Water Pollution Control Sought for County

The possibility of better water pollution control for Aransas County, including the county sanitary sewage system, has been brought one step closer to realization by recent action of Texas Water Quality Board, it was reported by Jack McDavid, president of Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District, at the Board of Directors' meeting Monday.

Following discussion, the board passed a resolution of support for a study of water treatment of the county. This resolution, similar to one approved by Rockport City Council last week, will be presented at a public hearing to be conducted by Texas Water Quality Board, May 12 at 2 p.m. at Corpus Christi City Hall.

Purpose of the hearing is to develop evidence of public support for designation of an area, including parts of Nueces, San Patricio and Aransas Counties, for a study of needs to be conducted under direction of Coastal Bend Council of Governments.

This area and three others in Texas have been tentatively designated by the Governor as having the greatest need for such a study.

The program is in accordance with Section 208 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, and 100% federal funding of such study programs is provided under the act.

If approved, it is believed this study will provide the necessary information for Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District to make formal application for federal and state funds to construct a countywide sanitary sewage system, according to McDavid.

He explained that the district board has been seeking money for an engineering feasibility study for the past several months since federal funds have again become available for waste disposal facilities. Such a study is required prior to application for funds.

McDavid and several other members of the local board are planning to appear at the Corpus Christi hearing next Monday.

Woman Robbed At Knife Point

Ms. Marilyn J. Dundrea of Dallas reported that she was robbed at knife point in Rockport last Thursday night in front of Felix's Texaco service station on Hwy. 35.

Ms. Dandrea told officers that she pulled into the station to rest. The station was closed at the time. She had a car window open to let air into the car.

The next she knew an assailant was holding a knife against her throat and demanding her money. Taken in the robbery was $175 cash and $600 in travelers cheques.

Rockport city police are investigating at this time and according to Chief of Police Jim Craigmile, an arrest will probably be made shortly in connection with the case.

Youth Breaks In Home, Uses Clothes Dryer

Rockport City Police took a juvenile offender into custody last week after receiving a call that someone was inside the J.C. Gurley residence on Magnolia street.

Mrs. Gurley, upon returning to her residence, heard the electric clothes dryer running inside the house. Going inside she heard someone run into a bedroom and shut the door.

The investigating officer found the young offender locked inside the bedroom. Upon investigation it was learned that the young man had run away from home the day before and had spent the night outside and had gotten his clothes wet.

After daylight the boy entered the Gurley residence and put his clothes in the dryer to dry them out after his night's outing.

The youthful offender was turned over to the juvenile authorities for disposition.

Three Charged With Forgery

Three men were arrested by officer G.D. Langston of the Rockport City Police and Sgt. Mike Webb of the Aransas County Sheriff's office in connection with forging and passing U.S. Government checks.

Those arrested were Domingo Hernandez of Rockport, Joe C. Ortiz and Larry Lee Corona who listed Aransas Pass addresses, police said.

These three men attempted to pass a U.S. Government check in two different days at the Super D store in Rockport, police stated.

When arrested these men had baptismal certificates made out to match the name on the check in order to establish their identity for cashing, police reported.

Other checks have been cashed in the Rockport area and most appear to have been stolen from Aransas Pass.

Chief of Police Craigmile commented, "The use of phony baptismal certificates is a new switch and must be a new low among the element. Nothing is sacred anymore."

Judge Wade Portrait Unveiled in Ceremony

Approximately 100 friends and associates of Judge Joe Wade, who retired January 1 as judge of the 156th Judicial District, were on hand for unveiling of a color portrait of the judge Monday morning in the district courtroom at Aransas County courthouse.

Lola L. Bonner, president of Aransas County Bar Association which arranged the ceremony, presided in making the presentation and paying tribute to Judge Wade.

Judge Rachael Littlejohn of Beeville, who succeeded Judge Wade as district judge, unveiled the portrait. A bouquet of flowers was presented to Mrs. Wade.

Miss Bonner expressed the appreciation of local attorneys and all residents of Aransas County for Judge Wade's 17 years of service to this community and his personal interest in its people. She characterized the judge as a devoted family man who had a deep personal interest in and understanding of human problems. She added that growing up with 10 brothers and sisters supplied him with an excellent background in human relations.

Judge Wade responded by relating a number of humorous incidents involved in his many visits to Rockport. Mrs. Wade often came with him and both have developed a deep love for this area, Judge Wade said.

Following the ceremony, refreshments were served by a committee of which Lynda Fisher, secretary to County Attorney Ellis Clark, was chairman, assisted by Charlotte Hale, Debby Wright, Gretchen Martin and Mrs. Clark. Presiding at the refreshment table were Mrs. W.G. Walston and Mrs. J.L. Anderson.

County, city of Rockport and school officials, as well as attorneys and their families, courthouse employees and other residents of the county attended the unveiling ceremony.

Judge Wade, who is a resident of Beeville, was the first judge of the 156th Judicial District, having been appointed to the bench by the governor shortly after the district was established in 1957 by the state legislature. Because he held two regular court terms each year as well as additional terms as required by the docket, Judge Wade became widely known in Aransas County. Other counties in the district are Bee, Live Oak, San Patricio and McMullen.

Peter Paul Rubens—The Creative Energy of Genius and Success

"Prometheus Bound" (1611-12), Peter Paul Rubens and Frans Snyders (the eagle), 95⅞ × 82½.

Peter Paul Rubens never doubted that he would be a central figure in the history of post-Renaissance art. He might even have considered, at his leisure, that his work would be represented in the great museums of the world for the edification of posterity. He was not the stereotype rebellious artist, but a self-assured person who adjusted happily to the establishment and was extremely prosperous.

Rubens was born in 1577 at Siegen in Westphalia. His parents were Flemish middle-class stock who had fled from Antwerp to Cologne during the religious persecution of the Calvinists. The family left Siegen and returned to Cologne sometime after Rubens birth. When his father died, Rubens went back to Antwerp and worked in the studio of painter Adam van Noort and with Otto van Veen, the court painter to Archduke Albrecht. He was elected a member of the Guild of St. Luke and accepted as a professional painter in 1598.

In 1600, Rubens obtained a place in the service of Vincenzo Gonzaga, the cultured Duke of Mantua, Italy. He became most successful for his portrait painting, an area neglected by Italian artists of the time who did not consider it a respectable endeavor. His sojourn to Italy ended abruptly when he received news of his mother's impending death and returned to Antwerp.

During his Italian period, Rubens was influenced by the revolutionary Italian artist, Caravaggio, and by the Venetian pictures he observed in the Spanish royal collections during a visit to the Spanish court. He was also impressed by the work of Annibale Carracci, a Bolognese classical painter. However many influences there were during this formative period, by the time Rubens left Italy and returned to Antwerp, he had absorbed and developed enough to become famous and rich—an immediate success.

Rubens became court painter to the Regents of the Netherlands in 1609 and married his first wife, Isabella Brandt. He assumed the role of advisor to the Infanta and traveled as a diplomat. In fact, his missions abroad provided the exposure that brought him more commissions than he could handle alone. He was so successful that he worked with collaborators of varying artistic maturity. This was considered a legitimate policy, but does complicate the assessment of some of his work by art historians and collectors.

Rubens, at this particular time, is not on the list of the most respected great European painters. He is most admired for his representations of animals, his portraits, his landscapes and the clarity and beauty of his color. The power and imaginative strength conveyed by his work arouses definite feelings in the viewer.

His sometimes overbearing self-confidence is part of the personality that charmed his contemporaries and produced the imaginative compositions that inspired such diverse artists as Antoine Watteau, Eugene Delacroix, Thomas Gainsborough, Sir Joshua Reynolds and Theodore Gericault. Rubens put it simply when he said that "no undertaking, however vast in its size or diversified in its subject, has ever been too much for my courage."

He died in 1640.

Fix-It Tip

If you're one of the more than four million persons who received a power tool as a Christmas gift, you had better reach back into the box it came in and dig out the owner's manual.

That's the advice of the Power Tool Institute, which recommends that before trying out your shiny new power gift you become thoroughly familiar with the tool, its applications, how it works, and the correct safety procedure.

Another suggestion is to make sure you have the proper accessories — the bits, blades, cutters, etc. — that go with the tool. Use only those provided or recommended by the manufacturer for your specific tool.

Whether a power tool is used in the basement workshop or garage, all safety rules should be observed — proper grounding if the tool is not double-insulated and the work area clean and well lighted. If your tool is to be used out of doors, use the proper approved extension cord. Children should be kept away from the work zone and tools not in use should be carefully stored and locked up.

