Dwane Mark Martin Scholarship established

Friends and loved ones of Dwane Mark Martin have established a scholarship fund which will assist in financing the college education of qualifying Floydada High School graduates.

Dwane Mark Martin's interest in law and political science surfaced at a young age. He pursued an extensive course of education in these areas and later tried to instill his knowledge and love of the subjects in the students he taught. He was concerned that promising students with financial needs should be able to pursue a higher education.

The Dwane Mark Martin Scholarship will be awarded to a student who is sincerely interested in higher education in the field of law or political science, regardless of race, color, or creed. The scholarship may not necessarily be awarded annually, since qualifying students may not be available. The amount of the award will be determined by the accrued interest on the scholarship account.

Dwane Mark Martin was born in Lubbock, Texas on December 19, 1956, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin. The family lived in Floydada where Dwane attended school through junior high, until September of 1970, before moving to Africa. Dwane graduated from Michaelhouse, a private boarding school at Balgovan, Natal, South Africa.

ca. Martin returned to San Antonio, Texas to attend school at Trinity University, where he received a Bachelor of Arts degree. His interests during this time included student council work, fraternities, and the model United Nations. He studied in Russia and England before returning to Capetown, South Africa, where he earned a B.A. honors degree and a Master's degree at the University of Capetown.

At the time of his death, Martin was a political science lecturer at the University of Capetown. He was active in student council work, SHACO, R.A.G. Committee, several fraternities and private organizations, and Mensa.

Dwane Mark Martin passed away on September 29, 1984 in Capetown from natural causes. Services were held in St. George's Cathedral there on October 3. Cremation followed. Last week a private interment was held for their son.

Martin was the grandson of Mrs. M.H. Martin and the late M.H. Martin of Floydada, and Mrs. Minnie Smart of Hilton, South Africa. His sister, Kit Reynolds lives in Val, South Africa.

Babe and Fred Martin, his parents, were in Floydada last week.

Contributions to the Dwane Mark Martin scholarship fund may be made at the First National Bank of Floydada.

DALLAS RAMSEY, right, makes an early contribution to the air bag fund for the fire department. Allan Fondy, representing the fire department, and Bob Gilliland, president of the Lions Club, accept.

Lions Club to raise funds

The Floydada Lions have selected as a community project, the challenge of raising funds, to purchase air lift bags for the Floydada Fire Department. After hearing a request from the fire department about the need for the bags, the Lions decided to make this their community project for the year.

Air lift bags are used in rescue work as well as in other emergency situations. These bags can be used to lift items which are too close to the ground to get a jack under. They may also be used to seal leaking tanks or to expand caved in pipes, etc.

The air bags are a compliment to the Jaws of Life, which the community so willingly helped the fire department to purchase. Anyone wishing to make a donation to the Lions for this project, $4,000.00 needed, may do so at the local gins, elevators, First National Bank of Floydada or to any Lion on the street.

There will be a demonstration of the air bags at the Massie Activity Center at 12:30 p.m. on Thursday, October 25, for anyone wishing to see the use of the bags.

Fire damages dwelling

A fire, originating in the kitchen of the apartment at 505 S. 8th Street, caused approximately $2000 in damage to the apartment. The fire apparently erupted about 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday, October 23, in the home of Lois Marler.

"The fire started in the middle of the cookstove and just got bigger and bigger," said Mrs. Marler. "I tried to put it out but just couldn't."

A next door neighbor heard the fire alarm in her apartment go off and called the fire department which responded with several volunteers and two trucks. The blaze was quickly extinguished, but had already damaged the wall and ceiling in the kitchen and living room.

Fire Chief Bobby Welborn stated, "There was as much smoke damage as actual structural damage. The fire was caused by a leak in the gas line going to the cookstove."

Comptroller sends checks for October

On October 4, State Comptroller Bob Bullock sent out checks totaling $58.2 million in local tax payments to the 990 cities that levy the one-percent local sales tax. "So far this year, these payments are running better than 16 percent ahead of last year and most Texas cities can expect even bigger checks for the rest of 1984," said Bullock.

Checks for October represent taxes on sales made and collected in August. These had to be reported to the comptroller's office by September 20. The November checks will reflect the end of a quarter for merchants who report on a quarterly basis. These will return taxes for the third quarter of 1984 as well as those reported for the month of September. Checks issued in December will be the first to reflect the tax increases which began on October 2.

The largest check this month went to Houston, $9.8 million, while Dallas received $6.9 million. San Antonio's payment was $3.6 million and Austin received $2.7 million. Fort Worth was close behind with $2.2 million.

Lubbock received $923,178.79 bringing their total to date to $10,189,674.22. This is an 11.18 percent increase over last year's. Amarillo's payment was $839,935.37, making the total so far this year $9,230,375.20, an increase of 14.66 percent. Elsewhere in the area, Plainview received a check for $69,035.39, bringing their total for the year to $840,568.14, an increase of 14.28 percent.

Floydada received $5,897.24, with a year to date total of $73,673.78. This translates into a 1.27 percent increase over last year. Lockney now has a total of $32,739.59. This is a 7.86 percent increase over last year. The payment for October was $2,202.50.

Crosbyton received $2,548.93, bringing the year to date total to $38,137.95. They have shown an increase of 17.54 percent so far this year. Abernathy's total now stands at $41,583.68, an increase of 4.46 percent following receipt of the October check amounting to $2544.40.

The smallest check in this area went to Matador. They received $863.01, bringing their total to $15,885.46. This overall figure shows a loss of 0.02 percent. Petersburg did a bit better showing an increase of 16.24 percent, with a year to date total of $15,946.45. Their October check was $1,051.56.

The Floydada Lions Club Arts and Crafts Festival will be held at the Massie Activity Center in Floydada from 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. on Saturday, November 10, 1984. The show affords area shoppers an excellent opportunity to shop for unique and unusual Christmas gifts, as well as showing local and area artistic talents.

There are 30 - 8 ft. x 8 ft. spaces available for $30.00 each. These spaces may be rented by contacting Lion Bill Feuerbacher, P.O. Box 10, Floydada, Texas 79235.

Floydada Chapter #31, Order of the Eastern Star will operate the concession stand.

505 SOUTH 8th was the scene of a late afternoon fire on October 23. Firemen prepare to enter the smoke filled apartment as the resident looks on. Several volunteer firemen worked at the scene for about an hour. There were no injuries due to the blaze.

"Christmas in November" is near "Christmas in November" is almost here once again. It will be Saturday, November 3 at the Lockney Elementary School, 310 SW 8th, in Lockney. This is an annual bazaar sponsored by the Floyd County Family Living Committee and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

This year's bazaar will feature 34 booths in which items by craft and hobby enthusiasts from Floyd County as well as from all across the area will be displayed. Following is a list of people who will have booths at the bazaar and what they will be displaying: Pearl Wood of Canyon, crochet and hand-made items; Treena Aston of Lockney, Discovery Toys; Gleva Smith of Floydada, tale paintings; Arletus Scroggins of Tulia, dolls and stuffed animals; Needlework Alley of Plainview, needlework kits and supplies; Mildred Willard of Kress, denim purses and quilted vests; Anne Carthel and Wanell Peel of Floydada, needlework items; Jimmie Jameson of Matador, tri-chem, liquid embroidery; Sue Procter of Friona, cosmetics; Stacy Westbrook of Floydada, grapevine wreaths; Nancy Hagood of Floydada, jewelry; Princess Gruben of Wavside, wreaths, dried arrangements; Juanita Brosch of Lockney, dolls; LCC Associates of Lockney, bake sale; Denny Quisenberry of Lockney, quilted items, Christmas decorations; Callie Barber of Lockney, Christmas ornaments, baby accessories, cards; Lucille Frizzell of Lockney, Christmas decorations; Anita Bigham of Lockney, paintings, baskets, hoops; Donna Frances of Silverton, Christmas items; Kathy Kellison and Katherine Thornton of Lockney, canvas oils-pastels, needlework; Lisa Mosley of Lockney, pottery; Jayleen Wilfong of Tulia, brass, scent chips; Jane Archer of Lockney, items from the Little Red Rooster; Kathy Weems of Silverton; Cynthia Bybee and Sharon Smith of Lockney, woodwork and acrylic paintings; Janet Pyle, applique; Bobbie Pinner of Lockney, wood edging, macrame; Missy Minick of Lockney, wood edging and macrame; Laura Wilson of Lockney; Mrs. Kenneth Patterson of Plainview, soft sculpture; Harmony E.H. Club, pecans.

Four holiday programs will be given in conjunction with the bazaar. Arla Copeland will begin with "A Christmas Tradition" at 10:00 a.m. She will tell traditions that make the holiday season so special to you as well as people around the world.

"Fashions of Yesterday and Today" will be given by JoAnne Arasim of the West Texas State Museum in Canyon at 11:00 a.m. She has a wonderful program on past fashion - why they were worn and what caused the fashions to change. She has many of the antique outfits to show as she tells enlightening facts about them and the women of that time period who wore them.

At 1:30 p.m. be ready to get ideas about some new creations for the holiday season. Denise Blanchard and Cindy Ford of Lockney will give some new ideas for holiday cooking in their program "Holiday Creations from the Kitchen."

Kristi's of Plainview will lead the finale with a style show at 3:00 p.m. Local models will show fashions for young and old alike. Ideas for accessories will also be a part of this "Holiday Fashions" program.

The bazaar will be open from 9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. No admission will be charged. Remember no to wait until the last minute to do your holiday shopping - start November 3.

This program is open to everyone regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

costumes, caps, and decorations.

Motorists can do their part by slowing down and driving with extra caution while in residential areas on Halloween.

Homeowners should light their property so youngsters do not trip over stairs or other obstacles. Lawn furniture and garbage cans should be put away, and the garage locked.

Bring pets inside, for bands of noisy children may excite them. Cover any holes in the yard.

Following these common-sense suggestions will help ensure that children enjoy a fun-filled yet safe Halloween.

Caution is required at Halloween

High-spirited children excited about Halloween are rarely cautious during the big night out.

For this reason, a safe Halloween involves cooperation by parents, motorists, and homeowners to help prevent accidents, according to the Texas Medical Association.

Parents first should make sure their child has a safe costume. Cloth masks or entire head masks are dangerous because they can slip and block a child's vision or breathing. A good option is to paint a mask on the child's face with cosmetics or grease paint.

Avoid loose-fitting costumes, which may catch on fences, bushes, or other obstacles. Make sure the costume is not so long that the child can trip on it.

Dark costumes are difficult for motorists to see. If a child insists on one, use reflective tape or liquid "paint" (available at hardware stores) that shines in the dark or reflects light. Put the tape or liquid on jack-o'-lanterns, hats, or bags that the youngster wears or carries.

Parents also should warn children not to eat the candy or fruit they receive until it is checked at home. If a party is held at a home, flameproof or fire-resistant materials should be used for WANEL PEEL and Anne Carthel display a few of the items which will be available in their booth at the "Christmas in November" Bazaar November 3. This the first year they will have one of the 34 booths which will be featured at the bazaar in Lockney.

