and his wife, Ruth, have helped the animals give birth and have bottle fed the young, he said.

'67 Budget Has Canal Study Funds

AUSTIN (AP)—U.S. Reclamation Bureau preliminary budget figures for fiscal 1967 include funds for additional planning of the proposed 418-mile interbasin canal, the bureau's regional director says.

Leon Hill of Amarillo, director of Region 5 which includes Texas, said the money would be for planning the Sinton and Baffin Bay diversion works and for study of Lower Rio Grande Valley irrigation costs for the project.

The bureau ended its annual commissioner's program conference Thursday. The conference was aimed at providing information and planning figures for the bureau's budget for the year beginning next July 1.

Another planning study for which Hill said funds are sought is a proposed "pump back" of water from the interbasin canal up the Colorado River and then by pipeline to West Texas cities.

The Texas basins project, including the canal, was submitted to the Texas Water Commission last year for consideration in a state-wide water plan.

The basins project will not be built unless the state goes along, Hill said. For one thing, the Texas Water Rights Commission would have to grant a permit releasing water to the project, which would transfer surplus water from Southeast Texas to the Lower Valley.

"This won't go anywhere unless the people of Texas want it," Hill said. "Texas people have nothing to fear from the Bureau of Reclamation."

Hill said if the necessary water rights are granted, the bureau would ask Congress for money to build the canal and auxiliary works. Users of the water would reimburse the federal government.

Wives Report It's Creative For Husbands To Cook

Women are finding that they have more leisure hours as their husbands take over the kitchen and do the cooking.

Homemakers do not resent this intrusion of their domain, because it affords them opportunity to do so many other things they wouldn't have time for otherwise such as sewing, gardening, ironing, and community and political activities.

The man of the family likes to cook because he finds it is an outlet for creativity and a release from business tension.

These are a few of the interesting findings brought to light through a three part national study made among 3,946 women whose husbands cook, the 3,906 men who cook and 350 psychologists by the research department of the Men's National Cooking Championship sponsored by the Potato Chip Institute International.

Men Better Cooks

Over 350 psychologists revealed in the study that in families where the husbands cook there are less divorces; the family is healthier because men are usually better cooks than women; the youngsters benefit because the atmosphere of the home is more tranquil and happier.

Homemakers also reported that cooking was hard work and with their husbands cooking it gave them more time to devote to their children.

The study showed that 6 in every 10 men cook. 20 percent made breakfast, 45 percent prepared dinner and 35 percent cooked both breakfast and dinner.

"This is a 10 percent increase over 1963 when 2 in every 4 husbands shared the cooking chores with his wife," said Harvey F. Noss, Vice President of the Potato Chip Institute International, Championship sponsor, "For the past 5 years the number of recipes entered by amateur male cooks have far exceeded that of previous years. Last year over 179,000 men sent in 214,000 recipes. Every type of man cooks including salesmen, business executives, laborers, ministers, bankers, designers, marines and just about every rugged type of male."

Here is a winning recipe entered in last years competition:

Down To The Sea In Chips

2 lbs. jumbo shrimp
2 tbsp. fresh lemon juice
¼ c. salad oil
8 oz. seashell macaroni
2 tbsp. butter
¼ c. minced green pepper
¼ c. minced onion
¼ tsp. paprika
1 10½ oz. can condensed tomato soup
1 c. heavy cream
½ c. sherry
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. mace
3 c. crushed potato chips
½tsp. seasoned pepper

Cook shrimp in kettle of boiling water. Add 2 tbsps. of mixed pickling spice, slice of lemon and fresh celery leaves. Allow water to resume boiling, boil shrimp 2 minutes, or until opaque. Drain, cool, shell and devein. Refrigerate until needed.

Place cooked shrimp in a 3-quart casserole. Sprinkle with lemon juice, salad oil and refrigerate. Cook macaroni according to package directions. Drain and cool. Melt butter in small skillet and saute green pepper and onions about 5 minutes, or until soft but not brown. In a mixing bowl blend together condensed tomato soup, cream, sherry, salt and mace. Add macaroni, onion and green pepper to shrimp in casserole. Pour sauce over all and toss well. Top casserole with crushed potato chips which have been tossed with seasoned pepper and paprika. Place uncovered casserole in a preheated 350 degrees oven for 45 minutes. Serve hot. Serves 6 to 8.

Can Win Vacation and $1,000

The sixth annual Championship is now open. Any single or married adult male may compete, providing he is not a professional. He may enter as many recipes as he wants of an original main dish using potato chips as an ingredient. Recipes are selected for flavor, texture and originality.

The judges first choose a champion for every state. From this group four regional champions are picked, representing the North, South, East and West. These four with their wives will win a week's vacation this winter at the fashionable Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas, Nevada, where the national competition will take place. In the finals the four regional winners will cook their original dishes in kitchens with all ingredients and utensils provided.

The national champion wins $1,000, second place $750, third place $400 and fourth place $200.

Entries should be sent to the Men's National Cooking Championship, 331, Madison Ave., New York, 17, N.Y., before December 1, 1965.

New Company Stressing Dramatic Opera Tours

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

For Michael Manuel, who has played a major part in bringing a brand new opera company into being, one of the prime goals of the organization will be to "make opera more theatrical than it is now."

