L. S. Walker of Quanah Goes to Fore by Win Over Shamrock Man

By FRED THOMPSON
Record News Sports Editor

CLARENDON, Texas, May 19.—Finding his early round opponents relatively easy, Frank Foxhall of Memphis, tournament medalist and defending champion, swept to the quarter finals today in the sixth annual Greenbelt Golf association tournament, proving that thus far at least the tradition holding that a medalist never wins the cup is all wrong.

But the most sensational golf of the day was played by Bill Rogers of Vernon and Dick Cooke of Clarendon. Cooke defeated C. Sanders of Childress in the first round of the championship flight, one up in 19 holes while Rogers was making Whitney Anderson of Vernon take the count, two up. When Rogers and Cooke came together in the second round, a stormy battle ensued, the pair completing the back nine all square and going to the 20th hole before Rogers came out the victor, 1 up.

Foxhall Takes It Easy

Foxhall defeated F. Mitchem of Shamrock in the first round, 7 and 6, taking it easy on the first nine with 41, and winning the first two holes on the second nine to cinch the match. In the second round he encountered stiffer opposition from W. A. Wilson of Clarendon, but swung around the first nine in a perfect par 36 to put him two up, and on the second nine he parred two holes and made two birdies to win the 18-hole contest, 5 and 4.

Meanwhile L. S. (City) Walker of Quanah, who barely qualified Monday, turned himself into a contender by whipping Charles Staggs, Shamrock, 3 and 1 in the first round, and defeating H. W. Myers of Electra, 7 and 6, in the second.

MOTHER'S DAY
ORIGINATED IN VIRGINIA

MOTHER'S day, in May, originated with Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia. The idea came to her when she was asked by the superintendent of a Sunday school in a Virginia town to conduct a memorial service for her deceased mother who had been prominent in the vicinity. The idea was taken up by numerous churches and schools until it is now recognized throughout the country. Mother's day today honors not only deceased mothers, but is a day set apart for a remembrance of love and gratitude to all mothers. Florists, confectioners and stationery dealers may use the classified want-ad section of The Daily Times-Record News to advertise their service for events of this kind. Vest Pocket Battleship Christened

By WILLIAM HILLMAN

KIEL, Germany, May 19. (US)—As if eager to get into action as the flagship of Germany's post-war navy, the "vestpocket" battle cruiser Deutschland escaped the bottle of champagne sent hurtling after her by President von Hindenburg today and slid unchristened down the ways to a premature launching.

Lower jaws in the crowd sagged and there was talk of an ill omen, but dignified naval officers and effervescent midshipmen burst into a salvo of cheers, and cried that the Deutschland's unexpected leap toward the water showed her desire to "get going," and is a happy sign.

The 10,000-ton warship, with heavy armaments and radical construction, slid down the ways in the midst of a dedicatory speech by Chancellor Heinrich Bruening, and broke the cord which tied the champagne bottle to her bow.

President von Hindenburg, agile despite his 82 years, lunged for the champagne, secured it, threw it. But his aim was bad, and the bot-

SLEUTH TRAPS HUSBAND OF 6

Accused Slayer of Woman Held in California

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., May 19. (AP)—A man identified by police as George W. Perry, alias Frank J. Moran, known as the "marrying brakeman," wanted in Eagle River, Wis., for the murder of Cora Belle Hackett was in city prison here tonight because the man "with the best memory in the police department" likes detective stories.

Moran, as he was known here, is business agent for the International Brotherhood, a Communist organization, and figured in an automobile collision recently. Inspectors James Johnson and Richard Hughes went to Moran's office to get his version of it. While talking to him Johnson, the man with the good memory, took mental notes.

"Bald head. Deep chin dimple. Ear lobes close to neck. Scar under right eye. One eye covered by cataract." These were the notes tucked away in the detective's mind.

Yesterday Johnson was reading a detective story magazine, all about Perry and the six women he had "married," only one of them legally, all about the murder of Cora Belle Hackett, July 6, 1930, near Lac du Flambeau, Wis., and a photograph of Perry was in the magazine.

"Where have I seen that face?" mused Johnson. All last night he pondered on it. Today it came to him in a flash. Out he went to "Moran's" office and arrested him.

Authorities in Milwaukee were notified and police here were instructed to hold Moran and advised officers were en route to take him back to Wisconsin.

Moran has a wife here, Maria Guitterrea, a native of the republic of Salvador. She refused to believe the things said about Perry and the man denied all knowledge of Perry, the murder or previous marriages.

Divorce Delay Halts Scheduled Re-Marriage

HONOLULU, T. H., May 19. (US)—The marriage of John McCormick, Hollywood film director and former husband of Colleen Moore, star of the movies, to Mrs. Janet Hamilton Gattis, of Washington, D. C., and Beverly Hills, Calif., did not take place at noon today as scheduled.

Instead there was an engagement party and those attending had a lovely time although certain of the principals appeared considerably upset.

Reason for the postponement was word from Hollywood that final papers have not been issued in the divorce decree obtained one year ago by Miss Moore.

TEXAS UNIONS MEET

Organization and Unemployment Problems Studied by Groups

EL PASO, Texas, May 19. (AP)—Problems of unemployment, working conditions for women and organization were discussed at meetings of various state labor unions here today.

The annual convention of the Texas State Federation of Labor recessed temporarily to give affiliated groups opportunity to thresh out individual matters.

Plea for Unity

A plea that organized labor stand firm against attacks from radical capital and unscrupulous persons was brought to the convention of the Allied Printing Trades Council of Texas by J. W. Parks of Dallas, president of the State Federation of Labor.

"Seldom has organized labor been confronted with more serious conditions of unemployment," he said. "We have weathered such conditions in the past, and will do so now, but we must stand together."

He denounced capitalists and politicians who set up false issues before labor to divide it and get its votes, and named the Ku Klux Klan, the "monkey question," and prohibition as examples of such issues.

"We must organize and allow nothing to disturb our solidarity," he said. "If we vote always with our economic welfare in mind we will have nothing to fear from big business or any one."

R. B. Gragg of Austin, state labor commissioner, told the same meeting that women and girls throughout the state were working for starvation wages and only a minimum wage law would give them adequate protection.

Labor Commissioner Speaks

He said a survey recently completed by his department revealed a girl with no dependents could not live decently on less than $14.72 a week, while 52 per cent of the working girls in Texas were getting less than that amount.

He sketched a dark picture of girls going without breakfasts, eating 10-cent lunches and wrecking

Quanah Re-Elects Resigned City Officials in Vote Tuesday

QUANAH, Texas, May 19.—Quanah put the three city officials who voluntarily resigned after their election April 19, back into office in a special vote Tuesday. W. A. Moseley again defeated Harry Koch for mayor, polling 250 votes against 137 for Koch. J. A. Stephenson and R. A. Kelley were unopposed for aldermen.

The three men resigned immediately after the April election because of city charter provisions requiring office holders to have paid all city taxes. They disqualified themselves and a special vote was called. All candidates in the April race re-announced.

An injunction plea, asking that Moseley's name be barred from the ticket because of delay in poll tax payments was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction last week.

The three re-elected candidates recently paid all back taxes into the city treasury.

Storm clouds influenced election judges Tuesday night to close the polls at 6 instead of 7 o'clock. Although the election attracted much discussion only a normal vote was polled.

Buckner Endowment Raises Gifts Of Burk Couple To $1,650,000

Philanthropic donations of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hardin of Burkburnett to Texas institutions in recent months rose to $1,650,000 with the announcement Tuesday that a permanent endowment fund of $1,250,000 had been created for Buckner's orphanage at Dallas by the Burkburnett pioneers. The first $400,000 was given to Baylor university about one year ago.

The endowment for the Buckner's orphan home, arranged last week, was made in the form of two 10-year investment insurance policies, one for $760,000 having been purchased by Mr. Hardin, and the other for $490,000 being purchased by Mrs. Hardin. Their checks for full payment of the 10 years' premiums in advance were tendered in Kansas City last week by I. E. Harwell, executive vice president of the First National bank of Burkburnett, of which Mr. Hardin is president.

During the ensuing 10 years, according to information given The Record News, the two policies will pay the Buckner orphanage an annual income of about $62,500. According to Associated Press dispatches from Kansas City relative to the transaction, the full endowment will be left at the end of 10 years as a trust fund for another period of 25 years. During that time the orphanage will receive approximately $65,000 annually, the dispatch said, and at its expiration the endowment will pass to the orphanage.

Income from the endowment created by Mr. and Mrs. Hardin will provide permanently for the care of about 500 children in the Dallas institution, it was said.

WAR OF ROSES

Wichitan Injured After Accusing Women Of Taking Blooms

After accusing two women of plucking roses from his yard, a Wichita Falls man was attended late Tuesday afternoon at the Wichita General hospital for a long flesh wound inflicted in his arm when one of the women employed a tire tool in the argument, according to Sheriff Perry Browning.

The two women were passing the man's home, Sheriff Browning said, the man accosting the women and accusing them of picking the flowers from his rose bushes. Declaring that they had taken the flowers from a vacant lot, the women continued on their way, it was related, but the man followed. Reaching one of the women's home, the husband interfered. Additional words followed, and the accuser slapped one of the women, who then used the tire tool, according to Sheriff Browning.

The injured man was taken to the hospital in a Merkle ambulance, but was released after having several stitches taken in the arm.

OIL CURB BILL LOST IN HOUSE

Rule Suspension Throws Measures in Discard

AUSTIN, May 19. (AP)—Rumblings of a special or an extended session were heard frequently in capitol corridors today as the legislature settled into the home stretch leading to adjournment at noon Friday.

Two proposals were pending in the senate, one calling for an extension to May 29 and the other proposing that the houses stand recessed from May 22 to June 22 and then resume deliberations on bills not acted upon at the end of present session. Doubt was expressed by several members in both the house and senate that either proposal would get very far, it being reported there were 80 members in the house pledged to oppose any extension.

Oil Bill Lost

While several regarded a special session as likely, it was generally believed it would not be called before next fall if the appropriation bills were disposed of by the end of the regular session. Representative Sanders of Nacogdoches, chairman of the house appropriation committee, said he believed agreements would be reached on the appropriation bills in time for action before Friday noon.

The house today suspended the 72-hour rule to permit consideration of senate bills on second and third reading. With the adoption of the suspension approximately 400

U. S. GENERAL BURIED UNDER FRENCH SLIDE

Marine Officer and Farm Pair Trapped By Avalanche

RESCUE IN DOUBT

Crews Battle Earth And Rock to Reach Living Grave

TOURS, France, May 19. (AP)—Buried alive in a cave in which men of the stone age once lived, Brig. Gen. Robert H. Dunlap of the United States marine corps was the object tonight of frenzied rescue efforts although hope that he had escaped death virtually had been abandoned.

An avalanche from a hilltop overlooking the Loire river engulfed today both the general and two farmer folk—man and wife—with whom he had been friendly.

Wife Sees Tragedy

It was estimated tonight two or three days may elapse before the imprisoned trio can be reached. Mrs. Dunlap, who with her husband, was preparing to visit the historic tower of Cinq Mars la Pile, nearby, witnessed the tragedy and was in a state of near collapse tonight.

Brigadier General Dunlap only a few weeks ago was transferred to Tours to perfect his studies of the French language. He and Mrs. Dunlap took particular delight in their acquaintance with the farmer, Denis Briant, who lived in one of the rock-hewn cave dwellings. They were visiting at Briant's home today when, from a nearby barn where Madame Briant was engaged in her housework, they heard her scream. Simultaneously there was a thundering roar as the top of the precipice above their home began to split and topple over.

The two men rushed to Madame Briant's assistance but before they could reach her they were themselves engulfed as the avalanche increased in volume. Virtually the entire hillside above the region was affected before the slide of rock, earth and trees halted.

Heavy rains were believed to have undermined the hillside and precipitated the avalanche, and a continuing downpour tonight hindered the rescue efforts.

Along the banks of the Loire in Touraine the cave houses, cut into chalk, continue for 100 miles. The fronts of these ancient dwellings are windowed like real houses and the recesses in the deep, cavernous rooms are prized highly for storing the wines which are famous in that region.

