DR. EARL WATSON
520 W. CLARA
IOWA PARK, TEXAS

NEW EMERGENCY SIRENS were installed at strategic locations over Iowa Park Saturday, as the city attempts to give residents better warning in case of an emergency. The council authorized purchase of new sirens last spring, after the tornado that struck near town and another which hit Wichita Falls.

Trustees answer questions about closing Valley View

Announcement that trustees of the Iowa Park Consolidated Independent School District were considering closing the Valley View campus, where fifth and sixth grade classes are held, prompted a meeting of some 100 persons Friday night at Valley View.

All members of the school board, plus the superintendent and assistant superintendent were on hand to answer questions fielded from the audience.

George Gunter, representing an organization called "Committee of Concerned Citizens", served as moderator. He told those in the audience that questions would have to be in writing, to avoid any lengthy person-to-person arguments, and he screened each question before reading it out loud.

In a statement prior to the question and answer session, Gunter said "We just want to see if we can keep from having our school closed."

Under the proposal, school trustees said the students who had been attending classes at Valley View would be absorbed on the campuses in Iowa Park. The fifth grade would either be split and go to Kidwell and Bradford, or possibly all go to one of the campuses. The sixth grade would go to the junior high campus, and classes would be held in the blue, metal building there.

Most of the questions centered on the good condition of the Valley View building, facilities available there, timing of the closing after announcement and taxes of the former Valley View district.

Some of the questions and answers were as follows:

Q - We have a good school in good repair. It's not that old. Why are we closing it and not closing one not in as good condition?

A - Biggest problem, the building is 12 miles out of Iowa Park. Were the building in Iowa Park, it wouldn't be closed. The distance of travel and duplicated cost of operation are the Q - We estimate we pay over 25 percent of the district's taxes. They were $90,000 when we consolidated, and now they're $270,000, an increase of 300 percent in 10 years.

A - A breakdown of the figures is not available here right now, but taxes in the other areas have risen about the same, as have the costs of operation.

Q - We don't feel we have proper representation, with our tax per student higher than Iowa Park is paying for its students.

A - You had very good representation as long as C.E. Myers was on the board. He did an outstanding job. One member of the board lives in the Valley View area now, and others work here.

Q - We're not complaining about being in the Iowa Park district. It has good schools. But if you close it (the building), it will never be re-opened. It'll be ruined by vandalism and deterioration within a year.

A - Our school enrollment has shown a steady decline the past four years... 10 to 12 percent annually... and the forecast is it will continue. But we will have the building boarded up, and when enrollment justifies reopening it, we will put it into use again.

Q - Why, all of a sudden, do you want to close the school over night?

A - We've been looking at it for two or three years, and it was reported in the Leader. The announcement of a committee to study it (the closing) was in a story in the Leader three months ago. When we saw the savings after the study, it was apparent we have to make the move.

Q - Was it ever studied to close Bradford?

A - The distance to bus all those children out here was not economically feasible. There are 135 students from Valley View who go to school. Of that, 18 are in the fifth and sixth grades. But we are busing 275 out here to go to fifth and sixth grades.

Q - Is there any plan to construct gymnasium at Bradford?

A - Our five-year plan recognizes the need of metal buildings at both Kidwell and Bradford. The savings the first year could be used to build them.

A - Will teachers here lose their jobs?

A - Only through attrition, both teachers and employees. They will all campus in Iowa?

A - There are rooms in the junior high building and metal building. All rooms at the elementary buildings are in use, but some are used only for physical education, audio visual equipment and other uses which could be put elsewhere.

Q - How could the consolidation agreement copy disappear, conveniently?

A - If there were such an agreement, one should be available here at Valley View. There apparently was no written agreement. The county judge called for the election after being asked by the two school boards.

Q - How much money is owed on Valley View as compared with other buildings?

A - $220,000 at Valley View; $400,000 at junior high; $725,000 at high school.

Q - Why would you say food and transportation will save tax money, when it is paid by the state?

A - The district pays half the cost of transportation.

Q - Is savings that much when we have a $3-million budget?

A - We have to save every place we can. This is not such a small savings, especially over several years.

Q - If Valley View were to separate from Iowa Park, could it support itself?

A - Probably could today. It couldn't in 1970.

Gunter announced a meeting of Valley View people would be called, in preparation to attending the next regular meeting of the board of trustees.

Board members agreed to hold the Feb. 12 meeting in the junior high building, in order to accommodate an anticipated large crowd.

Our pot boileth over

With the addition of a sixth candidate for precinct three county commissioner this week, the local political pot has begun to really boil.

Local jeweler Louis Sefcik threw his hat into the ring with Junior Guthrie, John Stewart, Sidney Smith, Harold Phillips and Gordon Griffith for the seat on commissioner's court to be vacated by Buck Voyles.

All six will be on the Democratic party primary ballot.

But that isn't the only political pot which is perking up. There are numerous other county offices up for voter decisions, as well as state (including the 53rd district), and national races as well.

To sweeten the attention of persons who have renewed their voters registration will be the local city and school elections.

Though neither political body has yet called for the elections to be held, two seats are up on the school board (J.O. McCullough and Delbert Catlin), while on the city council three slots are to be decided (Mayor Johnny Crawford, Lita Watson and Bud Adams).

City park board sets priorities

The city's volunteer parks board established a 10-item list of priorities for the spring season, during Monday night's meeting.

Priorities include, in order: maintain park area we have; order new playground equipment; plant trees at Recreational Activities Center and Foley Park; resurface tennis courts at Pace Park; shape, level, seed and sod area around Gordon Lake; replace dead trees in (Park Street) boulevard; have scale model drawn of Oscar Park; place picnic table and cover in Foley Park; place picnic table on northeast corner of Oscar Park; and complete barrier in Oscar Park.

