Lady falls out of car

Variety of accidents occur here this week

A local lady fell out of her car, and there was a school bus, motorcycle, 18 wheeler and a hit and run incident involved in traffic accidents here the past week.

Last Thursday, May 26, a 1980 Plymouth driven by Karen Moore Rose of Colorado City had stopped at a stop sign at 14th and Hickory. A school bus, driven by Bryon L. Swank of Colorado City, was stopped behind the Rose vehicle. Rose started to forward but stopped as another vehicle approached. The bus started forward and hit the rear of the car. Nine students in the bus were uninjured. A passenger in the car, Tiffany Rose, 15, had possible light injury.

Three accidents Tuesday, May 31, resulted in some injuries and heavy damages.

Committee to study minority complaints

Investigation requested in shooting death

Oscar Ortiz, president of the Colorado City League of United Latin American Citizens and Mayor Jim Baum have agreed to jointly ask for a Justice Department investigation into the shooting death of Sammy Gomez and to form a committee to study ways to improve the relations between minorities and law enforcement agencies.

At a meeting of local concerned citizens Wednesday night, Mayor Baum read the joint announcement:

"We feel an opportunity exists for Anglos and minorities in Colorado City to set a standard for excellence in racial co-operation. It is our firm conviction that we are seeking the same goals, that is, fair law enforcement, respect for all citizens, and respect for law enforcement officers. We are ready to work jointly in requesting a Justice Department investigation into the shooting death of Sammy Gomez. We feel working together we can tremendously reduce the possibility of violence involving our citizens and police department.

"Accordingly, we are recommending that a committee be formed, made up of the Mayor and the President of LULAC and eight other persons to meet in the near future to explore ways we can attain our common goals."

Mayor Baum then told the group of about 50 people that "The City is sensitive to the situation and we want to do every thing we can to help resolve the situation.

"The differences we have can be worked out fairly and responsibly."

The Mayor added, "I have agreed to a further Justice Department investigation, not because I am dissatisfied with our police department investigation, or the grand jury or Texas Ranger investigation, but because there are some who want ever possible assurance that right was done, and we want no stone left unturned."

"I don't feel like we are two groups of people standing on opposite sides of the street, hollering at each other," he said. "I think we are all citizens of Colorado City and we all want the same thing—fair and equal treatment of all citizens. This committee can work toward that goal," he said.

"Nothing can be done about the past, but we can start working together tonight to make every effort to prevent any injustices. The City Council will not tolerate the abuse of any of our citizens," he concluded.

However, during the discussion, there was expressed doubt that the Mayor could or would do anything about it, pointing out that he had already made the statement "that the officer was justified and gave his support to the police department."

Others claimed that Hispanics have continually been harassed by the police and sheriff's departments and strongly believed that Hispanics are not treated fairly and equally.

Most agreed that tensions might be relaxed some if Billy Ray Williamson, the officer who shot Gomez while trying to arrest him, was suspended from the Police Department...at least until there is further investigation.

Some even doubted "the fairness of the grand jury selection and investigation into the matter, after only one week of investigations." Williamson was "no billed" or not indicted as result of the shooting.

Others believed their side of the story was not being told by the local media, only by outside media.

The group did not vote on the committee proposal, but on recommendation of President Ortiz, agreed on the formation of the committee.

The members of the committee released Friday include Ortiz and his appointments of Emma Godina, David Godina, Frank Biggers and Juan Espinoza; and Mayor Baum and his appointments of the Rev. Julius Early, City Manager Brenda Hammond, Councilman Rex Thackerson, and Les Wilkerson, a police training officer with the West Central Texas Council of Governments, Abilene.

Since there was consistent demand for an "outside investigation", Ortiz said the only way we are going to get the Justice Department's attention is by a joint effort by the Hispanics to sign a petition and write many letters to the Department as well as the State and US Attorney offices.

Friday, Mayor Baum sent a letter to the Department of Justice stating: "We, the City Council of Colorado City, Texas, welcome an investigation into the attempted arrest and the subsequent shooting death, May 13, 1988, in this city, of Sammy Gomez."

