East Facing A Shortage Of Fuel Oil

Conversion To Coal Advocated By Ickes As Partial Solution

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP) — President Roosevelt today warned eastern householders who heat with oil to expect severe fuel shortages this winter, and, meanwhile, OPA cancelled its recently ordered increase in the price of gasoline and other petroleum products along the Atlantic seaboard.

Mr. Roosevelt said there could be no guarantee that the easterners would receive enough fuel oil to keep them warm and Secretary Ickes, the petroleum coordinator, added that some houses with oil furnaces may be in for heatless days.

Urging that oil furnaces be converted to the use of coal, Ickes said it might become necessary to refuse oil deliveries to consumers in the eastern shortage area who can make such a conversion and fall to do so.

During the day, a special house committee of easterners recommended a broad extension of rationing of petroleum products to alleviate a "dire and dangerous shortage of gasoline, residual oil and domestic heating oil" in the east.

The committee, investigating the rubber, gasoline and petroleum supply, proposed that gasoline rationing be extended to Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, all un-rationed eastern areas and all sections not served directly by pipe lines.

"It seems obvious to this committee that if these states are rationed there will be built up a surplus of petroleum products in the Great Lakes region which can be readily and easily be transported during the next few months over the waterways of the Great Lakes and New York state canal to the city of Albany."

"From that point some of these petroleum products can be shipped down the Hudson to the metropolitan area and the middle Atlantic states and others of these products can be shipped by short haul car and tank trucks to the New England region."

OPA, meanwhile, ordered a decrease of 1-3 cents per gallon for gasoline, 8-10 of a cent on kerosene, 1-1 cents for light heating oil and 15 cents a barrel on residual fuel oils, effective Wednesday.

Increases in those amounts became effective June 29 to reimburse oil dealers for the additional cost of transporting to the east oil and oil products formerly hauled by water. Since then, the RFC has arranged to absorb the extra transportation charge.

OPA also turned down, during the day, the appeal of Western traveling salesmen for extra gasoline allowances. They have been given B cards supplementing their regulation A cards, and this, OPA said, must suffice.

REVIEWING THE

BIG SPRING WEEK

BY JOE PICKLE

Here's something almost everyone can do. Gather up the magazines around the place suitable for men and take them to Thurman Shoe shop in the 300 block of Runkle street. There the VFW auxiliary will gather them for distribution to men on troop trains. The supply now is low—except for a few Ladies Home Journal, McCall's, etc., which somehow lack appeal for red-blooded men—so do your bit Monday by canvassing your place.

It now looks like the Civilian Pilot Training program, which has operated here for the past two years, will be moved. Art Winthelster, head of the contracting Big Spring Flying Service, has been negotiating with an Oklahoma point. For the time being, regardless of where the CPT unit goes, he probably will stay on with his glider school unit.

With the navy launching a militant enlistment campaign, with the army broadcasting its field of opportunities every day, and with the selective service casting about to fill its quotas—August is apt to see the greatest number of men on record leaving from Howard county. And if it sets a record, September may beat it.

Congratulations to the polo team. Playing under Coeden colors in the Colorado Springs, Colo., tourney. See THE WEEK, Pg. 14, Col. 1

John W. Spies Dismissed As Medical School Dean

FDR May Get Authority To Assign Jobs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—A proposal soon may go to congress, a government official said today, to give President Roosevelt authority to assign any one of the nation's 55,000,000 to 60,000,000 workers to the job where his skill is most needed.

The official, who stipulated that his name not be published at this time, said this power would be aimed at total mobilization of human resources behind the war effort, and if approved by congress would be administered through manpower chief Paul V. McNutt.

Such job assignments probably would bring about employment readjustments for only part of the total number of workers, it was said, because the majority simply would be told to remain at the jobs they now are doing.

This power, no doubt, would put an end to "labor piracy"—the practice whereby one plant entices the workers of another by offers of larger pay and opportunities of longer overtime.

Moreover, the official said, it might give force of law to the government's recently announced policy that no war production workers should labor more than 48 hours a week.

It was understood that any war service legislation would give consideration to the collective bargaining rights of labor.

Determined to spread appeals over the area for votes, members of the James V. Allred for U.S. Senator club tentatively shaped up organization here Friday evening.

Confidence was expressed by all who spoke briefly at the short meeting that the vote deficit in the first primary could be turned into victory in the run-off. Numerous cases of the second man in the first primary coming through were cited.

James T. Brooks, head of the club, said that another meeting would be called when plans are more complete. Members, however, pledged themselves enthusiastically to carry the campaign to all the people in order to assure the nomination of Allred. Approximately two score men were at the unpublished meeting. Invitations were extended by Judge Brooks and other club leaders for all who will join ranks of the club.

Banks Add New 'Push'

July Bond Sales Over The Top

That Howard county war bond quota can be met—

Proof? It was met in July, and passed.

County Chairman J. B. Collins and many faithful co-workers checked up for the month Saturday, and announced with elation that a last-day selling spurt through the two local banks had pushed the county's sales for July to $137,827. This figure may be subject to revision, but it appeared a certainty that the total will be beyond the $135,000 fixed by the treasury.

Collins expressed gratification at the successful month's work, and particularly voiced appreciation to

Board Of Regents Takes Other Steps To Clear Up Difficulties

AUSTIN, Aug. 1 (AP)—In a quadruple move to sweep away dissension in the medical branch at Galveston where members said a "grave emergency" existed the University of Texas board of regents tonight:

Dismissed Dean John W. Spies, effective immediately. Declared all headships of teaching departments vacant at the end of the current fiscal year, Aug. 31.

Named Dr. Titus Harris, professor of neuro-psychiatry, as acting dean.

Appointed Dr. E. W. Berner of Houston as temporary director of the university's new cancer research program.

The board unanimously adopted resolutions removing Dr. Spies and department heads, said University President Homer P. Rainey.

The president added "substantial progress" had been made toward the selection of an executive vice-president of the medical branch, a position created by the board after an on-the-scene investigation of the medical branch which has been racked for several years.

In a formal statement authorized by the board Dr. Rainey declared:

"The board feels regretful that it had to take such drastic action, but it appeared that this was the only way to clear up the long-standing controversy and to lay the predicate for a great medical program for Texas."

"If these actions do not fully clear up the matter, the board is ready to take whatever other steps may become necessary to end the controversy and take the medical school off probation."

The administrative turmoil at the medical branch has caused the American Medical association to place the school on probation and the council of the Association of American Medical Colleges has recommended like action to its parent body which meets in October.

Dr. Berner will work with President Rainey setting up the cancer research program financed by a $500,000 state appropriation and a like amount granted by the Anderson Foundation of Houston. Dr. Berner is a former president of the State Medical association and former president of the medical school alumni association.

Dr. Spies in addition to being dean of the medical branch was as well as the medical professor and public health and principal administrator of hospital attached to the school.

The resolution ordering his dismissal said that "it is the judgment of the board that the interests of the medical branch of the University of Texas require that Dr. John W. Spies as dean of the medical branch, professor of preventive medicine and public health, and principal administrator of hospital, be removed by this board from said positions, effective as of this date."

The school's recent history has been storm tossed. Several times regents have made administrative readjustments and other policy changes in an attempt to smooth out difficulties between opposing groups. Always the controversy flared anew.

Chandler Leads In Kentucky Voting

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 1 (AP)—Senator A. B. "Happy" Chandler led over his opponent, John Young Brown of Lexington, in today's election primary continued to climb tonight as unofficial returns were reported.

With more than half of Kentucky's 4,373 precincts tabulated, Chandler continued to add to the lead which he has held since the first precinct was reported.

Votes from 2,663 precincts gave Chandler 56,510 to 56,364 for Brown.

Frenchman Killed In Paris Food Riot

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Aug. 1 (AP)—One Frenchman was killed and 12 persons were injured, including a German soldier, during a food riot in Paris today, French police said.

The riot was said to have occurred at the intersection of Avenue Orleans and Rue Daguerre when police sought to stop the woman from speaking and distributing tracts.

Pelley To Testify In Own Defense

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 1 (AP)—Counsel for William Dudley Pelley, dapper 52-year-old former Silver Shirt leader, said today he would testify Monday in his own defense in his session trial before a federal court jury.

Defense attorneys made the announcement after a conference with Pelley, adding that he might be the first witness for himself. The government completed its case yesterday and the trial was recessed until next week.

RAF Raid On Duesseldorf One Of Worst

Two-Ton Bombs Are Dropped In Destructive Attack

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The RAF scoured the Rhineland munitions city of Duesseldorf last night with 150 two-ton block-buster bombs and a great weight of other explosives and incendiaries in a concentrated 50-minute attack probably without destructive precedent in aerial warfare.

The usually reserved air ministry announced the raid was made in very strong force and added that the deluge destruction was a "ceaseless rain" of bombs and fire-setters.

Smoke billowed up almost four-fifths of a mile from the industrial plants crushed under the weight of the two-tonners and daylight reconnaissance found fires still burning in the city of 350,000 population in mid-day.

The number of planes was not specified beyond the mention of a great number of 4-motored Lancaster bombers as well as a great force of all other types of heavy and medium bombers.

But from the announced loss of 31 British planes it can be guessed that there were hundreds participating, perhaps somewhere between 500 and 1,000.

Duesseldorf is heavily defended against air attack, being a Nazi arsenal of prime importance.

Nips Lose 9 More Planes

CHUNGKING, Aug. 1 (AP)—United States fighter pilots shot down nine Japanese planes over Hengyang yesterday, raising the Japanese losses over that Hunan province air base to at least 17 two days, Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell announced today as the Chinese reported a new Japanese landing on the coast of Chekiang province.

In a determined but thwarted attempt to wipe out the American air force in China, the Japanese sent 29 of their vaunted Zero fighters against Hengyang yesterday, but were broken up by the American fighters, who included veterans of the AVG "Flying Tigers." Besides the nine Japanese destroyed, a tenth probably was shot down.

Three American planes were lost, one of them while being repaired on the ground, but all the pilots were safe.

Only the day before the Japanese twice tried to raid Hengyang airport, with disastrous results for themselves. Of the first nine bombers which came over before dawn, four were destroyed.

Then by day 27 of the newly improved Zero fighters tried to clear a way for 34 bombers. The Americans destroyed four of the fighters, probably got three others, and completely dispersed the formation, said Stilwell's announcement.

Certain legislation was urged and the county groups picked their delegates to the state convention in Austin Sept. 8.

Demo Conventions Dodge The Runoff

By The Associated Press

The administrations of President Roosevelt, Governor Coke Stevenson—even Winston Churchill—were praised by Texas Democrats in their efforts to enlist 129 men from 18 counties in this district during August and again in September.

Not only were Chief S. L. Cook, recruiter in charge, A. H. Walker and C. L. Barnes, assistants, off to a good start, but it looked as if the recruiting service might turn loose with a regular salvo of enlistments on the western swing Monday.

J. W. Burdell, Colorado City, and Benny True Whitely, Colorado City, both for V-6 (apprentice seamen) and Finis Oscar Tripplett, Big Spring, for V-6 (Hospital apprentice 20) left Saturday evening to complete their enlistment at Dallas as the first recruits to clear through the local sub-station in August.

Walker said that there had been eight applications for enlistment at the office Saturday, and that possibly a dozen prospects were in sight for Cook and Barnes Monday at Midland, Odessa and Monahans. Several from Crane were due to meet the recruiters at

87 Dangerous Enemy Aliens Are Arrested

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—The federal bureau of investigation today announced the seizure of 87 "dangerous" enemy aliens, including a Japanese who had maps of Pacific air and sea distances and navigation charts of the Aleutian Islands.

In contrast to previous arrests here, F. E. Foxworth, assistant director of the FBI, used the word "dangerous" in describing the aliens. The group, composed of 66 Germans, 15 Italians and six Japanese, was nabbed in raids yesterday in the metropolitan area.

All were taken to Ellis Island for internment hearings. FBI agents quoted the Jap who had the maps as saying:

"I want to see Japan win the war. I would not fight against the Japanese under any circumstances. My emperor, Hirohito, is a good man. He is my ruler and I must obey him."

Foxworth said that this man was a leader of Hokoku-Dan, which the FBI officials described as a fascist-type Japanese imperial service group. It was formed in this country three years ago and was frequently addressed by Japanese army and navy officials.

Three of the Japanese and seven of the Germans entered this country illegally and all 87 had filed formal declarations of refusal to serve in the United States armed forces, the FBI reported. Fifteen of the Germans had registered with the German

Col. Goodrich To Fort Worth School

FORT WORTH, Aug. 1 (AP)—The appointment of Col. David W. Goodrich to the new Fort Worth Army Flying School for multi-motored training was announced today by Maj. Gen. Hubert R. Harmon, commanding general of the Gulf Coast Air Forces training center.

The 43-year old colonel is the former commanding officer of the Enid, Okla., Army School for basic training.

Legion Boosting Efforts—

Navy Opens Recruiting Drive

Odessa.

Many inquiries are being received at the station from those interested in the construction corps, and recruiters announced that ratings in this branch are still "wide open."

The field of activity for men between 17 and 30 years is practically unlimited. Parental consent is necessary for those under 21 years of age. Married men may be enlisted in the naval reserve provided they are qualified for rating in which they are sufficient to support their dependents, if same have no other means of support.

Selective service registrants, according to regulations received by recruiters, may be enlisted at any time before induction into the army. Cook invited all men within the age limits and who are contemplating military service during the war and emergency period to call at the recruiting station in the postoffice building during August and September.

The American Legion post here and at other points in the district are cooperating with the navy in serving as "volunteer recruiters" for the special two-months campaign. Cook lauded these co-workers for the manner in which they have inaugurated the drive. A special committee is handling the activity for the Legion, made up of R. R. McEwen, L. B. Dempsey and Dale Thompson. The group sponsored a special advertisement in today's Herald. It appears on Page 11.

