"WE THOUGHT HE WAS DEAD" — Two pampa High School students, one of whom turned into a hero, explained what happened Wednesday night when a Borger man, H.H. Laster, was injured in an auto accident, one mile south of Pampa. Jim Brown, 16, left, gave Laster heart massage when he found the man wasn't breathing after being thrown from his pickup onto the highway. Brown, along with Bob Doucette, 14, right, saw the accident.

House Decision Next On LBJ's Voting Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House leaders appeared determined today to write an even stronger version of the tough voting rights bill overwhelmingly approved by the Senate, including the controversial poll tax ban.

President Johnson's historic measure, designed to strike down the remaining barriers to large-scale Negro voting in the South, passed the Senate Wednesday on a resounding 77 to 19 vote.

Johnson called the Senate's action "triumphant evidence of this nation's resolve that every citizen must and shall be able to march to a polling place and vote without fear or prejudice or obstruction. . .On behalf of a heartened nation," I express my appreciation to the Senate leadership and those who supported them."

The House Judiciary Committee has approved a voting rights bill similar to the Senate measure in most respects. But the two bills differed sharply on the subject of poll tax repeal—and it is that issue which may slow down progress toward enactment.

"I doubt that the House will pass a bill without an outright repeal of the poll tax," said Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee. Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., has added his influential voice to demands for a poll tax ban.

The House Judiciary Committee, in the face of administration opposition, insisted on flat repeal of the poll taxes still levied for state and local elections, in Virginia, Texas, Alabama and Mississippi.

In contrast, the Senate bill directed the Justice Department to seek court action to strike down poll taxes as unconstitutional. Both bills carry congressional declarations that call the poll tax unconstitutional in practice.

In other respects, the Senate and House bills are similar. Both provide for the automatic elimination of literacy tests and the appointment of federal voting examiners in states with low registration or voting records.

The two bills have slightly differing "trigger" systems, however. The House bill would affect Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, South Carolina, Georgia, Virginia and Alaska on a statewide basis. The Senate bill would touch only parts of Virginia and Alaska, but cover the other five states completely.

The House bill is not expected to come up for debate until mid-June. The Judiciary Committee is not expected to complete the required legislative reports on the bill until late this week. After that, the House Rules Committee is expected to take at least two weeks before clearing the measure for floor action.

Commies Down Navy Jet

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. warships have gone into action against the Communists in South Viet Nam for the first time, a spokesman disclosed today. American destroyers bombarded troop concentrations in three provinces.

American planes were out again today, ranging over North Viet Nam to shoot up bridges, railroad yards and military barracks among other targets.

A U. S. Navy Crusader jet was shot down over Communist territory and the pilot presumed killed, the American military spokesman reported.

(In Washington, the Defense Department identified the Navy pilot as Cmdr. Doyle W. Lynn, La Mesa, Calif. and confirmed that he was killed. Doyle also was shot down June 7 while on a reconnaissance mission over Laos but parachuted to earth and was recovered by helicopter.

Two other Americans were killed Wednesday in ground fighting in South Viet Nam.

The downed navy plane was one of more than 60 American and South Vietnamese aircraft which attacked North Vietnamese highway bridges and military barracks in a daylong series of raids.

The spokesman said the Crusader was hit as U.S. Navy planes flew through heavy anti-aircraft fire in a strike against a railroad yard at Vinh, about 140 miles south of Hanoi. It was the second consecutive day of air attacks against Vinh.

The plane crashed into the target area and the pilot did not eject from the cockpit, the spokesman said.

The disclosure that American destroyers are being used against Communist guerrillas was apparently forced by the death of a U.S. Navy seaman killed in an accident aboard the destroyer Somers last Friday.

The spokesman said the sailor, Seaman Jimmy C. Stinnett of Cartersville, Va., was killed when the muzzle of a five-inch gun exploded during bombardment of a Viet Cong stronghold in Binh Thuan Province.

American destroyers have fired a total of six missions against Viet Cong targets in three South Vietnamese provinces, the spokesman said.

On the political front, trouble appeared to be brewing in Saigon for the three-month-old government of Premier Phan Huy Quat. Political observers said unrest is bubbling from a well of minor disputes, any one of which could erupt into possibly violent anti-government demonstrations.

Despite Quat's pleas for all factions to put aside personal differences, there are several behind the - scenes struggles within the Vietnamese armed forces and growing suspicions between Buddhists and Roman Catholics.

Rusk Serves Notice That U.S. Not Scared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has served notice on Russia and Red China that the United States will not be frightened out of Viet Nam by threats of a wider war in Asia.

Rusk made his tough policy statement at a news conference Wednesday during which he also revealed that a second Soviet antiaircraft missile site may be under construction in Communist North Viet Nam.

He said he believed that the additional missile site involved a "deepening" Soviet commitment. The State Department had announced last April 16 that one Surface-to-Air Missile (SAM) site "appears to be in preparation near Hanoi."

"There may be a second in the immediate Hanoi area," Rusk said. "We don't know whether there may be others in that area, in terms of the normal geographic positioning of such sites around a heavily populated area."

The secretary said at another point that he was not alarmed by reports of a recent interview of Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin by U.S. industrialist Cyrus Eaton. Kosygin said at that time that Russia might enter the Vietnamese war unless the United States changed it's policies.

He said he didn't attach "undue importance" to what Eaton has said. But, he added, "it is very important . . . that no one misunderstand the gravity of the situation.

"If, in fact, those who are supporting North Viet Nam, or feel themselves associated with North Viet Nam, feel that they can drive us out of our commitments there in Southeast Asia — these commitments are serious, they are of long-standing—we are determined.

"When we ourselves say, as we have said for a long time, that we don't want a larger war out there in Southeast Asia . . . it would be a great mistake if the other side should think that that means that they can have a larger war with impunity, and that a larger war on their side would remove us from Southeast Asia."

Former Pampan Critical After Auto Accident

By RON CROSS

A 16-year-old Pampa High School junior and a Pampa man, used quick thinking Wednesday night and possibly saved the life of a Borger welder.

Hugh Hansel Laster, a former Pampan now living in Borger, was thrown from his pickup onto U.S. Highway 70 last night when a tire came off the vehicle.

Laster was taken to Highland General Hospital by Duenkel ambulance and later transferred to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Laster suffered a severe skull fracture and was listed in critical condition in the Intensive Care unit at the hospital at noon today.

Jim Brown, 16, the son of Mr. Mrs. J. R. Brown, 1300 Williston, and Dave Redus, who lives across the roadway from where the accident happened, saw the man thrown from the pickup and rushed to his aid.

Brown said when the two reached Laster the man wasn't breathing.

"I massaged his heart," Brown said. "And Mr. Redus gave him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation."

When the ambulance arrived Laster was breathing again but Redus continued the mouth-to-mouth resuscitation on the way to the hospital.

Pampa Police officer, Bill Robinson and Texas Highway Patrolman Stan Schneider, who investigated the accident, said Laster struck a parked car on south Hobart, continued south until the wheel came off the pickup causing it to spin around in the roadway, throwing Laster from the vehicle.

Damage to the pickup was es-

Annual Community Fair Scheduled July 14-18

Plans were completed today by the Pampa Jaycees for the second annual Top O' Texas Community Fair to be held July 14-18. The site for the fair will be on North Hobart.

A luncheon will be held at noon Tuesday in the basement of the First Methodist Church for representatives of various civic clubs and churches to hear local Jaycees explain operation of the fair. Clubs that entered the fair last year will be given first consideration.

Duggan Smith, Jaycee general chairman signed an agreement several days ago with A. I. Stafford, representative of Dudley Shows from Mankins, Texas. Dudley Shows will provide most of the equipment for the fair.

Smith said that the company will provide ride concessions for the fair and local civic organizations will be asked to operate booths.

Entry forms will be distributed for possible entrants at the Tuesday luncheon.

All Civic clubs participating in the venture will share in the profits from the five day event, Smith said. Each civic club has been asked to enter a queen contestant and the winner will be crowned Saturday night at the fair. Prizes for the queen will be valued at more than $500.

Area merchants will be sold display space in a commercial exhibits tent. Fair-goers will be admitted to the commercial tent free of charge.

Other events scheduled for the fair include hobby and homecraft contests, cake and pie baking contests and special kids day with games and door prizes.

Smith appointed the following chairmen to help stage the fair: Doyce Watson, manpower; Jim Morris and Don Tinney, exhibits; Rich Hankins and Larry Wingert, queens contest; Jim Osborne, grounds; Bud McVicker, finance; Gretchen Osborne, baking contest; Larry Weingert and John Callerman, publicity. Patsy Webb will be Jaycee-Ette coordinating chairman.

Eddie Polnac, Jaycee president, said today that 20,000 people from the Top O' Texas area are expected to attend the fair during the five-day period. Polnac stated that Jaycee members are hoping that the fair will boost the budget of local civic organizations in addition to providing five days of enjoyable and interesting features and entertainment for the whole family.

Baker Accuser Claims Slander

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chief accuser in the Senate's Bobby Baker investigation claims that the Johnson administration has mounted a "diabolically clever" campaign to slander him in order to take the legal heat off Baker.

"Instead of prosecuting Baker, they are actually making a national hero of him," charged Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., Wednesday.

But he said, "I am determined that it is not going to be covered up — I don't think it could be covered up even if we wanted to. There's more and more interesting developments to come."

Concerned With Report

Williams' accusations were included in a speech before the Senate and they centered on an as yet unpublished draft of the Senate Rules Committee's report on its long-running Baker investigation.

He charged that the report was part of a campaign of criticism aimed at his conduct during the investigation of the former Senate aide's affairs and was designed to raise questions in the minds of federal grand jurors now considering Baker's myriad business deals.

Williams labeled the report "one of the most damnable attempts at character assassination in the history of the U.S. Senate."

"Why is the administration so intent on criticizing me?" he asked, then answered his own question: "They are desperate.

Claims Decision Made

"The decision has been made by the Great Society hierarchy that John Williams must be stopped. They are determined to save Bobby Baker from prosecution at all costs...and diverting attention (from Baker)...by launching an attack on me."

The Delaware Republican, sometimes called the Senate's one-man FBI, said that by filling the newspapers with attacks on witnesses in the Baker investigation and with assaults on him, "they hope to raise questions in the minds of jurors.

"The decision has been made," he added, "Bobby Baker must be cleared at all costs."

Williams belittled the recent White House announcement that the President had instituted a code of ethics for the executive department. He said it meant nothing as long as the administration condoned the influence-peddling of people like Baker.

U.S. Pushing For Streamlined Decisions in OAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is pushing for more streamlined decision-making machinery in the Organization of American States (OAS) to permit the hemispheric assembly to act swiftly in a crisis.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was to attend an OAS meeting, together with the foreign ministers of several Latin American nations, either today or Friday. The matter probably will be thrashed out during this session.

U.S. officials, mindful of the sensitivities of Latin nations, did not want to appear to be pressing on the question, but they hoped that the Dominican crisis would prompt the OAS to establish such procedures.

Rusk, in a long "stock-taking" of the month-old Dominican crisis Wednesday, said also that the 20-nation assembly also should take up again the question of forming some sort of standby force which would be on call in the event of a crisis.

The secretary told his news conference that the purpose of the OAS meeting here would be "to see where we go from here."

As for the current situation in Santo Domingo, he said that the problem now is to get a "broadly - based government which will be able to provide for the Dominicans the kind of democratic and constitutional society which is, we believe, their basic wish and their basic purpose."

"We cannot report that there has been broad success yet in that enterprise," he said, "though we are encouraged to believe that the answer must be found through the processes of discussion and agreement on a broadly based government rather than on the processes of violence or further military action."

Cigarettes To Go Up; Redistricting Next

AUSTIN (UPI)— Gov. John Connally had his cigarette tax bill today and congressional redistricting was in a conference committee after the longest and most productive work day of the 59th session.

Senators labored toward midnight in their first night session Wednesday, approving the $79 million tax package for the teacher pay raise and Hemis-Fair, the world fair planned for San Antonio.

Then Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall batted away two amendments and passed his congressional redistricting bill, pushing the touchy issue into conference committee, where it is expected to be ready for final consideration by Friday.

A breakneck pace by both houses Wednesday virtually destroyed much - mentioned chances of a special session. The House passed the Senate's remapping plan and the Senate countered by giving committee approval to the House self-remapping.

Two-hour Discussion

Sens. Franklin Spears of San Antonio and Don Kennard of Fort Worth talked for about two hours for a bill they said cut the state into 23 congressional districts with only 1½ per cent population variance from the court-ordered "one man, one vote" dictum.

The plan also gave Bexar, Tarrant and Dallas counties more compact districts, but it mustered only seven votes. Spears read the definition of "gerrymander" from an encyclopedia and warned "the courts will not buy a gerrymandered version of 'one-man, one-vote'."