He is co-general manager (with mezzo - soprano Rise Stevens) of the National Company of the Metropolitan Opera, jointly sponsored by the Met and the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

Manuel's point is that as production costs for opera have risen sharply in recent years, budgets have not permitted enough rehearsal time.

For box office reasons, major opera companies in America and Europe have become tied to the star system, with famous singers darting by jet plane from one large city to another. When an opera company keeps paying out large sums for stars, it has less to spend on preparing a performance. And the performances are less dramatic than they might be.

The National Company is avoiding the prima donna pattern.

"We are doing four operas, with a company that is still flexible and we have an enormous rehearsal time of 11 weeks," said Manuel. "Match that with the fact that our designers are some of the finest in the world and you can see why our hopes are high."

The rehearsals began at the Met last month, but all activity was transferred to Butler University in Indianapolis at the beginning of August. Rehearsals will continue there until the company gives its first performances, Sept. 20 - Oct. 2, at Butler's Clowes Hall. Then the company will tour until late May, appearing in 70 cities in the United States and Canada.

Some of the cities have opera seasons — some of them rather short — of their own, but many do not. That is another reason why Manuel wants the company's productions to have dramatic force.

"In order to interest the large areas which do not have live opera, we'll have to make productions competitive with television, movies and the theater," he said.

"We want our audiences to recognize that opera is not necessarily a medium for sophisticates alone — but a basic form in itself. Not only that, but we will be reaching young people."

Manuel's interest in the stage aspects of opera comes naturally. At the age of 22 he was the top stage manager of the Royal Ballet at Covent Garden. He made American tours with the Ballet in 1950, 1953 and 1955. In 1957, when he was 28, he joined the Met as executive stage manager.

"We are striving for a type of opera production that in Europe would be called an ensemble," he said. By that, he meant it should not depend on the star system.

"We have performers who will do large roles and small roles. Two or three people will be involved in each role. The company will always perform together — the whole is greater than the individual."

The National Company has 32 principal singers, along with 32 chorister - dancers and 45 orchestra members. Most of the singers have had experience with other opera companies here and abroad — eight have come back from Europe — but their average age is only about 29.

The repertory includes Bizet's "Carmen," to be performed in both English and French in an "opera comique" version, with Louis Ducreaux as director and Bernard Dayde as designer; Puccini's "Mamada Butterfly" to be performed in both English and Italian, with Yoshio Aoyama as director and Ming Cho Lee as designer; Rossi's "Cinderella," to be performed in English, with Gunther Rennert as director and Beni Montressor as designer; and Carlisle Floyd's "Susannah," with Jose Quintero as director and David Hays as designer.

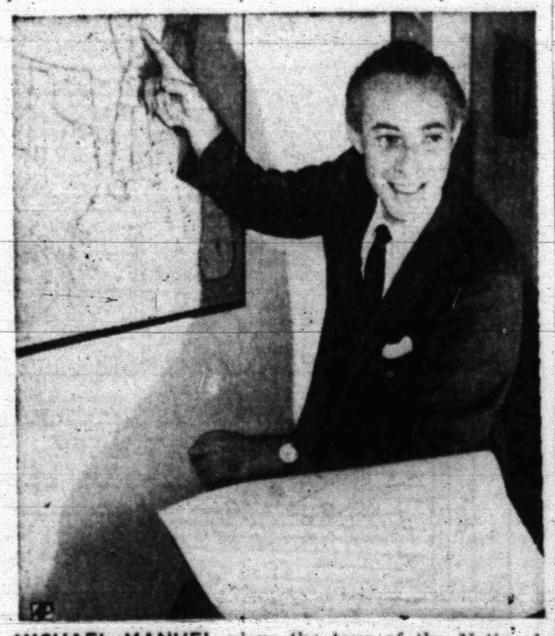

The company's long - range goals?

"We hope that our tours, year after year, will stimulate the formation of new opera companies in new cities," said Manuel. "We can help new companies with their sets and costumes for one thing.

"Miss Stevens and I will be talking opera with all the people we meet, trying to help them increase their own efforts."

"We hope that whole geographic regions will pool their resources — talent, finances, symphonies — to produce operas and bring their singers and musicians closer to full - time employment."

One other desired result was expressed this way by Manuel—"We hope other opera companies — including the Met — will steal our singers away."

MICHAEL MANUEL plans the tour of the National Company of the Metropolitan Opera, a company whose singers' average age is 29. The National Company has just been formed, by Manuel and Rise Stevens, and will perform for the first time this fall.

ANOTHER MOUNTAIN

Politics Is Dominant Factor In Settling Money Problems

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Politics are likely to play the chief role in deciding the timing of any attempt to reform the rules and methods of paying for the interchange of goods and investment funds between nations.

Both the United States and Britain have political as well as financial reasons for going slow before changing the content of national monetary reserves or the ways of balancing international payments.

Some say these reserves may soon prove inadequate for financing a growing world economy.

But first the U.S. dollar and the British pound must be above reproach. Otherwise each nation would be leading from weakness in any parley. And, at home each would be courting a political as well as a financial crisis, if their views were flouted at a parley.

France's assault on the present way of handling international payments — especially President Charles de Gaulle's championing of a gold standard and downgrading of dollars and pounds — is part and parcel of its political drive to dominate Western Europe. De Gaulle's role in monetary talks is likely to stoutly tied to his desire to make the United States less a factor in Europe's political, military and economic life.