DPS advises weatherization

Major V.J. Cawthon, Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Region 5, said, "Vehicles should be winterized by replacing worn windshield wiper blades, weak batteries, tires with thin threads, and leaks in the exhaust system. Motor vehicle condition is of prime importance to traffic safety this winter!"

Many accidents and deaths are caused by driving too fast for existing conditions and losing control of the vehicle.

When temperatures drop below the freezing point, drivers must guard against reduced visibility caused by frosted windows and windshields. To prevent this condition, idle your car long enough for it to warm up and for the defroster to become effective before starting to drive.

The Texas Department of Public Safety reminds you this winter can be wonderful if we are able to make it safely from point "A" to point "B" without an accident! It is in the hands of you, a defensive driver to make it a safer winter.

Letter to the Editor

I would like to give my opinion concerning the upcoming election. In the past I have voted for both Democrats and Republicans, so I want to look seriously at both parties.

After watching the party conventions and hearing the platforms, it appears the Democratic Party feels that government intervention is the answer to the economic problem. Republicans feel that government intervention is the problem.

To help decide which philosophy works best, look at other countries as examples. Post-World War II Europe chose a socialist, government-is-everything approach. The government's cradle-to-grave safety net has created economic hardships for its people, and consequently Europe has fallen behind.

Closer to home, Canada has had a liberal, big government philosophy under Pierre Elliot Trudeau for many years. A land as abundant as Canada in natural resources and hard-working people finds itself with high unemployment, high inflation and low purchasing power of its dollar.

But just south of that border is the Republican-led, free enterprise philosophy. The United States is leading in gross national product gains, a strong dollar, low inflation and steadily lowering unemployment rate.

Government intervention tangles up the production of a country with high taxes and stifles growth. Those who truly care about the poor and jobless need to vote for a free-enterprising, economy-building philosophy rather than liberal government handouts and red tape. Under which economic system do you think your children and grandchildren would prosper...a socialist system or free enterprise?

Dear Editor:

There is a new political party active in America today. It is organized in every state and is on the ballot in nearly half of them. This is the Populist Party and its candidates for president and vice president are Bob Richards of Waco, Texas and Maureen Kennedy Salaman of San Francisco.

Bob Richards is best known as a two-time Olympic gold medal winner in pole vaulting. A former college professor, Richards is now a successful businessman in oil and real estate. His life and work have been depicted in numerous radio and TV documentaries. Richards has served as a presidentially appointed goodwill ambassador to Asia.

Maureen Kennedy Salaman is a radio and television personality, editor, author and longtime advocate of freedom of choice in medical care and nutrition. She is president of the 100,000-member National Health Federation and has been active in Project Freedom, an organization that has led the fight for a full accounting of American servicemen missing in action.

VA NEWS

According to Margaret A. Herrera, Veterans Service Officer for Floyd County, a research study is being conducted with reference to women who served in Vietnam during the conflict in that area.

The study is being conducted at Cleveland State University, Cleveland, Ohio, and is an extension of research and information that has been collected by others since 1980. By means of a questionnaire, the University Center wants to learn more about the experiences of women while they served in Vietnam, and how such duty and experiences might have influenced their lives since returning home. The Center is interested in hearing from all women who served in Vietnam, including officers, enlisted personnel, nurses, administrators, etc.

The University Center conducting this study believes that participation could lead to networking for the women who served in Vietnam, and could even have some bearing or impact on the type of Government benefits that could be made available to them. The lady in charge of the research has stated for the news media that all information and replies received will be held in the strictest confidence.

Female veterans who served in Vietnam who wish to know more about this program may contact the lady who is in charge of conducting the research and survey. This is Margaret A. BETTY GOEN displays a lovely handmade blouse she is offering for sale at Betty's Place.

Betty's inspires creativity

Betty's Place at 118 West California is a veritable treasure trove for the creative person. Betty Goen, the owner, is quite talented in the field of needlework and sewing. She is an excellent seamstress, a gifted crocheter and she also enjoys knitting.

On display at the shop are many handmade items including clothes, crocheted doilies and vests, and other types of needlework. "I specialize mostly in custom sewing for the public," says Betty. Some handmade items of sewing and needlework are accepted on a consignment basis for sale in the shop.

Goen has a small stock of fabrics and notions at present and is planning to increase the selection as the business prospers. Other plans for the future include a wider selection of needlework items, such as yarns, thread, and needlework kits.

"If it concerns thread, it's a hobby with me," said Betty. "I even crochet at sports events while I attend to see my children play. It is really nice to be able to do something I like so well and be able to make a living at it," she added.

The Goen children, Cheryl and Michael, are very supportive of their mother's business endeavor. Cheryl lends moral support from Amarillo, where she is attending Amarillo Junior College on a basketball scholarship. Michael, a seventh grader at Floydada Junior High, is usually around to assist his mother if she needs him.

Another interesting sideline at the shop is health foods. Goen firmly believes in the Nature's Sunshine herbal products she sells. This is a line of natural vitamins and herbal preparations designed to encourage and preserve the good health of those who use them.

She stocks a second product line of health foods, the Yurika Foods. These natural foods contain no preservatives and range from instant cooking, such as mashed potatoes, to long cooking, such as soup starter mixes which need to simmer for hours. Goen plans to add more items to the health foods lines as business permits.

Betty's Place is open from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Monday thru Friday. Everyone is invited to come in and browse and get acquainted.

Lions Club hosts district fall meeting this weekend

The Floydada Lions played host to the District 272 Lions on Sunday, October 21. There were 135 Lions and their guests who registered for the meeting, which was held at Plains Baptist Assembly.

After registration, District Governor Jim Jones called the meeting to order and conducted the opening ceremonies. Lion Jimmy Willson then welcomed all the Lions and guests to the meeting on behalf of the host club.

While the Lions were holding their business meeting, Sara Probasco, presented a program to the women on the art of stained glass, during the morning. The women were then treated to a tour of the Ronnie and Phyllis Smith house during the afternoon.

The Floydada Lions want to extend their thanks to Allen Benson and staff at Plains Baptist Assembly for the hospitality shown to all the Lions and guests.

NANCY GRAHAM will again have a booth at the First Christian Church Tasting Bee and Bazaar. She will have soft sculptured [Cabbage Patch like] dolls and handmade linens, tablecloths, doilies, pillowcases, crocheted jackets, children's pajamas, handtowels and bunwarmers.

Tasting Bee to serve frog eye salad Saturday

Frog eye salad is only one of the many taste treats in store for visitors to the Tasting Bee at the First Christian Church in Floydada on Saturday, October 27, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The Christian Women's Fellowship will be minding the Country Store, which will be well stocked with baked bread, cookies, candy, jellies, relishes, crafts, and plants.

Darlean Stovall again has a booth in the Big Bonanza Bazaar. She will be displaying a wide variety of country crafts such as baskets, stuffed animals, photo albums, appliqued hoops, and country wreaths. This year she has added grapevine wreaths and baskets, heart shaped rugs, spice ornaments, and appliqued fireplace screens to her display.

Other displayers at the bazaar will be: Cynthia Van Hersh, Discovery Toys; artist Jo Goen, oils and acrylics; Edith Sellers, antiques and collectibles; Sally Day and Stacy Westbrook, grapevine wreaths; Tiara Giftware; Judy Thomas and Donna Fondy, crafts; Maxine Littlefield, antiques and country crafts; Nancy Graham, dolls; Stacy Muniz, imported linens from Panama; Hazel Bradley and Burr Buchanan, depression glass; and Nancy Hagood, jewelry.

Everyone is invited to enjoy a day of fun and fellowship at the Tasting Bee and Bazaar. Many of the items offered for sale would make excellent choices as gifts for Christmas, birthdays, weddings, or any other occasions.

THE WOMEN GUESTS of the Lions Club toured the underground house of Ronnie and Phyllis Smith Sunday afternoon. The Smiths only recently moved in the house located on FM Highway 651.

Social Security News

By Terry J. Clements

"Shop Now, AVOID THE RUSH!" It is the time of year when this expression becomes popular to use. Well, change the phrase around a little and it would be fitting for Social Security business you plan to take care of in the early months of next year.

Largely due to the 1983 taxation of benefit law, the period of January, 1985 until about April, 1985 is expected to be unusually busy. You see, in January the Social Security Administration will be sending a statement of 1983 benefits to everyone receiving a social security check. It is expected that many inquiries will result from this mammoth "mailing out".

Since the first three months are traditionally the busiest of the year anyway, it could be harder to reach us by telephone and office waiting time is expected to increase.

Our office is already making arrangements to make sure the impact of this work load is as little as possible. However, this may be an ideal time to file your claim ahead of time. An application for Social Security can be filed as early as four months before entitlement. Therefore, if you are nearing age 65 or plan to sign up for benefits soon, it may be possible to file now. This will not only permit benefits to be paid when you wish them but could avoid the "rush" that is expected in the early months of next year.

Jobs agency compensates

The Texas Employment Commission, in an effort to comply with an Attorney General's Opinion regarding employment rights of temporary employees, will begin immediately to locate and compensate eligible TEC employees for benefits previously excluded by the Agency for part-time employees.

The opinion, requested by TEC following an audit of fiscal year 1983 financial activities, concludes that temporary employees of the State are entitled to all benefits allowed regular, full-time employees, including sick leave, annual leave and holiday compensation.

The Employment Commission will attempt to notify eligible individuals by mail. Any individual who believes he or she may be entitled to benefit compensation, and who has not received notification by December 1, 1984, should contact the Texas Employment Commission Personnel Department, Room 230, TEC Building, Austin, Texas 78778. Correspondence should include the individual's name, Social Security number, current mailing address and dates of employment with the Agency.

Layette shower given Smith

Mrs. Rodney (Susy) Smith and infant son, Galen Kelly, were honored with a layette shower which was held Thursday night of last week in the home of Virginia Owens at Aiken.

The baby's premature arrival the previous Sunday prevented his attendance at the party, but Susy was present.

Special guests were the baby's grandmothers, Glenda Pinner and Kathy Smith of Kress; aunt, Missy Minick and great-aunt, Annie Smith of Kress.

The serving table was laid with a blue cloth with an overlay of a white cloth with cutwork hem. A crystal fan vase held an arrangement of blue silk flowers. Children's building blocks were scattered about the table and were used to spell "baby." Refreshments were fruit punch, Italian cream cake squares, mints and nuts.

Hostesses were Mmes. Owens, Ly-lene Williams, Thanet Kramer, Dennis Cox, Linda Smith, Cleona Taylor, Norene Elam, Johnns Elam and Gene Newton. They presented the honoree with a car seat.

Look Who's New

COTHAM

Phil and Cindy Cotham of Lockney are proud to announce the birth of their first child, a son, born at 3:41 p.m. July 26 in Lockney General Hospital.

Curb painting is underway

A commercial company, City Curb Service, is currently painting house numbers on curbs around Floydada. City Police Chief, Doug Brewer notified the Hesperian that City Curb Service is not connected to the city in any manner although they have secured a city vendor's permit.

