Here And There With The Mavericks

BY JOHN JACKSON

Well, folks, the Mavericks take on the versatile Dublin Lions this Friday night and from all indications it should be the top game of the week as far as District 10A is concerned.

The game will be played at the Lion Stadium at Dublin and will be the last game of the scheduled season away from home. The Mavericks will invade Dublin soil with but one thought in mind, to win that game. This game may be the deciding factor in who will be crowned the 1945 District Champs and so should be a jammed up, thrilling - packed, one from the beginning to the finish.

The Mavericks had an open date last Friday and so after two weeks of hard practices are in tip-top shape physically, mentally, and morally. The Dublin Lions played Hico last week and defeated them 20-6. The Mavericks have not played Hico in several years and so no comparison on scores can be made on that game. Dublin shows that it has one of the most powerful eleven in the history of the Lions. The Mavericks also have the most powerful team in many a year and I believe it will be just a little stronger than the Dublin team.

The Lions have two speedy, evasive, backs to spark their attack and also a heavy line. The Mavericks have them outweighed a few pounds to the man and also have several tricky backs as you witnessed two weeks ago.

Coaches Warden and Harvey put the Mavericks through hard practices Monday and Tuesday and Wednesday and Thursday they went through a signal practice. The Eastland eleven will throw a few surprises out this week and they will be aimed right at a certain team.

From all looks of things tonight will be a perfect football night unless some unexpected rain clouds come up like they do occasionally. For two weeks now the weather has been perfect and there sure has been a lot of good football plays go to waste. If the game is played on a dry field there should be a brilliant exhibition of fast and tricky playing on the part of both teams.

Most of the Mavericks saw T. C. U. play A. & M. last Saturday and saw brilliant playing on the part of both teams. They watched the Aggie run off the "T" which is the principal formation of the Mavericks and most of them said they learned some things from the game.

The starting line-up is uncertain but more than likely it will be as follows.

Center	Herbert Barker
Right Guard	Charles Lucas
Right Tackle	Edgar Alford
Right End	Lewis Crossley
Quarter	Billy Brasher
Halfback	Gene Young
Halfback	Walker Hart
Fullback	Johnny Hicks

Breckenridge Scene Of OWIU Meet Thursday

By Dora Lavelle
A meeting of the OWIU, local 478 was held in Breckenridge Thursday evening, October 25. The chief subject of discussion was the proposed cut in pay when the national oil industries cut back to forty hours. Regarding this subject, W. C. Garrett issued the following statement prior to the meeting:

"How would you like a 30 per cent cut in your paycheck? Not if I can help it, you say."

Danny is wearing out his shoes just as fast as ever and the dentist hasn't cut his price for fixing Susie's teeth.

Well, the union oil workers don't want a 30 per cent cut in their weekly earnings either. That's what all the headlines are about. You have a stake in this, friends neighbors and fellow - citizens. If the oil companies can cut their employee's wages by 30 per cent, it means they can cut yours too.

And the neighborhood store, the druggist and the big downtown store has a stake in this, too. If oil workers' income is cut 30 per cent the merchant's income is cut, too.

If everybody gets in on this wage-cutting orgy, Hooverville is just around the corner. So are breadlines, relief stations and WPA.

That's what all the headlines are about. The oil workers, as they go back from a 48-hour week with overtime pay, to the normal 40-hour week, don't want their paychecks slashed. They know prices aren't going to be cut 30 per cent. They know the oil companies can afford to maintain wages.

We thought you'd like to know the real facts. And to realize it's not just the oil workers' fight, it's everybody's fight to keep the American standard of living American.

Mr. Garrett stated that this was the way the Union felt about the 52-40 proposal and that they hoped their neighbor, the average American would see the oil worker's side of the question.

King Motor Co. Has 1946 Ford On Display Here

Hood King, Eastland Ford dealer, is as happy as a kid boy with his first little red wagon—but in his case it's not the little wagon but a new 1946 Ford which is on display today (Friday) at the King Motor Company show room.

J. R. Davis, director of sales and advertising of the Ford Motor company, says that the company long has planned to be first in public display of the new 1946 cars and added that this is V-8 Day as the automotive public that has not seen a new car since the war, will get the first opportunity to view the 1946 Fords. Every Ford Dealer will have at least one of the new, improved models on display.