Hall's plan, as adopted, gives Harris County three seats, Dallas two and part of one, Bexar one and part of two and Tarrant one and part of one. It pits incumbent Rep. John Dowday of Athens with Rep. Ray Roberts of McKinney and Wright Patman of Texarkana with Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater.

Eighteen-County District

A spacious, 18-county South Texas district has no incumbent. It includes a slice of south Bexar County, but Hall promised Spears, "the conference committee will consider the Bexar County situation very carefully."

East Texas Sens. Galloway Calhoun Jr. of Tyler, A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris and Jack Strong of Longview voted with Spears and Kennard on their substitute bill. They said they could not agree with the Hall version's treatment of East Texas.

Later, Calhoun offered an amendment which he said would give the four incumbents "a fair, even break," but it was defeated.

Spears cut his debate short Wednesday night, but said he was still dissatisfied with the treatment of Bexar County. "If the conference committee comes out with a bill that cuts Bexar County into fragments, I can talk a lot longer," he said.

400 Expected At Banquet Tonight

An estimated 400 persons are expected at the Pampa Key Club's first annual All Civic Club Coordination banquet at 7 o'clock tonight in the high school field house.

The assemblage will be made up of members of Pampa's luncheon clubs and their wives. These include the Kiwanis, Lions, Optimists, Rotary and Junior Chamber of Commerce community service groups.

Topping the entertainment program will be Fred Lowery, nationally-known recording artist and television personality, billed as the "king of whistlers."

Principal speaker will be Mrs. Richard Raymond whose topic will be "The High Plains Eye Bank."

The coordination banquet is a new project of the Key Club. George Snell, president, said the club hopes to be instrumental in combining efforts of all civic clubs on community-wide movements.

Tonight's dinner will be served by the Pampa Shrine Club.

Follow the crowds, to the Pampa Baptist Temple.

THOUSANDS OF BERLINERS ON HAND

Queen Receives Royal Welcome

BERLIN (UPI) — Britain's Queen Elizabeth flew over Communist territory for the first time today on a visit to West Berlin. She was welcomed by cheering, flag-waving crowds of Berliners.

Tens of thousands jammed the streets of this divided city 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

The Communists, although they protested the visit, made no attempt to interfere with the Queen's plane as it flew here without an escort from West Germany.

The Queen and Prince Philip made the one-hour flight from the Royal Air Force base at Guetersloh to the RAF's Gatow Airfield here in a twin - engined Andover plane via the Hannover-Berlin air corridor.

After inspecting a joint American, British and French honor guard at the field, the royal couple was cheered on the 22.5 mile drive into West Berlin along the Communist wall.

Many men took their hats off and held them over their hearts as the motorcade passed.

At least 25,000 Berliners cheered as the queen drove in a black limousine at the head of a 30-car motorcade three miles to the Maifeld parade grounds to review a parade of 1,500 British soldiers.

From the parade, the Queen drove to the Commonwealth Cemetery to place a wreath on the Stone of Remembrance raised in memory of 3,800 Britons, most of them RAF crewmen shot down on bombing raids over Germany.

On the way to the reception and lunch at the Charlottenburg Palace, the Queen drove through waving cheering crowds on the former Adolf Hitler Platz, now called Theodor Heuss Platz after West Germany's first president.

timated at $50 and damage to the parked car, owned by Claude Matheny, 1120 S. Hobart was estimated at $50.

Witnesses to the accident, Redus' son, Brown and Bob Doucette, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Doucette, said it appeared a tire blew-out of the pickup and Laster slammed on his brakes, causing the vehicle to spin around in the roadway, coming to a halt in a ditch, right side up.

Trooper Schneider said, however, that the tire did not blow out, but that it was cut by the wheel cover after the tire came off the vehicle.

Results from yesterday's picture appeal for jobs for teenagers were beginning to show up today, according to Charles G. Vance, interviewer for the Texas Employment Commission.

The Pampa News yesterday carried a photo of two Pampa youngsters filing job applications with the TEC.

Vance said today both of the applicants, Connie Heard, 18, and Doug Altom, 17, today had obtained jobs and gone to work.

The TEC is asking anyone having a job for a teenager to list it with the local employment office.

"There are plenty of applicants to pick from," Vance said.

Food Buying Guide

The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Weekend food shoppers generally will find that food stores have excellent variety in fresh produce, as well as meat and poultry.

Meat counters will feature plenty of beef roasts and steaks, ground meat, bacon, ham, pork roasts, and smoked picnics. At poultry counters will be lots of broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys. Generous supplies of eggs along with canned pink and chum salmon and frozen fish sticks and fish portions provide other good choices in protein foods.

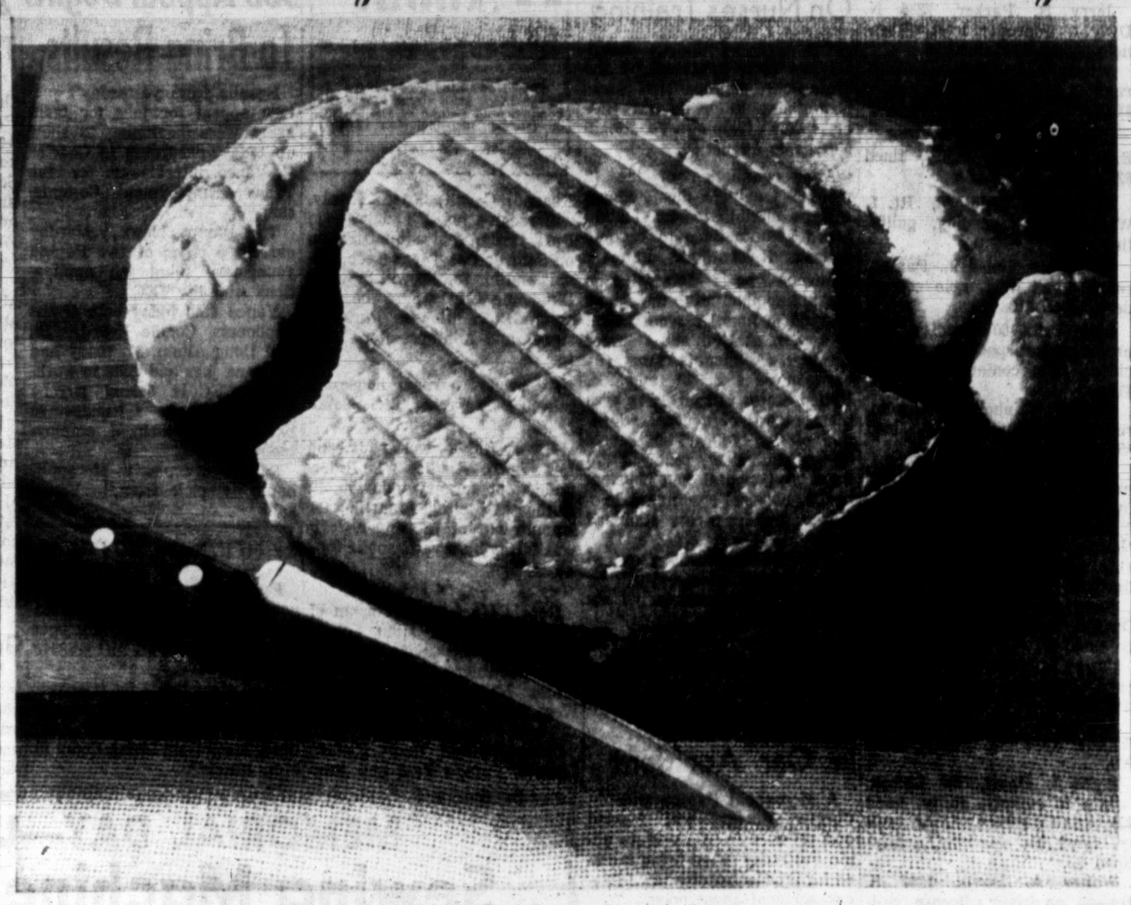

A colorful variety in fresh produce includes plenty of asparagus, carrots, celery, corn, cucumbers, salad greens, lettuce, onions, potatoes, radishes and tomatoes. For desserts, salads, and snacks there is plenty of fresh fruit, including bananas, cantaloups, lemons, oranges, pineapples, rhubarb, strawberries, and watermelons.

Serve Orange Blossom Cake, Fragrant Coffee to Brides-To-Be

Bell-Shaped Orange Blossom Cake
. . . for Brides-To-Be

Despite the growing popularity of December weddings June is still the biggest bridal month. And before the great days arrive come weeks of frantic, happy preparations. There are hurried shopping forays, excited chatter over coffee while plans are made, fittings, parties — ah, yes the parties.

Most of us have hostessed at least one bridal shower and for each one, we try to make the refreshments and decorations especially lovely. First, because there is always a long, agonizing wait for the honor guest, there should be fresh coffee waiting for guests. The rest of the refreshments come later, after the bride-to-be has joined the party.

BEAUTIFUL CAKE, DELICIOUS COFFEE

Whether it's al uncheon or evening party, the dessert ought to be particularly bridelike, says Lou Ella Patterson, County Home Demonstration Agent. The beautiful Orange Blossom Cake, for instance, in the shape of wedding bells, is so attractive it can serve as your main table decoration. The cake has a delicate orange flavor and isn't difficult to put together if you follow the cake-cutting instructions. Once the bells are assembled you can cover them with any favorite fluffy white frosting.

The appropriate accompaniment to such a cake is your most delectable coffee. You can not give a greater compliment to guests. Brewing good coffee is one of the factors that determines a thoughtful hostess—and one of the first things a bride should learn.

ORANGE BLOSSOM CAKE

- 2-3 cup butter or margarine
- 1½ cups sugar
- 2 teaspoons grated orange peel
- 3 whole eggs
- 2 egg yolks
- 2½ cups sifted cake flour
- 2½ teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup orange juice

Cream butter to consistency of mayonnaise; add sugar and orange peel slowly while continuing to cream. Add eggs and egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Mix and sift dry ingredients; add to creamed mixture alternately with orange juice, beginning and ending with flour mixture. Turn into 2 greased and wax - lined 9-inch layer cake pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Cool in pans 10 minutes; turn out of pans on to racks to finish cooling. To make bell shape, mark off circumference of cake layer with wooden picks into 3 equal arcs. One arc will be bottom of bell, To make curved sides of bell, cut off equal curved strips from other 2 arcs. From one of the cut-off cake strips, cut a clapper. Make another bell with second layer using first bells, on serving tray side-by-bell as pattern. Place side, with tops of bells slightly tilted toward each other. Attach clappers with small amount of frosting. Arrange strips cut from sides to make ribbons at top. Frost with any favorite fluffy white frosting.

Barbecuers Are Told How to 'Burn' Food Properly

by AILEEN SNODDY
Sharp Shopping Columnist
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The glowing coals, synthetic or real, of a barbecue unit are as much a part of the '60s as the astronauts.

That millions enjoy "burning" their food in the back yard makes Europeans still smile indulgently and murmur, "how quaint."

Such quaint behavior, however, has led sales of outdoor grills in the last 15 years to jump from 250,000 sold annually to more than five million.

Our headlong rush for outdoor living has created an industry now over the $4 billion mark. This year the best long-range weather forecaster in the business, The Farmer's Almanack, lists "an unusually early spring and a late fall." This can mean a longer cookout season. With National Barbecue Month June 1-30, is your equipment ready?

There are basically three types of outdoor grills. What type you buy depends upon your desire to show off your culinary flair. The units are (1) stripped down brazier (grill), (2) wagon grill and (3) smoker. When you want to cook and how often you will use the unit. A beginner does well to stick with the simplified grill. There is a trend to the 14-and 22-inch folding grills. The most popular size is 24 inches.

The prime consideration here is whether the size of the grill will hold what you want to cook. How many are in your family? You may need a larger unit to hold all those hot dogs and hamburgers.

In most cases, the inexpensive grills sold in discount stores are of a thin gauge. There is no guarantee and it is quite likely the sprayed enamel surface will chip and thus expose the unit to rusting. Check the edge of the bowl. if it has stippled edges which make the bowl look thicker, it probably is of a thin gauge.

The understructure is important. A four-legged model is sturdier than a tripod. A service shelf below the bowl adds to the strength of the unit. Models with triangular shelves are cheaper than those with square and round shelves. Check the lever control. Is it simple to use without tipping the grill?

Leg size is a factor in pinpointing a unit's quality and possible life. A better quality unit will have a ¾-inch leg and less expensive grills ⅝ inch or less.

As you move up the ladder in cooking prowess, you will want to consider branziers with an adjustable grid, spit and motor. From there you move to the more elaborate wagon grill and the smoker.

You need a unit with spit and motor if you plan to barbecue whole chickens, turkeys and roasts.

Again the understructure should be well-braced. Look for units with biut-in electric outlets; cord set and motor should have the Underwriters Laboratory marking. Warming ovens add to the cost of a unit and should have a temperature gauge.