According to the curb service company, the cost is $5 and will prove beneficial for all emergency traffic, including police, fire, ambulance and will also help visitors find your home.

ENGAGEMENT REVEALED—Mr. and Mrs. Rickey Gonzalez are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Esmeralda to Mike Arismendez, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Arismendez of Lamesa. The bride is a graduate of Floydada High School and South Plains College with an Associate of Arts degree in Sociology. Arismendez is a graduate of Klondike High School and also attended South Plains College. A December 22 wedding is planned at the First Methodist Church in Floydada with the Rev. Salome Casanova, cousin of the bride, officiating.

Let's talk.

Information about your changing telephone service from Jim West, Manager-Community Relations

Making your bill easier to read

If you're like most folks, you've probably noticed there are more pages in your phone bill since the split-up of the Bell System.

That's because your bill now includes charges for several separate companies instead of just one like last year.

Right now, the bill you receive from Southwestern Bell Telephone includes our charges for local service and long distance within your service area. It may also include long distance charges from AT&T Communications and charges from AT&T Information Systems (for leased equipment).

Calls you place through other long distance companies may also be billed through Southwestern Bell Telephone if those companies choose to use our billing service. That makes it easier for you because you get one bill, and you write one check.

Solving the customer confusion

Still, this breakdown of charges by each individual company has caused some confusion. We know that, and we're doing our best to simplify your bill to reflect what you want.

Your bill first started getting a new look in January. At that time, we had numerous billing changes necessary to simply accomplish divestiture.

Starting in February, the company began conducting interviews with customers to find out what short-term changes and long-term changes were needed.

We've put your changes into place

Some of the changes you wanted and we adopted are:

- revising the bill summary page to include adjustments and charges for each company whose fees are included on the bill;
- removing "unpaid from last bill" from the summary page if the last bill was paid in-full;
- numbering pages consecutively to help you reassemble your bill after studying it; as well as others.

Further changes to simplify the bills will be put into place in the coming months.

Would you like more information about the changes on your bill? Call the Tele-Help toll-free number, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m.-8 p.m. — 1/800-325-2686 (please ask for "extension 84") and request the Tele-Help Booklet No. 2 ("A Guide to Your Phone Bill").

If you'd like the booklet in Spanish, please write: Southwestern Bell Telephone, Tele-Help: P.O. Box 225265, Dallas, TX 75215.

For your information, to date, we've distributed more than 700,000 Tele-Help booklets in Texas in an effort to clear up any confusion regarding our business after divestiture. We're pleased to help our customers get the answers they need.

As always, if you have any comments, I'd like to hear from you.

Father and brothers set athletic tradition

Jakey Younger may have begun a family tradition of athletic participation for his family when he became active in sports during his days at school in Whitney, Texas. Younger played baseball, basketball, and, last but not least, football.

Whitney was a Class B school in those days, and as such could not compete above a regional level. Younger's high school team won the regional title in both his junior and senior years. Younger was an award winning half back on both teams.

"It was different playing then," says Younger. "We only had two coaches, not six like the boys at FHS have. The equipment has improved a lot. We used to train, but the program is more intense, and weights are used a lot more."

Younger attended TCU on a football scholarship for one year. He recalled, "Making a touchdown against A&M was a real high point for me." Younger says, "I think that the discipline of playing football and learning to work as a team helped me to grow up."

The Younger's older son, Moody, played football in high school and suffered a knee injury which required surgery. He continued to play and was a walk-on at team tryouts for Baylor. Moody eventually played for Texas Tech, where he is a senior. After several injuries, his playing days are "pretty well over," but he still loves the game and attends all the games his younger brother, Leif, plays in for FHS.

Leif, a 160 pound fullback and linebacker on the 1984 Whirlwind team.

says, "I tried playing football, and I just liked it, so I play." He added, "I am glad that my dad played, but I think my brother had more influence on my own playing. I wanted to do what he did, I guess."

An injury to a wrist requiring surgery to repair a broken bone did not deter Leif from playing. He expresses the hope of "going on to play football in college."

The second child in the Younger family, Misty, attends Tech and was an avid runner, despite knee problems that required corrective surgery. The youngest child, Tian, is according to her mother, "A basketball dude."

"If anyone has a right to have negative feelings about sports, I guess we do," says Jakey Younger. "We have had more than our share of injuries, but we all still love sports." He continued by saying, "I think the participation in sports is really good for kids. They learn to work together to achieve something."

A typically concerned mother, Leora Younger worries about her children being hurt, but says, "After they get hurt, you worry more about getting them well." Mrs. Younger is always a spectator at the events in which the children participate and "keeps an eye glued to my child. If I miss the child's number for even an instant, I really panic."

Jakey Younger still has strong feelings about football, but says, "I would not try to influence my child to play or not to play. I think the experience is important to their development if they want to play and enjoy it."

Leif added, "I really like to play and all my friends do it, so it is fun for me. I don't really worry about getting hurt, and I am learning a lot from the coaches."

Floyd Data

Mrs. W.A. Lovell of Floydada returned on Saturday, October 20, from an extended vacation which began in late August to Sedalia, Missouri. Her trip allowed her to spend some time with her nephew and his family, the Robert Creeds. Sightseeing tours to Harry Truman Lake and the Lake of the Ozarks were enhanced by the brilliant fall foliage of the trees along the way. Mrs. Lovell said, "We saw a lot of pretty things and many beautiful homes and big barns."

Continuing the trip, Mrs. Lovell visited Celeste, Texas, for a stop to see more nieces and nephews. A trip to Wilspoint, for a short visit with a sister and her family, Mrs. W.H. Bates preceded the high point of the vacation, a trip to the World's Fair in New Orleans. Mrs. Lovell also journeyed to Luling, Louisiana, to see her daughters, Gladys and Margaret, before returning home on Saturday, October 20.

National Honor Society holds induction Friday

The National Honor Society at Floydada High School held its induction ceremony on Friday, October 19. The ceremony, for the purpose of adding new members to the society, was planned and conducted by Greg Thompson, Misti Orman, Lisa Smith, and Ana Leta Bradshaw.

The eight new members installed were Althea Campbell, Sandra Carr, Teresa Gentry, Jana Lawson, Lynn Mulder, Haney Robertson, Pamela Richardson and Jamie Thayer.

To be considered for membership in the organization, a student must have an over all average of at least 90 in the two years before being nominated. Teachers consider the character, service, leadership, and scholarship of the students before voting to include them in the membership of the society.

Mrs. Joyce Kimble, the foreign language instructor at FHS, is the faculty sponsor for the National Honor Society.

Cornelius Campbell cashes in on contest

All three contest winners this week made only three errors in choosing game winners. Several entries came close with four errors.

First place prize of $10.00 goes to Cornelius Campbell, who missed choosing the winner of three games and had a tie breaker score of 45.

J.D. Wilson took the second prize of $6 with three incorrect answers and a tie breaker score of 38.

Dean Drummond also missed three game winners, but still garnered third place with a tie breaker score of 35.

Keep the contest entries coming in. Be sure to choose a winner in every game and estimate a tie breaker score for the Floydada game. Remember to get your entry to the Hesperian office or get it postmarked by 5 p.m. on Friday. Prize winners may claim their prize at the Hesperian office.

The local football season is fast coming to a close. Let the football contest winners know you appreciate the contest they have been sponsoring for your enjoyment.

South Plains News

By Mrs. Murray Julian

South Plains, October 22:

The temperature here registered 42 degrees this Monday morning, and has hovered around 50 degrees all day, with the wind bitterly cold. It has been wet all week-end with .20 of rain falling here. Farmers are glad to see the sun whenever it peeps out this afternoon. Cotton stripping has been going on, and cutting of seed maize.

Sunday was a cold, wet day, and stayed that way all day. Visitors at morning church services at the South Plains Baptist Church with Mrs. Nina Sanders and Layne were her daughter Renee, from Midland, and her guest Joel Mills. Speaker for the morning services was David Millstead of the Gideons International, who are now prayerfully distributing scriptures in over 130 countries of the world.

There will be a waffle supper at the South Plains Baptist Church following the night services at the church next Sunday night, Oct. 28, and everyone is welcome to attend. All you need is your appetite and a bottle of syrup for your ticket to the waffle and sausage supper which will be held after church services in the fellowship hall at the Baptist Church. Please come.

Despite the horrible wind storm which came through our area on Thursday, October 18, beginning at 1:00 p.m. there was a Christmas showing of Home Interior lovely gifts, with hostess Mrs. Gail Henderson, in her home on the Silverton highway, and Pam Hill was distributor of the gift display. Those who were present at Mrs. Hendersons were Mmes. Ruth Clark, Bobbie Kinnibrugh, Janis Julian, Ruby Higginbotham, Juanita Teeple, Nancy Marble, Bonnie Julian, Pam Hill and hostess Mrs. Gail Henderson. Cookies and punch were served during the afternoon. Their next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Janis Julian.

The next Hobby Club meeting will be the November meeting at the home of Mrs. Connie Sanders on November 14, at 2:00 p.m. with a program given by Dot Cummings on "Christmas Decorations." You are to bring a Christmas decoration you have made.

Halloween will be upon us very soon, and ghosts and goblins will be about us.

South Plains school is planning a Halloween event for the children and grown ups alike.

South Plains Elementary School Annual Halloween Carnival will be held Tuesday, October 30, at 6:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. A costume contest will be held and carnival tickets will be awarded to each child that participates. Each ticket will be 25 cents to participate in the game booths in the gym.

The cafeteria menu will be frito pies, $1.00; nachos, $1.00; a slice of homemade pie, 75 cents; coffee, 25 cents; tea, 25 cents, and Kool-Aid is 25 cents.

Everyone is invited to join in the fun.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard and Annelda Staples left last Friday by plane for Shapleigh, Maine for a visit with his mother and uncle, Mrs. Carrie Staples and Harry Staples. They flew to Shapleigh, and since it had been so many years since he had been to his home, we know it will be a wonderful treat, and they report the weather is just wonderful this time of year. They will be flying home this coming Thursday.

Reverend Cecil Osborne went to the Plains Baptist Assembly down in the canyon on Thursday, Oct. 18, to attend the afternoon session of the Caprock Association 22nd meeting, where he presided over the business meeting. Rev. Hollis Payne gave the annual sermon, special music was given by Clifford Trull, with the delicious evening meal served at 6:15. At evening services speaking on Missions was Dr. Floyd Bradley, and the main address: "Texas Baptists at Work," was given by Dr. Eugene Greer. Attending from South Plains besides Rev. Cecil Osborne, was Mrs. Cecil Osborne, Mrs. Ruby Higginbotham and Mrs. M.M. Julian. It was good to get to see many old friends, as we attended this gathering.

I send apologies for alerting you about the changing of time. I was a week ahead, because it is to be this coming week-end that we "Fall Back" an hour. This coming Sunday at 2:00 a.m. October 28, we find our time changes, and we turn back the clocks an hour. Remember the 28th, the clocks are turned back at 2 a.m. Sunday morning.

A BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION was held at the nursing home for Mr. Lawrence, Bessie Griffin, Myra Hall, Mrs. Halencak, Jessie Freeman, and Oda Birchfield. Also celebrating, but not pictured were Mrs. Colston and Mrs. Cheves.

Rest Home birthday party held

By Lorilla Bradley

October's bright blue weather Brings such a happy time... So let your cares fall with the leaves And all will be just fine!

We greet our Mr. Lawrence... He counts from '89... He always is so kind and nice... A gentleman everytime!!

Our Mrs. Jesse Freeman Always looks so nice... She's made from "grains of sugar" And a little bit of spice!

Mrs. Iris Colston Counts back to '94... She has seen a "lot of living" In good old days of yore.

For Mrs. Bessie Griffin We wish a happy day... May something very special Be hers without delay!

We welcome Mrs. Helancek Who is here to make her home... May life for her be cheerful For she'll never be alone.

Mrs. Cheves has joined us... And may her days be good With many friends and neighbors To keep a happy mood.

Another one we welcome... Her name is Myra Hall... She'd like her friends to "sit a spell" Just any day they call.

To Mrs. Oda Birchfield... On this her special day.

This 'n' That club meets in Canyon

On Thursday, October 18, Leona Campbell and her daughter, Kim Swanson entertained the members of the This 'n' That Club with an Italian dinner in her beautiful new home in Canyon, Texas.

Those attending the lovely dinner were: Betty Baker, Winnie Beedy, Mamie Bunch, Mildred Cates, Thelma Crawford, Dorothy Holland, Faye Jackson, Queen Annie Lawson, Margie Sue, Edna Beth Tye, Ila White, Bessie Wilson, a former member, and the hostess Leon Campbell and her daughter Kim Swanson of Amarillo.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Florence Van Hoose

Monday morning the beauty shop was a busy place while Dolores Cannon and Leona Neff made the ladies of the nursing home beautiful. They always look forward to getting their hair shampooed and set. Monday morning devotions were by Trinity Church. The singers were the Rev. G.A. Van Hoose, Dartha Westbrook, Shirley Varner, Ira Sullivan, Eula Mae Wilson, and Mildred Thrasher. Rev. Van Hoose spoke about the Goodness of God and how He blesses our lives. Ira sang a special song "Keys to The Kingdom." In the afternoon we painted ceramics. We painted little ducks like we painted before so we could have a pair. The residents painting this time were A.J. Huckabee, Sarah Huckabee, Addie Lindley, Bonnie Howard, Emmet Lawrence, Lura Brashears, Iva Simpson, and Una Clark. We want to thank the Companions 'n' Caring and the Past Matrons Club Order of Eastern Star for the money they gave to the ceramics fund. The residents certainly do enjoy painting ceramics.

Tuesday morning devotions were by Rev. and Mrs. Neeley Richardson. He spoke from John where we should confess our sins and be cleansed, from II Corinthians 3:23 "For by Faith you stand." Be patient with one another and do unto others as you would have them do unto you. In the afternoon we had a good time of Bible study and sharing about the love of God. Later some of the residents who were not able to paint ceramics on Monday painted their ducks.

Wednesday morning devotions were by City Park Church of Christ. The singers were Ruth Walker, Claudia Porter, Elva Blum, Mary Spears, Beulah Baker, Vernola Hanna, Janis Bailey, Bettina Bailey, Sharese Bailey, and Lorilla Bradley. In the afternoon we went on the bus ride. We rode over to Plainview and were treated to ice cream by Mr. Burger. The residents going on the ride were A.J. Huckabee, Doria

Webb, Lura Brashears, Sue Thompson, Addie Lindley, Una Clark, and Iva Simpson. It was a very nice day for a ride. We all enjoyed it. We want to thank all those who have brought quilt scraps for the activities. We could still use more.

Thursday morning devotions were by Rev. Earl Blair. In the afternoon we had the monthly birthday party. Jessie Freeman was so excited when her son, Earl Gene, came from Odessa to be with her for the party. He brought her gifts and she also received gifts in the mail from her sister. The honorees this month were Emmet Lawrence, Jessie Freeman, Oda Birchfield, Iris Colston, Jewel Cheves, Myra Hall, Bessie Griffin, and Della Halencak. The party was hosted by ladies from City Park Church of Christ. We really do appreciate these ladies. We want to thank Jim Hall for the good tomatoes he brought to the home. Myra Hall has enjoyed visitors from Council Bluffs, Iowa. They were Jean and Wayne Beckner.

Friday morning devotions were by Mary Coreley, Letha Mulder and Flora Fawer. Letha led the singing, Flora read a poem "The Meaning of Prayer" and Mary spoke from Psalms 100. In the afternoon we played Bingo. Emmet Lawrence bingo'ed first and got the 30 cent coke money. Myra Hall, Ollie Birnie, Addie Lindley, and Sue Thompson bingo'ed on the blackout and Myra Hall bingo'ed the most times. Bananas, purple plums and candy were the prizes.

This week's visitors have included: Cody Sewell, Plainview; Ira Sullivan, Ethel Carmack, Jeanie Lloyd, Colleyville, Texas; Annie Laura Campbell, Graham, Texas; Hazel Bradley, Betsy Dempsey and family, Esther Freeman, Vic and June Fraley, Francis Childs, Edna Patton, Lois Reynolds, Irene Wexler, Frank Breed, Dorothy Neff, Elvis and Lovelle Childs, Everett and Maggie Perry, Tammy, Tracy and Cheryl Lloyd, Colleyville, Texas; Charley L. Berry, Sr., and Winnie Neil.

The temperature dropped to 41 degrees this morning and we have had a drizzle rain all day. Farmers have been stripping cotton and are anxious to get it out before the weather gets bad. Some farmers are still sowing wheat. Milo and sunflowers were thrashed this week.

Mrs. Peat Kelley and Norma Welch visited Eula Mae Wilson Wednesday. John D. and Pauline Van Hoose of Kingsland and Jude and Marie Strickland of Amarillo were also present.

Many from our community attended the funeral services for Dozier Dillard held at the Moore-Rose Funeral Home in Floydada Wednesday. Rev. Jude Strickland of Amarillo and Edna Dillard of Roaring Springs officiated. Burial was in the Lockney Cemetery beside his wife, Mary Lee Dillard who preceded him in death. He is survived by two daughters, Betty Wilks of Carlsbad, New Mexico and Ernestine Gilly of Floydada; one son, Dennis Dillard of Lubbock; 10 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren. A son, Flake Dillard preceded him in death. Mr. Dillard was a long-time resident and farmed in Cedar Hill.

Little Preston Reid, a 6 lb. 10 oz. boy, arrived October 17th in Dallas Hospital to Paula and Ron Vick. He was 19 inches long. He has an older brother, Patrick Scott, who is four years old. His grandparents are Patsy and Lafayette Boone of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Vick of Midland. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fortenberry of Cedar Hill and Marvin Boone of Plainview.

Gladys Fortenberry and Pam Hayhurst and Treavor returned home from Dallas Thursday. Gladys has been in Dallas taking care of Paula and Patrick for several days. Pam and Treavor will fly to their home in Oklahoma Thursday.

Cephus and Imogene Fortenberry joined Cephus' brothers and sisters at the Garland Tucker home in Lubbock where they had dinner together Saturday. Cephus and Imogene later visited their daughter, Phyllis in Lubbock.

Sylvia Yearly accompanied Neva Smith, Jewel Fortenberry and Dorothy Shipp to visit Elaine Hardy Monday. Elaine is a patient at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. We trust that she will gain her strength soon.

Edna Lackey was able to leave the hospital Monday and recuperate in the home of her daughter, Dorothy Merrell, a few days before returning to her home in Lockney. She was in the Caprock Hospital in Floydada.

Doris Hill was able to return home Monday after spending a few days in Lubbock General Hospital. He is reported to be improving rapidly.

Ruthie and W.M. Clark visited Edna Gilly Saturday. Gertrude Hammitt of Plainview and Claude Gene Hammitt of Holly, Colorado visited Edna Sunday.

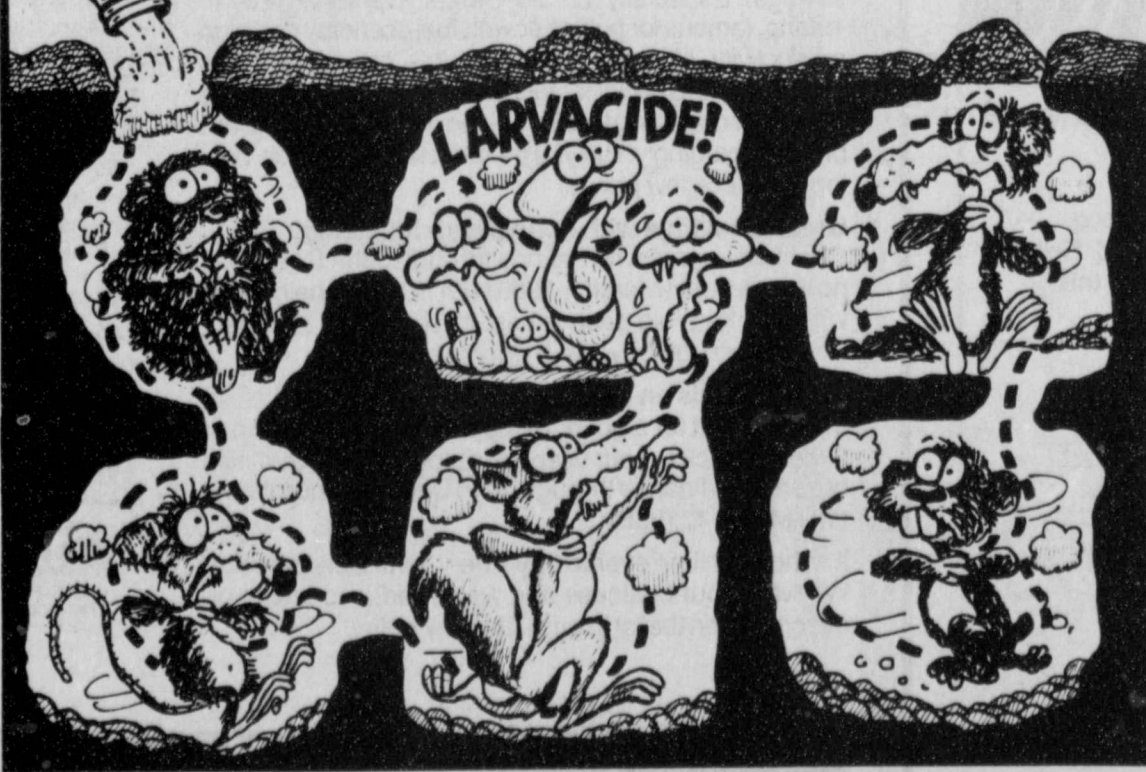

Joe and Mary Lou Krump of Houston arrived Monday to visit in the home of Edna Gilly, who is ill this week.