"Please be assured of complete cooperation from the City Council, Police Department and the citizens of Colorado City."

"A copy of this correspondence, we're advising the local LULAC committee of this request."

Ortiz said "we can ask for the investigation and we can sit down and work with the City through the committee and hopefully the problems can be resolved."

The group also considered staging a protest demonstration. But Ortiz said that "a demonstration would only be used as a last resort."

Gomez was shot three times and killed by the local part-time officer on May 13 when officers were attempting to arrest him as a suspect of the alleged brutal rape of a local 19-year-old woman. Gomez was said to have attacked the arresting officers with a knife.

For fire departments

County buys new radio system

Mitchell County Commissioners Court accepted a bid of $14,838 for radio communications equipment for fire departments at a special meeting Wednesday morning.

Motorola Co. submitted the only bid. The equipment included a MRS 10000 repeater, duplexer, antenna and cable installed. And 12 Max-Track 300 16-channel mobile radios. Bid was $15,713 less $875 trade-in of old radios. A representative present for the meeting, stated that the company would donate the old radios back to the County to dispose of however it chooses. County was given 180 days to purchase any additional radio units at $536 each. The new radio system is for use by the Colorado City, Loraine and Westbrook Fire Departments. Transmission frequencies will be applied for then delivery will be within six weeks. The system should be in operation in about three months.

Commissioner Paul Hunter was authorized to proceed with the project to add three or four new telephone lines by the June 27

Sixteen fire alarms in May; rains help

Recent rains have had a significant effect on the number of calls for the Colorado City Fire Department during May. Fire Marshall Billy Ray Williamson reported.

Total fire calls during the month was 16, about half the number that has been experienced in the previous months.

Nine of the fires were inside the city limits and seven were in the county. There was one minor structure fire, seven grass fires, eight miscellaneous calls and no false alarms during May.

Commodity distribution discontinued

The local commodity distribution of surplus foods has been discontinued in Mitchell County.

Bertie Kidd, who has coordinated the program here since 1982, said that available items had been reduced to only butter. The program ended as of May 31, and Mrs. Kidd has submitted her resignation from the program effective June 15.

For The Record...

by M. Gene Dow, GM

FROM THE SCRIPTURES— "And these were his gifts: some to be apostles, some prophets, some evangelists, some pastors and teachers, to equip God's people for work in his service..." Ephesians 4:11

Being a Methodist, I always look forward to this time of the year. Next week is the Northwest Texas Annual Conference of the church, when the pastors of churches throughout West Texas are assigned or reassigned to their respective pulpits. We seldom get or have to keep a pastor for more than four or five years. So with the coming of the Annual Conference, there's always a bit of anxiety. If the current pastor is a good one, we always wonder if we'll get to keep him for another year. If he's not so good, we wonder if we'll be getting rid of him. That's the way we Methodists do it, folks.

Preachers are often put in the same category as community newspapermen—believed to work only on Sunday and Wednesday. But so much more is expected of the pastors. People want the perfect pastor (they know there is no such thing as a perfect newspaperman).

I saw an article the other day, contributed to Dear

Abby, on "The Perfect Pastor". He preaches exactly 10 minutes, condemning sin, but never hurts anyone's feelings. He is expected to work from 8 a.m. until midnight, and also do the church janitoring.

The perfect pastor makes $40 a week, wears good clothes, drives a good car, and donates $30 a week to his church. He is 29 years old and has 40 years experience.

If your pastor does not measure up, send a letter to six other churches that are also dissatisfied with their pastor. Then bundle up your pastor and send him to the church at the top of the list. In one week you will receive 1,643 pastors—and one of them should be perfect.

Have faith in this letter. One church broke the chain and got its old pastor back in three months.

THE LONE WOLF SAYS, "There are speakers so windy, they should be called gusts of honor."

DID YOU KNOW? Thanks to the Rotarians a lot more flags were flown here Memorial Day. The flag is said to have been named Old Glory by William Driver, a sea captain of Salem, Mass. One legend has it that when he raised the flag on his brig, the Charles Dogett, in 1824, he said: "I name thee Old Glory."