West Germany has been fighting inflation, as has England. This pressing goal of clipping the wage-price spiral could be viewed by Bonn as more important than achieving a greater international money supply as a boon to world trade in the nebulous future. Too large an international money supply would just build up pressure under Germany's own economy by making more money available and thus make inflation still more of a menace.

The host of less developed countries are likely now, and in the future, to plug for a larger international money supply, for political as well as industrial reasons, and care little how it is achieved. They want more money to spend abroad, be it dollars or some new form of international currency or credit. Their domestic politics demand this.

U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler has urged preliminary talks on international money changes. His move follows the dramatic switch in the U.S. balance of payments position. After years of running a deficit in its dealings with other nations, the United States had a small surplus in the second quarter of this year. The dollar's strength seemed reaffirmed. And the time seemed right to talk of easing foreign pressure on the dollar in its role as an international reserve currency along with gold.

But some foreign authorities are asking: Will the U.S. surplus last? It is built on a voluntary cutback in U.S. corporate investments abroad and in U.S. bank loans to foreign clients. Such voluntary measures might slowly erode, if domestic economic and political pressures build up for a return to the profitable practices of recent years.

The British pound has been under fire from foreign holders. They wonder if London can balance its own international trade and squelch all the talk about possible devaluation of the pound.

The British Labor government, with a slim majority in Parliament, is under political fire over methods it is taking to adjust the domestic economy to meet its international financial crisis.

The political times must be right—both in the United States and Britain—if they can talk convincingly about world monetary changes.

Junior Editors Quiz on STATUES OF CHRIST

QUESTION: Why is a huge statue in South America called both Christ the Redeemer and Christ of the Andes?

• • •

ANSWER: These names refer to two statues rather than one. Christ the Redeemer is an enormous figure made of concrete, set on Runchback Mountain, 2,310 feet above the city of Rio de Janeiro in Brazil. Done in a simplified, modern style, the great figure, with arms outstretched, seems to offer hope and comfort to the city far below. At night, illuminated by floodlights, the effect is of a white cross against the sky.

Christ of the Andes is situated on the western side of South America, far away from Rio de Janeiro, which is on the east coast. This statue has a more realistic appearance. It is cast in bronze. It stands on a high mountain pass between the countries of Argentina and Chile, at 12,000 feet above the level of the sea. The particular meaning of this statue is that it symbolizes peace between the nations of Chile and Argentina. For many long years, these two countries disputed over certain boundary rights. The argument became so bitter that it seemed as if war would be the result. In 1902, however, greatly to the relief of the citizens of both sides, a settlement was reached. The nations then decided to erect a statue which would be a token of perpetual friendly relationship, and so Christ of the Andes was dedicated on March 13, 1904.

FOR YOU TO DO: Find the two locations on a map of South America. It will be easy to discover Rio de Janeiro on the east coast, more difficult to pinpoint the location of Christ of the Andes. Look for the border between Chile and Argentina, and see if you can find Upsallata Pass, which is the high point where the statue stands. 8-20

The Teens Are Years Of Change

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — I am not the proud parent of a teen-ager yet, but I soon will be.

My daughter, Tracy, is only 12 but her chief ambition for years has been to become a teen-ager. It looks now like she'll make it if the weather holds fair.

Some time back I haphazardly remarked that I thought that aiming at being a teen-ager was rather a gruesome goal, and asked Tracy why that was her main quest in life.

"Because," she said, thrusting a firm jaw beyond her freckled nose, "nobody tells a teen-ager what he can do."

Well, I assured her, she has at least one parent who will see about that.

She takes this as an idle threat. She believes that I am a human pretzel she can twirl around her little finger.

More experienced parents have warned me that girls at this age tend to switch the expression of their affection from their mama to their papa.

I guess we're in that stage now. My daughter, who until now has treasured her mother, has suddenly become her father's sweetheart.

It is fun in a way and rather flattering to be courted by your daughter. But it has its penalties. In her rehearsal of what will be more meaningful in her later life, a girl at 12 looks at her Daddy-o too close.

She stretches out the claws of friendly criticism, and exercises the first feminine tendency of command.

"Ooh!" she says, "you have a hair growing out of your ear. How disgusting!"

"Ooh!" she says, "Why do you wear bow ties? They're disgusting!"

"Ooh!" she says. "Your pants are too wide. Nobody wears pants that wide anymore. How disgusting!"

Her conversation is a chorus of "Oohs."

Having survived a month of summer camp, she now has more time on her hands than she knows what to do with. When she isn't reading Rudyard Kipling's "Jungle Tales" upside down, she sits before the television set and chants the commercials.

She wraps herself in her mother's motheaten fur stole, puts some kind of bluing on her eyelashes and stares at the mirror.

At least three times a day she reorganizes her room, and finally falls asleep with the place in a mess. She also has achieved her mother's bad habit of hanging odd feminine washables in the bathroom which I share with our cat, Lady Dottie.

Senators Divided On Poverty War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., voted with the majority Thursday in the Senate's 61-29 passage of the $1.65 billion second year authorization for the war on poverty.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., did not vote but was paired against the measure. Senators use pairs to show positions on an issue when one or both are absent.

Vikings, Eagles Main Attraction

By The Associated Press

Metropolitan Stadium in Minnesota tries out its newly-expanded football arrangement with 12,000 extra seats available for tonight's National Football League exhibition game between the Vikings and the Philadelphia Eagles.