Adequate working shelf space is a must with these units. The kettle type is a true smoker and requires a drafting system. Many grills now have battery-operated spit and motor. For true cooking safety, units with swing-out motors are high on the list. These more expensive grills should be of stainless steel with a rustproof coating. Your best shopping spot for more complex braziers, wagon grills and smokers is in a store specializing in good outdoor-cooking equipment.

Moving into this growing field of outdoor cookery are gas-fired grills, usually with self-cleaning ceramic briquettes. Cooking is by infrared radiation. Prices range from $49.95 to $200 for permanent installations. Most gas utilities charge from $30 to $50 to install. There also are portable gas-fired units that operate on propane or natural gas.

For best cooking results look for units with "high," "medium" and "low" settings and a valve to control heat. Before buying a permanent unit, ask for a demonstration.

For the gourmet cook, the best simplified grill is of cast iron such as hibachi. It is more expensive than portable grills but gives even heat, with no hot-spotting.

Help For Dieters

If you've tried many reducing diets unsuccessfully, eating two meals a day — each somewhat larger than usually allowed on the Edinburgh, Scotland, Royal help. So report two physicians of th eEdinburgh, Scotland, Royal Infirmary who worked with 34 overweight women, prescribing two 500-calorie meals a day. The result was a mean loss of 8.9 pounds in a 12-week trial period. All the women had previously failed to lose weight on diets in which they were daily allowed three or more meals totaling 1,000 to 1,100 calories. The same women had in an earlier 12-week study gained an average of 3.4 pounds while using a 1,000-calorie three-meal diet.

Car Brakes Fail, Several Hurt in N.Y. Accident

NEW YORK (UPI) — The air over Times Square hung heavy. It was hot — about 80 degrees — and humid as the sleek black limousine cruised toward the corner of 44th Street and Broadway.

It was just after 8:30 Wednesday night. Down 44th Street the curtain was about to rise on such hit shows as "Hello, Dolly!" and "Golden Boy."

The shiny limousine waved in and out of the heavy traffic, dodging the darting taxicabs and dashing pedestrians.

As the traffic signal on the corner flashed from green to yellow, it became apparent the big, black car was heading for trouble.

The light turned red. A large group of pedestrians began crossing the street. The driver, Louis Delago, 49, jammed his foot on the brakes. Nothing.

There were a few screams as the car plowed into the crowd, its fender striking a pretty young woman whose body was sent 30 feet into the air. Her husband was knocked down.

In all, nine persons were hit by the car, which eventually slammed into a taxicab and a truck in the intersection.

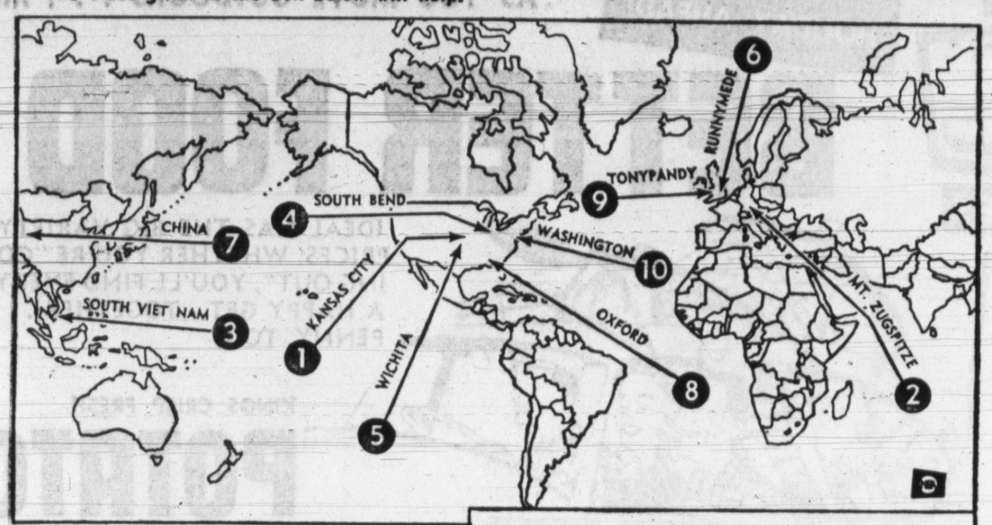

The most seriously injured, Mrs. Esher Sanchez, 23, of New York, was reported "resting comfortably" at St. Claire's hospital today with injuries to the head and both legs.

Her husband, Francisco, 27, was in fair condition with leg injuries.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Of the growing number of services available in this country, those which supply specialized engineering and technical help to both large and small industry have become more prominent over the past 15 years.

These are not to be confused with the old type "efficiency expert" sort of service. They are, instead, those which provide temporary or contract engineering and other technical workers both to private industry and to government agencies.

Industry sources say there are about 500 companies specializing in this sort of effort, with about a score doing more than half the total sales volume, which some sources estimate at $300 million annually.

Charles E. Zimmerman, president of Consultants & Designers, Inc., New York, one of the top firms, says that a ready supply of this kind of help has been a natural development of today's highly technical and cost-conscious industrial development.

Just by picking up a telephone, he said, the executive of a company can bid on just about any size engineering and design contract it wishes to seek.

Service contracts generally fall into one of four classes: open-end, on an hourly rate without specified limits on the total amount; hourly rate contraces with a maximum total price; those which fix a price for completion of as tated work project; cost-plus fixed fee contracts.

Some idea of how this service industry has caught on can be shown in the 1964 report of Zimmerman's firm; it had record sales and earnings for the sixth consecutive year, with sales of $16,636,648, up 48 per cent from the previous year. It employed about 1,600 persons.

Leftist-Led Workers Return To Jobs in Bolivia Mines

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Leftist-led workers returned to their jobs throughout Bolivia Wednesday ending a 10-day-old strike with revolt overtones in which 70 persons were killed and 250 wounded.

The Bolivian Workers Central (COB) called off its anti-government general strike in the nation's tin mines and factorise on the basis of an agreement with the military junta negotiated by university faculty members and non-Communist union leaders.

Striking tin miners agreed to evacuate the properties they seized earlier in the week on the promise the junta would recall troops to their barracks. There was some delay in evacuation of mines in Oruro Department (province), however, and the army said it would keep troops in the field until miners abandoned the premises.

A government decision to withhold pay from strikers for the days they were out caused some discontent among those returning to work. The junta had previously announced it would penalize strike leaders.

The junta blamed the strike on the National Revolutionary Movement (MNR) and Christian Democrat parties as well as the Communists. Several political and trade union leaders were reported to have sought political asylum in Latin American embassies here.

Wonder-Working Real Ark Angel

By ROBERT SAFFRON

ROME (NEA) — Hollywood used to be known as Mockville, town of fantasy, and the rest of the world was Realville, but now the differences have become so blurred that real life is just like the movies.

Dino de Laurentis, 44, producer of the $15 million epic, "The Bible," is perfect typecasting for the new, selfmade international movie mogul: stocky, well - groomed, soft-spoken but with a armor-plated confidence; a protruding cleft chin and tinted, heavy black-rimmed glasses.

And his office is the perfect set for a $2 or $3 million Technicolor production. It is shaped like an L, the furniture anonymously modern, leather -covered.

De Laurentiis sat in the fading afternoon light, tilting back in a leather and aluminum swivel chair, a cigarette dangling from her lips. The wall and he were lit by horizontal stripes reflected through the Venetian blinds — a favorite film lighting gimmick of the '40s.

He spoke Italian which was translated by an attractive English girl; but when she didn't make his point exactly, he corrected her quickly — still in Italian.

"The Bible," he said, had been developing in his mind for "many years." And he had chosen John Huston to direct it because only Huston, of all the agreed on the need to stick close to the original source material.

"The Bible itself is so fantastic there is no need to invent stories. When you have a story that tells the creation of the world, the first love, the first hate, the first murder, you must be faithful to the text. It is sufficient.

"But a story like this must be made with humility."

It must also be made with much courage and business acumen. Preparations for the filming took three years; and this was, he said, the first time any independent producer had dared togamble $15 million on one film.

(The money was lent to him, they say in Rome, by an anonymous Swiss syndicate.)

The logistics of "The Bible" are staggering. The bottom half of the Tower of Babel was built and filmed on De Laurentiis' 750-acre lot south of Rome; the top half was matched in Egypt where 4,000 natives performed as Babylonians. The ruined city of Sodom was re-created of plastic over 25 acres on the desolate slopes of still-active Mt. Etna in Sicily.

For the Noah sequence, five separate arks were constructed: three exterior, one interior and one miniature (for the Deluge). Cost: $1 million. The exterior set into which the animals are herded two by two is 200 feet long and 50 feet wide. It took 300 workmen 12 weeks to build. Cost: $30,000.

The interior set of the ark, showing the animals on their voyage, is 150 feet long and 68 feet high, possibly one of the largest sets ever built. It consists of three levels made of rough logs reinforced with steel to hold pairs of 200 different species, from snakes to hippos and camels. There are 1,000 birds.

De Laurentiis hired the entire menagerie of a German circus. Two of the animal trainers double as Noah's sons to keep the beasts from eating each other.

All the hired hands admit that Dino knows his movie business. A Neapolitan, he began as a bit player in Rome at 17. At 20, he produced his first film. He has since created more than 100 movies: respectable epics such as "War and Peace" and "Ulysses"; realitic works of art such as "Bitter Rice," "La Strada" and "Nights of Cabiria."

De Laurentiis Productions is actually a one-man operation — no stockholders, no board of directors. He labors mightily 12 hours a day and makes most decisions, big and little by himself, using a few trusted aides and relatives as sounding boards.

"I don't need big names," he said. "Stars come and go. The Bible is my star. This picture will run for years and years."

But Swiss banks, although they accept deposits under name-hiding numbers, don't like to hide big losses, like $15 million. So, it may be assumed that all of De Laurentiis' capital, his huge studio abuilding, his entire future as a moviemaker are riding on this one horse, jockeyed by John Huston. It has to win when it opens in New York in November.

"What if this picture fails?" he was asked.

"It cannot fail," he said firmly.

"But what if it does?"

He raised both his arms straight up over his head impatiently. "It is in the hands of God."

Aspirin One of Biggest Causes Of Youth Deaths

CHICAGO (UPI)—Aspirin and oil of wintergreen are the most important causes of accidental poisoning in children, a pediatrician reported today.

Dr. Alan K. Done of the University of Utah College of Medicine Department of Pediatrics said parents too frequently are guilty of carelessly giving children overdoses of aspirin (sodium salicylate).

Done, writing in the journal of the American Medical Association, said children sometimes swallow aspirin accidentally. But he said, "the most severe instances of aspirin poisoning among young children result from therapeutic overdosage."

The physician said oil of wintergreen (methyl salicylate) accounts for a disproportionately high number of deaths. He warned that as little as one teaspoonful can be fatal.

Early symptoms of salicylate poisoning include vomiting, ringing in the ears, unusually deep breathing, fever, lethargy and mental confusion, Done said.

In severe poisoning, convulsions, coma and respiratory or cardiovascular failure may occur.

Done said parents should learn that not every fever needs to be combatted with aspirin and that the small child should not be given aspirin except at the direction of a physician.

He warned that a young child should not be given aspirin more frequently than every six hours and should take ample fluids with the aspirin.

Wheat Support Bill Approved By House Group

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House wheat subcommittee Wednesday approved a strengthened form of President Johnson's wheat support bill. It would boost farm income and cut government costs by raising consumer prices slightly.

The bill would revise and continue for four years a "marketing certificate" support program for wheat which Congress approved last year for the 1964 and 1965 crops.

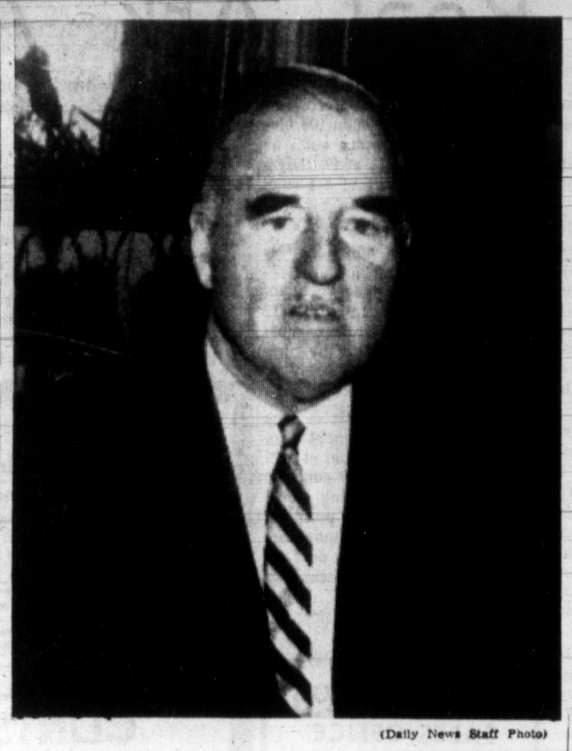

Under the subcommittee bill, wheat growers who complied with government planting allotments would get price supports at the full "fair earning power" parity price on about 45 per cent of their crop — the proportion of total U.S. wheat output which goes for domestic food.