Orange Price Drop Seen In Big California Crop

LOS ANGELES, May 19. (US)—More than 17,000,000 boxes of Valencia oranges, now just coming on the market, will be shipped this summer by California orange growers.

Last summer 10,000,000 boxes were shipped.

Orange prices will be considerably lower this summer than during the summer months last year, due to the larger crop and lower public buying power.

The 1931 California Valencia crop is comparable to the big crop of 1929 with the fruit running to small sizes.

TEXAS ABSORBS BORDER LAND

Oklahoma Frontier Bill Passes House

AUSTIN, May 19. (AP)—A bill providing for absorption by Texas of the disputed land along the Oklahoma line and the 100th meridian was passed by the house today. Several amendments were added but little difficulty in obtaining assent of the senate was anticipated.

The land was declared the property of Texas by the United States supreme court more than a year ago. The bill provided the lines of the Texas counties in the eastern side of the Panhandle be extended to include the disputed territory. All taxes on the land, owing to Oklahoma or any of its political and subdivisions will be cancelled when the land is taken over. Vendor's liens on the land, however, would be valid in Texas courts. Valid deeds and mortgages would be recognized in Texas.

Persons now having title to the land would be given first chance to purchase the land from Texas for $1 per acre. A registration fee of $1 per tract would be charged and an additional fee of 15 cents for examination of title. The registration and examination fee would be used to defray expenses of the board and the $1 per acre would be given the free school fund.

Approximately 28,000 acres were involved in the suit between the states. The sales would be administered by the land commissioner, attorney general and the governor.

Title to a large portion of the land has been claimed by Gus Wortham of Houston. A suit to prove title is pending in the Texas supreme court. Wortham alleged his father filed an application in the Texas land office several years ago to purchase the land.

Wichitans to Ask U. S. Junior C-C To Approve Embargo on Oil Imports

A resolution asking the national congress to place an embargo on foreign oil and oil products will be sponsored by representatives of the Wichita Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce at the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce annual convention at Des Moines, Iowa, June 10-13, according to T. J. Waggoner Jr., president.

The decision to sponsor the resolution was reached by the board of directors at a meeting Tuesday noon at the Wichita club.

Although the resolution as drawn makes no reference to any particular product, but asks that congress enact "import duties on all the products of foreign countries coming into our domestic market . . . and that such import duties be placed sufficiently high as to exclude said products," its purpose is intended to place a prohibitive tariff on foreign oil and oil products, it was said.

Import duties are asked to "give said markets to our laborers and producers, as a permanent protection and insurance to them that the American wage scale and standard of living will be maintained."

The North Texas Oil and Gas association immediately endorsed the proposal following the decision of the junior chamber to introduce the resolution during the national convention.

Every effort of the Wichita Falls delegation to the convention will be made to secure the passage and adoption of the resolution by the

50-POUND ROCK FOUND TIED TO VICTIM'S NECK

Barney Crabtree, Member Of Pioneer Family, Is Found Dead

WIFE LEADS RESCUE

Body of Young County Man Removed From Cistern at School

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, May 19.—Weighted with a heavy stone tied around the neck, the body of Barney Crabtree, 35, member of a pioneer Young county ranch family, was taken from a cistern at the Deaf Prairie community school house Tuesday afternoon.

The body, badly bruised, was recovered from the well by Mrs. Crabtree, assisted by neighboring men and women. Crabtree's body had struck the concrete bottom of the well, which contained several feet of water.

In Ill Health

A rock, weighing between 40 and 50 pounds, had been attached to the neck by means of a wire. Dr. W. O. Padgett, Graham physician called to the scene, said death could have been caused by the force of the fall.

Mrs. Crabtree said her husband had been ill for a few days and Monday had started to the hospital at Temple. She added that she had watched his movements closely since he changed his mind about the treatment and returned home without reaching Temple.

The wife said Crabtree had started for her mother's home in South Bend about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, but had driven his car toward the school building instead. When Mrs. Crabtree saw the machine stop she called neighbors and hurried to the well, arriving just after the fatal plunge.

Pioneer Family

Efforts at resuscitation failed and the body was brought into the Morrison Funeral home here.

Crabtree, son-in-law to W. A. Corbett, president of the Graham National bank, was a prominent landowner and rancher in Stephens and Young counties and had spent most of his life near the South Bend community. The family has been a significant figure in the development of the section for many years. No reason for the tragedy Tuesday could be given by friends and relatives.

Crabtree is survived by his widow, daughter of Mr. Corbett, who makes his home in South Bend, and a brother, Mack Crabtree.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed Tuesday night.

NOTED LABORATORY FINDS WAY TO END "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

You can never be certain that you are not one of the 10 million people in America today who are victims of "Athlete's Foot" infection—an unpleasant, annoying form of ringworm.

That is because of the infection's comparative mildness when first contracted, and its several peculiar ways of showing itself. You may notice tiny, itching blisters between your toes. Or the skin may become moist and thickened. It may turn either red or white, or even develop a scaly dryness.

If you discover any one of these symptoms, don't wait for complications. Follow the advice of authorities and douse ABSORBINE JR. on your feet twice daily.

For it was proved by actual tests in a famous New York laboratory that wherever this mild, yet powerful, antiseptic penetrates, it not only curbs but kills the tinea trichophyton, which causes "Athlete's Foot."

So after every exposure to wet surfaces—in public places and even in your own bathroom—play safe by using ABSORBINE JR. on your feet. For the tiny parasites breed and lurk simply everywhere, and are always ready to attack. All druggists, $1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

GLAD TO TELL ABOUT KONJOLA

Time After Time This Medicine of 29 Ingredients Triumphs After All Else Tried Failed

A medicine is known, not for promises, but for the friends it has made and held just by making good. Well, Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends.

Let us see how this remarkable medicine works. Take, as a typical example, the experience of Mrs. C. H. Bridges, 1327 N. Thirteenth street, Waco, who says: "For six months I had spells of indigestion. I tried a number of medicines, but without results. But after four bottles of Konjola I am greatly improved. With two more bottles I expect to feel better than in years."

Mrs. C. H. Bridges

Next give thought to the grateful words of Mr. Thomas Moore, 314 Mission street, San Antonio: "Five years ago I began to suffer from kidney and stomach troubles and constipation. I often had to stop work for days at a time. Gas formed after meals, and I had attacks of nausea and vomiting. But after six bottles of Konjola I am better than in years. I have no more kidney trouble; food digests properly and I have gained in weight."

Mr. Thomas Moore

No wonder Mrs. Mary E. Jones, Lake Worth road, Fort Worth, is grateful for Konjola. She says: "For three years I suffered with neuritis in shoulders, neck and arms. Sleep was impossible. I had headaches, and my nerves were in a terrible shape. I have just finished the fourth bottle of Konjola, and am in excellent health, free from all pain and misery."

Mrs. Mary E. Jones

Isn't that the kind of medicine sufferers want and need? Konjola does work swiftly, yet it is best to take a complete treatment of from six to eight bottles. Buy Konjola in any drug store, and do not accept a substitute.—Adv.

HOBART PICKS JOHN COFFEY

Ousted College Head To Manage Schools

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 19. (UP)—John Coffey, ousted president of the Cameron School of Agriculture at Lawton, has been elected superintendent of schools at Hobart.

He succeeds Stanley Bryant who had served six years as the head of Hobart schools.

Coffey's election was the culmination of a long fight dating back to the last primary when the old school board lost an election there.

A slate of five men was given the secretary of the election board on the eve of the primary. No other names had been submitted. The move caught the old board members by surprise since they had been holding over year after year without an election.

An attempt to write their names in on the ballots failed when the court held they had not been properly nominated.

Junior C-C To Back Oil Embargo

national organization, Mr. Waggoner said.

Upon arrival in Des Moines, the first action of the local representation will be to form a caucus to organize backing for the proposal. Conferences will be held during the first day of the meet with all interested delegations present. Wide publicity will be given the cause of the resolution before the vote on its adoption is taken.

Backers of the move will carry with them an exhibition replete with facts concerning the proposed tariff, and will bear numerous articles of endorsement from Texas organizations and oil authorities. The North Texas Oil and Gas association will provide quantities of printed matter to be distributed to encourage the passage of the resolution and to explain reasons making advisable its adoption.

The Wichita Falls delegation will broadcast from a Des Moines radio station urging support of the proposal.

The United States (senior) Chamber of Commerce recently committed itself to a similar resolution to congress. No reference is made to a specific product due to organization laws limiting actions of the United States chamber to principles only.

A. L. Hecht, vice president of the local junior chamber, conceived the plan to present the resolution for adoption to the national organization. He submitted the proposal to the board of the junior chamber at its last meeting. Jerry Vinson, director of national organization, and Temple Shell, local first vice president, arranged the drafting of the resolution.

Four members of the Junior chamber of commerce here have given definite assurance that they will attend the national convention. They are T. J. Waggoner Jr., president; Jerry Vinson, national director; Temple Shell, first vice president, and Paul Hines.

Directors Tuesday elected Mr. Shell to be the official representative of the Wichita Falls junior chamber at the meet as national councilor. Mr. Vinson represents the Southwest as a director on the national board.

Mr. Waggoner will be in charge of plans to secure the passage of the tariff on foreign products.

Before the departure of the Wichita Falls delegation to Des Moines it is expected that several other members will be included.

More than 4,000 young business men, between the ages of 21 and 35 years, are expected to attend the Des Moines convention from every section of the nation and from every state in the union.

Other business transacted at the meeting of directors, consisted of the official acceptance of an invitation to the local junior chamber to attend the monthly luncheon meeting of the Temple, Okla., organization June 2. A large representation is expected to be sent to Temple, it was said.

Altrusa Club Presents Unusual Musical and Dance Program Here

Approximately 500 persons were present to see the "Texas Out of Doors" program sponsored by the local Altrusa club at the Memorial auditorium Tuesday evening when Misses Pearl Carlisle, Frances Brooks and Anna Bell Farquahar were special hostesses for the club. Margaret Davis opened the program with the reveille and 150 Camp Fire girls, Girl Reserves and members of the high and junior high school graduating classes joined in the grand march and led by Mrs. Wayne J. Holmes, sang "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

The Faith City band, numbering 60 pieces directed by Leo Underwood played all the accompaniments and gave special numbers between the acts.

Interpretive dances by pupils of Anna Mae Cato Davis, assisted by Mrs. Harry Gross, completed the program. Lighting effects were beautifully managed and the picturesque little costumes, designed by Mrs. J. M. Smyth, were artistic to the highest degree.

The series of dances included "Dawn" in a pretty chorus which was closed by two dainty little figures impersonating "Day" and "Spring." Charming costumes and dainty dancers brought out the bluebonnets, the sunflowers, the daisies and finally a rose and lily. Then came a chorus of "Rain" bowing the flowers to the ground and the "Sun" in a beautiful costume, brought them back to life. There were dainty ballet dances in interludes.

"Mammy Moon" was sung in a sunset scene by a group of Camp Fire girls and the Texas day was completed later with a dance of roses and an adorable bird dance. Texas birds of every color danced to the music of a flute and the birdlike whistling of Marion Beesley.

Fireflies and "Day and Night" closed the program and at the falling of the curtain, "Taps" by Margaret Davis sounded the end of the Texas day.

A Peace Apostle's Doom
Wilson Felt It
Gang Pictures
They Tell the Truth
A Salesman Prince

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Internationalists do not fare well in politics these days. Nationalism is strong, which means more wars. M. Briand, 11 times premier of France, apostle of peace, withdraws from the race for the presidency of France. He was too idealistic.

Important in the day's news, but few will pay much attention to it. The time is not ripe yet when an internationalist, who wants no wars, can reach a position of power. President Wilson, beaten, trembling in his paralysis, found that out. While all this is being straightened out in Europe, we should be strong nationalists, too, watching our defenses and remembering President Washington's theory of American government, which would be very good if we got back to it.