The seats won't be the only things making a debut in the park.

Minnesota skipper Norm Van Brocklin, who calls his rambling, scrambling regular quarterback, Fran Tarkenton, the best signal caller in pro football, will start understudy Ron VanderKelen against the Eagles.

That's significant because the last time the Vikings lost a preseason exhibition was in 1963 against the same Eagles and it came in VanderKelen's pro debut.

Minnesota has won six straight since then but you can bet Van Brocklin would trade all those exhibition victories for a couple during the regular season.

The Vikings, who beat Pittsburgh in Atlanta's new stadium last week, figure to be one of the favorites in the Western Division race to catch defending NFL champion Baltimore. The Colts, who beat St. Louis in their exhibition opener last week, face another Western contender, Detroit, in tonight's other game.

The American League moves into action Saturday with three games scheduled. The New York Jets play defending champion Buffalo at New Brunswick, N.J.: Boston is at Houston and San Diego at Denver. NFL games Saturday include Chicago at Green Bay, Dallas at San Francisco and St. Louis at Washington.

On Sunday, Kansas City plays at Oakland in the American League and Cleveland is at Los Angeles while New York plays Pittsburgh at New Haven, Conn., in NFL contests.

Hail To All In Travers

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hail to All,, who has done little of late to further his bid for the 3-year-old title, gets another chance Saturday in America's oldest horse race — the 96th running of the $75,000-added Travers at Saratoga.

Off the performances Mrs. Ben Cohen's stretch-running colt showed in winning the Jersey Derby and Belmont Stakes, there doesn't appear to be anything in the 1¼ miles of the Travers capable of giving the son of Hail to Reason a serious argument.

But Hail to All was supposed to have had the one mile of the Saranac and the 1¼ miles of the Dwyer at his mercy last month at Aqueduct only to wind up third both times. La Cima won the Saranac and Staunchess took the Dwyer.

Staunchess, winner of all three starts since being claimed for $25,000, is slated to be in the Travers field, which probably will number 10, along with First Family, who set most of the pace in the Belmont before winding up third. With 10 starters the Travers will be worth $85,100 with $55,315 going to the winner.

Since weights are based on money won, Hail to All, to be ridden by Johnny Sellers, will pack topweight of 123 pounds. First Family and Staunchess, along with Convex, will carry 120 each.

Tulsa Wins To Move Lead Upwards

By The Associated Press

Winston Llenas lined a home run Thursday night to break an 18-inning scoreless tie and give El Paso a 1-0 victory over Austin in Texas League baseball.

It was the second marathon game for Austin this year. The Braves defeated Dallas-Fort Worth 2-1 earlier this year after 25 innings—a Texas eague record.

Amarillo downed Dallas-Fort Worth 7-3 and Tulsa, the eastern division leader, dumped Albuquerque, the western division leader, 3-1 in other games.

Llenas homered 3 2-3 innings short of a record for scoreless innings in the 78-year-old league. A 1906 contest between Cleburne and Fort Worth ended in a scoreless tie after 19 innings.

Ramon Hernandez pitched 10 scoreless innings for El Paso and reliever Paul Mosley chunked eight innings. Between them they gave up nine hits. Cecil Upshaw carried the Austin chores for 12 innings, allowing four hits. Losing pitcher Paul Mosley allowed four hits also, but one of them was the winning blast by Llenas.

The game lasted three hours and 29 minutes.

Don Hagen held Albuquerque to three hits for the Tulsa victory. He lost a shutout when losing hurler Chuck Lauritson's sixth inning liner fell in for a triple. Lauritson scored on a sacrifice.

Amarillo collected 14 hits off four Dallas-Fort Worth pitchers for a runaway victory. The loss dumped Dallas-Fort Worth another game back of eastern division leader Tulsa.

Lilly To Miss Game With Knee Injury

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP)—Bob Lilly will sit out the Dallas Cowboys' National Football League exhibition game with San Francisco in Portland, Ore., Saturday.

Cowboy officials said Thursday the star tackle has water on his right knee and won't play against the 49ers.

The Cowboys put in their last day of practice for the game, stressing new plays and their passing game.

Scouting Report

Snyder's Tigers entered the fourth day of workouts Thursday, and seemed to be progressing at a fast rate.

Coach Horrace Bostick reported that the Tigers went throught their passing offense for the first time, and said that things went better than expected.

Our quarterbacks are looking real good at this stage, and threw the ball well in Thursday's practice," Bostick said.

Eldon Woodard, Ray Kizer, and Bobby Clardy all were noted for their pass receiving while Ricky Hall was noted for the best all around performance.

Rob Golden, David Cadena, and Murray Bowden, according to Coach Bostick, are looking strong at the quarterback position.

It was one of those days that everyone did a good job and as a result we had two good workouts Thursday," Bostick said.

The Tigers were expected to shift the stress from offense to defense in today's workouts.

DODGERS REGAIN FIRST PLACE

Maloney Throws Ten Inning No-Hitter

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Maloney kept the Chicago Cubs in the weeds long enough for Leo Cardenas to put him in a garden of roses.

Maloney, who ran into a thorny problem in his first no-hitter this season, made it through his second one without a scratch as Cincinnati edged the Cubs 1-0 in 10 innings in the opener of a doubleheader Thursday.