Under the 1965 program, domestic food wheat is supported at $2 a bushel. The subcommittee bill would boost the rate in 1966 to $2.50 or $2.55 a bushel. The extra money would be raised by hiking the cost of "marketing certificates" which farmers get as part of their price support. These certificates are sold to processors, who will presumably pass on the increased cost to consumers.

The House feed grain subcommittee, meanwhile, announced its approval of a modified version of another section of the Johnson administration's omnibus farm bill. The subcommittees said it voted late Tuesday night to okay a four-year extension, with some modifications, of the existing government program which gives price supports and acreage diversion payments to farmers who limit feed grain plantings.

The two subcommittee bills now go to the full House Agriculture Committee for inclusion in the administration's omnibus farm bill.

AMBASSADOR CABOT — John M. Cabot, U.S. Ambassador to Poland, and the father of Pampan John Cabot, assistant to the manager of the Machinery Division of Cabot Corporation in Pampa, tells of the life he leads as a diplomat in Poland.

Pampan's Father Leads Exciting Life as Diplomat

By JIM COKER

Cloak and dagger stuff as depicted in the movies and on television is really a part of a diplomat's life, according to John M. Cabot, U. S. ambassador to Communist - dominated Poland, who yesterday ended a brief visit in Pampa with his son, John Cabot and family.

One of the highlights of an interview with Ambassador Cabot came when he told of hidden microphones in the house in which he lives in Warsaw.

The American government, he stated, has almost taken apart the ambassador's offices in the U. S. Embassy in Warsaw, a structure built only recently by the Polish government.

"We found microphones hidden in many places," the ambassador said.

One suspects the ambassador will give full approval to the U. S. government's announcement that the U. S. state Department asked Tuesday for $1.9 million to finance a search for hidden microphones in U.S. embassies around the world.

Outside of a bit of uneasiness during the recent demonstrations in Moscow and other demonstrations at U. S. embassies in other countries, Ambassador Cabot said he had never been in danger of personal injury.

"At the time this was going on," he said, "there were some mild demonstrations at the embassy in Warsaw, but nothing more than a few broken windows resulted."

Cabot, who was appointed ambassador to Poland three years ago by the late President John F. Kennedy, stated that the Communist rule of Poland is not as tough as the home-based Communist grip in Russia.

"There is quite a difference," he said, "and it is most noticeable in an absence of the real iron-hand control. The Polish people are allowed to have more social contacts and they are permitted more freedom of getting about."

The Polish people, he added, are very friendly and willing to engage in conversation when they are sure they are not being checked by a Red agent.

The ambassador stated that all industry in Poland is under government control. The quality of products manufactured there is sacrificed for quantity in many cases.

Cabot said he was happy with his work as a U. S. diplomat and planned on holding his ambassadorial portfolio as long as the President finds his services satisfactory.

One of his most interesting experiences, Ambassador Cabot said, was when the Chinese Communists were in Warsaw recently for top-drawer talks with Russian and Polish Red leaders.

"So far," he said, "nothing has come of the talks."

The ambassador, who was accompanied to Pampa by his wife, stated that it was his second visit here. When he first came to Pampa in 1932, it impressed him as sort of a frontier town, he said,

"There were no trees," Cabot said, "and very little of anything else. Now I find Pampa to be a very beautiful, progressive and striking city."

The ambassador, who gets to return to the United States only once a year, left yesterday for Boston to visit with another son there and then planned to go to his summer home just outside of Boston.

The ambassador's son is in Pampa as assistant to the manager of the Cabot Machinery Division. He lives at 2146 Dogwood with his wife, Carroll, and their 2 children, John 3½ and Andrew, 9 months.

REMOVED — Judge Louis T. Holland of Montague, Tex., sitting for Judge Joe B. Brown in Dallas, Tex., ordered attorney Joe H. Tonahill of Jasper, Tex., removed as an attorney in the defense of convicted murderer, Jack Ruby, who shot and killed presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald in the basement of the Dallas city hall in November, 1963.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

During the next few months many students will be seeking either temporary or permanent jobs. There are many approaches which these students might use.

Those individuals who intend to return to school in the fall will be seeking temporary positions. It may be possible for these students to obtain positions which are related to the fields for which they are preparing themselves. A pre-medical student might seek a position as an assistant in a laboratory or as an orderly in a hospital. An accounting student might look for a job in a bookkeeping office or as a clerk in an accounting department.

These jobs may be difficult to obtain but the student should be willing to accept any duties which may be connected with their field of interest. A job in the mail room of a radio station may provide some valuable experience for a student interested in one of the radio field.

Aside from jobs related to one's field, there are many temporary positions in the seasonal businesses. Summer resorts, camps, hotels, parks, and other buinesses related to vacation periods need many temporary employees. These positions often pay quite well and provide the student with the use of expensive facilities such as pools, sive facilities such as pools, sports equipment and entertainment during off hours. Most important is the fact that the employer is not hesitant in hiring a student on a temporary basis.

The students who do not intend to return to school and are therefore looking for permanent type jobs have some problems. They must convince the employer that they will not be quitting in the fall. This can be difficult at a time when so many individuals are seeking short term positions. In some cases it might be necessary for these individuals to accept temporary jobs and seek the permanent position in the fall.

High school and college graduates will find permanent job hunting easier than those who have not graduated. There is no need to discuss the problem faced by dropouts. Every effort should be made to complete one's education.

There are agencies which can be helpful in job hunting. College placement offices, state employment agencies, and private employment agencies are usually helpful. In addition the "help wanted" advertisements in newspaerps and the personnel offices of individual companies should be used.

The individual should cover all possibilities. He should not become discouraged but should continue his search, making sure he contacts the kind of agency which is most likely to specialize in the jobs he is seeking. Advice can be obtained from guidance counsellors and school placement offices.

Job hunting is not always easy. It may take a great deal of time and effort.

BUS CRASH KILLS ONE — Spectators examine the twisted wreckage of a school bus which flipped over at the Donegal exit of the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Somerset, Penn., and slammed into a weigh-in scale that virtually cut the roof of the bus open like an over-sized can opener had been used on it. One student was killed and 28 injured.

Legal Booze Making Impact Flow

By THOMAS HOUGH

IMPACT, Tex. (UPI)— No map shows Impact and it has no post office, no church, no school. It is a thriving community.

What does Impact have, then? Impact has legal booze, the only legal booze for 40 miles around.

It is an oasis in dry territory, stuck on the edge of the city of Abilene. Impact has been referred to as an "impacted molar."

The Baptist and Methodist churches and Church of Christ operate three colleges in Abilene. It is a dry city of 109,000 residents. The stream of traffic to and from Impact indicates they are either curious or thirsty.

The mayor of Impact—population 20-25 families; size 47 acres—is Dallas Perkins, 39, a former traveling salesman and public relations man.

Forms PR Firm

Perkins graduated from selling aspirin into public relations. He formed a public relations firm in Abilene called Impact, Inc. Mrs. Perkins, according to her husband, is an avid reader of classified advertising.

Thus began Impact, Tex., the incorporation of which dry groups and the city of Abilene fought all the way through the state Supreme Court.

Residents Seem Happy

The residents of Impact, whether drinkers or not, appear happy.

"Since Dallas took over, we never had it so good," John Baird, 57, a retired carpenter, said. "The Johnson grass used to be head-high to an elephant. There was a million mosquitoes. And every time it rained, all the roads were like hog wallows.

"But Dallas changed all that."

matter of fact

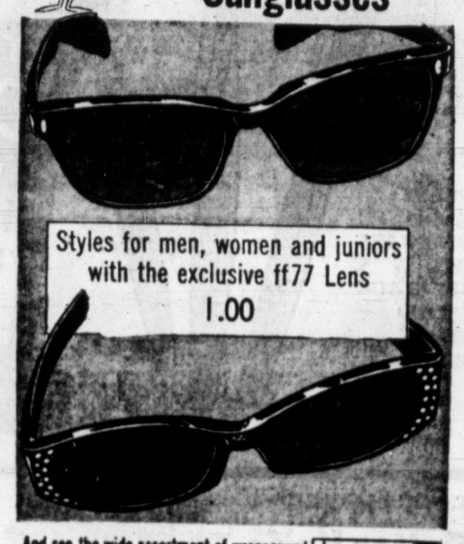

The highest perennial waterfall in the world is Angel waterfall in Venezuela. It makes little contact with the sheer mountainside as it drops more than 3,280 feet. Niagara has the steadiest flow of all large-volume waterfalls, discharging around 200,000 cubic feet per second throughout the year.

ATTACKS PLAN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Republican Policy Committee has attacked President Johnson's rent subsidy plan as "socialistic" and unworkable.

Committee Chairman John R. Rhodes, Ariz., charged Wednesday the proposal would "kill incentive for home ownership and make renters wards of the government."

"It is such a departure from the ordinary way of doing things," Rhodes added, "that it can be characterized as a means of arriving at a socialist state." The rent subsidy plan proposes government subsidies for defraying the rent of certain physically handicapped, elderly and displaced persons.

DEAF BILL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Wednesday passed and sent to the House a proposal to set up a national technical institute for deaf students.

The legislation is designed to meet the needs of deaf young people who each year are turned down for admittance to Washington's Gallaudet College, the world's only college for deaf persons. This year the college was able to accept only 275 of 600 applicants.

The bill authorizes the Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) secretary to enter into an agreement with an institution of higher learning to establish and operate the institute.

In 1951 Radio Moscow claimed that television was first invented by a Russian in 1907.

Scores Injured In Tornadoes Near Chicago Outskirts

By United Press International

Tornadoes and violent windstorms lashed the outskirts of Chicago and communities in seven Midwestern states Wednesday, injuring more than a score of persons and causing heavy property damage.

One of the twisters stabbed at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport, the world's busiest. It ripped roofs from two military hangars and a barracks, overturned a Flying Tigers Airlines cargo plane on a runway and blasted windows in the main terminal.

At least three persons were cut by flying glass and incoming flights were held up for about 10 minutes.

Winds that sounded to one person like a jet plane swept through a trailer court in Reedsburg, Wis. Seven persons were injured. One trailer was demolished and parts of it hurled 600 feet in the air, five other trailers were damaged.

Other tornadoes or near-twister slashed sections of Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. Tornado warnings were posted and a funnel cloud was sighted in southern Michigan.

A tornado injured seven persons at Addison, Ill., a northwest suburb of Chicago. Five of the injured were in a drive-in restaurant smashed by the twister. Two others were hurt in an Addison subdivision.

A severe thunderstorm or small tornado toppled house trailers at Blue Springs, Mo., near Kansas City, and four persons were injured. Another storm ripped Sedalia, Mo., smashing the wall of a furniture store, flipping a light plane at an airport and toppling a tree onto a parked car.

Sixty-mile-an-hour winds and lightning knocked out electric power in parts of downtown Oklahoma City, Okla. A small frame church and parsonage on Oklahoma City's east side were wrecked.

Tornadoes Batter Kansas

A tornado ripped three buildings at a brick and tile plant near Wewoka, Okla. There were no injuries. Damage was estimated at $12,000.

One house was demolished and several were unroofed at Sauk Pillage, Ill., south of Chicago near the Indiana line. Thunderstorms and high winds swept on northeastward through northern Indiana and southern Michigan.

An estimated 20 tornadoes battered Kansas Tuesday night, most of them venting their force in sparsely populated areas. Several caused damage but noinjuries weee reported.

A squall line that moved across Iowa during the night touched off flash floods on the East Boyer River near Denison and collapsed an Illinois Central Railroad bridge on the outskirts of the town.

There was heavy wind damage at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Three fourths of the city was without electrical service for a time.

BOMB FACTORY

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Terrorists bombed the Max Factor cosmetic company's Buenos Aires branch Wednesday night, causing some damage but no casualties.

The bomb was planted in a side door leading to the basement of the building occupied by the American company. Several windows were broken by the blast.

The bombing was the latest of a number of recent terrorist attacks on U. S. property. Previous targets included the Buenos Aires branch of the Helena Rubenstein cosmetic company.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Imagine the consternation that the last week has brought to theater owners who are fighting to deny pay-TV to homes while keeping it for themselves.

First, late last week, a California judge ruled that a state voter ban on pay-TV — a ban strongly promoted by theater owners — was unconstitutional, thereby probably setting a national precedent.

Then, only two sights ago, a pay-TV plum that the theater owners felt no compunction about charging for in their own establishments — the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston heavyweight championship fight — turned out to be a fiasco. The closed-circuit audience paid a pretty price.

Those who missed the one-round fandango, in which Cassius showed the efficacy of nonviolence and Liston gave his answer to those who claim boxing is a bloody affair, can view it Saturday on ABC-TV's "Wide World of Sports."

