HAIR TODAY GONE TOMORROW — California Highway Patrolmen Larry Young, right and George Haughton, protesting CHP rulings on hair styling took their problem to barber Steve Comanche Salinas Calif., who just shaved it off. Larry holds the remains of his locks. "We're tired of being asked if we're cops when out of uniform" due to styles ordered, they said.

Measure Nudges Bentsen Closer To Nomination?

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas House today passed a bill establishing a presidential primary system that Sen. Lloyd Bentsen hopes will nudge him a little closer to the Democratic nomination.

An 83-52 vote sent the bill to the Senate for further action. Before passing the bill, the House added an amendment, 92-41, by Rep. Carlyle Smith, D-Grand Prairie, providing a mechanism for automatic release of national convention delegates. If a candidate to whom a delegate was bound failed on the second ballot to win at least 20 per cent of the total vote, the delegate would be free to vote for a different candidate on the third ballot. "This prohibits one man, even a native Texan, from controlling all the delegates in a convention that might have become deadlocked," Smith said. "It keeps any out-of-state candidate from controlling our delegates or bartering our delegates in a long convention."

DEMOCRATS RECOMMEND 5-Cent-Per-Gallon Increase In Gasoline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Democrats recommended an energy package today that includes a 5-cent-per-gallon increase in gasoline taxes and creation of an independent energy conservation board to decide future policies.

Senate Democrats had insisted on no more than a 5-cent gasoline tax and prevailed over House members who wanted a graduated gasoline tax up to 16 cents a gallon with a rebate on gasoline used for essential driving.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., and Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., chairmen of the Senate and House Democratic energy task forces, said the package also recommended acceptance of most of the tax proposals now being worked on by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Pastore said the Democrats estimated their energy-tax proposal would add another $10 billion to the budget deficit, putting the deficit at about $63 billion for next year, but they said that the economy would be greatly stimulated by their plan, increasing the receipts later.

Other provisions of the Democrats' energy package include:

— A rejection of proposals to remove federal price controls on already discovered oil and natural gas but a "liberal" treatment of new gas production in this country. There was no elaboration on what this meant.

— A reduction of petroleum imports by between 400,000 to 500,000 barrels per day the first year of the program, and more than 700,000 barrels daily the second year. No quota system was recommended, however.

— A graduated tax on new automobiles which get subnormal gasoline mileage, offset by a rebate on the price of new cars getting better than average mileage.

The "average" mileage by which the tax and rebates would be measured was not spelled out, but would be provided by the authorizing committees.

The World At-A-Glance

SALEM, Ore. — The young woman's voice was barely audible as she told a legislative committee what it's like to be a rape victim who goes to court against her attacker in Oregon. "The whole trial was basically on me, I felt," she said. "They said very little about the man." Susan, not her real name, testified before the House Judiciary Committee, which is considering proposed changes in state law to prohibit the introduction of evidence in court about a rape victim's past sexual encounters or her general reputation in regard to chastity.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A federal judge rules today whether James Earl Ray will be permitted to withdraw his guilty plea and face trial on charges he murdered Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Ray's attorneys said their client, serving a 99-year term in the state prison at Nashville, was optimistic that U.S. District Court Judge Robert M. McRae Jr. would rule in his favor. Ray has waged a legal battle almost from the day he started his prison term to obtain a trial he avoided when he pleaded guilty and accepted the sentence on March 10, 1969.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Energy waste can be eliminated in all types of buildings within 15 years, according to a novel proposal by the American Institute of Architects. A report by the institute calls for the creation of a new type utility company to buy and install solar heating units, windmills and other devices capable of turning natural energy sources to human needs and purposes.

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Sea creatures offer promise of yielding new, more effective antibiotics and other drugs, says a University of Illinois scientist. Dr. Lowell P. Hager, professor and chairman of biochemistry at Illinois, said marine plants and animals are "the last big source of natural products that hasn't been examined."

U.S. Airlifting Rice To Cambodian Capital

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The United States today added rice to the ammunition it is airlifting to besieged Phnom Penh. But diplomats say no amount of American aid can prevent the collapse of President Lon Nol's government.

As the first DC8 cargo jets landed with Vietnamese rice, Cambodian rebel gunners fired 13 rockets into a market half a mile from the airport, killing seven persons and wounding 17. The airlift was not affected.

Two American charter airlines began a 30-day lift to bring 18,000 tons of rice from Saigon. Normal consumption by the 2 million people in Phnom Penh is about 26,000 tons a month. The airlift also is bringing 62,500 gallons of gasoline and other petroleum products daily.

TO COST MILLIONS

The rice-lift will cost $5.5 million, paid from aid funds previously appropriated, and is not dependent on the $222 million in supplementary military aid sought by the Ford administration. Another American charter line is flying more than 1,000 tons of ammunition a day from Thailand to Phnom Penh.

But diplomatic sources said this would not prevent a victory by the Khmer Rouge insurgents because the government does not have the men to win with.

"Even with ammunition and fuel being flown in, there is still no manpower," said one diplomat. "What can this side do? Nothing."

He said of the 250,000 troops the Cambodian army is supposed to have, 70,000 or more are "ghost soldiers" who exist only on the payroll so that their commanders can pocket their pay. And the soldiers who do exist "are taking heavy casualties."

NO GUARANTEE

Meanwhile, the Khmer Rouge are using only about half of their estimated 75,000 men in their current offensive, the source continued.

"They don't need to launch such big attacks right now," he said. "It is enough to shell the city and the airfield and keep the Mekong River closed."

Official U.S. spokesmen also were talking with less optimism than they have been.

Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger said in Washington that the probability of the government's survival was "extremely high" if it got the extra $222 million aid. But "there is no such thing as a guarantee," he added.

President Ford said the situation was "extremely critical."

U.S. Ambassador John Gunther Dean said the situation was "grim but not desperate; if they fail, it is not because they lack the will but because we have deprived them of the means."

Ford is also seeking $300 million for additional military aid to the South Vietnamese government. The congressional survey trip he is sponsoring in the hope it will increase support for his requests picked up steam with the arrival in Saigon of six more members of the House of Representatives, accompanied by Assistant Secretary of State Philip C. Habib.

KIDNAPED — Peter Lorenz, West Berlin chairman of the Christian Democratic party, was kidnapped today, three days before the election of a new city senate. There was no immediate indication whether there was any connection between the kidnapping and the election.

Trying To Restrict Testimony

HOUSTON (AP) — A prosecutor said today he intends to put into evidence only portions of statements attributed to David Owen Brooks in the mass murders case in which 27 bodies were recovered.

Brooks, 20, is charged with murder in four of the deaths but is on trial only for the murder of Billy Lawrence, 15.

Defense lawyers are seeking a court ruling that would restrict testimony to the Lawrence case.

With the jury out of the room, Asst. Dist. Atty. Don Lambright said he plans to place before the jury only parts of oral and written statements allegedly made by the defendant on Aug. 8, 9 and 10, 1973.

Three police detectives testified in the court of state District Judge William M. Hatten Wednesday concerning the investigation that led to the indictment of Brooks.

The four-man, eight-woman jury spent virtually the entire day outside the court following a motion by defense attorney Jim Skelton, who wants testimony restricted to the one murder charge Brooks currently faces.

The jury heard brief testimony from Houston Police Lt. J. D. Belcher before Skelton made his motion, and the jury spent the rest of the day in the jury conference room before being sequestered for the night.

If the officers' testimony is admitted as evidence, they will repeat their testimony before the jury.

Houston Det. Jim Tucker testified he took three statements from Brooks during the investigation into the mass murders case. Tucker said Brooks admitted in one statement that he was present when some of the murders took place.

"He said he never actually physically participated in the killings," Tucker quoted Brooks as saying. "He said his role was just to be there if something went wrong."

Tucker said in his first meeting with Brooks, the defendant talked about his first meetings with Corli and his homosexual acts with Corli, who was shot to death by Henley Aug. 8, 1973.

Tucker said Brooks told him of his early meetings with Corli and that Corli committed oral sodomy on him at various times and paid him $5 to $10 in each case.

Cold War Heats Up In Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Four U.S. warplanes took to the air Wednesday night during a tense situation involving North and South Korean fighters and a sea chase south of the demarcation line, U.S. officials said today.

A 50-ton North Korean boat sank in a collision with a South Korean naval vessel, the South Korean Defense Ministry said.

The ministry said a dogfight almost resulted between "dozens" of North Korean MiGs and South Korean and U.S. fighter-bombers, with planes of the two sides coming within 17 miles of each other.

A U.S. spokesman said four U.S. Phantom jets were in the air in the general area but did not participate in the pursuit of "North Korean intruders."

Asked if U.S. Air force involvement was routine in Korean border or naval incidents, the spokesman said, "We do not discuss operational matters."

The Defense Ministry said the boat that sank was one of two North Korean vessels found cruising about 20 miles south of the westward extension of the military demarcation line between the two Koreas.

J. Edgar Kept Secret Files About Presidents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi told Congress today that the late J. Edgar Hoover kept secret files of derogatory information about presidents, executive branch officers and 17 members of Congress.

Levi said he had discovered at least one instance when material in files was used improperly and other cases when other executive branch officials used the FBI for political purposes.

He did not identify persons covered in the files.

Levi made the disclosures in testimony before a House subcommittee examining the FBI's past and present practices of collecting and keeping information about members of Congress.

The attorney general said that FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley agrees with him that no secret files on specific individuals should be maintained in the director's office.

Hoover, who ran the FBI for 48 years until his death in 1972, kept in his personal office 164 file folders that date back to the 1920s, Levi said.

Forty-eight of them concerned public officials and other prominent individuals and "by and large, the material in these folders contained derogatory information concerning individuals," Levi said.

J. EDGAR HOOVER

"Some of the derogatory material was developed as a result of official investigations by the bureau; some was furnished by another government agency; and some was furnished by informants," he continued.

There were files on 17 members of Congress, including two who are still in Congress, the attorney general said.

"There is a document in one file indicating that derogatory material was improperly disseminated," Levi said.

"In this instance an FBI agent forwarded derogatory information to Mr. Hoover concerning a congressman who had attacked the director. The file contains a document which indicates that Mr. Hoover disseminated the derogatory information to others in the executive branch."

But Levi said there is no way of knowing what other abuses may have occurred because "the files indicate that on several occasions, the bureau was directed to

Says Inmates Subjected To Racism, Brutality

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Recommendations for prison reform "stand in the face of doom" in this legislature, warns a black lawmaker from Houston.

This is tragic, Rep. Mickey Leland told the House Social Services Committee Wednesday, because Texas prisons are beautiful brick and mortar institutions, with flowers planted around them, but they are ugly places for rehabilitation.

Instead of being trained to become productive members of society, inmates are subjected to racism and brutality, he said.

IGNORANT

"People in the state of Texas are still grossly ignorant of the fact that 95 per cent of the inmates in the Texas Department of Corrections will be turned out on the street, and these people will act in accordance with the way they have been treated in the Texas Department of Corrections," Leland said.

"I think it is barbaric for us to think we can change any individual ... if violent recidivism is continued inside those (prison) agencies," he said.

Forty per cent of the inmates in TDC are black, and many are from his district, he said. When Mexican-Americans are added, they make a majority.

"I'm not saying blacks and browns don't commit crimes. They do," he said.

OPPORTUNITY

But there are other considerations, he said. "Since the first slaveship, Jesus, brought over slaves, we have been discriminated against ... (blacks) are denied in a sociological sense an opportunity to exist in Texas."

A Leland aide later said in answer to a question that they had learned from the University of Texas that the first slaveship to the New World whose name is known to historians was the Jesus, and it sailed in 1564 to what later became the Dominican Republic.

Leland spoke for more than half an hour waving a dead cigar in his beige-colored hand. His sandy goatee bobbed as he pleaded for blacks and browns and poor whites in Texas prisons.

Rogers' Recordings Back In 'Bribery' Spotlight

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Secretary of State John Rogers and his tape recordings were due back in the spotlight today in the federal court bribery and conspiracy trial of former Gov. David Hall and a Texas financier.

Rogers' testimony and the playing of three of the 22 tape recordings he made of his conversations with Hall, Dallas financier, W. W. Duke Taylor and Fort Worth public relations man R. Kevin Mooney consumed all of Wednesday in court.

With Rogers back on the stand today and 19 more recordings still to be played, it appeared the secretary of state's testimony would extend into Friday.