Deaf-Mute Is Shot After Cars Collide

SILVER CITY, N. M., Aug. 1 (AP)—A motorist who fatally shot a deaf-mute after an automobile collision was sought today by border patrolmen and sheriff's officers in southwestern New Mexico.

Hugh Franks, 31-year old ranch worker, died of an abdominal wound today less than 15 hours after the accident four miles east of Silver City.

Police obtained the story of the shooting with difficulty from Franks and another deaf-mute, Florentino Marquez, 30, who was riding with him.

The officers said that the motorist jumped angrily from his automobile after a collision with Franks' pickup truck, drew a weapon, fired at the truck, hitting Franks, and sped away.

Spearheads Push 50 Miles Below The Don River

MOSCOW, Sunday, Aug. 2 (AP)—German troops fanning out into the western Caucasus have reached the Salsk and Kushchevka areas, 75 and 50 miles below the Don river, in a move which threatens to cut Soviet communications with Stalingrad in the east, the Soviet acknowledged early today.

Salsk, 100 miles southeast of Rostov, apparently was reached by a German drive which crossed the Don in the Nikolaevsk sector. It is a junction on the Stalingrad-Krasnodar railroad.

"The enemy pressed our troops back slightly" in the Salsk area, the midnight communique said. "In stubborn fighting near a river crossing 1,500 German officers and men were killed and several dozen tanks destroyed."

Kushchevka, northwest of Salsk, is on the Rostov-Baku railway which connects with the Stalingrad-Krasnodar line at Tikhoretsk.

Only on the approaches to Stalingrad itself did the Russians announce a major success in the desperate attempt to stop the Germans.

There, in the Kletska area some 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, the communique said "Soviet troops withstood enemy pressure and in places counter-attacked."

The Russians have been sending huge reinforcements into the Don river elbow to plug the Nazi effort to reach Stalingrad on the Volga.

Mid-way between the western Caucasus and Stalingrad the Russians said their troops still were trying to cross near bridgeheads on the Don at Tsimlyansk, 120 miles upstream from Rostov.

"Heavy fighting continues," the communique said of that sector. "In one attack the enemy lost 800 killed and 11 tanks were destroyed."

The drive from Bataisk to Kushchevka represented a 25-mile Nazi advance. Another Nazi gain of equal distance would put the Germans into Tikhoretsk which also is the apparent goal of the Nazis now battering at Salsk.

Cossacks and Soviet marines joined the Red army in the effort to stop the German flow southward from the Don. But the Nazi advance raised the imminent possibility of an additional German broadside directed from the Crimean peninsula just a few miles off the Caucasian mainland.

Press dispatches said a heaving of men, tanks, dive-bombers, artillery and Russian cavalry was fighting on the fertile west Caucasian plains. There were frequent hand-to-hand tilts.

The 500-mile curving Russian southern front now runs from the Kushchevka area through Salsk and other points on the north Caucasian rail system to the east, leaps the Don somewhere beyond Tsimlyansk, and then zig-zags along the upper Don to the Voronezh sector.

At the latter point in the north the Soviets announced their troops were consolidating captured positions, and hurling back axis counter-attacks south of Voronezh City.

But it was obvious that Hitler's desperate gamble to seize the oil and mineral deposits of the Caucasus, to split the central and southern Red armies, and block allied supplies from the Middle East was making steady headway.

In the Kletska area of the Don river elbow the Russians said they beat off eight Nazi attacks, killing nearly 1,000 Germans and destroying eight Nazi tanks. One Soviet tank unit also broke through the German positions in one sector to destroy a long truck column of ammunition, the Russians said.

Plane Scores Hits On Subs

AN EAST COAST PORT, Aug. 1 (AP)—Diving within 50 feet of the ocean, a U. S. Navy plane scored two direct hits with depth charges on an axis submarine immediately after the undersea raider had torpedoed a large Panamanian cargo ship off the Atlantic coast more than two weeks ago, survivors of the merchantman reported on arrival here.

Announcing the attack by submarine and the vengeance taken by the plane, the navy said today that survivors related that a big oil slick and a mass of debris appeared on the surface where the depth charges were dropped.

Office Situation Reversed In Hilarious Romance At Ritz

East Siders 'Get Tough' With Spies

The activities of Japanese spies in the United States furnish a thrilling background to the story of "Let's Get Tough," the Monogram drama which headlines the Queen theatre's program for today and Monday, with the East Side Kids, headed by Leo Gorcey, Bobby Jordan, Huntz Hall and Gabriel Dell, in the starring roles, and a supporting cast which includes Tom Brown, Florence Rice and Robert Armstrong.

In the story, the kids discover the murder of a Chinese shopkeeper, and find evidence that responsibility for the crime rests with members of Japan's deadly Black Dragon Society, engaged in spying operations with the assistance of a German agent. Their efforts to apprehend the criminals bring them into contact with an undercover F.B.I. man who is already active in the case, and the picture reaches its climax in a succession of exciting events. The story course of a misunderstood love affair adds to the complications of the story.

"Let's Get Tough" was directed by Wallace Fox, and produced by Sam Katzman and Jack Dietz. The original screenplay was written by Harvey Gates, and casts a revealing light on the activities of foreign spies and their methods of operation.

In GWTW—Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh, as Rhett Butler and Scarlett O'Hara in a scene from famed "Gone With The Wind," which comes back for popular-price showings at the Ritz theatre Tuesday and Wednesday. Shows are scheduled at 11 a. m., 3 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. each day.

Rosalind Russell And Fred MacMurray Star

Office romance is said to reach a new high in Paramount's latest turn-about comedy, Mitchell Leisen's "Take A Letter, Darling," co-starring Rosalind Russell and Fred MacMurray, which graces the screen of the Ritz theatre today and Monday. Reversing the usual procedure in this film, it is Miss Russell who dictates, MacMurray who crosses his legs and takes it.

As the successful business woman who tries unsuccessfully, to give love the business, the beautiful Rosalind Russell, head of a million-dollar advertising agency, hires MacMurray to placate jealous wives while she goes after their husbands' accounts. It must be told, to MacMurray's credit, that he doesn't like the job. But, having acquired the quaint habit of eating, and reluctant to break himself of it, he swallows his pride and does as he's told.

The situation is made to order for hilarity and from all accounts "Take A Letter, Darling" delivers the fun expected of it.

Macdonald Carey, erstwhile leading man to Gertrude Lawrence in "Lady in the Dark," appears as a tobacco magnate who hates women, but who succumbs to the lovely Rosalind's charms, just as her secretary does. With Robert Benchley in another funny characterization as Rosalind's silent partner, Constance Moore as the girl who makes Rosalind see green, and Cecil Kellaway as a genial drunk, "Take A Letter, Darling," promises to be one of the gayest Hollywood offerings to come out of the west in recent months.

Whose Secretary?—Fred MacMurray is happily in the middle, receiving the attention of both Rosalind Russell and Constance Moore, in this scene from "Take A Letter, Darling." The picture, at the Ritz today and Monday, ranks as one of the high spots in comedy romance for the season, telling its story of a female boss and her male secretary.

Spooky—Even the ghosts laugh in this one. It's the Lyric theatre's offering for today and Monday, in which Milton Berle, Brenda Joyce and John Carradine are featured, and it's called "Whispering Ghosts." A takeoff on the mystery stories,

Public Lists Preferences On Scenes In 'Gone With The Wind'

Notable Production Returns This Week

Chances are you've seen "Gone With The Wind." Something like 52,000,000 people have.

The odds are fairly good that you've seen it twice. Five million people have.

If you've seen it once or twice, there are many big sequences that impressed you more than others, although the fabulous production is filled with big sequences.

While GWTW makes its third tour of the country—it's at the Ritz theatre here for the third time on Monday and Tuesday of this week—the producers made a checkup of persons who already have seen the picture to investigate just what scenes these people like most. Their preferences, in order of popularity:

1. Atlanta burning.
 2. Wounded soldiers lying at the depot.
 3. Scarlett falls down stairs.
 4. Rhett Butler's final leave-taking of Scarlett.
 5. Bonnie killed.
 6. Scarlett eating turnips.
 7. Return to Tara.
 8. Scarlett shoots soldier.
 9. Scarlett carried upstairs.
 10. Melanie's confinement.
 11. Rhett driving Scarlett to seek refuge.
 12. The Atlanta Charity Bazaar.
- You can take your choice, or you can have another look and cast your own private vote this week. The Ritz has a special schedule of prices for GWTW, and has announced complete shows for 11 a. m., 3 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. on both Tuesday and Wednesday. Be ready to stay, remember, for about four hours.

Dinner formation came at 7:05. This time we had pork chops, baked potatoes, string beans, cottage cheese, lemon pie, bread and butter and milk.

I let off steam at this point. But for the cadets it's a study period from 7:40 to taps.

One day was just about enough for me. But these cadets, toughened and tanned, get it for three months. And they take it without batting an eye.

Mystery With Comedy On Lyric Bill

Milton Berle was a very funny fellow in his previous pictures, but in 20th Century-Fox's "Whispering Ghosts" which plays today and Monday at the Lyric theatre, he's rated as being twice as funny. Probably because it's his first starring picture.

A "scare-ewy," spine-chilling comedy with a ghost ship background, the movie offers a grand opportunity for Berle to show his stuff.

Abetted by lovely Brenda Joyce, John Shelton, John Carradine and Willie Best, Berle plays the role of a radio detective who solves a crime on the air each week. He gets involved in a mystery ship which Brenda's grand-uncle once owned, and Milton puts on his shooting cap and takes his magnifying glass to solve the disappearance of the jewels.

The solution of the crime makes for hilarious entertainment, as Milton tries his best to thwart the villains. Gag-filled, the film plots its merry way through some of the most laugh-provoking episodes of the season.

Director Alfred Werker keeps the film paced for comedy, while producer Sol M. Wurtzel left nothing undone to make the comedy a merry one. An excellent script by Lou Breslow keeps the plot rolling from uproarious situation to another.

Navy Pre-Flight Physical Program Is Strenuous; Newsman Proves It

By GENE CLAUSSEN

IOWA CITY, Ia., July 31. (AP)—The navy's pre-flight training set-up has been described as the "most rigorous physical conditioning program the world has ever seen."

That is no overstatement. After spending a full day with the cadets at the University of Iowa base, I'm convinced the navy couldn't have picked a better phrase in describing this revolutionary program.

Checking in at the base an hour before taps, I was quartered with a platoon of cadets from the University of Michigan.

They assured me I would have no trouble getting to our first "muster" at 5:45 the next morning. I didn't. A loudspeaker system brings the bugler right outside your door and you are literally blown out of bed.

At 5:50 I was stretching and bending with other cadets of the 4th battalion. They told me this session of calisthenics was merely to "loosen you up and get the sleep out of your eyes." Captain David C. Hanrahan, commandant at the base, was on hand.

After calisthenics, a shave and breakfast. I had to hurry to get my room in order before the next muster for athletics.

Our first period started at 7:30. We began with more calisthenics—tougher and longer than our earlier get-together.

Soccer and wrestling classes followed. I was already weary, but the day was just starting. The cadets trotted into the fieldhouse for their wrestling class and I trailed behind.

Our first session ended at 10 a. m. and I was looking for a rest period. But they don't have such things around this school.

Hiking was next. At the end of the hike—just a nine-mile jaunt, nearly a third of which was taken at double time—I was ready to eat—and rest.

For lunch we had meat loaf, spinach, noodles, potatoes, tomatoes, milk, bread and butter, and ice cream.

Until 4 p. m., the 4th "bat" was in class.

While the cadets were studying, I took a look at the obstacle course. The routine for this consists of running up and down step hills, getting over bunkers and rails, crawling through culverts, scaling a nine-foot wall, jumping a water hazard, crossing a ravine on ropes and zig-zagging around posts.

I caught up with my platoon on 4th deck (fourth floor) to get ready for the next period—competitive sports.

Before I left the field I'd have sworn the whole 1941 Minnesota football team had just rolled over me.

Plan Studied To Put Income Tax On Current Basis

'42 Payments Would Cover '42 Income

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—A "daylight savings" plan for the painless advancement of individual income tax collections to a current basis was under serious consideration today by treasury experts and members of the senate finance committee.

Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the latter group said the plan had some "intriguing" aspects which were being analyzed by both treasury and congressional leaders.

While George would not commit himself, he said the proposal held out some possibility of simplifying the problem of collecting taxes from individuals who would be hard hit by the higher rates of the pending revenue bill.

The bill is designed to raise $6,271,000,000 in additional taxes, bringing total federal revenues this year to between $22,000,000,000 and $24,000,000,000.

As outlined recently to the committee by Beardsley Ruml of E. H. Macy & Co., New York, the plan would involve moving the tax collection clock ahead a year so that payments being made in this calendar year would be considered as credits against 1942, instead of 1941 taxes.

Ruml said this was like moving the clock ahead to get everyone to work an hour earlier.

The individual would continue to pay his quarterly installments as usual, just as if he were paying on the income he made in 1941, but legally he would be paying on his 1942 income. If at the end of the year, his 1942 income proved to be smaller than his 1941 revenue, then he would get a rebate. If it proved larger, he would have an additional tax to pay on the difference. Then he would be credited with having paid all income taxes due up to the end of 1942.

With the start of 1943, he would calculate his 1943 income at the same amount he actually earned in 1942, and would begin payments on it at the rates fixed in the new revenue bill. This system would be followed from year to year.

Ruml pointed out that while this, in effect, would wipe out 1941 taxes, the treasury would obtain the same amount of immediate revenue and would lose receipts only when taxpayers died or when their income slumped. (Under the present law, if a man dies, say, on Jan. 1, 1944, his estate must pay taxes on his 1943 income. Likewise a person whose income decreases or ceases altogether faces the problem of paying full taxes on the previous year's income.)

