MINE STRIKE IS SETTLED BY WAGE HIKE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Soft coal miners won a $80,000,000 victory in the wage agreement that today ended the walkout of 400,000 miners in the soft coal fields.

The miners, except for a few thousand in the south, will go back to work Tuesday under a contract that gives them a seven hour day and wage increases until April 1, 1937.

The strike was settled as it entered a serious phase with eviction of miners threatening disorder throughout the mining areas.

The closing scenes of one of the strangest strikes in history were marked with friendship between operators and miners among these traditional enemies.

ITALY MAY QUIT LEAGUE OF NATIONS

ROME, Sept. 27.—Italy's early withdrawal from the League of Nations was forecast today by a spokesman for the Italian government.

"We are remaining politely and calmly at Geneva out of courtesy to other nations, but we do not expect any solution from the Ethiopian forces, responsible for the League's policies," he said.

It was indicated Premier Mussolini would give the League several more days before acting on Italy's membership, so no vital decision was expected at tomorrow's cabinet meeting.

As Laval Sealed Italy's Isolation

Speaking fateful words that all the world was waiting to hear, Premier Pierre Laval (on rostrum in center) of France is pictured as he assured the League of Nations assembly in Geneva that, like Great Britain, his government intended to uphold the league covenant in the event Italy launched its unprovoked war of aggression against Ethiopia.

Conference For Young People to Be Held In Eastland

"For six months the Ranger Presbyterian church has held the banner for the largest attendance of any church in the district. It is hoped that we may retain it by taking a large delegation to Eastland next Sunday afternoon. This is the nearest church of our denomination to Eastland, and it should be easy for our people and friends to attend," Dr. L. B. Gray said today.

This conference promises to be the best ever, according to Rev. Charles W. Estes, the pastor of the Eastland Presbyterian church.

The presence of the state secretary of young people's work, Miss Mary Archibald, of Dallas, assures unusual interest to the program. She will be the principal speaker in the afternoon and evening, though visiting groups will have a part. Miss Archibald is a very pleasing speaker, and has an attractive personality.

The singing juniors of Ranger, under the leadership of Mrs. Homer D. Smith, will present several musical numbers in the afternoon. The Eastland orchestra will furnish music during the supper hour. The conference is to be held Sunday, Sept. 29, from 3 to 9 o'clock in the evening.

Seek to Transfer Virge Foster Case From Abilene Court

ABILENE, Texas, Sept. 27.—Judge M. S. Long last night had under advisement a plea of privilege presented in 42nd District Court here yesterday in behalf of Virge Foster of Eastland county, who is defendant in a $5,000 damage suit. Foster's attorneys, Turner, Seabury & Springer of Eastland, are seeking to have the case moved to Eastland county for trial.

Plaintiffs are Mrs. Ethel Bachus, widow of Stephen W. Bachus, and her six children, and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Bachus, parents of Stephen Bachus. They are suing in connection with the death of Bachus, who was fatally shot in Eastland county, last Dec. 6.

The petition recites that Bachus was shot when he started to run as the officer attempted to arrest him.

The American Surety Company of New York, Foster's bonding company, is also named as defendant in the suit.

Arguments for the plea of privilege were made by Virge Seabury and Carl Springer. The plaintiffs are represented by L. B. Lewis and Felix Mitchell of Baird and Dallas Scarborough of Abilene.

Small Liquor Bill Passes State Senate

AUSTIN, Sept. 27.—All sales of liquor to be consumed where sold were forbidden in a bill finally passed today by the Texas senate and sent to the house.

The bill passed 17 to 8.

Under it there can be no sale of drinks with meals or in cocktail bars. Only sales will be in unbroken packages to be taken from the places where purchased.

Whether unbroken package sales are to be from state-owned or licensed sales are left for another bill.

Prior to passage of the bill, wets turned on the dries with a proposal to make Senator Clint Small's bill so rigid liquor sales would be possible only by package.