Mr. Davis said that it had been hoped that prices of the new cars would be announced today along with the first showing, but that it doesn't appear that prices would be received from O. P. A. for this day. Consequently dealer's deliveries to the public will be delayed.

"Ford Production is rolling now and if we can go ahead unhampered, we should have hundreds of Fords in every sales area within a few weeks," Mr. Davis said.

"We will continue to seek a price arrangement so persons who want to buy Fords may do so as soon as possible."

King Motor Company officials invite you to come in today and see and inspect the new car they have on display.

Rotarians And Lions Hear Van Hoy And Harris

Aubrey Van Hoy, recently discharged from services with the United States Army, was the speaker for the Eastland Lions club Tuesday and spoke on the proposed bill for universal training for American youth that is now before Congress. This talk developed into a roundtable discussion of the subject in which much information and different views of the subject were brought out.

Maburn Harris spoke to Eastland Rotarians at their meeting Monday on the subject of taxation, dealing especially with the tax measures now pending in congress. "There is one thing I hope the public will get if nothing else," Harris said, "and that is that no one is being taken off the income tax payment lists. In other words whether you have to pay an income tax or not, you will be required to make your return."

Eastland Girl At Tarleton

The following is taken from "The J-Tac," student publication of John Tarleton College. . . In Eastland, Texas on a day in November 18 years ago, Mrs. E. L. Crossley said, "Good grief! What is it?" "Your daughter," said the baby's grandmother. Let's call her Judy," "No," said the proud (?) papa. "Let's call her Jeannie." Thus Jeannie Crossley made her entrance into the world. But Jeanie came up to and went far above her family's expectations. She turned into a very cute and popular girl. In Eastland H. she was cheer leader during her senior year, and held many social and scholastic honors. Jeannie is a member of Argettes, the O.W. L.S. social club, and is one of the best known and best liked girls on the campus.

Jeannie's likes and dislikes are very definite. She likes dancing, chocolate malts, boogie-woogie, football games, tall blond-haired men, snow, informal clothes, and business—her chosen career. Her dislikes are squash, hill-billy jazz lads (and who don't), jatty fellows who wear slacks and high heels together.

Usually gay, she has her moods; but they are few and far between. All in all, Jeannie is a swell girl, and Tarleton will miss her when she graduates in June.

Clipping From English Paper Is Sent Here

In a recent letter to his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Jones, Sgt. Ernest H. Jones, Jr., of the 9th Air Depot Supply Group in England enclosed a clipping from an English paper. The clipping is a report on a meeting of a group of English girls, who have married American soldiers, and their demands for transportation to the United States where their husbands are being demobilized.

Commander Herbert Agar, special assistant to the American Embassy spoke to the women in an effort to appease them. He quoted a letter, published in an English paper the day before, which had been written by five American soldiers who had been away from home and loved ones much longer than the English brides had been away from their husbands. The soldiers asked for consideration on the part of the Englishwomen. The majority of the women, however, were loud in their demands for ships to bring them to America.

Sgt. Jones evidently sent the clipping to his parents as a bit of "local color." He had been in England since March of 1944.

Fleming Being Transferred To Houston Church

After 21 months as pastor of Eastland First Methodist Church, the Rev. Darwood Fleming is being sent, by his Bishop, to Houston where he will become pastor of a new church.

The phrase "new church" is really inaccurate, for the church, a building, is non-existent. It will have its beginning the second Sunday of November with the first service being held in the Lamar high school building. The Church will be known as St. Luke's and will be built in West Houston. Fleming expects a beginning membership of perhaps 150, but hopes to bring that up to 500 at the end of twelve months. Tentative plans for the building program are such that five years have been allowed for completion of the church building.

Sunday, November 4 will be the last service conducted by the Rev. Fleming in the Eastland church.

WANT A BOOK TO READ . . .

Alice Tisdale Hobart has finally written a book about the Latin at home, in her latest book, "The Peacock Sheds His Tail." It is a story of international marriage with its setting in Mexico.

She introduced three generations of a proud, aristocratic Catholic family, the Navarro family of Mexico City, who are conservative and ultra-Spanish. In the troubled-time of the late twenties, the daughter of the house meets an American diplomat, falls in love and eventually marries him in spite of all the family can do.