Earlier in the meeting, board members voted to name a new park area Foley Park, in honor of the land's donor, Tom Foley. The site is located east of the Johnson Road water tower.

Chamber speaker known

The guest speaker for the annual Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce banquet, slated Feb. 2 in the high school cafeteria, is already well known to most readers of the Iowa Park Leader, in an indirect way.

Joe Riordan is the author of a weekly column "Humor 'n' Whimsy", which appeared on the Leader's editorial page more than two years.

He is fast-becoming one of the most sought-after dinner speakers in Texas and other states of the Southwest. The San Antonio humorist is a well-known raconteur and banquet speaker, who has been described as "a man who wears many hats."

In addition to his work as a full-time public relations executive for Southwestern Bell Telephone, he is a former network radio actor, a freelance newspaper writer and the author of the weekly column. He is also the published author of both humorous and serious poetry.

Riordan began his career as an actor on children's radio programs while still in grammar school and later worked as a night club entertainer and network radio actor in Chicago. A native of St. Louis, Mo., he was graduated from Northwestern Univ. and switched from acting to public relations at a time when he says, "there were more actors than there were jobs."

He moved to Lubbock in 1957 where he founded, co-authored and directed the humorous satirical Sigma Delta Chi gridiron show 10 years. In recognition of these efforts, which raised thousands of dollars for journalism scholarships at Texas Tech, Gov. Preston Smith made him an honorary Texas citizen in 1967.

Riordan moved to Austin and continues to serve as one of the writers for the Headliners Club Annual Dinner and Roast.

San Antonio Light newspaper columnist Jack Newman describes Riordan as "a pretty funny guy who will brighten your rostrum at a meeting or special occasion." A member of the National Speakers Association, he has been listed in "Who's Who in the South and Southwest." He has also appeared as a featured speaker on the Knife and Fork Club banquet circuit.

Riordan was well received when he appeared as the guest speaker last year for the annual Vernon Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Tickets for the banquet are available at the Chamber office, Texas Electric Service Co. or from Chamber directors. The $6 admission includes a steak dinner, prepared by the Iowa Park MuleSkinners.

Criminal mischief, theft are reported

Two cases of criminal mischief and one theft were reported to Iowa Park police during the past week.

Ralph Klinkerman, owner of Country Hill Apartments, told police Thursday that someone had used a knife to cut a hose to a hot water heater and deface walls of the room.

Friday, Bob Gill said a 20-foot length of 3x4-inch channel iron was taken from 607 W. Bank. Estimated loss was $27.95.

Two windows were reported found broken Saturday at Kidwell Elementary. Principal Bob Cole said one was broken by a rock and the other by a BB gun. Loss was set at $40.

Second tax notices in mail this week

Second notices will be mailed this week to persons who have not yet paid their city and school taxes, according to Bill Steger, tax assessor/collector.

Taxpayers who pay their taxes by Jan. 31 will avoid paying additional penalty and interest, Steger said. About 85 percent of the city's taxes have been collected, but only some 70 percent of the school taxes have been paid.

Education opportunities at base speaker's topic

Mrs. Georgia Flanagan, chief of counseling section of the Education Services Branch at Sheppard Air Force Base, gave an informative address on "Education Opportunities at SAFB" for members of the 23 Study Club in their meeting Thursday afternoon. She was presented by Mrs. Travis Smith, leader.

Mrs. Flanagan, who has been associated with the Education Services Branch 18 years, has won numerous honors and promotions and is accredited with much of the success of the program by her superiors.

She began by briefly mentioning the philosophy of education in the Air Force which include technical training, advanced and updated training in professional areas, such as supervisory skills and management, and academic competency to reinforce what the Air Force calls "the whole man concept".

Referring to the last training she said, "since all AF personnel will one day be civilians again, we are vitally concerned with helping them in educational pursuits which will enhance both their AF careers and the post AF civilian careers."

In emphasizing the technical training, Mrs. Flanagan said that more than 80 percent of all AF jobs have civilian applicability, so the person who does not stay on past his initial four-year enlistment is usually able to return to the civilian labor market with a saleable skill.

She described the Community College of the Air Force, one of the newest additions to the AF education opportunities, as the most important thing that has happened, education-wise, during her experience with the program. From its headquarters at Mobile AFB, Ala., the college administers college-level programs specifically for AF enlisted men and women stationed around the world.

To stress the magnitude of CCAF, Mrs. Flanagan said that over 50,000 people are currently registered and that 7,643 AF enlisted men and women have received associate degrees since 1972.

In closing, the speaker gave emphasis to the civilian college programs available at SAFB, which are made available through Vernon Regional Junior College, Wayland Baptist University, Midwestern State University and the University of Oklahoma, stating that as many civilians as military personnel earned associate, bachelor and master degrees last year through the program.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. James Sewell and Miss Ethyle Kidwell was co-hostess.

Mrs. C.A. Hicks used an article taken from "Too Busy Not to Pray" that gave inspiration for opportunities for the new year, for her meditation.

The arts number was "Malaguena", a piano duo, by Mrs. Sewell and Mrs. Flanagan.

Twenty-one members were in attendance.

Cook of the Week

Mrs. Lee Holloway

Someone has said, "Life's riches other rooms adorn, but in a kitchen home is born." Nothing spells home quite as much as the aroma of meats and vegetables cooking or freshly baked cakes, pies and bread coming from the kitchen.

Cooking is indeed a fascinating occupation because cooks can prepare foods in their own particular way with their own particular flair. The dishes that they prepare and the ingredients that they use do not have to be exotic or expensive; even the lowly "everyday" bean can be something extraordinary.