Senator Welly Hopkins, Gonzales, led the movement of absolute prohibition of drink sales. "I do not agree with that policy," he said, "but the vote showed the senate is going to pass a bill prohibiting sale of drinks with meals. If we have that kind of law I want it to have no loopholes so drug stores can sell liquor. I am after the so-called druggist with an apron about his waist that doesn't show below the store counter," he said.

Each Lawyer His Own Supreme Court

It was probably inevitable that any nation which spawns lawyers at the rate our own fair land does eventually would get into a fearsome hair-splitting fight over the Constitution.

The prize exhibit in all this is the unofficial supreme court recently set up under auspices of the American Liberty League. No fewer than 58 eminent lawyers, skilled in the dark intricacies of corporation law, got together solemnly and threw the Wagner labor relations act out of the window.

Mr. Reed, who won the Weirton Steel Company's case against organized labor under the NRA, had this to say: "When a lawyer tells a client that a law is unconstitutional, it is then a nullity and he need not obey the law."

Letters From Our Readers

Austin, Tex., Sept. 23, 1935.
Ranger Times,
Ranger, Texas.
Gentlemen:

Because of the great number of requests that I have had and the expense to the state in stenographic work in the house, I would appreciate if you would convey this message to those people who have written concerning the status and form of the old age pension.

Since we have been in session some four old age pension bills have been introduced by members of the house who have been particularly interested in this subject from its inception. We each worked independently of the other in preparing various bills and found upon coming in to the committee with them that there was quite a divergence in point of view as to how this subject should be properly handled.

Each of us felt that we had the best bill and were preparing to fight for the principal in this respect which we originally had in mind. The state affairs committee anticipated the deadlock on this legislation, so they appointed three members of that committee, who, along with the four authors of the different bills to act as a subcommittee to rewrite a bill which will be submitted back to the state affairs committee for its final disposition.

We have worked night and day on this matter and thought there has been a great difference of opinion on some of the major features of this important legislation. I am happy to report that we have completed a rough draft of the bill which though some of the features did not appeal to me personally, I feel is a workable and practical piece of legislation. Some of the major features of this bill are property disqualification for those persons owning property over or above $4,000. This feature is to me objectionable for the reason that it penalizes those persons who have accumulated comfortable homes who might in spite of the fact have no income.

Also persons having over and above $360 per year income will be disqualified. This feature I objected to, but because I feel that the limits should have been slightly higher; other features with respect to disqualification are convictions of crime, wife desertion, other pension, inmates of institutions, etc.

I was particularly interested in cutting the cost of administration and felt that my plan to do so, mainly to permit the county commissioners' court to receive application with the state supervisor in each district to approve applications submitted to the county commissioners' and finally submitted for final approval to the state board which is composed of three members who receive $10 a day while they are in session, who shall not sit more than 15 days in one month or 120 days in one year, except the first year, was the more economical way of handling it efficiently.

The major feature of the bill is to my mind this fact that warrants will be drawn on the general fund rather than a special fund to be created. In this way applicants will be assured their money instead of in the event there was a special fund and it was depleted, they would not have to pay one-third or more of their pension money to loan sharks to cash their warrants as has been in many other pension cases.

Though the bill does not measure up in all respects to what I had originally in mind, I will say that it will be a good bill, a safe bill and the administrative machinery will be able to work accurately, justly and efficiently.

I want to thank you for your kindness in the past and assure you that I appreciate all favors that you have extended me on numerous occasions when I have imposed upon your good nature.

THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

Willis Thornton, NEA Service staff correspondent, is pinch hitting for Rodney Dutcher, NEA and (Name Paper) Washington correspondent, while Dutcher is on his vacation.

BY WILLIS THORNTON

WASHINGTON — It's rather a pitiful little score right now, but the organization from which the great oak of the social security program is expected to grow.

About 25 borrowed employees in borrowed quarters—that is all that can be seen today of an organization that is expected eventually to employ 10,000 people in administering benefits that will touch more than 15,000,000 Americans.

Because the bill which was to have provided funds was filibustered to death as Congress closed its last session nobody can be regularly hired by the Social Security Board. A dozen or so employees have been borrowed from NRA and another dozen from Edwin White's committee on social security which helped frame the plan.