Although the main theme of the story is the difficult, but romantic marriage of Jim and Cosha, their private drama is caught up in the much larger struggle of Church, conservative landowners, and foreign business interests all of which are combined to fight the government's liberal reforms aimed at improving the conditions of labor, helping the small landowner and educating the peasant. It is the story of a modern Mexico, toiling toward democracy. In it the peacock sung about in ballads of the revolutionary soldiers, becomes the symbol of out-moded luxury. It is a story full of dramatic scenes and many interests. Miss Hobart brings her finest skill and most meticulous craftsmanship into the perfecting of this dramatic story of international problems.

Local Airport News . .

Mrs. Cliff Edwards and Miss Thelma Harris left Weaver Field last Friday morning for Austin. They flew a straight course, but since they were lacking a head wind and had a gas gauge that did not register correctly they felt they had better find a landing field and see about gas. They spotted a field near Georgetown that seemed to be under construction and went down to look around. After they circled the field twice they found it to be a field under construction. The officials gave them the needed gas and they flew on into Austin as they had planned, remaining there until Monday, when they flew back to Eastland.

Among recent visitors at Weaver Field were Mr. McCarter of Aircraft Sales in Ft. Worth. He sat in for a few minutes chat with Cliff Edwards one day last week. He was flying a new Taylor Cub, a demonstrator, just from the factory.

Duane F. Sly stopped in, enroute to Basse Hills, South Dakota from San Antonio.

Gerald F. Schlaener from San Angelo, flying a T-19A which is for sale, stopped last week.

Gene M. Lavender from San Angelo also has a plane for sale, a Taylor Craft.

Mrs. Bagdale, wife of the owner of Ragdale Field, Austin, stopped by, flying a Taylor Craft.

As General Marshall Says, It Would Be Silly

A regular visitor at the field is Bryce Bostic of Post who received his private license from Edwards. He and Mrs. Bostic were in one day last week.

Capt. J. B. Newman was forced to land and hangar at Weaver Field enroute to Abilene from Dallas due to strong wind. He was flying a Taylor Craft.

Charles Dunkel on his way to Austin from Pampa stopped for a visit. His ship was an Interstate Cadet.

When Joe Manor of Childress stopped in, he was flying a Taylor Craft.

Starr County Gets $1,191 For Polio Work

New York, October 24 — A check for $1,191 has been sent by The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to officials of the Foundation's chapter in Starr County, Texas, which is fighting an outbreak of polio, Foundation President Basil O'Connor announced today.

The advance was in response to an appeal from Mrs. M. F. Garcia, Rio Grande City, Texas, treasurer of the Starr County chapter. In that county there are at present 4 cases of infantile paralysis, but across the county boundary in Hidalgo County there are 23 cases. Texas had 903 cases as of October 6, compared with 183 for a corresponding period last year.

The funds sent today will not only provide medical and nursing care for patients of the present outbreak but assure continuing care for victims of earlier epidemic polio, that no victim of polio, shall go untreated for lack of money regardless of age, race, creed or color.

Three other Texas County chapters have received emergency aid from the National Foundation this year. They are: Austin, $500; Galveston $3,600 and San Patricio $300.

WHO IS YOUR BROTHER'S KEEPER ?

"So your brother lost nearly everything he had in the big flood this spring," we heard Earnest Teffort sympathizing with one of his neighbors the other day. "It's a shame we haven't done more to prevent floods."
"Well surely nobody can blame us for a flood three hundred miles away," replied his friend indignantly. "It's bad enough for us to have to see our kinfolks suffer and not be able to do anything about it, without taking the blame for an act of God."
"That's just the point," interrupted Earnest. "God didn't send all this rainfall to wash away our relatives. A good share of it fell here on the plains where we need it, and if we would put out half an effort to keep it here where it belongs it wouldn't be rushing off to fill the rivers bank full and destroy homes and property."
"Yes, I suppose if we had a reservoir—"
"We do have a reservoir. Except the oceans, there is no reservoir so vast and effective as the soil of our own fields. Water absorbed by this great natural reservoir would keep our crops green during the dry season, and perhaps the extra yield would give us enough surplus cash to aid our unfortunate kinfolks in a crisis."
"Terraces and checkdams cost money—"
"And so do floods cost money. Cash used to prevent a calamity will pay its own interest, but cash used to recover a loss is practically wasted."

PLENTIFUL MONEY ADDS TO STATE BOARD'S DUTIES

AUSTIN, Tex., (UP) — Plenty of money in circulation and low bond interest rates make the job of being a member of the State Board of Education more difficult now.

