LEVY ORDER IN RUTH'S CASE IS RULED ILLEGAL

DOES NOT ACT AS STAY OF EXECUTION, STATE ATTORNEY SAYS

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 12.—Attorney General Albert Ottinger, today announced that he had ruled that the stay of execution issued in behalf of Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder last night by supreme court Justice Levy was not binding.

The order, he said, does not act as a stay of execution. The ruling was announced orally by the attorney general, who said that he could not give "exact quotes" until his formal written opinion was ready.

The attorney general made his announcement after a conference with Solicitor General Claude T. Dawes.

It was indicated by Mr. Ottinger that he would point out in his formal opinion that the execution might be carried out any time before midnight Saturday, in accordance with the decree of the court of appeals fixing "the week beginning Monday, January 9," as the time for the execution of Mrs. Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, her companion in the murder of Mrs. Snyder's husband.

Date Of Hearing Changed By Levy NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Supreme Court Justice Levy today unexpectedly changed the time of the hearing upon the stay granted Mrs. Ruth Snyder from 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to 3:15 o'clock this afternoon.

This hearing is independent of the action ordered by the attorney general for vacation of the stay on the ground that it is illegal.

Justice Levy decides as result of the hearing that there is no cause for delaying Mrs. Snyder's execution, it will take place at 11 o'clock tonight at scheduled, barring unexpected developments.

VENEZUELA, HAITI AND PORTO RICO TO BE VISITED BY HIM BALBOA, Canal Zone, Jan. 12.—The trail of the "Lone Eagle" will extend to South America before he returns to his home port of St. Louis.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh decided definitely to continue his goodwill tour and the Spirit of St. Louis will be heading east before it carries him on a new venture. Wishing to be certain of all details, such as facilities for landing, the flyer said that he could not yet set dates for his future flights nor give their sequence.

Lindbergh will fly from Colon to Venezuela, landing as near as possible to Caracas. Caracas is some 900 miles from Colon by air and the flight will be over mountainous and dangerous country.

SISTER TO DIE AFTER FIRE IN HOME, IS FEAR

BROTHER OF TWO ALSO BURNED BADLY; FARM HAND IS HERO

(By Staff Correspondent) RALLS, Crosby County, Tex., Jan. 12.—(SPECIAL)—A two year old girl was burned to death, her six months old sister is not expected to live and their four year old brother is in a dangerous condition as the result of a fire, which demolished the home of their father, H. L. Gregory, southeast Crosby county farmer, shortly after 7:30 o'clock this morning.

The Gregory farm is located 15 miles southeast of here and is owned by Connor Parrish.

But for the presence of mind and bravery of Howard Pritchard, 30-year-old farm hand, all three of the children would have been burned to death. Pritchard, who was working some 300 yards away when the fire was seen, dashed into the blazing dwelling, carried the six-month-old baby and her four-year-old brother to safety and sustained minor burns as the result of his act.

Children Alone in House Mr. Gregory was hauling feed in a field about a mile and a half from the house and his wife was milking in the cow lot. The fire was first noticed when Mrs. Gregory and Pritchard looked in its direction and saw the two room dwelling was wrapped in flames.

Pritchard's heroic dash followed. The fire was presumably caused before it carried him on a new venture. Wishing to be certain of all details, such as facilities for landing, the flyer said that he could not yet set dates for his future flights nor give their sequence.

Two Badly Burned The rescued baby and boy are in the hospital here but doctors fear for the recovery of the infant girl, who suffered deep burns in the head, shoulders and arms.

Found in Trunk The will was found by officers examining private papers of Mrs. Appleby discovered in a trunk in the garage of her home. Apparently drawn in Chicago, her former home, in 1925, it left Mrs. Appleby's estate, now estimated to be in excess of a quarter of a million dollars, to a daughter, Margaret.

Named as guardian of the daughter in the case of Mrs. Appleby's death was C. Richard Betts, a Chicago attorney. The wealthy widow's estate was to go to his three children under the terms of the will, which was declared by the officers to be a forgery, left the entire estate to the doctor.

Insull of Chicago, public utility leader. Speaking at a noon-day luncheon given in his honor by the Salesmanship club of Dallas, Mr. Insull, who is president of the Middle West Utilities company and one of the largest utility owners in the world, sketched a picture of the coming prosperity of Texas as based upon the well-matured business judgment of his own companies.

"I have often said," he declared, "that if I were starting my business life over again I would make my start here in the southwest. The possibilities of growth here, in every phase of business life, seem to me unlimited."