Mrs. Lee Holloway's Southern Beans recipe is an example.

Thrifty New England settlers knew the value of dried beans and how to make the most of the dietary staple. Indians of the New World grew beans long before the pilgrims landed. John Verrazano, the Florentine navigator, referred to them in 1524. Despite the fact that dried beans have in some cases doubled or tripled in price, they are still one of the most nutritious of budget foods and are versatile enough to be the basis for many satisfying main dishes.

Harli Holloway was graduated from Wichita Falls High School. She has lived in Iowa Park since her marriage to Lee, who works for PPG Industries. She worked for a Wichita Falls bank for eight years before the couple started their family, which now consists of two daughters, Lisa, a seventh grader and Lori, a sixth grade student; and twin sons, Len and Lane, five years of age. The family attends the Rephadin Church in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Holloway enjoys sports, especially tennis and volleyball.

The Living Word

In our studies concerning the glory of the church, we have noticed its glory in the origin, the mind of God, the glory of its foundation, the glory of its relationship to God and Christ, and the glory of its universality. This week other biblical reasons for the glory of the church will be noticed.

The glory of the church is further made known by its work. The work of the church falls under three headings; Evangelism: the carrying the gospel to the lost; Edification: taking the newborn babes in Christ and building them up through worship, through study, and through Christian service, Ephesians 3:11-13; Benevolence: means a concern for orphans, for the hungry, the poor.

The glory of the church is further seen in its simplicity. In Matthew 18:20, we are promised by our Lord that where two or three are gathered together in his name he would be in the midst of us. As one reads and studies the book of Acts and the epistles he finds that the organization of the church; I Tim. 3:1-15, and the plan of worship are so simple that Christians can begin to worship as a church anywhere on earth—on shipboard—anywhere.

Finally, the glory of the church is evidenced by the destiny. We are on a journey as Christians. We are going somewhere. Earth is not our home, for we will be here only for a little while and then over on the other side forever. John 14: 1-3. The glory of the church is partially in its destiny. Sometimes it is a little disturbing, a little frightening, to read in the last chapters of Revelation concerning the books that will be opened at the judgment. Our destiny will depend on whether we have been written in the Lamb's book of life, as that last sentence in Revelation 21 phrases it. Nobody will enter heaven except those that are written in the Lamb's book of life. To share in the great destiny one must be in the Lord's body, His church. Ephesians 3:20, 21.

Drugs topic of speaker

Joe Singer, professional service representative of Schering Corp., was the speaker for the Evening Lions Club meeting Tuesday. He was introduced by R.E. Waters.

Singer talked first about some of the drug advancements made in recent years by the pharmaceutical company that he represents, and then about drug abuse. The advances included a viral killing substance which will be valuable in curing cancer, new drugs for the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis, allergies and high blood pressure. He said that 95 percent of the drugs today were not in use in the late 60s and early 70s.

Turning to drug abuse, he said "the drug problem is still with us among both adults and young people. We must be concerned and do something about it." He reminded the group that adults too often set the wrong example before youth by taking tranquilizers and anti-depressants and gave an $8,000,000 figure spent on such drugs last year to back up his statement.

Gordon Griffith, zone chairman, announced the District 2E1 at Seymour Saturday. Keith Cameron was a visitor.

Two dances this weekend

Two dances are slated for this weekend at the Iowa Park Recreational Activity Center (RAC), and a water color class will be held in February, according to Betty Merriman, director.

From 8 to 11 p.m. Friday, an all-junior high student dance will be held. Only students of the sixth through eighth grades will be admitted. Captain Audio will be the disc jockey.

The regular high school dance will begin at 8 p.m. Saturday and conclude at midnight. Captain Audio will play for that dance also.

C.M. Scott will be instructor for a water color class Feb. 7, from 7 to 9 p.m. Reservations for the class can be made by telephoning 592-4471.

Horses killed in auto wreck

An accident about 9 p.m. Tuesday on East Highway near Pleasant Valley Estates resulted in minor injuries to the driver, death of two horses and heavy damage to an automobile.

Driver was Kevin Hamilton, reporter for the Iowa Park Leader, who was headed east when he struck two horses owned by Spruiell Drilling Co.

Eastbound traffic was deterred almost an hour while animals and debris was cleared from the highway.

Hamilton, who suffered numerous cuts to his hands when he covered his face at impact, was treated and released at Park Clinic.

Subsoiling benefits bermuda

By Don D. Decker
County Agent

Subsoiling of irrigated bermuda grass pasture is a practice being used by Bill Baird in the Wichita Valley. This is the start of his pasture renovation program following the loss of his coastal stand to the severe winter last year.

The subsoiling is aimed at fracturing the soil hardpan, aerating the soil, and allowing for better movement of air, roots, and water through the soil. Over the years, the high sodium content of the irrigation water has damaged the soil structure causing the soil particles to "run together".

This condition resulted in restricting the movement of air, water, and roots into the soil. The shallow rooted coastal was more susceptible to winter kill.

Ripping the soil is the starting place in his pasture renovation. This will be followed by replanting much of the grass, applying needed plant nutrients, and irrigating with enough water to supply the grass needs plus another 25 percent to leach the salts out of the soil. Bermuda uses approximately three-tenths inch of water per day during the peak growing or water demand season.

The subsoiling was done by equipment belonging to Jesse Flick and Harry Marten. Calvin Rathgeber was operating the tractor, and I rode with him for several rounds. The chisel was ripping to a depth of better than 18 inches. Baird's soil was a little moist for ideal conditions, however, it was doing a good job. His soil was probably as dry as it will be anytime this winter.