Rogers made the tapes with the aid of FBI agents through recording devices placed on his person and on his home and office telephones.

Rogers testified Wednesday that Hall offered him a $25,000 bribe Dec. 2, just six weeks before his term as governor ended, and he said Taylor confirmed it several days later.

He said he reported the alleged attempt at once to state and federal law enforcement officials and made arrangements to record his conversations with Hall and others involved in the alleged scheme "to prove the bribery attempt."

Hall and Taylor are charged with conspiring to bribe Rogers to influence investment of $10 million in state retirement funds with Guaranteed Investors Corp., a Dallas firm Taylor owns. Hall also is accused of seeking to extort $50,000 from Taylor.

Mooney, who attended law school with Hall and had business connections with Taylor, has pleaded guilty to a conspiracy charge, and he testified Tuesday as a prosecution witness.

Mooney, who has not been sentenced, testified Hall told him they should receive and split a $100,000 finder's fee from Taylor if the retirement board, headed by Rogers, invested the money with Taylor's firm. He said Taylor agreed to pay the fee.

He said he and Taylor "were paying for his (Hall's) influence" in persuading the retirement board to invest with Taylor's firm.

The three tapes played Wednesday were difficult for courtroom spectators to understand.

Members of the jury, the judge and the lawyers and defendants in the case were provided earphones to improve the tapes' quality.

The tapes were laced with profanity, most of it by Rogers, who told newsmen it was "just part of the role I was playing."

Only one of the tapes played Wednesday included a Hall-Rogers conversation.

Choirs Combine For Concert

The Meistersingers and the newly-organized Big Spring Community Choir will combine their voices this evening for a concert in the high school auditorium.

There will be no admission charge for the program, which gets under way at 8 p.m.

Featured will be a series from "Frostanja," which are Robert Frost poems set to music.

The two choruses will blend voices to sing selections from one of Mozart's best works, "Solemn Vespers." Soloist will be Mrs. Joyce Bradley.

Jack Bowers, Big Spring High School choral director, directed the program which will be offered this evening.

TEXAS' FUTURE

AUSTIN (AP) — Senators adopted without objection Wednesday a resolution creating a committee to project Texas' needs and priorities over the next 25 years and to spell out what resources will be necessary to meet those needs.

The 15-member committee will include three senators and 12 lay members, all appointed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, with the chairman to be a lay member. It will report to the 1977 legislature.

Right Of Bail

The right of freedom under "reasonable" bail while awaiting trial is granted by the U.S. Constitution and state constitutions under most circumstances. This right seems as basic and fundamental as the presumption of innocence granted each defendant until proved guilty "beyond a reasonable doubt."

But the argument has become heated in recent years. Excessive bail appears to be used by some magistrates as a form of prior punishment. The reason often given for very high bail is to prevent a defendant from returning to his old criminal activities while at liberty, which amounts to a denial of presumption of innocence.

Claims of excessive bail are usually disposed of on an individual basis, by a habeas corpus proceeding in district court in Texas. Often the bail is reduced to satisfactory levels as a result of a hearing.

But a federal court suit challenging the concept of bail in all cases has been filed in New York City by the city's Legal Aid Society, a nonprofit organization which represents 75 per cent of indigent defendants in that city. In a clever, sophisticated approach, the society alleges that bail laws deny defendants the equal protection of the laws "because it creates two distinct classes of individuals, those who can post bail and those who because of indigency cannot post bail and are therefore detained." It will be interesting to see what the Supreme Court of the United States does with this approach.

Practically all lawyers also agree that the preparation of a defense is easier and the possibility of an acquittal or more lenient sentence heightened when the defendant is free on bail. In one study of 1,228 cases in New York City, for instance, 65 per cent of those held because they could not make bail were convicted, while only 35 per cent of those at liberty under bail were convicted.

The fundamental presumption of innocence must be maintained pending trial. Courts, not bail-setters, should determine punishment when guilt has been established.

Convincing Record

If there is any doubt about the effectiveness of the Texas requirements about immunization, figures carried in an issue of the Herald last week should be convincing.

Immunization for diphtheria, tetanus and polio had generally been observed, but within the past five years diphtheria cases were cut from 56 to 18; tetanus remained at 10, and polio cut from four to none. But the dramatic — almost unbelievable — statistics are in two newcomers to the program rubella and measles. Within the past two years, rubella cases were cut from 4,414 to 1,136, and measles from 9,585 to 532. We ought to be able to all but wipe out these two insidious diseases.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Why don't you say more about the drinking problem in this country? Knowing what it does on the highway alone, makes it worthy of your attention. C.A.

I do not purposely slight the problem of alcohol in our country, which incidentally is our number one drug addiction concern. It's just that in the priorities I give to Biblical evangelism, I see my task more as announcing what to do, rather than what not to do.

Admittedly, it's of major importance! Recently it was reported that Alcoholic Anonymous had organized new programs aimed at youth. In a recent AA meeting, so reported the E. P. News Service, one member was honored for having made it a year without drinking. He was 11 years old.

In the last year for which we have figures, American consumers spent an average of more than 3.1 million dollars every hour for alcoholic beverages. How we've tried God's patience already!

The Bible is very clear about the devastating effect of alcohol on the human body. I don't fault people for wanting to find some release from life's problems — and some joy, but alcohol is the wrong way. Paul gives the answer in Ephesians 5:18:

NEVER DRINK BECAUSE OF YOUR BODILY DESTRUCTION

"Don't drink... for many evils lie along the path; be filled instead with the Holy Spirit."

Desire For A Voice

William F. Buckley, Jr.

I have lately done much reading, and much conferring about, the prospect of a new political party designed as a vehicle for Conservative American dissent. Those who are thinking about the subject are by no means unanimous in their conclusions. They are my brothers, indeed in one case the relationship is biological. In the weeks and months to come we will be discussing the question with increased intensity.

MR. WILLIAM RUSHER, my colleague, has written a book which will appear soon, in which he states the case for a new party — for a realignment of the parties. And meanwhile, the momentum for a party will increase as the program of President Ford fails. It is, by the way, bound to fail because its premise is mistaken. Its premise is mistaken because the American public on the whole has for too long been accustomed to the notion that things can come to your door free of charge, and the rules are for other people to abide by.

I was much struck by a recent recollection of Mr. Paul Nitze, the brilliant strategic analyst who recently wrote an analysis of the direction — impotence — towards which the SALT agreements are taking us. He served under Dean Acheson as chief of the policy planning staff of the State Department. The time came to elaborate a sufficient strategic defense, and Acheson called him into his office and said: Look, what we really need is not something that we are by any means certain to get, because it will be whittled down by Congress and the public. But if we begin by whittling down what we think we need on our own motion, then it will merely be whittled down further by Congress and the public. On the other hand, if we make out a case in which we truly believe, it will have the benefit of an internal cogency which, after all, is the final hope of a successfully self-governing republic.

THE CONSERVATIVES in America are no doubt deeply frustrated by a generation's temporizing by the Republican Party. The most recent assault on Conservative sensibilities is the budget of Gerald Ford. He began by talking about inflation when he was inaugurated President, and now he presents us with a homeopathic budget. No matter what the intricate arguments, the fact remains that we propose to lick inflation by spending more money. When Congress was recently accosted with the extraordinary fact that 50 million Americans are now receiving free food stamps, it was impossible to round up more than a few dozen Congressmen and a half-dozen or so Senators who would go along with an effort to trim this absurdity.

SO IT GOES. The firemen in New York City, defenders of civic rectitude and practitioners of personal heroism, are actually willing to strike. They follow the precepts of their children's teachers, who closed down the public school system in New York not long ago in defiance of the law they are supposed to teach their students to respect.

In the mid-1960's we were preponderantly the most powerful country in the world. It is quite calmly projected that the Soviet Union, within five years, will have six times the throw-weight we have. I say quite calmly, because the only blip of protest my round-the-clock antenna has picked up is fired by such detumescent guns as the Reader's Digest and the American Security Council: both of them valiant organizations manned by patriots, and both, so far as one can tell, utterly ineffective in mobilizing public sentiment.

IN ENGLAND the other day Mrs. Thatcher, on taking formal authority over the Opposition, announced that Englishmen yearned for principle. I think this is true of Americans too. What I am by no means convinced of is that a majority of Americans yearn for principle. I distinguish, in other words, between those who desire a third party (or, as they prefer to say, a new second party) because they wish victory at the polls lies; and those who desire a second party because they desire that the American Opposition should speak words, and think thoughts, worthy of the dignity of rational men, born with a heavy determination to be free in a sovereign state.

What's Right About U.S.?

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — In the opinion of Henry Ford II, Americans bit off more than they could chew, "unrealistically set out to do too much, too fast," but now can proceed to tackle their problems with great resources and "a little humility."

"What's right about America is that although we have a mess of problems, we have great capacity — intellect and resources — to do something about them," the chairman of the nation's third largest industrial company said.

In the midst of economic travails this country hasn't experienced since the 1930s, symbolized by acres of new but unsold cars and soaring unemployment in the automotive industry, Ford was asked for a statement on what remains right with the country.

The intellectual, spiritual and physical resources to deal with problems still exist in the American character, Ford indicated. But he added that we must avoid impossible attempts to resolve all the world's conflicts.

"The fact that we do have an enormous capability with which to deal with our problems is a great blessing," said Ford. "It may even be a mixed blessing."

Americans, he said "have been accustomed to jumping to the conclusions that just about anything can be accomplished. I think we've gone overboard in that direction."

As America emerged from World War II, he said, "we thought for a long time we could prevent aggression, stimulate economic growth and build democracy throughout the world."

"And in our own country, we set out to eliminate racial prejudice, rebuild cities, provide decent housing for everyone, and at the same time send men to the moon."

"Except for the moon exploration, none of these goals has been fully achieved. I believe a large part of the reason for the shortfall is that we unrealistically set out to do too much, too fast."

Ironically, that same comment has been made about the U.S. automotive industry, which has been the epitome of mass production, intensive selling, shrewd marketing and the stimulation of demand through polished promotion.

Partly because of this effort, the automobile came to symbolize the upward mobility of Americans. A car became the manifestation of individual taste and economic status. Sometimes it took two or more cars to press home the point.

"We," said Ford, speaking of Americans in general, "failed to comprehend the dimensions of the problems and as a result we didn't notice all the obstacles in the way."

But immediately he added to his statement: "We should not feel ashamed or defeated because we failed to accomplish the impossible."

Ford said "We have begun to realize that while we do have a great capacity to solve problems, we really do not have resources that can be wasted. We are beginning to realize that we can accomplish more at less cost and with less damage to national pride if we set out to right the wrongs of the world and our own with a little humility."

He continued: "One of the great resources that has pulled us through dark days before has been a sense of national unity. We need it desperately today; we need an infusion of political harmony..."

"This is a time to avoid recrimination and to repress the use of every platform for political gains. This is a time to work together and put our great problem-solving capacities in full gear. This is a time for confidence that these proven capacities once again will get the job done."

Won't Repair Itself

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I fell recently and received a torn cartilage in my knee. There are things I am unable to do now. If I do not have the surgery will I ever have full use of my leg?

What are the chances with surgery? — Mrs. R.E.H.

The cartilage to which you refer, and which causes most trouble in knee injuries, is the semilunar (half-moon) cartilage. These are two sections of half-moon-shaped, gristle-like matter located at the knee, between the place where the thigh bone and the main leg bone meet. They serve as cushions to absorb the pressures to which this joint is subjected.

When one of these becomes torn it is usually pulled away from its underlying attachment, and there is accompanying pain, swelling, often a "locking" of the knee joint to the point where the leg cannot be straightened. Since the location of the injured cartilage often does not allow effective X-ray diagnosis, the decision as to whether or not to operate is based on the severity of the symptoms.

However, such cartilage will not heal itself, and if the pain persists surgery is necessary to remove or correct it. This is a common operation in football where wrenching knee injuries are easily come by and where it is necessary to restore the player's limb to full use. This usually takes a few months after surgery, although some discomfort may linger longer.

Physical therapy is required after such surgery. An operation for you would depend on the seriousness of the tear and just how important 100 per cent use of the knee is to you in your work.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What are the do's and don'ts for a person having gall stones that have never given any trouble? I was told of the stones after an X-ray for another condition. — Mrs. N.W.

The don'ts are easy. Don't eat fatty or spicy foods and don't eat too much at one time. The do's are a bit more complicated.