After giving certain indices to the business health of the United States in the year 1928, he said he believed even greater things were in store for Texas than for the nation as a whole.

GEORGETOWN, Jan. 12.—An injunction restraining M. I. Thornton, tax collector of Bell county, and his deputies from collecting automobile registration fees from residents of Williamson county was granted today to Harry Dolan, Williamson county attorney.

Named as guardian of the daughter in the case of Mrs. Appleby's death was C. Richard Betts, a Chicago attorney. The wealthy widow's estate was to go to his three children under the terms of the will, which was declared by the officers to be a forgery, left the entire estate to the doctor.

FARM METHODS THEME TODAY OF KIWANISANS

STANGEL AND LEIDIGH MAIN SPEAKERS ON BIG SUBJECT

With Rev. E. E. White, vice president, presiding in the absence of Dr. Fred W. Standifer, president of the local Kiwanis club was given an educational program on agriculture at its regular meeting at Hotel Lubbock Thursday noon.

A. H. Leidigh, dean of the Tech school of agriculture was chairman of the day. He first introduced Miss Eunice Cox of the Tech faculty, who gave a reading entitled "Mayme" and followed it with a snappy encore demanded by club members.

The next speaker, W. L. (Runt) Stangel, who teaches Tech students animal husbandry was introduced and scored the local newspapers for referring to him as "the principal speaker of the day" in advance notices of his performance. Prof. Stangel announced that a speech was short and said something whereas an address, in which category he placed his carefully prepared remarks, took a long time to deliver and said nothing. Mr. Stangel then continued for the balance of the hour on "Agricultural Education," outlining the history of the subject from the founding of schools and experiment stations to the present time. In closing, the speaker stressed the importance of boosting and supporting agriculture for in the basic relation of agriculture to industry "when the farmer makes, everybody makes."

Dean Leidigh gave a report on his trip to the convention of Kiwanis district trustees at Dallas last week. Ray Mowery, who was also slated for an address was crowded off the program as the hour of one arrived. Club members were promised another opportunity of hearing this sterling orator at the next session on farming.

EXPERTS NOT SATISFIED WITH "EXPLANATION" IN HORNSBY DEAL

STATEMENTS OF STONEHAM AND JAWN RAPPED

EXPLANATION FAILS TO EXPLAIN, THEY SAY OF SITUATION

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Unsatisfied with the official statements promulgated by New York Giants headquarters, baseball experts continued guessing today as to why Rogers Hornsby was sent to Boston for two comparatively unknown youngsters.

Officially, the trade which brings Frank Hoskins, promising catcher, and Jimmy Welsh, outfielder to the Giants in exchange for a fine second baseman and one of the greatest hitters the game has ever known, was "made for the best interests" of the club.

Two Statements
That was the substance of two statements issued by the Giants' powers that be. The first was over the signatures of both President Charles A. Stoneham and Manager John McGraw. The second, by Stoneham alone, was intended as a further "explanation" of the deal which stood the baseball world on its head on Tuesday night and so far, has left it there.

In his second communique Mr. Stoneham recalled that statements had been made that Hornsby would be the next manager of the club, and then added:

McGraw is Manager
"I have never been consulted regarding this and have had no conference about the selection of a manager as Mr. McGraw retains the management of the New York club.

The sports writers contended that the only fault with Mr. Stoneham's "explanation" was that it didn't explain. If some managerial conflict was to be feared, they asked, why did McGraw, when he was ill, appoint Hornsby as acting manager during the hottest part of the National league pennant chase last summer?

"Explanation" Didn't Explain
Few if any of the experts accepted the "official" explanation at its face value. Hornsby, himself, in St. Louis denied he had any trouble with McGraw or had attempted to "undermine" the "Little Napoleon."

Suggestions that the Giants had an interest in strengthening the Boston club were denied by officials and scouted by most observers. The idea, advanced in several quarters, that the suit for gambling debts against Hornsby had played a part in the trade, met with a similar reception. Hornsby won this suit in court.

"Syndicate" Talk Denied By Fuchs
BOSTON, Jan. 12 (AP).—If there is anything to the story that "syndicate" baseball brought Rogers Hornsby to Boston from the New York Giants, President Emil E. Fuchs of the Braves doesn't know it.