To the dispassionate observer, it is amusing to read of policemen passing resolutions to ban movies which "glorify" gangsters' lives, as they did this week in New York. The dispassionate observer recalls the recent revelations of a whole pack of policemen whose bank accounts ran into five figures on salaries of two. He then recalls also the revelations of speak-easies operated by the police—a condition still flourishing all over town.

Is it, asks the same dispassionate observer, the movies of gangsters, or the gangsters themselves and their abettors, that the citizen should fear? Instead of passing resolutions against cinema exposes, it might be more salutary if policemen took stock of their consciences and put a ban on their own graft-taking propensities. Fortunately this does not apply to all of them.

Movies do not set out to glorify gangsters. Hollywood knows, in the first place, that such pictures would not sell. What they do aim is to give a dramatic recital of what actually takes place behind the closed doors of city administrations. To paint gunmen as wretches utterly devoid of human feelings rather than cowardly, and in many cases helpless, pawns in the pay of stiff-shirted gentlemen, would be to paint the picture awry. Most of us approve of war pictures that show up the hypocrisy, cruelty and futility of war. We should approve of gang pictures for a similar reason. They tell the truth!

England's super-salesman, the Prince of Wales, urges upon British manufacturers the business methods of Americans. The ancient, backbiting characterization over the way we do things and advertise things as "vulgar" is royally disapproved. "Success" appeals to England now.

"I am sorry to say that as a nation we are behind in regard to advertising," the prince told his countrymen in an address at Manchester, England. "I have heard Englishmen say that the American way of 'boosting' goods is vulgar. That's entirely a matter of opinion. The fact remains, our friends in the United States get away with it. If we wish to push our goods better, we must take a leaf out of their book."

Success, no matter how "vulgar," excites envy. It is envy that has condemned us as vulgar, unethical rapacious, dollar-mad. All this is very evident now. England sees that unless she adopts our methods she must go under, industrially. The instinct for self-preservation is stronger than the sentiment of envy. England, too, wants to "get away with it"—if she can.

High or Low Wages?

IT TOOK almost a year after the onset of the current business depression before the advocates of deflation found their voices. The country had been pretty well sold on the desirability of high wages and short working hours; it is only recently that men of prominence have begun to assert that the depression will not end until wages are slashed and hours of labor are lengthened.

However, if it took a long time for this claim to be made manifest, there are plenty of signs that we are going to hear a good deal of it from now on. One by one, the deflationists are getting vocal. Further more, in one factory after another, they are making their influence felt very materially.

One of the sanest criticisms of this attitude was provided recently by Mr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin. Writing in the May issue of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen's Magazine, Mr. Frank remarks:

"Following the war, some of the more far-sighted leaders of American business and industry adopted a new credo that said a stable and widely distributed prosperity and healthy industrial development required high wages, short hours and low prices. This ran contrary to the naive business thinking of earlier generations that said low wages, long hours and high prices made for maximum profit.

"But outstanding industries throughout the United States proved by their balance sheets that high wages, short hours and low prices were not only good for the masses, but also good for the manufacturers. And we are in the grip of depression now, not because we followed this new credo of business, but because we did not follow it generally enough or apply it far enough."

Then, turning directly to the lower wages crowd, he adds:

"The inflationists of yesterday brought the stock market to collapse. The deflationists of today will bring our entire business system to collapse if they succeed in seducing the majority of American business men, bankers and industrialists to their point of view.

"To speak with brutal frankness—and the times call for that sort of speaking—the deflationists are, in my judgment, little men riding in big saddles, seeking to lead a business army to which they have nothing to bring except the strategy of their fear. They are big business men who have fallen short of being big business men."

Glass Houses

IF A LAW is passed in the near future restraining people from throwing stones, you'll simply have to blame the architects.

It's all because they have begun to agitate for glass houses. In New York one such model was placed on exhibition at the Architectural and Allied Arts exposition, and it was promptly hailed as the "future American home." In California, one Richard J. Neutra, Viennese architect, has actually demonstrated the practicability of the transparent mansion by building one there for himself.

At the risk of a pun, it would be no exaggeration to call these glass house advocates "men of vision." They look forward to the time standardized methods will enable the laymen to put together such a house within a week after it is started. The most attractive feature of the idea is that the house can be built and equipped for $4,000. This factor, more than any other, is likely to initiate the glass house era.

The Farmer's Problem

THE emergence of Russia as the world's leading producer of wheat adds just one more troublesome item to the list of things that the American farmer has to worry about these days.

It is not generally realized that a good share of the American wheat belt's trouble is due to the fact that Russian wheat was out of the world market during and just before the war. This led to a great expansion of wheat acreage both in the United States and in Argentina and paved the way for the present overproduction.

Russia's soil is ideally adapted to the production of wheat. The 1930 crop, aggregating over one billion bushels, proves it. And the point is that Russia was contributing no wheat at all to the world market a decade ago. This enormous crop, consequently, means a tremendous surplus, for which the American producer must suffer. Is it any wonder that wheat growers are getting gray hairs?

In Reply to G. R.

Dear lady, not so many moons ago
I loved a maid with deep sincerity;
I never dreamed that life could matter so—
That nights could shed such glowing ecstasy;
So, hand in hand, we walked the flowered lanes
And sent our castles hurtling to the sky.
Small lot I knew of heartbreak or its pains—
The gall of life had strangely passed me by.

So time went on and rapture did not fade,
We wore a magic cloak of Cupid's weave;
I thought that I had found the perfect maid—
But now I make sweet moan, and daily grieve;

(You wish to know what clouded skies so clear?
Like you, she started asking questions, dear!)

This one is making the rounds. A woman tiffed with friends over a bridge game. So she wrote to Mr. Work, the expert, who rates $300 or more for advice when he is lecturing. She asked him: "Is it proper for a player to complete the cut of the deck, or should the dealer complete it?"

Mr. Work responded that it was purely an optional rule, to be settled before the game by the players. He also enclosed his bill for $25. The woman was incensed. She went to see an attorney about the "exorbitant fee."

The lawyer counseled: "Had you not asked Mr. Work for a personal reply by enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope, he would have answered you in his column in the paper, so $25 is not too much for a specialist's opinion. Pay him, or he can sue you. And before you go, madam, my fee is $10."

A Form of Criticism

Broadway description of a bore: "He's like something in your eye."

Oop!

It happened during a rehearsal of a new show yesterday. A young comedian was going through his first role in a Broadway show. His sweetheart was watching the proceedings. The author was in a fret over the way the lad was stumbling over the lines.

"It is hardly believable," the author grumbled, "that ham has taken a week to study a prologue that I wrote in a day!"

"His memory," chilled the girl, "obviously isn't as good as yours!"

City Street

Is there no beauty in a city street,
No rhythmic fantasy in rushing feet?

Is there no thrill in seeing pigeons fly
Across a narrow patch of broken sky?

And when tall buildings cut the dawn into
A jagged free verse poem trimmed in blue,

Is not that gasping breath of ecstasy
As pleasant as to know who made a tree?

Take it from Jimmy Quirk—if Greta Garbo kissed a tree she'd start a forest fire!

Newspaperman Stuff

A carefully planned press agent stunt recently failed because an encyclopedic copy reader on a New York rag knows his zoology. An actress, returning from abroad, announced that on a hunting trip in Africa she had personally captured a live tiger for presentation to the governor as a mascot. She displayed a real tiger snarling in a cage.

The ship news reporter, into whose lap the yarn was spilled, lapped up the details. He had the paper's photo department head get plenty of pictures of the actress alongside the cage.

The story got as far as the copy desk when one of the lads reminded the editor that there are no tigers in Africa.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE UNIQUE "MAGANA"—The singular object known as the "Magana," or the "Clock of the Magician" consists of 13 carved beams, each supporting a bronze bowl projecting from the sculptured wall. Above there are 13 small windows from which hammers were once let down to strike the hours. The clock has long fallen silent, according to the popular Oriental legend, due to an evil spell cast upon it by the magician Sidi Maimun. The Mohammedan religious day has 13 hours, which explains the unusual feature of the clock. Just the same, the old guardian of the Bou Ananiya, who in vain warned me of the still potent evil spell, declared with pride that the "Magana" has no equal in the universe.

GENERAL PICHEGRU—The French general Charles Pichegru (1761-1804) who was a teacher of Napoleon I, for a whole year had only one hour of sleep a day (1792-93). This period coincides with Pichegru's campaign on the Rhine, when the exactions of the heroic campaign left the leader practically no time to sleep. Pichegru within a year was promoted to the rank of colonel, brigadier and general of division in rapid succession.

THE SMALLEST FISH—The Pandaka pygmea fish, found in the creeks of the Philippine Islands, is probably the smallest backboned creature known to science. It averages 6-16 of an inch in length, with a maximum length of 7-16 of an inch. The small slender body is transparent, and the eyes are the only visible features.