The Board is charged with the duty of looking after the state's permanent school fund, interest from which makes up the available school fund that helps pay for operation of Texas' public education system. That's one of the Board's duties.

Bond companies are anxious to obtain issues from many Texas schools. With much idle money accumulated, they are offering lower interest rates on the bond issues so their funds can be put to work.

Here's an example how the situation works now. The Permanent fund years ago bought bond issues on the Corpus Christi school district totaling $999,000. Average interest on the bonds is 3.15 per cent, a school representative told the State Board.

Corpus Christi school officials recently asked the State Board to release the permanent fund's ownership of the bonds before their maturity date. They said the issue could be refinanced at an interest rate of about 2.16 per cent.

The board turned down the Corpus Christi request. The casual observer would believe this an injustice in view of the need Corpus Christi has for additional school facilities.

Board members, however, felt that while releasing the bond, it might permit corporations to get a lower interest rate by refinancing through private concerns, the state's permanent fund would suffer the loss of a good investment. The available fund, also, would be deprived of interest.

Too, members believed that the 3.15 per cent interest was not excessive.

To the overall multi-million dollar permanent and available funds, the loss of a single issue might be considered slight.

But if a practice of releasing bonds wholesale is adopted these vital funds would continue to lose money. In fact, the number of schools asking releases is growing daily.

The Board is subject to some criticism if it keeps a large amount of cash on hand in the Permanent school fund. Yet, on the other hand, it cannot burden itself with too many investments. If it did the competitive bidding which results from the statutory requirement that the state be given first opportunity to buy school bonds would be reduced to practically nothing. As a result, private interest rates might soar.

In any event, some clarifying legislation is needed on the practice of allowing school districts to refinance, in the meantime, as based on an attorney general's opinion, the State Board's policy is to relinquish only those bonds which they believe wouldn't be worth the money if held longer by the Permanent School Fund.

WTCC MOVES UP ABILENE MEET DATE

ABILENE, Oct. 19 (Spl.) — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce announced today it was advancing by two days—from Wednesday, Nov. 7, to Monday the 5th—its 1945 Directors & Referendum assembly, to be held at the Abilene headquarters.

The change, explained WTCC President E. W. Hardin in letters to affiliates, was made necessary by discovery of a conflict in dates with a large church group. The Northwest Texas Methodist Conference months ago arranged to hold its annual meeting in Abilene for five days beginning Nov. 7, preceded by committee sessions on the 6th. In consequence, Hardin said, "rooms in Abilene hotels for our WTCC delegates would have been impossible to obtain during that midweek. In order not to discommodate the delegates the Officers Committee has moved up the assembly, the windup of the 1945 referendum convention season, to Monday the 5th of November. Early delegates, those from a distance, will leave their homes Sunday afternoon the 4th and will find room accommodations in Abilene reserved for them."

The regional assembly as usual will be a one-day all-business session adjourning at 4 p. m. The annual noon luncheon will be a freight rate victory celebration with Olin Culberson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, the speaker.

The assembly agenda also calls for the formal termination of the WTCC's inter-county Agricultural Production & Improvement contest with award of $1,000 in cash prizes to four winning West Texas counties. The contest has been in progress two years, having been launched at the 1943 referendum.

Latin Quarter No Longer Gay As Formerly

PARIS (UP) — The Latin Quarter, since the 13th century a Bohemian center for students from all over the world, is today a headache for the French government.

Thousands of shabby students, many of them returned from the concentration camps of Dachau and Buchenwald, are tramping the streets in the shadow of the University of Paris in a difficult search for rooms and books.

The narrow hotels which jam the winding streets of the Latin Quarter have discovered they can make more money from renting their rooms to passing couples. So the Ministry of Education has had to take over hotels requisitioned for the prisoners of war who returned last spring. Many of them are miles from the university.

Other hotels in the Latin Quarter are occupied by the American Red Cross or Allied armies.

"We may have to put up barracks for the students," a harassed official said.

The University of Paris has a bigger enrollment this year than at any time since 1930. But the cost of living for students has gone up four or five times. There is a great shortage of books owing to the lack of paper. Food is hard to get. The ministry, however, has set up canteens where for a few francs students can receive a slender meal. But they expect to freeze during the winter.

The cafes on the sloping side streets around the Pantheon, where Voltaire and Zola are buried, are half empty.

"A 'd.m.' is four times what it cost before the war and there aren't any aperitifs or good wine," said a 27-year-old student who is beginning his university career over again after five years as a prosiner of war.