Senator Clark (D-Mo.) said he had found a great deal of sentiment among committee members for the Ruml plan and believed it would be especially beneficial in removing what he regarded as the "double taxation" imposed by the pending revenue bill. This measure provides for a 5 per cent withholding tax on income, the levy to be collected in 1943 and credited against taxes on 1942 income, at the same time the treasury would be collecting taxes on 1942 net income—at a minimum rate of 19 per cent.

If the plan were adopted, Clark said he thought it would be unnecessary to place the 5 per cent burden on individuals.

Sheriff's Car Has New Two-Way Radio

New two-way radio equipment has been installed and put into operation in a sheriff department's car, Sheriff Andrew Merriam announced Saturday.

This gives law enforcement officers a total of three such cars in Howard county, as two are in service of the police department. The sheriff's department will send and receive messages through the city police short wave station, to which they contribute part of the operating expenses.

Navy Chaplains Are Real Fighting Men

By HERMAN ALLEN

Wide World Features Writer
NORFOLK, Va.—"Praises the Lord and pass the ammunition! I got one of the so-and-so's."

That line, shouted by a fighting Navy chaplain at Pearl Harbor, should go down in American history with Lawrence's "Don't give up the ship" and John Paul Jones' "I've not yet begun to fight."

Navy chaplains are no meek psalm-singers, but real men—men whom sailors respect. They have their battle station aboard ship with all the rest. Usually it is with the injured, but they are given basic training in the use of weapons and stand to a machine gun in a pinch.

It is not as fighting men, however, that Navy chaplains have really won the esteem and confidence of the men of Uncle Sam's fleet. It is because they understand the problems of homesick boys and of men who walk daily under the cloud of danger.

Here, under some trees on the grounds of the vast Norfolk Navy Operating Base, is a smallish building with a church-like air—the Chaplains' School.

A guest speaker was talking to the class as I arrived to visit Chaplain C. A. Neyman, head of the school, a Baptist minister who has served the Navy 24 years. The speaker was a prominent psychologist and theologian from "up north."

"I hope you can get away from the theology that I was taught," he was saying—"and translate a cold intellectual system into profound flesh and blood experiences."

A serious, spectacled man in his 30's raised his hand.

"Do you think we should use the Scriptures?" he asked.

"Yes, certainly," the speaker replied, "but your use of the Scriptures and of prayer should be determined by what the man needs."

Stranger though he was, this lecturer had hit on the principle to which Navy chaplains are building chaplains to make religion fit the Navy and its men.

"Even a minister of years' experience of thinking before he can be a successful Navy chaplain."

Reports from public agencies for July bore out the checkered status of business here.

While building sagged further and car registrations picked up even with war going on, postal receipts jumped out of sight to eclipse records for the month.

During July, reported Postmaster Nat Shick, receipts ran to $3,007.06, up by $1,184 or 17 1/3 per cent over the same month a year ago, when a record for July had been established. Moreover, the month was the only one, other than the bumper October of last year, to go over the $5,000 mark. December figures, which include Christmas volumes, of course, have gone substantially higher than this. The gain over June's $3,724.02 was even more imperative. August, said Shick, already was off to a booming start.

While new passenger car registrations, made possible on certification of the ration board, have been amounting to a couple or so a month, they suddenly jumped to 12 during June. Several of the passenger cars, however, were registered on purchase permits granted

Full Planning Is Aim To Meet Labor Problem

Farmers, trying to harvest bigger crops in keeping with government requests, will get as much help as possible in meeting the farm labor problem. O. R. Rodden, United States Employment Service manager, said Saturday.

The USES is to cooperate closely with the county war board to meet any labor problems and the two agencies will seek to utilize all available labor in the county. The plan is to call on out-of-county labor only when one is available locally.

"Farmers know," said Rodden, that this year more than ever before they must work together to make full use of family and community labor supplies. It may even be necessary, before we are through, to send into the field many workers who have never before done farm work—including children and townpeople."

Nearly every county in the state is facing the same problem of labor shortages, hence the reluctance to call on foreign labor supplies.

Farmers were urged to cooperate in the program to avoid aggravation of the situation. Rodden will confer regularly with L. H. Thomas, chairman, and O. P. Griffin, D. T. Mann, Ur D. Kendrick, Arsh Phillips and A. L. Houston, members of the war board, on farm labor problems, and farmers may contact him at any time at his office in the Ellis building.

The chances are one in ten that a bride of 35 and bridegroom of 30 will survive to celebrate their golden wedding together.

Eighty-eight per cent of all American truck operators own only one vehicle.

INSTRUCTOR Ned Wolfarth demonstrates how to apply splints in first aid class at Navy Chaplains' School, Norfolk, Va. Navy chaplains also are given basic training in the use of weapons.

perience has to undergo a re-think, he must be recommended by officials of his church as a man of the right temperament and abilities.

Sea duty is divided between Roman Catholic and Protestant chaplains, who visit each other's ships whenever possible so that men of both faiths have an opportunity to attend their own services. There are relatively few Jewish men in the Navy—about the same proportion as in the population at large—so there are no Jewish chaplains aboard. There are several, however, at land bases.

Careful selection of candidates and the drafting of a program intelligently aimed at meeting Navy men's needs have raised the chaplain enormously in the eyes of officers and men, Chaplain Neyman said.

"When I went into the service," he recalled, "a chaplain reporting for duty was met with an attitude of 'well, here you are; what are we going to do with you?' Now it's 'Thank heaven, you're here at last.'"

Famed Pendleton Roundup Cancelled

PENDLETON, Ore., Aug. 1. (AP) Pendleton's world-famed round-up for duty was met with an attitude of 'well, here you are; what are we going to do with you?' Now it's 'Thank heaven, you're here at last.'"

Decision to abandon the colorful western classic this fall was made by the round-up association directors after the city council voted last night to waive terms of its lease requiring that a show be held each year at the municipally-owned round-up grounds.

One-B men, the first such classification group sent by the Howard county selective service board, left Saturday for examination at Lubbock.

In the group were Edwin Cleo Reeves, Temp S. Currie, Jr., and Luther Floyd Ward.

Monday the board will dispatch negro selectees to the reception center at Lubbock for examination and induction. Local selectees include Elijah Walker, Rollie Wilson Shields, Hubert Miller, John Willie Terral, Hugh Lewis Baker, another Howard county registrant, is to report at El Paso.

In addition, these negroes will report as transfers from other points: Jesse James Green, Waco; Manuel Wormley, Littlefield; Jesse James Byrd, Somerville, and Lee Mason Cotton, Corpus Christi.

Bomb Scare Turns Out To Be A Dud

DENISON, Aug. 1. (AP)—Denison's first bomb scare of the war was a dud. A drunk reeled into a beer parlor and threatened to blow up the place with a bomb he held in his hand. Police cautiously arrested the man and took him to jail where the bomb was examined. It was a charger used in firing drinks.

Crops Over Most Of County In Dire Need Of Moisture

18 Navy Men Make 2,000-Mile Voyage In Small Motor Launch

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—The navy department disclosed today how Lieut. Commander John H. Morrill of the mine-sweeper Quail and 17 of his men scuttled their ship when Corregidor fell and made a perilous, month-long 2,000-mile trip to Darwin, Australia, in a 36-foot motor launch.

The report of Lieut. Commander Morrill, 39, of Waverly, Virginia, told how on one occasion his men whittled an emergency propeller out of driftwood. At another time the engine failed in a strong current and their little launch drifted through the midst of a Japanese patrol flotilla while a repair job was underway.

The men all gained weight during the month's hazardous journey from a diet of corned beef, sardines, coconut, canned milk, and rice which they bought after pooling all their funds for a provision pot of $600.

On one occasion the little launch was so cleverly camouflaged with leaves and branches that it blended in perfectly with the tropical vegetation and escaped discovery by a Japanese plane which flew only 500 feet above the boat. Casting off the camouflage that night, the crew prepared to put out of the bay in which they had taken refuge. At that moment an enemy destroyer came into the bay and dropped anchor only a few hundred yards from the motor boat.

"Throughout the night we stood ready with rifles and automatic rifles, but the destroyer did not sight us," Morrill reported. "It left the cove shortly after dawn."

Morrill, a native of Miller, South Dakota, had earned the navy cross for heroism in the Philippines during the Japanese bombardment of the Cavite navy yard. The Quail and her crew distinguished themselves for many heroic rescues at that time.

In addition to Morrill, the men who made the trip included:

John Samuel Stringer, 31, machinist's mate (Route 4), Lamesa, Tex., and Ortunas Rankin, 20, coxswain, Hot Springs, Ark.

Additional Tax Money To Schools

Additional money totalling $163.51 derived from delinquent taxes has been received for use of the county schools, County Superintendent Anne Martin said Saturday.

The superintendent's office accepted the last of transfers for this year Saturday, and figures will be announced as soon as an accurate check can be made.

Both Cotton And Feed Are Suffering

With the exception of a few local areas Howard county's crop situation remains substantially the same, County Agent O. P. Griffin reported this week.

In the communities of Lomax, R-Bar, Morgan and the west part of Elbow, enough rain has fallen during the past two weeks to tide most of the crops over, although more would offer additional benefit. The area around Knott also has benefited from fairly good rains, but hail falling there did too much damage to expect extraordinary crop yields.

Griffin estimates that only about 20 per cent of the county is not in dire need of rain within the next week or 10 days. Fully 80 per cent of the county must have rain not later than 10 days from now if they get fair returns from their crops, he said.

This includes all crops, as cotton and feed are both suffering from lack of moisture. Rain was insufficient to produce any consequential melon crops in the county this year, Griffin said. Many farmers planted melons but few will develop enough for commercial purposes. Last year the county produced enough melons to completely supply Big Spring but if rain does not come within the next few days there will be no locally grown melons on the market this year.

A few farmers have been dusting their cotton crops with sulphur and killing flea hoppers, but many of them are waiting to see if rain is likely to come soon enough to make it pay. Those who have already dusted their crops will not benefit much if rain doesn't come within the next two weeks, as cotton will not be able to support more than the flea hoppers leave on the stalks without more moisture.

Some farmers have reported to Griffin that moths are showing up in rather large numbers in cotton at the present. Although Griffin has not had time to make personal investigation, he feels sure that they are not cotton boll worms, but could be leaf worms. The leaf worms were reported to be already working in South Texas several days ago, and have been expected to show up here.

Fresh Fruits, Vegetables On Stamp List

Blue stamp foods listed for August and announced by Claud Wolf, issuing officer, for the Agricultural Marketing Administration's food stamp plan, include a number of fresh fruits and all fresh vegetables, thus offering participants a healthful and varied hot weather diet. Fresh pears have been added to the August list which are those obtainable nationally by participants in areas where the program is in operation.

With this addition the complete list of blue stamp foods issued for August is as follows: fresh pears, peaches, plums, apples, oranges, all fresh vegetables including Irish and sweet potatoes, shell eggs, butter, corn meal, hominy grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour, enriched wheat flour, self-rising flour, enriched self-rising flour, and whole wheat flour.

Man-Ghost Tells Weird Tale Of Slaying, Hiding In Attic

DENVER, Aug. 1. (AP)—With a forefinger blanched by 10 months of hiding under the rafters of a North Denver home, a hunger-shaken man-ghost pointed out for detectives today the course of a bloody fight that flared through the house last October and ended in the death of his friend of 30 years ago.

Shriveled to 135 pounds, his face drawn, Theodore Edward Conays has admitted, Detective Captain James Childers said, bludgeoning 73-year-old Philip Peters to death with a stove shaker last October 17, after hunger forced him from his attic hiding place to forage food in the kitchen of Peters' house.

The spiky-haired, bushy-browed little man has unfolded a weird story of living secretly in filth and refuse under the house for a month before the slaying and afterward—until detectives dragged him by the heels from the hideaway three days ago.

To help detectives fill in minor gaps in their reconstruction of the slaying, Conays re-enacted his fight with Peters on the first-floor of the small, two-story brick house. He told how the death battle began at the icebox in the kitchen when Peters came home from a visit with his wife in a hospital and caught him stealing a roast.

New Officer Assigned To Army School

Another member was added to the staff of the U. S. Army Flying School here Saturday with First Lieut. William W. Watkins reporting for duty.

Lieut. Watkins is to be a medical officer. Lieut. Lawrence Alder, who reported in here last week as a medical officer, was assigned Saturday to temporary duty at the Midland Flying School.

Work at the school site continued on an even keel with construction still clicking along as per the original schedule. Bulk of barrack accommodations were ready but for heat unit installations, and these were in storage and available.

Mass facilities were being rounded out for the initial cadre and contingents to follow before the main body of men. Water and sewer lines were being tied in for connection with the city, possibly within the next 10 days.

The 12-inch steel water line had been welded all of its mile length with the exception of some minor places on the east end, said City Manager B. J. McDaniel. As soon as the pump parts arrived and can be installed, water will be cut into the army's reservoir.

At the same time, well over 1,000 feet of ditch is being run daily for the 12-inch sewer line over a three mile route, and tile is being laid as fast as the ditcher excavates.

Services Slated At 3 p. m. Today For Mrs. Jarrell

Rites will be said at 3 p. m. today at the Nalley chapel for Mrs. Harriett Jarrell, 88, who succumbed Friday at 5 p. m. following a prolonged illness.

She had resided here for the past 13 years and during that time was virtually an invalid. Mrs. Jarrell, who had survived three husbands, was a native of Knox county, Kentucky and came to Texas in 1910. She was a member of the Missionary Baptist church.