This is the footage that was also of natural interest to Cassius, who, when queried after the brief encounter as to precisely how he scored his knockout, said he had better look at the video tape.

As for the theater pay-TV receipts from the bout, there may even be a hassle over this too. A California state legislator was not impressed with the delicacy or immensely humane approach of the gladiators, and said Wednesday that he would try to stop payments of the state's closed-circuit audience to them.

I venture to predict, however, that despite all the howls about the fight being the end of professional boxing as a matter of public interest, the good burghers will pack the theaters and shell out again for the next Clay fight via closed-circuit television.

You may recall that after the last Clay-Liston get-together, there were also warnings that boxing had finished itself off, and that people would never pay to see them again. Layman that I am in such matters, I believe I was one of those who concurred in these opinons, and in fact I did not go to the theater this time. I mean, really, what did anyone of sense expect? The only thing that has happened since the last fight is that Liston got older.

But yon Cassius understands the good burghers with uncommon insight. He has now cast himself in the perfect role for modern success, the anti-hero. He knows (as do the hipsters who dig his put-on of the squares, and as do the networks who offer daily insults to the squares) that the squares never tire of proving themselves square. He is confident that enough people would pay in hopes of seeing him lose, coast to coast on closed-circuit video. After all, it wasn't he who swooned.

BOMB EXPLODES

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — A terrorist bomb made of Soviet dynamite exploded Wednesday night under a bridge in the heart of the city.

The blast caused only superficial damage and there was no injuries.

Police said the job appeared to be the work of anti-Malaysia agents from Indonesia.

President's Bill on Voting Rights Approved by Senators

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate late Wednesday overwhelmingly approved President Johnson's voting rights bill to close out a five-week battle that was brought to an end by a gag on debate.

The precedent-setting bill now goes to the House, where a similar but stronger bill has been approved by the Judiciary Committee. Senate leaders hoped the House would accept their version and avoid further Senate reconsideration and the hazard of a southern filibuster.

The measure, proposed by President Johnson after civil rights violence in Selma, Ala., earlier this year, would nullify discriminatory state literacy tests and other requirements aimed at barring Negroes from registering and voting.

As passed by the Senate, it also would urge federal court action against poll taxes in four southern states. The House bill would abolish the poll taxes outright.

The legislation is of historic importance because it marks the first time Congress has taken action on voting qualifications set up by the states. A system of federal registrars would be created to prevent unfair discrimination against Negroes in state and local voting.

Passage of the bill came on the 25th day of Senate consideration.

The Lighter Side

United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It was disclosed the other day that a network news broadcaster had written a letter praising another network's coverage of the Dominican crisis.

The other network then confirmed that it had, on occasion, written complimentary letters to its competitors.

I was aware, of course, that fan mail means a great deal to people in television. But I never dreamed it had reached the point where rival newsmen were writing fan letters to each other.

That sort of thing is so utterly foreign to my own envy-ridden nature that I hardly know what to make of it.

I might concede under duress that there is another wire service besides the one I work for. I might even admit that I know quite a few of its reporters and that some of them are friends of mine.

But the thought of complimenting one of them has never crossed my mind. I think I would rather cut out my tongue.

Anyway, the incident started me to wondering what might happen if the practice of exchanging fan mail among competitors should catch on in other fields. It might result in something like this:

"Dear Macy:

"Congratulations on the splendid success of your January White Sale. It was wonderfully done and certainly made our own sale look sick by comparison. Keep up the good work.

"Sincerely yours,
"Gimbel".

"Dear Ford:

"Just got a look at your new line of cars and they are dandies. From compacts to luxury models, they are unmatched in style and performance. With best wishes for your continued success, we remain,

"Admiringly yours,
"General Motors."

"Dear Cassius:

"Well, you did it again, boy, and I just had to drop you a note to tell you how proud I am of you. Even the skeptics will now have to agree that you are truly "The Greatest."

"Your best fan,"
"Sonny"

"Dear President Johnson:

"That was a magnificent job your bombers did on our bridges yesterday. They were right on target and didn't leave anything standing.

"We here in North Viet Nam are in the best position to judge the damage and we wanted you to know what good results you are getting.

"Kindest regards,
"Ho Chi Minh"

Spaak Has Good Reasons To Be Concerned About Future of Belgium

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In Brussels, Paul Henri-Spaak sadly surveyed the wreckage of the coalition which had ruled Belgium since April 25, 1961, and declared "... I am concerned about the future of our country."

He had reason.

For the differences between the French-speaking South and the Flemish-speaking North, which had plagued Belgium for more than 100 years of its 135-year independent history, finally had expressed themselves forcefully at the polls.

And Spaak, a one-time secretary general of NATO, vice premier of Belgium and a forceful exponent of a politically unified Europe, was in danger of seeing his own country divided.

Since 1961 the coalition of Christian Socialists and Socialists had labored manfully to compromise the antagonisms of the two language groups.

A compromise language law in 1964 had made Flemish, a Germanic tongue, the official language of the North, and French the language of the South. The law also provided that both would be official languages in Brussels, the capital.

It failed to satisfy the extremists on either side who demand separate Flemish and Walloon (French - speaking) states loosely linked with Brussels as a federated capital.

In Sunday's elections both coalition parties lost heavily to the extremists on the left and to the arch-conservative Party for Liberty and Progress.

Stalin Was Sick 13 Years Before Death, Official Says

MOSCOW (UPI) — Dictator Josef Stalin was a sick man 13 years before his death and should have been retired then, a former high Soviet official said Wednesday.

Stalin's dismissal was "vitally necessary" for the nation as early as 1940, before the German attack on the Soviet Union, Adm. Nikolai Kuznetsov wrote in a Soviet magazine.

Later, at the end of the war in 1945, Stalin promised to retire "within two or three years," Kuznetsov said. But he stayed on until a stroke killed him in 1953.

THE WORLD IN FOCUS

HEAVYWEIGHT BATTLE—This shot could have been taken in darkest Africa, but it was actually filmed at New York's Bronx Zoo, where the tough square-lipped rhinoceroses make their home. The rhinos still settle things the hard way.

TUNEFUL TOWER—Looking like a giant bluebell plant, this carillon tower stands in Essen, Germany. The gay 42-bell structure plays a medley of tuneful folk songs every hour.

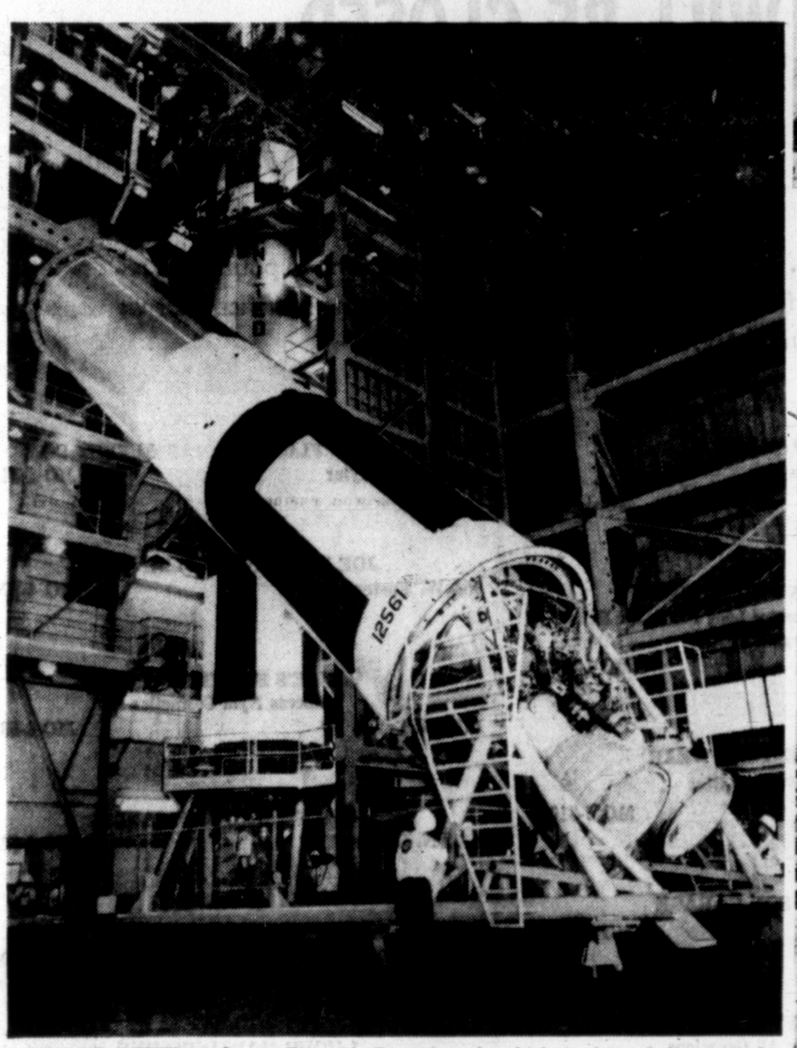

TAKING A BREAK—Pert Geraldine Chaplin, 20-year-old daughter of comedian Charlie Chaplin, strums a stringed instrument in Madrid, where she's acting in a movie.

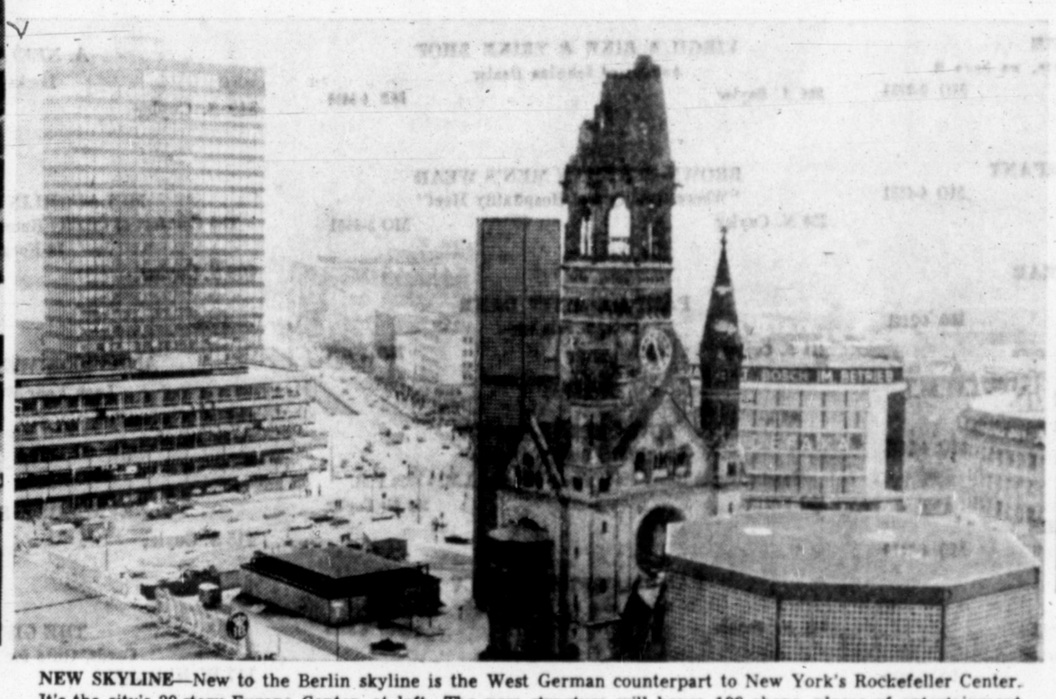

BUSINESS END—Strong fingers grip the business end of a rattlesnake in Austin, Tex. The powerful and plentiful reptiles pose a special problem in the Lone Star State.

SILENT SILHOUETTE—Lightning shatters the dark sky near Da Nang, South Viet Nam, as an American 8-inch howitzer sits ready for action. The gathering storm provided a dramatic backdrop for the big gun.

TWO AT A TIME—A Gemini-Titan Air Force launch vehicle is shown being erected in a vertical test fixture in Baltimore as technicians speed ahead with plans for future launches. The vehicle is scheduled to blast off later this year.