Should the gall bladder be removed or not? This is a question you may face, and the answer would depend upon several factors — the size of the stones, your age, and your health generally. It's estimated that 20 and 25 per cent of our population have gall stones which "give no trouble." But they do often harbor problems for the future.

The commonest symptoms of gall bladder disturbance are pain and digestive distress, and this makes me wonder why you had the X-rays in the first place. Were you being examined for digestive problems? Gall stones are commonly discovered while examining patients for such complications.

If this is your situation, your decision may be already made for you. The stones can mean further trouble. If they are small they may pass into the intestine and be evacuated.

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Why can't the Herald get more news? Anybody could do that.

Sure they can. Take Monday morning for instance. The police blotter, which is really a nice complete one here in comparison to many cities, had an item that ought to make a little news story. It read "2 a.m. Nile Bailey home 15 miles out on Snyder highway on fire. Jonesboro fire department notified."

THAT SHOULDN'T TAKE long to get a little story about that. So, I called the Nile Bailey phone number. I got a recording, "I am sorry, but the number you are calling is no longer in working order." Maybe the telephone wires burned in the fire, I thought.

I looked in the inside cover of my telephone directory for emergency numbers. I was happy to find that under HOWARD COUNTY FIRES, it stated Jonesboro: 263-4740. I called the number. There was no answer. I'm glad I don't have a fire to report, I thought.

I called the sheriff's office and asked for information on how to reach the Jonesboro fire department. They gave me another number where I might reach one of four Jonesboro firemen, since the number is hooked up at four residences.

I called the number. A very nice lady answered. She said her husband was gone and didn't go to the fire, but she heard somebody get the truck about that time and looked out. "I think it was Johnny Turner, who lives up here on Hilltop Road."

I asked if there was anyway I could reach him. She said if he hadn't answered the phone by now that he was probably at work, but he might be home for lunch. I thanked her.

I called back to the number inside the phone book cover. A man answered. I asked him about the fire. "I don't know," he stated, "I'm just here fixing the truck. They had to use jumpers to start it last night."

I queried, "Who would know?" And he answered, "I don't know, they just told me at the courthouse to come out and fix the truck."

I GOT OUT THE CITY directory and looked up Nile Bailey. It said he worked for school maintenance so I tried to call the maintenance engineer. The line was out of order. I called the school business office and talked to Don Green.

He told me that Bailey's house had burned a few weeks ago but that he was not aware it had burned again. He referred me to Bailey's daughter who worked at the high school.

I was delighted. I called the high school. It was the daughter's day off. I asked for her home phone. It was unlisted. I sounded so sad that they said they would ask the grandson, who is a high school student, to call me between classes.

I tried again to call the Jonesboro joint number and got a new voice on the line. I was really tickled. I began to ask him excitedly about the fire. "What fire?" the voice answered. Then the woman who was on the line the first time came on and said: "You didn't get to the fire either? I heard them get the truck and they had to use the jumpers." They talked a while and I thanked them both and hung up. I was really discouraged.

THEN THE GRANDSON called from the high school. He gave me his mother's telephone number. I called her and got the story. It was a much shorter story than this tale.

By then, I had made nine phone calls and spent 40 minutes getting that one little story. It still had to be written.

But I counted my blessings. I was thankful I didn't have anything burning down in the Jonesboro area Monday morning and I was thankful that I didn't have any more fire stories to write that day.

Rabin At Bay

Rowland Evans

JERUSALEM — The growing frustration that besets non-political Yitzhak Rabin, Prime Minister of Israel at her moment of deepest dilemma over Arab peace negotiations, was revealed here last week when he returned from a long day up north in the dangerous border country of Galilee.

"THE SPIRIT of those people," he suddenly burst out. "They can withstand anything. That is where the inspiration for Israel is and to see it among those Kurdish Jews who have fought so many times for Israel is to know the real spirit of Israel."

But Rabin, the six-day war hero thrust into the world's hottest political seat only eight months ago, has little time to gain inspiration from the Kurdish Jews in the Moshavs of Upper Galilee. Pressing on the non-political Prime Minister is this acute problem, to be solved only in the plain government rooms of Jerusalem: how to establish a political consensus and persuade his government and country to break out of the cycle of war at the most propitious moment since Israel's statehood.

RABIN'S political foundation is dangerously weak. His Labor party, through no fault of his, is fragmented and torn by dissension, trying unsuccessfully to find a new mould in the generational decay of long years under Golda Meir.

The party can deliver nothing for Rabin. Deeply in debt and with no clear view of the future, it is useless as a weapon for the political organization work Rabin desperately needs to prepare his country for the risks of a second-stage withdrawal from the Egyptian Sinai.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I was disappointed in your choice of a cartoon for the editorial page of your February 19 edition, which implied that the military was to receive a disproportionate share of the U.S. budget at the expense of social programs. The syndicated cartoonist was ill-informed; but, there seemed to be no need to compound his ignorance by printing his work in the Herald.

It is true that Defense would receive a higher dollar amount in the proposed fiscal year 1976 budget than ever before. But, this comparison is highly deceiving.

Actually, in terms of constant dollars — that is, with inflation considered — the Defense budget has been dropping. As a proportion of total Federal spending, Defense received 44 per cent in 1968 and will only draw about 29 per cent during the current fiscal year. Therefore, it is quite evident that Defense cannot be taking over anyone's share of the budget — social programs included — since its own share is going down. Further, this Defense decrease is compounded by the fact that personnel costs have risen, in order to attract a volunteer military force, leaving even less for hardware.

Now, let's look at some more startling figures, based on a more reliable indicator — the gross national product (GNP). At the height of World War II, Defense consumed almost 40 per cent of our GNP. During the early 1950s, the figure was about 13 per cent. In the mid 1960s, the figure was about 9 per cent. Today, it's 6 per cent. By comparison, Israel, the threat to whose survival is highly visible, spends about 40 per cent of her total resources on defense. The Soviet Union today appears to be spending about a quarter of its GNP on defense in an increasingly sophisticated manner.

Secretary of Defense Schlesinger recently warned that, "if the U.S. aspires to retain military power second to none, we will not be able to do it on a 4 and a half to 5 per cent of the GNP." According to him, "in any one year, one can accept reductions in funding; but, over a longer period of time, a pattern of consistent trends toward the reduction of resources going to the Defense Department cannot be accepted without having a major consequence for the international power position of the U.S. and for worldwide military balance."

To paraphrase another Defense Department official: Inflation, the creature grown cancerous on past fiscal sins, should not be accorded control of our national security. He must be stopped before he devours us all. And, the fact that he is gnawing at our national security, as well as our social programs, must be recognized. For if it is not, our children will want to know what commodity it was we found to be more important than freedom itself.

I believe the news media has the responsibility to accurately and objectively report on the issues of the day so that the American people can make a conscious decision regarding the direction our country should take. If we choose to reduce our National Defense posture, it should be based on a full evaluation of the long-term consequences and not on emotion generated by some dissatisfied cartoonist.

Sincerely,
ROBERT A. OWENS, Colonel, USAF

Neglected Children Need Foster Parents Who Care

By TROY BRYANT

Needed: Parents who care enough to serve as foster parents for abused and neglected children.

Mrs. April Leahy, public welfare worker in charge of finding and certifying foster homes, said Wednesday that there is only one foster home vacancy in the county at the present time. She said there is a dire need for more temporary homes where neglected children can receive love, attention and help they need until their own home can be reunited.

Since the local Child Protective Service began operations on Jan. 1, over 40 cases of abuse and neglect have been investigated in Big Spring, and several children have been placed in foster homes.

Children are placed under foster care if it is felt that they would suffer physical or emotional harm if they were to remain in the care of their own parents. The children usually come from broken homes, and have been neglected, abused and exploited.

MINORITIES NEEDED
Especially needed are minority foster parents, black and Mexican-American parents, although there is also a big demand for Anglo parents.

Mrs. Leahy said that an effort is made to put the children in culturally similar foster homes, but if there is an extremely limited selection of homes available, the children can be placed in homes of a different race if it is compatible with both the child and the foster parents.

She pointed out that the foster children are not up for adoption. The relationship is temporary and lasts only until the child can return to his own parents or until other arrangements have been made.

The children usually stay in foster homes from several days to several months, but the average stay is seldom over six months.

Parents who wish to become foster parents should be healthy and have a two-parent home, although widows are considered if they can be home at the time that the children are out of school.

PARENTS GET HELP
The prospective parents should be able to provide physical care, guidance, love and understanding. The home will be inspected for fire and health safety.

Working parents can also be foster parents. If the mother is at home during the time when the children are not in school. In the case of infants, the mother must be at home all the time.

The parents will not be on probation.

Library Seeks Games For Children

Donations of games and puzzles are being requested for the children's department of the Howard County Library at Fourth and Scurry Streets.

Games will be accepted on condition of their durability and safety, Susan Conley, children's librarian, said. Those, with pieces small enough to be swallowed by small children, should be avoided.

Games, puzzles and other manipulative materials are recognized as instrumental in the development of a child's intellectual growth, Mrs. Conley said.

Specific benefits gained from playing with toys are their aid in developing a sense of spatial relations, increasing spelling skills, developing sportsmanship and learning how to take care of property, Mrs. Conley explained.

ISD Posts Open Union Answers Cosden: We Are Not Impressed

GARDEN CITY — Hubert Frerich has filed for reelection in the April 5 Glasscock County ISD trustee race.

Two positions are open and deadline for filing is March 5. The other incumbent, Leon Halfmann, has indicated he will again be a candidate.

Those planning to run can register in the office of Don Stringer, school superintendent. Each of the terms will be for three years.

There will be three polling places election day. One will be at the courthouse in Garden City, another in the Lees Community and the third one at St. Lawrence.

"Cosden Oil and Chemical ran wide open in 1974 in order to stock pile and effect a layoff," Kenneth Howell, spokesman for the International Union of Operating Engineers Local 826, stated here today.

Howell was answering the claim by Cosden that the industrial complex is seeking increased flexibility and efficiency among their employees.

Howell contended, "Cosden is probably one of the most efficiently operated refineries in the United States at the present time."

The union spokesman added, "I am not impressed with their announcement that it is a brand new ball game either. We know by their own admission that the bulk of their sales go to petrochemicals and the price of these is almost twice as high per gallon as when it goes to gasoline."

Comparing the per-hour salary to Monsanto and Dow Chemicals, the contended leaders in plastics, Howell said, "Monsanto pays operators $7.20 per hour against $6.19 here."

Skills To Be Tested

NEW YORK (AP) — The booming sport of tennis is borrowing a page from boxing with the ballyhooed, high-moneyed challenge match.

The latest is the $1 million battle between Jimmy Connors and John Newcombe, the world's two top-ranked players, set for Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas Saturday, April 26.

Like the big boxing shows, it will be an electronic spectacular played before a small studio audience and millions watching on television. It will be shown nationally on CBS.

"It's the wave of the future. 'Why not?' said Connors, the 22-year-old upstart who dazzled the tennis world last year by sweeping the Australian, Wimbledon and U.S. championships for No. 1 world ranking.

"I think we can have two or three of these matches a year in addition to our tournaments — the best against the near best. Like in boxing, we will have a man on top and ten challengers ranked behind."

"Like the Roman gladiators," agreed Newcombe, speaking via satellite from far off Auckland, New Zealand. "People like to see man against man, one testing his skills against the other."

CBS paid $600,000 to land this particular extravaganza, which Robert Wussler, CBS vice president, said was more than three times the amount paid for the Connors-Rod Laver match in Las Vegas Feb. 2.

Both Connors and Newcombe agreed that a limited number of such challenge matches could be played every year without spoiling the tournament schedule. Tournament tennis is fragmented, anyhow, with separate and rival groups playing all over the world — stars such as Newcombe and Connors rarely meeting.

Connors and Newcombe stand to carve up close to $1 million from the April match, according to a formula yet to be agreed upon. The winner then will stand to take on the veteran Laver or Guillermo Vilas, the Grand Prix champion from Argentina.

BASKETBALL
NORFOLK, Va. — The American Basketball Association Virginia Squires announced the signing of ABA all-star Willie Wise, who refused to play for the Utah Stars earlier this season.

TENNIS
WIMBLEDON, England — Billie Jean King and Wimbledon officials reached a compromise over prize money, avoiding a threatened boycott by women players. The agreement calls for raising women's prize money for 1976 to 80 per cent of that received by the men. The women currently get 70 per cent.

HC Draws Grayson In Region Classic

The basketball fates of Howard College and Coach Buddy Travis seem forever locked.