The 25-year-old right-hander gained three distinctions with his feat — he became the first pitcher in major league history to pitch two extra-inning no-hitters, only the third to win an extra-inning no-hitter and only the fourth to pitch two no-hitters in one season.

All that after Chicago catcher Ed Bailey assured Maloney in the seventh inning that he wouldn't hold the Cubs hitless. When Maloney came to bat, Bailey told him:

"You look pretty good, but we've got someone hiding in the weeds who will knock it out of the park on you."

"You might be right," the fireballing ace answered. "It wouldn't surprise me at all after what has happened before."

Maloney referred to his June 14 performance against the New York Mets. In that one, he pitched hitless ball for 10 innings only to have Johnny Lewis lead off the 11th with a home run that handed Maloney a 1-0 loss.

This time, though, the game didn't reach the 11th. After Maloney chopped down the Cubs, weeds and all, through nine innings, Cardenas came up against Larry Jackson with one out in the 10th and rapped a home run against the left field foul pole.

It was — but for the Cubs.

In other NL games the Los Angeles Dodgers regained first place by defeating San Francisco 8-5 in 15 innings, Milwaukee dropped to second, one half game back by losing to St. Louis 5-4 and the Cubs edged the Reds in the nightcap 5-4.

In the American League, Minnesota swept Detroit 8-3 and 2-1, Boston trounced Baltimore 11-3 and New York trimmed Los Angeles 3-1.

The Dodgers moved back into the lead with a three-run rally in the 15th inning. Lou Johnson slammed a two-run homer off Gaylord Perry, and consecutive singles by Wes Parker, Willie Davis and John Roseboro brought in another run. Tom Haller's two-out, two-run homer off Don Drysdale in the ninth pulled the Giants into a 5-5 tie.

Four Milwaukee errors helped St. Louis end the Braves' winning streak at six. Ray Sadecki and Lou Brock scored in the third on errors by pitcher Ken Johnson and Gene Oliver. In the fourth Ken Boyer reached first when Denis Menke bobbled his grounder and eventually came home on Woody Woodward's bad throw.

No-Hitter Is Sloppiest In History

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Maloney of the Cincinnati Reds, haunted by memories of being robbed of no-hit pitching victories, finally broke the spell and got one.

It could be the sloppiest no-hitter in baseball history.

In Thursday's first game of a doubleheader with the Chicago Cubs, the strapping, 25-year-old right-hander hurled a 1-0 no-hit triumph in 10 innings.

Using what the trade calls a quick fast ball and a sharp breaking curve, Maloney struck out 12. But he issued 10 bases on balls and also hit a batter. The 10 walks were the most ever issued by a pitcher in a no-hitter.

He threw a staggering total of 187 pitches and 15 times had a full 3-and-2 count on the batters.

It even looked as if the luckless Maloney might pitch a no-hitter but lose. However, Chico Cardenas' home run off Larry Jackson's first pitch — a belt-high slider — sealed victory in the 10th. The ball caromed off the left field foul pole, staying fair at odds of about 1,000 to 1.

Adelman, Jastrow Enter 36-Hole Duel

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Sandy Adelman of San Antonio and Terry Jastrow of Midland meet in a 36 hole duel today to decide the Texas State Junior Golf Tournament champion.

Adelman, a three-time Class AAAA schoolboy state champ, worked his way to easy victories Thursday, taking Larry Lumpkin of Pecos 3 and 2 and John Mahaffey of Kerrville 6 and 5. He shot an even par 71 against Lumpkin and was three-under when he cinched his match with Mahaffey.

Jastrow had more trouble. He slipped past Lee Matthews of Longview and Dean Overturn of Houston by 2 and 1 margins.

Oil Bowl Is Ready For High Scores

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) —It's Oklahoma power vs. Texas speed Friday night as all-star football teams from the two states clash in the 10th Oil Bowl game.

But both teams have strong passing, too, and the score might be high as the offensive-minded Texans and Sooners play in a game that already has contributed almost $400,000 to the care of crippled children.

Bill Bradley of Palestine, whose running and passing has already made him the top man of two all-star games, will be at the throttle for Texas.

Mike Arnold of Enid, noted for his ball-handling and use of the option, will start at quarterback for Oklahoma.

Massive lines pound at each other with Texas showing the biggest ever to appear in this game. It averages 211 pounds to the man.

Oklahoma has a capable line but is strongest in the backfield where Coach Don Reiderer of Sapulpa says "we have tremendous depth."

Jerry Levias of Beaumont, whose pass-receiving helped shoot down Pennsylvania in the Big 33 game last week when Bradley was the bell-wether for Texas, again will be the heart of the aerial game.

Arnold and Bob Warmack of Ada are the kingpins of Oklahoma's passing.

But the speed of the Texas backfield where Bradley, Jim Harris of Brownwood, Ross Montgomery of Midland and Chris Gilbert of Spring Branch cavort could be the most important factor in a Texas victory. Texas is the favorite because of it.

The kickoff is at 8 p.m. with a crowd of 17,000 likely.

Bass Says Future Money Is Disrupting US Track Affairs

By G. MILTON KELLY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ross Bass, D-Tenn., said today he believes the scent of future big money earnings figures in the row now disrupting U. S. track and field affairs.

Bass said he would pursue the thought with Bud Wilkinson and other sports notables in this fifth day of a Senate investigation of the row. He said he doesn't claim it's the only factor but does believe it contributes to the attitudes of the embattled National Collegiate Athletic Association and the American Athletic Union.