Unless the board's appeal to the director of the budget for funds under the emergency relief act, equal to a month's administrative expense, is granted, it's doubtful if even the salaries of Commissioners Winant, Altmeyer, and Miles can be paid until Congress meets next winter and appropriates some money.

Of course, they're going ahead anyway.

The mail already is flooding in, stacks of it. Most of it boils down to two questions: "How about a job?" and "When do I get my pension?"

The borrowed staff is hardly large enough yet even to return the simple answer that must go to all such inquiries to the first class. We haven't anything to spring up, forerunner of a system that since 1937 to begin to be a complete personal account of every employe in the United States—no less—establishing his age and keeping his wage and contribution record for old-age insurance benefits after 1942.

The Social Security Board which has only just held its first meeting is being given almost a whole floor of the new Labor Department building formerly occupied by the old National Labor Board.

It will probably have around 100 employees the first year and will build up from that to 10,000 eventually will take over the administration of the program.

THE money the government spends on payrolls here circulates all over the country to a surprising extent. Go down to the local postoffice on a government pay day and look at the money order line. It's three times as long as it used to be a few years ago.

Government employes are sending money back home to relatives who need it worse than they do or to the families they have headed to bring to Washington because of the high cost of living here, or because their jobs look too temporary.

2. This is one of the largest circuses on tour in the Southwest this year and in addition to the regular three-ring performance in the big tent, has a large collection of wild animals and other big features.

The afternoon grandstand program on the last three days, Oct. 3, 4 and 5, will be horse racing. The purses will be $50 and $60 in the different races and a large field of good horses, many of them winners in the meet at Amarillo last week, will be running in the various events.

A variety of entertainment talent from numerous cities and towns in West Texas is already entered in the amateur tournament which will be held each evening of the fair. In the preliminaries to be held the first four nights, cash prizes of $7.50, $5.00 and $2.50 will be awarded to the winners of the first three places.

In addition, winners in the preliminaries will go into the finals of Saturday evening and compete for the awards of $20.00, $12.50 and $7.50. Those in this program will also be presented in two radio programs during October.

Department heads of the various exhibit divisions report that they will have outstanding displays.

Plenty of diversified amusements will be available day and night on the midway. Several new attractions will be included in the carnival being brought to the fair by the Western States Shows, one of the largest in the Southwest.

Lone Wolf Ranger's Letter Is Delivered

AUSTIN. — M. T. Gonzallus, new chief of the intelligence division of the state department of safety received a letter this week forwarded from Gonzales, Texas. It had been addressed: M. T. (Lone Wolf Chief) Gonzallus, Texas.

His title "Lone Wolf" was received from his habit of working alone on investigations both as a Texas ranger and as an investigator for the U. S. Treasury department.

Modern civilization has made exacting demands of human eyes. Visual tasks have increased many fold and weakened eyes, headaches and sometimes impaired health are the penalties for using our eyes under a poor light.

But Science has shown that it isn't necessary to take chances with our eyesight. All we need is better lighting to give our eyes a chance to see without unnecessary strain. This is especially true of children who study or read, for young eyes can be injured permanently by reading in a dim light.

A new type of lamp has been developed, scientifically designed to provide the right amount of glareless light for reading or studying. See these Better Sight lamps in our store, in floor lamp, table lamp or lounge lamp styles.

Outstanding Pictures Come to Screens of Local Theatres

'BROADWAY MELODY OF 1936' AND 'BECKY SHARP' HEAD LIST OF FEATURES AT THE ARCADIA

The long looked for picture, "The Broadway Melody of 1936," comes to the Arcadia Theatre Saturday for a two-day run. The film is a successor to the famous original "Broadway Melody," which was released some six or seven years ago and which proved one of the really outstanding musicals of all time. Local theatregoers possibly remember some of the outstanding tunes, such as "The Wedding of the Painted Doll" and others from this show. The new version is entirely different, retaining only the name. Jack Benny of stage and radio fame, heads one of the most impressive casts assembled in recent months. Eleanor Powell, the dancing sensation; June Knight, Robert Taylor, Una Merkel, and others are included. Five new song hits are introduced and are taking the country by storm over nightly radio broadcasts.