'Dropping In' project at Wallace Center

"Dropping In," a special project of the Wallace Community Education Center, is set to begin Wednesday, June 8. The program is for persons 17 and over who are interested in basic education, English as a Second Language, or GED studies.

Many persons in Mitchell County dropped out of school and later discovered they are shut out of better jobs and make less money than high school graduates. Some have later discovered that they are interested in attending college but cannot enroll without a high school diploma. The GED can be the stepping stone to a better job, a better education, and the feeling of accomplishment that comes with a diploma.

The most recent census in Mitchell County revealed 1600 people over 25 who had completed only one through eight years of school, and only 1500 who had completed four years of high school.

High school graduates make 30 percent more salary during peak earning years. The less schooling a person has, the more likely it is that person will be unemployed. In competition for jobs, better educated persons are hired first. It makes sense to "Drop Back In school."

Employers are urged to sponsor their employees to sign up for the GED and other education.

Official sign-up day will be Wednesday, June 8 at the Wallace Center.

Classes are held during the day-time on Wednesday and Thursdays from 1-4 p.m., with Susan Farrar as instructor. Evening classes meet on Thursdays, from 6-10 p.m., with Orphie Conner and Bob Reily as instructors. Special math instruction is given on Wednesday and Thursday mornings from 9-noon, with Christy Dockrey, instructor. All classes are free to anyone 17 years and over.

Alzheimer's Disease

Is there a treatment or cure for the disease?

Unfortunately, there is no cure for the disease, or no treatment which can change the downhill course of the disease. Some symptoms can be helped with the careful use of medications. The best treatment is an informed and caring family.

The local Alzheimer's Support Group meets the last Tuesday of each month at 1:30 p.m. at Wallace Center. Any person having a member off the family suffering from the disease is encouraged to attend. Contact Marj. Koleman, 728-8403.

I used to think my thumb was tinged slightly green because of moderate success in growing things in the garden.

I look forward to each spring so I can visit the local nursery and buy, buy, buy. I buy geraniums and marigolds with the same excitement that my school teacher wife buys school supplies.

I probably get the same glazed look in my eyes when I see a long table of blooming flowers at the nursery that my wife gets when she sees a display of a new type crayolas at the dime store.

My wife and I have a sort of silent pact. I don't try to help her buy school supplies and she leaves the gardening to me.

I know that I shouldn't keep going back to the nursery, because every time I do, I find something else to purchase, whether I need it or not. My wife does the same thing with school supplies.

Most of the time, the plants I buy do live. However, I must admit that it's pure luck when any of them don't curl up and die. After all, I did have a sage brush to die. Sage is a native plant and should live anywhere - anywhere but my backyard, that is. My monkey grass is thriving, however.

Still, I enjoy putting around in the garden.

But, my thumb pales in comparison to that of a couple of real "green-thumb" gardeners - Ather Ellis and Frank Brownfield.

Ellis and Brownfield have been named "patrons" by the local garden club to help oversee planting beside highways by the Highway Department.

Their yards are what I would like my yard to look like. Thick, green grass and lots of blooming flowers.

The Ellis backyard looks like a full-color ad from a gardening magazine. There are flowers of all kinds - healthy plants with huge, colorful blooms. The yard is bordered with the plants with an expanse of thick, green grass in the center.

I found out we buy our plants from the same place. But, why are his two or three times bigger than my mine and twice as pretty? Why are his marigolds five inches across and mine about the size of a quarter? Why do his tomato plants already have tomatoes on them and my plants are now just getting big enough to have a few blooms?

Even the wildflowers growing in the Ellis backyard look like hybrid flowers.

Maybe, I should just stick to growing monkey grass.

For years I'd been wondering about Pete. Then his cousin, Bud, stopped by recently and helped me get to know him better.

To begin with, Bud said Pete liked to have a good time, that he assured everybody around him of having a good time, too.