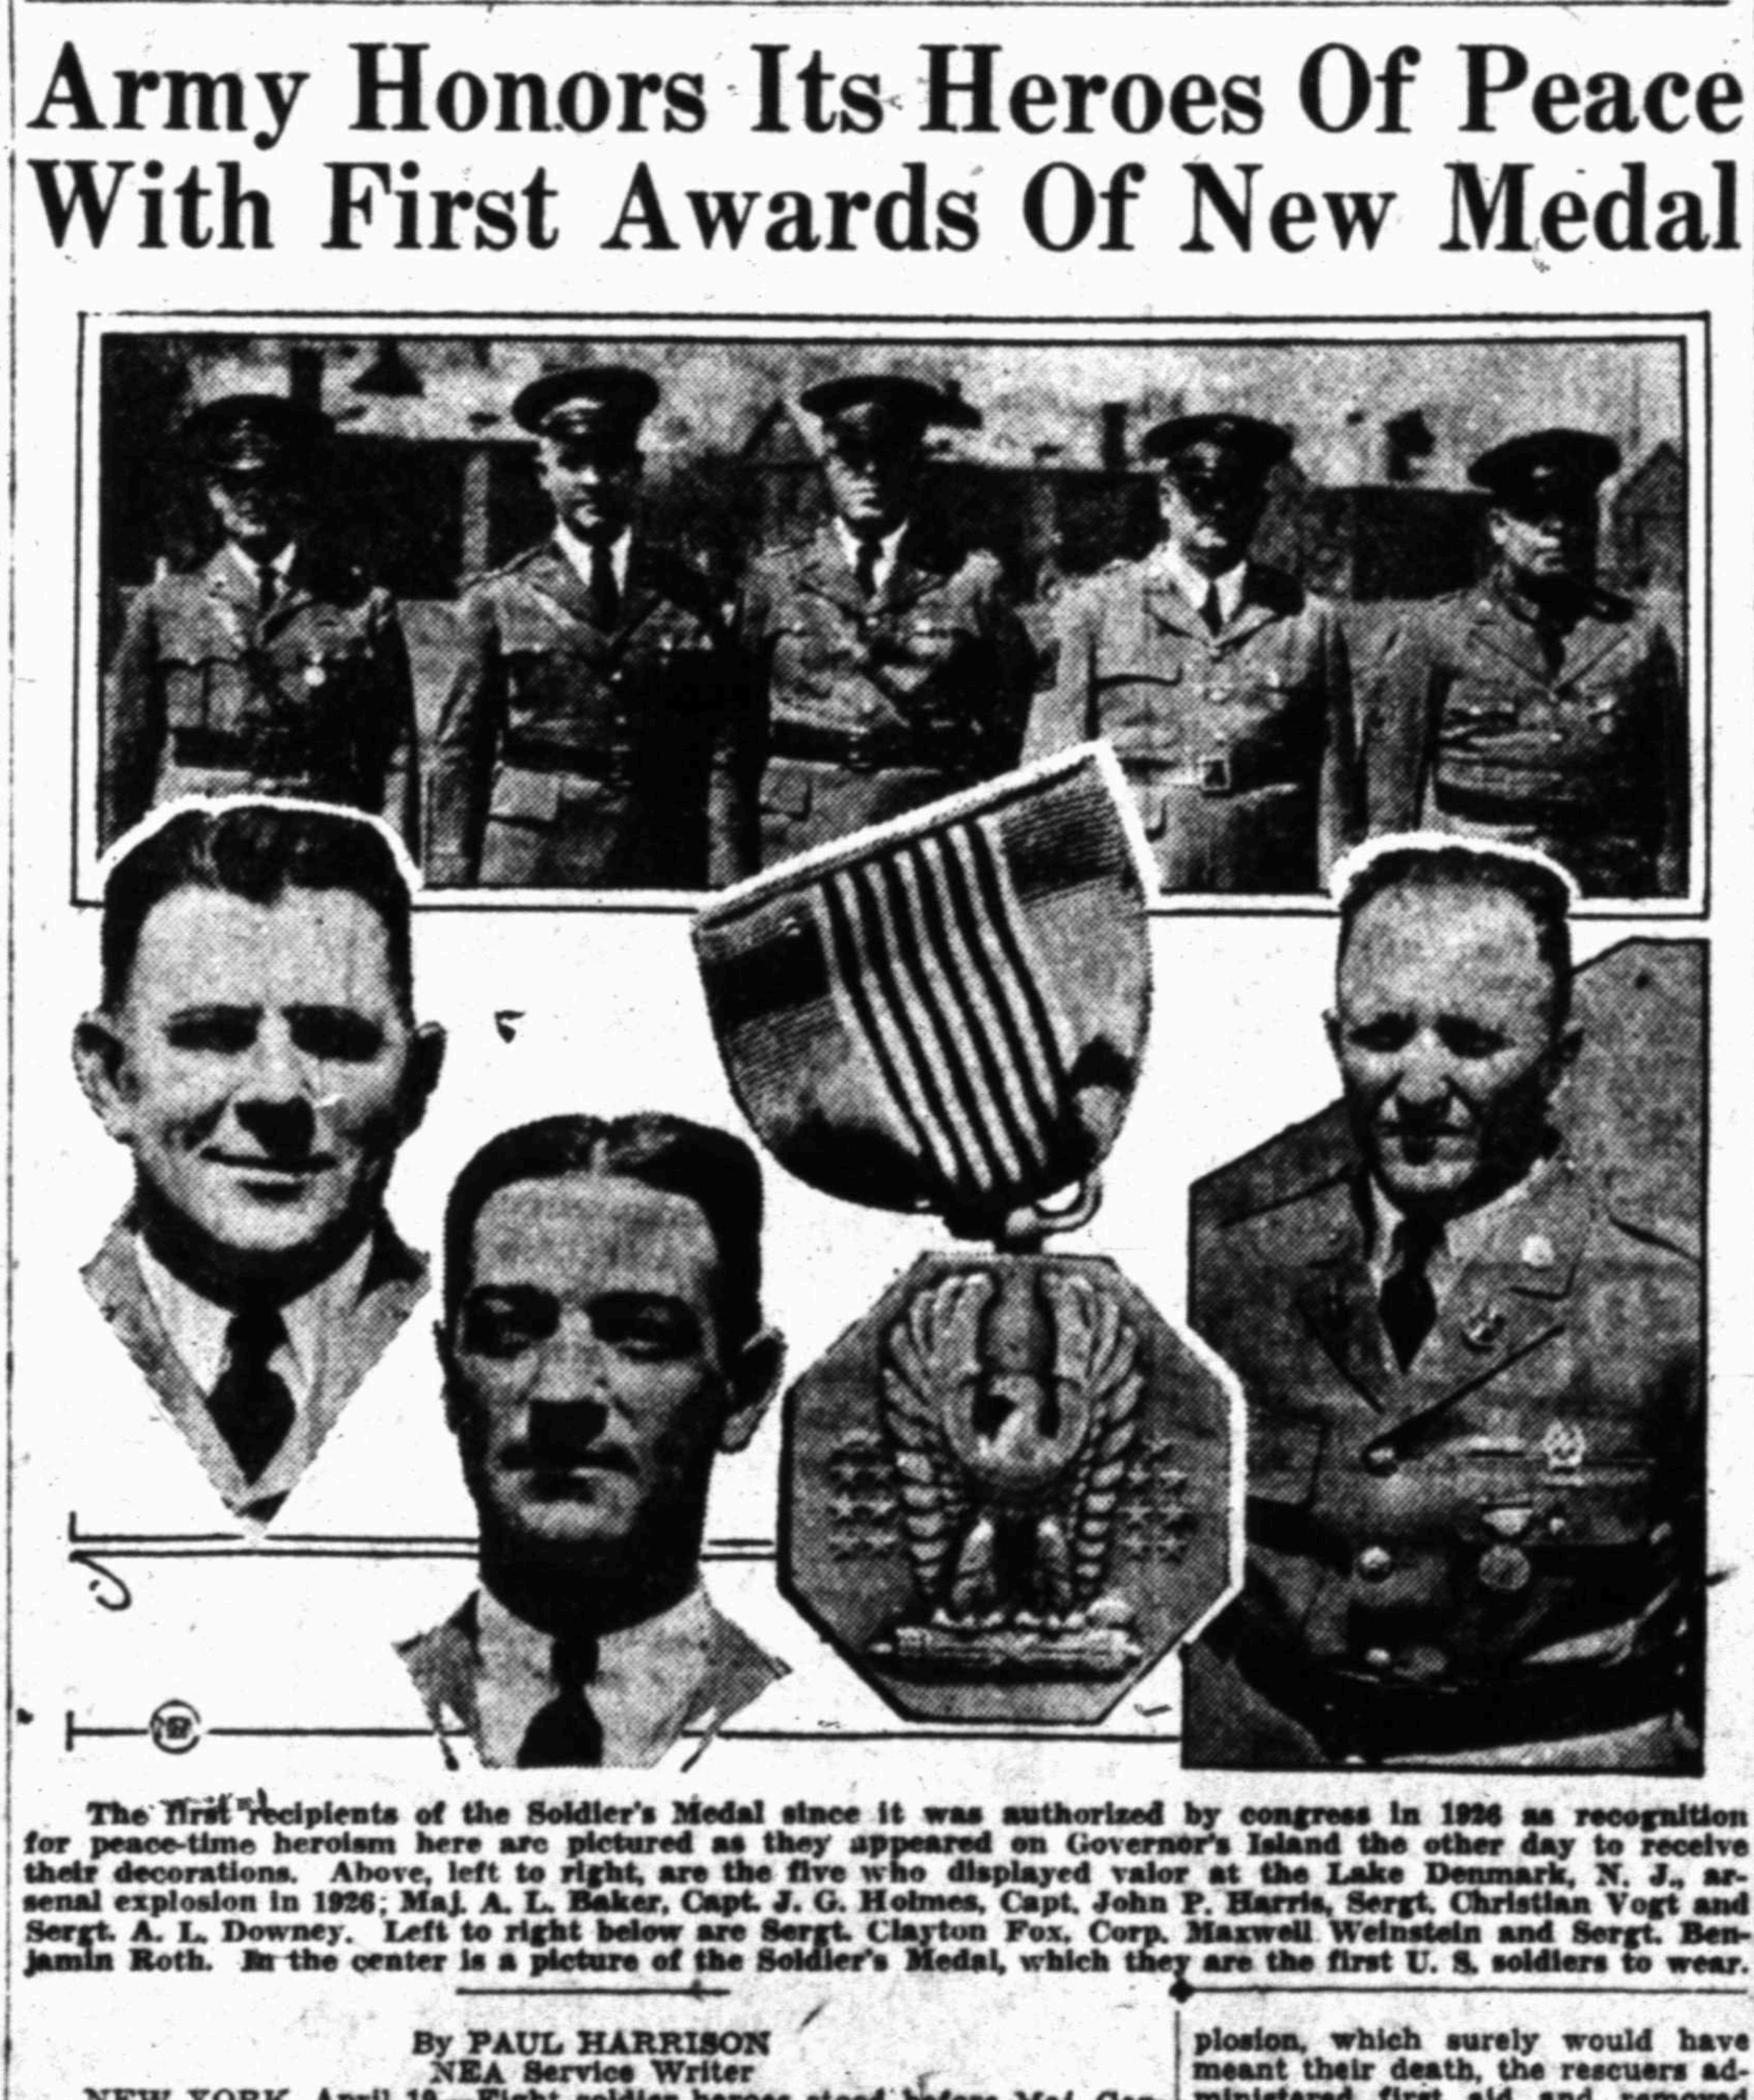
Army Honors Its Heroes Of Peace With First Awards Of New Medal



The first recipients of the Soldier's Medal since it was authorized by congress in 1926 as recognition for peace-time heroism here are pictured as they appeared on Governor's Island the other day to receive their decorations. Above, left to right, are the five who displayed valor at the Lake Denmark, N. J., arsenal explosion in 1926; Maj. A. L. Baker, Capt. J. G. Holmes, Capt. John P. Harris, Sergt. Christian Vogt and Sergt. A. L. Downey. Left to right below are Sergt. Clayton Fox, Corp. Maxwell Weinstein and Sergt. Benjamin Roth. In the center is a picture of the Soldier's Medal, which they are the first U. S. soldiers to wear.

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, April 19.—Eight soldier heroes stood before Maj. Gen. Hanson E. Ely at a military review to receive the decorations they had won. For each of them a citation was read, describing the deeds of valor which merited his medal. Yet these were not belated awards for wartime service. In fact, they have not been given even to the greatest heroes of the war.

The soldier's medal is the army's recognition of bravery in peacetime, and the three officers and five non-commissioned officers who received it the other day were the first to get the award since congress authorized the decoration in 1926.

For five of the heroes, however, the memory of their exploits was reminiscent of the fiercest fighting on the western front. Their soldier's medals were won under fire—during the explosions of the Lake Denmark naval ammunition depot, near Dover, N. J., on July 11, 1926.

Captains Joel G. Holmes and John P. Harris led one of the groups, along with Sgt. Christian J. Vogt, also cited, that entered the burning area to search for the bodies of victims. Lieut. George W. Bott Jr., was known to have been in the powder factory at the time of the first explosion. It seemed impossible that he could have survived, but the two captains and the sergeant went in at daylight of the following morning.

Exposed to Explosion

Throughout their search they were near burning magazines, and exposed to the frequent explosions of large shells and tons of smaller ammunition. At the risk of their lives they located the body of Lieutenant Bott, and with the greatest difficulty succeeded in removing it.

Two other heroes of the same disaster were Augustus L. Baker, an army contract surgeon and a major in the Reserve corps, and Sgt. A. L. Downey. Major Baker felt the concussion of the first explosion in his office, and rushed to the arsenal to aid the wounded.

Arriving there, however, he learned that an injured woman was lying in the road near the point where the two heaviest explosions had occurred. With Sergeant Downey, he started to the rescue and reached the woman, despite the probability of other serious detonations. According to the citation, there was a "continuous roar of exploding magazines, and the air was filled with flying shells, stones and fragments of buildings."

Just before the third major explosion, which surely would have meant their death, the rescuers administered first aid and removed the woman to safety.

Captured Fleeing Gunman

Clayton H. Fox was a corporal three years ago, and stationed in front of a recruiting office in Newark, N. J. Recruiting was dull, and Fox was a very bored soldier until he heard gun shots from a shop nearby. He ran to the scene just in time to make a flying tackle of a notorious gunman and escaped convict who was trying to make his getaway after a daylight holdup in which the storekeeper had been shot.

The bandit was still in possession of his gun when the soldier declared his one-man war on the crowded sidewalk. A few moments later he was a disarmed and discouraged desperado. And Fox, a sergeant now, has a soldier's medal.

Aided Byrd Expedition

One member of the Byrd antarctic expedition was Benjamin Roth, master sergeant of the army air corps who was assigned as a mechanic with the party. Alone, and on a crumbling ice ledge, he won his decoration.

"Just prior to the collapse of the Barrier Cliff," says the citation, "Sergeant Roth with exceptional

A.—In a fixed trust, the trustees have no leeway in managing the trust. Certain definite specifications must be followed. In a management trust, the trust may be managed, according to the discretion of the trustee.

Q.—Please describe a totem pole. —A. McN.