Six months of extensive preparation, including weeks of dance rehearsals, lengthy research for music sets, designing of dresses and gowns by Adrian, a complete Broadway dress rehearsal for the penthouse number and four months of filming was necessary at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios for their most ambitious musical, "Broadway Melody of 1936." The modernized Manhattan penthouse, the setting for one of the five elaborate dance ensembles is the largest ever built at that studio for a single musical sequence. The furniture for the scene was controlled by springs and operated by a board similar in many respects to a piano. A slight touch on one of the keys caused a grand piano to rise to the level of the floor within five seconds. Other keys brought the same results with tables, chairs, fountains and lounges. By reversing the pressure of the keys the floor could be hared in a flash.

Stage talent from Broadway, the toast of Continental capitals, radio sensations from coast-to-coast chains and screen luminaries from Hollywood have been merged to form the all-star cast.

Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, famous for their song hits in the first "Melody" and other musicals, have written five special numbers for the John W. Considine, Jr. production, which includes, "I've Got a Feeling' You're Foolin'," "On a Sunday Afternoon," "Broadway Rhythm," "You Are My Lucky Star," and "Sing Before Breakfast."

Girls Appear and Disappear In the Broadway Melody

After six months of intensive preparation and five months of shooting, Metro-Goldwyn Mayer presents its most ambitious musical, "Broadway Melody of 1936," which opens Saturday for an engagement at the Arcadia Theatre. With Roy Del Ruth directing, and Jack Benny heading the stellar cast, the first scenes were filmed on the largest stage on the M-G-M lot for the elaborate magic spectacle, heralded as one of the most ingenious settings ever devised for the screen. The whole stage was given over to a reproduction of the latest in Manhattan penthouse designing, but for the purposes of the sequence, possessing all sorts of bewildering mechanisms like disappearing divans, grand pianos rising up from nowhere, and so on. For control of the many "trick" devices, one of which enables the ensembles to disappear and reappear at will, there were buttons. Pressure upon them worked the magic.

A master key hared the floor. Then, presto, pronto—up popped tables, chairs, lounges and even fountains!

In addition to serving as locale for story action, the setting was used for the magic dances, in which June Knight, Robert Taylor and Nick Long, Jr., were the principals. The outstanding production had been preceded by more than six months of intensive preparation before a camera was turned. There had been the most thoroughgoing research, particularly along magic and novelty lines; planning of gowns by Adrian, colorful settings by Cedric Gibbons—all with a climax in the industry's first dress rehearsal the night before the cameras turned. This last feature followed the Broadway tradition of the night before the premiere dress rehearsal with "all hands" participating, as if for a regular public performance.

For the picture, there is a melodiously brilliant musical score by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, famous for their numbers in the first "Broadway Melody," and in other musicals. Five of their songs said to be of outstanding excellence are "I've Got a Feeling' You're Foolin'," "On a Sunday Afternoon," "Broadway Rhythm," "You Are My Lucky Star" and "Sing Before Breakfast."

Stage, radio and screen talent were merged to form the all-star cast headed by Benny and including Una Merkel, June Knight, Robert Taylor, Eleanor Powell, Frances Langford, Nick Long, Jr., Vilma and Buddy Ebsen, Harry Stockwell, Shirley Ross and Robert Willhack.

Dave Gould, creator of last year's dance sensations, "The Continental" and "The Carioca," surpassed himself with his new "Melody" dance routines and ensembles according to those who witnessed the review.

For this John W. Considine, Jr. production, Jack McGowan and Sig Silvers wrote the screen play from a story by Moss Hart. Harry W. Conn, Benny's radio writer, is credited with additional dialogue.

speak refinement and culture. The women wear clothes befitting wealthy society. No cowboy shoots up the dust of the village streets. No chases predominate the picture yet this fast-moving film is packed to the hilt with action.