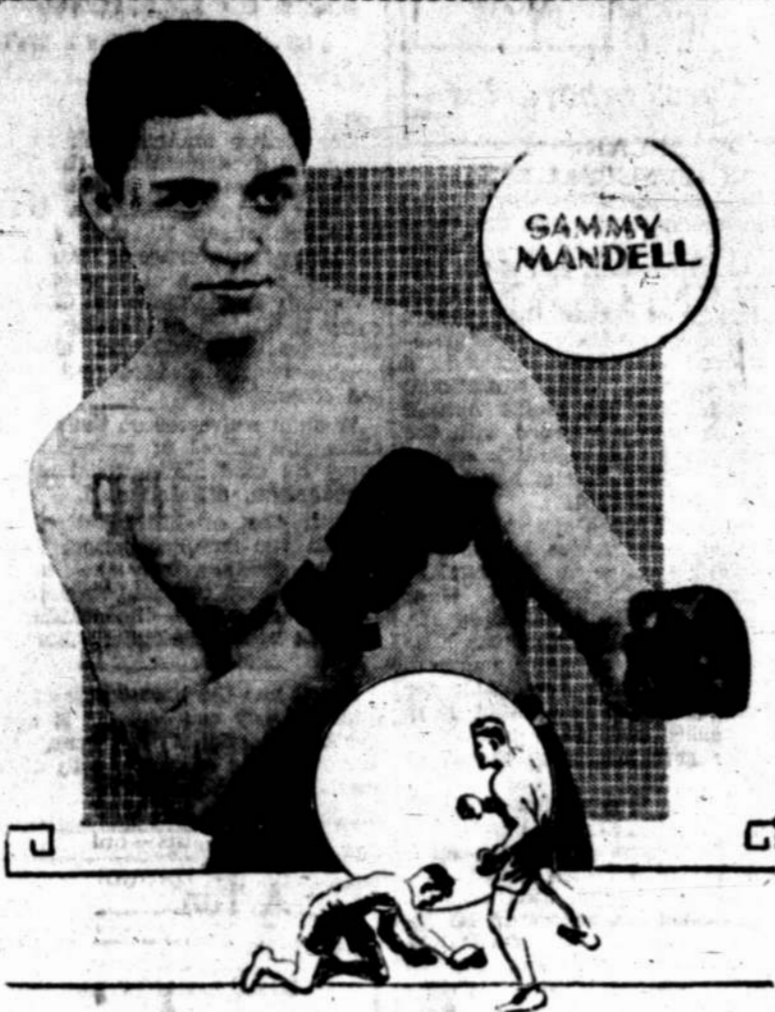

"No man who is interested in any way with the Giants owns a nickel's worth of stock in the Braves," he said in regard to suggestions that the Giant star had been traded here to help bolster up a club which was falling down financially.

He took occasion at the same time to assert that when the New York club got Francis Hogan, Boston's star catcher and outfielder Jimmy Welsh, it was taking no loser's end.

Fuchs said he valued the pair at $150,000 and considered them worth fully that to the Giants.

GAMMY MANDELL

It will be all over for Sammy Mandell before the year of 1928 ends, according to Tex Rickard, fight promoter. He recently announced the belief that Mandell would lose his crown this coming year. At the same time he picked Billy Wallace, Cleveland lightweight, as the probable successor to the present champion. Time will tell.

CLEVELAND INDIANS, UNABLE TO BUY NEW MATERIAL, DEPEND PRINCIPALLY ON BETTER SHOWING OF CLUB'S VETS

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Jan. 12.—Backed by a group of new owners committed to "a winning team" for Cleveland, but with virtually the same old group of players that finished sixth last year, the Cleveland Indians will enter the 1928 season with their hopes pinned principally on a better showing of the last year's veterans and the coming out of several promising recruits.

Failure marked all efforts during the winter to add any major league stars to the Cleveland camp and Billy Evans, the Tribe's new general manager, faces the April start with almost the same proved material that Jack McAllister finished with last October.

New Owners Want Winner
Evans took charge of the team in December after it had been purchased from Mrs. James C. Dunn by a group of Cleveland business men headed by Alva Bradley, banker. The new owners said their chief concern was a winning team and told Evans to go out and round up the players needed. They promised what money he needed.

But Evans found the going hard. He had no good men to trade without wrecking his team and no other major league manager would sell any good men outright for the same reason. So when the stove league season ended, Evans had mostly some recruits and part of last year's team to build on. He did, however, add Roger Peckinpaugh, as field manager.