A.—The totem pole is a pole used among North American Indians to exhibit the totem figures. The totem pole is composed principally of half-human, half-animal figures, seated above one another, above which appears the particular totem or symbol.

Q.—Which causes more crop damage in the United States, hail storms or tornadoes?—W. B.

A.—The average annual damage done by hail is three or four times that done by tornadoes. The hail losses on 10 leading agricultural crops amount to $47,500,000 in an average year.

Q.—How does a woman become a professional golfer?—S. Y.

Q.—What is the lowest recorded barometric reading?—I. H. E.

A.—The weather bureau says that the lowest pressure of which it has recorded is 7.4 millimeters or .291 inch. This pressure was recorded in a sounding balloon ascent at Avalon, California, on July 30, 1913, at a height of 32,643 meters, or 107,095 feet, or approximately 20.3 miles.

Q.—How can animals live at great depths in the sea? What happens if they are brought to the surface?—E. H. S.

A.—Deep water animals are so constructed that the water is able to penetrate their bodies. Crabs which live on the sea bottom are full of water so that the pressure inside is the same as that outside. Thus when such sea-bottom creatures are brought to the surface they explode.

Q.—How long is it moonlight at the pole?—J. P.

A.—The naval observatory says that at the pole itself the moon is above the horizon continuously during one-half of each lunar month, and below the horizon continuously during the other half. In the winter time full moon occurs when the moon is above the horizon and new moon when it is below, while in summer time new moon occurs when it is above the horizon and full moon when it is below.

Q.—How long did it take Leonardo da Vinci to paint the Last Supper?—B. H. L.

A.—About two years. It was painted between 1496 and 1498 on the end wall of the refectory of the dominican convent of Saint Maria delle Grazie at Milan. It was originally executed on a badly prepared stucco ground and began to deteriorate a few years after its completion. It has been restored at least four times, and it is now believed that it will suffer no further injury.

Rev. And Mrs. Daniel Barron Honorees At Morning Coffee

Rev. and Mrs. John Daniel Barron who will leave immediately for Plano, Texas, where Rev. Mr. Barron is pastor of the First Methodist church, were honorees Tuesday morning in the parlors of the First Methodist church at a "Morning Coffee," with members of the Woman's Missionary society and officers of the Kay Bible class as hostesses and hosts.

The long attractive church parlors were beautiful with baskets of larkspur and roses and two great bowls of red poppies made glowing spots of color.

A short musical program was given. Miss Loraine Mathis, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. C. Mathis, played "Rodino," Beethoven-Kreisler and Nevin's "Rosary." Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., accompanied Mrs. Stanley Miles Raub, who sang three beautiful numbers, "Trees," by Rasbach, "An Open Secret," by Woodman, and "Mighty Lak a Rose," by Nevin.

Oral Jones, president of the Kay Bible class, spoke feelingly of Rev. Daniel Barron's services to the class and to the church at large, and Ralph deShong made an appropriate talk when he presented the teacher for the class members with a handsome suit of clothes.

Misses Marguerite Haynie and Ruth Downing brought in a large basket beautifully decorated with ribbons and flowers, which was presented to Mrs. Barron. It was full to overflowing with handsome gifts.

Mrs. Barron's response was so charmingly sincere and wholesome that tears stood in the eyes of the women who know and love her.

Rev. Daniel Barron has been junior pastor of the First Methodist church for a year and a half and has been teacher of the Kay Bible class for more than a year. Upon his appointment to be pastor of the First Methodist church at Plano, the board of stewards of the First Methodist church of Wichita Falls, released him from his duties so that he might have the larger opportunity the pastorate affords. He will preach at Plano next Sunday. Both Rev. and Mrs. Barron are unusually popular in the First Methodist church.

Mesdames A. W. Karrenbrock, Grover C. Bullington, Homer Lee, C. C. Collier, W. C. Cole, Dan Hardy and Dick Moore served a delightful plate with coffee to officers of the Kay class who had joined to honor their teacher and to members of the missionary society, including Dr. S. S. McKenney, Messes. Homer Lee, Ralph deShong, Oral Jones, H. H. Carson, M. T. Junker, and Mesdames C. C. Collier, W. C. Cole, Jason Walker, W. W. Man, C. E. Basham, E. L. Gerhardt, W. O. Kimmell, S. S. PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

There is a magic in music. Not that bromidic magic that is intended in "music hath charms to soothe the savage breast," for indeed I have known savage breasts that became more ferocious in their attitudes toward the world after being treated with music. And I might whisper that the accordion rouses murderous feelings in my own heart.

But it is of the violin and of song I am talking. I heard last week three numbers given on the violin by their composer and one of them said a thousand things to me. And just today, two women sang together, whose singing as nearly transcends me to heaven as anything mortal can. Two voices that melt into one rich sympathetic and beautiful quality. A violin that tells of all life's limitations and whispers of all life's hopes. I am proud of these people in Wichita Falls.

There's music spread all over the world since the radio came into being. So long as one doesn't use loud speakers, I have no complaint of that, though sometimes in an apartment one finds it something like a congregation where sections are singing different hymns.

I heard of a family that loves music above credit as I lunched at the Forum clubhouse today. A lady told of a family in one of her houses who hadn't been able to pay rent for several weeks. As she went to the house one day, she heard the sound of a victrola. "Well," she said, "you have a victrola now, haven't you?" "Yas'm," answered the small boy who had met her at the door. "We got it and pay by the week on it." —And the owner of the home said "suppose they do enjoy the music."

"It's a good thing if you just consider it love of beauty," said another. "There's a family here to whom I've been taking baskets of food. They always had two beds, but when I went down last week, I noticed there was only one and knew they needed the two. 'Where's your bed?' I asked one of the girls and she answered, 'Maw wanted a permanent wave, so she sold the bed and got it.'"

Every day I preach a love of beauty. But people can't live on it. Bread and butter or bread without butter is more necessary than whipped cream or pretty garnishes. Nothing is beautiful without a well balanced mind and no balanced mind is going to such extremes.

When I was a very small girl I used to steal every moment possible to read. I had my tasks to do first, because I came of a family that set a task regularly. But my love of books impressed an old maid aunt so much, that she lectured me freely on doing my housework when I got married, before I began reading.

In spite of that, I am a shirker; often I stay out with flowers or, I must confess, spend an hour with a book before I do the necessary sweeping and dusting and particularly the dish washing. I wish some one would teach an art—a beautiful art, in the accomplishment of dishwashing.

So why should I, deep dyed in sin, cast stones at those who love the pretty side of life so much they are ready to sacrifice the practical side?

Backache And Blinding Headaches

Mrs. J. Y. WELCH

Henderson, Texas.—"I was in an utterly rundown condition, partially due to woman's weakness. I suffered continually with severe backache and blinding nervous headaches. I was forced to take to my bed each month and, in short, was a nervous wreck. Recalling the marvelous results my mother had with Dr. Pierce's medicines, I decided to quit the doctor and give this treatment a trial. After taking six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I had gained 11 pounds, lost my headaches and backaches and have not been obliged to take to my bed in four months." —Mrs. J. Y. Welch.

Write to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., using the symptom blank which you will find in the Prescription carton if you want free medical advice. On receipt of 10c Dr. Pierce will send you a trial package.

W. M. S. Presidents Honorees Tuesday At Board Meeting

Mesdames W. P. Ferguson, M. L. Batey, O. T. Ailes, W. W. Cook, O. W. Harvey, S. E. Trevathan and W. M. Mitchell were hostesses Tuesday afternoon at Mrs. Ferguson's beautiful home in Country Club estates to members of the executive board of the Federated Missionary society when the business meeting was followed by a social hour. Special honor guests were presidents of the various missionary societies in the city.

Masses of lovely flowers in the rich coloring of spring made the setting particularly pretty and Mrs. S. E. Trevathan, president, after a short preliminary talk, opened the meeting with "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," sung by the group.

In the business meeting, Mrs. W. M. Mitchell read the unusually interesting minutes of the former meeting and Mrs. H. P. Ledford, house chairman, gave a house report that showed the efficient operation of the Day Nursery. Mrs. J. W. Ginsburg announced that $191 had been paid on membership fees and urged that all members pay one-half their pledges by June 1.

It was announced the South Side Baptists would conduct jail services the first two Fridays in June and the Wilson Memorial Methodist the second two Fridays. An interesting report was made by Mrs. Batey on the story hour and she stated that the Junior Forum, in a recent meeting, had volunteered their services for this work. It was announced that June will be courtesy month for the Grant Street Methodist church.

Mrs. Harry Weeks, grounds chairman, in line with the general theme of retrenchment, announced that she would use some of the older boys in the school to cut weeds. Mrs. G. R. Ellis' resignation as emergency chairman, on account of being away from the city, was accepted with regret.

Many Children Register

In Mrs. Fred T. Datson's report as superintendent of the Day Nursery, 1,456 children, or 251 more than in April, were registered in school. An average attendance of 56 children per day was announced for the month; Mrs. Datson talked of her work in the kindergarten where she is teaching the children the proper use of leisure in cultivating their eyes and ears.

Special plans were announced for the quarterly meeting of the federated missionary society to be held Thursday, May 28, at the First Baptist church. The theme of the day will be "Fellowship" and the Scotland Methodist, Wilson Memorial Methodist and East Side Presbyterian churches, the three new members of the federation, will be honorees.

In the social hour, a delightful refreshment plate was served to Mesdames J. A. Kemp, H. P. Ledford, A. B. Maples, Paul Green, J. W. Ginsburg, A. C. Turner, L. C. Tyson, W. W. Mrs. C. P. Burton Honored At Beautiful Forum Luncheon

A beautiful parting courtesy to Mrs. C. P. Burton, who leaves June 1 to make her home in Dallas, was a luncheon given Tuesday at the Woman's Forum clubhouse when tables were decorated with large bowls of double pink poppies, luxuriant clusters of blue and rose larkspur, red and pink radiance roses and shining Shasta daisies. Several hostesses had parties for the occasion.

In the informal meeting, the only program was the exquisite music given with Mrs. Walter Priddy and Mrs. C. Y. Tully at the piano and Mrs. Lucile Brooks Huff accompanying. The two lovely voices blended perfectly in Nutting's "Sing, Sing, Birds on the Wing," and "Oh Lovely Night," by Offenbach.

Mrs. Newton Maer presided and paid a gracious tribute to Mrs. Burton who has acted as treasurer, then advisory treasurer, president then advisory president. Mrs. Maer introduced Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin who read a telegram from Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, expressing her regret that she could not be present and that Mrs. Burton, with whom she had been so closely associated in forum activities, was leaving the city.

Mrs. Hamlin said that any woman who sees her duty and does it to the sacrifice of home, family and society pleasures, deserves extraordinary praise and stated that such praise was Mrs. Burton's due. During Mrs. Burton's administration, she said that four cardinal principles had been justice, courtesy, loyalty and sincerity and as a token of the esteem of the retiring and the new executive board, she presented her with a set of handsome rock crystal glasses. In the wrappings of orchid paper with pansies, daisies, purple ribbon and pink rosebuds, the box was a beautiful thing.

In Mrs. Burton's response, she said she was glad that Mrs. Hamlin had not made a sentimental talk for whenever she thought of moving from Wichita, her tears were ready to flow. She came to the city with her mind made up to love it, but stated she found that no task and spoke beautifully of the delight she had found in church, club and social contact here.

A delicious luncheon was served with covers laid for more than 40 guests. Mrs. John Nossett had at her table Mesdames Robert Basham, Charles Daniel and H. P. Ledford; Mrs. C. D. Shamburger entertained Mesdames J. H. Massie, Burt Broday and W. C. Boller. Other guests were Mesdames Walter Priddy, Lucile Brooks Huff, C. Y. Tully, Ralph Hines, Tom Martin, J. C. Mytinger, L. A. The witnesses, Addison Beaty, Leslie Woodley and E. C. Lawless, told of incidents just before and during the shooting of Tiller.

"You wrecked my sister's life," witnesses quoted Bell as shouting at Tiller as he fired three bullets into his body. They said Tiller pleaded for his life just before the shots were fired and attempted to run after the first shot.