Producer Sol Lesser spared no money to give to this picture a fitting frame.

George O'Brien moves with ease from the hard west to society's drawing rooms.

Evelyn Bostock, talented English film actress, plays the female leading role opposite George O'Brien. Edgar Kennedy, Alden Chase and Maude Allen make up the supporting cast. The direction is by Edward Cline.

The Iron Horse Stables, owned by George O'Brien, are located on five acres of ground, five miles from Culver City. Seven horses, two colts and a goat are the occupants of the stables. They are cared for by cowboy friends of Mr. O'Brien, who are unable to find picture work.

Several times a year, these cowboys stage a rodeo for George O'Brien and his friends. Skilled horsemanship, broncho-busting and lassoing are the highlights of the day.

FILM STAR OWNS PRIVATE RODEO

The screen personalities in Hollywood have many interesting hobbies, but one, that is a rarity, is a privately owned rodeo belonging to the film star George O'Brien, whose picture, "The Cowboy Millionaire," shows at the Columbia Theatre Saturday.

BLACK-DRAUGHT RELIEVES ONE CAUSE OF DISTRESS AFTER MEALS

When constipation interferes with the normal working of the digestive system, warning symptoms, such as flatulence or distress after eating, may appear.

Many people, afflicted as described below, take a pinch of Black-Draught after meals. Mr. C. D. McIver, of Panama City, Fla., writes:

"I suffered with gas pains. Everything I ate seemed to hurt me. I lost weight from 149 to 114 pounds. Someone told me to try Black-Draught. After taking small doses awhile, I found I was better. I kept it up and began gaining weight until I was back to normal. I would not be without Black-Draught."

Many others would not like to be without Black-Draught after having learned from their own use of it how helpful it is in the relief of constipation troubles. Sold in 25-cent packages.

NEW YORK — Joe Louis stood training much better than did Max Baer.

That was to be expected considering their respective ring experience and lives outside of the trade.

Fighting still is a great adventure to Louis. To the young Negro, the thrill of battle and the glory and gold that come with it is ample reward for weeks of preparation.

To the Baer of today who appears to have lost the urge, the preliminaries are a bore, a prelude to a painful operation such as the one in which he is to engage Louis for 15 rounds or less at the Yankee Stadium on Sept. 24.

Baer probably will slide through the prep in as good physical condition as he could attain under the circumstances and in a comparatively short period.

Yet in my opinion Anell Hoffman made a serious mistake in not getting Jack Dempsey to supervise Baer's work at Speculator. I am sure that Dempsey would have been able to accept such a big business means little to the Man Masher when a big fight is in the offing. Like the old fire horse, he rears up and hicks for the nearest camp.

Baer and Hoffman listened to Dempsey's up to and including the Max Schmeling scrap, for which the then Butcher Boy marched from and center as sharp as Lawson Little.

shouting to Baer "Quit clowning! You're not fopling anybody! Everybody knows you're tired. Throw punches. Schmeling won't let you lose! You'll fight like you train!"

Dempsey took a brotherly interest in Baer. Jack told Madcap Max that he was his own worst enemy and helped him whip himself. Baer liked and respected Dempsey who was his idol and snapped out of it.

I personally know that Dempsey felt badly when he was not asked to take a hand in pointing Baer for the Primo Carnera contest. That was the one for which such a fine judge as Bill Brown, New York boxing commissioner, said that Baer was not in condition. A superior and less frightened behemoth than Carnera might have proved that Brown was right.

Jim Braddock substantiated Brown's contention on June 13 of this year. How much has Baer improved, if any, in 14 weeks?

At Speculator Baer has had plenty of time to do what constitutes thinking for him. There has been no one around capable of keeping him in the right frame of mind, which Dempsey would have done.

Better Coached Heavy Usually Has Hand Hoisted

I HAVED BEEN the better handed warrior with Jack Blackburn, famous Negro contender of the immortal Joe Gar-running the works.

The smarter coached fighter usually prevails, everything else being nearly equal. This is particularly true in regard to the bl-fellows.