Travis was for more than a decade a highly successful coach at Howard College, leading the Hawks to some of their greatest achievements.

When he moved on to South Plains College at Levelland, Travis stole some of the Hawks' thunder and developed the clout to promote the Texans so well so fast some observers thought they developed a nose bleed in the process.

The marriage between Travis and South Plains wasn't exactly made in heaven, however, so Buddy moved on to Grayson County Junior College in Denison.

Buddy didn't wait long to give Grayson a winner. His team this year finished second in conference standings, a mark good enough to insure the team a spot in the Region V Tournament at Amarillo.

Parings were drawn for the March 6-7-8 regional meet in Abilene Wednesday and who should the Howard College Hawks draw in the first round but Grayson?

Grayson was seeded fourth in the pairings, Howard College fifth, so the squareoff was automatic. The two quintets open the tournament at 2 p.m., March 6.

Grayson is 20-9 on the year while HCJC will be seeking its 20th victory against ten defeats tonight, when it plays NMCI in Roswell.

All the pairings in regional are not set for the simple reason that some of the positions in the Northern Conference of the TJCC have yet to be determined.

Western Texas College of Snyder is seeded first, and with good reason. The Snyder team has lost only once in 29 starts.

McLennan of Waco (25-4) and the only team to finish ahead of Grayson in the Northern division of the TJCC is rated second, Amarillo (19-6) third, Grayson fourth and Howard College fifth. After that, it gets rather complicated.

If Southwestern Christian of Terrell wins over Cooke County tonight, it will nail down the sixth position. Should it lose, SW Christian could either slump to eight or drop out of the meet altogether.

A SW Christian loss this evening would propel either Cisco or Ranger, depending on which wins tonight, into sixth place. NMCI (now 11-15) is ranked seventh.

The eighth spot is up for grabs and could go to any one of three teams — SW Christian, Ranger or Cisco.

SW Christian has a season's record of 26-8. Ranger is 17-13 and Cisco 12-16.

Other first round pairings in regional will find McLennan opposing NMCI, Amarillo opposing the sixth place team and Western Texas facing the eighth seeded quintet.

Should HC topple Grayson in the first round, the Hawks will then oppose the survivor between Western Texas and the eighth seeded team in the March 7 semifinals.

FIGHT TO FINISH

Hawks Plan Strategy

ROSWELL — Regardless of the Western Conference outcome between Howard College and New Mexico Military Institute here tonight at 7:30, the Hawks are rest assured of a Region V bid.

Drawings for the Amarillo post-season tournament were made Wednesday and Howard College made the cut.

Regular season ends for the Hawks after the NMCI match. The Hawks, 9-6 and third in the WJAC need this win to beef up their non-loss record before looking to Grayson in first round Region V play.

A Hawk win would insure head coach Harold Wilder of keeping his 20 game victory season running smoothly.

In his four years at HC, Wilder has surpassed the 20 figure each year. For the season, the Hawks are 19-10. NMCI is 9-7 in the conference but fall shy of the season break-even mark, 11-14.

The Broncos had failed to capture a single Western game over the past two years. Gary Carroll took over the NMCI reins a year ago and the Broncos have progressed slowly but surely.

NMCI had a week to prepare for the Hawks, enjoying an open date. Last time on the court, Feb. 18, NMCI fell to Western Texas, 102-70, in Snyder.

The Westerners had to work hard to subdue the Hawks in Big Spring, 102-97, Feb. 20. On a point spread basis, HC rates a big plus over NMCI.

On Tuesday, South Plains slipped by the Hawks, 116-608, in Levelland. Marvin Johnson, HC's hot-shot shooter, kept the pressure on conference scoring leader, NMJC's

Mike Russell. The 6-4 Hawk freshman forward zipped in 33 points, more than keeping up with 24.1 per game high. Johnson is runner-up to Russell in the conference scoring leadership.

Johnson, with his SPC effort, ranks No. 12 among the HC all-time scorers. He has compiled 710 points.

HC's Larry Erves went way over his game average of 19.7 with SPC. Erves shot through 30. He is positioned No. 8 among Western marksmen.

Johnny Harris, 6-1 sophomore guard, scored 13 against SPC. He went just below his No. 13 conference rating of 15.0.

Amarillo clinched second place in the conference by besting NMJC, 93-81, Tuesday. The game was played on the Badgers home court.

Phils Want Allen

By The Associated Press

A number of major league players have yet to sign 1975 contracts but Tony Conigliaro, out of the game for 3 1/2 years following a beanball incident, would like nothing better.

And the Philadelphia Phillies are trying to acquire Dick Allen, the reluctant slugger, from the Atlanta Braves, who would like either pitcher Steve Carlton or slugger Greg Luzinski in return.

Meanwhile, Frank Robinson, baseball's first black manager, made his official debut as the Cleveland Indians opened spring training camp at Tucson, Ariz., and the National League champion Los Angeles Dodgers flew into in Vero Beach, Fla., without five key unsigned players.

The 30-year-old Conigliaro, who has impressed the Boston Red Sox brass at Winter Haven, Fla., with his long ball hitting while working out on his own, joined the club's first official drills today.

"We certainly wouldn't have invited Tony down here if we didn't think, and hope, he had a chance to make it back," said Boston General Manager Dick O'Connell, who hopes to use the former outfielder as a designated hitter.

Conigliaro's career was prematurely ended — although he has attempted several comebacks since — because of a serious eye injury suffered when he was hit by a pitch in August, 1967 while playing for Boston. He also played with the California Angels and had 160 career homers.

At Clearwater, Fla., Phillies' General Manager Paul Owens said Wednesday he was negotiating with the Braves for the rights to Allen. The controversial Allen, traded by the Chicago White Sox to Atlanta during the off-season, has said he won't report to the Braves but has indicated he would return to Philadelphia where he started his career.

REGION I 'Dogs Look To Dimmitt

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Bulldog cagers will take on the Dimmitt Bobcats Friday at 1 p.m. in the Region I, Class AA Tournament in Lubbock's Municipal Coliseum.

Dimmitt, featuring at 30-3 record, is the District 3-AA champion who defeated 4-AA champion Abernathy 61-38 in bi-district play. They won the Regional Tournament last year and went on to the state final game before losing to Bowie.

Coahoma, the 6-11 champions, defeated 5-AA champion Post, 68-48 to gain the regional trophy.

The winner of the Coahoma-Dimmitt game will play the winner of the Childress-Socorro game Friday night to determine the Regional Champion.

Childress is winner of District 2-AA and Socorro is winner of District 8-AA.

Lamesa Runs Into Old Foe

Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes meet an old foe in Coronado Gym in Lubbock at 7:30 p.m. Friday when they face Levelland in regional basketball playoffs.

The Tors, with a 31-0 seasonal record, are heavy favorites to win the tournament and advance to the state playoffs.

However, Tor fans recall that they were heavy favorites in the regional playoff against Andrews last year and Andrews upset the Lamesa team.

The Tors haven't lost a game since that 40-45 loss in the Levelland gymnasium. The year prior to that, in the regional game over in Snyder, Lamesa defeated the favorite Levelland team, who at that point were undefeated in their season.

Following that game, one Levelland player reminded the Tors that they had defeated them earlier in the year and the Tors answered, "We won the one that mattered."

The Golden Tors fell short of the state crown in '73, losing in the playoffs and have set their goal this year on the state crown.

They advanced to regional with a bi-district victory over the Brownwood Lions 59-42. No team even came close to Coach O. W. Follis Tors during their regular season of play.

Early in the season the Tors were picked for fourth in their district. Following a team that was picked early in the year to win state, they may reverse the timetables and win state when they were not even selected to win district.

After Bigger Game

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Second-ranked Maryland has won its first Atlantic Coast Conference regular season basketball championship in 22 years of trying, but Coach Lefty Driesell is after bigger game.

"It feels good," Driesell said after the Terps edged 11-ranked Clemson 70-64 Wednesday night to finish atop the league standings at 10-2. "But I'm not interested in winning the ACC."

"I said when I first accepted the job here that I'm interested in only one thing, and that's the national championship. This should give us a shot at it. If we keep playing the way we've been playing, we can beat anybody in the country."

Since suffering consecutive losses to Clemson and 14th-ranked North Carolina last month, the Terps have won eight in a row and are now 21-3. The recent streak includes a second victory of the season over seventh-ranked North Carolina State, the defending national champs.

In other college basketball action Wednesday night, Cincinnati whipped Xavier of Ohio 66-57; Syracuse stopped Niagara 79-66; South Carolina trimmed Canisius 80-75; George Washington University defeated Georgetown 82-78; Kent State nipped Pittsburgh 69-61; Seton Hall beat Army 98-91; Wake Forest trounced Fairleigh Dickinson 89-55; Duquesne beat St. Francis (Pa.) 107-101; Richmond topped Appalachian State 101-97 in two overtimes; Nebraska outscored Oklahoma 59-58 and Virginia Tech held off West Virginia 78-68.

Steve Collier capped a 23-point performance with four straight free throws, propelling foul-troubled Cincinnati to its 13th straight victory.

Spurs Settle With Nissalke

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Utah Stars basketball Coach Tom Nissalke has won an undisclosed sum in a settlement of his contract with the San Antonio Spurs, who fired him last Dec. 13.

Nissalke, guided the American Basketball Association Stars to five victories in the team's first six games as head coach. He was not available for comment Wednesday night. Angelo Drossos, Spurs president, said, "Both parties believe that the settlement is in the best interests of all concerned due to the time and expense of litigation, and in a desire to put past problems behind us."

Bob Bass was hired as Nissalke's replacement with the Spurs.

Spurs' General Manager John Beggos refused to reveal the amount of the settlement. He said the firing came because of "a personality conflict and in no way should reflect on the coaching abilities of Tom Nissalke."

ART DISPLAY VIEWED — Mrs. Susan Conley, children's librarian at the Howard County Library, looks over art work displayed there by youths from 10 to 12 years of age. The water and crayon pictures were created by some of the 43 children attending Frances Schultz' art classes at Howard College. Miss Schultz teaches groups of children 6 to 9 years of age also in ceramics, experimental painting and drawing and paper weaving. Weekly, new sets of works by the children will be exhibited at the library.

False Imprisonment Costs Firm $5,000

AUSTIN (AP) — A Beaumont woman who was paying on Christmas gifts for her five children and wound up in jail on a shoplifting charge is entitled to $5,000 in damages, the Texas Supreme Court ruled today.

Maxine Judge filed suit against K-Mart No. 4195, seeking damages for false imprisonment after she was acquitted of the charge.

Her companion, Charlotte Taylor, pleaded guilty to a shoplifting charge. A wig was found in her possession after she had walked through the checkout counter without paying, case records showed.

A jury awarded Mrs. Judge $5,000 for mental anguish, embarrassment and humiliation after she testified that she was searched, escorted through the crowded store by a uniformed police officer and put in jail for several hours. The trial judge awarded her $15,000 in exemplary damages.

But the Beaumont Court of Civil Appeals ruled the awards were excessive and reduced the total to $5,000, a figure the Supreme Court upheld.

Mrs. Judge testified she went to K-Mart with the other woman Nov. 20, 1972 to pay on Christmas gifts which she had on layaway.

Local Puller In Top Meet

Elbert Long, Howard County cotton farmer and tractor puller, will participate in the Southwest Tractor Championship pull at Ft. Worth March 7-8. Purses for the event aggregate $18,000.

Last year he was high-point man in the 9,000 and the 12,000 non-turbo classes. He tied for high in the 15,000 class.

WANT TO POP 'BIG BOYS' Juries Awarding Higher Amounts

CHICAGO (AP) — Like everything else these days, it costs more if you're sued and lose.

There is no central book-keeper who tallies the figures, but lawyers who specialize in damage suits agree that juries are awarding higher amounts.

One study shows that jury awards given in serious personal injury cases have increased nearly 28 per cent since 1970 and are still headed upward. Before 1970, the increase averaged about 2 per cent a year, the study indicated.

Most large suits are usually filed against big-name corporations and, increasingly, against doctors.

But almost everyone will get socked eventually by passed-along increases in insurance premiums paid by persons more likely to be sued.

"It's not unusual for verdicts to be higher in times of inflation," says Philip Corboy, former head of the Chicago Bar Association, who has specialized in personal injury cases for more than 25 years.

Rising medical costs and wages account for the biggest increases in personal injury awards, say lawyers.