Without the subsoiling of an irrigated pasture, it is hard to get a renovation program into operation. This facilitates leaching of the salts and the establishment of a deep, healthy root system.

A firm, moist seedbed is being started for Kleingrass 75 by O.W. Sullivan on his place near Lake Wichita. He needs a grass for stocker calves during the warm season, and light cattle do perform well in Kleingrass. It is a nutritious bunch grass which grows to a height of about 2 feet.

Kleingrass requires a firm, moist seedbed with a planting depth not to exceed 1/2 inch in order to germinate and to become established. Sullivan is plowing the land deep at this time. A tandem disc will be used to keep the field free of grasses and weeds until planting time - later part of March or early April.

He will seed the Kleingrass 75 at the rate of 2 pounds of pure live seed per acre. The seed will be broadcast over the surface and dragged with a heavy chain to provide shallow covering soil. A roller will go over the field immediately after seeding. This rolling will firm the soil around the seed insuring better germination.

Natural rainfall usually provides adequate moisture for germination provided the soil is firm and moist below the seed and firm around the seed. Seedling plants are usually spindly with grayish green color. Chemical weed control can be applied after the grass passes the seedling stage.

There is an advantage to keeping the grass vegetative by mowing, shredding, or light grazing rather than make an immediate seed crop. The vegetative condition establishes more foliage and extends the root system. A seed crop can be started the later part of the summer.

One big advantage of Kleingrass is its ability to reproduce from the seed which falls on the ground. This means a thin stand of Kleingrass will soon become a good stand under good management. It is the first to green in the spring and the last to go dormant late in the fall. Since it is a bunch grass, overgrazing will destroy the stand.

Horticulture short course is planned

Homeowners, farmers and other interested persons are invited to attend a horticulture short course to be held Feb. 4-7 at 7 p.m. in the Iowa Park High School greenhouse.

John Williamson, horticulture specialist with Texas A&M University and the Texas Education Agency, will conduct the short courses.

Subjects to be covered in the short course are plant growth and development, propagating media, plant propagation, vegetable gardening, developing and maintaining the landscape, establishing and caring for lawns, houseplants, and greenhouse management.

Further information may be obtained from Jerry Gholson, Dennis Brooks, or George Brandt at 592-9052.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

There is no question that the residents of the Valley View area want to keep the school campus open. They have their reasons and argument points, to be sure.

But as in any situation, there are two sides to every question, and after hearing what appears to be the major issues of both sides, I must support the school board's proposal to close down Valley View school.

Notice, I said close it down, not do away with it. The building and property some day will be a tremendous savings to taxpayers of the district. That is, when our enrollment grows again to the point where we need more room.

I don't blame the rural area's reasons for wanting to keep the school going. Any rural community identifies with its school. I opposed the state's suggestion back in the 1960s to force consolidation of all small counties, making smaller school students attend the larger school of the county.

I feel, however, that some of the argument being offered to continue classes at Valley View are so petty, and even some ridiculous, that those offering them would laugh at them, if they were on the other side of the issue.

Three years ago, I would have opposed the closing of Valley View. We needed the room it affords then, and I hoped that our enrollment would increase with new families moving into the area. But one has only to look at the lower class enrollment figures, and the retarding of new home starts due to economic reasons, to see that there apparently will not be a significant enrollment increase for the next few years.

At Friday's meeting of Valley View residents, it was even suggested that they might pull out of the consolidation, now that their tax base has increased with the new oil play.

I think there are some people, certainly not all of them, with some pretty short memories. I'd like to refresh their recall.

At the point during the summer of 1970 when consolidation of the two districts was brought up, the Valley View district not only owed money to funds which should not have been spent, but a loan was past due at a Wichita Falls bank, and there was not enough money left to pay the June salaries of employees, let alone enough to start the 1970-71 school year.

Valley View was broke and in debt. The Iowa Park school trustees were receptive to the consolidation, and had the loan renewed, paid the salaries of the personnel, replenished the funds that were short, and in short, bailed out the taxpayers of the Valley View district.

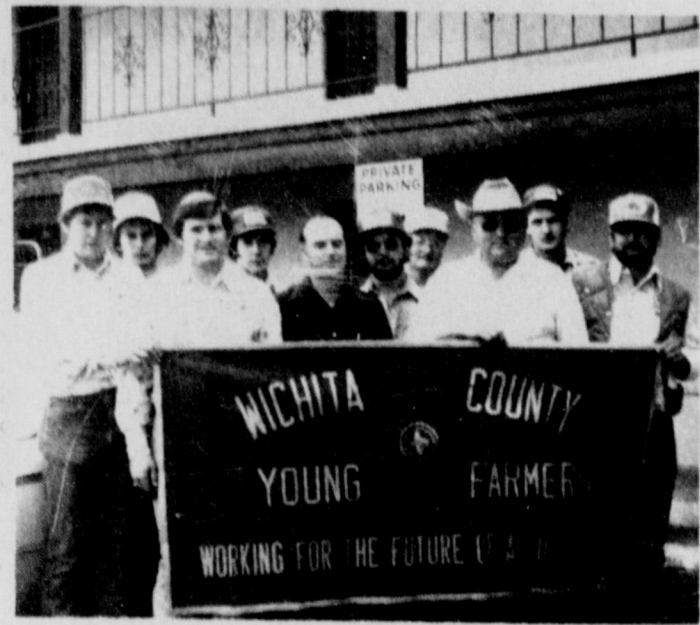

That statement is in no means a put down to the residents of the district. They had gone as far, as long as they could to keep their school. The district had lost $800,000 worth of oil tax base that one year alone, and there was no indication anything would happen the next few years to help things.