It helped me so much that I continued to take it until I was entirely past the critical period of my life. I have given Cardui to my girls. It has been a wonderful medicine in my home."

Wakeful restless CHILD needs Castoria

WE can never be sure just what makes an infant restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked promptly. Just keep Castoria handy, and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't you should call a physician.

All through babyhood, Castoria should be a mother's standby; and a wise mother continues it in more liberal doses as a child grows up.

Ryan Classes Board Pirate Ship For Annual Closing Banquet

Special to The Record News.

RYAN, Okla., May 19.—Aboard a pirate ship, the junior-senior banquet of Ryan high school was held Tuesday night in the gymnasium.

The one long table was built in the shape of a ship, with a skull and cross bone flag floating from the mast head. Small ship models and low bowls of flowers were used as decorations. The center piece was an open chest with its treasure of gold and gems spilling out on the table.

The place cards, which also served as favors, were tiny cedar chests on which the names of the guests were carved. The treasure in these chests was dinner mints.

On an upper deck, almost hidden behind one of the sails an orchestra provided music during the evening.

The program was as follows: "Ahoy! Mates," by L. C. Todd; "The Topsail," by Robert Armstrong; "The Mast," by G. E. Alair, senior sponsor; "Pieces of Eight," by the members of the school board; "The Rolling Sea," by Miss Gertrude Lewis, junior sponsor; "Plunder," by Supt. J. E. Rogers.

What to Do for Appendicitis

Buddy Rogers, Janet Gaynor, and Harold Lloyd, these three stars have had appendicitis within a few months; appendicitis might almost be called the disease of the famous, since you read about so many famous people having it. Most cases occur before the age of 25.

Notwithstanding that the technique for appendicitis operations has been greatly improved, I still think that operations are not the best treatment. I have seen thousands of cases completely cured without operation. In this article I will explain the method which I have found successsful for treating appendicitis without an operation.

You should understand that appendicitis is invariably present in a chronic form before the acute attack occurs. It is preceded by inflammation of the colon (colitis) and by constipation. Due to the slowing up of the wastes in the colon the large intestine becomes poisoned and inflamed. The inflammation then spreads to the appendix. Contributing causes may be overeating of starchy, pasty foods, and kinks or adhesions of the colon.

The symptoms of acute appendicitis are: first, pain in the lower right side. The side is tender when pressed, the abdomen is distended, the abdominal muscles are tensed so that rigidity or hardness exists. Most attacks begin with a chill, followed by a rapid rise in temperature. The patient is constipated, has no appetite, tongue is coated, breath bad, nausea present. Often the smallest amount of water will be vomited immediately. Any kind of food will start stabbing pains and the patient may bring the right leg up toward the chest as the pain in the right side seems to be less severe in this position.

These symptoms will be found present in a true case; however, it is very easy to confuse appendicitis with many other diseases. When the stomach is prolapsed, into the lower abdomen and distended with food and gases the symptoms brought on will often be similar to appendicitis. Gall stones and kidney stone colic, pyelitis, peritonitis, and in women, diseases of the right ovary and tube, may frequently be mistaken for an attack of appendicities.

Appendicitis will often be very serious if not treated properly, but the cure is astonishingly simple if the following methods are used. The first thing to do is to give an enema as soon as possible, cleaning out the entire lower bowel. Never give a laxative or cathartic for acute appendicitis. Put the patient to bed and immediately begin a fast. Continue the fasting until all acute symptoms disappear; no food or liquid of any kind should be given to the patient during this time. If pus is present in the appendix it will often be necessary to keep up the fasting and enemas for several days, until the contents of the appendix are discharged. In the beginning it is a good plan to use the warm water enema every two hours. Also, use hot applications, either of towels wrung out of hot water, or hot water bottles, not over the appendix alone but over the entire abdomen, and continue this until the abdominal muscles relax.

I have treated probably more cases of appendicitis than any other acute disease with a cure in every case when the treatment was started in time. After the crisis the patient must correct the constipation and cure the chronic inflammation of the colon. In this way one may avert the danger of another attack.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question—Mrs. M. asks: "If there are only two kinds of anemia—"primary" and "secondary"—under which head would you place simple anemia?"

Answer—The term "simple anemia" is often given by physicians to what could be more properly called "secondary anemia," which simply means that the anemia is secondary to some other disorder which is more important, and the cause of the anemia.

Plums

Question—P. J. asks: "Do you recommend plums as healthful fruit when used in the right combination with other foods?"

Answer—Plums are a good acid fruit but should be used by themselves. In season they make a good noonday luncheon.

Tooth Extraction

Question—R. L. writes: "My dentist insists that five of my teeth should be pulled out, and that it would be better to pull them all out. I am 60 years old, in splendid physical condition, excepting that I am bothered once in a while with rheumatism (or gout) in my big toes. My teeth do not bother me in any way. In fact, they appear to be perfectly sound. From the X-rays I am enclosing, what would you advise?"

Answer—I have examined the X-ray pictures you sent, and find indications of either pyorrhea or trench mouth and this is probably the reason your dentist advised the removal of your teeth. The toxins responsible for rheumatism usually cause a lack of resistance to tooth infections and for this reason I believe it would be well for you to follow the fasting and dieting regimen, then consult a dentist who is willing to treat the infection locally. It is likely that the teeth need not be pulled. Judging from your X-ray photographs, there is possibly one dead tooth, and if it is actually dead it should be removed.

OL' GAWGE PAYNE'S STRATEGY AND SELPH'S BAT BEAT SPUDS

BUFFS EVEN UP SERIES, 4 TO 3

Houston Second Baseman Hammers in the Runs

By AL PARKER

Ol' Rubber Arm George Payne teamed up with Carey Selph, the wind and a lot of strategy that worked to perfection to whip the Spudders, 4 to 3, in 10 innings yesterday at Athletic park and to even the series for the Buffs at one victory for each club. For eight innings Ol' George relied mainly on the wind to stop the Spudders. He chunked the ball down the middle and let the boys blaze away into the teeth of the inblowing wind; his outfield did the rest. He entrusted to Selph the task of driving in enough runs to win and the second baseman delivered to the extent of sending in all but one of Houston's counters with three of his four hits off Bob Cooney and Forest Pressnell.

GEYGAN GOES

Jim Geygan, veteran utility player of the Spudders, was given his outright release Tuesday, according to announcement of President William E. Huff. Geygan came to the Spudders shortly after the start of the 1930 season, filling in many roles during the campaign and earning a warm spot in the hearts of the fans with a happy faculty for delivering often and effectively as a pinch hitter. He was used at second base at the start of the season, but failed to reach his 1930 batting form and has never been able to get back into the line-up since Bear Allday's installation as the regular second baseman.

It was only by virtue of a rally similar to that which won the opening game for the home cause that sent the contest into extra innings and made it another real thriller. Payne carried a 3 to 1 lead into the ninth that required a bit of strategical stuff on the parts of the Spudders to overcome.

Stanton started the drive with a single past third and Gullic caught the defense entirely unawares with a perfect bunt between third and the box. The bases were full with none out when Payne failed to field Badgro's sacrifice bunt.

Bunts Count Heavily

There was nothing strategical about Fuss' wallop. He simply waded into the first pitch and socked it into left center, scoring Stanton and Gullic with the tying runs and sending Badgro to third. Fuss took second on the throw. Scharein was passed to fill the bases and the move worked perfectly when Bryant fell into the trap. He hit to Selph for a double play via the plate and hopes of ending it then, and there went aglittering when Pressnell fanned for the third out.

Bases on balls were a pain in the neck to the Spudders all afternoon and it was a walk that meant Pressnell's undoing in the tenth. He passed Hock, first up, and a sacrifice and an out brought up the terrible Selph again. He stole a leaf from Gullic's book and bunted safely, Pressnell doing well to make it a close play at first and Hock scampering in with the winning run.

The Spudders were not entirely through, however, and went down after a brave try in the tenth. Garms drew a walk and Allday sacrificed him to second. Stanton's effort was a line drive to Hock at third, and it was all over when Gullic watched two strikes over after drawing Payne into a three and one count.

Cooney Pitches Well

Bob Cooney had pitched well until he was removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth, but two of the three passes he issued the Buffs were twisted into runs, the first coming in the fourth. Sturdy was the recipient of the walk. Peel sacrificed and Selph singled to center for the run.

The Spudders had scored in the second on doubles by Fuss and Bryant, and though they hammered the ball hard from then on it was not until the ninth round splurge that they scored again. Payne was content to sock his fast one down the groove and let the boys drive it into the wind. In nine innings his outfield had 11 putouts, mute testimony as to the effectiveness of the wind in cutting down hard wallops from Spudder bats.

Houston took the lead in the sixth on doubles by Sturdy and Selph and added another in the seventh on Carey's single, a pass to Sanders and Hock's roller that took a high hop over Garms' head. In the sixth Gullic doubled Selph at the plate with a beautiful throw after taking Medwick's fly.

Selph not only provided the Buffs' batting punch, but he started two late inning double plays that killed off Spudder chances. Cooney departed from the skirmish when he was first up in the eighth to permit Walter Euller to make his bow with a pinch single to right. Selph then came up with a sparkling stop of Garms' hard smash near the bag and converted it into a double play. And it was Selph who sounded the death knell of Spudder hopes by starting the ninth inning double play.

It was another whole of a ball game and the brave ninth inning rally removed much of the sting of defeat. The Spudders and the Buffs conclude their warfare this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

George Voigt Last Yankee in Tourney

WESTWARD HO!, DEVON, England, May 19. (AP)—George Voigt today advanced to the fourth round of the British amateur golf championship as the sole survivor of the delegation of 15 American golfers.

The shaky manner in which Voigt today eliminated J. R. Abercrombie, middle aged Liverpool business man, 2 and 1, caused his championship stock to drop several points.

With the field reduced to 32, Voigt faces two matches tomorrow, the first against Bernard Darwin, the golfer-writer, and the second, if he wins, probably against young Syd Roper, who put up a great fight against Bobby Jones at St. Andrews last year.

If Voigt dispatches both he will be in the quarterfinals among the last eight tomorrow night.

Back-to-Farm Move Fails to Dint Dizzy Dean's Drive

Recent Big Leaguer Still Says He's Good and He Proves It

By BILL PARKER

DALLAS, May 19.—Being shoved downstairs, in this case from the St. Louis Cardinals to the Houston Buffaloes of the Texas league, certainly has not curtailed Jerome "Dizzy" Dean's effective pitching—nor has it shattered his idea that he is baseball's grandest gift to the pitching mound.

Dean, who joined the Buffaloes last year after several campaigns on San Antonio sandlots, and who was pitching for the Cardinals before the close of last season, reported to the Cardinals this season, ready to rank as number one flinger on the Cardinal staff. The Art "Whataman" Shires of the mound received reams of publicity until recently when the alleged great Dean found himself on a train en route to Houston—shoved downstairs just when he was ready to make the majors forget Alexander, Johnson and other great hurlers.

Dispatches from St. Louis said Cardinal moguls returned Dean because the Redbirds had too many good pitchers. That statement burned Dean down. He has not forgot it as he goes through the Texas league dealing misery to the opposition.

The elongated Texan who failed to make the grade under the big tent, stepped off a train in Houston at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, May 3. Within three hours he had pitched against and defeated the Wichita Falls Spudder 3-0, allowing three hits.

Dean won his fifth straight May 17 when he let the Dallas Steers down with five hits for a 7-1 win. It was in this game that Dean proved he can take it and give it. He finished a poor second in a fist scrimmage with Alfred Todd, Dallas catcher. Dean insisted in dusting Todd off after Todd had previously tripled off him. Dusting off Todd was Dean's first mistake since he rejoined the Texas leaguers.

"Well, it loks like the master of the mound is a good catcher as well as a pitcher," Dean said. "That guy Todd is almost as good a fighter as I am a pitcher, so that makes us even. He won the fight and I won the ball game, and the game is the little thing that wins pennants."

Within 16 days after his return to the Texas league, Dean worked in six games—pitched 41 innings, allowed 21 hits, four runs and won five consecutive games.