The pictures in the family's album show a tall, dark and handsome man in the backyard with his dog. Another shows him in a friend's pool with one of his daughters.

He did have that one early health problem - ulcers - which kept him out of the service, but otherwise he appeared as healthy as John Wayne in his prime.

Pete provided his family with a modern stucco home in California after graduating from tiny Old Glory High School in Texas, and though he hadn't moved up to a backyard pool of his own yet, it seemed only a matter of time.

He had this trick knee. When he and his wife Bobbie and their friends went to the country club, he was the center of attention because he could do the twist on the dance floor in a way nobody else could. That is, when he twisted to one side, the knee would buckle to one side and he could make it do things no other knee could do.

He sold Fords for a living, and every once in a while he'd load up his family on one and head across the Mohave Desert, from Lancaster, California to Cisco, Texas.

He was trying to get away from the fast-paced living of southern California, he'd tell friends. He wanted to get back to Texas to help his aging father mend fences and take care of his cattle.

Truth was, Pete hated ranch life. It was his dad's world, not his.

Pete was a natural salesman, the kind of man who liked being around people, selling them cars, then grabbing his wife and kids and going out at night - frequently to Los Angeles, which was less than an hour away. He had two small children who thought Disneyland was created for their benefit.

Bud remembered the time he walked into the showroom of the Ford dealership in Lancaster and told Pete if he'd take a certain dollar amount for the car, he could "roll that Ford off the showroom floor right then and there."

Pete ordered the huge door opened without hesitation. "I was just popping off," said Bud. "Next thing I knew, I'd bought myself a new car."

That seemed to be the Pete Agnew style. Life is short, so put some intensity into it, make friends, take care of them, have a good time.

Unfortunately, Pete's body was never as healthy as his appetite for living. He smoked too much. He ate the d foods. He worked too hard and he played too hard.

His body began to rebel.

There were the bleeding ulcers that prompted doctors to put him on a bland diet. His wife Bobbie learned to keep the kids quiet so he could rest when he was home. Life was beginning to slow down for Pete and his young family.

Then came the day when his doctor had to tell him about the heart condition. They gave him some nitroglycerine pills and once again reminded him to alter his lifestyle.

Pete tried, they said, but the damage had been done.

The morning he left for work and didn't come home, his family's life changed forever. Friends came to get the girls out of school. One was 12, the other 8.

Forty two years into life, Pete was dead.

Had he been a little younger, maybe he could have lived a normal life, what with today's medical and scientific breakthroughs. Maybe he could have taken advantage of the latest dietary information and at least compromised with his body.

Compromise, of course, would have been difficult. Pete was a man of action. If it meant pulling up stakes and moving to California to find happiness, it didn't take Pete long to pack.

That, more than anything else, seems to be the legacy he left for his family and friends. Find a way to be happy, then do it.

I didn't have the chance to know him personally, and I consider that my loss, but I did get to know the attractive widow and the two daughters he left behind.

You could even say my own happiness was guaranteed by Pete when his youngest daughter became my wife nearly eight years ago.

It would have been something if he could've been there with his own wife, his own mom, his own two daughters and his two new grandchildren.

He'd have been quite impressed by what each had become. I think he might even have done the twist.

Mitchell County Extension Agent

This week Bonnie Herrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Herrington of Loraine, will be one of seven 4-H'ers representing Mitchell County at State 4-H Roundup contests in College Station. Her presentation is on beef which reminds me of a recent change in beef cuts that you may be noticing in the near future.

Check for 'Select' Beef

A new name for a grade of beef has just gone into effect this past November. The new grade name, "USDA Select", replaces "USDA Good". It will be the same cut of beef, only the grade name is changed.

The name change, which was endorsed by national health organizations and the beef industry, is designed to promote this lower fat, less expensive grade of beef to consumers. The "Good" name suggested less desirable cuts, even though this grade generally has less fat than "Prime" or "Choice" - and that's a plus for anyone on a diet.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture grades beef according to its color, texture and the amount of fat in a cut of meat. Most stores trim external fat to 1/4-inch or less. But it's the marbling, or the internal flecks of fat within, that enhances juiciness. Consumers now have three choices of grade:

- "Prime" has abundant marbling and the highest degree of fat. This grade is frequently served in restaurants.