Knowing that it takes pitching to win ball games, Evans is hoping that Utile and Levens will show up this year back in condition. Both men were consistent winners in 1926, but both had lame arms last season. Hudlin and Walter Miller who came through last year with good records despite the rather mediocre support behind them, will be on hand again, and Peckinpaugh is planning some intensive training for Shauteau, the little southpaw who has been accused of being mechanical. Peckinpaugh and his two new assistants, Catcher Grover Hartley and Howard Shanks, believe they can make a winner out of him. Buckeye, another southpaw, and Grant, neither of whom marked up many victories last year, are still with the team, but the veteran Sherry Smith has been released unconditionally.

In addition Evans will take south

CANYON PLANS HARD TIME IN TECH TUSSLES

FIRST TWO GAMES ARE EASY WINS AGAINST TEACHERS' TEAM

CANYON, Jan. 12.—With their first two games tucked away in handy fashion and with prospects of having a team that will be better and stronger than the championship team of last year the West Texas State Teachers college Buffaloes began preparations today for the next games on the schedule, to be played in Canyon next Monday and Tuesday nights, January 16 and 17, with Texas Tech.

Changes in Line-Up
Coach Burton made some radical changes in the Buffalo lineup for the games this week with Southwestern Teachers college Bulldogs and the results surprised everyone, including Burton himself. The principal change was at the guard positions where Brown and Gerald were sent in to relieve Newman and Ward. These two former Canyon high school stars proved to be so good that they may win a regular berth on the starting five. They with him a bunch of pitching recruits, including Walker Brown of New Orleans, Mel Harder of Omaha, Harold McKain of Waterloo, Ia., Guy Bolton of Terre Haute, Ind., and Vern Underhill of Tyler, Texas. William Eayne, who played two years ago with the St. Louis Browns also will go along.

All but Eayne and Bolton, however, probably will be farmed out. Eayne is expected to stay with the team because of his previous big league experience and Bolton because of his hitting prowess.

George Burns, the American league's most valuable player in 1926, will continue to hold down first sack with Joe Sewell at short. Johnny Hodapp will replace Lutzke at third base, while the club owners have tossed their lines toward the minor league ranks for a second baseman, since Spurgeon, a sensation in 1926, still suffers from injuries sustained in an auto accident. Fonseca, with a record of 86 games at second last season, is figured more as a utility infielder. Extra infielders are Dan Jesse, shortstop from Salt Lake City, and Carl Lind, farmed out to Denver last year.

Langford Is Prospect
Jamieson is counted on for left field, with a battle for other field positions to be waged between Eddie Morgan of New Orleans, Frank Wilson of Milwaukee, Elton Langford of Des Moines and Homer Summa who has been with the Indians for several years. George Gerkin, drafted from Milwaukee also will be on hand for an outfield job. Luke Sewell will be depended upon to do most of the catching, with Glenn Myatt, Chick Autry, Dick Stahlman and Grover Hartley eligible. Stahlman comes from the Wilkes-Barre club of the New York and Pennsylvania league, where he batted sensationally.

were on the Canyon high team of 1926 that came so close to winning the state interscholastic championship that many people who saw the tournament said that Canyon high had the best team in the tournament and should have won the championship. Coach Burton has six men of that team working under him with aspirations for berths.

Tech Wants Revenge
Texas Tech enters the basketball season with the best team the Matador school has ever put out and hopes to avenge in some measure the seven defeats the Buffaloes have handed them in the past two years. When the Buffaloes and Matadors meet on the basketball court a "fast game" is always assured and fans always pack the house to its fullest capacity. This year the Buffaloes meet the Matadors in four games, two to be played in Canyon and two in Lubbock.

The bull fighters have a new coach, Vic Payne, and he has made great improvement in the basketball play of the Matadors until they now present a real menace to the Buffalo quintet.

CITY OFFICIALS POSTPONE MEET ON UNDERPASSES

Due to the absence of three members who are out of the city, the regular meeting of the city commissioners scheduled for 1 o'clock this afternoon postponed until a later date, officials announced this afternoon. The matter of the underpass at the railway crossings on Broadway and Avenue H was to have been the paramount discussion of the meeting.

J. C. Barton, division superintendent of the Santa Fe, was in the city afternoon and conferred with officials regarding the projects. It is likely that a definite action be taken on the proposed subways at the next meeting of the commission, officials intimated following the conference.