Of seven children born to her, only Mrs. H. B. Stallard, Irwin, Tenn. and R. L. Southard, Big Spring, survive. She leaves 15 grandchildren, six of them residents of Big Spring.

Burial will be in the Coahoma cemetery. Casket bearers will be Arthur Pickle, C. J. Harris, Ryan Weinkauf, Claude Majors, F. L. Turpin and Rev. Halsey.

VOTERS OF PRECINCT 4

I am grateful for your vote in the first primary and respectfully ask your assistance in the August run-off.

I am 51 years old; 47 years a resident of Howard County; 14 months in service in World War I, 8 months overseas; served in Meuse-Argonne sector. I believe my experience as Commissioner during my FIRST TERM will be helpful in a SECOND TERM. I believe that my war service will help me understand some of the problems coming before our Commissioners' Court in connection with our war effort.

Tire shortage and Court work will prevent a house to house canvass; however, I shall try to see all of the voters I can. I promise you to continue my best efforts for the Precinct and for Howard County.

It'll Be There After The War Big Bend Nat'l. Park To Be Fifth Largest Of U. S. Scenic Areas

By The Associated Press

Looking for a vacation spot close to home—or relatively close as distances go in Texas?

The Big Bend country solves your problem if you can get there with the tires you have on the old jalopy.

But winning the war is more important, and the Big Bend country will be there, vast and wild, as it has been forever, one of the great scenic shows of the American continent to be seen when victory is ours and peace rules the world again.

About 260 airline miles west of San Antonio, 420 miles southwest of Dallas and 220 miles southeast of El Paso, the Big Bend country will be America's fifth largest national park, sprawling over 785,000 acres and ranking after Yellowstone, Mt. McKinley (Alaska), Glacier and Olympic.

This mystic wilderness of desert and mountain which stands defiant of man's encroachments will also symbolize international friendship and good will because officials of the neighboring Republic of Mexico have indicated a willingness to allocate an additional 1,000,000 acres south of the Rio Grande border to create an international park of nearly 2,000,000 acres.

The movement to give Texas its first national park took definite form in 1935 when Rep. Robert Ewing Thomson of El Paso, with the support of the state's congressional delegation, succeeded in the passage of a bill giving national park status to the Big Bend, conditioned on the contribution of the land by Texas.

Under an act of the legislature passed May 13, 1939, the Texas State Parks Board has purchased and paid for more than 75 per cent of the 675,775 acres which the state agreed to acquire. Over 100,000 acres of the area already were held by the board.

Last September 1 the board established a branch office in Alpine and launched the task of acquiring each of the approximately 5,000 tracts of land constituting the nearly 800,000 acres of colorful lofty mountains, deep watery canyons, broad plains and deserts which will make West Texas and international mecca for tourists.

As soon as all the land is acquired under the $1,500,000 legislative appropriation, it will be turned over to the National Park Service, which will bear the expense of development.

The reason for the long isolation of this area is the fact that the land is unsuitable for profitable agricultural or industrial use. The semi-arid character of the plains surrounding the mountain ranges have offered little encouragement to profitable agriculture and the major portion of the area can be classified at best as low grade grazing land.

One of the dramatic features of the region is the Rio Grande which in its tortuous course cuts through three steep walled canyons, Santa Elena, Mariscal and Boquillas, and meanders over the flat river plains. The Chisos mountain ranges, a southernmost spur of the Rocky Mountains, jut out of the semi-arid plains to an altitude of 7,535 feet.

The Big Bend area acquires its name from the fact that it lies in the "big bend" of the Rio Grande where it winds between Brewster County, Texas, and the states of Chihuahua and Coahuila in Mexico.

From the south rim of the Chisos Mountains, a magnificent panorama stretching far into old Mexico greets the eye.

Wildlife in the Big Bend is more closely allied to Mexico than to the United States. This is due to the fact that the Chisos highlands are separated from other mountainous sections of Texas and New Mexico by a great expanse of flat desert country.

The area never has been completely explored botanically, but already over 600 species of plants have been identified.

At one time, antelope were found occasionally in the Big Bend. They disappeared from the area in the early part of this century and only now are beginning to reappear as the result of restocking in the plains to the north.

Good collections of sandals, matting, wooden implements, baskets and cooking utensils have been secured in the caves of the Chisos mountains. The Big Bend country is important from an archeological standpoint, as it is one of three areas in the United States where perishable artifacts have been occasionally preserved in dry caves through the centuries.

These artifacts constitute excellent material for the study of the little-known cave dweller culture of West Texas and are excellent specimens for museum purposes.

In the Big Bend area also are found camp-bites and other archeological evidence of the peoples who followed the cave dwellers, particularly of the Comanches who came a thousand miles out of the north to plunder the haciendas of Mexico.

Even to this day the Big Bend country is one of the most isolated parts of the Southwest. The old trail from San Antonio to San Diego, California, once offered very limited contact with the settled world.

Then in the early eighties the railroad was built along part of the old trail 90 miles to the north of the Big Bend area.

The population of the area, which is very sparse, has remained practically constant for the last 20 years, indicating that the region has reached its maximum productivity under the present form of land use.

People still are few and far between in the Big Bend, and the jagged Chisos Mountains, like ghosts of the past, look down upon a varied land that nature herself has dedicated as a perpetual wilderness.

WTCC Plans 'Referendum' Type Of Convention For '42

Directors of the West Texas chamber of commerce in 170 affiliated towns are this week balloting on a rubber saving help-

-the-war effort measure submitted by J. Thos. Davis, president. Davis' proposal, conveyed by letter to each of the 200 directors, is for the postponement of the regional chamber's general conventions for the war's duration and the substitution this fall of a "referendum" convention, over a two weeks period terminating in a clearance meeting of a combined work and elections committee. This would be held Nov. 4 and 5 in Abilene, headquarters city of the organization.

If the proposal carries, Davis pointed out, the WTCC will have, without wear on automobile tires, a series of 170 town conventions by its directors joined by their local chamber of commerce managers and public affairs committees. In the period from Oct. 15 to Nov. 1 each director and manager will receive not to exceed ten referendum ballots. These will cover the election of new WTCC officers and directors as well as suggested policies and programs emanating from committees and members. The ballots will be returned for canvassing by the work and elections committee, to be composed of the ten present district directors and assistants to be appointed. From this small group's session, in Abilene, will emerge the 1942 officer and director list and the organization's program of work for the year.

With his letter and postcard ballots to directors Davis enclosed a letter from Mark McGee, state director of the Office of Price Administration, requesting deferment of the general gathering while the rubber shortage continues. McGee urged, however, that the WTCC arrange to carry on its deliberations and activities. "For," he wrote, "I wouldn't want to see this organization, or any other regional or local chamber of commerce, suspend normal activities. These organizations are of great aid in the war effort and should continue to function apart from the conventions, not only in rendering assistance to the communities and areas they serve, but to the state and nation in these hours of extreme emergency."

TO HOWARD COUNTY VOTERS

I wish to thank the voters in Precinct 2 for their support in the Democratic primary. You elected a fine man.

Battles Will Start Today In Louisiana

SOMEWHERE IN LOUISIANA, Aug. 1 (AP)—Down in the swamp-land, pine forests, and sandy hill country of Louisiana, the first of a series of intense battles begins tomorrow, when Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger's third army units commence firing on the initial problem of their 1942 maneuvers.

General Krueger's instructions to his troops were designed to equip small units into fighting teams through this summer's activities—teams that can quickly take advantage of any tactical situation to organize effectively for both offense and defense.

This year there will be no wooden machine guns; there will be plenty of .30 and .50 calibre steel ones. No make believe tanks will brighten the grim face of war with the sardonic humor they brought out during last summer's maneuvers. Air operations will be real, with real planes dive-bombers and strafing. A large part of the operations will be given over to training air and ground forces in coordinated action.

Men participating in maneuvers this year will be those hardened by months of diversified schooling in their home area. No newly activated units, nor raw recruits will take part. This period is to be a final brush-up on fighting teamwork.

Soldiers in the field, therefore, are taking the maneuvers seriously. They know that it is General Krueger's plan to train his men under conditions as nearly as possible like combat conditions. It is his expressed idea to make field training operations tough. Because "no matter how hard they are, they are never so tough as actual battle."

Commander of the eighth army corps is Major General Dan I. Sultan, veteran of service in the tropics.

Martin Will Hold August Runoff

STANTON, Aug. 1.—Although not a local office will be on the ticket, Martin county will hold a democratic runoff on August 22.

It had been decided, prior to the July primary when only two county commissioners were at stake, that, regardless of the outcome of those races, there would be no runoff. Just prior to July 25, however, voters urged the county executive committee to plan for the August runoff, and it has been decided to hold it.

In Your Kitchen

Guard It Carefully!

An old friend . . . a reliable, economical servant . . . today your Gas Range assumes a new role. It has a war job to do—one of the most important of them all—the job of feeding your family for Health and Strength for the duration.

A little care will go a long way in providing efficient and economical service from your Gas Range . . . will add years to its life.

A Few Simple Rules for Gas Range Care

1. Use your Gas Range all you need . . . but make it serve you well every cooking minute.
2. Watch cooking temperatures. Over-roasting or over-baking wastes fuel as well as food. Overboiling wastes heat and kills health-giving vitamins.
3. For greater efficiency use flat-bottomed cooking utensils. Keeping them covered prevents loss of heat and food flavors.
4. Keep your Gas Range clean! Wash it with soapy water to remove grease and grit. (This applies to cooking utensils too.)
5. Try economical meals such as "oven dinners" or "boiled dinners" that are all cooked at one time.

Remember—GAS, America's preferred cooking fuel, is also vital for war production. Do your part by using it well.

Glider School At Lamesa Turns Out Its Third Class

LAMESA, Aug. 1.—Still blessed with a no-injury no crack-up record, the Lamesa glider school turned out its third class of graduates in two months this week.

At the same time, more students arrived to bring the training personnel to around 50. The routine continues the same with elementary students getting line work and the advanced students experience with single and multiple tows from planes. Flights are now being made by gliders in the direction of Seminole and Brownfield and other adjacent towns.

Activity at the field keeps humming with some 150 workmen busy on erecting housing facilities for students. Originally it was estimated that construction would involve around $300,000.

Friday Paul Marques (Fox Movietone) and Jack Whitman (Pathe) took pictures for news reels at the field. Included were action shots of types of tows, canals, line tows, etc., all for release within a week at theatres all over the nation and South America.

Second Lieut. Charles J.

Schuehle arrived during the week to become physical and military training instructor and public relations officer. Lt. James Garrison, who has been serving as public relations officer, is working with a group of 40 Lamesa women in preparing Saturday evening entertainments for the students as well as in mapping a Sunday dinner invitation plan.

British Airman Talks At Colorado

COLORADO CITY, Aug. 1.—Featured number of the Friday evening amateur hour at Ruddick park in Colorado City this week was an address by Squadron Leader Ralph Edwards of the British Flying School, Avenger Field, Sweetwater, who gave a first-hand account of war conditions in England and discussed the part aviation is playing in England's war effort.

The amateur hour is in its sixth season as an open-air entertainment for the town and county people, sponsored by the chamber of commerce. In spite of the save-your-tires movement, several thousand people continue to gather in the park each Friday at 8 to sit on the grass terraces of the hillside amphitheater and listen to concerts by the Colorado band and programs arranged by the program committee, service clubs and visiting communities.

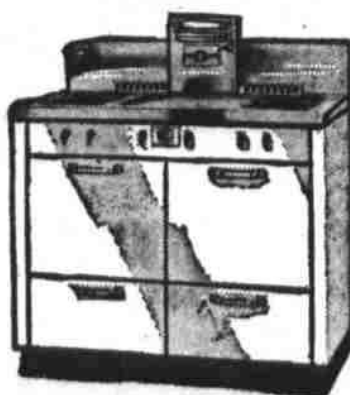

Rail Shares Lead Market Upswing

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Further quiet strength in the rails today enabled the stock market to emerge from a spotty week tilting slightly upward on balance.

While the bulls were a trifle in the majority from the start, these inclined to keep commitments light throughout on the thought the war news might turn adverse over Sunday. Attendance in boardrooms was exceptionally scanty.

Dealings were more sluggish than those a week ago. Transfers of 114,830 shares comparing with the previous two-hour session turnover of 115,970. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks held a net gain of .1 of a point at 38.5 but on the week was off .2. For July the composite registered an advance of 1.1 points.

Food Production Loans Available Through FSA

Only supplemental loans have been handled since authority was given last week to resume immediately the receiving of applications from low-income farm families in Howard county to carry on their farm and home operations, Ur D. Kendrick, rural rehabilitation supervisor for the Farm Security Administration, said Saturday.

Kendrick was advised by Jesse B. Glimmer, Amarillo, regional director that FSA funds were now available and that the policy of making small "food for freedom" loans to farm owners, tenants and part-time farmers will be continued. These small loans are primarily for assisting families to produce food for home consumption.

Such loans are limited to $500 per family and borrowers may use funds for purchase of dairy animals, feed, seed, small farming and gardening implements, canning supplies, repairs for livestock and poultry housing, food storage space, medical and dental care, etc.

Besides these, FSA will continue its regular rural rehabilitation, community and cooperative service loans. Low-income farmers who need borrowed funds for fall and winter operations or to meet home needs next spring may apply at the FSA offices in the post-office building. Thus far, most applications have been to place out on previous applications, said Kendrick. The heavier loans probably will get started in the autumn.

Prison Break Thwarted As Felon Slain

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark., Aug. 1 (AP)—One convict was killed and two other convicts and a deputy warden wounded today when trusty guards frustrated an attempted prison break here.

Woodrow Ryker, 26, sentenced to six years from Mississippi county in 1937 for grand larceny, was killed after he had wounded Deputy Warden E. Workman.