Typical of the changed atmosphere in what was once the gayest part of Paris is a big poster near the famous Clun Museum which says: "Students! Think of your comrades in sanitariums and contribute to the National Student Sanitarium Society." Many young Frenchmen have returned from Germany to ill to study.

The Sorbonne receives an average of 100 letters weekly from Americans who want to come here to study. But because of the difficulty of food and lodging, none is expected when the Sorbonne opens in November. However, several hundred American soldiers will follow its courses.

Coincidences Reach Maximum For Two Brothers

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) — Looks as though coincidence has reached its maximum in its dealings with two brothers at the Ft. Worth Army Field.

Staff Sgt. John R. Hawpe, Jr., 22 and Staff Sgt. Alfred R. Hawpe 20, residents of Fort Worth, are both stationed at the Army Air Field here after a long series of battle coincidences that began when the brothers, both aerial gunners, were shot down over Germany, each in a plane on his twenty-first mission.

After they were liberated from German prison camps, they bumped into each other while awaiting shipment home at a French embarkation camp. Returning to the United States on the same ship, they went to Fort Sam Houston together and later reported together at an Army Air Force installation in Miami, Fla.

Here, Alfred and John, both also married, were reassigned to the Fort Worth Field and now work together in the same troop training office.

They even wear the same ribbons, the Air Medal and the European Theatre ribbon, the only difference being that Alfred's Air Medal has three Oak Leaf Clusters to one on John's, and his ETO ribbon

During Planning Stage is the time to decide on house heating

Building a new home or bringing an old one up to date with a remodeling job requires many decisions in the planning stage. Probably none is more important than deciding on the method of heating the house since heat is so essential to comfort and health.

Whether you decide to heat your new home with floor furnaces, circulating heaters, gasteam radiators or a combination of these, or with a central furnace, the location of the equipment should be determined during the planning stage of the house so the necessary flues for venting the equipment can be shown in specifications and on plans.

The new gas heating equipment for venting to a flue will be coming off production lines in substantial quantities by January. So there is time to carefully plan with your architect or builder the heating of your new home. It is most important to plan heat as part of house if sought-after natural gas heat is to be enjoyed at its best.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

What makes a Texan tick, anyhow?

To understand Texas, and therefore Texans, it must be borne in mind, first of all, that Texas is big. Sen. Ben (Pitchfork) Tillman of South Carolina is credited with having said (and Texans justly repeat it) that Texas has more trees and less timber, more rivers and less water, more cows and less milk, and you can see farther and see less than any dorned country in the world.

From north to south, the State is about 900 miles and it is nearly as huge from east to west. The Gulf Coast line is 270 miles long and for nearly a thousand miles the Rio Grande separates Texas and Mexico. Ararillo is closer to the capitals of five other states than it is to the capital of Texas. It is often said that the people in El Paso call the citizens of Texarkana effete Easterners and that the inhabitants of Brownsville call those of Dallas durnyankees.

Not only is Texas big, but the State has a wide range of soil, of rainfall, of terrain and of climate and so it is a land of contrasts.

In the eastern part there are saw mills and farms; mocking-birds sing in the thickets and dogwood blooms in the shadow of tall pines. At Tyler is the world's biggest rose garden and East Texas has the largest oil field in the world—30,000 wells.

Then in the western part of Texas is the Llano Estacado, the endless "Staked Plains." Tradition says that the early Spaniards in that hillless, treeless region marked their course with stakes so they could find their way back. In this general area are great ranches with their cattle and sheep—and more oil wells. And here are sage brush, cacti of many species, and the twisted mesquite; the rugged Big Bend section, its grandeur unsoftened by man, and the fearsome appearing, but harmless horned frog, that shoots blood from its eyes.

Then Texas has picturesque creatures, some of whom could have escaped from Ripley's Believe It Or Not Drawings: cunning coyotes, armor plated armadillos, prairie dogs, scorpions, centipedes, fierce javelinas (wild boars), the comical looking road runner that kills deadly rattlesnakes, that hairy legged, dread spider, the huge tarantula, and the fearsome appearing, but harmless horned frog, that shoots blood from its eyes.

War Casualties Are 1,069,203

WASHINGTON (UP) — U. S. combat casualties were computed today at 1,069,203 for all armed services.

This was a reduction of 429 from last week's total, due to adjustments based on late information from the battlefronts.