"If a man was in a hospital for a month, it used to cost $900; now it costs $2,700," says Corboy. "We used to represent railroad employees who made $200 a week; now they're making $400."

Awards are usually made to cover the victim's care and his unrealized lifetime earnings, said Leonard Ring, another Chicago lawyer specializing in injury suits.

There are other factors besides inflation.

They include increased reliance on expert testimony, including doctors who, contrary to past practice, now testify against their peers; more educated jurors and their awareness to publicly given previous large settlements; and growing interest in consumer protection.

Juries also have been increasing punitive damages. While compensatory damages usually are awarded for physical disability, punitive damages are aimed at punishing a wrongdoer and setting an example as a deterrent to similar acts in the future, Ring said.

"The right to punitive damages has been recognized since time immemorial but the amount and frequency has been increasing lately," he said. And one of the reasons for this is the consumer movement, he said.

In line with juries assessing punitive damages more frequently is the increase in product liability cases.

"Consumerism is definitely making a difference," says Philip Hermann, a Cleveland trial lawyer and founder of Jury Verdict Research Inc.

"Jurors are more conversant with consumerism and want to penalize the company that is not putting out as safe a product as it knows it could," Herman said.

He said his company's research shows that malpractice suits against doctors are notably on the rise.

Exercises Explained

An extension of one exercise principle into another was demonstrated Wednesday to the Downtown Lions at the Settles.

Pete Nevin with the Physical Fitness Institute of America, showed how a simple device of pulling against a friction drum in a small can exercised the major muscles and increased demands on the circulatory system.

He called it isokinetic. It goes a step further than isometric exercises (exerting pressure against an immovable object or equal pressure), he said, by utilizing the isometric principle (of straining at the leash) for 10 seconds, then letting off and pulling against the friction line. This, he claimed, got the element of movement into the act.

Nevin said that a series of routine exercises for 12 minutes a day can keep an individual in good physical condition. He warned about weekend exercisers — "this is worse than no exercise at all," he said. He termed this generation the most physically unfit in the history of the country.

Wreck Damages House, Cars

An accident during the lunch hour Wednesday at E. 15th and Virginia involved three separate vehicles and a house.

A car driven by Michael Smith, 900 NW 3rd, was headed north on Virginia and collided with a car driven by James McDonald, 2308 Merrill, and then bounced into a vehicle driven by Jerry Jones, 4202 Muir, and went on to strike the corner of a house at 1408 Virginia.

The Jones vehicle was also knocked into the house. The owner of the rent house estimated damage at over $2000 this morning as the corner stud between the bathroom and kitchen was broken and a wall knocked out at the residence.

The only injury in the accident was to Smith who suffered a small cut over the eye, was treated and released. He also received a citation for running a stop sign.

'Tune up' Pull Is Scheduled

LAMESA — A "tune up" pull will be started here Saturday 2 p.m. on the Weaver Gin yard (U.S. 180 west). This will be in preparation for tractor pullers planning to take part in the Southwest association pull at Fort Worth the following week. Charley Anderson (906-872-2282) and Ronnie Culp (806-497-5192) are in charge.

DEATHS

Charles Hans

Charles A. Hans, 52, a former Captain in the Air Force who was captured by the Germans in World War II, died at his home at 5:45 a.m. today.

Services will be Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel, with Dr. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

He was born Dec. 26, 1922 in Brenham, Texas and was a resident of Big Spring since 1960. He married Lee Johns here in 1962. He was a member of the Baptist Church and was owner of Hans Mobile Home Sales and Real Estate.

He was stricken while enroute to visit a daughter in the Philippines and was hospitalized in Hawaii before returning here Jan. 21.

Survivors include his wife, Lee, of the home; one son, Terry Allen Hans, Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. Patsy Ray Uvalde and Mrs. Rebecca Neumann, Clark AFB, Philippines; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Morrow Sr., Yoakum; one sister, Mrs. Fae Coldewey, Yoakum; one brother, Earle Morrow Jr., Alexandria, La.; and two grandchildren.

Irene Smith

Funeral for Mrs. Alvin (Irene) Smith, 62, who died in a local hospital at 8:45 p.m., Tuesday, will be at 3:30 p.m., today in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel.

Officiating will be the Rev. J. E. Meeks, Baptist Temple Church, and the Rev. Jimmy Parks, Temple. Burial will be in Mount Olive Memorial Park.

Pallbearers will be F. D. Rogers, Dalton Johnston, Otto Couch, Jimmy Medford, A. W. Page, Dr. Don McGonagill.

Velma Booth

FLOYDADA — Services for Mrs. Velma Deen Booth, 68, were held here Tuesday afternoon.

She is the mother of Donald Deen Booth, Big Spring.

Mrs. Booth died Monday at her home in Dallas after a long illness.

Brother James Tidwell officiated at the services held in the First United Methodist Church, and Moore-Rose Funeral Home handled arrangements for burial in Floydada Cemetery.

A native of Floydada, she married Donald Booth June 13, 1933, in Tucuman, N.M. She was a housewife.

Survivors include her husband of the home in Dallas; one daughter, Patricia June Pena of Albuquerque, N.M.; three brothers, Fred O. Deen of Indio, Calif., Jessie E. Haynes of Fort Worth and Tom W. Deen of Escondido, Calif.; one sister, Wilma L. Deen of Albuquerque, N.M.; and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Booth was married to Sam Goldman, a former independent oil operator in the Big Spring area. He directed the Census here in 1950 and preceded her in death in 1959.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. R. L. Perkins, Wichita Falls; two sisters, Mrs. C. C. Mayfield, and Mrs. Floyd Bowen, both of Sweetwater; and two grandchildren.

LAMESA — Services for Mrs. Lela Robinson Lester, 52, of Lamesa, will be at 10 a.m. Friday at the First Baptist Church here with the Rev. Bill Hardage, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Lamesa Memorial Park under direction of Branon Funeral Home.

Mrs. Lester died at Falcon Lake near Zapata about 7 p.m. Tuesday following an apparent heart attack.

A lifelong Lamesa resident, Mrs. Lester had been visiting the Zapata area when she was stricken. She married Vadin Lester in 1971 at Tahoka. She was a 43-year member of the Baptist Church of Lamesa.

Survivors include her husband; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Robinson Sr. of Lamesa; a daughter, Kee Newman Holt of Lamesa; and a brother, Frank Kee Robinson Jr. of Knoxville, Tenn.

The Serendipity Singers will appear at the Webb AFB Officers' Open Mess Saturday. Tickets for reservations have been on sale all week at the club, at a cost of $7.50 per person. The dinner theater-type performance will include a seafood buffet, plus two performances at 9 and 11 p.m. and is for club members only.

Serendipity, as defined in the dictionary, is "the faculty of making desirable but unsought-for discoveries by accident." As used in the colloquial sense, it is the ability or art of doing many things well at the same time.

These definitions are said to reflect the essence of what is "the most exciting and refreshing singing group today." From the time they formed in 1963 at the University of Colorado, the Serendipity Singers were dubbed for Stardom.

Their first major engagement was such a success that the producer of the Hootenanny Show signed the group as regulars for the television program. From that day on, the group has played approximately 800 colleges, 49 states, 15 countries and recorded six albums.

As David L. Stanton, their manager, put it: "To categorize the Serendipity Singers as just another folk group, though a good one, is an injustice, for their scope goes beyond that of folk music."

DEATHS

Firemen and Engineers

Survivors include his wife of the home; one daughter, Mrs. Manny Steck, Merkel; a grandchild whom he and his wife raised, Donald Lovelady, Arlington and four other grandchildren.

Gerald Gordon

COLORADO CITY — Gerald G. Gordon, 66, longtime Colorado City resident, died in a Dallas hospital at 2:35 p.m., Wednesday after an extended illness.

Funeral will be at 2:30 p.m. Friday at the First Presbyterian Church in Colorado City, with Dr. Shirley Guthrie and Dr. Gage Lloyd, both of Big Spring, officiating. There will be 4:30 p.m. graveside rites at Elmwood Memorial Park in Abilene.

Mr. Gordon was born Aug. 25, 1908, in Waxahachie, Tex. He had been an employee of State Farm Insurance in Colorado City for 28 years.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Colorado City, the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce and the Country Club, Texas Tech Alumni Association.

Survivors include his wife, Nadine, of the home; three brothers, Dr. J. M. Gordon, Ardmore, Okla., Harold Gordon, Phoenix, Ariz., and the Rev. Lynn Gordon, Philadelphia, Pa.; a sister, Mrs. Hector McKay Jr., Lubbock.

A cousin, Mrs. Olen Puckett, Big Spring, also survives.

Mrs. Goldman

SWEETWATER — Mrs. Sam Goldman, 81, formerly of Big Spring, died at 5 a.m. Wednesday at a San Angelo Hospital.

Services are slated for Friday at 3 p.m. at the McCoy Chapel of Memories here with Rev. Newton Starnes, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, Sweetwater, officiating. Burial will be in Sweetwater Cemetery.

She was married to Sam Goldman, a former independent oil operator in the Big Spring area. He directed the Census here in 1950 and preceded her in death in 1959.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. R. L. Perkins, Wichita Falls; two sisters, Mrs. C. C. Mayfield, and Mrs. Floyd Bowen, both of Sweetwater; and two grandchildren.

Lelia Lester

LAMESA — Services for Mrs. Lela Robinson Lester, 52, of Lamesa, will be at 10 a.m. Friday at the First Baptist Church here with the Rev. Bill Hardage, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Lamesa Memorial Park under direction of Branon Funeral Home.

Mrs. Lester died at Falcon Lake near Zapata about 7 p.m. Tuesday following an apparent heart attack.

A lifelong Lamesa resident, Mrs. Lester had been visiting the Zapata area when she was stricken. She married Vadin Lester in 1971 at Tahoka. She was a 43-year member of the Baptist Church of Lamesa.

Survivors include her husband; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Robinson Sr. of Lamesa; a daughter, Kee Newman Holt of Lamesa; and a brother, Frank Kee Robinson Jr. of Knoxville, Tenn.

The Serendipity Singers will appear at the Webb AFB Officers' Open Mess Saturday. Tickets for reservations have been on sale all week at the club, at a cost of $7.50 per person. The dinner theater-type performance will include a seafood buffet, plus two performances at 9 and 11 p.m. and is for club members only.

Serendipity, as defined in the dictionary, is "the faculty of making desirable but unsought-for discoveries by accident." As used in the colloquial sense, it is the ability or art of doing many things well at the same time.

These definitions are said to reflect the essence of what is "the most exciting and refreshing singing group today." From the time they formed in 1963 at the University of Colorado, the Serendipity Singers were dubbed for Stardom.

Their first major engagement was such a success that the producer of the Hootenanny Show signed the group as regulars for the television program. From that day on, the group has played approximately 800 colleges, 49 states, 15 countries and recorded six albums.

As David L. Stanton, their manager, put it: "To categorize the Serendipity Singers as just another folk group, though a good one, is an injustice, for their scope goes beyond that of folk music."

WINDSHIELDS Damaged

Vandalism during the night Tuesday was reported one after the other all morning Wednesday to city police.

The majority of the incidents were BB gun shots through windshields and car windows. The list included F. H. Talbot, 105 Canyon Drive, L. S. Dickson, 3218 Auburn, Court in Abilene.

The petition claims one of the defendants in an alleged fraud case does not live in Lubbock as the suit claims, but instead resides in Albuquerque, N.M. Lawsuits involving persons living in different states originate in federal court.

The suit was filed by Scenic Gardens Inc. of Big Spring which alleges a conspiracy and fraud by Central National Bank of San Angelo, its president, Frank Junell, and Sam Levenson, who lists his address as Albuquerque and who requested removal of the case.

The bank advised Scenic Gardens it could not extend its indebtedness and the bank foreclosed on the property with the understanding that the corporation could resume ownership once permanent financing was obtained according to the suit.

Instead, the corporation, claims, the bank conspired with Levenson, transferring the title to the property to him in an attempt to defraud Scenic Gardens.

BANK QUEERS DEAL — The plaintiff further claims that although attempts were made to get permanent financing, no deals were made because Junell and the bank "would approach the proposed lender and would in effect, 'cheat the deal.'"

Scenic Gardens states it owned land from 1968-70 just south of Big Spring on which Coronado Plaza Shopping Center was built.

The plaintiff says the corporation received interim financing from Central National Bank for promissory notes and a deed of trust.