LUBBOCK BECOMING A CLUB OF FINE HOMES

In further evidence by the selection by four different families of four 100-foot home sites in University Place, last week for their permanent residence. A plain sign of good portent for the future value of this highly restricted tract is that people who have selected home sites in what has heretofore been the most exclusive location, are in many cases requesting us to accept their lots as all or part payment for one of our University Place 100-foot sites. They realize fully that nowhere else in Lubbock, has anyone who builds a fine home on two lots, any protection against his value being depreciated by another's building a mediocre house on the adjoining 50-foot lot. Here in University Place, overlooking the Tech campus, you have such protection, and many governing features which always have and always will send land and location values up continuously. The price and terms will interest you. Investigate!

So Dependable It Is Seldom Given Thought

So dependable has become the source of electric current that its users seldom ever think of the constant vigilance of many men who are on the job day and night to see that their lights burn at the turn of a switch.

Electricity plays such a vital part in our lives that we who provide it feel the obligation that at all times its users will find it waiting for them.

Dementia Praecox

What is the most truly important bit of news you have seen in a newspaper recently?

That's rather a hard question to answer. But our best estimate happens to be a little story from New York, telling how scientists have discovered a cure for the strange malady known as dementia praecox. It has been a long time since we have seen a story so packed with significance as this one.

Most people have only a hazy idea of dementia praecox, or that they know it is some kind of mental disorder, but that is all. To read that a cure has been found seems only a mildly interesting—until you know something about the disease.

Dementia praecox once was called "adolescent insanity." It is a form of mental trouble that usually comes on a person of extreme youth—one just entering manhood—and but by transforming such a person from an intelligent, socially useful member of society into a helpless defective of a dangerous menace.

One of its worst features is that it afflicts the sufferer with delusions of grandeur or of persecution. The patient imagines that he is a god and can do no wrong, or that the world is in a conspiracy against him, or that every man his enemy. These two states of mind, particularly the latter one, frequently lead to deeds of apparently causeless violence.

The number of murders caused by this disease is large. To make matters worse, in most cases the murderer is considered a criminal, where he should rightly be looked upon as an invalid. He is incarcerated or locked in a penitentiary for life, instead of being given the kind of humane treatment which should have.

That is why this message from medical science is of the highest importance. It opens the way to the elimination of some of civilization's most shocking tragedies. It points to the transformation of many men who otherwise would become burdens to society into useful, happy citizens.

Laughing

Do you laugh at your child when he makes ludicrous mistakes in speech, or when he asks apparently foolish questions? Do you call him in when adult guests arrive and have him get through his little stock of tricks for the night?

If you do, you are doing your child a great wrong, and the time will come when he will suffer for it, even if you don't.

This is on the word of Dr. Gary Cleveland Myers, head of the division of parental education of the child psychology.

Laughing at a child, Dr. Myers explains, destroys his personality. A child asks questions in order to add to its very limited stock of knowledge; when laughed at or ridiculed, he is hurt and decides to stop asking questions—in other words, to curtail his remarks, to repress his natural development, to stunt his mental growth.

Inducing a child to "perform" for company is just as bad. The child is made the center of attention, and comes to expect it always. But as he grows older this trait makes it a nuisance. The child finds that attention is suddenly shifted away from it, though it behaves just as it always did. Who can measure the suffering that a child in such a situation endures?

The wise parent, according to Dr. Myers, never laughs at his child's mistakes, no matter how funny they are; nor does he ever, under any consideration, make the child "show off" before callers.

A flea can jump 200 times the length of its body.

THE PLAINSMAN

That Girl on Broadway says some wives would rather be adept at handling the can opener than be hailed as the greatest cook on the South Plains.

A couple of days ago The Plainsman took his trusty typewriter in hand and bemoaned the fact that an annual chamber of commerce banquet member of a thing of the past in Lubbock. Imagine his delight and surprise, when, upon returning from a similar meeting held at station a few hours after writing the bewailing account, he was told that B. C. D. directors, in executive session, had voted to hold a C. C. banquet here this year.

The announcement came as music to the ears of the Plainsman, a chamber of commerce banquet when members of that organization get together around a well laden board, is the best tonic in the world for any city. It promotes friendship, cooperation and gives members who see one another outside of out and out business dealings a chance to talk along friendly and civic lines.

The Plainsman commends the directors of the Board of City Development in their decision for a banquet of chamber of commerce members this year. And at least he is badly for there will be more people at that banquet this year than ever before in the history of the organization, more people will become enthused over really banding together for the good of Lubbock and as a result 1928 will prove one of the best years from a civic standpoint that the Hub of the Plains has ever experienced.