Biologist Speaks Here

Efforts to get trout, redfish and flounder to spawn and reproduce at the marine laboratory operated by National Marine Fishery Service at Port Aransas were described in words and with slide film pictures by Dr. Connie Arnold, marine biologist, at the weekly luncheon meeting of Rotary Club April 30 at Ramada Inn.

Dr. Arnold said the laboratory has been successful with trout in the laboratory tanks with spawning occurring every month during the past year. Flounder in the laboratory tanks did spawn but the eggs proved to be infertile. So far the laboratory redfish have not spawned. Under normal conditions they spawn only once a year.

Dr. Arnold's slide films pictured development of trout from eggs to self-sustaining fish, including development of 64 cells from one in five minutes. Also, a distinguishable embryo is visible 16 hours after fertilization and the embryo is sustained for the first two days by a yolk sac, the pictures showed. The tiny trout begin feeding within four to six hours after the mouth is formed.

It was pointed out that trout in their earliest stages are avid cannibals and often attempt to devour fish as large as themselves.

Dr. Arnold said rough handling of trout, as contrasted with redfish, usually proved fatal. He recommended use of a wet rag or wet hands in handling trout to be thrown back after catching. On the other hand he said redfish are very hardy and can be returned to the water with a good chance for survival.

He also reported on a fish tagging program conducted in cooperation with Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife. Rewards from one dollar to 25 dollars are offered for return of tags by fishermen. This program provides data on migration of fish in the Coastal Bend area, according to Dr. Arnold, who added that a king mackerel tagging program is about to get under way.

urdays, Sundays or holidays by county employees in all departments for personal use and that all departments receive a copy of said order. Motion was seconded by Commissioner Eller. Motion carried unanimously.

Next topic discussed was county's cost to City of Rockport for street work. Motion was made by Commissioner Longino that the county charge a flat rate of $350 per day with City of Rockport furnishing materials. Motion seconded by Commissioner Owens. Motion carried unanimously.

The Commissioners Court requested County Judge to review appraisals made by M.W. Cochran of property to be acquired by County and make any necessary adjustments to property owners, if necessary, same to be approved by Court.

The Court requested Margaret Weber, Tax Assessor-Collector, and Corinne Webb, Deputy, to appear before the Court to discuss renditions and appraisals for BOE in June. Mrs. Weber and the Court agreed to appoint Mrs. Webb chief deputy to oversee appraisals and renditions and to be responsible to the Commissioners Court. The Court further agreed that Mrs. Webb be compensated for this additional responsibility and be provided with additional workers as needed. The Court requested that the County Judge contact Superintendent Joe Randow of the Aransas County Independent School District to discuss the feasibility of purchasing school appraisals and renditions.

Letter was read from Judge Rachel Littleton, presiding Judge of the 156th District Court, finding Judgment for the plaintiff in Cause No. 4923, Alvin Reif, Jr. vs Aransas County, et al. The Commissioners Court advised the county judge to contact David Connery, Jr., attorney, and advise him to prepare necessary papers for appeal to the Appellate Court of the State of Texas.

Came on for discussion the application by Corinne Webb, Chief Deputy Tax Assessor-Collector, to attend TAAO Course to be held in Amarillo July 20th through July 30th, duties permitting, with County to pay expenses. Motion was made by Owens to permit Mrs. Webb to attend course at county expense. Motion seconded by Commissioner Longino. Motion carried unanimously.

Next item was purchase of sander-grinder for use at county barn. Motion was made by Commissioner Owens that County purchase AP707 "Air" sander-grinder, Mac Tools for $129.95. Motion seconded by Commissioner Eller. Motion carried unanimously.

Judge Wendell called to the attention of the Court that a request had been made that Doughty Street be widened or narrowed so that width of street would conform throughout its length. Commissioner Longino will gather necessary information.

Came on for discussion a request by Sheriff Robert Hewes for an additional deputy to be included in 1976 budget together with expenses pertaining to same. Motion was made by Commissioner Longino to place in the budget for 1976, one additional deputy for sheriff's Department. Motion was seconded by Commissioner Eller. Motion carried unanimously. After discussion of other budget requirements the Court agreed to defer budget decisions until Oil BOE or until such time as necessary information is provided by Thomas Y. Pickett & Co., Inc.

Tennis Tourney On May 17-18

An unusual doubles tennis tournament which will permit each team to play every other team in its skill category will be staged Saturday and Sunday, May 17 and 18, for members of Rockport Racquet Club.

Men players will be divided into A and B groups on the basis of relative skill, while women players will be in a single group.

Each group will be divided in half and any member of the top half may then select a doubles teammate from the bottom half. Each team will play all other doubles teams in the same group, and the two teams winning the most matches in each of the three groups will be awarded gift certificates by Net Result Sports Shop.

The entry fee is $3.50 for each player and balls will be provided by the club.

Although this kind of tournament does not establish any doubles champions, it does provide an opportunity for everyone to play in a number of matches even though they may lose in all of their matches, according to John Gutzke, teaching professional at the Racquet Club.

Entries are to be made with Gutzke in person or by telephone at the club pro shop.

Planning Backyard Privacy

College Station -- Do you feel a lack of privacy in your backyard, especially in the summer when outdoor activities increase? If so, a number of solutions are available.

Dr. William Welch, a landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says there are several types of privacy screens suitable for backyards.

"It's important that the screen you choose blends in with the over-all design of your landscape," emphasizes the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"A fence of pine, redwood or cedar makes a good screen and provides privacy as soon as it is completed. Brick, stone or concrete blocks may also be used. A fence should be sturdy and attractive and blend into the scenery."

The main disadvantage of building a fence is the high cost of construction.

"Plant screens," says Welch, "not only provide privacy but also help reduce noise and air pollution."

Although a plant screen takes longer to provide privacy, it is generally much cheaper than a fence and does not require much maintenance, points out the horticulturist.

He offers a few pointers for putting in a plant screen.

"Provide plenty of room for plants to grow and be sure they are suited to the area. Consider the soil type, drainage and the amount of sun available to the plants.

"Plant a lot of one type of plant rather than may different kinds of plants in one area.

"A combination frame and vine screen makes a good privacy block.

"Vines growing on a wooden frame covered with non-climbable welded wire make a colorful screen and require little space."

Welch suggests vines such as English ivy or Carolina jasmine for attractive plant screens the year round.

Homesewing Saves Money

College Station -- Homesewing of clothing is definitely a savings--it saves an average of two-thirds the cost of comparable ready-to-wear items, according to Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

She suggested some money saving ideas to help homesewers reap additional benefits.

--Take time to study fashion trends for fabrics, designs and trims.

"If in doubt concerning whether a certain design or fabric will be becoming, try on similar ready-to-wear items before investing."

--Use as much accumulated fabric and notions as possible before buying more.

"Hoarding or stockpiling costs extra since fashion and fabric trends change often, rapidly dating past years' purchases. Add currently fashionable trims and companion fabrics in current design lines to update what is on hand," the specialist advised.

--Buy multi-design patterns. Patterns that contain several garment pieces and variations are often the same price as those with only one.

--Modify well-fitting and fashionable patterns already on hand by varying with unique fabric or trim selections. Pattern pieces may be switched in the same size, brand and basic shape.

"For example, switch sleeve pattern pieces that are stitched into the same basic armseye seam. If in doubt, compare pattern pieces for similarities by lining up one on the other."

--Make maximum use of the sewing machine by regularly following manufacturer's instructions for cleaning and oiling. Machine life will be prolonged and repair bills reduced.

--Know your sewing abilities. Abandoned projects due to selecting too difficult to sew patterns or fabrics cost money.

--Plan ahead. Be Flexible. Think before acting.

Soybean Acreage to be Up Prices Somewhat Lower

College Station -- Soybean prices are expected to be somewhat lower in 1975, but producers are planning to plant more acres.

That's how the soybean situation looks to Dr. Art Gerlow, area economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Farmers will probably get about $6 per bushel for their 1975 crop of beans," points out Gerlow. "That's down some from record prices the past two years but still a good price."

The Texas A&M University System economist expects soybean acreage in the United States to jump more than four million acres to a total of 57,106,000 acres. Some 47 per cent of the national increase will be the Delta states, where a large amount of cotton land will be planted to soybeans.