Vote Lloyd Doggett for U. S. Senator

When it came time to stand and choose, Lloyd Doggett stood with you.

ELDERLY

★ Lloyd Doggett fought to preserve the fiscal integrity of all Texas retirement systems and believes that Social Security "is a sacred contract we cannot turn our backs on."

EDUCATION

★ Lloyd Doggett has always been one of Texas' leading advocates of a first class public education system. As a State Senator, he has been in the forefront of the struggle to improve the quality of teaching for our children.

PUTS TEXAS FIRST

★ In his eleven years as a Texas Senator, Lloyd Doggett has always put the needs and concerns of Texas first and the greedy special interests last. Lloyd has written and fought to pass 125 people-helping laws, including the Consumer Protection Act, utility reform, and the Human Rights Commission.

When it came time to stand and choose, Phil Gramm stood against you.

ELDERLY

★ Gramm led the fight to cut Social Security benefits out from under the most vulnerable people in our society. In fact, he has voted against Social Security on at least eight occasions.

EDUCATION

★ Gramm has been relentless in his efforts to remove all Federal assistance to education, going so far as to exclaim that educational assistance to the handicapped "(encourages) people to be handicapped."

PUTS TEXAS LAST

★ Gramm's record stands as a monument to callousness and insensitivity to the needs and concerns of ordinary Texans. He voted against helping drought-stricken Texas farmers and ranchers, border businesses hurt by the peso devaluation, and against loans to small businesses across Texas.

FARM NEWS

SWCD offers trees

The Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District is now selling trees for windbreaks around farmsteads. The trees will be sold at a nominal price through the Texas Forest Service. The seedlings are grown at the West Texas nursery in Lubbock.

Conifer species available this year include Austrian Pine, Ponderosa Pine, Afghanistan Pine, Scotch Pine, and Redcedar. The seedlings are containerized. They sell for $1.50 each and are sold only in multiples of 30. The seedlings will be 6 to 8 inches tall.

Hardwoods are available this year. Selections include Russian Olive, Honeylocust, Jackberry, Skunkbush Sumac, and Green Ash. Bur Oak is already sold out this year. There are a few Native Plum trees left and are selling fast. The seedlings sell for 32 cents each and are available only in bundles of 50.

Orders are now being taken at the SCS office in Floydada. Orders are filled on a first-come first-serve basis. The trees will be delivered to the Floydada SCS office. Trees sold may not be used for landscaping or ornamental purposes.

For information and applications contact the SCS located at 208 S. Wall, Floydada, or phone 983-2352.

Following is a report on several of the 1985 government programs and crop situations as compiled by Extension Economists Ed Smith, Ron Knutson, Carl Anderson, and Johnny Feagan.

1985 Feed Grain Program

The 1985 Feed Grain program announced by USDA September 14, 1984 is in most respects similar to the 1984 program. A 10 percent non paid acreage diversion will be required for producers to receive program benefits. A major exception from the 1984 program is that participants may request 50 percent of their projected 1985 deficiency payments at sign-up. The deficiency payment projections will be 47 cents/bushel for corn 82 cents/cwt. for sorghum and 44 cents/bushel for barley. Sign up is scheduled between October 15, 1984 and March 1, 1985. The feed grain program is expected to have little impact on production in 1985 and assuming normal weather stocks should continue to expand. Many have expected at least a 5 percent paid diversion in feed grains. Look for the pressure to build for a change.

1985 Wheat Program Changed

USDA announced that producers who participate in the 1985 wheat program may request 50 percent of the projected 1985 deficiency payment and 50 percent of the land diversion payment when they sign-up. Sign up for all programs is October 15, 1984-March 1, 1985. USDA is estimating the maximum deficiency payment rate of $1.08/bushel in 1985. The land diversion payment rate in eligible acres is $2.70/bushel.

The 1985 Cotton Program Announced

The 1985 upland cotton program is a 20 percent acreage reduction plus a 10 percent cash land diversion program. So, a total of 10 percent of cotton base acreage needs to be set aside to comply with the diversion program, and 28.57 percent of planted acreage (20% to 70%) to qualify for loan program and diversion pay payment. Sign up will be from October 15 to March 1. Contracts will be binding.

Diversion payments will be 30 cents per pound on 10 percent of base acreage. Advance payments at sign up, if requested, will be made for half of both the diversion payment and projected deficiency payment of 19.8 cents per pound. That is, when the producer signs up, an advance payment of 15 cents per pound for the 10 percent diversion acreage and 9.9 cents per pound advance for projected deficiency payment will be made based on farm program payment field.

The 1985 target price is 81 cents. The loan cannot be determined until October 15. The minimum is 55 cents, with the probably 1985 loan rate near 57 cents. For further details contact your ASCS office.

Cotton Supplies Abundant, Market Weak

The latest world figures on cotton indicate plentiful supplies and a much weaker cotton market for the year ahead. It appears only a major crop failure in large producing country would trigger a sustained market rally. Price relationships based on past price-supply-demand forces suggest the market may be headed close to the loan rate this fall. Exports are the key to the market. Perhaps the low price will stimulate demand and curtail production so that the price levels will improve next spring and summer.

Soybeans

A U.S. crop of 2.0 billion bushels is estimated with stocks and usage increasing this marketing year. Soybean prices have decreased considerably but should have more upside pressure for price increase than corn. Part of this year's crop is late, therefore, it will be more vulnerable to weather damage. Because of our present low bean stocks, market price will be very sensitive to any activity that might affect soybeans. Texas producers have planted about 450,000 acres with most beans appearing to be progressing on schedule. If their crop was not contracted earlier, prices may be at or near the loan price at harvest time.

"Man and Mule"

When this joke first went the rounds of Texas newspapers, it tickled the funnybone of the whole populace. Maybe it is time to revive it. —Editor

Over the hill trailed a man behind a mule drawing a Dixie plow. The clodhopper was broadcasting:

"Bill, you are a mule, and I'm a man in the image of God. Yet, here we worked hitched together year in and year out. I often wonder if you work for me or I for you. Sometimes I think this is a partnership between a mule and a fool, for surely I work harder than you do. Plowing here, we cover the same distance but you do it on four legs and I on two. So mathematically speaking, I do twice as much work per leg as you do."

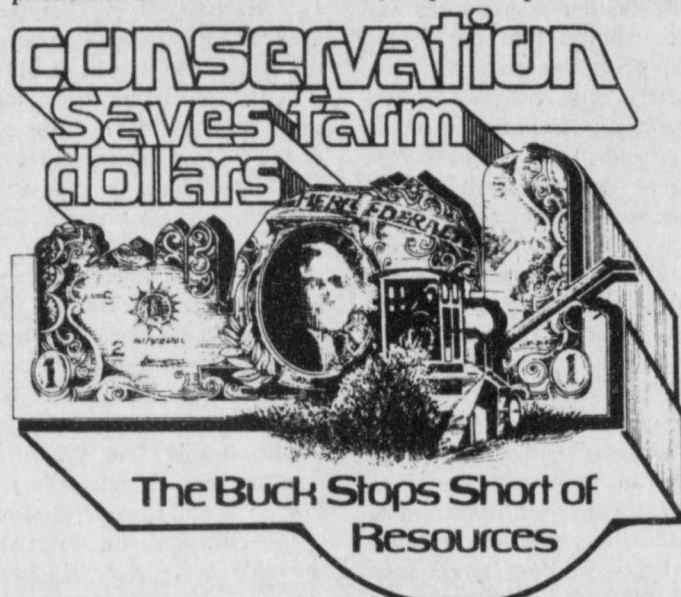

Soon we'll be preparing for a corn crop. When the crop is harvested, I give one-third to the landlord for being kind enough to let me use this corner of God's universe. The other third goes to you, and what is left is my share, but while you consume all your third with the exception of a few cobs, I divide my third among seven children, six hens, two ducks and a banker. Bill, you are getting the best of me. It ain't fair for a mule the son of a jack, to rob a man, the lord of creation, of his substance. And come to think about it, you only cultivate the ground. After that I cut and shock, and husk it, while you look over the pasture fence and 'he-haw' at me.

"All fall and part of the winter the family, from granny down to the baby pick cotton to help raise money to buy you a set of new harness, and interest on the mortgage on you, and by the way, what do you care about that mortgage? It doesn't worry you any. Not a darn bit. You leave that to me you ungrateful, ornery cuss."

About the only time when I'm your better is on election day, for I can vote and you can't, but if I ever get any more out of politics than you do, can't see where it is."

Moisture proves detrimental in moduling cotton

By Dr. James Supak and Elston Grubaugh

Rapidly opening cotton, especially in the dryland areas, is encouraging many High Plains producers to prepare much of their crop for an early harvest with harvest-aid chemicals. And Mother Nature should prepare the rest of it any day now.

Research studies in a number of locations have shown that "dry" cotton, having only 8 to 12 percent moisture with less than 4 percent green leaf can be stored in modules for prolonged periods with essentially no change in lint and seed quality. On the other hand, these same studies have shown that moduling "wet" cotton (generally greater than 12-percent moisture) is detrimental to lint and especially seed quality.

To avoid problems with excessive moisture, a good plant kill is essential. All plant components—lint, seed, burs, stems—going into the module must be dry.

In a once over harvest area such as the High Plains, desiccants (Paraquat and arsenic acid) are usually needed to rapidly kill and dry cotton plant tissues.

Normally, it takes seven to ten days after a good job of chemical desiccation, (or after a killing frost), for the plant components to dry. Harvesting too soon results in accumulations of green (high moisture) trash that can contribute to excessive heat buildup in modules or even trailers. Therefore, to avoid possible lint or seed damage, wait until leaves and stems are dry and crisp.

Proper harvest timing can also result in fewer bark problems. After chemical desiccation or a killing frost, the plant stalk loses moisture faster than the surrounding bark, resulting in the bark "pulling away" from the stalk. The bark is then more likely to be stripped from the stalk during harvest. However, eight to ten days after killing, the bark will lose additional moisture and again "tighten up" around the stalk. Natural deterioration begins to loosen bark again about three weeks after killing. Hence, correct harvest timing can result in cotton lint with less bark.

When placing cotton into a module, be sure that the moisture from dew, rain or snow has dried. One way to avoid problems with morning dews is to make the first two or three dumps into a trailer and then begin forming modules.

A good way to check to see if the cotton is dry enough to store is to squeeze a handful, if the cotton sticks together in a ball, it is too wet.

Temperatures within modules should be monitored with the long stem thermometer designed specifically for this purpose. Daily readings should be obtained and recorded for each module until it becomes apparent that temperatures have stabilized. Keep those temperature records. They may prove useful later in helping you and your delinter decide whether to save seed from a given module for planting purposes or to send it to the oil mill.

Normally, the temperatures within a module rise 15 to 20°F during the first three to five days as moisture within the module reaches a balance. Thereafter, if the module stays dry, temperatures will tend to remain fairly stable, fluctuating slightly with changes in air temperature.

Usually, a troublesome module will show a rapid temperature rise, often as much as 30 to 50°F within the first few days. Thereafter, the temperatures usually remain fairly high for several days before the module begins to "cool".