Every good chamber of commerce member in Lubbock should make up his mind right now to be ready to attend that banquet—regardless of conflicting engagements, and every good citizen of Lubbock who is interested in seeing his home city grow, develop and prosper, should line up with the chamber of commerce NOW so he'll be a bona-fide member when the big night comes.

One of the best things about the forthcoming banquet, which will be held within the next few weeks, is that it will be a South Plains affair as well as a Lubbock affair. One or two representatives from each chamber of commerce on the South Plains will be especially invited to join with Lubbock citizens in the banquet and say what you will. There's nothing like civic leaders of different places "rubbing shoulders" with one another to promote national friendship and understanding. This particular part of the plan should mean the piling up of additional good will for Lubbock and the world is in a conspiracy against him, or that every man his enemy. These two states of mind, particularly the latter one, frequently lead to deeds of apparently causeless violence.

The number of murders caused by this disease is large. To make matters worse, in most cases the murderer is considered a criminal, where he should rightly be looked upon as an invalid. He is incarcerated or locked in a penitentiary for life, instead of being given the kind of humane treatment which should have.

That is why this message from medical science is of the highest importance. It opens the way to the elimination of some of civilization's most shocking tragedies. It points to the transformation of many men who otherwise would become burdens to society into useful, happy citizens.

Opinions Differ As To Chances Of Al Smith To Secure Democratic Presidential Nomination, Dutcher Reports

IN NEW YORK SEE-SAWING and BROADWAY

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—One of the most widely exposed beliefs to day concerning the Democratic presidential nomination is that Governor Al Smith will take it in a walk. There is, however, a marked division of opinion among politicians here as to whether he will get the nomination at all.

The picture is somewhat blurred. Politicians who once said that Smith had no chance at all are now willing to concede that he has a "slight chance." A minority still professes to believe that he has not. They expect the two-thirds and one rule to beat him.

More light probably will be shed during the forthcoming meeting here of the Democratic national committee. The committee, according to the present dope, will pick Cleveland as the party's convention city. Indianapolis could have had the convention for the asking, one is informed, but Indiana Democrats wanted it held elsewhere. They hope and expect to elect a state ticket in Indiana next November and a reputation of the Madison Square wet-dry religious struggle on the home grounds would be likely to spoil everything.

Smith looks especially strong because no dry Protestant candidate has yet appeared to challenge him. Governor Donahay of Ohio probably could have most of the Southern delegations. But he knows that if he were to start out as the opposition candidate the Smith folks never would let him win. His hope is that he may eventually be nominated as a compromise.

Neither are any Democratic favorite sons to be found strutting out onto the stage. "If I had my state delegation for any number of ballots and it then should happen to go to Smith," says one anti-Smith senator who has been urged to allow his name to be used, "I'd never get back into the Senate. My constituents would believe that I had double-crossed them in the hope of the vice presidential nomination or something."

"Once we're in the convention, we don't have any trouble rounding up our delegates from the South behind the most convenient candidate we can set up against Smith," says another anti-Smith leader. "Donahay looks as good to me as anyone right now."

Incidentally, such men as these privately raise the threat that they will promote a third candidate representing the dry South. If Smith is nominated by the convention your correspondent hears more and more of this kind of thing. At this early date, he doesn't dare suggest whether it is a threat or a promise.

Nearly everyone admits that Smith has made an excellent governor of New York. After that his enemies first explain that he is badly handicapped by his delusion are those several thousand manures and models.

There really seems no particular reason why any young man should go about lonesome! And yet they do. Tens of thousands of the unmarried half million can be seen eating alone or with a "girl friend," going about alone to theater or night club or with other girls in the traffic jams. You see them peering just a bit lonely, from the windows, or walking alone on an empty street of a Sunday morning. You see them straggling alone in the parks just to be in the "big city."

For the benefit of bachelors it should be added that more than 550,000 working girls are either unmarried or divorced. Only 2,000 of 72,000 stenographers admitted that they had husbands in the office. And there

AN HONOR FOR TEXAS

The American Association for the Advancement of Science has voted that the most important contribution to its cause in 1927 is the discovery of Dr. J. H. Muller of the University of Texas that X-rays will speed up evolution. It is gratifying that the honor comes to a laborer in the Texas educational vineyard. But Mr. Muller himself would be most concerned with the recognition by his scientific associates that his theory is blossoming into a scientific fact.