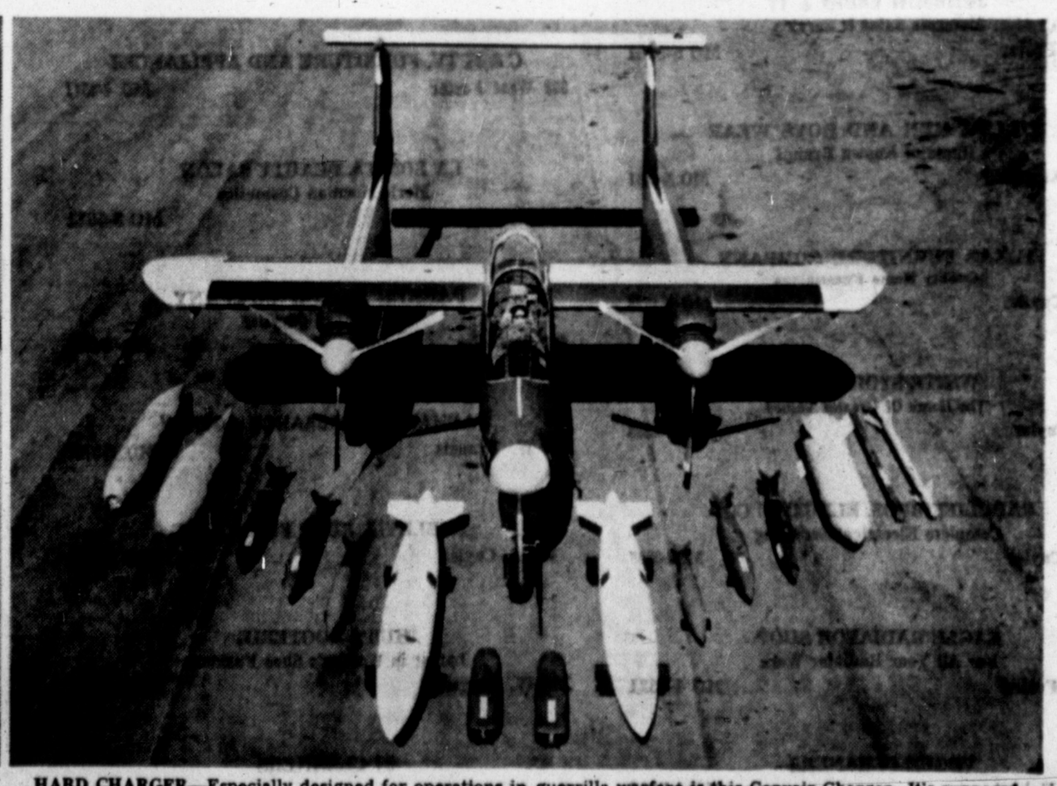

NEW SKYLINE—New to the Berlin skyline is the West German counterpart to New York's Rockefeller Center. It's the city's 20-story Europa Center, at left. The new structure will house 100 shops, places of entertainment and a roof garden. Much older, but just as famous, is the Kaiser Wilhelm Memorial Church, in the center.

CAN'T READ—The mighty Mississippi River can't read, so this stop sign in Dubuque, Iowa, didn't mean much during recent flooding in that city.

GALLOPING GRAB—While Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, left, grasps his polo stick in readiness, the center player deftly shoots his stick under that of a rival in an attempt to interfere with his sweep at the ball.

HARD CHARGER—Especially designed for operations in guerrilla warfare is this Convair Charger. It's supposed to have the versatility of a Jeep, firepower of a tank and the utility of a troop-carrying truck.

The Doctor Says:

By WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q — What causes blood clots and why do they kill some persons while others recover?

A — When the lining of a blood vessel is injured a complicated chemical reaction that leads to clotting occurs. When you cut your finger this protective mechanism prevents your bleeding to death. If, on the other hand, the clotting occurs because of a severe arterial disease rather than a cut, the blood supply to the part supplied by the diseased artery is cut off.

How serious this is depends on the size of the artery occluded, whether the artery is supplying a vital organ, whether other arteries in the region can supply the affected part and the general condition of the victim. Sometimes other arteries establish a collateral circulation almost at once and sometimes it requires weeks or months.

If a large clot occurs in the brain (stroke) it may cause death or it may cause paralysis from which the victim may eventually recover.

Q — My knee fills up with water and has to be drained about once a month. My doctor tells me that if he removes the tissues that secrete the excess fluid my knee would become stiff. What do you advise?

A — In some persons, predominantly young adults, fluid may collect in a joint, usually on one side only, every 7 to 11 days. The cause is not known, but in some victims it appears to be a food allergy because, when the offending food is eliminated from the diet, the condition clears up. Unlike other forms of allergy, however, antihistamines are of no value. In other victims this collection of fluid is a part of their arthritis.

Your doctor is right not to want to perform an operation that would leave you with a stiff knee. Injections of hydrocortisone into the joint have helped many victims.

Q — I have heard that chocolate is bad for persons with sinus trouble. Is this true?

A — Not unless you have an allergy caused by chocolate.

Q — Would the oil of turpentine, for medicinal use, cause permanent albumin in the urine?

A — Although oil of turpentine has been used in the past for worms and to relieve abdominal cramps, this preparation has been discarded because it damages the kidneys. The resulting albuminuria would be expected to clear up only if it was discovered before much damage had been done.

HOW TO STAY TAN

Plan to hold onto your tan this summer. A new dry skin cream works on the principle that a tan lasts longer if the skin gets a daily dose of a moisturizer. The cream cuts down on drying and flaking of sun-browned cells. This means your tan doesn't slough away so rapidly.

Printed Chiffon Is Cool Summer Treat

COOL TREAT -- What could be softer, prettier and more in the mood for a cool summer look than printed chiffon? Abstract print in shades of blue on white comprise the dance dress (left) from the Larry Aldrich collection by Marie McCarthy. Twin-printed ensemble (right) from the Malcolm Starr summer collection by Elinor Simmons shows roses blooming on a chiffon dress whose skirt flares slightly below its fitted bodice. Over it, a matching silk coat is cut on slim lines.

HGH Auxiliary Members Receive Service Awards

The annual meeting of Highland General Hospital Auxiliary was held Friday morning in Lovett Memorial Library.

Invocation was given by Rev. Donald S. Hauck. Rev. Hauck, minister of the week, announced the dedication of the new chapel would be Sunday afternoon, June 6. An open house will follow the dedication and the public will be invited.

Auxiliary members will serve as hostesses.

Following the secretary and treasurer's reports, the historian, Mrs. S. M. Goodlett Jr., stated the first year book was on display.

Mrs. A. D. Hills, president, announced 6,679 volunteer hours had been served by Auxiliary members over the past year. She then turned the program over to Mrs. E. M. Keller Jr., 2nd vice president, who presented pins as awards to volunteers with 100 hours of service.

Those present receiving awards were Mmes. Joe Autry, L. F. Batson, R. E. Dobbin, S. M. Goodlett Jr., A. D. Hills, G. B. Hogan, James A. Hopkins, E. W. Keffer, Travis Lively Jr., W. J. Morris, Irene Osborne, Kenneth Royse, Jim S. Ragain, George Scott, Arthur Teed, C. W. Thompson, Fred Tinsley, Mrs. A. L. Weatherred, Harold Weidler and Miss Ruth Huff.

Upon adjournment, refreshments were served by Mrs. Kenneth Royse.

TAKE IT EASY IN THE SUN

Tanning takes on a very personal tone each season. Whether you burn and peel constantly or turn a handsome gold-brown in two days depends upon your skin type. However, sun lotions can make a difference. New formulations with silicones and moisturizers screen out sun rays if you want this and the moisturizers keep the skin from getting too dry and leathery. One warning from dermatologists: constant deep tanning (that mahogay look) leads to rapid skin aging. Be prudent during your sunning days.

Pampa Rose Society Has Dinner Meeting

Pampa Rose Society had a dinner meeting May 18, at Jackson Cafeteria, with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Radcliff and Dr. and Mrs. Weldon Adair as hosts and hostesses.

Tables were decorated with arrangements of spring flowers. After dinner, the group toured the yards of the Milo Carlsons, Raymond Darsey, and H. H. Boyntons.

Members present were Dr. and Mmes. Weldon Adair and W. L. Campbell; Messrs and Mms. Wm. A. Bennink; H. H. Boynton, D. A. Caldwell, Milo Carlson, A. B. Carruth, R. E. Darsey, Glenn Radcliffe, Dan Glaxner and Mrs. R. F. Dirkson was a guest.

ESA District X President Installs Local Officers

After a supper at the Black Gold Restaurant, Mrs. Martha Hardin, District X president of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, installed the 1965-66 officers of Kappa Alpha Chapter.

Receiving their pins for office Mrs. Rolland Treadaway, president; Mrs. Frank Maher, vice president; Mrs. R. O. Johnson, recording secretary; Mrs. James Frazier, treasurer, and Mrs. Bob Miller, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Hardin has just returned from the State Convention, in Fort Worth, and after installation gave a short and informative program.

Those attending the meeting were Mmes. Rolland Treadaway, Frank Maher, R. L. Johnson, James Frazier, Bob Miller, Charles Beard, Howard Cruise, Irvine Hungerford, Dale Haynes, Billy Stephens, Mavis Bybee, Faye Coleman and Bob Yost, who received her jewel pin.

Mrs. Billy Jo Dunham was a special guest for the evening.

Torchbearers Class Entertained in Groom

GROOM (Spl) — Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Garmon entertained members of the Torchbearers Class in Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church recently. Games of 42 were played with Mrs. Ruby Denton and J. L. Cranmer receiving high score and Miss Beulah Shockley and Earl Andrews, low score prizes.

Those present other than the hosts were Messrs. and Mmes. Louis Ruthardt, W. W. McGee, Billy McKee, Glynn D. Harrell, Arletus Ruthardt, J. L. Cranmer, Ernest Lamberson, Curtis Schaffer, Mrs. Ruby Denton, Miss Beulah Shockley, the Rev. and Mrs. M. W. Reynolds and Earl Andrews.

Really in for Christmas are the "almost real" look of gold filled jewelry. Bracelets, some engraved and others set with stones, range in sizes from the narrow bangle to wide cuff sizes and are smart in combinations of different finishes, polished ropes, chains and beads.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Good morning, dear . . . is that your nightgown or are you going out to the pool?"

Dear Abby....

'Guts' and Brains Both Needed to Succeed

DEAR ABBY: I have been happily married for over 20 years to a self - made man who has had very little education. He is doing very well financially. Our sons are of college age, and my husband refuses to encourage them to get a higher education. He says all you need to get along is guts. I don't agree. Do you?

VAN NUYS

DEAR VAN: No. But if "guts" are a factor, an educated man with guts has a much better chance of succeeding than a man with guts alone.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married three and one-half months and I love married life. My husband and I get along fine except for one thing. He doesn't want me to wear a girdle. So far it hasn't bothered me because most of my clothes can be worn without one. But with summer coming on, I'll be wearing last summer's clothes and they all have straight skirts. I can't wear a straight skirt without a girdle. My husband says I don't need a girdle, but I feel sloppy without one. When I wear a girdle, my husband doesn't talk to me for a day. I love my husband and want to please him, but this has me stumped. I don't know why he is so against girdles.

GIRDLE TROUBLE

DEAR TROUBLE: Tell your husband that you feel better in a girdle and, furthermore, he can wear what he wants to under his clothes, and you'll do the same. Stay firm on that. (Maybe he was fascinated by a bowl of gelatin when he was a baby.)

DEAR ABBY: Is there anything wrong with a father kissing his son? Our son is almost eight years old and I can't remember ever seeing his father kiss him. My husband says, "Men don't kiss boys— it's effeminate." It's heartbreaking to see our little four-year-old daughter getting hugs and kisses from her Daddy, while the little boy watches with tears in his eyes. The boy is a fine, well-behaved child. He idolizes his father, but the resentment he is building up toward his sister because of all the affection her father lavishes on her is terrible. Please tell me, Abby, do you think it is so wrong for a father to kiss his son?

A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: No. Some fathers (particularly Europeans) kiss sons and daughters alike, which is normal and acceptable in my book. Only men who aren't absolutely sure of their own masculinity go overboard trying to prove it.

DEAR ABBY: Last month my girl friend's brother-in-law died. I met him four years ago and didn't even know his last name. (He was my girl friend's sister's husband.) I didn't think it necessary to send any condolences because I really didn't know him that well.

Well, for about three weeks after that my girl friend was very cool to me. She never called. I was always calling her. Then she finally told me that she was very hurt because I didn't send her or her widowed sister condolences. To tell you the truth I didn't even think of it. I've talked to different people about this and they all said he was only a brother-in-law and they wouldn't have sent condolences, either. I would like to know your feelings on this.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Your oversight was understandable and your friend is being childish. Apologize but be on guard for her next regression.

Huge Field For Pampa JC Meet

The cream of districts 2-A and 5-B will challenge the best of Pampa in the third annual Pampa Jaycee track meet, to be run off Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing through 3 p.m.

Jaycee meet chairman Win Cates announced that close to 300 entries had been received from Pampa, White Deer, Lefors, Skellytown, Mobeetie, Miami and Canadian, with more still coming in, making it the largest field in the meet's history.

No one city, including Pampa, seems a standout in the Senior boys' division, as most of the relay teams entered are mixed. Canadian has the strongest field in the intermediate division, with an all-sophomore relay team, with Lefors their strongest competition. The junior division should be dominated by Pampa, with team entries from Lee and Pampa Junior Highs; with the preps again a two-way battle between Lefors and Skellytown.