"In Texas soybean acreage is also expected to take a sizeable jump--from 275,000 to about 400,000 acres. This is an increase of about 45 per cent," notes Gerlow. "A large portion of this acreage increase will be in the Gulf Coast area where soybeans are now being planted in rotation with rice."

In addition to the Gulf Coast, soybeans are also grown in Northeast Texas and in the High Plains.

According to the economist, soybeans yield about 25 bushels per acre on the average in the Gulf Coast while average yields in the High Plains are about 35 bushels per acre. Considering yields and production costs along with $6 soybeans, average income per acre should range from about $29 per acre in the Gulf Coast to more than $63 per acre in the High Plains.

Gerlow points out that there are numerous positive as well as negative factors weighing on the overall soybean market situation for 1975. "Carryover is down sharply -- 100 million bushels or 42 per cent -- and total use is also expected to be up for the coming year. A short sunflower crop in Russia and a short peanut crop in India last year should boost foreign demand for U.S. soybeans."

On the other hand, U.S. consumption of soybeans could drop due to reduced feeding of cattle, hogs and poultry and increased imports of palm and coconut oil. On the foreign scene, an increase in the production of palm oil and Peruvian fishmeal plus a larger peanut crop in Nigeria and reduced feeding of livestock and poultry could put pressure on foreign consumption of soybeans.

"Over-all, producers must keep a close check on both the domestic and foreign market situation and give special attention to management practices that will reduce their production costs," emphasizes Gerlow. "Input costs continue at a high level, so top management is essential for producing a profitable crop."

Quality Control by the IRS= Happier Returns for Taxpayers

Austin -- Quality control--it helps ensure the safety of the food we eat, the cars we drive, the appliances we use, and helps determine whether income tax returns will go unchallenged by the IRS after April 15.

The IRS doesn't call its examination of income tax returns quality control, but an audit, instead. The aim is the same: to determine whether or not taxpayers have made any errors in preparing their returns. The IRS makes a number of checks to select returns for audit. One of the most common checks is through a computer processing program.

The program is called the Discriminant Function, or DIF. DIF consists of a series of mathematical formulas that identify returns having a high probability of error. The formulas are developed from the examination of thousands of returns over the years. Normally, high DIF scores indicate a high probability of error.

The IRS continually revises DIF formulas as in-depth audits uncover new areas in which errors are likely to crop up. For instance, several changes in the tax laws may not be understood by a vast number of taxpayers. Usually, however, it's a combination of particular factors that will "flag" a return and suggest that it be looked at more closely by IRS employees known as "screeners."

Screeners are trained to consider local or other factors that may create a high DIF score on returns that normally would not require an audit. Thus, the screeners' knowledge and the computer selection process combine to determine which returns need audit.

Another way the IRS selects returns for audit is random sampling. Like DIF, it is a scientific method, but its purpose is not so much to find errors on a particular return as it is to use more current data to improve the DIF system.

COMMISSIONERS COURT MEETS

The County Commissioners Court discussed road requirements for subdivisions.

Commissioners Raymond Owens moved that before subdivision plats were accepted for record, that the road base and topping be inspected by the precinct commissioner, jointly with the road superintendent, or the commissioners court, by taking a sample every hundred feet.

He proposed that base samples be taken prior to the laying of aggregate and asphalt coats.

Commissioners Sparks and Wofford voted no, commissioners Allen and Owens voted yes. County Judge John D. Wendell broke the tie with a yes vote.

Attorney Joe Caldwell and County Attorney Ellis Clark met with the court regarding the law library. After consideration of the finances needed for the purchase of new law books, Clark was appointed by the court as law librarian. It was agreed to mail donation reminders to all local attorneys once a month.

In another action, the commissioners deputized Mrs. Jean Faye McLead as deputy district and county clerk.

BRACHTS SELL PROPERTY, PLAN LUMBER EXPANSION

Fred Bracht, Sr., announced that the building formerly occupied by Bracht's Grocery at the corner of Austin and North Streets has been sold to a group for whom Floyd Rouquette is acting trustee.

Also sold at the same time as the building, which was built in 1897 as the general merchandise and grocery store operated by L.M. and R.P. Bracht, was all of the rest of Block B, Railroad Reserve, in the Doughty and Mathis addition.

With this went the office occupied by Dr. G.M. Pattillo at 1008 North Street, another building next to Pattillo's office and occupied by a barber shop, the warehouse used by Bracht Lumber Company, and the offices occupied by the Rockport office of United Savings.

Bracht said that the old store, which was owned by his father and uncle, was built after the first Bracht Brothers Store that stood farther south on Austin Street was burned. He said the material belonging to Bracht Lumber Company would be moved to a new warehouse back of the lumber yard.

"We have leased additional land from Southern Pacific Railroad and ground will be broken soon for extensive new construction," he said.

Use Hot Water Wisely to Save Energy

College Station -- Hot water is a major energy user in any family's daily activities.

But consumers can learn ways to cut down this energy drain, according to Lynn Bourland, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"A simple way to save three-six gallons of water-heating oil a year is for men to put the stopper in the washbasin instead of letting the hot water run while shaving with lather and blades.

"Switching to an electric shaver saves even more energy. In a year it used only as much energy as two or three days' hot water supply for a lather and blade shave," she explained.

The daily bath is another big drain on energy used for hot water--a normal tub bath requires 23 gallons of water at 110 degrees F. But a normal shower takes only 12 gallons at 100 degrees F.

Based on one bath or shower a day, a person can save about 39 gallons of crude oil a year by taking showers instead of baths, the specialist pointed out.

"Following these practices would enable a family to make significant strides toward the national goal of each family reducing their crude oil consumption by 450 gallons a year," she noted.

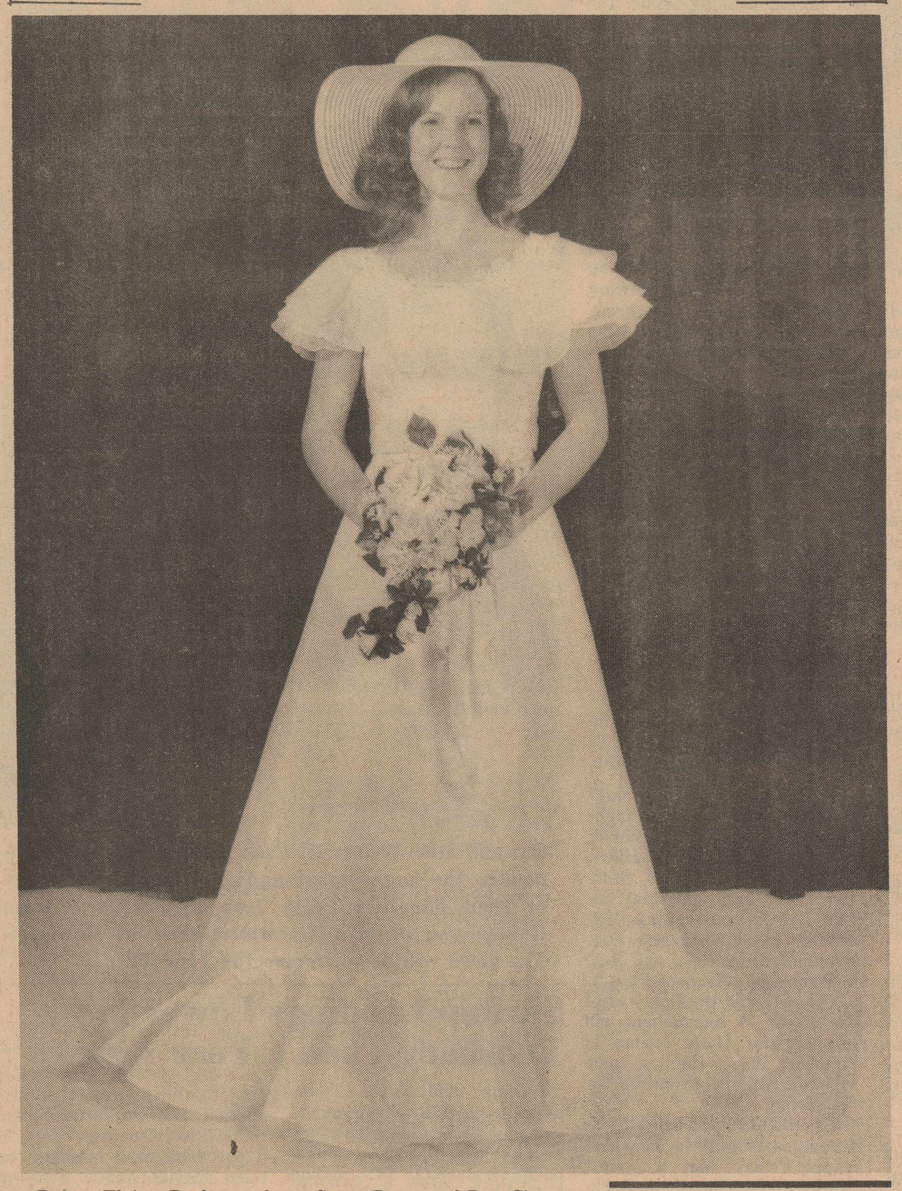
Coleman-Buchanan Wed



Debra Elaine Buchanan became the bride of John R. Coleman April 19 in the First United Methodist Church with Rev. Tom McClung performing the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jim Bennett of Rockport and A.F. Buchanan, Jr., of Austin. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.M. Coleman, Jr., of Rockport.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white rayon organza floor-length gown fashioned with a scoop neckline traced with embroidered appliqued Venice lace daisies on the wide self-ruffle spanning the shoulders.