The corporation attempted to get long-term financing in 1969-70 but was unable to because of rising interest rates and a "rather tight money market," the suit states.

The Big Spring corporation is seeking $2 million for punitive damages and $3 million for actual damages.

In his answer filed with the petition of removal, Levenson denies any knowledge of the financing situation of the shopping center and asks that he be discharged from the suit.

Jury Called In Civil Cases

A 120-member jury panel has been summoned to appear in 118th District Court for one of two civil cases set for trial Monday.

First to be tried by 12 selected jurors is the suit Reba Nell Moss and Harold Moss vs. Pittman and Bastic Co., Midland, and Carl Deane Elliott, Midland.

This and the second case set for trial are for personal injuries and damages said resulting from traffic accidents.

Allan Ray McFarlin for three daughters and Mrs. McFarlin joined with Lana Mae Wilson, also of Midland, in suing Alph W. Page, Big Spring.

Teachers Ask For '78 Pay Increases In '75

The state pays half and the local school district half of the increase and this year's increase dug deep into many school budgets, causing an emergency funding of many districts.

The teachers are now asking that the next pay raise be moved up from 1978 to 1975 for this September, which would give them back-to-back state raises.

They are also seeking additional retirement benefits and other benefits. The teachers are urged to write their state legislator and senator favoring this legislation.

Teachers are also given regular raises for each year's experience. Some school districts also augment this base rate pay.

The Howard Soil and Water Conservation District announced Shauna Hill, Big Spring, won first place in the district essay contest.

"If man were not in existence, nature could weave the tapestry of the seasons, winds and rains into a new pattern each day, and no one would be inconvenienced or damaged," Miss Hill wrote.

SOIL WATER — "However, man must get his food, clothing and shelter from the earth in order to survive," she continued. "This dependence upon nature and therefore the soil, for these necessities is the principle reason for the preservation and enrichment of our soil."

Mary Ellen Gressett, Forsan High School student, touched on another aspect of conservation in what was judged second best essay in the district.

"Water, one of the most important resources found in the world, is quickly becoming an 'endangered resource' which must be preserved."

"People, who are the main cause of water pollution, can prevent this from happening by placing litter in proper places instead of chucking it into our streams; by recycling industrial wastes instead of pouring chemical and soap into lakes and rivers; and, by removing useless items to sanitary fills instead of dumping those items into the streams and ponds."

MAKE PORK CHOPS extra special by cooking them in a rich creamy sauce of canned condensed cream of vegetable soup, sour cream and chopped parsley.

Fruit, Stuffing And Sauces Add To Chops

Pork chops and apple pie are on the dinner menu tonight... and many other nights through the year. Why? 'Cause they're both all-American favorites and please invited guests or cherished family.

Let's make the pork chops extra special tonight by cooking them in a rich creamy smooth sauce... colorful canned condensed cream of vegetable soup, sour cream, chopped parsley, and Madeira wine. A really yummy entrée!

To go along with this popular main dish fix a crunchy vegetable molded salad or a simply tossed green salad. Include, too, a family-favorite dressing. The apple pies for dessert are the ready to bake frozen individual kind. Serve them warm with a slice of Cheddar cheese.

PORK CHOPS IN CREAMY VEGETABLE SAUCE
4 pork chops (about 1 lb.)
1 medium onion, sliced
1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
1/4 tsp. leaf thyme, crushed
1 can (10 3/4 oz.) condensed cream of vegetable soup
1/2 cup sour cream
1/2 cup water
2 tbsps. chopped parsley
1 tsp. Madeira (optional)
Brown chops; pour off excess drippings. Add onion, mushrooms, thyme; cook until tender. Blend in remaining ingredients. Cover and cook over low heat about 45 minutes or until chops are tender. Stir now and then. Makes 4 servings.

Try these other ways to prepare pork chops for family pleasing meals.

PORK CHOP AND YAM CASSEROLE
1 cup (about 20) prunes
1 1/2 cups water
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
1 tsp. chopped candied ginger (rinse in hot water if necessary to soften before chopping)
1/4 tsp. mace
Dash of salt
6 medium size yams

PORK CHOPS NEOPOLITAN
6 loin pork chops, 1" thick
6 tbsps. olive oil
3 cloves garlic, crushed
1 jar (7 1/2 oz.) roasted peppers, drained
1 can (8 oz.) Italian peeled tomatoes
1/2 lb. mushrooms, sliced
salt and pepper
Heat oil in large shallow casserole or pan. Brown chops quickly on both sides. Set chops aside. Reduce heat. Sauté garlic and peppers until garlic begins to color. Add tomatoes and seasonings; cook for 5 minutes. Return chops to pan. Correct seasoning. Reduce heat to very low, cover, cook 15 minutes. Turn chops. Add sliced mushrooms, re-cover pan, cook 10 minutes longer. Transfer chops to hot platter and spoon sauce over. Serves 6.

SAUCY PINEAPPLE PORK CHOPS
1 (1-lb. 4 1/2-oz.) can pineapple slices
Orange juice
3/4 cup sherry
1 (10 1/2-oz.) can beef broth
2 tbsps. lemon juice
1 finely chopped green

Mustard Sauce Is Tangy Addition

Most mustard sauces call for sugar. Although this one doesn't, it has a slightly sweet taste. That's because prepared yellow mustard with bits of onion — a comparatively new product — is used and it gives pleasing flavor.

MUSTARD SAUCE
1/4 cup butter or margarine
2 tbsps. flour
Chicken bouillon cube dissolved in 1/2 cup boiling water
1 cup milk
1-3rd cup prepared yellow mustard with onion bits
1 tsp. lemon juice
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. allspice

Tiny pinch cayenne pepper
In a small saucepan over low heat melt the butter; stir in flour. Off heat, gradually stir in the bouillon, then the milk, keeping smooth. Cook over moderately low heat, stirring constantly, until boiling and thickened. Whisk in mustard, lemon juice, salt, allspice and cayenne. Serve warm. If made ahead, reheat just before serving. Leftover sauce may be reheated or used cold as a thick spread for sandwiches. Makes 1 1/2 cups. (Store in a tightly covered jar in the refrigerator; leftover sauce keeps for weeks.)

Fun Cookies

As surely as April showers bring May flowers, they bring children indoors. When the family's feeling cooped up, make oatmeal cookies together. Frost them the fun way! Put a square of milk chocolate on each one as soon as the batch comes from the oven; the chocolate will melt slightly. Top each with a pecan half, if desired.

For Cereal

Mix a little cinnamon with brown sugar and use as a topping for hot cooked oatmeal.

Equipment Important In Canning

COLLEGE STATION — There's nothing tastier than home-grown fruits and vegetables — but it takes the right canning equipment to preserve their natural freshness for eating during the rest of the year. Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist, reminded this week.

"Pressure canners for low-acid vegetables — green beans, corn and greens — may be purchased at different prices depending on size," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

She noted that 16- and 20-quart sizes are popular. Pressure saucepans with 10-pound gauges are also satisfactory for canning.

"High-acid foods such as fruits and tomatoes require a waterbath canner of about seven-quart size.

"Jars, lids and rings which were in short supply should be plentiful later in the year," Miss Reasonover said.

The specialist suggested other useful equipment would include a wide mouth funnel, slotted spoon, cutting board, measuring cups, colander or strainer and basket or blancher for scalding.

Apricots In Cobbler Are From Can

An easy and tasty dessert made with tangy apricots from the can.

APRICOT COBBLER
1 tbsps. cornstarch
8 tbsps. sugar
30-oz. can unpeeled apricot halves in heavy syrup
1 cup cake flour, fork-stir well to aerate before measuring
1 1/2 tbsps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
6 tbsps. milk

In a medium saucepan stir together the cornstarch and 6 tablespoons of the sugar. Drain apricots; gradually stir 1 and 1-3rd cups of the apricot syrup into the cornstarch mixture until smooth; add apricots; cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until boiling and clear; keep hot. In a medium mixing bowl stir together the flour, remaining 2 tablespoons sugar, baking powder and salt; with a pastry blender cut in butter until particles are fine; with a fork stir in milk, mixing as little as possible. Turn hot apricot mixture into an 8-inch-square cake pan or dish; drop batter from a teaspoon in 12 small mounds, spacing evenly, over hot apricot mixture. Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven 25 to 30 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 6 servings.

Different Way For Home Fries

Family Circle's editor gives this recipe in the February issue of the magazine and we found it great.

HOME-FRIED POTATOES
2 large or 4 medium baking potatoes (about 1 1/2 lbs.)
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
3 tbsps. vegetable oil
1 medium onion, thinly sliced and separated into rings
Salt and pepper
Pare potatoes and slice very thin. Heat butter and oil in a heavy 10-inch skillet until a few drops of water will sizzle when flicked into skillet. Spread a thin layer of sliced potatoes in the hot fat; allow to cook until the potatoes turn a golden brown (about 5 minutes), then layer onion rings and remaining potato in skillet. Turn potatoes with a broad, flat turner; allow potatoes to cook until crispy-golden; then turn again. Continue cooking and turning until potatoes are crisp and brown; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

CRUNCHY VEGETABLES With lemony marinade.

Dumplings Are Easily Made

This basic dumpling recipe can be used with beef or chicken broth.

DUMPLINGS
1 cup flour
2 tbsps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 egg
1-3rd cup water
2 cups beef broth
Stir together the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat egg and water until blended; stir into flour mixture until blended. Bring broth to a boil; drop in dumpling mixture in 8 small portions. Boil, uncovered, for 2 minutes; simmer, covered, until cooked through — 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings — dumplings per portion.

To Deep Fry

In deep-fat frying, never fill the saucepan more than one-third full of fat or oil.

Honey, Lemon Add To Yam Casserole Flavor

Honey and lemon add delightful flavor.

CASSEROLE YAMS
4 medium (about 1 1/2 lbs.) yams or sweet potatoes
3 tbsps. butter or margarine, melted
1/2 cup honey
1/2 tsp. grated lemon rind
1 tsp. lemon juice
Scrub yams under cold running water; do not peel. Boil, covered, in boiling salted water to cover until tender — about 30 minutes. Drain, peel and slice about 1/2-inch thick; arrange in a 1-quart casserole. Heat remaining ingredients, stirring to blend; pour over yams. Bake, covered, in a preheated 350-degree oven until thoroughly hot — 20 to 30 minutes. After removing from oven, baste with syrup in bottom of casserole if necessary. Makes 4 servings.

New Combo

For a "composed" salad, use fresh grapefruit sections, sliced cooked beets and salad greens with an oil-and-vinegar dressing. Tastes particularly good with broiled fish fillets or fish steaks.

Try Tangy Marinade Appetizer

Naturally delicious garden vegetables are even more so when you've nurtured the little seedlings into healthy, food-bearing plants. Economy, ease of preparation and pride of serving your own homegrown vegetables are good reasons why the popularity of gardening has blossomed.

Homegrown garden vegetables are made better with a special Garden-Vegetable Marinade prepared with versatile bottled reconstituted lemon juice. Fresh tomatoes, onions, cucumbers, cauliflower, lettuce or celery, or chilled tender cooked green beans, asparagus and peas take well to this lemon-flavored marinade.

Garden-Vegetable Marinade is a blend of bottled reconstituted lemon juice, salad oil, sugar, salt, chili powder, oregano and pepper. The bottled juice can be depended upon year 'round to enhance the natural flavor of many foods whether fresh from the garden or picked from the grocer's shelves.

GARDEN-VEGETABLE MARINADE

2-3rd cup reconstituted lemon juice
2-3rd cup salad oil
1/4 cup sugar
2 tbsps. salt
1 tsp. chili powder
1/2 tsp. oregano
Dash fresh pepper

In blender container with lid, blend all ingredients. Use to marinate tomatoes or chilled tender cooked garden vegetables. (Makes 1 1/2 cups)

Soybean Tips

To make your own "cocktail" soybeans, soak the dry beans overnight, then drain them and spread them on a cookie sheet; leave them at room temperature until their surface is dry. Fry, in small batches, in hot deep fat about 350 degrees in a frying thermometer for 8 to 10 minutes. Drain on brown paper and while the beans are still warm, sprinkle with seasoned salt.

EMPHASIS ON BASIC SKILLS

Shifting Educational Gear

Editor's Note: This is the first of two articles on current changes in American public schools. The following examines the trend toward more traditionalism in teaching techniques.

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer

After a decade of experiment and innovation, American schools are shifting gear. From first grade to senior high, there are signs of an increasing emphasis on basic skills and traditional ways of teaching them.

