Local Conference To Hear Rural Business Loan Plan

Gals Invade Cadet Study

C-City Girl in Tech 'Beachhead'

A Colorado City girl is one of five Texas Tech coeds who are expert marksmen establishing a beachhead in a previously all-male field of study — Tech's Army ROTC program.

Enrolled in Military Science III, they are the first women to take the basic course in army organization and rifle, according to Col. Maxwell C. Murphy Jr., director of the university's army cadet training program.

Theresa Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fielding Lee Jr., is the Colorado City coed in the beachhead which includes Judy Huffhines and Joanne Elaine Hall of Amarillo, June Garrison of Fort Worth and Diana Lynn Williams of Weatherford. Miss Lee and Misses Huffhines and Williams are junior students; Misses Garrison and Hall are sophomores.

All five are members of Tech's rifle team.

"We wanted to learn more about rifles and all types of firearms," said Miss Huffhines, spokesman for the group.

Col. Murphy, who apparently isn't in retreat from the feminine invasion, said "the coeds are a welcome addition to our ranks."

"We hope they will find the course instructive and we expect them to give the men stiff competition at exam time."

The lady marksmen will attend class with the male cadets and will practice on the rifle range and continue to practice on the rifle range with members of the men's and women's rifle teams.

The coeds make one bow, however, to military etiquette. For weekly drill practice they will march with the ROTC drill team, not with the boys the colonel says.

Officials from five local groups will confer here Wednesday on the Small Business Administration's program for local development company loans.

Heading up the conference will be Wayland Nelson of Dallas, on the staff of SBA's Southwest Area Office.

In the meeting with Nelson will be city councilmen of Colorado City and Lorraine, members of Commissioners' Court, directors of Colorado City Chamber of Commerce and Industrial Team.

John Russell, head of Farmers Home Administration office, has arranged the meeting in cooperation with the local governmental and civic organizations.

Primary purpose of the meeting will be to gain insight on the local development loan program which is designed to stimulate projects in rural areas.

More than 1,000 SBA loans of this type referred to as the 502 program have been made to local development companies across the country to diversify rural economy, create new jobs and stimulate business activity.

The Wednesday meeting — at 7:30 p.m. in City National Bank building — will be the second within recent weeks for civic and governmental leaders looking into all avenues of federal state programs applicable to Mitchell County and its towns.

Initial session heard reports from Bill Kopp of Austin, Parks Division, State Parks and Wildlife Department, and Wendell H. Bedichek of Abilene, executive director, West Texas Council of Governments.

To be discussed in Wednesday's conference will be procedures for the local development loans made directly to local development corporations, which in turn utilized the loan money, along with corporation funds, to acquire or erect facilities for businesses the local corporations seek to assist.

Local development corporations must be composed primarily of residents of the local community and must be chartered under state corporation laws.

Loan money can be used only for purchase of land, plants and equipment for modernization — not for working capital.

Communities participating in the program must have their corporations set up to assist small businesses, including producer, co-operatives.

The loans generally are made in three categories — direct to local development company, 90 per cent guaranty loan through private lending firm, and 40 per cent first mortgage plan with private lending firm lending an equal amount to the company.

Homecoming Queen Candidate Smiles

Floats To Spotlight Homecoming Event

Homecoming '67 plans for Colorado High School are shaping up with Student Council as sponsors for the Friday, Oct. 13, event here. Keaton Grubbs, vice president of Student Council, heads the general planning committee and will also marshal the parade.

Theme for the parade this year will be "Salute to the Armed Forces."

Parade, set for 4 p.m., will boast colorful floats entered by freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior classes, the Spanish Club and the Wolverines, high school pep squad.

Also to take part in the gala parade march will be Wolf Band and Colorado Junior High Band, and convertibles bearing the six Homecoming Queen contestants.

Grubbs, Homecoming chairman, reported this weekend that one convertible is still needed to complete the trio of cars to be decorated with the queen candidates.

"Two convertibles have been promised," Grubbs said. "We badly need one more."

Queen candidates, all seniors, are Jennifer Holbert, Jean Keeth, Ida Bassham, Rose Ann White, Vickie Bodine and Ann Blackard.

Color Guard from the ROTC at Abilene will appear in the parade along with several local dignitaries.

Identity of Homecoming

Queen '67 will not be revealed until halftime at the Hamlin vs. Colorado High game, Friday night in Wolf Stadium. Secret ballots from the student body choose the queen each year. Traditional ceremonies will take place on the stadium field with each girl escorted by her father to the coronation site. After game Homecoming dance in the high school gymnasium from 10:30 p.m. until 12 midnight will climax the celebration.

Classes planning ex-student reunions Friday or Saturday may have their plans announced through Colorado City Record by calling RA 8-3413.