It appeared the consolidation was met with good feelings, from residents of both districts. In fact, the Iowa Park board took a lot of flack, sending elementary students to Valley View, who had been attending classes here in town.

And for those who are afraid of overcrowding conditions at the campuses here, next year, should be aware that Roy Boutwell, chairman of the study committee which recommended closing Valley View, has been the most outspoken of all board members when it comes to classroom conditions.

I hope this situation doesn't cause any more conflict or hard feelings within the district. Some cool heads and open minds are necessary to see us all through a tough time.

Cold scoring spells hurt teams' chances

If Iowa Park varsity basketball teams can figure out how to avoid a frigid quarter in their games, they will probably improve on their records, considerably. In their last two games, the third quarter has killed the Hawks. But in the Hawkettes' only game of the past week, it was two periods that cost them. The Hawks lost to Hirschi 44-49 Friday night, and scored only eight points in the third quarter. Tuesday, they fell to Lawton MacArthur, 60-69, and had six points in the same frame. They could never recover from either bad period.

But Iowa Park almost recovered in the Hirschi game. Trailing 24-37 going into the final period, the Hawks pulled to within one point, 42-43, with 2:03 remaining in the game. Hirschi put on a stall, however, and ate up the scoreboard clock. Ronnie Reusch was the only Hawk in double figures, scoring 10.

Iowa Park was tied with Lawton at the end of the first half, 31-31. But MacArthur came out firing at the cold Hawks, outscoring the visitors 17-6. Iowa Park came back with a 23-19 fourth quarter, but couldn't overcome the 11-point deficit.

Wes Klinkerman led Iowa Park scoring with 21 and Tracy Brookshire had 13.

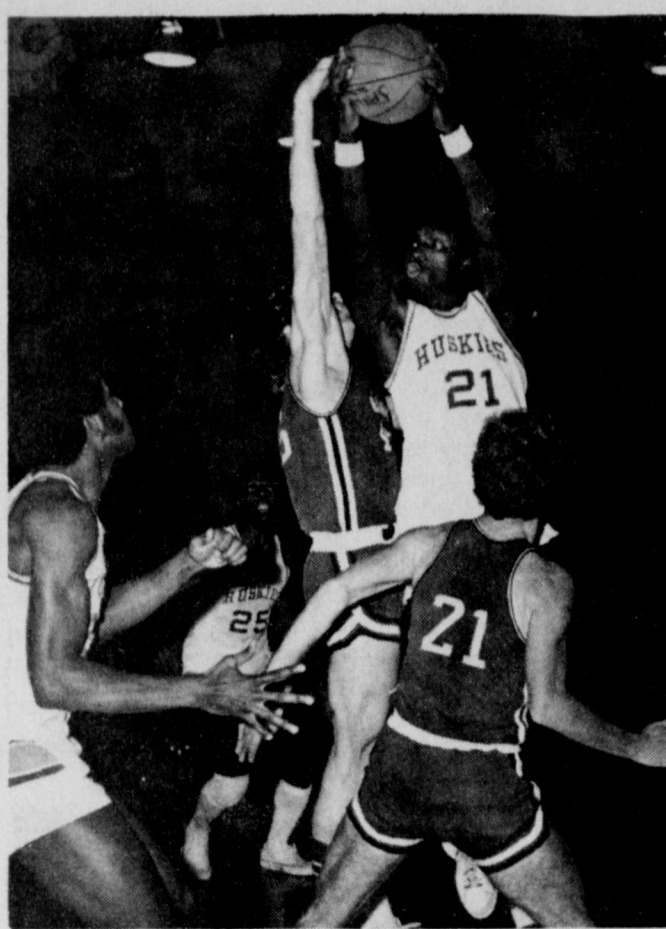

The Hawk Jayvees lost 50-66. Steve and Jim Smith had 14 and 10 points, respectively.

Hirschi's girls outscored Iowa Park's Hawkettes 17-7 in the first quarter and 17-9 in the third, making the difference in the game. Iowa Park countered with a 13-5 edge in the second frame, and held on, 10-11 in the fourth.

JoAnn McClurg led Hawkettes scoring with 18 points.

The Hawkettes finished the first half of Dist. 4-AAA play with a 3-3 record. The Hawks are 1-4, with yet one more conference game to play in the first half. They are 4-15 on the season.

Both teams will host Burkburnett Friday, and then travel to Mineral Wells Tuesday. The JV boys will play both dates, also.

BARRY MAHLER RECEIVING National Elanco Young Farmer Spokesman for Agriculture Award from Elanco Products Company President in Toledo, Ohio, at National Young Farmer Educational Institute.

Mahler to speak for agriculture

Barry Mahler, a 29-year-old farmer from Iowa Park, is one of three National Elanco Young Farmer Spokesmen for Agriculture selected at the National Young Farmer Institute in Toledo, Ohio.

Next week, Mahler, along with Sonny Perdue of Bonaire, Georgia and Linda Eggerman of Lockwood, Missouri will travel to Pittsburg, Baltimore, and Tampa to visit with consumers and consumer leaders about food and agriculture.

The spokesman program is sponsored by Elanco and was developed in an effort to help consumers better understand the American farmer. During the week-long "Media Blitz", the three spokesmen will hold news conferences and appear on phone-in radio programs where they can talk directly with consumers in the three metropolitan areas.

Mahler, Perdue, and Eggerman were selected from a field of state spokesmen winners representing 17 states.

Mahler's topic is "Farm Exports Benefit Urban Consumers." In the prepared statement, Mahler said, "Farm exports help keep everyone's food bill reasonable. A stronger economy, a strengthened dollar, help in balancing the trade deficit, and a level of efficiency in food production are all benefits resulting from exports of farm products."