Open classrooms and the new math have lost some of their appeal. Federal grants have switched from arts programs to reading. In some communities, parents are demanding — and getting — alternative schools that stress educational basics: report cards and discipline.

RESULTS

"We took for granted that the results were going to be there if we changed," said Robert Wheeler, head of the Bureau of School Systems in the federal Office of Education. "It turns out that some of the innovations were not productive."

Some were productive. The one most frequently cited now by educators is the idea of providing a variety of educational alternatives for pupils and their parents.

Interviews with dozens of educators — teachers, administrators, association officers and state and federal officials — also indicated no widespread retreat from the goal of better meeting the individual learning needs of children. It was the aim of much of the recent innovation.

ADJUSTMENT

But the signs of adjustment are many:

— Partitions were put up last year in the Forest Edge Elementary School in Reston, Va., an "open space" school built in 1971. The same thing was done in New Ipswich, N.H., and team teaching was dropped as well.

Enthusiasm has waned for the open classroom and its accent on allowing children to follow their learning instincts with little interference from teachers and curriculum goals.

— There is a renewed stress on computational arithmetic — the old math — in elementary schools across the country. The new math and its emphasis on theory are being left to junior and senior high schools in many communities.

There is also an increasing emphasis on composition, grammar and spelling in many schools, a change that reflects, in part, the vocal complaints of college professors and admissions officers that many students cannot write English.

READING, WRITING

— Two fundamental schools were opened last fall in the suburbs west of Denver by the Jefferson County Public Schools system. They stress "mastery of basic skills": reading, arithmetic, English, grammar, literature, spelling and penmanship. There are regular tests in all subjects and report cards with letter grades.

Similar schools are open or planned in California, Maryland and North Carolina. If nothing else, said many educators, they indicate a renewed awareness of achievement as a measure of educational progress.

It was the launching of Sputnik that triggered a re-examination of American education in 1957. Widespread changes came in the next decade when the money of the Great Society started flowing. Federal expenditures for public schools increased from $500 million in 1956 to $2.1 billion in 1966 and an estimated $5.9 billion this year.

In 1965, President Johnson signed the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. Title III of the act established federal funding for innovative and exemplary projects. It was a springboard for change. About $1.4 billion has been spent under the Title III program.

FOR EXAMPLE

The projects funded under Title III have changed over the years, said Lee Wickline, director of Title III in the Office of Education.

"We have more programs now, for example, that are coming to grips with reading problems," he said. "In 1965, we had a lot that were dealing with the arts and things like that."

Title III money was used to fund experiments in computer-assisted instruction. There are few around now. "Basically, it costs too much," said Wickline. "The cost of education has just gone up so much that it is a major factor in causing school districts not to look toward introducing new programs and ideas."

On June 30, Title III will be consolidated out of existence. It has been combined with nutrition and drop out prevention programs in an extension of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act signed last year by President Ford. During months of congressional debate, attention had focused on provisions in the legislation dealing with school busing.

PHILOSOPHY

The shift away from the innovative philosophy of recent years reflects larger changes in society, many educators said.

There are some schools, of course, that do not have far to go in going back to basics.

School administrators from dozens of states have visited the John Marshall Fundamental School, a back-to-basics public school in Pasadena, Calif. However, officials there said there have been few visitors from the Plains States and they could remember no inquiries from Montana.

Some inner-city schools have been emphasizing basic educational skills for several years. Blacks and other minority parents traditionally have stressed their importance, researchers say. Beginning in the late 1960s, community control of schools led to intensive reading and arithmetic programs at some schools in New York, Philadelphia and other cities.

The renewed interest in traditional approaches shows up even in education's latest innovation. Sometimes called education by choice, it involves offering pupils and their parents a variety of options within a single school.

The education-by-choice schools invariably have at least one liberal, open classroom program. What is new is that some of them also offer an alternative program that is more structured and more disciplined than what most students were getting before.

NO BEST WAY

In Quincy, Ill., students can choose from several "schools" within a new high school complex. There are two very open schools where students call teachers by first names and work out their own study projects and schedules. There is also a traditional school where students sit in rows at lectures, follow a standard curriculum and call their teachers Mr. and Miss.

There are about 300 students in the traditional school, and about the same number in the larger of the open schools. There are 360 students in a flexible school, which combines the two approaches.

"Our philosophy is that there is no one best way for all people to learn or all people to teach," said Brandt G. Crocker, assistant district superintendent. "The system should have built into it a diversity that can appeal to many different kinds of people."

PLAY DEAD?

The back-to-basics movement is taking place against a background of declining school enrollments and, according to some educators, increasing parental involvement in school decisions. The estimated 45 million pupils now in public schools will shrink to about 40 million by 1982, federal officials said.

"The typical school is saying: 'We're the educators. We know best what should be done,'" said Crocker. "That isn't good enough. Schools should be reflective of what the clients want. That does not mean we roll over and play dead."

Next: A look at the new fundamental schools.

Smuggling Gold Coins Jails Suspects

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Nine persons in Laredo, Dallas and New York have been charged with smuggling Mexican gold coins into the United States. U.S. Atty. Joseph Garza said the arrests of five persons in Laredo and two each in New York and Dallas followed undercover work by the U.S. Customs office and Dallas police.

Garza said the men, including two Mexican nationals, were picked up after they delivered 1,000 smuggled 50-peso coins to an undercover agent. Those charged before U.S. Magistrate Tom Goodwin in Laredo with smuggling and conspiracy were Andres Garcia, 46, Vicente Castro, 38, and John Michael Pentecost, all of Laredo, and Paz Maldonado, 29, and Gilberto Zepeda, 26, of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico.

Bond was set at $20,000 and the two aliens were turned over to immigration authorities.

Two late model cars and a small private plane were seized.

Teachers Exam Entry Deadline In Two Weeks

Less than two weeks remain for prospective teachers planning to take the National Teacher Examinations, at Howard College April 5, to make application.

Dr. Wayne Bonner, director of guidance services at the college, said that forms may be obtained at Howard College in Big Spring or directly from National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Services, Box 911, Princeton, N.J. 08540. Registrations here must be forwarded so as to reach the Princeton office not later than March 13, said Dr. Bonner.

At the one-day test session a candidate may take the common examinations, which include tests in professional education and general education, and one of the 28 area examinations. These are designed to evaluate understanding of the subject matter and pedagogical methods applicable to the candidate's choice of a teaching area. After registering, each candidate will receive an admission ticket advising him of the exact location of the center to which he should report. Candidates for the common examinations will report at 8:30 a.m. on April 5, and should finish at approximately 12:30 p.m. Dr. Bonner said. Candidates for the area examinations will report at 1:30 p.m. and should finish at approximately 4:15 p.m.

CRMWD Panel In Austin

The officials from the Colorado River Municipal Water District left this morning for Austin to attend the annual meeting of the Texas Water Conservation Association.

They are O. H. Ivie, general manager; Pascal Odom, assistant general manager; and R. A. Schooling, administrative assistant. Each is active in the various special panels of TWCA. The meeting concludes Friday.

Briscoe Submits Public School Financing Plan

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe issued his school finance reform bill Wednesday, saying it would increase state aid to districts having 86 per cent of the state's pupils.

It would add $589.9 million over the next two years to state spending for public schools, with no new or increased taxes, he said. Briscoe said his bill would increase state aid to 536 of the state's 1,103 districts, leaving the others at present level.

The average state share of foundation school program costs would rise from 52 per cent to 65 per cent next academic year and about 67 per cent in 1976-77.

Legislative sponsors of his bill are Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, and Reps. Tom Massey, D-San Angelo, chairman of the House Public Education Committee; Joe Pentony, D-Houston; and Pike Powers, D-Baumont.

"It is a proposal to raise the floor of educational excellence in this state. It is a proposal to guarantee quality education to every child in Texas, regardless of the income of his parents or the wealth of his community," Briscoe said.

He called education his "first priority" and said he would work hard at persuading legislators to pass his bill. Briscoe said the measure "addresses itself specifically to the urgent problems of quality education in the poorer school districts."

raised by the "Rodriguez" decision handed down in December 1971 by a three-judge federal court.

WEIGHED PUPIL

That court said that Texas' public school finance system, based on local property taxes and a widely criticized economic index for allocating state aid, was unconstitutional because a child whose fate dropped in a poor district had a poorer opportunity for a good education than one in a rich district.

Briscoe's bill would determine how much should be spent on each district's "foundation program" by means of a "weighted pupil" approach, based on expenditures for various programs by 42 school districts judged to be Texas' best. The base amount, computed on costs for grades 1-6, would be $635 per full-time student equivalent in 1975-76 and $670 in 1976-77. Those amounts would be multiplied by "weights" for youngsters in more expensive vocational and special education classes.

A local district's share of the foundation program cost would be obtained by multiplying the market value of taxable property times the statewide average tax rate of 60 cents per $100 valuation.

Stanton To Honor Short

STANTON — An E. L. Short Appreciation Day scheduled here March 14 will honor the state representative.

Accompanying Short and his wife to Stanton for the banquet highlighting the day will be Bill Clayton, speaker of the Texas House.

Other state political notables have been invited to be on hand to honor the veteran Tahoka representative.

Tickets for the banquet, set to begin at 7 p.m., in the Cap-Rock Electric Co-Op auditorium, will be sold in advance and will be available at the door at a cost of $3 each.

Mrs. C. L. Rogers, Stanton, will cater the meal.

Bandaid Remedies May Not Work On Economy

By OMAR BURLESON, M.C. 17th District, Texas
WASHINGTON, D.C. — A Roman calendar maker, impatient with February's unpredictable conduct, inroduced a month with 29 days. Augustus Caesar decided to drop a day from the already short month and decreed that it be 28 days, except for leap year. From those who know (and this is not all represented to be original) February comes from the word "Februaire" and it means to purify and to cleanse.

A watercourse in the North which has frozen out most forms of life, cleans itself getting ready for another season. As if secretly, nature seems to use February to clean out what is weak and useless, including life to be replaced by new life.

Our economic and political life at the present time is something like February, which will end Friday, and much more controversial. It would be good if we could say that present conditions will change for the better before Saturday but it is wishful thinking. Our present economic situation didn't get this way overnight, nor will any remedy come about so soon. The economic situation which we are now experiencing has been building up for years and impending warnings were either not needed at all or else we indulged in the hope that they would not occur.

Now there is danger we may be overly reacting to trying to use band-aids and scotch tape to bind things up for some immediate relief. The trouble is that, when and if some temporary prop-up is accomplished, it will not stay glued. Remedies for problems following may be more difficult to meet than to face up squarely to them now for longer range solutions.

Attempts to bolster the economy to recent heights for the short haul, fuels inflation which will take away more of the dollar's purchasing power. Legislation now in the works tends to give with one hand and take away with the other. The giving side is visible and attractive. The taking away is more subtle and deceiving.

Oil Drilling Increases

With the promise of spring, oil well drilling is stepped up. According to the Feb. 24 report of Hughs Tool to the International Association of Drilling Contractors, there were 1,633 rigs turning in the United States. This is 275, or 20.25 per cent more than a year ago. The gain was 18 rigs for the week. Texas had 630 rigs going, up 183 or 40.94 per cent a year ago. It increased 24 for the week.

Play Tryouts Continue

Community tryouts for parts in "The Fantasticks" will continue today at 7:30 p.m. at Howard College. John Gordon, head of the drama department, reminded. Performers from the community are sought as well as those from the college. Prospective players should be able to sing one song and read lines for the director. Accompaniment will be furnished. Information may be had from Gordon at the college.

MR. AND MRS. G. T. BAUM

Couple Marks Anniversary

An open house will be held in Stanton Sunday to celebrate the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Baum.

Friends and relatives are invited to the affair, which is to be from 2 until 5 p.m. at the Baum home, 602 W. Santa Anna.

Hosts will be the couple's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Baum, Pampa; their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Free, Lomax; and a niece, Mrs. Jimmy Conner, and Mr. Conner of Plains, and their families.

The couple was married March 25, 1925, by the Rev. W. A. Watson, a Baptist minister. Baum had just purchased a new Model-T Ford so the couple sat in the car while the preacher performed the ceremony in front of his house.

Mrs. Baum is the former Ora Lee Crass who came from Cross Plains with her parents, the J. D. Crasses, to settle in Ackerly in 1923, the same year the M. A. Baum family came from the Dressy community to settle in Soash. Miss Crass taught school in Ackerly and her future husband farmed. They met at the Soash School which served as a community center. Not too long afterward, they were married.