The short sleeves were formed by a double ruffle. A crushed cumberbund of organza encircled the waist with a large bow and streamers at the back. The full skirt had a wide hemline ruffle accented, as the top, with Venice lace daisies. Her white picture hat was trimmed with fresh spring flowers.

Miss Laura Fortune, niece of the bride, was maid of honor. Steve Barnes of Bay City was best man.

A reception followed at the home of the bride.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were: Mrs. and Mrs. A.F. Buchanan, Jr., of Austin, Mrs. A.F. Buchanan, Sr., of Alamo; Mr. and Mrs. Phil Fortune, Laura, Tracy and Carrie of Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. Young Slack of Carrollton; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Coleman and Billy of Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Royce Itschner of Kingsville; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Shults and Sandy of Corpus Christi,; Glyn Landrum and Pam Rown of San Marcos.

VISIT DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Bill White returned last Wednesday from a visit with their daughter Vicki and family in Edmond, Okla. While there they went up to Braman to visit Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Seawright, former residents of Rockport, who send a hello to all their friends here.

Mrs. E. Ohrling was hostess to the Double Four Bridge club at her home last Wednesday afternoon. Members playing were Mrs. Art Cox, Mrs. Ellen Davidson, Mrs. J.V. Ferguson, Mrs. Eva Lutz, Mrs. Grover Traylor and guests, Mrs. Geneva Taylor and Mrs. Eloise Young. High score was won by Mrs. Grover Traylor and second high was Mrs. Lutz.

Most people will do anything for money, except work.

Mother's Day

The observance of Mother's Day is a recent one in the United States, beginning only in 1907. Then it was the idea of Miss Anna M. Jarvis, a Philadelphia school teacher, formerly of Grafton, West Virginia, that at least once a year sons and daughters should pay tribute to mothers. Miss Jarvis arranged for a special church service and suggested white carnations be worn by those attending.

The observance, on the second Sunday in May, has rapidly spread to every part of the United States and the fact that it became custom in all the states only four years after it had been suggested testifies to the sentiment for such an observance in this country.

In later years, the custom of wearing a white carnation on Mother's Day was changed and those whose mothers were still alive wore red flowers, instead of white. First observed in the United States, Mother's Day has become an international occasion and mothers in every area of the world are now honored each year on Mother's Day.

More than anyone else, the mother who cares for both home and her children is destined to influence the character and future of the country. And often this responsibility is combined with a back-breaking and steady ordeal of sewing, washing, mending, cleaning and teaching. It is to this mother, who dedicates her life to her home, her family and children, that the country owes a debt of gratitude. It is this mother who represents the finest in our civilization.

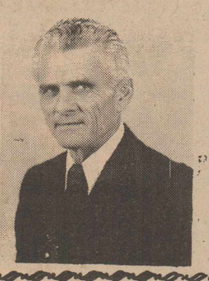
OUTDOORS 'n things

by L. D. NUCKLES



I have had so many people tell me about cattle being poisoned by eating plastic shotgun shells that I finally decided to find out all I could about this - to find out if it really was true. I wrote to the Remington Arms Corporation and asked them about it.

Remington sent me a report covering the results of experiments that were carried out by two doctors of veterinary medicine. These doctors took four cows, ranging in age from six months to almost three years, and placed them on a semi-starvation diet.

What little hay the cows got, and this was all they had to eat, had red, blue and green fired shotgun shells mixed with it. The animals would not eat the shells. They showed no interest in them except to shove them out of the way.

After several days of this diet of minute amounts of hay, the shells were covered with a dairy mixture of grain. All the animals ate very rapidly, but they pushed aside the shells to get the grain. They did this for six days, pushing aside the shells each time to get to the hay and grain. Even when the shells were filled with grain the cattle would roll the shells around until the grain spilled out. They just would not eat the shells.

The doctors then force-fed the shells to the animals. They seemed to suffer no ill effects and regurgitated the shells as they normally would their cud, and, after spitting out the shells, calmly went on chewing their cud.

After several weeks of this kind of treatment the cows were slaughtered, and complete post-mortems were performed. No ill effects of any kind could be found, so I must draw the conclusion that cows will not eat plastic shotgun shells. I must also conclude that if, by some accident, one or more of the shells were ingested, no harm would result.

Those old cows are just smarter than they get credit for being. They know that those pretty colored plastic shells are not good to eat.

Shrimp Landings Lower in February Than a Year Ago

Shrimp landings in Texas amounted to 1.7 million pounds valued at $2.7 million. This was well below the 2.4 million pounds valued at $3.7 million landed in February 1974.

In the Aransas Pass-Fulton area landings in February 1975 were 381,600 pounds. Landings for January-February 1975 were 855,900 pounds compared to 1,280,800 pounds for January-February 1974.

Trawlers working adjacent waters made poor trip catches of 100-150 pounds per 12 hours fishing. Weather conditions were very unsettled with high winds and rough seas throughout February. Long-range trawlers working the Gulf of Campeche made fair to poor catches of 200-300 pounds per 12 hours.

Commercial oystermen landed 281,000 pounds of oyster meats in February--slightly above the volume in February 1974. The poor 1974 landings reflected flood damage to reefs and the 1975 decline is attributed to the high cost of production and the subsequent retail price structure.

The blue crab landings totaled 289,000 pounds. This was a hard drop from the 414,000 pounds landed in February 1974. The current decline resulted largely from bad weather along the entire coast. Fishermen received 12-16 cents per pound for live crabs.

Sport fishing activity was slow due to weather conditions --live bait available along the central and north Texas coast.

Two new large vessels were completed during February.

Nursing Home News Items

Aransas Pass Nursing and Convalescent Center's news for April 24-May 4:

The happenings at the Center were not quite as busy due to the fact we had some 5 Tuesdays and Wednesdays in the month of April.

Exercise and kickball are still our first activity of the day and much enjoyed.

Wednesday morning we had our "paint class" led by Mrs. Bonnie Fletcher.

Thursday morning the First United Pentecostal Church of Aransas Pass came out for their program.

Friday evening Wayne Jones from the Aransas Pass Church of Christ came out to show film concerning and explaining the Bible as is taught for a way of life.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday are always beauty shop days for our ladies.

Saturday morning Father James Hamilton came to give communion to our Catholic residents.

Sunday morning church services were conducted by Rev. Al Bankert and a nice attendance was on hand to hear his meditation and to join in singing their favorite hymns.

Sunday afternoon Rev. Tom Smith brought his group over from the Portland Baptist Church. A trio of young lay preachers who have recently begun singing together sang some beautiful songs and then a guest preacher brought a short meditation. It was a very nice afternoon for all.

Our nursing Center wishes to remind everyone that May is "Senior Citizens' Month" and Nursing Home Week throughout the nation. Be sure to make plans to attend several centers during this month and to attend "our" very own "open house" on Saturday, May 17, beginning at 1:00 o'clock and ending at 5:00.

We are very honored that our program this year will be a part of our annual Shrimporee Celebration.

Again, I thank you all for your love and concern you show for our residents and so during our "open house" we will be looking forward to seeing all of you.

More than 200,000,000 pounds of marine fishery products are landed annually on the Texas coast.

Cry

In the April "Reader's Digest" Eve Rockett writes about crying. Men, she says, can't afford to cry. They are not expected to cry. As hunters and fighters they were not supposed to cry in earlier times. In today's business world they cannot afford to break down and cry.