The committee listed Delaney Kiphuth, Yale University athletic director; Asa Bushnell, U. S. Olympic Committee secretary, and M.E. (Bill) Easton, president of the Track Coaches Association as other witnesses.

Easton left his job as track coach at the University of Kansas last spring after a hassle with the athletic department over coats of the track program.

Wilkinson is the former coach and athletic director at Oklahoma and former head of the government's physical fitness program.

Under chairmanship of Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., the committee is trying to learn what's at the root of the NCAA-AAU row, and whether it can be settled permanently without enacting legislation which neither side would be likely to relish.

The Senators received suggestions from a panel of sports editors Thursday. One proposal was for creation of a superfederation to take over and relegate both NCAA and AAU to back seats in the control of open track and field events leading up to the selection of the U. S. teams for international competition.

Spain Routs US Tennis Hopefuls

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — If Spain wants to take the Davis Cup away from Australia, it might pack up a few tons of red Barcelona clay and a few thousand of "Santana's people" for the trip to Sydney in December.

The Spanish tennis forces completed a 4-1 rout of the United States Thursday and now must hurdle the winner of the India-Japan match for the right to enter the Challenge Round.

Few doubt that Manuel Santana and Company will get to Sydney — but there the honeymoon ends.

The Challenge Round will be played on grass. That's the surface of Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle. Tigers on clay, Santana and his teammates Jose Luis Arilla, Juan Gisbert and Juan Manuel Couder are likely to be shooting pigeons on the faster surface.

The interzone final here was completed with Gisbert beating Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., 6-3, 3-6, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3 and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., getting the lone U.S. point with a 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 triumph over substitute Coudder.

It was a big shock for the Americans, although not entirely unexpected by most observers, and two of the factors contributing to the setback were the clay court and the hissing, hooting crowd.

The Spaniards, particularly Santana, are clay specialists. The U.S. players, accustomed to speedy grass and hard surface, failed to outsteady their rivals.

The fans were a greater distraction.

The thousands who crammed into the swank Real Club de Tenis . not tennis fans but rather bull-fight and football followers, and their antics reflected it.

Beatles Bring Hysteria To Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Britain's singing Beatles flew on to Chicago today, leaving behind some 22,000 limp and exhausted teenagers.

They appeared at two performances Thursday. One was attended by two sons of Navy Lt. Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr., the astronaut.

Pete Conrad, 10, and Tommy Conrad, 8, whose father's space flight was postponed earlier in the day, were accompanied to the night show by Mrs. Nancy Robbins of Clear Lake City, a friend of the family.

The Conrad brothers, wearing sports shirts and slacks, leaned against a restraining rail with other youngters while the Beatles sang about a dozen songs.

The audience, composed mostly of teen-age girls, stood on chairs and shrieked continuously. Several fainted. Some others were removed by officers when they tried to climb over the rail.

R. S. Bill, an officer for the Volunteer Mercy Corps, estimated nearly 300 girls were carted off to hospitals in 12 ambulances. He said his vehicle alone handled 65, mostly suffering from hysteria.

Some were laid out in front of the coliseum "still bawling and squalling" while they waited for an empty ambulance, he said.

Bill said more than $200 worth of ammonia capsules was given the faint fans.

The Beatles arrived in an armored car for both performances and departed the same way.

Police Capt. Tom Sawyer said 185 patrolmen were on duty while the mop top singers performed. Many stood shoulder to shoulder in front of the stage. Others mingled in the crowd.

Police estimated 10,000 attended the afternoon show and 12,000 watched the night performance.

New Session Slated For Shipping Strike Negotiators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiations continue today in the 66-day East and Gulf Coast shipping strike, with a spokesman reporting no prospect of an early settlement.

Another fruitless session between shipping and two unions ended just before midnight Thursday night at the Labor Department and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz asked both sides to return to the conference table today.

Earlier Thursday, Marine Engineers voted overwhelmingly to accept a contract with the eight shipping lines which had been worked out under Wirtz' direction earlier in the week.

The vote cleared the way for five big passenger liners to sail, but some 100 merchant ships remained strikebound.

The two unions still negotiating with the American Merchant Marine Institute, which represents the eight shippers, are the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots and the American Radio Association, both AFL-CIO. Economic issues are reportedly blocking an agreement.

The two had offered early in the strike to let the passenger ships sail. But the AFL-CIO Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, which was also on strike, balked. Thursday members of the engineers voted 1,278-18 to go back to work.

A spokesman for the two unions said they would honor their commitments to sail the liners United States, Brazil, Argentina, Santa Rosa and Santa Paula.

The agreement with the engineers was based on a proposal by President Johnson to let a special panel headed by Wirtz and AFL - CIO President George Meany work out an automation dispute. The shippers want to freeze the number of engineers required on automated ships at five, while the engineers say some such vessels may require more engineers.

The Grace Line announced in New York soon after the agreement was signed and ratified that its Santa Paula would sail at midnight tonight with 200 passengers for the West Indies and South America.

Charges have been exchanged that each side was badly damaging the American merchant marine. A number of cruises or Atlantic crossings of the United States, queen of the American Fleet; the Argentina; Brazil and Santa Rosa had had to be canceled.