Lloyd Leon Rayburn, 34, serving a life sentence for murder of a marine sergeant at Little Rock in 1939, and John R. Hodges, 21, serving four years for forgery and uttering from Hot Springs county, were wounded when they attempted to aid Ryker.

The break was attempted shortly before noon from the prison cannery where a force of between 20 and 25 convicts were working under supervision of Workman and an armed trusty guard. Two other rifle-armed trusties were on guard outside the cannery.

Supt. Tom Cogbill reported that Ryker managed to jerk a pistol from the belt of the trusty inside the cannery and placed it against Workman's back, threatening to kill his associates to flee. When the outside guards refused to let them out, Cogbill said, Ryker fired, wounding Workman.

Put Your Savings Into War Bonds

These two financial institutions strongly urge you to put every available dollar into U.S. Government War Bonds, not only as a patriotic response to your government's appeal to help finance our way to Victory, but also as the safest and most profitable security available to the public.

To encourage the investment of savings in War Bonds, these banks have, at the request of and in cooperation with the Howard County War Bond Committees, put into effect a reduction of interest rate on Certificates of Time Deposit.

EFFECTIVE AUGUST 1, 1942, TIME DEPOSITS
BEAR INTEREST AT THE RATE OF 1 PER CENT
(Applying to renewals or new deposits on and after this date)

If held to maturity, War Bonds bear 2.9 per cent, compounded semi-annually, representing a more attractive investment for your money. County Cuts Expenditures $21,000 For '43

Budget Adjusted To Lower Income

A budget calling for a reduction of $21,000 in county expenditures for 1943 has been filed with County Clerk Lee Porter, and according to a compilation of proposed disbursements the county will spend a total of $150,406 during the coming year.

Revenues for some funds are expected to be off sharply, and in such cases diminished operating expenditures have been provided in the budget.

Proposed expenditures by funds show $50,841 for the interest and sinking fund; $3,987 for jury fund; $69,066 for road and bridge fund, $3,769 for permanent improvement; and $40,839 for officer salary.

For the interest and sinking fund the amount outstanding is $124,000, of which $22,923 is required next year. Of that amount $18,800 is principal and the remainder is interest. Levies in the fund total $10,400, with $20,053 cash on hand and a reserve of $7,022.

The jury fund is in exceptionally good condition with $7,136 cash on hand and expenditures of only $6,018 for jurors and $1,450 for court reporter.

The road and bridge fund will have an estimated $27,835, of which $19,500 is expected to come from current taxes and $8,335 from automobile registration fees. Automobile registrations were expected to be exactly half of the total for 1942.

Disbursements for the road and bridge fund include $7,200 for commissioners' salary; $1,000 for engineer services; $16,000 for regular wages; $4,000 for extra labor, which compares with $10,000 for 1942; $5,500 for materials and supplies; $4,500 for gas, oil and grease; and $2,500 for parts and tires, which amounted to $7,000 in 1942. Age Limits Extended For Women In Aircraft Classes

Announcement of liberalized age requirements is expected to bring a flood of women applicants for aircraft sheet metal work training Monday, O. R. Rodden, manager of the United States Employment Service office here, said Saturday.

The bars were lowered and raised to extend the training program to women from 14 to 40 years, inclusive, said Rodden. Although several women are now taking the training, enrollments were restricted by the now discarded 22-30 years rule.

Rodden said that there had been numerous inquiries from women from 18 to 22 and from those 30-35. He anticipated a large number would apply Monday for the training.

Men over 18 years also will be assigned for training, but those with 1-A, 2-A, 1-B, and 2-B classifications likely will not be extended the training because there is no assurance of permanence in their work if they complete the training.

Those who have had previous industrial training will find it helpful, said Rodden, and those with less than a ninth grade education will be discouraged from signing unless their work experience has more than justified for a lack of academic training.

The Canadian army's peacetime strength was only 4,500 men.

to this list is an estimated $12,000 for purchase of right-of-way.
Current taxes for the general fund are expected to be $32,500, delinquent taxes $2,000 and beer permits $1,000. These are listed as chief sources of revenue for gaining a total of $37,000.

Chief disbursements listed in the general fund are $1,200, secretary salary; $2,000 auditor salary; $400 trial fees; $300 ex officio justice of the peace fee; $300 ex officio constable fee; $1,200 police radio; $800 juvenile, a new listing; $2,400 utilities; $1,750 groceries and fuel; $2,000 rent; $600 medicines (1200 in 1942); $3,000 medical fees and hospitalization ($2250 in 1942); $1,710 welfare; $930 stamp office ($1400 in 1942); $3,000 city-county health unit, a new listing; $1,000 trapping; nothing for terrace lines which ran $400 in 1942; and $10,000 transferred to officer's salary fund ($11,205 in 1942).

The officers salary fund the following estimated amounts: $15,000, assessor-collector; $6,800 county clerk; $2,500 county attorney fees; $1,000 district clerk fees; $1,000 sheriff's fees; $1,700 state apportionment; and $10,000 transferred from the general fund.

Disbursements from the officers salary fund are expected to run as follows: assessor-collector, $10,200 ($1,800 less help); county clerk, $7,400 ($200 more help); district clerk, $3,400; sheriff, $10,980 ($120 more help); county judge, $3,300; county attorney, $3,150; and county treasurer, $2,300.

A special expenditure of $5,000 for materials and supplies for the lateral road fund is also listed. The budget is based on continuance of the present tax rate of $5.00 on the $100 valuation. A breakdown of distribution among the funds gives the road and bridge fund .15; general fund .25; jury fund .01; permanent improvement fund .01; road refund bond .03; good road special bond .03; county and jail warrants .01; and viaduct warrants .01.

Total resources expected are $189,406, which is $9,406 above the proposed expenditures, and leaves that amount on reserve if needed.

Locomotives and freight cars are built in Britain to transport supplies to Russia over the Persian railroads.

Dodgers Coast To Win; Bosox Cop As Yanks Lose A Late Rally By Cubs Falls Short In 9th

BROOKLYN, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers coasted to a 9-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs today on home runs by Dolph Camilli and Pete Reiser, but the visitors put on a rally that produced four runs in the ninth inning and routed Curt Davis, who registered his 11th pitching victory.

The Dodgers, who were destined to win an argument sooner or later, finally prevailed upon an umpire to change a decision, although it probably couldn't happen any place except in Brooklyn.

With the Dodgers leading, 6-2, and two men on and two out, Reiser cut at a 2-2 pitch which he barely ticked. The ball popped into the mitt of Catcher Clyde McCullough and Umpire Les Eiland called the National League batting leader out on strikes.

But the Dodgers claimed that the ball struck the dirt before McCullough caught it and Umpire Babe Pinelli backed them up in their protest. Ballanfant reversed his decision and called Reiser back to the plate.

CARDS DIVIDE
NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Pinchhitter Babe Barna's outfield fly with the bases loaded in the 11th inning gave the New York Giants a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and an even break in their doubleheader today after the Cards had taken the opener, 3-1, over the regulation distance.

PHILS DOWN PIRATES
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1 (AP)—A single by Merrill May with one out in the 12th inning gave the Philadelphia Phils a 2-1 victory over Pittsburgh today. Tommy Hughes went the distance for the Phils, yielding only seven hits. Everett Sowell, who replaced Hank Gornicki in the 10th, was charged with the loss.

BRAVES WIN IN 10TH
BOSTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Boston Braves defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1, today in ten innings with Tommy Holmes driving home the winning run after singles by Phil Masi and Pitcher Manny Salvo with one out in the tenth. Ray Starr went the distance for the Reds.

Stasey Optioned To Jersey City In Mungo Deal

PAT STASEY, former Big Spring pitcher and outfielder, has been optioned to Jersey City of the International league and will play regularly in right field for that club, Big Spring friends were informed this week.

Throughout this season Stasey has been playing for Minneapolis of the American association, being used chiefly as a pinch hitter and substitute outfielder.

When purchasing Van Lingle Mungo last week, Bill Terry, manager of the New York Yankees and their farm system, reported that Stasey be sent to Jersey City, a member of the Giant chain.

Rounders Is Victor Over Whirlaway

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—Rounders defeated Whirlaway by three lengths in the $25,000 added Arlington Handicap to the surprise of 30,000 spectators today.

The Irish bred Rounders, Valinda Farms entry ridden by Jockey F. A. Smith, led from start to finish, with Whirlaway gamely trying to catch him all the way to the finish.

Whirlaway, turfdom's leading money winner, was top weighted with 150 pounds and was further handicapped by the condition of the track. Rounders ran the mile and a quarter in 2:04.

Whirlaway, ridden by Jockey Eddie Arcaro, closed at 1 to 3 in the betting, and $39,462 was bet on him to win.

Starator, second to Whirlaway in the 1941 Kentucky Derby, finished third, with Pump Gun fourth. Sirocco was fifth. Only five horses started; Best Seller, Reading 2nd, Equitable and No Competition were scratched because of the condition of the track.

Rounders paid $124.00 and $3.00, with Whirlaway returning $2.40 to place. There were no show mutuels.

Coleman New ACC Coach

ABILENE, Aug. 1 (AP)—Arthur M. (Tonto) Coleman today was named head football coach of Abilene Christian college succeeding A. B. Morris, who has been appointed professor of physical education and director of athletics.

As head of physical education Morris succeeds W. M. Dowell, who has joined the A. and M. college physical education department.

Coleman, star athlete at ACC under Morris, came to his alma mater as track coach and assistant in football in 1938. He had been assistant coach at San Angelo high school three years and coach of the junior high school there four years, and also had coached at Sweetwater junior high and Baird high school.

President Don H. Morris of ACC said A. B. Morris would continue to coach basketball and assist Coleman with football. Coleman already was head track coach.

Ex-Colorado City Players Promoted

COLORADO CITY, Aug. 1.—Two former Colorado high school athletes have received promotions in the military services. W. E. (Red) Church, with the air corps in England, has been advanced from lieutenant to captain. Church was a fast-blocking tackle on Colorado football teams under Jim Cantrell, and later played tackle at Texas A. & M.

Curtis (Squirt) Wood, who has been stationed with the marine corps at San Diego, has been made a private first class. He is remembered as one of the best defensive centers the local Wolves ever produced.

SANTONE WINS 4-3
DALLAS, Aug. 1 (AP)—San Antonio made a clean sweep of its series with the Dallas Rebels by winning 4-2 tonight behind the steady pitching of Manager Ralph Weingartner.

It was Dallas' eighth consecutive loss.

Browns Clout Red Ruffing For 10 Hits

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns broke loose against Charley (Red) Ruffing today with some more of their newly discovered power, crushing the New York Yankees, 7-3, as Steve Sundra limited his former teammates to eight scattered hits.

With the second-place Boston Red Sox stopping the Detroit Tigers, the defeat cut a full game off the Yankees lead in the American league, which now stands at 11 games.

The Browns clipped Ruffing for ten of their dozen hits and scored all their runs off him before they chased him to the showers in the fifth inning.

Johnny Lindell pitched two-hit shutout ball in relief, but the Yankees couldn't solve the offerings of Sundra, who notched his fifth victory of the campaign against four losses and his fourth triumph since coming to the Browns from the Washington Senators.

SOX BEAT TIGERS 9-8
DETROIT, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox took a hit-packed 9 to 8 decision from the Detroit Tigers here today for their second straight victory of the series. Mace Brown, who relieved Charley Wagner during a four-run Detroit spree in the first inning, received credit for the victory and Hal White, one of four Detroit pitchers, was charged with the loss.

A&M To Play Naval Air Base Team

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 1 (AP)—Texas A. and M. college completed its 1942 football schedule today with the booking of Corpus Christi naval air station at Corpus Christi Oct. 10.

This game takes the place of an intercollegiate tilt scheduled with Duke but which was cancelled last month.

In announcing the filling of this date, Coach Homer Norton said he expected it to be one of the toughest on the 1942 schedule, pointing out that the naval station had a number of all-American players in training and that six of them were in the all-star game at Chicago last year when Norton was on the coaching staff.

The Aggie schedule now calls for games with Louisiana State in Baton Rouge, Washington State at San Antonio, Texas Tech here, Corpus Christi naval air station and the usual six Southwest conference tilts, with Texas Christian and Arkansas to be played at College Station and Baylor, Rice, Southern Methodist and Texas away from home.

Zuppke Back As Coach Of Star Team

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—Bob Zuppke is leaving his pigs and sows down at Mahomet, Ill., for one last fling as a big-time football coach.

The fiery little Dutchman, who ran the University of Illinois grid team for 29 years until his retirement last fall, was named today head coach of the college all-star football team which will play the Chicago Bears, champions of the National Football league, Aug. 28 in Soldier Field.

In his reappearance on the coaching scene, Zuppke will enjoy the kind of material he never had during the lean 30's at Illinois—the forlorn era which followed his phenomenal success of the 1920's when Red Grange and the Illinois rode to national prominence.

Gene Kunes Cops St. Paul Lead

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 1 (AP)—Stroking consistent subpar golf, Gene Kunes, a veteran but little-known campaigner from Philadelphia, today crowded into the lead of the St. Paul open.

Kunes, whose major victory in the past was the Canadian open in 1935, cut through the closely-packed top of the field with a 65-66-69, which coupled with his 63 yesterday for a 36-hole total of 137—seven blows under par.

Only one stroke behind at 138 were veteran Jimmy Hines, of Great Neck, Long Island, and Dutch Harrison, the slim "Arkansas Traveler" from Harrisburg, Pa. Hines carded a pair of 35's for 70 and Dutch fashioned two 34's for 68, best round of the day.

Special federal, state and local taxes on commercial vehicles totaled $546,290,000 in the United States in 1941.

Coaching School At Abilene Opens Mon.