THE RIGHT TRACTOR FOR THE PARTICULAR JOB

THE proverbial Jack-of-all-trades is master of none. The modern world of science and technology passed him by. The same principle applies to farm tractors. The tractor that does a wide variety of jobs unsatisfactorily can't possibly produce the greatest results at the least cost in any job. But that's what the farmer—particularly the small operator—has got to do to meet postwar competition: he's got to produce the most food possible with the least effort and, consequently, at the lowest cost. The farmer with 10 acres in truck crops needs one kind of tractor. The farmer with 100 acres in wheat alone needs another kind—or, as is usually the case, two or more different tractors. The tractor which does a good job on the Great Plains may be useless in the rice territory. And so it goes. Conditions of climate, the lay of the land, and the character of soils in the different parts of this vast country, together with wide variations in the nature of crops and the size of operations, combine to produce wide differences in the requirements for tractors. Harvester's policy is to meet all these requirements. That is why Harvester's postwar line includes a great variety of Farmalls and other specialized tractors and attachments rather than a single tractor with a single system of tools. Every tractor in the line was developed after scientific research and testing under actual operating conditions showed the specifications needed for efficiency and economy. Every Harvester-built tractor is the right machine for its particular job.

Agent Says Now Is Time To Treat Peach Plum Trees

Now is the time to treat peach and plum trees for control of the peach tree borer says J. M. Cooper, Eastland County Agricultural Agent. The larvae of the borer in October is growing and feeding upon peach and plum trees just above or below the ground line of infested trees. According to Cooper to borer works just underneath the larva. If the gum with grass or sawdust is noticed at the base of the trunk then the borer is at work and should be killed before he does any further damage. Control is easy by using EDB crystals, obtainable at most drug stores. The PDB is abbreviation of paradihydrobenzene and is sometimes sold under other names. Dosage are one-half ounce for trees up to three years of age, three-fourths of an ounce for a three just coming into bearing; one ounce for a three already in production and one and one half ounce for an older tree. Weeds and grass should be removed from around a tree for at least 18 inches. The crystals are applied in a circle one inch wide and from two to three inches from the trunk of the tree. After the crystals have been applied a few shovelfuls of soil are applied and then packed down. The crystals form a gas which works down into the cracks and crevices of the tree. The remaining crystals should be removed and the mound torn down after thirty days. Other types of borers are the shot-hole borer and the lesser peach tree borer which works on the branches and the trunk of the tree. The remedy for these is to dissolve one pound of B. Cry-stals in two quarts of water, and or cottonseed oil and paint their entrance holes with this solution.

JOSIE BISHOP'S MINE IS MILLION DOLLAR SOURCE OF URANIUM

Pitchblende Deposits Discovered On Mojave Desert May Provide Rich Supply Of Vitrally Needed Ingredients of Atomic Bomb

Josie Bishop has waited for years to vindicate in her claim that her Mojave Desert radium mine was rich in pitchblende. Confirmation came this year, when she was offered $1,000,000 for her buried treasure. Here Mrs. Bishop stands beside one of her claims. The mine may prove to be an important source for uranium, used in the atomic bomb.

BY ETHEL BOGARDUS NEA Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO—Josie Bishop owns a radium mine. Pitchblende, radium-bearing ore, is also the source for uranium—the vital ingredient in the atomic bomb.

For that reason, her buried treasure, 600 feet under the Mojave Desert, is even more important now than it was in 1937, when tests of her Red Rock mine first revealed the presence of pitchblende.

The discovery created an international furor. The Curie Institute in Paris made tests and was convinced. The precious substance was then—and still is—rained at only one place in the world, and that was in Canada. One other mine in the Belgian Congo had long since closed down. Mining interests began to bid for drilling leases on the Red Rock claims.

Fantastic riches were dangled before the eyes of Josie Bishop, self-styled desert rat. She was feted in San Francisco, honored in New York. She planned a home for crippled children—and a refuge for worn-out prospectors. She brought with her to the streets of the cities a whiff of pungent desert holly.

CLAIM MINE "SALTED"

Then an "official" test sample ores from her mine showed no traces of radium. There were innuendoes and dark hints that the mine was "salted". Hurt, outraged, disillusioned with the world of business in which, she admitted, "I'm a fool," Josie Bishop returned to the desert to lick her wounds. But she never gave up. In the scrawling hand that is the despair of her correspondents, she wrote mining folk the world over.