Women do better. They are more emotional. They have very close ties to small children. They cry more often than men.

Which sex has the better system? The female. One reason men suffer a higher rate of death from excessive blood pressure and coronaries is because of this almost-constant repression of emotion and the maintenance of reserve.

SMILES

Unfinished

A man had been talking for hours about himself and his achievements.

"I'm a self-made man, that's what I am--a self-made man," he said.

"You knocked off work too soon" came a quiet voice from the corner.

At Last The Truth

"Are you listening to the news, dear?"

"No, I heard the news, I'm listening to the meaning of the news."

"What does he say?"

"He says he doesn't know what it means."

— — — —

Very Clear

Two women were standing in the snow discussing the fuel shortage.

"Yes, that's it," said one. "If we'd have got the cold winter in the summer when it's warmer instead of in the winter, we'd be able to do without a fire and save fuel."

UNDERSTANDING ALCOHOLISM

a health column from the

Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration

U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

The Alcoholic Person

You read and hear much about the "alcoholic"—but that word is never used as a noun at the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism.

Banishment of the word is not due to a mere bureaucratic quirk. At the Institute it is felt that calling someone an alcoholic tends to depersonalize a human being who happens to be suffering from the illness of alcoholism.

Hence the rule for no name calling. An alcoholic, never; it must be "an alcoholic person."

The Institute, which is a part of HEW's Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration, is determined to keep an unremitting focus on the person in all its programs.

It is a human tendency of many in the field of alcoholism to set up programs of services that are judged to be "comprehensive" and "ideal." But NIAAA holds that there is no single set of essential service components that will guarantee a successful program.

In the continuing evaluation of programs supported throughout the nation by NIAAA, the agencies and people involved are being asked to review their services and change them where necessary to make them more person oriented.

The goal of broad-based programs should not be merely providing services, but the satisfaction of human needs through services. The distinction may be only a matter of emphasis, but that is enough. Services are the means, not the end.

The human needs in this field are different for different persons and different communities. The goal should be providing the specially tailored services that meet the needs of persons in particular communities. There should be integration of services and followup to ensure that the needs are fully met.

Some examples of improvements that might be made are: more followup of patients after their release from detoxification or "drying out" centers; avoiding over-concentration on public inebriates to the neglect of the "hidden majority" of still-productive people with alcohol problems; more adequate systems for getting people into treatment; and reaching people earlier in the development of their problem.

Numerous other examples could be cited. While significant progress has been made in recent years, we must place even greater emphasis on people-oriented activities fully responsive to individual human needs and differences.

"From program to people" is a kind of rallying cry being used by NIAAA in working with the many State and local agencies, community groups, and other organizations nationwide which are participating in the ongoing fight against alcoholism.

For more information about alcoholism, write to NIAAA, P.O. Box 2345, Rockville, Maryland 20852.

PUBLIC NOTICES
"BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW"

(Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one premise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements of federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed frequently, and by the best means possible.)

Party Honors Spring Grads

Two prospective Rockport-Fulton graduates, Cindy Haigood and Hope Hesseltine, were honored with a punch party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bennett.

The hostesses, Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. David Blankinship, served from a table centered with a small white graduation tree decorated with graduate silhouettes and pennants from various Texas colleges. English ivy encircled the centerpiece and the serving bowl. Guests were served cookies and punch.

Hostesses presented lingerie to the honorees. Their corsages were the school colors, green and yellow carnations.

Guests who attended were Bonnie Evans, Christy Gould, Emily Murph, Marla Rowan, Katherine Theodore, Becky Werhan, Laurie Woodman, Mrs. Dan Proffitt and Susan Proffitt. Mothers of the honorees, Mrs. Elvin Haigood and Mrs. John Hesseltine, also attended.

Work, it seems, has a way of getting in the way of recreation.

Cemetery Ass'n Meets

The Rockport Cemetery Association met April 28 at the Chamber of Commerce Building for the quarterly meeting.

Those present were Corinne Webb, Ettoil Eller, Zollie Glass, Gladise Thomson, Mae Briggs, Evelyn Townsend and Loyce Landrum.

Reports were made by the treasurer, dues chairman and memorial chairman.

A general discussion was held on the possibility of purchasing acreage for a new cemetery, which will be needed in the near future. Zollie Glass was asked to investigate any acreage that might be suitable.

Happy Homemaking
By BARBARA BAKER

For those of you wearing white shoes in the line of your business, be you a waitress, beautician or nurse, here's a tip to keep the polish intact if wearing boots over your shoes during inclement weather. Simply place a plastic bag over the entire shoe before putting on the boot. This protects the polish, makes putting boots on much easier and prevents white polish from rubbing off on the boot's interior only to later show up on other shoes when wearing those same boots.

To prevent scratches or damage to floors, furniture and walls when using a ladder, slip a few heavy socks over each leg of the ladder. This not only protects surfaces but makes it easier to push the ladder around, too.

Purchasing table cloths for large tables can be a frustrating task. Table cloths reasonably priced are usually too small and those big enough are too expensive. One economical way out is to keep an eye for white sales when sheets are sale-priced. Stock up on a few you think can be easily converted. With the variety of patterns and colors offered in sheets these days, they can match nearly any decor and who would ever guess that's a bedsheet on the dining room table?

Forever

Have a couple of drinks, then get into your car and drive. It may not happen tomorrow. But then it might. One thing is for certain, eventually you'll have an accident if you keep drinking and driving.
The really sad thing is that some innocent people—like your family or another driver—will probably get hurt in the process.
You've just been given another chance.

The Kinsey Report

Reckon that if a guy has been married to the same woman for 41 years that he better keep her, if she's willing to continue to put up with him.

Such a guy might say to his mate, "Thanks for sticking around all these years, especially during some rather rough times caused by me."

He might point out that he appreciates the fact that his wife said very little when he was going through the stage of buying cars, sporty ones in particular, much too often to enable the couple to put any money away in a savings account. In fact, there were many times when the husband's impulsive car buying put quite a strain on the family finances.

And talk about some stupid trades. Probably the worst one was when he traded an almost-new Ford convertible, plus $1,000, for a used Jaguar sport sedan.

The used car dealer said the Jaguar had been owned by a doctor who took "real good care of it and never drove it at excessive speeds." The doctor must have been A.J. Foyt, judging from all the ailments the sleek-looking Jag developed.

Also, the husband is grateful that his mate took in stride his habit of occasionally accepting some job offer that appealed to him instead of plugging away at one job that in time would have provided a pretty good retirement pension.

But the couple weathered a number of "storms" in their married life, especially when the old man got his "degree" in sour mash whiskey consumption and decided he had better concentrate on coffee and Coke.

So, if such a man exists, he would say, "Thanks, honey. I love you."

V-E Day

As time races along, V-E Day falls further and further into history's background and to those who remember it emotionally, it's surprising to realize most Americans today have no memory of that memorable Tuesday in May—the 8th, in 1945, when the Second World War ended for most of the world.

There is impressive new evidence that many of today's younger generation now want to learn more about that war, its causes, its settlements—to understand today's world and its problems. For World War II, in many ways, made the world we live in today. That explains the rash of new books and magazines, and growing interest in history's greatest conflict.

For Americans, May 8th, 1945, came after a hard winter, like a new lease on life, and the new growth and warmth of springtime almost seemed to visually express the great relief and new hope to servicemen in Europe. The hope was the world could avoid another war of such magnitude. So far the world has managed that, but the United States, among the winners, has suffered two costly, long wars in Asia. (France and Britain, also winners in 1945, have experienced lesser struggles away from home.)

Looking back, it must be the hope that the United States will avoid wars in the future, big and small. But it would be unrealistic to carry that policy and hope to the point of allowing the nation's defenses to grow weak. There have always been hungry nations ready to conquer the rich and weak, and as the world's population problem worsens in future years there is no assurance this situation will change. The lesson of World War II is that we must remain strong—to prevent war and preserve cherished American freedoms.

HST

Much nonsense is being written these days about the late President Harry Truman. He was depicted some time ago on television as a young politician crusading against the infamous Pendergast machine!

Since May 8th is the late President's birthday anniversary (he was born in 1884 on a farm near Lamar, Missouri), a look at the record is in order!

Truman was selected by Pendergast as his U.S. Senate candidate in 1934 and elected with the help of that political machine. When Kansas City was cleaned up in 1939, it was found that there were 42,479 dead people on Democratic registration rolls.

Since Truman had won by fewer votes than this, many claimed he never had been legally elected.