They farmed on the Alic Payne place south of Ackerly and, soon, she retired from teaching. He stopped farming for a while and operated the Ackerly Service Station until 1945 when he went back to farming.

In 1963, Baum took a job in Stanton with Blocker Oil Co. from which he retired in 1973. Mrs. Baum had substituted in the teaching field until 1954 when she retired permanently.

The couple had lived in Cross Plains for a while in 1932 where he worked in the oilfield.

Mrs. Baum is a charter member of the Ackerly Methodist Church.

For the reception Sunday, the table will be covered with a gold cloth and gold candelabra will flank a bowl of gold and white daisies. Coffee will be served from a gold service, and a crystal punch bowl will be used.

The Baums have seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. All plan to attend the affair except one grandson who lives in Germany.

Dear Abby

Understanding Wife Is Melvin's Greatest Need

DEAR ABBY: My husband was just 50. All of a sudden, Melvin started changing his shirt three times before going to work. He was working overtime, putting extra miles on his car, but was always short of money, so I figured something was up.

I asked a few questions, put two and two together, and found out the reason. She is a 24-year-old girl who works where Melvin works. She worked all summer in hot pants, and the place was air-conditioned. I understand that "Hot Pants" has been having lunch and coffee breaks with my Melvin, and they use the company parking lot for a "lover's lane."

When I asked Melvin about "Hot Pants" he said the poor kid had a lot of problems, and he's been helping her get her life straightened out. Abby, that "poor kid" is divorced; has two kids, and makes $5.50 an hour. People who have seen her say she could win a Miss America contest if she put a sack over her head.

How do I keep Melvin from making a fool of himself over her?

MELVIN'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: It may be too late. But if he's acting as a counselor for her, he may need a counselor himself. Don't nag or humiliate him. A man in the foolish 50s needs an understanding wife.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to something you recently had in your column. I quote.

"What's the difference between a lady and a diplomat?"
When a diplomat says 'yes,' he means maybe.
When a diplomat says 'maybe,' he means no.
When a diplomat says 'no,' he's no diplomat.

When a lady says 'no,' she means maybe.
When a lady says 'maybe,' she means yes.
When a lady says 'yes,' she's no lady."

Your comment: "Thanks for a dandy day brighter." Abby, that joke is indeed old, and should be dead. It's a degrading sexist gambit that makes invalid assumptions about women, and furthermore renders them powerless. I wish to amend that old story to read as follows:

I care not about diplomats, but,
When a woman says "yes," she means yes.
When a woman says "maybe," she means maybe.
And when a woman says "no," she means no.
And if a man persists, or uses force... he's a rapist!

CAROL IN HILO
DEAR CAROL: Thanks for setting me straight. I deserved it.
DEAR ABBY: Is there a rule anywhere that says a wedding cake HAS to be white?

I understand that the outside of the cake should be white, but what if the bride and groom both like chocolate cake and decide on having a chocolate wedding cake with white frosting?

My son was recently married, and he and his bride had a chocolate wedding cake with white icing. It was beautiful and delicious, but a friend of mine remarked that the cake should have been WHITE—inside and out.

Frankly, I really don't care, but I just want to know if this was improper.
GROOM'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: The cake was all right. The criticism was improper!

Hybridizing Detailed For Gardeners

James Owens, a biology instructor at Howard College, discussed "Controlled Hybridizing" when he presented a program Tuesday morning at the YMCA for Rosebud Garden Club members and guests.

Describing the relatively new science, he explained how to acquire improved cultivars or named hybrids through controlled hybridizing. Also, he presented a film on the subject; the narrative of which included a quotation from Elbert Hubbard, who said if he had only two coins, he would buy bread with one and use the other to buy white hyacinths for his soul.

Mrs. Neil Spencer presided, and a discussion was held concerning five trees which the club has purchased for planting in the old Cottonwood Park.

The hostesses, Mrs. Tommy Hart and Mrs. Odell Womack, served refreshments from a table centered with a yellow floral arrangement. Johnny Johansen, superintendent of parks for the city, was a guest.

Mrs. Clyde Thomas and Mrs. J. W. Kuykendall will be hostesses for the March 25 meeting; the place to be announced.

BSP Rush Activities

Rush activities were planned by Alpha Kappa Omicron, Beta Sigma Phi, at a Tuesday meeting in the home of Mrs. Charla Huckabee.

An ice cream party is slated from 1:30 until 3 p.m., March 9 at First Federal Community Room, and a Las Vegas party for couples will be at 7:30 p.m., March 22 at the Webb AFB pavilion.

The chapter is sponsoring a child picture contest as a fund-raiser with the judging set for March 28.

Mrs. Lou LaRochelle presented a program on drama, and members discussed comedy and tragedy, relating the types to the Hallmark drama series shown on television.

Score High In Duplicate Play

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Corson placed first in the Couples' Duplicate Bridge Game held Tuesday evening at Big Spring Country Club. Second place went to Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Fish, and Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Gray were third. The game is held each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., with Dr. and Mrs. Fish serving as directors.

Cutting Trays

Double-duty cutting board-serving trays are also reversible for maximum versatility. One side is recessed and the other raised. There are three designs available in wood tone or white, and all are easy to clean in hot suds. The paddle shape has a handle and one side slants toward a juice well. Featuring a spout for pouring off liquid, the round board is available in different sizes, the largest being 19"x12".

Nabor Martinez Tells Goals Of Human Resource Center

Nabor Martinez, director of the Human Resource Center, which is federally funded, was guest speaker for Spring City Chapter, American Business Women's Association, Tuesday at Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Martinez, a naturalized citizen, entitled his talk, "Citizenship to Comprehensive Employment Training Act." He said this particular manpower program, of which he is director, was established to train unskilled, disadvantaged people; those whom are hard to employ. These people feel alienated and apart from the community but, once trained become involved. The speaker stressed that the training program endeavors to provide skills.

Types of skills most needed are determined by a study of the job market and what specific communities require. The people are then trained to fill these needs. This program is in operation in Glasscock, Upton and Howard Counties, with the base of operations in City Hall, Big Spring. It now has 95 clients.

Martinez said the program not only functions through Howard College, it also provides training at work sites of various government agencies. Although the program cannot be done overnight, and there have been some failures, the director said he could not "praise the program too highly." He said local support has been "superb."

Since August, the program has placed 26 people in

HD Club Sees Garden Slides

A slide program on preparing compost heaps was given for the Lees-Drumright Home Demonstration Club Tuesday by Miss Katherine Luckenbach.

The extension agent showed various steps to be taken in preparing the compost.

Mrs. David Marz of Sanderson was a guest.

Announcement was made of the Texas Home Demonstration Association meeting Sept. 16-18 in Abilene.

The March 11 meeting will be at the community center with Mrs. V. E. Phillips as hostess.

Nuptial Date

Mr. and Mrs. Essig Arnold, Sand Springs, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Lori Ann, to Robert Lee Haddox, son of Mrs. Irma Deen Haddox of Ira. The couple plans to be married March 15.

Judge Holds Divorce In A Kitchen

STANTON — District Judge Ralph W. Caton, Big Spring, held one divorce trial in the kitchen, one in the Martin County Commissioners Courtroom and one in an office Wednesday.

Why the kitchen? It's the only private place in the partitioned agricultural building being used as temporary courthouse, Caton said.

Caton said he moved his trial site around the temporary courthouse because of crowded conditions.

Martin County officials are working out of the agricultural building while a new courthouse is being constructed to replace one that was razed.

Ex-Big Springer Named To Engineering Honor

A Lubbock engineer who went from part-time draftsman to president of a corporation in a meritorious professional climb was named Engineer of the Year at the annual Engineers Week banquet of the South Plains chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers Tuesday night in the University Center at Texas Tech.

He is H. Bennett Reeves, a registered professional engineer and president of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, Inc., of Lubbock and El Paso.

Dr. Ernst W. Keisling, chairman of the selection committee for the Engineer of the Year award, cited Reeves for significant contributions to professional affairs and organizations in the community along with significant engineering achievements.

Reeves, a native of Big Spring, graduated from high school here in 1941. After attending Texas Tech two years, he entered military service in 1943 and served with the U.S. Army in the European Theater. In 1946, he returned to Texas Tech as a student in civil engineering and also began work as a part-time draftsman for the consulting engineers firm he now heads. He received a bachelor of science degree in engineering in 1948 and started working full time for the firm.

He is a past president of the local chapters of both the Texas Society of Professional Engineers and the American Society of Civil Engineers. He is married and the couple has four daughters.

Reeves is the son of Mrs. Vera Reeves and the brother of Mrs. Loy Anderson, both of Big Spring.

Midland Play Nearing End

Final performances of "Anything Goes" are scheduled today, Friday, and Saturday night at Midland Community Theatre. The popular Cole Porter musical will have had 20 performances when it closes Saturday night.

The songs include "Blow, Gabriel, Blow," "You're The Top," "I Get A Kick Out Of You," and "Friendship." Major dance numbers in the show are "Heaven Hop," "Let's Step Out," and "Anything Goes."

Reservations for the three final performances should be made by calling the MCT box office (682-2544). Curtain time tonight is 8:00, with an 8:30 curtain on Friday and Saturday.

Beer Ban Big Mistake, Newcomer Discovers

CHARCO, Tex. (AP) — For three generations, a hard day's work in this "dry" town has been capped off with buttermilk or ice tea, not a cold beer. But it's all been a big mistake.

Charco, population 120, is a dry island in a "wet" South Texas county. It took a beer-drinking newcomer to end prohibition.

Seventy-three years ago citizens voted 76-30 to ban sale of beer and whiskey in Charco. For all those years imbibers have had to drive to neighboring areas for a beer or a shot of rye.

As it turns out, all those trips with parched throats were needless because the election was illegal. The election was called in the name of a school district instead of a peace justice precinct.

Newcomer Paul San Miguel stumbled into the mixup 18 months ago when he was turned down for a beer retailer's license.

"I wasn't satisfied with their reasons so I started checking into it," he said. He spent months poring through dusty courthouse records for satisfaction.

"The law says you can't use school districts for local option (liquor) elections," he said.

County clerk Lee Schulze still refused to issue a liquor license so San Miguel filed suit.

Goliad County Judge Linto Berge approved the application Monday, paving the way for Charco's first legal alcohol sales in 73 years.

Thay Lewis Is In Third Spot

Jimmie Gibbs, Valley Mills, is enjoying a big lead in the Southern Region barrel racing standings of the Girls Rodeo Association. She has won $2,569.

Four Texas women are in the top five in the Southern Region.

They are: Thay Lewis, Big Spring, third, $1,025; Shanna Bush, Mason, fourth, $872; and Gayle Ann Brannon, Brenham, fifth, $827.

Local Singers On TV Show

Two local singing groups from Crestview Baptist Church will appear in the High Noon Show on Channel 7 Friday.

They are the Complete Seven and the Relative Four, who also will be singing next week at their church at special revival services. These are set at 7:30 p.m. nightly.

Open House Is Slated March 6

COAHOMA — Coahoma schools will observe Texas Public School Week March 3-7, highlighting it with an open house from 7 p.m.-9 p.m. Thursday, March 6.

All the home rooms in the three buildings will have displays of the pupils' work and projects; and junior high physical education students will stage a program in the junior high gymnasium.

Teachers will be on hand to visit with parents. Parents are invited to visit any time during the week, and if they like, to be on hand for lunch at the cafeteria.

Mitchell Wreck Injures One

COLORADO CITY — Ken Wallender, 21, Wichita Falls, was hospitalized here Wednesday after suffering injuries in a car-truck accident at 8:45 a.m., 16 miles south of Colorado City on Highway 200.

He received a fractured pelvis, lacerations and abrasions in the crash. His late-model car was in collision with a northbound oil transport truck.

Roy Belew, 46, of Colorado City, driver of the truck, escaped injury.

Organist Lectures

LUBBOCK — Peter Planavsky, organist at St. Stephan's Cathedral, Vienna, Austria, will present a lecture-demonstration on improvisation at 3 p.m. Saturday at First United Methodist Church.

His appearance here is sponsored by the Lubbock Chapter of the American Guild of Organists and the Texas Tech University Department of Music. Tickets are $5 for adults and $2.50 for students. Reservations may be made by calling the Music Department office, 742-1121, or Jerry Brainard, 747-6463.