This year vindication crowned her efforts. Engineers of the Canadian Radium and Uranium Corp. made new and exhaustive tests. They came up with assurance that radium ore is indeed present in Josie Bishop's mine. Triumphant waving the report under the noses of her one-time critics, the doughty desert rat came back. She confronted her former business associates—and wound up with a contract calling for a million dollars—not in a lump sum, but at $250 a month until the mine starts producing, then on a profit sharing basis, until the million is paid.

"I'm getting old," freely admits the gray-haired woman who is better acquainted with a pickaxe than with a bank book. HONESTY PROVEN

"I want to enjoy some of that money before I die. I've proved I'm honest—that's all that matters. Look—they're paying me to live in my own home on my own desert, where there's sage brush and I can breathe. I can still haul water for my morning bath—but I can't stand people thinking I'm not honest."

Daughter of the sheriff of Silver City, N. M., Julie was born in a room over the jail. Her earliest memories are of Billy the Kid and the famed bandit Geronimo. With her prospector husband, she moved to Mojave, and in between births of her six children, sought gold and silver—and found some. "A prospector is a fellow with a can of beans and a crust of bread with no butter on it, and that's more truth than poetry," she says grimly, "but he never stops trying. Once a prospector always a prospector."

The end of the trail has brought Josie Bishop gray hair and dimming eyes. It has led her right back to her home in the desert—but left her a good name, her memories—and a good chance at that million dollars.

News Of Service Men And Women

Commander J. P. Lovett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lovett who visited his parents a short time ago, left Tokyo Bay on the USS Missouri, the ship on which the final terms of Japanese surrender were signed. He left the Missouri at Pearl Harbor and came to the States by clipper.

Commander Lovett was regimental surgeon with the 4th Marines of the 6th Division and landed in Yokosuka August 31 to take over the Naval Base there, the second largest in the land of the Rising Sun. He reported that except for flies, fleas and Jap-sized rats there was no opposition to their landing.

At the Yokosuka base the Americans found much of the land in culti ation. The Jap soldiers were growing most of their food.

With Task Force 38 (also designated as Task Force 58) Lovett's ship, the USS South Dakota, first saw action in the Gilbert Islands in December 1943. During her 22 months at war, the South Dakota also participated in the campaigns of New Guinea, the bombardment of Truk, Faipan, and Tinian and the battle of Guam. After the first battle of the Philippines the ship was damaged and was returned to the United States.

Commander Lovett wears 11 hat the stars, the Navy Bronze Star awarded by Admiral M. Mitscher, and holds a commendation by Admiral Wm. Leahy, commander of the Pacific battleship.

Mr. and Mrs. Lovett have two other sons in service. Major Raymond Lovett is in France, but is expected home by Christmas. Frank Lovett, Jr., a Lt. in the Navy is in the Philippines and is also expected to be back home for the Christmas holidays.

Commander Lovett reported to duty at the Naval Hospital in Norman, Okla., at the expiration of his leave which he spent in Eastland with his parents and in Olney with his wife and son Jimmy.

On the USS Stodard — J. L. Nunn, coxswain, of Nimrod, took part in the last bombardment of the Jap homeland aboard this destroyer of Admiral Halsey's 3rd Fleet. In the latter part of the Okinawa campaign, this ship knocked down two Jap planes.

With the United States Forces On The Riviera, Nice, France — Private First Class Raymond B.

Devenport, whose wife lives at 510 South Mulberry street, Eastland, recently spent a seven day furlough in the U. S. Riviera Recreational Area at Nice. He has been overseas for 11 months, wears the European Theatre Ribbon for Campaigns in France and Germany.

On the USS Mobile In The Pacific — Harvey Ellison S-2C USNR of Olden served on this light cruiser when she took aboard 499 liberated prisoners of war at Nagasaki to take them to Okinawa. The prisoners were amazed at the size of the cruiser and the names of Kaiser, Truman and Atlee were new to them.

On The USS Metcalf — Lt. (jg) Russell H. Perine Jr., USNR whose home is in Norwood Addition, Eastland, served on the USS Metcalf when as a part of a Task Force of more than 50 ships she steamed into Jinsen, Korea, September 8 to help occupy and liberate the country from Japan.