In 1940, when he offered for reelection, he won again only because both Missouri's Governor and the District Attorney, who had cleaned up the state, opposed him, thereby split the reform vote.

That is the freak nature of the late President's rise. Even in 1944, when he was nominated Vice President by the Democrats, that also was by chance. President Roosevelt favored James F. Byrnes (and Truman had agreed to make Byrnes' nominating speech).

But when organized labor blocked Byrnes, Truman was suggested and he was selected as a last-minute replacement. He became President five months after his election when Roosevelt died in office.

Despite all this, Truman was not a failure as Senator or President. He is generally rated as a better-than-average chief executive, and undoubtedly exhibited courage and ability—and did his best for his country as its 33rd President (1945-1953).

RUN ON BANK

INDEPENDENCE, KY.--Robert Dickey was called back to his bank office at 1 a.m. and found a 10-ton bulldozer inside where it fell through the floor. The bulldozer had been stolen and used in an attempt to get to the bank safe.

"My life is fuller and richer than it was before I was operated on for cancer of the breast."

Mrs. Bernice Johnson

"Two years after I had a breast removed for cancer I started on a whole new life. As an educational assistant. Now I help teach 44 second-graders who think of me as their second mother.

"Which all goes to show you don't stop living just because you've had cancer. Because I found that cancer in time I'm enjoying a fuller, richer, more fulfilling life. Ask the American Cancer Society to send you a booklet on Breast Self-Examination. And please, give. We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime."

Presbyterian Women Meet

Women of Presbyterian Church met in Fellowship Hall May 1 for the regular meeting. Mrs. Thomas L. Morgan, president, opened meeting with prayer and presided.

In committee reports, Mrs. John Leslie, chairperson of Christian Community Action, asked that trading stamp books be contributed for use in purchase of lawn equipment for Presbyterian Summer Place at Port Aransas.

She also asked for volunteers to help with Community Concern Center open house scheduled for May 16 and 17.

Mrs. Province Winkler, chairperson of Ecumenical Missions, reported on several service projects, and announced that WOC birthday will be observed at Family Night Supper May 21.

Mrs. Dar Elder presented information on Family Camping Outing at Goose Island park scheduled for May 24-26, sponsored by churches in the Golden Crescent Coastal Bend Region.

Newly elected officers were introduced: Mrs. Dar Elder, vice president; Mrs. Mildred Lemaire, secretary; Mrs. Frank Kirk, historian; and Mrs. Province Winkler, chairperson of Ecumenical Missions, with Mrs. Volney Cavitt, co-chairperson. Mrs. Zollie Glass, chairperson, Christian Community Action, was unable to be present.

Mrs. Paul Morrison introduced Mrs. Roy Rogero, Jr., who gave an interesting review of the book, "Parent Effectiveness Training," which young adults recently studied.

The meeting was concluded with a salad luncheon. General meetings will resume in September, after summer recess. Monthly circle meetings will continue during summer.

Sign of Waste

Replacing and restoring deliberately destroyed and defaced traffic signs costs an estimated $16 million of the nation's yearly $110 million maintenance bill for signs, which ordinarily have a lifetime of five to seven years.

Seaweed Garden

The Sargasso Sea, stretching almost halfway across the North Atlantic, is covered for miles with huge patches of seaweed. Slow circular currents tend to keep the seaweed — Sargassum — congregated there.

Do you know what sidereal time is?

Sidereal time, of which we hear little, is an accurate measurement of time. It's the measurement of time derived from observation of the meridian transits of the stars and differs slightly from solar time.

The mean sidereal day, for example is only 23 hours, 56 minutes and 4.09 seconds. The time required for the earth to make one complete revolution around the sun is the sidereal year.

The sidereal year is 365 days, 6 hours, 9 minutes and 9.5 seconds. Every fourth year, as the reader probably knows, the extra hours--over and above the 365 days, are combined into an added day --in Leap Year. But the effect of this small time divergence has no noticeable bearing on our weather.

B.J. Crowley's HOROSCOPE

Week of May 11, 1975

TAURUS--Love, beauty and fine arts are important to those born under this sign. Lucky number is 5, lucky day is Friday and best color is green.

TAURUS--April 21 to May 20--Stay close to home this week. Home improvement should be high on your list of things to do. Invite friends over for an enjoyable evening.

GEMINI--May 21 to June 20--Someone returns a favor you did for them a long time ago. The incident is one you had forgotten. Good deeds without regard to getting anything in return always seem to pay off.

CANCER--June 21 to July 22--Don't participate in an argument. If someone trys to downgrade someone else in their conversation with you, change the subject.

LEO--July 23 to Aug. 22--Shake the "ain't it awful" and "nobody loves me" mood. You are close to finding the direction you want to go with your life.

VIRGO--Aug. 23 to Sept. 22--Tact and diplomacy are badly needed now. An outside activity of yours may come to light when you really prefer that it doesn't. Shape up!

LIBRA--Sept. 23 to Oct. 22--Choose two coordinating colors and build your wardrobe around them. By being able to interchange items of clothing you get twice as much for your money.

SCORPIO--Oct. 23 to Nov. 22--Plan a quiet period each morning before persuing the day's busy schedule. Read a chapter each morning in an inspirational book.

SAGITTARIUS--Nov. 23 to Dec. 21--Keep your temper under control. Someone seems to intentionally try to provoke you. Ignore them, even though it takes all the effort you can muster.

CAPRICORN--Dec. 22 to Jan. 19--New friendships are favored during this period. You aren't the only one in the world with problems. You find others who share your troubles.

AQUARIUS--Jan. 20 to Feb. 18--Make an effort to spend some time alone. Quiet times by yourself give you an opportunity to collect your thoughts.

PISCES--Feb. 19 to March 20--Better to get others to do some of the work. You are headed for success when you realize you can't do all of it by yourself.

ARIES--March 21 to April 20--Someone whom you feel slighted you recently proves to be a good friend. Project a friendly attitude

Early "Movies"

Motion pictures began with the introduction on April 14, 1894, of Thomas A. Edison's Kinetoscope, a coin-operated peep-show device that showed people and objects in 15 seconds of lifelike movement.

The Pentateuch, first five books of the Old Testament, came to be regarded as the Hebrews' supreme law, or Torah, after the Babylonian exile in the 6th century B.C.

Police Week May 11-17

National Police Week and Police Memorial Day are by federal law the week of May 11 to May 17 as proclaimed by President Gerald Ford.

Chief of Police Jim Craigmile of the Rockport City Police asks that all citizens remember this week and get behind their law enforcement agencies and become involved from here on out, not just this week alone.

"Also we must not forget those officers who have laid down their lives to preserve the freedom we all enjoy but quite often forget to appreciate," the chief said, continuing:

"Very good cooperation exists between enforcement agencies in this area and our citizens."

Reflecting back over the last year, the Chief stated he particularly appreciates the assistance of the courts at all levels and especially Sheriff Bob Hewes. "Last week we counted 28 persons in the county jail at one time with charges ranging through juvenile delinquency, drunk in public to capital murder. Bob always has room for one more in his jail, (better known as the Hewe's Hilton among local wags) and is always ready to cooperate with the city police," Craigmile said.

Craigmile stated: "The juries and grand juries have done a commendable job in the last year and all of us in law enforcement certainly appreciate their effort.

"One of our biggest problems today is with the repeat offender. The national average for repeat offenders being arrested again is around 66%. Many persons arrested are on probation already for other crimes. This means that probationers are taking advantage quite often of a system that gave them a break in the first place. All of which usually means double work for the police officers to place these persons where they should have been to start with.

"Many of those we send to prison are back on the streets before the ink on their commitment papers is dry. Possibly a change in our parole system is in order.

"Many persons are out on several bonds at one time and quite often for the same offense, for instance on narcotics charges. It would be interesting to know how many offenders of this type are running around on our streets and who bonded them out each time. Oftentimes citizens are heard to say about an offender, 'The cops turned him loose and with his record.' Rest assured this is not the police officers' responsibility. We do not set the bonds and why would we work so hard to put a criminal in jail and then let him right out again.

"The police officers' job is to arrest violators of the law. We try to get them off the streets while other agencies work at rehabilitation and reform. Our local officers are dedicated to good law enforcement and from the looks of the court docket books they are performing well.