Mahler reminded his audience that farm exports create jobs... as many as half a million jobs on the farm and another half million off the farm can be attributed to the production, processing and transportation of agricultural products for export.

The Texas spokesman pointed out that the primary benefit of farm exports to the urban consumer is related to prices. "If we as farmers were permitted to raise only the amount of food products that we can sell at home, we would lose the efficiency of food production on a large volume and cost per unit would increase significantly. By expanding export markets, we can be assured an adequate supply of reasonably priced food at home, plus the benefit of overseas trade," he said.

Last weekend at the Young Farmers of Texas State Convention in San Antonio, Mahler was selected as first vice-president of the 4,000 member organization. As the Elanco National Young Farmer spokesman, he addressed the Young Farmers at the noon luncheon. He has also been asked to speak at the annual stockholder's meeting of the Federal Land Bank held in Houston this March.

In addition to his farming, spokesman engagements and Young Farmer activities, Mahler is a nationally recognized tractor pull announcer, having announced pulls in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Louisiana, Kentucky and Mississippi, including the famous Southwest Championship Tractor Pull in Fort Worth.

Mahler is a five-year member of the Wichita County Young Farmers and has served the chapter as president two terms. He was named Outstanding Chapter Member in 1976. Barry helped organize the Wichita County Young Farmer Tractor Pull, the club's annual fund-raising event. Now in its fifth year, it is recognized as one of the most successful summer tractor pulls across the state. On the Area IV level, Barry has served as president and vice-president of Area IV and was named Outstanding Area Officer in 1978.

He serves on the board of directors of the Wichita County Junior Livestock Show and is currently vice-president.

Barry and his wife, Sylvia, reside in Iowa Park and attend the First United Methodist Church.

Cutting off mistletoe worse than infestation

The cure is worse than the infestation when it comes to mistletoe control. D.L. Pippin was considering the advisability of getting the mistletoe out of some trees, and I suggested waiting until the infestation became much more severe. There is no chemical control for mistletoe. Cutting or breaking it from the tree only results in immediate regrowth, which is only a wasted effort. Mistletoe control involves dehorning (cutting back) the infested tree below most of the infestation. Any growth on the trunk or main scaffold branches is clipped out with an axe or hatchet. Disposing of the removed branches is a big task on large trees. The severe pruning (dehorning) results in tremendous shock to the tree, causing the plant to go through a long period of readjustment. The stubs of the large branches will put out a proliferation of growth with 10-12 shoots originating from the ends. These shoots will prevent complete healing of the pruning wound. The crowded shoots will always be weak subject to breakage by high winds. This proliferation of growth can be corrected by pruning off all of the shoots with the exception of one per stub. This one remaining shoot can take over the terminal growth developing into a strong limb. The shoot removal is performed just before the second year's growth. Unless there is follow-up on shoot removal, a dehorned tree results in a ruined tree. So, mistletoe control is difficult, hard on trees, and a lot of hard work. This is the reason for suggesting to allow a severe infestation resulting in visible damage to the tree before undertaking control measures. Besides, birds will carry mistletoe seed back to the tree causing eventual reinfestation. Applications for trees to be used as windbreaks are submitted to the Texas Forest Service before Feb. 1. Delivery of the seedling trees are usually during March and April. Trees for ornamental purposes do not qualify to be furnished by the Forest Service. Ralph Smith of Red River Estates, north of Burkburnett, is ordering trees to establish a windbreak for his 5-acre tract. He obtained an application form from my office and submitted his order to the Forestry Nursery at Alto, Texas. Cost of the trees is $10 per 100. These are seedling trees only 8-18 inches tall. Several of the trees available from the Forest Service are adapted to this area. They include black walnut seed, catalpa, cottonwood cuttings, green ash, mulberry, honey locust arborvitae, osage orange, and Russian Olive. The East Texas pines are not adapted to our area. The fig is one of the most "overlooked" fruit for this area. Malin Hill of Wichita Falls likes figs and is including a couple of fig bushes in his planting. Figs grow very rapidly and usually bear the second year after establishment.

When Holliday swept Boyd Tuesday night, the Lady Eagles handed Boyd their first Dist. 13-A loss in two years. The 45-37 Lady Eagle win broke Boyd's string, though the losers had already won the first half of district play. Holliday is now 1-1 and Boyd 0-1 for the second half. Windy Lowder canned 18 points and Kristi Lucy 16. Second half records are identical for the boys' teams, also, as the Eagles dumped Boyd 66-57. Three Eagles wound up in double figures: Kent Lemons and Shane Owen, 18 each, and Jim Fellhauer 12. In the girls' JV game, Holliday also won that one, 21-15, behind Suzan Dillard's 18 points. Holliday goes to Archer City Tuesday, where the girls' game is set to start at 7 p.m. The varsities are not scheduled to play tomorrow night.