Over 300 football coaches will gather in Abilene next Monday for the tenth annual Texas High School Coaches Association grid clinic to be held at Hardin-Simmons University.

The coaching school, called the "world's largest," is drawing two of the nation's best mentors as instructors—Frank Leahy of Notre Dame, and Wallace Butts of the University of Georgia.

Highlight of the week is the All-Star game (First football game in 1942) at the Abilene high school stadium Saturday night, August 8, in which the best senior players from North Texas school meet the South Texas stand-outs.

The teams will be made up of such stars as Gene Hill and Troy Stewart of the State Champion Wichita Falls Coyotes; Bill Blackburn, Sunset (Dallas); Jack White, Paris; Roland Nabors, Lubbock; Grady Brown, Masonic Home; Lewis Holder, Dallas Woodrow Wilson; Felo Prewitt, Corsicana; Burrell Collins, Amarillo; Gus Callagher, Breckenridge; Marion Flanagan, Sweetwater; Lora Weems, Nacogdoches; Wayne Burnett, Tyler; Wayland Hill and Ed Heap, Temple; Jack Allison, Austin; Peyton Sparks, Yaletta; Steve Lobue, Jeff Davis (Houston); Tom Collins, Abilene, and many others.

Looking 'Em Over

With WACIL M'NAIR

High school football coaches from all over the state are due in Abilene today, where they will begin tomorrow a full week's training session held each year by the Texas High School Coaches Association.

Many coaching schools for this year have been canceled because hardships brought on by the war, but a sizeable number is expected to be on hand for the Abilene meet. From Big Spring Coach John Dibrell will attend.

Some 45 stars of Texas high school gridrons during 1941 will also be in attendance for a big all-star game between the north and south sections of the state. The game will be played on the night of Aug. 8 and will ring down the curtain on the coaches school. Recently added to the coaching school's instructor's list is Joe Bailey Cheaney, head mentor of Southwest Texas State of San Marcos.

Jimmie Dykes' Chicago White Sox may not be as far up in the American league standings as was predicted at the start of the season, but they still seem to be the little giant killers of the league. Mention already has been made that the Chicago are the only club to take a doubleheader from the league-leading Yankees this year, and they have done it not once, but twice. It appears that the Sox get particular pleasure out of heckling clubs of the higher bracket. Last year they concentrated on the Cleveland Indians.

Although he moved from a Class AA league to another of the same rating, Pat Stasey, the former Big Spring, got a real boost from that deal which sent him from Minneapolis to Jersey City. At Jersey City Stasey will probably be used as a regular, with a good chance at going up.

Exhibition Tilt At Cooperstown

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Baseball will pay its respects to its birthplace again Monday when the St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Athletics play the annual major-league exhibition at Doubleday field.

The game serves a two-fold purpose, turning public attention to the hall of fame and giving the players of two clubs each year an opportunity to familiarize themselves with baseball lore and the memories of the game's great men and moments.

Since the museum and hall of fame were opened here in 1939, the centennial of baseball's invention by Abner Doubleday on a cow pasture at Phinney's farm, most diamond celebrities and many thousands of ordinary fans have found their way to this little rural community to view the evidences of baseball's development into the national pastime.

200 Southern Footballers In Service

By ROMNEY WHEELER
ATLANTA, Aug. 1 (AP)—If southern football looks strange of face this season, and a bit ragged around the edges, here's why:

More than 200 players—half of them undergraduates—have been contributed to the nation's war effort since Jan. 1 by the Southeastern Conference... plus 25 coaches, assistant coaches and trainers.

Alabama, 1942 Cotton Bowl champion, has lost a dozen eligible players to the armed services, along with 11 graduates and five members of Frank Thomas' coaching staff. Georgia, Orange Bowl champion, has sent 14 undergraduates, plus 11 graduates and four coaches.

Mississippi has only 15 players left from its varsity squad of 41 which challenged last fall for the unofficial conference championship. Twenty-two undergraduates are in service, seven others in war plants. Seven graduates and four members of Coach Harry Mehre's staff are at war.

Auburn reported three varsity men in service, along with five graduates and five coaches. Florida has sent 10 graduates into service, three undergrads and six coaches. Georgia Tech listed 12 grads, four undergrads, and three coaches; Kentucky nine seniors six undergraduates and four coaches.

Least affected was Mississippi State, losing one sophomore guard to the army, two others to war work. Eight 1942 seniors and three coaches are in service. Tulane has given 11 undergrads, 13 seniors, one assistant coach. Tennessee saw Col. Bob Neyland go in 1941, subsequently lost one assistant coach and his trainer, along with eight undergrads and three seniors.

Five Vanderbilt graduates, six eligible players, and Line Coach Paul Bryant are in service, while Louisiana State has contributed four players, ten seniors, and two coaches.

Mike Williamson Is Injured By Ball
DALLAS, Aug. 1 (AP)—Mike Williamson, Texas league umpire, will be out of service for about a week as the result of a knee injury received last night while working behind the plate at the Dallas-San Antonio game here.

Dallas Club Sells Two More Players

DALLAS, Aug. 1 (AP)—President George Schepps of the Dallas Rebel baseball team today announced the sale of Gordon Maltzberger, one of the mainstays of the pitching staff, and outfielder Mel Stelner.

Maltzberger was sold to the Shreveport Sports, currently in the fight for pennant honors, and will report immediately. His season record for the cellar-dwelling Dallas club is eleven won and eleven lost and his earned run average in 200 innings is 2.48.

Gilstrap Named TU Cage Coach

AUSTIN, Aug. 1 (AP)—H. C. Bully Gilstrap, University of Texas football line coach and freshman track mentor was named head basketball coach by the board of regents.

As cage tutor Gilstrap replaces temporarily Head Coach Jack S. Gray who is in the navy.

Church League Starts Its Playoff; City Reorganizes

Softball activity on a double front will hold sports interest in Big Spring this week as a reorganized city league begins play of a new season and First Methodist and North Nolan Baptist start their playoff for the church league title.

First Methodist woundup the second half play in first place, taking the final game from the North Nolan team 17 to 14 Friday night. North Nolan won the first half of regular play, and now will meet the Methodists in the title series, which is to be for the best two out of three games. First game is slated for Tuesday night on the city park diamond.

Managers of five city league teams met with recreational supervisor H. F. Malone Friday night, and approved a schedule for more play in that league. Teams represented at the meeting were WOW, Radford's, ABC-Lions, Architects-Engineers and the Gilder Pilots. Saturday morning two more teams came in making a total of seven. The two latest additions are Brown-Bellows, and Wallace-Heyne, one a construction crew and the other a plumbing outfit at the Bombardier school.

Malone said late Saturday that one more team was practically assured to round out an eight-team circuit. Expected to enter in Big Spring State Hospital, who had a powerful team in the schedule recently completed.

SPT-TULSA WINS... 14... Tulsa Wins Over Beaumont, 2-1

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 1 (AP)—Charley Adams, young Tulsa right-hander, held Beaumont's heavy hitters to a pair of singles tonight as the Oilers conquered the Tulsa league leaders, 2-1.

Adams robbed himself of a shutout in the seventh. After Dick Wakefield had singled, Adams tried to pick him off first base but the throw was wide and as the ball bounced into right field foul territory Wakefield romped all the way home.

Bufs Make It A Pair Over Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH, Aug. 1 (AP)—George Kline allowed the Cats but five hits here tonight as the Houston Bufs made it two straight over Fort Worth, 3-1.

The Bufs connected for eight safeties off the offerings of four Cat pitchers.

Fort Worth's last big chance to catch up came in the fifth inning when the bases were filled with but one out. Kline subdued the next two batters, however, to thwart the rally.

19 TEAMS CERTIFIED
WICHITA, Kas., Aug. 1 (AP)—Certification of 19 teams for competition in the eighth annual national semi-pro baseball tourney starting here Aug. 14 was approved today by the national semi-pro congress.

The Arctics and Mayans used cacao beans in place of money.

Hudson Henley Home Scene Of Shower-Tea Held For Bride

Wanda Horn And Sgt. Oerline Marry Here

Wanda Horn, daughter of Mr. Pat Duncan, became the bride of Sgt. Leonard M. Oerline, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Oerline of Albuquerque, N. M., in a double ring ceremony read Friday night at 6 o'clock at the First Methodist parsonage. The pastor, the Rev. H. C. Smith, read the service. The bride wore a white phantom crepe dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias. For something old she wore an heirloom locket over one hundred years old belonging to the Horn family. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Duncan and Staff Sgt. John Wilson.

Miss Laneous Notes

By MARY WEALEY

It hardly seems anytime ago that we can remember getting a run in our new silk hose and nonchalantly pitching them into the discard. Now we wish for silk stockings, with or without runners.

Not so many months ago a rubber band was a rubber band, not a priceless commodity. We threw them around with the best of people and even used them to shoot paper wads at unsuspecting souls.

We hoard rubber bands now and ration them out to ourselves. It hasn't been many months when we would throw papers away with clips attached to the tops or pass by a paper clip on the floor and never see it. Now we are paper clip conscious.

About six months ago nobody noticed that we didn't use nobby in our tea and coffee. Now it is a matter for cooing and aching and sometimes even envy. It seems a longer time but then it hasn't been long since people in automobiles tried to save their own hides first in automobile accidents. Now they stagger out of crashes and regardless of personal injury inspect those tires.

Time was when people pounded pavements looking for jobs. Now if men aren't in the I-A class they are A-1 to an employer and he looking, nay, searching for them.

Yea, verily, a guy named Hirohito, and another sport by the name of Hitler, abetted but not aided by a guy named Mussolini have certainly caused a few changes to be made in our lives.

Evangelists At Several Churches

A three-week revival campaign opens today at the Assembly of God church with the Rev. J. Paul Burton, Springfield, Mo., as the evangelist. He will lead in services at 10 a. m. and 8:30 p. m. through Aug. 20. After that he goes to Midland with several from the local church to speak at a 10-day bi-sectional camp meeting.

Revival services continue at the Church of the Nazarenes, 4th and Austin streets, where Rev. I. W. Justice of Eastland will speak twice today. At the morning hour, his topic will be "An Inheritance in the Kingdom of Heaven," and in the evening he will speak on "The Tragedy of a Divided Heart."

Special music has been arranged for both services. In the morning, Geneva and Edwina Turner will present numbers, and on the evening program will be Mrs. V. V. Sims and Mrs. T. E. Wood.

"I've filled it with cigarettes and cookies for him."

Model 'Ceiling Price' Store Display To Be Shown At Abilene Monday

All retailers and wholesalers of this territory, whether selling commodities or supplying services, are invited to attend a one-day clinic in Abilene to be held on next Monday, August 3, in a model "ceiling price" model store arrangement.

Business men of Abilene will cooperate by supplying merchandise and displays for the store demonstration designed solely to provide helpful information to all dealers in complying with the general maximum price regulation. This unusual display will be held in chamber of commerce offices and will be conducted by B. J. McClendon, senior price specialist from the Office of Price Administration, assisted by Ray Martin, representative of state department for business education. The clinic will include four separate discussion periods beginning at 10 a. m.

OPA officials have advised that interpretation of the new orders concerning consumer services and men's and women's apparel will be fully discussed as well as correct posting of ceiling prices and preparation of lists and records. The following schedule will be observed during the day:

10 a. m. to 12 n.—All firms supplying services in connection with a commodity.

1:30 to 3 p. m.—Retailers and wholesalers of commodities. Explanation of records to file and store records; how prices are established and what items are affected; new regulations.

3 to 4 p. m.—Illustrations and methods of displaying "ceiling prices."

4 to 5 p. m.—Question and answer period and individual conferences.

Ration Boards Are Told To Be Firm

FORT WORTH, Aug. 1 (AP)—Texas OPA Director Mark McGee called on county war price and rationing boards today to "stick to your guns" and enforce war-time rationing regulations "without fear or favor."

At the same time he appealed for public support of the boards in their decisions "even if those decisions may mean sacrifice in some particular person's business or may deprive some person of an advantage to which he feels he is entitled."

"This is no time to weaken and let personal sympathies sway us from the stern duty of carrying out war-time orders that are vital to the national welfare," Mr. McGee emphasized.

GUESTS IN STANTON

STANTON, Aug. 1 — Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Martin had as their weekend guests Mr. and Mrs. W. George of Camp Barkeley. Mrs. George has been taking special work at Texas Tech this summer. Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Martin and their guests were entertained for supper by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Stone at their pretty ranch home in Glascock county.

His staff is feeling the effects of the war. Many joined the military forces, two staff members have two sons each in the army, and five staff members were in the siege of Bataan and presumably were captured with the fall of Corregidor.

Even the bats, whose daily flight from nearby cave has been an added phenomenon, have been affected by the war. Col. Boles related. For years the bats emerged from their cave by the thousands at 7 p. m., just at sundown. But when the cavern switched to war-time (and clocks were moved up an hour), the bats moved their mass exodus to a former time. Col. Boles was at loss to explain the curious change except to theorize that the creatures had timed their daily departure on the basis of sound from the last group to go through the caverns each day.

Can You Spare A Typewriter? US Needs It Badly

Send your typewriter to war! That is Uncle Sam's latest plea to the homes of the nation, and from the patriots who heed the call, a minimum of 300,000 typewriters is the goal.

Payment will be made for these war-going machines, generous payment, too, for the trade-in allowance of February 1, 1941, will determine the price paid. And that means that at least a year-and-a-half of service will have been had from the machine since the trade-in allowance date.

But more important than the payment to be received will be the satisfaction of knowing that however great the sacrifice involved in relinquishing it, the typewriter will be doing active, concrete service in the prosecution of the war.