All ex-students are invited to the Homecoming pep rally at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

Cogswell Quits Museum's Post

Colorado City's Historical Museum board is looking for a new curator just as plans are finalizing for converting the old opera house into a permanent museum.

C. E. Cogswell notified the board Wednesday that he was resigning the curator's post.

His resignation will be effective Nov. 1, according to George Womack.

The board is accepting written applications now for the curator's job, a part-time position paying $125 monthly. Deadline for applications will be Oct. 15, Womack said.

Written applications should be addressed to Womack, secretary of the museum board.

The board named Mrs. Peo Ainsworth, Mrs. Lois Burns and R. F. (Bob) Fee as a committee to screen applicants.

City Manager Ford Merritt informed the board that actual drawing of plans and specification for the new museum home will be started soon.

Plans have been waiting for title clearance of the old opera house property behind Post Office in 300 block of Walnut.

The city manager informed the board that title may be ready for Monday night's City Council meeting. Drawing of plans will begin immediately after the legalities are cleared.

State Fair Honor

Colorado City's John M. Hill was among 44 young Texans honored Friday night in Dallas at the banquet officially opening State Fair of Texas.

The 44 young men and women of 4-H Club, Future Farmers of America, and Future Homemakers of America received the State Fair Honor Award.

Banquet and ceremonies — with officials and leaders of Dallas and the State Fair — was in the Statler Hilton Hotel.

Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hill Jr. and a 1967 graduate of Colorado High, is a freshman student this fall at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

He was accompanied at the banquet by his parents, County Agent and Mrs. Bobby Lemons and his brother, Bruce Hill.

During the last year he has served not only as president of District Two council, but also participated as a member in Texas 4-H Council last June, joined with Sharon Byrne of Lorraine to win second at the State 4-H Roundup with a demonstration concerning natural resources for Mitchell County and led in other 4-H programs.

County's Bond Sales At Top

Mitchell County trails only Howard County in "Savings Bonds sales for District No. 4 during the first eight months of 1967.

Through August, Mitchell County's total sales were $97,370 — approximately $10,000 more than Scurry County and $17,000 more than Dawson County.

Mitchell's sales for the first eight months was more than double oil-rich Andrews.

In the 8-county district only Howard County with $450,211 accumulative sales led Mitchell.

Mitchell also was No. 2 among all eight counties in August sale of Savings Bonds with $18,353 for the month. This doubled the August sales for Dawson and more than tripled Scurry and Andrews.

Here are sales records for all eight counties of District 4:

Andrews — $5,024 in August for $42,130 total, 48 per cent of $90,000 year's goal; Borden — no sales toward goal of $20,000; Dawson — $9,125 in August for $80,163 total, 62 per cent of $130,000 goal; Gaines — $1,518 in August for $25,450 total, 28 per cent of $90,000 goal; Howard — $51,879 in August for $450,211 total, 64 per cent of $700,000 goal; Martin — $2,043 in August for $22,592 total, 75 per cent of $30,000 goal; Mitchell — $18,358 in August for $97,370 total, 57 per cent of $170,000 goal; Scurry — $5,072 in August for $87,886 total, 52 per cent of $170,000 goal.

Cat Aerials Beat Wolves

Ballinger Hands C-City 2nd Loss, 27-0

Coach Truman Nix and his Colorado High Wolves are chugging right along in the rut of their last football season.

If anything, the tracks are just a little deeper. They win better when they win, lose worse when they lose.

That's the way the scores are adding up and the balance sheet now reads 3 triumphs and 2 losses.

Latest deficit entry was Friday night's encounter with Ballinger Bearcats in the Cat's home den, where the Wolves took it on the chin 27-0.

Look back to early fall of '66:

The Wolf Pack started off with a 13-0 triumph over Coahoma, eased by Roscoe 14-6 and thrilled a hometown crowd by nipping Sweetwater 14-12.

But then their path wandered into the ditch with a 14-21 loss to Brady and a 12-21 defeat to Ballinger.

So, you see, the Wolves are following the same rut in the road this new season — with three glittering triumphs over Coahoma, 25-8, Roscoe 62-0 and Sweetwater 19-0, all better than in '66.

Like the successes, the wrecks have been the same as before — only with louder crash. It was 6-36 a week ago with Brady, followed by the scoreless effort Friday against Ballinger.

So far, all the encounters have been non-conference. However, District 5-AA championship competition opens this upcoming weekend and the Wolves will be tangling here with Hamlin before a homecoming crowd.

If the Wolves bounce back from the Brady and Ballinger defeats — and these two top AA powers — with a triumph against Hamlin, then they are likely to be on a road leading right into the district's championship fight.

Sammy McLarty, a slick quarterback who ruined Colorado's homecoming here last fall, was the big gun in Ballinger's 26 to 0 victory Friday night.