The Texas press, spurred by the university news service, has devoted considerable space to Dr. Muller's experiments with fruit fly. What the scientific world considers Mr. Muller's provocation is that the little particles known as genes found in all animal life are reasonable for heredity and may be speeded up in development and made permanent in after generations by means of X-rays.

Dr. Muller is a professor in our state university, and his success because of the success of that university. Yet it is worth noting that it was accomplished at his own expense. He developed his theory on an X-ray machine lent him by Dr. Delton Richardson of Austin and paid his assistants from his own pocket. Only a few weeks back the Alameda, alumni publication of the university, was broadcasting an appeal for financial support for Dr. Muller's experiments. That support, it is now understood, has been supplied by the university itself and Dr. Muller is to have a free hand in perfecting his work.

That fact makes doubly welcome this recognition from the American Association for the Advancement of Science of Dr. Muller's work. This is the first time in history that the honor has come to this state. And it is an honor recognizing a discovery that will become more valuable in the future.—Dallas News.

MODERN COTTON GIN IS PLANNED AT TECH COLLEGE

Completing another link in the technical departments of the Tech, a modern cotton gin is being planned for the next addition to college farm equipment. It was learned yesterday in the office of Dean A. H. Leidigh, of the school of agriculture. According to the plans the unit will carry the latest in ginning equipment featuring with the cleaning machinery for sledged and snapped cotton.

Vacuum conveyors on the gin will allow the school of agriculture to carry on seed standardization and propagation, officials said.

With the establishment of the gin on the campus, cotton, Texas' leading product, may be carried from the seed to home through the agriculture school, the textile mill and the home economics school.

RUTH SNYDER AND JUDD GRAY MUST DIE—PICTURES TELL THE COMPLETE STORY OF THEIR CRIME

Here is a picture story of the tragedy of Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, from its beginning to its end.

1—Albert Snyder, magazine art editor, liked to stay home, evenings. Ruth, his wife, liked bright lights, music, dancing, crowds. She suffered boredom, while Snyder continued placidly unaware of it.

2—Ruth's boredom drove her to seek friends outside their own circle. In a New York restaurant she met Henry Judd Gray, corset salesman. It was a "pickup" meeting; the two became fascinated by another, and soon were intimate.

3—Gray, like Snyder, had led an uneventful life. He lived in a suburban home with his wife and daughter, and though his job required him to travel a good deal he never was known to go out with other women.

4—Ruth Snyder fascinated him, however. It was not long before the two began making trips together over week-ends, usually going by automobile. For a year and a half they continued this. Neither Albert Snyder nor Mrs. Gray, apparently, ever suspected the truth.

5—Caught in the coils of their mutual infatuation, the two plotted Snyder's death. Gray was the brains in the Snyder home one night. Mrs. Snyder plied her husband with liquor; then, when he was asleep, she and Gray crept into his bedroom and killed him with a sash weight and a loop of picture wire. Gray then bound Mrs. Snyder and gagged her, so she could not scream or call for help. The work of burglars, and left the house.

6—The police speedily broke down Mrs. Snyder's story and the two were arrested. Each testified at the trial, and each blamed the other. Mrs. Snyder's claim that Gray killed Snyder over her protests was not believed by the jury.

7—The courts refused to grant their pleas for a new trial. Each slayer was adjudged sane. Gov. Al Smith heard their final plea for clemency, which was based on the ground that while sane, they had been rendered irresponsible by their mad infatuation for each other.

8—Then tonight comes Gray's execution in the death house at Sing Sing. Governor Smith deposed their pleas. Mrs. Snyder is to die tomorrow.

Stocks And Money

WALL STREET TRADING
NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Backward and falling movements characterized trading in today's stock market. Upward price tendencies appeared to predominate, but uncertainties regarding credit conditions and the immediate trend of securities prices was reflected in the market's falling off in the volume of sales. Pools staged sharp advances in a few issues and several new weak spots cropped out.

Motor gathered strength on a prediction by President Sloan of General Motors that first quarter car sales and profits would break all records. Coppers moved upward under leadership of Greene Cananea which sold at 143 1/2 against a low of 124 on Tuesday of this week. International Nickel crossed 93 to a new high record.