BOSTON, May 19. (AP)—An eight-run attack in the first inning which drove Guy Bush from the mound and continued against Sheriff Blake gave the Braves a sufficient lead to take the series opener from Chicago today, 9 to 5.

Veterans of 1930 Team Capture 6-0 Verdict on New Coyotes in Contest

By MACK TURNER

A shifting, running and plunging attack was opened up Tuesday afternoon by the Boiler Makers, stars of the 1930 Coyote machine and the Old Timers captured a 6 to 0 verdict over the Coyotes of the coming football season. Harlan Ray was the outstanding star of the game with his shifting running thrust off tackles and wide sweeping end runs for many gains. It was Ray who carried the ball over for the lone touchdown of the game early in the third quarter.

The Boiler Makers kicked off to the Coyotes who marched down the field to the Boiler Makers' 35-yard line for the first real threat of the game made by the Coyotes. With Jenkins and Withrow carrying the brunt of the onslaugh the Coyotes were met with a penalty of 15 yards. Then Harlan Ray opened his sensational play by leaping high into the air to snare a Coyote pass just as the quarter ended.

Veterans Open Drive

The Boiler Makers started crashing down the field behind Ray and Captain Chick Holden. Johnny White broke free around right end for a neat 20-yard dash to the 15-yard line. Chick Holden crashed his way through the center of the line for six yards before being stopped by a mass of Coyote linesmen. Behind perfect enterference, little Danny Cox crashed through the Coyote right tackle for eight yards and a first down on the Coyote one-yard line. The pass back from center was fumbled, but Ray picked up the bounding pigskin on his own 10-yard line, sidestepped, twisted and stiff armed his way through the Coyotes, circled the left end of the line and went over standing up for the lone touchdown of the day. They failed to make the extra point.

The Coyotes made their second and last threat at the goal in the second quarter, and the day was saved when Brandon made a beautiful catch of a forward pass from Capt. Benny Withrow on the 25-yard line.

Withrow Covered

Capt. Benny Withrow, the Coyote terror of 1930 and captain of the 1931 Coyotes, was covered on almost every play by the Boiler Makers who knew the hard hitting attack of the chunky little Coyote idol and as a result, Withrow was unable to get away for any long gains, but he made his share of the short ones through the line in the first half. Both clubs resorted to a running attack with the first punt of the game not coming until early in the final quarter.

Coach Barry Holton sent his junior high school graduate backs in the game in the last half with Creecy, Powell and Stengel getting their share of the glory in the last half. The Boiler Makers were making a strong drive to the goal in the closing minutes of the game, getting a first down on the Coyote 5-yard line. Creecy broke up the threat by knocking down a pass on fourth down within the very shadow of his goal.

The line play of Blondy Southers for the Coyotes in the closing minutes of play helped save the Coyotes on the last minute drive down the field by the Boiler Makers. King, Keyes and Daniels stood out in the Boiler Makers' line while the entire line of the Coyotes consisting of Brandon, Decker, Reynolds, Allen, Mauldin, Sepkovitch and Greenwood showed much promise on the offense and defense with Allen, Mauldin, Greenwood and Sepkovitch standing out. Mauldin retired from the game early with a wrenched shoulder. Jenkins and Daugherty proved consistent gainers for the Coyotes.

This game closed the spring training camp of the Coyotes. About 400 witnessed the game.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—An opening decline in cotton was followed by rallies, further weakness and a partial recovery on the closing rally in stocks. The general market closed steady at net declines of 6 to 13 points.

Part of the early buying was attributed to the firmer technical position following recent declines, which led to some buying for a rally as well as covering. Houses with continental connections were sellers here at times during the day and there may have been some selling on the reported failure of the cotton mills in Alsace.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 19. (AP)—Cotton was fairly active today with rather broad price fluctuations. The general tone was steady except in the late trading when the market broke sharply and closed 7 to 11 points down for the day.

Lower cables than due and favorable overnight weather caused an easing in prices of 11 to 12 points in the first hour but as stocks were fairly steady and the weather map indicated some unsettled weather, the market recovered later in the morning. Shorts covered owing to the improved technical position and by the time demand was satisfied, prices had advanced 19 to 20 points from the lows.

After mid-session prices dropped sharply in sympathy with weak stocks and made new lows 25 points under the highs as stop-loss orders were uncovered. Covering caused a rally of 6 points at the end and the close was steady at net losses of 7 to 11 points.

Absorption of Offerings Halts Markets Downward Plunge

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 19. (US)—The stock market steadied today, with virtually all offerings being absorbed within a narrow price range. Fluctuations were rather modest compared with the previous day's exciting session and vicious net losses among the most prominent issues. The force of immediate liquidation seemed to have spent most of itself during Monday's market, so that today the pressure of offerings was less insistent, although volume increased somewhat over the previous day's total.

The buying seemed to have changed in character, with a more noticeable disposition among buyers to take most offerings at or near the previous day's lowest price levels. Nevertheless, it was quite evident that a good part of the buying that did appear was invited chiefly by the expectation of a technical rebound in quotations following the recent disastrous depreciation. Certainly, the news of the day encouraged only modest demand for stocks. The long-pull buyer is interested primarily on the basis of infinite faith in the eventual readjustment and subsequent sustained upturn in business.

Numerous new low prices were reached throughout the list, but selling was more impressively absorbed. The character of price fluctuations during the day was of the very nature of entice an increasing short interest and it was on the basis of this, together with the obviously enormous extent of the recent price decline, that brought considerable speculative buying into the market.

There was also reason for believing that the spectacular character of the drop in value of many leading investment stocks during Monday's sharp setback induced the familiar "banking support" to appear in some sections of the market. Such support, however, has on numerous occasions proven only a temporary influence, since it is aimed mainly at calming an excited market. There is little question but that in the past week certain selling represented an extremely panicky feeling among supposedly important interests.

In this connection, one of the outstanding figures in the financial world, who decried the widespread optimism and rampant bullishness of two and three years ago ,is now advising his friends that it appears "too late to chuck everything overboard."

Steel Common, American Can and American Telephone & Telegraph were closely watched for clues to the support expected following the previous day's trading. All three issues throughout the day showed sizable orders existing even on fractional declines. Steel, for example, slipped down to a new low of 97 but closed at 98⅝ for a net loss only of ⅜, while Can was able to rally two points net, and Telephone which, like Steel, had slumped to a new low, also closed higher at 170.

The outstanding weak issue of the day was Columbia Gas & Electric which broke rather badly to a new low price at 22½, off 4½ points from the previous close and former low. Weakness in Columbia upset an early rally in the general list, since it caused general weakness among the utilities. When pressure lifted from Columbia the entire market enjoyed another rally which carried to the close, but the utilities as a group were almost a half-point net lower for the day; the industrials were down slightly more on the average.

Columbia's weakness hardly was surprising to students of values since, as so frequently emphasized here, the stock was selling far out of line not only with the general market, but especially in relation to the company's own earnings. Income for some time has been at a rate which plainly threatened the $2 dividend. At its low of today the stock yielded 8.8 per cent, which obviously is discounting a lower dividend.

Texas corporation rallied more than a point on announcement its directors had lowered the dividend to $2 from the former $3 basis. Omission of the dividend had been anticipated. The reduction, it is fair to assume, was favored over omission at least in part by recognition of the large holdings of Texas stock in the "fixed trusts."

Railroad stocks were relatively better supported than either industrials or utilities, the leading rails closing with an average small fractional gain. It is recognized that recent selling of the rail shares has been reflective of intense fright among investors concerning not only dividend distributions but also interest payments.

Obviously, the crisis by the railroad systems calls for early drastic action. Deflation of wages, so frequently suggested as inevitable, can be averted, it is pointed out, only by an alternaitve increase in freight rates. The latter is looked for in important quarters usually conversant with Washington affairs.

TEXAS VEGETABLES

SAN ANTONIO, May 19. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—The onion market at Texas shipping points was rather unsettled but slightly stronger yesterday with few sales at 65c per sack U. S. commercial yellows. Wharton-Eagle Lake reported potatoes about steady with a more active demand at 90c to $1 sack U. S. No. 1 stock. Lower valley points reported tomatoes about steady, mostly $1.25 per lug f. o. b. cash track. Green corn also steady at $1.25 bushel basket.

Hammond, La., reported strawberries weaker, averaging $1.53 crate on auction.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 19. (AP)—Frosts predicted for tonight extending from Canada down into Northwest Kansas put backbone into grain prices today. There were also estimates that Australia's 1931 wheat acreage would show 30 per cent reduction compared with last year. Foreign crop reports indicated backward conditions in many countries, especially Russia, where spring seeding was admitted to be a fortnight to three weeks behind schedule.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅜@1 cent higher, oats ⅛@¼c advance, and provisions unchanged to 30 cents down.

Threatened frost over part of the corn belt likely to delay planting gave independent strength to corn. Oats was affected largely by the action of corn and wheat.

The provision market as a whole was bearishly affected by official reports indicating little prospect that either foreign or domestic demand would improve during the next five months.

Closing indemnities—Wheat: July 59c, 60⅜@⅝c; Sept. 59¼c, 61@61¼c; Dec. 63¼c, 64⅝c. Corn: July 56⅝@½c, 58¼c; Sept. 55½c, 56⅝@⅞c; Dec. 48½@49⅝c.

PRIMROSE NEW OIL BOOM CITY

Town Takes Name From Wichita Concern

One of the most active spots in East Texas fields at the present time is the townsite of Primrose, Gregg county's latest entry into its number of new towns which had its birth as a result of oil. The new municipality which is about five miles east of Gladewater derived its name from the Primrose Refining & Petroleum company of this city which controls considerable acreage on its site.

Saturday the first well on the townsite was completed when the F. & M. Drilling company No. 1 Blackstone in the Castleberry survey blew in with an estimated output of 30,000 barrels per day accompanied by an enormous gas pressure. Offsetting this monster to the south the Primrose company's No. 1 Blackstone in the same survey is drilling at 3250 feet and should pick up the pay by the end of the week.

Within the townsite proper two other wells are drilling Corley-Blair No. 1 Blackstone, and Primrose company.

Southwest of the Primrose No. 1 Blackstone, Sinclair Oil company No. 1 Martha Monteith is spudded in.

Several new locations have been staked out and during the week a demand for acreage resulted in the changing hands of several tracts at fancy prices.

OIL CURB BILL LOST IN HOUSE

Rule Suspension Throws Measures in Discard

house bills were sent into the discard. Included in the bills was one to strengthen the oil proration powers of the railroad commission and another to legalize amateur boxing.

The oil proration bill was introduced in a last-minute effort to improve oil conditions. It was bitterly opposed by operators in the East Texas field.

Amendments Ousted

Representative Davis' boxing bill was under consideration when the 72-hour ruling became effective. The motion to suspend the rule did not apply to house bills. Davis' motion to include pending business in the suspension was ruled out of order. The bill would have authorized non-profit organizations to stage championships and charge admissions. Contestants would have been rewarded with medals and trophies, cash prizes being barred.

An amendment by Representative McCombs of Dallas to repeal the anti-prize fight statutes was ruled out on a point of order. McCombs termed the Dempsey-Tunney fight as a "pink tea affair," compared to the average wrestling match.

A free conference report increasing the personnel of the state highway patrol from 50 to 100 men was adopted by both houses. The report also provided that 20 license and weight inspectors could be used in patrol work, bring the total personnel to 120 officers and men.

Bond Vote Today

A last minute effort to bring up the highway bond issue resolution will be made tomorrow, Representative Hubbard of New Boston said. The resolution to permit the electorate to vote on the $212,000,000 bond issue constitutional amendments has failed of submission twice, the last time by only five votes. Several who supported the bond issue on previous occasions were reported to have switched over and indicated they would vote against it.

The house passed a senate bill to establish a state criminal insane hospital, adding an amendment to establish the unit in connection with the main prison plant at Huntsville. Other senate bills passed and sent to the governor were:

Validing surveys of towns and cities to eliminate vacancy suits.

Authorizing the governor to lease prison land for drainage ditches and irrigation purposes.