- "Choice" has slightly less marbling, but is still quite juicy. It's the grade found most commonly in the grocery store meat case.

- "Select" is relatively tender, but because it has less marbling, it lacks some juiciness. It's best suited for moist cooking methods, marinating or tenderizing or stir-fry.

Italian

The Rotary Club recently invited me to share my slide presentation of my international 4-H Youth Exchange experience to Italy. Here's a little information not included in the slide presentation but, which may be of interest to you.

Italians immigrated to Texas in small numbers. By the 1880s, larger numbers came to Galveston, Houston, San Antonio and the Brazos and the Red River areas. Italian cooks use spices generously - tangy tomato sauce, parmesan cheese and mushrooms are part of many Italian dishes and serve to stretch meats in main dishes.

Beef Strips Italiano

2 pounds lean beef, cut into 1 1/2-inch strips

2 garlic cloves, minced

1/2 cup wine vinegar

1 teaspoon oregano

2 large onions, quartered

1 cup tomato juice

1 teaspoon basil

1 teaspoon salt

Marinate overnight in above mixture or substitute one bottle of commercial Italian salad dressing (lite, optional) as marinade. Cook meat and then add:

1 pound fresh mushroom caps

2 green peppers, cut into 1-inch squares

1 pound yellow squash, cut into 2-inch slices

Cook 10-15 minutes. Serve over pastas such as spaghetti, macaroni or spinach noodles.

Yields 6 servings

FmHA issues proposed new lending rules

TEMPLE - Proposed rules, which could assist hundreds of farmers who are behind on their Farmers Home Administration loans, have been issued, according to FmHA Texas State Director J. Lynn Futch.

The new regulations will carry out portions of the Agricultural Credit Act passed by Congress last December.

"There will be a 30-day comment period and additional time for any appropriate changes before the regulations become effective," Futch said.

One of the changes would allow FmHA to reduce the delinquent debt of certain borrowers to help them stay in business. There are approximately 5,000 delinquent borrowers in Texas, many of whom should be assisted with this program once implemented.

In related actions, the agency also issued proposed regulations to:

- make it easier for farmers or their families to lease or buy back homesteads that have been lost through foreclosure or conveyance;

- set up a program to help members of minority and socially disadvantaged groups to purchase farmland and develop an outreach program to carry it out;
- establish a new administrative appeals unit distinct from the rest of the agency to handle borrower grievances, and;
- certify and participate in state mediation programs.

THE UMPIRE OF YOUR HEART
As summertime has now arrived, many families are enjoying the outdoor activities that accompany this festive season of the year. That means the sounds of baseball are in the air. Children of all ages are involved in fun and activities of America's pastime.
Like any game, baseball has certain rules that must be followed for the game to be orderly and enjoyable. The one who enforces the rules of the game is the umpire. We understand that the umpire is the one who makes all the calls. He determines if the pitch is a strike or ball. He decides if the base runner is safe or out. He makes all the calls. In Paul's letter to the Colossians he wrote, "And let the peace of God rule in your hearts" (Colossians 3:15). The word "rule" found in that verse actually has in it the idea of "umpire." Paul then seems to be saying let the peace of God umpire, that is, make all the calls, in your life. When you make decisions or must rule on matters pertaining to your life they should be made out of the context of the peace of God that dwells within.
This verse leads us to contemplate what serves as umpire in our own hearts. For some the umpire in their heart is fear. Fear makes all the calls in their life. Every decision is made on the basis of fear; fear of failure, fear of death, fear of inadequacy. For others, hatred may be the umpire in their heart. They have allowed the circumstances of life to turn them bitter and hostile toward life, others, and even themselves. Hatred rules in their heart and makes all the calls. Every decision is based on and underlying hatred. Still others have self-centered pride as the umpire within their heart. Every ruling in their life is made out of narrow concern for self. No one else matters, nothing else is important, they simply want to press their own agenda of self-interest.
What serves as umpire in your heart? Again the admonition of Paul is to let the peace of God be umpire within you. Let the calm assurance and confident knowledge that flows from God be the ruling factor which makes all the calls in your life. This peace is found as we turn to God by faith, placing our trust in His Son, Jesus Christ, to secure our salvation.