Food, public utility and oil shares also advanced. Several points of strength. Warren Brothers soared 5 points and Brooklyn Union Gas Houston Oil American Republics Purdy Baking B. Calumet and Arizona and National Lead were among the many issues to sell 3 to nearly 5 points higher. On the other hand, Adams Express broke another 5 points, General Asphalt preferred 4 1/2 and Mathieson Alkali and Borden sold down 3 points below last night's final quotations.

men were said to tally closely with those of the bandits who Tuesday night held up the bank at Sylvester, 159 miles northeast of this place. They had no money on their persons and no money was found in the car. More than $2,500 was stolen by the men who held up the Sylvester institution.

Sheriff Barfield, serving his first term as sheriff, has had only one other job in the 38 years of his life, having been employed since boyhood on the Horace Brothers ranches. His father also was with the Horaces. Thursday morning's battle was the occasion of his first gun fight as sheriff.

Sheriff Barfield made the following statement:

"We had been watching the bank the last three nights. About a o'clock this morning a car drove up near the rear of the bank and stopped, one man got out, pressed open the back door, and went in. The car was a 1927 Buick. The man who got out, meanwhile, also had gotten out of the automobile."

"It was so dark we could not see well. We called on them to throw up their hands, and at that time the younger man started toward us. We fired at him and he fell. The other man started toward us, and started shooting and there was a blaze of shots around us. We could hardly see to shoot. The little man fell, and we started shooting at the other. He fell about 200 yards away. There may have been others in the party, but these are all we saw."

a change in the system by which the committee chairman is selected once in four years.

The reports followed, others that the chairman, Clem L. Shaver, of West Virginia, would resign. Shaver's denial went the rounds with gossip that some delegates had considered a campaign to remove him from office but had dropped it in the interest of harmony. The reorganization discussion grew out of the contention that the present committee has been only nominally active. The proposed new plan would have the committee elect its chairman, his term expiring Jan. 1 of the national election year, instead of having him designated by the party nominee for president.

Woman's Attack Telling
Another phase of the discussion was the attack of Mrs. Shaver, the chairman's wife, upon Governor Smith before the Democratic Women's law-enforcement league. Chairman Shaver declined to comment on the incident beyond saying that his wife spoke only for herself.

Still another morsel for speculation was William G. McAdoo's disclosure last night that he had not pledged himself to refrain from commenting on the candidacy of Smith in his address to the Jackson dinner tonight. The man who in 1924 was Smith's chief convention contender declined, however, to indicate the nature of the speech he will make, except to say that he would give his views on the party's optimistic outlook.

Memphis Man And Baby Die In Fire
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 12 (AP)—George B. Cofer, 39, formerly of Water Valley, Miss., and his 4-year-old daughter, Norma, were burned to death when their home here was destroyed by fire. Investigators believed Cofer attempted to start a fire in the stove with coal oil and that an explosion resulted. He was employed in the Illinois Central railroad yards here.

Mrs. Cofer and two other children sleeping in upstairs rooms, narrowly escaped.

Belief was expressed that Cofer's

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Markets

NEW YORK TRADING
NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—The cotton market opened steady at an advance 2 to 10 points and soon showed net gains of 15 to 19 points of covers or rebuying by recent sellers. Some commission house demand inspired by the steadier showing of Liverpool was regarded by local traders as indicating less apprehension of labor troubles in England.

March sold up to 19 1/2 and July to 19.03 and the market was within a point or two of these figures at the end of the first hour.

Trading was quiet later in the morning, with fluctuations comparatively narrow. After selling up to 19 1/2 for March and 19.04 for July, the market eased off 4 or 5 points under realizing, but showed a steady tone at midday. The buying was attributed chiefly to covering which may have been influenced to some extent by uncertainty as to whether tomorrow's report from the census bureau will show as much of a fall-off in domestic mill consumption for December as recently anticipated.

Massie Makes Statement

This was the statement of W. M. Massie, president of the association and leader in the plan announced several months ago for the Texas bankers to pay $5,000 for each man killed while robbing a bank, while attempting to escape, or while resisting arrest.

"There will be no red tape connected with the investigation," Massie said. "All that is to be determined is whether the two men killed were attempting to rob the bank."

Payment of $5,000 to the officer who shot Louis Davis in a recent bank robbery at Cisco is yet to be made. This will be paid as soon as it is definitely established who fired the fatal shot. Massie said.

Would Total $25,000

If these rewards are paid the total to date will be $25,000. The first paid were for the killing of two men in an attempted bank robbery at Odessa.

Under agreement of the members of the Texas Bankers' association.

Massie Makes Statement

Massie draws on each member for $5 each time a reward of $5,000 is to be paid. When the rewards paid amount to $25,000 they will not have cost member banks but $25 each.