City asks chief to resign

Tax exemptions for elderly to be initiated

The Holliday city council voted to give Chief of Police Don Pennington two weeks notice to submit his resignation, started procedures to give tax exemptions for persons over 65, and hired a new animal warden in major action taken on a heavy agenda Monday night. Councilmen voted unanimously to ask Pennington for his resignation before the next scheduled meeting Feb. 4, citing lack of cooperation between the police department and city administration. Mayor Tom Hall said, "Pennington is a quality law enforcement officer, but he is not what this city needs." At the last regular meeting, aldermen met with Pennington in an executive session to discuss the problem, and concluded that Pennington and the administration would meet later in an attempt to establish better communications. When reached for comment, Pennington said, "I hope the city finds what they want." Pennington further added, "If the city administration wants an officer that will spend all his time shaking doors and writing handfuls of tickets then I am the wrong person for the job." EXEMPTIONS Mrs. E.B. Gyer met with the council asking that the city consider an exemption of city taxes for persons over 65 years of age. Alderman Jim Virdell motioned that the city start procedures to give tax exemptions for persons over 65 for the year 1980. After a second by Alderman John Goforth, the motion was passed. Councilmen also appointed David Weaver as animal warden at $10 per month. Mayor Hall asked that the public be reminded of the existing dog ordinance stating that all dogs must be kept inside an enclosure, and that all stray dogs will be impounded and the ordinance enforced. In other business, councilmen voted to open Cherry St. as requested earlier by Earl Allen, discussed commercial rates for garbage collection, amended the city ordinance concerning electrical wiring, requested that city attorney James Cook begin collections of delinquent taxes, and appointed Mrs. C.Y. Gorman as City Election Judge for the April 5th city elections. A motion was made by Alderman Mike Parker to open Magnolia St. from Bois D Arc St. to Cherry St., and Cherry St. to Myrtle St. providing that Allen sign an agreement holding him responsible for water and sewer lines to lots seven through 10, or Block 61 of the original townsite. The motion carried. After discussing the garbage pickup rates for commercial businesses, it was suggested that Dairy Queen and Dugan's Speedee Store be charged $30 per month for twice a week pickup service, and Foodworld be charged $60 per month for the same service. Currently, Foodworld is paying $30 per month, Dairy Queen $10 per month, and Dugan's Speedee Store is paying $8 per month while hauling their own trash. After deliberation, the council asked that mayor Hall talk to these businesses before taking action. Alderman Parker also made a motion that was later carried to amend Ordinance 72-6 of the City Building Code with the addition of a clause stating "...prohibiting use of aluminum wiring in all future buildings". City attorney Cook was asked to proceed with the collection of delinquent accounts, and in turn Cook will be paid 15 percent of the required collection plus actual expenses. In other business, councilmen voted to hire another accounting firm to audit the city books, passed the city's 1980-81 budget, and voted to pass portions of the insurance plan for city employees and administration. Councilmen voted to abolish the services of Smith and Schroeder Accountants for failure to complete requested services, and to hire a new accounting firm to complete the audit of city books. The city budget for 1980-81 was tentatively passed by the council with an anticipated income of $112,450 in the general budget, and $124,182 in the water budget. Expenses anticipated in the general budget include $36,000 for salaries, $7,200 for the fire department, $12,000 for the police department, and a building fund of $15,000. Expenses anticipated in the water budget include $50,000 for salaries and $23,000 for water purchased. A motion was carried by the council passing the medical plan only of the insurance coverage for city employees and administration. The reason for omitting the full coverage at the present time is to give employees the option to purchase individual dependent insurance coverage.

Inflation hits your electric bill just as hard as it does your grocery bill.

Every time you go to the grocery store you can see what inflation's doing to your food bill. But because you don't buy electricity by the can, you probably don't realize how inflation affects the cost of electricity. Fuel costs are going up, particularly natural gas. Equipment costs are up. Power lines, transformers and poles cost us more every day. Just like milk costs you more every day. The millions of dollars we must borrow to build plants to ensure your electricity needs in the future are costing us more. The cost of building these plants is higher, too, because of inflation. And because of the time and money it takes to comply with an ever-increasing number of government regulations. The longer it takes to build, the more inflation takes its toll. Inflation, overregulation and rising fuel costs are all making your electricity cost you more. But by using electricity wisely you can do your part in keeping that cost down in your home. At Texas Electric Service Company, we want you to know what you're paying for.

Home Repair Service

Bob Peterson - Owner/Contractor

There comes a time in everyone's life when they decide that they no longer want to live in a small apartment or pay rent to someone without getting any return on their money.

When that time comes they start looking into buying a home, they often realize that the pre-built homes available are not just what they have been looking for. The kitchen may be in the wrong place; the bedrooms too small; there is no garage; or the homes are in the wrong neighborhood.

Many people have felt that building a home of their own to their own plan would be too involved and too costly; and have compromised on what they really want.

If this is your situation then you really do not have to compromise. HOME REPAIR SERVICE located at 4656 Mistletoe in Wichita Falls, phone 692-3461, is one of the finest custom home builders in this area. They know the home building business completely and can help you with the entire project: from the discussion of what you want in your home through the drawing of the plans, assistance in arranging financing into the actual construction. Some of the finest built homes in this area have been built by HOME REPAIR SERVICE and you can rest assured that when you contact this firm you will be treated fairly and your home will be what you expected it to be in every detail.

We the editors of this 1980 Wichita Falls Business Review would like to take this opportunity to highly recommend HOME REPAIR SERVICE to anyone interested in building today.

Worth Quoting

While you are totaling up your bills for Christmas and the end of the year, we might add a little figure in on the total you haven't accounted for.

To those end-of-year bills you might toss in the fact that you owe an additional $112,900.

That's your share of what Uncle Sam has managed to spend on your behalf.

If you'd like it broken down to help with your accounting it goes like this:

Your share of the public debt is $9,012, your share of Uncle Sam's current bills owed is $1,000, undelivered orders unpaid for as yet come up to $4,150 as your share, long term contracts will cost you $187, loan and credit guarantees $2,612, insurance commitments total $21,662, and your share of annuity programs now in force settle in at $73,750, and the rest of the government hodge podge is figured at $537.

In other words, your Uncle Sam owes close to $9 trillion and your share of that figure comes to about $113,000 for every taxpayer in the nation.