Braves beat Colts 11-7

A six run fourth inning broke a 2-2 deadlock at A.W. Phillips Field Thursday night and propelled the Braves to an 11-7 Texas Junior Teenage League baseball win over the Colts.

Reliever Jason Lawson picked up the win for the Braves after relieving starter Greg Conaway. Conaway got a no-decision for his one and two-thirds innings of pitching and was replaced with his team trailing 2-0.

Doug Koch was the starting pitcher for the Colts but also got a no-decision after being replaced after three innings with the score tied at 2-2. Danny Luera gave up four of the Braves' six runs in the top of the fourth to absorb the loss. Dustin Green relieved Luera.

Braves third baseman Todd Womack batted second in the top of the first inning and hit for a single. Womack stole second base and third base and scored on an error by Colts third baseman Frank Briseno.

Conaway struck out two of four batters he faced in the bottom of the first inning to maintain the Braves 1-0 lead but ran into trouble in the bottom half of the second inning.

Conaway began the inning by allowing bases on balls to Colts first baseman Danny Luera and shortstop Jeff Potter. James Turner grounded out to Braves first baseman Lawson-scoring Luera for a 1-1 score.

Potter stole home plate for a 2-1 Colts lead. Conaway struck out Colts right fielder Steve Phariss for the second out but then walked center fielder Dustin Green and left fielder Sammy Luera.

Lawson stepped in at that point to strike out Koch and retire the side.

The Braves' Womack led off the top of the third with a single. Lawson singled to score Womack-tying the game at 2-2.

After holding the Colts scoreless in the bottom of the third the Braves came through with the six run fourth inning for an 8-2 lead.

With the score 2-2 D. Luera came in to pitch the top of the third in relief of Koch. Luera walked three and gave up run-scoring triples to the Braves' Womack and Lawson. That made it 6-2 for the Braves and spelled the end of Luera's stint.

Green relieved Luera and also gave up two runs before retiring the side with the score at 8-2.

The Colts answered with four runs in the bottom of the fourth to pull within 8-6. Lawson walked three in the inning. S. Luera took the first walk and stole home for an 8-3 score. Koch scored on a wild pitch to make it 8-4.

Colts pitcher Joey Arispe also walked and scored on a triple by Briseno. Briseno scored on D. Luera's ground out to third to make it 8-6.

Chris Ginkinger, Womack and Lawson came through with hits to add three runs for the Braves in the top of the fifth. James Turner scored for the Colts in the bottom of the fifth.

The win left the Braves tied with the White Sox at 1-0 while the Colts dropped to 0-2.

Charlie and Billie Smith demonstrate vacuum packing

Smiths host 4-H food group

The 4-H Senior Food Project Group met May 18 at the home of Charlie and Billie Smith in the Fairview community.

The group was served a meal of Salisbury steak, made with soybeans, a fruit dish with fresh fruit, homemade wheat bread and various kinds of nut butters (almond, walnut and pecan).

Several demonstrations were shown to the girls on vacuum packing food with a food saver, how to make milk out of nuts, how to prepare legumes, the effects of sugar on the body, the difference between saturated polyunsaturated and monosaturated fats and how the digestive process works. The nut butters were demonstrated to the group, also.

Following a question and answer period, fruit smoothies made from blueberries, bananas, pineapple, strawberries and carob for chocolate were served.

The girls also enjoyed seeing the beautiful yard and park area and the antique furnishings of the home.

Attending were Tammy Loving, Francesca Helm, Nikki Holman, Bonnie Herrington, Brooke Moore, D'Dee Morris, 4-H leader, and Jennifer Morris.

In June, the group will visit Gandy's Co. in San Angelo for its next project meeting.