Scarcely a war operation which does not depend to some extent on the use of a typewriter. A Navy long range patrol bomber, scouting for Nazi submarines in coastwise waters, usually carries a typewriter on which to record radio messages and set down a detailed and legible report of the chase. Front line posts of the Army Medical Corps must have typewriters to register identification of the wounded as they are brought in from the fighting lines.

Our submarines, slipping up to deal death to Jap ships, tap out the completion of their tasks on the typewriter. That last-second weather report, so important to the success of an Army bomber flight to Berlin, must be typewritten to insure perfect legibility.

Here's how to send your typewriter to war: Phone the dealer from whom you bought your machine, or any other typewriter dealer registered in the phone book.

Tell him you have a typewriter to sell to the government and ask him to call and look it over.

When he comes to your home, he will inspect the machine, making sure it comes within the age limit and quote the trade-in allowance for that machine as of February 1, 1941.

When you sell it to him, he will affix to the machine a decalcomania label reading: "Property of U. S. Government. . . severe penalties for unlawful use." That is your guarantee that your machine will not go back into ordinary trade channels.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 2. The Golden Text is: "Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you" (II Corinthians 13:11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (I John 4:16).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being mortality, cause, and effect belong to God. These are His attributes; the eternal manifestations of the infinite divine Principle, Love" (page 275).

Corpus Tops List In Construction

By The Associated Press

Corpus Christi was first among Texas cities in the building permits race last week, with a total of $80,405. Dallas was second with $61,224 in permits issued.

The Texas Contractor reported engineering awards of $5,982,000 for the week.

Caverns Draw Fewer People

Tourist travel through the Carlsbad Cavern is running about one-third as of the same date of last year, according to Colonel Thomas Boles, superintendent of the caverns, a Big Spring visitor.

"With the present limitation on tires, this is about all we are entitled to," said Col. Boles. He added cryptically that seems to be "much more important work to do today than to see the Carlsbad Cavern."

However, he was anxious that all soldiers stationed in the area avail themselves of seeing the wonders of what is probably the outstanding work of nature in the Southwest. There is no charge for soldiers, he reminded, and the cavern is easily accessible from this area.

Of the 285,000 cavern visitors last year, 20,000 were soldiers. The total this year likely will be little over 100,000 but the percentage of soldier visitors will be greater, Col. Boles predicted.

His staff is feeling the effects of the war. Many joined the military forces, two staff members have two sons each in the army, and five staff members were in the siege of Bataan and presumably were captured with the fall of Corregidor.

Our Foes Are Not Waiting Until After The Elections

Almost daily informed Washington correspondents report new phases of war effort which are being handicapped by politics and selfishness.

The tendency on the part of both administrative and legislative agencies is to "let it wait until after election."

For example, there is the tax program. The treasury asked for a minimum of $8,700,000,000. The house is providing $6,250,000,000.

The missing $2,450,000,000 is needed to help finance the war. Also, experts generally agree, at least this sum should be taken from the public to help avert inflation.

Congress is expected to provide the amount in a supplemental tax bill. Now? Oh, no. After election.

We can't possibly acquire or make enough rubber to supply our most pressing war needs from mid-1943 to around the middle of 1944. Unless tires now worn out in places are driving are saved for war use, we are going to find ourselves in trouble.

Informed opinion is that civilian tires are going to be requisitioned perhaps all, perhaps those in excess of five per motorist. Now, while they still have a lot of wear in them? Oh, no. After election.

If tires are not to be taken, the next best way to save them in part is thought to be nationwide gasoline rationing to restrict their use. That is seriously considered. Now? How about waiting until after election?

President Roosevelt outlined the essentials of a successful price control policy to avert inflation, and gave Leon Henderson the job. Two vital points were wage control and farm price control. It is becoming increasingly apparent that, to a limited extent at least, a reluctant Washington is going to be forced to do something about these. Now?

No—after election.

The idea of politicians seems to be that by catering to pressure groups, between now and November, the politicians can be reelected.

We doubt that it will work that way. We have a feeling that with American men on and near the fighting fronts, and other millions on their way, the people are more interested in winning the war fast than in preserving the old, soft ways of living.

Hitler isn't waiting until after our elections. Hirohito isn't waiting. Only our politicians are waiting.

If they continue to wait until after election, and because of their procrastination this war is prolonged and thousands more of Americans are killed, we wonder how much they will enjoy the privilege of staying in Washington.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—

Stars Are Land-Conscious

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Station wagons still run around town with fastidious insignia such as "No Tengo Rancho" and "No Rancho Yet" but for a growing list of movie stars the kidding no longer applies.

The return to the soil hasn't reached the point where all Hollywood ranches, but more and more are thinking in terms of acreage and dreaming sentimentally of bumper crops of alfalfa, citrus, nuts or home-grown peas.

The Hollywood ranch isn't the joke it used to be. When the glamour gal of other years wearied of her colossal and expensive baring swimming pool parties, she bought herself an acre in the country, put a fence around it and posed for the photographers.

In dungarees, dainty rake in hand, among her tomatoes. She generally made coy revelations as to how expensive a business her "ranching" was and she really shouldn't afford it, she said, but after all it was a relief to get away from the artificiality of it all and worth it.

Hollywood's new type farmer is like Ginger Rogers—serious about it. When Ginger bought her ranch near Medford, Ore., last year, Hollywood couldn't exactly see its pet redhead as a farmerette, 1,000 miles from the cameras. But Ginger wasn't planning a farming career for herself, not just then. She meant business.

The 4-R (Rogers) Rogue River ranch is intended to be a paying outfit, as well as a between-picures vacation spot for Ginger. Ginger's mother, Lela Rogers, spends most of her time there. She came down to play Ginger's mother in a movie, but she stayed only four days and hid back to the 1,100 acres where dairy products are going to market daily.

Hollywood has had some real ranchers for years—Harry Carey, up near Saugus, homesteaded his place nearly 30 years ago, and that easy riding Harry does on the screen comes from long practice in rounding up his own stock. Joel McCrea is somewhat newer at the game, but he too is a veteran. Some years he has had to support his ranch from picture earnings, some years he has cleared $5,000 from his sideline and looks to do better this year.

This year looks good for Victor McLaglen, too. Vic has a sprawling slice of landscape up near Fresno where the porkers will bring the bacon home to Vic. About $35,000 worth, he figures, including income from fruit. That's gross, and he hasn't figured net profit yet.

Alan Curtis and Ilona Massey are profit-minded farmers, by proxy, up in northern California. Fred MacMurray's farm is up there, too. It was once a prune ranch, but Fred has introduced a variety of crops. Preston Foster, the hearty seaman, has joined the ranch brigade and will talk hayrakes and harrows as enthusiastically as he used to talk boats.

Mr. Wallace made a very poor start as a tie-breaker. When his first opportunity came last year, he was out having lunch. It was a measure important to the administration, too. But the boys fixed it up. They reconsidered. And on the second vote, Wallace was in the chair.

That reconsideration saved him from falling into the class with Vice President Curtis. The latter once had his chance to break a tie on an administration favored bill—but couldn't be found. He was taking a nap—a real one.

Several weeks ago the Senate considered the bill to kill the Civilian Conservation Corps. The vote was 50-50 again, and Wallace stepped in to save the CCC temporarily at least. It wasn't his fault that it was afterward knocked out in a House-Senate committee conference.

By the time the vote came up recently on whether the senate should have the right to confirm all office of civilian defense employees earning more than $4,500 a year, the vice president was a veteran at busting up the legislative ball game. He knocked the ball out of the park, leaving the OCD to do

Washington Daybook —

Wallace Setting Record As Tie-Breaker In The Senate

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—No matter what other little niche Henry A. Wallace gets in the hall of fame, he'll go down as the tie-breakingest vice president this country has ever had.

The "ninety-seventh senator"—as the V-P. is sometimes called—can vote only in case of a tie. Some vice presidents have never had an opportunity to toss in their dead-lock-breaking aye or nay.

Vice President Garner, for instance, stuck around eight years with only one chance to knock the bottom out of a tie vote. But in some 20 months in office, Mr. Wallace has cast his vote in the Senate five times. That may not be the 160-year-old record. But senate historians think it is.

Mr. Wallace made a very poor start as a tie-breaker. When his first opportunity came last year, he was out having lunch. It was a measure important to the administration, too. But the boys fixed it up. They reconsidered. And on the second vote, Wallace was in the chair.

That reconsideration saved him from falling into the class with Vice President Curtis. The latter once had his chance to break a tie on an administration favored bill—but couldn't be found. He was taking a nap—a real one.

Several weeks ago the Senate considered the bill to kill the Civilian Conservation Corps. The vote was 50-50 again, and Wallace stepped in to save the CCC temporarily at least. It wasn't his fault that it was afterward knocked out in a House-Senate committee conference.

By the time the vote came up recently on whether the senate should have the right to confirm all office of civilian defense employees earning more than $4,500 a year, the vice president was a veteran at busting up the legislative ball game. He knocked the ball out of the park, leaving the OCD to do its upper bracket hiring without senatorial interference.

He could have rested on his laurels there, but it was only a few days later that the senate split 30 to 30 on a vote which would have rubbed out the Florida barge canal. His vote was for it.

There was only one difficulty here, the vote was on a motion to amend, which, like some other votes, loses in case of a tie. At that point the canal didn't need saving—it already had been—but the V-P. got in his say anyway.

The epidemic of the votes, according to some senate ancients, is the result of the breakdown in party lines. Only on rare occasions these days do the members of either house vote strictly along party lines. Republicans often vote with the administration and there's hardly a ballot when the democratic side of both chambers is sprinkled generously with votes against administration measures.

Man About Manhattan—

War Tough On Amateur Photographers

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It's like this. . . . You're an amateur photographer, and you take your camera out for an ordinary Sunday stroll, and before you know it you're in trouble.

The war has done this. It has clamped down on more than 800,000 amateur photographers in Greater New York.

You can't photograph your best girl leaning over a bridge. . . . You can't pose your favorite pooch on certain water mains and snap his picture.

As yet, there's no ban on carrying and using cameras. But it is strictly up to the individual to find out whether he is trespassing on forbidden ground or shooting forbidden subjects. Ignorance is no excuse. You have to find out for yourself in every locality what you can shoot and what you can't. Provisions, in the metropolitan area at least, have been made for this information to be forthcoming.

A good idea is to carry plenty of identification with you in the event you are out to get some filler-subjects for the family album. Your driver's license is okay.

One sure way to get into trouble is to go about with a concealed camera. Carry it openly. If you're in doubt about any subject, ask a cop.

One thing is sure . . . you can't photograph troop movements. . . . If you see a column of men swinging along the road, don't take it. . . . Don't shoot a tank, or a column of jeeps. . . . If you fly in a commercial plane, leave your camera at home or keep it locked up. . . . Taking pictures from the air is expressly forbidden. Ditto along seacoast areas or other forbidden sectors. . . . Don't photograph ships. . . . Don't photograph industrial plants. . . . Don't photograph aircraft emplacements, or searchlights. . . . If you do, you'll have a hard time explaining it. . . . As they say, ignorance is no excuse. . . . And the FBI can be very, very tough.

The government wants it understood that there is no ban on amateur photography. There is no effort being made to discourage photographers. But it asks you to remember that the purpose of all wartime regulations is to withhold information of value to the enemy. That's why industrial plants are forbidden. . . . Those plants may be making bomb sights. . . . A picture might have the way for sabotage. That's why certain bridges and rail terminals are forbidden. A seemingly harmless film, in the wrong hands, might result in tangled communications and a great loss in life.

Outside of that there's nothing to worry about. Honey, take that chewing gum out of your mouth and lean against this marble foun for a moment. I want to take your picture.

Chapter 42

PRESENT FOR WARD

"A club was what they said they wanted it for. They were getting members when I left. It would have been a club too, until the right time came. They offered Mrs. Clarke two hundred and fifty thousand. I offered the same but I couldn't pay more than twenty-five thousand in cash. She knew she would get the balance within a year or two, but she hated me and she refused my offer. Then I had a stroke of good luck. I had suspected all along that there had been some previous affiliation between her and Perry Clarke, but it was not until the day before she sailed that I learned anything definite.

"I had come to see her to make a final plea. I walked down the hall unannounced. They were talking in the patio and I heard him say that unless she paid over one hundred thousand dollars he'd see to it that she got nothing at all. He mentioned something about being able to prove it, and Mrs. Clarke said she couldn't do anything about it until she had returned to the States—I heard that much before a servant appeared and they stopped talking."

Raeburn picked up two of the photographic prints and began to roll them with one hand.

"I went to Clarke the day after Mrs. Clarke sailed. At first he would admit nothing. I kept after him, told him I'd be glad to pay for any information that would prevent the estate from being sold. He finally admitted he had once been married to Mrs. Clarke. I tried my best to check that marriage and divorce by cable and transatlantic phone, but with the Germans in Paris I could get nowhere."

He paused, his face thoughtful, and Murdock prodded him.

"So Clarke followed Hester here."

"He ran out on me," Raeburn said. "Just when I thought I had convinced him to see things my way he took the plane. I didn't find out until he had gone. So I took the next one out, two days later. It seemed like a wild chance, but I had to try." "You went to Hardacker," Fenner said.

"Peculiar Request

"I did. Got his name from a telephone directory. He found Clarke and Mrs. Clarke for me. I went to her house one evening. There was a party on but Clarke met me outside. I told him I'd pay him twenty-five thousand dollars if—"

"And he believed you," Fenner said.

"Why shouldn't he?" He put the two rolled photographs in his pocket. "I think you know the rest of the story."

"He was really doing a job of selling out, wasn't he?" Fenner said.

"Wait a minute," Murdock said, glancing at Naeson. "Is there some law in Caragua that says a man can't leave what he wants to a woman whether he's married to her or not?"