PASTOR WOLAS HANDS BLOOMINGTON, IND. (UP) —

The First Methodist church is a large building, accommodating hundreds of worshippers, but attendance has increased to the point that two identical services are being held each Sunday. More than 200 persons were turned away for lack of pews one Sunday, so the Rev. Merrill B. M. Fall invited the membership to take their choice of two morning service hours. He organized an extra choir, being unwilling to ask the regular choir to sing for both services, even though he himself must preach the same sermon twice in a row.

MAJOR GEORGE ALLEN DAVISSON JR. AND BRIDE ON WEDDING TRIP

Major and Mrs. George Allen Davison, Jr. are on a wedding trip to the West Coast following their marriage Tuesday evening October 2nd, at 8 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church in Roswell, New Mexico. The Reverend LeRoy Thompson, pastor, performed the single ring ceremony before an altar decorated with pedestal flower baskets, embellished with bridal satin ribbon bows and containing white mums, intermingled with lighted cathedral candles in branched candelabra against a background of stately palms.

Preceding the entrance of the wedding party, Mrs. Robert Kirk, organist, played "Schubert's Serenade," and "Ave Maria," Mrs. H. P. Saunders, Jr., soloist, sang "At Dawning" and "Because."

Mrs. J. Adoue Parker, sister of the bridegroom and matron of honor, wore a gown of dusty rose marquisette, designed with dainty ruffles edging the bracelet length sleeves, the round neckline and a molded bodice on to which was gathered the bouffant skirt.

Miss Joyce Wylie and Mrs. George Byrne, bridesmaids, wore gowns of sky blue marquisette fashioned similarly to that of the matron of honor. Each attendant carried a bouquet of deep pink roses tied with harmonizing satin ribbon. Flower girls were Peggy and Julie Parker, young nieces of the bridegroom, gowned in floor length frocks. One of deep dusty rose and the other a lighter shade of dusty rose, fashioned with round neck liner, puffed sleeves and circular ruffles extending the length of the full skirts. They carried flower baskets enhanced with bridal ribbons, from which they scattered rose petals upon the bride's path. All the attendants wore daintily ruffled tiaras of marquisette matching their gowns.

The bride, given in marriage by her maternal grandfather, Mr. O. M. Powers, wore a wedding gown fashioned of white lace and tulle, posed over taffeta, designed with molded bodice of lace featuring a bustle and tunic effect on to which was gathered the full skirt of tulle terminating into a long train. She wore matching tulle mitts. Her three tiered circular veil of bridal illusion fell from a tiara of pearls. She carried an heirloom lace handkerchief belonging to her late maternal grandmother and a pearl embroidered white satin Bible with decor of three white orchids and bridal shower.

Lt. Colonel H. P. Saunders, Jr., served Major Davison as best man. Ushers were Lt. Colonel C. M. Woodbury, Major T. B. Stapp, Mr. Tom White, Mr. W. T. Watts, and Mr. J. Adoue Parker, of Austin, brother in law of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Mabel Oberkamp, mother of the bride, wore a gold sequin trimmed gown of turquoise blue and a small fuchsia hat. Her corsage was an orchid.

Mrs. George A. Davison, of Austin, chose for her son's wedding a rose colored gown with which she wore a light blue feathered hat. Her corsage was an orchid.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's grandmother and aunt, Miss Jessie Russell, Mrs. Neill G. DeLaney, Jr., of San Angelo, Mrs. Douthitt Aless, aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Florence Haite of Austin, were in the house party.

The bride spent her childhood in San Antonio and attended the local schools there. She graduated from Roswell High School, received her BA degree from the University of Arizona and attended Arts, Crafts in Berkeley, California. She is a member of Delta Gamma sorority, Art Fraternity, and Alpha Rho Tau, and has been appointed with the Junior High School in Roswell in the capacity of Art teacher.

Major Davison is the son of Mrs. George Allen Davison of Eastland and Austin, and the late Mr. Davison. He graduated from the high school and college departments of New Mexico Military Institute and received his BA and LLB degrees from the University of Texas, where he was affiliated with the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, Cowboys and San Jacinto Clubs. He was a Representative in the Texas Legislature for four years from Eastland County. He practiced law in Austin two years. Prior to entering the Armed Forces he was a tactical officer at New Mexico Military Institute. He has recently returned from three years overseas with the 14th Fighter Group. He served in England, North Africa, Sicily, and Italy, and was awarded the Bronze Star Presidential Citation with Oak Leaf Cluster. He wears twelve Battle Stars upon his campaign ribbon.