The cut-off temperature for sending a module to the gin as quickly as possible is around 110 to 120°F. Seed from modules that reach these temperatures could be damaged and shouldn't be saved for planting seed without careful inspection and testing.

Once a "hot module" situation begins to develop a close working relationship with the ginner and neighbors becomes very important. Most gins can handle (and neighbors tolerate) an occasional hot module without too many problems. If the problem becomes widespread, however, the gins capacity to handle these modules can easily be exceeded and the patience of more conscientious neighbors worn thin.

Since the harvest season on the Plains is normally characterized by favorable (dry) weather conditions, many modules are not tarped. Snow and/or rain on such modules can endanger a larger volume of cotton than any given gin facility can handle before damage to lint and seed occurs. For this reason, it is now recommended that all modules be tarped.

To prevent excessive moisture from rain or snow from penetrating the module, seed cotton has to be compressed uniformly during the module building operation. Place the last dump in the middle of the module to form a slightly rounded top that will permit better drainage of rain and snow. Extra compaction is needed at the ends to reduce losses during transport. Forming a good module takes time—frequently more time than the machine operator is allowed when two or more strippers are assigned to a single module builder.

Location and positioning of modules is also important. Modules should be located on prepared sites that allow drainage of water away from the modules and which are accessible to the truck-transporter. Positioning with respect to existing roadways and adjacent modules should be in accordance with insurance requirements. A north to south orientation of modules generally preferred as this reduces the amounts of snow accumulations around the modules.

The development and rapid acceptance of the module builder constitutes a vast improvement over conventional cotton trailers. Used properly, moduling systems benefit both producers and ginner by completing the mechanization of seed cotton handling from the stalk to the bale. Properly used, these systems help maintain the quantity of the seed cotton produce, increase efficiency and ultimately reduce costs. These factors play an important role in determining the profitability of cotton production and ginning on the Texas High Plains.

Farmers encouraged to heed harvest details

By Elston K. Grubaugh

A poor job of harvesting cotton can ruin a producer's best efforts in trying to grow a quality cotton crop. Proper attention to harvesting details can result in an increased harvested yield, improved lint quality, and help control overwintering insects.

A producer should check the harvest efficiency of his cotton stripper. Overall harvesting efficiency is the percent of the crop that reaches the stripper basket. Preharvest losses are those locks of cotton that fall to the ground before the harvester passes. The remaining cotton that does not reach the basket is stripper inefficiency—losses relating to imperfect machine harvesting.

Brush strippers are capable, under ideal conditions, of harvesting 98% or more of the open cotton. If a machine strips less than 95% of the total yield, the cause of the excessive losses should be determined.

Set the header height just low enough to go under the low bolls of cotton. If a finger header is being used, adjust the header tilt to maintain the same height at both ends. If a brush header is being used adjust the height of each row unit individually with its control knob. Running the header too low will cause excessive amounts of cotton in the field. The plant lifters and stripping rolls should be adjusted to pick up a minimum of trash from the ground and a minimum of bark and branches from the plants.

As the green boll box is emptied the first time note the percentage of open cotton in the green boll pile. Excessive open bolls may indicate the need for increased air velocity. Also check cotton in the trailer for the first gasket dumped for evidence of green bolls in the cotton. These will show up either as whole bolls or wet knots in the cotton. If any are found it indicates the air velocity separating chamber is too great and the fan speed should be decreased.

Green bolls in seed cotton result in decreased lint quality; lower grade, staple, and mic. Green bolls left in the field are excellent overwintering sites for insects. Therefore, the boll box should be emptied in the turnrow, not in the field, and the bolls should be picked up and destroyed following harvest.

While the engine is stopped clean the air inlet screen on the fan. Allowing lint, leaf trash, etc. to build up on the inlet screen will restrict the air flow through the separating chamber and cause a drop in harvest efficiency. Clean the screen at least once a day while the engine is stopped. A nylon brush or a cloth rag does a suitable job of cleaning.

A well maintained, carefully operated stripper helps reduce trash and moisture in seed cotton. Worn machine parts should be replaced and all adjustments should be set to factory specifications. If these precautions are observed, the machine can be kept in trouble-free operation throughout the season, taking greatest advantage of available good weather.

FmHA takes final steps in debt restructuring plan

By Charles W. Shuman, Administrator
Farmers Home Administration, USDA

Final steps are being taken to start processing applications for restructuring farm debts under the farm credit initiatives announced recently by President Reagan.

In fact, I have already directed that loan reviews be started as a first step in helping farmers who find themselves in severe economic difficulty through no fault of their own. Regular loan reviews are conducted to determine whether a borrower is showing progress in the farming operation.

An important part of this year's review is to determine which farmers would be eligible for assistance under the restructuring plan.

The plan announced by the President provides two alternative forms of assistance for those farmers. In both cases, the goal is to restore the farmer to a positive cash flow situation.

How would the plan work? For a farmer with an FmHA loan, the agency can set aside up to 25 percent of the principal and interest -- to a maximum of $200,000 -- for five years. There would be no interest charged on the amount set aside.

For a farmer with a loan from a commercial lender, FmHA can guarantee a new loan if the lender will write down the existing loan at least 10 percent, up to the amount necessary to restore a positive cash flow.

Farmers with FmHA loans who think they might qualify for assistance under the restructuring plan should discuss it with the FmHA County Supervisor when the review is conducted.

Other farmers should discuss their situation with their lenders before contacting FmHA.

Farm Days Gone By

Post Office Moved

Last Tuesday Postmaster J.D. Starks formally removed the post office from the frame building which it has been occupying the past two years to the new office in the rear of the First National Bank where the new office fixtures have been installed, and the many patrons of the local office are certainly proud of the new office and the excellent fixtures, which would prove a credit to a town of 10,000 people. (We might say, in parenthesis, that Floydada intends to be that some of these days, too.)

The new fixtures have all the accommodations of a modern, city office, being furnished in mahogany throughout at a cost of about three thousand dollars.

Five attend area convention

Saturday, October 20, Rhonda Guthrie, June McGaugh, Ginger Warren and Sheryl Derryberry, all of Alpha Sigma Upsilon, and Donna Anderson of Alpha Mu Delta, attended the Beta Sigma Phi area convention at Brown Coliseum in Pampa. These were five of approximately 300 women attending.

Registration began at 2:30, with yearbook and scrapbooks also being entered for competition at this time. Following registration, the group was sent on a treasure hunt at the Pampa Mall and different businesses. They then returned to their motel and dressed in Las Vegas style clothes.

The group was welcomed by speaker Margaret Edmison and all stood for opening rituals. The barbecue dinner was served by the Shrine Club of Pampa. The group later enjoyed the door prizes and a Las Vegas floor show which included a performance by Wanda "Phyllis Diller" and Rochelle "Dolly Parton." Then it was on to the big casino party and auction, in which each member was given $4000.00 in play money.

Sunday, October 21, they started off with donuts and coffee. A big welcome was presented by Connie Holland and international speaker, Shirley Moore, along with more door prizes, awards and raffle winners. Bids for the 1985 convention were given and everyone was invited to Dumas for Pow Wow days. The steak lunch was served by the Knights of Columbus. Closing rituals were given and all stood for mizpah.

Halloween costume party slated

The chapter of Alpha Sigma Upsilon met at 7 p.m. October 16 at the First National Bank. The executive board met and discussed their business before the regular meeting was called to order by president, Rhonda Guthrie. Everyone stood for opening rituals. Roll was called and minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The treasurers report was given by Alice Ogden.

The next meeting was set for November 6 with Vikki Yeary as hostess. Barbara Edwards will have the program and a salad supper will be served for rushees. Sheryl Derryberry will have the raffle.

The social for October will be a costume party at 8 p.m. October 27 at Lighthouse Electric.

Ways and Means project was discussed. The group will be sponsoring a teen dance November 3 at the Massie Activity Center from 8-12:00 midnight. Admission will be $3.00 per person.

The club has been invited by Alpha Mu Delta to a Thanksgiving supper. Names for rushees were submitted and Jan Nichols had the raffle. Meeting was adjourned with everyone standing for closing ritual and mizpah. Neva West then served tea, deviled eggs, and finger sandwiches. Everyone then joined in and helped finish the scrapbook.

Those attending were: Rhonda Guthrie, June McGaugh, Sheryl Derryberry, Alice Ogden, Karen Elliott, Barbara Edwards, Janice Nichols, Ginger Warren, Neva West and Vikki Yeary.

New Year's Eve dance planned

The 173rd meeting of Alpha Mu Delta, Floydada chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, called to order on October 16 in the home of Duffy Hinkle with all members present standing for opening rituals.

The business meeting was called to order by president Julianne Cornelius and the minutes were read by Kelli Reddy from the last meeting October 2. Names were submitted for the Fall rush and it was decided to invite the girls to the next meeting. It was brought to attention that a contract with Mike Porter and the Mal Function Junction had been made for the New Year's Eve dance, this will be the last time the group will be performing together. The proceeds from the dance will be given to needy organizations in the community. A memorial was given to the family in honor of Mike Marble. An invitation was extended to the members of Alpha Sigma Upsilon to be guests for a Thanksgiving dinner. Everyone was reminded to bring the kids, dress up and come to the Halloween party Saturday, October 27.

The program was given by Julianne Cornelius on "Social Environment, What It Is, How To Protect It." A discussion followed.

Hostess Duffy Hinkle and Holly Hendrix served sandwiches, chips, dip and millionaire pie with tea and coffee.

The meeting was adjourned with all standing for the closing rituals and everyone joined hands for the mizpah.

Members present were Barbara Anderson, Donna Anderson, Abby Battey, Julianne Cornelius, Holly Hendrix, Duffy Hinkle, Penny Ogden, Linda Phillips, Wendy Pierce, Kelli Reddy, and Debra Graham.

Eastern Stars visit New Mexico

Four members of Floydada Chapter #31, Order of the Eastern Star, traveled to Albuquerque, New Mexico, on October 19 and 20, to attend the 82nd "Miracles of Spring" Session of the Grand Chapter of New Mexico, O.E.S.

Mrs. Dell Gray, currently serving as Grand Organist, Grand Chapter of Texas, O.E.S., was introduced by Mrs. Joyce Blaine, Worthy Grand Matron, and given special recognition during the Grand Chapter Session. Mrs. Gray was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Roberta Russell, Floydada, Mrs. Ruth Daniel, Dougherty, and Mrs. Lillian Lindsey, Silverton. All are Past Matrons and members of Floydada Chapter #31.

While in Albuquerque, Mrs. Gray visited with Mrs. Betty Jean Foster Steelman, formerly of Lockney, who now resides in Las Cruces, New Mexico. Mrs. Steelman is a member of Las Cruces Chapter #20, O.E.S. Mrs. Gray was initiated into the Las Cruces Chapter in 1968. She was a member and organist of that chapter for eight years prior to moving to Texas.

On October 29, Mrs. Gray will travel to Corpus Christi, Texas, to participate in the institution of Del Mar Chapter, U.D. The following week she will join other Grand Chapter of Texas Floor Officers in the District 5, Section 7, Eastern Star School in San Antonio.