"No, that I know of," Raeburn frowned; then said: "Oh, I see what you mean—her marrying father before she was divorced? But this case was different. Fortunately, and for some reason of his own, no doubt, my father used a peculiar wording in his will. In effect he said that if, at the time of his death, he was still legally married to Hester Losado, she was to receive the following bequests."

"Oh, oh," said Fenner. "That's the crusher."

Joyce looked at Hester. She was slouched in her chair, her face blotchy and her stare vindictive. She seemed to be unaware of anyone but Raeburn and the look on her face held Joyce until she saw someone move from the corner of her eye.

It was Raeburn. He was offering the two remaining photographs to Ward Allen.

"Would you like these?" Allen took them. He stood very straight and stiff, and his blond face was colorless, his lips barely moving as he spoke.

"Thanks."

"Those clippings made a lot of trouble for you, didn't they?" Raeburn said. "It's too bad you didn't know."

"Know what?"

"Raeburn backed to the door. 'Things have happened since you left. They deported your friend, the Countess, for one thing. And some of the undesirables have been weeded out of the police department. The truth about that charge against you came out some months ago—not publicly, but most of us knew.'"

He paused and explained. "Allen got in with the wrong crowd for a while in Caragua. He apparently regretted it later because he broke off with them. They resented it and did what they could to punish him."

"Ward Allen stood motionless until it seemed that he did not intend to answer. Finally he said: 'Perry Clarke knew the charges had been dropped and yet he—' 'He helped—what is the word?—frame you.'"

"I'll listen."

"Yes," Allen said. He looked at Hester. "You could have told me the truth, too. You knew I'd been cleared."

Hester gave no sign that she had heard. Raeburn reached behind him for the doorknob, turned it.

"I'm grateful to you," he said to Joyce, "for suggesting such a satisfactory bargain." Then, to the room: "Give me a reasonable chance and there'll be no trouble."

"Oh, sure," Fenner said, his voice thin and mocking. "We'll give you plenty of chance."

Raeburn looked at him, as though weighing the statement.

"I'm not sure I can get out of the country, but I can at least start these photographs on their way. After that I'll not care so much. . . . There's just one more thing."

He turned to Della. "I'm sorry about last night, Miss Stewart. I hadn't expected you. I didn't know who it was and I tossed my coat over your face and grabbed you. When you fainted you slipped out of my arms and struck your head on a chair. I should have been more careful."

He backed through the doorway. Joyce sat up and got her feet under her; then Raeburn was gone and Fenner was moving towards the door in quick long steps, his hand sliding inside his coat.

Joyce raced across the room, meeting the detective at the door. "No, Jack!"

"Look out," he said, not even looking at her.

"You mustn't." She struggled to stay in front of the door and felt herself being thrust aside.

"He can't get away with it." "But he didn't do it!"

This time Fenner looked at her. His eyes were still narrowed, still suspicious, but he dropped his hand and stood back.

"He was there. You saw him come out."

"Yes," Joyce said.

"He grabbed the envelope from Miss Stewart."

"There must have been someone else there before him."

"Yeah?" Fenner moved back. "Go ahead, I'll listen."

Burford To Direct Enchantment Music

Prof. Leonard Burford, head of the music department at Abilene Christian college and director of the Acapella chorus of that institution, will be song director and worship leader at the Churches of Christ Enchantment at Thorp Buring, Aug. 26-30.

For the average young couple entering marriage today, the chances of surviving to their golden wedding are about twice what they were for the average couple 50 years ago.

Stanton Schools
To Open Aug. 30

STANTON, Aug. 1. — Stanton schools will start their 1942-43 term on Monday, August 30, the board of trustees voted at a meeting this week.

The early opening date was set because trustees believe that classes may have to be suspended for a time in mid-autumn so that students may help with the cotton harvest. Three plans are under consideration for making up any loss of school time: teaching six days a week, shortening the Christmas vacation, or continuing later in the spring.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

That heretofore on June 17, 1942,
Phillip Prager, owner of the Hub
Store in Monahans, Ward County,
Texas, and of Monahans and Big Spring, made an assignment of all of his property for the benefit of his creditors, unto the Undersigned, in accordance with Title
Twelve of the Revised Civil Statutes.

752Mrs. Engle Is Death Victim

Mrs. C. A. Engle, pioneer West Texan, succumbed here Saturday. She was 71 years old.

Born in Rockspings, she lived in Edwards county until 1900 when the family moved to this section. Her husband, a rancher, succumbed in 1904 and was buried in Borden county.

Survivors include four sons, Howard Engle, Las Vegas, Nev.; Charlie Engle, Coahoma, Miss.; Engle, New Castle, Wyo.; Dewey Engle, Big Spring; and Mrs. C. L. Holler, Denver City; Mrs. Joe Bailey, Seagraves, and Mrs. Hugh Shumake, Patagonia, Ariz. Mrs. Engle also leaves 20 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be at the Nalley chapel at 5:30 p. m. with the Rev. R. Elmer Dunham, East Fourth Baptist pastor, in charge. Burial will be in the city cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Wilber Forest, M. Weaver, Sam Buchanan, Volle Skeen, O. L. Rush and E. C. Casey. Members of the B. of L. F. & E. will be considered honorary pallbearers.

Scouts Urged To Sign For Second
Summer Camp

Boy Scouts of Big Spring and area were being urged by their leader Saturday to complete applications for the second council camp of the summer by Aug. 5.

The site is to be Camp Louis Farr, near Mazon, and dates are Aug. 10 to Aug. 15. Cost, including transportation, is $5. First meal will be at noon on the starting day and the last one will be at noon on the final day.

Essentials to be taken by boys include, first of all, a bathing suit, lead sandals. Others are two blankets, or equivalent, cot, sheets if desired, uniform (if boy has one), jacket or coat, three suits of underwear, leather-soled shoes, half a dozen handkerchiefs, toilet kits, three towels, first aid kit, and possibly a slicker, flashlight, canteen, kodak, notebook, etc. If scoutmasters do not have necessary information, scouts should write to the council office at once.

Allies Bomb Jap Cruiser

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 2 (AP)—Allies bombed and machinegunned a Japanese cruiser south of Kamboja in the Banda Sea, a communique said today. This apparently was the second attack on the same cruiser mentioned as "probably" hit in yesterday's communique.

"Owing to weather conditions it was impossible to determine the amount of damage," to the cruiser, the communique said.

Allied planes also attacked by day and night the Japanese installations recently established in the Gona area of southeastern New Guinea, and struck again at Japanese bases on Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons.

Two Accepted Here For Army Service

Two Big Spring men were accepted Saturday by Sgt. Edwin R. Turner, U. S. army recruiter, and shipped to Lubbock for enlistment.

Both Louis N. Senter and Milford E. Marion went into the army unassigned.

Turner called attention to special opportunities for specialists between the ages of 17 and 40 years of age. Qualified men may enlist in special situations as aircraft mechanics, aircraft armorers, aircraft radio mechanics, aircraft radio operators, aircraft metal workers, aircraft welders. Enlistment, he said, will be direct in the air corps.

Lower Insurance Rates In Effect

A reminder that reduced rates on many types of fire insurance already are in effect came Saturday from M. Wentz, local insurance agent, who pointed to the recent schedules announced by Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner.

The rate reductions apply to insurance on dwellings, furniture, business property and many other items, and became effective August 1. Hall estimated the new schedule would represent savings of over $5,000,000 to Texas policy holders.

'Country Doctor'
Dies At Age 95

DALLAS, Aug. 1 (AP)—Dr. E. H. Cowan, 95, surgeon general for the Grand Army of the Republic—self-styled country doctor for more than half a century—died here today at the home of his daughter.

He served in the Union army; spent most of his life in Indiana; but had many friendships with Confederate veterans.

BURNS FATAL

MCKINNEY, Aug. 1 (AP)—Dan F. Gilliland, 42-year old Collin county farmer, died today as a result of burns suffered in an explosion at his farm yesterday. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

Here 'n There

Big Spring is now ready to put its firemen against all comers for the title of "best dressed." They have new uniforms and new caps. Shirts are of a light gray with black tie and trousers are of a darker gray with cap to match.

Understand that Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Jarvis have prospects of settling down in Houston for the time being, and are tickled plenty over the chances of getting back to Texas after a couple of years up north. Mrs. Jarvis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Patterson.

L. Q. Lowe, Jr. is getting along fine in the navy, his mother, Mrs. L. Q. Lowe, Sr. advises. L. Q. Lowe, Jr. joined the navy Jan. 30 last year, served three months as apprentice-seaman at San Diego before being shipped to Pearl Harbor to be assigned as seaman 2C on the USS Dobbin. On Nov. 25 he was transferred to the naval air corps on Johnston Island, T. H. and on July 1 of this year he was promoted to petty officer third class and moved to an unannounced station.

In reporting on Mrs. L. R. Mundt's unique "air conditioner," we left out one detail. The water hose (tied at the top of a window screen) must have a nozzle or spray, which is left barely open so water may be played evenly across the top of a screen. Gravity and nature's breeze will do the rest.

Herald route girls—members of the T.J.D. Club—hit the jackpot last week when they started out to sell war stamps and bonds. Not only did they beat the bushes, but Woodbine Hill brought in one application for $4,000 in bonds. Some thrill for the girls, too!

From Lane Hudson comes word that shipyard welding out in California is a fine thing—but brother, it is plenty hard work.

Attracting plenty of attention these days are two displays in the Wacker Store windows. Crowded into two spaces are pictures of men in service from Big Spring and Howard county. Without any fan-fare, the exhibit has already attracted around 100 portraits and there's no telling how many have stopped to admire them.

Officers Saturday were holding a man on advice from Lamesa officers. He was questioned in connection with theft of automobile at Lamesa.

Drifting in Saturday to say "hello" again were Howard Burleson, who is in from Miami, Ariz., with his family to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Burleson; and Albert "Hook Arm" Hartman, San Angelo. Hartman said that his father, G. T. Hartman, for years director of the Big Spring municipal band, had given up teaching and directing.

US Bombers Have Success In Th
Middle East

CAIRO, Aug. 1 (AP)—The U. S. army air force of the Middle East, in its third weekly summary of operations, today announced new successes against axis port and harbor facilities and convoys at sea and added that repair facilities in the seldom-mentioned American "arsenal of democracy" in Eritrea "are beginning to show results."

Axis activity as reported by the daily British communique consisted of raids by a small number of enemy bombers last night in the area of Cairo and Alexandria where three were shot down by allied night fighter planes. Bombs were dropped in the Cairo area again and alarms were sounded at Alexandria and in the Suez sector far behind the dust-bound desert front.

Jimmy Cloyd To Be Lamesa Coach

COLEMAN, Aug. 1 (AP)—Jimmy Cloyd, coach at Coleman high school for the last two years, left today for Lamesa where he will be head coach and physical education director for the high school.

Cloyd came here from Marshall where he was assistant coach.

Await Word From State On Ballots

Absentee ballots will be prepared as soon as word comes from the state executive committee, L. S. Patterson, chairman of the Howard county democratic executive committee said Saturday.

Although it is agreed who will be listed as opposing candidates on the state ballot, the committee here will await official word to avoid possibility of printing up a supply of erroneous ballots. Legally, absentee voting opens today. There being no issues involved, the county democratic convention, set for Saturday, was passed here this year.

The Week

the locals won one tourney and finished second in another. Not bad.

Not bad.

Grandfather used to tell a story that about describes our city water situation. An old pioneer, he said, used to relate how, pursued by a bison bull on the plains where there was nothing bigger than a shrub, he finally escaped by climbing up a tree. "But," he was reminded, "there were no trees." Mopping his brow, the pioneer exploded: "There just had to be a tree." And there just has to be a good rain here soon.

That rent ceiling, predicted back in the days when announcement of the bombardier school location precipitated rises over a good part of the city, was imposed last week. Landlords were given 60 days to get rents back to where they were March 1. Already some are looking for loop holes. So far as we are able to learn, the ruling means what it says—"as of March 1."

The proposed county budget is $21,000 under the estimates for this year. Necessity may be the mother of invention in this case, for it was estimated that car registration revenues would be $25,000 less. So with that income loss staring commissioners in the face, it is easy to see that some whittling has to be done.

From the talk going around, when the city opens Moss Creek lake to fishermen on the morning of Aug. 15, it may be necessary to have the ration board dole out bank space. If there are many fish left after that first weekend, they should have college degrees.

Court Of Honor To Be Held Outdoors

An outdoor Court of Honor program for Boy Scouts of the Big Spring district is coming up Tuesday evening.

Before the court session is called to present awards earned by boys during the past month, there will be swimming at the munny pool at 7 p. m. The court session will either be in the park or at the amphitheatre, and afterwards, there may be a "feed."

Weather Bureau
Bids For Women
As Observers

The weather bureau is looking for junior observers and for the first time, emphasis is being placed on women as applicants.

"This program is intended primarily for women and also men with reasonable expectation of permanency of tenure for the duration of the war," said an announcement from the bureau.

Applicants must be at least 17 years of age, citizens of the United States, must pass medical examination required of all government employees, must have at least one year of senior high school mathematics and science (preferably physics). Although not essential, ability to use a typewriter will be considered an asset.

Salary starts at $1,440 per annum (less five per cent deduction for retirement fund) and those who successfully complete a probationary training period (probably three months) will be advanced to $1,620 per annum with chance for further advancement as qualified. Initial assignment in this area probably would be at Fort Worth. Full particulars may be had upon inquiry at the weather bureau in the airport.

Dixie Lewis To Get Degree At ETSI

COMMERCE, Aug. 1 (Spl)—Among the 200 candidates for degrees at East Texas State Teachers college this summer is Dixie Lewis of Big Spring.

Exercises for the fifty-third summer graduating class will be held Aug. 17 in Ferguson auditorium.