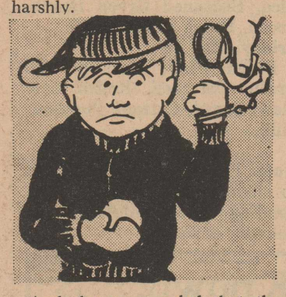
"One area where our officers catch a lot of flak is the traffic violator who says, 'Why aren't you out catching criminals?' For the information of those who enjoy this little phrase it is well to remember that in 1971 alone, 54,000 persons died in traffic accidents and 4,700,000 were injured. These are grim figures but fact. The officer who is citing you is practicing prevention in order to protect the motorist from himself."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Measure for Measure

Ten-year-old Pete was shagging snowballs at passing automobiles when one of the cars came to a screeching halt. A large and irate man emerged, caught Pete by the arm, hustled him into the car, and drove him to the nearest police station.

But Pete's parents decided that their son had some rights too. Haling the motorist into court, they demanded that he pay damages to Pete for treating him too harshly.



And the court ruled that the motorist had indeed overreacted. The court said that while he may have been justified in taking the boy directly to his parents, carrying him off to the police station was uncalled for.

It is human nature, when a person is provoked, to retaliate. Generally speaking, the law has no objection.

But the retaliation must be in reasonable proportion to the original provocation. Otherwise, says the law, a minor incident may escalate swiftly into a major conflict.

For example:

A home owner, called a mocking name by his neighbor, retaliated by bashing the neighbor over the head with a shovel. For this, the home owner was later held liable in a courtroom.

In another case, a man responded to a push by knocking the pusher down and then—when he was lying helpless—kicking him in the face. Again, a court ruled that the man must pay for "the sheer vindictiveness which led him to take the law into his own hands."

On the other hand, the victim of the original offense does not have to calculate his retaliation to a fine point. In judging his response, the law will make fair allowance for the tensions of the moment and a normal degree of error.

As Oliver Wendell Holmes once put it:

"Detached reflection cannot be expected in the presence of an uplifted knife."

BEWARE LOW FLYING objects is Walt Frazier's motto as the Knicks' guard fakes a jump shot and Atlanta center Mike Sojourner (40) takes the bait. Frazier then spun around for an easy lay-up with no obstructions.

Junior-Senior Prom Held

The Junior-Senior banquet and prom was held on May 3 at the High School cafeteria and the Paws and Taws Hall in Fulton.

The evening began with the banquet in the cafeteria attended by some 110 guests including students, faculty sponsors and room mothers. The prom was held at the Paws and Taws Hall in Fulton. The theme of "April Showers" accented by a lighted fountain in the center of a flower garden was beautifully carried out by the Junior Class.

Music for the entertainment of the guests was provided by the group called "Taboo" out of Corpus Christi. A crowd of about 250 attended the prom and were lavish in their praise for the fine job the Juniors had done in preparing for the occasion.

REAGAN'S PLANS

SACRAMENTO, CALIF.--Clyde Walthall, press secretary to California Gov. Ronald Reagan, reports that Reagan will launch a radio commentary called "The American Viewpoint" shortly after leaving office in January.

Sgt. Hinojosa At Conference

Sgt. Jose M. Hinojosa, 28, of the Rockport Police Department is among the 39 law enforcement officers attending a two-week Texas Crime Prevention Institute (TCPI) basic crime prevention course in progress at the Palm Valley Inn in Harlingen.

The TCPI, funded by grants from the Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office, is headquartered at Southwest Texas State University.

Attending the basic course in Harlingen, which began April 28 and will be concluded with the presentation of certificates of completion on May 9, Sgt. Hinojosa has been with the department three years.

Child Abuse Speech Topic

Last Thursday, May 1, the Rockport Lions learned more about the hidden problem of child abuse at their regular meeting at Ramada Inn at noon.

Grady Rhodes of the Aransas Pass office of the State Department of Public Welfare presented a graphic slide program that showed the tragedy of child abuse causing 104 deaths of children in 1973 in Texas. Many of the children end up needing medical attention. In 1973 there were 2,509 confirmed cases of child abuse in some 4,000 suspected situations reported.

Mrs. Virginia Shaw, also of the Aransas Pass office, confirmed the information presented in the slide showing. She stated that the Department of Public Welfare is interested in lowering the problem by helping in home situations when brought to the attention of the office.

"All parents want to be good parents, but many do not know how," was the conclusion expressed by Mrs. Shaw.

She emphasized that child abuse is divided into three categories: physical abuse, sexual abuse and emotional abuse involving physical injury, forced sexual activities or humiliating and unclear demands of children over a long period of time.

Another category of child concern is that of neglect: physical and emotional. Many children are not provided sufficient food, clothing, shelter, medical care, education, guidance and supervision, and needed love and affection is denied children.

Both Rhodes and Mrs. Shaw pointed out that all people are responsible under Texas law to report suspected or known child abuse situations to the authorities. A Watts number is available for this purpose: 1-800-292-5400.

At the meeting Jim Newberry, Circle Fence Co. owner, became a member of the club and the new football coach of Rockport-Fulton High School, Vollie Williams, Jr., was introduced.

TOPS 849 Wins State Honor

Weight figures were omitted from last week's article on TOPS No. 849 unavoidably. These are the winners and the club weekly loss for April 24th. No meeting was held on May 1 because of the trip to Abilene.

Queen of the week was Jerry Oliver with a 13¼ lb. loss. Runner-up was Lynn Hewes with a 2¾ lb. loss. King of the week was Jerry White with a ¾ lb. loss. Teen Queen was Beverly Kelly with a 1½ lb. loss. Princesses were Donna White and Roxanne Hewes with a ½ lb. loss each. Club loss for the week was 23 lbs.

On May 1st, twelve members of TOPS Chapter #849 left by chartered bus from Corpus Christi heading for the TOPS State Recognition Day convention in Abilene. One husband and two sons brought the total number of the Rockport delegation up to 15. Two husband and wife members plus the two previously mentioned sons made their way in their camper trucks.

The rest, plus the one lone non-member husband took the bus, along with several other South Texas Chapters. Entertainment on the long trip was provided by the Sinton Chapter, headed by Rosalie Brown.

Rockport #849 got the second place award for the best banner; first place honors went to Ingleside, and third place to an Austin Chapter.

When one considers that this contest is statewide, and that big towns like Houston, Dallas and San Antonio were competing, too, the Rockport chapter's pride is understandable.

Their pride almost went out of control when they also saw their Queen of the Year, Eva Whipple, and two KOPS graduates, Jewel Moody and Cathy Gaskin, walk across that big beautiful stage of the Abilene Civic Center.

At the next Area Recognition Day convention, Rockport has vowed to get a first place award, and to double, maybe treble the number of graduates.

As was loudly proclaimed on the bus, Rockport may not be the biggest, but they are certainly the best!

Call Betty McMeredith, 729-6213, for further information on TOPS #849. Meetings are held Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m. in the Methodist Youth Building.

Inflation hasn't changed the price of ashes.

But it has changed the price of your home. For example, if you bought a $20,000 home in 1968—today it's worth about $32,000. Don't be left with a costly pile of ashes. See me about a State Farm Homeowners Policy that will cover your home for all it's worth . . . and keep it that way with automatic Inflation Coverage.

News From Sen. Bentsen

Predicted $100 billion deficit must not happen.

Even as the Administration and Congress worked together to revitalize our economy through the recent tax cut, the President really caused some concern with his prediction of a possible $100 billion budget deficit this year.

This must not be allowed to happen, and I am working to see that it doesn't.

Our country simply cannot afford it. Our government simply cannot assume a deficit so huge. And just as lawmakers and the President worked closely to reduce taxes for the American people, we have to work in cooperation now to hold the line on Federal spending.

It is by no means an easy task.

Over eight million Americans are out of work and we are still sinking deeper into the quagmire of recession. And every time another person loses his job, tax revenue goes down. In fact, a one percent jump in the unemployment rate costs the U.S. Treasury $12 to $15 billion in lost tax revenues.

On top of that, it costs an additional $2 to $3 billion in spending for such items as unemployment compensation.

Uncontrolled spending not needed to fight recession.

Clearly, the recession has eliminated the hope of wiping out this year's deficit entirely. But this doesn't mean that we mustn't hold the line on spending as much as possible. It does not and must not mean we have to accept the $100 billion deficit the President is talking about.

Everyone agreed on the need for the short-term economic stimulus provided by the recent tax cut. It was needed to restore some of the purchasing power Americans have lost to inflation. It was needed to pump money into our economy again, to get our factories operating and people working.