Henryetta Loses Real Handyman

HENRYETTA, Okla. (AP) — Henryetta's chief handyman retired today to go back to the orchard he left 58 years ago in Hofstade, Belgium.

For 53 of those years, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Theophile Caudron was pastor of St. Michael's Roman Catholic church and a minister of goodwill and leadership for the residents of this eastern Oklahoma community.

Twice called in by governors of Oklahoma to help settle labor disputes in this former coal mining country, the monsignor — now 84 — was a mediator, carpenter, school superintendent, gardener, janitor and architect.

Four years ago, Msgr. Caudron decided the church roof needed patching and he was the man to do the job. He did it.

He volunteered for assignment to what was then the Indian territory after his ordination in July, 1907 at the University of Louvain, Belgium.

He arrived two months before the territory became the State of Oklahoma, and was given a church assignment in Langston.

He came to Henryetta five years later to find a small frame church, St. Michael's now has five large brick structures, including two school buildings, and several small buildings.

Be still

"For there is a time there for every purpose and for every work." Ecclesiastes 3:17

Now, and be the years of man
Who lives his days without a plan
And chases rainbows with his eye
Or draws a pail from a well that's dry.
Help us daily as weeks shall pass
To waste no sands in an hour glass.

STRICTLY 'NEW-HAT' EVERY DAY!