Making throwing of "stink bombs" in public places a misdemeanor.

Germany's New Cruiser Launched

tle crashed on the structure that had held the Deutschland's keel while the cruiser gracefully left the ways and settled evenly into the water.

It was then that the naval band, caught unaware, swept the crowd to its feet with the national anthem, and President von Hindenburg addressed the Deutschland:

"Do your duty! Stand as proof of German labor and German ability for the welfare of our beloved fatherland. Keep your flag clean and high! Your name is Deutschland!"

The crowd shouted triumphantly, and the symbolical eagerness of the Deutschland's launching emphasized Germany's desire to attest that she is still a great power even though hampered by treaties. It was the most picturesque and happiest celebration since war days, colorful and militant in its frenzied cheering.

The cruiser resembles a giant submarine more than any other craft. She has an extremely high waterline, very little draught, and a prow like a sharp knife, similar to the two German superliners, Bremen and Europa.

Experts say that the Deutschland makes the Washington-type of 10,000-ton cruiser, now being used by the U. S. navy, obsolete. The Deutschland, experts declare, is capable of defending herself against "a number" of dreadnaughts.

Officers Rescue Burk Man, Pinned Under Car in Water-Filled Ditch

Carl W. Thomas of Burkburnett, was saved from possible drowning early Tuesday morning when he was pulled from his automobile by Tom Poe and Ed McDonald, city detectives, after the machine had overturned in a ditch of water on the Burkburnett road.

Thomas and a companion, Barney Riley, escaped with only bruises and lacerations. Both were attended at the Wichita General hospital.

They told police that their machine skidded and overturned in the ditch. Riley extricated himself but was unable to pull free Thomas who was pinned beneath the car with his face just above water.

Riley recently was released here on $5,000 bond on charges of murder in connection with the death of Tom Hardin, world war veteran, near Burkburnett some months ago.

Foxhall, Rogers and Cook Star In Greenbelt Tourney Second Round

must defeat in the finals, won his first round match over R. V. West of Memphis, former Greenbelt champion, 6 and 5; and whipped Roy Campbell of McLean in the second round, 5 and 4, to gain entrance to the quarter finals.

Other second round championship flight results follow:

Al Cooke of Clarendon, brother of Dick, defeated J. H. Marriott, Electra, 3 and 2.

C. E. Haynes, Frederick, Okla., defeated R. E. Greenhaw, Memphis, 3 and 2.

A. Blanton, Childress, defeated P. B. Gentry, Clarendon, 2 and 1.

Ira Merchant, Clarendon, defeated K. Kerbow, Clarendon, 6 and 5.

Real Golf Today

The quarter finals Wednesday will usher in some real golf. Frank Foxhall will meet his first real stiff competition when he tees off against City Walker. Bill Rogers of Vernon, hero of the extra hole encounter, with Dick Cooke, will be paired with Al Cooke of Clarendon. Jack Parr of Electra will tackle C. E. Haynes of Frederick, and A. Blanton of Childress will be paired with Ira Merchant of Clarendon.

First and second rounds were completed today in all flights except the second which was slowed up by the sand greens and bitter cold weather that prevailed most of the day.

Frank Foxhall took off with Wilson in the second round match in a steady downpour of rain, but a loyal gallery of about 100 followed his match around the course in spite of the downpour. The golfers by today had almost become used to the wind, which was still blowing.

The Rogers-Cooke match was the only extra-hole affair in the championship flight, but there were others in the lesser classifications, the principal one being that between C. E. Miller of Clarendon and U. J. Boston, also of Clarendon, in the first round of the fourth flight, which went for 21 holes before Miller finally won, 1 up. T. M. Shaver of Clarendon, battled 19 holes before defeating H. Clifton of Estelline, 1 up, in the first round of the second flight, and G. Crews of Crowell won by the same score and in the same number of holes over Lee Casey of Clarendon. Their match was also in the first round of the second flight.

Oklahoman Wins

There were only three matches completed in the second round of the second flight, W. R. Harper of Frederick, Okla., winning over T. M. Shaver, Clarendon, 7 and 6; McHenry Lane of Clarendon, defeating V. A. Kent of the same city, 3 and 2; and J. F. Smith of Quanah defeating A. Adamson, Hedley, 4 and 3.

Third Flight Pairings

Pairing in the third flight Wednesday will be as follows:

R. R. Gilliland, Quanah, vs. H. Renfro, Childress.

Fred Landers, Estelline, vs. Roy Cope, Quanah.

H. B. Kerbow, Clarendon, vs. R. B. Gibson, Vernon.

H. G. MaGee, Quanah, vs. W. K. Long, Vernon.

Fourth flight pairings for Wednesday follow:

G. H. McCleskey, Clarendon, vs. E. T. Griffin, Shamrock.

C. E. Miller, Clarendon, vs. S. A. Cubine, McLean.

In the second round of the first flight senior division, A. N. Wood of Clarendon will meet T. F. Connally, Clarendon, and J. T. Patman, Clarendon, will meet T. N. Copeland, Estelline.

In the second round of the second flight, senior division, Vernon Bagwell of Estelline will meet O. T. Nicholson of Shamrock; and R. C. Weatherley of Clarendon will meet C. S. Rice of McLean. Only one round in the senior divisions is being played each day.

Chicken Barbecue

As the last weary golfers holed out darkness settled over the Hillcroft golf course late today, and the tournament entries repaired to a large tent near the first tee and partook of barbecued chicken to their hearts' content. The feast marked the end of the first tough day of match play, and immediately thereafter most of the entrants repaired to their hotel rooms for a good night's rest in anticipation of brisk quarter and semifinal matches Wednesday. The finals will be run off Thursday.

Consolation matches in the various flights will be started off Wednesday morning at 6:30, it was announced with the championship and other flights to follow immediately.

Consolation flight pairings in the various divisions were announced as follows:

COUNCIL BACKS GRAIN CURB

World Conclave Agrees On Production Cut

By ROBERT WELLES RITCHIE

LONDON, May 19. (US)—The suggestion of Samuel R. McKelvie, American delegate, that curtailment of production affords the only remedy for the wheat crisis, met today with approval of all representatives attending the world grain conference.

Following McKelvie's speech before the delegates of wheat producing countries meeting at Canada house here, the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian high commissioner, told the press that all delegates agree that restriction of wheat areas is the most plausible plan yet submitted to stabilize the world wheat market.

The Canadian high commissioner added, however, that "restriction is plausible, but whether it is possible is a different thing again."

The submission of the American plan today will be followed tomorrow by the outlining of the Soviet plan by the Russian delegate. Representatives from the Danubian countries and Australia have already submitted their government's methods of solving the wheat problem.

A resume and analysis of all plans so far brought before the conference, plus all statistical data available, will be presented to the delegates in full session tomorrow.

It is the American contention that curtailment must continue until a better adjustment between supply and demand can be reached.

Countries which set about increasing wheat acreage and exports in the face of the situation that has existed during the past year are unintentionally defeating their own aims and injuring their own growers, McKelvie said.

Medals Awarded Heroes of Peace

bravery and devotion to duty continued his work upon the material which was stored on that portion of the cliff that was in constant danger of giving way. By his display of fearlessness and his devotion to duty Sergeant Roth brought great credit to himself, the expedition and the United States army."

Saved Woman From Fire

Maxwell Weinstein became a hero in China, but not in combat with with bandits or revolutionary invaders. It was three years ago that Weinstein, then a regimental drum major, was attracted by a great crowd in Tientsin to a fire that was rapidly sweeping a two-story residence. There was, it seemed a woman on the second floor, but no one moved to save her, except the soldier.

He dashed in, fought his way through smoke-filled rooms until he stumbled on the woman's unconscious form, picked her up and went down a burning stairway to safety. He had almost forgotten the incident when they told him the other day to report for the decorating ceremony.

Thus the army has contrived to do honor to its heroes of peace times, for peace has its heroes no less than war, and always some of them are men of the army.

The Crowell baseball club invaded Eldorado, Okla., Sunday afternoon and captured an 8 to 6 victory. William Bell was on the firing line for Crowell and whiffed 10 men, while only three balls were hit out of the infield.

The Crowell manager issues a challenge to any amateur baseball club in Wichita Falls or within a radius of 75 or 80 miles of Crowell. Those desiring games will phone or write O. O. Hollingsworth at Crowell, Texas.

STRAND: "Young Sinners" with Thomas Meighan, Hardie Albright and Dorothy Jordan. Slim Summerville comedy and sound news.

MAJESTIC: Claudette Colbert and Frederic March in "Honor Among Lovers." Short subjects and sound news.

GEM: "Condemned" with Ronald Colman. Comedy.

Hardie Albright makes a decent debut in "Young Sinners" (at least, I hope it's a debut—if he's an old one, he'd had his face lifted). As the young drunken playboy who is forcibly taken to the snow-covered Adirondacks by a husky Irishman (paid $10,000 by the boy's equally rotten father) and transformed into a he-man, he is genuinely convincing.

You guessed it. Thomas Meighan is the Irishman . . . older in the lines in his face and the grey hairs but just as young in the voice and the knockout punch he apparently packs. And it takes Meighan, incongruously walking into a sort of playhouse game, to make everything real. From the time that he steps in among the blue-bloods, it suddenly becomes a rather interesting picture.

After the first shock (having seen her so innocent in "The Call of the Flesh") one realizes what a natural spoiled hoyden little Dorothy Jordan makes. In fact, good casting had a lot to do with making "Young Sinners" tolerable. Except for the usual snowstorm that compels the hero and heroine to spend the night under the same roof, unchaperoned, the plot actually varies in detail from other plots.

But all those wild parties and built-in bars look terribly decadent to a younger generation that tamed down in depression times like their older brothers and sisters kicked over the traces in war times. Maybe it's another war picture, I dunno.

MODERN BARN

This One Boasted Chairs, Tables and Stores Of Beer

Some barns are now equipped with electric lights, tables and chairs, according to Deputy Sheriffs Ben Smith and E. L. Kincaid—but not for the horses, according to the officers.

Two cases of beer were seized and three men were arrested Tuesday morning when the two deputies bore down upon such a barn in the eastern part of the city. Two of the three men apprehended were said to be customers at the place.

This year's gifts consist of a number of etchings by Wall, all on historic subjects, and given by students of the January and May finishing classes.

"The Alamo," first of the four etchings, was presented by Dewella Yeattes; the "Texas State Capitol" by Albert Phillips; "Mount Vernon" by Ruth Ferguson; and "Stonewall Jackson" by Paul Peary. Gwendolyn White, spokesman for the low-eighth grade, accepted the gifts on behalf of the school. Wilson Phillips, president of the graduating class, presided.

Cash prizes offered by Mrs. John Prewitt for essays on the war between the states were awarded as follows: First place, $2, Louise Conn; second, $1.50 each, Ilene Thomas, James Barnett and Rex Beach.

TALBOT GIVES RADIO TALK

Texans Urged to Buy Home Products

Col. W. E. (Bill) Talbot, who has been the leader in the "buy things made in Texas" movement, gave a radio address Tuesday evening over station KGKO, pleading for the people of Wichita Falls and Northwest Texas to purchase merchandise made in Texas and especially to support home industries.

In his address he stated that it is possible to consume 3,500,000 bales of cotton in the South, if the people would only demand things made of cotton. At the present time the consumption of cotton in the producing states is only a small percentage of the production.

Colonel Talbot, through the Southland Life Insurance company in Dallas, has been making this crusade for several months. Already good has come from the movement. One factory at Sherman that employed only 150 men and women a few months ago is now working 500 and advertising for more help. The factory is four months behind with orders.

Wednesday evening, 7:45 to 8 o'clock, R. O. Harvey of Wichita Falls will discuss the Wrigley plan of buying and withholding from the market $12,000,000 worth of raw cotton. Mr. Harvey is the Wrigley corporation's buyer through the firm of R. O. Harvey & Co. of Wichita Falls.

Thursday evening at the same hour Fred L. Haskett of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, will talk on "Things Made of Cotton."

The retail merchants division of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce is fostering the series of radio addresses.