Entries in the younger girls divisions will also probably be a two-way battle between Lefors and Skellytown. The intermediate division will probably see one-gal gang Connie Parish again take the honors. Connie won high-point girl honors in the meet in 1963 as a Peewee, finishing fourth in the state meet and also winning points for the Pampa Track Club in several meets that year. Last year she repeated her domination as a Prep, defeating Cherilyn Porter of the Abilene Track Club in the 100 and 220-yard dashes and running unopposed in the 440.

Big question in the meet is whether there will be any competition for state mile champ Mark Westbrook of Pampa. State half-mile champ Freddie Banes of Phillips and McLean miler John Bible have both been invited, but are still question marks.

District 3-4A high hurdles record-holder Randy Johnston and his closest threat, PTC teammate Bones Bullard, will apparently have competition only from schoolmate Teddy Bird in the high and low hurdles, and will run a special 330-yard college intermediate hurdles against each other.

Toughest competition in the senior division will be in the broadjump, where Pampa High record-holder Little Butch Crossland will defend his Jaycee title against regional contender Roy Armstrong of White Deer and Canadian's Keith Yarnold.

Armstrong and Yarnold will team up with Eddie Kleibrink and Randy Elliott of WD for a strong sprint relay team that will be challenged only by a crew of Johnston, Dickie Sims of Lefors and Gerald Gudgel and Little Joe Kelley of Mobeetie.

Bennie Eckles, Canadian's one-man field events gang, will be favored in the shotput and discus, but will get plenty of trouble from Bullard and Bird in the highjump.

Randy Elliott, district 2-A pole-vault record-holder, will be virtually unopposed in his event.

The dashes, featuring the members of the two relay teams, should be wide open.

The prep boys division will feature a very strong crew of sprinters and quarter - milers, headed by Gary McCarrell of Pampa, Dennis Keith and Allen Stone of Lefors, and Kenneth Steinle and Howard Sanders of Canadian. Steinle and Sanders, who represented the Pampa Jaycees in the state meet last year, will spearhead a Canadian relay team that will battle McCarrell, Keith, Stone and Tony Pittman of Lefors, Pittman also a returning state contender.

Harold Haines, a 2:08 half-miler from Canadian, will be favored in the 880; Jerry Norris, an 11' 6" pole vaulter from Canadian, will top that event.

Doc Cornutt, defending meet champ and PHS and PTC standout, should dominate the weight events.

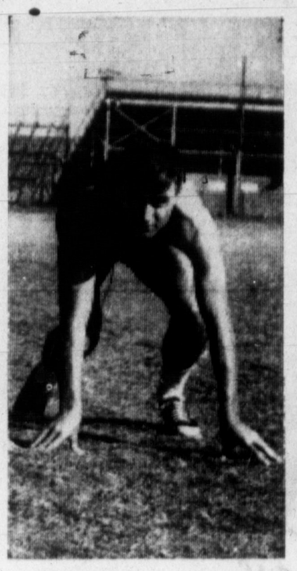

Otto Wheeler, White Deer's regional hurdles contender, should have no trouble in the highs, but will meet plenty of Lefors and Canadian competition in the lows.

In the prep boys division, Pampa Junior High's relay team of Phil Long, John Karr, Ken Noel and Jack Newsom is expected to not only take that event, but dominate the sprints and field events as well.

Senior, intermediate and prep winners in both boys and girls events will be eligible for the state Jaycee meet at College Station in July, with senior winners eligible for the nationals at Houston in August.

Pampa Track Club coach Norman Phillips will be the meet director, aided by coaches Eddie Clemmons of Lefors, Doc Bates and Arlen Kaiser of Skellytown, Frank Craig of PJH, Dwain Currie and John Ramp of Canadian, and other area coaches. PHS PE coach Pete Erwin and YCC director George Smith will be the starters, PTC president Jeff Cohane the scorekeeper, with a large crew of Jaycees also assisting. Miss Bonnie Grantham of Lee and Miss Sharon Washburn of PJH will judge the girls events.

Times of each event will be printed in tomorrow's News.

TALENTED TRIO — Three win-seekers in Saturday's Pampa Jaycee track meet include, at left, Gary McCarrell of Pampa, who will be favored in the intermediate 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes, and anchor a relay team of Lefors runners: Little Butch Crossland of Pampa, center, who will defend his broadjump title against a strong field in the senior division; and Gerald Gudgel of Mobeetie, who will run in the senior sprints and on a Pampa-Lefors-Mobeetie relay team.

New 'Monster' In Junior Loop

By United Press International

When American Leaguers refer to "The Monster" this year they're talking about Bob Lee instead of Dick Radatz.

"The best relief pitcher in the league," is the way Manager Bill Rigney describes him — and the records back him up. Records like 21 appearances in the Los Angeles Angels' 41 games, a 1.82 earned run average, a 3-2 won - lost mark and nine "saves."

Add 'em up and they make the 6-foot, 3-inch, 235-pound Lee the league's No. 1 relief star—especially when Radatz' current 7.22 earned run average is taken into consideration.

The 28-year-old right hander from Ottumwa, Iowa, who was signed conditionally by the Angels off the Pittsburgh Pirates' Batavia farm club roster in 1964, received credit for his third win of the season Wednesday night with a two - inning shutout relief effort in Los Angeles' 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

Lee relieved rookie Marcelino Lopez in the eighth inning with the score tied at 1-1 and didn't allow the Senators a hit the rest of the way. The Angels scored the run that gave Bob his third straight victory after two early - season defeats when Jose Cardenal singled in the ninth, stole second and tallied on Jim Fregosi's single.

Lopez and the Senators' Pete Richert each had a one-hitter through six innings with Joe Adcock's fourth - inning homer providing the Angels with a 1-0 edge and the Senators tying the score in the seventh on singles by Don Lock, Don Zimmer and Woodie Held.

The Minnesota Twins moved into first place when they beat the Boston Red Sox 9-7 and the Cleveland Indians tripped the Chicago White Sox 3-1, the Kansas City Athletics beat the Baltimore Orioles 6-3 in the other AL game. New York at Detroit was rained out.

Bob Allison, Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva hit homers to lead the Twins' nine-hit attack that dealt Earl Wilson his third loss against three victories. Minnesota ace Camilo Pascual was knocked out in the second inning when the Red Sox scored five runs but relievers Jim Perry, Bill Pleis and Al Worthington held Boston to one run and five hits the rest of the way.

The victory moved the Twins past the White Sox into first place by seven percentage points.

The Indians knocked the White Sox out of first place behind the five-hit pitching of Luis Tiant, who raised his record to 3-2. The Indians scored all their runs in the seventh inning on doubles by Chico Salmon and Max Alvis and singles by Chuck Hinton and Rocky Colavito. Gary Peters suffered his fourth loss for the White Sox.

Jim Gentile's 475-foot fifth-inning homer broke a 3-3 tie and the Athletics went on to hand Robin Roberts his fifth consecutive setback after four early victories. Bert Campaneris also homered for the Athletics.

Investigate Ag Lettermen

COLLEGE STATION (UPI)—Head football coach Gene Stallings of Texas A&M said Wednesday an investigation is being conducted into the initiation ceremonies of the school's lettermen's association.

The investigation was ordered after two members of the school football team were found chained together near a lake in Grimes County last week. It was part of the initiation into the "T" Association.

"We deeply regret the incident and we are taking necessary steps to see that this does not happen again," said Stallings.

The victims of the initiation were sophomore lettermen Harvey Ermis of Corpus Christi and Lawson Howard of Waco.

Grimes County Sheriff Dick Johnson said his office received a call from the caretaker at Yarbro Lake, 10 miles southeast of Navasota, Tex., last Thursday. The caretaker at the lake asked the sheriff to come and get the two boys who were chained up.

The youths' hands were handcuffed behind them, their feet were taped together, the chains were around their necks and they were chained together, Johnson said.

Golfers Seek Indy Payoff

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —Golf's touring professionals took on a new challenge today, a tougher course and a richer payoff in the sixth annual $87,000 "500 Festival" tourney.

A field of 144, headed by defending champion Gary Player of South Africa, took on the suburban, 7,037-yard, par 71 Greentree course for the first of four 18-hole rounds with $17,200 going to the winner.

Although there was no favorite, lanky Doug Sanders, former winner Billy Casper and Australia's Bruce Devlin were tabbed as among those to beat.

Devlin warmed up with a 3-under-par 68 in Wednesday's wind - and - rain - swept pro-amateur curtain raiser with Art Wall and Casper posting 69s.

Sanders, winner of the Pensacola and Doral Opens this spring, ranks second only to Masters titlist Jack Nicklaus on the official PGA money list.

Muscleman Joe Leading Braves

By United Press International

The trademark of the Milwaukee Braves is muscle and the fellow who wears that trademark best is Joe Torre.

A cinch to be named the National League's All-Star game starting catcher for the second straight year, the six-foot, 210-pound Torre is a level-swinging slugger in the tradition of Joe Medwick and Robers Hornsby.

A guy who wears out pitchers from game to game and rarely has a slump, Torre is hammering the ball at a .357 clip with 11 homers and 25 runs batted in. He now ranks third in the league's batting tables behind only Gordie Coleman's .383 and Willie Mays' .371 and many National League experts predict he'll finish the season higher than both.

Torre hit two homers and knocked in five runs and Felipe Alou drove in three runs with two homers Wednesday when the Braves pummelled the San Francisco Giants 10-4 to run their winning streak to three games.

Moved Into Fourth

They have moved into fourth place, 3½ games behind the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers, who bowed to the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1.

The Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Philadelphia Phillies 5-3, the Houston Astros whipped the Cincinnati Reds 8-3, and the Chicago Cubs topped the New York Mets 8-6 in 10 innings in other NL games.

A 24-year-old native of Brooklyn, Torre is seeking to improve on his 1964 figures of a .321 batting average, 20 homers and 109 runs batted in.

The slugging Braves walloped San Francisco ace Juan Marichal for nine runs and 11 hits in 3 2-3 innings to make it easy for Tony Cloninger to breeze to his sixth victory against three defeats. In three games with the Giants, the Braves hammered out 37 hits and scored 27 runs.

Curt Simmons pitched a five-hitter for the Cardinals, who handed Sandy Koufax his third loss when Julian Javier singled home Bob Uecker in the seventh inning to break a 1-1 tie. It was the fourth straight time, dating back to last season, that Simmons beat the Dodgers. The Cardinals stole four bases—three by Lou Brock.

Win Sixth Straight

Del Crandall, Bill Mazeroski and Willie Stargell hit homers for the Pirates as Tommie Sisk gained his third straight win and Art Mahaffey suffered his third setback. Frank Thomas and Clay Dalrymple had two hits each for the Phillies.

Jim Wynn drove in four runs with three hits, including his seventh homer, to lead a 10-hit Houston attack that kayoed Billy McCool in 2 2-3 innigs and tagged him with his second loss. Lee Maye also had three hits for the Astros and Bob Bruce pitched a five-hitter and struck out 13 for his second win.

The Cubs dropped the Mets into 10th place when pinch-hitter George Altman hit a two-run homer in the 10th. Lindy McDaniel, who blanked the Mets for the final three innings, received credit for his first win while Dennis Ribant suffered the defeat.

Homer Norton Dead at 69

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Homer H. Norton, whose coaching record at Centenary and Texas A&M enshrined him in the football hall of fame, died Wednesday of a heart attack. He was 69.

In his long career, Norton piled up 142 wins aginst 72 losses and eight ties. He coached the 1931 Aggie team to a national championship and led his clubs to four straight bowl games in the early 40's.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at the A&M Methodist Church in College Station. A second service will be held in Houston.

"Coach Norton was a champion," said A&M president Earl Rudder. "He accomplished great things as a coach at A&M and has been an asset to the College Station community for many years. I know I speak for the faculty and staff in saying we were fortunate to have had Homer Norton as a member of the A&M family."

Norton, a native of Carrollton, Ala., came to A&M in 1934, after 14 years as coach at Centenary College of Shreveport, La.

When he came to the school, there was a $236,000 debt on the athletic plant. By the time he left in 1947, the athletic department had a cash surplus of more than $200,000, brought on mainly by the winning clubs that Norton produced.

Norton's greatest success came in 1939, when the Aggies dashed through their 10 game schedule undefeated and captured the national championship. They capped the season with a Sugar Bowl victory over Tulane 14-13.

That Sugar Bowl game was the first of four consecutive bowl appearances for A&M.

But in 1947, Norton's team won only three of nine games. He retired under pressure, but remained one of the most revered names in Southwest Conference history.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

REA and 'Spite Lines'

Know what a spite line is? Sounds like a party line on which spiteful gossip is being spread, doesn't it? Well, we both guessed wrong. A "spite line" is a private enterprise power line that enters a field that is being "adequately" served by the government's tax supported REA (Rural Electrification Administration). We got it from the REA's own "Fact Book," all new edition. The facts appear to be hidden under quite a few thousand words of pure baloney. And remember, this expensive, profusely illustrated, 172 page book is put out at our (your's too) expense, the same way the REA electricity is.