Floyd Data

A luncheon for area Chamber women was held Friday, October 19, at the Plainview Country Club. Those attending from Floydada were Imogene Stan-sell, Lois Gilly, Wanda Turner, and Nettie Ruth Whittle. The luncheon preceded the Running Water Draw Arts and Crafts Show.

DR. DAVID L. LESTER [center], president of Wayland Baptist University, cuts the ribbon to officially open the first of four duplexes being constructed by the building trades program in Wayland's Vocational Technical Division. Located just off the corner of 9th and Raleigh, the first apartment opened this past week, and the second is expected to be completed by January. The second structure housing the other two duplexes will be completed within the next 18 months. Members of the building trades class which constructed the apartment are (left to right), Chris Deakin, Gruver; Andre Ledbetter, Floydada; Sabino Guzman, Tulla; Roy Reese, Plainview; and Danny Canida, Memphis.

Jo Payne hosts Baptist women

The Baptist women of Calvary Baptist Church met on October 1 in the home of Jo Payne for a regular Bible study, led by Mildred Haile. The theme for the meeting was "Love in Action", presented by Naomi Ruth Hinkle.

Those present, Mildred Haile, Hazle Powell, Deota Odam, Beady Owens, June Van Cleve, Edna Patton, Ivola Walters, Mrs. J.E. Green, pastor Hollis Payne and Mrs. Payne, all enjoyed the study and refreshments of chips, dips, cake and drinks.

The group met again on Monday, October 15 in the home of Cathy Hill for a Royal Service program entitled "Women in Missions Overseas," led by Deota Odam.

Mildred Haile, director, opened the meeting with prayer. A short business meeting was held followed by the lesson. The prayer calendar was given by Hazle Powell.

Refreshments of party pizzas, miniature sandwiches, cake, nuts, spiced tea and coffee were served to Mildred Haile, Hazle Powell, Irene Wexler, Edna Patton, Deota Odam, Beady Owens, June Van Cleve, Eula Meredith, Mrs. J.E. Green, Ivola Walters, a guest Bertie Drummond and the hostess, Cathy Hill.

By Joyce Williams

Thursday, Oct. 25, 1984:

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Appling returned home this past week-end after spending a week in Dallas with the children of Phyllis and Chuck Farley. It was like old times, getting up early and getting children off to school as Bertha and Wayne got grandsons, Kevin and Kelly off to classes. The Farleys were in Las Vegas, Nevada attending a training session for the wholesale tire company, where Chuck is assistant manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Muncy also enjoyed a western vacation recently.

Ray Dunavant, student at South Plains College in Levelland, spent the week-end visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Dunavant, and other relatives. Ray formerly worked for florists in Lockney and in Bayfield, Colorado. He is majoring in business administration at college.

Mrs. Lula Teague was among the group from the City Park Church of Christ who met at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. S.D. Himes Saturday evening for a bonfire and weiner roast. The young people met at the church yard and rode out to the country on a hay wagon. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Paty and S.D. Himes. When the wagon turned in at the farm yard, the travelers saw a blazing bonfire. Mr. Himes had trimmed the evergreen trees and the branches were piled for a brilliant firelight. The adults had picnic tables of food ready on the patio. Chili, beans, chips, hot cider and cocoa, with marshmallows for s'mores for dessert provided all ages with a bountiful outdoor feast in the brisk evening air. Austin and Ashleigh Williams and their grandmother were among the participants.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bob Harrison and granddaughter Casey, visited the Don Harrisons during Homecoming week-end.

Ruth and Don Harrison were in Lubbock Friday and met their granddaughters, Misses Marty and Debbie Harrison, for lunch, also Greg Wilkes. Miss Marty is now manager of a bookstore in Lubbock.

The Wayne Applings visited in Farmington, New Mexico earlier in the month with their daughter, Judy, and her husband, Don Sanders, and children. Don works for El Paso Natural Gas which was recently bought by Burlington Railroad. On their way back home Wayne and Bertha visited in Albuquerque with his uncle, Louie T. Archer. They visited Sandia Peak for a look at the magnificent mountain scenery. Aspen trees were golden in the cold autumn air.

While the Applings were in the Dallas area last week they also visited near Roanoke where their daughter, Beverly and husband, Lou Connors, and children live at the new development, Trophy Club Center. Lou works in Dallas for E.F. Hutton. The weather was stormy all during the Appling's visit, with tornado warnings and lots of lightning at night. They report having a good visit in spite of the storm warnings.

Area wide Homemaking teachers met at Plainview High School Saturday. Floydada teachers, Mrs. Alice Baker, Miss Julie Morton, and Mrs. Joyce Williams, arrived early to register the other teachers. A representative from the Texas Education Agency addressed the group and answered questions about the new state education laws. The speaker urged teachers to stay in the profession, to not leave for other jobs, to give the governor's office and the other elected officials time to correct and adjust the hastily passed laws. Even as the teachers convened, the newspapers contained stories of new interpretations of the laws.

Light rain Saturday and Sunday had fields still wet by Tuesday.

The Floyd County Historical Museum board of directors met at the museum Monday evening. President Kenneth Brose presided. Jim Word read a letter from the department of anthropology of Harvard University requesting permission to study Apache Indian artifacts in the Floyd County Museum, and Apache sites at the Floydada Country Club, the Montgomery Ranch site in Blanco Canyon, and other historic sites over the county and the Panhandle. The professor is seeking to add to the technical information for Peabody College at the University in Cambridge, Mass. Dr. Tim Baugh has worked with Jim Word, and recommended his book and sources to Harvard, and the anthropologist, Maucha. Other board members present included Anne Swepston, Frances Stanforth, Nancy Marble, Joyce Williams, Lou Bollman, Bob Jarrett, and Olin Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mooseberg attended a church fellowship supper Sunday evening after worship services at the Church of Christ.

James Williams attended a probation officers workshop at Sam Houston University campus at Huntsville last week. His cousin, Jacquelyn Brown, met him at the Houston airport for lunch when he arrived. During the workshop, prisoners rioted, delaying a tour of state facilities planned for the officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Harrison visited his parents at their farm Saturday. Bro. Paul Bates of Bayfield, Colo. was also a luncheon guest.

Willis completes course

Marine Pfc. Kenny E. Willis, son of Kenneth L. and Barbara J. Willis of Floydada, recently completed the Turboprop Propulsion Mechanic course at Chanute Technical Training Center, Chanute Air Force Base, Rantoul, Illinois.

During the 11-week course, he studied the operation, removal, disassembly, inspection, repair, assembly, test and installation of hydraulically operated propellers, controls and accessories. He was also taught the operating principles, engine change, adjustments and conditioning of turboprop engines and systems.

Willis payed particular attention to ground safety practices, ground support equipment, electrical fundamentals, technical publications and familiarization with organizational and intermediate maintenance, maintenance documentation and engine and propeller maintenance.

A 1979 graduate of Floydada High School, he joined the Navy in December 1983. His wife, Susan, is the daughter of Wayne and Janice Poteet, also of Floydada.

Bradley and Nutt graduate

Two students from the Floydada area are recent graduates of Abilene Christian University. These are Samuel Ned Bradley, son of Mrs. Ned Bradley of Floydada, who received a bachelor's degree in agriculture business and Daniel Lee Nutt, son of Edwin and Barbara Nutt of Floydada, who received a bachelor's degree in agriculture.

Oct. 23, 1984:

Here we are on another week. How time flies!

And what weather we are having. So wet! We hardly ever see the sun. It is pretty cold, too. But no frost yet, but wind!

And New Mexico is still having lots of rain. Our rain is more misty. I missed church Sunday. This is good "be at home" weather.

Some of the people who are staying in are the Mayfields, Mrs. Plumlee, the Henry Brewers and Mrs. Elmer Warren.

Opal Rogers is home again after awhile in the hospital.

Our sympathy is with Miss Esther Peck in the passing of her brother.

I received a letter from California last week telling of the passing of her sister Mrs. Floy Archer Neece after a two year illness. Mrs. Neece was one of my long time friends. When we were both teachers - not home except in the summers at Mt. Blanco. The letter was from her sister Robbie, Floy was a sister of Mrs. Sid Latta who once lived east of town. They had been in California many years.

Let us not forget the hungry.

OBITUARIES

MELBA ELAINE HARDY
Funeral services for Melba Elaine Hardy, 43, will be held in the First Baptist Church in Lockney Friday at 2:30 p.m. with Merle Rogers, pastor.

officiating. Burial will be in Lockney Cemetery under the direction of Moore-Rose Funeral Home in Lockney.

Mrs. Hardy died at 8:04 p.m. in the Lubbock General Hospital after hip surgery Wednesday of last week. She was a dialysis patient for more than 16 years, having been the first female patient accepted in Texas.

Born in Roswell, N.M., she moved to Lockney from Portales at the age of 2 with her parents, Melvin and Edith Cooper.

She was married to Clifford Ray Hardy, a 23-year veteran of Energas, on June 30, 1961 in the First Baptist parsonage. She had taught piano and organ lessons in Lockney and Floydada, having taught since she was in the seventh grade.

She is survived by her husband, Cliff; one daughter, Robin, who is a student at WT in Canyon; her parents; and one brother, Dr. Wayne Cooper, who has temporary residence in Poland.

The family suggests memorials to the Cliff and Elaine Hardy Scholarship Fund by contacting Glenda Ford or Gayle Jackson or to the Memorial Donations to the Lubbock General Hospital Dialysis Center that may be sent to Jacque Hastings, c/o Lubbock General Hospital, 602 Indiana Avenue, P.O. Box 5980, Lubbock.

Remember your loved ones with a living memorial to the Caprock Hospital Auxiliary Memorial Fund. Mrs. Jane Pruitt, Treasurer, 983-2040.

SARAH HUCKABEE

Services for Sarah Myrtle Huckabee, 91, of Floydada were at 10 a.m. Monday, October 22 at the First United Methodist Church with Rev. Earl Blair, pastor, officiating.

Graveside services were at 2 p.m. Tuesday, October 23 at Gardens of Memory Cemetery in Stephenville. Local arrangements were under the direction of the Moore-Rose Funeral Home in Floydada.

She died at 5:30 p.m. Saturday at the Floydada Nursing Home after a lengthy illness.

Born on February 13, 1893 in Erath County, she married Alfred Julian Huckabee on August 11, 1921 in Lockney. They had lived in Floyd County until 1946 when they moved to Stephenville. She had just recently moved back to the Floydada area. She was a member of the Oak Dale Methodist Church in Stephenville.

Survivors include her husband; two sons, Ernest and James of Stephenville; five daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Brand of Boulder, Colorado, Mrs. Naomi Johnson of Lockney, Mrs. Lois Karr of Lubbock, Mrs. Wanda Williams of Dallas; two brothers, George Gordon of Gordon and Alfred Gordon of El Paso; five sisters, Mrs. Nora Russell, of Arkansas, Mrs. Leota Foster, Mrs. Alice Foster, Mrs. Faye Horston and Mrs. Artesia McAda, all of Lockney, 19 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren. Pallbearers were grandsons.