And while you're studying ways to pay off your share you might consider the admitted fact that $3 billion is stolen annually from health programs yet Uncle Sam has fewer people investigating misclaims and misdeeds than it has mowing the White House lawn.

Too, you might like to remember that we've spent $250 billion for foreign aid, including 10 million dollars to Uganda's mad dictator, Idi Amin, now deposed, and for us to finance both sides in 14 wars during the last 20 years.

Consider also that the GSA has testified before Congressional committees of an estimated 900,000 welfare recipients who are "totally ineligible".

Part of your debt went to finance $200 million each year to perform useless research and shower professors in universities with grants. . . and it costs something like $85,000 per minute just to finance the interest on the national debt.

And Congress and the Administration wonder why they are held in such low esteem.

Agent discusses production trees

By Don D. Decker
County Agent

Growing pecans from seed is easy and can be a lot of fun. The cost of establishing a small pecan orchard can be reduced with this system, however, 3 years time is usually lost by starting from seed rather than with trees already grafted.

The procedure for germinating pecans involves storing the nuts in a location with good ventilation immediately after harvest, placing them in cold storage (refrigerator not freezer) for 60 days, soaking in water for 2-3 days, and planting in a nursery row.

Nuts placed in cold storage now could be removed the first part of March. Upon removal from the refrigerator, they are soaked in water for 2-3 days being careful to change the water 2 times a day. Holding the nuts in water depleted of oxygen will ruin the germination.

The nuts are planted in a nursery row at a depth of 2-3 inches with a distance of 8 inches between plants. The pecans can be expected to emerge during the early part of May.

Wesley Davis plants an individual nut into a milk carton with the bottom removed. Cartons are placed on a screen wire frame. When the roots reach the bottom of the carton, they are air pruned resulting in extensive shallow root development. Davis removes the carton and plants the seedling pecan into the orchard during the later part of summer. The seedling trees are patch budded one year later.

Fresh fruit all summer is the aim of the home fruit orchard being established by Ernest Bumper near Lake Arrowhead. Careful selection of fruit species along with variety can stagger the ripening dates over a period of several months.

A Morris or methley plum ripens the later part of June. His selection peaches and their ripening dates include Dixired (cling) - June 8, Ranger - June 27, Redglobe - July 4, and Dixiland (excellent for freezing) - July 22. A Starkrimson delicious or a Mollie delicious apple plus a Keifer or Orient pear can extend the fruit season into August and September.

This represents only a very small list of the species and varieties available to this area. My office at 1626 Midwestern Parkway, 766-0131, has publications which can be used in making good fruit tree selections.

Fruit trees can be properly trained with annual pruning which starts at planting time. Different fruits require different pruning. For example, peach, plum, and apricot are trained with 3 main scaffold branches, 6 sub scaffold branches, and flat topped for better sun penetration.

Apple and pear pruning is nearly the opposite. They are pruned with a central leader with 5-7 scaffold branches. These are arranged in a staircase manner around the central leader without any branch being directly over the other. Wide angles are developed in the crotch of the scaffold branches through the use of spacers.

Ken Brotherton has a mature apple tree which was damaged by the tornado. His best pruning plan is an attempt to shape the tree with the central leader. This usually calls for removal of mult leaders which normally develop without pruning. Some of the crowded scaffold branches will have to be removed in order to get the desired number and arrangement.

Louis Sefcik candidate for commissioner's post

Louis Sefcik, local jewelry shop owner, announced this week he will seek the Democratic Party nomination for Wichita County commissioner, precinct 3.

A graduate of Harroll High School and Kilgore College, Sefcik worked for Holder's Jewelry in Archer City in 1954, and then moved to Iowa Park to establish Louis Jewelry in 1955, as owner and manager. He cited his 25 years of business experience as an aid to developing communication skills, management and decision making skills.

"I can identify with the problems of getting to work on unpaved roads during wet weather and the additional worry for parents of trying to get children to school on the school bus over muddy roads, because I spent years doing just that," Sefcik said.

He also said that the job of spending county tax money requires decision-making skills and management know-how in the areas of budget and personnel. He feels that his availability to the public, his experience, and his understanding of the needs of the citizens of precinct 3 will enable him to efficiently serve as commissioner.

Sefcik is a charter member of the Iowa Park Optimist Club and is a member of Faith Baptist Church. He is married and has three children.

Fireplace safety measures

Neglect and careless fireplace use often result in injury or a serious fire hazard. According to Barbara Cornelius, Wichita County Agent, use the following "tips" to reduce the threat of accidental burns and fires:

Never use flammable liquids to start the fire.

Avoid excessive amounts of newspaper to build roaring fires in the fireplace. It's possible to ignite soot deposits inside the chimney by over-building a fire.

Charcoal is great for steaks, but never burn it in a fireplace. Burning charcoal gives off deadly amounts of carbon monoxide, so use it outdoors—never in a fireplace.

Keep a metal or glass screen in front of the fireplace to catch flying embers. Flying embers can easily ignite carpet, furniture and other combustible items in the room.

Make sure no flammable materials hang down from or decorate the mantel. A spark from the fireplace can ignite such materials and cause a fire.

Always make sure the fireplace fire is out before retiring at night.

And never, never close the damper with hot ashes in the fireplace. With the damper closed, hot ashes build up heat and may flare up and ignite the room while the family sleeps.

Use man made logs according to directions on the package. Never break apart a man-made log as a means of quickening a fire.

Check both the chimney and the fireplace for defects and potential problems every couple of years, especially if the fireplace receives constant use during the winter.

Loose or fallen brick, cracked or broken flue lining, excessive soot accumulation and obstructions in or near the chimney are among the defects commonly found.