A capable fight manager has been known to outsmart even a knockout wallop on his fighter's side.

energy of the flying fragments from these atomic explosions, scientists believe such can be learned of how atoms are put together.

Atoms Give Off Rays

"In some experiments," Du Bridge said, "the newly formed atoms are of a kind never found in nature. They are unstable and in the course of a few hours spontaneously disintegrate. In the process they give off beta and gamma rays similar to the rays emitting from radium."

"It is this short 'life time' of these atoms which is of importance in medical experiment. Ordinary radium continues to emit its rays for thousands of years. Physicians dare not inject it into bodily tissues since it acts as a dangerous poison. Artificial radium, made from ordinary salt, loses its activity in a few hours, and is then harmless."

The physicist added that as yet the manufactured "radium" has not been used for medical experiments, and that many years of painstaking research must come before such material can be used in human treatments.

Canada Is Ready To Offer Trade Favors to U. S.

OTTAWA, Ont. — The Canadian government is ready to offer the United States its intermediate tariff and possibly most favored nation treatment in return for a more favorable access of Canadian natural products to the United States market, it is learned.

The Canadian offer is the latest development in the long negotiations between the two countries for a reciprocal trade pact, and is now virtually the basis of the negotiations.

The obstacles which are preventing the two governments from reaching an agreement, it is said, are all on the United States' side. Canada would like to obtain access to the American market for such natural products as cattle, lumber, fish and dairy produce, but American producers in the same line are resisting the threat of competition from Canada.

What the Canadian government is prepared to grant does not encounter the same degree of objection here, although some industries are inclined to view the proposals unfavorably. The intermediate tariff is more favorable than the general tariff, but the difference is not so marked as it once was. Under the present government, it has been narrowed. Many items, for instance, upon which the British preferential tariff would be 25 per cent, have 33 per cent as the intermediate and 40 per cent as the general tariff.

It is understood in view of this that American negotiators want favored nation treatment, which would mean tariff treatment as good as any other country receives and better than the intermediate duty on more than 200 different commodities, both sides have volumes of data regarding the imports and exports of the commodities mentioned and the tariff rating.

In their present state, the negotiations are indefinite. At Washington recently the representatives of the two governments met and had initial exchanges indicating in a general way what they were prepared to do. Where differences arose they were noted and the two parties are now giving consideration to the question of bridging these difficulties by further concessions.

This involves consultation with the government.

Dempsey Was Big Brother To Happy-Go-Lucky Baer

DEMPSEY promoted Baer's bout with Schmeling in June, 1923, but spent much more time lashing the Californian into shape than he did in selling tickets and watching over him at Atlantic City and bers of a giant magnetic accelerator cyclotron, capable of generating 4,000,000 volts of electric energy. The machine, second largest device of its kind in the world, is being installed in a building on the university campus.

Lee A. Du Bridge, professor of physics at the university, will be in active charge of the work. He hopes the experiments will lead to discovery of a ray-emitting material rivaling radium in the treatment of human life.

Race Track in Vacuum

Explaining operation of the machine, Dr. Du Bridge, said:

"Within the vacuum chamber atoms charged either of ordinary hydrogen or of recently discovered heavy hydrogen will be whirled about in ever widening circles in the strong magnetic field, keeping step with the high frequency oscillations. During each traversal of this vacuum race track the charged particles will acquire about 40,000 volts of energy.

"After 100 laps they will reach the outside of the chamber with an energy of 4,000,000 volts. They are then traveling with such enormous speed that when used as projectile they are able to penetrate into the very heart of any atoms which they strike. This causes a disruption of the atoms and formation of new ones."

Who Can Measure Mother Love?

Can we reckon the love of a mother by yards, or pounds, or gallons? Like all the best things of life, it cannot be estimated. So with character. It cannot even be seen, much less weighed.

Mothers Help Make Character

Our character is intimately related to the love of our mother. And mothers know that the church and Christianity help largely in forming character. Every mother prays that her children shall go to church, for she knows they will not wander far from the path of right if they keep close to the Bible. Why not go to church early?