COOPERATION KEEPS AMERICA STRONG AND FREE

"The Capitol is the cornerstone of our government. It has been my pleasure to serve with three presidents there during the time I have been your congressman. Two were Republicans, one a Democrat. I have helped each of them when I could, consistent with my own responsibility to represent the people of this district, not hesitating to be a part of the loyal opposition when I thought they were wrong. Regardless of who is president in the future, I will continue to serve with, and help him, whatever his name or his party, in order that America may remain strong and free."

"My Love For Critters"

By Will Martin

Part II - Continued from last week

In addition to Maude and her offspring we had other horses and a few Jack rabbit mules. We had a white horse named Old Button and Old Pete, gray mule. They were also kind and gentle.

But we had one iron grey mare that I sure did not like. Papa and Henry put me to minding the gate one day while they separated the work horses from the outside stock. I was about 12 and small for my age. (I weighed only 84 pounds when I was 16.) Anyway, that old mare took a notion she was coming through in spite of all the hand waving and shoeing I could do. I couldn't or didn't get out of the way. She broadsided me right in the middle of the chest, knocking me about 15 feet. If you have never had the breath knocked out of you, you can't know how it is. I felt like I was killed until I could finally breathe again. It seemed like it was 15 minutes before I could, but I'm sure it wasn't.

We had many more horses, but they did not make lasting impressions.

Papa was good to his horses. Every chance he got to walk behind the plow or wagon, he would. He said there was "no use making them pull, extra weight." And, too, I think he just like to walk. When I got older, he would have me to walk behind the section harrow. With one particular horse, he would have me follow the Georgia stock, which I didn't mind. I guess I took after Papa that way. Henry didn't like to walk. Papa always said Henry would walk 2 miles to the back of the pasture, which reached 2 miles to where Charley Perry's farm is now, to catch a horse to ride up to Will Murray's, a quarter of a mile away.

I always loved horses, but didn't like to harness or unharness them. Henry always said after I got through helping Mama around the house, I would hide under the bed until he and Papa got through unharnessing the horses, and then I would come to the barn to help them put out the feed, slop the hogs, and milk and feed the cows.

We usually kept from 2 to half a dozen cows with calves. The calves were kept in the lot in the daytime so they wouldn't get all the milk while the cows grazed all day. At night, the calves were put out after they had nursed and the cows would give down their milk. I would get so angry while I was milking. We usually milked in a Cottle lard bucket. Just about the time I would get the bucket about three-fourths full, the old cow, standing so docile eating her feed, would catch me off guard and Ka-Wham! She would kick, knocking me off my stool backward, and stick her foot in the milk bucket and spill all the milk. When I would finish milking all the other cows and go to the house, Mama would bawl me out and say, "What did you let her do that for?"

The neighbor boys and I would catch the old folks in the house and slip out to the cowpen to ride the calves. Usually we got thrown. To me the calves were not as personal as the horses. I never did think they were as intelligent as horses either. But we had a few lovable and good-natured ones.

Two of them I loved were Old Pet and Old Blanche. We did not have beef cattle. When a cow accidentally got in with the Hereford bull, we would sell the calf to a cowbuyer who usually came around once a year when it was about yearling size.

Conclusion To Be Continued Next Week

Development of water resources essential

Development of water resources is especially important when certain facts are considered. A projection of population growth and water use requirements shows that a city the size of Lubbock, which used 34,679 acre feet of water in 1980 is projected to require 90,716 acre feet of water by the year 2030 in order to meet the needs of municipal, agricultural, and industrial users.

A city the size of Floydada may not need as much water, but the 325,851 gallons of water in an acre foot of water is just as important to the survival of Floydada as it is to the survival of Lubbock. Projected water requirements of a town of 4000 to 5000 people in 2030 will be 3685 acre feet. A town that size only used 1300 acre feet in 1980.

The State of Texas will need a comprehensive and effective plan for tripling the available water supply in just a little over forty years.

Proper development and management of the water resources of Texas will certainly result in both good and bad effects on other natural resources. The foremost issue will be the determination of a middle ground between the maintenance of natural habitats, meeting the needs of Texans, and compensating for the unavoidable losses incurred by the environment.

Methods used to determine such losses can be complicated as well as expensive and time consuming. Studies required now measure damages and projected damages over long periods of time and must be followed with negotiations, also a lengthy process. If no agreement can be reached, the entire matter may become mired in the judicial system for months before being decided. Current methods consider only the ill effects the environment could suffer. Virtually no consideration is given to the benefits to be reaped by the citizens.

Future plans must change this. Benefits must be weighed against harm and the over-all good must prevail. The Texas Legislature must act in the present to preserve our way of life in the future. Conservation measures must be implemented along with legislation to secure the development of new water resources.

The Texas Department of Water Resources need to be empowered to use a limited eminent domain provision to restrict geographically and hydrologically suitable land for use in reservoir construction and water development projects. This limited power would prohibit the use of such land for major facilities which would have to be repurchased and or relocated when reservoir construction begins. Any use which would make the land unsuitable for a water source would not be allowed. Landowners would retain title and use of the land in all other respects.

An acquisition fund should be legislated for funding and periodic replenishment for the compensation of land owners when an easement or land option is needed to preserve a future site for a reservoir or water project.

Planning for future water requirements must keep pace with an ever changing economy, a continuously shifting population, and advancing technology. Local, state, and federal regulations become increasingly stringent, as well. Assessments and revisions at regular intervals must take these changes into account so that adjustments to future plans will be made with caution and concern. The people of Texas deserve to know that water will not be a non-existent commodity in years to come.

VA may be able to help veterans with mortgage problems

The recent upturn in the economy should provide good news for some veteran-homeowners who have been unable to meet their mortgage obligations due to layoffs or reduced employment. However, Waco Veterans Administration Regional Office Director Stephen Lemons says the VA is aware that borrowers who will not immediately be able to resume working may be among those who need more time to fully reinstate delinquent home mortgages.

"VA continues to stress the importance of personal contact between homeowners who have fallen behind in their payments and their lenders," Lemons said. "If additional assistance is necessary, we offer financial counseling and try to arrange reasonable repayment schedules with mortgage holders when the borrower has been unable to do so."

He noted that VA representatives are actively participating in community and regional efforts to develop and implement plans to prevent unnecessary home loan foreclosures. This includes working with lenders to encourage forbearance and ensure that mortgage holders are aware of the various options they have for assisting homeowners under VA regulations.

"VA is also in contact with state and local agencies which provide assistance in finding jobs for borrowers or which can aid with making direct mortgage payments," Director Lemons added.

"Veterans who are behind in their mortgage payments and are unable to obtain further forbearance from lenders should contact this office toll-free by using the number listed in the local telephone directory," Lemons said.

TEC ends year with payment

The Texas Employment Commission, forced into debt during 1982's record unemployment, ended fiscal year 1984 with an interest payment of $59.2 million on monies borrowed to keep solvent the Unemployment Compensation fund.

The State's loan balance, originally at $1.05 billion, now stands at $411.3 million. That is considerably less than Agency officials had anticipated in projecting a final payoff.

According to Commissioner Ed Grisham, a major factor in the rapid reduction of the loan balance has been the cooperation between the jobs agency and the Governor's staff in utilizing surplus monies held in the Unemployment Trust Fund in Washington, D.C. Surplus money frequently accumulates in the Unemployment Trust Fund, but is prevented by existing federal law from drawing interest until the total surplus exceeds the outstanding debt. Rather than having those funds sit idle in Washington, TEC has been notifying the Governor's Office of the surplus availability. He notifies the Texas Office of State-Federal Relations in Washington, and they deliver a letter to the Department of Labor requesting that such money be applied to the existing debt.

These partial repayments, which to date total over $638 million, have saved the State approximately $16 million in interest payments.

The loan from the federal government carries an interest rate of 9.78 percent on the unpaid balance.

Some Important News

You can help yourself live longer if you're wise to the risk factors that cause cancer. Medical experts at the National Cancer Institute report you can reduce cancer risks by following these steps:

- Don't smoke or use tobacco products. Smoking of any kind causes cancer and increases risks from other cancer-causing agents.
- Vary your diet to include low-fat foods that are low in calories, too. Include fresh fruits and vegetables.

Home Economics

Today By Mary True

It's hard to think about Christmas when Thanksgiving has not even come around yet, but planning ahead prevents the cash shortage and holiday crowds many people experience in December.

Prices are generally higher and stores more crowded during the peak holiday season. Also, items you wish to buy are often out of stock and unavailable when you wait until the last minute to shop.

To avoid the Christmas shopping blues, begin anticipating the needs you will have for gifts. Make your list early and add a few blank spaces for those unexpected gifts that always seem to crop up.

Next, begin planning the amount you would like to spend for each gift on your list. Give yourself a range to determine your overall dollar needs for your Christmas shopping.

List possible gifts for each person, and carry this list with you whenever you shop during the coming months. As you see items at sale prices, check to see if they might be appropriate for someone on your list. By planning ahead, you can have most of your Christmas shopping done before the Christmas season actually arrives.

Allocating your purchases over a long period of time will help to avoid the problems that can arise in January when the bills begin to arrive. Plan your budget by anticipating what you will need to spend for your total Christmas purchases. You may want to spend a certain amount for gifts each month until the Christmas season is over.

To make shopping easier, read daily newspapers, scan sale circulars and look for specials. Fall merchandise is already in the stores and many sales are taking place.

"Christmas in November" is a bazaar sponsored by the Floyd County Family Living Committee full of crafts, art, and many gift ideas that will help you get a jump on Christmas shopping. It will be Saturday, November 3 at the Lockney Elementary School from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Dept. of Corrections hiring vets

The Texas Department of Corrections, a Certified Training Employer under the provisions of the Emergency Veterans' Job Training Act of 1983, is recruiting 400 veterans for training as Corrections Officers, according to the Texas Employment Commission.

The Veterans Administration certifies both the employer and veterans for participation in the federal program which reimburses the employer for 50 percent of the trainees' salary during a six-month training period.

The Department of Corrections is making a strong effort to upgrade the Texas Prison System, and believes their participation in the Veterans Job Training Program will provide benefits far beyond that objective. Says Director R.K. Procnunier, "This will allow us to improve our operations and to extend this excellent employment opportunity to our veterans; all in a most cost-effective manner. The citizens of Texas will reap the rewards of such an effort."

Individuals who are selected for these positions will receive six months of intensive Security and Correction Training at one of twenty-seven correctional facilities in the State. The Department of Corrections offers excellent advancement opportunities and benefits, with maximum job security.

Qualified applicants must have served in the United States Armed Forces between June 27, 1950 and January 31, 1955, or between August 4, 1964 and May 7, 1975, with honorable conditions of discharge, and must have been unemployed for fifteen of the twenty weeks immediately prior to the date of application.

Interested Veterans should contact their local Texas Employment Commission office for information about the Corrections Officer program.