The book starts out with a picture of FDR who "strove for cheap electric power for all rural and urban people," guess that just about takes in all of us. But the only part of the cheap electricity most of us have had is helping those who live in areas served by the REA pay their electric bills. And the funny part of it is that the government is now charging in many places more than the "spite lines," alongside of them are charging. This is one fact that they neglected to put in the book.

The book includes a picture of Sen. Norris, "Father of TVA," the great socialist from Nebraska who posed as a Republican and preached TVA until he got it and then went to work on REA. Next comes Sam Rayburn, Mr. Sam, who "spoke eloquently for REA" and helped push it through the House of Representatives in 1936. There is also a picture of Gifford Pinchot, bosom buddy of Teddy Roosevelt, who is credited with being the first one, 'way back in the early '20s, to start whooping it up for an REA program.

There is even a picture of a "spite line" in the pretty little book. The picture shows a house with two power poles nearby. One pole is "ours," the other belongs to a "spite liner" who wants to make a profit by supplying electricity to the people. All the REA wants to make is a loss, and, boy, they're making it.

The REA uses "spite line" like a dirty word, but it is entering the urban areas which are already being served by private power companies. In fact, more than one-third of its customers are now urban dwellers and it is going after more of them. But this isn't out of spite. Oh no, it is because the government wants to take over the entire industry.

The government borrows money at 4 per cent and lends it to the REA at 2 per cent, and we, the taxpayers, foot the bill. No branch of the REA has ever showed anything but a deficit, and we pay those too.

The prime purpose for building the huge TVA dam complex was to "control floods" by flooding all the best bottom land in three states. The manufacture of hydro-electric power was merely a byproduct, so they said, of the flood control project. But now the TVA manufactures more electricity from coal power than from water power, and by doing this it can run up even bigger deficits.

"Spite lines"—that is a good description of the entire REA, TVA, Grand Coulee, Hungry Horse and all the other vast governmental invasions of the electric manufacturing field. The facts are in the "Fact Book" all right, but they are inverted facts. It is necessary to reconvert them. Just read the book and take everything to mean the exact opposite of what it says and you will have the facts about the REA.

Are you a Teddy Roosevelt fan? Well there's an excellent picture in the book for you, too. The caption calls him "an early conservationist who 'demanded' public development of natural resources to benefit all people of U.S." And the facts support them, the Reclamation Act was passed during his administration. That's what got the government started in the dam business.

Under the picture of the spite line it says: "Spite lining persisted for many years, hampered rural electrification progress." You'd think with more than one outfit in the wide, wide rural United States that progress would be speeded up, not slowed down.

Our World, Too!

Disturbed by the dollar drain, the Administration is seeking to discourage American tourists from traveling abroad. Aware of its dangers, the campaign has been cautious, confined largely to urging Americans to spend their travel dollars at home, and disclaiming the use of restrictive measures. Nevertheless, it has already limited the amount of goods a tourist may bring in duty-free from foreign countries, and talk persists of a tax on every American traveler headed overseas.

"See America first" is a fine patriotic slogan, but it needs to be examined from all sides. In this connection Mr. Warren S. Titus, President of P & O-Orient Lines, North America, is worthy of being heard. This British steamship company, interestingly enough, brings 2.2 overseas foreign visitors to this country for every U.S. citizen it takes abroad.

"The right to see the world," Mr. Titus, an American citizen, argues, "is an inalienable one and distinguishes the citizen of the Free World from those who live uder a dictatorship. No man should be made to feel guilty nor should undue hardships be put in his way, if he wants to explore the mysteries of the Orient, for example, or make a pilgrimage to the Vatican.

Mr. Titus suggests that the balance in tourist trade, unfavorable to America last year by two to one is not so alarming as the figures might imply. Of the $3 billion spent by Americans abroad (as against $1.4 billion spent here and in fares on U.S. carriers), some 55 per cent was spent in adjacent countries — Canada, Mexico, Central America and the West Indies — whose welfare is closely bound with our own. Of the remaining 45 per cent spent purely overseas, he asks, how much was devoted to necessary business, health and educational purposes, and how much for pleasure?

U.S. travel dollars go mainly to Italy, France and the United Kingdom, all of whom have otherwise unfavorable trade balances with the United States. And overseas travel should not be viewed as an isolated item in international trade anymore than steel, coffee, or automobiles.

Be that as it may, when it comes to seeing America first, most of us do. Last year, more than 115 million Americans took their vacations or business trips within the confines of their own country. We are a nation on wheels.

And further, we agree heartily with the Titus dictum: "Travel, like charity, should perhaps begin at home. But like charity, it need not end there."

Irresponsibles On Campus

As we move into the college graduation season, students, faculty, administrators and alumni should consider with great seriousness the threatened disruption of the educational process.

There are those in this country who are determined to shatter the good order of college and university campuses and to turn halls of learning into centers of revolt. To understand what is afoot, one has only to take note of the words of one Steve Weissman, one of the original leaders of the "Free Speech Movement" at the University of California.

Weisman was in Nashville, Tenn. last month to address students at Vanderbilt University. His comments should be a warning to every responsible person connected with an institution of higher learning in the United States.

The rioting and "filthy word" campaign at the Berkeley campus of the University of California has shocked decent people throughout the country. The work of a great university was blocked by a hard core of student anarchists last fall and winter.

Weissman described the student revolts at Berkeley as "helping students on other campuses to change." True, but in what direction? In his talks with Vanderbilt students in the university auditorium, the School of Religion cafeteria and at the Presbyterian Campus Center, Weissman sketched his ideas of what a university should be. These ideas will appall anyone interested in the advancement of learning.

It is to be hoped that students who heard Weissman at Vanderbilt pondered the meaning of his words. For example, he said: "I am not responsible morally in observing a law in the making of which I had no decision."

This is a recipe for chaos. Consider what it means: the ordinary citizen does not make law; law is fashioned by elected representatives. All of this law is applicable to every citizen. He has a simple duty to obey the law, whether he be a billionaire, a street sweeper, a judge, or a militant leftwing graduate student. But Weissman says no.

The statement Weissman made at Vanderbilt in effect means he doesn't feel bound to obey the Ten Commandments, a state statute against homicide, or highway speed laws. If people thought and acted this way, the result would be anarchy. No one would be safe in his person or his property. The country would be a jungle.

Weissman's counsel IS the counsel of the moral jungle. And those who stirred revolt at Berkeley want that moral jungle to cover other campuses. Colleges and university authorities have a solemn obligation to students, parents, alumni, the public and to Truth itself, to prevent institutions of higher learning from becoming demoralized by those who care only for agitation and nothing for genuine education.

Weissman, in speaking at Vanderbilt, uttered gross distortions of reality. He accused universities of being "despotic." This accusation is not surprising, for the revolt leaders are trying to create hatred within an academic community, pitting students against faculty, administrators and alumni.

Now, it is an established principle in American law that no one has the right to shout "fire" in a crowded theater. Colleges and universities should bear this in mind when irresponsible persons, with no record of respectable or distinguished attainment, seek to use a campus as a political forum and an outlet for their special brand of social venom. This, certainly, isn't an educational experience that has value. The pathology of anarchism is a fit subject for study by social scientists, but a campus should not allow itself to be made part of a dangerous experiment.

In North Carolina the legislature has enacted a "speaker ban" law to prevent the appearance of communist agitators on college campuses. But not all the irresponsibles are Communist Party members. Some belong to irregular groups of one sort or another. What is needed, basically, is for each college and university to simply stick to the stated goal of education.

Idiot's Delight

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

All Taxes, Not Excise Only, Are Paid for Out of Income

By SAM CAMPBELL
Business Editor

Even the United Auto Workers has joined in the acclaim for the elimination of excise taxes from automobiles.

The reason for the UAW bosses' support, of course, is that they believe abolition or reduction of the tax will increase the purchase of autos which will in turn increase the number of automotive employes which will in turn increase the amount of dues the union takes in which will in turn increase the finacial power of the UAW autocracy.

In other words, as the union officials see it, everybody benefits by a cut in the excise, especially including themselves.

That is all very reasonable so far. But I wonder if the union people — not just the UAW but other members of the union as well — would go just one step further. I wonder if they would agree that all taxes — not just the excise only — are paid out of income.

That is to say, the sales tax is in reality an income tax in as much as you have to pay it out of your income in proportion to the taxable commodities you buy.

Likewise, the property tax is an income tax in as much as you have to pay it out of your income in proportion to the amount of property you won.

And the corporation tax is an income tax in as much as the amount of taxation is added on to the price of the product which is paid for out of the income of the consumer that buys the item in question.

In short, if the union people can be persuaded to perceive that all taxes eventually subtract from the income of the consumer in the same manner as the excise tax subtracts, logic would behoove them to oppose the other taxes, too.

That would be a definite gain.

Isn't it strange, though, how confused we can become over rather simple things? Taxation, in many ways, is a very complex subject. But the end result is always the same — a few more dollars out of the consumer's pocket. Wouldn't it be interesting to find out how much a brand new car would cost if not only all the excise tax were removed, but all the hidden taxes also?

If that were known, would the union come out for repeal of the other taxes, too?

What do you union people think the probability of that is?

SHORT MEMORIES

America is not only the youngest of all the great nations but often seems to have the shortest memory.

A case in point is the enormous Russian crop failure of 1963, the most convincing proof in 46 years of the utter inability of a communist regime to feed its own people, and our consummate folly in helping the Kremlin escape the consequences of this disaster. Another great communist crop failure could happen at any time. Yet the lesson of the one that occurred so recently will often be ignored and forgotten.

Another example is the murder of President Diem of South Viet Nam, which some believe American officials actually connived at and which certainly they did nothing to prevent.

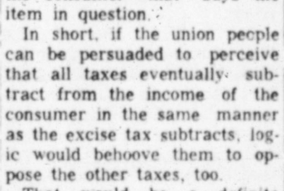

Diem is dead and nothing can bring him back to life. But we have never admitted the gigantic error as well as the deep moral stain of our policy toward him. There are and will be other Diems but if our memories are too short, we will make the same mistakes and perhaps commit the same follies in dealing with them.

The Second World War, which ended just 20 years ago, provides some of the most inspiring examples of heroism in all our history. But few of our children today even know the names of the great encounters where those heroes found their glory.

We need to remember both the good and the bad, so as to do more of the one and less of the other.

No good college would allow an incompetent or a fanatic to give lectures or conduct classes. Well, every part of a college or university is involved in the educational process. This means that the responsible educator will deny the use of any and all college property to individuals who come to the campus to spread hatred and disorder rather than to teach in honesty, professional dignity, and with respect for the law by which all citizens must be guided.

matter of fact

The first International Convention for Safety of Life at Sea was held in London in 1913 as a result of the sinking of the 46,000-ton liner Titanic in 1912 with a loss of 1,513 lives. The Titanic had only 1,178 boat spaces for the 2,224 persons aboard. Rules were made requiring that every ship have lifeboat space for each person, that lifeboat drills be held, and that all ships carry enough radio operators to maintain a 24-hour watch.

INTERESTING TRENDS

Last week, in Philadelphia, I attended the tenth annual dinner of the Institutes for the Achievement of Human Potential, where human developmentalists from many nations meet and compare notes on this new aspect of human progress. These scientists have done much to banish ancient spectres of child retardation, and to chart paths to new levels of human capacity.

These are men who inspired and helped us to form our new University of Plano where we are now in the last stages of our pilot study. Before leaving for Philadelphia, we gave our Plano students an IQ test so that I could present tangible evidence to the assemblage concerning our progress.

An IQ test is only one of the measures of progress which we are using to determine if lagging students will improve academically if they are taken back over their early developmental pathways. Reading tests, careful observations on coordination, and college aptitude tests are also used.

The world has always divided students into good ones, mediocre ones and poor ones. The good ones have gone on to successes, the poor ones have become dropouts and shifted for themselves in non-academic careers. The same world has always assumed that these students came in these categories, or by their enthusiasm or indifference became that way.

We are challenging that conventional view and with it the concept of the fixed IQ. The latter has been used, broadly and rather unscientifically, as a gauge of native intelligence.

In our pilot study, we put our students on a program that called for their going back over their first years of life to perform the acts which they had generally somehow missed in their developmental period. Our premise, taken from the Institutes, was that if the students went over this developmental pathway all over again, even belatedly, they would improve, not only academically, but even in IQ score.

After ten weeks, th.. certainly seems to be taking place. Less than ten per cent of our students failed to improve. The highest gainer was up twenty-eight per cent.

Our "word blind" student, who had been so mixed-dominant that he could not read a word, more than doubled his score in less than six weeks.

This, of course, points to the conclusion that it is possible to develop a youngster into being a good student, and even into possessing a high IQ. Actually, the IQ does not change with this regimen, but the capacity to express the real IQ is increased day by day.