As a shot in the arm, its benefits will go far towards restoring economic health to our nation.

But by no means should this signal a flood of uncontrolled and ill-conceived government spending for the sake of spending. Committing ourselves to long-term government spending projects now could make it more difficult to balance budgets in the future and add to inflation in later years.

Never was proper planning and judicious use of our financial resources more crucial. Through such efforts, we can successfully hold the Federal deficit way below what the President is talking about.

Fortunately, the newly created Senate Budget Committee is working toward that end right now.

Congress sets spending ceiling.

It is setting a solid ceiling for Federal spending for fiscal 1976. Basically, the recommended budget slashes the commitments to new and long-range spending programs and restricts expenditures to those which are critical to our country's economic recovery.

Such steps should insure that the deficit stays substantially lower than the President's prediction, by at least $30 billion, and possibly more.

Before the Senate and House Budget Committees were set up last year, Congress simply allowed appropriations to pile up haphazardly throughout the year, with no way to relate income to expenditures.

The Budget Reform Act, passed last year, changes that and establishes a mechanism that permits Congress to set expenditures on the basis of tax revenue.

The Senate will soon vote on the Budget Committee's recommended ceiling for this year and whatever we pass, we are committed to live within it. All individual requests for money will then be considered in light of the priorities set and the total money available.

This is good management and it is good economics. And by holding the line on government spending, I am convinced it will have far-reaching effects on our efforts to restore health and stability to our economy.

Wieting's Capitol Report

A bill introduced by Representative Leroy Wieting which would allow the San Patricio County Water District to sell revenue bonds was approved this week by the house Committee on Natural Resources and sent back to the House with the recommendation that it be passed.

The bill will allow the District to sell revenue bonds to fund the building of a thirty inch pipe to the new Good Hope industries fertilizer plant located at Ingleside.

Ex-San Patricio County Judge William E. Nicholas testified in favor of the bill. Judge Nicholas told members of the Committee that the bill is needed to meet the need to supply water to the plant and to fulfill needs that might arise in the future.

Rep. Wieting said he feels it is important to note the bonds are revenue producing and will not cost the taxpayer. "The bonds to be sold will be repaid by the parties receiving water from the new line." The new Good Hope Industries plant will be the largest fertilizer plant in the world. Rep. Wieting feels having the plant in the area will greatly improve not only the economic stability of South Texas but of the entire state as well.

Another bill introduced by Rep. Wieting would allow the San Patricio County Commissioners to transfer $109,000 of existing funds to the construction of a county road. These funds are part of proceeds from bonds already issued for purchase of rights of way and other costs involved in the building of highways and roads.

The road to be constructed is between Portland and Taft. It was originally to have been built by the state at a cost of $350,000 to the county. However, it was discovered that the county could construct the road itself at a savings of almost a quarter of a million dollars.

Rep. Wieting pointed out that this bill in no way creates or requires any additional bonds or taxes. "The road will be built entirely with funds already in the county treasury," according to Rep. Wieting.

BICYCLE SAFETY

Riding a bicycle is great fun. Kids do it. Adults do it. In fact, today there are over 60 million bicycles in use in America. And the "Biking rage" isn't expected to slow down anytime soon.

Bike riders, however, should be aware that serious accidents do occur. Crashes, injuries, and even deaths are on the upswing, despite stronger federal regulations on the manufacturers for additional safety equipment on bikes. In 1974, the Texas Department of Public Safety reported a 25 percent increase in bike-related fatalities in Texas. Statistics reveal over 2,500 persons were injured in bicycle crashes in 1974. As of November 1, 1974, 50 people were killed as a direct result of bicycle related traffic collisions. This is an increase of 10 lives over 1973 statistics.

While it has been found that 89 percent of all bicycle-auto crashes occur in the daylight hours, most nighttime crashes tend to produce more serious injuries.

The Texas Medical Association points out that riding bicycles is good exercise, but there are some safety measures that need to be remembered whether wheeling around the block or across the country. Don't carry passengers, except when a second seat is provided. Never cling to a moving vehicle. Ride as near to the right side of the road as practical. Don't carry packages that would prevent use of the handlebars. Note that bikes are required to be equipped with a white headlight and a red light when riding at night. The law also calls for brakes and a reflector.

Parents are urged to teach children to acknowledge yield situations, stop signs, and turn signals of automobiles. Other common violations include riding in the middle of the street or too fast for conditions.

Children and adults alike should have fun, but should also remain constantly alert while bicycling!

Wet Metal

Mercury will not solidify until frozen to minus 38.85 degrees Centigrade, or become a gas until boiled at 356.9 degrees C. Glass dipped in liquid mercury emerges dry. The "metal of a thousand uses" is produced at an annual rate of 10,000 tons.

Food Stamp Eligibility Not Affected

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) today issued a telegram to the states saying that the income tax rebates and special payments will have no effect on the eligibility of food stamp participants. These rebates and payments were provided for in the Tax Reduction Act of 1975 which President Ford signed into law on March 29, 1975. The law provides refunds on 1974 individual income taxes and a special $50 payment to recipients of social security, railroad retirement, and SSI benefits.

The Tax Reduction Act of 1975 requires that refunds and special payments shall not be counted as income or resources for purposes of determining eligibility or the amount of benefits received under any federal assistance program. Therefore, these refunds and special payments will not be included as income or resources under the Food Stamp Program.

Interest Rate Of GI Home Loans Reduced

The maximum interest rate on GI home loans was reduced from 8.5 to 8 per cent effective March 3, the Veterans Administration announced today.

VA Regional Office Director A.A. Hunter said an increased supply of mortgage money made possible the latest reduction, which was agreed upon jointly with the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The new rate also applies to FHA loans.

Hunter noted the half-per cent decrease could mean mortgage payment savings of over $10 monthly, amounting to $3.800 over the 30 year life of a loan to a veteran buying a home with a $30,000 GI loan.

Interest rates on loans guaranteed by VA began a steady rise from 6 per cent in 1966, and peaked at 9.5 per cent last August. They then declined to 9 per cent last November, 8.5 per cent on January 21 and finally to the current 8 per cent rate.

VA guarantees 60 per cent up to a maximum of $17,500 whichever is less, of loans private lenders make to eligible military service personnel, veterans and widows of World War II and later periods.

Hunter noted the agency's home loan program was liberalized under Veterans Housing Act of 1974 (December 31). The law increased the amount of loan guaranty from $12,500 to $17,500, authorized loans for mobile home lots, increased the amount of mobile home loans and broadened possibilities for guaranteeing loans on one-family condominiums

Red Hawaii

Crews from Russian ships attempted to colonize Hawaii in 1815-16 and built a blockhouse near present-day Honolulu. Encouraged by American traders, the Hawaiians expelled the Russians in 1817.

Return Of The Wedge To Shoe Styles

College Station -- Shoe styles are changing this spring. One of the most popular looks this season is the wedge, shown in wood veneer, veneer, canvas, leather and natural fiber such as straw, according to Claudia Mitzel, consumer education-clothing and textiles specialist.

"Flats are also returning to the fashion scene. This style features a ½ inch heel and is especially appropriate for young fashions.

"Another trend in spring styles will be fewer platform shoes. Although heel heights are staying around three to four inches, the platform under the ball of the foot has dropped out and left only the shoe sole," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System, said this week.

Today's styles are more dainty and less chunky. And one reason the higher heel will be popular is that it works well with the longer skirt lengths, the specialist explained.

"Although the higher heel is attractive, the woman on her feet all day may not find it as comfortable as the platform shoe. The foot is at a much greater angle and this causes the calf muscle to contract and tire more easily than when the foot is flat," Miss Mitzel pointed out.

A.A.R.P. News

Some 78 members and 8 visitors attended the bi-monthly meeting of the A.A.R.P. on April 23 at the Recreation Building at the airport.

A short business meeting was held prior to the covered dish luncheon at which time it was announced that Don Stone, who had been elected president, had found that he was unable to serve.

Whereupon the nominating committee, headed by Paul Hoover, placed in nomination Zollie H. Glass to serve out the unexpired term of Ed Gerchak who had resigned.

Hoover called for nominations from the floor but received none, therefore Glass was elected and took over the reins of the A.A.R.P. chapter.

After a few announcements a drawing was held for the lucky table to start the line at the covered dish table. Soon as their numbers were called, filled their plates, and enjoyed the luncheon. This is the program for the second meeting each month.

The next regular meeting of A.A.R.P. will be held on the second Wednesday, May 14.