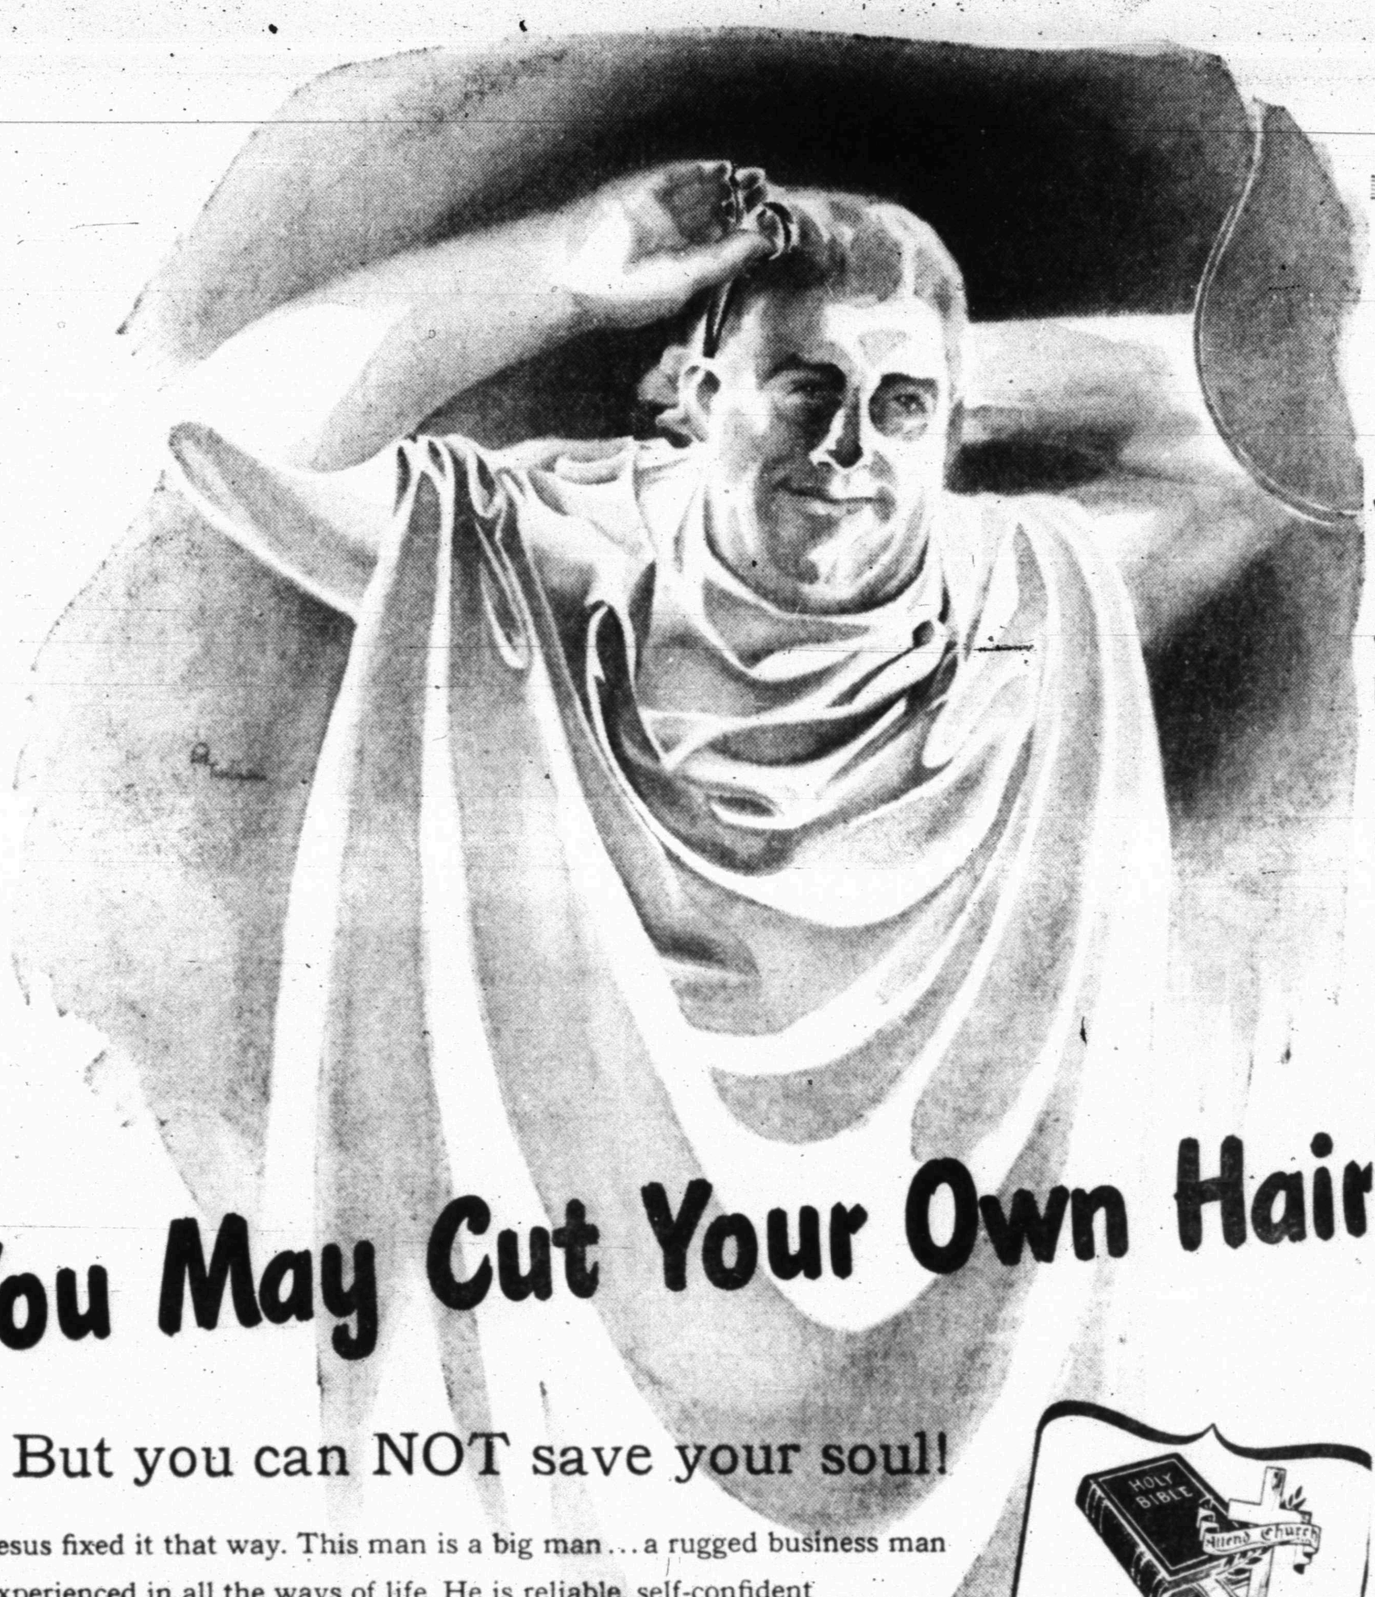

There's nothing brighter, fresher, newsier and more welcome than your daily paper. It keeps you current on world affairs, stimulates your mind, tickles your sense of humor, puts facts at your fingertips.

It's short-lived — but it grows old gracefully. Today's paper won't be dead tomorrow or even the day after that. So much that's in it is timeless as well as timely. Things like expert financial and medical advice, recipes, do-it-yourself hints, special features and stories, pictures — these are just a few of the ageless extras your daily paper gives you.

In this era of mass communications, your newspaper stands out as a tangible document. It's yours to read, put down, pick up and read again, clip and save.

The Snyder Daily News

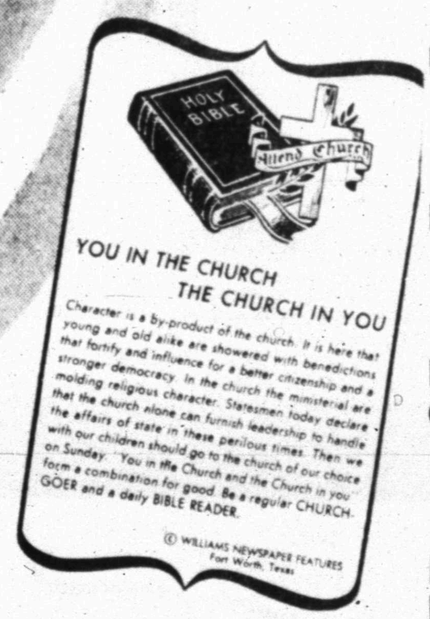

Whosoever Will may come to Church may come to God ...

You May Cut Your Own Hair

... But you can NOT save your soul!

Jesus fixed it that way. This man is a big man ... a rugged business man ... experienced in all the ways of life. He is reliable, self-confident and successful. Man is master over a few things but his success fades when God's help ends. So does yours. A man may cut his own hair but it is impossible for him to save his own soul. Whoever you are... whatever you have done ... you have a life to live, a soul to save, an eternity to spend. You need the help of one far more infinite and much wiser. He is a willing God. Try meeting Him halfway and your luck will change. He won't issue permits on many of the things you do but He welcomes you to His church.