He tossed four times for touchdowns — twice in the second quarter, once in the third and again in the fourth.

In the meantime, the Bearcats were figuring where the power came from in C-City's strong running attack and cutting the heart out of the Wolves' passing hopes with four interceptions.

The Wolves' twin kegs of power — Dan Steakley and Ralph Lindsey — lead a ground offensive that netted a respectable 158 yards. Steakley, himself, gained 124 yards on 24 tries — 91 yards in opening two quarters.

Infact, that running game looked like it was on the verge of lifting the Wolves up in the first half. Once, it carried 'em to within a couple of feet of Ballinger's goal but Quarterback Randy Parker was stopped there on a fourth down rollout.

McLarty found End Billy Hale open with short passes in the second quarter and Hale turned the aerials into 81 and 84-yard touchdown successes.

In the third, McLarty mixed his passes with a strong running attack in a 15-play advance that ended with the Bearcat passer — tossing to McLarty in the end zone for touchdown No. 3.

CONVERSATION CORNER

SOMEBODY is sure to try to take all the fun out of life — especially if you happen to be a woman.

Some super-talented brain in Paris has now come up with a way to keep women from trying on new clothes for hours and hours and hours.

The gentleman has gone and invented another gadget. It uses trick lights and trick mirrors. Not sure just how it works and hope never to have to find out.

But the idea is, a lady, undressed, then draped in black, sits on a stool as new clothes are trotted in front of her reflected face so she can see how she'd look in the color, neckline, style.

One big store in Paris is already trying it out on lady customers, said a news release from France. Bet they lose all their customers!

THE WHOLE idea is wrong. The inventor needs to have his head examined.

With one full swoop he proposes to do away with one of the chief delights of living — if you happen to be a woman person.

Whole psychology of the thing shows discrimination between the sexes.

Trying on clothes is right next door to buying them and wearing them somewhere, when it comes to fun.

To sit on a stool wearing a black shawl and watch a wardrobe slide under your chin would be like driving by the bakery to smell the bread baking ... or strolling by a smorgasbord without being able to taste.

THERE is an art to trying on clothes. It takes time to really find out how you'd look. It takes turning and twisting, back, side and front.

Can you zip it without yelling for the husband or neighbors? How does it look when you sit yourself down — specially this season?

Next regular meeting will be Nov. 2 in the home of Mrs. Dunn.

Does it blend with your supply of accessories? How would it look with that string of pearls or the strand of amber beads?

A trick machine to try on clothes for a woman, instead of letting her enjoy herself all afternoon, comes under the heading of cruelty to the female of the species.

Why can't those smart-alecks be satisfied with computers, zip codes, digit dialing, if they want to do away entirely with the human element.

Take away the thrill of trying-on and what have you got left, Mass neurosis, that's what. Or maybe a world full of window shoppers. And on approval tickets.

Military Men In The News

Army Pfc Roy D. King has been visiting at home since his return from Vietnam. He is preparing for assignment to Vietnam.

He is the son of Mrs. D. L. King, 331 West 1st St., and Mrs. Russell King, Mrs. Russell King, also of Colorado City, and Staff Sgt. Jimmy H. King of California.

He will leave here Monday for assignment with an Army marine maintenance unit in Vietnam, concluding a 45-day leave. His tour of duty in Vietnam will be 12 months.

King joined the Army July 5, 1966, after attending

JOHN L. CAMPBELL, ... basic training

Colorado High School. He was a member of the football team as well as 880-yard champion and member of the district winning-mile relay team.

John L. (Larry) Campbell, Colorado High's district 880-yd. champion last spring is now in Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio.

Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Campbell of 2006 Mulberry, entered the Air Force Sept. 12. He was graduated from Colorado High last spring.

He was a member of the football team as well as 880-yard champion and member of the district winning-mile relay team.

Yeoman Third Class William H. Harris, USN, son of Mrs. Vivian V. Harris of 443 Vine St., saw his ship receive its third award for aviation safety and accident prevention, as a crewman aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier USS Intrepid operating in the Gulf of Tonkin off North Vietnam.

Vice Admiral John J. Hyland, Commander of the U. S. Seventh Fleet, presented

the 1967 Admiral James H. Flatley Award to Intrepid's Commanding Officer Captain W. J. McVey, during formal ceremonies on the carrier's flight deck.

Admiral Thomas H. Moorer, Chief of Naval Operations, sent a statement from Washington for the occasion. The Admiral noted that the award is in recognition of outstanding achievement in accident prevention during attack carrier operations. He further noted that "the accomplishment of this record is a direct reflection on the effort which was required of Intrepid's crew."

The Intrepid has previously won this award in 1961 and again in 1964.
